[a] Property tendered was identical where, in replevin for "two hundred and twenty boys' coats," it appeared that the articles were pieces of cloth cut in the shape of coats, but not yet made up, and it was held that the judgment for possession of "the property mentioned in the affidavit and complaint" was so substantially correct as to require the marshal to take the cut goods tendered to him. Monness v. Livingston, 84 NYS 124.

33. Frey v. Drahos, 10 Nebr. 594, 7 NW 319; Jarecki Mfg. Co. v. Fleming, 130 Okl. 95, 265 P 628, 57 ALR 802.

34. Manker v. Sine, 47 Nebr. 736, 66 NW 840; Reavis v. Horner, 11 Nebr. 479, 9 NW 643; Frey v. Drahos, 10 Nebr. 594, 7 NW 319.

35. Johnson v. Gallegos, 10 N. M. 1, 60 P 71.

36. See supra § 329.

37. See infra §§ 404–406, 411–412.

38. See infra text and notes 39–45.

39. Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 565, 10 AmR 641; Pabst Brewing Co. v. Rapid Safety Filter Co., 56 Misc. 445, 107 NYS 163.

"Now, suppose the property has been badly depreciated, intermediate the wrongful taking and trial, still the prevailing party is obliged to take it if he can obtain it, and he is indemnified for the depreciation by the damages assessed to him." Allen v. Fox, supra.

40. Martin v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 29 Cal. A. 499, 156 P 986.

[a] Tender in four months after replevin judgment was held sufficient and defendant in replevin was bound to accept the property although it had depreciated to the extent of five hundred dollars by natural causes. Martin v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 29 Cal. A. 499, 156 P 986.

41. Ky.—Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192 (dictum).

Miss.—Hazlett v. Witherspoon, 25 S 150.

N. D.—Grace City First State Bank v. Bradley, 57 N. D. 159, 220 NW 848; Nichols, etc., Co. v. Paulson, 10 N. D. 440, 87 NW 977. But see Paulson v. Nichols, etc., Co., 8 N. D. 606, 80 NW 765 (holding that the successful party in claim and delivery may not refuse to receive the property in dispute when tendered in satisfaction of the judgment for value, and at the same time bring an action to recover damages to such property, whether accruing before or after the date of the judgment in claim and delivery).

Okl.—Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 266 P 1107.

Or.—Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014.

Wash.—Hallidie Mach. Co. v. Whidbey Island Sand, etc., Co., 73 Wash. 403, 131 P 1156, 45 LRANS 40.

[a] Return in worthless condition.—Where the judgment in replevin for plaintiff was for a return of an automobile or its value if a return could be had, plaintiff need not accept a return of the property in such a condition that it was worthless except for junk, but may sue on the bond for its value. Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014.

42. Separate valuations in judgment see supra § 313.

43. Jones v. Messenger, 40 Colo. 37, 90 P 64.

44. Carpenter v. Gray, 135 Miss. 260, 99 S 561.

45. Wallace v. Cox, 94 Nebr. 194, 142 NW 891, 47 LRANS 835, AnnCas 1914D 109, 92 Nebr. 354, 138 NW 578, AnnCas1913E 1158.

46. See infra text and notes 47–55.

47. Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 655, 29 LRA NS 747, AnnCas1912B 302.

48. Edwin v. Cox, 61 Ill. A. 567;

the bond.[49] Where, however, the part tendered is of such a nature as to be dependent for its value and usefulness on the part not tendered, the party is not compelled to accept it.[50] In other jurisdictions it has been held that the successful party need not accept apparently any partial return of the property even though accompanied by a sum of money for the part not tendered,[51] on the ground that the judgment in the alternative requires a delivery of the entire property or the payment of its entire value.[52] At least the prevailing party is not compelled to accept the valuation placed by the officer executing the writ of return on the part not tendered.[53] Still in other jurisdictions, unless separate valuations are placed on the articles replevied, the party prevailing need not accept a return of part and a sum in lieu of the part not tendered,[54] although it seems that if the property is of a distinctive separate character, capable of distinctive separate delivery, and the values can definitely be ascertained, the party cast ought to have the right to deliver what he can and pay for what he cannot.[55]

[§ 332] c. Effect on Title to Property.[56] As in trover and conversion,[57] ordinarily, title to the property becomes vested in the party against whom judgment was rendered by payment of the value of the property in satisfaction of the judgment for its return,[58] or by payment of damages which include the value,[59] or by payment in other property in lieu of the value of the property replevied.[60]

[§ 333] 10. Enforcement[61]—a. In General. A court on rendering a judgment in replevin has inherent power to enforce such judgment,[62] and the fact that some of the property was delivered to the prevailing party before judgment will not abate the court's power after judgment to compel delivery as to other property still held by the unsuccessful party.[63]

[§ 334] b. By Writ of Restitution or Execution[64] —(1) In General. Where either a judgment for a return of the property without an alternative judgment for its value,[65] or an alternative judgment for a return of the property or its value is rendered,[66] the prevailing party is entitled to a writ of restitution for the return of the property, or for a return of so much of the property as can be found by the officer;[67] and, since the alternative judgment for the value of the property becomes operative on the failure of the unsuccessful party to return the property,[68] execution for its value may issue or become operative when the property cannot be found by the officer,[69] or is not in a proper condition to be returned.[70] While in some jurisdictions neither a successful plaintiff[71] nor a successful defendant[72] under an alternative judgment has the option to collect the money judgment by execution before a writ of possession is returned unsatisfied, in other jurisdictions either a plaintiff[73] or defendant[74] pre-

---

Harts v. Wendell, 26 Ill. A. 274; Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 665, 29 LRANS 747, Ann Cas1912B 302; Folmer v. Hanson, 44 S. D. 122, 182 NW 633.

[a] Substantial tender existed where a tender was made of fifty-six of eighty-two cultivators replevied. Harts v. Wendell, 26 Ill. A. 274.

[b] Tender of substantial part of the property and the value of the part which could not be returned was a good defense in an action on a supersedeas bond to the extent of the value of the property fixed by the replevin judgment. Ervin v. Montgomery, 84 Nebr. 107, 120 NW 903; Caldwell v. Whitaker, 4 S. C. Eq. 402.

49. Edwin v. Cox, 61 Ill. 567; Harts v. Wendell, 26 Ill. A. 274.

50. Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328.

[a] Tender of machinery of a factory with the exception of a steam apparatus which supplied the motive power need not be accepted by the prevailing party, since the property was treated as an organized whole. Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328.

51. Jones v. Messenger, 40 Colo. 37, 90 P 64; Kingsley v. Sauer, 17 Misc. 544, 41 NYS 248; Wheeler v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 109 Misc. 302, 179 NYS 685 (dictum); Pauls v. Mundine, 37 Tex. Civ. A. 601, 85 SW 43.

52. Kingsley v. Sauer, 17 Misc. 544, 41 NYS 248; Wheeler v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 179 NYS 685.

53. Wheeler v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 109 Misc. 302, 179 NYS 685.

54. Connor v. Bates, 92 Tenn. 465, 22 SW 4.

55. Reavis v. Horner, 11 Nebr. 479, 9 NW 643; Connor v. Bates, 92 Tenn. 465, 22 SW 4. See Pickett v. Bridges, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 171 (dictum).

56. In detinue see Detinue § 98.

57. Davidhizar v. Elgin Forwarding Co., 89 Or. 89, 95, 173 P 893. See Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2112].

"It is analogous to the situation in actions of trover where the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for the conversion of his property. On satisfaction of a judgment for damages the title to the property passes to the judgment debtor." Davidhizar v. Elgin Forwarding Co., supra.

58. Kayser v. Bauer, 5 Kan. 202; Houston v. Bibb, 50 N. C. 83.

[a] Increase of the property, as a slave, pending the action, does not pass to the party upon satisfaction by payment of the value of the property replevied. Houston v. Bibb, 50 N. C. 83.

59. Wilson First Nat. Bank v. Johnston, 161 N. C. 506, 77 SE 404; Davidhizar v. Elgin Forwarding Co., 89 Or. 89, 173 P 893.

60. Archibeque v. Miera, 1 N. M. 419.

61. Enforcement of judgments generally see Judgments §§ 1139–1153.

62. Lane v. Alexander, 168 Ark. 700, 271 SW 710.

[a] Order of sale of property, adjudged to be rightfully held by defendant as pledgee, was improper, under Civ. Code (1912) § 4105, as defendant must proceed under the statute authorizing foreclosure of pledges. Tolbert v. Fooshe, 124 S. C. 166, 117 SE 354.

63. Lane v. Alexander, 168 Ark. 700, 271 SW 710.

64. Execution against the person see Executions § 1112.

Writ de retorno habendo see De Retorno Habendo, 18 C. J. p 787.

65. Hammond v. Morgan, 101 N. Y. 179, 4 NE 328, 3 HowPrNS 438; New York, etc., Brewing Co. v. Angelo, 144 App. Div. 655, 129 NYS 713; Aldridge v. Loftin, 104 N. C. 122, 10 SE 210.

66. Hallagan v. Johnston, 55 Ind. A. 509, 104 NE 91.

67. Penny v. Ludwick, 152 N. C. 375, 67 SE 919.

68. See supra § 326.

69. Evans v. Kloeppel, 72 Fla. 267, 73 S 180; Marks v. Willis, 36 Or. 1, 58 P 526, 78 AmSR 752.

70. Brown Garage Co. v. A. G. Graben Motor Co., 200 Iowa 913, 205 NW 841.

Sufficiency of return see supra § 329.

71. Cal.—Meads v. Lasar, 92 Cal. 221, 28 P 935.

Nev.—Carson v. Applegarth, 6 Nev. 187.

N. M.—Johnson v. Gallegos, 10 N. M. 1, 60 P 71.

N. Y.—Cook v. Freudenthal, 80 N. Y. 202 [aff 14 Hun 542].

Or.—Marks v. Willis, 36 Or. 1, 58 P 526, 78 AmSR 752.

[a] In Indiana a plaintiff prevailing in the action must pursue the property by a writ of restitution, and on failing to obtain the property should resort to his remedy on the replevin bond. Hallagan v. Johnston, 55 Ind. A. 509, 104 NE 91.

72. McIntosh Livestock Co. v. Buffington, 108 Or. 358, 217 P 635.

73. Martin v. Ferguson, (Ky.) 111 SW 281 [foll Rennebaum v. Atkinson, 52 SW 828, 21 KyL 587].

[a] In Pennsylvania, under the act of April 19, 1901 (P. L. p 88); St. (1920) § 18977, plaintiff, as well as defendant, may have a writ of retorno habendo at his option. Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798; Reber v. Schroeder, 221 Pa. 152, 70 A 556; Evans-Morrow Motor Co. v. Samuels, 83 Pa. Super. 280.

74. Eickhoff v. Eikenbary, 52 Nebr.

vailing in the action may, on the failure of the unsuccessful party to return the property, sue out an execution for the value of the property before proceeding to enforce the judgment for a return of the property.

Where plaintiff elects to take judgment for return of property under statutes authorizing such election,[75] he is not entitled to an execution for its value unless a recovery of the property cannot be had.[76]

Where judgment is for value of the property without an alternative judgment for a return, execution may issue for such value.[77]

[§ 335] (2) Requisites, Service, and Return of Writ.[78] The writ of execution should follow the judgment,[79] and be in the language of the statute,[80] so that, if judgment is in the alternative as required by statute, the writ should command the officer to seize and retain the property, and collect the damages, or in case a delivery of the property cannot be had, to collect the value thereof, together with the damages.[81] Although it has been held that an ordinary execution, as in assumpsit for money, is not the proper execution under a replevin judgment for the value of the property,[82] it also has been held that, where the property could not be returned so as to render an alternative judgment for its return unnecessary, the unsuccessful party cannot complain that the writ was in the ordinary form on a money judgment.[83] Statutes allowing a writ of execution to officers of other counties within the state[84] have been held inapplicable to a writ of return in replevin.[85] General rules governing service[86] and return[87] of executions apply,[88] and accordingly it has been held that an officer who is a party to the replevin action may not execute a writ of return;[89] nor may an officer in executing such writ use improper force.[90] Although the court may cause a return of the writ to be amended, there must be a proper showing to authorize such amendment.[91]

[§ 336] (3) Relief against.[92] Equity will afford relief by injunction against an execution under a replevin judgment where the facts are such as to confer equitable jurisdiction for the purpose.[93] Thus an injunction will issue to restrain the prevailing party from collecting by execution the value of the property where the judgment is in the alternative and a proper tender of the property has been made.[94] However, an injunction will not issue where an adequate remedy at law exists,[95] or where the facts are insufficient to justify equitable interference.[96] Thus, where a proper tender of the property was not made, equity will not restrain a sale under the levy of an execution issued in pursuance of the alternative judgment for the value of the property.[97]

Stay of execution[98] may be granted in proper circumstances.[99] Thus, where an execution plaintiff is insolvent, an execution will be stayed to afford the debtor time to have a claim against plaintiff adjudicated for the purpose of setting off the judgment;[1] and on execution stayed, a writ of return, issued during the time for which the stay is effective, will be set aside.[2] A stay will not be granted, however, where the facts necessary to authorize a stay are not shown.[3]

Vacation of a writ of return[4] will not be granted at the instance of a stranger to the record,[5] as his remedy is by an independent action.[6] If an execution is improperly issued, it can only be vacated by motion made for that purpose on papers being prop-

---

332, 72 NW 308; Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67.

Execution or demand as condition precedent to action on bond see infra § 434.

Writ of return as condition precedent to action on bond see infra § 435.

[75] Election between recovery of property or value see supra § 322.

[76] Oskaloosa Steam-Engine Works v. Nelson, 54 Iowa 519, 6 NW 718.

[77] Field v. Post, 38 N. J. L. 346.

[78] Form and contents of writ generally see Executions §§ 178-205.

[79] Marks v. Willis, 36 Or. 1, 58 P 526, 78 AmSR 752.

[80] Bales v. Scott, 26 Ind. 202.

[a] Departure from statutory form not fatal when not prejudicial.—Kingsley v. Sauer, 17 Misc. 544, 41 NYS 248.

[81] Bales v. Scott, 26 Ind. 202; Garrett v. Wood, 3 Kan. 231.

[82] Eaton v. Campbell, 2 Mich. N. P. 10.

[83] Eickhoff v. Eikenbary, 52 Nebr. 332, 72 NW 308.

[84] See Executions § 182.

[85] Rathbun v. Ranney, 14 Mich. 382.

[a] Proper procedure in such a case is to issue execution for the value of the property out of the goods of the unsuccessful party. Rathbun v. Ranney, 14 Mich. 382.

[86] See Executions §§ 206-291.

[87] See Executions §§ 858-906.

[88] See cases infra notes 89-91.

[89] Snydacker v. Brosse, 51 Ill. 357, 99 AmD 551.

[90] Snydacker v. Brosse, supra.

[a] Breaking outer door of a dwelling house was improper in the execution of a writ of retorno habendo. Snydacker v. Brosse, 51 Ill. 357, 99 AmD 551.

[91] Irvin v. Smith, 68 Wis. 220, 31 NW 909.

[a] No amendment of the writ can be made after it has been returned unsatisfied and suit has been brought on the replevin bond. Eaton v. Campbell, 2 Mich. N. P. 10.

[92] Generally see Executions §§ 382-412.

[93] See cases infra note 94.

Grounds for, and relief by, injunction generally see Injunctions §§ 70-453.

[94] McClellan v. Marshall, 19 Iowa 561, 87 AmD 454; Reavis v. Horner, 11 Nebr. 479, 9 NW 643; Marks v. Willis, 36 Or. 1, 58 P 526, 78 AmSR 752; Caldwell v. Whitaker, 4 S. C. Eq. 402.

Sufficiency of tender see supra §§ 329-331.

[95] Andrews v. McLeod, 66 Miss. 348, 6 S 181.

[96] Jones v. Messenger, 40 Colo. 37, 90 P 64; Davis v. Bayliss, 51 Iowa 435, 1 NW 697; Bowman v. McGregor, 6 Wash. 118, 32 P 1059.

Matters in satisfaction of judgment see supra §§ 328-332.

[a] If replevin judgment is erroneous, it should be remedied by appeal and not by injunction to restrain its enforcement. Putnam v. Webb, 15 Or. 440, 15 P 711; Bowman v. McGregor, 6 Wash. 118, 32 P 1059.

[b] Remedy of third person is not by injunction but by an independent action. Andrews v. McLeod, 66 Miss. 348, 6 S 181.

[97] Brown Garage Co. v. A. G. Graben Motor Co., 200 Iowa 913, 205 NW 841.

[98] Generally see Executions §§ 382-412.

[99] See infra text and notes 1-3.

[1] Kline v. Blaine, 36 Pa. Co. 251.

[a] Stay pending review not authorized.—Luckfort v. Keen, 7 Mass. 500.

[2] Roe v. McCrea, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 16.

[3] Harker v. Arendell, 74 N. C. 85.

[4] Quashing execution generally see Executions §§ 413-436.

[5] Veeder v. Fiske, 6 N. M. 288, 27 P 642.

[6] Veeder v. Fiske, supra.

erly served.[7]

[§ 337] c. By Contempt Proceedings.[8] Ordinarily, in the absence of statute, a replevin judgment may not be enforced by punishment for contempt,[9] but under some statutes[10] providing for the arrest of defendant at the commencement of the action, where plaintiff has filed an affidavit that defendant has concealed, removed, or disposed of the property,[11] the court has implied power to compel obedience to the replevin judgment by contempt proceedings.[12]

[§ 338] d. By Independent Action. A party who has recovered judgment for the value of the property may, in an independent action, pursue the fund realized from its sale pending suit,[13] and one who has been given judgment for the return of the property is entitled to a mandatory injunction for its delivery, after an execution has been returned unauthorized,[14] but he has no right to maintain an action of assumpsit to recover its value.[15]

[§ 339] I. New Trial. The rules relating to new trials in civil actions generally[16] are applicable in actions of replevin.[17] Thus the trial judge in such an action has the right to set aside entirely any verdict rendered by the jury and to order a new trial generally on any of the usual and recognized grounds,[18] but in the absence of legal grounds therefor, no new trial can be granted.[19] Accordingly, it is error, as a matter of law, to order a new trial where plaintiff states in open court that he does not intend to prosecute the case further and that judgment may be rendered for defendant who thereupon introduces evidence as to the value of the property and, without objection, takes alternative judgment for the return or its value.[20]

[§ 340] J. Appeal and Error—1. In General—a. Right of Appeal. General rules as to appeal and review[21] are applicable in the action of replevin.[22] Thus appeal can ordinarily be taken only from a final judgment or order.[23] In order to perfect an appeal, a party is not bound to resort to special proceedings prescribed by statute whereby he can obtain possession of the property involved.[24]

Who may appeal. Although the party moving an erroneous order has no right to complain of it,[25] plaintiff in replevin may appeal from a voluntary nonsuit.[26] Defendant is not deprived of his right of appeal by the fact that after judgment the property was seized by a third party under an execution, defendant not voluntarily surrendering possession thereof,[27] nor, although he denies ownership or possession, is he deprived thereof by the fact that judgment for plaintiff was only for recovery of possession without costs.[28]

Time for appeal. A statute limiting the time for taking an appeal cannot be defeated by making a second application to quash the writ based on the same facts and intended to produce the same results as one previously made and from which no appeal was taken.[29]

[§ 341] b. Jurisdiction. In determining the jurisdiction of the appellate court, the value of the property must be looked to.[30] It must appear from the record that such value is within the jurisdictional amount;[31] so, where this appears from the affidavit filed by plaintiff to procure the writ of replevin, the court has jurisdiction to hear the case.[32] When the ownership of plaintiff and his right to possession of the property are not denied, the jurisdiction to hear the appeal depends not on the value of the property, but on the amount of defendant's interest therein.[33] A statute providing that the decision of the court below upon "defects of form in process" is final covers a defect apparent on the face of a replevin bond,[34] and an appeal from a decision sustaining a plea in abatement attacking such defect cannot be taken thereunder.[35]

---

[7] Harrison v. Wilkin, 78 N. Y. 390.

[8] Enforcement of judgments generally see Judgments § 1141.

[9] Imbesi v. Eastern Motor Co., 104 N. J. L. 251, 140 A 31 [aff 105 N. J. L. 490, 144 A 919]; Hammond v. Morgan, 101 N. Y. 179, 4 NE 328, 3 HowPrNS 438.

[10] See statutory provisions.

[11] See Arrest § 102.

[12] Lane v. Alexander, 168 Ark. 700, 271 SW 710.

[a] Defendant's refusal in replevin to comply with an order of court to deliver to plaintiff his bonds constituted civil contempt, in view of the implied power conferred on the court by Crawford & M. Dig. §§ 8642, 8644, 8645, providing for arrest of defendant where plaintiff has filed an additional affidavit that defendant has concealed, removed, or disposed of the property with intent to defeat plaintiff's action. Lane v. Alexander, 168 Ark. 700, 271 SW 710.

[13] Lindsay v. Morse, 129 Mich. 350, 88 NW 881.

[14] Cain v. Cain, 20 NYS 45, 28 AbbNCas 423.

[15] McKnight v. Dunlop, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 36.

[16] See New Trial 46 C. J. p 46 et seq.

[17] See cases infra this section.

[18] Joiner v. Bevier, 155 S. C. 340, 152 SE 652.

Grounds for new trial generally see New Trial §§ 27-243.

[19] Baker v. Van Ness, 37 Okl. 122, 130 P 536.

[20] Baker v. Van Ness, supra.

[21] See Appeal and Error 3 C. J. p 256.

[22] See cases infra this section; and §§ 341-351.

[23] See Appeal and Error § 256; and case infra this note.

[a] Illustration.—Where the court determined that the writ was in its inception unauthorized and the court without jurisdiction, and issued judgment of dismissal of plaintiff's action, coupled with an order to impanel a jury to inquire of the right of property and possession of defendants and their damages, this is a final judgment from which plaintiff may appeal. Swain v. Savage, 55 Nebr. 687, 77 NW 362.

[24] Haentze v. Howe, 28 Wis. 293.

[25] Campbell v. Crone, 10 Nebr. 571, 7 NW 334.

[a] Rule applied to erroneous dismissal of the action on motion of defendant in the action. Campbell v. Crone, 10 Nebr. 571, 7 NW 334.

[26] Reed v. Carpenter, 2 Oh. 79.

[a] Reason for rule.—The action of replevin is one of a peculiar nature, both parties being actors. After plaintiff becomes nonsuit, a judgment is not thereupon, as in ordinary cases, rendered for defendant to recover his costs, but the latter becomes an actor in the case and recovers not only costs, but also the value of the goods replevied, together with damages and interest. This judgment is final and is more like a judgment by default than a judgment of nonsuit, and the reasons for permitting an appeal from a default judgment are, therefore, applicable. Reed v. Carpenter, 2 Oh. 79.

Decisions reviewable generally:
Default judgment see Appeal and Error § 440.
Involuntary dismissal, discontinuance, or nonsuit see Appeal and Error § 332.
Voluntary dismissal, discontinuance, or nonsuit see Appeal and Error § 333.

[27] Culver v. Randle, 45 Or. 491, 78 P 394.

[28] Martin v. Porter, 84 Cal. 476, 24 P 109.

[29] Kaufmann, etc., Co. v. Landau, 93 Pa. Super. 457.

[30] Cummins v. Holmes, 107 Ill. 552; Vaiden v. Bell, 3 Rand. (24 Va.) 448.

[31] Morris v. Preston, 93 Ill. 215; Lewis v. Shear, 93 Ill. 121; Hancock v. Tower, 93 Ill. 150.

[32] Morris v. Preston, 93 Ill. 215.

*By Felix C. Graber (§§ 339-358).

[§ 342] c. Presentation and Reservation in Lower Court of Grounds of Review. In accordance with the general rules,[36] an appellate court will not, in an action of replevin, consider questions not brought before it by the record.[37] Thus, where parties have gone to trial on the merits of a cause without objection or remonstrance, an appellate court will not reverse although the pleadings made no issue for the jury.[38] The objection that the petition or complaint did not ask a judgment for possession of the property,[39] did not allege an unlawful taking[40] or unlawful detention,[41] or aver a demand and refusal before suit brought,[42] or did not sufficiently describe the property,[43] cannot be raised on appeal for the first time; nor can the objection that there was a failure to plead a judgment under which defendant seeks to justify, the judgment having been proved below without objection.[44] Likewise, that no affidavit was made,[45] or that the affidavit made was not signed,[46] cannot be raised for the first time in the appellate court except where the defect is jurisdictional;[47] and an objection that a third person as claimant cannot, by interplea, assert his rights to the property replevied cannot so be raised by plaintiff who, in the court below, filed an answer to the interplea and went to trial on the merits.[48] Other objections which cannot be raised for the first time on appeal include objections to the writ,[49] for example, to an uncertainty in description therein,[50] objections to a defect of parties,[51] objections that findings were too general,[52] objections to the form of the verdict[53] or judgment,[54] as that the former did not find the value of the property,[55] or omitted to state whether the damages given were for the taking or detention or both,[56] or that the judgment was for the value of the property instead of for the value of defendant's interest therein,[57] that the judgment for defendant for the value of the property included an amount representing the value of property which plaintiff had not seized but which remained in defendant's possession,[58] or that judgment should have been for defendant as to articles replevied by plaintiff but not recovered by him in the action;[59] but error can be urged for the first time in the appellate court where the judgment is unauthorized,[60] as where all material issues are not disposed of,[61] or the verdict is at variance with the proof.[62] A judgment sustained by the findings will not be reversed notwithstanding there is a discrepancy between them and the petition where the attention of the trial court was in no way called to the variance.[63] Grounds for staying execution other than the taking of an appeal cannot be raised for the first time on motion in the appellate court.[64] The claim that no demand was made is not available on appeal where no objection was taken below, and the evidence shows a demand.[65]

Defenses not interposed below which will not be considered on appeal include the defense of bailment[66] and the defense that no demand was made.[67]

Sufficiency of presentation. The question of error in not having the value of the property replevied fixed as of the date of the trial is sufficiently raised by exception to the direction of the verdict.[68]

---

[33] Mohme v. Livingston, 54 Iowa 458, 6 NW 717.

[a] Illustration.—Where the amount required to give the court jurisdiction was one hundred dollars, the value of plaintiff's property replevied was two hundred and fifty dollars, and defendant was holding it to secure a debt of twenty-eight dollars and fifty cents, the court has no jurisdiction to hear plaintiff's appeal from a judgment for defendant. Mohme v. Livingston, 54 Iowa 458, 6 NW 717.

[34] Houghton v. Ware, 113 Mass. 49.

[35] Houghton v. Ware, supra.

[36] See Appeal and Error § 580.

[37] Draper v. Ellis, 12 Iowa 316. And see cases infra this section.

[a] Rule applied to a defect in a petition going to the foundation of the action. Draper v. Ellis, 12 Iowa 316 (failure to allege wrongful detention).

[38] Mathias v. Sellers, 86 Pa. 486, 27 AmR 723.

[39] Williams v. Wilcox, 66 Iowa 65, 23 NW 266.

[40] Krueger v. Pierce, 37 Wis. 269.

[41] Draper v. Ellis, 12 Iowa 316.

[42] Treat v. Hathorn, 3 Hun (N. Y.) 646.

[43] Seligman v. Armando, 94 Cal. 314, 29 P 710.

[44] Williams v. Mellor, 12 Colo. 1, 19 P 839.

[45] Turron v. Chopin, 13 Kan. 107.

[46] Eddy v. Beal, 34 Ind. 159.

[47] Armour v. Arres, 5 Nebr. (Unoff.) 383, 98 NW 843.

[48] Noble v. Worthy, 1 Ind. T. 458, 45 SW 137.

[49] Eddy v. Beal, 34 Ind. 159.

[50] Hook v. Fenner, 18 Colo. 283, 32 P 614, 36 AmSR 277.

[a] Thus, after defendants have pleaded that property is theirs, and have submitted the case to the jury on its merits, it is too late to ask that judgment be reversed for an uncertainty in the description in the writ. Hook v. Fenner, 18 Colo. 283, 32 P 614, 36 AmSR 277.

[51] Seip v. Tilghman, 23 Kan. 289.

[a] For example, to the defect that, although the property sought to be replevied was jointly owned by two persons, the action was brought by only one. Seip v. Tilghman, 23 Kan. 289.

[52] Moore v. Vrooman, 32 Mich. 526.

[53] Ryan v. Fitzgerald, 87 Cal. 345, 25 P 546.

[54] Baker v. Horsey, 21 Ind. 246.

[55] Watts v. Green, 30 Ind. 98; Ruger v. Bungan, 10 Ind. 451.

[56] Ryan v. Fitzgerald, 87 Cal. 345, 25 P 546.

[57] Ormsby v. Nolan, 69 Iowa 130, 28 NW 569.

[58] Klotz v. James, 96 Iowa 1, 64 NW 648, 59 AmSR 348.

[59] Beatty v. Clarkson, 110 Mo. A. 1, 83 SW 1033.

[a] Rule applied where defendant failed to present his objection either in a motion for new trial or in arrest of judgment. Beatty v. Clarkson, 110 Mo. A. 1, 83 SW 1033.

[60] Holt v. Van Eps, 1 Dak. 206, 46 NW 689; North Star Boot, etc., Co. v. Braithwaite, 4 Dak. 454, 34 NW 68.

[61] Holt v. Van Eps, 1 Dak. 206, 46 NW 689.

[a] For example, where the verdict is silent as to the ownership of the property, which was in issue. Holt v. Van Eps, 1 Dak. 206, 46 NW 689.

[62] North Star Boot, etc., Co. v. Braithwaite, 4 Dak. 454, 34 NW 68.

[63] Rucker v. Donovan, 13 Kan. 251, 19 AmR 84.

[a] Rule applied where the petition alleges absolute ownership while the findings show only the existence of a lien. Rucker v. Donovan, 13 Kan. 251, 19 AmR 84.

[64] Swasey v. Adair, 88 Cal. 203, 26 P 83.

[65] Govin v. Di Miranda, 140 N. Y. 474, 35 NE 626.

[66] Goldsmith v. Taussig, 60 Mo. A. 460.

[67] Kauffman v. Klang, 16 Misc. 379, 38 NYS 56.

Waiver. Objections taken in the court below to the sufficiency of the replevin bond are waived by pleading in the appellate court the general issue with brief statement justifying the taking;[69] and such an objection cannot be taken by motion to quash the process in the appellate court where defendant waived it by pleading below.[70] By complying with an order requiring plaintiff to give additional security in the action, he admits its correctness[71] and waives the right to object thereto on appeal.[72]

[§ 343] d. Supersedeas or Stay of Proceedings.[73] In order to stay judgment pending an appeal, appellant must give the bond or undertaking required by statute;[74] and the fact that defendant in replevin has given a redelivery bond does not entitle him to a stay of execution on appeal without having given the required stay bond.[75] An appeal by defendant stays proceedings on his counterbond in replevin.[76] Where the statute gives a party a specified time to file his security for costs after notice of an order to stay proceedings, the court cannot prescribe a shorter time.[77]

[§ 344] e. Review—(1) In General. In accordance with the general rule,[78] in an action of replevin, where there is competent evidence to sustain them, the appellate court will not disturb the finding of facts below[79] or the verdict;[80] but the case will be reversed, and a new trial granted, where the evidence is not sufficient to sustain the verdict,[81] where the jury have failed to give effect to all the material evidence in the case,[82] or where the court below, having heard the evidence, could not find on a material issue.[83] On appeal from a judgment entered at the conclusion of plaintiff's case awarding defendant a writ of retorno habendo for the return of the property replevied, the only question presented for review is whether plaintiff made out a prima facie case on which a finding in its favor, if made, could have been sustained.[84] An appeal from an order for a writ of retorno habendo on the ground that the court failed to render a formal judgment that defendant recover the property is properly dismissed where it appears that such judgment was rendered and that the clerk omitted to set it forth.[85] Failure of the court below to render an alternative judgment is not error requiring reversal where there was no demand for such judgment.[86]

Appeal from judgment of county court to the district court brings the whole case up for trial de novo.[87]

[§ 345] (2) Theory of Prosecution or Defense. In accordance with the general rule that the parties are restricted in the appellate court to the theory on which the cause was prosecuted or defended in the lower court,[88] plaintiff, having tried his case on the theory that he was entitled to recover as the individual owner, cannot ask for a reversal of judgment on the ground that, although not the owner, he is entitled to possession as a lienholder.[89] So, where a case was tried on the theory that defendants had possession of the property, on appeal the court will not consider plaintiff's right to maintain the action on the theory that he was a bailee.[90] Where plaintiff's ownership is admitted by not being denied, and possession in defendant is found by the jury on the evidence, the defense of joint ownership by plaintiff and a partner, and of possession under authority of one of the partners, is not available on appeal;[91] and defendant who in the justice's court unsuccessfully contested a case on the merits on a claim of a superior right to the property cannot maintain on appeal that, as an innocent purchaser, replevin will not lie against him without demand and refusal.[92]

---

[68] Gilroy v. Everson-Hickok Co., 103 App. Div. 574, 93 NYS 132.

[69] Carnick v. Wilson, 34 Me. 593.

[70] Johnson v. Richards, 11 Me. 49.

[71] Prichard v. Hopkins, 52 Iowa 120, 2 NW 1028.

[72] Prichard v. Hopkins, supra.

[73] Generally see Appeal and Error §§ 1391–1460.

[74] Wheeler, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Johns, 37 Fla. 262, 20 S 236; Elliott v. Buckland, Sheld. (N. Y.) 174, 37 HowPr 71. See Scott v. Corveth, 20 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 435 (where defendant was successful, and plaintiff served notice of appeal, and applied to stay proceedings for a month to perfect his security, but the court refused to interfere).

[a] Statutory requisites.—Under the statute providing that the execution of a judgment in replevin shall not be stayed by appeal unless appellant give an undertaking with sufficient surety and in such amount as the court or a judge thereof may direct to obey the order of the appellate court, it is essential to the efficacy of the undertaking that the amount thereof be fixed by the court or a judge thereof. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. More, 155 Cal. 415, 101 P 302.

Necessity of providing bond or security to obtain stay pending appeal generally see Appeal and Error § 1420.

[75] Swasey v. Adair, 88 Cal. 203, 26 P 83.

[76] Com. v. Wolle, 19 Pa. Dist. 438.

[77] Shaw v. Webster, 21 Wis. 129.

[78] See Appeal and Error § 2830.

[79] Graves v. Cowan, 43 Ark. 134; Baker v. Riley, 2 Colo. A. 478, 31 P 392.

[a] Rule applied as to a finding of defendant's ownership and right of possession of the property in controversy. Robinson v. Cole, 46 Mont. 140, 126 P 850.

[80] Ida.—Friedrich v. Donahue, 20 Ida. 92, 116 P 1029.

Kan.—Lamont v. Williams, 43 Kan. 558, 23 P 592.

Ky.—Mullins v. Bullock, 19 SW 8, 14 KyL 40.

Mont.—Davey v. Davey, 81 Mont. 375, 263 P 415.

Nebr.—Wood v. Advance Rumely Thresher Co., 103 Nebr. 377, 171 NW 919.

Okl.—Kelley v. McKay, 120 Okl. 215, 251 P 82.

[81] Williams v. Eikenberry, 22 Nebr. 210, 34 NW 373; McAnaw v. Williamson, 69 Okl. 200, 171 P 715.

[82] Musgrave v. Farren, 92 Me. 198, 42 A 355.

[83] Jandt v. South, 2 Dak. 46, 47 NW 779.

[84] Lyon v. Walldren, 201 Ill. A. 609.

[85] American Preservers' Co. v. Bishop, 184 Ill. 68, 56 NE 382.

[86] Woodbury v. Tuttle, 26 Ill. A. 211.

Presentation and reservation in lower court of grounds of review see supra § 342.

[87] Bates v. Stanley, 51 Nebr. 252, 70 NW 972.

[a] Judgment double in form.—Where the county court found for plaintiff as to certain of the goods taken under the writ, and for defendant as to the residue, and appropriate judgment was entered, such judgment, although double in form, constitutes a single judgment, and an appeal to the district court by plaintiff brings the whole case up for a new trial. Bates v. Stanley, 51 Nebr. 252, 70 NW 972.

Trial de novo of actions appealed from judgment of justice's court see infra § 350.

[88] See Appeal and Error § 2556.

[89] Ballou v. Hushing, 46 Ill. A. 174.

[90] Allen v. Gardner, 47 Kan. 337, 27 P 982.

[91] Tell v. Beyer, 38 N. Y. 161, 6 Transcr. A. 142.

[§ 346] (3) Presumptions. In accordance with the general rule,[93] it will be presumed, in favor of the judgment or order appealed from, and in the absence of anything in the record to the contrary, that defendant waived his objection to the sufficiency of the bond by pleading to the merits before his motion to dismiss was heard,[94] that adequate cause was shown to justify the court below in requiring plaintiff to file a new bond[95] or in modifying the judgment,[96] that the error in a judgment modified below arose from a mistake or omission of the clerk which the court had power to correct,[97] and that, where there was no judgment for return after nonsuit, the court was not asked to give such judgment,[98] or, having been requested to do so, it found that plaintiff in some way had become entitled to possession during the time of the pendency of the suit.[99] So there is a presumption on appeal that the officer proceeded legally,[1] as by taking the required bond before executing the writ;[2] and, if necessary to sustain the action of the sheriff in accepting plaintiff's bond and delivering the property to him, the appellate court will presume that defendant waived his right of executing bond and retaining the property.[3] On appeal from a motion to quash an affidavit on the ground that it was not made by plaintiff, if the affidavit is not in the record on appeal, the person making it will be presumed to have possessed the proper qualification.[4] But there can be no application, in an action of replevin, of the rule that, where a demurrer has been sustained to a special plea which set out a good defense, if the action was one which admitted of a general issue under which affirmative defenses and such as were thus specially pleaded might be given in evidence, then the appellate court would presume that defendant had the benefit of such defense under the general issue.[5]

[§ 347] (4) Harmless Error. In accordance with the general rule,[6] no reversal can be had for harmless error,[7] as in the pleadings[8] or in the admission[9] or exclusion[10] of evidence. It is not reversible error for the court in its charge to impose a burden on defendant which he has already assumed;[11] and where plaintiff admitted selling the property for a sum greater than the verdict against him, he is not prejudiced by the failure of defendant to prove its value.[12] Where the cause was decided adversely to him, defendant cannot complain that plaintiff's bond was irregular[13] or insufficient;[14] nor will the verdict and judgment be set aside on appeal by plaintiff for error of the court in requiring him to give additional security in the action by increasing the penalty of the bond.[15]

Erroneous instructions are not cause for reversal if the error is not prejudicial,[16] as where the jury were not misled or confused thereby,[17] or where it is clearly shown that the verdict was not based on the proposition announced therein.[18] Accordingly, it is not reversible error to tell the jury, if they find a certain fact, to make an inference therefrom as a matter of law, when this was the only inference that the jury could properly make,[19] to omit from the instructions the element of demand where there was clear proof of a demand before suit brought and the evidence sustains the verdict,[20] or to refuse to give an instruction as to the taking of possession by plaintiff where it appears that plaintiff had no such interest in the property as would authorize him to maintain replevin therefor;[21] and a judgment will not be reversed because an instruction was not very pertinent or helpful.[22] An instruction authorizing the jury to find that defendant unlawfully detained all the property in suit cannot be considered harmless where the undisputed evidence showed that plaintiff was in possession of some of it at the commencement of suit.[23]

---

[92] Lamping v. Keenan, 9 Colo. 390, 12 P 434.

[93] See Appeal and Error § 2662 et seq.

[94] Morris v. Hanson, 2 Colo. A. 154, 30 P 139.

[95] Sumner v. Sleeth, 87 Ill. 500.

[96] Sumner v. Cook, 12 Kan. 162.

[97] Sumner v. Cook, supra.

[98] Lane v. Kohn, 79 Ill. A. 396.

[99] Lane v. Kohn, supra.

[1] McGuffie v. Dervine, 1 Greene (Iowa) 251; Shorey v. Hussey, 32 Me. 579.

[2] McGuffie v. Dervine, 1 Greene (Iowa) 251; Shorey v. Hussey, 32 Me. 579.

[3] Hartlep v. Cole, 120 Ind. 247, 22 NE 130.

[4] Miller v. Graf, 14 Colo. A. 167, 59 P 416.

Defects or omissions in evidence in record on appeal generally see Appeal and Error § 2226.

[5] Mann v. Oberne, 15 Ill. A. 35.

[6] See Appeal and Error § 2878.

[7] See cases infra this section.

[8] Tuthill v. Skidmore, 124 N. Y. 148, 26 NE 348.

[a] Allegation of facts showing special property.—Where defendant does not move to make the complaint more definite and certain, and it appears affirmatively that defendant was neither harmed nor misled by the omission of plaintiff to set forth all of the facts out of which the special property arose, the judgment will not be reversed for this defect in the complaint. Tuthill v. Skidmore, 124 N. Y. 148, 26 NE 348.

[9] Muir v. Miller, 82 Iowa 700, 47 NW 1011, 48 NW 1032.

[a] For example, in: (1) Admitting immaterial evidence of a demand. Tancre v. Reynolds, 35 Minn. 476, 29 NW 171. (2) Permitting testimony in the replevin suit as to an offer to pay the amount due after suit was brought, where the court instructed the jury that the tender relied on, to be effective, must have been made before suit was filed. Wolverton v. Morgan, 132 Okl. 55, 269 P 314.

[10] Merriam v. Lynch, 53 Wis. 82, 10 NW 1.

[a] Rule applied to evidence of a judgment in a previous action of replevin between the same parties. Merriam v. Lynch, 53 Wis. 82, 10 NW 1.

[11] Eddings v. Boner, 1 Ind. T. 173, 38 SW 1110.

[12] Keystone Impl. Co. v. Welsheimer, (Ind. A.) 55 P 348.

[13] Pistorius v. Swarthout, 67 Mich. 186, 34 NW 547.

[14] Kennedy v. Roberts, 108 Iowa 521, 75 NW 363.

[15] Prichard v. Hopkins, 52 Iowa 120, 2 NW 1028.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The decision of the court in no manner affected the rights of the parties in the trial of the case. The verdict and judgment could not have been different had the motion been overruled. It cannot be said that there is any error in the judgment by reason of the court's ruling." Prichard v. Hopkins, 52 Iowa 120, 2 NW 1028, 1029.

[16] See cases infra notes 17, 18.

Harmless or prejudicial error in instructions generally see Appeal and Error § 3013 et seq.

[17] Simpson v. Mauldin, 61 Okl. 92, 160 P 481.

[a] Description of property.—An instruction erroneous only because it misdescribes the property referred to, which misdescription did not mislead or confuse the jury, will be upheld. Simpson v. Mauldin, 61 Okl. 92, 160 P 481.

[18] Gevers v. Farmer, 109 Iowa 468, 80 NW 535.

[19] Eddings v. Boner, 1 Ind. T. 173, 38 SW 1110.

[20] Jarrard v. Harper, 42 Ill. 457, 92 AmD 84.

[21] Gamble v. Wilson, 33 Nebr. 270, 50 NW 3.

[22] Welch v. Miller, 32 Ill. A. 110.

[a] Rule applied to an instruction

Verdict, findings, and judgment. A judgment will not be reversed on merely technical grounds where the person complaining of the error has suffered no injury thereby,[24] as where the verdict is informal, it being sufficient to authorize a judgment, and there being no substantial variance between it and the judgment.[25] The judgment will not be reversed on account of a defective description in the verdict where appellant is not prejudiced by the defect;[26] and failure of a verdict for defendant for a portion of the property replevied to specify the property to be returned is not prejudicial where it appears that no portion of the property can be returned.[27] An alternative judgment for plaintiff who was in possession of the property for return of the property or its value is not prejudicially erroneous;[28] neither is the failure of the jury, finding for plaintiff who was in possession of the property, to find the value of the property,[29] nor a judgment against plaintiff for the value of the property only and not in the alternative, where he has admitted he has disposed of the property and is not able to return it.[30] Where plaintiff is not entitled to possession of the property, he is not prejudiced by a finding that it should be returned to defendant, even though plaintiff's assignor may have had the right of possession.[31] Omission of a special verdict to find unlawful detention is not reversible error where it was found that plaintiff was the owner entitled to possession, defendant admitted the taking, and the undisputed evidence showed a demand;[32] and a failure to find that defendant was in possession at the time the writ was served is harmless where such possession was admitted at the trial.[33] A judgment will not be reversed for error in not providing for a return of the property to defendant if the latter would be bound to return the property immediately to plaintiff,[34] or for error in issuing an alias writ where the same judgment would have been rendered had no alias writ issued.[35]

Error in favor of party complaining. Where the only error committed was in favor of appellant, the judgment will be affirmed.[36] Thus, where the verdict is for defendant, plaintiff cannot complain of an instruction that, unless the jury believe that defendant is the owner, they will find for plaintiff,[37] of a failure to submit the question of damages,[38] or of a failure of the jury to find damages against him.[39] Neither can he complain that the verdict did not assess the value of the property,[40] that the judgment for defendant was not in the alternative but only for a return of the property,[41] that it was merely for damages for withholding such property, and costs,[42] that it did not require a return of the goods to defendant,[43] or, where the judgment was for return, that it failed to provide for recovery of the value if return could not be had.[44] Defendant cannot complain of an instruction wrongfully charging plaintiff with the duty to make a demand,[45] nor is he prejudiced by a failure to find the value of the property where judgment was for plaintiff.[46]

Cure of prejudicial error. Prejudicial error in the amount of the verdict may be cured by remittitur.[47]

[§ 348] f. Determination and Disposition of Cause.[48] The appellate court may order a judgment of the court below in an action of replevin to be modified so as to make it conform to the prayer of the petition,[49] or the bill of particulars and affithat "it is immaterial how plaintiff knows the sheep, if they in fact belong to him." Welch v. Miller, 32 Ill. A. 110.

---

[23] Bruce v. Horn, 11 Colo. A. 316, 52 P 1036.

[24] Degering v. Flick, 14 Nebr. 448, 16 NW 824.

[25] Baum Iron Co. v. Union Sav. Bank, 50 Nebr. 387, 69 NW 939.

[26] Asbill v. Standley, (Cal.) 31 P 738; Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436.

[a] Property not in esse.—A verdict will not be disturbed for insufficient description of the property not permitting the sheriff to accept delivery where it appeared that the property was not in esse at the time of the trial. Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436 (melted ice).

[27] Richardson Drug Co. v. Teasdall, 59 Nebr. 150, 80 NW 488.

[a] Rule applied where the entire property replevied had been destroyed by fire. Richardson Drug Co. v. Teasdall, 59 Nebr. 150, 80 NW 488.

[28] Hanscom v. Burmood, 35 Nebr. 504, 53 NW 371; Webb v. Hecox, 27 Misc. 169, 58 NYS 382.

[a] Reason for rule.—The judgment awarding plaintiff the value in case delivery cannot be had cannot be enforced. Webb v. Hecox, 27 Misc. 169, 58 NYS 382.

[29] Garth v. Caldwell, 72 Mo. 622.

[30] Ulrich v. McConaughey, 63 Nebr. 10, 88 NW 150, 69 Nebr. 773, 96 NW 645.

[31] Hyde v. Courtwright, 14 Ind. A. 106, 42 NE 647.

[32] Williams v. Porter, 41 Wis. 422.

[33] Long v. Hickey, 206 Mo. A. 92, 221 SW 757; De Wolff v. Morino, (Mo. A.) 187 SW 620.

[34] Barney v. Brannan, 51 Conn. 175.

[35] Maxon v. Perrott, 17 Mich. 332, 97 AmD 191.

[36] Berry v. Wilson, 64 Mo. 164.

[37] Berry v. Wilson, supra.

[38] Levy v. Leatherwood, 5 Ariz. 244, 52 P 359.

[39] Levy v. Leatherwood, supra; Alling v. Shelton, 16 Conn. 436; Jameson v. Kent, 42 Nebr. 412, 60 NW 879.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Plaintiff is not entitled to a reversal of a judgment on the ground that the jury did not award damages against him, as well as costs. Alling v. Shelton, 16 Conn. 436. (2) Where issues are found in defendant's favor that he had the right of possession of the property merely and that the property cannot be returned, plaintiff cannot complain of a failure to find the value of such right or to render judgment therefor. Jameson v. Kent, 42 Nebr. 412, 60 NW 879.

[40] Stroud v. Morton, 70 Mo. A. 647.

[41] Wheeler v. Jones, 16 Mont. 87, 40 P 77.

[42] Scott v. Burrill, 44 Nebr. 755, 62 NW 1093.

[43] Clarkson v. Jenkins, 48 Mo. A. 221.

[44] Morrison v. Austin, 14 Wis. 601.

[45] Moorhouse v. Donaca, 14 Or. 430, 13 P 112.

[46] Akron Bank v. Dole, 24 Colo. 1, 52 P 673; Van Gundy v. Carrigan, 4 Ind. A. 333, 30 NE 933; Williams v. Wilcox, 66 Iowa 65, 23 NW 266.

[47] St. John v. Swanback, 39 Nebr. 841, 58 NW 288.

[48] Determination and disposition of cause on appeal generally see Appeal and Error §§ 3093-3314.

[49] Frankhouser v. Cannon, 50 Kan. 621, 32 P 379.

[a] Excessive judgment.—Where plaintiff in a replevin action demands fifty dollars damages for the detention of the property claimed, and, without any amendment to the petition or pleadings before or after the trial, a judgment is rendered for seventy-five dollars for the detention, twenty-five dollars is excessive and erroneous, and the supreme court may order the district court to modify the

davit filed in the case,[50] or to statutory requirements as to form;[51] or it may be changed from a judgment for the value of the property to an alternative judgment for the value or its return.[52] A modification is not necessary, however, in the latter case if the evidence shows that the property cannot be returned.[53] Where, in an action to recover several separate chattels, a general verdict is returned, although it appears that the only error made by the court below was in its instructions as to one chattel, the appellate court cannot permit the judgment to stand as to part of the property and reverse it as to the rest,[54] but must simply remand the case for new trial.[55] On remanding a case the court may limit the issues to be retried.[56] Where the judgment below was alternatively for return of the property or payment of its value, and plaintiff elects to take the money judgment, the appellate court, on affirmation, may render judgment for the amount of the judgment of the court below with costs against defendant and the sureties on his bond.[57] Where the court in a case before the jury erroneously excluded evidence which would justify defendant's detention, and directed a verdict for plaintiff, the appellate court in reversing judgment for the error will remand the cause for new trial[58] and not direct judgment for defendant.[59]

Restitution of property. In the absence of statutory authority therefor, an appellate court cannot, on reversing a judgment, order restitution of the property to the party prevailing on the appeal.[60]

Form of judgment. Where the only object of an inquiry in the court below as to the value of the property is to settle plaintiff's right to costs, and the appellate court reverses the judgment recovered by plaintiff, it should not render judgment for the value of the property as assessed by the jury which tried the issues of fact, but should render judgment that defendant have a return of the property, or, if he shall elect to waive a return, that he have judgment for the value of the property and that such value be assessed by a writ of inquiry issued out of the supreme court.[61]

[§ 349] 2. Proceedings Originating before Justice of Peace[62]—a. In General. Statutes forbidding appeals from a judgment of a justice in jury trials where neither party claims in his bill of particulars a sum exceeding a certain sum[63] do not apply to actions of replevin.[64] Where plaintiff[65] or defendant[66] in replevin, who appeals from a justice's judgment, is in possession of the property, he has no absolute right to dismiss his appeal, and thereby escape an order for the return of the property or judgment against him and his sureties on the appeal bond. So by dismissing his appeal from a justice's court plaintiff cannot prevent defendant from electing between a return of the property or judgment for its value and damages,[67] and when he elects the latter, the circuit court has jurisdiction to proceed with the assessment.[68] Where a party fails to appeal from a judgment of a justice's court within the time permitted by statute, he cannot, after expiration thereof, avail himself of the proceedings by writ of review.[69]

Objections going to jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, although not presented in a justice's court, may be made in the circuit or district court where the case has been taken on appeal.[70]

[§ 350] b. Trial de Novo.[71] Appeal from the order of a justice's court to the district or circuit same in accordance with the prayer of the petition. Frankhouser v. Cannon, 50 Kan. 621, 32 P 379.

---

Modification on appeal generally see Appeal and Error §§ 3157-3173.

[50] Church v. Welch, 69 Okl. 161, 170 P 1168.

[a] Rule applied in replevin in a justice's court where the bill of particulars and affidavit fixed the value of the property at a certain sum, and the district court, on appeal, rendered alternative judgment for the property for a sum in excess of its value as so fixed. Church v. Welch, 69 Okl. 161, 170 P 1168.

[51] Fischer v. Cohen, 22 Misc. 117, 48 NYS 775, 27 NYCivProc 139.

[a] Thus, where, pending the action, possession has been delivered to plaintiff under the writ, a judgment for the return of the chattels to defendant on his depositing in court the balance due, with costs, may be modified so as to give judgment for plaintiff for possession of the chattels recovered, with costs. Fischer v. Cohen, 22 Misc. 117, 48 NYS 775, 27 NYCiv Proc 139.

[52] Babb v. Aldrich, 45 Kan. 218, 25 P 558.

[53] Babb v. Aldrich, supra.

[54] Hallowell v. Milne, 16 Kan. 65.

[55] Hallowell v. Milne, supra.

[56] Leiter v. Lyons, 24 R. I. 42, 52 A 78.

[a] Illustration.—In an action to recover possession of a motor, where defendant filed a plea of title in a third party, a plea of non cepit, and also a plea of non detinet, and the evidence fully sustained the finding of the jury for plaintiff on the question of title, but the court erroneously failed to submit the other issues to the jury, on appeal the court will remand the case with the direction that the only issue which defendant was entitled to have retried was that raised by his plea of non cepit, the plea of non detinet being wholly covered by it. Leiter v. Lyons, 24 R. I. 42, 52 A 78.

[57] Billups v. Freeman, 5 Ariz. 268, 52 P 367.

[58] McDonald v. Fuller, 11 S. D. 355, 77 NW 581, 74 AmSR 815.

[a] Rule applied where execution on which defendant relied had been excluded from evidence. McDonald v. Fuller, 11 S. D. 355, 77 NW 581, 74 AmSR 815.

[59] McDonald v. Fuller, supra.

[60] Mead v. Bateman, 9 Daly (N. Y.) 174.

[61] Curtis v. Jones, How. A. Cas. (N. Y.) 137.

[62] Appeal and review of proceedings before justices of peace generally see Justices of the Peace § 386 et seq.

[63] See Justices of the Peace § 392 et seq.

[64] Rollston v. Osenbaugh, 2 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 242, 2 WestLMonth 138.

[65] Strauss v. Smith, 8 N. M. 391, 45 P 930.

[66] Breeding v. Nelson, 142 Mo. A. 685, 121 SW 1080; Munley v. King, 40 Mo. A. 531.

[67] Soper v. Hawkins, 56 Mich. 527, 23 NW 206.

[68] Soper v. Hawkins, supra; Barruel v. Irwin, 2 N. M. 223. But see Peo. v. Judges Jackson Cir. Ct., 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 302 (the circuit court, after reversing on certiorari a justice's court judgment for plaintiff, has no power to assess defendant's damages).

[69] Summers v. Harrington, 14 Or. 480, 13 P 300.

[70] Evans v. Bouton, 85 Ill. 579; Draper v. Ellis, 12 Iowa 316.

[a] Rule applied to an objection that a jurisdictional affidavit was not filed. Evans v. Bouton, 85 Ill. 579; Barruel v. Irwin, 2 N. M. 223.

[b] Intervention of several terms of the appellate court has been held not to prevent the raising of the objection. Evans v. Bouton, 85 Ill. 579.

[71] Trial de novo of actions originating in justice's court generally see Justices of the Peace §§ 532-579.

court brings the whole case up for trial de novo,[72] and such trial, under some statutes, is governed by the practice acts relating to such appellate courts,[73] although under other statutes the appellate court must be governed by the same rules that are prescribed for the government of justices' courts in like causes.[74] In accordance with the general rule,[75] the verdict and judgment on the trial of an appeal from the judgment of a justice's court in replevin must conform to the issues,[76] and a verdict for more than the amount fixed by the pleadings[77] and affidavit,[78] or for more than the amount over which the justice has jurisdiction,[79] is erroneous.

[§ 351] c. Determination and Disposition of Cause. The judgment of a justice's court for plaintiff in an action of replevin will be reversed where the complaint states no cause of action.[80] Where, on appeal to the circuit court, a nonsuit is granted, the court may order judgment for the return of the property and damages, or the value.[81] So reversal in the district court of a justice's court judgment on an appeal on questions of law alone has the effect of a dismissal of the action,[82] and defendant is thereupon entitled to a judgment for a return of the property or its value;[83] but this judgment is not a judgment on the merits, so as to bar another action.[84]

[§ 352] K. Costs[85]—1. Right Dependent on Success or Failure of Party—a. Right of Prevailing Party. The general rule that the prevailing or successful party in the action is entitled to costs[86] has been frequently applied in actions of replevin,[87] and the right is not affected by waiver of part of the judgment.[88] But under an exception to the rule, where defendant was without fault and no demand for the property was made upon him prior to the suit, he is entitled to costs.[89] The exception does not apply, however, where defendant asserts ownership and right of possession in himself[90] and contests the action,[91] where he did not come into possession of the property rightfully,[92] or where a demand was properly made and he wrongfully retained the goods thereafter.[93] Plaintiff will be awarded costs against defendants who by their answer put in issue plaintiff's title and right of possession, notwithstanding such defendants were not in possession of the property in question at the commencement of the action, and a judgment against them for its return is erroneous;[94] and defendant, although unsuccessful, is, it has been held, entitled to his costs where the value of the property, as shown by the appraisal, is insufficient to confer jurisdiction on the court, and there is no other evidence of its value.[95]

---

[72] Bonesteel v. Gardner, 1 Dak. 372, 46 NW 590; Carroll v. Hancock, 57 Mo. A. 228; Clarkson v. Jenkins, 48 Mo. A. 221.

[73] See statutory provisions.

[a] Judgment must conform to the practice of the circuit court, and need not comply with requirements of statutes prescribing the form for a justice's court. Clarkson v. Jenkins, 48 Mo. A. 221.

[74] See statutory provisions.

[a] Jurisdictional amount.—Where the jurisdiction of the justice's court is limited to controversies over amounts not exceeding one hundred dollars, a verdict for more than that sum is erroneous. Garland v. Bartels, 2 N. M. 1.

[b] Assessment of damages.—Where, in a justice's court, the jury are required to assess the value of the property together with damages for its detention, it is error on appeal to the district court to swear the jury to assess the damages only. Garland v. Bartels, 2 N. M. 1.

[75] See Justices of the Peace § 574.

[76] See case infra this note.

[a] Verdict and judgment held sufficient as conforming to issues. Witcher v. Watkins, 11 Colo. 548, 19 P 540.

[77] Church v. Welch, 69 Okl. 161, 170 P 1168; People's Second Bank v. Sanderson, 24 S. D. 443, 123 NW 873.

[78] Church v. Welch, 69 Okl. 161, 170 P 1168.

[a] Thus, where the bill of particulars and affidavit in a justice's court fixed the value of the property involved at a certain sum, it is error for the district court on appeal to render an alternative judgment for plaintiff for a sum in excess of the value so fixed. Church v. Welch, 69 Okl. 161, 170 P 1168.

[79] Garland v. Bartels, 2 N. M. 1; People's Second Bank v. Sanderson, 24 S. D. 443, 123 NW 873.

[80] Howe Sewing Mach. Co. v. Haupt, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 108.

[81] Fugina v. Brownlie, 65 Wis. 628, 27 NW 408.

[82] Daley v. Mead, 40 Minn. 382, 42 NW 85.

[83] Daley v. Mead, supra.

[84] Daley v. Mead, supra.

[85] Generally see Costs 15 C. J. p 1.

[86] See Costs § 10.

[87] U. S.—Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216.

Conn.—Walko v. Walko, 64 Conn. 74, 29 A 243.

Fla.—Webster v. Brunswick-Balke-Callender Co., 37 Fla. 433, 20 S 536.

Ind.—Mitchell v. State, 3 Blackf. 391.

Iowa.—Hove v. McHenry, 60 Iowa 227, 14 NW 301.

Kan.—Cowling v. Greenleaf, 32 Kan. 392, 4 P 855; Rucker v. Donovan, 13 Kan. 251, 19 AmR 84.

Ky.—Philips v. Harriss, 3 J. J. Marsh. 122, 19 AmD 166.

Md.—Hiser v. Webster, 139 Md. 236, 114 A 897; Burnett v. Bealmear, 79 Md. 36, 28 A 898.

Mass.—Gould v. Barnard, 3 Mass. 199; Wheeler v. Train, 4 Pick. 168.

Mo.—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 220 Mo. A. 284, 286 SW 140; Hecht v. Heimann, 81 Mo. A. 370.

Mont.—Barrett v. Shipley, 63 Mont. 152, 206 P 430.

Nev.—Lapham v. Osborne, 20 Nev. 168, 18 P 881.

N. J.—Constanzo v. New Jersey Cent. R. Co., 74 N. J. L. 79, 64 A 1067.

N. C.—Rawlings v. Neal, 126 N. C. 271, 35 SE 597.

Oh.—Rowan v. Johnson, 2 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 254, 2 WestLMonth 155; Shur v. Statler, 2 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 70, 1 WestLMonth 317.

Pa.—Agricultural Trust Co. v. Eby, 29 Pa. Dist. 816; Shoemaker v. Shoemaker, 4 Pa. Dist. 398, 16 Pa. Co. 159, 7 Kulp 528.

Wash.—Mansfield v. Whatcom First Nat. Bank, 6 Wash. 603, 34 P 143.

[a] Rule applied.—Where defendant prevails on his plea of non cepit, he is entitled to costs although the verdict settles plaintiff's right to the chattels. Hiser v. Webster, 139 Md. 236, 114 A 897.

[b] On abatement of the writ of replevin, defendant is entitled to a judgment for costs. Walko v. Walko. 64 Conn. 74, 29 A 243; Gould v. Barnard, 3 Mass. 199.

[c] Statutory applications.—(1) Although a plaintiff in replevin claiming property is not entitled to costs by the common law, yet, under a statute allowing defendant costs where he prevails, a defendant who obtains a verdict in replevin is entitled to costs, as in all other cases. Mitchell v. State, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 391. (2) Replevin is an action "not founded on contract," within the statute giving plaintiff costs if he recovers in an action not founded on contract. O'Donniley v. Kinley, 220 Mo. A. 284, 286 SW 140; Hecht v. Heimann, 81 Mo. A. 370.

[88] Cowlings v. Greenleaf, 32 Kan. 392, 4 P 855.

[a] Illustration.—The fact that a defendant, in whose favor findings have been rendered, waives or abandons part of the judgment to which the findings entitle him, by not demanding a return of the property, does not bar him of his right to judgment for costs. Cowlings v. Greenleaf, 32 Kan. 392, 4 P 855.

[89] Chipman v. McDonald, (Kan. A.) 57 P 252; Peters v. Parsons, 18 Nebr. 191, 24 NW 687; Littlefield v. Wilson, 1 Nebr. (Unoff.) 581, 95 NW 677; Studebaker Bros. Co. v. Witcher, (Nev.) 199 P 477 [reh den 201 P 322]; Jackson v. Darden, 82 Okl. 256, 200 P 223; Wall v. Rouse, 49 Okl. 544, 153 P 1112; Lawton Citizens' State Bank v. Chattanooga State Bank, 23 Okl. 767, 101 P 1118.

[90] Jordan v. Allen, 102 Nebr. 639, 168 NW 594; Tilden v. Stilson, 49 Nebr. 382, 68 NW 478; Rodgers v. Graham, 36 Nebr. 730, 55 NW 243; Aultman, etc., Co. v. Steinan, 8 Nebr. 109; Homan v. Laboo, 1 Nebr. 204.

[91] Jackson v. Darden, 82 Okl. 256, 200 P 223.

[92] Wilcox v. Beitel, 43 Nebr. 457, 61 NW 722.

[93] Mason v. Rodgers, 116 Mo. A.

Judgment for one only of several defendants was held insufficient to entitle him to recover costs from plaintiff.[96]

[§ 353] b. Where Each Party Successful in Part. Although the general rule that plaintiff is to be regarded as the prevailing party and entitled to costs, even though he recovers judgment for only part of the relief demanded and defendant is successful in part,[97] has been followed as to actions of replevin in a few jurisdictions,[98] it has been held that the action of replevin constitutes an exception to the general rule as both parties are actors and claimants,[99] and in most jurisdictions the statutes have been construed to authorize, either expressly or impliedly, an apportionment where plaintiff has recovered judgment for part of the chattels in controversy and defendant part,[1] or where plaintiff was successful in establishing his title, and defendant in imposing a lien on the chattels.[2] Where plaintiff was entitled to judgment for part of the property, and defendant established his right on appeal to the remainder, it was held that the costs of the lower court should have been assessed against defendant and the costs of the appeal should be assessed to plaintiff.[3] A judgment that each party pay his own costs will not be reversed in the absence of any showing as to the amount of costs incurred on either side.[4]

[§ 354] 2. Right Dependent on Amount or Value of Recovery[5]—a. Right To Recover Any Costs. Statutes providing that there can be no recovery of costs unless the amount of the judgment exceeds a certain specified sum are applicable to actions of replevin.[6] In such cases the value of the property actually recovered determines the right to costs,[7]

611, 92 SW 745.

[94] California Packing Corp. v. Stone, 64 Cal. A. 488, 222 P 193.

[95] Kirby Carpenter Co. v. Trombley, 101 Mich. 447, 59 NW 809. But see Merrill v. Butler, 18 Mich. 294 (where plaintiff brought his action in the circuit court, alleging that the value of the property was within its jurisdiction, and recovered a verdict for it, he was entitled to costs, and the court or jury could not assess the value of the property to show that it was within the exclusive jurisdiction of the justice of the peace, and award defendant his costs).

[96] Kline v. Blaine, 18 Pa. Dist. 852, 36 Pa. Co. 251; Ramsdell v. Owens, 30 WklyNC (Pa.) 174.

[97] See Costs § 13.

[98] Horton v. Horne, 99 N. C. 219, 5 SE 927; Vollum v. Simpson, 2 B. & P. 368, 126 Reprint 1331; Cook v. Green, 5 Taunt. 594, 1 ECL 303, 128 Reprint 822. But see Dodd v. Joddrell, 2 T. R. 235, 100 Reprint 128 (holding defendant entitled to deduct out of the general costs of the verdict found for plaintiff the costs of issues found for him).

[a] Rule applied where there was a substantial recovery. Horton v. Horne, 99 N. C. 219, 5 SE 927.

[b] In New York (1) there existed at one time considerable confusion in the authorities on this question, due to the fact that the code of civil procedure prescribed a rule different from that of the revised statutes. See cases infra this note. (2) However, it is now settled that there can be no apportionment of costs where the complaint contains but one count and one cause of action, or where the complaint separately sets forth two or more causes of action, upon which issues of fact have been joined, and it is certified that the substantial cause of action was the same upon each issue. Newell Universal Mill Co. v. Muxlow, 115 N. Y. 170, 21 NE 1048 [overr Ackerman v. De Lude, 36 Hun 44]; Mertens v. Fitzwater, 53 Hun 597, 6 NYS 797; Kilburn v. Lowe, 37 Hun 237; Ackerman v. O'Gorman, 2 Silv. Sup. 109, 6 NYS 825, 17 NYCivProc 275; Stoddard v. Clarke, 9 AbbPrNS 310; Vowles v. Murray, 50 HowPr 159. (3) There was authority to the contrary under the code (Porter v. Willet, 14 Abb Pr 319) (4) and under the revised statutes prior to the adoption of the code (Hull v. Halsted, 1 HowPr 174; Johnson v. Fellows, 6 Hill 353; Rogers v. Arnold, 12 Wend. 288 note; Seymour v. Billings, 12 Wend. *285; Wright v. Williams, 2 Wend. 632). (5) Where judgment for defendant with costs is modified on motion, so as to award plaintiff some of the articles for which the action was brought, plaintiff is entitled to costs, based on the agreed value of the articles. Gimbernat v. Gimbernat, 156 NYS 505.

[99] Brown v. Smith, 1 N. H. 36.

[1] Ill.—Lansing v. Bates, 11 Ill. 550. See Kelly v. Hakes, 190 Ill. A. 210.

Ind.—Wright v. Mathews, 2 Blackf. 187.

Iowa.—Whitaker v. Sigler, 44 Iowa 419.

Kan.—Friend v. Green, 43 Kan. 167, 23 P 93; Dresher v. Corson, 23 Kan. 313.

Mass.—Powell v. Hinsdale, 5 Mass. 343.

Nebr.—McGillin v. Gleason, 34 Nebr. 694, 52 NW 287.

N. J.—Field v. Post, 38 N. J. L. 346.

Oh.—Clark v. Keith, 9 Oh. 72. See Rhodenbaugh v. Carey, 2 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 162, 1 WestLMonth 599 (costs of error divided after the court had allowed an excessive judgment to stand on condition that plaintiff remit the excess).

S. C.—Stoney v. Bailey, 28 S. C. 156, 5 SE 347.

Vt.—Poor v. Woodburn, 25 Vt. 234.

Ont.—Canniff v. Bogart, 6 Can. L. J. 59.

N. B.—Dickinson v. Ketchum, 2 N. B. 120.

[a] In Connecticut the court on defendants' appeal will not disturb an allowance to them of the cost of their witnesses upon that part of the case which was decided in their favor, such allowance being "clearly all that they were entitled to if they were entitled to any costs." Cooley v. Gillan, 54 Conn. 80, 6 A 180.

[b] In Pennsylvania (1) there is a dictum to the effect that, where goods are replevied and delivered to plaintiff and on trial of the issue the jury find in favor of plaintiff as to some of the articles and in favor of defendant as to the others, the costs would be apportioned. Shoemaker v. Shoemaker, 4 Pa. Dist. 398, 16 Pa. Co. 159, 7 Kulp 528. (2) But under the rule formerly existing that, when defendant gives bond and retains the property, plaintiff's title is extinguished and the case proceeds as an action of trespass, where defendant gives bond and retains the property, a verdict for plaintiff for part of the property carries with it costs. Agricultural Trust Co. v. Eby, 29 Pa. Dist. 816; Shoemaker v. Shoemaker, supra.

[c] In Wisconsin (1) although defendant was held entitled to costs in a suit to regain possession of property where the goods were not delivered to plaintiff and the jury found that as to some of them title was in plaintiff and as to others in defendant, and made no finding as to one (Young v. Lego, 38 Wis. 206), (2) in a later case the court, while recognizing the applicability of the rule of apportionment of costs to cases where the property has been delivered to, and retained by, plaintiff under the writ of replevin, and where the value of the property to which the court finds defendant entitled is over fifty dollars, refused to commit itself as to a situation wherein these two elements were not present (Lanyon v. Woodward, 65 Wis. 543, 27 NW 337).

[2] Simmons v. Simmons, 23 Ida. 485, 130 P 784.

[3] Hennessey First Nat. Bank v. Farquharson, 22 Okl. 27, 97 P 559.

[4] Dresher v. Corson, 23 Kan. 313.

[5] Right as affected by amount of recovery in actions generally see Costs §§ 41–60.

[6] Rohr v. McCraig, 33 Cal. 309.

[7] Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216; Chambers v. Hunt, 20 N. J. L. 109 [rev on other grounds 21 N. J. L. 620].

[a] Rule applied.—(1) Under a statute denying costs to a party who recovers less than the sum or value of five hundred dollars exclusive thereof, where plaintiff sought to reand the value of the property may be inquired into in the proceedings,[8] but the sheriff's appraisal will be presumed correct until the contrary is shown.[9] Where the value of the property in dispute has been placed by plaintiff in his declaration at a sum exceeding that required by statute, a successful defendant may recover his costs.[10]

[§ 355] b. Limitations on Costs Recoverable. The method of determining the amount of costs recoverable in an action of replevin is frequently governed by statutes or rules of courts.[11] In order to recover a full bill of costs a party recovering judgment must show that the damages, added to the value of the property, exceed the sum specified, either under general statutes restricting the amount of costs recoverable to the amount of damages awarded when the latter is under a designated sum,[12] or under statutes specifically providing that, in actions to recover the possession of personal property, the amount of costs is limited to the amount of damages, provided the damages, together with the value of the property recovered, do not exceed a designated sum;[13] but a defendant need not, it has been held, in order to recover full costs, succeed in defending an amount of property that would entitle a plaintiff to costs,[14] and a statute allowing plaintiff in replevin as costs only one fourth the value of his goods found for him, if the value is under a specified amount, does not apply to taxing costs for defendant for whom was found a very small part of the goods replevied.[15] The costs are limited to the amount of damages where the latter are under the statutory sum and the value of the property is not assessed by the jury,[16] and a party recovering the possession of personal property is entitled to no costs where he is not awarded any damages, and the value of the property is not fixed.[17] So, where defendant offers and plaintiff accepts judgment for the return of the chattels in question with damages and costs, but without fixing the value thereof and fixing only a nominal sum as damages, the costs are limited to the amount of the damages.[18] The fact that plaintiff's costs are only nominal, by reason of a statute limiting them to the amount of the damages, does not entitle defendant to any costs.[19] Under the procedure in some jurisdictions a certificate is necessary to obtain full costs in replevin as in other actions, although the affidavit and bond state the goods to be worth a sum above the jurisdiction of the inferior courts.[20]

[§ 356] 3. Persons Liable. Upon the recovery of judgment in replevin against an officer and attachment or execution creditors, who appear to contest the title to the property, such creditors are solely liable for the costs of the action.[21]

[§ 357] 4. Items Allowable.[22] In accordance with the rule obtaining in actions generally,[23] it has been held that attorney's fees are not allowable in an action of replevin,[24] except where there is statutory authority therefor.[25] Likewise, time lost in prosecuting or defending the action,[26] and other incidental expenses,[27] cannot be included in the bill of costs. But the costs of seizing,[28] removing,[29] and caring for[30] the property taken under the writ or order are properly included in a bill of costs, as is the premium on the replevin bond furnished[31] cover possession of goods of the value of thirty thousand dollars, and the jury awarded the goods to him, he is entitled to his costs notwithstanding the damages for detention were assessed at only one dollar. Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216. (2) The same principle is applicable under a statute declaring that plaintiff shall not have costs unless he recovers above two hundred dollars in a case where plaintiff recovered property of a value greater than that sum, but only six cents damages. Chambers v. Hunt, 20 N. J. L. 109 [rev on other grounds 21 N. J. L. 620].

---

[8] Chambers v. Hunt, supra.

[9] Chambers v. Hunt, supra.

[10] Edgar v. Gray, 5 Cal. 267.

[11] See statutory provisions and court rules. And see Bienvenue v. Stafford, (Alta.) 8 WestWkly 423 (applying general rules of courts as to costs to action of replevin).

[12] Moore v. Ross, Morr. (Iowa) 401; Dempsey v. Hill, 3 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 260, 5 WklyLGaz 181. See Gaston v. Canty, 48 Conn. 139 (same result reached, although by a different course of reasoning, where it was held that the statute was not intended to make the amount of damages in an action of replevin determine the question of costs).

[13] Harding v. Harris, 2 Me. 162; Corbin v. Milton, 27 HowPr (N. Y.) 76; Minks v. Wolf, 8 HowPr (N. Y.) 238; Hoag v. Moss, 1 NYCityCt 174; Rogers v. Arnold, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 30; Fitzer v. McCannan, 14 Wis. 63.

[14] Johnson v. Fellows, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 353 [overr Small v. Bixley, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 514].

[15] Harding v. Harris, 2 Me. 162.

[16] Coit v. Waples, 1 Minn. 134; Wolff v. Moses, 26 Misc. 500, 57 NYS 696 [aff 39 App. Div. 671, 57 NYS 1151]; Rapid Safety Filter Co. v. Wyckoff, 20 Misc. 429, 45 NYS 1028 [rev 19 Misc. 351, 43 NYS 490]; Hawley v. Green, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 654.

[a] Sheriff's appraisal is not sufficient, as when the cause is tried a part of the goods may be awarded to plaintiff and part to defendant. Hawley v. Green, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 654.

[17] Herman v. Girvin, 8 App. Div. 418, 40 NYS 845 [disappr Claflin v. Davidson, 53 N. Y. Super. 122]; Lockwood v. Waldorf, 91 Hun 281, 36 NYS 199.

[18] Hausauer v. Machawicz, 54 App. Div. 23, 66 NYS 340.

[19] Van Schoning v. Mitchell, 23 HowPr (N. Y.) 44.

[20] Ashton v. McMillan, 3 Ont. Pr. 10; Coleman v. Kerr, 28 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 297.

[21] Van Gundy v. Carrigan, 4 Ind. A. 333, 30 NE 933.

[22] Amount and items allowable in actions generally see Costs §§ 226-405.

[23] See Costs § 248.

[24] Dak.—Jandt v. South, 2 Dak. 46, 47 NW 779.

Mich.—Hatch v. Hart, 2 Mich. 289.

Miss.—Carraway v. Wallace, 17 S 930; Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24; Cowden v. Lockridge, 60 Miss. 385.

Mo.—Mix v. Kepner, 81 Mo. 93; Wright v. Broome, 67 Mo. A. 32; Trimble v. Keer, etc., Mercantile Co., 56 Mo. A. 683.

Nev.—Dillon v. Grutt, 38 Nev. 46, 144 P 741.

Utah.—Ryan, etc., Cattle Co. v. Slaughter, 6 Utah 278, 21 P 997.

N. B.—Davis v. Cushing, 10 N. B. 383.

[25] Yantis v. Burditt, 2 Dana (Ky.) 254; Hunton v. Palmer, 67 N. J. L. 94, 50 A 599.

[26] Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24.

Recovery as costs of personal expenses in attending court see Costs § 329.

[27] Byrnes v. Palmer, 113 Mich. 17, 71 NW 331; Dillon v. Grutt, 38 Nev. 46, 144 P 741.

[a] Expense of replacing building wrongfully removed from plaintiff's land by defendant is not part of the taxable costs in replevin, since the officer executing the writ is not authorized to do more than deliver the building to plaintiff. Byrnes v. Palmer, 113 Mich. 17, 71 NW 331.

Expenses as element of damages see infra §§ 383-385.

[28] Hendricks v. Ireland, 162 N. C. 523, 77 SE 1011.

[29] Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216.

[30] Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216; Hendricks v. Ireland, 162 N. C. 523, 77 SE 1011.

[a] Keeper's fees are recoverable as costs. Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216.

[31] Stilwell Bros. v. Union Mach., etc., Co., 94 Wash. 61, 161 P 1048.

when such bond is compulsory;[32] and where the verdict is for defendant under a writ de proprietate propanda,[33] jury fees are taxable as part of his costs of the inquisition.[34] Under a statute providing that, where plaintiff fails to comply with an order requiring further bond and surety, defendant may have judgment "with such reasonable costs as shall be adjudged by the court," the word "costs" refers to the reasonable expense incurred by defendant in connection with plaintiff's proceedings before the court.[35]

[§ 358] 5. Effect of Findings. As regards the question of costs, the jury's finding that there was an unlawful detention is binding on the parties.[36]

XV. DAMAGES[37]

[By Bernard J. Kenny]

[§ 359] A. Right and Basis of Recovery—1. In General—a. Plaintiff. The general rule is, sometimes by virtue of express provision of the statutes,[38] that a plaintiff in replevin, if successful, may recover damages for the wrongful taking and detention of the property,[39] together with, where a return of the property is not had, a recovery of its value,[40] or the value of his special interest therein;[41] except as the right to recover both the value of the property and damages for its detention may be controlled by rules hereinafter considered as to the time as of which the value is to be ascertained,[42] and as to the right to recover for depreciation.[43] Damages to the successful party in a replevin suit are ordinarily to compensate him for the loss he has sustained by being wrongfully deprived of the possession of his property,[44] and the award involves a prior finding that he is entitled to the immediate possession of the property at the time the suit was commenced.[45] By the action the law intends to give a complete remedy to the party entitled to possession not only as to the property itself, but also in respect to damages which are the natural result of the wrongful act.[46] Exemplary or punitive damages are recoverable where the peculiar circumstances warrant,[47] but in the absence of circumstances upon which exemplary damages could be awarded just compensation can only be allowed, as the object of the law is to restore the party, so far as possible, to the condition he was in prior to the commission of the wrongful act.[48] These damages are not limited to such as have accrued when the suit is instituted but may be estimated to the date of the verdict.[49]

---

[32] Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216.

[33] Writ de proprietate probanda see De Proprietate Probanda 18 C. J. p 784.

[34] Hale v. Hilyard, 31 N. B. 87.

[35] Valentine v. Knox, 45 R. I. 429, 123 A 600.

[36] Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216.

[37] Cross references:
Damages generally see Damages 17 C. J. p 699.
In:
  Action on bond see infra §§ 424-425.
  Detinue see Detinue §§ 99-104.
  Trover and conversion see Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2088].
Instructions see supra § 289.
On dismissal or nonsuit see supra §§ 256, 270.
Pleading see supra § 187.
Verdict for see supra § 310.

[38] See statutory provisions.

[39] U. S.—Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216.

Ark.—Lesser v. Norman, 51 Ark. 301, 11 SW 281; Gray v. Nations, 1 Ark. 557.

Cal.—Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156; Los Angeles Furniture Co. v. Hansen, 46 Cal. A. 5, 188 P 292; Morris v. Allen, 17 Cal. A. 684, 121 P 690.

Colo.—Smith v. Stevens, 14 Colo. A. 491, 60 P 580.

Ill.—Taylor v. Welsh, 138 Ill. A. 190.

Ind.—Mitchell v. Burch, 36 Ind. 529.

Kan.—Chase County Nat. Bank v. Thompson, 54 Kan. 307, 38 P 274.

Ky.—Philips v. Harriss, 3 J. J. Marsh. 122, 19 AmD 166.

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

Md.—Dorsey v. Gassaway, 2 Harr. & J. 402, 3 AmD 557.

Miss.—Burrage v. Melson, 48 Miss. 237.

Mont.—Chestnut v. Sales, 44 Mont. 534, 121 P 481.

Nebr.—Oak Creek Valley Bank v. Hudkins, 115 Nebr. 628, 214 NW 68; Romberg v. Hughes, 18 Nebr. 579, 26 NW 351.

Nev.—Buckley v. Buckley, 12 Nev. 423.

N. J.—Conlen v. Lemmerman, 87 N. J. L. 84, 93 A 722; Pedrick v. Kuemmell, 74 N. J. L. 379, 65 A 846; Bishop, etc., Co. v. Keffer, 69 N. J. L. 47, 54 A 402; Maguire v. Dutton, 54 N. J. L. 597, 25 A 254; Frazier v. Fredericks, 24 N. J. L. 162.

N. M.—Hyde v. Elmer, 14 N. M. 39, 88 P 1132.

N. Y.—Gindin v. Gottlieb, 191 NYS 218.

N. C.—Standard Dry-Kiln Co. v. Ellington, 172 N. C. 481, 90 SE 564.

Okl.—Chilton v. Carpenter, 78 Okl. 210, 189 P 747; Hunt v. Cohen, 74 Okl. 248, 179 P 1.

Or.—Coffin v. Taylor, 16 Or. 375, 18 P 638.

Pa.—Harrisburg Electric Light Co. v. Goodman, 129 Pa. 206, 19 A 844; Brown v. Judge, 80 Pa. Super. 570.

S. C.—Manley v. Bailey, 151 S. C. 366, 149 SE 119.

Tenn.—Parham v. Riley, 4 Coldw. 5.

Wis.—Graves v. Sittig, 5 Wis. 219.

[40] U. S.—Olivier v. Mt. Union Tanning, etc., Co., 253 Fed. 593 [rev on other grounds 264 Fed. 601].

Colo.—Clay v. Martinez, 74 Colo. 10, 218 P 903; Walker v. MacMillan, 62 Colo. 136, 160 P 1062; Smith v. Stevens, 14 Colo. A. 491, 60 P 580.

La.—Freeport, etc., Fuel Oil Corp. v. Lange, 157 La. 217, 102 S 313.

Nev.—Buckley v. Buckley, 12 Nev. 423.

N. C.—Standard Dry-Kiln Co. v. Ellington, 172 N. C. 481, 90 SE 564.

Pa.—Harrisburg Electric Light Co. v. Goodman, 129 Pa. 206, 19 A 844; McDonald v. Scaife, 11 Pa. 381, 51 AmD 556.

Utah.—Dolinsky v. Williams, 56 Utah 186, 189 P 873.

[a] Pretium affectionis.—In replevin for a slave, the pretium affectionis is not a proper element to be considered in estimating the value of the slave. Moseley v. Anderson, 40 Miss. 49.

[b] Judgment for damages for hauling timber to a river, in addition to an award of the value of the timber at the place it was found, was erroneous where the evidence showed that the value of the timber after having been hauled to the river was increased in an amount equal to the cost of hauling. Bridgeman v. Augusta Cooperage Co., 147 Ark. 378, 227 SW 602.

[c] In New Jersey (1) where defendant rebonds the property, judgment under 3 Comp. St. (1910) p 4376 and Replevin Act § 33 shall be for the value of the property. Conlen v. Lemmerman, 87 N. J. L. 84, 93 A 722; Schnitzer v. Russell, 81 N. J. L. 146, 80 A 938; Pedrick v. Kuemmell, 74 N. J. L. 379, 65 A 846; Bishop, etc., Co. v. Keffer, 69 N. J. L. 47, 54 A 402; Johnson v. Mason, 64 N. J. L. 258, 45 A 618; Maguire v. Dutton, 54 N. J. L. 597, 25 A 254; Lindauer v. Teeter, 41 N. J. L. 255; Field v. Post, 38 N. J. L. 346; Harwood v. Smethurst, 29 N. J. L. 195, 80 AmD 207; Frazier v. Fredericks, 24 N. J. L. 162; West v. Caldwell, 23 N. J. L. 736. (2) Although the property was not rebonded by defendant, since at the institution of the action it was lost or destroyed, plaintiff was entitled to the value of the property. Imbesi v. Eastern Motor Co., 104 N. J. L. 251, 140 A 31 [aff 105 N. J. L. 490, 144 A 919]; Preziaso v. Union City Cleaning, etc., Co., 6 N. J. Misc. 171, 140 A 394.

Alternative judgment for value see supra § 325.

Election to take judgment for value see supra § 322.

[41] Recovery by holder of special interest see infra §§ 371, 372.

[42] See infra §§ 366-368.

[43] See infra § 370.

[44] Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 S 256; Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462; Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641; McMillan Hardware Co. v. Ross, 24 Okl. 696, 104 P 343.

[45] Rahis v. McLeod, 45 Nev. 380, 204 P 501; McMillan Hardware Co. v. Ross, 24 Okl. 696, 104 P 343.

Unreplevied property. In some jurisdictions plaintiff is entitled to damages for the wrongful detention of unreplevied property described in the writ to which the jury finds him entitled,[50] but there is also authority holding that the damages recoverable by a plaintiff for the detention of goods are limited to the goods actually replevied.[51]

Waiver of right. Plaintiff is not deprived of the right to damages for the detention of the property by his failure to require immediate delivery of the property under the writ at the institution of the action,[52] or on appeal by the opposite party.[53]

[§ 360] b. Defendant. At common law, damages were not recoverable by a defendant in replevin.[54] The judgment for defendant was for a restoration of the property and costs.[55] Certain English statutes,[56] however, gave damages to avowants, or other persons making conusance, or justifying as bailiffs in replevin for rents or services;[57] and at the present day, either by statute[58] or judicial authority, the general rule is, that defendant, if successful, may recover damages for the wrongful taking and detention of the property,[59] in such amount as will be a fair indemnity to him for the injury he has sustained,[60] and, where he is found to be entitled to a return of the property, and a return cannot be had, he may recover its value,[61] or the value of his special interest therein.[62] Damages should not be allowed, however, where the evidence fails to show that any have been sustained,[63] and there cannot be a judgment for damages where defendant is not entitled to the possession of the property.[64] A judgment rendered for damages for wrongful taking and detention will not be discharged by a return of the property.[65]

---

[46] Buckley v. Buckley, 12 Nev. 423; Hunt v. Cohen, 74 Okl. 248, 179 P 1 [cit Cyc].

[47] Exemplary damages see infra §§ 386, 387.

[48] Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Tilghman, 13 Md. 74; Hanselman v. Kegel, 60 Mich. 540, 27 NW 678.

[49] Lesser v. Norman, 51 Ark. 301, 11 SW 281; Kelly v. Altemus, 34 Ark. 184, 36 AmR 6.

[50] Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156; Dupuis v. Dupuis, 100 Conn. 96, 122 A 904; Segars v. Segars, 82 S. C. 196, 63 SE 891; Lewis v. Teale, 32 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 108.

[51] Bagley v. Cooper, 90 Vt. 576, 99 A 230.

[52] Pedrick v. Kuemmell, 74 N. J. L. 379, 65 A 846.

[53] Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80.

[a] Illustration.—The failure of plaintiff in whose favor judgment was rendered in justice's court, in an action for the recovery of personal property unlawfully detained, to get possession upon an appeal taken by the opposite party, by giving the undertaking mentioned in L. (1859) c 112 § 2, furnishes no reason why he should not recover all the damages he has sustained by the detention of the property pending such appeal. Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80.

[54] U. S.—Fields v. Crawford, 30 F. Cas. No. 18,296, 2 Hayw. & H. 256.

Ind.—Wolf v. Blue, 5 Blackf. 153; White v. Lloyd, 3 Blackf. 390.

Iowa.—Mason v. Richards, 12 Iowa 73.

Ky.—Philips v. Harriss, 3 J. J. Marsh. 122, 19 AmD 166.

Md.—Hopewell v. Price, 2 Harr. & G. 275.

Nebr.—Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085.

[55] Philips v. Harriss, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 122, 19 AmD 166. See White v. Lloyd, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 390 (where it was said that costs could not be allowed at common law or under the English statutes).

[56] St. 7 Hen. VIII c 4; 21 Hen. VIII c 19.

[57] Hopewell v. Price, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 275; Turner v. Gallilee, Hardres 153.

[58] See statutory provisions.

[59] Conn.—Hall v. Smedley Co., 151 A 321.

Ill.—Stein v. Traeger, 218 Ill. A. 122; Lorenzo v. Hunter, 185 Ill. A. 574; Clow v. Yount, 93 Ill. A. 112.

Iowa.—McIntire v. Eastman, 76 Iowa 455, 41 NW 162.

Ky.—Rogers v. Bradford, 8 Bush 163; Tuley v. Mauzey, 4 B. Mon. 5.

Me.—Smith v. Deojay, 124 Me. 381, 130 A 130; Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462.

Mass.—Guaranty Security Corp. v. Brophy, 243 Mass. 597, 137 NE 751; Boston Loan Co. v. Myers, 143 Mass. 446, 9 NE 805; Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328.

Mich.—Burt v. Burt, 41 Mich. 82, 1 NW 936.

Minn.—Qualy v. Johnson, 80 Minn. 408, 83 NW 393.

Miss.—Kendrick v. Watkins, 54 Miss. 495.

Mont.—Hammond v. Thompson, 54 Mont. 609, 173 P 229.

Nebr.—Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Teel v. Miles, 51 Nebr. 542, 71 NW 296; Creighton v. Newton, 5 Nebr. 100; Merrick County School Dist. No. 2 v. Shoemaker, 5 Nebr. 36.

N. Y.—Woodruff v. Cook, 25 Barb. 505; Rowley v. Gibbs, 14 Johns. 385.

Okl.—Lanyon v. Byus, 81 Okl. 203, 197 P 162; Thomas v. Tecumseh First Nat. Bank, 32 Okl. 115, 121 P 272, Ann Cas1914A 376.

Pa.—Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

Tenn.—Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

Wis.—Saunderson v. Lace, 2 Pinn. 257, 1 Chandl. 231.

Wyo.—Hunt v. Thompson, 19 Wyo. 523, 120 P 181, 122 P 624.

N. S.—Freeman v. Harrington, 5 N. S. 352.

[a] "Right and proper" damages.—Under a statute directing that the jury in replevin "shall assess to him (defendant) such damages as they think right and proper," a successful defendant is entitled to damages for the wrongful detention of his property. Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Hunt v. Thompson, 19 Wyo. 523, 120 P 181, 122 P 624.

[b] A statute providing that no counter-claim shall be allowed in an action of replevin was not meant to prevent defendant from setting up the value of the property and the damages suffered by him on account of its detention under the writ, and recovering the property, or its value, and damages for its wrongful detention, where other statutes specially provide that he may do this. McIntire v. Eastman, 76 Iowa 455, 41 NW 162.

[60] Dupuis v. Dupuis, 100 Conn. 96, 122 A 904; Boston Loan Co. v. Myers, 143 Mass. 446, 9 NE 805.

[a] Price paid for a new lunch wagon by defendant could not be awarded defendant in addition to a recovery of the lunch wagon replevied or its value. Adams v. Wright, 74 Conn. 551, 51 A 537.

[61] Hitch v. Riggin, 26 Del. 84, 80 A 975; Taylor v. Richardson, 9 Del. 300.

[a] In Kansas, under Comp. L. (1862) p 641 (Justices' Ct. Act § 141), judgment for defendant for the value of the property may not also include damages for detention. Garrett v. Wood, 3 Kan. 231.

[b] In New Hampshire defendant, on a verdict in his favor, is entitled to judgment for the value of the property and not for a return. Dickinson v. Lovell, 35 N. H. 9; Messer v. Bailey, 31 N. H. 9; Kendall v. Fitts, 22 N. H. 1; Bell v. Bartlett, 7 N. H. 178.

Alternative judgment for value see supra § 325.

Election to take judgment for value see supra § 322.

[62] Value recoverable by one having special interest see infra §§ 371, 372.

[63] Wangler v. Franklin, 70 Mo 659.

[§ 361] 2. Connection with Suit for Possession—a. In General. The rule that in replevin all the equities of the parties may be adjusted[66] relates only to the adjustment of the rights and interests in the property in controversy,[67] so that the damages recoverable in replevin must be connected with and incident to the contest over the possession of the property[68] and unless they do so arise are not recoverable merely because connected with the transaction by reason or virtue of which plaintiff's alleged right of taking possession accrued.[69] Where the damages claimed arise out of or are connected with the subject matter of the replevin action, they may be recovered in that action.[70] A party cannot recover damages in replevin for breach of contract,[71] or for matters growing out of a prior action.[72]

A lien on the property in controversy, by virtue of which defendant asserts his right to hold the property, may be settled in the replevin action,[73] although it has also been held that defendant's claim under a lien on the property in controversy could not be adjudicated in the replevin as such claim was not damage arising from the contest over the possession of the property.[74]

[§ 362] b. Injury to Property Other than That in Suit. Damages for injury to property other than that replevied, as for instance personal effects in a building seized and removed under a writ of replevin, cannot be recovered by defendant.[75] Matters of this character cannot properly be adjudicated in an action which concerns only the claims of the respective parties to the building.[76]

[§ 363] 3. Damages Resulting from Act of Party Claiming. Where a person permits the mingling of his property with that of another so as to make it impossible for an officer levying an execution against the property of the latter to select the judgment debtor's property and distinguish it from the former's property such officer is not liable in damages.[77] Where plaintiff claims substantial damages for property wrongfully detained the value of which by his own act he has destroyed, no substantial damages are recoverable.[78]

[§ 364] B. Nominal Damages. In accordance with well-settled principles governing the law of damages[79] the prevailing party in an action of replevin is, in any event, entitled to nominal damages because his rights have been infringed.[80] To warrant a recovery of nominal damages, no evidence that actual damages have been sustained is necessary.[81] It is equally well settled, however, that in the absence of any evidence to show actual damages noth-

---

64. Neis v. Gillen, 27 Ark. 184; Whitwell v. Wells, 24 Pick. (Mass.) 25; J. E. McMillan Hardware Co. v. Ross, 24 Okl. 696, 104 P 343.

65. Satisfaction of judgment for damages see supra § 328.

66. Scope of relief in replevin see supra § 312.

67. International Hospital Equipment Co. v. St. Louis Fire Door Co., (Mo. A.) 13 SW (2d) 582.

68. Switzer v. Turansky, 101 Conn. 60, 124 A 720; International Hospital Equipment Co. v. St. Louis Fire Door Co., (Mo. A.) 13 SW (2d) 582; Russe v. Hendricks, 75 Mo. A. 386; Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Thomas v. Mann, 22 Wyo. 99, 135 P 1088.

[a] The replevin action is primarily to adjudicate the possession of the property.—Other rights and claims must be determined, as a general rule, in other appropriate proceedings, even though closely connected with the controversy out of which the contest over possession arises. Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085.

[b] Compensation for care of sheep replevied was not recoverable by defendant in the replevin action. Thomas v. Mann, 22 Wyo. 99, 135 P 1088.

69. Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085.

70. Babb v. Talcott, 47 Mo. 343; Holmberg v. Will, 52 Okl. 745, 153 P 832; Bottoms v. Clark, 38 Okl. 243, 132 P 903.

[a] Where animals were taken damage feasant and were replevied by the owner, defendant could recover damages suffered by reason of the trespass. Holmberg v. Will, 52 Okl. 745, 153 P 832; Bottoms v. Clark, 38 Okl. 243, 132 P 903.

71. Delaware Mar. Supply Mfg. Co. v. Philadelphia Lamp Mfg. Co., 28 Del. 524, 95 A 235 [aff 28 Del. 81, 90 A 595]; International Hospital Equipment Co. v. St. Louis Fire Door Co., (Mo. A.) 13 SW (2d) 582.

72. Ruggles v. Wilson, 162 Mo. A. 372, 142 SW 772.

[a] Illustration.—In replevin for goods held under attachment against a third person, it was error to allow plaintiff damages on account of a levy under a prior attachment, validity of which she recognized by redeeming the property therefrom. Ruggles v. Wilson, 162 Mo. A. 372, 142 SW 772.

73. Thomas v. Merrill, 169 N. C. 623, 86 SE 593.

[a] Lien for labor performed.—A defendant's claim for work done in cutting and rafting logs for which the statute gave a lien, may be satisfied and awarded in the replevin suit. Thomas v. Merrill, 169 N. C. 623, 86 SE 593.

74. Switzer v. Turansky, 101 Conn. 60, 124 A 720.

[a] Illustration.—Defendants are not entitled to recover value of lining and labor furnished in working on article, since only such damages are recoverable by defendant as arise from act of replevy. Switzer v. Turansky, 101 Conn. 60, 124 A 720.

75. Jameson v. Kent, 42 Nebr. 412, 60 NW 879; Dietrichs v. Lincoln, etc., R. Co., 13 Nebr. 43, 13 NW 13.

76. Jameson v. Kent, 42 Nebr. 412, 60 NW 879; Dietrichs v. Lincoln, etc., R. Co., 13 Nebr. 43, 13 NW 13.

77. Wildman v. Sterritt, 80 Mich. 651, 45 NW 657. And see as supporting this view Shumway v. Ritter, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 443, 19 AmD 340; Lewis v. Whittemore, 5 N. H. 364, 22 AmD 466.

78. Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798.

[a] Cancellation of stocks and bonds.—Where plaintiff delivered certain of its stocks and bonds to defendant to hold and to become the latter's property upon exchange of an electric light plant, and on defendant's refusal to execute the contract of exchange, the plaintiff rescinded the contract and by resolution declared the stocks and bonds cancelled, no damages for their value can be recovered in action of replevin. Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798.

79. See Damages § 58.

80. U. S.—Ford Motor Co. v. Farrington, 245 Fed. 850, 158 CCA 190; Treat v. Staples, 24 F. Cas. No. 14,162, Holmes 1; Fields v. Crawford, 30 F. Cas. No. 18,296, 2 Hayw. & H. 256.

Del.—Reynolds v. Donaway, 30 Del. 461, 108 A 139; Frick v. Miller, 30 Del. 366, 107 A 391 [aff 107 A 394].

Ind.—Cardwill v. Gilmore, 86 Ind. 428.

Mass.—Jarvis v. De Peza, 251 Mass. 447, 146 NE 662; Smith v. Whiting, 100 Mass. 122.

Mo.—American Alliance Ins. Co. v. Mead, (A.) 242 SW 1005.

Nebr.—Frey v. Drahos, 7 Nebr. 194.

N. H.—Sanborn v. Leavitt, 43 N. H. 473.

Vt.—Starkey v. Waite, 69 Vt. 193, 37 A 292.

Wis.—Booth v. Ableman, 20 Wis. 21, 88 AmD 730.

81. Marks v. Grace, 205 Ky. 456, 266 SW 30; Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Oldham, 136 Mass. 515; Frey v. Drahos, 7 Nebr. 94; Hart v. Johnston, 9 Sask. L. 201, 27 DomLR 450, 34 WestLR 225. And see Damages § 59.

ing beyond nominal damages are recoverable.[82]

[§ 365] C. Contingent or Speculative Damages.[83] Damages which cannot be established with reasonable certainty, or which are contingent or speculative, cannot be allowed either party in an action of replevin,[84] and anticipated profits in the ordinary sense of the term are usually within the prohibition,[85] so that damages arising from the possible loss of customers,[86] or the interruption of business,[87] are usually too remote and speculative to warrant a recovery.[88] It has been held, however, that the jury may, and if in their opinion justice demands it, ought to, allow defendant, as damages, the loss of near and probable profits arising from a temporary rise in market value.[89] And where the evidence makes it reasonably certain that the prevailing party would have made a profit but for the wrongful detention the damages resulting are not speculative so as to preclude a recovery.[90] So in an action for the wrongful detention of property, whereby plaintiff was necessarily interrupted in his business for a definite time and to an extent which he could not have lessened by reasonable effort, and that during such time he could have made a certain profit, such loss would be sufficiently certain for consideration and would be a basis for consequential damages.[91]

[§ 366] D. Value of Property—1. Time of Valuation[92]—a. In General. Due largely to the difference in the statutes,[93] there is a marked diversity of opinion respecting the time when the value of the property sued for in a replevin action should be determined for the purpose of fixing the amount of an alternative money judgment.[94] In some jurisdictions the view has been adopted that in replevin the value of the property is to be measured as of the time of the wrongful taking,[95] or at the time of the

---

82. U. S.—Treat v. Staples, 24 F. Cas. No. 14,162, Holmes 1.

Ark.—Smith v. Houston, 25 Ark. 183.

Cal.—Redd v. Garford Motor Truck Co., 205 Cal. 245, 270 P 447.

Colo.—Sopris v. Webster, 1 Colo. 507.

Ill.—Seabury v. Ross, 69 Ill. 533.

Mass.—Whitman v. Merrill, 125 Mass. 127; Bartlett v. Brickett, 14 Allen 62.

Mich.—Phenix v. Clark, 2 Mich. 327.

Miss.—Thornton v. Gardner, 134 Miss. 485, 99 S 131.

N. M.—Hyde v. Elmer, 14 N. M. 39, 88 P 1132.

Tenn.—Mann v. Grove, 4 Heisk. 403.

Utah.—Nielsen v. Hyland, 51 Utah 334, 170 P 778.

Wash.—Babare v. Rodman, 130 Wash. 317, 226 P 1015 [mod on reh 127 Wash. 436, 221 P 292].

[a] Application of rule.—Where a plaintiff cancelled stocks and bonds which it sought to replevy, and thereby reduced them to a mere nominal value, he could only recover nominal damages. Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798.

83. Generally see Damages § 86.

84. Ark.—Kelly v. Altemus, 34 Ark. 184, 36 AmR 6.

Cal.—Tucker v. Hagerty, 37 Cal. A. 789, 174 P 908 (dictum).

Ill.—Butler v. Mehrling, 15 Ill. 488.

Iowa.—Wilson v. Hillhouse, 14 Iowa 199.

Kan.—Haas v. Tough, 67 Kan. 253, 72 P 856; Smith v. Bryant, 1 Kan. A. 754, 41 P 1069.

Me.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462; Brannin v. Johnson, 19 Me. 361.

Mich.—Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564.

Minn.—Northern Timber Products Co. v. Stone-Ordean-Wells Co., 143 Minn. 200, 173 NW 439.

Nebr.—Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085.

N. M.—Roth v. Yara, 19 N. M. 8, 140 P 1071.

N. C.—Bowen v. King, 146 N. C. 385, 59 SE 1044; Sledge v. Reid, 73 N. C. 440.

Pa.—Houghton v. Rock, 8 Phila. 42.

S. C.—Loeb v. Mann, 41 S. C. 206, 18 SE 490.

Tenn.—Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

Wis.—Beveridge v. Welch, 7 Wis. 465.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) In replevin against a sheriff, it was not competent for the plaintiff to show, for the purpose of fixing his damages, that he was compelled to deposit with his surety on the replevin bond a sum of money as indemnity. Wilson v. Hillhouse, 14 Iowa 199. (2) In replevin for the recovery of ten horses, the cost of caring for and feeding fifteen other horses belonging to plaintiffs, in another town, during the time the ten were detained, could not be recovered as damages on the ground that plaintiffs in the action intended to ship all of the horses to market in one car, and that all were necessary to make a car-load. Such damages were too remote and speculative. Haas v. Tough, 67 Kan. 253, 72 P 856. (3) The loss of a job by the wrongful taking and detention of one's tools was too remote as an element of damage. Kelly v. Altemus, 34 Ark. 184, 36 AmR 6.

85. Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564; Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Bowen v. King, 146 N. C. 385, 59 SE 1044.

86. Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462.

87. Mich.—Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564.

Minn.—Northern Timber Products Co. v. Stone-Ordean-Wells Co., 143 Minn. 200, 173 NW 439.

N. Y.—Brizsee v. Maybee, 21 Wend. 144.

Pa.—McCabe v. Morehead, 1 Watts & S. 513.

Wis.—Beveridge v. Welch, 7 Wis. 465.

[a] Illustration.—In replevin for a boat wrongfully taken, compensation cannot be determined by the prospective profits which the owner would have derived from the use of the boat, contingent upon his chance of business. Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564.

88. See cases supra notes 84–87.

89. Maybury v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 117.

90. Slattery v. Tillman, 197 Mich. 349, 163 NW 938; Eitzen v. Hilbert, 165 Mich. 650, 131 NW 449.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Evidence, in replevin for an auto, as a basis for damages for its unlawful detention, that it had been in use up to the time it was wrongfully detained, and that in the month previous it had earned $300, was not open to the objection of being wholly speculative and conjectural. Slattery v. Tillman, 197 Mich. 349, 163 NW 938. (2) Evidence of probable earnings of certain musical instruments for the period retained was admissible to fix damages for the wrongful detention thereof. Arnold v. Wurlitzer, 31 Oh. Cir. Ct. 491. (3) In replevin to recover sixty-one hens, evidence that the plaintiff might have made twenty-five cents a day in eggs and chickens if the hens had been in his possession was not so speculative as to preclude an allowance for their detention. Eitzen v. Hilbert, 165 Mich. 650, 131 NW 449.

91. Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156; Bowen v. King, 146 N. C. 385, 59 SE 1044.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Plaintiff, in an action to recover personal property and fixtures, was entitled to recover damages for the loss of profits in its business during the time the business was closed on account of the wrongful detention, and the fact that the loss cannot be measured with mathematical accuracy is not a sufficient reason for denying compensation. Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156. (2) Where defendant had wrongfully detained plaintiff's teams so that he was prevented from fulfilling a contract for the delivery of timber at a profit, the damages awarded may be on the basis of profits he could have made during the time his work was necessarily interrupted. Bowen v. King, 146 N. C. 385, 59 SE 1044.

92. In detinue see Detinue § 80.

In trover and conversion see Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2094].

93. See statutory provisions.

94. See infra text and notes 95–3.

Alternative judgment for value see supra § 325.

Election to take judgment for value see supra § 322.

95. Fla.—Cary v. Hyer, 91 Fla. 322, 107 S 684; Florida Trust, etc., Co. v. Consolidated Title Co., 86 Fla. 317, 98 S 915.

Ida.—Tannahill v. Lydon, 31 Ida. 608, 173 P 1146.

Kan.—Morrison v. Montgomery, 101

wrongful detention where the original taking was lawful,[96] or at the time of the conversion by the wrongdoer,[97] or at the time of the demand for and refusal of possession by the wrongdoer.[98] Other jurisdictions have followed the rule that in assessing the value of the property the value should be that which the property has at the time of the trial, and the depreciation, if any, allowed as damages.[99] In

---

Kan. 670, 168 P 674; Werner v. Graley, 54 Kan. 383, 38 P 482; Garrett v. Wood, 3 Kan. 231.

Me.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 68 Me. 449.

Mass.—Sullivan v. Martinelli, 261 Mass. 261, 158 NE 662.

Mich.—Nitz v. Bolton, 71 Mich. 388, 39 NW 15; Hanselman v. Kegel, 60 Mich. 540, 27 NW 678.

Minn.—McLeod v. Capehart, 50 Minn. 101, 52 NW 381; Sherman v. Clark, 24 Minn. 37; Berthold v. Fox, 13 Minn. 501, 97 AmD 243.

Mont.—Osmers v. Furey, 32 Mont. 581, 81 P 345.

Nebr.—Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Heidiman-Benoist Saddlery Co. v. Schott, 59 Nebr. 20, 80 NW 47; Dodge v. Runels, 20 Nebr. 33, 28 NW 849; Moore v. Kepner, 7 Nebr. 291; Frey v. Drahos, 7 Nebr. 194.

N. J.—Knight v. Huber Inv. Co., 102 N. J. L. 359, 132 A 656; Schnitzer v. Russell, 81 N. J. L. 146, 80 A 938; Maguire v. Dutton, 54 N. J. L. 597, 25 A 254.

S. D.—Benjamin v. Huston, 16 S. D. 569, 94 NW 584.

Tenn.—Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

Utah.—Newton v. Brown, 1 Utah 287.

Wis.—Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436.

[a] Illustration.—On dismissal of replevin action for failure to prosecute, defendant was entitled to the value of the automobile at the time it was taken, the automobile having been disposed of by the wrongdoer. Sullivan v. Martinelli, 261 Mass. 261, 158 NE 662.

[b] Application of rule.—Where the defendant purchased wheat upon which the plaintiff claimed a chattel mortgage, the plaintiff could not enhance his damages by delay in bringing an action of replevin and the price of the wheat at the time it was purchased by the defendant was the proper basis of value. Morrison v. Montgomery, 101 Kan. 670, 168 P 674.

[c] In North Carolina (1) it was originally held that the value is assessed as of the time of the trial (Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467; Scott v. Elliott, 63 N. C. 215), (2) the rule has been changed by statute so that value is assessed as of the time of the taking (Hall v. Tillman, 110 N. C. 220, 14 SE 745).

[d] In Oklahoma the value of the property is the price at which the owner might have bought an equivalent thing in the market nearest to the place where the property was wrongfully taken or detained, and at such time after the breach of duty upon which his right to damages is founded as would suffice with reasonable diligence for him to make a purchase. Cook v. Duncan First Nat. Bank, 110 Okl. 111, 236 P 883; Shipman v. Adamson, 96 Okl. 84, 221 P 74; Myers v. Hubbard, 80 Okl. 97, 194 P 433; Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 655, 29 LRA NS 747, AnnCas1912B 302; Robb v. Dobrinski, 14 Okl. 563, 78 P 101, 1 AnnCas 981; Barse Live-Stock Comn. v. McKinster, 10 Okl. 708, 64 P 14. See Mitchelson v. Commercial Inv. Trust, 97 Okl. 98, 222 P 663 (valuation as of time of wrongful replevy).

[96] 96. Swift v. Barnes, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 194; McLeod v. Capehart, 50 Minn. 101, 52 NW 381; Mitchelson v. Commercial Inv. Trust, 97 Okl. 98, 222 P 663; Aultman Co. v. McDonough, 110 Wis. 263, 85 NW 980.

[97] 97. Barnard v. Corlett, 62 Colo. 226, 161 P 156; Imbesi v. Eastern Motor Co., 104 N. J. L. 251, 140 A 31 [aff 105 N. J. L. 490, 144 A 919]; J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Scott, 131 Wash. 328, 230 P 151; Armour v. Seixas, 80 Wash. 181, 141 P 308.

[a] Illustration.—Where a defendant in replevin, giving a redelivery bond and retaining possession of hay replevied, fed it to his stock, the damages of the plaintiff as owner were the value of the hay at the time of the conversion. Barnard v. Corlett, 62 Colo. 226, 161 P 156.

[98] 98. American Packing Co. v. Luketa, 115 Wash. 1, 196 P 1, 22 ALR 206. See Hartnett v. Wilson, 31 Cal. A. 678, 161 P 281 (where it was suggested that the value at the time of demand should prevail).

[99] 99. Ala.—Avary v. Perry Stove Mfg. Co., 96 Ala. 406, 11 S 417.

Ariz.—Consolidated Nat. Bank v. Cunningham, 24 Ariz. 437, 210 P 850; Gray v. Robinson, 4 Ariz. 24, 33 P 712.

Cal.—Phillips v. Sutherland, 2 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 241, 2 P 32; Nelson v. Yonge, 73 Cal. A. 704, 239 P 67. But see Hartnett v. Wilson, 31 Cal. A. 678, 161 P 281 (where the court, after citing Phillips v. Sutherland, supra, intimated that the value of the property at the time demand for its delivery was made should prevail).

Mo.—Richey v. Burnes, 83 Mo. 362; Mix v. Kepner, 81 Mo. 93; Chapman v. Kerr, 80 Mo. 158 [disappr Miller v. Whitson, 40 Mo. 97; Woodburn v. Cogdal, 39 Mo. 222]; Pope v. Jenkins, 30 Mo. 528; Joseph Greenspon's Sons Iron, etc., Co. v. Gerstein, (A.) 27 SW (2d) 487; Brunke v. Salinger, (A.) 8 SW (2d) 88; Yahlem Motor Co. v. McCord, (A.) 299 SW 49; Muzenich v. McCain, (A.) 274 SW 888; Todd v. Fitzpatrick, (A.) 259 SW 490; Lacquement v. Bellamy, (A.) 253 SW 1076; American Alliance Ins. Co. v. Mead, (A.) 242 SW 1005; Smith v. Mallory, (A.) 188 SW 934; Fergusson v. Comfort, 194 Mo. A. 423, 184 SW 1192; Jones v. Jones, 188 Mo. A. 220, 175 SW 227; Standard Oil Co. v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., 84 Mo. A. 76; Westbay v. Milligan, 74 Mo. A. 179; Merrill Chemical Co. v. Nickells, 66 Mo. A. 678; Kirkendall v. Hartsock, 58 Mo. A. 234; W. W. Kendall Boat, etc., Co. v. Bain, 46 Mo. A. 581; Hinchey v. Koch, 42 Mo. A. 230; Miller v. Bryden, 34 Mo. A. 602; Hoester v. Teppe, 27 Mo. A. 207; Schultz v. Hickman, 27 Mo. A. 21; White v. Storms, 21 Mo. A. 288; Anchor Milling Co. v. Walsh, 20 Mo. A. 107; Burkeholder v. Rudrow, 19 Mo. A. 60.

Nev.—Gardner v. Brown, 22 Nev. 156, 37 P 240; Carson v. Applegarth, 6 Nev. 187.

N. Y.—Commerce Exch. Nat. Bank v. Blye, 123 N. Y. 132, 25 NE 208; Redmond v. American Mfg. Co., 121 N. Y. 415, 24 NE 924; New York Guaranty, etc., Co. v. Flynn, 55 N. Y. 653; Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641; Brewster v. Silliman, 38 N. Y. 423; Ellis v. Berndt, 223 App. Div. 421, 228 NYS 487; O'Reilley v. Erlanger, 108 App. Div. 318, 95 NYS 760; Gilroy v. Everson-Hickok Co., 103 App. Div. 574, 93 NYS 132; Ditmars v. Sackett, 81 Hun 317, 30 NYS 721; Duffus v. Schwinger, 79 Hun 541, 29 NYS 930; Young v. Willett, 21 N. Y. Super. 486; Raynore v. Drake, 116 Misc. 307, 190 NYS 436; Pabst Brewing Co. v. Rapid Safety Filter Co., 56 Misc. 445, 107 NYS 163; Pabst Brewing Co. v. Rapid Safety Filter Co., 54 Misc. 305, 105 NYS 962; Ehrenreich v. Knudsen, 157 NYS 1082; Button v. Chapin, 7 NYCivProc 278.

Tex.—Morris v. Coburn, 71 Tex. 406, 9 SW 345; Brookmole v. Kinchen, (Civ. A.) 253 SW 953; Nolan v. Sevine, 36 Tex. Civ. A. 489, 81 SW 990; Talcott v. Rose, (Civ. A.) 64 SW 1009; Halbert v. San Saba Springs Land, etc., Assoc., (Civ. A.) 34 SW 636.

[a] Reasons for rule.—(1) "The value here intended is the value at the time of the trial. In case the prevailing party can obtain a delivery of the property, he must take it as it then is; if he cannot obtain such delivery, then the value is intended as a substitute and precise equivalent of the property. The damages for detention are the same, whether the party recover the property or its value. Now, suppose the property has been badly depreciated, intermediate the wrongful taking and the trial, still the prevailing party is obliged to take it if he can obtain it, and he is indemnified for the depreciation by the damages assessed to him. But he recovers the same damages if he cannot obtain the property and is obliged to take its value, and then if the value has been assessed as it existed at the time of the taking, before the depreciation, it is clear that he gets more than an indemnity. Hence there is no way of administering this law, except by holding that the value required to be assessed by the jury means the value at the time of the trial (Brewster v. Silliman, 38 N. Y. 423, 429; Young v. Willett, 21 N. Y. Super. 486)." Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 564, 10 AmR 641. (2) "It would seem upon principle that under a statute like ours the jury should determine its value as of the date of their verdict. If assessed at that time, and the value of the property be greater than when it was taken or detained, the prevailing party would secure the advantage of the appreciation; but, if the value were less, damages could be awarded him for the depreciation." La Vie v. Crosby, 43 Or. 612, 617, 74 P 220.

[b] Criticism of rule.—"I think the Legislature, in providing that the jury should ascertain the value of the property, and should give interest upon that value, could not have contemplated that the value should be fixed as of the time of the trial; and there are other objections to a rule fixing the value at that time. The time when the property was taken from the defendant, by virtue of the writ of replevin, is naturally suggested as that at which the value of the property should be determined, and other jurisdictions the value of the property is measured as of the time of the issuance of the writ to recover possession,[1] or of the time of the commencement of the action,[2] and any decrease or difference between the value at the date of the conversion and at the time the writ issued, which is properly attributable to a defendant, can be allowed as damages for detention.[3]

Question of law or fact. The time as of which the value of property taken is to be ascertained is not a question of fact to be determined by the jury,[4] although where the statute is silent in respect to the time at which the value is to be measured, it is within the province of the jury to determine the time.[5]

[§ 367] b. Where Property Not Available at Trial. When at the time of the trial the property has been lost or destroyed, the rule that the value is to be assessed as of the time of the trial has been held inapplicable, and in such case the value is measured as of the time of the wrongful taking or detention.[6]

[§ 368] c. Where Property Fluctuates in Value. Under rules of general application in other classes of actions for the conversion or detention of personal property,[7] which are equally applicable in actions of replevin,[8] while the value of the property is ordinarily measured as of the time of the wrongful taking or detention,[9] there are decisions announcing a different rule where the property has fluctuated in value during the wrongful detention;[10] the general principle applied being that the prevailing party must be adequately compensated,[11] but that the wrongdoer shall not profit by his wrong.[12] So it has been held that, where it has not been shown that the prevailing party who has, under a statute, elected to take the value of the property is deprived of a higher value than he would have profited by had he retained possession and further, it is not shown that the wrongdoer profited by the higher immediate value, the prevailing party will not be entitled to the highest price available between the time of the wrongful detention and before the entry of judgment.[13] On the other hand, an intermediate higher value may be allowed when the enhanced price has

---

we think that is the time which the Legislature contemplated should be adopted for that purpose. This rule is simple, and under it and the provisions of our statutes, there is no difficulty in arriving at substantial justice in any particular case belonging to this perplexing class. The objection to the rule fixing the value at the time of the trial, is, that the statute requires the jury to give interest upon the value fixed, which would, of course, be impossible if the value were fixed at the time of the trial." Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 117, 121.

[c] Illustration.—In an action to recover possession of an automobile of which defendant came into possession rightfully, but wrongfully withheld upon demand, the value of the property is determined as of the time of the trial and not as of the time of demand. Nelson v. Yonge, 73 Cal. A. 704, 239 P 67.

[1] Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798; Woods v. Klein, 223 Pa. 257, 72 A 523; Herdic v. Young, 55 Pa. 176, 79 AmD 739; Phillips v. Stroup, 1 Mon. (Pa.) 517, 17 A 220; Johnson v. Groff, 22 Pa. Super. 85; Brindle v. Adams, 33 LegInt (Pa.) 322.

[2] Brown v. Kammerman, 168 Ark. 278, 270 SW 86.

[a] Illustration.—In replevin for logs where the owner was prevented from removing them by the purchaser of the property on which they were located and where the evidence showed that the logs had no market value at their location when replevied, but did have value when removed to the nearest market, the value of the logs should be determined as of the time the suit in replevin was instituted rather than at the time defendant claimed the timber. Brown v. Kammerman, 168 Ark. 278, 270 SW 86.

[3] Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798.

[4] Barnard v. Corlett, 62 Colo. 226, 161 P 156.

[5] Farmers' Loan, etc., Co. v. Hansen, 123 Or. 72, 260 P 999; La Vie v. Crosby, 43 Or. 612, 616, 74 P 220.

"The statute . . . being silent in respect to the time when the value of the property taken from the prevailing party is to be assessed when a return thereof cannot be had, it is susceptible to such construction as will make it the duty of the jury to determine such value either when the property was taken or at the time of the trial, as may best seem to promote substantial justice." La Vie v. Crosby, supra.

[6] Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Hall v. Tillman, 110 N. C. 220, 14 SE 745; Miller v. Hahn, 84 N. C. 226. See Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467 (dictum). See also Werner v. Graley, 54 Kan. 383, 38 P 482 (holding testimony as to value should have been confined to the value of the articles at the time they were taken).

[a] Sale of property after the commencement of the action, but before trial would necessitate assessing the value at the date of the wrongful taking where the location of the property was unknown. Miller v. Hahn, 84 N. C. 226.

[b] In Missouri (1) in such a case, some of the decisions hold that the rule applicable is the value of the property at the time of the unlawful taking or detention (Forsee v. Zenner, (A.) 193 SW 975; Westbay v. Milligan, 74 Mo. A. 179; Rosentreter v. Brady, 63 Mo. A. 398; Willson v. Smith, 60 Mo. A. 469. See Brunke v. Salinger, (A.) 8 SW (2d) 88 [dictum]; Muzenich v. McCain, (A.) 274 SW 888 [dictum]), (2) while in other cases the rule that the value of the property is to be assessed as of the time of the trial is adhered to, but evidence of the value of the property at the time of the wrongful taking or detention (Joseph Greenspon's Sons Iron, etc., Co. v. Gerstein, (A.) 27 SW (2d) 487. See Yahlem Motor Co. v. McCord, (A.) 299 SW 49 [where in replevin for an automobile the evidence as to whether it had value at the time of the trial was conflicting, but there was no evidence of its value at the time of the wrongful taking, it was error to instruct the jury to find the value at the time of the wrongful taking]), (3) or of the value when delivered to the prevailing party under the writ (Lacquement v. Bellamy, (A.) 253 SW 1076; Rosenblatt v. Winstanley, (A.) 186 SW 542), (4) or when last accessible to the prevailing party (Jennings v. Sparkman, 48 Mo. A. 246), (5) or the value at the commencement of the action, as conceded by the parties (Wm. S. Merrill Chemical Co. v. Nickells, 66 Mo. A. 678), (6) or evidence of the value of other property of the same kind and condition at the time of the trial (Schnabel v. Thomas, 98 Mo. A. 197, 71 SW 1076), (7) is admissible to fix the value at the time of the trial and such evidence, in the absence of a contrary showing, is conclusive (Wm. S. Merrill Chemical Co. v. Nickells, supra). (8) Where no depreciation occurred, judgment awarding the value as of the time of the taking will not be disturbed. Joseph Greenspon's Sons Iron, etc., Co. v. Gerstein, (A.) 27 SW (2d) 487.

[7] Cross references:
Detinue see Detinue § 80.
Trespass see Trespass [38 Cyc 1132].
Trover and conversion see Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2096].

[8] See cases infra this note.

[a] Form of action is not material in the determination of this question. Whitfield v. Whitfield, 40 Miss. 352; Baker v. Drake, 53 N. Y. 211, 13 AmR 507; Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614.

[9] Time of valuation generally see supra § 366.

[10] See infra text and notes 11-16; Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc. 2096].

[11] Page v. Fowler, 39 Cal. 412, 2 AmR 462; Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614.

[12] Suydam v. Jenkins, supra.

[13] Suydam v. Jenkins, supra. See La Vie v. Crosby, 43 Or. 612, 74 P 220 (where property is to be valued at the time of trial, an instruction that the party was entitled to the highest value was harmless where the value at the time of the trial was the highest value).

[a] Illustration.—Under a statute permitting a defendant an election to take the value without reference to the time of valuation, in replevin for flour which had fluctuated in value during the detention, the defendant on recovery was not entitled to the highest price intermediate the wrongful taking and the trial, where it is shown that the defendant would have probably sold the flour at a lower price had he retained possession and been realized by the wrongdoer, or it is reasonable to believe and closely probable that the owner would have realized it had he retained possession.[14] It has been held that this higher value in such a case should be the highest market value within a reasonable time after the property is taken,[15] and not the highest value at any time after the taking.[16]

[§ 369] 2. Depreciation in Value[17]—a. In General. A plaintiff recovering possession of the property is entitled to recover as damages any deterioration or depreciation in the value which has taken place during the wrongful detention,[18] unless the

---

that the plaintiff did not profit by the wrongful taking. Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614.

[b] Discussion of rule.—"It seems to us exceedingly clear, that the highest price for which the property could have been sold at any time after the right of action accrued, and before the entry of judgment, cannot, except in special cases, be justly considered as the measure of damages. When the evidence justifies the conclusion that a higher price would have been obtained by the owner had he kept the possession, or has been obtained by the wrong-doer, we have admitted, and shown that it ought to be included in the estimate of damages; in the first case, as a portion of the indemnity to which the owner is entitled, and in the second, as a profit which the wrongdoer cannot be permitted to retain; but we cannot admit that the same rule is to be followed where nothing more is shown than a bare possibility that the highest price would have been realized, and still less where it is proved that it would not have been obtained by the owner, and has not been obtained by the wrongdoer. Its allowance in these cases would in truth impose a penalty upon the wrongdoer and render the damages vindictive, instead of remunerative; and it must be remembered that we are treating exclusively of the cases in which vindictive damages are not claimed, or if claimed, ought not to be given." Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614, 624.

[14] Page v. Fowler, 39 Cal. 412, 2 AmR 462; Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614 (dictum).

[15] Page v. Fowler, 39 Cal. 412, 2 AmR 462.

[a] Reasonable time.—Where hay was converted, the highest value should be measured as of time the owner would in the course of business have disposed of it, it being known that such a product being raised ordinarily for annual consumption would probably be disposed of within a few months after harvest. Page v. Fowler, 39 Cal. 412, 2 AmR 462.

[16] Page v. Fowler, supra.

[a] Reason for rule.—"In the United States, on the other hand, it has always been considered a rule of law, and the jury are allowed no discretion in the matter. The doctrine is, therefore, as I think, of American origin, and it may be remarked that all the cases concur in admitting that the general rule is that the damages are to be measured by the value of the property at the time it was taken, the doctrine in question being an exception to the rule; and though the exception has, perhaps, become the rule, it may be well to bear in mind that it originated in an exception made on the ground that, in certain cases (where the market value is fluctuating) the prevailing rule did not do full justice. The exception ought not, therefore, to be carried beyond the purpose for which it was made. That being accomplished, the ordinary rule should prevail. The reason for it must have been that, in the usual course of trade or business, it was likely that the owner would have realized the enhanced value if he had not been deprived of his property. All the cases are upon the ground that otherwise he would not be completely indemnified. It could not have been intended to give him profits it is certain he would not have realized." Page v. Fowler, 39 Cal. 412, 422, 2 AmR 462.

[17] In trover and conversion see Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2099].

[18] Ark.—Vanhoozer v. Gattis, 139 Ark. 390, 214 SW 44.

Cal.—Anglo-California Trust Co. v. Collins, 192 Cal. 315, 219 P 982; Berry v. Bakersfield Bank, 177 Cal. 206, 170 P 415; Morris v. Allen, 17 Cal. A. 684, 121 P 690. But see Conroy v. Flint, 5 Cal. 327 (depreciation not allowed where property returned).

Colo.—Rice v. Cassells, 48 Colo. 73, 108 P 1001.

Ill.—Brennan v. Shinkle, 89 Ill. 604; Clow v. Yount, 93 Ill. A. 112.

Kan.—Russell v. Smith, 14 Kan. 366.

Ky.—Philips v. Harriss, 3 J. J. Marsh. 122, 19 AmD 166.

Mich.—Riley v. Littlefield, 84 Mich. 22, 47 NW 576; Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564 (dictum).

Mo.—Mix v. Kepner, 81 Mo. 93; Chapman v. Kerr, 80 Mo. 158; Cummings v. Badger Lumber Co., 130 Mo. A. 557, 109 SW 68; Trimble v. Keer, etc., Mercantile Co., 56 Mo. A. 683; Hinchey v. Koch, 42 Mo. A. 230; Baldridge v. Dawson, 39 Mo. A. 527; Miller v. Bryden, 34 Mo. A. 602.

Nebr.—Moore v. Kepner, 7 Nebr. 291; Hooker v. Hammill, 7 Nebr. 231; Frey v. Drahos, 7 Nebr. 194.

N. Y.—New York Guaranty, etc., Co. v. Flynn, 55 N. Y. 653 mem [aff 65 Barb. 265]; Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641; Brewster v. Silliman, 38 N. Y. 423; Young v. Willet, 21 N. Y. Super. 486; Pabst Brewing Co. v. Rapid Safety Filter Co., 56 Misc. 445, 107 NYS 163 (dictum); Crossley v. Hojer, 11 Misc. 57, 31 NYS 837 [aff 158 N. Y. 734 mem, 53 NE 1134 mem] (dictum); Rowley v. Gibbs, 14 Johns. 385.

N. C.—Standard Dry-Kiln Co. v. Ellington, 172 N. C. 481, 90 SE 564; Hall v. Tillman, 110 N. C. 220, 14 SE 745; Harrison v. Chappell, 84 N. C. 258; Boylston Ins. Co. v. Davis, 70 N. C. 485; Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467.

Pa.—Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

Tenn.—Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

Tex.—Tinnin v. Williams, (Civ. A.) 8 SW (2d) 757.

Wis.—Commercial Inv. Trust v. William Frankfurth Hardware Co., 179 Wis. 21, 190 NW 1004; Wadleigh v. Buckingham, 80 Wis. 230, 49 NW 745; Zitske v. Goldberg, 38 Wis. 216; Beveridge v. Welch, 7 Wis. 465; Morris v. Baker, 5 Wis. 389.

[a] Reasons for rule.—(1) "That rule is eminently just, in that it relieves the innocent owner from the risks of depreciation or destruction, against which he is prevented from guarding by the wrongful detention by another, and requires such risks to be borne by him who illegally withholds the property. The peril should rest upon the guilty, rather than the innocent." Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 379, 80 NW 436. (2) "If the property is damaged or deteriorated in actual value while in the plaintiff's custody in any respect, . . . this damage or deterioration must also be allowed in the calculation; otherwise it would be in the power of the plaintiff, by returning the damaged or deteriorated property, to throw upon the defendant the loss which he himself ought to sustain." Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 117, 122. (3) "It would be anything but an act of justice to permit a person who has wrongfully deprived another of his goods, and retained them in his possession until they were nearly destroyed by time and use, afterwards, when judgment was rendered against him for his wrongful act, to save a forfeiture of the bond by an offer to return the article in its depreciated condition." Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 29, 34.

[b] Illustrations.—(1) Where an agent exchanged an automobile for lots in violation of his authority, which defendant knew, and principal repudiated the transaction and sued for the recovery of possession and for damages, damages were the value of the car at the time of the exchange for the lots less present value. Tinnin v. Williams, (Tex. Civ. A.) 8 SW (2d) 757. (2) Where in claim and delivery for a tractor found to be worth one thousand seven hundred dollars when the action was commenced but which had deteriorated until at the time of judgment it was worth only three hundred and fifty dollars, a judgment requiring the plaintiff to take the tractor or its value on the basis of three hundred and fifty dollars was erroneous as omitting damages for deterioration. Anglo-California Trust Co. v. Collins, 192 Cal. 315, 219 P 982. (3) In actions of replevin for the possession of bonds, plaintiff is entitled to recover any depreciation in the value of the bonds between the time he became entitled to their possession and the time he actually receives them. Clow v. Yount, 93 Ill. A. 112. (4) In replevin for a horse seized by a sheriff on an attachment, plaintiff may recover damages arising from his depreciation in value by reason of not being properly cared for. Riley v. Littlefield, 84 Mich. 22, 47 NW 576.

[c] Depreciation as "just and proper" damages.—A statute providing that upon defendant's recovery he is entitled to the value of the property and such damages "as may be just and proper" includes damages for deterioration in value between the time of taking and the day of trial. Hinchey v. Koch, 42 Mo. A. 230.

[d] Application of rule to specific property.—This rule has been applied in the case of (1) a farm tractor (Anglo-California Trust Co. v. Collins, 192 Cal. 315, 219 P 982), (2) an depreciation in value is caused by his own act.[19] The fact that the property depreciates or is injured while in the custody of the officer levying the writ should not alter the rule allowing recovery.[20] If, however, the property has been restored to the successful party before suit, and it is afterward injured or otherwise impaired in value, it must be at his risk.[21] A failure to obtain possession of the property before trial by neglecting to execute a replevin bond has been held to deprive the prevailing party of damages for depreciation in value.[22]

Fault of party cast. Although the damages recoverable for the depreciation in value must be other than for depreciation which would naturally occur through wear and tear,[23] a recovery will not be denied merely on account of the absence of fault on the party cast,[24] although some courts have adhered to a contrary view.[25]

Determination of depreciation. Where the depreciation in the value of the property is allowed as an element of damage in replevin, it is estimated as the difference between its fair market value at the place and time of its wrongful taking or detention and such value at the time of the trial.[26]

[§ 370] b. Where Value of Property Recovered. Where property is valued as of the time of trial,[27] and the value of the property rather than its possession is recovered, the depreciation in value is to be included in the damages awarded,[28] but where the property is valued as of the time of the wrongful taking or detention,[29] the prevailing party suffers no damage by virtue of depreciation to the property and as a result this element of damage is not considered in the award.[30]

[§ 371] 3. Value Recoverable by One Having Special Interest[31]—a. In General. By statutory provision[32] or judicial authority, in an action of replevin where a judgment for the value of the property or alternative judgment for the value is rendered, the general rule is that the prevailing party, having but a special interest in the property in controversy, may recover as against another also having an interest in the property the extent of his special or limited interest,[33] unless such interest expires before judg-automobile (Morris v. Allen, 17 Cal. A. 684, 121 P 690), (3) fur garments (Rosenblatt v. Winstanley, (Mo. A.) 186 SW 542), (4) boats (Brewster v. Silliman, 38 N. Y. 423), (5) an engine and boiler (Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 S 256), (6) a barn (Vanhoozer v. Gattis, 139 Ark. 390, 214 SW 44), (7) oil stocks (Berry v. Bankerfield Bank, 177 Cal. 206, 170 P 415), (8) a mare (Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204), (9) a press, type, and fixtures (Dalby v. Campbell, 26 Ill. A. 502), (10) bonds (Clow v. Yount, 93 Ill. A. 112), (11) stock of goods (Franks v. Matson, 211 Ill. 338, 71 NE 1011), (12) promissory note (Fair v. Citizens' State Bank, 69 Kan. 353, 76 P 847, 105 AmSR 168, 2 AnnCas 960), (13) cattle (Russell v. Smith, 14 Kan. 366), (14) an automobile truck (Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173), (15) hogs (Mix v. Kepner, 81 Mo. 93), (16) a horse (Zitske v. Goldberg, 38 Wis. 216), (17) and ice (Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436).

---

Necessity for assessment in replevin suit where defendant prevails see infra § 391.

[19] Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798.

[a] Illustration.—Where a plaintiff by its own cancellation destroyed any real value of stocks and bonds which it seeks to recover in replevin from the defendant, the latter is not liable for such depreciation. Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798.

[20] See Hendricks v. Ireland, 162 N. C. 523, 77 SE 1011 (dictum).

[21] Gordon v. Jenney, 16 Mass. 465.

[22] Graves v. Sittig, 5 Wis. 219.

[23] Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204.

[24] Hazlett v. Witherspoon, (Miss.) 25 S 150; Young v. Willet, 21 N. Y. Super. 486; Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436.

[25] Pope v. Jenkins, 30 Mo. 528; Frey v. Drahos, 7 Nebr. 194.

[26] Cal.—Berry v. Bakersfield Bank, 177 Cal. 206, 170 P 415.

Ill.—Clow v. Yount, 93 Ill. A. 112.

Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190.

Ky.—Cooper v. Ratliff, 116 SW 748.

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

Mo.—Rosenblatt v. Winstanley, (A.) 186 SW 542.

N. Y.—Brewster v. Silliman, 38 N. Y. 423; Rowley v. Gibbs, 14 Johns. 385.

[a] Illustration.—In replevin for oil stocks detained by a bank after a tender of the debt for which they were collateral, the measure of damages for depreciation would be the difference in value between the time the suit to regain possession was commenced and the time of trial. Berry v. Bakersfield Bank, 177 Cal. 206, 170 P 415.

[27] Time of valuation generally see supra § 366.

[28] Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46; Lacquement v. Bellamy, (Mo. A.) 253 SW 1076; Rosenblatt v. Winstanley, (Mo. A.) 186 SW 542; Hoester v. Teppe, 27 Mo. A. 207; Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 565, 10 AmR 641 (dictum); Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467.

"The damages for detention are the same, whether the party recover the property or its value. Now, suppose the property has been badly depreciated, intermediate the wrongful taking and the trial, still the prevailing party is obliged to take it if he can obtain it, and he is indemnified for the depreciation by the damages assessed to him. But he recovers the same damages if he cannot obtain the property and is obliged to take its value, and then if the value has been assessed as it existed at the time of the taking, before the depreciation, it is clear that he gets more than an indemnity. Hence there is no way of administering this law, except by holding that the value required to be assessed by the jury means the value at the time of the trial." Allen v. Fox, supra.

[a] Illustration.—In replevin to recover certain fur garments, the plaintiff on recovering the value as of the time of the trial was entitled to the depreciation in value caused by a change in styles. Rosenblatt v. Winstanley, (Mo. A.) 186 SW 542.

[29] Time of valuation generally see supra § 366.

[30] Maguire v. Pan American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Parker v. Simonds. 8 Metc.. (Mass.) 205; Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 259, 86 NW 1085; Moore v. Kepner, 7 Nebr. 291; Hall v. Tillman, 110 N. C. 220, 14 SE 745; Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436.

"If the property is injured or deteriorates in value after it is taken, a return does not make the defendant whole, because he does not get it in the condition in which it was, and, in order to be fully restored to his former position, he ought to have the difference in value as damages. This is universally recognized, and such deterioration is considered a proper element of damage. Hooker v. Hammill, 7 Nebr. 231; Shinn, Replevin, § 648. But such damages are allowed upon the theory that the defendant is getting back the property in a damaged or deteriorated condition, or that it is less valuable than when taken from him. If the property is not returned, and the defendant recovers its value at the time it was taken instead, he is fully compensated, and should not be awarded in addition damages for deterioration, meant only to make up deficiencies in the property as returned. Hence it is held properly that damages for deterioration are only recoverable where the property is returned, and may not be had, along with the value at the time of taking, in case no return is made." Schrandt v. Young, supra.

[31] Cross references:
Action on bond see infra § 424.
Detinue see Detinue § 81.
Trover and conversion see Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2089].

[32] See statutory provisions.

[33] Ark.—Segraves v. Brooks, 123 Ark. 261, 185 SW 260; Shaffstall v. Downey, 87 Ark. 5, 112 SW 176.

Cal.—Connell v. Hogg, 181 Cal. 730, 186 P 134; Wilkerson v. Thorp, 128 Cal. 221, 60 P 679; Pico v. Martinez, 55 Cal. 148; Cline v. Smith, 96 Cal. A. 703, 274 P 763; Campbell v. Smith, 96 Cal. A. 689, 274 P 758; Griffith v. Reddick, 41 Cal. A. 458, 182 P 984; Keiser v. Levering, 29 Cal. A. 41, 154 P 281.

Conn.—Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930.

ment.[34] If the party cast, however, has no interest in the property, the prevailing party is entitled to the full value of the property even though his interest is special or limited being held answerable over to the general owner for the balance,[35] and the unsuccessful party cannot complain of such award on the ground that there are liens against the property in favor of third persons,[36] although the party cast has been held entitled to credit on the judgment for the surplus obtained by the party prevailing after sale of the property under the judgment in foreclosure.[37] Where the party cast has no interest, the general value of the property will be assessed without regard to the value of the special interest,[38] and it makes no difference whether the prevailing party is the plaintiff or defendant in the action.[39] However, in no case can the amount awarded for this special interest exceed the value of the property.[40]

[§ 372] b. Property Taken under Process. The general rule is that where property seized by an officer on legal process is replevied and he is successful in the replevin suit, he is not entitled to judgment for the full value of the property, if it exceeds the value of his special interest, but to a judgment

---

Fla.—Voges v. Ward, 98 Fla. 304, 123 S 785; Bibb v. United Grocery Co., 73 Fla. 589, 74 S 880.

Ind.—Noble v. Epperly, 6 Ind. 468.

Iowa.—Harward v. Davenport, 105 Iowa 592, 75 NW 487; McNorton v. Akers, 24 Iowa 369.

Kan.—Lessert v. Krebs, 108 Kan. 752, 196 P 1070; Guy v. Doak, 47 Kan. 236, 366, 27 P 968; Scott v. Beard, 5 Kan. A. 560, 47 P 986.

Me.—Crabtree v. Clapham, 67 Me. 326.

Mich.—Duke v. Beatty, 147 Mich. 665, 111 NW 176; Upham v. Caldwell, 100 Mich. 264, 38 NW 1001; Williams v. Bresnahan, 66 Mich. 634, 33 NW 739; Darling v. Tegler, 30 Mich. 54.

Minn.—Deal v. Osborne, 42 Minn. 102, 43 NW 835.

Miss.—Bond v. Griffin, 74 Miss. 599, 22 S 187; Bates v. Snider, 59 Miss. 497.

Mo.—Lewis v. Mason, 94 Mo. 551, 5 SW 911, 8 SW 735; Boutell v. Warne, 62 Mo. 350; Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149; National Theater Supply Co. v. Scovill, (A.) 22 SW (2d) 68; McDowell v. Hollingsworth, (A.) 10 SW (2d) 314; Dolfuss v. Cohen, (A.) 261 SW 754; McWherter v. Randall, 207 Mo. A. 465, 232 SW 1070; Beall v. Ingersoll, 203 Mo. A. 555, 219 SW 672; Smith v. Tucker, (A.) 200 SW 707; Meston v. Crawford, (A.) 190 SW 391; Weber Impl. Co. v. Dunard, 181 Mo. A. 658, 164 SW 685; Gaston v. Johnson, 107 Mo. A. 590, 80 SW 276; Hall v. Bramell, 87 Mo. A. 285; Dixon v. Atkinson, 86 Mo. A. 24; Barnes v. Rawlings, 74 Mo. A. 531; Dillard v. McClure, 64 Mo. A. 488; Gentry v. Templeton, 47 Mo. A. 55; Burt v. Mears, 41 Mo. A. 231; Baldridge v. Dawson, 39 Mo. A. 527; Dodd v. Wilson, 26 Mo. A. 462; Miles v. Walther, 3 Mo. A. 96.

Nebr.—Tyson v. Bryan, 84 Nebr. 202, 120 NW 940; Cruts v. Wray, 19 Nebr. 581, 27 NW 634; Welton v. Beltezore, 17 Nebr. 399, 23 NW 1.

N. Y.—Fowler v. Haynes, 91 N. Y. 346; Allen v. Judson, 71 N. Y. 77; Toledo First Nat. Bank v. Shaw, 61 N. Y. 283; Dows v. Greene, 24 N. Y. 638; Fitzhugh v. Wiman, 9 N. Y. 559; Seaman v. Luce, 23 Barb. 240; Smith v. Keyes, 2 Thomps. & C. 650; Heard v. Brewer, 4 Daly 136; Haehnel v. Trostler, 54 Misc. 262, 104 NYS 533; Sprague v. King, 37 Misc. 792, 76 NYS 897; McCobb v. Christiansen, 28 Misc. 119, 59 NYS 303 [aff 27 Misc. 825, 59 NYS 187]; Russell v. Butterfield, 21 Wend. 300; Dewitt v. Morris, 13 Wend. 496.

N. C.—Barham v. Massey, 27 N. C. 192.

N. D.—Grace City First State Bank v. Bradley, 57 N. D. 159, 220 NW 848; Angell v. Egger, 6 N. D. 391, 71 NW 547.

Oh.—Sutcliffe v. Dohrman, 18 Oh. 181, 51 AmD 450; Adler v. Johnston, 2 Oh. Cir. Ct. 95, 1 Oh. Cir. Dec. 382.

Okl.—Emerson-Brantingham Impl. Co. v. Ritter, 69 Okl. 95, 170 P 482 [quot Cyc]; Nichols, etc., Co. v. Bishop, 12 Okl. 250, 70 P 188.

Or.—Finn v. Erickson, 127 Or. 107, 269 P 232, 270 P 767; Farmers' Loan, etc., Co. v. Hansen, 123 Or. 72, 260 P 999 (dictum).

S. D.—Aalseth v. Simpson, 231 NW 289; National Bank of Commerce v. Feeney, 9 S. D. 550, 70 NW 874, 46 LRA 732.

Wash.—Hallidie Mach. Co. v. Whidbey Island Sand, etc., Co., 62 Wash. 604, 114 P 457 [cit Cyc].

Wis.—Klœtz v. Delles, 45 Wis. 484; Ela v. Bankes, 37 Wis. 89.

Wyo.—Quinlan v. Jones, 27 Wyo. 410, 414, 198 P 352 [cit Cyc].

"Replevin suits are generally flexible enough to permit an adjustment of the real rights of the parties, and where the prevailing party has only a limited or special interest in the property instead of the ownership, and the other party has obtained possession under the writ, the value of such special interest only should be assessed." Smith v. Tucker, (Mo. A.) 200 SW 707, 708.

[a] Interest of auctioneer.—Where goods were seized in the hands of the auctioneer by the sheriff, by virtue of a writ of attachment against the vendor of the consignor, and the auctioneer, by replevin, regained possession of them and sold them at auction, the amount of his recovery, under the judgment in the replevin suit, should have been measured by the sum total of his advancements, commissions, and charges, and the residue resulting from the sale should have been adjudged to defendant. Lewis v. Mason, 94 Mo. 551, 5 SW 911, 8 SW 735.

[b] Interest of bailee.—Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149.

[c] Factor's lien.—Cline v. Smith, 96 Cal. A. 703, 274 P 763; Bibb v. United Grocery Co., 73 Fla. 589, 74 S 880; Dows v. Greene, 24 N. Y. 638; Heard v. Brewer, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 136.

[d] Innkeeper's lien.—Smith v. Keyes, 2 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 650.

[e] Interest of mortgagee.—A successful chattel mortgagee in replevin from whom the mortgaged property was replevied by the general owner can only recover the amount due on the mortgage. Smith v. Tucker, (Mo. A.) 200 SW 707; Allen v. Judson, 71 N. Y. 77.

[f] Interest of vendee in a conditional sale contract.—Where defendant held an automobile under a conditional sales contract on which only one fourth of the purchase price had been paid, it was error to award such defendant the full value of the property in a suit by the conditional vendor in replevin on default in payment of installments. Voges v. Ward, 98 Fla. 304, 123 S 785.

[g] Landlord's lien. — National Theater Supply Co. v. Scovill, (Mo. A.) 22 SW (2d) 68.

[h] Mechanic's lien.—Connell v. Hogg, 181 Cal. 730, 186 P 134; Griffith v. Reddick, 41 Cal. A. 458, 182 P 984.

[i] Rule not applied.—(1) A special owner in replevin is not entitled to his special interest in the value of the property where the general owner is entitled to possession. Fischer v. Cohen, 22 Misc. 119, 48 NYS 775, 27 NYCivProc 139. (2) Where junior lienholder had no right to possession and defendant as senior lienholder was rightfully in possession the rule did not apply. Kerman v. Leeper, 172 Mo. A. 286, 157 SW 984.

[j] Where parties are joint owners, judgment in an action for possession of property worth three hundred and twenty-five dollars, which plaintiff obtained by giving a delivery bond, should not in cases of nonsuit be for its full value, but only for half its value in case it is not returned; it appearing that the parties are joint owners, and therefore entitled to joint possession. Kehoe v. McConaghy, 29 Wash. 175, 69 P 742.

[k] Where special interest is not proved, the party may recover the full value. Cruse v. Adams, 34 Cal. A. 701, 168 P 390.

[34] Wheeler v. Train, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 168. See Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149 (dictum).

[35] Kan.—Hall v. Jenness, 6 Kan. 356.

Mo.—Faloln v. Manning, 35 Mo. 271. See Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149 (dictum); Weber Impl. Co. v. Dunard, 181 Mo. A. 658, 164 SW 685 (dictum).

N. Y.—Fowler v. Haynes, 91 N. Y. 346.

Or.—Farmers' Loan, etc., Co. v. Hansen, 123 Or. 72, 260 P 999.

Wis.—Blakeslee v. Rossman, 44 Wis. 550.

[a] Mortgagee.—Farmers' Loan, etc., Co. v. Hansen, 123 Or. 72, 260 P 999.

[36] American Packing Co. v. Luketa, 115 Wash. 1, 196 P 1, 22 ALR 206.

[37] American Packing Co. v. Luketa, 120 Wash. 278, 206 P 965.

[38] Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149.

[39] Beall v. Ingersoll, 203 Mo. A. 555, 219 SW 672.

[40] Lessert v. Krebs, 108 Kan. 752, 196 P 1070; Cruts v. Wray, 19 Nebr. 581, 27 NW 634.

only for the value of such interest.[41] If, however, the value of the property be less than the amount of this interest, he is entitled to judgment for the full value of the property.[42] If property seized on attachment or execution be replevied, and defendant is successful in the replevin suit, the measure of recovery is the amount necessary to satisfy the lien created by the writ and costs,[43] and according to some decisions interest in addition thereto.[44] So it has been held that, where defendant in replevin lawfully held the property by virtue of a levy for taxes, the measure of damages is the amount of taxes and costs, and charges in making collection.[45]

Where a stranger to the title replevies property seized by an officer under legal process, the latter, if successful, is generally entitled to recover the full value of the property, holding the balance beyond his own interest in trust for the general owner.[46]

[§ 373] 4. Value Recoverable Where Value Enhanced by Wrongdoer.[47] Where the value of the property has been enhanced by the labor and skill of the wrongdoer, the rules applicable in cases of trespass[48] and of trover[49] are applicable in replevin.[50]

Where the taking is not in good faith or is characterized by malice, in a recovery by the owner in replevin, where the value of the property has been enhanced by the labor and skill of the wrongdoer, such owner is entitled to recover the property as improved or its full value, without any allowance to the wrongdoer for the enhancement in value.[51]

---

[41] Colo.—Witkowski v. Hill, 17 Colo. 372, 30 P 55.

Iowa.—Young v. Evans, 118 Iowa 144, 92 NW 111.

Kan.—Friend v. Green, 43 Kan. 167, 23 P 93; Shahan v. Smith, 38 Kan. 474, 16 P 749.

Minn.—La Crosse, etc., Steam Packet Co. v. Robertson, 13 Minn. 291; Dodge v. Chandler, 13 Minn. 114.

Mo.—Kerr v. Drew, 90 Mo. 147, 2 SW 136; Gillham v. Kerone, 45 Mo. 487.

Nebr.—Merchants' Nat. Bank v. McDonald, 63 Nebr. 363, 88 NW 492, 89 NW 770; Gamble v. Wilson, 33 Nebr. 270, 50 NW 3; Gates v. Parrott, 31 Nebr. 581, 48 NW 387; Sloan v. Coburn, 26 Nebr. 607, 42 NW 726, 4 LRA 470; Welton v. Beltezore, 17 Nebr. 399, 23 NW 1; Kersenbrock v. Martin, 12 Nebr. 374, 11 NW 462; Black v. Winterstein, 6 Nebr. 224.

N. Y.—Rhoads v. Woods, 41 Barb. 471; Seaman v. Luce, 23 Barb. 240; Niagara Elevating Co. v. McNamara, 4 Thomps. & C. 604.

Oh.—Jennings v. Johnson, 17 Oh. 154, 49 AmD 451.

Okl.—Nichols, etc., Co. v. Bishop, 12 Okl. 250, 70 P 188.

Utah.—Bolitho v. East, 45 Utah 181, 143 P 584.

Wis.—Bleiler v. Moore, 88 Wis. 438, 60 NW 792; Clark v. Lamoreux, 70 Wis. 508, 36 NW 393; Battis v. Hamlin, 22 Wis. 669; Booth v. Ableman, 20 Wis. 21, 602, 88 AmD 730; Saxton v. Williams, 15 Wis. 292.

See Moore v. Vrooman, 32 Mich. 526 (a finding that a sheriff was in rightful possession under an execution, that plaintiff was owner, subject to the lien of the execution, will authorize a judgment for the sheriff in the amount of the execution, and an objection that the statute requires a more particular finding to warrant such judgment will not prevail where no special findings were requested and no exceptions taken).

But see Bowersock v. Adams, (Kan.) 54 P 1064 (where it was intimated that a sheriff, levying on property to which plaintiff asserted ownership, was entitled to a return of the property or its value the same as when taken from him, although the principal question was the right of the sheriff to damages where he had gone out of office).

[a] Illustration.—Where defendant in replevin lawfully held the property by virtue of a levy under an execution, he was not entitled to the full value of the property, where it exceeded his interest, but could recover only the amount due upon the execution with legal costs and charges. Welton v. Beltezore, 17 Nebr. 399, 23 NW 1.

[b] Interest of copartner.—Where, in replevin, defendant as constable claimed a lien on partnership property by virtue of a levy under an execution against one of the partners, defendant's interest is limited to the interest of the execution debtor and plaintiff as copartner may show that the debtor's interest was merely nominal in which case defendant's award for the value of his interest should be nominal. Gillham v. Kerone, 45 Mo. 487.

[c] Expiration of debtor's interest before judgment.—Where, in replevin against an officer who had attached certain chattels as the property of a lessee, but the right of property to the furniture expired after the commencement of the action and before judgment, a judgment for defendant can be for costs only. Wheeler v. Train, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 168; Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149.

[d] In Michigan it has been held that a judgment for an officer from whom attached property was replevied should be for a return of the property only and not for the value of his special interest. Frederick v. Judge Mecosta Cir. Ct., 52 Mich. 529, 18 NW 343.

[e] In New York the rule of the text is generally followed. Rhoads v. Woods, 41 Barb. 471; Seaman v. Luce, 23 Barb. 240; Niagara Elevating Co. v. McNamara, 4 Thomps. & C. 604. But see Empire State Type Founding Co. v. Grant, 44 Hun 434, 9 NYSt 147 [rev on other grounds 114 N. Y. 40, 21 NE 401] (where plaintiff held an equitable mortgage on goods levied on by a sheriff under execution against plaintiff's vendee, it was held that the sheriff could recover the full value of the property).

[42] Jennings v. Johnson, 17 Oh. 154, 49 AmD 451.

[a] Rule not applied.—Under a statute allowing "right and proper damages" in replevin, in an action by a trustee of bondholders to recover part of the mortgaged property seized by defendant as constable under an execution, it was error to allow defendant the full value of the mortgaged property where plaintiff's mortgage lien was both superior to the lien of the execution and the interest of the trustee exceeded the value of the property. Coe v. Peacock, 14 Oh. St. 187.

[43] Iowa.—Young v. Evans, 118 Iowa 144, 92 NW 111.

Kan.—Friend v. Green, 43 Kan. 167, 23 P 93; Shahan v. Smith, 38 Kan. 474, 16 P 749.

Nebr.—Gamble v. Wilson, 33 Nebr. 270, 50 NW 3; Gates v. Parrott, 31 Nebr. 581, 48 NW 387; Sloan v. Coburn, 26 Nebr. 607, 42 NW 726, 4 LRA 470; Cruts v. Wray, 19 Nebr. 581, 27 NW 634; Kersenbrock v. Martin, 12 Nebr. 374, 11 NW 462.

N. Y.—Seaman v. Luce, 23 Barb. 240.

Oh.—Jennings v. Johnson, 17 Oh. 154, 49 AmD 451.

Okl.—Nichols, etc., Co. v. Bishop, 12 Okl. 250, 70 P 188.

Wis.—Clark v. Lamoreux, 70 Wis. 508, 36 NW 393; Smith v. Phillips, 47 Wis. 202, 2 NW 285; Booth v. Ableman, 20 Wis. 21, 88 AmD 730.

[a] Attachments subsequent to replevy.—Amounts due on attachments which came into the hands of the officer after he had been divested of possession by replevin cannot be included in the judgment. Sloan v. Coburn, 26 Nebr. 607, 42 NW 726, 4 LRA 470.

[44] Shahan v. Smith, 38 Kan. 474, 16 P 749; Merchants' Nat. Bank v. McDonald, 63 Nebr. 363, 88 NW 492, 89 NW 770; Jennings v. Johnson, 17 Oh. 154, 49 AmD 451; Battis v. Hamlin, 22 Wis. 669.

[45] Black v. Winterstein, 6 Nebr. 224.

[46] Atkins v. Moore, 82 Ill. 240; Broadwell v. Paradice, 81 Ill. 474; Wheat v. Bower, 42 Ill. A. 600; Bennet v. Gilbert, 94 Ill. A. 505 [aff 194 Ill. 403, 62 NE 847]; Frei v. Vogel, 40 Mo. 149; Coos Bay R. Co. v. Siglin, 34 Or. 80, 53 P 504.

[a] Plaintiff as mala fide purchaser.—Where a sheriff levied on goods under execution against plaintiff's vendor, the sheriff was entitled to the full value of the property on a finding that plaintiff did not take title in good faith. Buck v. Remsen, 34 N. Y. 383.

[b] Dismissal of action by plaintiff.—Where, in replevin against a constable, plaintiff dismissed his action, he was treated as a stranger and defendant may recover the full value of the property. Fallon v. Manning, 35 Mo. 271.

[47] Accession generally see Accession §§ 7-12, 15.

Net usable value see infra § 382.

[48] See Trespass [38 Cyc 1141].

[49] See Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2099].

[50] Eaton v. Langley, 65 Ark. 448, 47 SW 123, 42 LRA 474.

[51] Nashville Lumber Co. v. Barefield, 93 Ark. 353, 124 SW 758, 20 Ann Cas 968; Nicklase v. Morrison, 56 Ark. 553, 20 SW 414; Stotts v. Brookfield, 55 Ark. 307, 18 SW 179; McKin-

Where the taking is in good faith, the general view seems to be that if the value of the property is enhanced by the skill and labor or money of the wrongdoer, the owner is entitled to a recovery of the property or its enhanced value, less an allowance to the innocent wrongdoer of an amount equal to the difference between the original and increased value of the property,[52] or the value of the property in its converted form, less the value of labor expended,[53] with the limitation in some jurisdictions that such expense cannot exceed the increase in the value of the property,[54] but there is also some authority for the doctrine that a wrongdoer cannot recover for labor or money expended in the improvement of the property even though he acted in good faith.[55]

[§ 374] 5. Value Recoverable Where Owner Bids Property in at Judicial Sale. Where personal property is wrongfully taken by an officer and sold at judicial sale, and the owner buys it in, and thus becomes repossessed of it, he is not entitled as against the officer to judgment for the value of the property, but in lieu thereof is entitled to recover what it cost him to regain possession with interest thereon from date of its payment.[56] The amount thus awarded is not for the value of the property, but is damages for the wrongful detention by the officer,[57] and he cannot object that the sum so paid by the owner at the sale exceeded the actual value of the property for that would permit him to speculate upon his own wrongful act.[58]

[§ 375] 6. Value Recoverable Where Property Not Available at Trial.[59] The general rule appears to be, either as a result of statute,[60] or judicial authority, that neither a plaintiff who has given bond and taken the property,[61] nor a defendant, who, by giving bond, has retained or repossessed himself of the property,[62] or from whom plaintiff has not tak-nis v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 44 Ark. 210; Nitz v. Bolton, 71 Mich. 388, 39 NW 15; Heard v. James, 49 Miss. 236.

---

[a] Willful trespasser or vendee on converting timber and making it into cross ties was not entitled to the value of the improvement. McKinnis v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 44 Ark. 210.

[b] Purchaser with knowledge that seller's title to a homestead was in controversy in the courts was not equitably entitled to repayment from the adjudged rightful owner of a sum expended in cutting logs on the homestead. Cunningham v. Metropolitan Lumber Co., 110 Fed. 332, 49 CCA 72.

[c] Party with full knowledge of adverse claim to land, who cut bark from trees thereon in defiance of a notice from the rightful owner, was not entitled to the amount expended therefor. Phillips v. Stroup, (Pa.) 17 A 220.

52. Ark.—Bunch v. Pittman, 123 Ark. 127, 184 SW 850.

Cal.—Ackerman v. Schultz, 178 Cal. 190, 172 P 609.

Minn.—State v. Shevlin-Carpenter Co., 62 Minn. 99, 64 NW 81.

Miss.—Acree v. Bufford, 80 Miss. 565, 31 S 898.

Okl.—Myers v. Hubbard, 80 Okl. 97, 194 P 433.

Wis.—Keystone Lumber Co. v. Kolman, 103 Wis. 300, 79 NW 224; Hungerford v. Redford, 29 Wis. 345; Single v. Schneider, 24 Wis. 299.

[a] Reason for rule.—"This modification is based upon the theory that both parties have an interest in the property, or, in other words, that the defendant has an equitable interest in the property, to the extent that he has increased its value by his labor bestowed upon it in good faith." State v. Shevlin-Carpenter Co., 62 Minn. 99, 107, 64 NW 81.

[b] Repairs made on automobile by a buyer before knowledge of the fraud of the seller will be compensated for. Ackerman v. Schultz, 178 Cal. 190, 172 P 609.

[c] Cutting timber in good faith will permit defendant a recovery of the value of the cutting. Bunch v. Pittman, 123 Ark. 127, 184 SW 850; Acree v. Bufford, 80 Miss. 565, 31 S 898.

[d] Cutting timber under void permit.—In replevin by the state for logs cut from state pine lands under a void permit, where it appeared that defendant cut the timber in good faith, relying on the permit, and by his labor and money in cutting the logs and transporting them to a proper market materially enhanced their value, he was liable in the alternative for the value of the logs at the time and place of the original taking with interest from the time of the taking. State v. Shevlin-Carpenter Co., 62 Minn. 99, 64 NW 81.

[e] Set-off in the nature of a debt paid by defendant for plaintiff for hauling was allowable as against damages for the detention of the property. Cooper v. Ratliff, (Ky.) 116 SW 748.

53. Thomas v. Merrill, 169 N. C. 623, 86 SE 593; Herdic v. Young, 55 Pa. 176, 93 AmD 739.

[a] Statutory lien.—Defendant who contracted to cut and raft logs for a buyer was entitled to the satisfaction of a statutory lien where the unpaid seller replevied the logs. Thomas v. Merrill, 169 N. C. 623, 86 SE 593.

[b] Mistake as to boundaries.—The measure of damages in replevin for logs cut from plaintiff's land by mistake as to boundaries, and hauled to a boom, is the value of the logs at the boom less the cost of cutting, hauling, and driving them there. Herdic v. Young, 55 Pa. 176, 93 AmD 739.

54. Randleman v. Taylor, 94 Ark. 511, 127 SW 723, 140 AmSR 141; Nashville Lumber Co. v. Barefield, 93 Ark. 353; Eaton v. Langley, 65 Ark. 448, 47 SW 123, 42 LRA 474.

[a] Well considered case.—Eaton v. Langley, 65 Ark. 448, 47 SW 123, 42 LRA 474.

55. Gray v. Robinson, 4 Ariz. 24, 33 P 712; Sims v. Mead, 29 Kan. 124.

[a] Money expended by a sheriff for threshing grain he had levied on could not be recovered even though he supposed the grain belonged to the execution debtor. Gray v. Robinson, 4 Ariz. 24, 33 P 712.

56. Leonard v. Maginnis, 34 Minn. 506, 26 NW 733; Northrup v. Cross, 2 N. D. 433, 51 NW 718.

57. Leonard v. Maginnis, 34 Minn. 506, 26 NW 733.

58. Leonard v. Maginnis, supra.

59. Discharge of surety by loss or destruction of property see infra § 420.

Usable value on detention see infra § 380.

60. See statutory provisions.

61. U. S.—Three States Lumber Co. v. Blanks, 133 Fed. 479, 66 CCA 353, 69 LRA 283.

Cal.—Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; De Thomas v. Witherby, 61 Cal. 92, 44 AmR 542.

Del.—Clark v. Adair, 3 Del. 113.

Ill.—Schott v. Youree, 142 Ill. 233, 31 NE 591; Suppiger v. Gruaz, 137 Ill. 216, 27 NE 22 [aff 36 Ill. A. 60]; Scott v. Rogers, 56 Ill. A. 571.

Iowa.—Lillie v. McMillan, 52 Iowa 463, 3 NW 601.

Ky.—Dear v. Brannon, 4 Bush 471; Scott v. Hughes, 9 B. Mon. 104; Gentry v. Barnet, 6 J. J. Marsh. 312.

N. Y.—Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614 [disappr Carpenter v. Stevens, 12 Wend. 589].

N. C.—Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The obligation of the plaintiff in a replevin suit does not become impossible of performance by the loss or destruction of the goods replevied, because his obligation is an alternative one, and if it has become impossible to return to the defendants the goods wrongfully taken, it is not impossible to pay their value." Three States Lumber Co. v. Blanks, 133 Fed. 479, 483, 66 CCA 353, 69 LRA 283.

[b] Loss by fire.—A plaintiff in replevin, detaining property without right and in violation of the rights of defendant, acts at his peril and he is liable in the event the property is destroyed by fire. Suppiger v. Gruaz, 137 Ill. 216, 27 NE 22 [aff 36 Ill. A. 60].

62. Iowa.—Hinkson v. Morrison, 47 Iowa 167.

Kan.—Blaker v. Sands, 29 Kan. 551.

Ky.—Ford Lumber Co. v. Cornett, 146 Ky. 457, 142 SW 718 [reh den 148 Ky. 25, 145 SW 1105].

Miss.—Hazlett v. Witherspoon, 25 S 150; McPherson v. Acme Lumber Co., 70 Miss. 649, 12 S 857; George v. Hewlett, 70 Miss. 1, 12 S 855, 35 AmSR 626 [overr Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254 (detinue)].

N. C.—Randolph v. McGowans, 174 N. C. 203, 93 SE 730.

en possession,[63] is relieved of liability therefor by its loss or destruction while in his possession pending the action,[64] whether the loss is occasioned by an act of God[65] or through the fault of the unsuccessful party,[66] so that in such a case the prevailing party is entitled to a recovery of the value of the property and damages for the wrongful taking and detention,[67] and this is true notwithstanding the dismissal of the action after the destruction or loss of the property.[68] In this respect the same responsibilities attach as in the case of a bailee who comes rightfully into possession of, and wrongfully detains, the property.[69] A contrary doctrine, however, is maintained in some jurisdictions where the loss or destruction is due to no fault of the party cast,[70] as where performance of the bond is prevented by law,[71] or by an act of God,[72] or the taking under the writ is in good faith.[73] But if the suit by a plaintiff is not instituted in good faith, but is false, groundless, or unlawful, the rule should be otherwise.[74]

[§ 376] E. Interest. Except where the property in controversy is shown to have a usable value and damages are estimated on that basis,[75] the prevailing party, upon a recovery either of the possession of the property or of its value, may ordinarily be awarded the interest upon the value of the property during the wrongful detention as damages for such detention.[76] So, in the absence of facts which

---

[a] In Missouri (1) where the value of the property is ordinarily assessed as of the time of the trial, it has been held that a defendant was liable for the value of furniture accidentally destroyed by fire while in her possession under a statutory delivery bond. Bradley v. Campbell, 132 Mo. A. 78, 111 SW 514. (2) But in an earlier case defendant was held not liable for the death of a slave where the death was not due to any fault of defendant. Pope v. Jenkins, 30 Mo. 528. (3) But where the property has been sold by defendant, he is liable for its value if plaintiff is successful. Dillard v. McClure, 64 Mo. A. 488. (4) And it has been held that, where a mule had died so that it was of no value at the trial, the prevailing party could recover nothing under the head of value, but would be entitled to the value of the use of the mule from the commencement of the action until it died, and damages for a total depreciation in value in case the death happened through the fault of the unsuccessful party. Jennings v. Sparkman, 48 Mo. A. 246.

[63] Miller v. Hahn, 84 N. C. 226; Ewald v. Boyd, 24 S. D. 16, 123 NW 66, 24 LRANS 739.

[64] See cases supra notes 61–63.

[65] De Thomas v. Witherby, 61 Cal. 92, 44 AmR 542; Scott v. Rogers, 56 Ill. A. 571; Blaker v. Sands, 29 Kan. 551; Ewald v. Boyd, 24 S. D. 16, 123 NW 66, 24 LRANS 739.

[66] Three States Lumber Co. v. Blanks, 133 Fed. 479, 66 CCA 353, 69 LRA 283.

[a] Sale by wrongdoer.—Where plaintiff replevied lumber on a barge which afterward sank, and on its recovery filed a libel for salvage and under a decree by default sold the lumber, he was liable for its value. Three States Lumber Co. v. Blanks, 133 Fed. 479, 66 CCA 353, 69 LRA 283.

[67] Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869. And see cases supra notes 61–63.

[68] Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476.

[69] Suppiger v. Gruaz, 137 Ill. 216, 27 NE 22; Scott v. Hughes, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 104.

[70] Joyce v. Lande, 6 La. 277; Walker v. Osgood, 53 Me. 422; Melvin v. Winslow, 10 Me. 397; Pait v. McCutchen, 43 Tex. 291.

[a] In Tennessee (1) the rule of the text is followed. Bobo v. Patton, 6 Heisk. 172, 19 AmR 593. (2) But the doctrine has received disapproval in the federal court. Three States Lumber Co. v. Blanks, 133 Fed. 479, 66 CCA 353, 69 LRA 283. (3) A statute imposes liability on a defendant in attachment who is unsuccessful in replevin even though the loss of the property is without his fault. Epperson v. Van Pelt, 9 Baxt. 73; Barry v. Frayser, 10 Heisk. 206.

[b] Reason for rule.—"The principle is, that if a bond or obligation possible of performance at the time of execution becomes impossible by the act of God, or of the law, or of the obligee himself, the obligation will be saved." Bobo v. Patton, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 172, 173, 19 AmR 593.

[71] Glover v. Taylor, 41 Ala. 124.

[72] Kuhn v. Spellacy, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 278.

[73] Walker v. Osgood, 53 Me. 422.

[74] Walker v. Osgood, supra.

[75] Ark.—Vanhoozer v. Gattis, 139 Ark. 390, 214 SW 44.

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

Nebr.—Omaha State Bank v. Murphy, 110 Nebr. 526, 194 NW 442.

Nev.—Dillon v. Grutt, 38 Nev. 46, 144 P 741 [quot Cyc].

N. Y.—Redmond v. American Mfg. Co., 121 N. Y. 415, 24 NE 924.

Pa.—Truck, etc., Co. v. Baker, 281 Pa. 145, 126 A 239; Commercial Motors Mortg. Corp. v. Waters, 280 Pa. 177, 124 A 327; Armstrong v. Philadelphia, 249 Pa. 39, 94 A 455, AnnCas 1917B 1082.

Wash.—Collins v. Warner, 141 Wash. 162, 251 P 288.

"Where plaintiff has sustained no damages because of the deprivation of the use of his property, the measure of damages would be the interest on the value of the property during the time he was deprived of its possession." Thornton v. Gardner, 134 Miss. 485, 99 S 131, 132.

Usable value see infra §§ 377–382.

[76] Cal.—Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Schmidt v. Nunan, 63 Cal. 371; Kelly v. McKibben, 54 Cal. 192; Freeborn v. Norcross, 49 Cal. 313; Page v. Fowler, 39 Cal. 412, 2 AmR 462; Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156; Waterhouse-Wilcox Co. v. Betz, 73 Cal. A. 236, 238 P 763; Crawford v. Meadows, 55 Cal. A. 4, 203 P 428; Tucker v. Hagerty, 37 Cal. A. 789, 174 P 908.

Colo.—Johnson v. Bailey, 17 Colo. 59, 28 P 81; Hanauer v. Bartels, 2 Colo. 514; Machette v. Wanless, 2 Colo. 169.

Del.—Hitch v. Riggin, 26 Del. 84, 80 A 975.

Fla.—Florida Trust, etc., Co. v. Consolidated Title Co., 86 Fla. 317, 98 S 915.

Ida.—Blackfoot City Bank v. Clements, 39 Ida. 194, 226 P 1079.

Iowa.—Wald v. Auto Salvage, etc., Co., 190 Iowa 11, 179 NW 856; Sheffield v. Hanna, 136 Iowa 579, 114 NW 24; Hurd v. Gallaher, 14 Iowa 394.

Md.—Karthaus v. Owings, 2 Gill & J. 430.

Mich.—Nitz v. Bolton, 71 Mich. 388, 39 NW 15.

Minn.—Berthold v. Fox, 13 Minn. 501, 97 AmD 243.

Nebr.—Oak Creek Valley Bank v. Hudkins, 115 Nebr. 628, 214 NW 68; Dodge v. Runells, 20 Nebr. 33, 28 NW 849; Moore v. Kepner, 7 Nebr. 291.

N. J.—Imbesi v. Eastern Motor Co., 104 N. J. L. 251, 140 A 31 [aff 105 N. J. L. 490, 144 A 919].

N. Y.—Follett Wool Co. v. Utica Trust, etc., Co., 84 App. Div. 151, 82 NYS 597; Ditmars v. Sackett, 81 Hun 317, 30 NYS 721; Keep v. Kauffman, 38 N. Y. Super. 476 [aff 63 N. Y. 643]; Young v. Willet, 21 N. Y. Super. 486; O'Gorman v. Kaplan, 120 Misc. 327, 198 NYS 221 [aff 208 App. Div. 714 mem, 202 NYS 942 mem]; Crossley v. Hojer, 11 Misc. 57, 31 NYS 837; Rowley v. Gibbs, 14 Johns. 385.

N. C.—Burger v. Cooper, 179 N. C. 140, 101 SE 547.

Pa.—Collins v. Houston, 138 Pa. 481, 21 A 234; Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

Tex.—Halbert v. San Seba Springs Land, etc., Assoc., (Civ. A.) 34 SW 636.

Wis.—Commercial Inv. Trust v. William Frankfurth Hardware Co., 179 Wis. 21, 190 NW 1004; Wadleigh v. Buckingham, 80 Wis. 230, 49 NW 745; Beverich v. Welch, 7 Wis. 465; Morris v. Baker, 5 Wis. 389.

And see cases supra note 75.

"Interest as here used is ordinarily the interest on the value, but conditions may arise in which interest would be measured in use value, or in other terms." Florida Trust, etc., Co. v. Consolidated Title Co., 86 Fla. 317, 321, 98 S 915.

"Ordinarily, in replevin, loss of use and other injuries resulting from the taking and withholding of personal property may be compensated by allowing the successful party to recover interest on the value of the property from the time of the taking to the date of the verdict." Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 379, 260 P 869; Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476.

"The general rule of damages in actions of this kind when the plaintiff recovers judgment for the value at the time of the taking, is legal interest on such valuation from the date of the taking to the date of trial." Johnson v. Bailey, 17 Colo. 59, 67, 28 P 81.

[a] Interest allowed as damages only.—(1) Where the statute does not expressly provide for the recovery would authorize the application of a different rule of damages,[77] as for instance depreciation in the value of the property,[78] or bad faith, fraud, malice, gross negligence, or oppression on the part of the adverse party,[79] or a special agreement between the parties that the jury might find the value of the property and the damages in one sum,[80] such interest constitutes the measure of damages,[81] and is computed from the date of the wrongful taking or detention to the date of the verdict,[82] or to the first day of the term of court at which the trial is had.[83] Where the prevailing party recovers the value of the property because the property cannot be returned,[84] or because of an election to take the money value of the property,[85] or where the action proceeds as one for damages only,[86] the measure of damages in such case is the value of the property with interest.[86½] The successful party is of course not entitled to interest and an allowance in addition thereto of the value of the use;[87] nor can interest be allowed in addition to a gross sum for damages.[88] Where the judgment awards the return of the proper-of interest, it is allowed not eo nomine—that is, not as interest—but must be included in the damages generally. Wellington v. Brooks, (Tex. Civ. A.) 255 SW 1022. (2) Where the statute does not allow interest, it cannot be given as a matter of law but the jury may in their discretion, and as damages, allow interest on the value of the property. American Soda Fountain Co. v. Shell, 160 N. C. 529, 76 SE 631; Patapsco Guano Co. v. Magee, 86 N. C. 350; Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467. But see Burger v. Cooper, 179 N. C. 140, 101 SE 547 (where under a more recent statute interest is allowed as such).

---

[b] Illustrations.—(1) Where wool belonging to plaintiff was pledged by plaintiff's bailee, without authority, to defendant, and on demand defendant refused to deliver the wool, which had been stored with a warehouse company, and, after suit brought against the latter to recover the same, it filed an interpleader, when the wool was ordered to be held by the sheriff, subject to an order of the court, plaintiff, on judgment in his favor, was entitled to interest on the value of the wool, as damages for withholding the same from the time of the demand. Follett Wool Co. v. Utica Trust, etc., Co., 84 App. Div. 151, 82 NYS 597. (2) Defendant on recovering logs cut from his land is entitled to recover interest on their value from the time the writ was served dispossessing him. Nitz v. Bolton, 71 Mich. 388, 39 NW 15.

[c] Change of statutory rate pending trial.—Where the rate of interest is fixed by statute, the rate of interest being lowered by statute pending a replevin suit; the successful plaintiff may recover as damages interest measured by the old rate up to the time of the change, and by the lower rate thereafter. Saling v. Bolander, 125 Fed. 701, 60 CCA 469.

[d] Interest on bonds will be the legal interest on the value of such bonds rather than the lower rate of interest which the bonds bear. Govin v. De Miranda, 140 N. Y. 474, 35 NE 626.

[77] Ark.—Kelly v. Altemus, 34 Ark. 184, 36 AmR 6.

Colo.—Austin v. Terry, 13 Colo. A. 141, 56 P 810.

Fla.—Ocala Foundry, etc., Works v. Lester, 49 Fla. 199, 38 S 51.

Miss.—Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24.

N. Y.—New York Guaranty, etc., Co. v. Flynn, 55 N. Y. 653; Suydam v. Jenkins, 5 N. Y. Super. 614; Crossley v. Hojer, 11 Misc. 57, 31 NYS 837.

Pa.—McDonald v. Scaife, 11 Pa. 381, 51 AmD 556; McCabe v. Morehead, 1 Watts & S. 513.

[78] See supra § 369.

[79] See infra §§ 386, 387.

[80] McCabe v. Morehead, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 513 (holding that, under such agreement, the jury, in assessing damages for defendant, were not confined to interest on the value, but might give more if necessary to compensate defendant).

[81] Colo.—Machette v. Wanless, 2 Colo. 169; Smith v. Stevens, 14 Colo. A. 491, 60 P 680; Austin v. Terry, 13 Colo. A. 141, 56 P 810.

Ill.—Merchants' Sav., etc., Co. v. Goodrich, 75 Ill. 554.

Iowa.—McCoy v. Cornell, 40 Iowa 457.

Kan.—Werner v. Graley, 54 Kan. 383, 38 P 482.

Ky.—Yantis v. Burditt, 2 Dana 254.

Me.—Dore v. Hight, 15 Me. 20.

Mass.—Barnes v. Bartlett, 15 Pick. 71; Pike v. Huckins, 1 Mass. 421.

Nebr.—Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Dodge v. Runels, 20 Nebr. 33, 28 NW 849; Hainer v. Lee, 12 Nebr. 452, 11 NW 888; Hooker v. Hammill, 7 Nebr. 231.

N. Y.—Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641; Brizsee v. Maybee, 21 Wend. 144.

Pa.—McCabe v. Morehead, 1 Watts & S. 513.

Wis.—Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80; Graves v. Sittig, 5 Wis. 219.

[a] Interest on county warrant.—The measure of damages in an action of replevin for a county warrant is legal interest thereon for the time of the unlawful detention. McCoy v. Cornell, 40 Iowa 457.

[b] Interest on bank checks.—In replevin for the wrongful detention of bank checks, where the checks are recovered and delivered to plaintiff, plaintiff can only recover, as damages for the wrongful detention, interest on the amount of the checks from the time of the demand and refusal until they are replevied. Merchants' Sav., etc., Co. v. Goodrich, 75 Ill. 554.

[c] Applications of rule.—The rule is generally applicable in all cases where the property detained was merchandise kept for sale, grain and all other articles of property useful only for sale or consumption. Kelly v. Altemus, 34 Ark. 184, 36 AmR 6; Machette v. Wanless, 2 Colo. 169; Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641.

[d] Computation of interest.—The interest given by the same act is to be computed from the time when the writ of replevin was executed, not from its date. Yantis v. Burditt, 2 Dana (Ky.) 254.

[82] Cal.—Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869.

Del.—Hitch v. Riggin, 26 Del. 84, 80 A 975.

Me.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462.

Mich.—Just v. Porter, 64 Mich. 565, 31 NW 444; Hanselman v. Kegel, 60 Mich. 540, 27 NW 678.

Nebr.—Omaha State Bank v. Murphy, 110 Nebr. 526, 194 NW 442.

N. Y.—O'Gorman v. Kaplan, 120 Misc. 327, 198 NYS 221 [aff 208 App. Div. 714 mem, 202 NYS 942 mem].

Pa.—Truck, etc., Co. v. Baker, 281 Pa. 145, 126 A 239; Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

Tenn.—Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

Wis.—Bigelow v. Doolittle, 36 Wis. 115.

[83] Hainer v. Lee, 12 Nebr. 452, 11 NW 888.

[84] Barnes v. Bartlett, 15 Pick. (Mass.) 71; Dodge v. Runels, 20 Nebr. 33, 28 NW 849; Moore v. Kepner, 7 Nebr. 291; Miller v. Hahn, 84 N. C. 226; Holmes v. Godwin, 69 N. C. 467.

[a] The measure of damages for a promissory note is its value when not returned, and interest thereon. Vancleave v. Beach, 110 Ind. 269, 11 NE 228.

[85] Mich.—Ritz v. Bolton, 71 Mich. 388, 39 NW 15; Hanselman v. Kegel, 60 Mich. 540, 27 NW 678.

Minn.—Berthold v. Fox, 13 Minn. 501, 97 AmD 243.

Miss.—Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24.

Mont.—Webster v. Sherman, 33 Mont. 448, 84 P 878.

N. C.—Hall v. Tillman, 110 N. C. 220, 14 SE 745.

Pa.—McDonald v. Scaife, 11 Pa. 381, 51 AmD 556; Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

Wis.—Findlay v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 104 Wis. 375, 80 NW 436; Ingram v. Rankin, 47 Wis. 406, 2 NW 755, 32 AmSR 762; Bigelow v. Doolittle, 36 Wis. 115; Bonesteel v. Orvis, 22 Wis. 522.

Wyo.—Boswell v. Laramie First Nat. Bank, 16 Wyo. 161, 92 P 624, 93 P 661.

[86] Honaker v. Vesey, 57 Nebr. 413, 77 NW 1100; Hainer v. Lee, 12 Nebr. 452, 11 NW 888; Bocem Iron Co. v. Union Sav. Bank, (Nebr.) 89 NW 80.

[86½] See cases supra notes 84–86.

[87] See infra § 377.

[88] Garcia v. Gunn, 119 Cal. 315, 51 P 684; Freeborn v. Norcross, 49 Cal. 313; Wilber v. Wilber, 63 Mont. 587, 207 P 1002; Smith v. Roby, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 546.

[a] A judgment for value and interest plus damages for detention will be discharged as the award of value and interest by a return of the property. Smith v. Roby, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 546.

ty or the recovery of a specified sum of money in case it cannot be returned, plaintiff, upon delaying to enforce his judgment and afterward accepting a return of the property, cannot have interest upon the value thereof as fixed by the judgment for the period between the entry of the judgment and the date of the return of the property.[89] Under a statute which gives the prevailing party the option to have an execution for the delivery of the property, or for its value "as determined by the jury," interest on the value of the property can be given only from the entry of judgment.[90] Interest as an award of damages for detention is to be determined by the jury,[91] and if the jury makes no mention of interest in its verdict, the officer entering judgment cannot include interest.[92]

[§ 377] F. Value of Use of Property—1. In General. Interest upon the value of the property is not the measure of damages for its wrongful detention[93] where the property has a value for use, or usable value, which exceeds the amount represented by the lawful rate of interest,[94] or where the interest would be an inadequate compensation.[95] In such cases the prevailing party is entitled, sometimes by express statutory provision,[96] to the usable value of the property[97] estimated by the ordinary market price of the use of such property,[98] even though such usable value exceeds the value of the property,[99] and such usable value will constitute the measure of damages in the absence of any other showing.[1] The fact that other property was not hired to take the place of the property wrongfully detained will not alter the rule allowing the recovery of the usable value,[2] nor is it material that the property in question was never rented,[3] or has previously been used by the owner for pleasure purposes only.[4] An intention to sell the property before it was wrongfully taken will not in itself deprive the party of a recovery of its usable value.[5]

---

[89] MacDonald v. MacDonald, 71 Misc. 516, 130 NYS 784.

[90] Bonnot Co. v. Newman, 109 Iowa 580, 80 NW 655.

[91] Cary v. Hyer, 91 Fla. 322, 107 S 684.

[92] Cary v. Hyer, supra.

[93] Interest as measure or element of damages see supra § 376.

[94] Armstrong v. Philadelphia, 249 Pa. 39, 94 A 455, AnnCas1917B 1082; Dolinsky v. Williams, 56 Utah 186, 189 P 873.

"A successful party in replevin is not confined to interest as damages, if he can establish the fact that the value of the use of the property of which he was deprived exceeded the interest." Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869.

[95] Dolinsky v. Williams, 56 Utah 186, 189, 189 P 873; Farrand, etc., Organ Co. v. M. E. Church, 18 Utah 29, 54 P 818; Hunt v. Thompson, 19 Wyo. 523, 120 P 181, 122 P 624.

"Interest on the value will not be adequate compensation, and is not the measure of damages where the use of the property detained is valuable. The owner is entitled to recover the value of the use if he prefers it to interest during the time he was deprived of possession." Dolinsky v. Williams, supra.

[96] See statutory provisions.

[97] U. S.—Merchants', etc., Oil Co. v. Kentucky Refining Co., 81 Fed. 821, 26 CCA 639.

Ark.—Minkwitz v. Steen, 36 Ark. 260; Kelly v. Altemus, 34 Ark. 184, 36 AmR 6; Dunnahoe v. Williams, 24 Ark. 264.

Cal.—Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156; Crawford v. Meadows, 55 Cal. A. 4, 203 P 428; Los Angeles Furniture Co. v. Hansen, 46 Cal. A. 5, 188 P 292; Tucker v. Hagerty, 37 Cal. A. 789, 174 P 908.

Colo.—Smith v. Stevens, 33 Colo. 427, 81 P 35; Smith v. Stevens, 14 Colo. A. 491, 60 P 580.

Conn.—Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173; Adams v. Wright, 74 Conn. 551, 51 A 537.

Fla.—Voges v. Ward, 98 Fla. 304, 123 S 785.

Ida.—Tannahill v. Lydon, 31 Ida. 608, 173 P 1146; Cunningham v. Stoner, 10 Ida. 549, 79 P 228; Cornwall v. Mix, 3 Ida. 687, 34 P 893; Sebree v. Smith, 2 Ida. (Hasb.) 359, 16 P 915.

Ill.—Broadwell v. Paradice, 81 Ill. 474; Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204; Butler v. Mehrling, 15 Ill. 488; Roberts v. Perrine, 247 Ill. A. 259.

Ind.—Farrar v. Eash, 5 Ind. A. 238, 31 NE 1125.

Kan.—Stockton State Bank v. Showers, 65 Kan. 431, 70 P 332; Barton v. Mulvane, 59 Kan. 313, 52 P 88; Werner v. Graley, 54 Kan. 383, 38 P 482; Kennett v. Feckel, 41 Kan. 211, 21 P 93; Palmer v. Meiners, 17 Kan. 478; Bell v. Campbell, 17 Kan. 211; Ladd v. Brewer, 17 Kan. 204; Yandle v. Kingsbury, 17 Kan. 195, 22 AmR 282.

Ky.—Roach v. Houston, 15 KyL 61.

La.—Dangerfield v. Fauver, 19 La. Ann. 171.

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46. See Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 363, 16 AmR 462 (dictum).

Md.—Dorsey v. Gassaway, 2 Harr. & J. 402, 3 AmD 557.

Mass.—Boston Loan Co. v. Myers, 143 Mass. 446, 9 NE 805.

Mich.—Hutchinson v. Hutchinson, 102 Mich. 635, 61 NW 60; Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564; Burt v. Burt, 41 Mich. 82, 1 NW 936.

Minn.—Nash v. Larson, 80 Minn. 458, 83 NW 451, 81 AmSR 272; Qualy v. Johnson, 80 Minn. 408, 83 NW 393; Williams v. Wood, 61 Minn. 194, 63 NW 492; Peerless Mach. Co. v. Gates, 61 Minn. 124, 63 NW 260; Ferguson v. Hogan, 25 Minn. 135; Sherman v. Clark, 24 Minn. 37.

Mo.—Lacquement v. Bellamy, (A.) 253 SW 1076; Knight v. Lauer, (A.) 253 SW 454; Forsee v. Zenner, (A.) 193 SW 975; Kieselhorst Piano Co. v. Porter, 185 Mo. A. 676, 171 SW 949; Baldridge v. Dawson, 39 Mo. A. 527; Anchor Milling Co. v. Walsh, 24 Mo. A. 97.

Mont.—Luther v. Lee, 62 Mont. 174, 204 P 365; Chauvin v. Valiton, 8 Mont. 451, 20 P 658, 3 LRA 194; Morgan v. Reynolds, 1 Mont. 163.

Nebr.—Warrick v. Rasmussen, 112 Nebr. 299, 199 NW 544; Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085 [overr Romberg v. Hughes, 18 Nebr. 579, 26 NW 351].

N. H.—Dickinson v. Lovell, 35 N. H. 9.

N. Y.—Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641; Crossley v. Hojer, 11 Misc. 57, 31 NYS 837.

N. C.—Standard Dry-Kiln Co. v. Ellington, 172 N. C. 481, 90 SE 564; Scott v. Elliott, 63 N. C. 215.

N. D.—Northrup v. Cross, 2 N. D. 433, 51 NW 718.

Okl.—McIver v. Katsiolis, 93 Okl. 49, 217 P 422; Chilton v. Carpenter, 78 Okl. 210, 189 P 747; Hunt v. Cohen, 74 Okl. 248, 179 P 1; Francis v. Guaranty State Bank, 44 Okl. 446, 145 P 324; Weleetka Light, etc., Co. v. Castleberry, 42 Okl. 745, 142 P 1006; Mannsville First State Bank v. Lawson, 41 Okl. 226, 137 P 661; Mannsville First State Bank v. Howell, 41 Okl. 216, 137 P 657; Thomas v. Tecumseh First Nat. Bank, 32 Okl. 115, 121 P 272, AnnCas1914A 376.

Or.—Coffin v. Taylor, 16 Or. 375, 18 P 638.

Pa.—Lubin Mfg. Co. v. Swaab, 240 Pa. 182, 87 A 597.

S. D.—Benjamin v. Huston, 16 S. D. 569, 94 NW 584.

Tenn.—Stanley v. Donoho, 16 Lea 492; Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

Tex.—Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130; Hamilton v. Palmer, (Civ. A.) 265 SW 240; Mineralized Rubber Co. v. Cleburne, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 621, 56 SW 220.

Utah.—Rickenberg v. Capitol Garage, 68 Utah 30, 249 P 121, 50 ALR 1303.

Vt.—McGrath v. Wilder, 77 Vt. 431, 60 A 801.

Wash.—Gaffney v. O'Leary, 155 Wash. 171, 283 P 1091; MacKenzie v. Steeves, 98 Wash. 17, 167 P 50.

Wis.—Fernhaber v. Stein, 182 Wis. 61, 195 NW 906; Pfeifer v. Layton Park Oil, etc., Co., 159 Wis. 1, 149 NW 395; Zitske v. Goldberg, 38 Wis. 216; Booth v. Ableman, 20 Wis. 602; Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 83.

Wyo.—Hunt v. Thompson, 19 Wyo. 523, 120 P 181, 122 P 624.

[a] Reason for rule.—"In many cases interest on the value from the time of the wrongful taking would be a proper measure. It would be generally in all cases where the property detained was merchandise kept for sale, grain and all other articles of property useful only for sale or consumption. In such cases, if the owner recover the interest on the value of his property from the time he was deprived of it, he will generally have a complete indemnity unless the property has depreciated in value, in which case the depreciation must be added to the interest on the value, taken as it was before the depreciation, and the two items will furnish the amount of the damage. This damage, together with the property or its value at the time of the trial, will give the owner as complete indemnity as the law is generally able to give any person seeking redress for a wrong. But the same measure of damages would not generally furnish the owner an indemnity in case the property claimed had a value for use, or, in other words, a usable value, such as horses, cows, carriages and boats. In such case the direct damage which the owner suffers is the loss of the use, and the value of the use should be the measure of damage. There may be cases in which greater damage would be proper for exceptional reasons growing out of the manner in which the wrong-doer has used and treated the property while in his possession. Suppose the plaintiff had taken defendant's boat, worth

Usable value and interest. Where the prevailing party recovers the usable value of the property in replevin, he is not entitled to interest on the value of the property covering the same period,[6] as this would be compensating him twice for the same injury.[7] Nor may the usable value be recovered in addition to interest where such usable value does not exceed the legal interest on the value of the property.[8]

[§ 378] 2. Limitations of Rule. The rule allowing the successful party the recovery of the usable value of the property as damages has no application where the right to use the property does not exist,[9] as where the party holds merely a special interest in the property without the right to use it,[10] or where he neither intended, nor was in a position, to use it,[11] or was not prevented from using it by the wrongdoer,[12] or where the property itself could not be rented or used during the period of wrongful de-

---

$2,000, and kept it a whole year before it was ordered, as the result of the action, to be returned to the defendant, would the interest be a fair compensation to the defendant for the loss of the use of his boat? Instead of a boat, suppose it had been a carriage, worth $1,000, would the interest be a sufficient allowance for the use of the carriage a whole year? The same supposition may be made as to any article of personal property having a usable value. There would be very few cases where the interest would give the owner a fair or adequate indemnity, and thus two of the fundamental rules of damages would be violated: The owner would not be completely or fully indemnified for the loss of the use of his property, and the wrong-doer who had had the use of it would make a profit out of his own wrong, which the law does not tolerate." Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 565.

[b] Distinction between replevin and trover.—"In trover the defendant detains nothing from the plaintiff but the value of the property, that is, money; while in replevin he detains the property itself. In either action the plaintiff is entitled to recover for the use of the exact thing which the defendant detains from him; but the great difference is in the thing detained. In trover, it is substantially money. In replevin, it is not money, but is some kind of property different from money. Now the law fixes the value of the use of money, but it does not fix the value of the use of any other kind of property. Therefore, in trover it would be proper to give the plaintiff seven per cent. interest on the value which he recovers, for that is the legal value of the use of money; but in replevin, the value of the use of the property cannot be known except by evidence. In trover, a plaintiff should not be allowed to recover for the use of the property taken, for the property by his own election does not belong to him, but belongs to the defendant. In trover, he should be allowed to recover merely for the value of the property, and the use of such value. But in replevin it is different. There the plaintiff owns the property itself, and therefore should be entitled to recover for the use of the property, and not merely for the use of the value thereof." Bell v. Campbell, 17 Kan. 211, 215.

[c] Rule applied to: (1) Automobiles. Tucker v. Hagerty, 37 Cal. A. 789, 174 P 908; Luther v. Lee, 62 Mont. 174, 204 P 365; Hamilton v. Palmer, (Tex. Civ. A.) 265 SW 240. (2) Boats. Ghio v. Cline, 45 Cal. A. 262, 187 P 433; Aber v. Bratton, 60 Mich. 357, 27 NW 564. (3) Buggies. Clark v. Martin, 120 Mass. 543. (4) Fire hose. Mineralized Rubber Co. v. Cleburne, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 621, 56 SW 220. (5) Horses. Farrar v. Eash, 5 Ind. A. 238, 31 NE 1125; Clark v. Martin, 120 Mass. 543; Hutchinson v. Hutchinson, 102 Mich. 635, 61 NW 60; Allen v. Fox, 51 N. Y. 562, 10 AmR 641; Pfeifer v. Layton Park Oil, etc., Co., 159 Wis. 1, 149 NW 395; Zitske v. Goldberg, 38 Wis. 216; Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80. (6) Household goods. Boston Loan Co. v. Myers, 143 Mass. 446, 9 NE 805; Knight v. Lauer, (Mo. A.) 253 SW 454; McIver v. Katsiolis, 93 Okl. 49, 217 P 422. (7) Ice wagons. Weleetka Light, etc., Co. v. Castleberry, 42 Okl. 745, 142 P 1006. (8) Milk cows. Smith v. Stevens, 33 Colo. 427, 81 P 35; McGrath v. Wilder, 77 Vt. 431, 60 A 801. (9) Mules. Jennings v. Sparkman, 48 Mo. A. 246; Mannsville First State Bank v. Howell, 41 Okl. 216, 137 P 657. (10) Pianos. Boston Loan Co. v. Myers, 143 Mass. 446, 9 NE 805; Chauvin v. Valiton, 8 Mont. 451, 20 P 658, 3 LRA 194. (11) Threshing machines. Peerless Mach. Co. v. Gates, 61 Minn. 124, 63 NW 260. (12) Sheep. Cunningham v. Stoner, 10 Ida. 549, 79 P 228.

[d] In New Mexico by statute double damages are recoverable for the use of the property. Wirt v. Kutz, 15 N. M. 500, 110 P 575.

[e] In Rhode Island by statute the damages recoverable are limited to six per cent per annum of the penal sum of the replevin bond. Davis v. Fenner, 12 R. I. 21.

[98] See infra § 381.

[99] Tucker v. Hagerty, 37 Cal. A. 789, 174 P 908.

[1] Ghio v. Cline, 45 Cal. A. 262, 187 P 433.

Exemplary damages see infra § 386.

Limitations on rule see infra § 378.

[2] Ruzanoff v. Retailers Credit Assoc., 97 Cal. A. 682, 276 P 156.

[3] MacKenzie v. Steeves, 98 Wash. 17, 167 P 50.

[4] Consolidated Nat. Bank v. Cunningham, 28 Ariz. 518, 238 P 332; Rapp v. Mabbett Motor Car Co., 201 App. Div. 283, 194 NYS 200.

[5] MacKenzie v. Steeves, 98 Wash. 17, 167 P 50.

[6] Cal.—Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Freeborn v. Norcross, 49 Cal. 313.

Mich.—Just v. Porter, 64 Mich. 565, 31 NW 444; McGuire v. Galligan, 53 Mich. 453, 19 NW 142.

Nebr.—Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085.

Wash.—American Packing Co. v. Luketa, 115 Wash. 1, 196 P 1, 22 ALR 206.

Wis.—Bigelow v. Doolittle, 36 Wis. 115.

[7] Frey v. Drahos, 7 Nebr. 194.

[8] Smith v. Stevens, 33 Colo. 427, 81 P 35.

[9] United Shoe Mach. Co. v. Ramlose, 231 Mo. 508, 132 SW 1133; Vitagraph Co. v. Swaab, 248 Pa. 478, 94 A 126, AnnCas1916C 311.

[a] Absence of legal or equitable title.—Defendant, having no right either legal or equitable in and to property, cannot recover damages in replevin for the value of its use. United Shoe Mach. Co. v. Ramlose, 231 Mo. 508, 132 SW 1133.

[10] Colo.—Johnson v. Bailey, 17 Colo. 59, 28 P 81 (property received in pledge under express contract to sell the same and account for the proceeds).

Ill.—McArthur v. Howett, 72 Ill. 358; Roberts v. Perrine, 247 Ill. A. 259.

Mich.—Tandler v. Saunders, 56 Mich. 142, 22 NW 271 (deputy sheriff who has seized goods under attachment).

Minn.—Thompson v. Scheid, 39 Minn. 102, 38 NW 801, 12 AmSR 619.

Okl.—Francis v. Guaranty State Bank, 44 Okl. 446, 145 P 324.

[a] Mortgagee of chattels having right of possession only for the purposes of foreclosure cannot recover the usable value of the property. Roberts v. Perrine, 247 Ill. A. 259; Thompson v. Scheid, 39 Minn. 102, 38 NW 801, 12 AmSR 619.

[11] Smith v. Stevens, 14 Colo. A. 491, 60 P 580; Barney v. Douglass, 22 Wis. 464.

[a] Illustration.—Where plaintiff put his cow in pasture with no arrangement for hire or profit and then left the state during which time defendant wrongfully seized her, plaintiff was not entitled to recover the usable value of the cow, there being no evidence that he intended to use her. Smith v. Stevens, 14 Colo. A. 491, 60 P 580.

[12] Smith v. Stevens, supra; Voges v. Ward, 98 Fla. 304, 123 S 785; Hammond v. Thompson, 54 Mont. 609, 173 P 229; Barney v. Douglass, 22 Wis. 464.

tention.[13] There cannot be a recovery for both the value of the use and for depreciation in value caused by such use.[14]

Inconvenience, unaccompanied by any pecuniary loss, is not sufficient to permit a recovery of damages for the deprivation of the use of the property.[15]

[§ 379] 3. Where Value of Property Recovered. Generally, an election to take judgment for the value of the property,[16] as of the time of the wrongful taking, will preclude the prevailing party from a recovery of the usable value of the property during the detention.[17] And the same rule applies where, under the statute,[18] the action in replevin is changed to trover,[19] on the ground that by such election the party in effect makes a sale of the property as of the date of the taking.[20] In such cases the measure of damages would ordinarily be the value of the property with interest.[21] But where the prevailing party under the statute[22] cannot elect to take judgment for the value of the property in lieu of a return, a recovery of the value will not deprive him of a recovery of the usable value of the property during the wrongful detention.[23]

[§ 380] 4. Where Property Not Available at Time of Trial. As in the case of a recovery of the value of the property,[24] it is generally held that the loss or destruction of the property will not deprive the prevailing party of a recovery of the usable value during the wrongful detention,[25] even though the loss is occasioned through no fault of the party cast.[26] There are, however, some statements to the contrary.[27] Where, the wrongdoer is deprived of the possession by a third person on the foreclosure of a lien placed on the property by the prevailing party, the latter may not recover the usable value during the period that the wrongdoer did not have possession.[28]

[§ 381] 5. Determination of Usable Value—a. In General. Ordinarily, the usable value of property recoverable by a successful party in replevin is estimated by the market price of the use of the property replevied during the period of the wrongful detention,[29] or from the time of the wrongful deten-

---

13. Vanhoozer v. Gattis, 139 Ark. 390, 214 SW 44; Redmond v. American Mfg. Co., 121 N. Y. 415, 24 NE 924; Armstrong v. Philadelphia, 249 Pa. 39, 94 A 455, AnnCas1917B 1082.

[a] Inability to use certain machines pending the wrongful detention would deprive plaintiff of their usable value. Redmond v. American Mfg. Co., 121 N. Y. 415, 24 NE 924.

14. White v. Sheffield, etc., R. Co., 90 Ala. 253, 7 S 910; Ocala Foundry, etc., Works v. Lester, 49 Fla. 199, 38 S 51; Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204; Armstrong v. Philadelphia, 249 Pa. 39, 94 A 455, AnnCas1917B 1082.

15. Detroit Gas Co. v. Moreton Truck, etc., Co., 111 Mich. 401, 69 NW 659.

16. Election to take judgment for value see supra § 322.

17. Mich.—Just v. Porter, 64 Mich. 565, 31 NW 444; Hanselman v. Kegel, 60 Mich. 540, 27 NW 678.

N. J.—Schnitzer v. Russell, 81 N. J. L. 146, 80 A 938.

Oh.—Cohen v. Longtin, 21 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 501.

Tex.—Willys-Overland Co. v. Chapman, (Civ. A.) 206 SW 978.

Wis.—Bigelow v. Doolittle, 36 Wis. 115.

[a] Reason for rule.—"If the defendant elects to take the value of the property, he, in effect, thereby makes a sale of it to the plaintiff at the date of its taking, and its value at that time, with interest up to the date of the verdict, is certainly a fair compensation. If he prefers to take the property, and the value of its use while detained, he can do so. The option is his, and not the plaintiff's. There is no justice in his taking the value of the property, selling it to the plaintiff against his will, and also charging him with the use of it in addition." Just v. Porter, 64 Mich. 565, 570, 31 NW 444.

[b] In Iowa (1) the plaintiff may under the statute elect to treat the property converted either as of the time of the taking or at the time of the trial. Where the conversion is treated as of the time of the taking the usable value may not be recovered. Colean Implement Co. v. Strong, 126 Iowa 598, 102 NW 506; Powers v. Benson, 120 Iowa 428, 94 NW 929 [overr in effect Hartley State Bank v. McCorkell, 91 Iowa 660, 60 NW 197; Cook v. Hamilton, 67 Iowa 394, 25 NW 676]; Hasted v. Dodge, 35 NW 462. (2) But where the party elects to take the value as of the time of the trial because the property is not available, the usable value may be recovered. Newberry v. Gibson, 125 Iowa 575, 101 NW 428.

18. See statutory provisions.

19. McGavock v. Chamberlain, 20 Ill. 219.

20. McGavock v. Chamberlain, supra; Cohen v. Longtin, 21 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 501.

21. Schnitzer v. Russell, 81 N. J. L. 146, 80 A 938; Willys-Overland Co. v. Chapman, (Tex. Civ. A.) 206 SW 978.

22. See statutory provisions.

23. Cal.—Blodgett v. Rheinschild, 56 Cal. A. 728, 206 P 674.

Ind.—Farrar v. Eash, 5 Ind. A. 238, 31 NE 1125.

Minn.—Sherman v. Clark, 24 Minn. 37.

N. D.—Northup v. Cross, 2 N. D. 433, 51 NW 718.

Wyo.—Hunt v. Thompson, 19 Wyo. 523, 534, 120 P 181, 122 P 624.

"It is contended that the rule so adopted should be applied here, since the defendant is not entitled to a return. But there is a substantial difference between our statute and one requiring the defendant to elect whether he will take a judgment for the return of the property or its value. In the latter case, where there is an election to take a judgment for value, the defendant by his own act waives his right to a return, and, therefore, it may be proper to confine his compensation to the value with interest. Under our statute the defendant has no option to exercise. It is true that he is limited in his recovery to damages; but that is because the statute so declares, and it is not dependent upon any act of the defendant. The position of the plaintiff is the result of his own act in taking the property and securing its delivery to him." Hunt v. Thompson, supra.

[a] In Nebraska (1) under a statute giving plaintiff an option to return the property or to pay its value, a successful defendant may recover the usable value if it exceeds the interest on the value of the property, even though the value of the property rather than the property itself is recovered. Warrick v. Rasmussen, 112 Nebr. 299, 199 NW 544; Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085 (limiting the rule announced in Romberg v. Hughes, 18 Nebr. 579, 26 NW 351). (2) Where the evidence introduced to prove use value was speculative and incompetent, the damages for detention should be limited to interest on the value of the property. Oak Creek Valley Bank v. Hudkins, 115 Nebr. 628, 214 NW 68.

24. See supra § 375.

25. Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Forsee v. Zenner, (Mo. A.) 193 SW 975; Jennings v. Sparkman, 48 Mo. A. 246. See Bobo v. Patton, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 172, 19 AmR 593 (dictum).

26. Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Joyce v. Lande, 6 La. 277; Jennings v. Sparkman, 48 Mo. A. 246.

[a] Destruction by fire.—Although the property was destroyed by fire pending the action, defendant may recover the usable value where it exceeds the interest on the value of the property. Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476.

27. Puckett v. Hopkins, 63 Mont. 137, 206 P 422; Brunell v. Cook, 13 Mont. 497, 34 P 1015.

28. American Packing Co. v. Luketa, 115 Wash. 1, 196 P 1.

29. Cal.—Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Chucovich v. San Francisco Securities Corp., 60 Cal. A. 700, 214 P 263; Taylor v. Bernheim, 58 Cal. A. 404, 209 P 55; Los Angeles Furniture Co. v. Hansen, 46 Cal. A. 5, 188 P 292; Tucker v. Hagerty, 37 Cal. A. 789, 174 P 908.

Fla.—Ocala Fdy., etc., Works v. Lester, 49 Fla. 199, 38 S 51.

Mo.—Gurley v. Bunch, 130 Mo. A. 665, 108 SW 1109.

tion to the termination of the trial.[30] In determining the market price of the use of property, it cannot, in the absence of unusual and special circumstances pleaded, be based on the market price of other property hired to take its place,[31] nor on profits made in the business in which the property was used, where the property in controversy constituted only a part of the property used in the business,[32] nor based on profits made by others in the same kind of business in which similar property is used where there is no evidence as to what extent the property in controversy would have been used.[33] It has been held, however, that the probable earnings of musical instruments for the period they are wrongfully detained is admissible to fix the usable value of such property.[34]

[§ 382] b. Net Usable Value. The expense of keeping or necessary repairs to the property during the period of detention may be deducted from the amount of the recovery for its usable value.[35] If the property could not have been continually used during the period of its detention, it has been held that this fact should be considered by the jury in estimating the usable value.[36] Where the property was not in fact used, there should be deducted from the market value of the use, taken as the basis for damages, a reasonable sum for deterioration in the condition of the property had it been used, and the necessary repairs and expenses which the other party would have incurred if it had been used during such period of detention.[37]

[§ 383] G. Expenses Connected with Action[38]—1. Attorney's Fees and Other Expenditures. In the absence of statutory provision therefor,[39] or in some jurisdictions where circumstances are present authorizing a recovery of exemplary damages,[40] attorney's fees for services rendered in appearing for the prevailing party in the replevin suit are generally not allowed in that action,[41] even though such

---

Okl.—Mitchelson v. Commercial Invest. Trust, 97 Okl. 98, 222 P 663; Francis v. Guaranty State Bank, 44 Okl. 446, 145 P 324; Thomas v. Tecumseh First Nat. Bank, 32 Okl. 115, 121 P 272, AnnCas1914A 376.

Tenn.—Stanley v. Donoho, 16 Lea 492.

See Omaha State Bank v. Murphy, 110 Nebr. 526, 194 NW 442 (dictum).

"Ordinarily 'usable value' means the amount for which such property could be hired." Hammond v. Thompson, 54 Mont. 609, 611, 173 P 229.

[a] Claim against administrator for loss of use of property dates from the time of taking of property rather than from the time of filing claim against the estate. MacKenzie v. Steeves, 98 Wash. 17, 167 P 50.

[b] Failure of plaintiff to take possession of a truck under the writ would entitle him to recover only the loss of its use up to the time the writ was served. Murphy v. Stryker Transp. Co., 6 N. J. Misc. 745, 142 A 670.

30. Tannahill v. Lydon, 31 Ida. 608, 173 P 1146; Chauvin v. Valiton, 8 Mont. 451, 20 P 658, 3 LRA 194; Gans v. Woolfolk, 2 Mont. 458; Morgan v. Reynolds, 1 Mont. 163.

"In the absence of any allegation of special damages, the measure of damages for the wrongful detention of property which has a usable value, . . . is the reasonable value of its use from the date of seizure to the time of the trial." Hammond v. Thompson, 54 Mont. 609, 611, 173 P 229.

31. Ocala Fdy., etc., Works v. Lester, 49 Fla. 199, 211, 38 S 51.

"The right to recover such damages would depend upon special and unusual circumstances such as that the plaintiffs were deprived of the use of the property in some particular business or some special undertaking, and could not procure other means to accomplish the same results without extraordinary expense, that is without paying more than the market value of the use of the property withheld, and this would constitute special damage which could only be recovered under appropriate allegations. . . . Such damages are not the natural and usual consequences of the detention, but arise only because of unusual and special circumstances, and can, therefore, be recovered only under special allegations." Ocala Fdy., etc., Works v. Lester, supra.

32. Hammond v. Thompson, 54 Mont. 609, 173 P 229.

33. Hamilton v. Palmer, (Tex. Civ. A.) 265 SW 240; Babare v. Rodman, 130 Wash. 317, 226 P 1015 [mod on reh 127 Wash. 436, 221 P 292].

34. Arnold v. Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., 31 Oh. Cir. Ct. 491.

35. Cal.—Mutch v. Long Beach Impr. Co., 47 Cal. A. 267, 190 P 638.

Colo.—Legere v. Stewart, 17 Colo. A. 472, 68 P 1059.

Conn.—Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173.

Ida.—Cunningham v. Stoner, 10 Ida. 549, 79 P 228; Sebree v. Smith, 2 Ida. (Hasb.) 357, 16 P 477.

Mo.—Forsee v. Zenner, (A.) 193 SW 975; Anchor Milling Co. v. Walsh, 24 Mo. A. 97.

Mont.—Puckett v. Hopkins, 63 Mont. 137, 206 P 422; Haggerty Bros. v. Lash, 34 Mont. 517, 87 P 907.

Enhancement of value see supra § 373.

36. Brunell v. Cook, 13 Mont. 497, 499, 34 P 1015.

"Under ordinary circumstances it would seem to be contrary to practical experience for farmers (as in this case) to keep such property constantly employed at a given rate of earnings, either by letting to others for hire or by employment at home; or to set down the gross earnings as profits, undiminished by any expense for feeding, care, and otherwise. And where the 'value for hire or use' is adopted as the criterion for computation of damage for wrongful detention of personal property, the attention of the jury should be called to those points of consideration, and not directed to the computation of gross earnings for an unbroken period of time, unaccompanied by those other considerations." Brunell v. Cook, supra.

[a] Failure so to instruct the jury may be harmless when the fact is taken into consideration. Tannahill v. Lydon, 31 Ida. 608, 173 P 1146.

37. Ocala Fdy., etc., Works v. Lester, 49 Fla. 199, 38 S 51; Peerless Mach. Co. v. Gates, 61 Minn. 124, 63 NW 260; Armstrong v. Philadelphia, 249 Pa. 39, 94 A 455, AnnCas1917B 1082.

38. Action on bond see infra § 424.

Attorney's fees as costs see Costs § 248.

39. See statutory provisions.

40. Mars v. Germany, 135 Miss. 387, 100 S 23; Thornton v. Gardner, 134 Miss. 485, 99 S 131; Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24; Cowden v. Lockridge, 60 Miss. 385. See Knight v. Beckwith Commercial Co., 6 Wyo. 500, 46 P 1094 (where the rule is stated but not applied).

Attorney's fees and expenses in connection with exemplary damages generally see Damages § 134.

Exemplary damages in replevin generally see infra § 386.

41. U. S.—Pacific Ins. Co. v. Conard, 18 F. Cas. No. 10,647, Baldw. 138 [aff 6 Pet. 262, 8 L. ed. 392].

Cal.—Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869; Harris v. Smith, 132 Cal. 316, 64 P 409; Hays v. Windsor, 130 Cal. 230, 62 P 395; Black v. Hilliker, 130 Cal. 190, 62 P 481; Spooner v. Cady, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 357, 44 P 1018; National City Finance Co. v. Lynch, 94 Cal. A. 557, 271 P 540; Bradshaw v. Eggers, 27 Cal. A. 132, 148 P 961; Martland v. Bekins Van, etc., Co., 19 Cal. A. 283, 125 P 759. See Anglo-California Trust Co. v. Collins, 192 Cal. 315, 219 P 982 (stating the rule and not deciding as to effect of contract).

Dak.—Jandt v. South, 2 Dak. 46, 47 NW 779.

Fla.—Gregory v. Woodbery, 53 Fla. 566, 43 S 504.

Ill.—Roberts v. Perrine, 247 Ill. A. 259.

Iowa.—Becker v. Staab, 114 Iowa 319, 86 NW 305.

Ky.—Kentucky Portland Cement, etc., Co. v. Steckel, 164 Ky. 420, 175 SW 663.

La.—Anders v. Lee-Rogers Chevrolet Co., 7 La. A. 481.

Miss.—Carraway v. Wallace, 17 S 930; Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24; Cowden v. Lockridge, 60 Miss. 385.

fees were incurred in pursuit of the property in controversy.[42] So also there can be no recovery for time lost[43] or expenses incurred in prosecuting the suit,[44] such as traveling expenses or hotel bills incurred in the prosecution of the action.[45]

[§ 384] 2. Pursuit of Property. By statute[46] or judicial authority in some jurisdictions, damages are allowable for time and expense incurred in pursuit of the property,[47] while others maintain the contrary doctrine.[48]

[§ 385] 3. Taking and Removing Property. In an action of replevin the expenses of taking and removing the property are allowed as damages for the detention in some jurisdictions,[49] while in others such expenses are by statute[50] a part of the disbursements in the action and should be added to the costs.[51] But where the party unreasonably incurs expenses in an attempt to remove the property, such expenses should not be allowed.[52]

[§ 386] H. Exemplary Damages[53]—1. In General. In the absence of fraud, malice, collusion, gross negligence, or oppression neither plaintiff nor defendant is entitled to exemplary or punitive damages in an action of replevin,[54] so that a taking in a bona fide belief of ownership will preclude the recovery of exemplary damages.[55] On the other hand, damages of this character are allowed by statute[56] or judicial decision where there have been peculiar circumstances of outrage, fraud, malice, oppression or collusion attending the wrongful taking or detention,[57] and it is immaterial with respect to such damages that pending the proceedings, the plaintiff

---

Mo.—Mix v. Kepner, 81 Mo. 93; Hodkinson v. McNeal Mach. Co., 161 Mo. A. 87, 142 SW 457; Howard v. Haas, 139 Mo. A. 591, 123 SW 1048.

N. Y.—Sinskie v. Brust, 66 App. Div. 34, 72 NYS 922; Cook v. Gross, 60 App. Div. 446, 69 NYS 924; Hampton, etc., Lumber Co. v. Sizer, 35 Misc. 391, 71 NYS 990.

S. C.—Loeb v. Mann, 39 S. C. 465, 18 SE 1.

Wis.—Commercial Inv. Trust v. William Frankfurth Hardware Co., 179 Wis. 21, 190 NW 1004.

Wyo.—State Finance Corp. v. Commercial Credit Co., 41 Wyo. 198, 283 P 1100; Knight v. Beckwith Commercial Co., 6 Wyo. 500, 46 P 1094.

[a] Statutory provision for damages.—"The word 'damages' in paragraph 1 of section 1724 of the Revised Statutes of 1892, is not sufficiently comprehensive to embrace the attorney's fees incurred by the plaintiff in prosecuting his action of replevin." Gregory v. Woodbery, 53 Fla. 566, 569, 43 S 504.

42. Drinkhouse v. Van Ness, 202 Cal. 359, 260 P 869. See Spooner v. Cady, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 357, 44 P 1018 (where question whether attorney's fees can be treated as money expended in pursuit of property was raised, but not decided). But see Davis Sewing-Mach. Co. v. Best, 50 Hun 76, 4 NYS 510 [app dism 117 N. Y. 655 mem, 22 NE 1133 mem] (where plaintiff was allowed expenses incurred in sending an attorney to demand possession of the property).

43. Blackwell v. Acton, 38 Ind. 425; Kentucky Portland Cement, etc., Co. v. Steckel, 164 Ky. 420, 175 SW 663; Taylor v. Morton, 61 Miss. 24; Loeb v. Mann, 39 S. C. 465, 18 SE 1.

44. Pacific Ins. Co. v. Conard, 18 F. Cas. No. 10,647, Baldw. 138 [aff 6 Pet. 262, 8 Fed. 392].

45. Hampton, etc., Lumber Co. v. Sizer, 35 Misc. 391, 71 NYS 990; Loeb v. Mann, 39 S. C. 465, 18 SE 1.

46. See statutory provisions.

47. Mitchell v. Burch, 36 Ind. 529 (where there was some evidence of bad faith and concealment on defendant's property); Newman v. Wilson, 1 La. Ann. 48.

[a] Promissory note given by plaintiff to her attorneys for two hundred dollars did not support a finding that such amount was a fair compensation for time and money expended by her in the pursuit of the property. Murphy v. Mulgrew, 102 Cal. 547, 36 P 857, 41 AmSR 200.

[b] Property fraudulently taken out of officer's possession.—A sheriff of another state may sue to recover sequestered property fraudulently taken out of his possession, and he will be entitled to recover the amount of the expenses he has been compelled to incur in order to recover it. Newman v. Wilson, 1 La. Ann. 48.

[c] Verdict will not be disturbed where there is sufficient evidence to sustain an award for money expended by plaintiff in pursuit of the property, especially where the judgment recited that there was ample evidence to sustain the verdict. Anderson v. Freeman. 40 S. D. 249, 167 NW 143.

[d] In California, under a statute providing that "the detriment caused by the wrongful conversion of personal property shall be presumed to be" among other things a fair compensation for the time and money properly expended in pursuit of the property, plaintiff in replevin may recover compensation for the pursuit of the property when he makes proper allegations of damages. Arzaga v. Villalba, 85 Cal. 191 [lim Redington v. Nunan, 60 Cal. 632; Kelly v. McKibben, 54 Cal. 192 (holding the contrary to cases where plaintiff has so framed his complaint as to seek only a recovery of the property and has not alleged any damages)]; Cain v. Cody, 29 P 778; Waterhouse-Wilcox Co. v. Betz, 73 Cal. A. 236, 238 P 763.

[e] In Illinois (1) it has been held under a statute providing that "if judgment is given for the plaintiff in replevin, he shall recover damages for the detention while the same was wrongfully detained," that it was proper to allow as damages expenses incurred by plaintiff in searching for the property. Brennan v. Shinkle, 89 Ill. 604. (2) But in a subsequent case such expenses were not allowed and no mention was made of the earlier Illinois case to the contrary. Taylor v. Welsh, 138 Ill. A. 190.

48. Sinskie v. Brust, 66 App. Div. 34, 72 NYS 922.

49. Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462; Hendricks v. Ireland, 162 N. C. 523, 77 SE 1011.

50. See statutory provisions.

51. Crowe v. Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., 37 F. (2d) 216; Young v. Atwood, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 234.

Costs in replevin see supra §§ 352-358.

52. Barney v. Douglass, 22 Wis. 464 (where it was said that it is doubtful whether the owner could recover as a part of his damages for the detention his expenses in going some distance with a team to remove the engine, after he knew that it was held by the opposite party, as sheriff, under an attachment, he not having ascertained whether it would be voluntarily delivered to him, nor being prepared to take it by legal proceedings).

53. Generally see Damages §§ 268-298.

54. Cal.—Spooner v. Cady, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 357, 44 P 1018.

Conn.—Hall v. Smedley Co., 151 A 321.

Kan.—McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Drake, (A.) 48 P 944.

Miss.—Acree v. Bufford, 80 Miss. 565, 31 S 898.

Mont.—Luther v. Lee, 62 Mont. 174, 204 P 365.

Okl.—Myers v. Hubbard, 80 Okl. 97, 194 P 433; Remund v. McCool, 50 Okl. 69, 150 P 1055.

Pa.—Armstrong v. Philadelphia, 249 Pa. 39, 94 A 455, AnnCas1917B 1082; Vitagraph Co. v. Swaab, 248 Pa. 478, 94 A 126, AnnCas1916C 311; Lubin Mfg. Co. v. Swaab, 240 Pa. 182, 87 A 597; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484; McCabe v. Morehead, 1 Watts & S. 513; Jacobs v. Krieger, 87 Pa. Super. 448; Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

S. C.—Shieder v. Southern R. Co., 83 S. C. 455, 65 SE 631.

Wyo.—Knight v. Beckwith Commercial Co., 6 Wyo. 500, 46 P 1094.

[a] Illustration.—Carrier was not liable for punitive damages for the refusal of its agent to deliver damaged cigars to consignee, who declined to attend in person or by a responsible agent to witness the opening of the packages and checking of the loss in view of the rule requiring consignee to be present and open the packages and check the loss in carrier's warehouse. Shieder v. Southern R. Co., 83 S. C. 455. 65 SE 631.

[b] Cutting logs under void deed.—A defendant who in good faith purchased and obtained a deed to timbered land, and who found thereon freshly cut logs, which he reasonably believed were cut after his purchase, is not liable for exemplary damages for taking the logs, although it be ascertained that his deed was void on grounds not affecting his integrity, and that he did not purchase the logs. Acree v. Bufford, 80 Miss. 565, 31 S 898.

55. Herdic v. Young, 55 Pa. 176, 79 AmD 739.

56. See statutory provisions.

57. Cal.—Arzaga v. Villalba, 85 obtained possession of the property under the process of the court.[58] Mere inconvenience caused by an officer in replevining property is not sufficient to support an award of exemplary damages.[59]

After execution of bond. Statutory provisions have provided that punitive damages are not allowable after the execution of the bond,[60] but such statutes have been held not to affect a recovery of exemplary or punitive damages for a plaintiff's wilful signing of a false affidavit before the execution of the bond,[61] nor to prevent a recovery of such damages after a nonsuit of the plaintiff in the action in which the bond was executed,[62] since such statutes apply only while the suit is pending and is not a shield from all future actions for punitive damages.[63]

[§ 387] 2. Malicious Prosecution of Writ. While it has been held that exemplary damages for defendant on account of plaintiff's malicious issuance of the writ are not recoverable in replevin, but must be recovered in an independent action for malicious prosecution,[64] in other jurisdictions it has been at least intimated that exemplary damages for a malicious prosecution of the writ will be allowed in the replevin action.[65]

[§ 388] I. Apportionment of Damages. If it be found that part of the goods belonged to plaintiff and part to defendant[66] the damages must be apportioned between them.[67] Plaintiff is entitled to damages for the unlawful capture and detention of such of the goods as are found to be his property, and defendant is entitled to damages for the taking under the writ of the property found to belong to him.[68]

[§ 389] J. Necessity for Assessment of Damages in Replevin Suit[69]—1. Damages to Plaintiff. Ordinarily the provisions of the statutes[70] contemplate that where plaintiff is successful all damages to which he is entitled shall be assessed and awarded by the judgment in the replevin suit,[71] which shall conclude him from maintaining any other action for damages,[72] especially as against the sureties on a

---

Cal. 191, 24 P 656.

N. J.—Dreimuller v. Rogow, 93 N. J. L. 1, 107 A 144.

Okl.—Ray v. Navarre, 47 Okl. 438, 147 P 1019.

Pa.—Duroth Mfg. Co. v. Cauffiel, 243 Pa. 24, 89 A 798; Wiley v. McGrath, 194 Pa. 498, 45 A 331, 75 AmSR 709; Craig v. Kline, 65 Pa. 399, 3 AmR 636; McDonald v. Scaife, 11 Pa. 381, 51 AmD 556.

S. C.—Manley v. Bailey, 151 S. C. 366, 149 SE 119.

Tenn.—Mayberry v. Cliffe, 7 Coldw. 117.

[a] Collusion.—Where plaintiff's husband sold certain property to defendant without plaintiff's consent and the evidence showed the existence of collusion between defendant and plaintiff's husband, plaintiff was entitled to exemplary damages. Wiley v. McGrath, 194 Pa. 498, 45 A 331, 75 AmSR 709.

[b] Threats and violence.—Where defendant without legal process came on plaintiff's premises at an early hour and by force, threats and a display of firearms, took and drove away plaintiff's property over his protests, plaintiff was entitled to punitive damages. Ray v. Navarre, 47 Okl. 438, 147 P 1019.

[c] Wilful disregard of property rights.—In an action to replevy personal property from a mortgagee who sold plaintiff's property under a foreclosure, there was sufficient basis for the jury to award punitive damages where plaintiff informed the mortgagee prior to the sale that the property was not included in the mortgage, but where the mortgagee nevertheless proceeded to sell without regard to plaintiff's protests. Manley v. Bailey, 151 S. C. 366, 149 SE 119.

[d] In South Carolina (1) exemplary damages formerly were not allowed in claim and delivery. Vance v. W. A. Vandercook Co., 170 U. S. 468, 18 SCt 645, 42 L. ed. 1111; Brayton v. Beall, 73 S. C. 308, 53 SE 641; Tittle v. Kennedy, 71 S. C. 1, 50 SE 544. (2) By statute the rule has been changed. Shieder v. Southern R. Co., 83 S. C. 455, 65 SE 631.

[e] Well considered cases.—Ray v. Navarre, 47 Okl. 438, 147 P 1019; Vitagraph Co. v. Swaab, 248 Pa. 478, 94 A 126, AnnCas1916C 311.

[58] Arzaga v. Villalba, 85 Cal. 191, 24 P 656.

[59] Vitagraph Co. v. Swaab, 248 Pa. 478, 94 A 126, AnnCas1916C 311; Lubin Mfg. Co. v. Swaab, 240 Pa. 182, 87 A 597.

[60] See infra text and notes 61-63.

[61] Moss v. Burdette, 151 S. C. 532, 149 SE 235.

[62] Williams v. Weekley, 100 S. C. 28, 84 SE 299.

[63] Williams v. Weekley, supra.

[64] See cases infra this note.

Malicious prosecution generally see 38 C. J. p 378.

[a] In Oklahoma (1) it has been held in an action to recover damages that the final determination of the replevin suit in defendant's favor would give him the right in an independent action to recover damages for the malicious institution of the replevin action as such damage was not properly within the issues of the replevin action. Harris v. Milligan, 68 Okl. 99, 171 P 850. (2) Where defendant by way of cross petition alleged that the taking of the property by plaintiff under the writ of replevin was wilful and malicious with intent to injure and damage defendant, it was held that the distinction between a malicious taking by defendant and an "improper institution of the suit," by plaintiff was a distinction without a difference. Lanyon v. Byus, 81 Okl. 203, 197 P 162. (3) It was held in a replevin action that damages for the taking of the property under the writ of replevin were not within the issues of the replevin action, but a proper subject for suit in an independent action for the malicious prosecution of the suit. Shipman v. Adamson, 96 Okl. 84, 221 P 74.

[65] Cable v. Dakin, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 172; McDonald v. Scaife, 11 Pa. 381, 51 AmD 556; McCabe v. Morehead, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 513; Cox v. Burdett, 23 Pa. Super. 346.

"Where the writ of replevin has obviously been perverted to the purpose of a wilful injury, with a full consciousness in the plaintiff that he has no claim, the jury may perhaps assess smart money, as they might for a wilful and malicious trespass. That would certainly be going far enough. It supposes a right to recover damages as for a malicious prosecution; and to go even thus far would be dangerous unless a malicious replevin be considered as an exception to the rule which allows an independent action for a vexatious suit." Brizsee v. Maybee, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 144, 145.

[66] Partial recovery see supra § 321.

[67] Knowles v. Pierce, 10 Del. 178; Wright v. Mathews, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 187; Powell v. Hinsdale, 5 Mass. 343.

[68] Powell v. Hinsdale, 5 Mass. 343.

[69] Judgment in replevin as essential to fixing liability of surety on: Defendant's bond see infra § 414. Plaintiff's bond see infra § 408.

Conclusiveness of adjudication in action on bond see infra § 426.

[70] See statutory provisions.

[71] Colo.—Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206.

Iowa.—Newton v. Round, 109 Iowa 286, 80 NW 391.

Mich.—Delevan v. Bates, 1 Mich. 97.

Nebr.—Teel v. Miles, 51 Nebr. 542, 71 NW 296.

N. C.—Globe Oil Co. v. Messick Grocery Co., 136 N. C. 354, 48 SE 781.

Pa.—Bower v. Tallman, 5 Watts & S. 556; Com. v. Lintott, 64 Pa. Super. 328.

[a] Where the replevin proceedings have been enjoined by a decree which settles the rights of the parties but does not find the value of the property, the court in the replevin action must determine that question and upon it both parties have the right to present evidence. Dehr v. Lampton, 31 Iowa 172.

[72] Newton v. Round, 109 Iowa 286, 80 NW 391; Bower v. Tallman, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 556.

[a] Illustration.—Where plaintiff,

redelivery bond.[73]

[§ 390] 2. Damages to Defendant—a. Value of Property. Under the provisions of some statutes[74] the value of the property when recoverable by defendant, should be assessed by the jury in the replevin suit,[75] unless defendant was deprived of an opportunity to have the value assessed in the replevin action by plaintiff's failure to prosecute to final judgment,[76] in which case the value may be assessed in an action brought on the bond for plaintiff's failure to prosecute the action.[77] Under other statutory provisions, a defendant in an action of replevin tried on the merits, may recover in an action on the bond, the value of the property although not assessed in the replevin action.[78] It has also been held that an independent action for the value of the property will lie.[79]

[§ 391] b. Depreciation in Value. Statutory provisions in some jurisdictions contemplate that the depreciation in the value of the property up to judgment in replevin must be assessed in the replevin suit.[80] But depreciation occurring subsequent to the replevin judgment may be compensated for in damages in an action on the replevin bond.[81] In other jurisdictions defendant by suit on the bond may recover for the depreciation in the value of the property although there was no assessment in the replevin action.[82] Where the bond provides for a return of the property without reference to its condition, it has been held that the depreciation in the value of the property cannot be recovered in an action on the bond, but a separate action must be instituted for the purpose.[83]

[§ 392] c. Damages for Detention. Except where defendant's failure to have his damages assessed was caused by plaintiff's failure to prosecute the action to final judgment,[84] the damages for the taking and detention of the property are generally to be assessed in the replevin suit,[85] so that after final judgment in under a statute authorizing an election to take the property or its value, took a judgment for a return of the property, but failed to prove damages for an injury to the property, he could not recover such damage in a separate action. Newton v. Round, 109 Iowa 286, 80 NW 391.

---

73. Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

74. See statutory provisions.

75. White v. Van Houten, 51 Mo. 577; Clinton v. Stovall, 45 Mo. A. 642; Fulkerson v. Dinkins, 28 Mo. A. 160. But see Hothenthal v. Watson, 28 Mo. 360 (although the rule of the text was recognized, defendant was permitted to have the value assessed by a jury other than the one trying the issues of the replevin action).

[a] In Delaware (1) ordinarily in an action on a replevin bond no question can be tried which could and ought to have been tried and determined in the replevin suit. Clark v. Wilmington Trust Co., 30 Del. 287, 105 A 834. (2) Notwithstanding that the questions of the value of the property and damages could be more conveniently tried in the replevin action, they may be assessed in an action on the bond. Harmon v. Collins, 18 Del. 36, 45 A 541.

76. Berghoff v. Hechwolf, 26 Mo. 511.

77. Berghoff v. Hechwolf, supra.

78. U. S.—Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. 208, 22 L. ed. 727.

Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190; Whitney v. Lehmer, 26 Ind. 503.

Iowa.—Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.

Me.—Smith v. Dillingham, 33 Me. 384.

Mass.—Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328.

Or.—Booth v. National Surety Co., 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987.

[a] Although a statute requires an assessment of the value and damages in the replevin suit, defendant, on obtaining judgment for a return of the property, may recover the value of the property in an action on the bond even though it was not assessed in the replevin action. Whitney v. Lehmer, 26 Ind. 503.

79. Johnson v. Boehme, 66 Kan. 72, 71 P 243, 97 AmSR 357.

80. Teel v. Miles, 51 Nebr. 542, 71 NW 296; Pabst Brewing Có. v. Rapid Safety Filter Co., 56 Misc. 445, 107 NYS 163.

[a] Illustration.—Where a defendant in replevin recovered judgment for the return of the property and his damage for the wrongful detention thereof he cannot thereafter maintain another action on account of depreciation in the value of the property while in plaintiff's possession. Teel v. Miles, 51 Nebr. 542, 71 NW 296.

81. Wallace v. Cox, 100 Nebr. 601, 160 NW 992, AnnCas1917D 699.

82. U. S.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799.

Ala.—Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 S 256.

Conn.—Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173; Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928.

Ill.—Franks v. Matson, 211 Ill. 338, 71 NE 1011; Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204; Dalby v. Campbell, 26 Ill. A. 502.

Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190; Lindsey v. Hewitt, 42 Ind. A. 573, 86 NE 446.

Kan.—Fair v. Citizens' State Bank, 69 Kan. 353, 76 P 847, 105 AmSR 168.

Ky.—Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192.

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46; Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170; Thomas v. Spofford, 46 Me. 408.

Miss.—Hazlett v. Witherspoon, 25 S 150.

N. J.—Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

Or.—Booth v. National Surety Co., 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987.

Tenn.—Colby v. Yates, 12 Heisk. 267.

[a] Reason for rule.—(1) "In our opinion the difference in the value of the property at the time taken and when returned may be recovered in an action like this, and such damages are not required by the Code to be fixed in the judgment in the action for claim and delivery of the property. In fact, it would be impossible to do so for the reason the property is at the time of the judgment in the possession of the plaintiff in the action, and not accessible to the defendant for inspection; nor can it be known in what condition the property will be when returned to the defendant." Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 808, 104 SW 978. (2) "Now this character of question was not conveniently or properly cognizable in the trial of the title; for the property had been in the meantime in the possession of the plaintiff in replevin; and the defendant in such an action is not presumed to have had access to the property, so as to be advised of the injuries done it. These injuries undoubtedly afford a good ground for a separate action." Colby v. Yates, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 267, 269.

[b] In Massachusetts (1) where the statutory bond in replevin contemplates that the property be restored in like good order and condition, the rule obtains that the depreciation in the value of the property is only recoverable in an action on the bond (Tucker v. Tremont Trust Co., 242 Mass. 25, 136 NE 62, 24 ALR 1185; Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Oldham, 136 Mass. 515; Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328 [dictum]; Gordon v. Jenney, 16 Mass. 465 [dictum]), (2) on the theory that a failure to return the property in like good condition as when taken is not damage arising from the detention but a breach of the bond (Tucker v. Tremont Trust Co., 242 Mass. 25, 136 NE 62, 24 ALR 1185).

83. Douglass v. Douglass, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 98, 22 L. ed. 479 (the court did not imply as a condition of the bond that the property was to be returned in like good order and condition).

84. Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45; R. W. Wilson Motor Co. v. Hoover, 222 Mo. A. 570, 293 SW 61; Elliott v. Black, 45 Mo. 372; Berghoff v. Heckwolf, 26 Mo. 511; Morrison v. Yancey, 23 Mo. A. 670; Woody v. Jordan, 69 N. C. 189.

85. Cal.—Ginaca v. Atwood, 8 Cal. 446.

Colo.—Sopris v. Lilley, 2 Colo. 496.

Ind.—Jackson v. Morgan, 167 Ind. 528, 78 NE 633.

Ky.—Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192.

Mass.—Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328.

Mo.—White v. Van Houten, 51 Mo.

defendant's favor he cannot move to introduce evidence to show damages sustained,[86] or maintain another action to recover such damages.[87] However, it has been held that defendant may maintain an action for damages in conversion although he could have had his damages for the wrongful taking assessed in the replevin suit,[88] on the theory that the statute, providing that defendant may recover damages in replevin as well as a plaintiff, has not abolished the common law action for damages in a separate action;[89] and likewise where the damages have not been assessed in the replevin suit, some courts permit a recovery in an action on the replevin bond,[90] especially where such damages were not in issue in the replevin action.[91]

[§ 393] K. Damages Pending Appeal. A successful party in replevin may, either in the same proceedings,[92] or in an action on the bond,[93] recover damages for the further detention of the property pending an appeal. The rule applies to an appeal from a justice of the peace to a county, district or other trial court,[94] or to an appeal to an appellate court.[95] For this purpose plaintiff may amend his petition or complaint.[96] In the application of rules already considered[97] the damages recoverable for such further detention, may be the usable value of the property,[98] or interest,[99] or the depreciation in the value of the property.[1]

In separate action. There appears to be a conflict of authority as to whether a prevailing party in replevin may institute a separate action for damages occasioned by the further detention of the property pending appeal.[2] In some jurisdictions a separate action for damages in such a case is allowed,[3] while in other jurisdictions the damages must be assessed either in the original replevin suit or in an action on the bond,[4] but if a new demand is made for the possession of the property pending the appeal, a new cause of action accrues so that an independent action is maintainable.[5]

577; Freeman v. Lavenue, 99 Mo. A. 173, 72 SW 1085.

Nebr.—Teel v. Miles, 51 Nebr. 542, 71 NW 296.

N. Y.—Pabst Brewing Co. v. Rapid Safety Filter Co., 56 Misc. 445, 107 NYS 163; Ritchie v. Talcott, 10 Misc. 412, 31 NYS 196.

Or.—Gust v. Edwards Co., 129 Or. 409, 274 P 919.

Philippine.—Pascua v. Sideco, 24 Philippine 26.

Tenn.—Colby v. Yates, 12 Heisk. 267 (dictum).

Vt.—Miltimore v. Bottom, 66 Vt. 168, 28 A 872.

[a] Reason for rule.—"When a trial is had, it was intended, that all matters growing out of the controversy, should be finally determined in one and the same suit. The object was to prevent multiplicity of suits, and prevent the practice of trying one half of the cause before one jury, and then resort to another suit, to try the remainder of the cause, before another jury, which would unnecessarily harass parties, and produce needless litigation, and accumulate costs. The damages are incident to the actions, and spring immediately out of it, and ought to be determined when the action progresses." White v. Van Houten, 51 Mo. 577, 580.

[b] In Delaware (1) ordinarily in an action on a replevin bond no question can be tried which could and ought to have been tried and determined in the replevin suit (Clark v. Wilmington Trust Co., (Super.) 30 Del. 287, 105 A 834), (2) although damages for the detention might be more conveniently tried and determined in the replevin suit, they may be assessed in an action on the bond (Harmon v. Collins, 18 Del. 36, 45 A 541; McIlvaine v. Holland, 5 Harr. 226).

[86] Freeman v. Lavenue, 99 Mo. A. 173, 72 SW 1085.

[87] Drewyour v. Merrell, 112 Mich. 681, 71 NW 486; Teel v. Miles, 51 Nebr. 542, 71 NW 296; Ritchie v. Talcott, 10 Misc. 412, 31 NYS 196; Pascua v. Sideco, 24 Philippine 26.

[88] Johnson v. Boehme, 66 Kan. 72, 71 P 243, 97 AmSR 357; Bowen v. King, 146 N. C. 385, 59 SE 1044; Asher v. Reizenstein, 105 N. C. 213, 10 SE 889.

[89] Woody v. Jordan, 69 N. C. 189.

[90] Fields v. Crawford, 30 F. Cas. No. 18,296, 2 Hayw. & H. 256; Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930; Shepard v. Butterfield, 41 Ill. 76; Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46 (Rev. St. c 101 § 15); Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462; Thomas v. Spofford, 46 Me. 408; Smith v. Dillingham, 33 Me. 384.

[91] Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930.

[a] Illustration.—Where in replevin the jury's verdict was for a return of the property and $1 damages, defendant in an action on the bond might recover such damages to which he was entitled and which were not in issue in the replevin suit and not assessed therein. Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930.

[92] Hanf v. Ford, 37 Ark. 544; Weleetka Light, etc., Co. v. Castleberry, 42 Okl. 745, 142 P 1006; Zitske v. Goldberg, 38 Wis. 216. See Cunningham v. Stoner, 10 Ida. 549, 79 P 228 (where from the fact that the unsuccessful party is allowed the cost of keeping the property pending the appeal, the rule of the text may be implied).

"The original claim for damages was made in a proceeding before a justice, in which the plaintiff, but for the retaining bond, might have had immediate redelivery, and it might be reasonably supposed, sufficient to cover any damages then incurred, or even those which might be sustained in the usual time required for proceedings before a justice. The defendant, however, continued to retain the plaintiff's property, by means of his bond, not only during the progress of the suit before the justice, but during its pendency on the appeal. During all this time the damages were increasing, and there would have been a failure of justice, if the plaintiff had not been allowed so to amend as to recover the whole damage sustained." Hanf v. Ford, 37 Ark. 544, 548.

[93] Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110.

[94] Hanf v. Ford, 37 Ark. 544; Weleetka Light, etc., Co. v. Castleberry, 42 Okl. 745, 142 P 1006; Zitske v. Goldberg, 38 Wis. 216.

[95] Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 68 Me. 449.

[96] Hanf v. Ford, 37 Ark. 544.

[97] See supra §§ 369, 370, 376, 377-382.

[98] Schrandt v. Young, 62 Nebr. 254, 86 NW 1085; Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80.

[99] Devol v. Dye, 6 Ind. A. 257, 33 NE 253.

[1] Welch v. Welch, 106 Ky. 406, 50 SW 687.

[2] See infra text and notes 3-5.

[3] Fair v. Citizens' State Bank, 69 Kan. 353, 76 P 847, 105 AmSR 168, 2 AnnCas 960; Chesnut v. Sales, 49 Mont. 318, 141 P 986, 52 LRANS 1199, AnnCas1916A 620.

[4] Van Horne v. Treadwell, 164 Cal. 620, 130 P 5; Bracken v. Atlantic Trust Co., 167 N. Y. 510, 60 NE 772, 82 AmSR 731; Commerce Exch. Nat. Bank v. Blye, 123 N. Y. 132, 25 NE 208.

"We cannot admit that the taking of an appeal by the defendant constituted a new and separate detention of plaintiff's bonds because they remained in defendant's possession after delivery to him by the sheriff in accordance with the law of the chosen remedy. If that be so, added perils will surround appeals, and a prolific source of new actions will come into existence, and it will be difficult to say that one class of damages resulting from the law's delay may be recovered and all others be excluded. We think the right of appeal cannot be converted into a tort or wrong, and the delay it produces serve as a basis for a new action, and that the judgment already rendered closed the entire controversy." Commerce Exch. Nat. Bank v. Blye, 123 N. Y. 132, 137, 25 NE 208.

[a] Illustration.—The wrongful refusal of a pledgee to redeliver pledged stocks creates but a single cause of action in favor of the pledgor, and the continued withholding of the stocks pending an appeal is not a new wrong redressible by a new action, but is simply a continuation of the original wrong for which the only redress must be had in the original action and consequently a second action for the damage due to the depreciation in value of the stocks pending appeal will not lie. Van Horne v. Treadwell, 164 Cal. 620, 130 P 5.

[5] Chesnut v. Sales, 49 Mont. 318,

XVI. LIABILITY ON REPLEVIN AND REDELIVERY BONDS[6]

[By Bernard J. Kenny]

[§ 394] A. In General. A replevin bond is to be interpreted like any other contract[7] or bond,[8] and its several conditions are separate and independent,[9] so that an action may be maintained on the bond for the breach of any of its conditions.[10] A right of action on a replevin bond[11] carries with it the right to recover damages for a failure to perform its conditions.[12] The obligation of the sureties on defendant's replevy bond is created by the bond and dates only from its date;[13] and to justify a judgment against the obligor and sureties, there must have been some breach of the bond,[14] for until a breach of one of the conditions the liability of the obligors is merely contingent.[15] Where the statutes[16] confer on a married woman the right to execute a forthcoming or redelivery bond, she is subject to judgment on it.[17]

[§ 395] B. Accrual or Release of Liability by Breach or Performance of Conditions—1. In General. Liability on a bond in replevin accrues whenever there is a breach of any one or more of the several independent conditions of the bond;[18] and what will constitute an actionable breach must depend largely on the nature and terms of the particular condition claimed to be broken.[19]

[§ 396] 2. Plaintiff's Bond—a. Condition To Prosecute Action—(1) In General. The condition to prosecute the action is contained in replevin bonds, but under the particular statutes,[20] the wording of this condition is not exactly the same, with the result that the conclusions reached do not coincide in all cases.[21] A condition to "prosecute the action" without the words "duly" or "with effect" has been construed by some courts to mean a prosecution to a successful termination by plaintiff,[22] or a prosecution with effect,[23] while in other jurisdictions these words have been construed as meaning a prosecution of the suit to a final judgment on the merits whether plaintiff be successful or not.[24] Under either view there will be a breach of this condition

---

324, 141 P 986, 52 LRANS 1199, Ann Cas1916A 620 (where the court, commenting upon the decision in Commerce Exch. Nat. Bank v. Blye, supra, said: "The New York court laid some stress upon the fact that in the Blye Case the complaint alleged no new or separate demand, but simply a continuation of the refusal to obey the original one, and there is room for the inference that had a separate demand been made after judgment, a different conclusion might have been reached").

6. Necessity, purpose, and validity of bond by:
Defendant in replevin see supra §§ 156–159.
Plaintiff in replevin see supra §§ 116–132.
Third persons claimant see supra §§ 166, 167.

Similar bonds:
Attachment §§ 679–783, 863, 938–963.
Executions §§ 300–326, 541–546.
Landlord and Tenant §§ 1687–1692.
Sequestration [35 Cyc 1381].

7. Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

Construction of contract generally see Contracts § 481 et seq.

8. See Bonds § 49 et seq.

9. U. S.—Lapp v. Ritter, 88 Fed. 108.

Colo.—Imel v. Van Deren, 8 Colo. 90, 5 P 803. See Cox v. Sargent, 10 Colo. A. 1, 50 P 201 (recognizing rule).

Ill.—Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254; Humphrey v. Taggart, 38 Ill. 229.

Ind.—Fisse v. Katzentine, 93 Ind. 490; Brown v. Parker, 5 Blackf. 291.

Iowa.—Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.

Kan.—Little v. Bliss, 55 Kan. 94, 30 P 1025; Manning v. Manning, 26 Kan. 98.

Md.—Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591.

Mo.—Elliott v. Black, 45 Mo. 372; Berghoff v. Heckwolf, 26 Mo. 511.

Nebr.—Allen v. Lowe, 113 Nebr. 443, 203 NW 571.

N. Y.—Budracco v. National Surety Co., 112 Misc. 133, 182 NYS 590.

Pa.—Pure Oil Co. v. Terry, 209 Pa. 403, 58 A 814; Pittsburgh Nat. Bank of Commerce v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583; Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603; Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. 29.

R. I.—Gardiner v. McDermott, 12 R. I. 206.

S. C.—Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 29 SE 385.

Eng.—Moore v. Bowmaker, 7 Price 223, 146 Reprint 954, 7 Taunt. 97, 2 ECL 277, 129 Reprint 39.

Ont.—Golding v. Belknap, 26 U. C. Q. B. 163.

[a] "In all replevin bonds there are several independent conditions; one to prosecute, another to return the goods replevied, and a third to indemnify the sheriff; and a breach may be assigned upon any of these distinct parts of condition." Morgan v. Griffith, 7 Mod. 380, 87 Reprint 1304.

[b] The conditions to prosecute the suit to effect and to make return of the property are distinct, and the condition is broken and the bond forfeited by failure in either. Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254; Brown v. Parker, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 291; Perreau v. Bevan, 5 B. & C. 284, 11 ECL 464, 108 Reprint 106.

10. See cases supra note 9.

11. See infra §§ 430, 431.

12. Lindsey v. Hewitt, 42 Ind. A. 573, 86 NE 446.

Damages recoverable see infra §§ 424, 425.

13. First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 106 P 1056; Bateman v. Hipp, 51 Tex. Civ. A. 405, 111 SW 971 (holding that the sureties are not liable for the value of the use of the property which accrued prior to the time the property was replevied).

14. Gerlaugh v. Ryan, 127 Iowa 226, 103 NW 128; Lewis v. McNary, 38 Or. 116, 62 P 897.

15. Union Trust Co. v. Shoemaker, 172 Ill. A. 365 [aff 258 Ill. 564, 101 NE 1050].

16. See statutory provisions.

17. Ketchum v. Brennan, 53 Miss. 596.

18. Colo.—Sopris v. Lilley, 2 Colo. 496.

Conn.—Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139.

Ill.—Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254.

Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190; Peffley v. Kenrick, 4 Ind. A. 510, 31 NE 40.

Me.—Jones v. Smith, 79 Me. 452, 10 A 256; Tuck v. Moses, 54 Me. 115.

Mass.—Smith v. Whiting, 97 Mass. 316.

Pa.—Pure Oil Co. v. Terry, 209 Pa. 403, 58 A 814; Pittsburgh Nat. Bank v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583.

S. C.—Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 29 SE 385.

Eng.—Perreau v. Bevan, 5 B. & C. 384, 11 ECL 464, 108 Reprint 106, Moore v. Bowmaker, 7 Price 223, 146 Reprint 954, 7 Taunt. 97, 2 ECL 277, 129 Reprint 39; Morgan v. Griffith, 7 Mod. 380, 87 Reprint 1304.

Ont.—Golding v. Belknap, 26 U. C. Q. B. 163.

Several and independent conditions see supra § 394 text and note 9.

19. See infra §§ 396–414.

20. See statutory provisions.

21. See infra this section; and §§ 397–402.

22. Hoebel v. Utah-Idaho Livestock Loan Co., 39 Ida. 294, 227 P 1048.

23. Hoebel v. Utah-Idaho Livestock Loan Co., supra; Berghoff v. Heckwolf, 26 Mo. 511; Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763; West v. Caldwell, 23 N. J. L. 736.

Condition to prosecute with effect see infra § 397.

24. Cal.—Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 10 Cal. A. 723, 103 P 365.

N. C.—Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 29 SE 385.

N. D.—Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 106 NW 564 [dist Kidwhere plaintiff voluntarily dismisses or discontinues his action,[25] or takes a voluntary nonsuit,[26] or where the action is dismissed on defendant's motion,[27] or on motion of the court.[28]

[§ 397] (2) To Effect, with Effect, or with Success. As a general rule a condition to prosecute "with effect" or "to effect" requires a prosecution to a successful termination,[29] and in any court to which the case may be removed,[30] although the condition has also been construed as meaning a prosecution to a not unsuccessful termination.[31] There is a breach of this condition when judgment is for defendant in replevin,[32] or where plaintiff voluntarily dismisses his replevin suit,[33] or abandons it,[34] or is nonsuited,[35] or his action is dismissed for lack of jurisdiction,[36] or for failure to return his replevin writ into court.[37] It has been held, however, that a plaintiff prosecutes "to effect" where a final determination on the merits has been had, although the verdict and judgment are for defendant.[38] Although pending the determination of the replevin suit there may be a breach of the condition to prosecute without delay,[39] it has been held that under such circumstances there cannot be a breach of the condition to prosecute with effect whether the replevin suit is pending in the trial court,[40] or on appeal.[41]

A condition to prosecute "with success" is breached where the replevin suit is dismissed for want of jurisdiction.[42]

[§ 398] (3) Duly To Prosecute. While it appears that a compliance with this condition would require plaintiff to prosecute his action to effect,[43] der v. Merryhew, 32 Mich. 470].

---

Or.—Peacock v. Kirkland, 74 Or. 279, 145 P 281.

Wash.—Ihrig v. Bussell, 68 Wash. 70, 122 P 608, LRA1917A 1188.

[a] Discussion of rule.—"The prosecution of the action, within the meaning of the statute, is to continue the proceedings to trial and to a determination of the issues by final judgment. The condition of the undertaking is complied with by continuing the proceedings to judgment on the merits, although not in plaintiff's favor. If the action had been prosecuted to judgment on the merits, the condition of the undertaking would be fulfilled, although the defendant had prevailed. If the action be prosecuted to judgment on the merits, and the defendant recover judgment, that judgment should provide for a return of the property to the defendant and for payment of such damages as had been awarded on the trial, and costs. If the action be prosecuted by the plaintiff to a determination of the issues in defendant's favor, the other conditions of the bond become operative, and the condition thereof for the prosecution of the action cannot be resorted to by the defendant." Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 90, 106 NW 564.

[25] Miss.—Maxey v. White, 53 Miss. 80.

Mo.—Berghoff v. Heckwolf, 26 Mo. 511.

Mont.—Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763.

N. Y.—Budracco v. National Surety Co., 112 Misc. 133, 182 NYS 590.

S. C.—Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 164, 29 SE 385.

Wash.—Meigs v. Keach, 1 Wash. T. 306.

"Is such discontinuance [by plaintiff] of an action a breach of the condition of the bond to prosecute? To prosecute an action . . .. is to carry it on to final effect, and so the bond in question is conditioned to carry on the action to effect. Where a plaintiff abandons his action, fails to prosecute it, discontinues it on his motion, or where it is dismissed for want of prosecution, there is a breach of the condition to prosecute." Alderman v. Roesel, supra.

[26] Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

[27] Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Hewlett, 94 S. C. 478, 78 SE 329.

[28] Mills v. Gleason, 21 Cal. 274; Roman v. Stratton, 2 Bibb. (Ky.) 199; Elliott v. Black, 45 Mo. 372; White Blakeslee Mfg. Co. v. Rhodes, 152 N. C. 636, 68 SE 141.

[29] Conn.—Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139.

Ill.—Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912.

Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190; Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Brown v. Parker, 5 Blackf. 291.

Md.—Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591.

Minn.—Boom v. St. Paul Fdy., etc., Co., 33 Minn. 253, 22 NW 538.

N. Y.—Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. 54.

Pa.—Pure Oil Co. v. Terry, 209 Pa. 403, 58 A 814; Pittsburgh Nat. Bank v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583; Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. 29.

Eng.—Perreau v. Bevan, 5 B. & C. 284, 11 ECL 464, 108 Reprint 106; Tummons v. Ogle, 6 E. & B. 571, 88 ECL 571, 37 EngL&Eq 15, 119 Reprint 977; Morgan v. Griffith, 7 Mod. 380, 87 Reprint 1304.

Ont.—Welsh v. O'Brien, 28 U. C. Q. B. 405.

[a] Judgment for part of property.—Where plaintiff recovers judgment for only a portion of the property, this is not a compliance with the condition to prosecute with effect. Patterson v. Fuller, 31 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 323.

[30] See infra § 422.

[31] Jackson v. Hanson, 8 M. & W. 477, 151 Reprint 1127.

[a] Criticism of rule.—"The condition is absolute in its terms, to prosecute, and to effect, and it is a mistake to say that it is fulfilled by prosecuting to a not unsuccessful result. Some of the English judges may have proceeded upon that idea, but it is a mistaken one, at least as applicable to a replevin suit brought by a person not a party to the original suit, seeking as owner to obtain possession of goods attached." Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139, 146.

[32] Wheat v. Catterlin, 23 Ind. 85; Brown v. Parker, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 291; Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591; Pure Oil Co. v. Terry, 209 Pa. 403, 58 A 814; Pittsburgh Nat. Bank v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583, 589.

[33] Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139; Langdoc v. Parkinson, 2 Ill. A. 136; Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Peffley v. Kenrick, 4 Ind. A. 510, 31 NE 40.

[34] Landry v. Sivret, 39 N. B. 356.

[35] Colo.—Cox v. Sargent, 10 Colo. A. 1, 50 P 201.

Ill.—Magerstadt v. Field, 160 Ill. A. 23.

Minn.—Boom v. St. Paul Fdy., etc., Co., 33 Minn. 253, 22 NW 538.

N. Y.—Covenhoven v. Seamen, 1 Johns. Cas. 23.

Eng.—Turnor v. Turner, 2 B. & B. 107, 6 ECL 58, 129 Reprint 898.

[36] Flannigan v. Erwin, 173 Ill. A. 452; Waddell v. Bradway, 84 Ind. 537; Sherry v. Foresman, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 56.

[37] Allen v. Woodford, 36 Conn. 143.

"It is the duty of a plaintiff in a replevin suit to see that all the necessary steps are taken to bring the cause to trial, in order that both parties may have an opportunity to present their claims, and that the question of title may be finally determined. A failure to do this, either through his own negligence or the negligence of the officer employed by him, is a failure to prosecute to effect." Allen v. Woodford, 36 Conn. 143, 147.

[38] Ladd v. Prentice, 14 Conn. 109.

[a] Tenants in common.—In an action on a replevin bond conditioned to prosecute the action "to effect" there was no breach of the condition, although judgment was against plaintiff, since he was a cotenant of the property with defendant and as such was under no obligation to return the property. Ladd v. Prentice, 14 Conn. 109.

[39] See infra § 400.

[40] Harrison v. Wardle, 5 B. & Ad. 146, 27 ECL 70, 110 Reprint 746; Brackenbury v. Pell, 12 East 585, 104 Reprint 228; Culham v. Love, 30 U. C. Q. B. 410.

[41] Becker v. Ball, 18 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 192.

[42] McDermott v. Isbell, 4 Cal. 113.

[43] Biddinger v. Pratt, 50 Oh. St. 719, 35 NE 795.

"Counsel for appellees drew a distinction between the phrase 'to prosecute with effect' and to 'duly prosecute;' contending that to prosecute 'with effect' means to prosecute successfully, and 'to duly prosecute' means 'in due manner, regularly, le-generally plaintiff is not required to prosecute to a successful termination to avoid a breach of this condition.[44] So it has been held that the condition to "duly prosecute" the action is satisfied by a prompt trial in a trial court and on appeal, although plaintiff is unsuccessful,[45] and even though he dismisses his proceedings in error to the appellate court.[46] However, a voluntary dismissal of the replevin action in the trial court,[47] or a dismissal for want of jurisdiction,[48] or an unnecessary delay without good cause[49] will constitute a breach of this condition.

[§ 399] (4) To Judgment or to Final Judgment. Although a condition to prosecute "to judgment" has been construed to mean, not only a prosecution to judgment, but to a favorable result,[50] a plaintiff complies with the condition to prosecute to "final judgment" where there is a prosecution to a final judgment on the merits of the replevin suit,[51] regardless of the success of plaintiff in the action.[52]

Dismissal of replevin action by plaintiff,[53] or on motion of defendant,[54] or by the court for failure to prosecute,[55] or to enter the writ after service,[56] or for lack of jurisdiction[57] has been held to be a breach of the condition.[58]

Nonsuit has been held to constitute a final judgment to satisfy the condition.[59]

[§ 400] (5) Without Delay. A condition in a replevin bond to prosecute the action "without delay" contemplates that plaintiff will use due diligence in bringing his suit to a final determination according to the circumstances of the particular case,[60] but unless the delay is occasioned by plaintiff there will not be a breach of this condition.[61]

Pending determination of replevin suit there may be a breach of this condition, so that while a plea that the replevin suit is still pending may save a forfeiture of the condition to prosecute with effect,[62] it is not a good plea where the action is based on the breach of the condition to prosecute without delay.[63]

[§ 401] (6) Effect of Death of Parties. It has been held that the condition to prosecute with effect is saved, where plaintiff in replevin dies before a nonsuit or verdict is rendered against him.[64] Likewise a condition to prosecute to final judgment is satisfied by a judgment entered on the abatement of the action by plaintiff's death.[65] Where, however, under statutory provisions the cause of action survives the death of plaintiff,[66] the condition to prosecute is not saved.[67]

[§ 402] (7) Absence of Court. The abatement of the replevin action by the removal of the court

---

gally, in the proper way.' We are not disposed to draw nice distinctions in construing remedial statutes. The lawmakers had no such distinctions in their minds." McAlester v. Suchy, 1 Ind. T. 666, 669, 43 SW 952.

[44] Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 57 P 115; Vallandingham v. Ray, 128 Ky. 506, 108 SW 896, 33 KyL 392.

[a] Duly prosecute and with effect.—"Did the plaintiff bank duly prosecute the replevin suit? It is contended by counsel for defendant in error that the words 'duly prosecute' are synonymous with 'prosecute to effect.' We do not concur in this view. The word 'duly' is defined: 'In due time or proper manner; in accordance with what is right, required, or suitable; fittingly, becomingly, regular' (Stand. Dict.); 'in due manner, when, or as due; agreeable to obligation or propriety, exactly, fittingly, properly' (Cent. Dict.) In Morrison v. Wells, 48 Kan. 494, 29 P 601, there was a recital that plaintiffs had duly filed their motion. The court said: 'The word "duly" means properly, regularly, and in this connection indicates that the motion was regularly and properly filed.' 'Duly' in legal parlance means 'according to law.'" Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 528, 57 P 115.

[45] Vallandingham v. Ray, 128 Ky. 506, 108 SW 896, 33 KyL 392.

[a] Illustration.—Where trial of the replevin action occurred about seven months after the action was commenced, and a general verdict for defendant was rendered, there was no breach of the condition. Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 57 P 115.

[46] Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 57 P 115.

[47] McAlester v. Suchy, 1 Ind. T. 666, 43 SW 952; Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 57 P 115 (dictum); McKey v. Laufiin, 48 Kan. 581, 30 P 16; Manning v. Manning, 26 Kan. 98; Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283.

[48] Biddinger v. Pratt, 50 Oh. St. 719, 35 NE 795.

[49] Allen v. Lowe, 113 Nebr. 443, 203 NW 571. See Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 57 P 115 (dictum).

[50] Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.

[51] Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., (Mass.) 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299; Sullivan v. Martinelli, 261 Mass. 261, 158 NE 662; Carroll v. Berger, 255 Mass. 132, 135, 150 NE 870; Chadwick v. Badger, 9 N. H. 450; Pierce v. King, 14 R. I. 611.

"The provision that the obligors of the bond 'shall prosecute said action of replevin to final judgment' plainly contemplates a prosecution to a final judgment on the merits so as to determine a right of possession in the plaintiffs in replevin or to direct a return and restoration to the defendants." Carroll v. Berger, supra.

"We think, however, that in order to satisfy the condition of the bond the plaintiff in replevin must prosecute his writ to a final judgment on the merits, so as either to determine a right of possession in himself or to direct a return and restoration to the defendant." Pierce v. King, supra.

[52] See cases supra note 51.

[53] Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.

[54] Tuck v. Moses, 54 Me. 115.

[55] Sullivan v. Martinelli, 261 Mass. 261, 158 NE 662.

[56] Jones v. Smith, 79 Me. 452, 10 A 256; Parker v. Young, 188 Mass. 600, 75 NE 98; Smith v. Whiting, 100 Mass. 122; Gardiner v. McDermott, 12 R. I. 206.

[57] Carroll v. Berger, 255 Mass. 132, 150 NE 870; Pierce v. King, 14 R. I. 611.

[58] See supra notes 50–57.

[59] Chadwick v. Badger, 9 N. H. 450.

[60] Axford v. Perrett, 4 Bing. 586, 13 ECL 648, 130 Reprint 894; Gents v. Cutts, 12 Jur. 113; Bletcher v. Burn, 24 U. C. Q. B. 124, 259.

[a] Reasonable diligence.—The condition to prosecute without delay means that "plaintiff in replevin is bound to proceed with his suit much as an attorney is who has undertaken to use due diligence, that is, with a reasonable diligence, according to the circumstances of the particular case." Gents v. Cutts, 12 Jur. 113, 114.

[b] Inexcusable delay of two years in the prosecution of a replevin action was held a breach of the condition. Axford v. Perrett, 4 Bing. 586, 13 ECL 648, 130 Reprint 894.

[61] Harrison v. Wardle, 5 B. & Ad. 146, 27 ECL 70, 110 Reprint 746.

[a] Illustration.—Where the cause had been removed, and plaintiff appeared, but defendant did not, as a result of a failure of the sheriff to summon him, a delay thereby occasioned was not a breach of the condition. Harrison v. Wardle, 5 B. & Ad. 146, 27 ECL 70, 110 Reprint 746.

[62] See supra § 397.

[63] Harrison v. Wardle, 5 B. & Ad. 146, 27 ECL 70, 110 Reprint 746; Culham v. Love, 30 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 410; Welsh v. O'Brien, 28 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 405.

[64] Morris v. Matthews, 2 Q. B. 293, 42 ECL 681, 114 Reprint 115; Ormond v. Bierly, Carth. 519, 90 Reprint 896.

[65] Badlam v. Tucker, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 284.

[a] Reason for rule.—"Where the condition of a bond is possible at the time it is made, and before the same can be performed the condition becomes impossible by the act of God, or of the law, or of the obligee, there the obligation is saved." Badlam v. Tucker, 18 Mass. 284, 287.

[66] See Abatement and Revival § 348.

[67] Waples v. Adkins, 5 Del. 381; Lahey v. Brady, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 443.

before whom it was commenced,[68] or the failure of the court to be present when the case comes to trial[69] will not breach the condition of the bond to prosecute the action.

[§ 403] b. Condition To Return Property[70]—(1) In General. Since the conditions for a return of the property are in many respects the same in redelivery bonds[71] many of the principles treated here will also be considered under defendant's redelivery bond.[72] When a return of personal property is adjudged in an action of replevin, in order to avoid liability it is the duty of plaintiff, if he has secured possession thereof pending the litigation, to take active measures to redeliver it to defendant,[73] within a reasonable time,[74] and usually in the same condition as it was when taken.[75] The failure of plaintiff to return the property to defendant in accordance with a valid judgment for its return,[76] or a failure to return in accordance with the condition of the bond, although no judgment is rendered for its return[77] is a breach of the condition of the bond for which an action thereon will lie.

[§ 404] (2) Sufficiency of Return[78]—(a) In General. As to what constitutes a sufficient return of the property to comply with the condition of the bond and judgment depends in a large measure on the particular circumstances of the case.[79] Thus the condition may be satisfied where the property comes into the hands of defendant in replevin in any manner, pending or subsequent to the replevin suit.[80] A tender or a return of the property must ordinarily be made to the holder of the replevin judgment,[81] but a return to an officer executing a writ of return against plaintiff for defendant may be equivalent to such a return.[82] A mere return, however, to the officer who took the property under plaintiff's replevin writ, is not a sufficient return.[83]

Place of return. The rule that plaintiff must return the property to defendant when a return has been adjudged further imposes on plaintiff the duty of seeking out defendant and tendering the property to him if it be readily capable of manual delivery,[84] or if such a course is difficult by reason of the bulky character of the property, an offer to redeliver it to defendant is all that the law requires.[85] Where the property has not been removed by plaintiff from the place where replevied, an offer to give defendant possession at that place, is sufficient if the property is bulky in character.[86] Such offer, however, is ineffectual unless plaintiff also withdraws his control over the property.[87]

---

[68] Kidder v. Merryhew, 32 Mich. 470.

[a] Removal of the justice.—"Plaintiff in replevin could not be considered in fault on account of the removal of the justice from the township without placing the suits in a shape to be carried on. The suits being properly commenced, the caption of the property was a lawful consequence, and the plaintiff in replevin, being unable either to compel the justice to remain in the township, or to take the proper steps to prevent an abatement in consequence of his removal, ought not to be held responsible in suits on the bonds." Kidder v. Merryhew, 32 Mich. 470, 471.

[69] Pierce v. Hardee, 1 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 557.

[a] Absence of justice on return-day.—On the return day of process the parties were present at the office of the justice, but the justice was absent, and the suit was not further prosecuted. It was held that the replevin suit was prosecuted as far as plaintiff therein was able to prosecute, and its abatement, by reason of the absence of the justice, was not a breach of the condition in the undertaking to prosecute. Pierce v. Hardee, 1 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 557.

[70] Satisfaction and discharge of replevin judgment by return of property see supra § 329.

[71] Hallide Mach. Co. v. Whidbey Island Sand, etc., Co., 73 Wash. 403, 131 P 1156, 45 LRANS 40.

[72] See infra §§ 410-412.

[73] Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Jennison v. Haire, 29 Mich. 207; Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

[74] Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, supra.

[a] Mere delay during three winter months in complying with a judgment requiring the return of a replevined threshing machine did not justify the owner's refusal to accept it when returned. Wallace v. Cox, 94 Nebr. 194, 142 NW 891, 47 LRANS 835, AnnCas1914D 109, 92 Nebr. 354, 138 NW 578, AnnCas1913E 1158.

[75] See infra § 405.

[76] U. S.—Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. 208, 22 L. ed. 727.

Colo.—Western Finance, etc., Co. v. Fisher, 72 Colo. 121, 210 P 66.

Ill.—Schweer v. Schwabacher, 17 Ill. A. 78.

Mass.—Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142; Davis v. Harding, 3 Allen 302.

N. Y.—Harrison v. Wilkin, 78 N. Y. 390; Sauerman v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 145 NYS 114.

Okl.—Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67; Grimes v. Payne, 116 Okl. 295, 244 P 753.

Pa.—Pittsburgh Nat. Bank v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583, 589.

"The undertaking to prosecute with effect is certainly broken when the plaintiff in replevin fails in his action. If he fails to return the goods after being ordered to do so, that also is a breach, but it is a different and an independent breach of another undertaking." Pittsburgh Nat. Bank v. Hall, supra.

[a] Conditional judgment.—Where the judgment in a replevin suit provides that plaintiff, mortgagee, is entitled to the replevined property for the purpose of foreclosing his mortgage, unless defendant within three days tenders plaintiff the amount found by the jury to be due plaintiff, then plaintiff shall deliver the replevined property to defendant, and defendant makes the tender, but plaintiff refuses to accept it, and refuses to return the property, an action will lie in favor of defendant for the value thereof. Emerson-Brantingham Impl. Co. v. Ritter, 92 Okl. 71, 218 P 315.

[b] Order of court without jurisdiction.—After a court has adjudged, without appeal being taken, that it had no jurisdiction of a replevin suit, its order that the property replevied be returned is void, and noncompliance therewith constitutes no breach of the bond conditioned for a return of the property, if a return be adjudged. Elder v. Greene, 34 S. C. 154, 13 SE 323.

[77] Wood v. Coman, 56 Ala. 283.

[a] Illustration.—Under a condition that plaintiffs "shall deliver the said property to the defendants in this suit within 30 days after judgment in case they fail in this suit," a failure to return the property within the time specified was a breach of the bond, although on plaintiffs' voluntary nonsuit a judgment for costs only was rendered. Wood v. Coman, 56 Ala. 283.

[78] Sufficiency of return to satisfy replevin judgment see supra § 329.

[79] See infra text and notes 80-91.

[80] Hunt v. Robinson, 11 Cal. 262; Rinker v. Johnson, 29 Nebr. 783, 46 NW 211; Lewis v. McNary, 38 Or. 116, 62 P 897.

[81] Hunt v. Robinson, 11 Cal. 262; Blatchford v. Boyden, 122 Ill. 657, 13 NE 801; Richards v. Rape, 3 Ill. A. 24; Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

[a] Replevy from sheriff on execution.—Where goods are replevied from a sheriff on execution, on judgment for him for a return, they can be rightfully returned to him alone and not to plaintiff in execution. Blatchford v. Boyden, 122 Ill. 657, 13 NE 801.

[b] Return to defendant's mortgagee.—Where plaintiff in replevin for an automobile was unsuccessful, but defendant's mortgagee secured possession of the car, sold it, and credited defendant with the net proceeds, in an action on plaintiff's bond conditioned for the return of the automobile if possession thereof be adjudged for defendant, there is no breach of said condition as the mortgagee's possession was equivalent to a return to defendant, there being privity between them. Van Almkerk v. H. O. S. Motor Sales Corp., 208 App. Div. 464, 203 NYS 639.

[82] Carrico v. Taylor, 3 Dana (Ky.) 33. See National Surety Co. v. Austin Mach. Corp., 35 F. (2d) 842 [certiorari den 280 U. S. 614 mem, 50 SCt 162 mem, 74 L. ed. 655 mem (recognizing rule).

"The possession of the property by the sheriff, under that writ, is in truth the possession of the party who sues out the writ, and he cannot, after such possession say the obligor has failed to make return of it." Carrico v. Taylor, supra.

[a] Property subject to attachments.—Where the property replevied by plaintiff has materially depreciated and is subject to attachment levies, the levy of an execution by defendant under the replevin judgment for a return is not a restoration as contemplated by statute. National Surety Co. v. Austin Mach. Corp., 35 F. (2d) 842 [certiorari den 280 U. S. 614 mem, 50 SCt 162 mem, 74 L. ed. 655 mem].

[83] Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 54.

Identical property. Plaintiff in replevin must, in order to satisfy the condition, return or offer to return the identical property replevied and not other property of like kind and value.[88]

Bulky property. Where the articles of property which have been replevied are very large and bulky, an offer to deliver is a sufficient compliance with the condition,[89] but plaintiff must also be in a position to return them.[90]

Tender to be sufficient must be an unconditional offer to return the property.[91]

[§ 405] (b) In Same Condition.[92] Not only must plaintiff return the property to satisfy the condition and judgment for a return, but the property must ordinarily be returned in substantially the same condition in which it was when replevied,[93] or in like good order and condition,[94] even though the latter requirement is not inserted in the judgment.[95]

[§ 406] (c) Partial Return.[96] The condition of the bond requires a return of all the property taken in replevin.[97] Where, however, defendant accepts a partial return, such return will be a defense pro tanto to a suit on the bond.[98]

[§ 407] c. Condition To Pay Damages and Costs. The nonpayment of the damages[99] and costs[1] adjudged in favor of defendant in the replevin action is a breach of the condition of the replevin bond on which an action may be maintained.

[§ 408] d. Judgment in Replevin as Essential To Fix Liability—(1) In General. Whether or not the rendition of a judgment in the original replevin suit is a prerequisite to the accrual of liability on the replevin bond depends on the terms of the condition for the breach of which liability is sought to be enforced.[2]

---

[84] Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

[a] Tender of a warehouse receipt which would enable defendant to obtain possession of a piano some miles distant was not a compliance with the condition of the bond, even though hauling charges were also tendered. Moore v. Paul F. Beach Co., 221 Ill. A. 609.

[85] See infra note 89.

[86] Frey v. Drahos, 10 Nebr. 594, 7 NW 319.

[87] Pittsburgh Nat. Bank v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583.

[a] Illustration of insufficient return.—Replevied goods were, by consent of the parties, left on the premises of defendant in charge of the occupant, and the suit having been decided in favor of defendant, plaintiff's attorney wrote to him, giving him notice that he could retain them and treat them as his own, and it was held, in a suit on the replevin bond, that the latter was not a sufficient return if the goods were in charge of an agent of plaintiff in replevin, unless the agent was withdrawn. Pittsburgh Nat. Bank of Commerce v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583.

[88] Hamilton v. Wilcox, 126 Me. 529, 140 A 201; Richardson Drug Co. v. Teasdall, 59 Nebr. 150, 80 NW 488; Eickhoff v. Eikenbary, 52 Nebr. 332, 72 NW 308.

[a] Acceptance of other property was a good defense in an action on the bond for breach of this condition. Sands v. Fritz, 84 Pa. 15.

[89] Gans v. Woolfolk, 2 Mont. 458, 463; Frey v. Drahos, 10 Nebr. 594, 7 NW 319; Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 655, 29 LRA NS 747, AnnCas1912B 302; Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

"The carpet was a bulky and cumbersome article and the respondents were not required to tender it, like money, to the appellants wherever found. They were obliged to deliver the property at some particular place. If the appellants neglected or refused to appoint the place the respondents had the right to select it, with a reasonable regard for the convenience of the appellants, and there deliver the goods." Gans v. Woolfolk, supra.

[a] Property not bulky.—Where in replevin for a horse hack, three calves and a heifer, defendant was entitled to an actual tender of the property by taking it to him in order to comply with the judgment for a return. Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

[90] Hanson v. Weber Impl. Co., 173 Ill. A. 293.

[91] Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634; Naylor v. Knapp, 92 N. J. L. 253, 104 A 131.

[a] Conditional tender.—(1) An offer to return an automobile to defendant on the condition he would pay the storage charges, was an insufficient compliance with the judgment for a return. Naylor v. Knapp, 92 N. J. L. 253, 104 A 131. (2) An offer in an affidavit of merits to return the property if it should be found and held that said replevin judgment is valid, is conditional and insufficient. Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634.

[92] Right to reject depreciated property see supra § 330.

[93] Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190.

Ky.—Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192.

Me.—Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170.

Mass.—Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. 205.

N. J.—Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

Or.—Booth v. National Surety Co., 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987; Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

Wash.—Hallide Mach. Co. v. Whidbey Island Sand, etc., Co., 73 Wash. 403, 131 P 1156, 45 LRANS 40.

[a] Ordinary wear and tear.—A tender of a piano in a worse condition, resulting from ordinary wear and tear from use, did not fulfill the condition to return "in as good condition as the same was at the time of making said claim." Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

[94] Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170; Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 205.

[a] Illustration.—Under a bond conditioned "to return the said property in case such shall be the final judgment," a return in like good order and condition is necessary and the fact that a prior statute, prescribing the condition as a return "in like good order and condition," was repealed, would not alter the conclusion. Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 205.

[95] Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170; Fitzgerald v. Nickerson, (R. I.) 113 A 674.

[a] Where the condition for a return was "in like good order and condition," and judgment was "that the said defendant recover against the plaintiff restoration and return of the property," a return must be in like good order and condition. Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170.

[96] Right to reject partial return see supra § 331.

[97] Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190; Patterson v. Fuller, 31 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 323.

[98] Edwin v. Cox, 61 Ill. A. 567; Harts v. Wendell, 26 Ill. A. 274; Sands v. Fritz, 84 Pa. 15; Parish v. Smith, 66 S. C. 424, 45 SE 16.

[a] Illustration.—In debt on a replevin bond, an affidavit of defense, setting forth that after judgment in the suit in replevin defendant had surrendered all the property replevied, except a part, which was missing, and that, instead of the latter, other and more valuable articles of the same description had been delivered to plaintiff, who had accepted the same, retaining a part and selling the rest, is sufficient. Sands v. Fritz, 84 Pa. 15.

[99] Moore v. Shields, 17 F. Cas. No. 9,775, 2 Cranch C. C. 529; Hamilton v. Wilcox, 126 Me. 529, 140 A 201.

[1] Cook v. Lothrop, 18 Me. 260; Chadwick v. Badger, 9 N. H. 450.

Judgment for return. Where the condition of plaintiff's bond is to return the property to defendant if a return thereof be adjudged, and the action is based on a breach of that condition, the general rule is that there is no breach of the condition and no right of action thereon accrues prior to the entry of some appropriate order or judgment awarding defendant a return of the property.[3] However, a judgment in replevin for a return of the property is not essential for a recovery of its value in an action on the bond where at the time of trial of the replevin suit, it was shown that a return of the property was impossible,[4] or where the action on the bond is based on a breach of the independent condition to prosecute the action.[5]

Alternative judgment.[6] Unless there appears some reason for not entering an alternative judgment for a return of the property as well as for its value,[7] as where the property cannot be returned,[8] it has been held that an alternative judgment for a return of the property as well as its value, is necessary to the accrual of liability for breach of the condition to return the property,[9] on the ground that unless a return is adjudged the surety is prejudiced as no execution for the return of the property can be issued against the principal.[10] The failure, however, to render a judgment for the value of the property as well as for a return ordinarily will not prevent the accrual of liability on the condition to return the property.[11]

---

[2] See infra text and notes 3–16.

[3] Cal.—Mitchum v. Stanton, 49 Cal. 302; Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 10 Cal. A. 723, 103 P 365.

Colo.—Imel v. Van Deren, 8 Colo. 90, 5 P 803; Gallup v. Wortmann, 11 Colo. A. 308, 53 P 247.

Ill.—Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912; Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254; Cermak v. Pauksztis, 218 Ill. A. 341; Reno v. Woodyatt, 81 Ill. A. 553.

Ind.—Foster v. Bringham, 99 Ind. 505; Thomas v. Irwin, 90 Ind. 557.

Kan.—Citizens' State Bank v. Morse, 60 Kan. 526, 57 P 115.

Ky.—Vallandingham v. Ray, 128 Ky. 506, 108 SW 896, 33 KyL 392; Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283, 4 AnnCas 1133; Wall v. Humphreys, 4 Dana 209.

Me.—Smallwood v. Norton, 20 Me. 83, 37 AmD 39; Pettygrove v. Hoyt, 11 Me. 66.

Mass.—Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299.

Minn.—Clark v. Norton, 6 Minn. 412.

Mo.—Cummings v. Badger Lumber Co., 130 Mo. A. 557, 109 SW 68.

Nebr.—Lee v. Hastings, 13 Nebr. 508, 14 NW 476.

Oh.—Munding v. Michael, 10 Oh. Cir. Ct. 165, 6 Oh. Cir. Dec. 76.

Or.—Peacock v. Kirkland, 74 Or. 279, 145 P 281.

Pa.—Kimmel v. Kint, 2 Watts 431.

S. C.—Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Hewlett, 94 S. C. 478, 78 SE 329.

Tenn.—Morning v. Alexander, 10 Heisk. 606.

Wash.—Ihrig v. Bussell, 68 Wash. 70, 122 P 608, LRA1917A 1188.

Wis.—Ashley v. Peterson, 25 Wis. 621.

[a] Illustration.—Plaintiff in replevin, who obtained the property by giving a bond conditioned to perform the judgment rendered and return the property, if return be adjudged, although unsuccessful in the action, was not liable on his bond for failure to return the property, where defendant failed to obtain a judgment for such return or any amount for the seizure or detention of the property. Vallandingham v. Ray, 128 Ky. 506, 108 SW 896, 33 KyL 392.

[b] Judgment for return in higher court.—If an undertaking in an action of replevin commenced in a justice's court limits the liability of the person who executes it to a judgment for a return of the property rendered by the justice, and such judgment was not recovered in the justice's court, a recovery cannot be had on the undertaking, even if on appeal such judgment is rendered by the county court. Mitchum v. Swanton, 49 Cal. 302.

[c] Since a surety on a replevin bond is only liable if a return of the property be adjudged, where no return was adjudged, defendant was not entitled to judgment against the sureties, although entitled to judgment against plaintiff on equities arising in the case. Cummings v. Badger Lumber Co., 130 Mo. A. 557, 109 SW 68.

[d] General judgment for defendant in replevin without more will not be construed as a judgment for a return so as to support an action on the bond for failure to return the property. Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., (Mass.) 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299.

[4] Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 10 Cal. A. 723, 103 P 365, 366; Sullivan v. Martinelli, 261 Mass. 261, 158 NE 662; Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

"If, after the taking of the property on the replevin bond from the possession of the defendant, it should be lost or destroyed while in the possession of the plaintiff, the plaintiff is liable to the defendant for the value of the property. De Thomas v. Witherby, 61 Cal. 92, 44 AmR 542. Such being the law it is perfectly clear that, if at the trial of the replevin suit it should appear that for any reason the property taken on the replevin bond from the defendant cannot be returned, a judgment for its return would be idle and vain, and the court may without error, and certainly without exceeding its jurisdiction, give a money judgment to defendant for its value. Such a judgment would certainly be within the condition of the replevin bond, given in accordance with the statute, whereby the surety bound himself or itself 'for the payment to him [defendant] of such sum as may from any cause be recovered against the plaintiff.'" Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., supra.

[5] Cal.—Ginaca v. Atwood, 8 Cal. 446.

Colo.—Cox v. Sargent, 10 Colo. A. 1, 50 P 201.

Conn.—Allen v. Woodford, 36 Conn. 143; Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139.

Ida.—Hoebel v. Utah-Idaho Live Stock Loan Co., 39 Ida. 294, 227 P 1048; Keenan v. Washington Liquor Co., 8 Ida. 383, 69 P 112.

Ind.—Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Wheat v. Catterlin, 23 Ind. 85; Brown v. Parker, 5 Blackf. 291; Manufacturers' Finance Trust v. Hadley, (A.) 166 NE 774; Peffley v. Kenrick, 4 Ind. A. 510, 31 NE 40.

Iowa.—Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.

Kan.—Little v. Bliss, 55 Kan. 94, 39 P 1025; Manning v. Manning, 26 Kan. 98.

Ky.—Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283, 4 AnnCas 1133 (dictum); Roman v. Stratton, 2 Bibb 199.

Mass.—Smith v. Whiting, 100 Mass. 122.

Minn.—Boom v. St. Paul Fdy., etc., Co., 33 Minn. 253, 22 NW 538.

Mo.—Elliott v. Black, 45 Mo. 372; Berghoff v. Heckwolf, 26 Mo. 511.

N. Y.—Rogers v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 84 NYS 203.

Pa.—Pittsburgh Nat. Bank of Commerce v. Hall, 107 Pa. 583; Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603; Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. 29 [overr Kimmel v. Kint, 2 Watts 431]; Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12.

R. I.—Wright v. Card, 16 R. I. 719, 19 A 709; Gardiner v. McDermott, 12 R. I. 206 [cit Smallwood v. Norton, 20 Me. 83, 37 AmD 39; Pettygrove v. Hoyt, 11 Me. 66; Collamer v. Page, 35 Vt. 387].

Wash.—Ihrig v. Bussel, 68 Wash. 70, 122 P 608, LRA1917A-1188 (dictum).

Eng.—Moore v. Bowmaker, 7 Price 223, 146 Reprint 954, 7 Taunt. 97, 2 ECL 277, 129 Reprint 39; Morgan v. Griffith, 7 Mod. 380, 87 Reprint 1304; Dias v. Freeman, 5 T. R. 195, 101 Reprint 110; Waterman v. Yea, 2 Wils. C. P. 42, 95 Reprint 674.

"As the conditions of the bond are independent, a breach of either of them will occasion a forfeiture; and on the broken condition for the prosecution of the action the obligee may recover full damages within the limit of the penalty, without first obtaining a judgment de retorno habendo or for damages." Berghoff v. Heckwolf, 26 Mo. 511, 513.

[a] That there was no judgment for a return of the property does not prevent a recovery on a replevin bond, but plaintiff must show that he has sustained damages by reason of plaintiff in replevin not prosecuting the writ with effect. Burch v. Dowling, 4 F. Cas. No. 2,139, 5 Cranch C. C. 646.

Condition to prosecute action see supra §§ 396–402.

[6] In replevin action see supra § 325.

[7] Levine v. Dohl, 179 App. Div. 777, 167 NYS 329.

[8] Eisenhart v. McGarry, 15 Colo. 1, 61 P 56; McCarthy v. Strait, 7 Colo. A. 59, 42 P 189. See Selby v. McQuillan, 59 Nebr. 158, 80 NW 504 (failure to render an alternative judgment in replevin was no defense to an action on an appeal bond where it is properly shown that property cannot be returned).

Judgment for damages and costs.[12] Under a condition of a replevin bond to pay damages and costs adjudged against plaintiff ordinarily there can be no breach of the condition until a judgment in replevin awarding damages and costs has been rendered.[13] Although a judgment in replevin for damages for detention has been held necessary where the replevin action was dismissed on defendant's motion,[14] it has also been held that such a judgment is not necessary where the action was dismissed by plaintiff.[15] Where the damages sought to be recovered in an action on the bond were caused subsequent to the judgment in replevin, as damages for depreciation in value, they may be recovered without a judgment for such damages in replevin.[16]

[§ 409] (2) Dismissal or Nonsuit. Unless the breach relied on is of a condition which cannot be broken until a formal judgment on the merits has been had,[17] an order or judgment dismissing the replevin suit or nonsuiting plaintiff therein is ordinarily the only order or judgment necessary before defendant in replevin may sue to enforce liability on the replevin bond,[18] provided such order or judgment of dismissal or nonsuit amounts to a breach of the particular condition in the bond to prosecute the action.[19] However, after a replevin suit is compromised and dismissed by the parties,[20] or dismissed by plaintiff because defendant makes no claim to the property,[21] no suit can be maintained on the bond, and where a proceeding, in which a defendant gives a replevin bond, is dismissed, the bond becomes functus officio, and hence there can be no recovery thereon.[22]

[§ 410] 3. Defendant's Redelivery Bond—a. Condition To Return Property—(1) In General. In view of the fact that the conditions prescribed for a return of the property in delivery and redelivery bonds are in substance the same,[23] the law touching the obligations of defendant to return the property is in many respects the same.[24] As in the case of a plaintiff's bond, the accrual of liability on a redelivery bond depends on the precise terms of the conditions of the bond.[25] Ordinarily, it is the duty of defendant in replevin against whom a judgment for a return of the property has been rendered, to take such action as will put the property in plaintiff's possession,[26] and a failure to do so will constitute a breach of the condition[27] and render the obligors on the bond liable for the full amount, not exceeding the penalty, that plaintiff may have been damaged thereby.[28]

---

[9] Field v. Lumbard, 53 Nebr. 397, 73 NW 703; H. T. C. Hotel Corp. v. Royal Indemn. Co., 225 App. Div. 524, 234 NYS 9; Tauber v. National Surety Co., 219 App. Div. 253, 219 NYS 387; Levine v. Dohl, 179 App. Div. 777, 167 NYS 329; Michaelson v. National Surety Co., 199 NYS 79.

[10] Tauber v. National Surety Co., 219 App. Div. 253, 219 NYS 387.

[11] Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727; Green v. Rehbine, 44 Okl. 96, 144 P 182; Booth v. National Surety Co., 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987; Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 Am SR 792.

[a] Illustration.—Where the bond was conditioned "for the return of said property, if return thereof be adjudged and for the payment to the said defendant of such sum as may from any cause be recovered" the obligors were liable although there was no judgment in the alternative for the value of the property. Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727.

[b] Common-law remedy on bond.—(1) Where plaintiff in replevin is in possession of the property, and defendant recovers judgment for its return, but the value of the property is not found as required by Burns St. Annot. (1908) § 575 (Burns St. Annot. [1901] § 558), defendant in the replevin suit may sue on the bond to recover the value of the property, the common-law remedy for breach of the bond not being excluded by Burns St. Annot. (1908) § 599 (Burns St. Annot. [1901] § 581), authorizing on verdict for plaintiff, judgment in the alternative for the return of the property or the value thereof in case a return cannot be made. Whitney v. Lehmer, 26 Ind. 503; Lindsey v. Hewitt, 42 Ind. A. 573, 86 NE 446. (2) This holding is on the ground that the right of action arises by the common law out of a breach of the contract, and, the statute giving a remedy without negative words, the common-law remedy still remains, and may be pursued at plaintiff's option. Lindsey v. Hewitt, supra.

[12] Necessity of assessment of damages in replevin suit see supra §§ 389–392.

[13] Sopris v. Lilley, 2 Colo. 498; Lake v. Hargis, 82 Kan. 711, 109 P 670, 30 LRANS 366.

[a] General judgment for defendant is not a judgment for damages. Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., (Mass.) 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299.

[b] Application of rule.—Where the replevin action was dismissed without a judgment for a return or damages whereupon defendant brought a second replevin action in which judgment for possession of the same property and damages were awarded him, in an action on the replevin bond given by plaintiff in first action defendant could not recover damages adjudged in the second replevin action. Boyer v. Fowler, 1 Wash. T. 101.

[14] Howard v. Wyatt, 145 Ky. 424, 140 SW 655; Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192.

[15] Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283, 4 AnnCas 1133.

[a] Rule discussed and distinguished.—"We are referred to the case of Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283, as authorizing an action on a bond against the surety to recover from him damages when not fixed in the judgment disposing of the action for the claim and delivery of the property. The question in that case was not like the case at bar. In that case the plaintiff in the action obtained possession of some logs by giving the bond and afterward disposed of them, entered a motion, and dismissed the action without prejudice, and the court decided that it had violated its bond, in that it failed to duly prosecute the action. The court said in that case that: 'The plaintiff should not be permitted, by the execution of a bond, to obtain the possession of the property and upon its own motion dismiss the action without prejudice, and thus relieve itself and surety from all responsibility on the bond.' Here the defendant, now appellee, upon his own motion caused a dismissal of that action and caused a judgment to be rendered in his behalf for the property if to be had, if not, for its value, but failed to present and recover the damages he had sustained by the taking and withholding of the property from him"). Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 807, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192.

[16] Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192; Booth v. National Surety, 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987.

[17] See supra § 408.

[18] U. S.—Gilbert v. American Surety Co., 121 Fed. 499, 57 CCA 619, 61 LRA 253.

Ind.—Peffley v. Kenrick, 4 Ind. A. 510, 31 NE 40.

Kan.—Little v. Bliss, 55 Kan. 94, 39 P 1025.

Minn.—Boom v. St. Paul Fdy., etc., Co., 33 Minn. 253, 22 NW 538 [dist Clark v. Norton, 6 Minn. 412].

N. D.—Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 106 NW 564.

N. B.—Landry v. Sivret, 39 N. B. 356.

[19] See supra §§ 396–402.

[20] Gerard v. Dill, 96 Ind. 101.

[21] Bown v. Weppner, 62 Hun 579, 17 NYS 193.

[a] Where defendant makes no allegation of ownership of, or right of possession to, the property replevied, and denies that it is in his possession, and plaintiff thereupon withdraws suit, and a judgment or dismissal is rendered, no action can be maintained against the sureties on the bond given by plaintiff for the prosecution of the action, and for the return of the property to defendant in case the possession thereof should be adjudged to him, or in case the action should abate or be discontinued before the property be so returned. Bown v. Weppner, 62 Hun 579, 17 NYS 193.

[22] Avery v. Popper, 92 Tex. 337, 48 SW 572, 49 SW 122, 71 AmSR 849 [mod (Civ. A.) 45 SW 951]; Love v. Hudson, 24 Tex. Civ. A. 377, 59 SW 1127; Hail v. Tunstall, 21 Tex. Civ. A. 593, 54 SW 323; Lincoln v. Hollenbach, (Tex. Civ. A.) 49 SW 686; Mitchell v. Bloom, (Tex. Civ. A.) 46 SW 406, 91 Tex. 634, 45 SW 558.

[a] Illustration.—Where property seized under a writ of sequestration is replevied, the quashing of the sequestration discharges the replevin bond. Avery v. Popper, 92 Tex. 337, 48 SW 572, 49 SW 122, 71 AmSR 849 [mod (Civ. A.) 45 SW 951].

[§ 411] (2) Sufficiency of Return[29]—(a) In General. The condition to return the property on a rendition of a judgment for its return ordinarily contemplates that the property be returned to plaintiff in the replevin action.[30] However, a seizure of the property by an officer for plaintiff under a writ of return may be a sufficient compliance with the condition.[31] But the reacquisition of the property by plaintiff by purchase at a sale will not constitute a return sufficient to comply with the condition.[32]

The identical property which defendant withheld under his redelivery bond must be returned to plaintiff.[33]

Bulky property. Where the property adjudged to be returned is bulky in character, an offer to return the same will satisfy the condition.[34]

Partial return.[35] To comply with the judgment in replevin and the condition of a redelivery bond it is necessary that all the property be returned,[36] but an acceptance of a partial return will operate as a pro tanto satisfaction of the replevin judgment and discharge on the bond,[37] and only as such.[38]

[§ 412] (b) In Same Condition.[39] Under the condition to return the property in a redelivery bond, defendant on rendition of a judgment for a return, must ordinarily return or offer to return the property in substantially the same condition as it was when taken in order to avoid a breach of the condition,[40] without decrease in market value,[41] even though the bond obligating defendant to return the property does not specify the condition in which it is to be returned.[42] However, under the particular condition of some redelivery bonds, the court may not require a return in as good condition, so that a return in a worse condition than when taken may satisfy the condition.[43]

---

[23] Condition to return property under plaintiff's bond see supra §§ 404-406.

[24] Hallide Mach. Co. v. Whidbey Island Sand, etc., Co., 73 Wash. 403, 131 P 1156, 45 LRANS 40.

[25] See infra text and notes 26, 27.

[26] See supra § 161.

[27] U. S.—Douglass v. Douglass, 21 Wall. 98, 22 L. ed. 479.

Cal.—Nickerson v. Chatterton, 7 Cal. 568.

Colo.—Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

Ind.—Shaver v. Kappelas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

Iowa.—Nimon v. Reed, 79 Iowa 524, 44 NW 802.

Kan.—Binkley v. Dewall, (A.) 58 P 1028.

Miss.—Hazlett v. Witherspoon, 25 S 150.

N. J.—Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

N. D.—Vallancy v. Hunt, 26 N. D. 611, 145 NW 132.

Oh.—Stern-Bloch Co. v. Heinsheimer, 1 OhS&CP 651, 1 OhNP 44.

Okl.—Gibson v. International Harvester Co., 105 Okl. 253, 232 P 80; Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648.

Or.—Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014.

Pa.—Com. v. Schroeder, 18 Pa. Dist. 929.

Philippine.—Bachrach Motor Co. v. Bona, etc., Guarantee Co., Ltd., 44 Philippine 378.

S. C.—Gibbes Mach. Co. v. Moore, 107 S. C. 327, 92 SE 1033.

S. D.—Schleuning v. West, 34 S. D. 356, 148 NW 604.

Tenn.—Massachusetts Bonding Co. v. McLemore, 4 Tenn. Civ. A. 633.

Tex.—Crenshaw v. Staples, (Civ. A.) 173 SW 1184.

Wash.—Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[a] Delivery of property to defendant must precede liability of sureties on the undertaking, although it is under seal, and such delivery must be alleged in the complaint in an action on the undertaking. Nickerson v. Chatterton, 7 Cal. 568.

[b] Sale of property.—Under a redelivery bond conditioned to keep the property safely and from injury and to return the same if a return is adjudged, a sale of the property by defendant, after judgment for plaintiff for a return, was a breach of the condition. Shaver v. Kappelas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[28] Shaver v. Kappelas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858; Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648; Crenshaw v. Staples, (Tex. Civ. A.) 173 SW 1184.

[29] Sufficiency of return to satisfy replevin judgment see supra § 329.

Effect of loss or destruction of property see infra § 420.

[30] Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648; Schleuning v. West, 34 S. D. 356, 148 NW 604.

[31] Douglass v. Douglass, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 98, 104, 22 L. ed. 479.

"If no writ de retorno habendo had issued it would have been the duty of the defendant to seek the plaintiff and deliver the property to him if he would receive it. Had the defendant failed to do this, there would have been a breach of the bond and he would have been liable. The action taken by the plaintiff obviated the necessity of his doing anything in that way." Douglass v. Douglass, supra.

[a] Rule not applied.—Where the sheriff, holding a special execution for the return of property, called on defendants who informed him they had nothing to do with the property, and where subsequently the sheriff found the property in the hands of a third person who allowed him to check the goods but forbade their removal, it was held that such acts did not constitute a return of the property. Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[32] Gibbes Mach. Co. v. Moore, 107 S. C. 327, 92 SE 1033.

[33] Hazlett v. Witherspoon, (Miss.) 25 S 150; Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648.

[34] Nimon v. Reed, 79 Iowa 524, 44 NW 802; Kansas Nat. Drill, etc., Co. v. Redd, 97 Kan. 1, 154 P 250; Schleuning v. West, 34 S. D. 356, 148 NW 604; Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[a] Sufficient tender.—(1) In an action on defendant's redelivery bond there was a sufficient compliance with the condition to return certain pumping machinery in a mine, where it had been replevied and not removed and was bulky, by an offer to plaintiff to put him in possession. Nimon v. Reed, 79 Iowa 524, 44 NW 802. (2) In an action in which a redelivery bond was given for unwieldy well-drilling property seized under attachment, evidence held to show a sufficient tender of return of the property, where the sheriff's representative said to plaintiff's agent, "If they are your machines, take them." Kansas Nat. Drill, etc., Co. v. Redd, 97 Kan. 1, 154 P 250.

[b] Insufficient tender.—Where the subject matter of the replevin action was a meat market, including tools, fixtures, a stock of meat, wagon, cart, harness and money, a tender of the key to the building without accompanying such tender with an invoice or offering to return the wagon, harness, cart and the cash and pay the costs of the action was insufficient to comply with the redelivery bond. Schleuning v. West, 34 S. D. 356, 148 NW 604.

[c] Unconditional tender.—That the representative of the sheriff and the attaching creditor, in making a tender to the mortgagor of the property seized by the sheriff under attachment and held under a redelivery bond given in replevin brought by the mortgagor, stated that he would pay such damages as the judge and jury might determine did not make the tender insufficient. Kansas Nat. Drill, etc., Co. v. Redd, 97 Kan. 1, 154 P 250.

[35] Right to reject see supra § 331.

[36] Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282; Com. v. Schroeder, 18 Pa. Dist. 929.

[a] Dividends on stock.—Judgment for plaintiff for the return of a certificate of stock carries with it the right of the plaintiff to dividends paid to defendant during the detention. Com. v. Schroeder, 18 Pa. Dist. 929.

[37] Larabee v. Cook, (Kan. A.) 61 P 815.

[38] Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

[39] Right to reject depreciated property see supra § 330.

[§ 413] b. Condition To Pay Damages and Costs. As in the case of a delivery bond,[44] a failure to pay damages and costs properly adjudged in the replevin suit for plaintiff is a breach of the condition on which an action on the bond may be maintained,[45] notwithstanding the property may have been returned.[46]

[§ 414] c. Judgment in Replevin as Essential To Fix Liability. Ordinarily the condition in a redelivery bond to return the property if a return thereof be adjudged is not broken and no liability thereon accrues until a judgment for a return has been rendered in the replevin action.[47] However, a recovery of the value of the property is proper in an action on the bond without proof of a judgment in replevin for a return where a judgment in replevin for a return of the property would on account of its loss or destruction be an idle act,[48] or where the only judgment prescribed by statute is a money judgment.[49] Although an action on a plaintiff's bond may be based on the independent condition to prosecute the action without proof of a judgment for a return of the property,[50] the courts are not in uniformity in permitting in an action on a redelivery bond a recovery of the value of the property for breach of the condition to pay damages, although the conclusions reached sometimes are based on the different wording of the conditions.[51–52] Thus it has been held under the particular terms of the condition to pay such sum as may be recovered, that this condition is independent and distinct from the condition to return the property,[53] and so even though no judgment in replevin for a return has been rendered, an action on the bond for the value may be maintained.[54] In other cases the particular condition to pay such sum as may be recovered has been held to be conditional on a judgment for a return, so that no action may be maintained for breach of this condition without a judgment for a return.[55] A condition to perform the replevin judgment is sufficiently broad to permit in an action on the bond a recovery of a money judgment rendered in the replevin action although there is no judgment for a return of the property.[56]

---

[40] Colo.—Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

Kan.—Walrus Mfg. Co. v. Quackenbush, 128 Kan. 474, 279 P 3 [den reh 128 Kan. 216, 276 P 806].

Miss.—Moody v. Citizens' Sav., etc., Co., 135 Miss. 403, 99 S 817; Hazlett v. Witherspoon, 25 S 150.

N. J.—Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

N. D.—Vallancy v. Hunt, 26 N. D. 611, 145 NW 132.

Okl.—Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 266 P 1107; Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648; Gibson v. International Harvester Co., 105 Okl. 253, 232 P 80.

Or.—Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014.

S. D.—Schleuning v. West, 34 S. D. 356, 148 NW 604.

Tenn.—Massachusetts Bonding Co. v. McLemore, 4 Tenn. Civ. A. 633.

[41] Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 266 P 1107.

"In order to avoid the penalties of a redelivery bond by reason of a tender of the property after judgment, defendant must show a tender of the property within a reasonable time and in substantially as good condition as on the date on which it was replevied and without material depreciation in value, and a tender of the identical property in substantially as good condition but which is of less value by reason of decrease in market value does not avoid the penalties of the bond." Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 248, 266 P 1107.

[42] Grace City First State Bank v. Bradley, 57 N. D. 159, 220 NW 848; Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648; Bachrach Motor Co. v. Bona, etc., Guarantee Co., Ltd., 44 Philippine 378.

[a] Illustration.—A return of wheat in a depreciated condition will not satisfy the condition that "defendant will deliver said property to said plaintiff if such delivery be adjudged." Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648.

[43] Lewis v. McNary, 38 Or. 116, 62 P 897. See Douglass v. Douglass, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 98, 22 L. ed. 479 (if the obligor in the replevin bond has injured the property, or culpably suffered it to become injured while in his possession, a recovery cannot be had against him on the bond if the marshal has once taken possession. The marshal's possession is that of the obligee in the bond, and any redress for such injury must be had by a separate proceeding).

[a] Illustration.—Under a condition that "defendant shall deliver said property to above named plaintiffs, if delivery thereof be adjudged" in replevin for hops in which plaintiff secured judgment for a return, a return of the hops in a depreciated condition was not a breach of the condition, although plaintiff may recover for the depreciation in an independent action. Lewis v. McNary, 38 Or. 116, 62 P 897.

[44] See supra § 407.

[45] Vulcan Steam Shovel Co. v. Cobb, (Mo. A.) 199 SW 448; Bolt v. Milam, 110 S. C. 399, 96 SE 614.

[a] Condition to perform judgment.—A failure to pay damages adjudged, is a breach of a condition to perform the judgment of the court in the action. Vulcan Steam Shovel Co. v. Cobb, (Mo. A.) 199 SW 448.

[b] Where the damages are improperly awarded in the replevin suit and such award is not conclusive in an action on the bond, there is no breach of the condition. Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

[46] Hicks v. McBride, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 377; Bolt v. Milam, 110 S. C. 399, 96 SE 614.

[47] Colo.—Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206; Lewin v. Stein, 7 Colo. A. 65, 42 P 185.

Ind. T.—Spencer v. Davidson, 5 Ind. T. 231, 82 SW 731.

Kan.—Swartz v. English, 4 Kan. A. 509, 44 P 1004.

Minn.—New England Furniture, etc., Co. v. Bryant, 64 Minn. 256, 66 NW 974.

N. Y.—Gallarati v. Orser, 27 N. Y. 324; Jaggar v. Lalance, etc., Mfg. Co., 8 Daly 251.

N. C.—Orange Trust Co. v. Hayes, 191 N. C. 542, 132 SE 466.

N. D.—Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Ferguson, 28 N. D. 347, 148 NW 1049; Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 131 NW 229.

S. C.—Wilkins v. Willimon, 128 S. C. 509, 524, 122 SE 503.

Tenn.—Massachusetts Bonding Co. v. McLemore, 4 Tenn. Civ. A. 633.

Tex.—A. C. Horn Co. v. Bonin, (Civ. A.) 23 SW (2d) 804.

"The second cause of action was for failure to return a portion of the property. The demurrer was probably sustained to this cause of action, because it did not appear from the complaint that an order was entered for a return of the property. We think such order was necessary before there could be a breach of this condition of the bond. The condition was: 'And deliver said property to the Colorado Springs Company, in case return thereof shall be awarded.'" Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206, 210.

"It seems indisputable that the surety's obligation does not mature until the condition of the bond has been fulfilled; an adjudication by the Court of a delivery of the car to the plaintiff, with an assessment of the value and damages." Wilkins v. Willimon, supra.

[a] Vacation of judgment for return.—Where in replevin before a justice of the peace a judgment for a return of the property was adjudged, but an appeal taken to the district court did not affirm nor reverse the judgment, such judgment was vacated by the appeal, and in the absence of a rendition of a judgment for a return by the district court there was no breach of the condition to return. Swartz v. English, 4 Kan. A. 509, 44 P 1004.

[b] Judgment for possession.—(1) A judgment in replevin that at the commencement of the action the right of possession was in plaintiff, that costs be taxed against defendant, and showing that they have been paid, will not support an action for breach of a delivery bond conditioned to deliver the property to plaintiff if delivery be adjudged, and to pay costs and damages awarded against defendant on failure to return the property. Lewin v. Stein, 7 Colo. A. 65, 42 P 185. (2) Judgment providing that plaintiff recover of defendant the possession of the automobile sued for, was held one for the return of the property, within conditions of replevin bond. Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[c] Sureties on an undertaking given under Code Proc. § 211, to procure the return to defendant of personal property taken by the sheriff in an action of replevin, the undertaking being conditioned "for the delivery of the said property to the plaintiff, if such delivery shall be adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may for any cause be recovered against the defendant in this action," are not liable for a breach of the condition of the undertaking on a mere failure of defendant in the action to pay a money judgment for damages for the conversion of the property, no delivery of the property to plaintiff being adjudged, nor any demanded in the complaint. Jaggar v. Lalance, etc., Mfg. Co., 8 Daly (N. Y.) 251 [foll Gallarati v. Orser, 27 N. Y. 324].

[d] Judgment against surviving defendant.—Where one of two defendants in replevin dies, and the action is continued against the survivor, a recovery against him is a recovery "against the defendants" within the meaning of an undertaking given by defendants to obtain a redelivery of the property to them, thus rendering the sureties liable. Potter v. Van Vranken, 36 N. Y. 619; 2 Transcr. A. 73.

[e] Where the bond is not conditioned on a judgment for a return, but conditioned that defendant would deliver the goods to plaintiff, if the same should be adjudged to plaintiff a judgment for their value neces-

An alternative judgment for the value of the property as well as for a return has been held not essential to a recovery of its value in an action on the bond.[57]

Judgment for damages in the replevin action is essential before there can be a breach of the condition of the bond to pay damages.[58]

[§ 415] C. Effect of Payment of Judgment or Claim. While payment of the original claim or satisfaction of the judgment in the replevin action is a complete discharge of the principal and sureties on the replevin bond,[59] or a pro tanto discharge, if a partial payment is made,[60] an unauthorized set-off against an assignee of the bond will not constitute payment.[61] However, the surety on a replevin bond is not entitled to have the penalty of the bond reduced by reason of the fact that the property itself has been returned, but he still remains liable to the amount of the penalty for any other default of his principal, as for his failure to pay damages or costs adjudged against him.[62]

[§ 416] D. Rights and Remedies of Sureties.[63] In order to allow a surety on a bond in replevin to sarily carries a finding that the goods belong to plaintiff, and on such judgment recovery may be had on the bond. Johnson v. Mason, 64 N. J. L. 258, 45 A 618.

---

[48] Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858; Larson v. Hanson, 26 N. D. 406, 144 NW 681, 51 LRANS 655; Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 131 NW 229 (dictum).

[a] Where the property was disposed of by defendant pending the trial of the replevin suit, a judgment for the value of the property without an alternative judgment for a return, was sufficient to allow an action on the bond for the value. Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[49] Ft. Wayne Electric Corp. v. Security Trust, etc., Co., 65 N. J. L. 221, 47 A 559.

[50] Judgment as essential to fix liability on plaintiff's bond see supra § 408.

[51–52] See infra text and notes 53–57.

[53] Parish v. Smith, 66 S. C. 424, 45 SE 16; Thomson v. Joplin, 12 S. C. 580, 581.

"It is clearly not the intention of the statute, which gives the language of the appropriate undertaking, to make the agreement to pay such sum as might from any cause be recovered against the defendant conditional upon there being a judgment for the return of the property to the plaintiff, and the bond must receive the same construction as the language of the act which it followed. There is no language to impart any such condition; on the contrary, the obligation of the sureties, as it regards the return of the property and the payment of any sum recovered, is stated in cumulative language, so that a separate and distinct breach may be assigned as to each." Thomson v. Joplin, supra.

[a] Illustration.—A condition "for the delivery of the said property to the plaintiff, if such delivery shall be adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may in this action for any cause to be recovered," recovery for breach of the latter condition may be had, although there is no delivery adjudged. Parish v. Smith, 66 S. C. 424, 45 SE 16.

[54] See supra note 53.

[55] Gallarati v. Orser, 27 N. Y. 324; Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Ferguson, 28 N. D. 347, 148 NW 1049; Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 131 NW 229.

[a] Illustration.—A condition "for the delivery of the said property to the plaintiffs, if such delivery shall be adjudged, and for the payment to them of such sum as may, for any cause, be recovered," will not support an action on the bond for the value of the property where judgment for a return was not rendered. Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 413, 131 NW 229.

[b] Under a bond conditioned "for the delivery of the said property to the plaintiff, if such delivery shall be adjudged, and if return be not made for the payment to plaintiff of such sum as may, for any cause, be recovered," the court said: "These sureties did not obligate themselves to pay plaintiff the value of the property absolutely, but they merely bound themselves conditionally for such payment if a delivery therefor 'be adjudged and if return be not made.'" Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Ferguson, 28 N. D. 347, 350, 351, 148 NW 1049.

[56] American Bonding Co. v. Hurd, 143 Ky. 799, 137 SW 539.

[a] Illustration.—Where, in replevin, defendant gave a redelivery bond, binding himself and his surety to "perform the judgment of the court" in the action, and judgment was rendered therein, in favor of plaintiff, for one thousand dollars, interest, and costs, and was affirmed on appeal, it was no defense to an action on the bond that the judgment did not provide for the return of the specific property, if possible, and, if not, for its value, and because the value of the property was not assessed in that action. American Bonding Co. v. Hurd, 143 Ky. 799, 137 SW 539.

[57] Marix v. Franke, 9 Kan. 132.

[58] Moore v. Sanders, 114 S. C. 350, 103 SE 589.

[59] Cal.—Chambers v. Waters, 7 Cal. 390.

N. H.—Ramsey v. Landry, 78 N. H. 612, 102 A 531.

Pa.—Clements v. Dempsey, 7 Pa. Super. 52.

Vt.—Moore v. Campbell, 36 Vt. 361.

Wis.—Gage v. Allen, 84 Wis. 323, 54 NW 627.

[60] Carroll v. Swicord, (Ark.) 9 SW (2d) 783.

[61] Hamilton v. Wilcox, 126 Me. 529, 140 A 201.

[62] Wyman v. Robinson, 73 Me. 384, 40 AmR 360; Hendly v. McIntyre, 132 N. C. 276, 43 SE 824.

[a] Illustration.—Where plaintiff in replevin gave a bond for one hundred and ten dollars, while the goods replevied greatly exceeded that amount in value, and defendant recovered the value of the goods against a third party in whose hands they came, it was held to be no defense to a suit on the bond for the unsatisfied damages. Wyman v. Robinson, 73 Me. 384, 40 AmR 360.

[63] Cross references:
Generally see Principal and Surety §§ 374–464.
Discharge of surety see infra §§ 417–421.
Right of set-off see infra § 440.

protect himself the court may permit him to prosecute the action on its abandonment by the principal,[64] but satisfaction of the replevin judgment may prevent such substitution.[65]

Subrogation. As between sureties on respective bonds, the surety whose position is prejudicially altered by the execution of an additional bond is, on payment to the creditor, subrogated to his rights as against the sureties on the additional bond.[66]

Recourse against principal.[67] Although in some jurisdictions the judgment creditor, on rendition of a judgment on the bond, is compelled in equity to first exhaust his remedies against the principal,[68] it has been held in equity that in the absence of statute prescribing a different procedure, a surety, against whom judgment on the bond has been rendered, cannot compel the creditor to first proceed against the property of his principal even though the principal has sufficient property to satisfy the judgment.[69]

[§ 417] E. Discharge of Surety[70]—1. In General. The rules governing the discharge of sureties generally[71] are applicable to sureties on replevin and redelivery bonds.[72] Thus the surety is discharged by an alteration of the terms of his contract,[73] or by performance of the conditions of the bond[74] if there was a full compliance with the conditions[75] and compliance in accordance with the judgment in the replevin action.[76] If the creditor releases the surety so that he changes his position in relation to his principal, the creditor cannot afterwards have recourse against the surety.[77] The surety, however, is generally not released where he is not prejudiced;[78]

Rights and liabilities between co-sureties see Principal and Surety §§ 466-527.

[64] Hoffman v. Steinau, 34 Hun (N. Y.) 239.

[a] Judgment on dismissal of complaint.—Although judgment for a return of the property or its value and costs was entered against a plaintiff in replevin on a dismissal of the complaint, the surety on the bond may be substituted as plaintiff to continue the prosecution of the action. Hoffman v. Steinau, 34 Hun (N. Y.) 239.

[65] Clemmons v. Gorman, 7 Misc. 45, 27 NYS 354.

[a] Default judgment.—The sureties on a redelivery bond given by a sheriff are not entitled to have a judgment by default against the sheriff opened, and to be substituted as defendants in his place, where such judgment was satisfied by the sheriff before any steps were taken by the sureties to be substituted. Clemmons v. Gorman, 7 Misc. 45, 27 NYS 354.

[66] Southwestern Surety Ins. Co. v. King, 68 Okl. 100, 172 P 74, LRA 1918D 1188.

[a] Redelivery and supersedeas bonds.—The sureties on a supersedeas bond staying execution pending the appeal of defendant in replevin are primarily liable, so that on payment to the creditor by the sureties on the redelivery bond, the latter are subrogated to the rights of the creditor as against the sureties on the supersedeas bond. Southwestern Surety Ins. Co. v. King, 68 Okl. 100, 172 P 74, LRA1918D 1188.

[67] Execution against principal as condition precedent to action on bond see infra § 434.

[68] See Principal and Surety §§ 375-380.

[69] Walker v. Files, 94 Ark. 453, 127 SW 739.

[70] Defenses see infra §§ 437-440.

[71] See Principal and Surety §§ 150-319.

[72] See cases infra this section; and §§ 418-421.

[73] Anderson v. Bellenger, 87 Ala. 334, 6 S 82, 13 AmSR 46, 4 LRA 680.

[74] Ark.—Carroll v. Swicord, 9 SW (2d) 783.

Cal.—Ely v. Liscomb, 24 Cal. A. 224, 140 P 1086.

Colo.—Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

Ind.—Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

Iowa.—Edwards v. Cottrell, 43 Iowa 194.

Mass.—Badlam v. Tucker, 1 Pick. 284; Arnold v. Allen, 8 Mass. 147.

N. Y.—Van Almkerk v. H. C. S. Motor Sales Corp., 208 App. Div. 464, 203 NYS 639.

S. C.—Morris Motor Co. v. Alford, 137 S. C. 446, 135 SE 557.

Eng.—Morris v. Matthews, 2 Q. B. 293, 42 ECL 681, 114 Reprint 115.

[a] Tender of property.—The attorneys for plaintiff in claim and delivery being authorized under Code Civ. Proc. § 283, subd. 2, to receive the property in satisfaction of the judgment, an offer to the attorneys to surrender the property discharged the sureties on defendants' redelivery bond. Ely v. Liscomb, 24 Cal. A. 224, 140 P 1086.

[b] Return of property.—Where plaintiff in replevin secured a return of the property awarded by judgment and sold it at public auction, in an action on the redelivery bond the sureties were not liable for a deficiency resulting from the sale, as the return of the property was a performance of the bond. Morris Motor Co. v. Alford, 137 S. C. 446, 135 SE 557.

[75] Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

[a] Partial return.—Sureties on a redelivery bond were not released from liability, where only part of the property adjudged to be returned was surrendered to plaintiff. Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

[76] Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[a] Judgment for value.—Where the judgment in replevin was for the value of the property, defendant could not satisfy the judgment by a return of the property, and any tender of the property was without force. Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[77] Lewis v. Smith, 179 Mo. A. 348, 166 SW 818.

[a] Illustration.—Where defendant obtains a judgment in replevin against plaintiff and the sureties on the replevin bond, and accepts in payment a check signed by a corporation by plaintiff as president, and obtains the money thereon, and notifies the sureties that they are released, he thereby releases the sureties, although afterward compelled to refund to the corporation. Lewis v. Smith, 179 Mo. A. 348, 166 SW 818.

[78] U. S.—Wood v. Forrest, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,945, 2 Cranch C. C. 303.

Cal.—Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 10 Cal. A. 723, 733, 103 P 365.

Colo.—Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282.

Iowa.—Tousey v. Bishop, 22 Iowa 178.

Kan.—First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 106 P 1056.

Ky.—Cooper v. Brown, 7 Dana 333.

Me.—Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

Mass.—Flagg v. Tyler, 6 Mass. 33.

Mich.—In re Cahill, 48 Mich. 616, 12 NW 877.

Minn.—Plankerton v. Continental Casualty Co., 180 Minn. 168, 230 NW 464.

Miss.—Robinson v. Soule, 56 Miss. 549.

Nebr.—Campbell v. Laue, 2 Nebr. (Unoff.) 63, 95 NW 1043.

N. Y.—John Church Co. v. Dorsey, 38 Misc. 542, 77 NYS 1065.

N. C.—Wallace v. Robinson, 185 N. C. 530, 117 SE 508.

N. D.—Larson v. Hanson, 26 N. D. 406, 144 NW 681, 51 LRANS 655.

Oh.—Rhodenbaugh v. Carey, 2 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 162, 1 WestLMonth 599.

Okl.—Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67.

Or.—Mishler v. Edmondson, 92 Or. 347, 180 P 934.

Pa.—Jennings v. Hare, 104 Pa. 489.

Tex.—Bankhead v. Sperry, (Civ. A.) 298 SW 453.

Eng.—Moore v. Bowmaker, 7 Price 223, 146 Reprint 954, 7 Taunt. 97, 27 ECL 277, 129 Reprint 39, 3 Price 214, 146 Reprint 240, 6 Taunt. 379, 1 ECL 663, 128 Reprint 1081.

Ont.—O'Donnell v. Duchenault, 14 Ont. 1.

N. S.—Martin v. Passarini, [1928] 1 DomLR 636.

[a] Delay in correcting judgment.—Rights of surety on replevin bond were not prejudiced by delay of six months before correcting judgment for return of property or value. Plankerton v. Continental Casualty Co., 180 Minn. 168, 230 NW 464.

[b] Where surety had notice of plaintiff's claim of title, he cannot set up in defense an arrangement between plaintiff and defendant by which the apparent ownership of the chattel was given to defendant, nor can he set up and accordingly it has been held that he is not released because the bond has been used as a set-off in another action,[79] or that the principal has failed to appeal,[80] or that the creditor had formerly objected to the sufficiency of the bond,[81] or that the bond was not in the exact language of the statute,[82] or was not signed by the principal,[83] or that the replevin judgment was entered by stipulation between the principal and creditor[84] or that the property was subject to seizure by third persons.[85] An attorney without the consent of his client cannot release a surety.[86]

Delay in the prosecution of the replevin suit not occasioned by or with the consent of the creditor of the bond,[87] or a delay which is not unreasonable and improper, although with the creditor's consent,[88] will not operate to release a nonconsenting surety. However, where the delay either occasioned by or consented to by the creditor is unreasonable and improper, the surety will be discharged.[89]

Bankruptcy and insolvency.[90] A discharge of the principal in bankruptcy will not discharge the surety on a replevin bond,[91] or on a redelivery bond.[92] The liability of a surety, however, is provable in bankruptcy, and a discharge of the surety in bankruptcy will be a discharge on the replevin bond.[93]

Bar of action by limitations. While there is a conflict of authority as to whether a surety is discharged merely because the cause of action against the principal on the bond has been barred,[94] it has been held that the running of the statute of limitations in favor of a surety in a replevin bond is not stopped by bringing another action to enforce the bond.[95]

Cosureties. A release of one of the sureties by the creditor will generally operate to release the cosureties.[96] But the mere substitution of a surety will not release a cosurety where the latter is not prejudiced.[97]

[§ 418] 2. Change in Proceedings.[98] Where the form of action is changed to trover,[99] or where under a statute an election to take the value of the property is made,[1] or a personal judgment is taken,[2] the surety is released from liability to return the property.

Dismissal of parties. Although the surety is not released by a dismissal of the replevin action as against a defendant who claims no interest in the property,[3] it has been held that a dismissal as to an arrangement between them for an illegal purpose when he was not defrauded thereby. Dannels v. Fitch, 8 Pa. 495.

---

[79] Jennings v. Hare, 104 Pa. 489.

[80] Bankhead v. Sperry, (Tex. Civ. A.) 298 SW 453.

[a] Intimidation of plaintiff by defendant in order to prevent his appeal is insufficient, where it is not shown that it could have prevented his appeal. Bankhead v. Sperry, (Tex. Civ. A.) 298 SW 453.

[81] First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 106 P 1056.

[a] Illustration.—Where plaintiff excepted to the sureties on a redelivery bond but which was accepted and approved, the liability on the bond became fixed on approval, and the fact that plaintiff had excepted to the surety and defendant had demanded that the bond be withdrawn, would not discharge the sureties. First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 106 P 1056.

[82] John Church Co. v. Dorsey, 38 Misc. 542, 77 NYS 1065.

[83] U. S.—Wood v. Forrest, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,945, 2 Cranch C. C. 303.

Ky.—Cooper v. Brown, 7 Dana 333.

Me.—Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

Mich.—In re Cahill, 48 Mich. 616, 12 NW 877.

Oh.—Rhodenbaugh v. Carey, 2 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 162, 1 WestLMonth 599.

Okl.—Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67, 69 [quot Cyc].

[84] Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 10 Cal. A. 723, 733, 103 P 365.

"A judgment entered on a stipulation is none the less a judgment of the court because consented to by the parties. . . . In the absence of fraud and collusion we see no good reason why sureties on a replevin bond should not be bound by a judgment thus obtained." Donovan v. Ætna Indemn. Co., supra.

[a] Effect of settlement.—In an action at law in a federal court on a replevin bond, plaintiff cannot avoid the effect of a settlement made by the parties to the replevin suit by virtue of which it was dismissed on the ground that it was procured by the fraud of the plaintiff therein. Cook v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 167 Fed. 95, 92 CCA 547.

[85] Martin v. Passarini, (N. S.) [1928] 1 DomLR 636.

[86] Lowry v. Clark, 20 Pa. Super. 357.

[87] O'Donnell v. Duchenault, 14 Ont. 1.

[a] Postponement of trial.—The trial of an action of replevin in a county court was by a judge's order, on the application of plaintiff therein, postponed to the next sitting thereof, and subsequently the action was by the judge's order transferred to another county court. In an action on the replevin bond it was held on demurrer that, the delay being that of plaintiff in the replevin action, without the consent or connivance of, and against the opposition of defendant, the sureties on the bond were not discharged. O'Donnell v. Duchenault, 14 Ont. 1.

[88] Daniels v. Patterson, 3 N. Y. 47; Moore v. Bowmaker, 7 Price 223, 146 Reprint 954, 7 Taunt. 97, 2 ECL 277, 129 Reprint 39, 3 Price 214, 146 Reprint 240, 6 Taunt. 379, 1 ECL 663, 128 Reprint 1081.

[89] Canniff v. Bogert, 6 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 474. See Daniels v. Patterson, 3 N. Y. 47 (dictum); O'Donnell v. Duchenault, 14 Ont. 1 (dictum).

[a] Where the trial of the replevin action was postponed at the instance of defendant, but without the direct assent or concurrence of the sureties, it was held that the sureties were discharged, the question being not whether they were injured by the delay but whether they might have been. Canniff v. Bogert, 6 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 474.

[90] Generally see Principal and Surety § 316.

[91] Flagg v. Tyler, 6 Mass. 33.

[92] Robinson v. Soule, 56 Miss. 549.

[93] Choate v. Quinichett, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 427.

[94] See Principal and Surety § 312.

[95] Snider's Sons Co. v. Armendt, 105 Ky. 317, 49 SW 10, 20 KyL 1203, 88 AmSR 306.

[a] Replevin judgment functus officio.—If the action on a replevin bond be filed against the sureties thereon within the five year limitation applicable to such bonds, the fact that at the time of trial the replevin judgment was functus officio will not discharge the sureties from their obligation. Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67.

[96] Kirkendall v. Thomas, 7 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 30. See Quarch v. Metz, 15 Misc. 622, 37 NYS 218 (where an undertaking given by defendant in replevin upon reclaiming the property has been approved, an order releasing one of the sureties thereon without the consent of plaintiff is erroneous).

[97] Lowry v. Clark, 20 Pa. Super. 357.

[98] Amendment including new parties see infra § 441.

Effect of increasing ad damnum see infra § 423.

[99] Reno v. Woodyatt, 81 Ill. A. 553.

[1] Gerlaugh v. Ryan, 127 Iowa 226, 103 NW 128. But see Thomson v. Joplin, 12 S. C. 580 (where an election to take the value of the property did not discharge the surety).

[2] Toland v. Swearingen, 39 Tex. 447.

[3] Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282; Larson v. Hanson, 26 N. D. 406, 144 NW 681, 51 LRANS 655.

one of the principals on a forthcoming bond,[4] or a dismissal of the replevin action by plaintiff[5] will release the surety on defendant's bond.

Amendments. Although a surety is generally not released by amendments to the pleadings,[6] yet when the effect of an amendment is to impose on him a greater liability than he had assumed in his undertaking he is released.[7]

Transfer of the action in replevin to another court by virtue of a statute will not release the surety.[8]

Submission to arbitration. While the surety is not released where he consents,[9] a voluntary submission of the replevin suit to arbitration, without his consent will generally absolve him of liability on his obligation.[10] But where the submission provides that the award shall have the force and effect of a verdict of the jury and that judgment may be entered thereon in the action, the surety is not released,[11] for the reason the replevin suit is not withdrawn from the court in which it was instituted.[12]

Stay of execution. Whether the surety expressly consents,[13] or does not expressly consent,[14] he is not discharged by an agreement between the principal and creditor for a stay of execution, especially where the agreement for a stay of execution is not valid and binding.[15]

[§ 419] 3. Effect of Additional or Other Bond. Although the surety on a replevin or redelivery bond may be discharged by the execution of a second replevin bond where the latter is expressly or by clear implication accepted in lieu of the first bond,[16] yet where a second bond is additional to secure further sums which may become due, the execution of such bond will not release the surety.[17] Thus, the execution of a bond for the appeal of the replevin suit will not operate to relieve the surety of liability on a replevin bond,[18] or on a redelivery bond.[19]

---

[4] Tyler v. Davis, 63 Miss. 345.

[a] Reason for rule.—"By his own act the plaintiff thrust Mrs. Davis from the suit. She had no right to insist that the suit should be continued as to her against the wishes of the plaintiff, and since the effect of dismissing as to her was to relieve her of liability on the bond as principal, it follows as a consequence that the sureties are also discharged. The contract of the sureties was to respond to any judgment which might be entered in the suit to which Mrs. Davis and her husband were parties. They were connected with the suit by their connection with both parties as principals on the bond, and though a judgment has been entered against Davis, there has been none against Mrs. Davis nor any in any suit to which she is a party within the condition of the bond." Tyler v. Davis, 63 Miss. 345, 346.

[5] Spencer v. Davidson, 5 Ind. T. 231, 82 SW 731.

[6] Jamieson v. Capron, 95 Pa. 15, 20.

"When a person becomes surety for another in a judicial proceeding, there is an implied understanding that it shall be conducted according to the provisions of law relating thereto. The statutes regulating amendments, as well as other incidents of trial, are as much a part of the contract, in the contemplation of the parties thereto, as if they were embodied in the condition of the bond. Jamieson v. Capron, supra.

[a] Illustration.—Where plaintiffs as executors in an action on a redelivery bond with permission amended so that the parties plaintiffs were "heirs at law" instead of "executors," such amendment did not release the sureties. Jamieson v. Capron, 95 Pa. 15.

[b] Correction of judgment.—Where in the replevin suit judgment for a return of the property or its value was rendered against defendant, and erroneously against the sureties on the forthcoming bond, a correction of the entry releasing the sureties from any and all liability by reason of said judgment, did not release them from their obligations on the bond. Vulcan Steam Shovel Co. v. Cobb, (Mo. A.) 199 SW 448.

[7] Bolton v. Nitz, 88 Mich. 354, 358, 50 NW 291.

"The fact that the parties amended the description by stipulation in the written affidavit as to the particular tract of land from which the logs were cut shows that the parties themselves regarded it as a material portion of the description of the property; and so we think it was. Being so, any alteration by which other property was inserted in the writ of replevin, after the execution of the bond, without the knowledge and consent of the sureties, and with the consent of the defendants in the replevin suit, would discharge them from liability upon the bond." Bolton v. Nitz, supra.

[8] Reusch v. Demass, 34 Mich. 95, 96.

"The plaintiff is not allowed to select his own forum without giving the defendant a voice in the matter, and his sureties, who enable him to get possession of the defendant's property, are not authorized to separate their responsibility from his." Reusch v. Demass, supra.

[9] Hutt v. Gilleland, 1 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 540.

[10] Pirkins v. Rudolph, 36 Ill. 306; Archer v. Hale, 4 Bing. 464, 13 ECL 590, 130 Reprint 846; Moore v. Bowmaker, 3 Price 214, 146 Reprint 240, 6 Taunt. 379, 1 ECL 663, 128 Reprint 1081; Burke v. Glover, 21 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 294; Hutt v. Gilleland, 1 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 540. But see Aldridge v. Harper, 10 Bing. 118, 25 ECL 63, 131 Reprint 850 (where plea that sureties were discharged by a reference to arbitrators was held bad).

[a] Reason for rule.—"We place our decision, however, on the ground that the surety in the bond undertook only that the principal would prosecute his suit with effect and without delay, and make return of the property replevied, if a return should be adjudged. This undertaking, to prosecute the suit with effect and without delay, has express reference to its prosecution in court, before the court, and not privately, before arbitrators. Had it been prosecuted in court, as it would have been without this arrangement to arbitrate between the plaintiff and defendant, the court might have awarded a return of the property, which would have enabled the surety to take the necessary steps to effect a redelivery to the officers, or to secure himself, in some way, on the issuing of the writ of retorno habendo." Pirkins v. Rudolph, 36 Ill. 306.

[11] Lee v. Grimes, 4 Colo. 185; Moore v. Bowmaker, 7 Price 223, 146 Reprint 223, 7 Taunt. 97, 2 ECL 277, 129 Reprint 39, 3 Price 214, 146 Reprint 240, 6 Taunt. 379, 1 ECL 663, 128 Reprint 1081. See Perrigo Gold Min., etc., Co. v. Grimes, 2 Colo. 651 (where an action in replevin is withdrawn, and the matters therein submitted to arbitrators, the parties are regarded as confessing the judgment, which may thereafter be entered according to its terms upon the award of arbitrators, and in such case neither the principal nor the sureties to the replevin bond will be discharged from their obligation by the reference to arbitrators).

[12] See cases supra note 11.

[13] London First Nat. Bank v. Gabbard, 55 SW 548, 21 KyL 1441; Furber v. Bassett, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 433.

[a] Consent extending stay of execution.—Where the surety on plaintiff's bond wrote the obligee that a stay of execution to April 1st would be allowed "and longer if he [principal] asked for it," and the principal continued to ask for and received extensions for about a year, the surety was not discharged as the letter was substantially a power of attorney to the principal and hence extensions were made with surety's consent. Furber v. Bassett, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 433.

[14] Wallace v. Robinson, 185 N. C. 530, 117 SE 508; U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Clifton, (Tex. Civ. A.) 250 SW 1056. But see Tousey v. Bishop, 22 Iowa 178 (where by way of dictum a valid and binding agreement without the surety's consent would in law discharge him).

[15] Tousey v. Bishop, 22 Iowa 178.

[16] Brooks v. Shepherd, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 572; Busch v. Fisher, 73 Mich. 370, 41 NW 325.

[17] See infra text and notes 18, 19.

[18] Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582; Brabon v. Pierce, 34 Mich. 39; Campbell v. Lane, 2 Nebr. (Unoff.) 63, 95 NW 1043, 1044.

"Finally it is said that an appeal bond subsequently given by the plaintiff in replevin should be first sued upon. It may be true that the surety in the replevin undertaking was secondarily liable, as between himself and the surety on the appeal bond. But this would not cast any duty on the plaintiff in this cause of pursuing one rather than the other. The surety cannot urge his rights with respect to the other bond against this suit." Campbell v. Lane, supra.

[a] Plaintiff's appeal bond in a re-

[§ 420] 4. Impossibility of Performance; Destruction or Loss of Subject Matter.[20] Where the condition of the bond becomes impossible of performance by law, it has been held that the obligors on the bond are discharged.[21] There is a conflict of authority on the question as to the liability of the sureties on a replevin bond where performance of the bond, possible at the time of its execution, becomes impossible by the loss or destruction of the subject matter, it being held in some jurisdictions that under such circumstances the obligors on the bond are thereby released.[22] In other jurisdictions, however, the inability of the obligors to return the property[23] as where it belongs to a third person,[24] or its loss[25] or destruction after it is replevied[26] will not discharge the surety from liability.

[§ 421] 5. Death of Parties. Where the death of the principal discharges the condition of the bond, the surety is also released.[27] But where the plevin suit is a cumulative remedy in favor of defendant and does not supersede or take the place of the replevin bond given on the institution of the suit. Brabon v. Pierce, 34 Mich. 39; Campbell v. Lane, 2 Nebr. (Unoff.) 63, 95 NW 1043.

---

[b] Granting a writ of review and a supersedeas of the execution after judgment for defendant in the replevin suit, and taking a new bond which is not intended as a substitute for the original bond, will not discharge the original bond. Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582.

[19] Kan.—Swartz v. English, 4 Kan. A. 509, 44 P 1004.

N. C.—Long v. Meares, 196 N. C. 211, 145 SE 7.

Oh.—Willems v. Moore, 19 Oh. A. 26.

Okl.—Southwestern Surety Ins. Co. v. King, 68 Okl. 100, 172 P 74, LRA 1918D 1188.

Or.—Mishler v. Edmunson, 92 Or. 347, 180 P 934.

[a] Supersedeas bond.—Where, in replevin, plaintiff recovered judgment for the value of hops which defendant wrongfully detained and which he retained by the execution of a counter bond in replevin, the fact that on appeal from the judgment in replevin he executed a supersedeas bond would not release the sureties on the counter bond, as the supersedeas bond was merely cumulative to defendant's replevin bond. Mishler v. Edmunson, 92 Or. 347, 180 P 934.

[20] As to principal in replevin action see supra § 375.

[21] Pait v. McCutchen, 43 Tex. 291 (where one who believed his possession to be rightful executed a replevin bond for the delivery of a slave in 1857, and was afterward, when final judgment was rendered, prevented from delivery of the property by the laws of the United States and Texas, by reason of its having ceased to be property, and it was held that he was relieved thereby from all liability on his bond).

[22] Walker v. Osgood, 53 Me. 422; Melvin v. Winslow, 10 Me. 397.

[a] Loss by freezing.—Although it is the rule that a defendant in a suit on a replevin bond may defend on the ground that the replevied property was destroyed by inevitable cause without his fault, it can only be made in a clear case of vis major, and depreciation caused by freezing or decay is not within the rule. Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

[23] Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[a] Injunction restraining return.—Failure of plaintiff to return goods taken under a replevin bond after the suit is decided against him is not excused by the fact that he was prevented from returning the goods by an injunction, issued by a stranger after the proper demand was made by defendant for their return, provided plaintiff was in a position at that time to make the return. Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[b] Where, in an action on a redelivery bond, it is shown that the property was sold by a receiver, and after the trial in the replevin action the owner applies to the court for the proceeds of the sale, and on such application receives a portion thereof, the remainder being retained to abide the result of the action in which the receiver was appointed, such facts constitute a defense to the action on the redelivery bond for the amount for which the property was sold at the receiver's sale. Boyd v. Huffaker, 39 Kan. 525, 18 P 508.

[c] In New York (1) fact that the property could not be reached was no defense to the sureties. Harrison v. Wilkin, 78 N. Y. 390. (2) Inability to deliver possession was no defense. Van Almkerk v. H. C. S. Motor Sales Corp., 208 App. Div. 464, 203 NYS 639. (3) It was a good plea to an action on the bond that the animal had died without defendant's fault. Carpenter v. Stevens, 12 Wend. 589.

[24] Staples v. Wood, (Tex. Civ. A.) 48 SW 751.

[25] Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378; Garner v. Quakenbush, 188 N. C. 180, 124 SE 154, 187 N. C. 603, 122 SE 474, 36 ALR 1095.

[a] Loss by mortgage foreclosure.—Where plaintiff in the action on the bond was a tenant in common of grain with her husband who went into bankruptcy, and the trustee therein replevied the grain but it was sold on a mortgage foreclosure by a third person, the trustee in the action on the bond by plaintiff, is not relieved of liability for the value of the grain, although he may in mitigation of damages, show the extent of plaintiff's interest. Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378.

[b] Loss to superior titleholder.—Inability of defendant in replevin to return property retained under a redelivery bond because taken by a third person holding a paramount title will not discharge the sureties. Garner v. Quakenbusch, 188 N. C. 180, 124 SE 154, 187 N. C. 603, 122 SE 474, 36 ALR 1095.

[26] Cal.—Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476.

Ill.—Schott v. Youree, 142 Ill. 233, 31 NE 591 [aff 41 Ill. A. 476]; Suppiger v. Gruaz, 137 Ill. 216, 27 NE 22 [aff 36 Ill. A. 60].

Iowa.—Richards v. Hellen, 153 Iowa 66, 133 NW 393; Hinkson v. Morrison, 47 Iowa 167.

Miss.—Hazlett v. Witherspoon, 25 S 150; McPherson v. Acme Lumber Co., 70 Miss. 649, 12 S 857; George v. Hewlett, 70 Miss. 1, 12 S 855, 35 AmSR 626 [overr Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254].

N. C.—T., etc., Motor Co. v. Sands, 186 N. C. 732, 120 SE 459 (see Clark, C. J., dis. op.); Randolph v. McGowans, 174 N. C. 203, 93 SE 730.

Okl.—Jacobs v. Walker, 90 Okl. 209, 216 P 935, 31 ALR 1287.

Tenn.—Barry v. Frayser, 10 Heisk. 206 [dist Mosely v. Baker, 2 Sneed 362].

[a] The effect of giving a redelivery bond is to impose on defendants an obligation to account to plaintiffs for the value of the property, even though after the execution of the bond it is destroyed without fault on their part. Hinkson v. Morrison, 47 Iowa 167.

[b] By death.—(1) Where in replevin, defendant executed a redelivery bond for a horse taken by the sheriff, under an order of replevin, and the horse died during the pendency of the action, in which it was decided that plaintiff was the owner and entitled to the possession of the horse, defendant and his sureties are liable to plaintiff on such bond for the value of the horse. Jacobs v. Walker, 90 Okl. 209, 216 P 935, 31 ALR 1287. (2) Defendant, in action to recover possession of a cow, who replevied, and gave forthcoming bond, when the cow was seized in plaintiff's ancillary proceeding of claim and delivery, was held liable to plaintiff for the value of the cow, adjudged to belong to plaintiff, she having died from natural causes before the action was tried. Randolph v. McGowans, 174 N. C. 203, 93 SE 730.

[c] By fire.—(1) Where a delivery bond is conditioned on the return or delivery of property sought in a replevin suit in as good condition as at the date of commencement of the action, and plaintiff, on a judgment in his favor, has first secured an execution for the return of the specific property, which has been returned unsatisfied because of the destruction of the property by fire, he is entitled to a judgment against the sureties on the delivery bond for the value of the property at the commencement of the action; the sureties not being discharged by the destruction of the property. Richards v. Hellen, 153 Iowa, 66, 133 NW 393. (2) Where a sheriff, as authorized under C. S. § 3403, seized an automobile used in violation of the prohibition law, and, when directed in replevin, to deliver it to plaintiffs gave a forthcoming bond under section 836, and thereafter, without his fault, it was destroyed by fire, the character of his possession was changed from custodian to that of insurer. T., etc., Motor Co. v. Sands, 186 N. C. 732, 120 SE 459.

[27] Badlam v. Tucker, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 284; Morris v. Matthews, 2 Q. B. 293, 42 ECL 681, 114 Reprint 115.

[a] Illustration.—Where a plaintiff's bond was conditioned to prose-cause of action survives[28] enabling defendant to procure an order against the personal representative to continue the suit the surety is not released,[29] unless defendant fails to have plaintiff's personal representative continue the action.[30] A surety on a replevin bond of an assignee for the benefit of creditors, given to replevy attached property, is not released where on the death of the assignee the action is revived by a successor in office.[31]

[§ 422] F. Extent of Liability[32]—1. In General. A surety on an undertaking in replevin is a joint debtor with his principal,[33] and in determining the extent of his liability the undertaking has been construed both strictly,[34] and liberally.[35] Although for the purpose of permitting an intervener in the replevin action to sue on the replevin bond,[36] it has been said that the statute in pursuance of which the bond is executed forms part of the undertaking and the parties are conclusively presumed to intend what the statute provides;[37] it has also been held that the liability of the sureties is governed by the terms of the bond rather than by the terms prescribed by statutes for replevin bonds.[38] Where the bond is executed according to statutory requirements,[39] the liability of a principal or surety thereon is ordinarily limited to the terms of the undertaking,[40] and although the surety's obligation is cute the action with effect and his death excused further prosecution, the surety was also discharged as to the condition. Morris v. Matthews, 2 Q. B. 293, 42 ECL 681, 114 Reprint 115.

---

[28] See Abatement and Revival § 329.

[29] D. C.—Corbett v. Pond, 10 App. 17, 29.

Ill.—Strauss v. Merchants' L. & T. Co., 119 Ill. A. 588.

N. Y.—Lahey v. Brady, 1 Daly 443 [dist Burkle v. Luce, 1 N. Y. 163].

Tenn.—Barry v. Frayser, 10 Heisk. 206.

"It is of no consequence whether the undertaking was a joint or a joint and several obligation. By the death of the principal, the surety became solely liable upon the instrument; and the cause could properly be prosecuted to judgment thereon as against him. The only alternative to this proposition would be, that, by the death of the principal, the plaintiff in the suit, the surety would be released,—which would be a novel and unauthorized theory of law that would render all obligations given in legal proceedings hazardous and many of them useless." Corbett v. Pond, supra.

[30] Jenney v. Jenney, 14 Mass. 231, 232.

"For although, by law the cause of action survived, yet we think that it was not a duty of the administrator of the plaintiff in replevin to enter and prosecute the action at the Supreme Judicial Court, until summoned thereby by the defendant in that suit; who might by process have compelled the administrator to come in, or, in case of his default, after notice, he would have had judgment for a return of the chattels replevied, and would have recovered his damages out of the goods and estate of the deceased, in the administrator's hands." Jenney v. Jenney, supra.

[31] Greer v. Howard, 41 Oh. St. 591.

[32] Generally see Principal and Surety §§ 126–149.

Limitation as to parties see infra §§ 441–445.

[33] Ark.—Walker v. Files, 94 Ark. 453, 127 SW 739.

D. C.—Corbett v. Pond, 10 App. 17.

Ill.—Leland v. Barry, 69 Ill. 348.

Ind.—Walls v. Johnson, 16 Ind. 374; Hutchins v. Hanna, 8 Ind. 533.

Kan.—Kendall v. Black, 99 Kan. 101, 160 P 1015; McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Fisher, 63 Kan. 199, 65 P 223.

S. C.—Harris v. Keckley, 27 S. C. L. 196.

[a] Plaintiff in replevin who joins in the undertaking to prosecute the action and restore the property delivered to him, in case of judgment to that effect, is bound by the terms of the instrument to the same extent as any other obligor. Buck v. Lewis, 9 Minn. 314.

[34] Anderson v. Bellenger, 87 Ala. 334, 6 S 82, 13 AmSR 46, 4 LRA 680; Lewin v. Stein, 7 Colo. A. 65, 42 P 185; Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222. 168 NE 912; Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254; General Securities Co. v. Hindes, 119 Kan. 226, 237 P 659.

Compensated surety see Principal and Surety § 133.

[35] Magerstadt v. Field, 160 Ill. A. 23; Hotz v. Bollman Bros. Co., 47 Ill. A. 378.

[36] Right of added defendant to sue see infra § 441.

[37] Massachusetts Bonding, etc., Co. v. Novotny, 200 Iowa 227, 202 NW 588.

[38] General Securities Co. v. Hindes, 119 Kan. 226, 237 P 659.

[a] Illustration.—On a bond conditioned for the return of the property or the payment of its value, the sureties were not liable for damages and costs although the statutory form of undertaking included such damages and costs. General Securities Co. v. Hindes, 119 Kan. 226, 237 P 659.

[39] Requisites, sufficiency and validity of bonds see supra §§ 120–128.

[40] Ark.—McCoy v. Atkins, 172 Ark. 365, 288 SW 886.

Ind.—Thomas v. Irwin, 90 Ind. 557.

Kan.—Hurd v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 116 Kan. 453, 227 P 337.

Ky.—Berry v. Keatan, 1 Ky. Dec. 70.

Mo.—Collins v. Hough, 26 Mo. 149.

N. C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 198 N. C. 664, 153 SE 152; Williams v. Perkins, 192 N. C. 175, 134 SE 417; Orange Trust Co. v. Hayes, 191 N. C. 542, 132 SE 466; Garner v. Quakenbush, 188 N. C. 180, 124 SE 154, 187 N. C. 603, 122 SE 474, 36 ALR 1095.

Or.—Peacock v. Kirkland, 74 Or. 279, 145 P 281; Lewis v. McNary, 38 Or. 116, 62 P 897.

S. C.—Moore v. Sanders, 114 S. C. 350, 103 SE 589.

Tex.—Linn Bros. Motor Co. v. Williams, (Civ. A.) 293 SW 658.

Wash.—Ihrig v. Bussell, 68 Wash. 70, 122 P 608, LRA1917A 1188.

"It is elementary that a surety cannot be held for what he did not undertake to perform, and no action can be maintained against him until there is a breach of his contract." Lewis v. McNary, 38 Or. 116, 119, 62 P 897.

[a] Judgment beyond conditions void.—"Under the statute the court was without jurisdiction to enter judgment against the sureties on their replevy bond, beyond its conditions, and, in so far as the judgment in question attempted so to do, it was void." Linn Bros. Motor Co. v. Williams, (Tex. Civ. A.) 293 SW 658, 659.

[b] Limitation to property described in affidavit.—Where the affidavit and writ of the plaintiff in replevin were for the seizure of corn, plaintiff or the sureties on the bond were not liable for the act of the sheriff in wrongfully seizing other property, as their liability extended only to the property described in the affidavit, writ, or bond. Williams v. Perkins, 192 N. C. 175, 134 SE 417.

[c] Liability for special interest.—Where a bond conditioned to duly prosecute the action and pay all costs and damages awarded defendant, and return the property if a return be adjudged to him, there was no breach of the bond where the judgment in replevin was for plaintiff for the possession of the property and a judgment for defendant for his special interest, for under the terms of the bond, plaintiff was not obligated to pay defendant his special interest. Hurd v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 116 Kan. 453, 227 P 337.

[d] Costs.—A redelivery bond contemplates liability for the taking and detention of the property, and sureties thereon were not subject to a judgment for the costs of a continuance of the cause granted on application of defendant, when defendant was found to be entitled to, and was awarded, the property. American Soda Fountain Co. v. Dean Drug Co., 136 Iowa 312, 111 NW 534.

[e] Liability for deficiency at sale after return.—Where the condition of a redelivery bond was to have the property forthcoming to abide the decision of the court, the sureties were not liable, on the bond for a deficiency resulting from a sale of the property by plaintiff after its return by defendant in accordance with the replevin judgment. Linn Bros. Motor Co. v. Williams, (Tex. Civ. A.) 293 SW 658.

[f] Liability of principal's estate.—Where three partners, as a firm, brought an action of replevin, giving a bond signed by all, the death of one of the partners during the pendency of the action will not relieve his estate from liability on the bond. Union Trust Co. v. Shoemaker, 258 Ill. 564, 101 NE 1050 [aff 172 Ill. A. 365].

ordinarily not in excess of the principal's,[41] the surety may limit his obligation to less than that of his principal.[42] Unless it is clear that the terms of the undertaking limit the sureties' liability to a judgment in the court of first instance,[43] the surety's obligation extends to all proceedings and adjudications in the same action through every court to which it may be carried.[44] Thus it has been held that a condition to prosecute an action with effect contemplates a successful termination by plaintiff in whatever court the case is properly removed,[45] whether the removal is occasioned by a change of venue,[46] or by an appeal or writ of error.[47]

Limitation to recovery in replevin suit. Although a surety is liable within the terms of his obligation to the full extent of the verdict in the replevin action,[48] his liability ordinarily extends only to the judgment in the replevin suit in which the bond was given, so that, even though the replevin action is ancillary to another action, the surety is not liable for a judgment rendered against his principal in the other action.[49]

[§ 423] 2. Limitation as to Amount. As a general rule the recovery in an action on a bond in replevin cannot exceed the penalty of the bond,[50] although the amount recoverable may exceed the penalty of the bond where interest is allowed on the penalty.[51] As against the surety, however, it has been held error to allow interest on the penalty.[52] Where the amount of the penalty is omitted in the bond, there can be no recovery against the sureties.[53]

---

[41] McCormick v. Crotts, 198 N. C. 664, 153 SE 152.

[a] Infant as principal.—In an action on a redelivery bond where an infant as principal on disaffirming a contract of purchase was not liable for the depreciation in the value of the property, the sureties were not, although the condition of the bond was for the return of the property with damages for deterioration and detention. McCormick v. Crotts, 198 N. C. 664, 153 SE 152.

[42] See Principal and Surety § 127.

[43] Mitchum v. Stanton, 49 Cal. 302; Bell v. Bartlett, 7 N. H. 178.

[a] Limitation to judgment in justice court.—Where in replevin commenced before a justice of the peace the bond was conditioned for a return of the property if adjudged "by the said court," the liability of the sureties extended only to a judgment in the justice court, so that a reversal of the judgment for plaintiff by a higher court would not render the sureties liable. Mitchum v. Stanton, 49 Cal. 302.

[44] Woodburn v. Driver, 81 Ark. 333, 99 SW 384; Letson v. Dodge, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 125; Fisher v. Stanisic, 18 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 440.

[a] Changes in procedure for appeal.—A redelivery bond in replevin must be regarded as having been entered into subject to such changes in remedy or procedure as do not change the contractual rights of the parties, for example, the statutory allowance of a writ of error from the federal supreme court, to review the final judgment in the replevin suit, where no such review had theretofore been permissible, or subsequent legislation authorizing the issuance of an execution during the pendency of a writ of error to review such judgment if defendant should be ruled to give a new redelivery bond on an affidavit of insufficiency. William W. Bierce, Ltd. v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237 [rev 19 Hawaii 398].

[b] Change to chancery court.—Liability of sureties was not enlarged by a transfer to the chancery court. Woodburn v. Driver, 81 Ark. 333, 99 SW 384.

[45] See infra text and notes 46, 47.

[46] Reusch v. Demass, 34 Mich. 95; Vaughan v. Norris, Cas. t. Hardw. 137, 95 Reprint 87; Lane v. Foulk, Comb. 228, 90 Reprint 445; Morgan v. Griffith, 7 Mod. 380, 87 Reprint 1304.

[a] Illustration where a replevin bond was conditioned to appear at the county court, and "then and there" prosecute with effect, it was held that the words "then and there" did not limit the obligation of plaintiff to prosecute with effect to the county court but extended to wherever removed. Vaughan v. Norris, Cas. t. Hardw. 137, 95 Reprint 87.

[47] Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139; Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912; Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 29; Turnor v. Turner, 2 B. & B. 107, 6 ECL 58, 129 Reprint 898; Gwillim v. Holbrook, 1 B. & P. 410, 126 Reprint 981; Chapman v. Butcher, Carth. 248, 90 Reprint 748.

"The condition to prosecute to effect required the plaintiff in replevin to pursue the action before a higher court, if removed by recordari, on error, or appeal, and by either of the actors in the suit." Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139, 145.

[a] Reversal but no venire de novo.—The condition of a replevin bond required a continued prosecution of the action from the commencement to a successful termination, and that if plaintiff succeeded in the common pleas, and judgment was reversed in the supreme court, and no venire de novo awarded, there was a breach of the bond. Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 29.

[b] Reversal on appeal.—In an action on a replevin bond conditioned to prosecute with effect, such condition was not fulfilled where, although plaintiff was successful in the trial court, the case was reversed on appeal. Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912.

[c] Failure to prosecute appeal.—Where an action in replevin is determined against plaintiff, and he appeals, and fails to prosecute his appeal, he is liable on his bond. Webster v. Price, 1 Root (Conn.) 56.

[48] Parish v. Smith, 66 S. C. 424, 45 SE 16.

[49] McCoy v. Atkins, 172 Ark. 365, 288 SW 886; Woodburn v. Driver, 81 Ark. 333, 99 SW 384; Lee v. Hastings, 13 Nebr. 508, 14 NW 476; Barrett v. Habern, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 207, 54 SW 644.

[a] Illustration.—Under a condition in a redelivery bond that defendants "shall perform the judgment of the court in this action," they are not liable for a judgment against their principal on a promissory note, although the property replevied secured the note. McCoy v. Atkins, 172 Ark. 365, 288 SW 886.

[b] Counterclaims.—The statutory undertaking given by a plaintiff in replevin, under Code Civ. Proc. § 1699, to answer for "the payment to the defendant in any sum which the judgment awards to him against the plaintiff," has reference only to such damages as the statute authorizes in a replevin suit; and as §§ 1730, 1731, 1733 preclude the rendition of an affirmative judgment for defendant for damages not connected with the chattel or the withholding of its possession, an action does not lie on the bond for the amount of a judgment on counterclaim disconnected from the chattels. Dickson v. Bickershoff, 48 Misc. 353, 95 NYS 585.

[c] In South Carolina (1) it was held that sureties on redelivery bond conditioned "for the payment to the plaintiff of such sum as may be recovered against the defendant in this case" were not liable for a judgment rendered for the amount of a promissory note. Wilkins v. Willmon, 128 S. C. 509, 122 SE 503. (2) Sureties on a redelivery bond conditioned "for the payment of such sum as may for any cause be recovered against the defendant" were held liable for the balance of a judgment on a note after deducting an amount the returned property was sold for. Bolt v. Milam, 110 S. C. 399, 96 SE 614. (3) A surety on a replevin bond given by a tenant to recover crops seized under distress was not liable on a judgment against the principal in a separate action for the rent. Cheatham v. Morrison, 31 S. C. 326, 9 SE 964.

[d] Well considered case.—Wilkins v. Willimon, 128 S. C. 509, 122 SE 503.

[50] Colo.—Cox v. Sargent, 10 Colo. A. 1, 50 P 201.

Del.—Truitt v. Collins, 18 Del. 36, 45 A 541.

Ill.—Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204.

Ind.—Kellar v. Carr, 119 Ind. 127, 21 NE 463.

Kan.—Lake v. Hargis, 82 Kan. 711, 109 P 670, 30 LRANS 366.

Mass.—Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44; Leighton v. Brown, 98 Mass. 515; Davis v. Harding, 3 Allen 302.

Mich.—Fraser v. Little, 13 Mich. 195, 87 AmD 741.

Nebr.—Kaufman v. Wessel, 14 Nebr. 161, 15 NW 219.

N. Y.—Pettit v. Allen, 64 App. Div. 579, 72 NYS 287; Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. 54.

N. C.—Harrell v. Tripp, 197 N. C. 426, 149 SE 548.

Or.—Carlon v. Dixon, 14 Or. 293, 12 P 394.

Pa.—Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603; Ingram v. Cox, 5 Pa. Dist. 617.

Tenn.—Muhling v. Ganeman, 4 Baxt. 88.

Tex.—Miles v. Davis, 36 Tex. 690.

Vt.—Miltimore v. Bottom, 66 Vt. 168, 28 A 872.

Ont.—Heley v. Cousins, 34 U. C. Q. B. 63.

Increasing ad damnum by amendment. Where no new cause of action is pleaded, an amendment to the complaint increasing the amount sought to be recovered will not alter the liability of the surety on the bond as his liability extends to the sum named in the bond as the penalty.[54]

[§ 424] 3. Elements of Recovery[55]—a. In General. Generally a successful party in replevin may recover in an action on the bond the value of the property,[56] or of that part of the property,[57] not returned. Where the prevailing party has but a special interest in the property, he is confined to a recovery of the value of his special interest,[58] although he may recover the entire value of the prop-

---

[a] Judgment for penalty.—In an action on a replevin bond, where the damages allowed are full and final, there is no occasion to give judgment for the penal sum of the bond, Rev. St. c 87 § 51, providing for judgments for the penal sum of bonds, not being applicable. Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

[51] Wyman v. Robinson, 73 Me. 384, 387, 40 AmR 360.

"The obligee is to have the penalty at a particular and definite time. Immediately upon a breach of the bond the penalty is due to him. If he gets it then, he gets what the contract provides. If, then, the penalty be paid after the breach, interest should be added for the detention of the penalty, to make it equivalent to a payment at the date of the breach." Wyman v. Robinson, supra.

[52] Miltimore v. Bottom, 66 Vt. 168, 28 A 872.

[53] Harbin v. Nations, 214 Ala. 649, 108 S 749.

[54] Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237; Kirkman Nurseries v. Thorwaldson, 56 Cal. A. 1, 204 P 253; Vulcan Steam Shovel Co. v. Cobb, (Mo. A.) 199 SW 448.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The surety on such a bond, given in the course of a judicial proceeding, is represented in that proceeding by his principal. That the court possessed the power of allowing an amendment which introduced no new cause of action is plain. The surety became such in contemplation of the possible exercise of that power. The penalty of the bond was not exceeded, and an increase in the ad damnum did not introduce a new cause of action. Townsend Nat. Bank v. Jones, 151 Mass. 454, 24 NE 593. By the execution of the bond, the surety consented to become responsible to the amount of the penal sum therein named." Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 244, 55 L. ed. 237.

[b] Value of property increased.—(1) In an action on a redelivery bond to secure release of certain nursery stock, where the undertaking by defendants for the delivery of a certain sum to plaintiff, if delivery be adjudged, provided "for the payment to plaintiff of such sum as may, for any cause, be recovered against the defendant," it was held that the sureties were not exonerated on the ground that in an amended complaint, filed after the undertaking was given and on which judgment was entered, the valuation of the property had been increased over that in the original complaint. Kirkman Nurseries v. Thorwaldson, 56 Cal. A. 1, 204 P 253. (2) An amendment of a declaration increasing the value of the property replevied from fifteen to twenty two thousand dollars did not enlarge the liability of the obligors, where the penalty of the bond was thirty thousand dollars. Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237.

[55] Damages recoverable in replevin suit see supra §§ 359-393.

[56] Ala.—Ward v. Hood, 124 Ala. 570, 27 S 245, 82 AmSR 205.

Cal.—Mitchum v. Stanton, 49 Cal. 302; Ginaca v. Atwood, 8 Cal. 446.

Conn.—Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928; Ormsbee v. Davis, 16 Conn. 567.

Ill.—Cermak v. P. A. Starck Piano Co., 198 Ill. A. 494; Martin v. Hertz, 118 Ill. A. 297 [aff 224 Ill. 84, 79 NE 558].

Ind.—Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 20 NE 637, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987; Walls v. Johnson, 16 Ind. 374.

Ky.—Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283.

Me.—Wyman v. Robinson, 73 Me. 384, 40 AmR 360.

Mass.—Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. 205.

Minn.—Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378.

N. J.—Peacock v. Haney, 37 N. J. L. 179; Lutes v. Alpaugh, 23 N. J. L. 165.

N. Y.—Pettit v. Allen, 64 App. Div. 579, 72 NYS 287.

Oh.—Berwanger v. Bristol, 3 OhS &CP 683, 3 OhNP 161.

Pa.—Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12; Chase v. Sherwood, 4 Lack LegN 271.

Tenn.—Muhling v. Ganeman, 4 Baxt. 88.

Tex.—Talcott v. Rose, (Civ. A.) 64 SW 1009.

Ont.—Ruttan v. Short, 12 U. C. Q. B. 485.

[a] Price at which defendant sold the property is no measure of damages on the bond. Schrader v. Wolfin, 21 Ind. 238.

[b] Assessment of value.—In an action on a redelivery bond the undertaking of defendant to pay the assessed value of the property is construed to mean the value assessed by the judgment, rendered on the verdict, and not the value assessed by the appraisers. Berwanger v. Bristol, 3 OhS&CP 683.

[c] Determination of value.—In an action on a bond, given to plaintiff sheriff in replevin for theatrical properties attached by him, the jury should consider, in determining the market value of the properties, the circumstances that a purchaser might buy with intention of using it for other uses, or might have acquired or believed he could acquire therewith the play to which they were peculiarly adapted, or that the owners of the play might have attended the attachment sale, if held, and bid on the properties. Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142.

[d] Enhancement of value.—In an action on a bond given in replevin for logs, where, after the suit was brought, defendant manufactured some of the logs into lumber, the recovery is limited to the value of the logs, without reference to the value of the lumber, the bond having taken the place of the property. Busch v. Fisher, 89 Mich. 192, 50 NW 788.

[e] Where property is reacquired by purchase at a public sale pending the trial in replevin by the prevailing party, he is not entitled to the value of the property but may only recover what it cost to regain possession. Pure Oil Co. v. Terry, 209 Pa. 403, 58 A 814.

[57] Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282; Kiser v. Hensley, 123 Va. 536, 96 SE 777.

[58] Colo.—Perrigo Gold Min., etc., Co. v. Grimes, 2 Colo. 651.

Conn.—Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930.

Ill.—David v. Bradley, 79 Ill. 316; Warner v. Matthews, 18 Ill. 83; King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619; Jackson v. Bry, 3 Ill. A. 586.

Ind.—McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161; Schrader v. Wolfin, 21 Ind. 238.

Iowa.—Clement v. Duffy, 54 Iowa 632, 7 NW 85.

Ky.—Roman v. Stratton, 2 Bibb 199.

Mass.—Bartlett v. Kidder, 14 Gray 449. See Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. 205 (where it does not appear that the amount needed to satisfy an execution was less than the full value, full value will be awarded).

Mich.—Pearl v. Garlock, 61 Mich. 419, 28 NW 155, 1 AmSR 603; Lindner v. Brock, 40 Mich. 618.

N. H.—Claggett v. Richards, 45 N. H. 360.

S. C.—Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Hewlett, 94 S. C. 478, 78 SE 329.

Recovery of special interest in replevin suit see supra §§ 371, 372.

[a] Interest of an execution creditor in an action on the bond should not exceed the amount of the execution. Roman v. Stratton, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 199.

[b] Interest of lienholder.—For a breach of the bond, given by plaintiff in an action of claim and delivery, recovery can be had only for such damages as defendant sustained by the taking of the property from its possession; so, where it was merely holding the property for demurrage erty where the opposing party is a stranger to the title.[59] The value of the property is to be measured either as of the time the property was taken in the replevin action,[60] or as of the time of the judgment or order for a return.[61] In addition to a recovery of the value of the property plaintiff is generally entitled to damages for its detention,[62] including interest on the value of the property from the date of the judgment of return,[63] or in some cases the usable value of the property,[64] together with damages for depreciation in value,[65] and costs and expenses of the main action,[66] and the necessary ex-charges, it can recover only such amount as is found was due it for demurrage. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Hewlett, 94 S. C. 478, 78 SE 329.

---

[59] U. S.—Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. 208, 22 L. ed. 727.

Colo.—Perrigo Gold Min., etc., Co. v. Grimes, 2 Colo. 651 (dictum).

Ill.—Bennet v. Gilbert, 194 Ill. 403, 62 NE 847 [aff 94 Ill. A. 505]; Atkins v. Moore, 82 Ill. 240.

Ind.—Smith v. Lisher, 23 Ind. 500.

Me.—Farnham v. Moor, 21 Me. 508.

Mich.—Williams v. Vail, 9 Mich. 162, 80 AmD 76.

Okl.—U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Yoder, 139 Okl. 256, 281 P 974.

[a] Sheriff in attachment.—(1) Where a sheriff attached property which was replevied by a stranger to the title, the sheriff or the attachment creditor may recover the full value of the property in an action on the plaintiff's bond, although there was no assessment of the value in the replevin suit. Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727. (2) A sheriff having a special property in the articles replevied was entitled to recover, as against a stranger having no interest in the property, not merely the extent of his special interest but the full value of the property, and the excess beyond his special interest will be held by him in trust for the general owner. Atkins v. Moore, 82 Ill. 240.

[60] U. S.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799.

Conn.—Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928.

Ill.—Plano Mfg. Co. v. Downey, 100 Ill. A. 36; Treman v. Morris, 9 Ill. A. 237.

Kan.—Edwards v. Bricker, 71 P 587.

Me.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462; Thomas v. Spofford, 46 Me. 408; Smith v. Dillingham, 33 Me. 384.

Tenn.—Massachusetts Bonding Co. v. McLemore, 4 Tenn. Civ. A. 633.

Ont.—Patterson v. Fuller, 32 U. C. Q. B. 240.

[a] In Texas (1) it was held that the value of the property is to be measured as of the date of the approval of the bond (McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig, (Civ. A.) 43 SW 934); (2) it was also held that the value of the property is to be measured as of the time of the trial. Alderete v. Western Indemn. Co., (Civ. A.) 278 SW 265; Talcott v. Rose, (Civ. A.) 64 SW 1009). (3) Where the property is unavailable at the time of the trial, its value is to be measured as of the time it was replevied. Western Indemn. Co. v. Alderete, (Civ. A.) 292 SW 914.

[61] Lindsey v. Hewitt, 42 Ind. A. 573, 86 NE 446; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Leighton v. Brown, 98 Mass. 515; Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 205; Swift v. Barnes, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 194; Caldwell v. West, 21 N. J. L. 411.

[62] Colo.—Sopris v. Lilley, 2 Colo. 496.

Ill.—Shepard v. Butterfield, 41 Ill. 76; Pace v. Neal, 92 Ill. A. 416.

Me.—Thomas v. Spofford, 46 Me. 408.

Mass.—Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328; Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. 205; Arnold v. Bailey, 8 Mass. 145.

N. C.—Scott v. Elliott, 63 N. C. 215.

[a] Double damages.—The obligation of sureties to the return bond in actions for the delivery of personal property, under Practice Act (1849) § 8, cannot be extended to the payment of double damages, for the detention of the property by plaintiff. Collins v. Hough, 26 Mo. 149.

[b] Interest on damages and costs are not allowed where the bond does not so provide. Berry v. Keatan, Ky. Dec. 70.

[63] Ala.—Ward v. Hood, 124 Ala. 570, 27 S 245, 82 AmSR 205.

Ill.—Hopkins v. Ladd, 35 Ill. 178; Cermak v. Cable Piano Co., 211 Ill. A. 219; Hanson v. Weber Impl. Co., 173 Ill. A. 293; Pace v. Neal, 92 Ill. A. 416.

Ind.—Story v. O'Dea, 23 Ind. 326; Walls v. Johnson, 16 Ind. 374.

Ky.—Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283.

Me.—Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

Mass.—Stevens v. Tuite, 104 Mass. 328; Huggeford v. Ford, 11 Pick. 223; Arnold v. Bailey, 8 Mass. 145.

N. J.—Peacock v. Haney, 37 N. J. L. 179; Caldwell v. West, 21 N. J. L. 411.

[a] Where the damages equal the penalty of the bond, it is error to allow interest from the judgment in replevin as against the surety on the bond. Miltimore v. Bottom, 66 Vt. 168, 28 A 872.

[64] Nahhas v. Browning, 181 Cal. 55, 183 P 442, 6 ALR 476; Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173.

[a] Net usable value.—(1) Where defendant, who had replevied plaintiff's automobile truck, was required to make expenditures on car before it was capable of use, the amount of such expenditures with interest thereon will be deducted from damages sustained by plaintiff by defendant's wrongful taking of truck. Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173. (2) Owner of property taken by replevin is not liable for the expense of keeping it during the period of detention, and hence, in an action on a replevin bond, the defendant is not entitled to have deducted from the amount of damages the expense of feeding the cattle replevied during such detention. Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

[65] U. S.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799.

Conn.—Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173.

Ill.—Franks v. Matson, 211 Ill. 338, 71 NE 1011.

Ind.—Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190.

Kan.—Walrus Mfg. Co. v. Quackenbush, 128 Kan. 474, 279 P 3 [den reh 128 Kan. 216, 276 P 806].

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

Mass.—Tucker v. Tremont Trust Co., 242 Mass. 25, 136 NE 62, 24 ALR 1185.

N. C.—Crump v. Love, 193 N. C. 464, 137 SE 418.

Or.—Booth v. National Surety Co., 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987.

Wash.—Hafner v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 126 Wash. 670, 219 P 16.

[a] Fault of defendant.—The amount of depreciation in the value of the property during the time of detention cannot be recovered in such action, unless the depreciation was occasioned by defendant's fault. Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204.

[66] Ark.—Morrill v. Daniel, 47 Ark. 316, 1 SW 702.

Cal.—Mitchum v. Stanton, 49 Cal. 302.

Del.—Truitt v. Collins, 18 Del. 36, 45 A 541.

Ida.—Folen v. Saxton, 31 Ida. 319, 171 P 669.

Ill.—Cermak v. P. A. Starck Piano Co., 198 Ill. A. 494; Larson v. Laird, 36 Ill. A. 402.

Ind.—Kellar v. Carr, 119 Ind. 127, 21 NE 463.

Ky.—Galloway v. Bethume, 6 Bush 113.

Me.—Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241; Hovey v. Coy, 17 Me. 266.

Mass.—Matton v. Pearce, 12 Mass. 406.

Mich.—Peterson v. Harrington, 197 Mich. 611, 164 NW 547.

Minn.—Katz v. American Bonding, etc., Co., 86 Minn. 168, 90 NW 376.

Miss.—Sparks v. Hopsen, 83 Miss. 124, 35 S 446; Phillips v. Cooper, 59 Miss. 17.

Mont.—Clark v. National Surety Co., 81 Mont. 113, 261 P 618.

Nebr.—Campbell v. Lane, 2 Nebr. (Unoff.) 63, 95 NW 1043.

N. J.—Sloan v. Poor, 7 N. J. Misc. 197, 145 A 469.

N. Y.—Tibbles v. O'Connor, 28 Barb. 538; John Church Co. v. Dorsey, 38 Misc. 542, 77 NYS 1065.

N. C.—Hall v. Tillman, 110 N. C. 220, 14 SE 745.

Or.—Mishler v. Edmunson, 92 Or. 347, 180 P 934; Carlon v. Dixon, 14 Or. 293, 12 P 394.

Pa.—Tibbal v. Cahoon, 10 Watts 232; Phillips v. Hyde, 1 Dall. 439, 1 L. ed. 213.

S. C.—Rhodes v. Burkart, 28 S. C. 154, 5 SE 347.

penses incurred by reason of the wrongful prosecution of the main suit.[67]

Attorney's fees, incurred in the prosecution or defense of the replevin action, are recoverable in an action on a replevin bond where the conditions of the bond are considered sufficiently broad to include such fees,[68] but generally the terms of the conditions of the bond are construed as excluding a recovery of such fees.[69]

Exemplary damages, recovered in the replevin action are generally not within the conditions of the bond and are not recoverable in an action thereon.[70]

[§ 425] b. Nominal Damages. Only nominal damages can be allowed in an action on the replevin bond where the value of the property and value of its use[71] or the depreciation in value are not

---

Eng.—Branscombe v. Scarbrough, 6 Q. B. 13, 51 ECL 13, 115 Reprint 5.

Ont.—Burn v. Blecher, 14 U. C. C. P. 415.

[a] Condition to perform the judgment.—A condition in a redelivery bond "that the defendant shall perform the judgment of the court in the action" would include costs assessed in the replevin suit for which the surety is liable, although the property is returned. Morrill v. Daniel, 47 Ark. 316, 1 SW 702.

[b] Pay such sum as is recovered.—(1) A redelivery bond conditioned for the payment to plaintiff of such sum "as may for any cause be recovered" against defendant includes plaintiff's costs in the replevin suit. John Church Co. v. Dorsey, 38 Misc. 542, 77 NYS 1065. (2) A condition of a plaintiff's bond to pay "such sum as may for any cause be recovered in this action" against plaintiff would include costs. Rhodes v. Burkart, 28 S. C. 154, 5 SE 347. (3) A redelivery bond conditioned to return the property if adjudged and pay "any damages awarded against him in said suit" does not include costs. Brock v. Bolton, 37 S. C. 40, 16 SE 370 [dist Rhodes v. Burkart, 28 S. C. 154, 5 SE 347].

[c] Although a redelivery bond is silent as to costs, the sureties thereon were liable for costs under Code (1871) § 1535, which declares that the successful party may have his distringas to compel the delivery of the property, together with a fieri facias for damages and costs. Sparks v. Hopsen, 83 Miss. 124, 35 S 446; Phillips v. Cooper, 59 Miss. 17.

[d] Costs for continuance.—Where defendant is awarded possession of the property, the sureties are not liable for the costs of a motion for a continuance which was decided against him. American Soda Fountain Co. v. Dean Drug Co., 136 Iowa 312, 111 NW 534.

[e] A redelivery bond conditioned that defendant should deliver the property in as good condition if the same be adjudged does not include costs so the sureties thereon were not liable. Lutes v. Alpaugh, 23 N. J. L. 165.

[f] Liability of surety to principal.—The surety on a forthcoming bond, given by plaintiff in replevin, is not liable thereon to his principal for plaintiff's costs. Hallman v. Dellinger, 84 N. C. 1.

[g] Costs of writ of retorno habendo.—On a condition in a replevin bond to make return of the property if awarded, the costs of a writ of retorno habendo are recoverable distinct from the costs in the judgment. Langdoc v. Parkinson, 2 Ill. A. 136.

[h] In Missouri the surety on a replevin bond is not rendered liable by the statute for the costs of the suit. Morrow v. Shepherd, 9 Mo. 131.

[i] In Texas (1) Costs incurred in the prosecution of the replevin action are not taxable against the sureties on the bond. Riggle v. Automobile Finance Co., (Civ. A.) 276 SW 439; McIntyre v. Emerson, (Civ. A.) 132 SW 947. (2) Sureties were held liable for such costs where after being made parties to the replevin action by citation they litigated the question of their liability. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig, (Civ. A.) 43 SW 934.

67. U. S.—Alexander v. Thomas, 1 F. Cas. No. 174, 1 Cranch C. C. 92.

Conn.—Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930.

Del.—Truitt v. Collins, 18 Del. 136, 45 A 541.

Ill.—Harts v. Wendell, 26 Ill. A. 274.

Ind.—Davis v. Crow, 7 Blackf. 129.

Kan.—Little v. Bliss, 55 Kan. 94, 39 P 1025.

Me.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 62 Me. 341, 16 AmR 462; Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

68. Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912; Gilbert v. Sprague, 196 Ill. 444, 63 NE 993 [rev 88 Ill. A. 508]; Moore v. Paul F. Beech Co., 221 Ill. A. 609; Zimmer v. Lyon, 190 Ill. A. 642; Hunter v. Commercial Security Co., 181 Ill. A. 260; Richardson v. Gilbert, 135 Ill. A. 363; Pace v. Neal, 92 Ill. A. 416; Washburne v. Burke, 84 Ill. A. 587; Scott v. Rogers, 56 Ill. A. 571; Siegel v. Hanchett, 33 Ill. A. 634; Harts v. Wendell, 26 Ill. A. 274. But see Reno v. Woolyatt, 81 Ill. A. 553 (holding that, in an action on a replevin bond, where the writ in the original suit was not wrongfully sued out, the sureties on the bond are not liable for the attorney's fees to defendant in the replevin suit).

[a] Illustration.—A condition in a plaintiff's bond providing for the "payment of all costs and damages occasioned by wrongfully suing out said writ of replevin" was broad enough to include attorney fees. Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912.

[b] Stipulation in chattel mortgage.—Where plaintiff replevied hay held by a sheriff under a foreclosure of a chattel mortgage which stipulated for an attorney's fee, and judgment was rendered for defendant for the return of the hay or its value, in an action on plaintiff's claim and delivery bond the court allowed an attorney's fee, it not appearing whether the bond contained a stipulation for an attorney's fee. Folen v. Saxton, 31 Ida. 319, 171 P 669.

69. U. S.—Gilbert v. American Surety Co., 121 Fed. 499, 57 CCA 619, 61 LRA 253.

Ind.—Davis v. Crow, 7 Blackf. 129; Consolidated Tank Line Co. v. Bronson, 2 Ind. A. 1, 28 NE 155.

Kan.—Lake v. Hargis, 82 Kan. 711, 109 P 670, 30 LRANS 366; Edwards v. Bricker, 66 Kan. 241, 71 P 587.

Ky.—Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283; Kenley v. Com., 6 B. Mon. 583.

Me.—Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46.

Mass.—Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110.

N. Y.—Firestone v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 67 Misc. 443, 123 NYS 107.

Okl.—Gibson v. International Harvester Co., 105 Okl. 253, 232 P 80.

Pa.—Com. v. Lintott, 64 Pa. Super. 328.

Ont.—Williams v. Crow, 10 Ont. A. 301.

N. B.—Steen v. Hanson, 9 N. B. 589.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) In an action on a replevin bond, although the bond stipulated for the payment of "such damages and costs as the defendant shall recover," plaintiff was not entitled to recover counsel fees, since the phrase "damages that defendant shall recover," under Rev. St. c 101 § 11, clearly means "damages for the taking" recoverable by defendant in the replevin suit, in which counsel fees are not recoverable, nor may such fees be recovered under §§ 13, 18. Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46. (2) A replevin bond given under Municipal Court Act (L. [1902] c 580) § 99, providing that such bond shall cover payment to defendant of "any sum which the judgment awards to him against the plaintiff," does not indemnify defendant against expenses incurred for counsel. Firestone v. Ætna Indemn. Co., 67 Misc. 443, 123 NYS 107. (3) Recovery cannot be had, on a replevin bond conditioned that the principal defendant should pay whatever damages and costs plaintiff should recover against defendant, and return the property replevied, if such should be the final judgment, for expenses incurred in the defense of the replevin suit, including counsel fees, and in the action on the bond, since the condition of the bond excludes such a recovery, and, further, the taxable costs which plaintiffs recover in each case are in contemplation of law a full indemnity for all the expenses incurred in their defense or prosecution. Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110.

[b] Costs mentioned in the bond mean taxable costs and do not include attorney fees. Steen v. Hanson, 9 N. B. 589.

70. Dalby v. Campbell, 26 Ill. A. 502; Martin v. Rexford, 170 N. C. 540, 87 SE 352.

71. Sopris v. Lilley, 2 Colo. 496; Uhl v. Maiorano, 96 Conn. 683, 115 A 473; Morrison v. Yancey, 23 Mo. A. 670.

[a] Illustration.—Where, during pendency of a replevin action, a third party, the rightful owner thereof, took possession of the property, and the sheriff sued on replevin bond and alleged that by reason of the replevin action expenses were incurred and time lost by preparing and investigating the trial, no recovery could be had, beyond nominal damages and costs, where no evidence was offered to prove the value of the property in question, or of the interest of any person in it, or any damages sustained by any person by the taking or failing to return the property, or of plaintiff's expenses and time lost.

shown,[72] or where there was no decision as to the merits of the case in the action in which the bond was given.[73] Where it appears that the obligee in the bond has no title to the property, or right to possession, he is entitled to only nominal damages where the principal obligor is defeated in the replevin suit,[74] and where there is only a technical breach of the bond, and the obligor therein has recovered the value of the property, he can only recover nominal damages in an action on the bond.[75]

[§ 426] G. Conclusiveness of Adjudication in Replevin Proceedings[76]—1. In General. The general rule as to the conclusiveness on the surety on a bond given in the course of legal proceedings, of a judgment against the principal,[77] applies to a surety on a replevin bond so that he is conclusively bound by the judgment against his principal as to all matters which were,[78] and, in some jurisdictions, which might have been litigated in the replevin action,[79] although he was not served with process

---

Uhl v. Maiorano, 96 Conn. 683, 115 A 473.

72. Paster v. Berry, (R. I.) 103 A 781.

73. Webber v. Mackey, 31 Ill. A. 369; Miller v. Cheney, 88 Ind. 466; Holcombe, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Watts, (Ind. A.) 170 NE 861; Robinson v. Teeter, 10 Ind. A. 698, 38 NE 222; Little v. Bliss, 55 Kan. 94, 39 P 1025.

74. Ind.—Stockwell v. Byrne, 22 Ind. 6; Consolidated Tank Line Co. v. Bronson, 2 Ind. A. 1, 28 NE 155.

Me.—Jones v. Smith, 79 Me. 452, 10 A 256.

Mass.—Smith v. Whiting, 100 Mass. 122.

N. Y.—Budracco v. National Surety Co., 112 Misc. 133, 182 NYS 590.

N. C.—Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 547, 130 SE 176.

Ont.—Pacaud v. McEwan, 31 U. C. Q. B. 328.

"If the bond was executed by defendants and there was a breach thereof as alleged in the complaint, plaintiffs, although not the owners or entitled to possession of the automobile at the time of its seizure, are entitled to recover at least nominal damages." Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, supra.

75. Stuart v. Trotter, 75 Iowa 96, 39 NW 212; Macomber v. Moore, 128 Me. 481, 148 A 682; Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 165, 29 SE 385.

"Where a technical breach of the bond is shown, while there should be a recovery for something, the recovery may be merely nominal, in the absence of proof of actual damages." Alderman v. Roesel, supra.

76. Construction, operation and effect of replevin judgment see supra § 326.

Evidence admissible in mitigation of damages see infra § 456.

77. See Principal and Surety § 336.

78. U. S.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799.

Cal.—Montgomery v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Cal. A. 251, 230 P 993.

Colo.—Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282; McCarthy v. Strait, 7 Colo. A. 59, 42 P 189.

Conn.—Holtz v. Riddell, 101 Conn. 416, 126 A 333; Ormsbee v. Davis, 16 Conn. 567.

Fla.—Fariss v. Holly, 95 Fla. 360, 116 S 763; Evans v. Kloeppel, 72 Fla. 267, 73 S 180.

Ill.—Schott v. Youree, 142 Ill. 233, 31 NE 591 [aff 41 Ill. A. 476]; McMurchy v. O'Hair, 67 Ill. 242; Warner v. Matthews, 18 Ill. 83; Cermak v. Guggenheim Laundry Mach. Co., 198 Ill. A. 202.

Ind.—McFadden v. Fritz, 110 Ind. 1, 10 NE 120; Woods v. Kessler, 93 Ind. 356; Denny v. Reynolds, 24 Ind. 248; Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

Iowa.—Hershler v. Reynolds, 22 Iowa 152.

Kan.—First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 106 P 1056.

Mass.—Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299; Huggeford v. Ford, 11 Pick. 223.

Mo.—Dolfuss v. Cohen, (A.) 261 SW 754; Sconce v. Long Bell Lumber Co., 54 Mo. A. 509.

Nebr.—Pennington County Bank v. Bauman, 87 Nebr. 25, 126 NW 654 [rev on reh 85 Nebr. 226, 122 NW 848].

N. J.—Lutes v. Alpaugh, 23 N. J. L. 165.

N. Y.—Van Almkerk v. H. C. S. Motor Sales Corp., 208 App. Div. 464, 203 NYS 639; Thompson v. Illinois Surety Co., 175 App. Div. 379, 161 NYS 1009; Christiansen v. Mendham, 45 App. Div. 554, 61 NYS 326 [aff 28 Misc. 765, 59 NYS 1100]; Brady v. Beadleston, 62 Hun 548, 17 NYS 42.

N. D.—Grace City First State Bank v. Bradley, 57 N. D. 159, 220 NW 848.

Oh.—Richardson v. People's Nat. Bank, 57 Oh. St. 299, 48 NE 1100.

Okl.—U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Yoder, 139 Okl. 256, 281 P 974; Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67; Grimes v. Payne, 116 Okl. 295, 244 P 753; U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Harmon, 92 Okl. 167, 218 P 682; Emerson-Brantingham Impl. Co. v. Ritter, 92 Okl. 71, 218 P 315.

Or.—Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 Am SR 792.

Pa.—Cox v. Hartranft, 154 Pa. 457, 26 A 304; Bradford v. Frederick, 101 Pa. 445; Com. v. King, 18 Pa. Dist. 404, 36 Pa. Co. 149; Hicks v. McBride, 3 Phila. 377.

R. I.—Horton v. Stone, 32 R. I. 499, 80 A 1.

S. C.—Bolt v. Milam, 110 S. C. 399, 96 SE 614; Gibbes Mach. Co. v. Moore, 107 S. C. 327, 92 SE 1033; Parish v. Smith, 66 S. C. 424, 45 SE 16; Cheatham v. Morrison, 37 S. C. 187, 15 SE 924; Thomson v. Joplin, 12 S. C. 580.

S. D.—Folmer v. Hanson, 44 S. D. 122, 182 NW 633.

Tenn.—Wells v. Griffin, 2 Head 568.

Wash.—Hafner v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 126 Wash. 670, 219 P 16.

Ont.—Meyers v. Maybee, 10 U. C. Q. B. 200.

See also infra § 427.

"Appellant, by signing the bond, having submitted himself thereby to the jurisdiction of the court, under the above authorities was bound by the judgment rendered in that cause, the same being within the issues as well as the principal, and cannot now be heard in this action collaterally to challenge the validity of the judgment." Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 330, 146 NE 858, 859.

[a] Collateral attack.—In an action against sureties on a replevin bond, they cannot collaterally attack the replevin judgment, except for want of jurisdiction of the parties or the subject matter, and it matters not that such judgment may be erroneous; not having been appealed from it is final. Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67.

[b] Judgment by consent.—Where a principal consented to a judgment against him in consideration of a stay of execution, the sureties on the bond were nevertheless concluded by such judgment as they are treated as being in court. Hershler v. Reynolds, 22 Iowa 152.

[c] Judgment by confession in the replevin suit is as binding on the sureties on the redelivery bond as a judgment on verdict, in the absence of fraud and collusion. Bradford v. Frederick, 101 Pa. 445.

[d] Surety cannot object to the form of proceeding against the principal; the surety is bound by the result of the litigation, although the principal waive the form. Greenlaw v. Logan, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 185.

[e] Validity of bond.—A judgment dismissing a replevin suit because the bond was void, to which no exception was taken, was held res judicata as to the validity of the bond in an action thereon. Horton v. Stone, 32 R. I. 499, 80 A 1.

[f] Sheriff's return of elongata to a writ de retorno habendo on judgment for a return in replevin is conclusive in an action on the replevin bond. Caldwell v. West, 21 N. J. L. 411.

[g] Form of judgment.—The form of a judgment in a replevin action cannot be attacked by defendants in an action by a surety on a forthcoming bond against the principal's cosurety, who has been required by action to pay the judgment. Dunkle v. Haight, 68 Colo. 404, 189 P 783.

79. Colo.—Cantril v. Babcock, 11 Colo. 142, 458, 17 P 296, 18 P 342; Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206.

Fla.—Fariss v. Holly, 95 Fla. 360, 116 S 763; Evans v. Kloeppel, 72 Fla. 267, 73 S 180.

Ind.—Jackson v. Morgan, 167 Ind. 528, 78 NE 633; McFadden v. Fritz, 110 Ind. 1, 10 NE 120; Lindsey v. Hewitt, 42 Ind. A. 573, 86 NE 446.

Kan.—Boyd v. Huffaker, 39 Kan. 525, 18 P 508.

Mass.—Rosen v. U. S. Rubber Co., 167 NE 655, 65 ALR 1299.

Nebr.—Pennington County Bank v. Bauman, 87 Nebr. 25, 126 NW 654.

Or.—Gust v. Edwards Co., 129 Or.

and did not appear and defend,[80] and similarly matters litigated in the replevin suit cannot be reëxamined in a suit on the redelivery bond.[81] When the judgment in the replevin suit is in favor of defendant, plaintiff in that suit is estopped, in an action on a replevin bond, to deny that one of the obligees had any interest in the bond, on the ground that he had no interest in property involved in the suit.[82] But the surety is not bound as to matter not affecting the merits of the replevin suit and not necessary to be pleaded therein,[83] nor is he bound by a replevin judgment procured by fraud, mistake or collusion,[84] or entered by a court having no jurisdiction to enter judgment other than a judgment of dismissal.[85] Evidence that the judgment was subsequently satisfied by a delivery of the property is not objectionable as impeaching the record of the judgment, or the return by the officer in the replevin suit,[86] and the surety on a replevin bond may prove in discharge of his liability that he has complied with the contract by offering to return the goods in accordance with the condition of the bond.[87]

The value of the property or the amount of the judgment in replevin is conclusive on the surety when such matters have been put in issue and decided by a court of competent jurisdiction.[88]

Damages for detention. A judgment in replevin for damages for detention of the property is conclusive on the surety where such damages have been in issue in the replevin suit.[89]

Depreciation in value. While a judgment in re-

409, 274 P 919; Peacock v. Kirkland, 74 Or. 279, 145 P 281.

Pa.—Com. v. Lintott, 74 Pa. Super. 401, 64 Pa. Super. 328.

S. D.—Gilloth v. Trow, 53 S. D. 551, 221 NW 266.

Wash.—Western Farquhar Mach. Co. v. Pierce, 113 Wash. 141, 193 P 708; Ihrig v. Bussel, 68 Wash. 70, 122 P 608, LRA1917A 1188.

[a] General denial.—Where a general denial put the right of possession of the property, its value, and the damages for detention in issue, defendant, recovering judgment in replevin for a return of the property or its value and costs, cannot in an action on the bond recover damages for detention as such matter having been put in issue should have been determined in the replevin suit. Jackson v. Morgan, 167 Ind. 528, 78 NE 633.

[b] If the pendency of bankrupt proceedings invalidates a levy, they should be shown in an action of replevin to recover the value of the goods levied on, and not withheld to be litigated in proceedings relating to the replevin bond. Jacobson v. Metzgar, 43 Mich. 403, 5 NW 445.

[c] One who replevies property transferred to him in fraud of creditors, and levied on accordingly, cannot after suffering judgment in replevin enjoin a suit on the replevin bond, on the ground that the debtor had made a composition with creditors and thereby recovered his assets. Jacobson v. Metzgar, 43 Mich. 403, 5 NW 445; Phillips v. Hyde, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 439, 1 L. ed. 213.

[d] Right of possession.—When plaintiff sued in claim and delivery to foreclose a chattel mortgage, defendant's right to remove certain apparatus attached to the property when the redelivery bond was given will be presumed to have been litigated in the replevin action and cannot be inquired into in an action on the redelivery bond. Gilloth v. Trow, 53 S. D. 551, 221 NW 266.

Necessity of assessment of damages in replevin suit see supra §§ 389–392.

[80] Moore v. Kepner, 7 Nebr. 291 (by signing the replevin bond the surety submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court, and is not entitled to notice to defend, but is bound by the judgment against his principal).

[81] Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237; Boyd v. Huffaker, 39 Kan. 525, 18 P 508; Kennedy v. Brown, 21 Kan. 134; O'Loughlin v. Carr, 9 Kan. A. 818, 60 P 478; Vulcan Steam Shovel Co. v. Cobb, (Mo. A.) 199 SW 448.

[a] Amendment to complaint.—Where in replevin the court ruled an amendment to the complaint as proper, such ruling was binding on the sureties on the redelivery bond as the matter was in issue in the replevin suit. Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 55 L. ed. 237, 31 SCt 241.

[82] Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987.

[83] Ill.—David v. Bradley, 79 Ill. 316; Klaproth v. Greenberg, 147 Ill. A. 380.

Mass.—Easter v. Foster, 173 Mass. 39, 53 NE 132, 73 AmSR 257; Leonard v. Whitney, 109 Mass. 265; Davis v. Harding, 3 Allen 302.

Mo.—R. W. Wilson Motor Co. v. Hoover, 222 Mo. A. 570, 293 SW 61.

N. C.—Moore v. Edwards, 192 N. C. 446, 135 SE 302.

N. D.—Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

[a] Defendant must affirmatively state in his plea why the merits were not determined and give enough of the proceedings in replevin to enable the court to decide on demurrer whether the right of property has been determined. King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619; Moore v. Paul F. Beach Co., 221 Ill. A. 609; Klaproth v. Greenberg, 147 Ill. A. 380.

[b] Damages recovered by an attaching officer, in a replevin suit brought against him in which the property attached is replevied, being recovered in trust, are not conclusive on the parties in a suit on the replevin bond. Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

[84] Richardson v. People's Nat. Bank, 57 Oh. St. 299, 48 NE 1100. See Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237 (dictum); Vulcan Steam Shovel Co. v. Cobb, (Mo. A.) 199 SW 448 (dictum).

[85] Gallup v. Wortmann, 11 Colo. A. 308, 53 P 247; Hulman v. Benighof, 125 Ind. 481, 25 NE 549; Carroll v. Berger, 255 Mass. 132, 150 NE 870; Bates v. American Surety Co., (R. I.) 148 A 323.

[86] Dempsey v. Cogswell, 29 Minn. 100, 12 NW 148.

[87] Johnson v. Mason, 64 N. J. L. 258, 45 A 618.

[88] U. S.—Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237 [rev 19 Hawaii 398]; Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799.

Colo.—Trindle v. Register Printing, etc., Co., 58 Colo. 81, 143 P 282; Cantril v. Babcock, 11 Colo. 142, 458, 18 P 342, 17 P 296.

Mass.—Huggeford v. Ford, 11 Pick. 223.

Mo.—Dolfuss v. Cohen, (A.) 261 SW 754.

Or.—Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 Am SR 792.

S. C.—Parish v. Smith, 66 S. C. 424, 45 SE 16; Thomson v. Joplin, 12 S. C. 580.

S. D.—Folmer v. Hanson, 44 S. D. 122, 182 NW 633.

Wash.—Hafner v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 126 Wash. 670, 219 P 16.

"The issue as to whether the value of the property redelivered to the defendants was greater than alleged in the plaintiff's affidavit and claimed in the original complaint, as well as whether the amendment of that complaint was such as to change the cause of action, were issues made and decided against the principal in the bond upon which the sureties were bound and cannot be relitigated, in the absence of fraud and collusion, by a surety when sued on the bond." Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 335, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237.

"The sureties in the replevin bond were represented in the replevin suit by the plaintiff therein, and were identified with it in interest, and claimed in privity with it, so as to be concluded by the proceedings in that suit. . . . The question of value of the ice at the time it was taken in replevin was essential to the finding of the verdict in the replevin suit; and in such case, it is not necessary to the conclusiveness of the former judgment that there should have been a formal issue in the prior suit as to such question." Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 446, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799.

[89] Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206, 212; Holtz v. Riddell, 101 Conn. 416, 126 A 333; Jackson v. Morgan, 167 Ind. 528, 78 NE 633; Thompson v. Illinois Surety Co., 175 App. Div. 379, 161 NYS 1009.

"Enough appears, however, to show that the subject of damages for detention of the property was an issue in that proceeding. It follows that to the extent of the recovery which might have been obtained in that suit, if no error intervened, the matter is res adjudicata. The same matters litigated there cannot be re-examined in a suit upon the bond."

plevin may be conclusive against the surety where the matter of depreciation has been put in issue, yet where the question has not been determined on its merits in the replevin suit, the surety is not bound by the judgment.[90]

[§ 427] 2. Title and Right to Possession. Where the judgment in replevin passes on the question of title or possession to the property, the matter is res judicata in an action on the replevin bond,[91] and the rule is the same in an action on the redelivery bond.[92] Where the question of title has been in issue and decided in the replevin suit, the obligee on the bond in an action thereon cannot avoid recovery by showing that the property replevied belonged to a stranger.[93] But unless the title to the property is put in issue and determined, a judgment in the replevin suit determines nothing beyond the right of possession, and evidence bearing on title and real ownership, although not admissible in bar of the action,[94] is admissible in an action on the bond as affecting the measure of damages.[95] Al-

---

Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, supra.

[a] When damages in issue.—(1) Where in replevin judgment was rendered on a verdict that "The jury . . . finds the issues for the defendant . . . and according to such finding renders a verdict for the return of the goods to the defendant, and assess his damages at $1," it was held that such judgment and verdict was not res judicata as to defendant, since only plaintiff's damages were in issue in the replevin suit and not the defendant's. Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 92, 40 A 930. (2) In replevin where defendant by counterclaim pleaded damages and such was an issue before the jury, the finding for defendant in the sum of one dollar as damages was res judicata so that no recovery for damages could be had in an action on plaintiff's replevin bond. Holtz v. Riddell, 101 Conn. 416, 126 A 333 [dist Gould v. Hayes, 71 Conn. 86, 40 A 930]. (3) In an action on a redelivery bond, the sureties are not concluded by a judgment for damages for detention in the replevin suit, where in that suit the petition did not claim such damages, and although leave to amend was granted to include such damages, plaintiff failed properly to amend. Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

90. R. W. Wilson Motor Co. v. Hoover, 222 Mo. A. 570, 293 SW 61; Moore v. Edwards, 192 N. C. 446, 135 SE 302.

91. Ill.—McMurchy v. O'Hair, 67 Ill. 242; Warner v. Matthews, 18 Ill. 83; Cermak v. Guggenheim Laundry Mach. Co., 198 Ill. A. 202.

Ind.—Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987; Woods v. Kessler, 93 Ind. 356; Davis v. Crow, 7 Blackf. 129.

Iowa.—Hawley v. Warner, 12 Iowa 42.

Kan.—Kennedy v. Brown, 21 Kan. 171.

Md.—Seldner v. Smith, 40 Md. 602; Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Tilghman, 13 Md. 74.

Minn.—Boom v. St. Paul Fdy., etc., Co., 33 Minn. 253, 22 NW 538.

Mo.—Waterman v. Frank, 21 Mo. 108.

N. C.—Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

Wash.—Ihrig v. Bussell, 68 Wash. 70, 122 P 608, LRA1917A 1188.

N. B.—Wheeler v. Stewart, 16 N. B. 398.

[a] Judgment of dismissal based on title.—Where a judgment of dismissal does not mention the question of title, but the judgment is based on a determination of title, such judgment being on the merits is conclusive against the sureties on the bond in an action thereon. Boom v. St. Paul Fdy., etc., Co., 33 Minn. 253, 22 NW 538.

[b] Termination of title after judgment.—Although a defendant in an action on the bond may not show title in himself in mitigation of damages, he could show that plaintiff's title was of a short duration and terminated by contract in a short time after judgment in the replevin suit. Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Tilghman, 13 Md. 74.

[c] Judgment by default.—Where judgment by default was recovered against plaintiff in replevin, whereupon defendant waived a return of the property in controversy and had his damages assessed, in an action on the replevin bond the obligors could not show in mitigation of damages that the principal obligor, plaintiff in replevin suit, was a part owner of the property in question, as allowed by Comp. L. § 677, in case where judgment for return is taken. Ryan v. Akeley, 42 Mich. 516, 4 NW 207.

[d] Where goods owned in common and replevied from one of the owners by the others are not restored by them on a judgment for a return, the judgment does not estop them from proving the common ownership of the goods on the question for what sum he shall take execution on a judgment in his favor on the replevin bond. Leonard v. Whitney, 109 Mass. 265.

92. Hurd v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 116 Kan. 453, 227 P 337; Boyd v. Huffaker, 40 Kan. 634, 20 P 459.

[a] Subsequently acquired title.—Where a judgment for defendant and for a return of the property has been rendered in an action of replevin, plaintiff cannot, in an action against him, on his bond, for failure to deliver the property, set up in defense to such action a new title to the property, acquired after the replevin bond was given, and before the judgment of return. Carr v. Ellis, 37 Ind. 465.

93. Smith v. Lisher, 23 Ind. 500; Henry v. Ferguson, 55 Mich. 399, 21 NW 381. But see Walter v. Warfield, 2 Gill (Md.) 162 (where defendant in replevin pleaded property in S, and, on judgment in his favor, brought an action on the bond, and it was held that the damages which he could recover thereon were only such as he had suffered personally by reason of the action in replevin, and defendants, in an action on the bond, might therefore show that S was the owner of the property, and that defendant in replevin had no personal interest therein).

94. Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 S 738; Ormsbee v. Davis, 16 Conn. 567; Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Sammons v. Newman, 27 Ind. 508; Davis v. Crow, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 129; Sherry v. Foresman, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 56. See Stockwell v. Byrne, 22 Ind. 6 (a plea in bar except as to nominal damages allowed).

95. U. S.—Gilbert v. American Surety Co., 121 Fed. 499, 57 CCA 619, 61 LRA 253.

Ala.—Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 S 738; Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467.

Conn.—Fielding v. Silverstein, 70 Conn. 605, 40 A 454; Jackson v. Emmons, 59 Conn. 493, 22 A 296; Allen v. Woodford, 36 Conn. 143.

Ill.—Gilbert v. Sprague, 196 Ill. 444, 63 NE 993 [rev 88 Ill. A. 508]; O'Donnell v. Colby, 153 Ill. 324, 38 NE 1065 [rev 55 Ill. A. 112, 38 Ill. A. 196]; Hanchett v. Gardner, 138 Ill. 571, 28 NE 788; Lemen v. Robinson, 59 Ill. 115; Chinn v. McCoy, 19 Ill. 604; Warner v. Matthews, 18 Ill. 83; King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619; Hock v. Magerstadt, 124 Ill. A. 140; Lyon v. Pease, 86 Ill. A. 251; Farson v. Gilbert, 85 Ill. A. 364; Schweer v. Schwabacher, 17 Ill. A. 78; Rankin v. Kinsey, 7 Ill. A. 215.

Ind.—Hulman v. Benighof, 125 Ind. 481, 25 NE 549; Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987; McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161; Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Sammons v. Newman, 27 Ind. 508; Wallace v. Clark, 7 Blackf. 298; Sherry v. Foresman, 6 Blackf. 56; Consolidated Tank Line Co. v. Bronson, 2 Ind. A. 1, 28 NE 155.

Iowa.—Hawley v. Warner, 12 Iowa 42; Buck v. Rhodes, 11 Iowa 348.

Me.—Macomber v. Moore, 128 Me. 481, 148 A 682 [quot Cyc]; Williams v. Dunn, 120 Me. 506, 115 A 276; Harmon v. Flood, 115 Me. 116, 97 A 834; Jones v. Smith, 79 Me. 452, 10 A 256.

Md.—Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591; Mason v. Sumner, 22 Md. 312.

Mass.—Easter v. Foster, 173 Mass. 39, 53 NE 132, 73 AmSR 257; Davis v. Harding, 3 Allen 302.

Mich.—Simmons v. Robinson, 101 Mich. 240, 59 NW 623; Henry v. Ferguson, 55 Mich. 399, 21 NW 381.

Minn.—Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378.

Mo.—Bailey v. Dennis, 135 Mo. A. 93, 115 SW 506.

N. Y.—Freeman v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 43 Misc. 364, 87 NYS 493.

N. C.—Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

R. I.—Bates v. American Surety Co., 148 A 323.

See also infra § 428.

"As the defendant was the legal owner of the goods replevied, he was entitled to the possession thereof, but as his replevin suit failed for an irregularity in the writ, no judgment affecting the title was entered, and, as he did not return the goods replevied and place this plaintiff in statu quo, there was a breach of the bond; but it was admissible for him to show in mitigation of damages that he was the lawful owner of the goods re-though under statutory provisions a defendant in an action on the bond may not show title in a stranger, even though the question of title has not been decided in the replevin suit,[96] a contrary rule has been followed in the absence of statute.[97]

[§ 428] 3. Dismissal or Nonsuit. Unless by statute a voluntary dismissal or submission to a nonsuit in replevin deprives the party from pleading his title in mitigation of damages,[98] the general rule is that when the merits of the replevin suit were not determined at the trial, great latitude is allowed in pleading defenses to the suit on the bond, and a plaintiff who has submitted to a nonsuit or dismissed the action of replevin may, when sued on the bond, prove title to the property in reduction of damages.[99]

[§ 429] H. Summary Remedies.[1] In the absence of express statutory provision, summary judgment rendered against the principal and sureties in a replevin bond, jointly, without any direct proceeding on the bond, is erroneous.[2] The bond can only be made the foundation of a judgment by an action upon it,[3] either of debt,[4] or by scire facias.[5] In some jurisdictions, however, the statutes provide for proceedings by rule or motion for judgment and award of execution on the replevin bond, after breach thereof,[6] as in Arkansas,[7] Florida,[8] Iowa,[9] Mississippi,[10] Missouri,[11] New Mexico,[12] North Carolina,[13] Ohio,[14] Tennessee,[15] Texas,[16] and Washing-plevied." Harmon v. Flood, 115 Me. 116, 122, 97 A 834.

---

[a] Voluntary nonsuit.—Dismissal of an action of claim and delivery for the possession of an automobile on voluntary nonsuit was not conclusive as to the title to the automobile, and defendants, in an action for breach of a claim and delivery bond, might offer evidence in support of their allegation of title, not to defeat plaintiffs' action, but in mitigation of actual damages. Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

[b] No jurisdiction to determine title.—Where the court in the replevin action had no jurisdiction to determine title, a judgment in that action was not conclusive on the surety. O'Donnell v. Colby, 153 Ill. 324, 38 NE 1065 [rev 55 Ill. A. 112, 38 Ill. A. 196]; Bates v. American Surety Co., (R. I.) 148 A 323.

Evidence admissible in mitigation of damages see infra § 456.

96. Holler v. Coleson, 23 Ill. A. 324.

97. Macomber v. Moore, 128 Me. 481, 148 A 682.

98. Clark v. Howell, 3 Colo. 564 (under Rev. St. p 540 § 14).

99. U. S.—Gilbert v. American Surety Co., 121 Fed. 499, 57 CCA 619, 61 LRA 253.

Ala.—Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 S 738; Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467.

Ill.—Hanchett v. Gardner, 138 Ill. 571, 28 NE 788 [aff 37 Ill. A. 79] (under Rev. St. c 118 § 26); Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513.

Ind.—Hulman v. Benighof, 125 Ind. 481, 25 NE 549 (under Rev. St. [1881] § 572); Robinson v. Teeter, 10 Ind. A. 698, 38 NE 222.

Me.—Harmon v. Flood, 115 Me. 116, 97 A 834.

Md.—Belt v. Worthington, 3 Gill & J. 247.

Mich.—Pearl v. Garlock, 61 Mich. 419, 28 NW 155, 1 AmSR 603.

"In the replevin suit, however, there was no judgment determining the merits of the cause. The case was dismissed for want of prosecution, with the ordinary judgment for the return of the property taken in replevin. The decision of the Supreme Court merely ruled that certain evidence tending to show the illegality of the transaction, and which was excluded at the trial of the replevin suit, should have been allowed, and the judgment was therefore reversed, with a direction for a new trial. There was no new trial. The dismissal of the suit for want of prosecution is no bar to a subsequent action—certainly not so persuasive as a judgment of nonsuit when the plaintiff's evidence has been heard; and the latter is not a bar to a second suit." Gilbert v. American Surety Co., 121 Fed. 499, 501, 157 CCA 619, 61 LRA 253.

Evidence admissible in mitigation of damages see infra § 456.

1. Generally see Judgments §§ 421–435; Summary Proceedings [37 Cyc 528].

2. Iowa.—Hurd v. Gallaher, 14 Iowa 394; Jansen v. Effey, 10 Iowa 227.

Ky.—Gay v. Morgan, 4 Bush 606.

Miss.—Thompson v. Raymon, 8 Miss. 186.

Tenn.—Keelin v. Graves, 129 Tenn. 103, 165 SW 232, LRA1915A 421.

Wash.—Bancroft-Whitney Co. v. Gowan, 24 Wash. 66, 63 P 1111; Eidson v. Woolery, 10 Wash. 225, 38 P 1025.

3. Gay v. Morgan, 4 Bush (Ky.) 606; Thompson v. Raymon, 8 Miss. 186; Mariany v. Lemaire, (Tex. Civ. A.) 83 SW 215.

4. Manning v. Pierce, 3 Ill. 4; Salter v. Richardson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 204; Chalfant v. Hart, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 572; Pemble v. Clifford, 13 S. C. L. 31. See Leland v. Barry, 69 Ill. 348; Peck v. Wilson, 22 Ill. 205 (an action of debt on a forfeited replevin bond is not such a contract as is contemplated by the third and fourteenth sections of the Practice Act for the courts of Cook County. Those sections relate to contracts for the payment of money as damages arising from a breach on contract, and a plea to an action on such a bond should not be stricken from the files for want of an affidavit of merits).

5. Thompson v. Raymon, 8 Miss. 186.

[a] Where execution might issue without revivor.—If scire facias be sued out on a replevin bond, on which execution might have issued without revivor, a demurrer will be sustained to the writ. Davenport v. Irvine, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 60.

[b] Writ of return necessary.—Proceeding by scire facias on a replevin bond cannot be resorted to unless the writ pro retorno habendo be issued and returned elongata. Pemble v. Clifford, 13 S. C. L. 31.

6. See statutory provisions.

7. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Conlee v. Love, 178 Ark. 238, 10 SW (2d) 372; Thomas v. Schaad, 170 Ark. 797, 281 SW 10; Sibeck v. McTiernan, 94 Ark. 1, 125 SW 136.

[b] Capias bond.—A bond given by a defendant who had been arrested on capias in replevin, held to be a delivery bond under Kirby Dig. § 6863, on which the court could properly render judgment against the sureties under § 6870, and not a bail bond provided for by Kirby Dig. §§ 6858, 6859. O'Brien v. Alford, 114 Ark. 257, 169 SW 774.

8. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Evans v. Kloeppel, 72 Fla. 267, 73 S 180; Malsby v. Gamble, 61 Fla. 310, 54 S 766.

[b] Judgment on nonsuit.—Under the express provisions of Gen. St. (1906) § 2189, a judgment against plaintiff and his sureties in replevin on plaintiff's nonsuit shall be given as on a verdict recovered after trial. Malsby v. Gamble, 61 Fla. 310, 327, 54 S 766.

9. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Under Code §§ 4176, 4178, 4179, which provide the procedure on a verdict for a plaintiff in replevin, a judgment was properly rendered against the sureties on a delivery bond conditioned for the return or delivery of the property sought, on judgment for plaintiff, on motion after plaintiff's execution for the return of the specific property had been returned unsatisfied. Richards v. Hellen, 153 Iowa 66, 133 NW 393.

10. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Vannerson v. Staunton, Walk. (Miss.) 358.

[b] Forfeiture of bond operating as judgment.—On a replevin bond given by a tenant on replevying goods distrained for rent under the statute, motion should be for execution and not for judgment, as the bond after forfeiture operates as a judgment. Vannerson v. Staunton, 1 Miss. 358.

11. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Collins v. Hough, 26 Mo. 149.

12. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Cochrane v. Stevenson, 32 N. M. 264, 255 P 404.

13. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Harrell v. Tripp, 197 N. C. 426, 149 SE 548; Federal Finance, etc., Co. v. Teeter, 196 N. C. 232, 145 SE 8; Orange Trust Co. v. Hayes, 191 N. C. 542, 132 SE 466; White-Blakeslee Mfg. Co. v. Rhodes, 152 N. C. 636, 68 SE 141; Hall v. Tillman, 103 N. C. 276, 9 SE 194; Harker v. Arendell, 74 N. C. 85; Boylston Ins. Co. v. Davis, 74 N. C. 78.

14. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Richardson v. People's Nat. Bank, 57 Oh. St. 299, 48 NE 1100; Woog v. People's Bank, 4 OhS&CP 51, 2 OhNP 394.

15. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Hamilton v. Henney Buggy Co., 102 Tenn. 714, 52 SW 160.

16. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—Close v. Hannig, (Tex.) 17 SW 350; Cawley v. Dixie Finance Co., (Tex. Civ. A.) 15 SW (2d) 664; Dempton;[17] and where a judgment is rendered against plaintiff in replevin, it may at the same time be entered up against the sureties on his replevin bond,[18] or at a subsequent time,[19] without further notice to the surety.[20] Such a proceeding, however, being a summary remedy, must conform to the statute in all material respects,[21] and the judgment must be such as is authorized by law.[22] When so authorized by statute, the court, in the replevin proceeding, may render judgment against the obligors in the replevy bond;[23] but the sureties are liable on only

---

sey Oil Co. v. Hussey, (Tex. Civ. A.) 254 SW 590; Brooks v. Taylor, (Tex. Civ. A.) 214 SW 361; Tripplett v. Hendricks, (Tex. Civ. A.) 212 SW 754; Gonzales v. Flores, (Tex. Civ. A.) 200 SW 851; Tyson v. First State Bank, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. A.) 154 SW 1055.

[b] Judgment against sureties on a replevin bond follows as a matter of law, without notice to them, after judgment against their principal, under Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Annot. (1914) art 269. Tripplett v. Hendricks, (Tex. Civ. A.) 212 SW 754.

17. [a] Statutes construed and applied.—MacCallum-Donahoe Finance Co. v. Warren, 133 Wash. 106, 233 P 7.

[b] Judgment under admission of counsel.—Although the statute was silent as to the rendition of a summary judgment on a redelivery bond, such judgment was entered on the admission of counsel that such should be the judgment. MacCallum-Donahoe Finance Co. v. Warren, 133 Wash. 106, 233 P 7.

18. Glenn v. Porter, 68 Ark. 320, 57 SW 1109; Booth v. Ableman, 20 Wis. 602; Pratt v. Donovan, 10 Wis. 378.

[a] Sureties become parties by executing bond.—A party who signs the undertaking as surety for the return of property replevied thereby becomes quasi, a party to the suit then pending, and is liable to have judgment entered against him with his principal, on a failure of the principal to sustain his cause. Fariss v. Holly, 95 Fla. 360, 116 S 763; Evans v. Kloeppel, 72 Fla. 267, 73 S 180; Pratt v. Donovan, 10 Wis. 378.

[b] Provision that the sureties be notified to appear in court and show cause why judgment should not be rendered against them for the breach of the undertaking gives said sureties a day in court and an opportunity to set up, by way of defense, any matter not concluded by the judgment in replevin. Woog v. People's Bank, 4 OhS&CP 51, 2 OhNP 394.

[c] Effect of dismissal.—The fact that plaintiff's action is dismissed will not prevent the court entering summary judgment under the statute against the obligors on the replevy bond. Brooks v. Taylor, (Tex. Civ. A.) 214 SW 361.

[d] Necessity of judgment against principal.—A judgment in replevin for the penalty of a bond given by defendant without a previous judgment against such defendant is erroneous. Scott v. Elliott, 63 N. C. 215.

[e] But in Tennessee under Acts (1885) c 59 § 1, Code § 5145, judgment for the penalty of the bond, without reference to the value of the property, is allowable only after plaintiff has failed to return the property and a writ of fieri facias has been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part and then at the term of the court to which that writ shall have been so returned. Nighbert v. Hornsby, 100 Tenn. 82, 42 SW 1060, 66 AmSR 736 (where judgment was rendered at the trial court before plaintiff had an opportunity to return the property and before an execution had been issued, it was premature and unauthorized, and the fact that it was stayed by its own terms for forty days did not cure the defect).

[f] Judgment by confession against the principal in a replevin bond may under some circumstances bind the sureties. Siddall v. Goggan, 68 Tex. 708, 5 SW 668.

19. Sibeck v. McTiernan, 94 Ark. 1, 8, 125 SW 136.

But see Rafalshy v. Kraus, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 558 (where judgment against the principal was entered at one term, judgment could not be entered against the surety on motion made at the next term).

"By executing the bond, the sureties became parties to the action, and the statute provides for no process or notice to them before judgment. Upon bonds upon which the statutes authorize summary judgments upon motion against sureties after judgment against the principal, this court has repeatedly held that such judgments may be entered without notice against the sureties after a failure to do so at the time judgment was rendered against the principal, even at a subsequent term of the court." Sibeck v. McTiernan, supra.

20. Sibeck v. McTiernan, supra; Glenn v. Porter, 68 Ark. 320, 57 SW 1109; Tripplett v. Hendricks, (Tex. Civ. A.) 212 SW 754.

21. Ark.—Schneider v. Coker, 115 Ark. 490, 171 SW 898; Dillard v. Nelson, 78 Ark. 237, 95 SW 460; McKnight v. Smith, 5 Ark. 409.

Fla.—Fariss v. Holly, 95 Fla. 360, 116 S 763; Hickson v. Osteen, 83 Fla. 336, 91 S 331.

Mo.—Wooldridge v. Quinn, 49 Mo. 425; Huttig-McDermid Pearl Button Co. v. Springfield Shirt Co., 140 Mo. A. 374, 124 SW 1094; Puller v. Thomas, 36 Mo. A. 105.

N. C.—Orange Trust Co. v. Hayes, 191 N. C. 542, 132 SE 466.

Tex.—Mariany v. Lemaire, (Civ. A.) 83 SW 215.

"Nothing is better settled than that in these summary proceedings against parties not served with process, the statute must be strictly pursued; and they cannot be had against those who have not submitted themselves to the operation of the statute." Wooldridge v. Quinn, 49 Mo. 425, 427.

[a] If the proceeding is void, so that the court has no jurisdiction over the subject matter, there can be no summary judgment rendered under the statute. Frederick v. Tiffin, 22 Mo. A. 443.

[b] Proof of breach of conditions.—To authorize a summary judgment on the bond, it is necessary to show facts constituting a breach of its conditions. McKnight v. Smith, 5 Ark. 409.

[c] Where the bond is not in the form prescribed by statute, a summary judgment thereon is unauthorized. Dillard v. Nelson, 78 Ark. 237, 95 SW 460; Orange Trust Co. v. Hayes, 191 N. C. 542, 132 SE 466.

[d] Bond must conform to statute.—(1) Where the bond was conditioned for the delivery of the property to the sheriff instead of to plaintiff, a summary judgment was unauthorized. Wooldridge v. Quinn, 49 Mo. 425. (2) A bond conditioned that "he will deliver to the plaintiffs the property sought to be replevied, or in lieu thereof will pay to them the value of said property as the court may direct," is a replevin bond and not a bail bond. O'Brien v. Alford, 114 Ark. 257, 169 SW 774.

[e] Approval of bond by sheriff.—Rev. St. (1899) c 56 § 4474 (St. Annot. [1906] p 2453), authorizing summary judgment without process or notice against plaintiff in replevin and his sureties, refers to and is conditioned on the statutory bond having been delivered to and approved by the sheriff, as provided by § 4465. Huttig-McDermid Pearl Button Co. v. Springfield Shirt Co., 140 Mo. A. 374, 124 SW 1094.

[f] Filing bond with clerk.—The record must show affirmatively that the bond had been lodged in the office of the clerk of court; and, if it shows that the bond was lost before it was lodged in the clerk's office, the court cannot take jurisdiction. Tifft v. Virden, 15 Miss. 91.

[g] Necessity of possession under replevin writ.—A summary judgment cannot be entered against the surety on plaintiff's bond where plaintiff secured possession of the property other than by the writ of replevin, the statute providing for summary judgment for the value where the property was taken under the order of delivery. Schneider v. Coker, 115 Ark. 490, 171 SW 898.

[h] Necessity of plea for return of property.—(1) If defendant wishes to avail himself of the summary remedy or judgment provided by Rev. St. § 3855, he must, in his answer, claim the property and demand a return thereof. Puller v. Thomas, 36 Mo. A. 105. (2) Although defendant in replevin filed no written plea disputing plaintiff's right to the property, a verbal claim to the property was held sufficient. Glenn v. Porter, 68 Ark. 320, 57 SW 1109.

[i] Bail bond in replevin not authorizing summary judgment for value.—Watson v. Keebey, 175 Ark. 527, 299 SW 993; Daniels v. Wagner, 156 Ark. 198, 245 SW 487; Jones v. Keebey, (Ark.) 252 SW 591.

22. Woodburn v. Driver, 81 Ark. 333, 99 SW 384; Hall v. Tillman, 103 N. C. 276, 9 SE 194; Nighbert v. Hornsby, 100 Tenn. 82, 42 SW 1060, 66 AmSR 736.

[a] Judgment for mortgage indebtedness.—The liability of sureties on a redelivery bond is limited to the value of the property in case its return cannot be had and damages for detention so that a summary judgment for the amount of a mortgage indebtedness is erroneous. Woodburn v. Driver, 81 Ark. 333, 99 SW 384.

23. Cabell v. Floyd, 21 Tex. Civ. A. 135, 50 SW 478.

[a] Judgment against the sureties, although not rendered against the principal, is not void, but is, at best, only voidable. Caball v. Floyd, 21 Tex. Civ. A. 135, 50 SW 478.

such summary judgment as the statute authorizes.[24]

[§ 430] I. Actions—1. In General—a. Right of Action[25]—(1) Plaintiff's Bond. Upon a breach of the conditions of the replevin bond,[26] and upon any existing conditions precedent having been complied with,[27] the liability of plaintiff and his sureties may be enforced by an action thereon;[28] as, for example, where there has been a failure to prosecute the action[29] or to comply with the judgment in replevin.[30] An action may be brought on the bond notwithstanding the existence of a statutory summary remedy,[31] where such remedy is not made exclusive by the statute.[32] An action cannot generally be maintained until a final determination of the action in which it was executed;[33] but if the bond is conditioned to prosecute the replevin action without delay, on the breach of such condition, an action on the bond may be maintained without awaiting a final determination of the replevin action.[34] An action on the bond cannot be maintained where the bond has been merged into judgment.[35]

Effect of dismissal of replevin action. Plaintiff in replevin cannot after giving bond and getting possession of the property dismiss the action without prejudice and relieve himself and the sureties on the bond from liability,[36] and although, in case of a dismissal by plaintiff, defendant may have a right to have judgment rendered determining his rights,[37] his failure to do so will not prevent him from suing upon the bond to recover such damages as he has sustained,[38] although it has been held that, if the action of replevin is dismissed on motion of defendant, and judgment rendered in his favor, he cannot maintain an action against the sureties on the bond to recover damages for a detention of the property by plaintiff in replevin where no claim therefor was presented to and passed upon in the replevin action.[39] Where the breach assigned is plaintiff's failure in the replevin action, it is no defense that such action was dismissed against his will.[40]

Effect of execution. The right to sue on plaintiff's bond is not affected by the fact that an execution on the replevin judgment is outstanding;[41] or that the goods were sold under execution in the replevin action;[42] or that costs of the replevin action were collected under execution.[43]

Settlement; dismissal of action on bond. Plaintiff in replevin has a right to settle his liability with defendant in replevin after judgment in favor of the latter, and, if he does so without any notice that other persons are interested in the property, such persons cannot thereafter maintain an action on the bond.[44] A dismissal of an action on the bond by a nominal plaintiff without the consent of the real

---

24. Woodburn v. Driver, 81 Ark. 333, 99 SW 384; Dillard v. Nelson, 78 Ark. 237, 95 SW 460; Dent v. Ross, 52 Miss. 188.

25. Parties see infra §§ 441–445.

26. What constitutes breach see supra §§ 395–414.

27. Conditions precedent see infra §§ 434–436.

28. Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46; Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176; Wheeler v. Stewart, 16 N. B. 398.

[a] Removal to federal court of attachment suit involving the same property does not affect the right to sue on plaintiff's bond. Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110.

[b] The failure of the jury to assess the value of the property in the replevin action as required by statute will not prevent defendant from recovering the value in an action on the bond. Yelton v. Slinkard, 85 Ind. 190.

[c] Estoppel.—The fact that defendants in replevin stipulated that the property was, at the time of the commencement of the action, in their possession does not estop them in an action on the undertaking. Harrison v. Wilkin, 78 N. Y. 390.

[d] Pursuit of other remedies.—Where property is taken from an attaching creditor by replevin begun by a stranger to the replevin suit, the fact that the attaching creditor pursues other remedies for the collection of his debt against the attachment defendant will not preclude his action on the replevin bond. Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928.

29. Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 54; Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176; Turnor v. Turner, 2 B. & B. 107, 6 ECL 58, 129 Reprint 898; Culham v. Love, 30 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 410.

Conditions of bond see supra §§ 396–400.

30. Walker v. Cooke, 163 Mass. 401, 40 NE 185; Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44.

[a] Action should be on replevin bond and not on bond on appeal from judgment of justice of the peace. Kantzler v. Albertson, 18 Ill. A. 313.

Judgment for return and damages see supra §§ 403–407.

31. Leach v. Rich, 138 Tenn. 94, 196 SW 138.

[a] Illustration.—Acts (1905) c 31 (Thompson-Shannon Code § 5152a), declaring that, if justice finds a lien for defendant and adjudges the property replevied to belong to him, etc., justice shall render judgment against plaintiff and his sureties on a replevin bond that the property be returned, etc., provides a summary remedy, not exclusive, and plaintiff could maintain an action on two bonds given by defendant in a replevin suit after defendant had dismissed suit. Leach v. Rich, 138 Tenn. 94, 196 SW 138.

Summary remedies see supra § 429.

32. Leach v. Rich, 138 Tenn. 94, 196 SW 138.

33. Hansard v. Reed, 29 Mo. 472; Boughton v. Omaha L. & T. Co., 73 Mo. A. 597; Emerson-Brantingham Impl. Co. v. Ritter, 92 Okl. 71, 218 P 315; Chase v. Sherwood, 4 LackLegN (Pa.) 271; Johnson v. Parke, 12 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 179; Becker v. Ball, 18 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 192.

[a] What constitutes final determination.—(1) Where in the action of replevin a demurrer to the complaint was sustained and judgment for costs entered against plaintiff, but without any assessment of the value of the property, or damages or award for its return, but the court subsequently at the same term granted plaintiff leave to amend his petition, this in effect set aside the judgment against plaintiff and reinstated the case on the docket, so that no action upon the bond could be brought while the case as so reinstated was still pending and not finally disposed of. Hansard v. Reed, 29 Mo. 472. (2) An action of replevin is not finally disposed of, so as to authorize an action upon the bond, while an appeal from the judgment rendered before a justice of the peace in favor of defendant is pending on an appeal to a circuit court taken by plaintiff. Boughton v. Omaha L. & T. Co., 73 Mo. A. 597. (3) The assignee of a replevin bond cannot bring an action on the bond until judgment has been entered in the replevin suit. Chase v. Sherwood, 4 LackLegN (Pa.) 271.

34. Culham v. Love, 30 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 410; Welsh v. O'Brien, 28 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 405.

Condition to prosecute without delay see supra § 400.

35. Conlee v. Love, 178 Ark. 238, 10 SW (2d) 372.

36. Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283.

37. See supra § 256.

38. Manning v. Manning, 26 Kan. 98.

39. Mounts v. Murphy, 126 Ky. 803, 104 SW 978, 31 KyL 1192 [dist Kentucky Land, etc., Co. v. Crabtree, 118 Ky. 395, 80 SW 1161, 26 KyL 283].

Necessity for assessment of damages in replevin suit see supra §§ 390–392.

40. Sherry v. Foresman, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 56.

41. Hartlep v. Cole, 120 Ind. 247, 22 NE 130; Cimini v. Zambarano, 36 R. I. 122, 89 A 295 [op amended 89 A 711]; Potter v. James, 7 R. I. 312.

42. Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12.

43. Kafer v. Harlow, 5 Allen (Mass.) 348.

44. Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co. v. Barr, 135 Ill. A. 467.

party in interest will not deprive such party on assignment from maintaining a subsequent action on the bond.[45]

Form and nature of action. An action on a replevin bond is an action on contract.[46]

Revival of action. A statute providing for the revival of an action against the legal representatives of a deceased party has been held to include an action on a replevin bond, although such action is not specified in the act.[47]

[§ 431] (2) Defendant's Bond. As in the case of a plaintiff's bond,[48] on the breach[49] of the conditions of a defendant's bond plaintiff may, on compliance with necessary conditions precedent,[50] bring suit on defendant's redelivery bond,[51] the remedy being cumulative to a statutory right to issue execution on the replevin judgment or to apply for an order of restoration of the property;[52] and where the statute provides for a judgment in replevin for the value of the property without a judgment for a return, the right to proceed on the bond is not waived or affected by such judgment for value only.[53] Where a redelivery bond is given to the officer for the use of the successful party in the action, he is a mere stakeholder, and cannot release a surety on the bond without plaintiff's consent so as to deprive plaintiff of his right on assignment to maintain an action.[54] Although an action on a redelivery bond should not lie until the final determination of the replevin action,[55] it has been held that the action is not premature merely because it was commenced pending a writ of error to review the replevin judgment.[56]

[§ 432] b. Jurisdiction and Venue. In the absence of statute it is not necessary that the action on a replevin bond should be brought in the same court where the action of replevin was brought,[57] and where plaintiff and the obligors in the bond are citizens of different states, the action on the bond may be brought in a federal court,[58] and the action may be brought in a state court although the replevin action, in which the bond was executed, was tried in a federal court.[59] It has been held that a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction of an action on a replevin bond,[60] and that, where an action of replevin is appealed from a justice of the peace to a circuit court, an action on the bond may properly be brought in the latter court.[61] It has been held that although the court in the replevin action had no jurisdiction to hear the cause, it had jurisdiction to enter summary judgment on plaintiff's bond for the property or its value.[62] In an action on a redelivery bond the amount in controversy when material in determining the jurisdiction of the court is the amount due on such bond including the amount of the judgment, interest, and costs in the replevin action.[63]

[§ 433] c. Assignment of Bond.[64] Under some statutes a replevin bond may be assigned, by the officer to whom it is given, to defendant only where it is given in a case of distress for rent,[65] and under such statutes, if the bond is given in other cases, it is construed to be wholly for the protection of the officer and is not assignable.[66] Although it has been held that if the officer does take a bond he may at his option assign it.[67] Under other statutes, however, it seems that such an assignment of a replevin bond may be made to defendant or a party in interest, in any case.[68] Where the statute authorizing an assignment prescribes no mode therefor, the assignment may be made in writing, or by parol and delivery, or by any other act amounting to a legal transfer of the bond.[69]

---

[45] Norton v. Lawrence, 39 Kan. 458, 18 P 526.

[a] Sheriff in attachment.—Where plaintiff in replevin gave a bond to an officer who was holding the property under an attachment, the attaching creditor was the real party in interest, and in an action on the bond such officer had no authority to dismiss the action as to a surety without the consent of the real parties in interest, and such a dismissal was no bar to a subsequent action brought by such parties upon the bond. Norton v. Lawrence, 39 Kan. 458, 18 P 526.

[46] Dupree v. Jordan, 123 Okl. 91, 252 P 67.

[47] Chinn v. Harrodsburg Sav. Inst., 8 Bush (Ky.) 290.

[48] See supra § 430.

[49] What constitutes breach see supra §§ 410-414.

[50] Conditions precedent see infra §§ 434-436.

[51] Johnson v. Mason, 64 N. J. L. 258, 45 A 618.

[52] Ft. Wayne Electric Corp. v. Security Trust, etc., Co., 65 N. J. L. 221, 47 A 559; Johnson v. Mason, 64 N. J. L. 258, 45 A 618.

[53] Ft. Wayne Electric Corp. v. Security Trust, etc., Co., 65 N. J. L. 221, 47 A 559.

[54] Lowry v. Clark, 20 Pa. Super. 357.

[55] Corn Exch. Bank v. Blye, 102 N. Y. 305, 7 NE 49, 9 CivProc 416.

[a] Pending appeal of the replevin judgment the action does not lie. Corn Exch. Bank v. Blye, 102 N. Y. 305, 7 NE 49, 9 CivProc 416.

[56] Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237.

[a] Illustration.—An action on the redelivery bond in replevin was not premature because started during the pendency of a writ of error in the supreme court of Hawaii, to review the judgment in the replevin suit, where, pursuant to Hawaii L. (1903) c 32 §§ 17-19, enacted after the making of the redelivery bond, an execution had been issued and returned unsatisfied, because of the failure to give a new redelivery bond upon an affidavit of insufficiency. Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237.

[57] Walker v. Cooke, 163 Mass. 401, 40 NE 185.

[a] Municipal court has jurisdiction of an action on a replevin bond given in an action in a superior court, if the sum demanded is within the jurisdiction of the municipal court. Walker v. Cooke, 163 Mass. 401, 40 NE 185.

[b] Where damages should have been assessed in the replevin action, another court has no jurisdiction to assess such damages in an action on defendant's counter bond. Com. v. Lintott, 64 Pa. Super. 328.

[58] Patterson v. Mater, 26 Fed. 31.

[59] Wood v. Coman, 56 Ala. 283.

[60] Henoch v. Chaney, 61 Mo. 129.

[61] Henoch v. Chaney, supra.

[62] Close v. Hannig, (Tex. A.) 17 SW 350.

[63] Swartz v. English, 4 Kan. A. 509, 44 P 1004.

[64] Assignment as condition precedent to action on bond see infra § 436.

Parties see infra §§ 441-445.

[65] Waples v. Adkins, 5 Del. 381; Everett v. Bartlett, 20 N. J. L. 117; Williamson v. Gordon, 20 N. J. L. 77; Meyers v. Maybee, 10 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 200 (implied authority under act to assign bond in case of distress).

[a] In Pennsylvania (1) under the act of March 21, 1772, a replevin bond can be legally assigned to defendant in replevin only where it is given in case of distress for rent. Clark v. Morss, 142 Pa. 311, 21 A 802; Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12. (2) Such statute does not prevent the sheriff from taking a bond for his own protection in other cases of replevin, although the statute does not relate to such a bond, and the sheriff may or may not assign the bond so taken to defendant, and if he does so defendant may use it, but defendant cannot require him to assign it. Clawsen v. Seanor, 23 Pa. Co. 257.

[b] In South Carolina, although the English statutes in relation to assignment of bonds in replevin and distress were not enacted by statute, they were adopted in practice. Harris v. Keckley, 27 S. C. L. 196; Pemble v. Clifford, 13 S. C. L. 31; Charleston v. Price, 12 S. C. L. 299.

[66] Williamson v. Gordon, 20 N. J. L. 77.

[67] Clawsen v. Seanor, 23 Pa. Co. 257.

[§ 434] 2. Conditions Precedent[70]—a. Demand or Execution. Since, on the rendition of a judgment in replevin for a return of the goods, it is the duty of either plaintiff or defendant to take active steps to return the property to the prevailing party,[71] in the absence of a statutory provision to the contrary, defendant may maintain an action on the replevin bond on failure of plaintiff in replevin to comply with the terms of the judgment, without any previous demand,[72] and without the issuance of an execution on such judgment.[73] Some statutes,[74] however, expressly provide that, where judgment is rendered for defendant in a replevin suit, he cannot maintain an action on the replevin bond, particularly to hold the sureties liable thereon, until execution on the judgment in replevin has been issued and returned unsatisfied in whole or in part.[75] But under particular statutory provisions it has been held that the issuance and return of an execution unsatisfied in whole or in part is not a condition precedent where there is no judgment on the merits of the case, so that if the action abates or is discontinued or dismissed before the property is returned to defendant, and plaintiff retains the property, an action may be maintained on the bond against the obligors thereon for plaintiff's failure to prosecute the action.[76] Under other statutes inability to issue an execution because there is no judgment upon which to issue it will not be considered an exception to the statutory rule requiring issuance of an execution as a condition precedent.[77]

---

[68] Ala.—Adkins v. Allen, 1 Stew. 130.

Ark.—Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89.

Cal.—Wingate v. Brooks, 3 Cal. 112.

Eng.—Dias v. Freeman, 5 T. R. 195, 101 Reprint 110.

N. B.—Hubbard v. Young, 34 N. B. 641.

Ont.—Bacon v. Langton, 9 U. C. C. P. 410.

[a] In Michigan, under Comp. L. § 6764, the sheriff is required to assign the bond to defendant or his representatives on their request. Green v. Kindy, 43 Mich. 279, 5 NW 297.

[b] Statutory extension of remedy of replevin to other cases than those of distress would, without express mention, extend the right to assignment in these other cases. Bacon v. Langton, 9 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 410.

[c] Number of sureties required.—Although the statute directs the sheriff to take a bond with two sureties, a bond with one surety is assignable where neither the sheriff nor defendant in replevin objects. Taylor v. Burpee, 10 N. B. 191.

[d] Execution by several principals.—Where the bond has two sureties as required by statute, it may be assigned, although some of the plaintiffs failed to execute it. Wheeler v. Stewart, 16 N. B. 398.

[e] Parties to bond.—Where the statutory form of plaintiff's bond was to prosecute the action against C D, a bond conditioned to prosecute against C D and some other person did not conform to statute and was nonassignable. Wheeler v. Stewart, 16 N. B. 398.

[f] Attestation of assignment.—An assignment by the sheriff of a replevin bond was valid where attested by only one witness. Heley v. Cousins, 34 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 63.

[g] In New York (1) a replevin bond duly executed to a coroner may be assigned by him pursuant to 2 Rev. St. § 64, and the assignee may sue thereon in his own name. Acker v. Finn, 5 Hill 293. (2) A defendant in a replevin suit, in case of distress for rent, is entitled to an assignment. Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. 54. (3) A declaration is fatally defective in not averring that the goods replevied were taken by plaintiffs as a distress for rent, for only in such cases is the bond assignable to authorize assignees to bring an action on the bond in their own names. Knapp v. Colburn, 4 Wend. 616.

[h] In New Brunswick, (1) under 4 Wm. IV c 38 a proceeding on the writ de proprietate probanda and a return of the property to defendant in replevin would terminate the action and prevent an assignment of the bond, even for the collection of costs. Pollock v. Gardner, 4 N. B. 655. (2) Under 13 Vict. c 53, on claim of property by defendant if on inquisition by the jury the claim is held good, defendant may have an assignment of the bond to enforce payment of costs. Berry v. Mitchell, 7 N. B. 380.

[69] Sartin v. Weir, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 421; Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89; Everett v. Bartlett, 20 N. J. L. 117.

[a] Delivery of bond to defendant's attorney is not an assignment to defendant. Green v. Kindy, 43 Mich. 279, 5 NW 297.

[b] Date or seal of the sheriff is unnecessary. Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89.

[70] Judgment in replevin as see supra §§ 408, 414.

[71] Condition to return property see supra §§ 403, 410.

[72] Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727 [aff 1 Mont. 584]; Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139; Cook v. Lothrop, 18 Me. 260; Walker v. Cooke, 163 Mass. 401, 40 NE 185; Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where the alternative condition of a replevin bond is to return the goods to the officer who attached them or to the officer having the execution in the original suit, no demand on the replevin bond either for the penalty thereof or for the amount of the judgment obtained in the attachment suit is necessary before bringing suit on the bond. Persse v. Watrous, 30 Conn. 139. (2) If a return be awarded in the replevin suit, the surety on the bond is liable on the condition of the bond to return, without a demand therefor. Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727 [aff 1 Mont. 584].

[73] U. S.—Sweeney v. Lomme, 22 Wall. 208, 22 L. ed. 727 [aff 1 Mont. 584].

Me.—Cook v. Lothrop, 18 Me. 260.

Minn.—Robertson v. Davidson, 14 Minn. 554.

Okl.—Grimes v. Payne, 116 Okl. 295, 244 P 753; Gerber v. Wehner, 96 Okl. 48, 220 P 648.

R. I.—Cimini v. Zambarano, 36 R. I. 122, 89 A 295 [op. amended 89 A 711]; Potter v. James, 7 R. I. 312.

[74] See statutory provisions.

[75] Cornish v. Keesee, 17 Ark. 391; Scott v. Scott, 50 Mich. 372, 15 NW 515; Phillips v. Waterhouse, 40 Mich. 273; Eaton v. Campbell, 2 Mich. N. P. 10; Allen v. Lowe, 113 Nebr. 443, 203 NW 571; Hershiser v. Jordan, 25 Nebr. 275, 41 NW 147; Lininger v. Raymond, 9 Nebr. 40, 2 NW 359; De Veaux v. Holliday, 107 NYS 747.

[a] Execution in assumpsit.—Where the form of execution issued for defendant in replevin was in the form of an execution in assumpsit, such execution was not a compliance with the statute. Eaton v. Campbell, 2 Mich. N. P. 10; Williams v. Vail, 9 Mich. 162, 80 AmD 76.

[b] The surety on such a bond is not liable until after execution is returned unsatisfied against the principal. Lininger v. Raymond, 9 Nebr. 40, 2 NW 359.

[c] Sufficiency of return.—A return on the execution of "no property found" is sufficient to justify an action upon a replevin bond, under a statute requiring a return "that sufficient property of the plaintiffs cannot be found," etc. Cameron v. Boyle, 2 Greene (Iowa) 154.

[d] Bond executed in justice's court.—Code Civ. Proc. § 1733, providing that a defendant in replevin who has recovered a final judgment cannot maintain an action against the sureties on plaintiff's undertaking given to procure a replevin, until after a return, wholly or partly unsatisfied or unexecuted, of an execution in his favor for the delivery of the possession of the chattel, or to satisfy a sum of money out of the property of plaintiff, or for both purposes, has no application to an action on an undertaking to defendant in replevin commenced in a justice's court. Letson v. Dodge, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 125.

[e] Capias bond.—Surety on a bond for the release of defendant arrested on a capias bond in replevin under Mansfield Dig. § 5577 was not liable unless execution against the body of defendant had been issued and returned not found. Duncan v. Owens, 47 Ark. 388, 1 SW 698.

[76] Rushbrook v. Jerge, 74 Misc. 43, 133 NYS 640; Verra v. Domenico Costantino, 84 NYS 222, 33 NYCivProc 189; Rogers v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 84 NYS 203.

[a] Dismissal not final judgment.—A judgment of dismissal is not a "final judgment" within Code Civ. Proc. § 1733, requiring a return of an execution upon final judgment in favor of defendant before an action on the bond may be maintained. Rushbrook v. Jerge, 74 Misc. 43, 133 NYS 640.

To maintain an action on a redelivery bond it is not necessary in the absence of statute either that plaintiff demand a return of the property from defendant,[78] or that he issue execution upon the judgment in replevin;[79] but under some statutes it is essential to a suit against sureties on the bond that execution should be issued against the original defendant in replevin and be returned unsatisfied in whole or in part.[80]

[§ 435] b. Writ of Return or Reprisal.[81] In some jurisdictions, an action on plaintiff's replevin bond may be maintained wherever a return of the property has been adjudged in favor of defendant and the judgment is disobeyed, and it is not necessary as a condition precedent to the maintaining of such an action that a writ of retorno habendo be returned at length,[82] or, where the officer's return on such a writ is that he cannot find the goods, that a writ of reprisal be sued out.[83] Under some statutes, however, an action on the replevin bond cannot be maintained until a writ of retorno habendo has been issued and returned unsatisfied in whole or in part.[84]

[§ 436] c. Assignment of Bond.[85] Under some statutes where the sheriff or other officer is the obligee in a replevin bond, in order to enable defendant in replevin to maintain an action on the bond in his own name, it is necessary that the bond be formally assigned to him,[86] but in some jurisdictions an assignment is necessary only in cases of distress for rent.[87] Under other statutes, an assignment of the bond to defendant is not necessary to enable him to sue thereon in his own name, particularly where the undertaking is not in terms to any obligee or promisee, and may be regarded as an undertaking to the sheriff or to defendant.[88] In an action on a redelivery bond it has been held unnecessary that such bond should be assigned to plaintiff to entitle him to maintain an action.[89]

[§ 437] 3. Defenses[90]—a. In General. Many matters available to a surety in defense have elsewhere been considered in connection with a general treatment of the accrual and release of liability on the bond,[91] the extent of liability,[92] the discharge of the surety from liability,[93] the right of action on the bond,[94] and conditions precedent to the right of action.[95] Matters concluded by the replevin judgment cannot be set up in defense.[96] It has been held a good defense that the surety's signature had been induced by fraud.[97] In the absence of knowledge or consent of the opposite party it is no defense that the bond was delivered conditionally or in escrow.[98] Where property in the hands of an officer is replevied by a third person, it is no defense to an action on the replevin bond that the execution debtor was entitled to the goods as exempt;[99] that attachment proceedings against the property were invalid,[1] or that execution in attachment did not issue;[2] or that at the time plaintiff attached the goods they were held by the officer under prior attachments against the same debtor.[3] It is no defense to the surety that he executed the bond in reliance on principal's statement of his ownership of the property;[4] or that default was taken against the principal without the surety's knowledge,[5] or that he had attempted, but failed, to have the default set aside to allow him to prosecute the action.[6]

---

[77] Cornish v. Keesee, 17 Ark. 391; Allen v. Lowe, 113 Nebr. 443, 203 NW 571; Mulhall v. McVay, 2 Okl. 534, 37 P 604.

[78] First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 106 P 1056; MacRae v. Kansas City Piano Co., 69 Kan. 457, 77 P 94; Adams v. Wiesenthal, 69 N. J. L. 65, 54 A 516; Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 467, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014.

"The entry of the judgment in favor of plaintiff for the return of the property or payment of the value thereof as fixed in the judgment is sufficient demand and notice to defendant and his surety." Burkitt v. Vail, supra.

[79] First State Bank v. Martin, 81 Kan. 794, 798, 106 P 1056; Livingston v. Hammer, 20 N. Y. Super. 670; Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014.

"The obligation of the sureties was not that they would pay the value of the cattle provided an execution was issued and found to be fruitless, but that the defendants would deliver the property to the plaintiff if delivery be adjudged." First State Bank v. Martin, supra.

[80] Hager v. Clute, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 447; Baxter v. Maloney, 1 NYCityCt 383. But see Livingston v. Hammer, 20 N. Y. Super. 670 (execution need not be issued and returned unsatisfied).

[a] Execution for damages and costs.—An action on a bond to recover damages and costs awarded by the judgment in replevin may be maintained without the issue and return of such an execution, on the ground that the judgment as to these items is absolute, and that these charges will have to be paid whether the property is returned or not. Baxter v. Maloney, 1 NYCityCt 383.

[81] As condition precedent to execution for value see supra § 334.

[82] U. S.—Moore v. Shields, 17 F. Cas. No. 9,775, 2 Cranch C. C. 529.

Ill.—Peck v. Wilson, 22 Ill. 205; Hunter v. Sherman, 3 Ill. 539; Cermak v. Guggenheim Laundry Mach. Co., 198 Ill. A. 202.

Mass.—Walker v. Cooke, 163 Mass. 401, 40 NE 185; Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44.

Mont.—Lomme v. Sweeney, 1 Mont. 584 [aff 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727].

Pa.—Evans-Morrow Motor Co. v. Samuels, 83 Pa. Super. 280.

[a] Action for costs.—A writ of retorno is not a prerequisite to the recovery of costs where the breach alleged is a failure to prosecute with effect. Myers v. Dixon, 106 Ill. A. 322.

[83] Parker v. Simonds, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 205.

[84] Cowdin v. Stanton, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 120; Cowden v. Pease, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 333; Duggan v. England, 16 S. C. L. 215; Pemble v. Clifford, 14 S. C. L. 43.

[85] Parties see infra §§ 441-445.

[86] Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89; Green v. Kindy, 43 Mich. 279, 5 NW 297; Lazarus v. Trible, 9 Miss. 575; Berry v. Mitchell, 7 N. B. 380.

[a] Where property is replevied from officer holding it under execution, plaintiff in execution cannot sue on the bond without an assignment by the sheriff of either the bond or the judgment in the replevin action, unless the sheriff refuses to make such assignment or to enforce the bond. Greer v. Howard, 41 Oh. St. 591.

[87] Clark v. Morss, 142 Pa. 311, 21 A 802.

[88] Decker v. Anderson, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 346.

[89] Dunkle v. Haight, 68 Colo. 404, 189 P 783; Hedderick v. Pontet, 6 Mont. 345, 12 P 765.

[90] Defenses in actions on bonds given to replevy attached property see Attachment § 744.

[91] See supra §§ 396-414.

[92] See supra §§ 422-425.

[93] See supra §§ 417-421.

[94] See supra §§ 430, 431.

[95] See supra §§ 434-436.

[96] Conclusiveness of adjudication in replevin action see supra §§ 426-428.

[97] Anderson v. Bellenger, 87 Ala. 334, 6 S 82, 13 AmSR 46, 4 LRA 680 (in an action on a statutory claim bond, a plea by one of the sureties that he was fraudulently induced by the sheriff to sign the bond under a mistake of fact, after it had been accepted and approved by the sheriff with the signatures of two other sureties only, is good).

[98] Richardson v. People's Nat. Bank, 57 Oh. St. 299, 48 NE 1100.

[99] Capen v. Bartlett, 153 Mass. 346, 26 NE 873.

[1] Farnham v. Moor, 21 Me. 508.

[2] Zimmer v. Lyon, 190 Ill. 642 (holding that plaintiff in replevin cannot complain of the failure to issue execution in attachment where, after

[§ 438] b. Irregularities and Defects in Replevin Proceedings.[7] As a general rule mere irregularities or defects in the institution or prosecution of the replevin action cannot be set up in defense in an action on the replevin bond.[8] Thus it has been held that it cannot be set up as a defense in such an action that the affidavit[9] or the bond[10] is defective, as, for example, that the bond was not signed by the principal,[11] or by the requisite number of sureties,[12] or that the sureties had failed to justify,[13] or that the bond was not filed with the clerk of court as required by statute;[14] or that the condition of the bond has become void.[15] Nor is it a good defense in such an action that the writ of replevin was defective[16] or was not returned after service.[17] It has been held not to constitute a good defense that the execution in replevin for a return of the property was irregularly issued,[18] or that the property was delivered under the writ before the execution of the bond,[19] or that the property was never actually taken into custody under the writ.[20] But it has been held to be a complete defense that the judgment in replevin on which the breach alleged is based,[21] or the bond itself,[22] is void for want of jurisdiction;[23] or that the bond omitted the amount of the penalty;[24] or that the judgment was obtained by fraud.[25] But where the breach alleged is plaintiff's failure in replevin to prosecute the action, it has been held not to constitute a good defense that the judgment for a return of the property was void for lack of jurisdiction.[26]

[§ 439] c. Estoppel To Set Up Defense.[27] As a general rule, plaintiff in replevin and his sureties are estopped in an action on the replevin bond to set up any matter of defense which is contradictory to, or inconsistent with, the material recitals in the judgment in replevin for defendant, plaintiff refused to return the property).

---

3. Ormsbee v. Davis, 16 Conn. 567, 18 Conn. 555.

4. Ind.—Fuller v. Wright, 59 Ind. 333.

5. Fuller v. Wright, supra.

6. Fuller v. Wright, supra.

7. Cross references:
Estoppel to set up irregularities and defects see infra § 439.
Nature, validity, and sufficiency of affidavit, bond, and writ see supra §§ 101–109, 120–128, 137–139.
Necessity for assessment of damages in replevin suit see supra §§ 389–392.

8. Colo.—Cox v. Sargent, 10 Colo. A. 1, 50 P 201.

Conn.—Nichols v. Standish, 48 Conn. 321.

Ill.—Tedrick v. Wells, 59 Ill. A. 657.

Ind.—Waddell v. Bradway, 84 Ind. 537.

Iowa.—Mason v. Richards, 12 Iowa 73; McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204.

Ky.—Roman v. Stratton, 2 Bibb 199.

Mass.—Flagg v. Tyler, 3 Mass. 303.

Mich.—Dudley v. Conely, 125 Mich. 300, 84 NW 286; Estey v. Harmon, 40 Mich. 645.

Minn.—Robertson v. Davidson, 14 Minn. 554.

Mo.—Reeves v. Reeves, 33 Mo. 28.

Mont.—Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763.

N. Y.—Harrison v. Wilkin, 78 N. Y. 390.

Or.—Carlon v. Dixon, 12 Or. 144, 6 P 500 (holding that, where the affidavit and bond in replevin are sufficient, the fact that the direction to the sheriff indorsed on it is signed by plaintiff, instead of by the justice, as provided by statute, will not exonerate the sureties on the bond).

[a] Failure of judgment creditor to execute indemnifying bond as provided by statute, to the sheriff who is about to levy an execution on the judgment, does not prevent him from suing on the bond given by claimants and their sureties who replevied the property levied upon. Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763.

[b] Failure of plaintiff to execute bond before execution of writ was no defense to surety on defendant's bond. Terry v. Johnson, 109 Ky. 589, 60 SW 300, 22 KyL 1210.

9. Nichols v. Standish, 48 Conn. 321.

[a] Failure of affiant to subscribe to affidavit is no defense, especially where defendant in replevin has waived compliance with statute. Nichols v. Standish, 48 Conn. 321.

10. Douglas v. Unmack, 77 Conn. 181, 58 A 710, 107 AmSR 25; Nichols v. Standish, 48 Conn. 321; Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 655, 29 LRANS 747, AnnCas 1912B 302.

[a] Recital of court (1) from which the writ was to issue not being a recital of a material matter, it was no defense that the writ issued out of a court other than recited in the bond. Jenkins v. Lahey, 216 Ill. A. 613. (2) Recital in bond that writ should issue out of the superior court instead of the civil circuit court as was intended by the surety was no defense. Fuller v. Wright, 59 Ind. 333.

[b] Order setting aside a writ of replevin "and all proceedings thereon, subsequent to the issue thereof" did not absolutely annul the bond, so that to an action thereon such order could be pleaded as a defense. Meloche v. Reaume, 34 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 606.

11. Hoebel v. Utah-Idaho Livestock Loan Co., 39 Ida. 294, 227 P 1048.

12. Shaw v. Tobias, 3 N. Y. 188; Wood v. Colby, 30 Okl. 106, 118 P 584; Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The provision in the statute requiring two sureties, and the power of exception to their sufficiency, or of moving to set the plaintiff's proceedings aside, are provisions for the benefit and safety of the defendant in replevin. If the bond is substantially good, without the sureties, and entirely satisfactory to the defendant, it would be absurd to require him to take proceedings to make it better. He may waive a strict compliance with the statute by the plaintiff in regard to those matters which are unimportant to himself. But after the plaintiff has obtained possession of the property in dispute by acting on the bond as a lawful and valid security, neither he nor his surety ought to be permitted to get rid of it by alleging that it is not so strong or so perfect as the defendant might have required him to make it." Shaw v. Tobias, 3 N. Y. 188, 192.

13. Decker v. Anderson, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 346; Barton v. Donnelly, 6 Misc. 473, 27 NYS 525; Van Duyne v. Coope, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 557.

14. Hedderick v. Pontet, 6 Mont. 345, 12 P 765; Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 655, 29 LRANS 747, AnnCas1912B 302.

15. Ward v. Hood, 124 Ala. 570, 27 S 245, 82 AmSR 205.

16. Waddell v. Bradway, 84 Ind. 537.

17. Nichols v. Standish, 48 Conn. 321.

18. Harrison v. Wilkin, 78 N. Y. 390.

19. Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89.

20. Jackson v. Bry, 3 Ill. A. 586 (holding, however, that the fact that the property was not taken into custody may be shown on the question of damages).

21. Robinson v. Bonjour, 16 Colo. A. 458, 66 P 451; McBrayer v. Jordan, 73 Nebr. 483, 103 NW 50.

[a] Judgment for return void.—Where the breach alleged was a failure to return the property, but the judgment in replevin for a return was void because rendered in excess of the justice's jurisdiction, such facts constitute a good defense to the breach alleged. Robinson v. Bonjour, 16 Colo. A. 458, 66 P 451.

22. Caffrey v. Dudgeon, 38 Ind. 512, 10 AmR 126.

23. See supra notes 21, 22.

24. Harbin v. Nations, 214 Ala. 649, 108 S 749.

25. McBrayer v. Jordan, 73 Nebr. 483, 103 NW 50.

26. McDermott v. Isbell, 4 Cal. 113.

27. Estoppel generally see Estoppel §§ 84, 86.

Estoppel to deny recitals of value see infra § 458.

bond,[28] except where the bond is void in its inception and possesses no force or validity.[29] Where by virtue of the replevin bond and other proceedings in replevin, plaintiff in replevin acquires and retains possession of the property, both he and his sureties are estopped in an action on the replevin bond from setting up any matter of defense that disputes the regularity or validity of the bond,[30] or of the proceedings under which it was obtained;[31] or that disputes the levy on the property by the officer[32] or the liability of the property on which it is made;[33] or that disputes the regularity of the replevin proceedings,[34] as by denying the jurisdiction of the justice who issued the writ,[35] or of the trial court.[36] Defendant, who has retained possession under a redelivery bond, is estopped in an action on such bond from denying the legal existence of plaintiff.[37] But an estoppel as to one condition in the bond does not necessarily operate as an estoppel as to a separate and distinct condition.[38]

[§ 440] d. Set-Off and Counterclaim. Subject to the rules relating to recoupment, set-off, and counterclaim generally,[39] a surety, when sued on a replevin bond, can set off claims against plaintiff,[40] unless the set-off or counterclaim is such that it should have been claimed in the replevin action.[41] Thus a surety may show rights to the property replevied in himself or cosureties,[42] and may avail himself of any set-off or counterclaim that might be interposed by the principal obligor.[43] Although the claims must be due between all the parties in the action and in the same right,[44] when the action is brought in the name of the officer to whom the bond was given, defendant therein may set off a demand against defendant in replevin as he is the real party in interest.[45] However, the rights of a surety can rise no higher than those of his principal;[46] and it has been held that an assignment of the claim by the principal to the surety is necessary before the latter may plead such defense.[47] A set-off is not confined to matters arising out of the bond sued on.[48]

---

[28] Collins v. Mitchell, 5 Fla. 364; May v. Johnson, 3 Ind. 449; Decker v. Judson, 16 N. Y. 439; Auerbach v. Marks, 10 Daly (N. Y.) 171.

[29] Caffrey v. Dudgeon, 38 Ind. 512, 520, 10 AmR 126; Sturdevant v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 62 Nebr. 472, 87 NW 156. But see Walko v. Walko, 64 Conn. 74, 29 A 243 (plaintiff estopped to say that bond was wholly void).

"The whole doctrine of estoppels of this kind is based upon the theory that the instrument, whether it is a record of court, a deed, a mortgage, or a bond, is legal and valid, and by virtue of its legality and by force of its validity, operates as an estoppel." Caffrey v. Dudgeon, supra.

[30] Conn.—Douglass v. Unmack, 77 Conn. 181, 58 A 710, 107 AmSR 25.

Ind.—Hartlep v. Cole, 120 Ind. 247, 22 NE 130; Trueblood v. Knox, 73 Ind. 310.

Okl.—Leeper v. Hobart First Nat. Bank, 26 Okl. 707, 110 P 655, 29 LRA NS 747, AnnCas1912B 302.

Tenn.—Dale v. Heffner, 4 Baxt. 217.

Wash.—Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[a] Signature to bond.—Plaintiff in replevin who takes possession of property under the bond is estopped to deny that his signature was fixed by an unauthorized agent. Arthur v. Sherman, 11 Wash. 254, 39 P 670.

[b] Failure to recite value in bond.—A surety on a replevin bond is estopped to deny its validity on the ground that the value of the property attached is not fixed therein. Dale v. Heffner, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 217.

[c] Penalty of bond.—The fact that the penalty named in a replevin bond is less than double the value of the property cannot be set up as a defense in a suit on the bond, after the writ of replevin has been issued and possession of the property obtained upon it. Trueblood v. Knox, 73 Ind. 310.

[d] Consideration.—Where plaintiff in replevin obtains possession of the property sued for, he and his sureties are estopped from averring that there was no consideration for their undertaking. McFadden v. Fritz, 110 Ind. 1, 10 NE 120.

[31] Dale v. Heffner, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 217.

[32] Adler v. Potter, 57 Ala. 571; Tedrick v. Wells, 59 Ill. A. 657.

[33] Adler v. Potter, 57 Ala. 571.

[34] Tedrick v. Wells, 59 Ill. A. 657; McFadden v. Fritz, 110 Ind. 1, 10 NE 120; McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161; Sammons v. Newman, 27 Ind. 508; Central Nat. Bank v. Brecheisen, 65 Kan. 807, 70 P 895; McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Fisher, 63 Kan. 199, 65 P 223; Jennison v. Haire, 29 Mich. 207; Stimer v. Allen, 88 Mich. 140, 50 NW 107.

[a] Affidavit.—Parties in replevin who replevied the property cannot set up that they secured possession without an affidavit. Stimer v. Allen, 88 Mich. 140, 50 NW 107; Jennison v. Haire, 29 Mich. 207.

[b] Pendency of replevin action cannot be denied by plaintiff or his sureties in defense because no summons ever issued in that action when under the writ plaintiff obtained the property. Sammons v. Newman, 27 Ind. 508.

[35] Fahnestock v. Gilham, 77 Ill. 637; Bates v. Williams, 43 Ill. 494; Bierma v. Columbia Typewriter Co., 179 Ill. A. 69; Harbaugh v. Albertson, 102 Ind. 69, 1 NE 298.

[36] Janssen v. Duncan, 43 Colo. 286, 95 P 922 [dist Robinson v. Bonjour, 16 Colo. A. 458, 66 P 451].

[37] Loaners' Bank v. Jacoby, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 143.

[38] Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 29 SE 385 (holding that an estoppel as to the condition for the return of the property does not necessarily operate as an estoppel as to the condition to prosecute).

[39] Set-off and counterclaim:
Generally see Set-Off and Counterclaim [34 Cyc 618].
In actions against surety generally see Principal and Surety §§ 331–335.
In replevin generally see supra § 86.

[40] See infra text and notes 41–48.

[41] Com. v. Lintott, 64 Pa. Super. 328, 71 Pa. Super. 401.

Conclusiveness of adjudication in replevin see supra § 426.

[a] Claim for storage of goods replevied.—In an action on a counterbond, sureties cannot set off a claim for storage of the goods, as such claim must be made in the replevin action. Com. v. Lintott, 64 Pa. Super. 328, 71 Pa. Super. 401.

[42] Henry v. Ferguson, 55 Mich. 399, 21 NW 381.

[43] Iowa.—Struman v. Robb, 37 Iowa 311.

Md.—Seldner v. Smith, 40 Md. 602.

Oh.—Evans v. Beddinger, 24 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 553.

Okl.—Elk City State Bank v. Davis, 118 Okl. 294, 248 P 639.

Pa.—Com. v. King, 18 Pa. Dist. 404, 36 Pa. Co. 149; Snyder v. Frankenfield, 4 Pa. Dist. 767.

Ont.—McKelvey v. McLean, 34 U. C. Q. B. 635.

[a] Judgment of principal.—Surety on a claim property bond may set off a judgment assigned to his principal after judgment in replevin but before inception of action on the bond. Com. v. King, 18 Pa. Dist. 404, 36 Pa. Co. 149.

[b] Proceeds of execution sale.—Where attached goods are replevied by defendant, and he fails in both proceedings, and an execution is levied on the goods, the sureties on the replevin bond, in an action thereon, are entitled to have the proceeds of the levy first applied in discharge of their liability; and this right is pro tanto an equitable defense to the action at law. Struman v. Robb, 37 Iowa 311.

[c] Use of goods.—In an action on a replevin bond a set-off cannot be claimed for the use by defendant in replevin of their own property during the time that it is voluntarily left in their possession, from the issuance of the writ to the actual taking of the property by plaintiff in replevin. Pure Oil Co. v. Terry, 16 Pa. Super. 337.

[44] Gorman v. Lenox, 15 Pet. (U. S.) 115, 10 L. ed. 680; Coffin v. McLean, 80 N. Y. 560.

[a] In action on replevin bond executed in favor of two plaintiffs, notes held against one of them by defendant are not available as a set-off. Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987.

[45] Engs v. Matson, 11 Ill. A. 639; Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603 (holding that the surety with the consent of his principal may set off a judgment obtained by his principal against defendant in replevin for whose use the action on the bond is brought).

[46] Com. v. Lintott, 71 Pa. Super. 401.

[§ 441] 4. Parties[49]—a. Parties Plaintiff—(1) Plaintiff's Bond—(a) In General. A replevin bond is given for the protection of both the officer and defendant in the action,[50] and where the officer is the obligee in the bond, he may sue thereon in his own name,[51] and the action need not be brought in his name of office but may be in his individual name.[52] So also the officer having the legal right of action may sue on the bond, at least in so far as defendants to such action are concerned, for the use of whatever person he chooses,[53] and it is not necessary that such person should have any other interest in, or connection with, the suit;[54] and, while in case there are several defendants in the replevin action the officer may sue for the use of all jointly without bringing separate actions,[55] it is no ground of objection that the action is brought for the use of only one of them.[56] Defendant in replevin may also sue on the bond in the name of the officer for his own use.[57] The persons named as obligees in the bond should ordinarily join in an action thereon or in case of failure to do so should be made defendants;[58] but where in replevin against several defendants the final judgment is in favor of only one of them, to whom the entire property is awarded, he may sue on the bond without joining the other defendants who were obligees,[59] and if one of two obligees is insolvent and an assignee is appointed after the taking of the bond, such assignee cannot join in an action thereon, but such action must be brought in the name of the other obligee alone.[60] Where the bond is assignable, an assignee may sue thereon in his own name,[61] but if not assignable the action must be brought in the name of the officer to whom the bond was given for the use of the person beneficially entitled.[62]

Right of added defendant to sue on bond. Although an action on the bond cannot be maintained by a person who is neither a party to the replevin proceeding nor an obligee in the bond,[63] yet, where subsequent to the execution of plaintiff's bond an additional party is made a defendant to the replevin action, it has been held in some jurisdictions that such bond inures to the benefit of such defendant so that he may maintain an action thereon against the sureties,[64] or, where the bond runs to the officer, the latter may sue the sureties for the use of such additional party defendant.[65] In other jurisdictions, however, such additional defendant has no right of action against the sureties on the bond.[66] However, where such defendant is in privity of title or possession with the obligee on the bond, he may maintain an action thereon.[67]

[§ 442] (b) Where Property Was Replevied from

---

[47] Com. v. Lintott, supra.

[48] Engs v. Matson, 11 Ill. A. 639; Com. v. King, 18 Pa. Dist. 404, 36 Pa. Co. 149.

[49] Generally see Parties 47 C. J. p 1 et seq; Bonds §§ 151–161; Contracts §§ 805–825.

[50] See supra § 116.

[51] Ogle v. Smith, 7 Del. 174.

[52] Caldwell v. West, 21 N. J. L. 411.

[53] Atkins v. Moore, 82 Ill. 240; Tedrick v. Wells, 59 Ill. A. 657; Smith v. Hertz, 37 Ill. A. 36. See also Burgett v. Gilbert, 107 Ill. A. 351 (the sheriff being the actual and nominal plaintiff, the fact that the action is for the use of another is inconsequential).

[54] Atkins v. Moore, 82 Ill. 240; Smith v. Hertz, 37 Ill. A. 36.

[55] Koehler v. King, 119 Ill. A. 6.

[56] Buckmaster v. Beames, 9 Ill. 443.

[57] Humphrey v. Taggart, 38 Ill. 228.

[53] Kellar v. Carr, 119 Ind. 127, 21 NE 463.

[a] Defect of parties plaintiff cannot for the first time be raised on appeal. Bowdoin v. Colman, 13 N. Y. Super. 182, 3 AbbPr 431.

[b] Allegation that one party has no interest where he was not joined as a defendant was not subject to a demurrer for defect of parties plaintiff, no objection being made to the nonjoinder of such obligee as a party defendant. Kellar v. Carr, 119 Ind. 127, 21 NE 463.

[59] Pilger v. Marder, 55 Nebr. 113, 75 NW 559.

[a] Where party was improperly named as obligee in the bond in addition to defendant in replevin, the latter may sue alone, and the erroneous addition of another party is immaterial. Cimini v. Zambarano, 36 R. I. 122, 89 A 295 [op. amended 89 A 711].

[60] Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582.

[61] Swezey v. Lott, 21 N. Y. 481, 78 AmD 160; Acker v. Finn, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 293; Charleston v. Price, 12 S. C. L. 299; Bacon v. Langton, 9 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 410; Meyers v. Maybee, 10 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 200.

Assignability of bond see supra § 433.

[62] Waples v. Adkins, 5 Del. 381; Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603; Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12.

[a] Illustration.—A bond not taken under the act of 1872, relating to replevin for rent, is not assignable by the sheriff to defendant in the replevin action, and the action must be brought by the officer for the use of such defendant. Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12.

[63] Pipher v. Johnson, 108 Ind. 401, 9 NE 376; Union Motor Car Co. v. Farmer, 151 Miss. 734, 118 S 425.

[64] Becovitz v. Sapperstein, 46 Ind. A. 339, 92 NE 551; McGlasson v. Bradford, 7 Bush (Ky.) 250, 252; Grimes v. Payne, 116 Okl. 295, 244 P 753. See Newton v. Round, 109 Iowa 286, 80 NW 391 (where it was intimated that, had an intervener properly alleged and proved damages in the replevin suit, he could have maintained an action on plaintiff's bond for such damages).

"In our opinion the bond, though not a covenant in express terms to the appellee, inured to his benefit, and operated to secure such rights in the property as might be adjudged to him in the action." McGlasson v. Bradford, supra.

"The undertaking obligated the surety to return the property involved 'to the defendants' if the return was adjudged: that is, to those who are defendants at the time the judgment is rendered. This interpretation does not change or enlarge the liability of the surety, although it may change the beneficiary. The suit was instituted to determine the rights of the parties in the property in question, and such right could only be settled by the adjudication. But one bond is contemplated for the return of property in one action, and that is for the benefit of any party to the suit when the return is adjudged." Becovitz v. Sapperstein, supra.

[65] Magerstadt v. Field, 160 Ill. A. 23; Tedrick v. Wells, 59 Ill. A. 657.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The statute also contemplates that the proceedings in which the bond is given may be amended, and that such amendment shall not affect the protection given by the bond except where the legal effect of such amendment is to enlarge the liability thereunder. The statute enters into and forms a part of a replevin bond in legal contemplation, and the parties are conclusively presumed to intend what the statute provides." Magerstadt v. Field, 160 Ill. A. 23, 30.

[66] Williams v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 8 Mo. A. 135; First Commercial Bank v. Valentine, 209 N. Y. 145, 102 NE 544, AnnCas1913D 1104.

[a] Illustration.—Where a bond is given to defendant named in the suit and he disclaims any interest in the property, and another person is substituted as defendant after the bond is given and in whose favor judgment is rendered, such person cannot sue on the bond. Williams v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 8 Mo. A. 135.

[67] Massachusetts Bonding, etc., Co. v. Novotny, 200 Iowa 227, 202 NW 588; First Commercial Bank v. Valentine, 163 App. Div. 709, 148 NYS 792 [aff 214 N. Y. 669 mem, 108 NE 1094 mem].

[a] Bailor and bailee.—A bailor admitted as a defendant in a replevin action against the bailee, and to

Officer. Where property is replevied from an officer who is in possession thereof by virtue of an execution or attachment, the bond taken by the officer who executes the writ of replevin is primarily for the benefit of the execution or attachment creditor.[68] In such case the officer executing the writ of replevin and to whom the bond is given may sue thereon,[69] and he may bring his action for the joint use of the execution or attachment creditor and the officer who was defendant in the action of replevin.[70] An action on the bond may also be brought jointly by the execution or attachment creditor and the officer who was defendant in the action of replevin,[71] and where there are different creditors, although claiming under different executions, they may join in such action.[72] The execution or attachment creditor may also as the real party in interest sue upon the bond in his own name,[73] without joining the officer,[74] and where the property replevied was taken on different executions, the different execution plaintiffs may join in an action on the bond.[75]

[§ 443] (2) Defendant's Bond. Although a redelivery bond is given to the officer, plaintiff in replevin is the real party in interest and may sue thereon in his own name,[76] and he should sue alone without joining the officer as a party.[77] If, however, the action is brought by the party having the legal right of action, defendant cannot object that it is not brought for the benefit of the proper person.[78] Where after a redelivery bond is given plaintiff in replevin dies and another person is substituted as plaintiff, the bond takes effect in favor of the latter party who may maintain an action thereon,[79] and an assignment of the judgment recovered against defendant in replevin operates as an assignment of the redelivery bond, and authorizes the assignee as the real party in interest to sue thereon in his own name.[80]

[§ 444] b. Parties Defendant—(1) Plaintiff's Bond. If plaintiff in the replevin action joins in the execution of the replevin bond, he may be sued thereon jointly with the sureties,[81] but if he did not sign the bond he should not be joined as a party defendant.[82] Where the liability of the obligors is joint and several it is no objection that one of them is not joined as a defendant,[83] and where the first bond filed is insufficient in amount and an additional bond is executed with a different surety, a recovery may be had against the surety on the first bond without making the surety on the second bond a party to the action.[84]

[§ 445] (2) Defendant's Bond. Where several defendants who are in possession of different parts of the property execute a joint bond, they are jointly liable and may be sued jointly together with the sureties;[85] and where the obligation is several, the surety may, under statutes, be sued without a joinder of the principal.[86]

[§ 446] 5. Pleading[87]—a. Declaration or Complaint—(1) In General. In an action on a replevin bond the declaration or complaint must allege every fact necessary to authorize a recovery,[88] but need whom possession of the property involved was awarded, was held entitled to sue on the replevin bond for damages from the taking and detention of such property. First Commercial Bank v. Valentine, 163 App. Div. 709, 148 NYS 792 [order aff 214 N. Y. 669 mem, 108 NE 1094 mem].

---

[b] Principal and agent.—Where an agent was made defendant in replevin, his principal intervening in that action may sue on the bond. Massachusetts Bonding, etc., Co. v. Novotny, 200 Iowa 227, 202 NW 588.

[68] Quinnipiac Brewing Co. v. Hackbarth, 74 Conn. 392, 50 A 1023; Kahn v. Gavit, 23 Ind. A. 274, 55 NE 268.

[69] Schott v. Youree, 142 Ill. 233, 31 NE 591; Blatchford v. Boyden, 122 Ill. 657, 13 NE 801 [aff 18 Ill. A. 378].

[a] Successor in office.—If the bond is given to the officer and his "successors in office," the action is properly brought by the officer to whom the bond is given, the words quoted being without legal effect. Schott v. Youree, 142 Ill. 233, 31 NE 591 [aff 41 Ill. A. 476].

[70] Blatchford v. Boyden, 122 Ill. 657, 13 NE 801 [aff 18 Ill. A. 378].

[71] Quinnipiac Brewing Co. v. Hackbarth, 74 Conn. 392, 50 A 1023; Walls v. Johnson, 16 Ind. 374; Kaufman v. Wessel, 14 Nebr. 161, 15 NW 219; U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Yoder, 139 Okl. 256, 281 P 974.

[a] Although not party defendant in replevin action, the execution or attachment creditor may join with the officer in an action upon the bond. Quinnipiac Brewing Co. v. Hackbarth, 74 Conn. 392, 50 A 1023.

[72] Kaufman v. Wessel, 14 Nebr. 161, 15 NW 219.

[73] Kahn v. Gavit, 23 Ind. A. 274, 55 NE 268; Lomme v. Sweeney, 1 Mont. 584 [aff 22 Wall. (U. S.) 208, 22 L. ed. 727].

[74] Kahn v. Gavit, 23 Ind. A. 274, 55 NE 268.

[75] Thomas v. Irwin, 90 Ind. 557.

[76] Dunkle v. Haight, 68 Colo. 404, 189 P 783; Kimball Co. v. Bleick, 24 Or. 59, 32 P 766.

[a] Assignment of bond.—Although the officer is named as obligee in the bond, it seems that plaintiff in replevin as the real party in interest might sue in his own name without any assignment of the bond, but he may certainly sue in his own name where the bond is assigned to him by the officer. Smith v. Stubbs, 16 Colo. A. 130, 63 P 955.

[77] McBeth v. Van Sickle, 6 Nev. 134 (although the statute requires the bond to be delivered to the sheriff, he has no interest therein, and that plaintiff in replevin as the only person interested should sue alone).

[78] Conlin v. Butler, 10 Kulp (Pa.) 273.

[79] Emerson v. Booth, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 40.

[80] Schlieman v. Bowlin, 36 Minn. 198, 30 NW 879.

[81] Buck v. Lewis, 9 Minn. 314 (holding that, even if it were unnecessary that he should be joined, neither he nor the sureties can complain).

[82] Jackson v. Morgan, 167 Ind. 528, 78 NE 633.

[83] Becker v. Ball, 18 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 192.

[a] In Texas (1) suit cannot be prosecuted against the sureties without joinder of the principal where it does not appear that the principal was insolvent when the suit was begun. Toland v. Swearingen, 39 Tex. 447. (2) Where the principal was a nonresident and insolvent, it was proper to sue his sureties without joining him as party defendant. Houghton v. Ledbetter, 37 Tex. 161.

[84] Smith v. Whitten, 117 N. C. 389, 23 SE 320.

[85] Boykin v. Rosenfield, 69 Tex. 115, 9 SW 318.

[86] Citizens' Ins. Co. v. Etchen, 111 Kan. 545, 207 P 782 [cit Cyc]; Moore v. Edwards, 192 N. C. 446, 135 SE 302.

[a] Joint and several obligation.—Under Comp. St. § 458, providing that persons severally liable on the same obligation may be sued jointly or severally, in an action on a redelivery bond to recover damages for the detention and deterioration in the value of the property, it was not necessary to join the principal on the bond, but the action might proceed against the surety alone. Moore v. Edwards, 192 N. C. 446, 135 SE 302.

[87] Generally see Pleading §§ 132-196; Bonds §§ 162-176; Contracts §§ 827-870.

[88] Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763; Wetherbee v. Colby, 6 Vt. 647.

[a] Corporate existence of surety.—A complaint on an undertaking in claim and delivery was not fatally defective because it failed to allege the corporate existence of the surety not negative matters of defense.[89] It must therefore show a breach of the condition of the bond;[90] but if a breach of condition is shown it is not necessary that the breach should be formally assigned.[91] A breach assigned must be as broad as the condition of the bond,[92] and if the condition is in the alternative it must be alleged that neither condition was performed,[93] but the breach need not be assigned in any broader terms than the condition of the bond.[94] The complaint should describe the bond by setting forth its material portions either literally or according to their legal effect,[95] so as to show what were its conditions,[96] and must allege that it was delivered;[97] but the complaint need not show who were the principals and who the sureties on the bond,[98] or allege in terms that the bond was taken in pursuance of the statute,[99] or that the writ was directed to the officer;[1] nor is it necessary expressly to allege that the bond was executed in behalf of plaintiff in replevin, if it shows that it was given for the prosecution of such suit.[2] The complaint must also show what judgment was rendered in the replevin action,[3] and that it was such as the statute requires,[4] and a failure to comply with such judgment;[5] but it is sufficient to set out the judgment without setting out the whole record of the replevin suit,[6] and it is not necessary to state the avowry or cognizance,[7] or allege the issuing and return of execution in the replevin action.[8] A general description of the property is sufficient in an action on the bond,[9] and it is not necessary to allege a demand for the property replevied,[10] or the issuing of a writ retorno habendo.[11] Under some statutes, the bond or a copy thereof must be filed with the complaint;[12] but it is not necessary to file copies of the writ of replevin and the return of the officer thereon,[13] or a transcript of the record in the replevin suit.[14] The complaint may be amended as in other civil actions subject to the rules prevailing in such actions generally.[15]

Pleading damages. A general allegation of damages is sufficient to authorize a recovery of such executing the undertaking. Hoebel v. Utah-Idaho Livestock Loan Co., 39 Ida. 294, 227 P 1048.

---

[b] Delivery of property to plaintiff.—A complaint in an action on a replevin bond, given under Code Civ. Proc. § 512, although stating facts defectively as to delivery of the property to plaintiff in replevin, was held to state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action. Montgomery v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Cal. A. 251, 230 P 993.

[c] Form of petition or complaint see Green v. Rehbine, 44 Okl. 96, 144 P 182.

[d] Allegations held sufficient to state a cause of action on the bond see Keenan v. Washington Liquor Co., 8 Ida. 383, 69 P 112; Story v. O'Dea, 23 Ind. 326; Dillon v. Scofield, 11 Nebr. 419, 9 NW 554; Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 54; Green v. Rehbine, 44 Okl. 96, 144 P 182; Cooper v. McGrew, 8 Or. 327.

[e] Aider by verdict.—A defective complaint may be helped by verdict. An objection that it does not allege the value of the property should be taken advantage of by demurrer, and if not so taken is cured by verdict. Krumbhaar v. Stetler, 10 Pa. Co. 12.

[89] Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763.

[90] Barr v. McGary, 131 Pa. 401, 19 A 45; Duggan v. England, 16 S. C. L. 215.

[a] Allegations held sufficient (1) to show a breach of the condition of the bond see Gorman v. Lenox, 15 Pet. (U. S.) 115, 10 L. ed. 680; Manning v. Pierce, 3 Ill. 4; Keyes v. McNulty, 14 Iowa 484; Cameron v. Boyle, 2 Greene (Iowa) 154. (2) The complaint, in an action on a bond given by plaintiff in claim and delivery, attaching thereto a copy of the bond and making it part of the complaint, and alleging dismissal of the claim and delivery action, was sufficient to entitle plaintiff to rely on breach of the condition of the bond to prosecute the action. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Hewlett, 94 S. C. 478, 78 SE 329.

[91] Hunter v. Sherman, 3 Ill. 539. But see Livingston v. New York Super. Ct., 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 545 (in an action in one state on a replevin bond executed in a suit in another, breaches must be assigned).

[92] Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206.

[93] Duggan v. England, 16 S. C. L. 215.

[94] Peck v. Wilson, 22 Ill. 205; Hunter v. Sherman, 3 Ill. 539.

[95] Mills v. Gleason, 21 Cal. 274 (holding that it is not sufficient where there is no other description of the bond than that it corresponds with the provisions of the statute, but that the defect is one of form rather than substance and the condition must be taken by demurrer).

[96] Barr v. McGary, 131 Pa. 401, 19 A 45.

[97] Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763.

[98] Shappendocia v. Spencer, 73 Ind. 133.

[99] Shaw v. Tobias, 3 N. Y. 188, 191 (holding that it is sufficient if the instrument as set forth is in accordance with the statute).

[1] Shaw v. Tobias, supra.

"The giving of the bond by the defendant to the coroner is at least prima facie evidence that the writ was directed to him and the declaration is therefore sufficient." Shaw v. Tobias, supra.

[2] Shaw v. Tobias, supra.

[3] Barr v. McGary, 131 Pa. 401, 19 A 45.

[4] Clary v. Rolland, 24 Cal. 147 (holding that, in a suit against the sureties on a replevin bond, a complaint is not sufficient which does not aver that the value of the property was found by the jury, and that an alternative judgment was rendered, as provided in Pract. Act § 200).

[5] Barr v. McGary, 131 Pa. 401, 19 A 45.

[a] Complaint should allege, as a breach of the condition of the bond, a failure to return the property replevied on the judgment in the replevin suit. Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582.

[6] Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89.

[7] Gould v. Warner, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 54.

[8] Jennison v. Haire, 29 Mich. 207. Contra Hershiser v. Jordan, 25 Nebr. 275, 41 NW 147.

Necessity of execution as condition precedent see supra § 434.

[9] Keenan v. Washington Liquor Co., 8 Ida. 383, 69 P 112.

[a] Reference to writ.—A declaration in which the property is described by reference to the writ of replevin, and which makes profert of the record and proceedings in the action of replevin, is sufficient. Cushenden v. Harman, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 431.

[10] Wetherbee v. Colby, 6 Vt. 647; Cushenden v. Harman, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 431.

[11] Hunter v. Sherman, 3 Ill. 539; Cowden v. Pease, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 333; Knapp v. Colburn, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 616.

[a] As condition precedent.—Although the issuance and return of such writ is essential as a condition precedent to the maintenance of the action, it is merely a matter of proof and need not be alleged in the declaration. Cowden v. Pease, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 333.

Writ retorno habendo as condition precedent see supra § 435.

[12] Burtt v. Little, 12 Ind. A. 567, 40 NE 929.

[13] Shappendocia v. Spencer, 73 Ind. 133.

[14] Sammons v. Newman, 27 Ind. 508 (holding that, if such transcript of the proceedings in the replevin suit is filed with the complaint, it is not cause for demurrer, but that the court may strike it out on motion).

[15] Truitt v. Collins, 18 Del. 36, 45 A 541; Keenan v. Washington Liquor Co., 8 Ida. 383, 69 P 112; Wheat v. Catterlin, 23 Ind. 85.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where the proceedings in an action of replevin are reviewed and corrected during the pendency of an action on the replevin bond, the court may allow the complaint in an action on the bond to be amended by adding the proceedings and judgment on review. Wheat v. Catterlin, 23 Ind. 85. (2) Plaintiff may be allowed to amend his pleading from an action by plaintiff as assignee of the sheriff to one by the sheriff for the use of plaintiff. Truitt v. Collins, 18 Del. 36, 45 A 541.

damages as are the natural and immediate consequence caused by the breach of the conditions of the bond.[16]

[§ 447] (2) Allegations as to Assignment of Bond. Where an assignment of the bond by the officer is necessary in order to authorize the party beneficially interested to sue thereon,[17] the complaint must allege or show such an assignment,[18] and that it was made before the action on the bond was brought;[19] and where such bonds are assignable only in certain cases, the complaint must show that the bond in question was assignable.[20] If the complaint alleges an assignment of the bond it is not necessary to allege that the judgment in the action was also assigned;[21] and conversely it seems that as an assignment of the judgment operates as an assignment of the bond, it is sufficient merely to allege an assignment of the judgment.[22] If no assignment is necessary in order to authorize the action on the bond, it is not necessary that the complaint should allege an assignment.[23]

[§ 448] (3) Defendant's Bond. In an action on a redelivery bond, the complaint must show a breach of the condition of the bond,[24] and the breach assigned must be as broad as the condition.[25] It must allege that the officer returned the property to defendant,[26] and that such delivery was procured by means of the undertaking sued on;[27] but it is not necessary expressly to allege that the bond was given in an action of replevin if the bond is set out in the complaint and its recitals show that it was given in such an action,[28] and where plaintiff in replevin may sue on a redelivery bond without an assignment thereof, it is not necessary to allege an assignment in the complaint.[29] The complaint must allege the rendition of a judgment in favor of plaintiff in the action of replevin,[30] and must allege facts showing that the judgment rendered was one authorized by law,[31] and where the judgment in the action of replevin is in the alternative for a return of the property or its value, the complaint must allege that neither condition has been performed;[32] but if it is alleged that defendant has failed to pay the judgment, it is not necessary to allege that it remains in full force and unappealed from.[33] Where a judgment for a return is necessary, such judgment or facts showing that a return was impossible must be alleged.[34] It is not necessary to allege the regularity of the proceedings in the replevin suit,[35] it being sufficient to allege the rendition of judgment,[36] and it is not necessary to allege that execution has been issued against defendant and returned unsatisfied.[37] It is not necessary that the bond or a copy thereof should be filed with the complaint,[38] unless the statute so requires.[39] A defect in the complaint which is not objected to may be cured by verdict.[40] In some jurisdictions an amendment to the complaint which introduces a new and distinct cause of action is not permitted.[41]

---

[16] Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173.

[a] Usable value.—Where plaintiff was engaged in the cartage business, and was deprived of the use of an automobile truck which defendant had replevied, damages for loss of the use of truck while in the possession of defendant were recoverable in an action on the replevin bond without being specially pleaded, not being special damages, since detention of the truck necessarily implied a loss of its use during the period of detention. Ralph N. Blakeslee Co. v. Rigo, 94 Conn. 481, 109 A 173.

[17] See supra § 436.

[18] Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89; Greer v. Howard, 41 Oh. St. 591 (holding that, where the property was replevied from an officer holding it under an execution, the complaint in an action on the bond by plaintiff in such action must allege an assignment of the bond or the judgment in replevin, which would have effected an assignment of the bond, or allege a refusal on the part of the sheriff to assign the bond or judgment or enforce the bond).

[19] Nunn v. Goodlett, 10 Ark. 89 (holding, however, that the complaint need not allege the exact date of the assignment if it shows that the assignment was before the action on the bond was brought).

[20] Knapp v. Colburn, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 616 (holding that a replevin bond is assignable only in cases where the goods replevied were taken as a distress for rent, and that such fact must be averred in a declaration by assignees or it will be bad).

[21] Morange v. Mudge, 6 AbbPr (N. Y.) 243.

[22] See Greer v. Howard, 41 Oh. St. 591 (where, however, the complaint failed to allege an assignment of either the bond or the judgment).

[23] Parrott v. Scott, 6 Mont. 340, 12 P 763.

[24] Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206 (holding that, where the bond is conditioned to deliver the property "in case the return thereof shall be awarded," it is not sufficient merely to allege a failure to return the property, but in order to show a breach of the bond it must be alleged that an order was made for its return).

[a] Allegations held sufficient (1) generally see Fisse v. Katzentine, 93 Ind. 490. (2) An allegation that the judgment remains in full force and effect and is wholly unpaid is sufficient to show a breach of the bond. Terry v. Johnson, 109 Ky. 589, 60 SW 300, 22 KyL 1210. (3) A complaint which alleges the giving of the redelivery bond "and that the defendants herein have wholly failed, refused and neglected to redeliver said personal property to this plaintiff in accordance with the terms of the undertaking above set forth, a copy of which is hereto attached and marked Exhibit A, and has wholly failed, refused, and neglected to pay the judgment awarded the plaintiff in said action and are in default under said undertaking," sufficiently sets forth facts constituting the breach. Burkitt v. Vail, 123 Or. 461, 238 P 1114, 260 P 1014, 1015. (4) Where the complaint set out the bond in hæc verba and averred that defendants breached the conditions of the bond in that they failed to deliver the property replevied by them within thirty days after such judgment, and failed to pay plaintiff the damages accruing from the detention, such complaint stated a substantial cause of action. Rains v. Ethridge-Atkins Motor Co., (Ala.) 127 S 905.

[25] Colorado Springs Co. v. Hopkins, 5 Colo. 206.

[26] Nickerson v. Chatterton, 7 Cal. 568; Barton v. Donnelly, 6 Misc. 473, 27 NYS 525 [aff 142 N. Y. 523, 37 NE 619]. But see Slack v. Heath, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 95, 1 AbbPr 331 (where the bond is in statutory form, return to defendant need not be alleged).

[a] But if bond itself states that the property was returned to defendant and the bond is made a part of the petition, no further allegation as to the return of the property is necessary. O'Loughlin v. Carr, 9 Kan. A. 818, 60 P 478.

[b] Redelivery to one defendant.—A complaint on an undertaking given by defendants in replevin to secure a return of the property to them is not defective in failing to allege a redelivery to both defendants, it appearing that the property was redelivered to one of them on a requisition made by both. Potter v. Van Vranken, 36 N. Y. 619, 2 Transcr. A. 73.

[27] Barton v. Donnelly, 6 Misc. 473, 27 NYS 525 [aff 142 N. Y. 523, 37 NE 619].

[28] Slack v. Heath, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 95, 1 AbbPr 331.

[29] Hedderick v. Pontet, 6 Mont. 345, 12 P 765.

[30] Eldred v. Bennett, 33 Pa. 183.

[31] Nickerson v. Chatterton, 7 Cal. 568.

[a] Alternative judgment.—Where an alternative judgment for the return of the property, as well as a judgment for the value, was necessary under the statute, a complaint alleging a money judgment was bad. New England Furniture, etc., Co. v. Bryant, 64 Minn. 256, 66 NW 974.

[32] Nickerson v. Chatterton, 7 Cal. 568.

[33] Blackburn v. Crowder, 108 Ind. 238, 9 NE 108.

[34] Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Ferguson, 28 N. D. 347, 148 NW 1049; Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 131 NW 229.

Judgment in replevin as essential to fix liability see supra § 414.

[a] Insufficient allegation of impossibility of return.—In an action on a redelivery bond an allegation of the rendition of a mere money judgment in the prior action, and concluding with a recital that it satisfactorily appeared that a return of the property could not be had, was held insufficient to warrant recovery.

[§ 449] b. Plea, Answer, and Affidavit of Defense[42]—(1) Plaintiff's Bond. In an action on a replevin bond the plea or answer must present a good defense to the action,[43] and in traversing the allegations of the complaint should do so directly and not inferentially, as by setting up facts inconsistent with what is there alleged.[44] So also the allegations of the plea or answer must not be repugnant to each other,[45] or tender an immaterial issue,[46] as by tendering issue only upon an allegation of the complaint, which is mere surplusage.[47] While a plea which purports to answer only a part of the action is good so far as it goes,[48] a plea to the whole declaration or complaint which is an answer to only a part thereof is bad,[49] since it must be sufficient as to all breaches of the conditions of the bond which are well assigned in the declaration or complaint.[50] Fraud or collusion in regard to the procuring of the judgment in the action of replevin may be pleaded as a defense,[51] but the facts constituting the alleged fraud or collusion must be set out.[52] A plea of nil debet is not a proper plea in an action on a replevin bond;[53] and where the complaint sets out the condition and alleges special breaches, a plea of general performance,[54] or a plea of non damnificatus is bad.[55] A plea of nul tiel record is bad where no record is averred in the declaration,[56] and although the complaint alleges an award of retorno habendo by a court of record, a plea of nul tiel record is not proper, since the action is not founded upon the record but upon the bond,[57] and a plea denying that plaintiff had any property in the goods replevied is bad where no such property is averred in the declaration.[58] Matters in excuse of a breach of condition of the bond cannot be availed of unless specially pleaded;[59] but ordinarily facts and circumstances which are merely in mitigation of damages need not,[60] and should not be pleaded,[61] and a plea which does not answer any or any part of the breaches alleged, but merely sets up matters which would be properly considered in mitigation of damages, is bad.[62] In some jurisdictions, however, by statute defendant may plead in mitigation of damages that the merits of the case were not determined in the action of replevin and may set up his title to the property in question;[63] but such Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Ferguson, 28 N. D. 347, 148 NW 1049.

[35] Slack v. Heath, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 95, 1 AbbPr 331.

[36] O'Loughlin v. Carr, 9 Kan. A. 818, 60 P 478.

[37] Slack v. Heath, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 95, 1 AbbPr 331.

[38] Terry v. Johnson, 109 Ky. 589, 60 SW 300, 22 KyL 1210.

[39] Blackburn v. Crowder, 108 Ind. 238, 9 NE 108 (holding that, under a statute requiring the bond or a copy thereof to be filed with the complaint, if there is a variance between the recitals of the complaint and those of the bond filed therewith, the latter will control).

[40] Chaffee v. Sangston, 10 Watts (Pa.) 265.

[41] Kirkman Nurseries v. Thorwaldson, 56 Cal. A. 1, 204 P 253.

[a] New cause of action was not set out in an amended complaint in an action on a redelivery bond merely because the word "merchantable" was included in the description of trees. Kirkman Nurseries v. Thorwaldson, 56 Cal. A. 1, 204 P 253.

Amendments generally see Pleading § 671 et seq.

[42] Generally see Pleading §§ 197-379; Bonds §§ 187-201; Contracts §§ 871-897.

[43] Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928; Goelz v. Joerg, 64 Ill. 114; Palmer v. Emery, 91 Ill. A. 207.

[a] Plea insufficient.—(1) A plea that plaintiff ought not to maintain his action because the suit in replevin was dismissed by agreement of the parties is bad because it attempts to set up a parol dispensation of a specialty, and because the agreement would not include an agreement to dispense with a return of the property, without which the dismissal would itself be a breach of the bond. O'Neal v. Wade, 3 Ind. 410. (2) A plea alleging that defendant commenced an action of replevin without any delay and "from thence hitherto has continued and prosecuted his said suit, as in the said condition is mentioned" is insufficient for not alleging that the suit was prosecuted without delay. Caswell v. Catton, 9 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 282. (3) An answer alleging that, after the property had been delivered to defendant by the officer on the same day, one of the plaintiffs violently and forcibly took it out of his possession and deprived him of the possession thereof, wherefore he could not make return thereof, is perhaps sufficient to bar a recovery for the value of the property or sufficient in mitigation of damages, but does not state facts sufficient to bar an action. Story v. O'Dea, 23 Ind. 326.

[44] Perrigo Gold Min., etc., Co. v. Grimes, 2 Colo. 651; Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912.

[45] Wright v. Card, 16 R. I. 719, 19 A 709 (holding that a plea setting up matters of confession and avoidance and then alleging a general performance is bad for repugnancy).

[46] Barbour v. Perry, 41 Ill. A. 613.

[47] Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928.

[48] See Wright v. Card, 16 R. I. 719, 19 A 709 (dictum).

[49] Wood v. Franklin, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,946, 2 Cranch C. C. 115; Sopris v. Lilly, 1 Colo. 266; Goelz v. Joerg, 64 Ill. 114; Humphrey v. Taggart, 38 Ill. 228; Palmer v. Emery, 91 Ill. A. 207; Fellheimer v. Hainline, 65 Ill. A. 384; Larson v. Laird, 36 Ill. A. 402; Morehead v. Yeazel, 10 Ill. A. 263; Lindsay v. Blood, 2 Mass. 518.

[50] Sopris v. Lilly, 1 Colo. 266; Golding v. Bellnap, 26 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 163.

[a] Plea as to one breach.—A plea that defendant returned the property was insufficient where the breach also alleged was a failure to prosecute with effect. Golding v. Bellnap, 26 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 163.

[51] Wright v. Card, 16 R. I. 719, 19 A 709.

[52] Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928. See Wright v. Card, 16 R. I. 719, 19 A 709 (where the allegations were held to be insufficient).

[53] King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619; Fellheimer v. Hainline, 65 Ill. A. 384.

[54] Gorman v. Lenox, 15 Pet. (U. S.) 115, 10 L. ed. 680 [aff 15 F. Cas. No. 8,246, 5 Cranch C. C. 531]; Wood v. Franklin, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,946, 2 Cranch C. C. 115. See Doogan v. Tyson, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 453 (holding that whether a plea of general performance is a correct plea or not, if incorrect it can only be objected to by special demurrer).

[55] Wood v. Franklin, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,946, 2 Cranch C. C. 115.

[56] Wood v. Franklin, supra.

[57] Fellheimer v. Hainline, 65 Ill. A. 384.

[58] Wood v. Franklin, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,946, 2 Cranch C. C. 115.

[59] Smith v. Bowers, 2 Nebr. (Unoff.) 611, 89 NW 596.

[60] Bradley v. Reynolds, 61 Conn. 271, 23 A 928.

[61] Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Sammons v. Newman, 27 Ind. 508; Smith v. Lisher, 23 Ind. 500.

[62] Wright v. Card, 16 R. I. 719, 19 A 709.

[63] Chinn v. McCoy, 19 Ill. 604.

[a] Form of plea.—Under such statute defendant must affirmatively state in his plea why the merits were not so determined, and enough of the proceedings in the former action should be set forth to enable plea is not good if pleaded in bar of the whole cause of action as it does not answer the whole declaration.[64] The practice varies in different jurisdictions as to the necessity of filing an affidavit of merits or defense in an action on a replevin bond.[65]

[§ 450] (2) Defendant's Bond. In an action on a redelivery bond the plea or answer must allege facts which if true present a good defense to the action;[66] and where the declaration or complaint sets out the conditions of the bond and specially assigns breaches, the plea or answer should traverse the breaches as laid and conclude to the country.[67] An answer is insufficient if it neither contradicts any material allegation of the complaint nor sets up any new matter constituting a defense;[68] and an answer made on information and belief is insufficient where the facts alleged are necessarily within the knowledge of the party pleading.[69] In an action on a redelivery bond no affidavit of defense is necessary.[70]

[§ 451] c. Other Pleadings. The rules of pleading applicable in civil actions generally[71] apply with regard to the replication or reply,[72] and to the subsequent pleadings.[73] A party who by replication waives an objection to a formal defect in the plea cannot afterward avail himself of such objection.[74]

[§ 452] 6. Issues, Proof, and Variance.[75] An issue arises in an action on the bond when a fact or conclusion of law is maintained by the pleadings of one party and is controverted by the pleadings of the other.[76] Plaintiff must support by proof the material facts in issue necessary to authorize a recovery,[77] and defendant the facts relied on as a defense,[78] unless such facts are admitted or deemed admitted by the adverse party,[79] but the proof need not be more extensive than the breach of the condition alleged.[80] Where the answer is a general denial, plaintiff should ordinarily prove the undertaking sued on,[81] the termination of the replevin action,[82] the judgment in replevin,[83] and, in some jurisdictions, the order for the writ of return;[84] and where the only breach of the bond is a failure to prosecute the suit to effect, such suit having been dismissed and no return of the property awarded, actual damages must be shown in order to authorize a recovery of more than nominal damages.[85] The case must be proved as alleged,[86] and a material variance is fatal to a recovery;[87] but a variance which the court to decide on demurrer whether the right of property was determined. King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619.

---

[b] Plea not showing that merits have not been tried in a replevin suit was demurrable. Moore v. Paul F. Beech Co., 221 Ill. A. 609.

Conclusiveness of adjudication in replevin see supra § 427.

[64] King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619, 623; Morehead v. Yeazel, 10 Ill. A. 263.

"The plea was also defective in professing to answer the entire cause of action. Even if the goods replevied belonged to the plaintiffs in the action of replevin, and the right of property was not determined in that suit, the obligee would still have a cause of action on the bond, and be entitled to recover nominal damages, for a failure to make return of the goods, as required by the judgment of the court." King v. Ramsay, supra.

[65] See Peck v. Wilson, 22 Ill. 205 (holding that a plea in an action on a replevin bond should not be stricken from the files for want of an affidavit of merits); Barr v. McGary, 131 Pa. 401, 19 A 45 (holding that an affidavit of defense is necessary where plaintiff has complied with the Practice Act of 1887, without regard to the affidavit of defense law or cases arising under its provisions).

[66] Smith v. Stubbs, 16 Colo. A. 130, 63 P 955; Adams v. Wiesenthal, 69 N. J. L. 65, 54 A 516.

[67] Adams v. Wiesenthal, supra.

[68] Livingston v. Hammer, 20 N. Y. Super. 670 (holding such an answer to be frivolous).

[69] Smith v. Stubbs, 16 Colo. A. 130, 63 P 955.

[70] Elliott v. Kunszig, 9 WklyNC (Pa.) 542.

[71] Generally see Pleading §§ 392-451; Bonds §§ 202, 203; Contracts §§ 898-905.

[72] See Clark v. Hanchett, 40 Ill. A. 212 (replication held defective); Doogan v. Tyson, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 453 (holding that, where defendant pleads a general performance, plaintiff must show his cause of action in his replication, stating the breaches of conditions of the bond upon which he intends to rely).

[73] Clark v. Hanchett, 40 Ill. A. 212 (holding that, in the particular case, the sustaining of a demurrer to the rejoinder was not prejudicial to defendant).

[74] Fellheimer v. Hainline, 65 Ill. A. 384.

[75] Generally see Pleading §§ 1144-1211; Bonds §§ 206-217; Contracts §§ 906-925.

[76] See Montgomery v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Cal. A. 251, 230 P 993.

[a] Denial on information and belief of allegation that defendant filed disclaimer in the replevin action did not raise an issue as to whether such disclaimer was filed, and hence the court properly proceeded without first causing a representative of such deceased person to be present. Montgomery v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Cal. A. 251, 230 P 993.

Issues generally see Pleading § 1144 et seq.

[77] Gallup v. Wortmann, 11 Colo. A. 308, 53 P 247; Pettit v. Allen, 64 App. Div. 579, 72 NYS 287; Cowdin v. Stanton, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 120; Knott v. Sherman, 7 S. D. 522, 64 NW 542. See also Le Barron v. Taylor, 53 Iowa 637, 6 NW 35 (although the petition did not distinctly allege the levy of an execution, parties proceeded to trial as if a proper allegation had been made, but it was held that the evidence was insufficient to prove such levy).

[78] Clapham v. Crabtree, 72 Me. 473.

[79] See cases infra this note.

[a] What deemed admitted.—(1) If no plea is filed traversing the allegation of the declaration of a failure to return the property, such allegation stands admitted and need not be proved. Richardson v. Gilbert, 135 Ill. A. 363. (2) An allegation of the declaration that there was an award of retorno habendo upon dismissal of the replevin suit, unless denied by plea, stands admitted and need not be proved. Hanchett v. Buckley, 27 Ill. A. 159.

[b] Party by his default admits all the facts well pleaded. Peck v. Wilson, 22 Ill. 205.

[80] Kellogg v. Boyden, 126 Ill. 378, 18 NE 770; Peck v. Wilson, 22 Ill. 205.

[81] Smith v. Lisher, 23 Ind. 500.

[a] Proof of execution of bond.—(1) In an action of debt on a replevin bond, the introduction of the bond without objection, under a verified plea of non est factum, is not a waiver of proof of the execution of such bond. Carlson v. Gilbert, 99 Ill. A. 574. (2) But where the declaration states the legal effect of the bond, it is unnecessary to prove its execution where it has not been denied by a plea verified by affidavit. Horner v. Boyden, 27 Ill. A. 573.

[82] Bierma v. Columbia Typewriter Co., 179 Ill. A. 69.

[83] Bierma v. Columbia Typewriter Co., supra.

[84] Bierma v. Columbia Typewriter Co., supra.

Writ of return as condition precedent see supra § 435.

[85] Imel v. Van Deren, 8 Colo. 90, 5 P 803.

[86] Lockhart v. Bell, 20 S. C. L. 422 (holding that, where the bond is declared on as a joint bond against two obligors, plaintiff cannot recover upon proof that it was executed by one of them without any proof as to the other).

[87] Salter v. Richardson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 204; Lockhart v. Bell, 20 S. C. L. 422.

[a] Variance as to terms of bond.—(1) Where there is a difference of two years in the date of the bond alleged and proved, it is a material is not material may be disregarded.[88] The proof to be admissible must conform to the pleadings and issues,[89] and whether a particular issue has been raised by the pleadings to allow proof depends on the particular matter in question.[90] In an action upon a redelivery bond plaintiff must prove the rendition of a judgment in his favor in the action of replevin,[91] and if plaintiff relies on a judgment apparently not authorized by statute, it is incumbent upon him to show the exceptional facts which authorize the judgment.[92] Defendant can prove only such defenses as are properly pleaded,[93] and no recovery can be had where there is no evidence of the contents of the bond or of the sureties thereon.[94]

[§ 453] 7. Evidence[95]—a. Presumptions and Burden of Proof. In an action on a replevin bond plaintiff has the burden of proving the ultimate facts alleged which are denied,[96] such as the breach of the conditions of the bond relied on,[97] and the value of the property as of the time such valuation is to be determined,[98] unless this course is rendered unnecessary by the acceptance of the value admitted by defendant in entering into the bond.[99] If more than nominal damages are claimed, plaintiff has the burden of proof to produce evidence to show actual damages sustained.[1] Defendant in a similar manner has the burden of proof to establish ultimate facts alleged either in defense of the action,[2] or in mitigation of damages.[3] Thus where defendant for the purpose of mitigating damages alleges ownership of the property awarded plaintiff in the replevin action, defendant has the burden of proof to sustain such allegation.[4]

Presumptions. While presumptions may be indulged in as against the principal, they will ordinarily not be indulged in as against the surety.[5] It has been held, however, that, where no return of the property is awarded, it will be presumed that it was made to appear that plaintiff had become entitled to the possession.[6] In the absence of a showing to the contrary, it will be presumed that the officer has acted regularly and taken sufficient bond before serving the writ;[7] that the court in the replevin action had jurisdiction;[8] that the judgment rendered in replevin was the proper judgment;[9] that on breach of the conditions of the bond damages were incurred,[10] although such damages may be only nomi-variance. Salter v. Richardson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 204. (2) Where the bond stipulated for the payment of a sum with interest and the declaration recited a bond for the same amount due without naming interest, there was a fatal variance. Salter v. Richardson, supra.

---

[b] Variance as to parties defendant.—Under a declaration against one defendant upon a bond as a joint and several obligation, plaintiff cannot recover upon the bond which, as adduced and proved, purports to be a joint obligation entered into by defendant and others. Lockhart v. Bell, 20 S. C. L. 422.

[88] Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513; Cimini v. Zambarano, 36 R. I. 122, 89 A 295 [op. amended 89 A 711].

[a] Variance as to bond.—Variance between declaration and proof, when due to a mistake in a condition of the bond and where a further like condition, not affected by such mistake appeared therein, was held insufficient to require a directed verdict for defendant. Cimini v. Zambarano, 36 R. I. 122, 89 A 295 [op. amended 89 A 711].

[b] Where variance is immaterial, an amendment should be permitted, even on reargument in the supreme court. Cimini v. Zambarano, (R. I.) 89 A 711 [amending op. 36 R. I. 122, 89 A 295].

[89] Gorman v. Lenox, 15 Pet. (U. S.) 115, 10 L. ed. 680 [aff 15 F. Cas. No. 8,246, 5 Cranch C. C. 531]; Chapin v. Matson, 37 Ill. A. 257; Wall v. Humphreys, 4 Dana (Ky.) 209.

[90] See cases infra this note.

[a] Attorney's fees.—Evidence of expenses for attorney's fees was not admissible where there was no proped foundation laid in the complaint. Edwin v. Cox, 61 Ill. A. 567.

[b] Proof in mitigation of damages may be admitted under a general denial. Smith v. Lisher, 23 Ind. 500.

[c] Jurisdiction of justice.—Defense that the justice before whom the action of replevin was brought was without jurisdiction should, where such fact does not affirmatively appear from the proceedings, be specially pleaded. Tyler v. Bowlus, 54 Ind. 333, 601.

[91] Eldred v. Bennett, 33 Pa. 183.

[a] Award in arbitration, not under a rule of court, was not sufficient proof of a judgment in replevin. Eldred v. Bennett, 33 Pa. 183.

[92] New England Furniture, etc., Co. v. Bryant, 64 Minn. 256, 66 NW 974.

[93] Bolt v. Milam, 110 S. C. 399, 96 SE 614.

[94] Rousher v. Hamm, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 233.

[95] Cross references:
Burden of proof generally see Bonds §§ 218–229; Contracts §§ 926–959; Evidence §§ 13–24.
Presumptions generally see Bonds §§ 218–229; Contracts §§ 926–959; Evidence §§ 25–88.
Recital of value in bond as presumptive evidence of value see infra § 458.

[96] New England Furniture, etc., Co. v. Bryant, 64 Minn. 256, 66 NW 974.

[a] Corporate mortgage.—In an action by a junior mortgagee on the bond of a senior mortgagee, the former was not in the first instance required to show that the corporation mortgagor had complied with the law in the execution of the mortgage, although the mortgage was not authorized by members of the corporation. Cermak v. Cable Piano Co., 211 Ill. A. 219.

[97] Gallup v. Wortmann, 11 Colo. A. 308, 53 P 247.

[98] Sullivan v. Martinelli, 261 Mass. 261, 158 NE 662.

[99] Martin v. Passarini, (N. S.) [1928] 1 DomLR 636.

[1] Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

[2] Fabian v. Traeger, 215 Ill. 220, 74 NE 131 [aff 117 Ill. A. 176]; Grace City First State Bank v. Bradley, 57 N. D. 159, 220 NW 848; Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315; Vallancy v. Hunt, 26 N. D. 611, 145 NW 132; Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 106 NW 564.

[a] Mortgage foreclosure.—Defendant has the burden of proving that plaintiff's rights to the property had been extinguished by foreclosure of a mortgage held by defendant. Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 106 NW 564.

[b] Return of property.—Defendant and surety on a redelivery bond had the burden of sustaining the defense that the property was returned in substantially the same condition. Grace City First State Bank v. Bradley, 57 N. D. 159, 220 NW 848.

[3] Clapham v. Crabtree, 72 Me. 473.

[4] Lapp v. Ritter, 88 Fed. 108; Stevison v. Ernest, 80 Ill. 513; Norton v. Deuchler, 191 Ill. A. 271; Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

[5] New England Furniture, etc., Co. v. Bryant, 64 Minn. 256, 66 NW 974; Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 131 NW 229.

[a] Loss of property.—In claim and delivery, judgment for the value of the property and for damages may be rendered, where the property is destroyed or lost; and where such a judgment has been rendered, and there is no proof to the contrary, it will be presumed that the property has been so destroyed or lost; but the presumption cannot be indulged in as against the sureties on the undertaking, but as against them exceptional facts warranting a money judgment must be proved, in an action on the bond. Larson v. Hanson, 21 N. D. 411, 131 NW 229.

[6] Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912; Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254.

[7] Edgecomb v. Lawlis, 126 Me. 550, 140 A 182; Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

[8] Klaproth v. Greenberg, 147 Ill. A. 380.

[9] Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254.

[10] Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176, 179.

nal;[11] and that the value of the property at the time of the trial is the same as found by the court at the time it was replevied.[12]

[§ 454] b. Admissibility—(1) In General. In actions on replevin bonds the ordinary rules of evidence in civil actions apply,[13] and subject to such rules and except as to matters conclusively determined in the replevin action,[14] evidence which is relevant to any of the material facts in issue is admissible,[15] while evidence that is irrelevant or immaterial,[16] such as proceedings in attachment,[17] or in assumpsit,[18] or evidence of facts not pleaded,[19] or insufficient, may not be admissible.[20] The bond, where its execution is sufficiently proved,[21] the affidavit,[22] declaration, or petition,[23] writ and indorsement thereon,[24] the judgment in replevin,[25] and other papers and files in the replevin suit, if properly identified, are admissible,[26] and such record constitutes the proper means of showing the subject matter of that suit.[27] It is error to refuse to permit plaintiff to prove that the property has not been returned as the condition of the bond required;[28] and where the value of the property is a material issue as affecting plaintiff's damages, it is error to exclude evidence of such value.[29] It is erroneous to exclude evidence to support the merits of the replevin action where in that action the merits of the controversy were not tried or determined.[30] In an action on a redelivery bond evidence which is irrelevant and immaterial is inadmissible,[31] so that testimony relating to the condition of the property at a time long subsequent to the bringing of the suit is properly rejected.[32]

[§ 455] (2) Evidence of Damages. Any proper evidence is admissible which tends to show the damages actually sustained after judgment in the replevin action by reason of a failure to return the property in accordance with such judgment,[33] and while, under a general breach assigned, evidence of damages suffered by a detention of the property prior to an order of return is admissible,[34] yet it must be evidence of what the damages in fact were, without any reference to the former assessment.[35] The opinion of third persons as to the possible profits

---

"If there was a breach of the bond as alleged in the complaint, such breach was a wrongful act, and the law infers or presumes damages arising therefrom to plaintiffs; if no actual or substantial damages are shown, the law gives nominal damages in order to determine and establish plaintiff's right of action, and thus affords a remedy for the wrong done to them by the defendant's breach of the bond." Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, supra.

11. Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, supra.

12. Monday v. Vance, (Tex. Civ. A.) 51 SW 346.

13. Generally see Evidence § 89 et seq; Contracts §§ 960-975.

14. Conclusiveness of adjudication in replevin see supra §§ 426, 427.

15. Colo.—Perrigo Gold Min., etc., Co. v. Grimes, 2 Colo. 651.

Ill.—Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634.

Mich.—Bolton v. Nitz, 88 Mich. 354, 50 NW 291.

N. D.—Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 106 NW 564.

S. D.—Knott v. Sherman, 7 S. D. 522, 64 NW 542.

16. Janssen v. Duncan, 43 Colo. 286, 95 P 922; Martin v. Hertz, 224 Ill. 84, 79 NE 558 [aff 118 Ill. A. 297]; Hanchett v. Buckley, 27 Ill. A. 159.

[a] Declarations of plaintiff.—Pye v. Wood, 3 Harr. & J. (Md.) 504.

17. Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142.

[a] Illustration.—In an action on a bond given to plaintiff, a deputy sheriff, in replevin for property attached by him in an action against defendants' vendor, the writ, declaration, execution, etc., in the attachment proceedings, were not admissible in evidence, since plaintiff's cause of action did not depend on the result of that proceeding, he being accountable to the true owner of the goods, however that case went. Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142.

18. Eaton v. Campbell, 2 Mich. N. P. 10.

[a] Execution in assumpsit.—An execution in favor of defendant issued in the form of an execution in favor of a plaintiff in assumpsit cannot be considered as an execution in the replevin suit and is not admissible in an action against the sureties on the bond where, under the law, they are not liable until execution has been issued in that suit and returned unsatisfied. Eaton v. Campbell, 2 Mich. N. P. 10.

19. Hanson v. Weber Impl. Co., 173 Ill. A. 293.

[a] Pleas of tender of property being an affirmative defense it is doubtful whether evidence of the tender is admissible under a general denial. Shrader v. Wolflin, 21 Ind. 238.

20. Schrader v. Wolflin, supra.

[a] To establish legal tender.—Schrader v. Wolflin, 21 Ind. 238.

21. McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161; Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[a] Admission of due execution.—In an action against a surety on a replevin bond, where defendant admitted his signature to the bond, and the sheriff had accepted and indorsed his approval thereon, the execution of the bond was sufficiently proved to authorize its admission in evidence. McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161; Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858.

[b] Copy of lost bond.—Where, prior to the dismissal of a replevin suit, the affidavit, writ, and bond were lost, and plaintiff therein obtained leave to substitute copies, he could not complain, in a suit upon the bond, that the copy of the bond was introduced in evidence against him. Fleet v. Hertz, 201 Ill. 594, 66 NE 858, 94 AmSR 192 [rev 98 Ill. A. 564].

22. Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513; Love v. Peo., 94 Ill. A. 237 (holding that the affidavit made by a plaintiff in a replevin suit is competent evidence against him in a suit on the bond).

23. Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513; McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204.

24. Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513; McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204; West v. Caldwell, 23 N. J. L. 736.

25. Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634; Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858; Bolt v. Milam, 110 S. C. 399, 96 SE 614.

[a] Nunc pro tunc judgment was admitted, and it was immaterial that such order was entered by a judge other than the one who tried the case. Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634.

26. Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513; Woods v. Kessler, 93 Ind. 356; Shaver v. Kappellas, 83 Ind. A. 338, 146 NE 858; West v. Caldwell, 23 N. J. L. 736.

[a] Dismissal of replevin suit does not remove the papers from the record, and the admission of such papers in evidence in an action on the bond is not error. Woods v. Kessler, 93 Ind. 356.

[b] Motion to set aside judgment.—Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634.

[c] Receipt for property.—Barrett v. Marschak, 192 Ill. A. 481.

27. McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204.

28. Smith v. Pries, 21 Ill. 656.

29. Siebolt v. Konatz Saddlery Co., 15 N. D. 87, 106 NW 564.

30. Klaproth v. Greenberg, 147 Ill. A. 380.

31. Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

32. Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

33. Miltimore v. Bottom, 66 Vt. 168, 28 A 872.

[a] Depreciation in value.—In an action on a replevin bond, evidence respecting the value and condition of the property when returned was held erroneously excluded, notwithstanding no alternative judgment for value had been taken. Booth v. National Surety Co., 129 Or. 598, 278 P 987.

34. Shepard v. Butterfield, 41 Ill. 76.

35. Shepard v. Butterfield, supra (holding that, when plaintiff in an ac-which plaintiff might have realized if he had not been deprived of the property replevied is not admissible.[36]

[§ 456] (3) Evidence in Mitigation of Damages. Since a replevin bond is one of indemnity only,[37] defendant, in an action on the bond, is entitled to show, unless concluded by the proceedings in the replevin suit,[38] that the actual damage sustained by plaintiff was less than the value of the property replevied,[39] and to introduce evidence of any fact proper to be considered in mitigation of damages.[40] What evidence is admissible depends on the rights decided in the replevin action and the nature of the bond;[41] but since a judgment for defendant in replevin does not necessarily determine the title to the property,[42] defendant in the action on the bond is entitled to show that it was not determined in such suit;[43] to show in mitigation of damages the right on which defendant in replevin recovered;[44] and to show that he was not the owner of the property,[45] that he had merely a qualified[46] or partial interest therein,[47] and the extent of such interest,[48] that the interest which he had has ceased to exist[49] or was a mere possessory right,[50] that the action of replevin was defeated solely because it was prematurely commenced,[51] or that plaintiff in replevin was in fact the owner of the property,[52] and entitled to possession.[53] Although defendant in the action on the bond cannot show title in himself even in mitigation of damages, where the question of title was adjudicated in the replevin suit,[54] he may, in mitigation of damages, show that such title was of short duration and was terminated by contract shortly after the judgment in replevin.[55] Evidence is also admissible to show that plaintiff has received the value of the property replevied,[56] and in an action on a bond given in replevin, for goods distrained for rent defendant may show in mitigation of damages that there was no rent in arrear,[57] or that plaintiff's interest in the property was qualified.[58] In an action on a redelivery bond where the judgment in replevin was for a return of the property or a certain sum as its value, defendant may show in mitigation of damages that he offered to return the property without unreasonable delay and did return it before the commencement of the tion of replevin was nonsuited, and the court ordered a return of the property, and damages were assessed for its detention, evidence of such assessment was not admissible in an action subsequently brought on the replevin bond).

---

36. Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591 (holding that, while plaintiff may recover for a loss of profits if proved with reasonable certainty, the mere opinion of a witness as to future profits has not that element of certainty necessary as a basis for estimating damages).

37. See supra § 116.

38. Conclusiveness of adjudication in replevin proceedings see supra §§ 426, 427.

39. Jackson v. Emmons, 59 Conn. 493, 22 A 296; Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378.

40. Jackson v. Emmons, 59 Conn. 493, 22 A 296; Vinton v. Mansfield, 48 Conn. 474; Jones v. Smith, 79 Me. 452, 10 A 256; Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378.

[a] Fraud in procuring property.—In an action on a replevin bond, defendant may, in mitigation of damages, give evidence of fraud by which defendant was cheated by plaintiff and others in playing at cards, whereby plaintiff won the property of defendant which was the subject of the replevin. McDaniel v. Fish, 16 F. Cas. No. 8,744, 2 Cranch C. C. 160.

41. Mason v. Sumner, 22 Md. 312; Belt v. Worthington, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 247.

42. Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591; Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

43. Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591.

44. Mason v. Sumner, 22 Md. 312.

45. Walter v. Warfield, 2 Gill (Md.) 216; Easter v. Foster, 173 Mass. 39, 53 NE 132, 73 AmSR 257.

46. Conn.—Hannon v. O'Dell, 71 Conn. 698, 43 A 147.

Ill.—Zimmer v. Cummings, 202 Ill. A. 18.

Ind.—Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987; McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161.

Md.—Mason v. Sumner, 22 Md. 312.

Mich.—Lindner v. Brock, 40 Mich. 618.

[a] Interest as bailee or trustee.—Zimmer v. Cummings, 202 Ill. A. 18.

[b] Mortgage on property replevied.—Evidence in an action on a replevin bond that defendants, who were plaintiffs in the replevin suit, held a mortgage on the property involved in that suit, and that the notes secured by it were still unpaid, was admissible in mitigation of damages. Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987; McFadden v. Ross, 108 Ind. 512, 8 NE 161.

[c] Validity of corporate mortgage.—A chattel mortgage executed by a corporation, and offered in evidence in an action on plaintiff's bond by the then defendant in mitigation of damages, was not void because authorized at a meeting of directors from which one of the directors, who received no notice, was absent, where there was no disaffirmance of the transaction so that plaintiff in the action on the bond would take subject to such mortgage at a sale previously had. Magerstadt v. Chicago First Nat. Bank, 175 Ill. A. 407.

47. Hansen v. Thomas, 171 Minn. 101, 213 NW 378. But see Williams v. Vail, 9 Mich. 162, 80 AmD 76 (where defendant in replevin waived a return of property, plaintiff, when sued on bond, cannot show in mitigation that defendant was but a part owner).

48. Hannon v. O'Dell, 71 Conn. 698, 43 A 147; Lindner v. Brock, 40 Mich. 618.

49. Tuck v. Moses, 58 Me. 461.

50. Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591.

51. Davis v. Harding, 3 Allen (Mass.) 302.

52. U. S.—Gilbert v. American Surety Co., 121 Fed. 499, 57 CCA 619, 61 LRA 253; Ringgold v. Bacon, 20 F. Cas. No. 11,842, 3 Cranch C. C. 257; Smith v. Hazel, 22 F. Cas. No. 13,055, 3 Cranch C. C. 55.

Conn.—Allen v. Woodford, 36 Conn. 143.

Me.—Harmon v. Flood, 115 Me. 116, 97 A 834; Jones v. Smith, 79 Me. 452, 10 A 256.

Md.—Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591; Belt v. Worthington, 3 Gill & J. 247.

N. C.—Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

R. I.—Bates v. American Surety Co., 148 A 323.

[a] Claim under fraudulent deed.—Although plaintiff in replevin when sued on the bond may show in mitigation that he owned the property, defendant may rebut such evidence by showing that the deed under which plaintiff claimed title was fraudulent and void. Ringgold v. Bacon, 20 F. Cas. No. 11,842, 3 Cranch C. C. 257.

[b] Sureties on replevin bond, in an action thereon, may show rights to the property in themselves or in either of them, which was taken upon the replevin writ, and for which plaintiff took judgment under his lien established at the trial. Henry v. Ferguson, 55 Mich. 399, 21 NW 381.

[c] In Illinois it is provided by statute that, when the merits of the case have not been determined in the replevin action, defendant in the action on the bond may plead title to the property in controversy in mitigation of damages. Hanchett v. Gardner, 138 Ill. 571, 28 NE 788; Stevison v. Earnest, 80 Ill. 513; Peters v. Brown, 245 Ill. A. 570; Bierma v. Columbia Typewriter Co., 179 Ill. A. 69; Farson v. Gilbert, 85 Ill. A. 364. See King v. Ramsay, 13 Ill. 619 (prior to statute).

Conclusiveness of adjudication in replevin as to title and possession see supra § 427.

53. Peters v. Brown, 245 Ill. A. 570.

54. Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Tilghman, 13 Md. 74.

55. Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Tilghman, supra.

56. Vinton v. Mansfield, 48 Conn. 474.

57. Wood v. May, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,956, 3 Cranch C. C. 172.

58. Mason v. Sumner, 22 Md. 312.

action on the bond.[59]

[§ 457] (4) Value of Property. As tending to show the value of the property at the time it was replevied, evidence is admissible as to its value before or after that time,[60] and the testimony of any witness of competent knowledge is admissible as to its value.[61] The finding of the jury in the replevin action as to the value of the property,[62] or the sum named in the affidavit[63] or in the replevin bond, is admissible as evidence of the value of the property.[64] But unless statements as to the value of the property in the bond, writ, or affidavit are treated as conclusive evidence of the value, either party in the action on the bond may show by other evidence the true value of the property.[65] The original appraisement in the replevin action is not admissible on the question of value as against plaintiff who was defendant in replevin and had no part in procuring it to be made.[66]

[§ 458] c. Weight and Sufficiency. The general rules which govern as to the weight and sufficiency of the evidence in other civil actions[67] apply in an action on a replevin bond.[68] A verdict or finding must rest upon facts of which there is substantial evidence,[69] such as the fact of the execution of the bond,[70] the taking of the property under the replevin writ,[71] the breach of the conditions of the bond,[72] or the award of damages;[73] and if there is no substantial evidence to sustain the conclusions upon which the verdict must rest, the verdict must be set aside.[74]

Recitals of value as prima facie evidence.[75] The value stated in the replevin affidavit,[76] in the writ of replevin,[77] or in the replevin bond,[78] or the valuation of the officer who made the levy,[79] is at least prima facie evidence of the value of the property;[80] and such evidence, if uncontradicted, is sufficient.[81] So, also, in an action on a bond given on the replevin of property held under an execution, the recital in the bond is prima facie evidence of the amount of the execution.[82] There is a conflict of opinion as to whether statements made in the affidavit, bond, or in the writ respecting the value of the property are conclusive.[83] It has been held in some jurisdictions that the recitals of value by plaintiff in replevin in the affidavit,[84] in the bond,[85] or in the writ[86] will not estop him, when sued on his bond, from proving the actual value of the property as of the particular time such value is to be measured. In other jurisdictions plaintiff in replevin, when sued on the bond, is bound by the value stated in the affidavit,[87] in the bond,[88] or in writ of replevin;[89] but defendant in replevin who had no part in fixing the value of the property is not bound by the value named in plaintiff's affidavit,[90] bond,[91] in the writ of replevin,[92] or by the value in a certificate of appraisement.[93]

---

[59] June v. Payne, 107 Ind. 307, 7 NE 370, 8 NE 556.

[60] Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603.

[a] In rebuttal.—Where defendant is allowed to give evidence of the value of the property before and after the time it was replevied, plaintiff should be allowed the same privilege in rebuttal and not confined to the day on which the property was replevied. Balsley v. Hoffman, 13 Pa. 603.

[61] Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44.

[a] Householder who bought and paid for a piano was sufficiently qualified to testify as to its value. Klaproth v. Greenberg, 147 Ill. A. 380.

[62] Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799 (such finding is both admissible and conclusive).

[63] Folen v. Saxton, 31 Ida. 319, 171 P 669.

[64] Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250; Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44.

[65] Recitals of value as prima facie evidence see infra § 458.

[66] Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44; Kafer v. Harlow, 5 Allen (Mass.) 348.

[67] See Evidence §§ 1730-1806.

[68] See cases infra notes 69-74.

[69] Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[a] Whether there is such evidence is a question of law for the court. Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[b] Evidence held sufficient: (1) To establish a prima facie case for plaintiff. Hoebel v. Utah-Idaho Livestock Loan Co., 39 Ida. 294, 227 P 1048; Zimmer v. Lyon, 190 Ill. A. 642; Hunter v. Commercial Security Co., 181 Ill. A. 260. (2) To rebut prima facie evidence of ownership arising from possession. Strassheim v. Barnes, 212 Ill. A. 299. (3) To establish the identity of the property replevied. Kellogg v. Boyden, 126 Ill. 378, 18 NE 770. (4) To establish the ownership of the property. Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250. (5) To show that title did not pass to plaintiff in replevin at sale until the note for the purchase price was delivered. Bailey v. Dennis, 135 Mo. A. 93, 115 SW 506.

[c] Evidence held insufficient: (1) To estop plaintiff from recovering by virtue of aiding in the disposition of the property pending the replevin action. Bisconer v. Billing, 71 Cal. A. 779, 236 P 329. (2) To prove that principal's appeal was prevented by intimidation. Bankhead v. Sperry, (Tex. Civ. A.) 298 SW 453.

[d] In action on redelivery bond.—(1) Evidence held sufficient. Kansas Nat. Drill, etc., Co. v. Redd, 97 Kan. 1, 154 P 250 (to establish a proper tender); Larson v. Hanson, 26 N. D. 406, 144 NW 681, 51 LRANS 655 (to show excuse for money judgment in replevin instead of alternative judgment). (2) Evidence held insufficient. Alves v. Humphrey, 69 SW 1080, 24 KyL 764 (to sustain a verdict that defendants were not liable on the ground that the property had been delivered to plaintiff before execution of the redelivery bond); Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Ferguson, 28 N. D. 347, 148 NW 1049 (to show facts necessary to authorize a money judgment only); Gibson v. International Harvester Co., 105 Okl. 253, 232 P 80 (to show a tender in substantially the same condition).

[70] See case infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient as to execution and delivery of the bond. Clark v. Dreyer, 9 Colo. 453, 48 P 818.

[71] See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to sustain finding that plaintiff lost goods by reason of the writ. Jenkins v. Lahey, 216 Ill. A. 613.

[b] Evidence held insufficient to show that plaintiff in replevin took possession of the property in question by virtue of his writ. Pettit v. Allen, 64 App. Div. 579, 72 NYS 287.

[72] See cases infra this note.

[a] Proof of breach of one condition, such as the condition to prosecute, is not sufficient evidence of the breach of another condition such as the condition to return the property. Vinyard v. Barnes, 124 Ill. 346, 16 NE 254.

[b] Evidence held sufficient: (1) To show a breach of the condition to prosecute the action. Hunter v. Commercial Security, 181 Ill. A. 260; Hood v. Spaeth, 51 N. J. L. 129, 16 A 163. (2) To show a breach of the condition to return the property. Jenkins v. Lahey, 216 Ill. A. 613; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142; Hood v. Spaeth, 51 N. J. L. 129, 16 A 163. (3) To show a breach of the condition to pay damages. Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., supra.

[c] Evidence held insufficient: (1) To show a breach of condition to return the property where there is no judgment in replevin for a return. Danford v. Watkins, 337 Ill. 222, 168 NE 912. (2) To show return in substantially as good condition. Caldwell v. Stiles, 80 Okl. 106, 194 P 226.

[d] In action on redelivery bond.—(1) Evidence held sufficient. Vallancy v. Hunt, 26 N. D. 611, 145 NW 132 (to show a breach of the condition to return property in substantially the same condition). (2) Evidence held insufficient. Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315; Gibson v. International Harvester Co., 105 Okl. 253, 232 P 80 (to show a return in as good condition).

[73] See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient: (1) To sustain a judgment for damages for depreciation in the value of the property. Walrus Mfg. Co. v. Quackenbush, 128 Kan. 216, 276 P 806 [reh den 128 Kan. 474, 279 P 3]; Hafner v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 126 Wash. 670, 219 P 16. (2) To warrant finding replevied automobile was not worth more than price received at public auction. Federal Finance, etc., Co. v. Teeter, 196 N. C. 232, 145 SE 8.

[b] Evidence held insufficient: (1) To support judgment for value of property. Kelley v. C. D. Shamburger Lumber Co., (Tex. Civ. A.) 23 SW (2d) 883. (2) To support judgment for damages. Vaughan v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 56 N. D. 272, 217 NW 167.

[74] Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[75] Recitals as prima facie evidence in replevin action see supra § 240.

[76] Bernhardt v. Cappelletti, 104 Conn. 501, 133 A 576; Malsby v. Gamble, 61 Fla. 310, 327, 54 S 766; Martin v. Hertz, 224 Ill. 84, 79 NE 558 [aff 118 Ill. A. 297]; Peters v. Brown, 245 Ill. A. 570; Jenkins v. Lahey, 216 Ill. A. 613; Cermak v. Cable Piano Co., 211 Ill. A. 219; Richardson v. Gilbert, 135 Ill. A. 363; Farson v. Gilbert, 114 Ill. A. 17; Farson v. Gilbert, 85 Ill. A. 364.

[77] Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46; Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 29.

[78] Wood v. May, 30 F. Cas. No. 17,956, 3 Cranch C. C. 172; Jenkins v. Lahey, 216 Ill. A. 613; Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 AnnCas 110; Chernick v. National Surety Co., (R. I.) 148 A 418 [cit Cyc].

[§ 459] 8. Trial[94]—a. In General. Where an action on a replevin bond is tried before a jury, questions of law are for the court,[95] and questions of fact are for the jury.[96]

---

79. Coleman v. Bowman, 135 Miss. 137, 99 S 465.

80. See cases supra notes 76–79.

81. Ill.—Martin v. Hertz, 224 Ill. 84, 79 NE 558; Cermak v. Cable Piano Co., 211 Ill. A. 219 (statement of value in affidavit).

Ind.—Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250 (statement of value in bond).

Mass.—Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44 (statement of value in bond).

N. Y.—Budracco v. National Surety Co., 112 Misc. 133, 182 NYS 590 (statement of value in affidavit or bond).

Or.—Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792 (statement of value in bond).

N. S.—Martin v. Passarini, [1928] 1 DomLR 636 (statement of value in bond).

82. Roman v. Stratton, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 199.

83. See infra text and notes 84–89.

84. Bernhardt v. Cappelletti, 104 Conn. 501, 133 A 576, 577; Budracco v. National Surety Co., 112 Misc. 133, 182 NYS 590.

"While the value of the property as stated in the affidavit is presumed to be its true value until otherwise shown in subsequent proceedings and is prima facie evidence of that value, on both reason and authority it is not conclusive, and when occasion arises, either in the replevin suit or in a subsequent action on the replevin bond, the parties are entitled to introduce any competent evidence of the actual value, and have the same determined accordingly." Bernhardt v. Cappelletti, supra.

[a] In Illinois (1) a plaintiff in replevin and his surety are not estopped when sued on the bond from showing, by competent witnesses, that the actual value of the property was different from that stated in the affidavit. Peters v. Brown, 245 Ill. A. 570 [crit Cermak v. Cable Piano Co., 211 Ill. A. 219]; Farson v. Gilbert, 85 Ill. A. 364. (2) Plaintiff in replevin is estopped in an action on the bond from asserting a value different than that stated in his affidavit. Moore v. Paul F. Beach Co., 221 Ill. A. 609; Cermak v. Cable Piano Co., supra; O'Donnell v. Colby, 55 Ill. A. 112 [rev on other grounds 153 Ill. 324, 38 NE 1065].

85. Mass.—Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 205 Mass. 64, 91 NE 135, 137 AmSR 422, 18 Ann Cas 110; Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44.

N. J.—West v. Caldwell, 23 N. J. L. 736, 740.

N. Y.—Budracco v. National Surety Co., 112 Misc. 133, 182 NYS 590.

Pa.—Com. v. Lintott, 64 Pa. Super. 328.

R. I.—Chernick v. National Surety Co., 148 A 418 [cit Cyc].

Tenn.—Muhling v. Ganeman, 4 Baxt. 88.

"Neither party can be presumed to have assented to the value mentioned in the bond, except for the purpose for which it is there; and the plaintiff was therefore entitled to show the real value of the property at the time taken." West v. Caldwell, supra.

86. Gibbs v. Bartlett, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 29.

87. Janssen v. Duncan, 43 Colo. 286, 95 P 922 (holding that, by the value stated in the affidavit, plaintiff in replevin is estopped to dispute the jurisdiction of the justice in replevin).

88. U. S.—Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799; Vulcan Iron Works v. Cyclone Steam Snow Plow Co., 48 Fed. 652 [aff 52 Fed. 920, 3 CCA 352].

Ind.—Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250.

Me.—Tuck v. Moses, 58 Me. 461; Miller v. Moses, 56 Me. 128; Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

Or.—Capital Lumbering Co. v. Learned, 36 Or. 544, 59 P 454, 78 AmSR 792.

Eng.—Middleton v. Bryan, 3 M. & S. 155, 105 Reprint 569.

See Martin v. Passarini, (N. S.) [1928] 1 DomLR 636 (defendant in replevin in an action on a bond need not prove the value if he accepts the value admitted by plaintiff in the bond).

"The recital in the bond, that the piano was of the value of four hundred dollars, was a solemn admission of the appellants, and which, in an action upon the bond, would estop them from denying the truth of the admission." Wiseman v. Lynn, 39 Ind. 250, 259.

[a] Criticism of rule.—"But such a rule would many times operate very harshly and unreasonably. It is common knowledge that such statement of value is usually made without a very nice attention to the real value of the property, but is made largely as an estimate based somewhat upon the amount of the plaintiff's claim, lest under some circumstances the jury might not, perhaps, be at liberty to give him more than the value he had himself estimated." Farson v. Gilbert, 85 Ill. A. 364, 366.

[b] Where value of property is diminished by use of it and by lapse of time, it has been held that the obligors in the replevin bond would be bound by the value of the property named in the bond. Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241.

89. Tuck v. Moses, 58 Me. 461.

90. Walrus Mfg. Co. v. Quackenbush, 128 Kan. 216, 276 P 806 [reh den 128 Kan. 474, 279 P 3].

91. Washington Ice Co. v. Webster, 125 U. S. 426, 8 SCt 947, 31 L. ed. 799; Tuck v. Moses, 58 Me. 461; Miller v. Moses, 56 Me. 128; Thomas v. Spofford, 46 Me. 408; Howe v. Handley, 28 Me. 241; Caldwell v. West, 21 N. J. L. 411 [aff 23 N. J. L. 736].

92. Kimball v. Thompson, 123 Me. 116, 122 A 46; Tuck v. Moses, 58 Me. 461; Thomas v. Spofford, 46 Me. 408; Swift v. Barnes, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 194.

93. Kafer v. Harlow, 5 Allen (Mass.) 348.

94. Generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1267].

95. Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[a] Question of sufficiency of evidence is a question of law for the court. Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[b] Whether summary judgment should be rendered against sureties on a replevin bond is a question exclusively for the court. Gonzales v. Flores, (Tex. Civ. A.) 200 SW 851.

96. Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237; Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[a] Value of property.—The liability of sureties on a replevin bond executed in a laborer's lien proceeding for the return of the property replevied or in default thereof for its value must be ascertained by a jury. Coleman v. Bowman, 135 Miss. 137, 99 S 465.

[b] Tender of property.—Whether the evidence in a suit on a redelivery bond in replevin shows a tender of redelivery of the property by the principal obligor after judgment requiring such return is for the jury to determine, upon proper instructions. Bierce v. Waterhouse, 219 U. S. 320, 31 SCt 241, 55 L. ed. 237.

[c] Return of property.—Where the evidence is substantial and in conflict on the question whether the property was returned by defendant to plaintiff in as good condition, such question is to be submitted to the jury and their finding for defendant is binding on the court. Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

Taking case from jury. The case should not be withdrawn from the jury and a verdict directed against a party as a matter of law where such party has introduced evidence sufficient to sustain a verdict in his favor;[97] but, conversely, if the evidence of the party is such that the court on motion would be bound to set aside a verdict in his favor, a directed verdict is proper.[98]

Reopening case.[99] A motion to reopen the case, being addressed to the sound judicial discretion of the trial court, is properly denied a plaintiff at the close of his evidence where the offer is not properly made,[1] or does not show that, if allowed, the evidence to be adduced would be sufficient to support a recovery.[2]

[§ 460] b. Instructions.[3] The case should be submitted to the jury with correct and appropriate instructions.[4] The instructions must conform to the evidence[5] and to the material issues,[6] and must neither assume facts in controversy,[7] nor be based upon a misstatement of facts,[8] nor be misleading.[9]

[§ 461] c. Verdict.[10] In an action on a replevin bond the verdict must conform to the evidence.[11] It should find both the debt and damage[12] and the value of the property.[13] If there is no substantial evidence to support the verdict, it must be set aside;[14] but where a verdict does substantial justice, and the party against whom it is rendered shows no merit, informality will not vitiate it.[15] A verdict cannot be taken subject to the opinion of the court without the consent of both parties.[16]

[§ 462] 9. Judgment.[17] In an action on a replevin bond judgment can be rendered only in the form and manner, if any, provided by statute.[18] It can be a judgment for the recovery of damages only,[19] and not a judgment in the alternative for a return of the property or its value,[20] and is limited to a recovery of the value of property actually replevied.[21] In some jurisdictions the judgment must also show the value of each separate article.[22]

---

[97] Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 266 P 1107, 1108.

[a] Evidence sufficient for submission to jury.—(1) Under the evidence on the issue whether, shortly after the giving of a redelivery bond in replevin, defendant tendered back the property to plaintiff, it was held that the court properly refused peremptorily to instruct that no tender was made. Kansas Nat. Drill, etc., Co. v. Redd, 97 Kan. 1, 154 P 250. (2) In an action on a replevin bond, evidence was held sufficient for submission to the jury whether defendant in the replevin action offered to, or in good faith did, return a substantial part of the property. Folmer v. Hanson, 44 S. D. 122, 182 NW 633.

[98] U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Yoder, 139 Okl. 256, 281 P 974; Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 266 P 1107.

[a] Issue of depreciation in value.—Evidence of an automobile's depreciation in value when redelivery was tendered was held to justify directing a verdict for plaintiff suing on replevin redelivery bond. Dew v. Hoffman, 130 Okl. 247, 266 P 1107.

[99] Generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1360].

[1] Strassheim v. Perfect Knitting Mills, 171 Ill. A. 601.

[a] Proper offer to introduce replevin judgment at the close of plaintiff's testimony would be to offer a certified copy of the judgment and affirmance. Strassheim v. Perfect Knitting Mills, 171 Ill. A. 601.

[2] Strassheim v. Perfect Knitting Mills, supra.

[3] Generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1594].

[4] Clark v. Ellingson, 35 N. D. 546, 161 NW 199.

[a] Instructions held proper.—In an action on a replevin bond, an instruction to find for plaintiff if defendant neglected to tender property within thirty days of a certain date was held proper under the evidence. Rains v. Ethridge-Atkins Motor Co., (Ala.) 127 S 905.

[b] Instructions held erroneous.—(1) An instruction placing the burden of proof on the wrong party is erroneous. Hanchett v. Buckley, 27 Ill. A. 159. (2) It is error, in an action on a replevin bond, to charge that, the bond being one of indemnity only, the verdict must be for defendant unless plaintiff sustained actual damage from the taking of the property under the writ, since where plaintiff in replevin fails to prosecute the writ with effect, defendant would in any case be entitled to nominal damages. Crabbs v. Koontz, 69 Md. 59, 13 A 591.

[c] Instruction held not to invade province of jury.—Where the record of the replevin suit is properly in evidence, an instruction stating the legal effect thereof does not invade the province of the jury. McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204.

[5] See cases infra this note.

[a] Instructions held proper.—(1) An instruction to determine whether the services of two attorneys were necessary was not erroneous, where the evidence tended to show that there was more work than could properly be done by one attorney and where the evidence further tended to show that plaintiff authorized the employment of an additional attorney. Hunter v. Empire State Surety Co., 191 Ill. A. 634. (2) Instruction on tender of property held to be based on the evidence. Kansas Nat. Drill, etc., Co. v. Redd, 97 Kan. 1, 154 P 250.

[6] Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

[a] Where issue is immaterial to, and not determinative of, the cause of action set out in the complaint, it is error to submit such issue over objection. Davis Bros. Co. v. Wallace, 190 N. C. 543, 130 SE 176.

[7] Johnson v. Mason, 70 N. J. L. 13, 56 A 137.

[8] Johnson v. Mason, supra.

[9] Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 187.

[10] Generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1868].

[11] See case infra this note.

[a] Award of damages.—Where the bond in evidence was in the penal sum of fifteen hundred dollars, and the affidavit placed the value of the property at seven hundred dollars, and plaintiff's usee testified that the property was worth thirteen hundred dollars, an award of ten hundred dollars is not so excessive as to justify a reversal of the judgment where such proof was not rebutted. Jenkins v. Lahey, 216 Ill. A. 613.

[12] Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 204.

[13] Talcott v. Rose, (Tex. Civ. A.) 64 SW 1009; Meyers v. Bloon, 20 Tex. Civ. A. 554, 50 SW 217.

[14] Anderson v. Phillips, 40 N. D. 586, 169 NW 315.

[15] Bates v. Williams, 43 Ill. 494.

[16] Bletcher v. Burn, 24 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 124.

[17] Generally see Judgments 33 C. J. p 1042; Bonds §§ 235-239.

Summary judgment see supra § 429.

[18] Linn Bros. Motor Co. v. Williams, (Tex. Civ. A.) 293 SW 658.

[a] Provision as to satisfaction.—A judgment against the sureties on a replevin bond should, under Vernon's Sayles Civ. St. Annot. (1914) art 7107, provide that a delivery to, and acceptance by, the sheriff of the property replevied should, as to them, operate as a satisfaction of the judgment. Ingram v. Brown, (Tex. Civ. A.) 173 SW 524.

[b] Judgment for value of property.—Where the statute provides that judgment against the sureties shall be for the value of the property, judgment cannot be entered against the sureties for a deficiency resulting after sale of the property by the prevailing party. Linn Bros. Motor Co. v. Williams, (Tex. Civ. A.) 293 SW 658.

[19] Plankerton v. Continental Casualty Co., 180 Minn. 168, 230 NW 464.

[20] Plankerton v. Continental Casualty Co., supra.

[21] Hill v. Petty, 111 Miss. 665, 71 S 910.

[22] Bateman v. Hipp, (Tex. Civ. A.) 111 SW 971; Cummings v. Masterson, 42 Tex. Civ. A. 549, 93 SW 500; Meyers v. Bloon, 20 Tex. Civ. A. 554, 50 SW 217; Herder v. Schwab Clothing Co., (Tex. Civ. A.) 37 SW 784.

[a] Sufficiency of judgment.—A judgment, approving a verdict in replevin which establishes the value of each article as shown by the verdict copied therein, complies suffi-

On a motion to have execution on a lost replevin bond, the judgment must conform to the statute authorizing the proceeding.[23] Where defendant demurs and his demurrer is overruled and he fails to obtain leave to plead, the judgment on the demurrer in such case is that plaintiff recover his debt and damages occasioned by detention of the same.[24] In an action on a redelivery bond judgment against the sureties can be rendered only in the manner provided for by statute.[25] A judgment against the sureties is not warranted where defendant's bond is not in compliance with statute;[26] but where, in the absence of contrary proof, the bond shows that the property is retained by defendant, a judgment against him is justified.[27] That defendant consented to judgment before maturity of the debt is no ground for complaint by his sureties;[28] and a consent judgment cannot be set aside as fraudulent at the instance of the sureties by motion in the same cause, but only in a separate action.[29]

Conformity to pleadings and issues. The judgment must conform to the issues in the case,[30] and the relief awarded by a judgment is limited to the conditions of the bond,[31] and to the relief sought by the pleadings.[32]

Parties. The judgment must be in favor of the obligee on the bond,[33] but where statutory provisions permit a person in a representative capacity to sue either individually or representatively, a judgment for plaintiff individually is not erroneous.[34] Plaintiff is entitled to judgment against as many as are legally liable on the bond;[35] and where a person in a representative capacity signs the bond as an individual, judgment may be entered against him individually.[36] Where a defendant, after giving a redelivery bond which proves insufficient in amount, executes an additional bond, with a different surety, plaintiff may have judgment against the surety on the first bond, although he has not made the administrator of the surety on the additional bond a party to the action.[37]

Judgment by confession. In the absence of a statute or rule of public policy prohibiting it, a sheriff may take a bond, voluntarily offered him, containing a warrant to confess judgment.[38] Judgment on a replevin bond, with warrant to confess judgment, may be confessed after verdict in the replevin suit, and before final judgment is entered thereon.[39] But the confession of judgment is merely cautionary, and plaintiff has no right to enforce it unless there has been some breach of the condition of the bond, and then only to the amount of damages which he has suffered by reason of such breach.[40]

[§ 463] 10. Execution and Enforcement.[41] In an action on a replevin bond, judgment for plaintiff must be for the penalty of the bond, but execution can issue for so much thereof only as is due for the breach proved.[42] It has been held that execution should issue in the name of the obligee, although the bond has been assigned.[43] Under some statutes the jury upon finding a breach of the bond are to determine for what amount execution should issue.[44]

[§ 464] 11. Review.[45] Where, on appeal in an action on a replevin bond, the judgment is erroneous for failure to find the value of each article replevied, but the evidence in the record is sufficient to show the value of each article, the appellate court has power to reform the judgment.[46] So where judgment ciently with the statute, especially when considered with the judgment provision authorizing return of property described in the verdict or any portion thereof. Gonzales v. Flores, (Tex. Civ. A.) 200 SW 851.

---

[23] Farrow v. Orear, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 261.

[24] Bates v. Williams, 43 Ill. 494.

[25] Baldwin v. Dillon, 30 Mo. 429 (holding that, in a suit for the possession of personal property, under Pract. Act [1849] art 8 [Sess. Acts (1849) p 82], if defendant gave a forthcoming bond, as allowed by such article, with sureties, judgment could be rendered against the sureties only in the mode pointed out in § 9 of such article).

[26] Fenn v. Harrington, 54 Miss. 733.

[27] Fenn v. Harrington, supra.

[28] McDonald v. McBryde, 117 N. C. 125, 23 SE 103.

[29] McDonald v. McBryde, supra.

[30] Barnett v. Henry, 133 Ark. 531, 202 SW 707.

[31] Linn Bros. Motor Co. v. Williams, (Tex. Civ. A.) 293 SW 658.

[32] McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204; Monday v. Vance, (Tex. Civ. A.) 51 SW 346 (redelivery bond).

[33] U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Yoder, 139 Okl. 256, 281 P 974.

[a] Sheriff as obligee.—Where property is replevied from a sheriff holding such property under execution, in an action on the bond by the sheriff judgment should be for the sheriff only, although the proceeds shall be used to satisfy the claim of plaintiff in execution. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Yoder, 139 Okl. 256, 281 P 974.

[34] Oliver v. Townsend, 16 Iowa 430.

[35] Alexander v. Lydick, 80 Mo. 341.

[a] While general judgment cannot be rendered against married woman on a replevin bond, yet it can be rendered against her coprincipal and sureties, who are legally liable thereon. Alexander v. Lydick, 80 Mo. 341.

[36] Oliver v. Townsend, 16 Iowa 430.

[37] Smith v. Whitten, 117 N. C. 389, 23 SE 320.

[38] Clark v. Morss, 142 Pa. 311, 21 A 802.

[39] Clark v. Morss, supra.

[40] Lewis v. Bonnert, 12 Pa. Co. 366.

[41] Cross references:

Enforcement of judgment generally see Judgments §§ 1139–1153; Principal and Surety §§ 364–367.

Executions generally see Executions 23 C. J. p 281.

Recourse against principal as condition precedent to liability of surety see supra § 416.

[42] Wright v. Quirk, 105 Mass. 44; Lewis v. Bonnert, 2 Pa. Dist. 698.

[a] Execution should be for debt, with an indorsement that damages only should be collected thereon. Odell v. Hole, 25 Ill. 187.

[43] Jones v. Powell, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 290 (holding that, although a replevin bond may be assigned to a third person, execution thereon must still issue in the name of the obligee, and a delivery bond taken to the assignee, by virtue of such execution, is irregular).

[44] Maguire v. Pan-American Amusement Co., 211 Mass. 22, 97 NE 142 (Rev. L. c 177 § 9 provides that if, in an action for a breach of the condition of a bond, it be found that the condition has been broken, no execution shall issue, except as is provided in the following sections; and § 10 requires the court to award an execution for so much of the penal sum as is justly payable, the amount of which shall be determined by the court, unless an assessment by a jury is claimed, or is ordered by the court. It was held that it was for the jury, pursuant to the practice prescribed by the statutes, to determine for what amount execution should issue upon finding a breach in an action on a replevin bond).

[45] Generally see Appeal and Error 3 C. J. p 256.

[46] Cummings v. Masterson, 42 Tex. Civ. A. 549, 93 SW 500.

is rendered in damages, for a greater amount than the ad damnum laid in the declaration, the appellate court may permit the judgment to be amended by remitting the excess.[47] If the verdict is against the weight of evidence, the judgment thereon will be reversed;[48] but reversal of a judgment cannot be had for harmless error,[49] nor for errors which were not called to the attention of the trial court.[50] Instructions will be assumed to have been pertinent where nothing is shown to the contrary.[51]

REPLEVY.[1] To redeliver goods which have been distrained to the original possessor of them upon his giving pledges.[2]

Replevied, used in its technical sense, means delivered to the owner.[3]

REPLICA. A duplicate executed by the artist himself and regarded equally with the first as an original.[4]

REPLICATIO. In the civil law and old English pleading, plaintiff's answer to defendant's exception or plea, corresponding with and giving name to the replication in modern pleading.[5]

REPLICATION or REPLY.[6]

REPONE. In Scotch practice, to replace; to restore to a former state or right.[7]

REPORT. [§ 1] A. As Noun.[8] An account brought back;[9] a tale carried; a story circulated;[10] rumor,[11] or common fame;[12] hearsay;[13] also, an account or statement of the results of examination or inquiry made by request or direction.[14] The term has been applied to the mechanical reproduction of what actually took place,[15] and hence distinguished from mere "comment."[16]

Report of committee. That communication which the chairman of the committee makes at the close of the investigation upon which it has been engaged.[17]

---

[47] Hunter v. Sherman, 3 Ill. 539; Kaufman v. Wessel, 14 Nebr. 161, 15 NW 219.

[48] Alves v. Humphrey, 69 SW 1080, 24 KyL 764 (holding that a verdict exonerating defendant and his sureties from liability on the ground that the property had been delivered to plaintiff is against the weight of evidence, where there is testimony showing that the delivery of the property to defendant was simply delayed until a proper bond was given).

[49] Ringgenberg v. Hartman, 124 Ind. 186, 24 NE 987.

[50] Crill v. Jeffrey, 95 Iowa 634, 64 NW 625.

[51] McGinnis v. Hart, 6 Iowa 204.

[1] Replevy bail or bond see Arrest § 263; Attachment §§ 679–783; Bail §§ 27–66, 225–266; Executions §§ 300–326; Replevin §§ 116, 156.

[2] Bouvier L. D. [quot Kirk v. Morris, 40 Ala. 225, 229].

[a] Process indicated by this term is intended merely as an inexpensive method of preserving the property until it is wanted for the payment of a judgment that may be rendered. Humes v. Scott, 130 Ala. 281, 284, 30 S 788.

[3] Steuer v. Maguire, 182 Mass. 575, 576, 66 NE 706.

[a] As used in the rule that it is the duty of the officer, when property described in the writ is pointed out to him, to immediately take it in his possession for the purpose of having it appraised and ready to be replevied as soon as the bond is given. Steuer v. Maguire, 182 Mass. 575, 576, 66 NE 706.

[4] Standard D. [quot U. S. v. Twenty-five Pictures, 260 Fed. 851, 854].

[a] Replica as not really different from a reproduction. U. S. v. Twenty-five Pictures, 260 Fed. 851, 854.

"Reproduction" see Reproduce post.

[5] Black L. D.

[6] Cross references:
Generally see Pleading §§ 392–442.
Aider by verdict or judgment see Pleading §§ 1280–1303.
Amendment of see Pleading §§ 721–723.
Demurrer to:
  Generally see Pleading §§ 514–515.
  Equity see Equity §§ 538–540, 585–595.
  Justice's court see Justice of the Peace § 235.
Incorporating demurrer in see Pleading § 520.
Supplemental see Pleading § 807.
Waiver of objections see Pleading § 1228.
Withdrawal of see Pleading §§ 935–941.

"Replication" defined see Equity § 585 note 87.

[7] Black L. D. [cit 2 Alison Cr. Pr. p 351].

[8] As evidence:
In general see Evidence 22 C. J. p 65 et seq passim.
Best and secondary see Evidence § 1219 et seq passim.
Character or reputation see Evidence §§ 560–587.
Documentary see Evidence § 900 et seq passim.
Former see Evidence §§ 510–534.
Hearsay see Evidence § 177.

By or of particular persons or matters:
Admiralty §§ 263–272.
Auditor or trustee in attachment see Attachment § 818.
Banks and Banking §§ 196 (false report), 465, 466.
Boundaries § 210.
Commercial agency see Evidence § 1103.
Corporation see Corporations §§ 2010–2033; Taxation [37 Cyc 1020].
Drains §§ 90–101.
Eminent Domain §§ 421–441.
Fences §§ 31–34.
Grand Juries § 92.
Guardian and Ward §§ 497, 498.
Highways §§ 108–127, 240.
Insurance company see Insurance §§ 15, 24.
Judicial Sales §§ 55–59.
Municipal Corporations § 2431.
Partition §§ 460–465.
Partnership §§ 990, 991.
Private Roads §§ 31–42.
Public finances see Courts § 286; Municipal Corporations § 4109.
Public Lands § 706.
Receivers § 593 et seq.
Receiver's sale see Receivers § 341 et seq.
Referee:
  In general see Appeal and Error §§ 2730, 2861; References §§ 149–364.
  In creditor's suit see Creditors' Suits § 160.
  In equity see Equity §§ 773–797.
Sale by order of court:
  Of decedent's estate see Executors and Administrators §§ 1624–1630.
  Of school land see Public Lands § 204.
Sale of land for taxes see Taxation [37 Cyc 1364–1368].
Taxation [37 Cyc 1364].

Privilege of report:
As to commercial standing see Libel and Slander §§ 252–254.
Of public officer see Libel and Slander § 243.

Report of judicial opinion see post.

[9] McDoel v. Jordan, (Tex.) 151 SW 1178, 1179.

[10] McDoel v. Jordan, supra.

[11] McDoel v. Jordan, supra.

[a] Synonymous with "rumor."—State v. Culler, 82 Mo. 623, 627; State v. Vettere, 76 Mont. 574, 248 P 179, 183.

"Rumor" post.

[12] McDoel v. Jordan, (Tex.) 151 SW 1178, 1179.

[13] McDoel v. Jordan, supra.

"Hearsay" 29 C. J. p 286.

[14] Webster D. [quot Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18, 20].

[15] Jones v. Press Pub. Co., 61 N. Y. Super. 207, 209, 19 NYS 3.

[a] Equivalent of "transcribe."—Rex v. Book, (Man.) 25 CanCrCas 89, 94.

[16] Johns v. Press Pub. Co., 61 N. Y. Super. 207, 19 NYS 3.

[a] "Comment is the judgment passed on the circumstances reported, by one who has applied his mind to them." Johns v. Press Pub. Co., 61 N. Y. Super. 207, 209, 19 NYS 3, 5. See also Libel and Slander §§ 276–294.

*By Carolan Jefferson Walsh (Replevy—Reporting inclusive).

Other phrases: "Newspaper report,"[18] "report of judicial proceedings,"[19] "report of material facts."[20]

"The Reports." The name given, par excellence, to Lord Coke's Reports, from 14 Eliz. to 13 Jac. I, which are cited as "Rep." or "Coke." They are divided into thirteen parts.[21]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective the term may be and has been employed.[22]

[§ 3] C. As Verb. To make or furnish a report,[23] as "to report the same to congress;"[24] also, to notify[25] as "to report at the custom-house."[26]

REPORTER.[27] Of a newspaper, is a person employed in reporting proceedings of courts, public meetings, legislative assemblies, and other services of a kindred character for the newspaper.[28]

REPORTING. A term applied to acts of intimidation and opprobrious epithets, theretofore called "picketing."[29]

Phrase: "Reporting day."[30]

---

[17] Black L. D. [cit Brown].

[18] See Newspaper Report 43 C. J. p 16.

[19] Finnegan v. Eagle Printing Co., 173 Wis. 5, 179 NW 788, 790.

By newspaper as qualifiedly privileged see Libel and Slander §§ 266–269.

[20] Romanausky v. Skutulas, 258 Mass. 190, 154 NE 856, 857.

Right of appellant to see Appeal and Error § 1960 note 50 [b].

[21] Black L. D.

[22] Black L. D.

[a] Report office was a department of the English court of chancery. Black L. D. (the suitors' account there is discontinued by 15 & 16 Vict. c 87 § 36).

[23] Webster New Int. D.

[24] Irwin v. U. S., 23 Ct. Cl. 149, 155.

[25] Mignano v. MacAndrews, 49 Fed. 376, 377.

[26] Mignano v. MacAndrews, supra.

[a] As meaning "to be entered at the custom-house." Mignano v. MacAndrews, 49 Fed. 376.

[27] Of legal decisions see Reports post.

[28] Harris v. Norvell, 1 AbbNCas (N. Y.) 127, 131.

[a] Newspaper reporter's work as intellectual rather than manual see Michigan Trust Co. v. Grand Rapids Democrat, 113 Mich. 615, 617, 71 NW 1102, 67 AmSR 486.

[29] Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Gee, 140 Fed. 153, 156.

"Picketing" see Conspiracy §§ 70, 140; Injunctions §§ 261–275.

[30] Webster New Int. D. See Larrinaga SS. Co., Ltd. v. Green, [1916] 2 Ir. 126, 130, 133, 141.

REPORTS

By Francis J. Ludes

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra this page]

ANALYSIS

I. DEFINITION [§ 1] p 678

II. NATURE AND CONTENTS [§§ 2–3] p 679
- A. In General [§ 2] p 679
- B. Component Parts of Cases Reported [§ 3] p 679

III. PRINTING, SALE, AND DISTRIBUTION [§§ 4–12] p 679
- A. In General [§ 4] p 679
- B. Contracts for [§§ 5–9] p 679
  - 1. In General [§ 5] p 679
  - 2. Manner of Making Contract [§ 6] p 680
  - 3. Construction and Validity [§§ 7–8] p 680
    - a. Construction [§ 7] p 680
    - b. Validity [§ 8] p 681
  - 4. Assignment of Contract [§ 9] p 681
- C. Expenses of Publication [§ 10] p 681
- D. Fixing Price [§ 11] p 681
- E. Furnishing Copies [§ 12] p 681

IV. REPORTERS [§§ 13–17] p 682
- A. Definition [§ 13] p 682
- B. Nature of Office [§ 14] p 682
- C. Appointment and Removal [§ 15] p 682
- D. Rights and Duties [§ 16] p 682
- E. Compensation [§ 17] p 683

CROSS REFERENCES

Copyright see Copyright and Literary Property §§ 134, 163.

Law reports as documentary evidence see Evidence § 906.

Reading to jury see Criminal Law § 2263; Trial [38 Cyc 1480].

Report, general definition of, see Report ante.

I. DEFINITION

[§ 1] Reports are collections of the authoritative expositions of the law by the regularly constituted judicial tribunals supplemented and arranged by an officer called the court reporter.[1] Provisions in various state constitutions as to "department reports" do not apply to reports of judicial decisions.[2]

[1] Banks v. West Pub. Co., 27 Fed. 50.

[a] Other definitions.—A report is "an account or statement of a judicial opinion or decision, or of a case argued and determined in a court of law, chancery," etc. Webster Int. D.

[b] Special or peculiar sense.—After opinions are printed and bound in book form, the volumes containing them are denominated "reports." But the name so given is used in a special and peculiar sense. Such reports are not reports within the ordinary meaning of the term. Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18, 20.

[c] "Delivered" distinguished from "reported."—The final judgment of a court is never called a "report;" neither is the opinion giving the reasons on which the judgment is based. In appellate tribunals, when, in a given case, the court has reached its conclusion, and is ready to pronounce its judgment, some member of the court is usually designated to prepare the opinion, but he is never said to report it. The opinion is delivered, not reported, by him. Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18, 20.

[2] Gillette v. Peabody, supra.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

II. NATURE AND CONTENTS

[§ 2] A. In General. Each volume of reports usually consists of a title page,[3] of a statement of the entry of copyright,[4] of a list of the judges composing the court,[5] of a table of cases reported in the volume[6] arranged in alphabetical order,[7] of an index to all subjects judicially considered,[8] arranged alphabetically,[9] often consisting substantially of a reproduction of the headnotes of the cases reported,[10] and principally of the reported cases themselves.[11] In addition it may and frequently does contain appropriate cross references[12] and footnotes.[13]

[§ 3] B. Component Parts of Cases Reported. A complete report of a decided case can usually be divided into six distinct parts: (1) The title of the case;[14] (2) the syllabus or headnote;[15] (3) the statement of the case,[16] sometimes embodied in the opinion[17] and sometimes preceding it;[18] (4) the argument of counsel,[19] with the names of the respective counsel;[20] (5) the opinion of the court;[21] and (6) the judgment.[22]

III. PRINTING, SALE, AND DISTRIBUTION

[§ 4] A. In General. The printing of reports by a state is a part of its public printing,[23] and while the state has the right to provide for and control the printing, publication, sale, and distribution of the reports of the decisions of its courts in their official form,[24] the state cannot restrict the right of any citizen to make and sell these reports where they have been already published and not copyrighted.[25] The printing of reports is not embraced in constitutional provisions and requirements as to "printing for the judicial and other departments,"[26] nor does the phrase "other printing and binding" include them.[27]

[§ 5] B. Contracts for[28]—1. In General. Generally contracts for the printing, publication, sale, and distribution of official reports are authorized by law;[29] and the duty of making such contracts devolves upon certain designated officials.[30] When not prohibited by the constitution,[31] state officers, in making such contracts, may impose conditions,[32] not named in the statute,[33] on the publisher; and may make provision that upon failure to observe them the publisher be liable for fixed sums[34] to the state[35] and to the parties injured.[36]

---

[3] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547.

[4] Callaghan v. Myers, supra.

[5] Callaghan v. Myers, supra.

[6] Callaghan v. Myers, supra; Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143.

[7] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547.

[8] Callaghan v. Myers, supra; State v. Gould, 34 Fed. 319; Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143.

[9] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547.

[10] Callaghan v. Myers, supra.

[11] See infra § 3.

[12] Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143.

[13] Gould v. Banks, supra.

[14] Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 1; Brief Making § 17.

[a] Title of case gives the names of the parties, the court, the date, and the name, volume, and page of the report. Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 1.

[15] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547; State v. Gould, 34 Fed. 319; Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143; Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2; Brief Making § 17.

[a] Syllabus or headnote indicates more or less fully the proposition of law for which, in the opinion of the reporter, or sometimes of a judge, the case is supposed to be an authority. Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2.

[16] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547; Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143; Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2; Brief Making § 17.

[a] Statement of case is usually a recital drawn up by the judge, sometimes by the reporter, of the important facts in controversy, of the nature of plaintiff's claim, or, in older cases, of his form of action, and the manner in which his claim was presented to the trial court, including especially the course of the pleadings, of the rulings of the trial court, and the supposed errors therein, and of the manner in which the aid of the reviewing court has been sought. Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2.

[17] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547.

[18] Callaghan v. Myers, supra.

[19] Callaghan v. Myers, supra; Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2; Brief Making § 17.

[a] The argument of counsel is usually a somewhat summary statement of the arguments presented to the reviewing courts by the opposing counsel. Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2.

[20] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 645, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547.

[21] Callaghan v. Myers, supra; State v. Gould, 34 Fed. 319; Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143; Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2; Brief Making § 17.

[a] The opinion of the court is the vital part of the report. Its purpose is to show with clearness what questions were presented to and considered by the court, and what general principles of law were followed in answering them. Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2.

[22] Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2; Brief Making § 17.

[a] The judgment is a brief summary of the result reached by the court. Hepburn "How to Study Cases" p 2.

[23] In re Printing of Supreme Court Reports, 153 N. C. 649, 70 SE 620.

[24] Peck v. Hooker, 61 Conn. 413, 23 A 741, 29 AmSR 215.

[a] It is for the state to say when and in what manner it will publish the official volumes of reports of decisions of its courts. Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143.

[b] The legislature may, doubtless, provide for the publication of the decisions through an officer, or otherwise. Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32.

[25] State v. State Journal Co., 77 Nebr. 752, 110 NW 763, 9 LRANS 174.

[26] Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274.

[27] Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18.

[28] Contract for state printing generally see States [36 Cyc 878].

[29] See constitutional and statutory provisions.

[a] When the constitution requires the legislature to regulate the reporting of the decisions of the courts, there is an implication that some one other than the legislature is to report them. Banks v. Hun, 20 App. Div. 501, 47 NYS 193.

[b] Construction of statute.—Where a statute provides that the publisher keep for sale sufficient volumes to supply the public demand therefor, and sell the advance sheets at fifty cents less per volume than for the bound volume, it does not confer upon a law book seller the right to demand the sale to him of 225 unbound copies of a particular volume, in order that he might bind them and resell them to his customers. Curlander v. King, 112 Md. 518, 77 A 60.

[c] Volumes out of print.—A statute making it the duty of the Secretary of State to supply missing volumes of the Supreme Court Reports to County and Circuit Clerks authorizes him to make a contract to reprint such of those volumes as were out of print. State v. McGrath, 60 Mo. 586.

[30] See constitutional and statutory provisions.

[a] The supreme court may select the printer and make a contract for the printing of its reports, subject to restrictions as to price and to the duty of the commissioner of labor and printing to examine the printing and binding and pass on the accounts rendered. In re Printing of Supreme Ct. Reports, 153 N. C. 649, 70 SE 620.

[b] Supreme court reporter should coöperate with the commissioner of printing in letting the contract for publishing the supreme court reports. Traphagen v. Lindsay, 95 Nebr. 823,

[§ 6] 2. Manner of Making Contract. Sometimes the law requires the officers to advertise for, receive, and consider proposals for the printing and publishing before making the contracts therefor,[37] and the notice for bids should inform the bidders at what time the bids will be opened and examined[38] in order that they may be present[39] and see that the law allotting the contract to the lowest bidder is complied with.[40] In the absence of an imperative provision to the effect,[41] the contract need not necessarily be awarded to the lowest bidder,[42] as such officials have a discretion confided to them[43] which, in the absence of fraud,[44] or abuse,[45] is not subject to control by the courts.[46] A proposal in response to advertisement for bids to print reports is not vitiated by a statement therein that the work will be done within the state and by a certain class of persons.[47]

[§ 7] 3. Construction and Validity—a. Construction. The general rules relating to the construction of contracts[48] apply.[49] A contract providing for the publication of reports must be construed in view of the statutes[50] and legislative resolutions[51] relating to the matter. Where a contract is for a definite time, the contractors have a right to complete any volume upon the publication of which they have entered in good faith[52] previous to termination of the contract,[53] and the fact that a sufficient number of opinions had not been delivered to complete the volume will not defeat such right.[54] The law will not imply an agreement on the part of a publisher not to manufacture and sell volumes of reports containing uncopyrighted literary matter on its own account, there being no such limitation in the contract between the parties,[55] but it will imply an agreement not to use the property of the state for any other purpose than that contemplated in the contract.[56] Where the contract provides that the publisher shall supply the volumes to law-book sellers, upon application, in quantities not exceeding one hundred copies to each applicant, the applicant may fix the number of volumes to the amount of one hundred copies[57] and the publisher, if he chooses, may deliver a larger number if applied for.[58] But where such contract is for a fixed period of time the publisher is required to keep the books on hand only during such period and for such a reasonable time thereafter as is necessary to finish volumes not com-

---

146 NW 1026.

[c] The clerk of the supreme court of Hawaii is not authorized to enter into a contract for the publication of the reports of the supreme court. In re Thompson, 27 Hawaii 221 (holding that the statute requiring contracts for publication and printing of the supreme court reports of Hawaii to be executed in the name of the territory is not abrogated or suspended by a custom of clerks of the court, long approved by executive officers of the territory, to make and sign such contracts in their own names).

[31] See constitutional provisions.

[a] That the work shall be done at the capital may not be imposed as a condition of bidding. Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274.

[32] Little v. Banks, 85 N. Y. 258; Peo. v. Carr, 5 Silv. Sup. 304, 23 NYS 112.

[a] Furnishing volumes.—A provision that the publisher furnish at the contract price any volume published under the contract to any other law book seller in quantities not exceeding one hundred copies to each applicant unless the publisher should choose to deliver more, may be inserted in the contract. Little v. Banks, 85 N. Y. 258.

[33] Peo. v. Carr, 5 Silv. Sup. 304, 23 NYS 112.

[34] Little v. Banks, 85 N. Y. 258.

[a] Such sum is not a penalty but liquidated damages, and although the contract is between the state and an individual, a third person interested in its performance may take advantage of its provisions and enforce them by suit. Little v. Banks, 85 N. Y. 258.

[35] Little v. Banks, supra.

[36] Little v. Banks, supra.

[a] Right of an aggrieved party to recover the damages fixed is not affected by the fact that the contract makes provision for a forfeiture of a fixed sum to the state in case of a breach of any of its terms. Little v. Banks, 85 N. Y. 258.

[37] See constitutional and statutory provisions.

[38] Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274.

[39] Peo. v. State Auditors, supra.

[40] Peo. v. State Auditors, supra.

[41] See constitutional and statutory provisions.

[a] Mandamus in favor of the lowest bidder may be resorted to in a proper case to compel the award of the contract to him. Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274.

[42] Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18; In re Brown, 15 Nebr. 688, 50 NW 273; Peo. v. Carr, 5 Silv. Sup. 302, 23 NYS 112.

[43] Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18; Peo. v. Carr, 5 Silv. Sup. 302, 23 NYS 112.

[44] Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18.

[45] Peo. v. Carr, 5 Silv. Sup. 302, 23 NYS 112.

[46] Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18; Peo. v. Carr, 5 Silv. Sup. 302, 23 NYS 112.

[47] Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18.

[a] While discriminating official action in relation to public work, whether by way of statute, ordinance, resolution, or contract, is void, that doctrine does not apply to individuals who may discriminate as they choose in their private affairs and in the employment of union or non-union labor; and hence a proposal in a bid to print reports of a court of appeals, which contains the statement that the work will be done in the state and that only union labor will be employed, does not render the act of the state officers in awarding the contract to the bidder making such statement a discrimination in official action; nor is such award vitiated on the ground of the state's offer containing no corresponding stipulation. Gillette v. Peabody, 19 Colo. A. 356, 75 P 18.

[48] See Contracts §§ 481-592.

[49] See cases infra this section.

[a] Actual cost of stereotyped plates.—Where a contract regarding the printing of the future state reports required the secretary of state to sell the plates of the volumes already published by the state at the "actual cost" of the same to the state, as shown by the original bill from the state reporter, and the volumes had been printed by the state from the original type, and, in compliance with a subsequent act, stereotyped plates were made from the type, at a subsequent cost of fifty cents per plate, it was held that the actual cost of the plates was fifty cents per plate, and the state was not entitled to an additional sum for composition. State v. Price, 12 Wash. 653, 42 P 120.

[50] Banks v. De Witt, 42 Oh. St. 263.

[51] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[52] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[53] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[54] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[55] State v. State Journal Co., 77 Nebr. 752, 110 NW 763, 9 LRANS 174.

[56] State v. State Journal Co., supra.

[a] Use of stereotyped plates by the printer, which belong to the state, will render him liable for such damage as the state has suffered on that account. State v. State Journal Co., 77 Nebr. 752, 110 NW 763, 9 LRANS 174.

[57] Little v. Banks, 85 N. Y. 258 [aff 20 Hun 143].

[58] Little v. Banks, supra.

pleted at the expiration of the contract.[59] The contract with a printer to print and manufacture for the state volumes of reports, and to makes plates which shall become the property of the state, has been held not to constitute the printer the agent of the state in the publishing business;[60] nor is the state a party to the individual contract made by the official reporter for the publication of such reports where he is to derive his compensation from the sale of books to the state at a certain price.[61]

[§ 8] b. Validity. A contract made by a reporter for the publication of the reports reported by him for a period as long as his term of office has been held not to be unreasonable in length of time.[62] Where the contract does not comply with the governing statute[63] it is invalid[64] and should not be certified by the auditor.[65]

[§ 9] 4. Assignment of Contract. A contract by a publisher to print and bind for the state volumes of the state reports may be assigned by the publisher[66] with the acquiescence of the state,[67] and such an assignment will vest in the assignee all the rights[68] and subject him to all the liabilities[69] of the original contractor.

[§ 10] C. Expenses of Publication. The expenses of publication may be borne wholly[70] or in part[71] either by the state[72] or the state reporter.[73] Where the publisher of reports is required to furnish copies for the use of the state and also keep them on hand so as to supply the legal profession, the state to pay the actual cost of the volumes it receives plus a commission, such publisher may stereotype all the volumes he prepares[74] and the state must pay a part of such expense therefor, proportionate to the number of volumes it receives.[75] If a statutes requires the publisher to pay for the services of a reporter,[76] then the state must also pay a proportionate part of this expense under such a contract.[77]

[§ 11] D. Fixing Price. The legislature of the state has the right to prescribe the maximum price which the reporter may charge per volume for the reports,[78] and the legislature also has the right to designate the price which any person may charge per volume for them,[79] and only the maximum amount prescribed by the statutes can be recovered,[80] although the buyer contracted with a private individual to pay a higher price therefor.[81] Where a statute fixes the number of volumes which the reporter is obliged to print and establishes the maximum price he may charge per volume therefor,[82] if he publishes a greater number, such additional volumes are his property,[83] but he may charge therefor no more than the price prescribed by statute,[84] and such statutes are not unconstitutional,[85] as depriving one person of his property and bestowing it upon another.[86] Where a contract has been made by the reporter for the publishing of the reports, a subsequent statute reducing the price to be charged for them is unconstitutional[87] as impairing the obligation of contracts.[88]

[§ 12] E. Furnishing Copies. The publisher is sometimes required by statute[89] or contract[90] to furnish a certain number of copies of the reports for the use of the state,[91] at a stipulated price per volume.[92] Where the statutes of the state make it the duty of some official to distribute or furnish copies of the reports to the various towns or counties for the use of their inhabitants and officers,[93] the latter cannot make any use of them inconsistent with that object.[94] Statutes requiring the librarian to deliver copies of the reports to certain officers and courts, and providing that if compliance therewith should exhaust the supply of volumes therein specified, the secretary of state should furnish a sufficient number of copies, published or to be published, to meet such requirement,[95] apply to future volumes as well as to those on hand,[96] and the reporter may compel the secretary to purchase the necessary copies of reports prepared after the passage of such law, so as to make the required distribution.[97]

---

[59] Little v. Banks, 77 Hun 511, 29 NYS 87 [aff 151 N. Y. 669 mem, 46 NE 1149 mem].

[60] State v. State Journal Co., 77 Nebr. 752, 110 NW 763, 9 LRANS 174.

[61] Banks v. Hun, 20 App. Div. 501, 47 NYS 193.

[62] Banks v. Hun, supra.

[63] See statutory provisions.

[64] In re Thompson, 27 Hawaii 221.

[65] In re Thompson, supra.

[66] Banks v. De Witt, 42 Oh. St. 263.

[67] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[68] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[69] Banks v. De Witt, supra.

[70] Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274.

[71] Peo. v. State Auditors, supra.

[72] Peo. v. State Auditors, supra.

[a] Discretion of legislature.—It is within the discretion of the legislature to decide whether it will publish the reports at the state's expense. Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274.

[73] Peo. v. State Auditors, supra.

[a] The publication and the expenses of the same are sometimes left entirely within the hands of the official reporter. Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274 (under Rev. St. [1838] p 414).

[74] State v. McGrath, 60 Mo. 586.

[75] State v. McGrath, supra.

[76] See statutory provisions.

[77] State v. McGrath, supra.

[78] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32; Banks v. Hun, 20 App. Div. 501, 47 NYS 193.

[79] Welling v. Merrill, 52 Ind. 350.

[80] Welling v. Merrill, supra.

[81] Welling v. Merrill, supra.

[82] See statutory provisions.

[83] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32.

Right of reporter to copyright see Copyright and Literary Property § 163.

[84] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32.

[85] Black v. Merrill, supra.

[86] Black v. Merrill, supra.

[87] Banks v. Hun, 20 App. Div. 501, 47 NYS 193.

[88] Banks v. Hun, supra.

[89] See statutory provisions.

[90] See cases infra note 91.

[91] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32; State v. McGrath, 60 Mo. 586.

[92] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32; State v. McGrath, 60 Mo. 586.

Power of legislature to fix price see supra § 11.

[93] See statutory provisions.

[a] Requirement is sometimes made for the distribution and furnishing of copies of the official reports to certain officers, courts, and the like. Litchfield v. Parker, 64 N. H. 443, 14 A 725; Smith v. Thompson, 122 N. C. 215, 29 SE 223; Tripp v. Ringsrud, 2 S. D. 593, 51 NW 655.

[b] The secretary of state to whom the code commits the sale of the supreme court reports on a commission of five per cent upon the amount of such sale and who is authorized by statute to allow reasonable discount to booksellers in the state has no authority to contract with a firm of booksellers whereby all the reports are to be delivered to them for sale at a commission of twelve and a half per cent even though by such contract the secretary of state would be relieved of the distribution of the reports directed by statute and the state would be saved the expense of the rental or storage room for all the unsold reports on hand. Smith v. Thompson, 122 N. C. 215, 29 SE 223.

[94] Litchfield v. Parker, 64 N. H. 443, 14 A 725.

[a] The selectmen of a town cannot agree with an attorney that he should take the reports, which had been furnished, to his office and keep and use them free of charge and give them such advice as they should require in the conduct of their official business. Litchfield v. Parker, 64 N. H. 443, 14 A 725.

IV. REPORTERS

[§ 13] A. Definition. A reporter is a person who reports the decisions upon the questions of law in the cases adjudged in the courts of law and equity;[98] and a state reporter has been defined to be an official who edits and publishes decisions of the highest courts of the state.[99]

[§ 14] B. Nature of Office. An official reporter is a public officer,[1] and the presumption of faithfulness and honesty must be indulged in his favor[2] as in the case of other public officers.[3] Being an officer of the court,[4] he is, to some extent, under its control.[5] After the expiration of his term of office the outgoing reporter is to be considered as functus officio.[6]

[§ 15] C. Appointment and Removal. The constitutions of some of the states provide for the appointment of the reporter and specify his duties.[7] Where there is no such constitutional provision, the legislature may create,[8] control,[9] or abolish[10] the office of reporter. Under some constitutions and statutes,[11] the power to appoint and remove the reporter is vested in the governor,[12] and when the power to appoint a reporter is in the governor alone, he may remove the officer;[13] but where the appointment can only be made with the advice and consent of the council, there can be no removal by the governor alone.[14]

Deputy state reporters. Under some statutes[15] the reporter of the supreme court is authorized to appoint a deputy,[16] who shall hold his office at the will of the reporter.[17]

[§ 16] D. Rights and Duties. In the absence of constitutional inhibition, the rights and duties of a reporter may be changed at the will of the legislature.[18] It is not within the constitutional power of the legislature to enact that opinions should not be known to the public,[19] and as neither the judge, nor the reporter, have a copyrightable interest in the original opinions of the court,[20] copies of such opinions must be furnished to applicants who tender the proper fees therefor,[21] but in some jurisdictions, it has been held that the reporter is not obliged to furnish to applicants advance sheets containing the opinions of the court, for the purpose of publication,[22] where the state has entered into a contract for the publication of the reports and provided for a copyright to be taken for its benefit.[23] But while the reporter should allow the public free access to opinions in his custody, he has the right to make such reasonable regulations as to obtaining copies of them as he may deem necessary to secure the safety of his papers[24] and the orderly administration of the affairs of his office.[25] A reporter may have the exclusive right to print copies from plates belonging to the state where the volume was stereotyped at his expense.[26] Where a reporter who is a salaried officer has left unreported cases at the end of his term of office other than those he may need for the completion of the volume already begun, it is the duty of his successor to report such cases.[27]

---

[95] See statutory provisions.

[96] Tripp v. Ringsrud, 2 S. D. 593, 51 NW 655.

[97] Tripp v. Ringsrud, supra.

[98] Black L. D.

[99] Anderson L. D.

[1] In re Opinion of Justices, 72 Me. 542; Banks v. De Witt, 42 Oh. St. 263.

[a] Disbursing officer.—In the publication of the reports, the reporter is, and must be regarded as, a disbursing officer and not as a contractor. In re Brown, 15 Nebr. 688, 697, 50 NW 273.

[2] Banks v. De Witt, 42 Oh. St. 263.

[3] Presumption of regularity generally see Evidence §§ 69–72.

[4] State Reporter's Case, 150 Pa. 550, 24 A 908.

[5] State Reporter's Case, supra.

[6] State Reporter's Case, supra.

[a] Successor in office.—A reporter of the supreme court of Ohio was held not to be the successor of the reporter of the late supreme court in bank, as the two courts were distinct tribunals. Ex p. Lawrence, 1 Oh. St. 431.

[7] See constitutional provisions.

[8] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32.

[9] Black v. Merrill, supra.

[10] Black v. Merrill, supra.

[11] See constitutional and statutory provisions.

[12] State Reporter's Case, 150 Pa. 550, 24 A 908.

[13] In re Opinion of Justices, 72 Me. 542.

[14] In re Opinion of Justices, supra.

[a] Removal by executive.—Where a statute provides for the appointment by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, of a reporter who should be removable at the pleasure of the executive, the term executive comprehends both the governor and council. In re Opinion of Justices, 72 Me. 542.

[15] See statutory provisions.

[16] Baggett v. Dunn, 69 Cal. 75, 10 P 125.

[17] Baggett v. Dunn, supra.

[18] Black v. Merrill, 51 Ind. 32.

[19] Nash v. Lathrop, 142 Mass. 29, 6 NE 559.

[20] See Copyright and Literary Property § 163.

[21] Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, 9 SCt 177, 32 L. ed. 547; Banks v. Manchester, 128 U. S. 244, 9 SCt 36, 32 L. ed. 425; Wheaton v. Peters, 8 Pet. (U. S.) 591, 8 L. ed. 1055; State v. Gould, 34 Fed. 319; Banks v. West Pub. Co., 27 Fed. 50; Chase v. Sanborn, 5 F. Cas. No. 2,628, 4 Cliff. 306; Gould v. Hastings, 10 F. Cas. No. 5,639; Little v. Gould, 15 F. Cas. No. 8,394, 2 Blatchf. 165; Nash v. Lathrop, 142 Mass. 29, 6 NE 559.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The decisions and opinions of the justices are the authorized expositions and interpretations of the law which are binding upon all the citizens. They declare the unwritten law, and construe and declare the meaning of the statutes. Every citizen is presumed to know the law thus declared, and it needs no argument to show that justice requires that all should have free access to the opinions, and that it is against sound public policy to prevent this, or to suppress and keep from the earliest knowledge of the public the statutes or the decisions and opinions of the justices. Such opinions stand, upon principle, on substantially the same footing as the statutes enacted by the Legislature." Nash v. Lathrop, 142 Mass. 29, 35, 6 NE 559.

[22] Peck v. Hooker, 61 Conn. 413, 23 A 741, 29 AmSR 215; Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143.

[a] Mandamus will not issue to compel the reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut to permit the applicant at all reasonable times to make copies of such opinions in the custody of the reporter, or to furnish certified copies thereof, at the usual and reasonable rates of compensation, for publication out of the state, in advance of their official publication by the reporter. Peck v. Hooker, 61 Conn. 413, 23 A 741, 29 AmSR 215.

[23] Gould v. Banks, 53 Conn. 415, 2 A 886, 55 AmR 143.

[§ 17] E. Compensation.[28] The compensation of state reporters is generally regulated by statute[29] and may be by way of salary[30] or by way of profits accruing from the sale of the books themselves.[31] A statute creating the office and fixing the salary of a reporter is not repealed by a general appropriation bill which appropriates a less amount than the salary fixed in the law creating the office.[32] A provision of law that the salary of the reporter for the last quarter of the year shall not be paid until the decisions of that year shall have been reported does not apply to a reporter whose term of office has expired.[33] Where the legislature of the state fixes the salary of the reporter he becomes entitled to demand and receive compensation at that rate from the commencement of his term so soon as the legislature appropriates money for that purpose.[34] But where a state constitution provides that no money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of an appropriation, made by law,[35] when the amount of a prior appropriation for a reporter's salary has been exhausted, no more can be drawn until there is a new appropriation by a subsequent legislature.[36] Where the reporter receives a fixed salary, such compensation is exclusive of all other,[37] and though statutes may authorize the payment of a certain amount to him for printing, stereotyping, and binding each volume,[38] he may have only the actual cost of the work.[39] Where the duties of a reporter entitled to an annual salary may be fully performed in less than the year, he is entitled to his entire compensation if the duties for the year have been fully performed,[40] although the office is abolished before the end of the year.[41] But where there is only a partial performance before the abolishment of the office, the compensation will be apportioned to the duties performed,[42] and not to the lapse of time.[43]

REPOSITORY. A place where things are or may be deposited for safety or preservation; a depository; a storehouse; a magazine; a place where things are kept for sale; a shop.[1]

Phrase: "Repository of judicial power."[2]

REPOSSESS.[3] To possess again; to regain or recover possession of.[4]

Phrase: "Goods repossessed."[5]

REPRESENT.[6] To stand in the place of[7] and act for the one represented;[8] to stand in a person's place, to act his part, to exercise his right, or to take his share.[9] Also to declare; to set forth;[10] to describe or portray[11] in words;[12] to exhibit to another mind in language.[13]

---

[24] Nash v. Lathrop, 142 Mass. 29, 6 NE 559.

[25] Nash v. Lathrop, supra.

[26] State Comptroller v. Hooker, 59 Conn. 332, 22 A 317.

Right of printer to use plates belonging to the state see supra § 7 text and note 56.

[27] State Reporter's Case, 150 Pa. 550, 24 A 908.

[28] Compensation of officers generally see Officers § 233 et seq.

[29] See statutory provisions.

[30] Smith v. Dunn, 64 Cal. 164, 28 P 32; Peo. v. State Auditors, 42 Mich. 422, 4 NW 274; State Reporter's Case, 150 Pa. 550, 24 A 908.

[31] Comptroller v. Hooker, 59 Conn. 332, 22 A 317.

[32] State v. Poindexter, 49 N. D. 201, 190 NW 818.

[a] Where an act creating an office provides that the incumbent of the office created shall receive a certain salary fixed by the act, this constitutes not only a legislative declaration as to the amount of the salary to be paid, but also an appropriation of the amount so fixed. State v. Poindexter, 49 N. D. 201, 190 NW 818.

[33] State Reporter's Case, 150 Pa. 550, 24 A 908.

[a] Notwithstanding he leaves a large number of cases unreported, a reporter who has faithfully performed his duties as such has been held to be entitled, upon his retirement from office, to his full salary. State Reporter's Case, 150 Pa. 550, 24 A 908.

[34] Smith v. Dunn, 64 Cal. 164, 28 P 232.

[a] The constitution of California prohibits the legislature from granting extra compensation or allowance to a public officer and special legislation affecting the salary of any officer. The reporter was appointed Jan. 7, 1880. The law fixing his salary did not go into effect until July 1, 1880. The legislature passed an act appropriating the pro rata amount of salary for the interim between the two dates. Such act was held not to be in conflict with the constitution of the state upon the ground that there was no additional allowance of money for the same purpose. Smith v. Dunn, 64 Cal. 164, 28 P 232.

[35] See constitutional provisions.

[36] Baggett v. Dunn, 69 Cal. 75, 10 P 125.

[37] In re Brown, 15 Nebr. 688, 50 NW 273.

[38] See statutory provisions.

[39] In re Brown, 15 Nebr. 688, 50 NW 273.

[a] Expenses incurred by the reporter for copy-preparing, reading proof, packing and shipping are not chargeable against the state where under the statute he is only entitled to draw from the treasury the cost of printing, stereotyping and binding each volume of the reports, not exceeding a certain amount. In re Brown, 15 Nebr. 688, 50 NW 273.

[40] Ex p. Lawrence, 1 Oh. St. 431.

[41] Ex p. Lawrence, supra.

[42] Ex p. Lawrence, supra.

[43] Ex p. Lawrence, supra.

[1] Century D. [quot State v. Sprague, 149 Mo. 409, 419, 50 SW 901].

[2] State v. Keener, 78 Kan. 649, 97 P 860, 861, 19 LRANS 615.

Judicial powers and functions see Constitutional Law §§ 375-400.

[3] Repossess:
Land by landlord see Landlord and Tenant §§ 1755-1912.
Mortgaged property see Chattel Mortgages § 267.
See also Possess 49 C. J. p 1090.

[4] Webster New Int. D.

[a] "Dispossess" not equivalent.—Kleinstein v. Gonsky, 134 App. Div. 266, 118 NYS 949, 950.

"Dispossessed" 18 C. J. p 1282.

[5] Cowie v. Sawyer-Massey Co., 9 Sask. L. 222, 27 DomLR 428, 524, 34 WestLR 274.

[6] See Representation post; Representative post.

[7] State v. McCarthy, 86 Mont. 100, 282 P 1045, 1047; Chase v. Swayne, 88 Tex. 218, 224, 30 SW 1049, 53 AmSR 742.

[8] State v. McCarthy, 86 Mont. 100, 282 P 1045, 1047.

*By Wm. Howard Buchanan (Repository-Rescript inclusive).

Phrases: "Act, perform, or represent,"[14] "represent and warrant,"[15] "represent deceased person,"[16] also "publishing, performing or representing,"[17] "representing a majority of the taxpayers of the town,"[18] "representing one third . . . of the unsecured debts,"[19] "representing two-thirds of the property owners."[20]

Represented. Stated.[21] The term may have the meaning of "occupied" or "developed."[22] Phrases: "Any concern represented by,"[23] "as represented,"[24] "represented in a special or particular manner,"[25] and "the body represented by the officer so appearing."[26]

REPRESENTATION.[27] The act of one person representing or standing in the place of another;[28] a fiction of the law, the effect of which is to put the representative in the place, degree, and rights of the person represented.[29] Also the act of representing to the mind or to the view; the act of portraying, depicting or exhibiting, as in imagination, in a picture or on the stage; portrayal.[30]

In the law of contracts in general, a statement, incidental to a contract, relative to some fact having reference thereto, and on the faith of which the contract is entered into;[31] a statement of an existing fact,[32] but distinguishable from "warranty."[33]

Phrases: "Doctrine of representation,"[34] "representation among collaterals,"[35] "representation of his solvency,"[36] "representations concerning the character, conduct, ability, trade or dealings,"[37] "representation to the corporation,"[38] and "take by representation."[39]

REPRESENTATIVE.[40] [§ 1] A. As Noun. An

---

9. Abbot L. D. [quot U. S. v. Zucca, 11 Cust. A. 167, 171; Plummer v. Brown, 64 Cal. 429, 430, 1 P 703; Brown v. Massey, 13 Okl. 670, 678, 76 P 226].

[a] One who occupies another's place and succeeds to his beneficial rights in such a way that he may also in some degree be charged with his liabilities, represents him. Century D. [quot Seibert v. Dunn, 216 N. Y. 237, 110 NE 447, 450].

10. Century D. [quot Butts v. Long, 94 Mo. A. 687, 692, 68 SW 754]; Beck v. Budd, 44 Ind. A. 145, 88 NE 785, 786.

11. Century D. [quot Butts v. Long, 94 Mo. A. 687, 692, 68 SW 754]; Beck v. Budd, 44 Ind. A. 145, 88 NE 785, 786.

12. Century D. [quot Butts v. Long, 94 Mo. A. 687, 692, 68 SW 754].

13. Webster Int. D. [quot Butts v. Long, supra].

[a] Does not import a promise, and does not give notice to the opposite party that a mere promise is relied upon. Cooper v. Landon, 102 Mass. 58, 60.

14. Daly v. Palmer, 7 F. Cas. No. 3,552, 6 Blatchf. 256, 36 HowPr (N. Y.) 206.

15. Switzer v. Henking, 158 Fed. 784, 787, 86 CCA 140, 15 LRANS 1151.

16. McEntarffer v. Payne, 107 Nebr. 169, 185 NW 329, 331.

17. Manners v. Morosco, 258 Fed. 557, 560.

18. Solon v. Williamsburgh Sav. Bank, 114 N. Y. 122, 130, 21 NE 168. See also Municipal Corporations § 4097.

19. Maddox v. Lanier, 107 Ga. 290, 291, 33 SE 58. See Creditors' Suits § 113 note 22.

20. Maley v. Clark, 33 Ind. A. 149, 70 NE 1005, 1006. See also Municipal Corporations § 2419 note 6.

21. Peterson v. State, 83 Md. 194, 196, 34 A 834.

[a] As meaning "misrepresented."—Weimer v. Weimer, 21 N. D. 371, 130 NW 1015, 1017. See also Misrepresent 40 C. J. p 1224.

"Stated" [36 Cyc 817].

22. Consolidated Republican Mountain Min. Co. v. Lebanon Min. Co., 9 Colo. 343, 345, 12 P 212.

"Develop" 18 C. J. p 1031.

"Occupy" 46 C. J. p 898.

23. Tucker v. Hawley, 23 Cal. A. 460, 138 P 358, 359.

24. Crislip v. Cain, 19 W. Va. 438, 554; Reed v. Patterson, 7 W. Va. 263, 265.

[a] Having substantially the same meaning as "as were stipulated for."—Beck v. Budd, 44 Ind. A. 145, 88 NE 785, 786.

25. In re British Milk Products Co., [1915] 2 Ch. 202, 204.

26. State v. McCarthy, 86 Mont. 100, 282 P 1045, 1047.

27. Representation:
As to age see Infants § 35.
Constituting estoppel see Estoppel §§ 116–203.
False see False Pretenses §§ 11–38; Fraud § 7 et seq; Misrepresentation 40 C. J. p 1225.
Falsity or materiality of, as question of fact see Fire Insurance § 771; Life Insurance § 447.
Of intention see Contracts § 285.
Of law, as fraud see Contracts § 286.
Of opinion, as fraud see Contracts § 284.
On assignment of mortgage see Mortgages § 713.
Reliance on see Contracts §§ 274–309; Estoppel §§ 130–133; Master and Servant §§ 1041, 1042 (assurances of safety), § 1368 (after assumption of risk).
Within statute of frauds see Frauds, Statute of §§ 71–83.
See also Represent ante; Representative post.

Representation by or of:
Absentees §§ 10–41.
Officer, agent, board, or committee:
  Agency §§ 198–314, 385.
  Appearances § 11.
  Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 316–372.
  Associations § 60.
  Attorney and Client §§ 122–205.
  Banks and Banking § 131.
  Brokers §§ 24–33.
  Carriers §§ 297–303.
  Corporations §§ 1841–1865.
  Counties §§ 102–117, 177–183.
  Factors §§ 12–31.
  Fire Insurance §§ 188–190.
  Husband and Wife §§ 169–177, 524–538.
  Infants §§ 262–314.
  Insane Persons §§ 583–610.
  Insurance §§ 133–166, 174, 492–527.
  Joint Stock Companies §§ 43–47.
  Liability Insurance §§ 35, 36.
  Life Insurance §§ 170–184.
Officer, agent, board, or committee: Continued
  Marine Insurance §§ 168–181.
  Mines and Minerals §§ 801–808, 827–829.
  Mortgages § 554.
  Municipal Corporations §§ 1186–1192, 4692.
  Mutual Benefit Insurance §§ 65–80.
  Partnership §§ 287–307, 363, 798.
  Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 860, 867, 901–905].
  States [37 Cyc 865].
  Towns [38 Cyc 627, 628].
  United States [39 Cyc 706].

28. Black L. D. [quot Sweeney v. Independent Order of Foresters, 190 App. Div. 787, 181 NYS 4, 7].

29. Hawkins v. Williams, 146 La. 529, 83 S 796, 798.

30. Century D. [quot Peo. v. Eastman, 89 Misc. 596, 152 NYS 314, 317].

31. May Ins. § 181 [quot Fitzgerald v. Supreme Council C. M. B. A., 39 App. Div. 251, 257, 56 NYS 1005].

32. Clark v. Ralls, 50 Iowa 275, 277.

[a] Used for convenience as including both express and implied statements, and includes silence in certain cases. Foster v. McAlester, 3 Ind. T. 307, 324, 58 SW 679, 685. See Watson v. Prather, (Ky.) 65 SW 439 (as to representations arising from partial concealment and total silence).
Estoppel by silence see Estoppel § 154.
Misrepresentation by failure to disclose see Contracts §§ 281–283.

33. See Fidelity Insurance § 15; Fire Insurance § 197; Insurance §§ 492–500; Liability Insurance § 35; Life Insurance § 170; Mutual Benefit Insurance § 66.

34. See Equity §§ 284–291.

35. Hoffman v. Watson, 109 Md. 532, 540, 72 A 479, 481. See also Descent and Distribution § 60.

36. Christian v. State, 8 Ga. A. 371, 69 SE 29, 30. See also False Pretenses § 22.

37. Walker v. Russell, 186 Mass. 69, 71 NE 86, 88, 1 AnnCas 688.

38. Peo. v. Eaton, 122 App. Div. 706, 107 NYS 849, 854.

39. See Descent and Distribution §§ 30, 60.

40. Representative:
Legal see Legal § 11.
Liability for costs see Costs § 195.
Meaning of term in will see Wills [40 Cyc 1467].

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

uncertain term,[41] said to have no technical meaning in law.[42] In general, that which represents anything.[43] As a person, one being or acting as the agent or substitute for another especially through delegated authority;[44] one chosen by a principal to exercise for him a power or perform for him a trust;[45] one who exercises power derived from another;[46] one who represents another in a special capacity; an agent, deputy or substitute;[47] one who represents or is in the place of another;[48] one who represents or stands in place of another;[49] more particularly, one having legal authority to act in behalf of the property and bind the owner with reference thereto;[50] also one who occupies another's place, and succeeds to his rights and liabilities;[51] one that stands in the place of another, as heir, or in the right of succeeding to the estate by inheritance;[52] one who takes by representation.[53]

Phrases: "Representative in congress,"[54] "representative . . . of a deceased person,"[55] "representative of value,"[56] "representatives in congress,"[57] "representatives of deceased persons,"[58] "representatives of such children, if any;"[59] also "lawful representatives,"[60] "legal representative,"[61] "personal representative,"[62] and "real representative."[63]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective. Typifying; presenting by means of something; standing in the place of.[64]

Representative capacity.[65] A well understood term, and only applies to a party acting for and in behalf of some other party or estate, and not for himself personally.[66]

Representative democracy. A form of government where the powers of the sovereignty are delegated to a body of men, elected from time to time, who exercise them for the benefit of the whole nation.[67]

Other phrases: "Representative form of government,"[68] "representative taxpayer."[69]

REPRIEVE.[70]

REPRISAL.[71] A species of remedy by the mere act of the party injured.[72]

REPRISES. A word of very uncertain signification;[73] any deductions necessary to be made from a gross fund in order to show a net result;[74] deductions and duties paid yearly out of a manor and lands;[75] deductions and duties which are yearly paid out of a manor and lands, as rent charge, rent seck, pensions, corodies, annuities, etc.;[76] deductions and

---

Personal see Executors and Administrators 23 C. J. p 984.
Right to appeal in capacity of see Appeal and Error §§ 475, 482.
See also Representation ante.

41. Amann v. Pantages, 90 Wash. 271, 155 P 1070, 1071.

42. Jackson v. Tibbits, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 241, 252.

[a] "It may signify heirs or executors, or . . . may mean one who is substituted for another in any business." Jackson v. Tibbits, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 241, 252.

43. Ex p. Williams, 7 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 301, 87 P 565, 568.

44. Webster New Int. D. [quot Fay, etc., Co. v. Brown Mach. Co., (Mo. A.) 14 SW (2d) 491, 496].

[a] "Salesman" distinguished.—Fay, etc., Co. v. Brown Mach. Co., (Mo. A.) 14 SW (2d) 491, 496.

45. Peo. v. Detroit, 28 Mich. 228, 245, 15 AmR 202.

46. Brown v. Forbes, 1 Nebr. (Unoff.) 888, 892, 96 NW 52.

47. Webster New Int. D. [quot Fay, etc., Co. v. Brown Mach. Co., (Mo. A.) 14 SW (2d) 491, 496].

"Agent" see Agency §§ 4, 5.

"Deputy" 18 C. J. p 784.

"Substitute" [37 Cyc 508].

48. Bouvier L. D. [quot Delaunay v. Burnett, 9 Ill. 454, 494].

49. U. S. v. Zucca, 11 Cust. A. 167, 171; State Fair Assoc. v. Townsend, 69 Ark. 215, 218, 63 SW 65.

[a] "He who so represents or stands in the place of another is termed his representative." Black L. D. [quot Sweeney v. Independent Order of Foresters, 190 App. Div. 787, 181 NYS 4, 7].

50. U. S. v. Zucca, 11 Cust. A. 167, 171; Chicago v. Sherwood, 104 Ill. 549, 554.

51. Burrill L. D. [quot Lee v. Dill, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 516, 520, 16 AbbPr 92]; Webster D. [quot Lee v. Dill, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 516, 520, 16 AbbPr 92, 96; Allen v. Stovall, 94 Tex. 618, 628, 63 SW 863, 64 SW 777]; U. S. v. Zucca, 11 Cust. A. 167, 171.

52. Webster D. [quot Lee v. Dill, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 516, 520, 16 AbbPr 92, 96; Allen v. Stovall, 94 Tex. 618, 628, 63 SW 863, 64 SW 777].

53. Webster D. [quot Lee v. Dill, supra; Allen v. Stovall, supra].

54. Butler v. Hopper, 4 F. Cas. No. 2,241. See also United States [39 Cyc 696, 697].

[a] Equivalent of "a member of congress," see Butler v. Hopper, 4 F. Cas. No. 2,241, 1 Wash. C. C. 499. See also infra note 57.

55. Auxier v. Auxier, 181 Ky. 614, 206 SW 789, 790. See also Executors and Administrators 23 C. J. p 984.

56. Kansas City Casualty Co. v. Westport Ave. Bank, 191 Mo. A. 287, 177 SW 1092, 1094; State v. Randall, 121 Or. 545, 256 P 393, 394.

57. In re Opinion to Governor, 41 R. I. 118, 228, 102 A 913. See also United States [39 Cyc 696–697], and supra note 54.

[a] Distinct meaning from "Senators in Congress."—In re Opinion to Governor, 28 R. I. 118, 228, 102 A 913, 914.

58. Bowne v. Ide, 109 Conn. 307, 311, 147 A 4, 66 ALR 1036, 1042. See also Executors and Administrators 23 C. J. p 984.

59. Murphy v. Murphy, 151 Ga. 438, 107 SE 37, 38.

60. Conley v. Jamison, 205 Iowa 1326, 219 NW 485, 486.

61. See Legal § 11.

62. See Executors and Administrators §§ 2–4.

63. See Executors and Administrators § 5.

64. Ex p. Williams, 7 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 301, 87 P 565, 568.

"Fiduciary" 25 C. J. p 1118.

65. Fiduciary capacity" see Fiduciary § 6.

66. Shaffer v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 300 Mo. 477, 254 SW 257, 263; Van Brunt, etc., Co. v. Harrigan, 8 S. D. 96, 98, 65 NW 421. See also Actions §§ 261, 296; Witnesses [40 Cyc 2264].

67. Black L. D. [cit 1 Bouvier Inst. No. 31].

"Democracy" 18 C. J. p 484.

68. See Government § 8.

69. Universal Film Mfg. Co. v. New South Wales, 40 Austr. C. L. R. 333, 353.

70. Reprieve:
Defined see Pardons § 5.
Generally see Criminal Law § 3135; Pardons §§ 42–46.
Effect on death sentence see Criminal Law § 3138.
Judicial power to grant and revise see Constitutional Law § 395.

71. Reprisal:
As method of redress short of war see War [40 Cyc 306].
By capture and prize during war see War [40 Cyc 306].
Letters of mark and reprisal see Letters 36 C. J. p 993 notes 94, 95.
See also Recaption 52 C. J. p 1190.

72. 3 Blackstone Comm. p 4 [quot State v. Allen, 107 Kan. 407, 191 P 476, 480]. See also Recaption 52 C. J. p 1190.

73. Blandford v. Marlborough, 2 Atk. 542, 545, 26 Reprint 725 [cit Vide Cowell's Interpreter; Blount L. D. for "genuine definition"].

[a] It ought to be construed "secundum subjectam materiam."—Blandford v. Marlborough, 2 Atk. 542, 545, 26 Reprint 725.

Secundum subjectam materiam [35 Cyc 1282].

74. Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, 196 Pa. 102, 106, 46 A 375.

75. Webster Int. D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, 196 Pa. 102, 104, 46 A 375].

76. Burrill L. D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, 196 Pa. 102, 104, 46 A 375].

Annuities § 1.

"Corody" 13 C. J. p 1238.

"Pensions" § 1.

"Rent charge" ante.

"Rent seck" ante.

payments (as for annuities) out of lands;[77] deductions and payments out of lands, annuities, and the like;[78] deductions or payments out of the value of lands;[79] deductions on account of payments and expenses;[80] yearly deductions, duties, or payments out of a manor and lands;[81] also a resumption or taking back, used for such deductions as rent charges or annuities.[82] The term has been held to include mortgages.[83]

REPROACH. A term said to be synonymous with "censure"[84] and "obloquy."[85]

REPROBATA PECUNIA LIBERAT SOLVENTEM.[86]

REPROBATION. In ecclesiastical law, the propounding exceptions either against facts, persons, or things; as, to allege that certain deeds or instruments have not been duly and lawfully executed; or that certain persons are such that they are incompetent as witnesses; or that certain things ought not, for legal reasons, to be admitted.[87]

REPRODUCE.[88] To produce again.[89]

Phrase: "Reproduce exactly."[90]

REPRODUCTION.[91] Repetition or the act of reproducing,[92] and carries the idea of a complete production over again.[93] Sometimes loosely used as meaning a copy, but not really different from a replica.[94]

As an adjective the term may be and has been employed,[95] as in the phrases "reproduction cost,"[96] and "reproduction value."[97]

REPUBLIC.[98] A government[99] for the protection of the citizen against the exercise of all unjust power; a government administered by a few, as the representatives of the people and for their benefit;[1] an independent sovereign power.[2]

REPUBLICAN.[3] Of or pertaining to, or having the form or characteristics of, a republic.[4]

Phrase: "Republican form of government."[5]

REPUBLICATION.[6] Act of republishing,[7] signifying, publishing, or declaring again.[8]

REPUBLISH.[9] To publish[10] again that which has been before published.[11]

REPUDIATE.[12] To put away, reject, disclaim, or renounce a right, duty, obligation, or privilege;[13] an odious term; [applied] to the denial of a valid obligation.[14]

Phrases: "Repudiate the consideration,"[15] and "repudiate the contract."[16]

REPUDIATION.[17] A common word, commonly understood;[18] rejection,[19] disclaimer,[20] renunciation,[21] or even abandonment;[22] the renunciation of a duty.[23]

---

[77] Standard D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, 196 Pa. 102, 104, 46 A 375].

[78] Bouvier L. D. [quot in Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, supra].

[79] Worcester D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, supra].

[80] Anderson L. D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, supra].

[81] Century D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, supra].

[82] Jacob L. D. [quot Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Von Storch, supra].

[83] In Pulaski v. King, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 477.

[84] Bettner v. Holt, 70 Cal. 270, 275, 11 P 713.

"Censure" 11 C. J. p 69.

[85] Bettner v. Holt, 70 Cal. 270, 11 P 713, 716.

"Obloquy" 46 C. J. p 852.

[86] A maxim meaning "Money refused (the refusal of money tendered) releases him who pays (or tenders it)." Black L. D. [cit Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77b, 79a, 77 Reprint 847].

[87] Bouvier L. D.

[88] See Repair ante.

"Reproduction" post.

[89] Webster New Int. D.

"Produce" 50 C. J. p 628.

[90] State v. Ogden, 20 N. M. 636, 151 P 758, 760.

[a] Equivalent to "duplicate."—State v. Ogden, 20 N. M. 636, 151 P 758, 760. See Duplicate 19 C. J. p 837 note 61.

[91] See Reproduce ante.

"Production" 50 C. J. p 632.

[92] Miller Hatcheries v. Buckeye Incubator Co., 41 F. (2d) 619, 622; American Bonding Co. v. Ottumwa, 137 Fed. 572, 579, 70 CCA 270; Goodyear Shoe Mach. Co. v. Jackson, 112 Fed. 146, 150, 50 CCA 159, 55 LRA 692.

[a] "Repair" distinguished.—Miller Hatcheries v. Buckeye Incubator Co., 41 F. (2d) 619, 622. "Repair" ante.

[93] American Bonding Co. v. Ottumwa, 137 Fed. 572, 579, 70 CCA 270.

[94] U. S. v. Twenty-Five Pictures, 260 Fed. 851.

"Copy" 13 C. J. p 933.

"Replica" ante.

[95] See cases infra notes 96, 97.

[96] New York Tel. Co. v. Prendergast, 36 F. (2d) 54, 60. See Public Utilities §§ 32–34.

[97] Cincinnati v. Public Utilities Commn., 112 Oh. St. 259, 148 NE 817, 826. See Public Utilities §§ 32–34.

[98] "Democracy" 18 C. J. p 484.

[99] "Government" 28 C. J. p 749 et seq.

[1] State v. Harris, 18 S. C. L. 598, 599.

[a] Thomas Jefferson in discussing the term "republic" wrote, "Indeed it must be acknowledged that the term republic is of very vague application in every language. . . . Were I to assign to this term a definite idea I would say, purely and simply, it means a government by its citizens in mass, acting directly and not personally, according to rules established by the majority, and that every other government is more or less republican, in proportion as it has in its composition more or less of this ingredient of the direct action of the citizens." Writings of Thomas Jefferson, vol. 15, p 19 [quot Kiernan v. Portland, 57 Or. 454, 473, 111 P 379, 112 P 402, 404, 37 LRANS 332].

[b] "Monarchy" distinguished.—Penhallow v. Doane, 3 Dall. (U. S.) 54, 93, 1 L. ed. 507. "Monarchy" 40 C. J. p 1488.

[2] Mexico v. De Arangoiz, 12 N. Y. Super. 634, 636.

[a] "A republic is . . . a state just as certainly, and in the same sense, as a monarchy, limited or absolute, and every state is a person, an artificial person, in a more extensive and far higher sense than an ordinary corporation." Mexico v. De Arangoiz, 12 N. Y. Super. 634, 636, 11 HowPr 576.

[3] See cross references supra note 98.

"Democratic" 18 C. J. p 484.

[4] Webster New Int. D.

[5] See Government § 9.

[6] See Publication 50 C. J. p 869.

[7] Webster New Int. D.

"Republish" post.

[8] Danley v. Jefferson, 150 Mich. 590, 114 NW 470, 121 AmSR 640.

[9] Republish:
Libel and Slander §§ 187–191.
Wills [40 Cyc 1212–1223].

[10] "Publish" 51 C. J. p 88.

[11] Matter of Stickney, 31 App. Div. 382, 386, 52 NYS 929.

[12] See Repudiation post.

[13] Black L. D.

[14] Wapello County v. Burlington, etc., R. Co., 44 Iowa 585, 610 (dis. op.).

[a] "Never applied to a refusal to perform a void contract." Wapello County v. Burlington, etc., R. Co., 44 Iowa 585, 610 (dis. op.).

[15] Coleman v. Hayes, 92 App. Div. 575, 578, 87 NYS 12, 14.

[16] See Contracts §§ 725–732, 736.

[17] Repudiation of:
Act of:
  Agent by principal see Agency §§ 151–168.

REPUGNANCE or REPUGNANCY.[24] Inconsistency;[25] contrary to or inconsistent with;[26] specifically, a disagreement or inconsistency between two or more clauses of the same instrument.[27]

REPURCHASE.[28] A term said to be synonymous with "redeem."[29]

REPUTABLE.[30] Being in good repute;[31] estimable;[32] having or worthy of good repute;[33] held in esteem;[34] honorable;[35] praiseworthy;[36] worthy of repute or distinctions;[37] "not mean or disgraceful."[38]

Phrases: "Reputable citizens,"[39] "reputable college,"[40] "reputable freeholder,"[41] "reputable lawyer,"[42] "reputable person,"[43] and "reputable school."[44]

REPUTATIO EST VULGARIS OPINIO UBI NON EST VERITAS. ET VULGARIS OPINIO EST DUPLEX, SCIL.: OPINIO VULGARIS ORTA INTER GRAVES ET DISCRETOS HOMINES, ET QUÆ VULTUM VERITATIS HABET; ET OPINIO TANTUM ORTA INTER LEVES ET VULGARES HOMINES, ABSQUE SPECIE VERITATIS.[45]

REPUTATION.[46] Reputation is a term derived from the Latin "puto," to count, think, and "reputo,"

Act of: Continued
  Broker by principal see Brokers §§ 31–33.
  Factor by principal see Factors § 31.
  Servant by master see Master and Servant §§ 78–152.
Agency by agent see Agency §§ 169–171.
Award see Arbitration and Award § 430.
Bet see Gaming §§ 315, 317–321.
Community see Husband and Wife §§ 1308–1315.
Compositions with Creditors § 100.
Contract:
  Generally see Contracts §§ 725–732, 736.
  Of infant see Infants §§ 162–168⅓.
  Of lunatic see Insane Persons §§ 508–517.
  Or lease of railroad by receiver see Railroads §§ 850–852.
Devise or legacy see Wills [40 Cyc 1898].
Legitimacy of child see Bastards § 27.
Office as affecting right to execute power see Powers § 103.
Right to administer decedent's estate see Executors and Administrators §§ 137–141, 266–272.
State debt see States [36 Cyc 871].
Title or right as ground of estoppel see Estoppel §§ 155–169.
Trust as affecting limitations see Limitations of Actions §§ 294–297.

"Release" ante.

"Rescission" post.

18. Iowa State Sav. Bank v. Black, 91 Iowa 490, 496, 59 NW 283.

19. In re Goldberg Enterprises, 130 Misc. 887, 225 NYS 513, 516.

"Rejection" 53 C. J. p 1184.

20. In re Goldberg Enterprises, 130 Misc. 887, 225 NYS 513, 516.

"Disclaimer" 18 C. J. p 1049.

21. In re Goldberg Enterprises, 130 Misc. 887, 225 NYS 513.

"Renunciation" ante.

22. In re Goldberg Enterprises, 130 Misc. 887, 225 NYS 513, 516.

"Abandonment" defined see Abandonment § 1.

"Abandonment" distinguished see Abandonment § 1 note 7 [b].

23. Parker Land, etc., Co. v. Ayres, 43 Ind. A. 513, 87 NE 1062, 1063.

24. See Repugnant post.

Repugnance or repugnancy:
Arbitration and Award § 373.
Boundaries § 114.
Contracts § 497.
Customs and Usages §§ 12, 77, 78.
Deeds §§ 224–228.
Equity § 426.
Forgery § 97.
Indictments and Informations § 182.
Mortgages § 338.
Municipal Corporations § 911.
Pleading § 92.
Statutes [36 Cyc 1073, 1130].
Trial [38 Cyc 1926, 1927, 1986].
Wills [40 Cyc 1416, 1417].

25. Presson v. Presson, 38 Nev. 203, 147 P 1081, 1083; Swan v. U. S., 3 Wyo. 151, 154, 9 P 931. See Groenendyke v. Fowler, 204 Iowa 598, 215 NW 718, 720.

Inconsistency see 31 C. J. p 406.

26. Century D. [quot Presson v. Presson, 38 Nev. 203, 147 P 1081, 1083].

[a] Similar definition.—"Contrary to or in conflict with something else." New Standard D. [quot Presson v. Presson, 38 Nev. 203, 147 P 1081, 1083].

27. Bouvier L. D. [quot Weller v. Carnew, 29 Ont. 400, 401]; Chapman v. Longworth, 71 Vt. 228, 232.

28. See Purchase 51 C. J. p 93.

Reservation of right to repurchase see Fraudulent Conveyances § 351; Mortgages § 76; Sales [35 Cyc 39]; Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1217].

29. See Redeem 53 C. J.

30. See also Reputation post.

31. Century D. [quot Wise v. State Veterinary Bd., 138 Mich. 428, 432, 101 NW 562; State v. Chittenden, 112 Wis. 569, 582, 88 NW 587].

[a] "Respectable" as synonymous see State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 106, 90 SW 81. "Respectable" post.

"Repute" post.

32. Century D. [quot Wise v. State Veterinary Bd., 138 Mich. 428, 432, 101 NW 562].

33. Webster D. [quot In re Consent to Sell Intoxicating Liquors, 155 Iowa 149, 134 NW 620, 623; Foster v. Crisman, 165 Iowa 189, 144 NW 1021, 1023; State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 106, 90 SW 81].

34. Century D. [quot Wise v. State Veterinary Bd., 138 Mich. 428, 432, 101 NW 562]; Webster D. [quot Illinois State Bd. of Dental Examiners v. Peo., 123 Ill. 227, 245, 13 NE 201; In re Consent to Sell Intoxicating Liquors, 155 Iowa 149, 134 NW 620, 623; State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 106, 90 SW 81; State v. Chittenden, 112 Wis. 569, 582, 88 NW 587].

[a] Similar definition.—"Held in esteem consistent with good faith." Century D. [quot State v. Chittenden, 112 Wis. 569, 582, 88 NW 587].

35. Webster D. [quot Illinois State Bd. of Dental Examiners v. Peo., 123 Ill. 227, 245, 13 NE 201; State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 106, 90 SW 81, 87; State v. Chittenden, 112 Wis. 569, 582, 88 NW 587].

"Honorable" 30 C. J. p 457.

36. Webster D. [quot Illinois State Bd. of Dental Examiners v. Peo., 123 Ill. 227, 245, 13 NE 201; State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 106, 90 SW 81, 87; State v. Chittenden, 112 Wis. 569, 582, 88 NW 587].

37. Webster D. [quot Illinois State Bd. of Dental Examiners v. Peo., 123 Ill. 227, 245, 13 NE 201; State v. Chittenden, 112 Wis. 569, 582, 88 NW 587]. But see State v. Chittenden, 127 Wis. 468, 532, 107 NW 500 (where this definition is criticized).

38. Century D. [quot Foster v. Crisman, 165 Iowa 189, 144 NW 1021, 1023].

"Disgraceful" 18 C. J. p 1139.

39. Taaffe v. Sanderson, 173 Ark. 970, 294 SW 74, 76; Bowers v. Hollis, 155 Ark. 35, 243 SW 864; Dewein v. State, 120 Ark. 302, 179 SW 346, 347.

40. See Druggists § 8 text and note 44 [e]; Physicians and Surgeons § 52 text and note 98 [c].

41. Austin v. Atlantic City, 48 N. J. L. 118, 120, 3 A 65.

42. In re Freshour, 174 Mich. 114, 140 NW 517, 519, 45 LRANS 67, Ann Cas1915A 726.

43. Dewein v. State, 120 Ark. 302, 179 SW 346, 347; Foster v. Crisman, 165 Iowa 189, 144 NW 1021; Jackman v. Blackhawk County, 156 Iowa 620, 137 NW 906, 910; In re Consent to Sell Intoxicating Liquors, 155 Iowa 149, 159, 134 NW 620; State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 106, 90 SW 81; State v. Caldwell, (Mo. A.) 245 SW 626, 628.

"Credible" person distinguished see Credible 15 C. J. text and note 22 [b].

44. See Physicians and Surgeons § 52 text and note 98 [c].

45. A maxim meaning "Reputation is common opinion where there is not truth. And common opinion is of two kinds, to-wit: Common reputation arising among grave or sensible men, and which has the appearance of truth; and mere opinion arising among foolish and ignorant men, without appearance of truth." Black L. D. [cit Adams' Case, 4 Coke 104b, 107b, 76 Reprint 1091].

46. Reputation:
Acquisition of corporate name by see Corporations § 370.
Conspiracy to injure see Conspiracy § 52.
Defense see Libel and Slander §§ 200, 645.
Element of offense see Disorderly Houses §§ 20, 24.
Evidence as to:
  Generally see Criminal Law §§ 1122–1131; Evidence §§ 561–568.
  For purpose of impeachment see Witnesses [40 Cyc 2594–2650].

to count over, think over.[47] When unqualified the word means "general reputation."[48] It has been defined as common knowledge of a community;[49] concurrence of many voices to the same fact;[50] hearsay of those who may be supposed to have been acquainted with the fact handed down from one to another;[51] opinion, or established opinion, or the opinion generally entertained;[52] public opinion in the community;[53] repute;[54] what is reported or understood from report to be the reality about a person or thing;[55] what the community thinks, believes, or says;[56] also character[57] in public opinion.[58]

Of a person, his reputation is the belief and the speech of the people who have an opportunity to know the parties, and have heard of and observed their manner of living;[59] the character imputed to [him] in the community in which he lives;[60] the character which [he] bears generally among the persons with whom he associates, and by whom he is known;[61] the estimate in which [he] is held by public fame in the place where he is known;[62] the estimate in which [he] is held in the community;[63] the estimate which the community has or expresses of his character;[64] the estimation in which [he] is held;[65] the estimation in which [he] is held by others;[66] the evidence of character;[67] the fruit of [his] walk and conversation—the result of deportment;[68] the general opinion of [him] held by the community;[69] the opinion of [his] character generally entertained by those who know him or her;[70] the opinion which others may have formed or expressed of [his] character;[71] the repute in which [he] is held by his intimates, associates, friends and neighbors;[72] the speech of the people who have an opportunity to know [him];[73] the sum of opinions entertained concerning [him];[74] what [his] neighbors generally say of him;[75] what is generally said of [him] by the

---

- In action for:
  - Assault and Battery §§ 121–124.
  - Breach of Promise to Marry § 71.
  - False Imprisonment § 152.
  - Injury to servant see Master and Servant §§ 1250, 1255.
  - Libel and Slander §§ 422–430, 476, 477, 523, 535.
  - Malicious Prosecution §§ 159–164.
  - Negligence §§ 821–824.
  - Personal injuries see Damages §§ 327, 328.
  - Seduction [35 Cyc 1314–1316].
  - Wrongful attachment see Attachment § 1289.
- In proceedings to determine boundaries see Boundaries §§ 310, 311.
- In prosecution for:
  - Abduction §§ 36, 37, 41.
  - Adultery §§ 52, 53.
  - Assault and Battery §§ 308–312.
  - Bastards §§ 115–121.
  - Homicide §§ 390–397.
  - Incest §§ 36, 40.
  - Keeping bawdyhouse see Disorderly Houses §§ 96, 97, 107.
  - Leasing or permitting house to be used as bawdyhouse see Disorderly Houses § 113.
  - Rape [35 Cyc 1477–1482].
  - Seduction [35 Cyc 1350, 1351].
  - Violation of liquor law see Intoxicating Liquors §§ 496, 497, 535.
- Of witness see Witnesses [40 Cyc 2594–2650, 2759, 2782].

Evidence of:
- Agency § 718.
- Corporate existence see Corporations § 175.
- Legitimacy see Bastards § 13.
- Marriage see Adultery § 58; Bigamy § 43; Husband and Wife § 1058; Marriage §§ 57, 98, 99, 110–112.
- Matters of public or general interest see Evidence § 249.
- Partnership § 131.
- Pedigree see Evidence §§ 239, 1805; Incest, § 42.

Hearsay see Evidence §§ 170, 171.

Injury to, as element of damages see Attachment § 1325; Libel and Slander § 566; Malicious Prosecution § 99.

Judgment as evidence of fact provable by see Judgments § 1488.

Mitigating circumstance see Libel and Slander § 580.

Of witness, instruction as to see Criminal Law § 2441.

See generally Libel and Slander 36 C. J. p 1134.

[47] State v. Baldanzo, (N. J.) 148 A. 725, 726.

[48] State v. Poyner, 57 Wash. 489, 107 P 181.

[49] Smith v. Compton, 67 N. J. L. 548, 557, 52 A 386, 58 LRA 480; Chellis v. Chapman, 125 N. Y. 214, 221, 26 NE 308, 11 LRA 784. See Small v. State, 21 Okl. Cr. 99, 210 P 317, 318.

[a] Similar definition.—"The common knowledge of the community." Cohen v. New York Times Co., 153 App. Div. 242, 244, 138 NYS 206.

[50] Deputy v. Harris, 15 Del. 100, 104, 40 A 714; Moore v. Dozier, 128 Ga. 90, 97, 57 SE 110. See Small v. State, 21 Okl. Cr. 99, 210 P 317, 318.

[51] Bliss v. Johnson, 162 Mass. 323, 324, 38 NE 446; Haddock v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 85 Mass. 298, 301, 81 AmD 656; Higham v. Ridgway, 10 East 109, 120, 103 Reprint 717.

"Hearsay" 29 C. J. p 286. And see Evidence § 166.

[a] Similar definition.—"Hearsay derived from those who had the means of knowing the fact." Scott v. Blood, 16 Me. 192, 196.

[52] In re Hurlburt, 68 Vt. 366, 369, 35 A 77, 35 LRA 794.

"Opinion" § 1.

[53] Norwood v. Harness, 98 Ind. 134, 147, 49 AmR 739.

[54] Webster Int. D. [quot Harrison v. Lakenan, 189 Mo. 581, 601, 88 SW 53].

"Repute" post.

[55] Woodruff v. State, 72 Nebr. 815, 826, 101 NW 1114; State v. Wilson, 15 R. I. 180, 181, 1 A 415.

[56] Wolf v. State, (Ind. A.) 166 NE 883.

[57] "Character" 11 C. J. p 288.

[58] Webster Int. D. [quot Harrison v. Lakenan, 189 Mo. 581, 88 SW 53].

[a] "Character attributed to a person, thing, or action."—Webster Int. D. [quot Harrison v. Lakenan, 189 Mo. 581, 601, 88 SW 53].

[59] Cargile v. Wood, 63 Mo. 501, 513; Ashford v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 80 Mo. A. 638, 644.

"Belief" 7 C. J. p 1034.

[60] Webster Int. D. [quot Harrison v. Lakenan, 189 Mo. 581, 601, 88 SW 53].

[a] Similar definitions.—"The character imputed to a person in a community, society, or public." State v. Baldanzo, (N. J.) 148 A 725, 726.

[61] Dave v. State, 22 Ala. 23, 39.

[62] Cooper v. Greeley, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 347, 365.

[63] Schwimmer v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 206 SW 521, 522.

[64] Moore v. Dozier, 128 Ga. 90, 96, 57 SE 110.

[a] Similar definition.—"The estimate generally held by those who know the party." Sloan v. U. S., 31 F. (2d) 902, 906.

"Character" compared and distinguished see Character 11 C. J. p 289 text and notes 19–42; Evidence § 560.

"Estimate" 21 C. J. p 1049.

[65] Webster D. [quot Harrison v. Lakenan, 189 Mo. 581, 601, 88 SW 53]; Webster New Int. D. [quot State v. Baldanzo, (N. J.) 148 A 725, 726]; Peters v. Bourneau, 22 Ill. A. 177, 180.

[66] State v. Ussery, 118 N. C. 1177, 1180, 24 SE 414.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "The esteem in which he is held by his fellowmen." State v. O'Hagan, 73 N. J. L. 209, 212, 63 A 95. (2) "The estimate in which others hold one." McGuire v. State, 3 Ala. A. 40, 43, 58 S 60.

[67] State v. Simmons, 74 Kan. 799, 801, 88 P 57.

[68] Cauley v. State, 92 Ala. 71, 73, 9 S 456.

[69] State v. Reed, 41 La. Ann. 581, 584, 7 S 132.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "The general opinion of the community." Anderson L. D. [cit Cohen v. New York Times Co., 153 App. Div. 242, 244, 138 NYS 206]. (2) "The general opinion, good or bad, held of a person by those of a community in which he resides." State v. Steen, 185 N. C. 768, 117 SE 793, 794.

[70] State v. Brown, 55 Kan. 766, 772, 42 P 363.

[71] Bucklin v. Ohio, 20 Oh. 18, 23.

[72] Com. v. Webb, 252 Pa. 187, 195, 97 A 189.

[73] Com. v. Stump, 53 Pa. 132, 135, 91 AmD 198.

[74] In re Spenser, 22 F. Cas. No. 13,234, 5 Sawy. 195, 7 CentLJ 84, 85.

[75] Moore v. Dozier, 128 Ga. 90, 96, 57 SE 110.

people of the community where he is known;[76] what is generally said of [him] in his community;[77] what is reported or understood from report to be the community's estimate of [his]. character;[78] what people generally in a community say and think of [him];[79] what people say of [him].[80] "Reputation is founded on what people say about a man's actions and character."[81]

Good reputation is good name; the credit, honor, or character which is derived from a favorable public opinion or esteem, and character by report.[82] The term has been said to be a sort of right to enjoy the good opinion of others.[83] Synonymous are "credit; repute; regard; estimation; esteem; honor; fame."[84]

Phrases: "Bad character and general reputation,"[85] "good standing and reputation,"[86] and "reputation of being a weak and unsafe bank."[87]

REPUTE. [§ 1] A. As Noun. Character attributed, public estimate, established opinion, reputation;[88] character reputed or attributed; established opinion.[89]

Phrases: "Good repute,"[90] and "female of good repute."[91]

[§ 2] B. As Verb—1. In General. To hold in thought; to esteem.[92]

[§ 3] 2. Reputed. Considered,[93] accepted by general or public opinion;[94] generally supposed.[95]

Reputed character. The slow-spreading influence of opinion, arising out of the deportment of an individual in the society in which he moves.[96]

Reputed owner. A person who has to all appearances the title to and possession of property;[97] one who from all appearances, or from supposition, is the owner of a thing.[98]

Other phrases: "Or is reputed to be,"[99] "reputed ownership,"[1] and "reputed thieves."[2]

REQUEST. [§ 1] A. In General. A term the precise meaning of which must depend upon the circumstances in which it is employed.[3]

[§ 2] B. As a Noun[4] a request has been defined as the act of asking for anything desired;[5] an expression of desire.[6]

A request from one in authority is understood to be a mere euphemism. It is in fact a command in an inoffensive form.[7]

[§ 3] C. As a Verb to request has been defined as to ask;[8] to ask for earnestly; to entreat; to

---

76. State v. Brown, 33 Utah 109, 112, 93 P 52.

77. State v. Clark, 9 Or. 466, 469; State v. Poyner, 57 Wash. 489, 107 P 181, 182.

78. Fine v. State, 70 Fla. 412, 70 S 379.

79. Brown v. Moon, 196 Ala. 391, 72 S 29.

80. Stegall v. Stegall, 151 Miss. 875, 119 S 802, 803; Peo. v. Montgomery, 176 N. Y. 219, 227, 68 NE 258.

81. Clark v. Hendricks, (Tex. Civ. A.) 164 SW 57, 58.

82. Webster D. [quot Andre v. State, 5 Iowa 389, 393, 68 AmD 708]. See also Good § 10.

"Credit" 15 C. J. p 1351 text and note 9.

"Good name" see Good § 16.

"Honor" 30 C. J. p 457.

83. Times-Democrat Pub. Co. v. Mozee, 136 Fed. 761, 763, 69 CCA 418; Johnson v. Bradstreet Co., 87 Ga. 79, 81, 13 SE 250; Cohen v. New York Times Co., 153 App. Div. 242, 244, 138 NYS 206.

84. Webster Int. D. [quot Harrison v. Lakenan, 189 Mo. 581, 602, 88 SW 53].

85. See Bad 6 C. J. p 879 text and note 42 [a].

86. See Good § 10.

87. Norwood v. Harness, 98 Ind. 134, 147, 49 AmR 739.

88. Com. v. Howe, 35 Pa. Super. 554, 568.

"Reputation" ante.

89. State v. Paterson, 88 Mo. 88, 104, 57 AmR 374.

90. See Good § 10.

[a] "Good repute" synonymous with "good reputation." State v. Wheeler, 108 Mo. 658, 665. Compare Com. v. Davis, 3 Pa. Dist. 271. "Good reputation" see Reputation ante.

91. See Good § 10.

92. Webster New Int. D.

93. Santa Cruz Rock Pav. Co. v. Lyons, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 260, 43 P 599, 601; Bowman v. Howard, 182 N. C. 662, 666, 110 SE 98 [cit Cyc].

94. Black L. D. [cit Bowman v. Howard, supra].

95. Santa Cruz Rock Pav. Co. v. Lyons, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 260, 43 P 599, 601; Bowman v. Howard, 182 N. C. 662, 666, 110 SE 98 [cit Cyc].

96. Moore v. Dozier, 128 Ga. 90, 97, 57 SE 110; Wright v. Crawfordville, 142 Ind. 636, 642, 42 NE 227 (distinguishing "real character").

97. Century D. [quot Santa Cruz Rock Pav. Co. v. Lyons, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 260, 43 P 599, 601; Lowell Hardware Co. v. May, 59 Colo. 475, 149 P 831, 832].

98. Anderson L. D. [quot Santa Cruz Rock Pav. Co. v. Lyons, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 260, 43 P 599, 601; Lowell Hardware Co. v. May, 59 Colo. 475, 149 P 831, 832].

99. Morse v. Brown, 206 Fed. 232, 233.

1. Nininger v. Knox, 8 Minn. 140.

2. Cowles v. Dunbar, 2 C. & P. 565, 567, 12 ECL 735, 172 Reprint 257.

3. Snodgrass v. Brandenburg, 164 Ind. 59, 64, 71 NE 137, 72 NE 1030.

4. Request:
As subject of forgery see Forgery § 38.
Use of term as creating trust see Trusts [39 Cyc 33]; Wills [40 Cyc 1737].

Request by:
Person defamed as making publication privileged see Libel and Slander § 215.
Servant to volunteers or fellow-servant see Master and Servant §§ 390, 402.

Request for:
Beneficial services see Work and Labor [40 Cyc 2809].
Findings see Trial [38 Cyc 1956–1959].
Further instructions see Criminal Law §§ 2554, 2555; Trial [38 Cyc 1849–1851].
Instructions see Criminal Law §§ 2497–2512; Trial [38 Cyc 1690–1724].
Payment of money to third person see Money Paid §§ 2, 3, 14, 15.
Special finding see Trial [38 Cyc 1914, 1915].
Submission of special issues to jury see Trial [38 Cyc 1936].
Work or materials as essential to mechanic's lien see Mechanics' Liens §§ 73, 119.

"Court of requests" 15 C. J. p 690.

5. Webster D. [quot Philomath College v. Wyatt, 27 Or. 390, 446, 31 P 206, 37 P 1022, 26 LRA 68]; In re Kreiders' Est., 212 Pa. 587, 61 A 1115, 1116.

6. In re Kreiders' Est., supra; Prows v. Hawley, (Utah) 271 P 31, 35.

[a] "Instance" synonymous see Instance 32 C. J. p 940.

[b] "Wish" synonymous.—Hopkins v. Glunt, 111 Pa. 287, 290, 2 A 183. See Wish [40 Cyc 2122].

[c] "Order" distinguished.—Reg. v. Illidge, 2 C. & K. 871, 874, 61 ECL 871, 175 Reprint 366, 1 Den. C. C. 404, 169 Reprint 300. See Order 46 C. J. p 1131.

[d] "Request" for delivery of goods distinguished from warrant for the delivery of goods or order for the delivery of goods see Reg. v. Illidge, 2 C. & K. 871, 874, 61 ECL 871, 175 Reprint 366, 1 Den. C. C. 404, 169 Reprint 300.

"Desire" 18 C. J. p 973.

7. State v. Scheve, 65 Nebr. 853, 91 NW 846, 93 NW 169, 59 LRA 927.

"Command" 11 C. J. p 1237.

8. Webster D. [quot Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867]; Prows v. Hawley, (Utah) 271 P 31, 35.

[a] "Required" as synonymous with "requested" see Linforth v. San Francisco Gas, etc., Co., 9 Cal. A. 434, 99 P 716, 718.

address with a request;[9] to solicit; to express desire for.[10]

"Request by mail" is a familiar phrase said not to import that the person to whom it is addressed shall receive it, but only that the person by whom it is made shall deposit in the post-office a written request, duly directed, so that, in the usual course of the mail, it will reach its destination.[11]

Other phrases: "After request,"[12] "at his special instance or request,"[13] "at its instance and request,"[14] "at their request and upon their credit,"[15] "authorize and empower and request,"[16] "hereby agree to request and do hereby so request,"[17] "performed labor, . . . at the request of another,"[18] "request, advise and incite,"[19] "request, advise and provoke,"[20] "request in writing,"[21] also "requested, advised, and incited."[22]

REQUIRE.[23] [§ 1] A. In General. A term derived from the Latin "requiro," compounded of "re" and "quaere," to seek for, or to seek to get back.[24] To require has been variously defined as meaning to ask;[25] to ask as a favor;[26] to ask as of right;[27] to ask as of right and by authority;[28] to ask for;[29] to ask, or claim, as of right and by authority;[30] to ask or order to do something;[31] call for;[32] to call on;[33] to call to account for;[34] to claim;[35] to claim as by right and authority;[36] to claim as indispensable;[37] to command;[38] to compel;[39] to demand;[40] to demand as a matter of right;[41] to demand as appropriate;[42] to demand authoritatively;[43] to demand or request, authoritatively;[44] to demand, or to re-

---

[b] "Instigated" distinguished from "requested" see Instigate 32 C. J. p 941.

[9] Long v. State, 23 Nebr. 33, 45, 36 NW 310.

[a] "Require" compared.—Linforth v. San Francisco Gas, etc., Co., 9 Cal. A. 434, 99 P 716, 718; Snodgrass v. Brandenburg, 164 Ind. 59, 63, 71 NE 137, 72 NE 1030; Prentice v. Whitney, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 300, 301. "Require" post.

"Entreat" 20 C. J. p 1274.

"Need" as synonymous see Need 45 C. J. p 586 text and note 92 [a].

[10] Webster D. [quot Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867]; Long v. State, 23 Nebr. 33, 45, 36 NW 310.

"Solicit" post.

[11] Lothrop v. Greenfield Stock, etc., Ins. Co., 2 Allen (Mass.) 82, 85.

[12] Thornton v. Hawley, 10 Ves. Jr. 129, 137, 32 Reprint 793.

[13] Prows v. Hawley, (Utah) 271 P 31, 35.

[14] See Instance 32 C. J. p 940.

[15] Isitt v. Merritt Collieries, 28 B. C. 62, [1920] 1 WestWkly 879, 880.

"Credit" 15 C. J. p 1348.

[16] Hutton v. Hutton, 41 N. J. Eq. 267, 271, 3 A 882.

"Authorize" 6 C. J. p 865.

"Empower" 20 C. J. p 1246.

[17] Pitts v. Pendleton, 111 Md. 280, 284, 73 A 900.

[18] Young v. Borzone, 26 Wash. 4, 22, 66 P 135.

[19] U. S. v. Strong, 263 Fed. 789, 796.

"Incite" 31 C. J. p 393.

[20] U. S. v. Ault, 263 Fed. 800.

"Provoke" 50 C. J. p 836.

[21] Johnson v. Butler, (Alta.) 22 DomLR 347.

[22] See Procure 50 C. J. p 628 text and note 20.

[23] See Requirement post; Requisites post.

[24] Moran Bolt, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Caldwell, 240 Mo. 358, 368, 144 SW 472; Brewster v. Brewster, 52 N. H. 52, 58; Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229.

[25] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313, 314].

"Notify" distinguished see Notify 46 C. J. p 569 text and note 20 [a].

[26] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485]; Tennessee Coal, etc., Co. v. Waller, 37 Fed. 545, 547; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867; Meagher v. Van Zandt, 18 Nev. 230, 235, 2 P 57.

"Favor" 25 C. J. p 677.

[27] Standard D. [quot Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229]; Mattingly v. Read, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 524, 526, 79 AmD 565; Boyce v. Stringfellow; 52 Tex. Civ. A. 504, 508, 114 SW 652.

[28] Webster D. [quot Federal Lead Co. v. Swyers, 161 Fed. 687, 692, 88 CCA 547; U. S. v. Armour, 142 Fed. 808, 822; Meagher v. Van Zandt, 18 Nev. 230, 234, 2 P 57; Brewster v. Brewster, 52 N. H. 52, 58]; Atkinson v. State, 190 Ind. 1, 128 NE 433; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867.

[29] Metropolitan Water Bd. v. Johnson, [1913] 3 K. B. 900, 919.

[30] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485].

[31] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, supra].

[32] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313.

[33] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 317, 128 P 485].

[34] Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867.

"Account for" see Account 1 C. J. p 586.

[35] Standard D. [quot Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229]; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867.

"Claim" 11 C. J. p 816.

[a] "Claim" synonymous.—Webster New Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502].

[36] Webster D. [quot Bain v. Coats, (Tex. Commn. A.) 244 SW 130, 134]; Webster Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA1918C 1.

[a] Similar definition.—"To claim by right and authority." Webster New Int. D. [quot Bank of Italy v. Johnson, 200 Cal. 1, 251 P 784, 792].

[37] Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA 1918C 1.

[38] Medlock v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 274, 1 SW (2d) 308, 310.

"Command" synonymous see Command 11 C. J. p 1237 text and note 1.

[39] Medlock v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 274, 1 SW (2d) 308, 310.

"Compel" 12 C. J. p 223.

"Compel" as synonymous see Compel 12 C. J. p 223 text and note 36 [b].

[40] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485]; Webster D. [quot Federal Lead Co. v. Swyers, 161 Fed. 687, 692, 88 CCA 547; Bain v. Coats, (Tex. Commn. A.) 244 SW 130, 134]; Webster New Int. D. [quot Bank of Italy v. Johnson, 200 Cal. 1, 251 P 784, 792; Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313, 314; American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; Miller v. Rouse, 276 Fed. 715, 716; U. S. v. Armour, 142 Fed. 808, 822; Tennessee Coal, etc., Co. v. Waller, 37 Fed. 545, 547; Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670; Vogrin v. American Steel, etc., Co., 263 Ill. 474, 479, 105 NE 332; Concordia F. Ins. Co. v. Bowen, 121 Ill. A. 35, 42; Mattingly v. Reed, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 524, 526, 79 AmD 565; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867; Brewster v. Brewster, 52 N. H. 52, 58; Lippincott v. Ridgway, 11 N. J. Eq. 526, 534; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, 119, LRA 1918C 1; Medlock v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 274, 1 SW (2d) 308, 310 [cit Cyc]; In re Robinson, 101 Vt. 464, 144 A 457, 459; Canfield-Caulkins Impl. Co. v. Cowden, 70 Wash. 587, 589, 127 P 216, AnnCas1914B 857; Metropolitan Water Bd. v. Johnson, [1913] 3 K. B. 900, 919.

"Demand" 18 C. J. p 478.

[a] "Demand" synonymous.—Crabb Synonyms [cit Brewster v. Brewster, 52 N. H. 52, 58]; Webster New Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; Butler St. Fdy., etc., Co. v. State Industrial Bd., 277 Ill. 70, 72, 115 NE 122; Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229.

[41] Boswell v. Hall, 8 Oh. S. & C. P. 590, 591.

[42] Webster New Int. D. [quot Bank of Italy v. Johnson, 200 Cal. 1, 251 P 784, 792].

[43] Dick v. Forshey, 71 Pa. Super. 439, 441.

[44] Standard D. [quot Moran Bolt, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Caldwell, 240 Mo. 358, 366, 144 SW 472].

quest something of, authoritatively;[45] to direct;[46] to enjoin;[47] to exact;[48] to find indispensable;[49] to have imperative need of;[50] to have need or necessity for;[51] to impose a command or compulsion upon one to do something;[52] to insist;[53] to insist upon;[54] to insist upon having;[55] to insist upon having as indispensable;[56] to make necessary;[57] to need;[58] to need or call for;[59] to need, want, or have occasion for;[60] to order or to compel;[61] to prescribe;[62] to render necessary as a duty, or something indispensable;[63] to render necessary or indispensable;[64] to render or find indispensable;[65] to request;[66] to want;[67] also to search for;[68] to seek;[69] and also to avenge;[70] to take satisfaction for.[71]

Phrases: "If he requires one,"[72] "in so far as he requires it,"[73] "require for the purpose of its business,"[74] "require or permit,"[75] "such as the said party of the second part may require for its own purpose,"[76] and "when she may require it."[77]

[§ 2] B. Required. Allowed;[78] called for;[79] commanded;[80] compelled;[81] demanded;[82] necessary;[83]

---

[45] Standard D. [quot Moran Bolt, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Caldwell, 240 Mo. 358, 368, 144 SW 472; Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229].

[46] Vogrin v. American Steel, etc., Co., 263 Ill. 474, 479, 105 NE 332.

"Direct" 18 C. J. p 1043.

[a] "Direct" synonymous.—Webster New Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; U. S. v. Dimmick, 112 Fed. 350, 351; U. S. v. San Francisco Bridge Co., 88 Fed. 891, 893; Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670; McLean County Coal Co. v. Bloomington, 234 Ill. 90, 98, 84 NE 624; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA1918C 1. See Beakey v. Knutson, 90 Or. 574, 174 P 1149, 177 P 955 ("substantially synonymous").

[47] Webster Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502].

[48] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485]; Webster D. [cit Federal Lead Co. v. Swyers, 161 Fed. 687, 692, 88 CCA 547]; American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; Webster New Int. D. [quot Bank of Italy v. Johnson, 200 Cal. 1, 251 P 784, 792]; Concordia F. Ins. Co. v. Bowen, 121 Ill. A. 35, 42; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA1918C 1.

[a] "Exact" synonymous.—Webster Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA 1918C 1.

"Exact" 23 C. J. p 177.

[49] Dick v. Forshey, 71 Pa. Super. 439, 441.

[50] Standard D. [quot In re White, 135 Misc. 377, 238 NYS 559, 568; Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas 1912A 1229]; Webster D. [quot Browning v. Hinerman, (Tex. Civ. A.) 224 SW 236, 238].

[51] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485].

[52] Webster D. [quot Bain v. Coats, (Tex. Commn. A.) 244 SW 130, 134].

"Command" 11 C. J. p 1237.

"Compulsion" 12 C. J. p 370.

"Impose" 31 C. J. p 258.

[53] Tennessee Coal, etc., Co. v. Waller, 37 Fed. 545, 547.

"Insist" 32 C. J. p 795.

[54] Standard D. [quot Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229]; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA1918C 1.

[55] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485]; Webster D. [quot Federal Lead Co. v. Swyers, 161 Fed. 687, 692, 88 CCA 547]; Webster New Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670.

[56] Concordia F. Ins. Co. v. Bowen, 121 Ill. A. 35, 42.

[57] Mattingly v. Reed, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 524, 526, 79 AmD 565; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867; Medlock v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 274, 1 SW (2d) 308, 310 [cit Cyc]; Boyce v. Stringfellow, 52 Tex. Civ. A. 504, 508, 114 SW 652.

[58] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485]; Hull v. Holloway, 58 Conn. 210, 216, 20 A 445; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867; Cole v. Littlefield, 35 Me. 439, 445; Corlies v. Allen, 36 N. J. Eq. 100, 101; In re Robinson, 101 Vt. 464, 144 A 457, 459; Hughes v. Chester, etc., R. Co., 1 Dr. & Sm. 524, 551, 62 Reprint 478.

"Need" equivalent see Need 45 C. J. p 586 text and note 92 [c].

"Need" not absolutely synonymous see Need 45 C. J. p 586 text and note 92 [b].

[59] Webster New Int. D. [quot Bank of Italy v. Johnson, 200 Cal. 1, 251 P 784, 792].

[60] Roget Int. Thesaurus of Words and Phrases [quot Bank of Italy v. Johnson, supra].

[61] Vogrin v. American Steel, etc., Co., 263 Ill. 474, 105 NE 332.

[a] "Order" synonymous.—Webster New. Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502]; U. S. v. Dimmick, 112 Fed. 350, 351; U. S. v. San Francisco Bridge Co., 88 Fed. 891, 893; Kennedy v. Falde, 4 Dak. 319, 29 NW 667, 670; McLean County Coal Co. v. Bloomington, 234 Ill. 90, 98, 84 NE 624.

[b] "To require an act to be done raises in mind some order or other direction to do it." State v. Peters, 25 OhNPNS 69, 71; Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Page, 65 Okl. 101, 164 P 116, LRA1918C 1.

"Order" 46 C. J. p 1131.

"Permit" distinguished see Permit 48 C. J. p 926 text and note 36 [b].

[62] U. S. v. Dimmick, 112 Fed. 350, 351.

[a] "Prescribe" synonymous.—Webster New Int. D. [quot American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502].

[63] Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867.

[64] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485].

[65] Standard D. [quot Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229].

[66] Tennessee Coal, etc., Co. v. Waller, 37 Fed. 545, 547; Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867; Meagher v. Van Zandt, 18 Nev. 230, 235, 2 P 57; State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485; Metropolitan Water Bd. v. Johnson, [1913] 3 K. B. 900, 919.

"Request" compared see Request ante.

[67] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485]; Standard D. [quot Duhamel v. Port Angeles Stone Co., 59 Wash. 171, 109 P 597, 599, AnnCas1912A 1229].

[68] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485].

[69] Century D. [quot State v. Marron, supra].

[70] Johnson v. Clem, 4 KyL 860, 867.

[71] Johnson v. Clem, supra.

[72] Canfield-Caulkins Impl. Co. v. Cowden, 70 Wash. 587, 589, 127 P 216, AnnCas1914B 857.

[73] In re Robinson, 101 Vt. 464, 144 A 457, 459.

[74] Kensington, etc., Electric Lighting Co. v. Notting Hill Electric Lighting Co., 87 L. J. K. B. 1076, 1079.

[75] See Permit 48 C. J. p 927 text and note 56.

[76] Albany Power, etc., Co. v. Albany, 133 Ga. 375, 382, 65 SE 886.

[77] Brewster v. Brewster, 52 N. H. 52, 58.

[78] Byrd v. State, 57 Miss. 243, 246, 34 AmR 440. But see State v. McCord, 8 Kan. 232, 239, 12 AmR 469.

[79] McReynolds' App., 66 Pa. 102, 111.

[80] Huey v. Waldrop, 141 Ala. 318, 322, 37 S 380.

[81] State v. McCord, 8 Kan. 232, 239, 12 AmR 469.

"Compelled" see Compel 12 C. J. p 223.

[82] Century D. [cit Graham v. German American Ins. Co., 75 Oh. St. 374, 403, 79 NE 930, 15 LRANS 1055, 9 AnnCas 79]; Western Coal, etc., Co. v. Greeson, 284 Fed. 510, 513; Mama Coal Co. v. Colo, 158 Ark. 408, 250 SW 327, 329; Norwich Union F. Ins. Soc. v. Rayor, 70 Colo. 290, 201 P 50; Dowdall v. Lenox, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 267, 272.

[83] Peo. v. Central Pac. R. Co., 76 Cal. 29, 41, 18 P 90; Flint, etc., R. Co. v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 64 Mich. 350, 360, 31 NW 281; State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485. See Miller v. Leo, 35 App. Div. 589, 592, 55 NYS 165.

[a] "Necessary" synonymous.—Flint, etc., R. Co. v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 64 Mich. 350, 360, 31 NW 281.

"Necessary" 45 C. J. p 580.

made necessary;[84] needed;[85] made an essential condition;[86] ordered;[87] rendered necessary or indispensable;[88] permitted;[89] requested;[90] that which is necessary;[91] to be requisite.[92] The term as sometimes used may not be synonymous with "caused,"[93] "occasioned,"[94] or "needed."[95]

Phrases: "As may be required,"[96] "as the same may be required,"[97] "desired and required,"[98] "fairly required,"[99] "has been required,"[1] "if by law recording or registering thereof is required,"[2] "if by law such recording or registering is required,"[3] "no charge or fee shall be required,"[4] "notice of required change,"[5] "plaintiff in error shall not be required to pay costs,"[6] "required and permitted,"[7] "required bond,"[8] "required by existing laws,"[9] "required by law,"[10] "required consent,"[11] "required for the purposes thereof,"[12] "required in a legal proceeding,"[13] "required or authorized by law,"[14] "required or permitted,"[15] "required to be reserved,"[16] "required to pay,"[17] "required to testify,"[18] "the amount required by my wife for her maintenance,"[19] "when an appraisal has been required,"[20] "when appraisal has been required,"[21] "when appraisal is required,"[22] "when required,"[23] "when required to be used,"[24] and "which shall no longer be required to be reserved."[25]

[§ 3] C. Requiring. Authoritatively demanding or requesting something to be done;[26] demanding;[27] having imperative need;[28] and requesting.[29]

Phrases: "Not requiring,"[30] "requiring his presence,"[31] and "persons requiring their services."[32]

REQUIREMENT. In its primary and usual sense, the act of requiring;[33] a demand;[34] an imperative or authoritative command;[35] a requisition.[36] Sudsidiary and exceptional definitions of the word are that of necessity;[37] or need.[38] It has also been defined as a thing which is required;[39] a thing made necessary;[40] and as an essential condition.[41]

---

[84] Century D. [cit Graham v. German American Ins. Co., 75 Oh. St. 374, 403, 79 NE 930, 15 LRANS 1055, 9 AnnCas 79]. But see Norwich Union F. Ins. Soc. v. Rayor, 70 Colo. 290, 201 P 50, 51.

[85] Webster D. [quot Keigher v. General Electric Co., 173 App. Div. 207, 211, 158 NYS 939]; W. H. Purcell Co. v. Sage, 200 Ill. 342, 346, 65 NE 723; Dowdall v. Lenox, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 267, 272.

[a] As used in statute the term has been held not to mean "needed." Western Coal, etc., Co. v. Greeson, 284 Fed. 510, 513; Mama Coal Co. v. Colo, 158 Ark. 408, 250 SW 327, 329.

[86] Century D. [cit Graham v. German American Ins. Co., 75 Oh. St. 374, 403, 79 NE 930, 15 LRANS 1055, 9 AnnCas 79.

"Condition" 12 C. J. p 398.

"Essential" 21 C. J. p 898.

[87] See Order 46 C. J. p 1131 text and note 13 [c].

[88] Century D. [quot Wilcox, etc., Co. v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 60 Fed. 929, 930; Keigher v. General Electric Co., 173 App. Div. 207, 211, 158 NYS 939].

[89] Bowler v. Pipestone First Nat. Bank, 21 S. D. 449, 455, 113 NW 618.

"Permitted" see Permit 48 C. J. p 925 text and note 5 [a].

[90] Western Coal, etc., Co. v. Greeson, 284 Fed. 510, 513; Mama Coal Co. v. Colo, 158 Ark. 408, 250 SW 327, 329; Norwich Union F. Ins. Soc. v. Rayor, 70 Colo. 290, 201 P 50; McKinnon v. Western Coal, etc., Co., 120 Mo. A. 148, 163, 96 SW 485 (where the construction "needed" put upon the term in Bowerman v. Lackawanna Min. Co., 98 Mo. 308, 316, 71 SW 1062, was disapproved); Graham v. German American Ins. Co., 75 Oh. St. 374, 403, 79 NE 930, 15 LRANS 1055, 9 AnnCas 79.

"Requested" as synonymous see Require ante.

[91] Com. v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 128 Ky. 542, 546, 108 SW 851, 852, 32 KyL 1400.

[92] Hull v. Holloway, 58 Conn. 210, 216, 20 A 445.

"Requisite" post.

[93] Stapper v. Wolter, (Tex. Civ. A.) 85 SW 850, 851.

[94] Stapper v. Wolter, supra.

[95] Western Coal, etc., Co. v. Greeson, 284 Fed. 510, 513.

[a] In a statute the term has been held to mean requested or demanded and not to mean needed. Western Coal, etc., Co. v. Greeson, 284 Fed. 510, 513.

[96] McReynolds' App., 66 Pa. 102, 111; Boyce v. Stringfellow, 52 Tex. Civ. A. 504, 508, 114 SW 652.

[97] McReynolds' App., 66 Pa. 102, 111.

[98] See Desire 18 C. J. p 973 text and note 46 [b].

[99] Coe v. Aiken, 61 Fed. 24, 35.

[1] National Home Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Dwelling House Ins. Co., 106 Mich. 236, 240, 64 NW 21; American Ins. Co. v. Rodenhouse, 36 Okl. 211, 215, 128 P 502.

[2] Carey v. Donohue, 240 U. S. 430, 36 SCt 386, 389, 60 L. ed. 726.

[3] In re Anderson, 252 Fed. 272, 273; Ragan v. Donovan, 189 Fed. 138, 144.

[4] Hoffman v. Lincoln County, 137 Wis. 353, 356, 118 NW 850.

[5] State v. Glaves, 268 Mo. 100, 186 SW 685.

[6] Sigmon v. Austin, 112 Ga. 570, 575, 37 SE 894.

[7] State v. Peters, 25 OhNPNS 69, 71.

[8] Babcock v. Cobb, 11 Minn. 247, 252.

[9] State v. Marron, 17 N. M. 304, 319, 128 P 485.

[10] Maryland Casualty Co. v. U. S., 251 U. S. 342, 40 SCt 155, 157, 64 L. ed. 297; Newport v. Silva, 144 Ky. 450, 137 SW 546, 549; Peo. v. Knapp, 147 App. Div. 436, 132 NYS 747, 750; Portland v. Portland State Bank, 107 Or. 267, 214 P 813, 815; Rex v. Nier, 9 Alta. L. 353, 28 DomLR 373, 33 West LR 180, 9 WestWkly 838.

[11] Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Public Utilities Commn., 77 Colo. 42, 234 P 175.

[12] Hooper v. Bourne, 3 Q. B. D. 258, 280.

[13] Bowers v. Beck, 2 Nev. 157, 160.

[14] Rex v. Nier, 9 Alta. L. 353, 28 DomLR 373, 33 WestLR 180, 9 West Wkly 838.

[15] See Permit 48 C. J. p 927 text and note 56 [a].

[16] St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Guaranty Trust Co., 144 App. Div. 440, 445, 129 NYS 421 [aff 205 N. Y. 609 mem, 99 NE 162 mem].

[17] St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Elk City First Nat. Bank, 68 Okl. 68, 171 P 467, 470.

[18] Atkinson v. State, 190 Ind. 1, 128 NE 433.

[19] Blair v. Blair, 82 Kan. 464, 467, 108 P 827.

[20] Concordia F. Ins. Co. v. Bowen, 121 Ill. A. 35, 42.

[21] Norwich Union F. Ins. Soc. v. Rayor, 70 Colo. 290, 201 P 50, 51.

[22] Graham v. German American Ins. Co., 75 Oh. St. 374, 404, 79 NE 930, 15 LRANS 1055, 9 AnnCas 79.

[23] Wojtylak v. Kansas, etc., Coal Co., 188 Mo. 260, 296, 87 SW 506; McKinnon v. Western Coal, etc., Co., 120 Mo. A. 148, 163, 96 SW 485.

[24] Mama Coal Co. v. Colo, 158 Ark. 408, 250 SW 327, 328.

[25] St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Guaranty Trust Co., 205 N. Y. 609, 613, 99 NE 162.

[26] State v. Peters, 112 Oh. St. 249, 147 NE 81, 84.

[27] Hanson v. Maverick Oil Co., 67 N. H. 201, 202, 29 A 459.

[28] Standard D. [cit Park v. Candler, 114 Ga. 466, 479, 40 SE 523].

[29] Hanson v. Maverick Oil Co., 67 N. H. 201, 202, 29 A 459.

[30] Metropolitan Water Bd. v. Johnson, [1913] 3 K. B. 900, 919.

[31] Southern R. Co. v. Smith, 107 Va. 553, 556, 59 SE 372.

[32] Hanson v. Maverick Oil Co., 67 N. H. 201, 202, 29 A 459.

[33] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313, 314].

"Requiring" see Require § 3.

[34] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ryan v. Litchfield, supra].

"Demand" 18 C. J. p 478.

[35] Webster Int. D. [quot Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 141 NE 269, 275].

"Command" 11 C. J. p 1237.

[36] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313, 314].

"Requisition" post.

Phrases: "Annual requirements,"[42] "for our requirements,"[43] "lawful requirement,"[44] "requirement of registration,"[45] and "requirements of this section."[46]

REQUISITE.[47] Essential, indispensable.[48]

Phrases: "Requisite bond,"[49] "requisite notice or notices,"[50] "such sums as may be requisite,"[51] and "the requisite majority."[52]

REQUISITION.[53] The act of requiring or demanding.[54]

Phrases: "Requisition and inquiry,"[55] "requisition for surrender,"[56] "requisition of a physician,"[57] "requisition to sue,"[58] and "to comply with a requisition."[59]

REREAPPRAISEMENT. A term said to be used in the sense of the word reappraisement.[60]

REREDOS. A sort of screen at the back of the altar.[61]

RERESTITUTION.[62]

RERUM ORDO CONFUNDITUR, SI UNICUIQUE JURISDICTIO NON SERVATUR.[63]

RERUM PROGRESSUS OSTENDUNT MULTA QUÆ IN INITIO PRÆCAVERI SEU PRÆVIDERI NON POSSUNT.[64]

RERUM SUARUM QUILIBET EST MODERATOR ET ARBITER.[65]

RES.[66] In the civil law, a term said to signify a thing, an object.[67] The term is one of somewhat wide content and it embraces not only land and chattels but also the status of individuals.[68]

Res adiratæ. An old action the gist of which was the fact that plaintiff had lost his goods, that they had come into the hands of defendant, and that defendant, on request, refused to give them up.[69]

Res communes. Those things which have remained common, or in the ancient state of negative community.[70]

RES ACCENDENT LUMINA REBUS.[71]

RES ACCESSORIA SEQUITUR REM PRINCIPALEM.[72]

RES ADJUDICATA.[73]

RESALE.[74] Where a person who has sold goods or other property to a purchaser, sells them again to someone else.[75]

---

[37] Webster New Int. D. [cit Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313, 314].

"Necessity" 45 C. J. p 585.

[38] Webster New Int. D. [cit Ryan v. Litchfield, 162 Iowa 609, 144 NW 313, 314].

"Need" 45 C. J. p 586.

[a] "Needs" synonymous with requirements.—Minnesota Lumber Co. v. Whitebreast Coal Co., 160 Ill. 85, 93, 43 NE 774, 31 LRA 529.

[39] Webster Int. D. [quot Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 141 NE 269, 275].

[40] Century D. [cit Graham v. German American Ins. Co., 75 Oh. St. 374, 404, 79 NE 930, 15 LRANS 1055, 9 AnnCas 79].

[41] Century D. [cit Graham v. German American Ins. Co., supra].

"Condition" 12 C. J. p 398.

"Essential" 21 C. J. p 898.

[42] Mathieson Alkali Works v. Virginia Banner Coal Corp., 147 Va. 125, 136 SE 673, 680.

[43] Russell v. Excelsior Stove, etc., Co., 120 Ill. A. 23, 33.

[a] In a contract to purchase goods the phrase means such amount as may be needed in the regular course of business and not what the purchaser may choose to require. Russell v. Excelsior Stove, etc., Co., 120 Ill. A. 23, 33.

[44] Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 141 NE 269, 272.

[45] Mattley v. Geisler, 187 Fed. 970, 972, 110 CCA 90.

[46] Howe v. Chicago, 224 Ill. 95, 96, 79 NE 421, 422.

[47] See Require ante.

"Requirement" ante.

[48] Funkhouser v. Spahr, 102 Va. 306, 310, 46 SE 378.

[49] Smith v. Randlette, 98 Me. 86, 91, 56 A 199.

[50] Bowling v. Arthur, 34 Miss. 41, 54.

[51] Brooklyn Public Library v. New York, 250 N. Y. 495, 500, 166 NE 179.

[52] Funkhouser v. Spahr, 102 Va. 306, 310, 46 SE 378, 379.

[53] Requisition:
For military service see Army and Navy § 43; Militia § 71.
On private persons in time of war see War [40 Cyc 336, 337].
To procure extradition see Extradition §§ 20–27, 67.

[54] Webster New Int. D. [quot Sanborn v. Weir, 95 Vt. 1, 112 A 228, 231]; Atwood v. Charlton, 21 R. I. 568, 571, 45 A 580.

[a] "Order by president calling forth the militia" distinguished from "requisition directed to governor of a state, requiring a quota or detachment of militia to be furnished or held in readiness for the service of the United States." Mills v. Martin, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 7, 26.

[b] "Condemnation" compared.—Filbin Corp. v. U. S., 266 Fed. 911, 913.

[55] See Inquiry 32 C. J. p 578 text and note 97.

[56] Castro v. De Uriarte, 16 Fed. 93, 96.

[57] Bain v. State, 61 Ala. 75, 79.

[58] Lockridge v. Upton, 24 Mo. 184, 185.

[59] Mills v. Martin, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 7, 27.

[60] Gallagher v. U. S., 4 Cust. A. 308, 312 ("The word . . . seems not yet to have found a permanent place in the English language").

"Appraisement" 4 C. J. p 1408.

[61] Boyd v. Phillpotts, L. R. 4 A. & E. 297, 346.

[62] See Forcible Entry and Detainer § 37.

"Restitution" post.

[63] A maxim meaning "The order of things is confounded, if every one preserves not his jurisdiction." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 4 Inst. Proem.].

[64] A maxim meaning "The progress of events show many things which at the beginning could not be foreseen or guarded against." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Mildmay's Case, 6 Coke 40a, 40b, 77 Reprint 311].

[65] A maxim meaning "Every one is the regulator and disposer of his own property." Burrill L. Dict. [cit Coke Litt. 223a].

[66] Cross references:
In rem see In 31 C. J. p 358 text and note 87.
Res gestæ see Criminal Law § 1114 et seq; Evidence § 535 et seq.
Res ipsa loquitur see Negligence § 768 et seq.
Res judicata see Judgments § 1154 et seq.

[67] See Lord v. Colvin, 4 Drew. 366, 374, 62 Reprint 141 (where the word was said to probably signify "business").

[68] Lister v. Lister, 86 N. J. Eq. 30, 35, 97 A 170.

[69] Bouvier L. D. [cit 2 Holdsw. Hist. E. L. 275].

[70] Geer v. Connecticut, 161 U. S. 519, 525, 16 SCt 600, 40 L. ed. 793 [quot Pothier's Traité du Droit de Propriété].

[71] A maxim meaning "One thing throws light upon others." Black L. D. [cit Keisselbrack v. Livingston, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 144, 149].

[72] A maxim meaning "An accessory follows its principal." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Br. 491].

[73] See Res Judicata post. And see Judgments § 742 et seq.

[74] Cross references:
Auctions and Auctioneers § 50.
Chattel Mortgages § 528.
Executions § 618 et seq.
Executors and Administrators § 1622.
Frauds, Statute of § 237.
Guardian and Ward § 332.
Judicial Sales § 204 et seq.
Mortgages §§ 89, 1439, 1841, 1884.
Partition §§ 741, 742.

RES BONA FIDE VENDITA PROPTER MINIMAM CAUSAM INEMPTA.[76]

RESCEIT or RECEIT. The admission or receiving of a third person to plead his right in a cause formerly commenced between two other persons.[77] The admittance of a plea when the controversy is between the same two persons.[78]

RESCIND.[79] To abrogate, annul, avoid, or cancel[80]—in other words, to undo—a contract;[81] and, sometimes, to terminate.[82]

Phrase: "Rescind and cancel."[83]

RESCISSION.[84] The act of abrogating, cancelling, vacating, or annulling;[85] the undoing of a thing;[86] and has been distinguished from "abandonment,"[87] "cancellation,"[88] "determination,"[89] "modification,"[90] "reformation,"[91] "repudiation,"[92] and "termination."[93]

Act of both parties is ordinarily implied when the term is employed.[94]

Rescission in pais, as the term implies, is effected by an act out of court.[95]

RESCRIPT. At common law, a counterpart; duplicate; or copy.[96] In American law, the statement of the decision of the highest appellate tribunal;[97] also, the brief statement sent to the court a quo.[98]

Public Lands § 219 et seq.
Railroads § 794.
Receivers § 366.
Sales [35 Cyc 155, 475, 519, 647, 679].
Taxation [37 Cyc 1357].
Theaters and Shows [38 Cyc 267].
Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1321, 1940].

[75] Black L. D.

[76] A maxim meaning "A thing sold in good faith, for even the most trifling consideration, will be regarded as sold." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Domat. 1, 2, § 11, art 3].

[a] Applied in Masterton v. Beers, 29 N. Y. Super. 368, 386.

[77] Bouvier L. D. [cit Jacob L. D.; Cowell].

[78] Bouvier L. D. [cit Coke Littleton 192].

[79] See Rescission post.

[80] Abbott L. D. [quot Powell v. F. C. Linde Co., 29 Misc. 419, 420, 60 NYS 1044]; Swan v. Great Northern R. Co., 40 N. D. 258, 168 NW 657, 659, LRA1918F 1063.

"Cancel" distinguished see Cancel 9 C. J. p 1153 text and note 11 [a].

[a] "Revoke," "annul," or "blot out" are not always and necessarily synonymous. Finlay v. Swirsky, 98 Conn. 666, 120 A 561, 562.

[81] Swan v. Great Northern R. Co., 40 N. D. 258, 168 NW 657, 659, LRA 1918F 1063.

[82] Hurst v. Trow Printing, etc., Co., 2 Misc. 361, 366, 22 NYS 371 (where it was said to be sometimes used in the narrower sense of terminate a contract as to future transactions).

[83] Pfeiffer v. Norman, 22 N. D. 168, 172, 133 NW 97, 38 LRANS 891.

[84] Cross references:
Abatement and Revival § 465.
Accord and Satisfaction § 102.
Adverse Possession § 370.
Agency §§ 149–171, 242, 243, 289.
Alteration of Instruments §§ 20, 79.
Apprentices §§ 158–183.
Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 44, 45.
Bills and Notes § 552.
Bonds § 75.
Boundaries § 186.
Bounties § 8.
Breach of Marriage Promise § 21.
Building and Construction Contracts §§ 56–65.
Chattel Mortgages § 152.
Compositions with Creditors § 117.
Compromise and Settlement § 38.
Contracts §§ 101–109, 307.
Corporations §§ 667, 732, 867, 892–893.
Counties §§ 123, 230, 251.
Courts §§ 124, 292, 293.
Deeds §§ 180–183.
Descent and Distribution § 233.
Elections § 144.
Exchange of Property §§ 46–55.
Executors and Administrators § 629.
Fire Insurance §§ 178, 414–417.
Frauds, Statute of §§ 150, 419.
Fraudulent Conveyances § 98.
Guaranty §§ 69–75.
Husband and Wife §§ 221–223, 228–232, 313–316½, 371, 384, 385, 661.
Judges § 99.
Landlord and Tenant §§ 26, 27, 1947.
Levees § 15.
Life Insurance §§ 469 et seq, 615 et seq.
Limitations of Actions §§ 621, 1178.
Master and Servant § 19.
Mechanics' Liens §§ 151, 169.
Mines and Minerals §§ 537, 538, 595, 596.
Modern Civil Law §§ 166, 211, 344.
Mortgages §§ 328, 815, 956.
Municipal Corporations §§ 783, 2239–2244, 2571–2573, 4106.
Mutual Benefit Insurance §§ 59–63, 193.
Partition §§ 45, 46.
Partnership § 310.
Payment §§ 71–74.
Public Lands §§ 291, 552.
Railroads §§ 184, 531.
Sales [35 Cyc 127 et seq].
Stipulations [36 Cyc 1293].
Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1354 et seq].
See generally Cancellation of Instruments 9 C. J. p 1154; Contracts § 621 et seq.

"Rescission at law" distinguished from "rescission in equity" see Cancellation of Instruments § 2.

[85] Bates v. United Constr. Co., 81 Cal. A. 295, 253 P 328, 329.

[86] Powell v. F. C. Linde Co., 29 Misc. 419, 421, 60 NYS 1044; Cheek v. Metzer, 116 Tex. 356, 291 SW 860, 863 [quot Cyc]; Adams v. Loftin, (Tex. Civ. A.) 1 SW (2d) 426, 430 [cit Cyc].

[87] Dooley v. Stillson, 46 R. I. 332, 128 A 217, 218.

"Abandonment" § 1 et seq.

[88] Sanborn v. Ballanfonte, 98 Cal. A. 482, 277 P 152, 153.

"Cancellation" 5 C. J. p 1153. See also Cancellation of Instruments §§ 1, 2.

[89] Vance v. Baldwin, (Man.) 59 DomLR 336, 337, [1921] 1 WestWkly 932.

"Determination" 18 C. J. p 983.

[90] R. J. Caldwell Co. v. Connecticut Mills Co., 225 App. Div. 270, 232 NYS 625, 632.

"Modification" 40 C. J. p 1486.

[91] Cancellation of Instruments § 3.

"Reformation" 53 C. J. p 820.

[92] Dooley v. Stillson, 46 R. I. 332, 128 A 217, 218.

"Repudiation" ante.

[93] Sanborn v. Ballanfonte, 98 Cal. A. 482, 277 P 152, 153.

[94] Bridgeton v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 N. J. L. 645, 650, 96 A 918.

[95] Bigelow Fraud [quot Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Rose, 294 Fed. 122].

"In pais" see In 31 C. J. p 358 text and note 82.

[96] Black L. D.

"Counterpart" 15 C. J. p 378.

"Copy" 13 C. J. p 933.

"Duplicate" 19 C. J. p 836.

[97] Anderson L. D.

[98] Anderson L. D.

RESCUE

By Francis J. Ludes

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra this page]

ANALYSIS

- I. RESCUE OF PERSONS [§§ 1–20] p 696
  - A. Definition [§ 1] p 696
  - B. Nature and Elements of Offense [§§ 2–8] p 696
    - 1. In General [§§ 2–3] p 696
      - a. At Common Law [§ 2] p 696
      - b. Under Statutes [§ 3] p 696
    - 2. Valid Arrest or Imprisonment [§§ 4–5] p 696
      - a. In General [§ 4] p 696
      - b. Knowledge of Rescuers [§ 5] p 697
    - 3. Actual Custody [§ 6] p 697
    - 4. Necessity of Force [§ 7] p 697
    - 5. Escape of Prisoner [§ 8] p 697
  - C. Accomplices, Aiders, and Abettors [§ 9] p 697
  - D. Attempts [§§ 10–11] p 697
    - 1. In General [§ 10] p 697
    - 2. Rights of Officer Resisting Attempt [§ 11] p 697
  - E. Indictment or Information [§§ 12–15] p 697
    - 1. Essential Allegations and Averments [§§ 12–13] p 697
      - a. In General [§ 12] p 697
      - b. Under Statutes [§ 13] p 698
    - 2. Joinder of Offenses; Included Offenses [§ 14] p 698
    - 3. Variance [§ 15] p 698
  - F. Evidence [§§ 16–17] p 698
    - 1. Admissibility [§ 16] p 698
    - 2. Weight and Sufficiency [§ 17] p 698
  - G. Defenses [§ 18] p 698
  - H. Trial [§ 19] p 698
  - I. Punishment [§ 20] p 699
- II. RESCUE OF PROPERTY [§§ 21–26] p 699
  - A. Definition [§ 21] p 699
  - B. Nature and Elements of Offense [§ 22] p 699
  - C. Indictment and Information [§§ 23–24] p 699
    - 1. In General [§ 23] p 699
    - 2. Under Statutes [§ 24] p 699
  - D. Evidence [§ 25] p 699
  - E. Defenses [§ 26] p 699

CROSS REFERENCES

Breaking jail see Escape 21 C. J. p 825.
Civil liability:
  Generally see Torts [39 Cyc 408].
  Of officer permitting escape or rescue see Prisons §§ 65–69; Sheriffs and Constables [35 Cyc 1735].
  Rescuing animals see Animals §§ 679–682.
Escape by prisoner see Escape 21 C. J. p 825.
Homicide by officer resisting rescue see Homicide § 199.
Interference with officer making arrest see Obstructing Justice 46 C. J. p 867.
Obstructing execution of process see Obstructing Justice §§ 2–15.
Penal action for pound breach see Animals §§ 683, 684.
Pound breach see Animals §§ 676–684.
Rescue as riot see Riot § 4.
Resisting officer see Obstructing Justice 46 C. J. p 867.

I. RESCUE OF PERSONS

[§ 1] A. Definition. Rescue at common law is the forcibly and knowingly freeing another from arrest or imprisonment.[1]

[§ 2] B. Nature and Elements of Offense—1. In General—a. At Common Law. Rescue consists in a high contempt of the law in preventing the operation of its process,[2] and may be either a capital offense or a misdemeanor.[3] The rescue of a traitor is treason;[4] of a felon, felony;[5] of a misdemeanant, a misdemeanor;[6] and of a person confined on civil process, a misdemeanor.[7] Rescuing a supposed felon, at common law, is felony, although he be not indicted.[8] The essential elements of the offense, at common law, are: (1) Valid arrest;[9] (2) actual custody;[10] (3) the forcibly and knowingly freeing a person from arrest or custody;[11] and (4) escape of the prisoner.[12]

[§ 3] b. Under Statutes. In some jurisdictions rescue is made an offense by statute, and such statutes are generally declaratory of the common law,[13] but some statutes enlarge the offense.[14] In the absence of a statutory requirement to the contrary no effort on the part of the prisoner is necessary,[15] and his deliverance may be effected by the intervention of others without his coöperation.[16] Further, it is immaterial whether the person liberated was charged with an offense against the state[17] or a municipality;[18] and the person rescued need not have been arraigned,[19] or his guilt established.[20] Such statutes do not apply to an evasion of punishment by a convicted defendant, who was on bail, by procuring another to serve his sentence for him.[21]

[§ 4] 2. Valid Arrest or Imprisonment—a. In General. It is necessary that the arrest[22] or imprisonment[23] of the party rescued be legal, for it is lawful for another to rescue him without violence,[24] where unlawfully arrested[25] or imprisoned;[26] but the contrary has in the absence of a statutory requirement been held as to persons imprisoned.[27] Where the arrest is invalid, the officer is guilty of an affray in attempting to hold the prisoner by force against the efforts of himself and friends.[28] The validity of the arrest, however, cannot be determined by a rescue.[29] Even when the arrest is illegal, third parties have no right to assault an officer to effect a rescue.[30]

---

[1] 4 Blackstone Comm. p 131 [quot Rome v. Omburg, 22 Ga. 67, 69].

[a] Other definitions.—(1) Rescue is "when a man, lawfully arrested and taken, is set at large wrongfully." Coke Litt. p 160*b*; Comyns Dig. [quot State v. Mazyck, 37 S. C. L. 291, 292]. (2) Rescue is a deliverance of a prisoner from lawful custody by any third person. State v. Carivey, 190 N. C. 319, 129 SE 802.

[b] Statutory definitions.—(1) "Every person who by force sets at liberty or rescues any person who, before conviction, stands committed for any capital crime against the United States, or who by force sets at liberty or rescues any person committed for or convicted of any offense other than capital, shall be fined not more than $500, and imprisoned not more than one year." Rev. St. (1878) § 5401 [quot U. S. v. Clapox, 35 Fed. 575, 13 Sawy. 349]. (2) "Rescue is the forcibly and knowingly freeing another from arrest or imprisonment." Cr. Code § 4478 [quot Robinson v. State, 82 Ga. 535, 9 SE 528]. (3) "Whoever obstructs the execution of any legal process, or who shall forcibly free any person from legal arrest knowing such person to be under arrest, shall be fined," etc. Rev. St. (1881) § 2034 [quot Brunson v. State, 97 Ind. 95, 96]. (4) "A person who, by force or fraud, rescues a prisoner from lawful custody, or from an officer or other person having him in lawful custody, is guilty of a felony, if the prisoner was held upon a charge, commitment, arrest, conviction, or sentence of felony; and if the prisoner was held upon a charge, arrest, commitment, conviction or sentence for misdemeanor, the rescuer is guilty of a misdemeanor." Pen. Code § 1692 [quot Peo. v. Marks, 75 Misc. 404, 135 NYS 523, 27 N. Y. Cr. 109].

Cross references:
"Escape" defined see Escape § 1.
"Prison breach" defined see Prisons § 6.
"Rescue" distinguished from "escape" and "prison breach" see Escape § 9.

[2] State v. Mazyck, 37 S. C. L. 291.

[3] State v. Mazyck, supra.

[4] 4 Blackstone Comm. p 131.

[5] Rex v. Haswell, R. & R. 458, 168 Reprint 896; 4 Blackstone Comm. p 131.

[6] Rex v. Pember, Cas. t. Hardw. 112, 95 Reprint 70; Rex v. Stokes, 5 C. & P. 148, 24 ECL 498, 172 Reprint 916; Rex v. Vaux, 11 Mod. 287, 88 Reprint 1044; Rex v. Belt, 2 Salk. 586, 91 Reprint 491; 4 Blackstone Comm. p 131.

[7] State v. Mazyck, 37 S. C. L. 291; Reg. v. Allan, C. & M. 295, 41 ECL 164, 174 Reprint 513.

[8] Anonymous, Jenk. 171, 145 Reprint 112; Dyer 99 pl. 60.

[9] See infra § 4.

[10] See infra § 6.

[11] See infra § 7.

[12] See infra § 8.

[13] See statutory provisions.

[a] Burns St. Annot. (1908) § 2400, providing that whoever, not being a person having the lawful custody of any prisoner charged with or convicted of a felony, shall aid in or accomplish the escape of such prisoner, shall, on conviction, be punished, etc., includes cases where the accused with force aids or accomplishes the escape of a prisoner charged with or convicted of a felony, under such circumstances as would be a rescue at common law. State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824.

[b] Pen. Code § 1692 extends to a case where an officer or other person holds one in lawful custody prior to arraignment, "charge" and "arrest" relating to a case where an officer or other person holds a prisoner under lawful custody on a charge of, or arrest for, a felony or misdemeanor, and the terms "commitment," "conviction," and "sentence" relate to a case where an officer or another holds a person under lawful custody after he has been judicially held under a commitment, conviction, or sentence for felony or misdemeanor. Peo. v. Marks, 75 Misc. 404, 135 NYS 523, 27 N. Y. Cr. 109.

[14] See statutory provisions; and infra § 4.

[15] Robinson v. State, 82 Ga. 535, 9 SE 528; Peo. v. Marks, 75 Misc. 404, 135 NYS 523, 27 N. Y. Cr. 109.

[16] Robinson v. State, 82 Ga. 535, 9 SE 528; Peo. v. Marks, 75 Misc. 404, 135 NYS 523, 27 N. Y. Cr. 109.

[17] Dunson v. Baker, 144 La. 167, 80 S 238.

[18] Dunson v. Baker, supra.

[19] Peo. v. Marks, 75 Misc. 404, 135 NYS 523, 27 N. Y. Cr. 109.

[20] Fluty v. Com., 105 SW 138, 32 KyL 89.

[21] Biskind v. U. S., 281 Fed. 47, 28 ALR 1377.

[22] Com. v. Lee, 107 Mass. 207; State v. Dunn, 25 N. J. L. 214; Reg. v. Tooley, 2 Ld. Raym. 1296, 92 Reprint 349.

[a] In England an arrest, founded on a warrant of a justice of the peace, issued on the certificate of the clerk of the peace that an indictment for a misdemeanor had been found against the party named therein, is valid. Rex v. Stokes, 5 C. & P. 148, 24 ECL 498, 172 Reprint 916.

[23] Peo. v. Ah Teung, 92 Cal. 421, 28 P 577, 15 LRA 190.

[24] State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 SE 872.

[25] State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394.

[26] Peo. v. Ah Teung, 92 Cal. 421, 28 P 577, 15 LRA 190.

[a] When the imprisonment is unlawful, and itself a crime, the reason which makes rescue an offense does not exist; and in such a case the right of liberty is absolute, and he who assists the prisoner to regain it is not guilty of the technical offense of rescue. Peo. v. Ah Teung, 92 Cal. 421, 28 P 577, 15 LRA 190.

[b] Informality of process does not invalidate an arrest or confinement so as to justify a rescue. State v. Murray, 15 Me. 100; State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 SE 872.

[27] Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379.

[a] Omission of word "legally" in

[§ 5] b. Knowledge of Rescuers. When the rescue is made from the custody of a private person, the rescuers must have actual knowledge of the lawfulness of the custody to be guilty,[31] but when the party rescued is in the custody of an officer, they act at their peril.[32]

[§ 6] 3. Actual Custody. The party rescued must be in actual custody, but whether in the custody of an officer[33] or of a private person[34] is immaterial. Custody means in a prison,[35] jail,[36] or calaboose,[37] as well as in the hands of an officer.[38]

[§ 7] 4. Necessity of Force. At common law[39] and under some statutes[40] the rescue must be made forcibly,[41] but under statutes in other jurisdictions[42] a rescue may be made by menaces of bodily harm[43] or other unlawful means.[44]

[§ 8] 5. Escape of Prisoner. The escape of the party rescued is essential to the consummated offense of rescue.[45]

[§ 9] C. Accomplices, Aiders, and Abettors.[46] A prisoner who assists outsiders in effecting the escape of himself and other prisoners is an accomplice in the crime of rescue.[47] One who is present, aiding in the commencement of an assault with intent to rescue a prisoner, does not cease to be guilty because his fears prevent his going all lengths with his party.[48]

[§ 10] D. Attempts[49]—1. In General. At common law, upon a failure to accomplish a rescue, the "would be" rescuers may be convicted of an attempt,[50] and in some jurisdictions such attempts have been made criminal by statute,[51] some of them enlarging the common-law offense.[52]

[§ 11] 2. Rights of Officer Resisting Attempt.[53] When an attempt is made to rescue persons lawfully arrested, an officer may arrest the persons attempting the rescue,[54] using such force as is necessary to make the arrest,[55] and is justified in using excessive force,[56] provided he acts in good faith and without malice.[57]

[§ 12] E. Indictment or Information[58]—1. Essential Allegations and Averments—a. In General. The indictment or information must charge the essential elements of the offense[59] such, for example, as that the party rescued was held under lawful arrest[60] or imprisonment,[61] or should state the facts or circumstances from which the court can see that the prisoners were lawfully in jail.[62] It should also state the nature[63] and cause[64] of the imprisonment of the person alleged to have been rescued, although the contrary has been held.[65] The indictment should state whether the person from whom the rescue was made was a public officer[66] or a private person.[67] the statute relating to persons confined in jail, authorizes a conviction of any person who shall break into jail for the purpose of effecting the rescue of a prisoner therein confined, regardless of whether his arrest was legal or illegal. Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379.

---

[28] State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394.

Affray generally see 2 C. J. p 383.

[29] State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 SE 872. See State v. Garrett, 80 Iowa 589, 46 NW 748 (when charge was of resisting an officer).

[30] State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394; State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 SE 872; Rex v. Almey, 3 Jur. N. S. 750. See State v. Garrett, 80 Iowa 589, 46 NW 748 (where charge was of resisting an officer).

[31] State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824; State v. Hilton, 26 Mo. 199.

[32] U. S. v. Buck, 24 F. Cas. No. 14,680, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 161; State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824; State v. Hilton, 26 Mo. 199.

[a] Failure to inquire, when inquiry would readily show the custody lawful, is evidence of knowledge. U. S. v. Buck, 24 F. Cas. No. 14,680, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 161.

[33] 1 Hale P. C. p 606.

[a] An affidavit charging that defendant rescued a prisoner from the custody of a deputy sheriff shows a rescue from a public officer, deputy sheriffs being clothed with the same duties and powers devolving upon their principals. State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824.

[34] 1 Hale P. C. p 606.

[35] 1 Hale P. C. p 606.

[36] Hillian v. State, 50 Ark. 523, 8 SW 834; Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379.

[37] State v. Watson, 66 Iowa 670, 24 NW 268; Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379.

[38] 1 Hale P. C. p 606.

"Custody" defined see 17 C. J. p 440.

[39] State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 SE 872; 4 Blackstone Comm. p 131; Bacon Abr. tit "Rescue" A p 87.

[40] See statutory provisions.

[41] Biskind v. U. S., 281 Fed. 47, 28 ALR 1377.

[42] See statutory provisions.

[43] Hillian v. State, 50 Ark. 523, 8 SW 834.

[44] Hillian v. State, supra.

[45] Hillian v. State, supra.

[46] Evidence of accomplice see infra § 17.

Who are accomplices, aiders, abettors, or accessaries generally see Criminal Law §§ 99–161.

[47] Hillian v. State, 50 Ark. 523, 8 SW 834.

[48] State v. Morris, 10 N. C. 388.

[49] Attempts generally see Criminal Law §§ 90–96.

[50] State v. Murray, 15 Me. 100; State v. Morris, 10 N. C. 388; 2 Bishop Cr. L. § 1089 (8th ed 1892); 3 Wharton Cr. L. § 2011 (11th ed 1912).

[51] See statutory provisions; and U. S. v. Buck, 24 F. Cas. No. 14,680, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 161; State v. Carivey, 190 N. C. 319, 129 SE 802.

[52] See statutory provisions; and Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379 (holding legality of imprisonment immaterial under Penal Code).

[53] Homicide of rescuer see Homicide § 199.

[54] State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394.

Arrest by officer of person interfering with him generally see Arrest § 34.

[55] State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394.

[56] State v. Rollins, supra.

[57] State v. Rollins, supra.

[58] Indictment or information generally see Indictments and Informations 31 C. J. p 548.

[59] Elements of offense see supra §§ 2–8.

[60] Com. v. Lee, 107 Mass. 207; State v. Dunn, 25 N. J. L. 214.

[61] State v. Jones, 78 N. C. 420.

[62] State v. Jones, supra.

[63] Com. v. Clark, 4 KyL 622; State v. Hilton, 26 Mo. 199.

[64] Com. v. Clark, 4 KyL 622; State v. Hilton, 26 Mo. 199.

[a] Indictment held defective which merely charged prisoner was lawfully in custody, without a presentation of facts. Com. v. Clark, 4 KyL 622.

[65] Com. v. Lee, 107 Mass. 207.

[66] State v. Hilton, 26 Mo. 199.

[67] State v. Hilton, supra.

It is not necessary to set forth in the indictment the process by which the party rescued was held.[68]

[§ 13] b. Under Statutes. The indictment should charge all the elements of the offense as defined by statute.[69] An affidavit on which an information is based must charge that defendant forcibly freed the person under custody[70] knowing him to be under arrest,[71] unless the facts and circumstances are alleged.[72] Some statutes so define the offense as to make certain averments unnecessary, which are essential to the validity of an indictment for the common-law offense.[73]

[§ 14] 2. Joinder of Offenses; Included Offenses. When a general verdict of guilty is returned on an indictment charging assault and battery, as well as rescue, if the averments as to rescue are uncertain or bad they may be rejected as superfluous,[74] and judgment entered as for the assault and battery.[75] Statutes in some jurisdictions[76] permit a conviction for assault and battery upon an indictment for rescue.[77]

[§ 15] 3. Variance. There is no variance between an allegation charging that the prisoner was rescued from the custody of a marshal, and proof that he was rescued from one claiming to be special constable, where it appears that the justice of the peace who committed him appointed the marshal special constable to place him in the county jail—under a mistake of law, thinking said marshal had no such power, whereas he had such power without a special appointment.[78]

[§ 16] F. Evidence[79]—1. Admissibility. General rules control as to the admissibility of evidence in prosecutions for rescue.[80] Evidence which tends to show the identity of the parties connected with the crime is admissible.[81]

[§ 17] 2. Weight and Sufficiency. The weight and sufficiency of the evidence to support a conviction of rescue is determined by the rules governing the weight and sufficiency of the evidence in criminal prosecutions generally.[82] Testimony of an accomplice will not support a conviction,[83] unless corroborated in some material matter tending to show the guilt of the accused.[84]

[§ 18] G. Defenses. If the rescue was effected without violence[85] it is a good defense that the party rescued was unlawfully arrested[86] or imprisoned,[87] although in some jurisdictions rescue is an offense regardless of the legality of the imprisonment.[88] Ignorance of the lawfulness of the arrest or custody is a good defense, where the rescue is made from the custody of a private person;[89] but where the rescue is made from the custody of an officer, the rescuers must take notice of the lawfulness of the custody at their peril.[90] The accused can plead a conviction for aiding in the escape of one prisoner, to an indictment for rescuing and aiding in the escape of another, where both escaped at the same time and by the same means.[91] It is no defense to an indictment for an attempt to rescue, that the ordinance under which the prisoner was arrested was not proved,[92] or that the prisoner was not convicted.[93]

[§ 19] H. Trial. While it has been held that the rescuers could not be tried and convicted unless the person rescued had been convicted of his offense,[94] it has been held to the contrary that it is unnecessary that the guilt of the persons rescued should be established.[95]

---

[68] Com. v. Lee, 107 Mass. 207.

[69] State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824; Brunson v. State, 97 Ind. 95.

[a] Indictments held sufficient.—Com. v. Malloy, 119 Mass. 347; Peo. v. Marks, 75 Misc. 404, 135 NYS 523, 27 N. Y. Cr. 109; State v. Carivey, 190 N. C. 319, 129 SE 802; Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379; Williams v. State, 24 Tex. A. 17, 5 SW 655.

[b] Indictment held insufficient which charged a rescue of a person in the lawful custody of an officer under a warrant issued in bastardy proceedings, because the person rescued was not charged with an "offense." State v. Ward, 8 OhNPNS 561.

[c] Following language of statute.—An indictment which follows the language of the statute is ordinarily sufficient. State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824; Fulty v. Com., 105 SW 138, 32 KyL 89.

[d] Attempt to commit rescue.—An indictment charging release of a prisoner from a cell into the hallway of the jail, with the intent that the prisoner should escape jail, is a charge of an attempt to commit rescue. State v. Carivey, 190 N. C. 319, 129 SE 802.

[70] Brunson v. State, 97 Ind. 95.

[71] Brunson v. State, supra.

[72] State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824.

[a] Knowledge of defendant.—An indictment charging that defendant unlawfully and forcibly aided in the escape of a prisoner from the deputy sheriff by "drawing and pointing a shot gun" at such deputy and by assaulting his assistants, without alleging that accused knew that such prisoner was held in custody, was sufficient. State v. Sutton, 170 Ind. 473, 84 NE 824.

[73] See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] Knowledge of defendant.—The statute does not make knowledge of the authority of the officer one of the ingredients of the offense, and it need not be averred. Com. v. Malloy, 119 Mass. 347.

[b] "Willfully" and by "force."—It is not necessary that the indictment charge the offense as done "willfully" and by "force," such words not occurring in the statute. Loggins v. State, 32 Tex. Cr. 358, 24 SW 408.

[74] State v. Morrison, 24 N. C. 9.

[75] State v. Morrison, 24 N. C. 9.

[76] See statutory provisions.

[77] Rose v. State, 33 Ind. 167.

[78] State v. Watson, 66 Iowa 670, 24 NW 268.

[79] Evidence generally see Criminal Law §§ 947–1999.

[80] See Criminal Law §§ 947–1558.

[81] Williams v. State, 24 Tex. A. 17, 5 SW 655; Gillian v. State, 3 Tex. A. 132.

[a] Res gestæ.—Evidence as to the names used by the rescuers to designate each other at the time of the rescue is admissible as part of the res gestæ. Gillian v. State, 3 Tex. A. 132.

[82] See Criminal Law §§ 1559–1999.

[a] Evidence held sufficient.—(1) In general. Bowlin v. State, 175 Ark. 1047, 1 SW (2d) 546. (2) To show a breaking into jail. Williams v. State, 24 Tex. A. 17, 5 SW 655.

[83] Hillian v. State, 50 Ark. 523, 8 SW 834; Gillian v. State, 3 Tex. A. 132.

[84] Hillian v. State, 50 Ark. 523, 8 SW 834; Gillian v. State, 3 Tex. A. 132.

[a] Evidence held insufficient.—Gillian v. State, 3 Tex. A. 132.

[85] State v. Garrett, 80 Iowa 589, 46 NW 748; State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394; State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 SE 872; Rex v. Almey, 3 Jur. N. S. 750.

[a] The unlawfulness of the arrest or imprisonment is no defense, where the rescue is violent. State v. Garrett, 80 Iowa 589, 46 NW 748.

[86] State v. Rollins, 113 N. C. 722, 18 SE 394.

[87] Peo. v. Ah Teung, 92 Cal. 421, 28 P 577, 15 LRA 190.

[88] Starks v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 233, 42 SW 379.

[89] State v. Hilton, 26 Mo. 199.

[90] State v. Hilton, supra.

[91] Hurst v. State, 86 Ala. 604, 6 S 120, 11 AmSR 79.

[92] State v. Garrett, 80 Iowa 589, 46 NW 748.

[93] State v. Garrett, supra.

[§ 20] I. Punishment.[96] At common law a party convicted of rescue is guilty of the same grade of offense as the party rescued, and is punishable accordingly,[97] and the rescuer of one confined on civil process is punishable as for the commission of a misdemeanor;[98] but in most jurisdictions the punishment is now regulated by statute.[99]

II. RESCUE OF PROPERTY[1]

[§ 21] A. Definition. Rescue of property is the taking away and setting at liberty of a distrained animal against law,[2] or the reception of goods distrained.[3]

[§ 22] B. Nature and Elements of Offense.[4] To constitute a rescue of property there must be: (1) Actual possession in the party from whom the property is taken;[5] and (2) a taking away,[6] knowingly.[7] Rescuing goods distrained for rent is indictable at common law;[8] but an indictment for rescue will not lie for a trespass on property.[9] Although there is authority to the contrary,[10] it has been held that, where an officer makes an unlawful levy, defendants are not guilty of a rescue of the property, if they can retake possession of it peaceably;[11] aliter if they commit a breach of the peace.[12]

[§ 23] C. Indictment and Information[13]—1. In General. The indictment must lay the property in some person[14] and show the judgment and execution under which the goods were taken.[15] The indictment must aver that the rescue was made with knowledge of the lawfulness of the custody.[16]

[§ 24] 2. Under Statutes. An indictment, under a statute, must contain all the circumstances which constitute the definition of the offense in the act, so as to bring defendants precisely within it.[17] An indictment following the language of the statute may be insufficient, as where it does not state with sufficient certainty what acts were done that constitute the offense charged.[18] In an indictment for taking goods from the custody of a sheriff, an allegation that the sheriff was the owner of the goods is not demurrable,[19] as the sheriff is the bailee in possession.[20]

[§ 25] D. Evidence.[21] The conduct of persons who attempt to rescue goods is competent for the consideration of the jury.[22]

[§ 26] E. Defenses. It is no defense in some jurisdictions that the seizure of the property was unlawful,[23] but in other jurisdictions the contrary has been held[24] unless a breach of the peace was committed in making the rescue.[25]

---

[94] State v. Cuthbert, T. U. P. Charlt. (Ga.) 13.

[95] Fluty v. Com., 105 SW 138, 32 KyL 89.

[96] Punishment generally see Criminal Law §§ 3186-3255.

[97] State v. Mazyck, 37 S. C. L. 291.

[98] State v. Mazyck, supra; Reg. v. Allan, C. & M. 295, 41 ECL 164, 174 Reprint 513.

[99] See statutory provisions.

[1] Rescue of animals see Animals §§ 676-684.

[2] See Animals § 676.

[3] Com. v. Israel, 4 Leigh (31 Va.) 675; 6 Bacon Abr. tit "Rescue" A p 87.

[4] Right to resist levy on property of third person see Obstructing Justice § 13.

[5] Vinton v. Vinton, 17 Mass. 342; Hamlin v. Mack, 33 Mich. 103.

[6] Vinton v. Vinton, 17 Mass. 342; Hamlin v. Mack, 33 Mich. 103.

[7] Com. v. Israel, 4 Leigh (31 Va.) 675.

[a] Where rescued from an officer, defendant acts at his peril, but when rescued from a private person, defendant must actually know of the lawfulness of the possession. Com. v. Israel, 4 Leigh (31 Va.) 675.

[8] Com. v. Beale, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 514.

[9] State v. Mazyck, 37 S. C. L. 291.

[10] State v. Cassidy, 4 S. D. 58, 54 NW 928.

[11] Spencer v. McGowen, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 256; Finn v. Com., 6 Pa. 460; State v. Sotherlen, 16 S. C. L. 414.

[12] Finn v. Com., 6 Pa. 460.

[13] Indictment or information generally see Indictments and Informations 31 C. J. p 548.

[14] Reg. v. Lilly, 7 Mod. 63, 87 Reprint 1097.

[15] Reg. v. Lilly, supra.

[16] Com. v. Israel, 4 Leigh (31 Va.) 675.

[a] Indictment held defective which charged defendant with the rescue of property, which had been distrained by the sheriff for public dues, from a bailee to whose safekeeping the the sheriff had committed it, as it did not aver defendant knew by what right such bailee held the property. Com. v. Israel, 4 Leigh (31 Va.) 675.

[17] State v. Barrett, 42 N. H. 466.

[a] Indictment held sufficient.—Com. v. Hubbard, 24 Pick. (Mass.) 98.

[b] Indictment held insufficient.—State v. Barrett, 42 N. H. 466.

[18] U. S. v. Ford, 34 Fed. 26.

[19] State v. Clapper, 59 Iowa 279, 13 NW 294.

[20] State v. Clapper, supra.

[21] Evidence generally see Criminal Law §§ 947-1999.

[22] U. S. v. Ford, 33 Fed. 861.

[23] State v. Cassidy, 4 S. D. 58, 54 NW 928.

[24] Shipman v. Clark, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 446, 47 AmD 264; Spencer v. McGowen, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 256; Finn v. Com., 6 Pa. 460; State v. Sotherlen, 16 S. C. L. 414.

[25] Shipman v. Clark, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 446, 47 AmD 264; Spencer v. McGowen, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 256; Finn v. Com., 6 Pa. 460.

RES DENOMINATUR A PRINCIPALIORI PARTE.[1]

RES DERELICTA.[2] That [property] from which the mind has simply withdrawn affection.[3]

RESEARCH. The method used by modern universities and scientific foundations to increase the sum of human knowledge.[4]

RESELL.[5] To sell again.[6]

Phrase: "Engaging in the business of reselling tickets."[7]

RESEMBLANCE.[8]

RESENTENCE.[9]

RESERVATION.[10] That which is reserved, kept back, withheld;[11] a keeping aside or providing.[12]

Phrases: "On said reservation,"[13] "reservation by widowed spouse,"[14] "reservation of public lands,"[15] "reservation of the minerals,"[16] "should constitute a reservation,"[17] and "statutory reservation;"[18] also "make such reservations in the order provided for their issuance."[19]

RESERVATIO NON DEBET ESSE DE PROFICUIS IPSIS QUIA EA CONCEDUNTUR, SED DE REDDITU NOVO EXTRA PROFICUA.[20]

RESERVATIO UT ET PROTESTATIO NON FACIT JUS, SED TUETUR.[21]

RESERVATIVO.[22]

RESERVE.[23] [§ 1] A. In General. Reserve cometh from the Latin word "reservo" that is to pro-

---

[1] A maxim meaning "The thing is named from its principal part." Peloubet Leg. Max.

[a] Applied in: Littleton's Case, 5 Coke 47a, 47b, 77 Reprint 126, 127.

[b] Another form reads "principali" instead of "principaliori." See Black L. D.

[2] See Abandonment § 1 et seq; Dereliction 18 C. J. p 787.

[3] Rhodes v. Whitehead, 27 Tex. 304, 313, 84 AmD 631.

[a] "Property in this predicament was considered to have fallen back into the natural state of res nullius, and consequently to be again susceptible of becoming the property of the occupant." Rhodes v. Whitehead, 27 Tex. 304, 313, 84 AmD 631.

[4] In re Frasch, 245 N. Y. 174, 156 NE 656, 658.

[5] See Resale ante.

[6] Century D.

[a] "We should interpret the meaning of the word 'resell' in the light of general customs of trade and business with reference to the sale of the commodity dealt with." Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Assoc. v. Brown, 168 Ark. 504, 270 SW 946, 950.

[7] Com. v. Sovrensky, (Mass.) 169 NE 418, 419.

[8] See Evidence §§ 715–723.

[9] See Criminal Law §§ 3096–3101.

[10] Reservation:

- Creating easement see Easements §§ 97–101, 113.
- Distinguished from "exception" see Deeds § 339; Easements § 100.
- Including lands in school grant see Public Lands § 167.

Reservation as subject of:

- Construction see Covenants § 12.
- Estoppel § 36 note 47 [a].
- Parol in evidence see Evidence §§ 1480, 1498, 1507.

Reservation for:

- Indians §§ 46, 47.
- Public purposes see Eminent Domain § 74.

Reservation in:

- Deeds §§ 339, 366.
- Instrument relating to boundary see Boundaries § 35.
- Mining patent see Mines and Minerals § 368.
- Mortgages §§ 247, 335 note 74.

Reservation of:

- Assets see Executors and Administrators § 1423.
- Case for review see Appeal and Error § 46; Criminal Law § 3358.
- Fishing rights of Indians see Fish § 35.
- Grounds for review see Appeal and Error §§ 580–950; Criminal Law §§ 3328–3354.
- Growing crops see Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1627].
- Lien resulting in mortgage see Mortgages §§ 43, 46.
- Power:
  - Generally see Powers §§ 14, 15.
  - Of revocation see Fraudulent Conveyances § 348; Powers § 157.
  - To direct application of proceeds see Fraudulent Conveyances § 350.
  - To substitute trustee see Fraudulent Conveyances § 352.
- Property exempt by law see Fraudulent Conveyances § 354.
- Public lands:
  - Generally see Public Lands §§ 142–150.
  - On power to acquire mineral claim see Indians §§ 48–50.
  - To Indians see Indians §§ 43–100.
- Question:
  - For review see Appeal and Error §§ 46, 580–950, 1370; Criminal Law §§ 3328–3355; Insolvency § 288; Justices of the Peace §§ 416–418.
  - Of law, basis of judgment non obstante veredicto see Judgments § 115.
- Rents and profits see Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1629 note 91].
- Right to repurchase see Fraudulent Conveyances § 351.
- Surplus proceeds see Fraudulent Conveyances § 349.
- Timber see Logs and Logging §§ 19–24½.

Reservation to:

- Arbitrators of authority see Arbitration and Award § 340.
- Assignor:
  - For creditors see Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 187–203.
  - Of judgment and right to collect see Judgments § 990 note 93.
- Creditor of obligee of rights against surety see Principal and Surety §§ 196, 253.
- Debtor see Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 187–203; Fraudulent Conveyances § 51.
- Dedicator see Dedication § 136.
- Grantor:
  - As badge of fraud see Fraudulent Conveyances § 152.
  - In deed of trust, of right to possess and enjoy see Landlord and Tenant § 34.
- Infant, of day in court see Infants § 362.
- Insurance company, of right to cancel policy see Fire Insurance § 159.
- Landlord:
  - Of option to renew, sell, or extend see Landlord and Tenant § 198.
  - Of sporting rights see Game § 5.
  - Of rent see Landlord and Tenant § 8.
- Legislature, of power to amend or repeal corporate charter see Constitutional Law §§ 648–688.
- Lessee, in sublease, of rent and right of reëntry see Landlord and Tenant § 82.
- Married woman:
  - Of disposing power see Husband and Wife § 426 note 19 [a].
  - Of judgment lien in husband's land, in deed see Husband and Wife § 108.
- Other than owner of right to fish see Fish § 13 note 99.

Reserve post.

[11] Standard D. [quot Alberger v. Kingsbury, 6 Cal. A. 93, 97, 91 P 674]; Meehan v. Jones, 70 Fed. 453, 454, 455.

"Appropriation" distinguished see Appropriation 4 C. J. p 1458 note 60 [d].

[12] Jacob L. D. [quot Parsell v. Stryker, 41 N. Y. 480, 483; Stephens v. Reynolds, 6 N. Y. 454, 458; Wegner v. Lubenow, 12 N. D. 95, 102, 95 NW 442 (definition given under word "rent")].

[13] De Noya v. Hill Inv. Co., 33 Okl. 663, 127 P 444, 446.

[14] Dizon v. Galang, 48 Philippine 601, 602.

[15] U. S. v. Laughlin, 249 U. S. 440, 39 SCt 340, 63 L. ed. 696. See also Public Lands §§ 142–150.

[16] Eardley v. Granville, 3 Ch. D. 826, 834. See also Mines and Minerals §§ 554–581.

[17] Yoakum County v. Slaughter, 109 Tex. 42, 195 SW 1129, 1132.

[18] Carrier v. Roy, 46 Que. Super. 122, 123.

[19] Fales v. Multnomah County, 119 Or. 127, 248 P 151, 153.

[20] A maxim meaning "A reservation ought not to be of the profits themselves, because they are granted, but from the new rent and out of the profits." Peloubet Leg. Max.

[a] Applied in Coke Litt. 142a.

[21] A maxim meaning "Reservation and protest do not create a right, but protect a right." Peloubet Leg. Max.

[22] See Censo § 2 note 34.

[23] See also Reservation ante.

---

*By Carolan Jefferson Walsh (Res Deucminatur a Principaliori Parte–Residuary inclusive).

vide for store.[24]

[§ 2] B. As Noun.[25] That which is reserved.[26]

Phrases: "Contingency reserve,"[27] "Indian reserve,"[28] "in reserve,"[29] "railroad reserve,"[30] "reinsurance reserve,"[31] "without reserve,"[32] and "with the reserve."[33]

[§ 3] C. As Adjective. The word is also used adjectively,[34] in which case it may be interchangeable with "emergency."[35]

Reserve section. In practice, a section of the day calendar, consisting of causes which appear on the day calendar for the first time, and which are not to be tried that day, but are called at the opening of court to see if they are ready.[36]

Other phrases: "Reserve dividend fund,"[37] "reserve dividend plan,"[38] and "reserve fund."[39]

[§ 4] D. As Verb—1. In General. To hold;[40] to hold back or except;[41] to hold or keep for future use;[42] to hold over for some future use;[43] to keep;[44] to keep back;[45] to retain;[46] "to retain something . . . already possessed;"[47] to set aside, or apart.[48]

Phrases: "Right to reserve,"[49] also "reserves all legal rights he may have."[50]

[§ 5] 2. Reserved. Kept back;[51] kept for another or future use;[52] kept or set apart or aside for future or special use, or for an exigency;[53] retained;[54] withheld.[55] The term may be used as synonymous with "pledged,"[56] but has been distinguished from "created."[57]

Phrases: "Reserved bid,"[58] "reserved case,"[59] "reserved landing,"[60] "reserved or otherwise disposed of,"[61] "reserved or taken,"[62] "reserved percentage,"[63] and "reserved portion."[64]

[§ 6] 3. Reserving. A keeping back or withholding.[65] The term may be used as having the force of "saving" or "excepting."[66]

Phrase: "Reserving or charging."[67]

RESERVOIR.[68] As ordinarily defined,[69] a place where water collects naturally or is stored for use when wanted,[70] as to supply a fountain, a canal,[71] or a city,[72] or for any other purpose.[73] In common speech a reservoir often signifies the water kept, not the structure in which it is kept.[74]

---

[24] 2 Coke Litt. [quot Bowman v. Wathen, 3 F. Cas. No. 1,740, 2 McLean 376; Whitaker v. Brown, 46 Pa. 197, 198].

[25] Reserve, in insurance see Insurance § 65; Life Insurance § 18.

[26] Webster New Int. D.

[27] See Insurance § 65.

[28] See Indians § 46 note 40 [c].

[29] Nielsen v. Provident Sav. L. Assur. Soc., 139 Cal. 332, 337, 73 P 168, 96 AmSR 146. See also Life Insurance § 19.

[30] St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Tapp, 64 Ark. 357, 362, 42 SW 667.

[31] See Insurance § 65.

[32] See Auctions and Auctioneers § 28 note 96. See also Without [40 Cyc 2129 note 5].

[33] Palmer v. Dougherty, 33 Me. 502, 507, 54 AmD 636.

[34] See infra notes 35–39.

[35] State v. Vandiver, 213 Mo. 187, 213, 111 SW 911, 15 AnnCas 283.

"Emergency" 20 C. J. p 500 note 16 [a].

[36] Supreme Court Trial Term Calendar Rules in force in 1906 [quot Herbert Land Co. v. Lorenzen, 113 App. Div. 802, 803, 99 NYS 937].

[37] See Insurance §§ 82, 83; Life Insurance § 19.

[38] Fuller v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 70 Conn. 647, 667, 41 A 4. See also Insurance §§ 82, 83; Life Insurance § 18.

[39] Figueras v. Rocha, 13 Philippine 504, 510. See also Insurance §§ 82, 83; Life Insurance § 18.

[40] Myers v. Conway, 90 Ala. 109, 111, 7 S 639; Wetzler v. Patterson, 73 Cal. A. 527, 238 P 1077, 1079.

[41] Long v. Fewer, 53 Minn. 156, 159, 54 NW 1071.

[42] Metropolitan Exhibition Co. v. Ward, 9 NYS 779, 24 AbbNCas (N. Y.) 393, 407.

[43] Webster New Int. D. [quot Grand Crossing Land, etc., Co. v. Mobridge, 39 S. D. 574, 165 NW 988, 989].

[44] Webster New Int. D. [quot Fales v. Multnomah County, 119 Or. 127, 248 P 151, 153]; Myers v. Conway, 90 Ala. 109, 111, 7 S 639; Wetzler v. Patterson, 73 Cal. A. 527, 238 P 1077, 1079.

[45] Webster New Int. D. [quot Fales v. Multnomah County, 119 Or. 127, 248 P 151, 153; Grand Crossing Land, etc., Co. v. Mobridge, 39 S. D. 574, 165 NW 988, 989].

[46] Webster New Int. D. [quot Fales v. Multnomah County, supra; Grand Crossing Land, etc., Co. v. Mobridge, supra]; Myers v. Conway, 90 Ala. 109, 111, 7 S 639; Wetzler v. Patterson, 73 Cal. A. 527, 238 P 1077, 1079; Long v. Fewer, 53 Minn. 156, 159, 54 NW 1071.

[47] Morgan v. U. S., 14 Ct. Cl. 319, 328.

[48] Webster [quot Smyth v. Brick Row Realty Co., 97 W. Va. 40, 124 SE 499, 500].

[49] Metropolitan Exhibition Co. v. Ewing, 42 Fed. 198, 201, 7 LRA 381, 24 AbbNCas 419.

[50] Masse v. Fraser, (Que.) 20 DomLR 866, 868.

[51] Century D. [quot Harris v. St. Helens, 72 Or. 377, 143 P 941, 944; Eugene v. Lowell, 72 Or. 237, 143 P 903, 904]; Zells Enc. [quot Lay v. Seago, 47 Ga. 82, 88].

[52] Century D. [quot Harris v. St. Helens, 72 Or. 377, 143 P 941, 944; Eugene v. Lowell, 72 Or. 237, 143 P 903, 904].

[53] Webster D. [quot Eugene v. Lowell, supra].

[54] Century D. [quot Harris v. St. Helens, 72 Or. 377, 143 P 941, 944; Eugene v. Lowell, 72 Or. 237, 143 P 903, 904]; Zells Enc. [quot Lay v. Seago, 47 Ga. 82, 88].

[55] Zells Enc. [quot Lay v. Seago, supra].

[56] Ferry v. Street, 4 Utah 521, 531, 7 P 712, 11 P 571 [aff 119 U. S. 385, 7 SCt 231, 30 L. ed. 439].

"Pledge" defined see Pledges § 1.

[57] Jameson v. Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Co., 176 Cal. 1, 167 P 369, 370.

"Create" 15 C. J. p 1344.

[58] Leckie v. Marshall, 4 OntWN 913.

[59] See Appeal and Error §§ 912–950.

[60] Grant v. Davenport, 18 Iowa 179, 186, 187.

[61] Cramer v. U. S., 261 U. S. 219, 43 SCt 342, 344, 67 L. ed. 622.

[62] Brickett v. Minot, 7 Metc. (Mass.)291, 294; Sloan v. Sommers, 14 N. J. L. 509, 514. See also Usury [39 Cyc 948].

[63] Barrett Bros. Co. v. St. Louis County, 165 Minn. 158, 206 NW 49, 50. See also Building and Construction Contracts § 31.

[64] Greenlaw's Succ., 148 La. 255, 86 S 786, 794. See also Descent and Distribution §§ 33, 116.

[65] Florida East Coast R. Co. v. Worley, 49 Fla. 297, 312, 38 S 618.

[a] "Reserving" employed to indicate the right to redeem bonds serially.—Fales v. Multnomah County, 119 Or. 127, 248 P 151, 153.

[66] 2 Coke Litt. 413 [quot Hicks v. Phillips, 146 Ky. 305, 142 SW 394, 395, 47 LRANS 878; Whitaker v. Brown, 46 Pa. 197, 198]. See also Deeds § 339.

[67] McCarthy v. Rapid City First Nat. Bank, 23 S. D. 269, 121 NW 853, 856, 23 LRANS 335, 21 AnnCas 437. See also Banks and Banking §§ 765–794.

[68] See Waters [40 Cyc 758, 782].

"Dam" distinguished see Dam 17 C. J. p 697 note 69.

[69] Howell v. Big Horn Basin Colonization Co., 14 Wyo. 14, 81 P 785, 787, 1 LRANS 596.

[70] Century D. [quot Peo. v. Neville, 183 App. Div. 799, 170 NYS 583, 585; Howell v. Big Horn Basin Colonization Co., 14 Wyo. 14, 81 P 785, 787, 1 LRANS 596].

[a] Derived from French " 'reservoir,' a storehouse."—Century D. [quot Peo. v. Neville, 183 App. Div. 799, 170 NYS 583, 585].

[71] Century D. [quot Howell v. Big Horn Basin Colonization Co., 14 Wyo. 14, 81 P 785, 787, 1 LRANS 596].

Phrases: "Equalizing reservoir,"[75] and "storage reservoir."[76]

RES EST MISERA UBI JUS EST VAGUM ET INCERTUM.[77]

RESETTLE.[78] A term which, as used in a restrictive provision in a contract of sale of practice, has been construed as referring both to residence and practice at once, and not to either alone.[79]

RES GESTÆ.[80]

RESIDE.[81] [§ 1] A. In General. An elastic words,[82] often defined and construed by the courts;[83] it is employed in a wide variety of significations,[84] and its meaning has been variously shaded according to the variant conditions of its application,[85] for it is capable of different meanings,[86] and may receive a different meaning according to the connection in which it is found.[87] Specifically, the word is used in two senses, the one, constructive, technical, legal, the other denoting the personal habitual habitation of individuals.[88]

Phrases: "Reside at a house,"[89] "reside permanently in the United States,"[90] also "coming to reside,"[91] "continue to reside,"[92] and "where I now reside."[93]

[§ 2] B. In the Ordinary Sense. To abide[94] continuously,[95] to sojourn,[96] to dwell[97] permanently or for a length of time;[98] to be present;[99] to be settled as in a home;[1] to have a settled abode[2] for a time,[3] or a dwelling, a home;[4] to have one's dwelling or home;[5] to live[6] in a place;[7] to make an abode for a considerable time;[8] to remain[9] for a long time;[10] to stay.[11] Also to be in official residence;[12] to continue to sit;[13] to exist as an attribute of, inhere.[14]

---

[72] Century D. [quot Peo. v. Neville, 183 App. Div. 799, 170 NYS 583, 585; Howell v. Big Horn Basin Colonization Co., 14 Wyo. 14, 81 P 785, 787, 1 LRANS 596].

[73] Century D. [quot Howell v. Big Horn Basin Colonization Co., supra].

[74] Hutchinson v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 37 Wis. 582, 604 (given merely to illustrate a figure of speech).

[75] Peo. v. Neville, 183 App. Div. 799, 170 NYS 583, 586.

[a] As included in term "aqueducts."—Peo. v. Neville, 183 App. Div. 799, 170 NYS 583, 585, 587.

[76] Peo. v. Neville, supra.

[77] A maxim meaning "It is a wretched state of things when law is vague and mutable." Black L. D.

[a] Applied in Rex v. Knollys, 2 Salk. 509, 512, 91 Reprint 434 (omitting the words "et incertum").

[78] Resettle:

- Case on appeal see Appeal and Error §§ 2037–2039.
- Order see Motions and Orders § 237 note 20.
- See also Settle [35 Cyc 1442]; Settlement [35 Cyc 1443].

[79] Haldeman v. Simonton, 55 Iowa 144, 145, 7 NW 493.

Agreements in restraint of trade see Contracts §§ 410–432.

[80] Res gestæ:

- In general see Evidence §§ 535–559.
- Consisting in declarations as to ownership:
  - By husband or wife as against creditors see Husband and Wife § 504 note 61.
  - Of thing given see Gifts § 138 note 7.
  - Of thing stolen see Larceny § 480 notes 13–21.
- In burglary see Burglary § 125 note 63 [a].
- In conspiracy see Criminal Law §§ 1334, 1340 note 50.
- In contract see Contracts § 965 note 35.
- In conveyance or transfer, declarations as to sufficiency of consideration see Fraudulent Conveyances § 756.
- In covenant see Covenants § 212.
- In criminal law in general:
  - Acts and declarations:
    - In general see Criminal Law §§ 1120, 1121.
    - Of conspirators or codefendants see Criminal Law §§ 1334, 1340 note 50.
    - Of participants see Criminal Law § 1334.
    - Of third persons see Criminal Law § 1121; Homicide §§ 428, 443.

In criminal law in general: Continued
  - Acts and declarations: Continued
    - Of victims:
      - In general see Criminal Law §§ 1117–1120, 1269 note 4.
      - Exculpating accused see Criminal Law § 1274.
  - Explaining matters in evidence see Criminal Law §§ 1116 notes 69–71, 1265 notes 37, 38.
  - Other crime than that in question see Criminal Law §§ 1115, 1165.
- In gift see Gifts § 138 notes 7, 8.
- In homicide:
  - In general see Homicide §§ 426–428, 432, 440–442.
  - Dangerous character of victim see Homicide § 396 note 8.
  - Declarations of:
    - Third persons see Homicide § 442 note 79.
    - Victim see Homicide §§ 464 note 73, 492 note 86, 493 note 93, 495 note 11, 512 note 69.
  - Declarations, self-incriminating, of persons other than accused see Homicide § 389 notes 29, 30.
  - Threats see Homicide §§ 366 note 47, 389 note 29, 477 note 92.
  - Trouble between accused and third person see Homicide § 373 note 36.
- Unsworn statement part of see Evidence § 261.

[81] See also Residence post; Resident post.

[82] Joggins v. Cumberland Poor Dist., (N. S.) [1925] 2 DomLR 663, 664.

[83] Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[84] Gildersleeve v. Gildersleeve, 88 Conn. 698, 92 A 684, 685, AnnCas1916B 920 [quot Foss v. Foss, 105 Conn. 502, 136 A 98, 101].

[a] It is "a verb and expresses action, and refers to what is being done or has been done." A. H. Bélo Corp. v. Granberry, (Tex. Civ. A.) 9 SW (2d) 443, 445.

[85] Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[86] U. S. v. Rockteschell, 208 Fed. 530, 532, 125 CCA 532.

[a] When used in statutes or constitutions (1) "reside has a variety of meanings according to the statute in which it is used." Joggins v. Cumberland Poor Dist., (N. S.) [1925] 2 DomLR 663, 664. (2) "[It] may, and sometimes does, have different meanings in the same or different articles or sections of a constitution or statute." Peo. v. Owers, 29 Colo. 535, 546, 69 P 515.

[87] Joggins v. Cumberland Poor Dist., (N. S.) [1925] 2 DomLR 663, 664.

[a] "Exact meaning often depends upon connection in which it is used." State v. Selleck, 76 Nebr. 747, 750, 107 NW 1022.

[b] It has "different meanings in different connections."—Greene v. Willis, 47 R. I. 375, 133 A 651.

[c] "It must be construed in the light of the context and purposes of such statute [employing it]." U. S. v. Rockteschell, 208 Fed. 530, 532, 125 CCA 532.

[88] Lisbon School Dist. No. 1 v. Landaff Town School Dist., 75 N. H. 324, 325, 74 A 186; Hart v. Lindsey, 17 N. H. 235, 244, 43 AmD 597, 602; Shattuck v. Maynard, 3 N. H. 123, 124.

[a] Illustration.—"When a person has a fixed abode, where he dwells with his family, there can be no doubt as to the place where he resides. The place of his personal and legal residence are the same. So, when a person has no permanent habitation or family, but dwells in different places, as he happens to find employment, there can be no doubt as to the place, where he resides. He must be considered as residing where he actually or personally resides. But some individuals have permanent habitations, where their families constantly dwell, yet pass a great portion of their time in other places. Such persons have a legal residence with their families, and a personal residence in other places; and the word 'reside,' may, with respect to them, be used to denote either their personal, or their legal residence." Shattuck v. Maynard, 3 N. H. 123, 124 [quot Hart v. Lindsey, 17 N. H. 235, 244, 43 AmD 597, 602].

[b] It may refer to a temporary personal existence, or dwelling, in a certain place, or it may refer to a person's legal residence. Greene v. Willis, 47 R. I. 375, 133 A 651.

[c] State cannot reside.—"The people, as individuals, reside in the state, but the political body called the state cannot be said, in the proper use of language, to reside anywhere." State v. Trenton, 40 N. J. L. 89, 91.

[89] In re Moir, 25 Ch. D. 605, 610 [cit Wilkinson v. Wilson, 26 Ont. 213, 215].

[90] U. S. v. Tod, 297 Fed. 385, 392.

[91] Middlebury v. Waltham, 6 Vt. 200, 202.

[92] Middletown v. Poultney, 2 Vt. 437, 439.

[93] Brice v. Sheffield, 118 Ga. 128, 44 SE 843, 844.

[94] Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720 [quot Lawson v. Adlard, 46 Minn. 243, 245, 48 NW 1019].

"Abide" 1 C. J. p 302.

[§ 3] C. In Legal Sense.[15] While the word does not necessarily apply to a legal residence,[16] still it may refer to a person's legal residence[17] and mean an established place of abode, adopted with no present intention of moving elsewhere,[18] being synonymous with "domicile"[19] in its strict legal sense;[20] and although it means something different from being bodily present,[21] yet in statutes it may be used as meaning actually to occupy,[22] or to live,[23] or it may be employed as synonymous with being a "citizen"[24] or an "inhabitant."[25]

[§ 4] D. Continuity and Permanency. While it is said that the word may signify a temporary abiding,[26] the word in its ordinary sense carries with it the idea of permanence, as well as continuity,[27] and embraces the idea of fixed or permanent residence,[28] to be construed as excluding the mere casual presence of a transient,[29] and implying a permanent abode as contradistinguished from a mere

---

95. Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754]; Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563.

96. Lisbon School Dist. No. 1 v. Landaff Town School Dist., 75 N. H. 324, 326, 74 A 186; Worcester v. East Montpelier, 61 Vt. 139, 142, 17 A 842; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778; Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720 [quot Lawson v. Adlard, 46 Minn. 243, 245, 48 NW 1019].

97. Standard D. [quot In re Seider, 163 Fed. 138, 139]; Walker D. [cit Lask v. U. S., 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 77, 79]; Webster D. [quot Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504, 506]; Worcester v. East Montpelier, 61 Vt. 139, 142, 17 A 842.

[a] "Dwell" synonymous and interchangeable.—Joggins v. Cumberland Poor Dist., (N. S.) [1925] 2 Dom LR 663, 664.

[b] To reside in a place means to dwell there, make it a place of abode. A. H. Belo Corp. v. Granberry, (Tex. Civ. A.) 9 SW (2d) 443, 445.

"Dwell" 19 C. J. p 843 note 98.

98. Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754; Hinds v. Hinds, 1 Iowa 36, 41; Warren v. Thomaston, 43 Me. 406, 418, 69 AmD 69; Drew v. Drew, 37 Me. 389, 393; Ex p. Blumer, 27 Tex. 734, 736]. See Graham v. Com., 51 Pa. 255, 258, 88 AmD 581; Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504, 506 [both quot Webster D. reading "any length of time"]. See also Kennedy v. Wiggins, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 125 [quot Brownsville v. Marr, 5 Tenn. Civ. A. 555, 562 (substituting "as" for "or"); Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720 [quot Lawson v. Adlard, 46 Minn. 243, 245, 48 NW 1019].

[a] Similar definition.—"To dwell permanently, or for a considerable time." Century D. [quot Less v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 154, 246 SW 382, 383]; Webster New Int. D. [quot MacLeod v. Stelle, 43 Ida. 64, 249 P 254, 256]; McCormick v. Wall, (Ind.) 168 NE 454, 455 (defining word "resided"); Cousineau v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 445, 10 SW (2d) 98, 99; Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 36 DomLR 685.

99. Walker D.; Webster D. [cit Lask v. U. S., 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 77, 79].

1. Webster D. [quot Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504, 506].

2. [a] "A settled abode," a definition attributed to Webster D. by Graham v. Cam, 51 Pa. 255, 258, 88 AmD 581; Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, (Tex. Civ. A.) 110 SW 504, 506.

3. Century D. [quot Less v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 154, 246 SW 382, 383]; Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754; Hinds v. Hinds, 1 Iowa 36, 41; Drew v. Drew, 37 Me. 389, 393]; Webster New Int. D. [quot MacLeod v. Stelle, 43 Ida. 64, 249 P 254, 256]; McCormick v. Wall, (Ind.) 168 NE 454, 455 (defining word "resided"); Kennedy v. Wiggins, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 125 [quot Brownsville v. Marr, 5 Tenn. Civ. A. 555, 562]; Ex p. Blumer, 27 Tex. 734, 736; Cousineau v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 445, 10 SW (2d) 98, 99 (definition reading "as having a settled abode for a time"); Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 36 DomLR 685.

4. Century D. [quot Less v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 154, 246 SW 382, 383].

5. Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754].

[a] Similar definition.—"To have one's domicile or home." Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563.

6. Standard D. [quot In re Seider, 163 Fed. 138, 139]; Walker D. [cit Lask v. U. S., 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 77, 79; Webster D. [quot Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504, 506].

"Live" synonymous see Live 38 C. J. p 70 note 7 [a].

7. Lisbon School Dist. No. 1 v. Landaff Town School Dist., 75 N. H. 324, 326, 74 A 186, 187; Worcester v. East Montpelier, 61 Vt. 139, 142, 17 A 842; Middlebury v. Waltham, 6 Vt. 200, 202.

8. Standard D. [quot In re Seider, 163 Fed. 138, 139; Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 476, 133 NYS 394, 397 (as definition for "resided")]; Webster D. [quot Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, (Tex. Civ. A.) 110 SW 504, 506].

9. Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754].

10. Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, supra]; Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 36 DomLR 685.

11. Lisbon School Dist. No. 1 v. Landaff Town School Dist., 75 N. H. 324, 326, 74 A 186, 187; Worcester v. East Montpelier, 61 Vt. 139, 142, 17 A 842.

12. Standard D. [quot In re Seider, 163 Fed. 138, 139].

13. Webster D. [quot Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754].

14. Webster D. [quot Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, (Tex. Civ. A.) 110 SW 504, 506].

15. In divorce statutes see Divorce § 36.

16. State v. Selleck, 76 Nebr. 747, 749, 107 NW 1022. See also cases supra § 2.

[a] "The word 'reside' is used in a sense which includes all who are the actual, stated dwellers in any given place, even though they may have a technical domicil elsewhere." Kelsey v. Green, 69 Conn. 291, 301, 37 A 679, 38 LRA 471 (referring to its use in Connecticut statutes generally).

17. Hart v. Lindsey, 17 N. H. 235, 244, 43 AmD 597; Greene v. Willis, 47 R. I. 375, 133 A 651.

18. Foss v. Foss, 105 Conn. 502, 136 A 98, 101 [quot Gildersleeve v. Gildersleeve, 88 Conn. 689, 92 A 684, 685].

19. Foss v. Foss, 105 Conn. 502, 136 A 98, 101 [quot Gildersleeve v. Gildersleeve, 88 Conn. 689, 92 A 684, 685]; Greene v. Willis, 47 R. I. 375, 133 A 651. See also Domicile §§ 2, 3.

"The residence therein contemplated [by the word 'reside'] is synonymous with 'home' or 'domicile.'" Sharp v. McIntire, 23 Colo. 99, 46 P 115, 116.

[a] In sense of "domicile."—Avery v. Bower, 170 Ga. 202, 152 SE 239, 242.

[b] Nothing more nor less than "domicile."—U. S. v. Rockteschell, 208 Fed. 530, 532, 125 CCA 532.

20. Brown v. Brown, 150 Tenn. 89, 261 SW 959.

[a] Equivalent of "legal domicile."—Elam v. Maggard, 165 Ky. 733, 178 SW 1065.

21. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Lemons, 109 Tex. 244, 206 SW 75, 77, 5 ALR 943,

22. Heaton v. Jackson, 34 Oh. A. 424, 171 NE 364, 366.

23. Rix v. McHenry, 7 Cal. 89, 92.

24. U. S. v. Gronich, 211 Fed. 548, 550. See also Resident post.

"Citizen" see Citizens § 1.

25. U. S. v. Gronich, 211 Fed. 548, 550. See also Resident post.

"Inhabitant" 31 C. J. p 1194.

"Inhabitant" compared see Inhabitant § 6.

26. Taylor v. Chattanooga Medicine Co., 5 Ala. A. 419, 59 S 707, 708 ("reside" in the section under discussion was held, however, to mean a fixed and permanent home).

"Abide" 1 C. J. p 302.

27. Michael v. Michael, 34 Tex. Civ. A. 630, 79 SW 74, 75 [quot and adopted Longwell v. Longwell, 39 Tex. Civ. A. 612, 88 SW 416, 417].

28. Quinn v. State, 35 Ind. 485, 490, 9 AmR 754.

29. Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504, 506.

[a] Implies a longer time than "lodge," "stay," "remain," "abide." Hinds v. Hinds, 1 Iowa 36, 41.

"Lodge" 38 C. J. p 136.

"Remain" ante.

"Stay" [36 Cyc 1257].

temporary locality of existence.[30] Furthermore it imports a habitation of some degree of permanency, coupled with the home thought.[31]

[§ 5] E. Resides. To have a home.[32] It may be used to signify the act of one who temporarily abides,[33] or also of one who has a fixed and permanent home.[34] Where there is nothing to show that it is used in a more extensive sense,[35] it refers to the place where an individual eats, drinks, and sleeps, or where his family or his servants eat, drink, and sleep.[36]

Phrases: "Resides for purposes of taxation,"[37] and "resides out of Ontario;"[38] also "in the county in which he resides,"[39] "usually resides,"[40] and "where he resides."[41]

[§ 6] F. Residing. When used in statutes, or actions, or suits relating to taxation, right of suffrage, divorce, and the like ["residing"] is used in the sense of "legal residence;" that is to say the place of domicile or permanent abode; as distinguished from temporary residence.[42]

Phrases: "Residing in,"[43] "residing in his district,"[44] "residing in the United Kingdom,"[45] "residing in this country,"[46] "residing in vicinity,"[47] "residing therein,"[48] and "residing with;"[49] also "anyone residing,"[50] "'debtor having a family' residing in the state,"[51] and "personally residing."[52]

[§ 7] G. Resided. Domiciled;[53] lived;[54] the term is said to be interchangeable[55] or synonymous with "residence."[56] It may be used, not in the sense of actual pedal presence, but rather of legal residence.[57] It ordinarily refers to a fixed,[58] permanent,[59] and established[60] residence, one's home, as distinguished from a mere stopping place for the transaction of either business or pleasure.[61]

Phrases: "Resided continuously within the United States,"[62] and "the county in which plaintiff resided."[63]

RESIDENCE.[64]

---

[30] Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720 [quot Lawson v. Adlard, 46 Minn. 243, 245, 48 NW 1019].

[a] Permanent place of abode, and not the place where he may be temporarily living, is the import of the word. McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 7.

[31] Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504.

[32] McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 6.

[a] "This includes not only physical presence in a place but the accompanying intent of choosing that place as a permanent residence." McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 6.

[b] "One 'resides' in a place when he lives or dwells there; when it is his settled abode; his habitation; his home." White v. Martin, 2 Alaska 495, 500.

[c] "'Resides' is but more formal than 'lives.'"—Luvall v. Luvall, 228 Ky. 577, 15 SW (2d) 433.

[d] "One 'resides' where he has his established home."—Berry v. Wilcox, 44 Nebr. 82, 88, 62 NW 249, 48 AmSR 706.

[33] Taylor v. Chattanooga Medicine Co., 5 Ala. A. 419, 59 S 707, 708.

[34] Taylor v. Chattanooga Medicine Co., supra.

[a] "One who 'resides' in a town . . . is an actual, stated dweller as distinguished from a transient dweller." Chaplin v. Bloomfield, 92 Conn. 395, 396, 103 A 118.

[b] "Expressing the general idea of continuing or making one's home in a given place." Luvall v. Luvall, 228 Ky. 577, 15 SW (2d) 433, 434.

[35] Rex v. North Curry, 4 B. & C. 953, 959, 107 Reprint 1313 [quot Toronto Free Hospital v. Barrie, 39 Ont. L. 63, 67, 12 OntWN 2, 34 DomLR 691].

[36] Rex v. North Curry, supra [quot Toronto Free Hospital v. Barrie, supra; In re North Renfrew, 7 Ont. L. 204, 206].

[a] "Where a person eats, drinks, and sleeps."—Lancaster v. Toronto, 38 Ont. L. 374, 380, 11 OntWN 311.

[37] Clarke v. Addeman, 26 R. I. 168, 169, 58 A 623.

[38] United Electric Co. v. Clements Mfg. Co., 10 OntWN 303, 304.

[39] Less v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 154, 246 SW 382, 383.

[40] The Underwriter, 3 F. (2d) 483, 487.

[41] Rex v. Clement, 50 CanLJ 67, 70.

[42] Herron v. Passailaigul, 92 Fla. 818, 110 S 539, 543. See also Domicile §§ 2, 3.

[a] Residing implies a legal residence in territory described. Laue v. Grand Fraternity, 132 Tenn. 235, 177 SW 941, 943, LRA1915F 1056, AnnCas1917A 376.

[b] Duration implied.—"The term imports not a mere stopping and being in a place, but 'abiding in it for some continuance of time.'" Trumbull v. Moss, 28 Conn. 253, 256.

[c] "The word 'residing' refers to individual abode, though it is sometimes used figuratively." State v. Trenton, 40 N. J. L. 89, 91.

[d] Meaning "personally residing."—In re Wright, [1907] 1 Ch. 231, 235.

[43] In re Doll, 47 Minn. 518, 521, 50 NW 607 (as not restricted to actual personal presence).

[44] Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680, 682.

[a] "Residing in the district."—Peo. v. Hendrickson, 54 Misc. 337, 104 NYS 122, 124. See also Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 1112].

[45] Thomson v. Inland Revenue, [1919] S. C. 8.

[46] Dale v. Atkinson, 3 Jur. N. S. 41, 42.

[47] Canaday v. Scott County, 104 Kan. 785, 181 P 121, 122.

[48] Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680, 682.

[49] Maidstone Union v. Wadsworth Union, 95 L. T. Rep. N. S. 125.

Settlement of illegitimate children residing with parent see Paupers § 117.

[50] Laue v. Grand Fraternity, 132 Tenn. 235, 177 SW 941, 943, LRA1915F 1056, AnnCas1917A 376.

[51] Bonnel v. Dunn, 28 N. J. L. 153, 155. See also Exemptions § 24.

[52] In re Wright, [1907] 1 Ch. 231, 235.

[53] In re Bennett, 135 Misc. 486, 238 NYS 723, 737. See also Domicile §§ 1–3.

[a] Referring to domiciliary residence.—Fry's Election Case, 71 Pa. 302, 306, 307, 10 AmR 698.

[54] U. S. v. Griminger, 236 Fed. 285, 287.

[55] Evans v. American Pub. Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 13 SW (2d) 358, 362.

[56] Evans v. American Pub. Co., (Tex. Civ. A.) 8 SW (2d) 809. See Residence post.

[57] Evans v. American Pub. Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 16 SW (2d) 516.

[58] Madison v. Guilford, 85 Conn 55, 81 A 1046, 1048.

[59] Johnson v. Hoile, 205 App. Div. 633, 199 NYS 875; Kleinrock v Nantex Mfg. Co., 201 App. Div. 236, 194 NYS 142.

[a] It carries with it the idea of permanency as well as continuity.—Fleming v. Fleming, 36 Nev. 135, 134 P 445, 447.

[60] Madison v. Guilford, 85 Conn. 55, 81 A 1046, 1048.

[a] As distinguished from a residence which is merely transient or temporary.—Madison v. Guilford, 85 Conn. 55, 81 A 1046, 1048; Salem v. Lyme, 29 Conn. 74, 81 (definition given for "reside").

[61] Johnson v. Hoyle, 205 App. Div. 633, 199 NYS 875; Kleinrock v. Nantex Mfg. Co., 201 App. Div. 236, 194 NYS 142, 144; Washington v. Thomas, 103 App. Div. 423, 92 NYS 994, 996.

[62] See Aliens § 138 note 1.

[63] Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Monell, 50 Tex. Civ. A. 287, 110 SW 504, 506. See generally Venue [40 Cyc 93–103].

[64] Residence:
Actual residence:
- Adverse Possession § 8.
- Distinguished from "place of business" see Attachment § 49.

Choice of place see Constitutional Law § 1099½ notes 80–83.

[§ 1] A. As Noun—1. In Ordinary Parlance—a. In General. An ambiguous,[65] elastic,[66] flexible,[67] or relative term,[68] which, notwithstanding numerous definitions are to be found in the books,[69] is difficult of precise definition,[70] as it has no fixed meaning applicable alike to all cases,[71] but instead is used in different[72] and various senses[73] and has a great variety of meanings[74] and significations,[75] because its Dependent on intention see Domicile § 13 notes 89–92.

Distinguished from:
  Domicile see Attachment § 48; Domicile §§ 2, 3; Guardian and Ward § 28.
  Home 29 C. J. p 768 note 19 [b].
Ordinary residence see Ordinary 46 C. J. p 1134 note 22.
Private residence see Private § 22.
See also Habitancy 29 C. J. p 200; Habitation 29 C. J. p 200; Nonresidence 46 C. J. p 493; Reside ante; Resident post.

Residence in relation to:
Administration of decedent's estate see Executors and Administrators §§ 122, 192, 297, 792, 1180.
Adverse Possession § 8.
Affidavits § 108 note 88.
Aliens § 138 note 1.
Animal property see Animals §§ 95, 274.
Appeals see Appeal and Error §§ 530, 1194, 1216.
Appearances § 42.
Arrest §§ 128, 145, 146.
Assignments § 158 note 62 [f].
Assignments for Benefit of Creditors § 18 note 42, § 178 notes 90, 92, 94, 99.
Attachment §§ 20, 44–56, 135, 180, 184, 221, 222, 269, 305.
Bankruptcy § 25.
Bastards § 60.
Bills and Notes §§ 466, 769, 771, 911, 920, 921, 927, 929–931, 934, 939.
Bonds see Appeal and Error §§ 1194–1216; Bonds § 9; Executors and Administrators § 193.
Bounties § 28 note 31 [a].
Champerty and Maintenance § 78.
Chattel Mortgages § 211 notes 13–23, §§ 212, 213.
Citizenship see Citizens §§ 3, 12, 18.
Continuances see Criminal Law § 846 notes 36, 41, 44.
Corporations §§ 33, 70, 143, 215, 245, 408–419, 1828, 2876–2879, 3933 (foreign), 4082, 4099, 4100, 4101, 4109–4112, 4119, 4121.
Costs §§ 465–476, 645 notes 48, 50–52.
Courts § 82 note 55, §§ 83–86, 87 notes 21–24.
Creditors' Suits § 25.
Depositions § 151.
Divorce §§ 36–45.
Elections §§ 26–33.
Exemptions §§ 17–24.
Federal Courts § 89.
Garnishment §§ 62, 214, 245, 270.
Homesteads §§ 47, 48, 50, 53, 63, 65, 107, 109, 472, 513.
Indictments and Informations § 233.
Insolvency §§ 44, 59, 267, 269, 270, 275 note 75 [e].
Interest §§ 20, 164.
Judgments §§ 47, 48, 50, 70, 1583, 1621–1628.
Laches see Equity § 233.
Larceny § 354.
Life Insurance §§ 173, 186.
Limitations of Actions § 52 notes 56–58, §§ 371, 750, 771.
Mandamus § 588 note 47 [f].
Marriage § 76 note 24 [f].
Process see Highways § 55; Infants § 321; Justices of the Peace § 156; Process §§ 69, 70, 94, 98, 99, 101, 105, 107, 109, 111, 113, 115, 132, 144, 145, 156–160, 226, 227, 321.
Public lands see Indians § 68; Public Lands § 93.
Taxation [37 Cyc 741, 769, 799–804, 908, 937, 947, 1192, 1293].
Venue [40 Cyc 93, 128, 130].

Residence of:
Absentees § 1 notes 1–4.
Accepter or maker see Bills and Notes §§ 769, 771.
Accused see Indictments and Informations § 233.
Administrator see Executors and Administrators § 122.
Aliens § 2 notes 7–8, § 138 note 1.
Appellant see Appeal and Error § 530.
Attorney and Client § 102 notes 21, 22, § 190 note 14.
Collector see Taxation [37 Cyc 1192].
Corporation see Corporations §§ 215, 408–419, 3933, 4082; Garnishment §§ 214, 215; Taxation [37 Cyc 959].
Creditor see Corporations §§ 4110–4112; Executors and Administrators § 1180; Insolvency §§ 267, 269, 270.
Debtor see Assignments § 158; Corporations § 4109; Creditors' Suits § 25.
Deceased owner see Attachment § 57.
Decedent see Executors and Administrators § 34 note 50.
Defendant see Attachment §§ 44–56, 135, 184, 222, 269; Corporations § 245; Garnishment § 270; Judgments §§ 47, 48, 50, 57.
Director see Corporations § 1828.
Drawee see Bills and Notes § 466.
Executor see Executors and Administrators §§ 192, 297.
Family see Executors and Administrators § 792.
Foreign corporation see Corporations §§ 4082, 4109, 4119; Garnishment § 70, 245.
Garnishee see Garnishment § 270.
Grand juror see Grand Juries §§ 11, 12.
Grantor see Champerty and Maintenance § 78.
Husband and wife see Homesteads § 472; Husband and Wife §§ 18, 444, 665.
Incorporator see Corporations § 143.
Indians § 58.
Infant see Infants §§ 43, 264, 321; Parent and Child §§ 4, 41; Process § 321.
Insane Persons §§ 176, 559.
Insolvent see Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 18, 178; Insolvency §§ 44, 48, 59.
Instructor of educational institution see Taxation [37 Cyc 937].
Judges §§ 29, 55, 206.
Juror see Grand Juries §§ 11, 12; Juries § 189.
Justices of the Peace § 9 note 1.
Licensee see Licenses §§ 56–58, 122.
Minor see Guardian and Ward § 28.
Mortgagor see Chattel Mortgages §§ 211–213.
Officer see Corporations §§ 4039, 4109, 4121; Officers § 36.
Owner see Animals § 95.
Parties see Bills and Notes §§ 911, 920, 921, 927, 929, 931, 938, 939; Corporations §§ 2876–2879; Divorce §§ 36–45; Interest § 20; Judgments §§ 1583, 1621–1624, 1626–1628; Venue [40 Cyc 93, 128].
Paupers §§ 83–95, 208.
Plaintiff see Attachment §§ 20, 180, 221; Corporations §§ 4099–4101.
Principal defendant see Garnishment § 245.
Real estate broker see Brokers § 14 note 51 [d].
Stockholder see Corporations § 33.
Surety on bond see Appeal and Error §§ 1194, 1216; Attachment § 305; Bonds § 9; and other specific titles in Corpus Juris.
Taker of estray see Animals § 274.
Tenant see Landlord and Tenant § 661.
Voter see Elections §§ 26–33.
Widow see Executors and Administrators § 792; Homesteads § 472.
Witness see Criminal Law § 846; Depositions § 151.

65. McCuaig v. Hinds, (Man.) 11 WestLR 652, 654.

66. McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 7; In re Deans, 208 Fed. 1018, 1019; In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 679, 62 CCA 403.

[a] "A word of very elastic meaning."—Re Fitzmartin, 24 Ont. L. 102, 104, 2 OntWN 1114, 1177, 19 OntWR 267, 367.

67. Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425; Willingham v. Swift, 165 Fed. 223, 224; McCuaig v. Hinds, (Man.) 11 WestLR 652, 654; Lancaster v. Toronto, 38 Ont. L. 374, 380, 11 OntWN 311.

[a] "A word of flexible import."—Re Sturmer, 24 Ont. L. 65, 66, 2 Ont WN 1116, 1227, 19 OntWR 255, 430.

68. Popejoy v. Boynton, 112 Or. 646, 229 P 370, 230 P 1016.

69. Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418, 441.

70. McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 7; In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 679, 62 CCA 403.

[a] "It is somewhat difficult to give any rule defining 'residence.'" Nadal v. Ramos, 1 Porto Rico Fed. 363, 364.

71. State v. Smith, 64 Mo. A. 313, 319.

[a] "Residence is a very broad and liberal term."—Kidd v. Joint School Dist. No. 2, 194 Wis. 353, 216 NW 499, 501.

72. McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 6; Wachusett Nat. Bank v. Fairbrother, 148 Mass. 181, 184, 19 NE 345, 347, 12 AmSR 530.

[a] "Is used in two senses; the one constructive, technical, legal; the other denoting personal actual habitation of individuals." Hart v. Lindsey, 17 N. H. 235, 43 AmD 597, 602 [quot Shattuck v. Maynard, 3 N. H. 123, 124 (where given under word "reside")].

73. Trask v. Karrick, 94 Vt. 70, 108 A 846, 847.

74. Naef v. Mutter, 12 C. B. N. S. 816, 821, 104 ECL 816, 142 Reprint 1363; Re Sturmer, 24 Ont. L. 65, 66, 2 OntWN 1116, 1227, 19 OntWR 255, 430.

[a] "Capable of different meanings."—Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 397.

[b] "Is often used to express different meanings."—Union Nat. Bank v. Finley, 180 Ind. 470, 103 NE 110, 113.

[c] "Of multiple meanings."—Moore v. Stevens, 90 Fla. 879, 106 S 901, 904, 43 ALR 1127.

[d] "All agree that the word 'residence' is susceptible of different meanings."—Shaeffer v. Gilbert, 73 Md. 66, 69, 20 A 434, 435.

75. Wade v. Wade, 93 Fla. 1004, 113 S 374, 375.

[a] "Not a word of uniform signification."—Wachusett Nat. Bank v. Fairbrother, 148 Mass. 181, 184, 19 NE 345, 347, 12 AmSR 530.

[b] "It is used to signify different things."—Harrison v. Harrison, 117 Md. 607, 84 A 57, 58.

meaning is variously shaded according to the variant conditions of its application.[76] Also, its meaning often depends upon the subject matter[77] and connection in which it is used,[78] and the sense in which it should be used is controlled by reference to the object;[79] hence it may be given a restricted or enlarged meaning, considering the connection in which it is used.[80]

[§ 2] b. As a Place or Thing.[81] "Residence" is a noun, the name of a place or thing,[82] and has been defined as an abode,[83] dwelling,[84] habitation,[85] or place where one actually lives;[86] a dwelling house[87] where a person lives in settled abode;[88] the dwelling place of a person;[89] the place of abode,[90] or dwelling, whether permanent or temporary,[91] or lodgment,[92] or residence;[93] a place where a person lives,[94] or where one remains when not called elsewhere on business, pleasure, or for other temporary purposes;[95] the place[96] or the house[97] where one resides;[98] also the place where anything rests permanently.[99]

---

[c] "Significations depending upon its various applications."—Wade v. Wade, 93 Fla. 1004, 113 S 374, 375.

[d] "Its exact significance being left to construction, to be determined from the context, and the apparent object sought to be attained." Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895, 896.

76. Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[a] "Many shades of meaning from mere temporary presence to the most permanent abode." Fisher v. First Trust Joint-Stock Land Bank, (Iowa) 231 NW 671, 672.

77. Towson v. Towson, 126 Va. 640, 102 SE 48, 52; Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680, 681.

[a] "Great variety of meanings according to the subject-matter."—Neaf v. Mutter, 12 C. B. N. S. 816, 821, 104 ECL 816, 142 Reprint 1363; Re Sturmer, 24 Ont. L. 65, 66, 2 OntWN 1116, 1227, 19 OntWR 255, 430.

[b] "Frequently used to express different meanings according to the subject-matter."—Newman v. U. S., 43 App. (D. C.) 53, 62; Raymond v. Leishman, 243 Pa. 64, 89 A 791, 792, LRA1915A 400, AnnCas1915C 780 (substituting "often" for "frequently").

[c] Illustrations of different meanings of the term.—(1) "As defined by lexicographers the word residence may refer either to a fixed and settled abode or to one merely of some duration." Kroge v. Modern Brotherhood of America, 126 Mo. A. 693, 701, 105 SW 685, 687. (2) "Different meanings including temporary residence or permanent domicile." Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 398.

[d] "May refer to a temporary personal existence, or dwelling, in a certain place, or it may refer to a person's legal residence." Greene v. Willis, 47 R. I. 375, 133 A 651.

78. Nadal v. Ramos, 1 Porto Rico Fed. 363, 364; Towson v. Towson, 126 Va. 640, 102 SE 48, 52; Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680, 681.

[a] Exact meaning often depends on connection in which the word is used. State v. Selleck, 76 Nebr. 747, 749, 107 NW 1022.

79. McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 7; In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 679, 62 CCA 403.

[a] Its meaning depends upon the object and purpose with which it is used and the subject-matter to which it refers. Shaeffer v. Gilbert, 73 Md. 66, 69, 20 A 434, 435.

80. Willingham v. Swift Co., 165 Fed. 223, 224 [quot Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425].

81. Of a corporation see Corporations §§ 408–419, 3933.

82. A. H. Belo Corp. v. Granberry, (Tex. Civ. A.) 9 SW (2d) 443, 445.

83. Webster D. [quot Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526]; Baird v. Baird, 193 Cal. 225, 223 P 974, 999; Wright v. Genesee Cir. Judge, 117 Mich. 244, 245, 75 NW 465; Rosenzweig v. Wood, 30 Misc. 297, 299, 63 NYS 447 [aff 52 App. Div. 631 mem, 65 NYS 1144 mem]; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Curren v. McEachen, 5 Terr. L. 333, 336.

"Abode" 1 C. J. p 304.

84. Johnson D. [quot Reg. v. Hammond, 17 Q. B. 772, 781, 79 ECL 772, 8 EngL&Eq 356]; Webster D. [quot Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 398; Foot v. Harris, 2 AbbPr (N. Y.) 454, 457]; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895; Graham v. Com., 51 Pa. 255, 258, 88 AmD 581; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778; Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 479, 41 SE 949; Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720; Re Fraser, 30 N. S. 272, 276.

[a] "An abode or dwelling."—Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 4 NYS 367].

"Dwelling" 19 C. J. p 843.

85. Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 4 NYS 367; Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 398; Foot v. Harris, 2 AbbPr (N. Y.) 454, 457]; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778; Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720; Re Fraser, 30 N. S. 272, 276.

[a] "A dwelling or habitation."—Webster D. [quot Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526]; Wright v. Genesee Cir. Judge, 117 Mich. 244, 245, 75 NW 465 [quot Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503].

"Habitation" 29 C. J. p 200.

86. Baird v. Baird, 193 Cal. 225, 223 P 974, 999; Rosenzweig v. Wood, 30 Misc. 297, 299, 63 NYS 447 [aff 52 App. Div. 631, 65 NYS 1144].

87. "Dwelling house" 19 C. J. p 843.

88. Moore v. Stevens, 90 Fla. 879, 106 S 901, 904, 43 ALR 1127.

89. Raymond v. Leishman, 243 Pa. 64, 89 A 791, 792, LRA1915A 400, AnnCas1915C 780; Towson v. Towson, 126 Va. 640, 102 SE 48, 52; Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680, 681.

90. Johnson D. [quot Reg. v. Hammond, 17 A. B. 772, 781, 79 ECL 772, 8 EngL&Eq 356, 117 Reprint 1477]; Webster D. [quot Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504, 520]; Terrill v. Terrill, 2 Alaska 475, 477; In re Bennett, 135 Misc. 486, 238 NYS 723, 734; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895; Mays v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 391, 392, 97 SW 703; Middlebury v. Waltham, 6 Vt. 200, 202; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778; Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 479, 41 SE 949; Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720; Re Fraser, 30 N. S. 272, 276. See also Lafferty's Est., 14 Pa. Dist. 6 (stating "some delicacy of insight, not to say of imagination, is needed to detect a reason why a man's residence is not his place of abode").

[a] Similar definition.—"The place of one's abode." Webster D. [quot Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504, 520].

[b] "Any place of abode or dwelling place, however temporary it might have been."—Gluc v. Klein, 226 Mich. 175, 197 NW 691, 692.

[c] "A residence is always a place of abode; it never denotes simply the place where a man is, or happens to be." Perrine v. Evans, 35 N. J. L. 221, 223.

91. In re Titterington, 130 Iowa 356, 358, 106 NW 761.

92. State v. Shepherd, 218 Mo. 656, 117 SW 1169, 1172, 131 AmSR 568.

93. Bronaugh v. Com., 188 Ky. 103, 221 SW 531, 534.

94. Mays v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 391, 392, 97 SW 703.

95. Younger v. Speckles, 12 Cal. A. 175, 106 P 895, 896 (in its "ordinary acceptation").

96. Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 3 NYS 367; Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 398; Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526; Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Wright v. Genesee Cir. Judge, 117 Mich. 244, 245, 75 NW 465; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503.

[a] "The residence of a person is the place where he commonly resides; a place to which, when absent, he returns, like a bee to its hive, a bird to its nest." O'Hare v. Bismarck Bank, 45 N. D. 641, 178 NW 1017 (in court's syllabus).

[b] "The residence of one means place of residence, where such one resides." Bronaugh v. Com., 188 Ky. 103, 221 SW 531, 534.

97. Standard D. [quot Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 397].

98. Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Standard D. [quot Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 398]; Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 3 NYS 367; Board of Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, supra; Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526; Hall v. Hall, supra]; Wright v. Genesee Cir. Judge, 117 Mich. 244, 245, 75 NW 465; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503.

99. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 4 NYS 367 (words

[§ 3] c. As an Act or State.[1] As an act[2] "residence" has been defined as the act of making one's home in a place,[3] or of residing,[4] abiding,[5] or dwelling[6] in a place for some continuance of time;[7] the act or state of being a resident, or inhabitant,[8] or of being seated or settled in a place;[9] the act, state or habit of dwelling or abiding in a place;[10] the continuance of a man in a place;[11] the dwelling in a place,[12] or habitation,[13] for some continuance of time,[14] for business or other purposes;[15] inhabitancy or habitancy;[16] living in a particular locality;[17] also it may be used in its loose sense of temporary lodging.[18]

[§ 4] 2. In Legal Parlance—a. In General. Although often defined and construed by the courts,[19] the term has no actual[20] or definite[21] technical meaning,[22] or any uniform meaning in law.[23]

[§ 5] b. As a Place or Thing. An abiding place or home or a permanent address;[24] the abode or dwelling place as distinguished from a mere locality of existence;[25] domicile;[26] an established abode fixed for a considerable time, whether with or without a present intention of ultimate removal;[27] a fixed and permanent abode or dwelling place for the transposed to "permanently rests"); Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526]; Baird v. Baird, 193 Cal. 225, 223 P 974, 999 (also reading "permanently rests").

---

[1] Of a corporation see Corporations §§ 408-419, 3933.

[2] [a] "Residence is an act."—Jarrell v. Leeper, 178 Ark. 6, 9 SW (2d) 778, 779; Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sheahan, 37 Okl. 702, 133 P 228, 230, 47 LRANS 309.

[3] Webster New Int. D. [quot Wilson v. Danley, 165 Ark. 565, 265 SW 358, 360].

[a] Illustration.—"As the residence of an American in France or Italy for a year." Webster New Int. D. [quot Wilson v. Danley, 165 Ark. 565, 265 SW 358, 360].

[4] Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 3 NYS 367; Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425.

[5] Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, supra; Hall v. Hall, supra]; Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425; Willingham v. Swift Co., 165 Fed. 223, 224; Lawson v. Adlard, 46 Minn. 243, 245, 48 NW 1019; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778; Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720; Re Fraser, 30 N. S. 272, 276.

[6] Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 3 NYS 367; Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425; Willingham v. Swift Co., 165 Fed. 223, 224; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778.

[7] Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 470, 3 NYS 367; Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425; Willingham v. Swift Co., 165 Fed. 223, 224; Lawson v. Adlard, 46 Minn. 243, 245, 48 NW 1019 (so defining the word "in its popular sense"); Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Smith v. Smith, 122 Va. 341, 94 SE 777, 778; Long v. Ryan, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.) 718, 720; Re Fraser, 30 N. S. 272, 276.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) The abiding or dwelling in a place for some continuance of time. Brownsville v. Marr, 5 Tenn. Civ. A. 555, 562. (2) The act of dwelling or being in a place for a continuance of time. Webster D. [quot Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504, 520]. (3) The act or fact of residing, abiding, or dwelling in a place for some continuance of time. Webster D. [quot Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526]. (4) Act or fact of abiding or dwelling in a place for some time. Webster New Int. D. [quot Wilson v. Danley, 165 Ark. 565, 265 SW 358, 360].

[8] Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607].

[9] Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, supra]; Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425; Baird v. Baird, 193 Cal. 225, 223 P 974, 999; Matter of Collins, 64 HowPr (N. Y.) 63, 65.

[10] Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607].

[11] Boucicault v. Wood, 3 F. Cas. No. 1,693, 2 Biss. 34, 38.

[12] Webster D. [quot Barney v. Oelrichs, 138 U. S. 529, 534, 11 SCt 414, 34 L. Ed. 1037; Tazewell County v. Davenport, 40 Ill. 197, 205; Bartlett v. New York, 7 N. Y. Super. 44, 47].

[a] "Having his home there."—Boucicault v. Wood, 3 F. Cas. No. 1,693, 2 Biss. 34, 38.

[13] Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 479, 41 SE 949.

[14] Webster D. [quot Barney v. Oelrichs, 138 U. S. 529, 534, 11 SCt 414, 34 L. ed. 1037; Tazewell County v. Davenport, 40 Ill. 197, 205; Bartlett v. New York, 7 N. Y. Super. 44, 47]; Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 479, 41 SE 949.

[15] Webster D. [quot Bartlett v. New York, 5 N. Y. Super. 44, 47].

[16] Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607].

"Habitancy" 29 C. J. p 200.

[17] In re Newcomb, 192 N. Y. 238, 250, 84 NE 950; Flatauer v. Loser, 156 App. Div. 591, 593, 141 NYS 951; Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 397; Pecos, etc., R. Co. v. Thompson, 106 Tex. 456, 167 SW 801, 803.

[a] "If a person actually 'lives' in a certain place, with the intention of remaining there indefinitely, that place must be said to be his residence." Marston v. Watson, 20 Cal. A. 465, 468, 129 P 611, 612 [quot Smilie v. Smilie, 24 Cal. A. 420, 141 P 829, 831].

[18] In re Martin, 173 App. Div. 1, 158 NYS 915, 916.

[19] Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[20] Ex p. Bruell, 16 Ch. D. 484, 487.

[21] Ex p. Bruell, supra; Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 569, 36 DomLR 685. But see Atwood v. Tucker, 26 N. D. 622, 145 NW 587, 589, 51 LRANS 597 (declaring "the term 'residence' has a definite legal meaning—a place of one's abode, home or habitation").

[a] "The legal definitions . . . vary with the circumstances of the case, and the mental constitution of judges and authors." Chinese Tax Cases, 14 Fed. 338, 344, 8 Sawy. 384.

[22] Ex p. Bruell, 16 Ch. D. 484. 487; Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 569, 36 DomLR 685; Toronto Free Hospital v. Barrie, 39 Ont. L. 63, 71, 12 OntWN 2, 34 DomLR 691.

[23] Barhydt v. Cross, 156 Iowa 271, 136 NW 525, 528, 40 LRANS 986, AnnCas1915C 792.

[a] No exact definition, which is applicable to all cases, can be given at law. In re Deans, 208 Fed. 1018, 1019.

[b] Duality of meaning.—"Sometimes it is to be construed as meaning the domicil of a party, and in others simply to indicate an abiding place for the time being without reference to domicil." Harrison v. Harrison, 117 Md. 607, 84 A 57, 58.

[c] "Sometimes distinguished into 'residence' and 'legal residence.'"—In re Kalpachnikoff, 28 F. (2d) 288, 290.

[24] Powell v. Credit Acceptance Corp., 131 Misc. 870, 228 NYS 427, 428.

[a] Blackstone's definition.—"The abode of a person or incumbent or his benefice—opposed to non-residence." State v. Shepherd, 218 Mo. 656, 666, 117 SW 1169, 131 AmSR 568; State v. Bunce, 187 Mo. A. 607, 173 SW 101, 102.

[25] Farmer v. Phillips, 12 Ga. A. 732, 78 SE 353, 355 (stating that it has been thus judicially defined); Roosevelt v. Kellogg, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 208, 211 [quot In re Hughes, Tuck. Surr. (N. Y.) 38, where the definition is said to be "only modified" in Frost v. Brisbin, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 11, 13, 32 AmD 423].

[a] "A place of residence in the common law acceptation of the term means a fixed and permanent abode and dwelling place for the time being as contradistinguished from mere temporal local residence." Silvey v. Lindsay, 42 Hun (N. Y.) 116, 120; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502; 503.

[26] Burrill L. D. [quot Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]; Century D. [quot Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 311].

[a] "Especially, a settled or permanent home or domicile." Webster D. [quot Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526]; Wright v. Genesee Cir. Judge, 117 Mich. 244, 245, 75 NW 465.

[b] "Domicile" nearly or quite synonymous.—Johnson v. Hoile, 205 App. Div. 633, 199 NYS 875 [quot Washington v. Thomas, 103 App. Div. 423, 92 NYS 994, 996].

Domicile compared and distinguished generally see Domicile §§ 2, 3.

[27] Century D. [quot Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 311].

time being;[28] the home or place of abode of the individual;[29] a permanent home or domicile, as distinguished from a temporary abode;[30] the place of actual abode,[31] or of one's domicile,[32] or to which one, wherever he may be, intends to return;[33] or the place where a man establishes his abode[34] and makes the seat of his property[35] and exercises his civil and political rights,[36] or where a person's habitation is fixed, without any present intention of removing therefrom;[37] or where a man is chiefly to be found,[38] or where a person lives and has his fixed, permanent home and principal establishment,[39] or where one habitually sleeps;[40] where one sleeps and lives.[41]

The best definition is that to be deduced from the Roman law; that a man's residence is the place where his family dwells, or which he makes the chief seat of his affairs and interests.[42]

[§ 6] c. As an Act or State. A person's habitual physical presence in a place or country, which may or may not be his home;[43] personal presence in a fixed and permanent abode.[44] Also the word is used in law to denote the fact that a person dwells in a given place.[45]

[§ 7] d. In Statutes, Constitutions, or Actions[46] —(1) In General. Residence is the favorite term employed in statutes to express the connection between person and place.[47] The meaning when employed in a statute is often provocative of dispute,[48] often making it difficult to give an exact definition of what is meant by "residence" as used in particular statutes,[49] for when used in statutes it has different meanings in different connections,[50] and may be used with difference meanings in different statutes;[51] and also, it sometimes has different shades of meaning in the statutes and even in the constitution.[52] An examination of the authorities discloses that it has received different definitions in various cases, principally involving franchise, taxation, and jurisdiction.[53] As its statutory definition depends upon the legislative purpose as well as the context of the statute,[54] it must be construed in every case in accordance with the object and intent of the statute in which it occurs;[55] hence its meaning is to be determined from the facts and circumstances taken together in each particular case.[56] However, it is said that when used in statutes,[57] or actions, or suits[58] relating to taxation, right of suffrage, divorce, limitation of actions, and the like, it is used in the sense of "legal residence,"[59] that is to say the place of domicile or permanent abode.[60]

---

[28] In re Wrigley, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 134, 140 (defining "inhabitancy" in like manner).

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "A fixed and permanent abode, a dwelling house for the time being, as contradistinguished from a mere temporary locality of existence." Weitkamp v. Loehr, 53 N. Y. Super. Ct. 79, 82, 11 NYCivProc 36 (so defining "inhabitancy" also). (2) A fixed and permanent abode or dwelling place for the time being as contradistinguished from a mere temporary locality of existence. In re Wrigley, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 134, 140 [quot Drew v. Drew, 37 Me. 389, 393]. (3) "A fixed and permanent abode or dwelling, as distinguished from a mere temporary locality of existence." Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503. (4) "A settled or fixed abode of a character indicating permanency, at least for an indefinite time." Jones v. Reser, 61 Okl. 46, 160 P 58, 59 [quot Pope v. Pope, 116 Okl. 188, 243 P 962, 964].

[29] Rindge v. Green, 52 Vt. 204, 208 (where such was said to be the well-defined meaning of the term in law).

[30] Brafman v. Brafman, 144 Md. 413, 125 A 161.

[31] Shelton v. Shelton, 180 Ark. 959, 23 SW (2d) 629, 631; Smith v. Union County, 178 Ark. 540, 11 SW (2d) 455, 456.

[a] "If a person actually lives at a certain place with the intention of remaining there indefinitely, that place must be said to be his residence." Marston v. Watson, 20 Cal. A. 465, 129 P 611, 612.

[32] Bouvier L. D. [quot Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504, 520; Hall v. Hall, 25 Wis. 600, 607]. See also Domicile §§ 2, 3.

[33] Hanson v. Hanson, 88 Misc. 244, 151 NYS 861, 863.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "The place to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning." Williams v. Farmers' Gin, etc., Co., 13 Okl. 5, 73 P 269. (2) "The place where a man has his true, fixed and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning." Price v. Price, 156 Pa. 617, 626, 27 A 291 [quot Lesh v. Lesh, 13 Pa. Dist. 537, 538]. (3) The place where he intends to live, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning. Roberts v. Robertson, 123 Kan. 222, 254 P 1026, 1027.

[34] Chase v. Miller, 41 Pa. 403, 420; Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511, 512.

[a] Similarly, "the place where he has established his abode." Roberts v. Robertson, 123 Kan. 222, 254 P 1026, 1027.

[35] Chase v. Miller, 41 Pa. 403, 420; Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511.

[36] Chase v. Miller, 41 Pa. 403, 420.

[a] Legal residence.—The place of a man's fixed habitation, where his political rights, such as the right of the elective franchise are to be exercised, and where he is liable to taxation. Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504, 520 [quot Mead v. Carroll, 6 D. C. 338].

[37] McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 7; In re Lemen, 208 Fed. 80, 82; In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 679, 62 CCA 403; Tracy v. Tracy, 62 N. J. Eq. 807, 810, 48 A 533; Matter of Zerega, 20 NYS 417, 418, 1 Pow. Surr. 209 (substituting "man's" for "person's" and "moving" for "removing"); In re Assessment Act, 12 East LR 157, 162.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "The place where a man's habitation is fixed without any present purpose of removing therefrom." Century D. (defining term "in the legal sense") [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 311; McCarty v. Thornton, 38 N. D. 551, 165 NW 499, 500; Lesh v. Lesh, 13 Pa. Dist. 537, 538]; In re Turcick, 33 F. (2d) 364; Baird v. Baird, 193 Cal. 225, 223 P 974, 999. (2) "The home or habitation fixed in any place without a present intention of removing therefrom." Stratton v. Brigham, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 420, 422.

[b] "A man's residence is his home, a habitation, fixed at any place, without a present intention of removing therefrom." In re Rowe, 179 Iowa 541, 161 NW 626, 627.

[c] "Where he intends to remain indefinitely and without a present intention to depart." Fry's Election Case, 71 Pa. 302, 309, 10 AmR 698.

[d] "Used most frequently to apply to a place where a person resides without a present purpose to remove therefrom." Kidd v. Joint School Dist. No. 2, 194 Wis. 353, 216 NW 499, 501.

[e] "There must be a settled, fixed abode, an intention to remain permanently, at least for a time, for business or other purposes, to constitute residence within the legal meaning of that term." Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sheahan, 37 Okl. 702, 133 P 228, 230, 47 LRANS 309 [quot Jones v. Reser, 61 Okl. 46, 160 P 58, 59].

[38] Attenborough v. Thompson, 2 H. & N. 559, 563, 157 Reprint 230 (rather than the place where a person sleeps).

[39] Burrill L. D. sub verb. "Domicile" [quot Peo. v. Putnam County Surrogate's Ct., 36 Hun (N. Y.) 218, 220, 16 AbbNCas 241].

[a] "Generally speaking residence means the place where a man lives with his family, where he can be expected to be when his business does not call him away,—where he passes the night, and in respect of which he pays rates." Greenham v. Child, 24 Q. B. D. 29, 30 [quot McCuaig v. Hinds, (Man.) 11 WestLR 652, 654].

[b] "It signifies a party's permanent home and principal establishment, to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning." Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sheahan, 37 Okl. 702, 133 P 228, 230, 47 LRANS 309 [quot Pope v. Pope, 116 Okl. 188, 243 P 962, 964; Jones v. Reser, 61 Okl. 46, 160 P 58, 59]; Miller v. Sovereign Camp W. O. W., 140 Wis. 505, 509, 122 NW 1126, 1128, 133 AmSR 1095, 28 LRANS 178 (substituting "person's" for "party's").

[40] Douglas v. O'Brien, 27 Man. 46, 47; Toronto Free Hospital v. Barrie, 39 Ont. L. 63, 71, 12 OntWN 2, 34 DomLR 691; Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511, 513.

Where person sleeps as determinative of domicile see Domicile § 11 note 75.

[a] Sleeping quarters.—"In order to constitute a residence, a party must possess at least a sleeping apartment, but an uninterrupted abiding at such dwelling is not required." Reg. v. Oxford Univ., L. R. 7 Q. B. 471, 473.

[41] Cesena Sulphur Co. v. Nicholson, 1 Ex. D. 428, 452.

[42] Matter of Hawley, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 531, 533 [cit N. Y. Dig. 50 tit I 16, 20, 27, 203; Code tit 39, 7].

[43] See In re Banff Election, 4 Terr. L. 140, 145.

[44] Bouvier L. D. [quot Curren v. McEachen, 5 Terr. L. 333, 336].

[45] Rapalje & L. L. D. 1113 [quot Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Indianapolis, 147 Ind. 292, 296, 46 NE 641]; Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 397.

As to corporations see Corporations §§ 408–419, 3933.

[46] In relation to corporations see Corporations §§ 408–419, 3933.

[47] Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895, 896.

[48] In re Kalpachnikoff, 28 F. (2d) 288, 289.

[§ 8] (2) Statutory Definitions. Among definitions of the term given in statutes[61] are the permanent home and the place to which, whenever absent for purposes of business or pleasure, one intends to return;[62] that place where the family of any person shall permanently reside in this state, and the place where any person having no family shall generally lodge, shall be deemed the place of residence of such person or persons respectively;[63] the place adopted by a person as his place of habitation, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning;[64] the place where one remains when not called elsewhere for labor or other special or temporary purposes, and to which he returns in seasons of repose.[65]

---

[49] Williams v. Com., 116 Va. 272, 81 SE 61, 63.

[a] "It is extremely difficult to say what is meant by the word 'residence,' as used in particular statutes or to lay down any particular rules on the subject; general definitions are calculated to perplex and mislead." Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Ives, 3 NYS 895.

[b] In Pennsylvania constitution it means (1) "home, fixed abode, domicile of the elector, as distinguished from a place of temporary sojourning. Com. v. Devine, 14 Pa. Dist. 1, 3. (2) "Home, abode, domicile of the elector. Fry's Election Case, 71 Pa. 302, 309, 10 AmR 698.

[c] Under Virginia statutes the term is said to mean "the place of abode, dwelling, or habitation for some continuance of time." 4 Minor Inst. pt 1 p 367 [quot Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 41 SE 949, 951].

[50] Greene v. Willis, 47 R. I. 375, 133 A 651.

[51] Goerz v. Bell, [1904] 2 K. B. 136, 144 [cit Ashland County v. Armstrong, 11 Ont. L. 414, 415].

[a] Illustrations.—(1) "What constitutes residence for registration purposes might not necessarily amount to residence for the purpose of assessment of the income tax." Goerz v. Bell, [1904] 2 K. B. 136, 144. (2) "To fulfill the intention and requirements of some statutes, a commercial or business residence might be all the law required; whilst to gratify the intention of another statute, it may be necessary to hold residence . . . to mean all that the word domicile means." Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418, 441.

[52] Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503.

[a] "The word residence has, like the word 'fixtures,' different shades of meaning in the statutes." Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503.

[53] Trenton Bd. of Education v. Crill, 73 Misc. 472, 133 NYS 394, 396.

[a] "When it becomes necessary to interpret [the word 'residence'] much depends upon the nature of the action." Barhydt v. Cross, 156 Iowa 271, 136 NW 525, 528, 40 LRANS 986, AnnCas1915C 792.

[54] Ben Avon Borough School Dist. v. Pittsburgh School Dist., 77 Pa. Super. 75, 78.

[a] Similar statements.—(1) "A word whose statutory meaning depends upon the context and the purpose of the statute." Anderson L. D. [quot Wallace v. State, 147 Ind. 621, 623, 47 NE 131]; Shaeffer v. Gilbert, 73 Md. 66, 70, 20 A 434. (2) "The courts have held that 'residence' is a word whose statutory meaning depends upon the context and purpose of the statute." Raymond v. Leishman, 243 Pa. 64, 69, 89 A 791, LRA 1915A 400, AnnCas1915C 780. (3) "In the construction of statutes, the meaning of the word 'residence' depends upon the context and purpose of the statute." Towson v. Towson, 126 Va. 640, 102 SE 48, 52; Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680, 681. (4) "What the word means in any particular statute depends upon its purpose and the phraseology of the context." Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418, 441. (5) "In determining the meaning of the word in a particular statute, the legislative purpose and the context must always be kept in view." Towson v. Towson, supra. (6) "Its statutory meaning depends upon the context." Raymond v. Leishman, 243 Pa. 64, 89 A 791, 793, LRA1915A 400, AnnCas 1915C 780; Dawson's Registration, 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 9, 10.

[b] Legislative intent.—"In some cases cited the meaning given to the word . . . is said to depend in part, at least in some cases, on the legislative intent." Lippman v. Kehoe Stenograph Co., 11 Del. Ch. 190, 98 A 943, 948.

[55] In re Deans, 208 Fed. 1018, 1019.

[a] It is "capable of various constructions according to the statute in which it appears." Stoke-on-Trent v. Cheshire County, [1915] 3 K. B. 699, 706 [quot Re Hamilton, 50 Ont. L. 448, 451].

[b] "As employed in statutory enactments, its meaning, as interpreted by the courts, varies as the legislative intent appears, and in harmony with the subject matter, object, and purpose of the statute." State v. Aitkin County Probate Ct., 130 Minn. 269, 153 NW 520, 521 [quot Bechtel v. Bechtel, 101 Minn. 511, 112 NW 883, 884, 12 LRANS 1100 (in definition of word "inhabitant").

[56] Williams v. Com., 116 Va. 272, 81 SE 61, 63.

[a] "Its meaning is dependent upon the circumstances then surrounding the person, upon the character of the work to be performed, upon whether he has a family or a home in another place and largely upon his present intention." In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 679, 62 CCA 403 [quot McLauchlan's Pet., 1 F. (2d) 5, 7].

[b] "The word varies in its construction according to the object for which the residence is acquired. Blackwell v. England, 8 E. & B. 541, 544, 92 ECL 541, 120 Reprint 202 [quot Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 569, 36 DomLR 685].

[c] As "depending upon the circumstances."—Popejoy v. Boynton, 112 Or. 646, 229 P 370, 230 P 1016.

[57] Downs v. Downs, 23 App. (D. C.) 381, 388; Herron v. Passailaigue, 92 Fla. 818, 110 S 539, 543.

[58] Herron v. Passailaigue, supra.

[59] Downs v. Downs, 23 App. (D. C.) 381, 388; Herron v. Passailaigue, 92 Fla. 818, 110 S 539, 543.

[60] Herron v. Passailaigue, supra. See also supra §§ 5, 6.

"Domicile" synonymous or not, in statutes see Domicile § 3.

[61] See statutory provisions.

[a] Legal residence of a person with reference to his or her right of suffrage, eligibility to office, right of naturalization, right to maintain any suit at law or in equity, or any other right dependent on residence, is that place where he or she shall have been actually, physically and corporeally present within the state or county. Rev. L. § 3609; St. (1911) p 318 [quot Lewis v. Lewis, 50 Nev. 419, 264 P 981, 982, 267 P 399].

[62] Hislop v. Taaffe, 141 App. Div. 40, 41, 125 NYS 614 (construing "residence" in other sections of the Code [excluding those relating to attachment and service of process] and in other statutes [excluding those relating to taxation]).

[63] Rev. St. (1899) § 4160 cl 17 [quot State v. Snyder, 182 Mo. 462, 82 SW 12, 23]; State v. Wurdeman, 129 Mo. A. 263, 108 SW 144, 148 (construing the same statute to be "the place where the family of a person resides").

[a] The place where a person's family "shall permanently reside in this state." Rev. St. (1909) § 8057 [quot White v. Lee, (Mo. A.) 204 SW 936, 938].

[b] "The place where a married man's family resides shall be considered and held to be his residence." Gen. St. (1889) par 2668 (5) [quot Hatch v. Smith, 6 Kan. A. 645, 49 P 698, 699].

[64] Rev. St. 77–201 subd. 23 [quot Ford v. Peck, 116 Kan. 74, 225 P 1054, 1055; Osborne County v. Osborne, 104 Kan. 671, 180 P 233, 234; Hatch v. Smith, 6 Kan. A. 645, 49 P 698, 699]. See Pendleton v. Pendleton, 109 Kan. 600, 602, 201 P 62, 63 (construing Gen. St. [1915] § 10973 subd 23, giving its definition the same as text except the substitution of "as one's habitation" for "by a person as his place of habitation" and "he intends to return"

[§ 9] 3. Synonyms and Distinctions. Among the terms said to be synonymous are "abode,"[66] "address,"[67] "domicile,"[68] "domiciliation,"[69] "dwelling,"[70] "dwelling house,"[71] "dwelling-place,"[72] "home,"[73] "inhabitancy,"[74] "mansion,"[75] "permanent abode,"[76] "post office,"[77] "settlement,"[78] "sojourn,"[79] and "stay."[80] While "citizenship" has been regarded as interchangeable,[81] it has often been held not to be synonymous;[82] "nonresidence" is its opposite of "residence,"[83] and "whereabouts" is not synonymous.[84]

[§ 10] 4. What the Term Implies, Imports, Involves, or Requires—a. In General.[85] The term requires bodily presence as an inhabitant[86] in a given place,[87] but generally it is used to denote something more than mere physical presence,[88] for it is not possible to consider the term residence and disassociate it from the elements of home and habitation,[89] since it denotes[90] or implies[91] a place of abode,[92] or dwelling or the house or building in which one lives or resides.[93] It is not confined merely to the dwelling-house, but it may also include everything connected therewith used to make the home more for "he has the intention of returning"); Gen. St. (1909) § 9037 [quot O'Neil v. Eppler, 90 Kan. 314, 133 P 705].

---

65. Pol. Code § 52 [quot Marston v. Watson, 20 Cal. A. 465, 129 P 611, 612].

66. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375]; De Laval Separator Co. v. Hofberger, 161 Wis. 344, 154 NW 387, 389.

"Abode" 1 C. J. p 304 note 43 [b].

67. Atwood v. Tucker, 26 N. D. 622, 145 NW 587, 589, 51 LRANS 597.

"Address" 1 C. J. p 1192 note 13 [a].

68. Ruby v. Pierce, 74 Nebr. 754, 755, 104 NW 1142. See also Attachment § 48; Domicile §§ 2, 3; Guardian and Ward § 28 notes 81, 82.

69. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375].

70. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, supra]; Birmingham R., etc., Co. v. Abbott, 6 Ala. A. 643, 60 S 970, 972.

[a] "Dwelling is another word for residence."—Stevens v. Allen, 139 La. 658, 71 S 936, 943, LRA1916E 1115.

"Dwelling" 19 C. J. p 843.

71. Foot v. Harris, 2 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 454, 457.

"Dwelling house" 19 C. J. p 843.

72. North Yarmouth v. West Gardiner, 58 Me. 207, 210, 4 AmR 279; Warren v. Thomaston, 43 Me. 406, 418, 69 AmD 69.

"Dwelling place" 19 C. J. p 848.

73. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 5 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375]; North Yarmouth v. West Gardiner, 58 Me. 207, 210, 4 AmR 279; Warren v. Thomaston, 43 Me. 406, 418, 69 AmD 69.

[a] "Home" equivalent with reference to a corporation.—State v. Clay County Dist. Ct., 120 Minn. 99, 139 NW 135, 137. See also Corporations §§ 408–419, 3933.

[b] "Home" not synonymous in ordinary meaning.—State v. Clay County Dist. Ct., 120 Minn. 99, 139 NW 135, 137; Connly v. McElroy, 46 R. I. 93, 125 A 206.

"Home" 29 C. J. p 768 note 19 [c].

74. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 5 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375]; Peo. v. Allard, 99 Cal. A. 591, 279 P 182, 183. See also Habitancy or Inhabitancy 29 C. J. p 200 note 51 [a], 52.

[a] "Inhabitancy" generally used as synonymous.—Olson v. Olson, 4 Alaska 624, 625.

[b] "Inhabitancy" usually synonymous.—Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418, 428.

[c] Inhabitancy as "seeming to have the same meaning."—Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 41 SE 949, 951.

75. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375].

"Mansion" 38 C. J. p 961.

76. Wade v. Wade, 93 Fla. 1004, 113 S 374, 375; Anderson v. Pifer, 315 Ill. 146, 146 NE 171, 173, 37 ALR 134. See also Permanent § 2 note 44.

77. Atwood v. Tucker, 26 N. D. 622, 145 NW 587, 589, 51 LRANS 597.

[a] "Post office" interchangeable.—Atwood v. Tucker, 26 N. D. 622, 145 NW 587, 589, 51 LRANS 597.

"Post office" see Post Office § 1.

78. Waterbury v. Bethany, 18 Conn. 424, 429.

Other synonyms in relation to acquisition of settlement see Paupers § 86.

79. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375].

"Sojourn" [36 Cyc 507].

80. Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Platt, 50 Hun 454, 3 NYS 367, 375].

"Stay" [36 Cyc 1257].

81. Baughman v. National Water-Works Co., 46 Fed. 4, 6.

[a] In many state courts residence and citizenship are regarded as convertible terms; but the federal courts have adopted a different rule. Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425.

82. See Citizens § 2 note 35 [a].

83. Blackstone definition [quot State v. Shepherd, 218 Mo. 656, 666, 117 SW 1169, 131 AmSR 568; State v. Bunce, 187 Mo. A. 607, 173 SW 101, 102].

"Nonresidence" 46 C. J. p 493.

84. Krumenacker v. Andis, 38 N. D. 500, 165 NW 524, 526.

85. Implication of permanency see infra § 11.

86. In re Newcomb, 192 N. Y. 238, 250, 84 NE 950, 954 [quot Flatauer v. Loser, 156 App. Div. 591, 145 NYS 951, 953]; Pecos, etc., R. Co. v. Thompson, 106 Tex. 456, 167 SW 801, 803. But see Webster v. Minister of Health, 43 T. L. R. 36, 37 (stating that the term need not import actual physical presence).

[a] "There is always one thing implied and that is the personal residence of the party himself." Walcot v. Botfield, Kay 534, 69 Reprint 226.

[b] "Generally imports personal presence."—Chinese Tax Cases, 14 Fed. 338, 344, 8 Sawy. 384.

87. In re Newcomb, 192 N. Y. 238, 250, 84 NE 950.

[a] "Necessarily involves the idea of a local habitation or place of abode." Witbeck v. Marshall-Wells Hardware Co., 88 Ill. A. 101 [aff 188 Ill. 154, 58 NE 929, 930].

[b] "Etymologically, 'residence' carries with it the squatter thought." In re Kalpachnikoff, 28 F. (2d) 288, 289.

88. Fisher v. First Trust Joint-Stock Land Bank, (Iowa) 231 NW 671, 672.

[a] "It imports not only physical presence in a place, but an attachment to it by those acts or habits which express the closest connection between a person and a thing, as by usually sitting or lying there." Matter of Collins, 64 HowPr (N. Y.) 63, 65 [quot Newman v. U. S., 43 App. (D. C.) 53, 62].

89. In re Rowe, 179 Iowa 541, 161 NW 626, 627.

[a] Similar statement.—"A definition of residence, from which all the elements of home and habitation are excluded as a matter of no consideration, is beyond the ordinary conception." State v. Snyder, 182 Mo. 462, 82 SW 12, 26.

90. Connly v. McElroy, 46 R. I. 93, 125 A 206, 208.

91. Newman v. U. S., 43 App. (D. C.) 53, 64.

92. Newman v. U. S., supra; Connly v. McElroy, 46 R. I. 93, 125 A 206, 208.

[a] "Carries with it the idea of an abode a place of living or a home." Littlefield v. Clayton Bros., (Tex. Civ. A.) 194 SW 194, 198.

[b] Implies an established abode fixed permanently for a time, for business or other purposes, although there may be an intent, in the future, at some time or other to return to the original domicile. Morgan v. Nunes, 54 Miss. 308, 310.

[c] "It indicates the place where a man has his fixed and permanent abode, and to which, whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning." Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503.

[d] "Indicates the place, abode, or dwelling."—Mt. Hope School Dist. v. Hendrickson, 197 Iowa 191, 197 NW 47, 48.

93. Insurance Co. of North America v. Samuels, 31 Ga. A. 258, 120 SE 444, 445, 55 ALR 803.

[a] What the term connotes:—"When we say a person has his residence in the county it connotes many things in ordinary meaning, a house, an accustomed place to stay, a business, etc. But residence in the legal meaning does not necessarily require these things." State v. Davis, 199 Mo. A. 439, 203 SW 654, 657.

comfortable and enjoyable.[94]

[§ 11] b. Permanency. Many cases declare that the word indicates permanency of occupation[95] as distinct from lodging, or boarding,[96] or temporary occupation,[97] and hence involves the idea of something beyond a transient stay in a place.[98] On the other hand it has been held that the term may not imply permanency,[99] or that "residence" is not necessarily permanent,[1] and may be transient in its nature.[2]

[§ 12] 5. In Phrases.[3] "Residence continuously within the United States,"[4] "residence in another state or territory,"[5] "residence of corporation,"[6] "residence of railroad corporation;"[7] "residence of the board,"[8] also "actual residence,"[9] "a double residence,"[10] "a residence,"[11] "a strictly first-class private residence,"[12] "bona fide residence,"[13] "change of residence,"[14] "constructive residence,"[15] "legal residence,"[16] "legal residence or domicile,"[17] "one residence,"[18] "ordinary residence,"[19] "permanent residence,"[20] "private residence,"[21] and "usual place of residence."[22]

[§ 13] B. As Adjective. The term may be used as an adjective[23] and as such it may be employed as equivalent to "residential" in contradistinction to the adjective "business."[24] The term "absent" has been contrasted.[25]

---

[94] Ashton v. Ingle, 20 Kan. 670, 681, 27 AmR 197 [quot Linn v. Zeigler, 68 Kan. 528, 531, 75 P 489, 490] (both cases adding that the word "cannot be intended to include some other and independent family's home and residence").

[a] However it "is not an appropriate word to designate the housekeeping, with supply of provisions, and the various incidents connected with maintaining a home." Connly v. McElroy, 46 R. I. 93, 125 A 206, 208.

[95] Bouvier D. [quot Louisville R. Co. v. Mitchell, 162 Ky. 253, 172 SW 527, 529]; In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 678, 62 CCA 403 [quot In re Lemen, 208 Fed. 80, 82]; Marston v. Watson, 20 Cal. A. 465, 468, 129 P 611, 612 [quot Smilie v. Smilie, 24 Cal. A. 420, 141 P 829, 831]; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Coleman v. Terr., 5 Okl. 201, 208, 47 P 1079.

[a] "Numerous definitions of residence are to be found in the books, differing from each other mainly in respect to the greater or less degree of permanence of the inhabitancy or abode which they involve." Pells v. Snell, 130 Ill. 379, 23 NE 117 [quot Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sheahan, 37 Okl. 702, 133 P 228, 229, 47 LRANS 309.

[b] "It involves . . . some idea at least of permanency and fixed intention to remain." Willingham v. Swift, 165 Fed. 223, 224 [quot Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 425].

[c] Permanency as element of residence required by statutes.—McDowell v. Friedman Bros. Shoe Co., 135 Mo. A. 276, 115 SW 1028, 1031.

[d] Indicating permanency.—Johnson v. Petty, 138 Okl. 208, 281 P 276, 279.

[e] "The term implies permanency or for an indefinite period." State v. Wimby, 119 La. 139, 141, 43 S 984, 985, 121 AmSR 507, 12 LRANS 98.

As being of a more temporary character than domicile see Domicile § 2 note 20.

[96] Bouvier L. D. [quot Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Mitchell, 162 Ky. 253, 172 SW 527, 529]; Marston v. Watson, 20 Cal. A. 465, 468, 129 P 611, 612 [quot Smilie v. Smilie, 24 Cal. A. 420, 141 P 829, 831]; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Coleman v. Terr., 5 Okl. 201, 208, 47 P 1079.

[97] Bouvier L. D. [quot Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Mitchell, 162 Ky. 253, 172 SW 527, 529]; In re Garneau, 127 Fed. 677, 678, 62 CCA 403 [quot In re Lemen, 208 Fed. 80, 82] (cases reading "as distinguished from" etc.); Marston v. Watson, 20 Cal. A. 465, 468, 129 P 611, 612 [quot Smilie v. Smilie, 24 Cal. A. 420, 141 P 829, 831]; Watson v. North Carolina R. Co., 152 N. C. 215, 67 SE 502, 503; Coleman v. Terr., 5 Okl. 201, 208, 47 P 1079.

[a] Cannot be referred to an occasional and temporary purpose.—Bempde v. Johnstone, 3 Ves. Jr. 198, 201, 30 Reprint 967, 968 [cit Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511, 513].

[98] In re Turcick, 33 F. (2d) 364.

[a] "Imports more than a temporary stay in a place for the performance of a single piece or job of work." Farmer v. Phillips, 12 Ga. A. 732, 78 SE 353, 355.

[99] Estopinal v. Michel, 121 La. 879, 880, 46 S 907, 19 LRANS 759.

[1] Avery v. Bower, 170 Ga. 202, 152 SE 239, 242.

[a] "No fundamental antithesis between residence and temporary visits." Inland Revenue Comrs. v. Lysaght, [1928] A. C. 217.

[b] "'Residence' may import temporary sojourn or permanent domicile."—Anderson L. D. [quot Wallace v. State, 147 Ind. 621, 623, 47 NE 13].

[c] "It may be either his permanent or temporary abode."—Raymond v. Leishman, 243 Pa. 64, 89 A 791, 792, LRA1915A 400, AnnCas1915C 780 (omitting word "either"); Towson v. Towson, 126 Va. 640, 102 SE 48, 52; Cooper v. Com., 121 Va. 338, 93 SE 680.

[d] "It does not mean one's permanent place of abode, where he intends to live all of his days, or for an unlimited length of time; nor does it mean one's residence for a temporary purpose . . . but means . . . one's actual home, in the sense of having no other home, whether he intends to live there permanently or for a definite or indefinite length of time." Shaeffer v. Gilbert, 73 Md. 66, 69, 20 A 434 [quot Willingham v. Swift Co., 165 Fed. 223, 224].

[e] "Simply indicates the place of abode, whether temporary or permanent."—Corel v. Chicago, etc., Co., 123 Fed. 452, 454 [quot Harding v. Standard Oil Co., 182 Fed. 421, 424].

[f] However temporary.—"Any place of abode or dwelling place constitutes a residence however temporary it may be." Warren v. Warren, 73 Fla. 764, 75 S 35, 42, LRA1917E 490.

[g] "Indicates the place of dwelling which may be either permanent or temporary." Salem Independent School Dist. v. Kiel, 206 Iowa 967, 221 NW 519, 520.

[h] "A residence simply for the purpose of carrying on business, for the sake of making money, or for health or pleasure may be temporary." Farrow v. Farrow, 162 Iowa 87, 143 NW 856, 859.

[2] Bouvier L. D. [quot Brown v. Boulden, 18 Tex. 431, 433; Rindge v. Green, 52 Vt. 204, 206].

[3] As an adjective see infra § 13.

[4] In re Schradieck, 29 F. (2d) 24.

As qualification for naturalization see Aliens § 138 note 1.

[5] Diariotti v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 262 Mo. 1, 170 SW 865, 867.

[6] See Corporations §§ 408–419, 3933.

[7] See Railroads § 18.

[8] Peo. v. Evans, 247 Ill. 547, 93 NE 388, 393.

[9] Sears v. Boston, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 250, 251 (meaning "personal presence in a place). See also Attachment § 47 note 65 [f], § 48 note 73 [b].

As circumstance determining domicile see Domicile § 10.

As unnecessary to retain domicile see Domicile § 51 note 41.

[10] Walker v. Haslett, 44 Cal. A. 394, 186 P 622, 623.

[11] Killian v. Goodman, 229 Mich. 393, 201 NW 454, 455.

[12] Walker v. Haslett, 44 Cal. A. 394, 186 P 622, 623.

[13] See Divorce §§ 42–43.

[14] See Domicile § 13 notes 90–92, §§ 49–53.

[a] "Change of domicile" distinguished.—Cartwright v. Hinds, 3 Ont. 384, 395.

[15] Re Sturmer, 24 Ont. L. 65, 74, 2 OntWN 1116, 1227, 19 OntWR 255, 430.

[a] "Constructive legal residence."—Reg. v. Oxford Univ., L. R. 7 Q. B. 471, 474.

[16] [a] "'Legal residence' and 'inhabitancy' mean the same thing."—Mead v. Carroll, 6 D. C. 338, 344 (same as "inhabitancy").

[17] Irwin v. Raymond, 58 Misc. 319, 321, 110 NYS 1100. And see appropriate cross references supra § 1 note 1.

[18] Fortesque v. Carroll, 76 N. J. Eq. 583, 75 A 923, 924, AnnCas1912A 79.

[19] Inland Revenue Comrs. v. Lysaght, [1928] A. C. 217; Denier v. Marks, 18 Ont. Pr. 465, 467.

[20] Insurance Co. of North America v. Samuels, 31 Ga. A. 258, 120 SE 444, 55 ALR 803 (of insured).

[21] See Burglary § 41.

[22] Ruby v. Pierce, 74 Nebr. 754, 104 NW 1142; Graham v. Com., 51 Pa. 255, 258, 88 AmD 581.

[23] See cases infra this section.

[24] Hunt v. Held, 90 Oh. St. 280, 107 NE 765, 766, LRA1915D 543, AnnCas1916C 1051. See also Deeds § 452.

[25] Webster v. Minister of Health,

Phrases: "Residence address,"[26] "residence district,"[27] "residence purposes,"[28] and "residence street."[29]

RESIDENT.[30] [§ 1] A. In General. Although there are many definitions to be found in the books,[31] it is not easy to give a satisfactory definition of this term,[32] for it is a flexible,[33] somewhat ambiguous word,[34] used in many[35] and various senses,[36] with the sense in which it should be used controlled by reference to the object,[37] thus having different meanings according to the context,[38] or the subject-matter under discussion.[39] It has a great variety of meanings.[40] It is difficult to give an exact definition of what is meant by "resident" as used in particular statutes,[41] for, although often construed by the courts,[42] the term has no technical meaning,[43] but is differently construed in courts of justice, according to the purposes for which inquiry is made into the meaning of the term.[44] The construction is generally governed by the connection in which the word is used,[45] and the meaning is to be determined from the facts and circumstances taken together in each particular case.[46]

[§ 2] B. As Noun. A dweller, or one who dwells or resides permanently in a place,[47] or who has a fixed residence, as distinguished from an occasional lodger or visitor;[48] an inhabitant;[49] one dwelling or having his abode in any place;[50] one who dwells, abides, or lies in a place;[51] one who has his residence in a place;[52] one who resides[53] or dwells in a place[54]

---

43 T. L. R. 36, 37.

"Absent" 1 C. J. p 341.

[26] Peo. v. Newell, 49 Colo. 349, 113 P 643, 645.

In application for local option election see Intoxicating Liquors § 271 note 73 [f].

[27] Spann v. Dallas, 111 Tex. 350, 235 SW 513, 514, 19 ALR 1387. See also Municipal Corportions § 372.

[28] See Deeds § 452.

[29] Holst v. Savannah Electric Co., 131 Fed. 931, 935.

[30] See also Reside ante; Residence ante.

"Nonresident" 46 C. J. p 493.

[31] In re Assessment Act, (N. S.) 12 EastLR 157, 162.

[32] Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 310.

[33] In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479.

[a] "Very flexible in meaning. . . . This flexibility is more noticeable in the use of the words . . . for legal purposes than in connection with their ordinary use." Australasian Temperance, etc., L. Assur. Soc., Ltd. v. Howe, 31 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 337 (also discussing "reside," "residing" and "resident").

[34] Stadtmuller v. Miller, 11 F. (2d) 732, 734, 45 ALR 895.

[a] "Capable of ambiguity."—Levene v. Inland Revenue, 95 L. J. K. B. 998, 1001 [aff [1928] A. C. 234].

[b] "A word of doubtful import when used with no localization."—Burdick v. Harbor Springs Lumber Co., 167 Mich. 673, 677, 133 NW 822.

[35] Davies v. Western Australia, 2 Austr. C. L. R. 29, 39.

[36] Trask v. Karrick, 94 Vt. 70, 108 A 846, 847.

[37] Mellish v. VanNorman, 13 U. C. Q. B. 451, 455 [quot Lancaster v. Toronto, 38 Ont. L. 374, 382, 11 OntWN 311].

[a] "Easily controllable by the subject matter and the context in which it is found." Australasian Temperance, etc., L. Assur. Soc., Ltd. v. Howe, 31 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 337.

[38] In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479; Edwards v. St. John, 22 N. B. 297, 305.

[39] Parcher v. Reese, 202 Ill. A. 509, 513.

[40] In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479.

[a] "Meaning has been variously shaded according to the variant conditions of . . . application." Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[41] Williams v. Com., 116 Va. 272, 81 SE 61, 63.

[42] Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[a] "As used in constitutions and statutes . . . often construed by the courts." Baker v. Conway, 214 Ala. 356, 108 S 18.

[43] U. S. v. Nardello, 15 D. C. 503, 512; Toronto Free Hospital v. Barrie, 39 Ont. L. 63, 71, 12 OntWN 2, 34 DomLR 691.

[a] No uniformity.—"In some statutes, and for some purposes, it means one thing; in other statutes, and for other purposes, it means another thing." U. S. v. Nardello, 15 D. C. 503, 512.

[44] Toronto Hospital v. Toronto, 58 Ont. L. 273, 279, [1926] 1 DomLR 646 [app dism 59 Ont. L. 16, [1926] 3 DomLR 279]; Lancaster v. Toronto, 38 Ont. L. 374, 380, 11 OntWN 311; Mellish v. VanNorman, 13 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 451, 455.

[a] "This word . . . has received various interpretations by many different courts, depending largely on the scope of the statute and the connections in which it is used." Sankey's Case, 4 Pa. Co. 624, 631.

[45] In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479.

[46] Williams v. Com., 116 Va. 272, 81 SE 61, 63.

[47] Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511, 513 [quot Douglas v. O'Brien, 27 Man. 46, 47] (both cases so defining the word as used "in ordinary phraseology").

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "One who resides or dwells in a place permanently, or for a considerable time." Lancaster v. Toronto, 38 Ont. L. 374, 380, 11 OntWN 311. (2) "One . . . who resides permanently in a place." Oxford D. [quot Australasian Temperance, etc., L. Assur. Soc., Ltd. v. Howe, 31 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 295].

[48] Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511, 513 [quot Douglas v. O'Brien, 27 Man. 46, 47] (the Wanzer case adding "unless the statutory signification gives to the term when used in a particular connection, a meaning different from its grammatical import or that which it bears in common parlance," the Douglas case quotes so much including the word "connection" and adds "etc.").

[a] Applied to locality.—"According to the natural, ordinary and usual meaning of the word 'resident,' a man is a resident of the locality in which he occupies with his wife a dwelling house, which he regards as his home, and where he habitually sleeps and stays when not engaged in his business occupation, and is none the less a resident of that locality because his residence is in another locality." Lippman v. Kehoe Stenograph Co., 11 Del. Ch. 190, 98 A 943, 949.

[49] Burrill L. D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brown v. Ashbough, 40 HowPr (N. Y.) 260, 263]; Roosevelt v. Kellogg, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 208, 211 [quot Frost v. Brisbin, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 11, 13, 32 AmD 423 (where it is "doubted if the position is accurate" because "approved lexicographers give a more fixed and definite character to the place of abode of the one than the other"), and both cases with the above statement quot Isham v. Gibbons, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 69, 81].

"Inhabitant" § 6.

[50] Roosevelt v. Kellogg, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 208, 210 [quot Newman v. U. S., 43 App. (D. C.) 53, 64].

[51] Burrill L. D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brown v. Ashbough, 40 HowPr (N. Y.) 260, 263; Houghton v. Ault, 16 HowPr (N. Y.) 77, 85] (all substituting "lives" for "lies").

[a] Literally a resident is one who sits, abides, inhabits, or dwells in a certain place. Collinson v. Teal, 6 F. Cas. No. 3,020, 4 Sawy. 241 [quot Newman v. U. S., 43 App. (D. C.) 53, 64].

[52] Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Bunce, 187 Mo. A. 607, 173 SW 101, 102; Coleman v. Terr., 5 Okl. 201, 208, 47 P 1079].

[a] Similar definition.—"One who has a residence." Century D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843].

[53] Burrill L. D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brown v. Ashbough, 40 HowPr (N. Y.) 260, 263]; Ex p. Blumer, 27 Tex. 734, 736.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "One that resides in a place." Roosevelt v. Kellogg, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 208, 210 [quot Frost v. Brisbin, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 11, 13, 32 AmD 423; Isham v. Gibbons, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 69, 81]. (2) "One who resides in a place." Webster New Int. D. [quot MacLeod v. Stelle, 43 Ida. 64, 249 P 254, 256].

[54] Burrill L. D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brown v. Ashbough, 40 HowPr (N. Y.) 260, 263]; Ex p. Blumer, 27 Tex. 734, 736.

[a] Similar definition.—"One who dwells in a place for a period of more or less duration." Webster New Int. D. [quot MacLeod v. Stelle, 43 Ida. 64, 249 P 254, 256].

[b] "The necessary element in its for some time;[55] also one who has a seat or settlement in a place.[56]

In the legal sense, a person coming into a place with intent to establish a domicile or permanent residence, and who in consequence actually remains there;[57] one who has a residence in a legal sense.[58]

Phrases: "Resident of another state,"[59] "resident of the state,"[60] "resident within the state,"[61] also "an actual bona fide resident,"[62] "bona fide resident,"[63] "inhabitant or resident of the said city,"[64] and "not a resident;"[65] also "residents of different states,"[66] and "bona fide residents."[67]

[§ 3] C. As Adjective. Dwelling or having abode in any place,[68] living, inhabiting, abiding, residing.[69] The term is intended to describe an attribute of a person and has nothing to do with a house or place of abode.[70]

Resident freeholder.[71] In legal terminology the words have a well recognized and generally accepted meaning,[72] obviously a person within that description must be first, a resident of the particular locality; and second, he must own a freehold in lands situated therein;[73] and when used in the plural the term has the same meaning.[74] signification is locality of existence." In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479.

---

[55] Burrill L. D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brown v. Ashbough, 40 HowPr (N. Y.) 260, 263]; Ex p. Blumer, 27 Tex. 734, 736.

[56] Burrill L. D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, supra; Brown v. Ashbough, supra; Houghton v. Ault, 8 AbbPr (N. Y.) 89, 16 HowPr 77, 85].

[57] Bouvier L. D. [quot Houghton v. Ault, 16 HowPr (N. Y.) 77, 85; In re Assessment Act, (N. S.) 12 EastLR 157, 162]; Brown L. D. (Rawls Revision) [quot Brownsville v. Marr, 5 Tenn. Civ. A. 555, 562].

"Domicile" distinguished see Domicile §§ 2, 3.

[a] "Perhaps the most satisfactory definition is that one is a resident of a place from which his departure is indefinite as to time, definite as to purpose, and for this purpose he has made the place his temporary abode." Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 311.

[b] "A mere transitory coming for a special purpose, a mere transient visit, does not fall within the legal meaning of the word 'resident.'" U. S. v. Penelope, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,024, 2 Pet. Adm. 438.

[c] "A resident of a place is one whose place of abode is there, and who has no present intention of removing therefrom." Dorsey v. Bringham, 177 Ill. 250, 52 NE 303, 307, 69 AmSR 228, 42 LRA 809 [quot Baugh v. Little, 140 Okl. 206, 282 P 459, 461, 462].

[58] Century D. [quot Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 311]. See also Residence ante.

[a] "The word has been variously construed to mean an occupier of lands, . . . one having a domicile, a citizen, or a qualified voter." In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479.

[b] "A person may 'live' at a place and still not be a 'resident' thereof in the legal sense of the term." O'Brien v. O'Brien, 16 Cal. A. 103, 116 P 692, 694.

[c] Absentee.—"He is a resident who, though absent in person, has here his home and permanent abiding place." So defined within the meaning of the Virginia statutes see 2 Barton L. Pr. 915 [quot Griffin v. Woolford, 100 Va. 473, 479, 41 SE 949, 951].

[d] Meaning an individual or natural person.—(1) "Occurring in the constitution or in a statute [it] means an individual or a citizen and does not mean a corporation." Wachtel v. Diamond State Engineering Corp., 215 App. Div. 15, 213 NYS 77, 78. (2) "The ordinary reference of the word is to a natural person, and when construed otherwise the general purpose and spirit of the law must require it." State v. Haight, 35 N. J. L. 279, 283. (3) "In its primary meaning [it] signifies . . . a natural person." Australasian Temperance, etc., L. Assur. Soc. Ltd. v. Howe, 31 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 337.

Corporation as a "resident" see Corporations § 31.

[59] Baker v. Wise, 16 Gratt. (57 Va.) 139, 212, 213, 219 (where the word is used to indicate nonresidence of such a character that one is not amenable to the process of the courts of the state).

[60] Mann v. Taylor, 78 Iowa 355, 362, 363, 43 NW 220.

[61] In re Wrigley, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 602, 8 Wend. 134 [quot Houghton v. Ault. 8 AbbPr (N. Y.) 89, 16 HowPr 77, 85].

[62] Stevens v. Union Graded School Dist. No. 2, 136 Okl. 10, 275 P 1056.

[63] Farmers L. & T. Co. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 27 Fed. 146, 148; Wachtel v. Diamond State Engineering Corp., 215 App. Div. 15, 213 NYS 77, 78.

[64] Rex v. Fredericton, 44 N. B. 563, 36 DomLR 685, 688.

[65] Chandler v. Chandler, 132 Va. 418, 112 SE 856, 859.

"Nonresident" 46 C. J. p 493.

[66] Watson v. Cameron, 40 Austr. C. L. R. 446, 448; Australasian Temperance, etc., L. Assur. Soc., Ltd. v. Howe, 31 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 307, 327.

[67] Stevens v. Union Graded School Dist. No. 2, 136 Okl. 10, 275 P 1056.

[68] Dr. Johnson D. [quot U. S. v. Penelope, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,024, 2 Pet. Adm. 438]; Worcester D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843 (given as definition of "residence" and omitting "or" between "dwelling" and "having"); Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 310].

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "Dwelling or having an abode in a particular place, for some time." Houghton v. Ault, 8 AbbPr (N. Y.) 89, 16 HowPr 77, 85 [cit Webster D.]. (2) "Dwelling, or having an abode, in a place for a continued length of time . . . abiding, present." Webster New Int. D. [quot MacLeod v. Stelle, 43 Ida. 64, 249 P 254, 256].

[b] Person resident is one "dwelling or having his abode in any place." Roosevelt v. Kellogg, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 208, 211 [quot Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504, 520]; Drake Attachm. § 59 [quot Munroe v. Williams, 37 S. C. 81, 86, 16 SE 533, 535, 19 LRA 665]; Atkinson v. Washington, etc., College, 54 W. Va. 32, 47, 46 SE 253.

[c] Construed to mean "having his home."—Kennebunkport v. Buxton, 26 Me. 61, 68.

[69] Worcester D. [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843; Brisenden v. Chamberlain, 53 Fed. 307, 310].

[70] Levene v. Inland Revenue Comrs., 95 L. J. K. B. 998, 1001 [aff [1928] A. C. 234].

[a] "In law it clearly means a quality in a person."—Levene v. Inland Revenue Comrs., 95 L. J. K. B. 998, 1001 [aff [1928] A. C. 234].

[71] "Freeholder" 27 C. J. p 896 and cross references thereunder.

[72] Campbell v. Moran, 71 Nebr. 615, 99 NW 498, 499.

[73] Damp v. Dane, 29 Wis. 419, 427.

[a] Meaning "resident freeholder of the state."—"When not limited by other words, by the sense of the context or by the subject matter, [it] must be construed to mean 'resident freeholder' of the state." McCormick v. Johnson County, 68 Ind. 214, 218.

[b] Statutory definition.—"For the purposes of this act, the term 'resident freeholder' shall be construed to mean any citizen of the United States who owns land within the district or the evidence of title to said land, or who is an entryman under the public land laws of the United States or a purchaser under contract of purchase of state lands, and shall also include corporations, associations and copartnerships owning land within the district." L. (1919) c 41 § 3 [quot Davy v. McNeill, 31 N. M. 7, 240 P 482, 487].

[74] State v. Kokomo, 108 Ind. 74, 78, 8 NE 718, 720. See Cohn v. Welliver, 84 Nebr. 230, 121 NW 107, 109 (meaning "those living within the subdivision holding title to real estate").

[a] Thus the "resident freeholders" within, near to, along, or upon a given place are frequently used in statutes and the meaning is usually limited to the locality so designated, unless some other signification is shown by the context. Kirkland v. Indianapolis Public Works, 142 Ind. 123, 129, 41 NE 374, 376.

[b] "Resident freeholders in the territory sought to be annexed."—Taggart v. Claypool, 145 Ind. 590, 592, 44 NE 18, 32 LRA 586 [quot Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Indianapolis, 147 Ind. 292, 294, 46 NE 641].

[c] "'Resident freeholders upon such street' . . . was intended to mean persons residing upon the street and owning property thereon." Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Indianapolis, 147 Ind. 292, 294, 46 NE 641 (also stating the phrase is not equivalent to "residents of the city of Indianapolis owning property upon such street").

Other phrases: “Resident brother,”[75] “resident citizen,”[76] “resident elector,”[77] “resident householder,”[78] “resident inhabitant,”[79] “resident lands,”[80] “resident license,”[81] “resident manager,”[82] “resident occupant,”[83] “resident owner,”[84] “resident pauper,”[85] “resident population,”[86] “resident proprietor,”[87] “resident ratepayer,”[88] “resident taxpayer;”[89] also “actually resident,”[90] “inhabitant or usually resident,”[91] “is resident,”[92] “ordinarily resident,”[93] “usually resident,”[94] and “was not resident.”[95]

[§ 4] D. What Term Imports. While on the one hand it is said that the term imports a fixed abode for the time being as contradistinguished from a place of temporary sojourn,[96] it is also said that it does not necessarily import permanence, nor yet any definite stay.[97] When applied in the case of an owner of land the word imports actual visible occupation.[98]

[§ 5] E. Synonyms and Distinctions. “Citizen,” while not a convertible term, is often used synonymously,[99] and a similar condition exists in the relation of the word “inhabitant.”[1] “Occupant” is distinguishable,[2] and “settler” is a comparable term;[3] but “present” in none of its applications, is synonymous, under any circumstances;[4] and “transient,”[5] and “nonresident”[6] are the opposites of the term.

Convicts are not “residents” within the city as the term is usually understood.[7]

---

[75] Walsh v. Consumnes Tribe No. 14 I. O. R. M., 108 Cal. 496, 500, 41 P 418.

Members of fraternal organizations generally see Beneficial Associations §§ 52–72.

[76] Powers v. Bryant, 7 Port. (Ala.) 9, 15. See also Citizens § 1.

[77] Hackett v. New Haven, 103 Conn. 157, 130 A 121, 125.

“Elector” see Elections § 11.

[78] See Householder 30 C. J. p 474. See also Exemptions § 36.

[a] As implying or requiring residence in the state.—Ross v. Banta, 140 Ind. 120, 34 NE 865, 871 (stating also that if residence in the state is meant, householding in the state is also meant); McCormick v. Johnson County, 68 Ind. 214, 216; Marks v. State, 15 Ind. 98, 100.

[79] Mellish v. VanNorman, 13 U. C. Q. B. 451, 455.

“Inhabitant” 31 C. J. p 1194 et seq.

[80] Peo. v. Durey, 126 Misc. 642, 214 NYS 418, 425. See also Taxation [37 Cyc 100 note 77].

[81] State v. Koock, (Mo. A.) 96 SW 721, 723. See also Game § 18.

[82] Palmer v. Chrisp, 7 Austr. C. L. R. 612, 614.

“Manager” 38 C. J. p 524.

[83] Senger v. Blucher No. 343, (Sask.) [1923] 4 DomLR 153, 155, [1923] 2 WestWkly 1137.

“Occupant” 46 C. J. p 894.

[84] Burdick v. Harbor Springs Lumber Co., 167 Mich. 673, 133 NW 822, 824; Palmer v. Farmington, 25 N. M. 145, 179 P 227, 231; Alexander v. Baker, 74 Oh. 258, 266, 78 NE 366, 368.

[a] “Resident owners.”—Osborne County v. Osborne, 104 Kan. 671, 180 P 233 (as not applicable to a county); Sullwold v. St. Paul, 138 Minn. 271, 164 NW 983, 984, AnnCas1918E 835 (referring to those residing within the city as distinguished from nonresidents); Catron v. Dailey, 84 Nebr. 487, 121 NW 462, 463; Alexander v. Baker, 74 Oh. St. 258, 266, 268, 78 NE 366, 368, 369 (as residents of county).

[b] “A majority of the resident owners. . . .”—Shaw v. Goben, 167 Mo. A. 125, 126, 151 SW 209, 210.

“Owner” see Property § 48.

[85] Topsham v. Williamstown, 60 Vt. 467, 471, 12 A 112.

Relief and support of paupers resident in another town see Paupers § 21.

Residence as necessary for settlement see Paupers §§ 83–95.

[86] State v. Island Lake, 130 Minn. 100, 153 NW 257. See also Municipal Corporations § 19 note 96.

[87] Hobbs v. Clements, 32 Me. 67, 68.

“Proprietor” 50 C. J. 791.

[88] Reg. v. Dinnin, 3 Terr. L. 112, 115.

“Ratepayer” 52 C. J. p 1144.

[89] Baugh v. Little, 140 Okl. 206, 282 P 459, 461.

[a] As synonymous with “qualified property tax paying voters.” Baugh v. Little, 140 Okl. 206, 282 P 459, 461.

“Taxpayer” [37 Cyc 1597].

[90] Curren v. McEachren, 5 Terr. L. 333, 337 (which, it states “must be something more limited than simply ‘resident’ ”).

[91] Coleman v. Terr., 5 Okl. 201, 207, 47 P 1079.

[92] Toronto Free Hospital v. Barrie, 39 Ont. L. 63, 67, 12 OntWN 2, 34 DomLR 691.

[93] Levene v. Inland Revenue Comrs., 95 L. J. K. B. 998, 1001 [aff [1928] A. C. 234]; Wanzer Lamp Co. v. Woods, 13 Ont. Pr. 511, 513.

[94] McDowell v. Friedman Bros. Shoe Co., 135 Mo. A. 276, 283, 115 SW 1028, 1032.

[95] Re Fitzmartin, 24 Ont. L. 102, 108, 2 OntWN 1114, 1177, 19 OntWR 267, 367.

[96] Stadtmuller v. Miller, 11 F. (2d) 732, 739, 45 ALR 895.

[a] “The permanency of residence indicated . . . depends in a great degree upon the context.” In re Hector, 24 NYS 475, 479.

[b] As affecting jurisdiction the word “involves the idea of both a dweller and of permanency.” Routenberg v. Schweitzer, 50 App. Div. 218, 220, 63 NYS 746 [rev 165 N. Y. 175, 177, 58 NE 880 (without objection to the proposition above quoted)].

[c] “The term ‘a resident,’ in a broad sense, includes any person who comes into this state and remains here with the intention to make it his permanent abode.” Mansefield Tp. Bd. of Education v. State Bd. of Education, 101 N. J. L. 474, 129 A 765, 766.

[d] In New York Constitution and laws.—“So far as our own constitution and laws speak of residents, the idea of a fixed and permanent dwelling generally seems to be involved.” Isham v. Gibbons, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 69, 81.

[97] La Pointe v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 26 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 479, 487.

[a] As including both permanent and temporary residence see Brown’s Adoption 25 Pa. Super. 259, 263.

[98] Toronto Bank v. Fanning, 17 Grant Ch. (Ont.) 514, 516.

[99] See Citizens § 1 notes 16, 17.

[1] See Inhabitant § 6.

[2] Toronto Bank v. Fanning, 17 Grant Ch. (Ont.) 514, 516.

“Occupant” 46 C. J. p 894.

[3] Hume v. Gracy, 86 Tex. 671, 673, 27 SW 584.

[a] “ ‘Settler’ hardly more restricted than the word ‘resident.’ ” Hume v. Gracy, 86 Tex. 671, 673, 27 SW 584.

“Settler” [35 Cyc 1446].

[4] Evans v. Perrine, 35 N. J. L. 221, 223.

“Present” 49 C. J. p 1337.

[5] New Haven v. Middlebury, 63 Vt. 399, 404, 21 A 608, 610 [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843].

[a] “The latter describes a person at rest in a town, while the former describes him in his passage through or across it.” New Haven v. Middlebury, 63 Vt. 399, 404, 21 A 608, 610 [quot Reckling v. McKinstry, 185 Fed. 842, 843].

[b] “A mere transient is not a resident.”—Atty.-Gen.’s Report in re Claim No. 5,869 [quot Stadtmuller v. Miller, 11 F. (2d) 732, 739, 45 ALR 895].

“Transient” [38 Cyc 943].

[6] McCormick v. Johnson County, 68 Ind. 214, 216.

[a] “Antithesis of nonresident.”—McDowell v. Friedman Bros. Shoe Co., 135 Mo. A. 276, 287, 115 SW 1028.

[b] Comparative frequency of use.—The word resident, either as a noun or adjective, is not as frequently used in statutes or legal proceedings as is its opposite term, nonresident, because the rights of all persons under the law and our courts are the same, unless some exception is shown to the contrary. McCormick v. Johnson County, 68 Ind. 214, 216.

“Nonresident” 46 C. J. p 493.

[7] Gray v. Waupun, 185 Wis. 157, 200 NW 362, 363.

RESIDUAL.[8] Relating to the residue,[9] or the part remaining.[10]

Phrase: "Residual value."[11]

RESIDUARY.[12] Pertaining to the residue; receiving or entitled to the residue.[13]

Residuary account. In English practice, the account which every executor and administrator after paying the debts and particular legacies of the deceased and before paying over the residuum must pass before the Board of Inland Revenue.[14]

RESIDUE.[15] [§ 1] A. In General. That which remains[16] after a part is designated,[17] taken, separated, removed,[18] or dealt with in some other way;[19] that which remains of something after taking away a part of it;[20] the arithmetical remainder;[21] the balance;[22] the remainder;[23] the rest;[24] what is left[25] after something else has been taken out;[26] what is left of a number or a quantity after something has been abstracted;[27] what remains[28] after deduction.[29]

[§ 2] B. With Reference to Estates. All that property which remains after paying charges and debts and satisfying all legacies and devises;[30] that portion of an estate that remains,[31] or that which is left,[32] or what remains,[33] after the payment of[34] all[35] debts,[36] expenses of administration,[37] funeral charges,[38] and other proper charges and commissions,[39] and legacies[40] both specific as well as general-eral,[41] and after satisfying the other specific gifts;[42] that portion of the estate which is left after payment of charges, debts, and particular legacies;[43] that which remains after all paramount claims are satisfied,[44] or after discharging all legal and testamentary claims on the estate;[45] the entire balance;[46] the surplus[47] of a testator's or intestate's estate remaining after all the debts and particular legacies have been discharged,[48] or after discharging all his liabilities;[49] what is left after all liabilities are discharged and all the purposes of the testator are carried into effect.[50]

---

[8] See also Residuary post; Residue post.

[9] Black L. D.

"Residue" post.

[10] Black L. D.

"Remaining" see Remain ante.

[11] Briggs Mfg. Co. v. U. S., 30 F. (2d) 962, 967.

[12] Residuary:
Beneficiary see Wills [40 Cyc 1447].
Bequest see Wills [40 Cyc 994, 1488, 1563].
Clause see Wills [40 Cyc 1563–1571, 1580].
Devise see Wills [40 Cyc 994, 1488, 1563–1571].
Devisee see Wills [40 Cyc 951, 994].
Estate see Wills [40 Cyc 1488, 1565–1571, 1580].
Interest see Wills [40 Cyc 1488].
Legacy see Wills [40 Cyc 994, 995, 1488, 1563–1571].
Legatee see Executors and Administrators §§ 66, 1819, 2015; Wills [40 Cyc 995, 1488, 1565–1571].
Personal estate see Wills [40 Cyc 1488, 1569, 1609].
See also Residue post; Wills [40 Cyc 1488, 1563–1580].

[13] Black L. D.

[a] As residue.—It has been used in the sense of the residue itself. In re Wiley, 111 App. Div. 590, 97 NYS 1017, 1023 (so construing the words "said residuary," etc.).

"Residue" post.

[14] Black L. D. See also Executors and Administrators § 2303.

[15] See also Residuum post; Rest post; Wills [40 Cyc 1563].

[16] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot Young v. Quimby, 98 Me. 167, 170, 56 A 656]; Chicago Title, etc., Co. v. Waukegan, 333 Ill. 577, 165 NE 348, 350; Dunn v. Kearney, 288 Ill. 49, 123 NE 105, 108 [cit Cyc]; Barker v. Petersburg, 41 Ind. A. 447, 82 NE 996, 997; Faison v. Middleton, 171 N. C. 170, 88 SE 141, 142, AnnCas 1917E 72 [quot Van Winkle v. Catholic Missionary Union, 192 N. C. 131, 133 SE 431, 433].

[17] Webster D. [quot Young v. Quimby, 98 Me. 167, 170, 56 A 656].

[18] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot Young v. Quimby, supra].

[19] Century D. [quot Young v. Quimby, supra].

[20] Bouvier L. D. [quot Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5 (reading "some" instead of "a"); Phelps v. Robbins, 40 Conn. 250, 264; Gahan v. Golden, 330 Ill. 624, 162 NE 164, 167; Jewett v. Jewett, 21 Oh. Cir. Ct. 278, 280, 12 Oh. Cir. Dec. 131]. See Woolverton v. Johnson, 69 Kan. 708, 719, 77 P 559; In re Chisholm, 50 N. S. 341, 349.

[21] Stokes v. Prance, [1898] 1 Ch. 212.

[22] Atkins v. Kron, 37 N. C. 58, 62; Davis v. Hutchings, 15 Oh. Cir. Ct. 174, 177, 8 Oh. Cir. Dec. 52. See Ex p. Artz, 9 Md. 65, 67.

[a] "Balance" equivalent.—Davis v. Hutchings, 15 Oh. Cir. Ct. 174, 177, 8 Oh. Cir. Dec. 52.

"Balance" 6 C. J. p 1170.

[23] Cook v. Sackett, 110 App. Div. 322, 96 NYS 1085, 1087; Hulin v. Squires, 63 Hun 352, 360, 18 NYS 309; Edwards v. Newland, 271 Pa. 1, 5, 113 A 742 (describing this as "the technical sense"). See Johnson v. Poulson, 32 N. J. Eq. 390, 394.

"Remainder" ante.

[24] Bragaw v. Bolles, 51 N. J. Eq. 84, 90, 25 A 947; Hulin v. Squires, 63 Hun 352, 360, 18 NYS 309.

[a] Equivalent to "rest."—Bragaw v. Bolles, 51 N. J. Eq. 84, 90, 25 A 947.

"Rest" post.

[25] Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 881; Hulin v. Squires, 63 Hun 352, 360, 18 NYS 309; Addeman v. Rice, 19 R. I. 30, 32, 31 A 429.

[26] Addeman v. Rice, supra.

[27] Johnson v. Poulson, 32 N. J. Eq. 390, 395 [quot Stevens v. Flower, 46 N. J. Eq. 340, 344, 19 A 777].

[a] "The residue of a farm is what remains of it after something has been taken away." Johnson v. Poulson, 32 N. J. Eq. 390, 393.

[b] "'Residue' of a fund means that which remains after the withdrawal of any part or parts of the fund." Cock v. Aitken, 6 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 297.

[28] Ordinary v. Cooley, 30 N. J. L. 271, 273; Cock v. Aitken, 6 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 302.

[29] Cock v. Aitken, supra.

[30] Leahy v. Cardwell, 14 Or. 171, 172, 12 P 307.

[a] "The residue of the estate" in a statute providing that after certain enumerated expenditures the decree may assign it "evidently embraces all the estate, both real and personal, which is to be affected by the 'decree.'" Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 494 (per McMillan, J.).

[31] Stanley v. Stanley, 108 Conn. 100, 142 A 851, 855.

[32] In re Hartung, 39 Nev. 200, 155 P 353, 355, 159 P 864; Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880 ("what is left"); In re Hamlin, 185 App. Div. 153, 172 NYS 787, 790. See Frelinghuysen v. New York L. Ins., etc., Co., 31 R. I. 150, 160, 77 A 98, AnnCas1912B 237 (using "was" instead of "is") [quot Berger v. Burnett, supra].

[33] McDougald v. Low, 164 Cal. 107, 110, 127 P 1027; Ordinary v. Cooley, 30 N. J. L. 271, 273; Hagen's Est., 85 Pa. Super. 123, 131 [quot Cyc]; Addeman v. Rice, 19 R. I. 30, 32, 31 A 429.

[34] See McDougald v. Low, 164 Cal. 107, 110, 127 P 1027 ("after paying").

[35] Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880.

[36] McDougald v. Low, 164 Cal. 107, 110, 127 P 1027; Stanley v. Stanley, 108 Conn. 100, 142 A 851, 855; In re Hartung, 39 Nev. 200, 155 P 353, 355, 159 P 864; Ordinary v. Cooley, 30 N. J. L. 271, 273; Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880; In re Hamlin, 185 App. Div. 153, 172 NYS 787, 790; Hagen's Est., 85 Pa. Super. 123, 131 [quot Cyc]; Frelinghuysen v. New York L. Ins., etc., Co., 31 R. I. 150, 160, 77 A 98, AnnCas1912B 237; Addeman v. Rice, 19 R. I. 30, 32, 31 A 429.

[37] McDougald v. Low, 164 Cal. 107, 110, 127 P 1027; Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880; Ordinary v. Cooley, 30 N. J. L. 271, 273; Hagen's Est., 85 Pa. Super. 123, 131 [quot Cyc]; Addeman v. Rice, 19 R. I. 30, 32, 31 A 429. See Stanley v. Stanley, 108 Conn. 100, 142 A 851, 855 ("administration charges").

[38] Hagen's Est., 85 Pa. Super. 123, 131 [quot Cyc]; Addeman v. Rice, 19 R. I. 30, 32, 31 A 429.

[39] Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880.

[40] McDougald v. Low, 164 Cal. 107, 110, 127 P 1027; Stanley v Stanley, 108 Conn. 100, 142 A 851, 855; In re Hartung, 39 Nev. 200, 155 P 353, 355, 159 P 864; Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880; Hagen's Est., 85 Pa. Super. 123, 131 [quot Cyc]; Frelinghuysen v. New York L. Ins., etc., Co., 31 R. I. 150, 160, 77 A 98, AnnCas1912B 237; Addeman v. Rice, 19 R. I. 30, 32, 31 A 429; Ward v. Grey, 26 Beav. 485, 492, 53 Reprint 986.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "That portion which remains after the payment in full of all charges, debts and legacies." Patterson's Est., 3 Pa. Dist. 796, 15 Pa. Co. 520. (2) "What is left after the payment of debts and other charges against the estate and of the specific bequests and legacies." In re Hamlin, 172 NYS 787, 790. (3) "What remains

*By CARLOS M. SANDOVAL (Residual-Resolve inclusive).

Property undisposed of. "Residue" is used frequently as designating and including all [property] of which no effectual disposition is made by the will, other than by the residuary clause,[51] with certain possible exceptions;[52] all property subject to be bequeathed by a person, not otherwise effectually disposed of;[53] that only which remains undisposed of after satisfying all particular legacies and devises including any which may be made by codicil;[54] that part of a testator's estate not otherwise disposed of;[55] whatever is not specifically devised or bequeathed;[56] what has not been particularly devised by will.[57]

Unconsumed property. When aided by context, "residue" has been held to mean whatever may be left unconsumed of an estate at the death of a devisee.[58] after the legacies have been taken out." Gallagher's App., 48 Pa. 121, 122.

---

[b] "Residue means 'ex vi termini' what may be left after satisfying the debts, legacies, etc." Choat v. Yeats, 1 Jac. & W. 102, 105, 37 Reprint 314.

[41] In re Hartung, 39 Nev. 200, 155 P 353, 355, 159 P 864; Frelinghuysen v. New York L. Ins., etc., Co., 31 R. I. 150, 160, 77 A 98; AnnCas 1912B 237 [quot Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880].

[42] In re Hartung, 39 Nev. 200, 156 P 353, 355, 159 P 864; Frelinghuysen v. New York L. Ins., etc., Co., 31 R. I. 150, 160, 77 A 98, AnnCas 1912B 237 [quot Berger v. Burnett, 95 N. J. Eq. 643, 123 A 879, 880].

[a] Similar definition.—" 'Residue' can only mean what remains after satisfying the previous gifts." Hill Trustees (4th Am. ed) 360 [quot Tyler v. Tallman, 29 R. I. 57, 63, 68 A 948]; Gould v. Winthrop, 5 R. I. 319, 324.

[b] Residue of personal estate (1) is "the personal estate which remains after payment of the testator's debts, funeral and testamentary expenses, and the costs of administration of the estate including the costs of an administration suit." Kennedy v. Protestant Orphan's Home, 25 Ont. 235, 239. (2) "It appears to have been long-settled law that there is no residue of personal estate until after payment of the debts, funeral and testamentary expenses, and all costs of the administration of the estate of the testator. Therefore, until you have paid the costs, you do not arrive at the net residue." Trethewy v. Helyar, 4 Ch. D. 53, 56 [cit Kennedy Protestant Orphan's Home, supra, and foll Fenton v. Wills, 7 Ch. D. 33, 34]. (3) "That which remains after payment of all that is properly a charge upon it, that is to say, the debts, the funeral and testamentary expenses, and the legacies." Field v. Peckett, 29 Beav. 568, 571, 54 Reprint 748.

[43] Phelps v. Robbins, 40 Conn. 250, 264 [quot Stevens v. Underhill, 67 N. H. 68, 72, 36 A 370, substituting "bequests" for "legacies"]; Leahy v. Cardwell, 14 Or. 171, 173, 12 P 307 (substituting "bequests" for "legacies" and adding: "It is the proper ascertainment of these, their payment and discharge, which creates the residue and makes it tangible as such"); In re Bradley, 123 Wis. 186, 188, 101 NW 393].

[a] Similar definition.—"What remains after the payment of charges and specific legacies." Woolverton v. Johnson, 69 Kan. 708, 719, 77 P 559.

[44] In re Bradley, 123 Wis. 186, 188, 101 NW 393 [adapting the definition from Tomlinson v. Bury, 145 Mass. 346, 347, 14 NE 137, 1 AmSR 464 (where it was said: "Nothing is given by a residuary clause except upon the condition that something remains after all paramount claims upon the testator's estate are satisfied")].

[a] Similar definition.—"That which is left after all previous demands have been fully satisfied." Vance's Est., 6 Pa. Co. 649, 650.

[45] Eyre v. Marsden, 3 Jur. 450, 452, 18 EngCh 231, 41 Reprint 91 [quot In re Bradley, 123 Wis. 186, 188, 101 NW 393]. See Ansin v. Taylor, 262 Mass. 159, 159 NE 513, 515.

[a] Similar definition.—"That which is left after satisfying the specific legacies and bequests." In re Spier, 224 Mich. 658, 195 NW 430, 432.

[b] "A gift of the residue of an estate."—(1) "In the absence of language to the contrary, [it] means the estate which remains after satisfying all previous gifts." Ansin v. Taylor, 262 Mass. 159, 159 NE 513, 515. (2) "It is a gift of what remains after the debts and legacies are paid." Bullard v. Redwood Library, 37 R. I. 107, 91 A 30, 32.

[46] Taylor's Est., 239 Pa. 153, 163, 86 A 708.

[a] " 'Entire balance of my estate' is equivalent to the 'residue.' " Taylor's Est., 239 Pa. 153, 163, 86 A 708.

[47] 2 Blackstone Comm. p 514 [quot Leahy v. Cardwell, 14 Or. 171, 172, 12 P 307].

[a] "Surplus" equivalent.—Jauretche v. Proctor, 48 Pa. 466, 471.

[b] "Surplusage" distinguished.—Bragaw v. Bolles, 51 N. J. Eq. 84, 90, 25 A 947.

[c] "Remainder" contrasted.—Jauretche v. Proctor, 48 Pa. 466, 471.

[48] 2 Blackstone Comm. p 514 [quot Leahy v. Cardwell, 14 Or. 171, 172, 12 P 307]; Morgan v. Higgins, 48 Fed. 3, 5; Jauretche v. Proctor, 48 Pa. 466, 471; Hagen's Est., 85 Pa. Super. 123, 131 [quot Cyc].

[49] Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5.

[50] Graves v. Howard, 56 N. C. 302, 305 [quot Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5; Taylor's Est., 239 Pa. 153, 163, 86 A 708].

[51] 1 Jarman Wills p 764 [quot Morton v. Woodbury, 153 N. Y. 243, 257, 47 NE 283 [quot In re Watts, 112 Misc. 300, 182 NYS 910, 911; Gallavan v. Gallavan, 31 Misc. 282, 284, 64 NYS 329)]; Sturgis v. Work, 122 Ind. 134, 138, 22 NE 996, 17 AmSR 349; Beekman v. Peo., 27 Barb. (N. Y.) 260, 282; Kent v. Kent, 106 Va. 199, 202, 55 SE 564; Skrymsher v. Northcote, 1 Swanst. 566, 570, 36 Reprint 507, 1 Wis. Ch. 248, 37 Reprint 108 [quot Floyd v. Carow, 88 N. Y. 560, 571; Prison Assoc. v. Russell, 103 Va. 563, 568, 49 SE 966; In re Bradley, 123 Wis. 186, 188, 101 NW 393].

[52] See Wills [40 Cyc 1563–1580].

[53] See Harrington v. Pier, 105 Wis. 485, 499, 82 NW 345, 76 AmSR 924, 50 LRA 307 [quot In re Bradley, 123 Wis. 186, 188, 101 NW 393].

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "All property subject to testamentary disposition which is not otherwise effectively disposed of." In re Radcliffe, 194 Wis. 330, 216 NW 501, 502. (2) "The property of the testator the disposition of which has not otherwise been indicated." Woolverton v. Johnson, 69 Kan. 708, 719, 77 P 559.

[54] Duffield v. Pike, 71 Conn. 521, 526, 42 A 641.

[55] Woerner Am. L. Adm. (2d ed) § 462 [quot Prison Assoc. v. Russell, 103 Va. 563, 568, 49 SE 966 (quot Jordan v. Richmond Home for Ladies, 106 Va. 710, 56 SE 730, 735)].

[56] Bouvier L. D. [cit In re Willard, 68 Pa. 327, 332 (quot In re Pittman, 182 Pa. 355, 360, 38 A 133; Sproul's Est., 105 Pa. 438, 441; Klein's Est., 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 20; Collins' Est., 26 Pa. Dist. 384, 385, 35 Pa. Co. 545)]; Hofius v. Hofius, 92 Pa. 305, 307.

[a] "In whatever part of a will it may happen to be found it ought to have that meaning, unless the whole will, taken together, shows clearly that it was not so intended." Willard's Est., 68 Pa. 327, 332 [quot Sproul's App., 105 Pa. 438, 441; Kleins's Est., 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 20]. See Hofius v. Hofius, 92 Pa. 305, 307.

[57] Bouvier L. D. [quot Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5; Phelps v. Robbins, 40 Conn. 250, 264; Gahan v. Golden, 330 Ill. 624, 162 NE 164, 167; Jewett v. Jewett, 21 Oh. Cir. Ct. 278, 280, 12 Oh. Cir. Dec. 131].

[58] Edwards v. Newland, 271 Pa. 1, 5, 113 A 742. See Jauretche v. Proctor, 48 Pa. 466, 471.

[a] Right of consumption is implied.—Hence the residue, left to children of testator after death of his widow, was held to be the part she

Phrases: "Residue and remainder,"[59] "residue and remainder of all my estate,"[60] "residue and ultimate surplus,"[61] "residue of his estate,"[62] "residue of my estate,"[63] "residue of my property, if any remains . . .,"[64] "residue of the capital and the surplus money and funds,"[65] "residue of the testator's estate[66] and effects,"[67] and "residue . . . which is represented in money."[68]

RESIDUUM.[69] In general, what is left;[70] what there is left after a process of separation.[71] As residue of an estate,[72] the residuary estate;[73] the surplus of a testator's or intestate's estate after discharging all his liabilities;[74] the surplus when all the debts and particular legacies are discharged;[75] that which remains of a decedent's estate after debts have been paid and legacies deducted;[76] what remains after administration, properly so called, is concluded.[77]

RESIGN.[78] As relating to an office or employment, to give back,[79] to give up,[80] in a formal manner, an office; or to terminate the contract;[81] to withdraw.[82] As used in an inartificial instrument, it has been construed as a word of release, indicating clearly an intention of surrendering up possession.[83]

RESIGNATIO EST JURIS PROPRII SPONTANEA REFUTATIO.[84]

RESIGNATION.[85] The resignation of an office had not consumed. Jauretche v. Proctor, 48 Pa. 466, 471.

---

[59] In re Grainger, [1900] 2 Ch. 756, 762.

[60] Stevens v. Underhill, 67 N. H. 68, 36 A 370, 373 (dis. op.).

[61] Cock v. Aitken, 6 Austr. C. L. R. 290, 299.

[62] Re Aldridge, 9 Alta. L. 512, 28 DomLR 531, 537, 34 WestLR 546, 10 WestWkly 701.

[63] Applegate v. Birdsall, 20 N. J. L. 244, 247; Miller v. Worrall, 62 N. J. Eq. 776, 780, 48 A 586, 90 AmSR 480.

[64] Re Prieur, 26 OntWN 124.

[65] Firemen's Ins. Co. v. Beha, 30 F. (2d) 539, 541.

[66] Graves v. Howard, 56 N. C. 302, 305 [quot Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5; In re Taylor, 239 Pa. 153, 163, 86 A 708].

[67] Graves v. Howard, 56 N. C. 302, 305 [quot Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5].

[68] Re Sydere, 31 OntWN 117, 119.

[69] See Residue ante.

[70] In re Stark, 149 Wis. 631, 646, 134 NW 389.

[71] Parsons v. Colgate, 15 Fed. 600, 603, 21 Blatchf. 171 (applying term to chemical substances).

[a] Various residuums of one substance may exist, resulting from different processes, and where one residuum of a substance has been used in a patented preparation, the use of a different residuum of the same substance in a preparation of like use is not in itself an infringement on the patent. Parsons v. Colgate, 15 Fed. 600, 603, 21 Blatchf. 171.

[72] See Residue ante §§ 2–5.

[73] In re Stark, 149 Wis. 631, 646, 134 NW 389.

"Residuary estate" see Wills [40 Cyc 1488, 1565–1580].

[74] Wharton L. Lex. [quot Morgan v. Huggins, 48 Fed. 3, 5, 9 LRA 540]; In re Stark, 149 Wis. 631, 646, 134 NW 389, 395 [quot Cyc].

[a] "General residuum."—Homer v. Shelton, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 194, 197, 209.

[b] A residuum of the residuum results where a will having described what is left of the estate after certain deductions, as the "residue" of the estate, subjects it to further deductions and disposes of the residue then remaining. U. S. Trust Co. v. Black, 9 Misc. 653, 655, 30 NYS 453.

[75] 2 Blackstone Comm. p 514 [quot In re Stark, 149 Wis. 631, 646, 134 NW 389].

[76] Black L. D. [quot In re Stark, supra].

[77] Robinson v. Millard, 133 Mass. 236, 239; In re Stark, 149 Wis. 631, 646, 134 NW 389, 395 [quot Cyc].

[a] Not part to be administered.—"The residuum of an estate is not a part of it to be administered." Robinson v. Millard, 133 Mass. 236, 239.

[78] See Resignation post. See also Renounce ante; Renunciation ante.

[79] Richardson D.; Webster D. [both quot Biddle v. Willard, 10 Ind. 62, 66 (quot State v. Huff, 172 Ind. 1, 7, 87 NE 141, 139 AmSR 355; State v. Murphy, 30 Nev. 409, 425, 97 P 391, 18 LRANS 1210)].

[80] Richardson D.; Webster D. [both quot Biddle v. Willard, supra (10 Ind. 62, 66; State v. Huff, 172 Ind. 1, 7, 87 NE 141, 139 AmSR 355; State v. Murphy, 30 Nev. 409, 425, 97 P 391, 18 LRANS 1210)]. See also Officers §§ 129–136.

[a] Mere offer to resign is not resigning. Le Masters v. Grant Dist. Bd. of Ed., 105 W. Va. 81, 141 SE 515, 516.

[81] Le Masters v. Grant Dist. Bd. of Ed., 105 W. Va. 81, 141 SE 515, 516.

[82] Peo. v. Metropolitan Dist. Police Bd., 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, 501 (where the words are said to be equivalent, as used in Act of [1857] § 12).

[a] "Withdraw" synonymous.—Peo. v. Metropolitan Dist. Police Bd., 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, 500, 501.

[b] Mere withdrawing distinguished.—See Peo. v. Metropolitan Dist. Police Bd., 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, 501.

[83] See In re Narragansett Indians, 20 R. I. 715, 736, 737, 40 A 347 (so holding in case of a deed from Chief Ninigret of the Narragansetts to the colony of Rhode Island). See also Release ante.

[84] A maxim meaning "Resignation is a spontaneous relinquishment of one's own right." Black L. D.

[85] Resignation of:

Army officer see Army and Navy § 59.
Assignee see Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 301, 302.
Clerk see Clerks of Courts § 24.
Club member see Clubs § 17.
County board member see Counties § 99.
Curator ad hoc see Absentees § 39.
Director see Banks and Banking § 120; Corporations § 1836.
District and Prosecuting Attorneys § 28.
Executor or administrator:
  In general see Executors and Administrators §§ 266–272, 1910, 2435, 2490, 2567.
Executor or administrator:—Continued
  Affecting:
    Compensation see Executors and Administrators § 2435.
    Right to appeal see Appeal and Error § 490.
    Right to execute power see Powers § 103.
    Settlement of estate see Executors and Administrators § 2490.
    Sureties on bond see Executors and Administrators § 2567.
  Not abating action see Abatement and Revival § 227.
Guardian:
  In general see Guardian and Ward § 120; Insane Persons § 285.
  Affecting right to appeal see Appeal and Error § 490.
  Not abating action see Abatement and Revival § 228.
Judges § 43.
Justices of the Peace § 18.
Militia officer see Militia § 36.
Municipal officer:
  In general see Municipal Corporations §§ 1071–1075.
  From board of education see Municipal Corporations § 1573.
  From fire department see Municipal Corporations §§ 1478, 1487.
  Police commissioner see Municipal Corporations § 1276.
  Policeman see Municipal Corporations § 1382.
Naval officer see Army and Navy § 59.
Official, not abating action see Abatement and Revival §§ 227, 228, 232, 233.
Public officer:
  In general see Officers §§ 129–136.
  As bar to mandamus see Mandamus § 81.
  By acceptance of incompatible office see Officers § 55.
  Change in incumbency of office, not abating action see Abatement and Revival § 230.
  Not constituted by:
    Acceptance of nomination to incompatible office see Officers § 55.
    Attempted acceptance of forbidden office see Officers § 55.
  Resignation of second office after vacating first by its acceptance see Officers § 135.
  Right of, as affected by statute providing for holding over see Officers § 129.
  Validity of contract tending to resignation see Contracts § 375.
Receiver:
  In general see Receivers § 115.
  As affecting caption of action see Abatement and Revival § 239.
  In supplementary proceedings see Executions § 1040.
Servant as defense to action, for discharge see Master and Servant § 105.
Sheriffs and Constables [35 Cyc 1500].
State officer see States [36 Cyc 861].

is the act of giving it up;[86] the act by which an officer renounces the further exercise of his office and returns the same into the hands of those from whom he received it;[87] the act of an officer by which he declines his office, and renounces the further right to use it.[88] The term may be used as equivalent to "abdicate"[89] or to "withdraw."[90] "Resignation" has been compared with "nonacceptance;"[91] and it has been said to be synonymous with "abandonment,"[92] "relinquishment,"[93] "renunciation,"[94] and "surrender."[95]

In ecclesiastical law. Resignation is generally where a parson, vicar, or other beneficial clergyman voluntarily surrenders his charge.[96]

In Scotch law. The return of a fee into the hands of a superior.[97]

Resignation by implication. A resignation of a public office by implication may take place by an abandonment of official duty without leave of absence or without good cause shown.[98]

RESIGNEE. One in favor of whom a resignation is made.[99]

RESILIATION. A word of law French, applicable to leases and analogous to "forfeiture."[1]

RESILIENCE.[2] The act of rebounding;[3] the act of resiling (that is, starting back, recoiling) leaping or springing back;[4] the energy given out by a body which is released after being strained up to its elastic limit, or the energy to deform a bar to its elastic limit.[5]

RESILIENCY.[6] The tendency to spring back to its form.[7]

RESILIENT.[8] Having resilience;[9] inclined to leap or spring back;[10] leaping,[11] or springing,[12] back;[13] rebounding;[14] recoiling;[15] returning to or resuming the original position or shape;[16] yielding.[17] Mechanically, of a body, capable of withstanding sudden shock without permanent deformation or rupture.[18] Figuratively, buoyant;[19] elastic;[20] possessing power of recovery.[21] The term has been compared with and distinguished from "deformable,"[22] "elastic,"[23] and "flexible."[24]

Phrase: "Resilient connection."[25]

RESINOUS BODY. One like resin,[26] partaking

Trustee:
  In general see Trusts [39 Cyc 258 et seq].
  Of express trust as affecting caption of action see Abatement and Revival § 240.
  Testamentary trustee who is also executor see Powers § 103.
United States officer see United States [39 Cyc 727].

[86] Richardson D.; Webster D. [both quot Biddle v. Willard, 10 Ind. 62, 66 (quot State v. Huff, 172 Ind. 1, 7, 87 NE 141, 139 AmSR 355; State v. Murphy, 30 Nev. 409, 425, 97 P 391, 18 LRANS 1210)]; Jacobsen v. Chicago, 191 Ill. A. 511, 513.

[87] Black L. D.

[88] Bouvier L. D. [quot Biddle v. Willard, 10 Ind. 62, 66 (quot State v. Huff, 172 Ind. 1, 7, 87 NE 141, 139 AmSR 355; State v. Murphy, 30 Nev. 409, 425, 97 P 391, 18 LRANS 1210)].

[a] "A prospective resignation may, in point of law, amount but to a notice of intention to resign at some future day, or a proposition to so resign." Biddle v. Willard, 10 Ind. 62, 66 [quot State v. Murphy, 30 Nev. 409, 425, 97 P 391, 18 LRANS 1210].

[89] Peo. v. Metropolitan Dist. Police Bd., 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, 501.

Compared with "abdication" see Abdication 1 C. J. p 280 note 33 [b].

[90] Peo. v. Metropolitan Dist. Police Bd., 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, 500, 501 (where the word was said to be used in St. [1857] § 12, as equivalent to "withdraw" but not in the sense of "to 'desert,'" or of "a 'bare withdrawing, a temporary quitting of a thing,'" from which it greatly differs).

[91] Johnston v. Wilson, 2 N. H. 202, 204, 9 AmD 50.

[92] Jacobsen v. Chicago, 191 Ill. A. 511, 513.

[a] "Abandonment" and "resignation."—(1) "Abandonment is a species of resignation." Steingruber v. San Antonio, (Tex. Commn. A.) 220 SW 77, 78. (2) "Resignation and abandonment are voluntary acts. The former is a formal relinquishment; the latter a relinquishment through nonuser." Steingruber v. San Antonio, supra.

"Abandonment" § 1.

[93] Jacobsen v. Chicago, 191 Ill. A. 511, 513.

"Relinquishment" ante.

[94] Jacobsen v. Chicago, 191 Ill. A. 511, 513.

"Renunciation" ante.

[95] Jacobsen v. Chicago, 191 Ill. A. 511, 513.

"Surrender" [37 Cyc 616–619].

[96] Black L. D. [cit Phillimore Eccl. L.].

[a] It is usually done by an instrument attested by a notary. Black L. D. [cit Phillimore Eccl. L.].

[97] Black L. D. [cit Bell L. D.].

[98] Jacobsen v. Chicago, 191 Ill. A. 511, 513. See also Officers § 132.

[99] Black L. D. [cit 1 Bell Comm. p 125n].

[1] See Beaudry v. Champagne, 12 L. C. Jur. 288 (use of house for immoral purpose held cause for "resiliation of lease"). See also Landlord and Tenant §§ 231–264.

[2] See Resiliency post; Resilient post.

[3] Century D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 502, 503].

[4] Century D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[5] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[6] See Resilience ante; Resilient post.

[7] Besser v. Merillat Culvert Core Co., 226 Fed. 783, 786.

[8] See Resilience ante; Resiliency ante.

[9] Century D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 503].

[10] Century D. [quot Kitson Co. v. Lattimer-Stevens Co., 37 F. (2d) 562, 563; Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 503].

[a] "In ordinary parlance, the word connotes a readily perceptible tendency to spring back to its original position." Kitson Co. v. Lattimer-Stevens Co., 37 F. (2d) 562, 563.

[11] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 502, 503].

[12] Century D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[13] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[14] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[15] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[16] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[17] See Mergenthaler Linotype Co. v. International Typesetting Mach. Co., 229 Fed. 168, 192.

[a] "'Yielding' in the sense of 'being resilient,' i. e. when it is pressed back by one's fingers it returns to its original position when the fingers are removed." Mergenthaler Linotype Co. v. International Typesetting Mach. Co., 229 Fed. 168, 192 (describing part of machine).

[18] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 502].

[19] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra].

[20] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., supra]. But see infra note 23.

"Elastic" 19 C. J. p 1256.

[21] Webster D. [quot Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 502].

[22] Kitson Co. v. Lattimer-Stevens Co., 37 F. (2d) 562, 563.

[23] Kitson Co. v. Lattimer-Stevens Co., supra. See also supra note 20.

[24] Kitson Co. v. Lattimer-Stevens Co., supra.

[25] Palmer v. Jordan Mach. Co., 186 Fed. 496, 503.

[26] Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, 175 Fed. 346, 350.

of the properties of resin,[27] or pertaining to resin;[28] something containing resins.[29]

RES INTEGRA. A Latin phrase meaning "a whole thing; a new or unopened thing."[30] It is applied to those points of law untouched by dictum or decision;[31] and not affected by precedent.[32]

RES INTER ALIOS ACTA. A thing done between others, or between third parties or strangers;[33] the usual abbreviation of the maxim "res inter alios acta alteri nocere non debet."[34]

RES INTER ALIOS ACTA, ALIOS NEC PRODEST NEC NOCET.[35]

RES INTER ALIOS ACTA ALTERI NOCERE NON DEBET.[36]

RES INTER ALIOS JUDICATÆ NULLUM ALIIS PRÆJUDICIUM FACIUNT.[37]

RES IPSA LOQUITUR.[38]

RESIST.[39] A word derived from the Latin[40] variously defined as meaning to act against;[41] to antagonize;[42] to baffle;[43] to bring to naught;[44] to exert physical or moral force in opposition to;[45] to make opposition;[46] to obstruct;[47] to offer resistance;[48] to oppose[49] passively or actively;[50] to oppose by direct, active and quasi-forcible means;[51] to stand against;[52] to strive against;[53] to withstand.[54]

Phrases: "Resist horses, cattle and live stock,"[55] "resist horses, cattle, swine and like stock,"[56] and "resist or prevent."[57]

---

27. Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, supra.

[a] "Must partake of all the essential properties of resin—not necessarily those of all resins, but of resins generally, or of some resin." Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, 175 Fed. 346, 351.

[b] "Stearin pitch" held resinous body.—Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, 175 Fed. 346, 350, 352.

28. Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, supra.

29. Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, supra.

[a] Need not contain resin.—"I do not think that, to constitute a 'resinous body,' that body must necessarily have resin in its composition, or contain resin. It is a resinous body if it has the essential attributes of such a body; that is, if it 'partakes of the properties of resin.'" Standard Paint Co. v. Bird, 175 Fed. 346, 351.

30. Black L. D. (sub verbo "res").

31. See Worrall v. Jacob, 3 Meriv. 256, 268, 36 Reprint 98 [cit Black L. D.].

32. See Bruce County v. Cromar, 22 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 321, 328.

33. Black L. D. (sub verbo "res"). See also Evidence §§ 832, 833.

[a] Another form of the phrase: "Res inter alios actae" given same effect. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Schmitz, 211 Ill. 446, 71 NE 1050, 1054.

34. See post.

35. A maxim meaning "A transaction between other parties neither benefits nor injures those not interested." Henry v. Woods, 77 Mo. 277, 281 (where it was applied in the same manner as "res inter alios acta alteri nocere non debet"). See also post.

36. A maxim meaning "A transaction between two parties ought not to operate to the disadvantage of a third." Morgan Leg. Max.; Carroll v. Rye Tp., 13 N. D. 458, 465, 101 NW 894 (adding "it relates only to the law of evidence").

[a] Other forms: (1) "Res inter alios acta, aliis non nocet." Compania General de Tabacos v. Ganson, 13 Philippine 472, 477. (2) "Res inter alios acta alteria nocere non debet." Hamburg Bank v. George, 92 Ark. 472, 123 SW 654, 656.

[b] As a rule of evidence (1) generally see Criminal Law § 1113; Evidence §§ 832, 833. (2) In prosecution for particular offense see specific titles.

[c] Exception to the principle see Fraud § 198 text and notes 65–67.

37. A maxim meaning "Matters adjudged in a cause do not prejudice those who were not parties to it." Bouvier L. D.

Strangers not concluded by judgment see Judgments §§ 1480–1490.

38. See Negligence §§ 768–786.

39. See also Resistance post.

40. [a] "The word is Latin, and its use seems to be singularly true to its etymology ['re,' back or against and 'sto,' stand] and to retain the exact classical meaning." State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201.

41. Century D. [quot In re Boyd, 228 Fed. 1003, 1004].

42. Century D. [quot In re Boyd, supra]; Webster New Int. D. [quot McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613].

43. Standard D. [quot Powell v. State, 152 Ga. 81, 108 SE 464, 465]. See Herring v. State, 165 Ga. 254, 140 SE 491, 492.

[a] "Baffle" contrasted.—An officer "may be balked, baffled, circumvented, frustrated, and yet not be resisted." State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 202.

44. Standard D. [quot Powell v. State, 152 Ga. 81, 108 SE 464, 465]. See Herring v. State, 165 Ga. 254, 140 SE 491, 492.

45. Century D. [quot In re Boyd, 228 Fed. 1003, 1004].

46. Webster New Int. D. [quot McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613].

47. Standard D. [quot Powell v. State, 152 Ga. 81, 108 SE 464, 465]; McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613. See Herring v. State, 165 Ga. 254, 140 SE 491, 492.

[a] "Obstruct" means same thing.—McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613.

48. Webster New Int. D. [quot McAlpine v. State, supra].

49. Black L. D.; Webster New Int. D. [both quot McAlpine v. State, supra]; Century D. [quot In re Boyd, 228 Fed. 1003, 1004]; Standard D. [quot Powell v. State, 152 Ga. 81, 108 SE 464, 465]. See Herring v. State, 165 Ga. 254, 140 SE 491, 492.

[a] "Oppose" synonymous.—McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613.

[b] "'Oppose' would cover the meaning of the word 'resist.'" McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613 (means same thing).

50. Century D. [quot In re Boyd, 228 Fed. 1003, 1004].

51. State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201.

[a] As used in statute.—It has been held that the word as used in Rev. St. c 167 § 18, providing for the punishment of persons who shall knowingly "resist" an officer executing process, is intended to exclude the less directly active conduct described by such words as "oppose, obstruct, hinder, prevent, interrupt, intimidate," and to include only resistance, active and direct, toward the officer. State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201, 202.

[b] "Properly describes an opposition by direct action and quasi forcible means." Black L. D. [quot McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613].

52. State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201 (taking this as "the popular, the scholarly and the legal sense of it").

53. Standard D. [quot Powell v. State, 152 Ga. 81, 108 SE 464, 465]; Webster New Int. D. [quot McAlpine v. State, 19 Ala. A. 391, 97 S 612, 613]. See Herring v. State, 165 Ga. 254, 140 SE 491, 492.

54. Century D. [quot In re Boyd, 228 Fed. 1003, 1004]; State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201 (describing this as "the popular, the scholarly and the legal sense of it").

55. Deal v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 144 Mo. A. 684, 691, 129 SW 50.

[a] In describing lawful fence, as required by statute, an instruction using the words "turn stock" instead of the statutory words "resist horses, cattle and live stock" is not erroneous, the court saying: "We see no difference between the meaning of the words 'turn stock' and 'to resist.'" Deal v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 144 Mo. A. 684, 691, 129 SW 50.

56. Hax v. Quincy, etc., R. Co., 123 Mo. A. 172, 177, 100 SW 693.

57. U. S. v. Huff, 13 Fed. 630, 637; U. S. v. Peterson, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,037, 1 Woodb. & M. 305, 310.

[a] "To resist or prevent" the master of a vessel "in the free and lawful exercise of his authority" under Act March 3, 1835 c 40 (4 U. S. St. at L. 75), is an offense constituted by the mere resistance to the latter's authority, and it is enough to disobey lawful orders and with violence resist their enforcement. U. S. v. Peterson, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,037, 1 Woodb. & M. 305, 310 [cit U. S. v. Huff, 13 Fed. 630, 637 (charge to jury)].

[b] "Resist" and "prevent" compared.—"The phrase 'to resist' is not as strong as the phrase 'to prevent'"

RESISTANCE.[58] In its ordinary sense, an act of standing against or obstructing;[59] an evidence of unwillingness;[60] the opposition of force to force;[61] willful purpose to interfere;[62] also not retreating from force.[63] Phrase: "Encourage resistance."[64]

In electricity, the opposition offered by a substance or body to the passage through it of an electrical current.[65]

"Resistance" wire, sheet or strip. Product of some alloy of copper used in the manufacture of electrical apparatus which does not conduct electricity as freely as does pure copper.[66]

RES JUDICATA.[67]

RES JUDICATA EXCEPTIONEM PARIT PERPETUAM.[68]

RES JUDICATA FACIT EX ALBO NIGRUM, EX NIGRO ALBUM, EX CURVO RECTUM, EX RECTO CURVUM.[69]

RES JUDICATA INTER ALIOS ALIIS NEQUE NOCET NEQUE PRODEST.[70]

RES JUDICATA INTER PARTES JUS FACIT.[71]

RES JUDICATA PRO VERITATE ACCIPITUR.[72]

RES JUDICATA PRO VERITATE HABETUR.[73]

RES LOCATA PERIT DOMINO.[74]

RES LOQUITUR IPSA, QUÆ SEMPER VALET.[75]

RES MAGIS VALEAT QUAM PEREAT. A rule of construction[76] whereby doubtful instruments are so construed that they may rather stand than fall;[77] and which may be translated "Let the thing have effect rather than be destroyed."[78]

RES NULLIUS NATURALITER FIT PRIMI OCCUPANTIS.[79]

RESOLUTION.[80] According to ordinary parlia-

---

in an instruction defining a lawful fence as one sufficient "to resist horses, cattle, swine and' like stock" instead of in the statutory language "sufficient to prevent stock getting on the track." Hax v. Quincy, etc., R. Co., 123 Mo. A. 172, 177, 100 SW 693.

[58] As element of rape see Rape § 29.

Resistance to:

- Arrest:
  - As justification of homicide by officer see Homicide § 255.
  - As provocation reducing homicide to manslaughter see Homicide § 123.
  - When justifiable see Assault and Battery § 237.
- Customs official see Customs Duties § 321.
- Execution of process in general see Obstructing Justice §§ 2–15.
- Inspection of premises where liquor sold see Obstructing Justice § 19.
- Officer:
  - In general see Obstructing Justice §§ 17–21.
  - In act of arresting see Homicide § 170.

[59] Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Ault, 263 Fed. 800, 811; U. S. v. Strong, 263 Fed. 789, 796].

[60] State v. Schwab, 109 Oh. St. 29, 143 NE 29, 31.

[a] "Unwillingness" not synonymous.—State v. Schwab, 109 Oh. St. 29, 143 NE 29, 31.

[61] Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201 and cit Brown v. State, 127 Wis. 193, 200, 106 NW 536, 7 AnnCas 258 (where it is defined as "opposing force to force")].

[a] "Is always direct, and applied to persons, always implies more or less force." State v. Welch, 37 Wis. 196, 201 [cit Crabb Synonyms].

[62] See U. S. v. José, 63 Fed. 951, 954.

[a] As contempt.—As used in U. S. Rev. St. (1878) § 725, relating to the power of the United States courts to punish as contempt "resistance" to process, orders, etc., the word "is to be understood as implying a willful purpose to interfere so as to prevent the execution or enforcement of process or the court's orders." U. S. v. José, 63 Fed. 951, 954. See also Contempt §§ 26, 43.

[63] Brown v. State, 127 Wis. 193, 200, 106 NW 536, 7 AnnCas 258.

[64] Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Ault, 263 Fed. 800, 811; U. S. v. Strong, 263 Fed. 789, 796].

[65] Webster New Int. D. See Driver-Harris Wire Co. v. Driver, 70 N. J. Eq. 34, 38, 62 A 461; Anglo-American Brush Electric Light Corp. v. King, [1892] A. C. 367, 371 (stating rules applicable to electric resistance without specifically defining term). See also Ohm 46 C. J. p 1087.

[66] Driver-Harris Wire Co. v. Driver, 70 N. J. Eq. 34, 38, 62 A 461.

[67] See Judgments §§ 1154, 1525.

Particular applications of doctrine see Constitutional Law § 39; Corporations § 4008; Estoppel § 22; Husband and Wife § 988; Infants § 365; Injunctions § 798; Insane Persons § 373; Insurance § 474; Intoxicating Liquors § 145; Landlord and Tenant § 1329; Libel and Slander § 316.

Procedure with respect to judgment as estoppel see Judgments § 1491.

[68] A maxim meaning "A matter judicially decided begets a perpetual exception."

[a] Applied in: Hamilton v. Dutch East India Co., 8 Bro. P. C. 264, 269, 3 Reprint 573.

[69] A maxim meaning "A thing adjudged makes white, black; black, white; the crooked, straight; the straight, crooked." Bouvier L. D.

[70] A maxim meaning "A thing decided between two litigants ought neither to work advantage or disadvantage to third persons." Morgan Leg. Max.

[71] A maxim meaning "A question adjudicated between the parties after hearing them, makes the law of that question." Morgan Leg. Max.

[72] A maxim meaning "A thing adjudged is taken for truth." Peloubet Leg. Max.

[a] Applied in: Hutton v. Camden, 39 N. J. L. 122, 127, 23 AmR 203 note; Bartolet v. Faust, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 316, 317.

[73] A maxim meaning "A thing adjudged is held as truth." Trayner Leg. Max. (giving it as alternative form of maxim: "Res judicata pro veritate accipitur" ante).

[a] Applied in: Mendez v. Martinez, 29 Porto Rico 213, 218; Hamilton v. Dutch East India Co., 8 Bro. P. C. 264, 269, 3 Reprint 573; Ralston v. Rowat, 1 Cl. & F. 424, 435, 6 Reprint 975.

[74] A maxim meaning "Located property perishes to the owner." That is, where located property perishes the loss is to the owner. See Res Perit Domino Suo post.

[a] Applied in: Bayne v. Walker, 3 Dow. 233, 236, 3 Reprint 1049.

[75] A maxim meaning "Facts speak for themselves and are always invaluable, since they cannot be gainsaid." Morgan Leg. Max.

[76] Barthel v. Scotten, 24 Can. S. C. 367, 371, 373 ("The maxim . . . is only a rule authorizing a certain presumption to be made in arriving at what must govern in all cases of construction, namely the intention of the parties;" and again "is only a rule to aid in arriving at the intention and does not in any case authorize the court to overrule the intention").

[77] See Moore v. Hinnant, 89 N. C. 455, 462; Barthel v. Scotten, 24 Can. S. C. 367, 371, 373; British America Assur. Co. v. Law, 21 Can. S. C. 325, 329.

[78] See Black L. D. (giving the more usual form "ut res magis," etc.).

[79] A maxim meaning "A thing which has no owner naturally belongs to the first finder." Bouvier L. D.

[a] "Occupantis," literally person "taking possession." See Black L. D., sub verb. "Occupare."

[80] Resolution of:

- Board of health:
  - Declaring nuisance see Health §§ 58–61.
  - Power to enforce see Health §§ 69–83.
- Corporation:
  - Distinguished from by-law see Corporations § 427.
  - For execution of corporate mortgage see Corporations §§ 2227, 2656.
  - For taking by eminent domain see Eminent Domain § 316.
- County board see Counties §§ 122–129.

mentary practice,[81] it is merely a suggestion or direction in writing, concurred in by the two houses of the assembly, if there be two houses,[82] or passed by one house if there be but one, and not submitted to the executive for approval, ordinarily passed without the forms and delays which are generally required by constitutions and municipal charters as prerequisites of the enactment of valid laws or ordinances.[83] The term has been defined as a formal expression of the opinion or will of an official body or a public assembly adopted by a vote;[84] a mere expression of the opinion or mind of the council concerning some matter of administration coming within its official cognizance;[85] merely the form in which the legislative body expresses an opinion;[86] an agreement to a law or other thing adopted by a legislature or popular assembly;[87] the determination or decision with regard to its opinion or intention of a deliberative or legislative body,[88] public assembly, town council, board of directors, or the like;[89] also a motion or formal proposition offered for adoption by such a body;[90] a measure required by law to complete legislation.[91] The term has been held equivalent to a "motion,"[92] or an "ordinance";[93] and it has been distinguished from a "bill,"[94] "law,"[95] "or-

---

Municipal resolution:

- In general see Municipal Corporations §§ 796–970.
- Abolishing office see Municipal Corporations § 1384.
- For:
  - Election on bond issue see Municipal Corporations § 4170.
  - Issue of bonds see Municipal Corporations § 4163.
  - Levy of assessments for public improvements see Municipal Corporations §§ 3024–3030.
  - Levy of tax see Municipal Corporations §§ 4378–4387.
  - Public improvements see Municipal Corporations §§ 2386–2483.

Municipal resolution in relation to streets:

- As evidence of:
  - Duty of municipality, to show negligence in care of street see Municipal Corporations § 2016.
  - Knowledge of defect in street see Municipal Corporations §§ 2025, 2036.
- Modifying franchise to use street see Municipal Corporations § 3804.
- Recognizing street see Municipal Corporations § 3601.
- Vacating street see Municipal Corporations § 3647.

[81] Cape Girardeau v. Fougeu, 30 Mo. A. 551, 556. See Parliamentary Law § 12 et seq.

[82] Cape Girardeau v. Fougeu, supra.

"Joint resolution" infra notes 5–8.

[83] Cape Girardeau v. Fougeu, 30 Mo. A. 551, 556.

[a] Passing and taking effect.—It need be read but once and may be passed by a viva voce vote, without the ayes and noes, whereupon, when engrossed, it becomes operative. Cape Girardeau v. Fougeu, 30 Mo. A. 551, 556.

[84] Webster Int. D. [quot Sawyer v. Collins, 148 Iowa 712, 127 NW 1015; State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 733, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas1916B 860]. See El Paso Gas, etc., Co. v. El Paso, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 309, 312, 54 SW 798.

[a] As used in charter of El Paso, Texas, providing for submission of resolutions to the mayor, "it is nothing more than the formal expression of the will of the city council." El Paso Gas, etc., Co. v. El Paso, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 309, 312, 54 SW 798.

[85] Sawyer v. Lorenzen, 149 Iowa 87, 127 NW 1091, 1093, AnnCas1912C 940; McCarthy v. McElvaney, (Tex. Civ. A.) 182 SW 1181, 1183.

[86] Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Chicago, 174 Ill. 439, 444 [quot McDowell v. Peo., 204 Ill. 499, 502, 68 NE 378; Paxton v. Bogardus, 201 Ill. 628, 640, 66 NE 853; Altamont v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 184 Ill. 47, 51, 56 NE 340]. See Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954; San Antonio v. Micklejohn, 89 Tex. 79, 82, 33 SW 735.

[a] Form of expressing opinion.— . . . "A legislative body may in that form express an opinion, may govern its own procedure within the limitations imposed upon it by its constitution or charter, and, in case it have ministerial functions, may direct their performance; but it can not adopt that mode of procedure in making laws where the power which created it has commanded that it shall legislate in a different form." San Antonio v. Micklejohn, 89 Tex. 79, 82, 33 SW 735.

[b] "Be it resolved" requisite.—"A characteristic feature of a resolution is its enacting clause, 'Be it resolved;' were any other term used, it would cease to be a resolution." State v. Delesdenier, 7 Tex. 76, 95. Compare In re Senate File 31, 25 Nebr. 864, 876, 41 NW 981 (holding that "Be it enacted" includes "be it resolved" and so may be used in passing a mere resolution).

[c] "Be it resolved" held not requisite where resolution was introduced as such and on its face purports to be resolution. McCarthy v. McElvaney, (Tex. Civ. A.) 182 SW 1181, 1183.

[87] Bouvier L. D. [quot Gas, etc., Securities Co. v. Manhattan, etc., Tract Corps., 266 Fed. 625, 636].

[88] Black L. D. [quot Sawyer v. Collins, 148 Iowa 712, 127 NW 1015; State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 733, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas 1916B 860].

[89] Black L. D. [quot State v. Summers, supra].

[90] Black L. D. [quot Sawyer v. Collins, 148 Iowa 712, 127 NW 1015; State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 733, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas1916B 860].

[91] McFarlan v. Norwood, 19 Oh NPNS 145, 151.

"Measure" 40 C. J. p 19.

Not a law see infra text and note 95.

[92] Sylvestre v. St. Landry Parish School Bd., 164 La. 204, 113 S 818, 820; Com. v. Bitner, 294 Pa. 549, 144 A 733, 735; State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 733, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas1916B 860; El Paso Gas, etc., Co. v. El Paso, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 309, 312, 54 SW 798; Spokane v. Ridpath, 74 Wash. 4, 8, 132 P 638 [cit Cyc]; Meade v. Dane County, 155 Wis. 632, 642, 145 NW 239. But see Galveston v. Morton, 58 Tex. 409, 414.

[a] "There is no substantial difference between a motion and a resolution." Sylvestre v. St. Landry Parish School Bd., 164 La. 204, 113 S 818, 820; Com. v. Bitner, 294 Pa. 549, 144 A 733, 735 ("there is no difference"); State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 734, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas1916B 860 [quot Spokane v. Ridpath, 74 Wash. 4, 8, 132 P 638 ("in substance there is no difference")].

[b] "Motion" synonymous.—State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 733, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas1916B 860 (in some of its uses); Spokane v. Ridpath, 74 Wash. 4, 8, 132 P 638 [cit Cyc].

[c] "Motion" and "resolution."—"A motion is a proposal made to evoke action upon the part of the council or other assembly. When the motion had been acted upon, it became the formal expression of the will, or resolution, of the city council." El Paso Gas, etc., Co. v. El Paso, 22 Tex. Civ. A. 309, 312, 54 SW 798.

[d] "Motion" compared.—Rice v. State, 95 Ind. 33, 46.

[e] Mere affirmative vote in verbal motion in the council accepting a contract is not a resolution in the proper sense of the word. Galveston v. Morton, 58 Tex. 409, 414.

"Motion" 42 C. J. p 456. See also Parliamentary Law § 12.

[93] Hellman v. Shoulters, 114 Cal. 136, 157, 44 P 915, 45 P 1057; Los Angeles v. Waldron, 65 Cal. 283, 285, 3 P 890, 1 P 883; Mulberry v. O'Dea, 4 Cal. A. 385, 387, 88 P 367.

[a] In construing statute governing public improvements, the court said: "An ordinance is also a resolution, or, at least so far as this statute is concerned, they are equivalent." Hellman v. Shoulters, 114 Cal. 136, 157, 44 P 915, 45 P 1057 [quot Mulberry v. O'Dea, 4 Cal. A. 385, 387, 88 P 367].

"Ordinance" see Municipal Corporations § 796.

[94] State v. Delesdenier, 7 Tex. 76, 95.

[a] "Bill" compared.—Rice v. State, 95 Ind. 33, 46.

"Bill" 7 C. J. p 1178.

[95] Johnson v. Craft, 205 Ala. 386, 403, 87 S 375, 390 [cit Cyc]; Reynolds v. Blue, 47 Ala. 711, 713; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Chicago, 174 Ill. 439, 444 [quot McDowell v. Peo., 204 Ill. 499, 502, 68 NE 379; Paxton v. Bogardus, 201 Ill. 628, 640, 66 NE 853; Altamont v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 184 Ill. 47, 51, 56 NE 340]; Cape Girardeau v. Fougeu, 30 Mo. A. 551, 556; Ex p. Hague, (N. J. Ch.) 144 A 546, 559; Com. v. Bitner, 294 Pa. 549, 144 A 733, 735; State v. Summers, 33 S. D. 40, 144 NW 730, 734, 50 LRANS 206, AnnCas1916B 860; San Antonio v. Micklejohn, 89 Tex. 79, 82, 33 SW 735; Conley v. United Daughters of the Confederacy, (Tex. Civ. A.) 164 SW 24, 26. See Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954; Swann v. Buck, 40 Miss. 268, 293.

[a] "The chief distinction between a resolution and a law seems to be that the former is used whenever the legislative body passing it wishes to merely express an opinion as to some der,"[96] and also "ordinance."[97]

Phrases: "Act or resolution,"[98] "concurrent resolution,"[99] "ordinance or resolution,"[1] "resolution of expediency,"[2] "resolution of intention,"[3] and "resolution or ordinance . . . of permanent operation."[4]

"Joint resolution" is described as being a form of legislation which is in frequent use in this country chiefly for administrative purposes of a local or temporary character;[5] merely a rule for the guidance of the agents and servants of the government;[6] merely a suggestion or direction in writing, concurred in by the two houses of the legislature.[7] Phrase: "Bill or joint resolution."[8]

RESOLUTIVE CONDITION. In French and Lower Canadian law, a condition[9] pertaining to gifts, which exists when the gift takes effect immediately with the effects which it should produce, to the profit of the donee, but under the condition that if such an uncertain event takes place the gift shall terminate and the property shall be restored to the same state as if there had been no gift.[10]

RESOLUTO JURE CONCEDENTIS RESOLVITUR JUS CONCESSUM.[11]

RESOLUTO JURE DANTIS, RESOLVITUR JUS ACCIPIENTIS.[12]

RESOLUTORIA. A Spanish word used to describe a condition,[13] which, on being fulfilled, produces the revocation or invalidity of the contract;[14] and restores things to the state in which they were before the contract was entered into.[15] It may be analogous to a condition subsequent.[16]

RESOLUTORY CONDITION.[17] The condition[18] on which depends an obligation which is to take effect immediately, but is liable to be defeated when the contingent event happens;[19] the dissolving condition.[20]

RESOLVE. [§ 1] As Verb, in a legislative or parliamentary sense, to express as an opinion or determination by resolution or vote;[21] and in the past tense, it may be equivalent to "enacted."[22] In given matter or thing, and is only to have a temporary effect on such particular thing; while by the latter it is intended to permanently direct and control matters applying to persons or things in general." Conley v. United Daughters of the Confederacy, (Tex. Civ. A.) 164 SW 24, 26 [quot Ex p. Hague, (N. J. Ch.) 144 A 546, 559].

---

[b] "A very different thing from a law." Cape Girardeau v. Fougeu, 30 Mo. A. 551, 556.

[c] "Law" distinguished from "resolve" [or resolution].—Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954.

[d] Law in form of resolution.—"A resolution may or may not take effect as a law, depending upon the occasion and object of its use. It may be resorted to as a vehicle to convey the opinions or wishes of the legislature on any subject, without prescribing any rule of conduct to be observed. But whenever a joint resolution does undertake to lay down a rule of conduct for any portion of the people of the State, it becomes a law, and will take effect as such, notwithstanding the use of the word 'resolved' in its style, instead of the word 'enacted.'" Swann v. Buck, 40 Miss. 268, 293.

[e] A resolution of the senate of Febr. 26, 1872, authorizing the issue of certificates to officers of the senate, is not a law within the meaning of U. S. Const. art 4 § 31, providing that "no money shall be drawn from the treasury but in pursuance of an appropriation made by law." Reynolds v. Blue, 47 Ala. 711, 713.

"Law" 36 C. J. p 957–967.

96. See Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954.

[a] "When the legislature commands, it is by an order; but when it gives expression to a fact, a principle, its own opinions and purposes, it is expressed in the form of a resolution." Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954.

[b] Compared with "order."—State v. Ames, 31 Minn. 440, 443, 18 NW 277.

"Order" 46 C. J. p 1131.

97. See Municipal Corporations § 798.

98. Johnson v. Craft, 205 Ala. 386, 403, 87 S 375, 390.

99. See Kelley v. Secretary of State, 149 Mich. 343, 112 NW 978, 979.

1. Meade v. Dane County, 155 Wis. 632, 642, 145 NW 239.

2. Eaton v. Hanlon, 193 Cal. 715, 227 P 484, 485.

[a] "Resolution of intention" compared and distinguished.—Eaton v. Hanlon, 193 Cal. 715, 227 P 484, 485, 486.

3. Eaton v. Hanlon, supra. See Cooper v. Bozeman, 54 Mont. 277, 283, 169 P 801.

4. Holley v. Brunson, (Ala.) 130 S 173; Pierce v. Huntsville, 185 Ala. 490, 64 S 301, 304.

5. 26 A. & E. Enc. L. (2d ed) p 560 [quot Ex p. Hague, (N. J. Ch.) 144 A 546, 560]. See Swann v. Buck, 40 Miss. 268, 293.

6. Hawes v. Wm. R. Trigg Co., 110 Va. 165, 201, 65 SE 538 [quot Ex p. Hague, (N. J. Ch.) 144 A 546, 560].

7. Ex p. Hague, supra.

[a] "Bill" distinguished.—"Under our constitution a 'joint resolution' is not placed on the same footing as a 'bill.'" Ex p. Hague, (N. J. Ch.) 144 A 546, 560. "Bill" 7 C. J. 1178.

[b] "Statute" distinguished.—Ex p. Hague, (N. J. Ch.) 144 A 546, 559. "Statute" see Statutes [36 Cyc 940].

8. See Kelly v. Secretary of State, 149 Mich. 343, 112 NW 978, 979.

9. Condition in civil law see Condition § 4.

10. See Dalloz Repertoire de Jurisprudence, art. 1740 [quot Herse v. Dufaux, L. R. 4 P. C. 468, 490, 9 Moore P. C. N. S. 281, 17 Reprint 520].

[a] Operates as revocation of the gift and divests the donee of the property in the subject of the gift. Herse v. Dufaux, L. R. 4 C. P. 468, 490, 9 Moore P. C. N. S. 281, 17 Reprint 520.

Conditional gift see Gifts §§ 41, 117.

11. A maxim meaning "The right of the grantor being extinguished, the right granted is extinguished." Black L. D.

[a] Cited in: Broom Leg. Max. (7th Eng. ed) 351; McIntyre v. Clark. 6 Misc. 377, 379, 26 NYS 744.

12. A maxim meaning "The right of the giver having ceased, or become void, the right of the receiver ceases also." Trayner Leg. Max.

[a] Applied in: Barsalou v. Royal Inst., 5 Que. Q. B. 383, 387.

13. Escriche Diccionario.

14. Barretto v. Manila, 7 Philippine 596, 597.

"Resolutory condition" post.

15. Escriche Diccionario.

16. See Barretto v. Manila, 7 Philippine 596, 597. See also Condition § 4.

17. See also Resolutive Condition ante.

18. See Condition § 4 note 74⅙.

19. Moss v. Smoker, 2 La. Ann. 989, 991.

20. See Miguez v. Delcambre, 125 La. 176, 191, 51 S 108.

[a] Statutory definition.—"Under the subtitle 'Of the Resolutory Condition,' article 2045 Civil Code provides 'The dissolving condition is that which, when accomplished, operates the revocation of the obligation, placing matters in the same state as though the obligation had not existed.'" Miguez v. Delcambre, 125 La. 176, 191, 51 S 108.

21. Webster D. [quot In re Senate File 31, 25 Nebr. 864, 876, 41 NW 981].

22. Swann v. Buck, 40 Miss. 268, 293; Smith v. Jennings, 67 S. C. 324, 335, 45 SE 821.

[a] "Resolved" and "enacted."—(1) "The word 'resolved' is as potent to declare the legislative will as the word 'enacted.'" Swann v. Buck, 40 Miss. 268, 293 [quot Smith v. Jennings, 67 S. C. 324, 330, 45 SE 821]. (2) When used in the title of a resolutive declaration undertaking to lay down a rule of conduct for any portion of the people of the state, it does not preclude such declaration from being a law. Swann v. Buck, supra. (3) Several definitions of "enact," namely, "to establish by law," "to perform or effect," "to decree," would be of equal force to the word "resolved;" therefore "Be it enacted" may mean "Be it resolved." In re Senate File 31, 25 Nebr. 864, 876, 41 another sense, to reduce to the constituent elements;[23] to separate the component parts of.[24]

[§ 2] As Noun, it is used as an equivalent of "resolution."[25]

*__RESORT.__ [§ 1] A. As Noun.[26] A place of frequent assembly;[27] a haunt;[28] also act of visiting;[29] assembly, concourse, frequent assembling, meeting.[30]

Place of resort. A place frequented.[31]

Other phrases: "Court of last resort,"[32] places of resort,"[33] "public resort,"[34] "resort for gambling,"[35] "sea side resort,"[36] and "summer resort."[37]

[§ 2] B. As Verb. To go, to betake one's self, or to repair;[38] especially, to go or repair frequently, customarily, or usually;[39] to frequent.[40] The word implies an assembling or going to or frequenting in numbers;[41] it means something of a common occurrence,[42] the habitual frequenting of a place,[43] the habitual frequenting of a place by more than one person.[44] However, while the word ordinarily implies a going to a place "a number of times,"[45] in construing a particular statute, "to go once" may mean "to resort."[46]

Phrases: "Outhouse where people resort,"[47] and "permitted to resort;"[48] also "resorted,"[49] and "resorted to."[50]

RESOURCES. Money or any property that can be converted into supplies; means of raising money or supplies; capabilities of producing wealth or supplying necessary wants; available means or capability of any kind.[51] Phrase: "Available assets and resources."[52]

RESPECT. [§ 1] A. As Noun. The voluntary tribute of the public to worth, virtue, and intelligence.[53]

Phrases: "In respect of,"[54] "in respect thereof,"[55] and "in respect to."[56]

NW 981.

[b] "Be it resolved" held included in the formula: "Be it enacted." In re Senate File 31, 25 Nebr. 864, 876, 41 NW 981.

"Be it resolved" as the form requisite to a resolution see Resolution ante note 86 [b].

[23] Webster Int. D. [quot Miguez v. Delcambre, 125 La. 176, 191, 51 S 108].

[24] Webster Int. D. [quot Miguez v. Delcambre, supra].

[25] See Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954.

[a] "Parliamentary rules of order everywhere make use of the word 'resolve' as the most apt in serving the legislative purpose." Moulton v. Scully, 111 Me. 428, 89 A 944, 954.

"Resolution" ante.

[26] See Disorderly Houses 18 C. J. p 1230.

"Entertainment" correlative see Entertainment 20 C. J. p 1268 text and note 92.

[27] Webster D. [quot In re Sic, 73 Cal. 142, 152, 14 P 405; State v. Fogg, 107 Me. 177, 77 A 714, 716 ("the natural meaning")].

[28] Webster D. [quot In re Sic, 73 Cal. 142, 152, 14 P 405].

[29] Webster D. [quot Bandalow v. Peo., 90 Ill. 218, 220].

[30] Webster D. [quot Bandalow v. Peo., supra].

"Assembly" 5 C. J. p 811.

"Meeting" 40 C. J. p 628.

[31] Webster D. [quot Bandalow v. Peo., 90 Ill. 218, 220].

[a] "As alehouses, or the resort of the idle and dissolute." Webster D. [quot Bandalow v. Peo., 90 Ill. 218, 220].

"Place of public resort" see Public § 70.

"Places of resort" see infra text and note 33.

[32] See Courts §§ 308, 445.

[33] In re Sic, 73 Cal. 142, 152, 14 P 405.

[34] See Public § 70.

[35] Davis v. State, 68 Tex. Cr. 259, 151 SW 313, 314. See also Gaming §§ 79–94.

[36] In re Delaware Bay, etc., R. Co., (N. J. Ch.) 11 A 261 263.

[37] In re Delaware Bay, etc., R. Co., supra (as used in a statute not including places where in general the occupants reside and do business the entire year).

[38] Webster D. [quot State v. Poggmeyer, 91 Kan. 633, 138 P 593, 594].

[39] State v. Poggmeyer, supra.

[40] State v. Seba, (Mo. A.) 200 SW 300.

"Frequent" 27 C. J. p 905.

[41] Winslow v. State, 5 Ind. A. 306, 315, 32 NE 98.

[42] State v. Owens, 9 Kan. A. 595, 58 P 240, 241.

[43] Burns v. Columbus, 13 OhNP NS 508, 517 [cit Cyc].

[44] State v. Owens, 9 Kan. A. 595, 58 P 240, 241.

[45] State v. Seba, (Mo. A.) 200 SW 300; and cases supra notes 39–44.

[46] See Disorderly Houses § 13 note 93 [a] (2).

[47] See Gaming § 87.

[48] State v. Poggmeyer, 91 Kan. 633, 138 P 593, 594.

[49] Peo. v. Gastro, 75 Mich. 127, 133, 42 NW 937; State v. Seba, (Mo. A.) 200 SW 300 ("the word . . . implies that the house was visited frequently by that class of persons" [quot O'Brien v. Peo., 28 Mich. 213, 214]).

[50] In re Sic, 73 Cal. 142, 152, 4 P 405; Com. v. Lambert, 12 Allen (Mass.) 177, 179; Peo. v. Gastro, 75 Mich. 127, 42 NW 937; Burns v. Columbus, 13 OhNPNS 508.

[a] Common occurrence.—Peo. v. Pinkerton, 79 Mich. 110, 115, 44 NW 180. See supra text and notes 42–44.

"Used:"

Equivalent see Disorderly Houses § 68 text and note 8.
Not equivalent see Disorderly Houses § 68 text and note 7; Intoxicating Liquors § 458 note 26.

[51] Webster D. [quot Ming v. Woolfolk, 3 Mont. 380, 386 (aff 116 U. S. 599, 6 SCt 489, 29 L. ed. 740)].

[a] Not necessarily money.—Sacry v. Lobree, 84 Cal. 41, 49, 23 P 1088 (a debtor may have ample resources to pay his debts as they become due, and yet have no money in his pocket or in bank).

[b] "Resources" of a county (1) include its land, timber, coal, crops, improvements, railways, factories, and everything that goes to make up its wealth or to render it desirable. Jefferson County v. Peter, 127 Ky. 453, 105 SW 887, 888, 32 KyL 374. (2) Products of farm, forest, manufacture, art and education. Shelby County v. Tennessee Centennial Exposition Co., 96 Tenn. 653, 666, 36 SW 694, 33 LRA 717 (construing a statute authorizing counties to appropriate money to provide for the exhibit of their resources at an exposition). (3) "In the broad and liberal sense, the public schools of a county may well be classed among her resources." Shelby County v. Tennessee Centennial Exposition Co., 96 Tenn. 653, 666, 36 SW 694, 33 LRA 717.

"Means" synonymous see 40 C. J. p 18 text and note 45.

[52] Rice v. Milwaukee, 100 Wis. 516, 519, 521, 76 NW 341 ("tangible property in the treasury, legally available, and properly applicable to the payment of debts, and readily convertible into money for that purpose" and the phrase does not include, as an offset against the city's debt, uncertain amounts receivable, such as a street railway tax or license dependent upon its earnings); Earles v. Wells, 94 Wis. 285, 298, 299, 68 NW 964, 59 AmSR 886.

[53] Stuart v. Peo., 4 Ill. 395, 405 (of courts); State v. Frew, 24 W. Va. 416, 439, 49 AmR 257 (of courts).

[a] Similar definition.—"Respect is the voluntary tribute of the people to worth, virtue, and intelligence." State v. Frew, 24 W. Va. 416, 478, 49 AmR 257 [quot Carter v. Com., 96 Va. 791, 813, 32 SE 780, 45 LRA 310].

[54] Woodruff v. Oswego Starch Factory, 70 App. Div. 481, 484, 74 NYS 961 ("in relation to" construing a covenant).

[55] Woodruff v. Oswego Starch Factory, supra.

[56] Muzzey v. Reardon, 57 N. H. 378, 381 (construing Gen. St. c 134 § 13, enabling a married woman holding property in her own right to sue and be sued upon contract made by her "in respect to" such property,

---

*By CHARLES REZNIKOFF (Resort—Restrictive inclusive).

[§ 2] B. As Verb, to be concerned with or to relate to.[57]

Phrase: "Respecting titles to land."[58]

RESPECTABLE. Worthy of respect;[59] deserving regard;[60] fitted to awaken esteem;[61] hence, of good repute;[62] not mean.[63]

Applied to witnesses "respectable" may mean "competent,"[64] "credible,"[65] or "reputable."[66]

Phrases: "Respectable and commendable burial,"[67] "respectable and responsible person,"[68] "'respectable' burial,"[69] "respectable character,"[70] and "respectable witnesses;"[71] also "not . . . a respectable house."[72]

RESPECTIVE.[73] Pertaining or relating severally to each of those under consideration;[74] relating to particular persons or things, each to each;[75] also particular;[76] several.[77]

Phrases: "Heirs of their respective bodies,"[78] "heirs of their respective body and bodies,"[79] "in proportion to their respective claims,"[80] "in the respective states,"[81] "respective heirs,"[82] "respective rights,"[83] "respective services,"[84] "several and respective heirs of the body,"[85] "several and respective heirs . . . of the several and respective bodies,"[86] "several and respective issues of their bodies,"[87] and "their respective heirs and assigns."[88]

"wherever a married woman has been held liable on her contracts, they were contracts made by her with reference to property which she held to her sole and separate use,—that is, contracts connected with and growing out of that property, and entered into with a view to improve, protect, use, enjoy, manage, or dispose of such property for her support or benefit"); Peo. v. Dowling, 84 N. Y. 478, 487 (construing statute providing that an indictment might be found for any crime committed "in respect to" freight in any county through which the train passed, "the word respect in [the statute] is not used with a clear notion of its primary or its acquired meaning. Yet it is plain that the legislature meant any offense which, in the doing of it, acted upon the freight as the subject of the commission of the offense. To receive the freight, after it had been stolen, with guilty knowledge was such an offense"); Peo. v. Clarke, 9 N. Y. 349, 368 (an action, not to recover the possession of lands but to vacate letters-patent, is "certainly a proceeding 'in respect to' lands, although not a suit or proceeding for lands").

[57] Webster New Int. D.

[58] Builders Supply Co. v. Hobbs, 169 Ga. 777, 151 SE 485; Brown v. Martin, 137 Ga. 338, 73 SE 495, 498, 39 LRANS 16; Marshall v. Whatley, 136 Ga. 805, 72 SE 244, 245, 36 LRANS 552; Norton v. Graham, 130 Ga. 391, 60 SE 1049; Hix v. Kiser, 103 Ga. 738, 30 SE 583; Saffold v. Scottish American Mortg. Co., 98 Ga. 785, 27 SE 208; Black v. Fritz, 98 Ga. 32, 25 SE 188; Beckwith v. McBride, 70 Ga. 642, 644; Bivins v. Bivins, 37 Ga. 346; Smith v. Bryan, 34 Ga. 53; Kennedy v. Smith, 23 Ga. A. 724, 99 SE 318; Batson v. Higginbothem, 7 Ga. A. 835, 68 SE 455, 456. See Courts § 465 text and note 41; Venue [40 Cyc 58 text and note 89].

[59] Webster D. [quot State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 90 SW 81, 87].

[60] Webster D. [quot State v. Spivey, supra].

[61] Webster D. [quot State v. Spivey, supra].

[62] Webster D. [quot State v. Spivey, supra].

[63] Webster D. [quot State v. Spivey, supra].

[64] Cox v. U. S., 5 Okl. 701, 707, 50 P 175 [cit Freleigh v. State, 8 Mo. 606]. See Criminal Law § 320 note 67 [a].

"Competent witness" see Competent 12 C. J. p 236 text and notes 36–39.

[65] See Criminal Law § 320 note 67 [a].

"Credible witness" 15 C. J. p 1347.

[66] Bowling v. Bowling, 8 Ala. 538, 539; State v. Spivey, 191 Mo. 87, 90 SW 81, 87 ("practically . . . the same thing").

"Reputable" ante.

[67] Peter v. Griffin, 184 Iowa 1061, 169 NW 441 (as used in a contract, does not include erection of a monument).

[68] See Landlord and Tenant § 78 note 42 [b].

[69] Seaton v. Com., 149 Ky. 498, 149 SW 871, 872, 42 LRANS 211 (a relative term, varying "with the financial and social standing of the deceased and his relatives, and not infrequently affected by the community and the rules of the religious, social or political organizations, of which the deceased may have been a member or with which he was affiliated").

[70] Woods v. Garvey, 82 Nebr. 776, 118 NW 1114 (application for liquor license). See also Intoxicating Liquors § 121.

[71] See supra text and notes 64–66.

[72] See Libel and Slander § 67 note 94 [a] (2).

[73] See also "Respectively" post.

[74] Standard D. [quot In re Stixrud, 58 Wash. 339, 109 P 343, 346, 33 LRANS 632, AnnCas1912A 850].

[75] Webster D. [quot Sandford v. Stagg, (N. J. Ch.) 150 A 187, 188].

[76] Standard D. [quot In re Stixrud, 58 Wash. 339, 109 P 343, 346, 33 LRANS 632, AnnCas1912A 850]; Webster D. [quot Sandford v. Stagg, (N. J. Ch.) 150 A 187, 188].

[77] Standard D. [quot In re Stixrud, 58 Wash. 339, 109 P 343, 346, 33 LRANS 632, AnnCas1912A 850]; Webster D. [quot Sandford v. Stagg, (N. J. Ch.) 150 A 187, 188].

[78] Williams v. Browne, Str. 996, 93 Reprint 991 (construing will) Comber v. Hill, Str. 969, 970, 93 Reprint 973.

Construction of wills see Wills [40 Cyc 1382 et seq].

[79] Watson v. Foxon, 2 East 36, 41, 102 Reprint 281 (in construing a will, per Kenyon, C. J., "but great stress is laid here on the word 'respective' as disjoining the title; and the authority of Lord Hardwicke is referred to. . . . No person regards whatever fell from that great judge with more reverence than I do; but it is unworthy of his great learning and ability to lay such stress as he is stated to have done on the word 'respective'). See infra text and note.

[80] Allen v. Danielson, 15 R. I. 480, 484, 8 A 705, 706, 707 (in an assignment for the benefit of creditors, "in proportion to the claims which they respectively held when the assignment was made," "not in proportion to their claims less the value of any securities which they hold").

[81] In re Stixrud, 58 Wash. 339, 109 P 343, 346, 33 LRANS 632, AnnCas 1912A 850 (construing treaty).

Construction of treaties in general see Treaties [38 Cyc 969].

[82] Sandford v. Stagg, (N. J. Ch.) 150 A 187, 188 (in holding that distribution under a will is to be made per stirpes, "the determining factor is the use of the word 'respective' in connection with use of the word 'heirs' "). But see Re Smith, 6 Ont WR 45, 46 (where a bequest is made to the children of A and B, "share and share alike, to hold unto and to the use of them and their respective heirs," etc., the children take per capita; "the word ['respective'] is used not in describing the beneficiaries but as part of a definition of the nature or quality of the estate they are to take"). Division per stirpes or per capita in general see Wills [40 Cyc 1490 et seq].

[83] Fuller v. Azusa Irr. Co., 138 Cal. 204, 214, 71 P 98.

[a] In a deed of water rights to a corporation from its stockholders, "what the words 'the respective rights as fixed by our agreement' mean is not clear. . . . The terms most likely referred to the general right to water as measured by the acreage owned by each stockholder." Fuller v. Azusa Irr. Co., 138 Cal. 204, 214, 71 P 98.

[84] U. S. v. Morton, 65 Fed. 204, 208, 13 CCA 151 (construing Act March 3, 1891 [26 U. S. St. at L. 826 § 9] "used to distinguish between the different classes of officers named").

[85] Leach v. Jackson [cit Comber v. Hill, 2 Str. 969, 971, 93 Reprint 974].

[86] Atherton v. Pye, 4 T. R. 710, 713.

[87] Davenport v. Oldis, 1 Atk. 579, 580, 26 Reprint 363 (where, by will, A devises land to his wife for life, and after her decease to his son and daughter, J and M, to be equally divided between them, and the several and respective issues of their bodies, and for want of such issue, to his wife in fee, the will will not create a cross remainder, for per Hardwicke, L. Ch., "the words 'several and respective' effectually disjoin the title"). Cross remainders see Deeds § 290; Estates § 139; Wills [40 Cyc 1642].

[88] Den v. Manners, 20 N. J. L. 142, 145 (as used in a will, the words "mean more than the quantity of estate the children . . . were to take. They seem to repel the idea of a survivorship"). Survivorship see Wills [40 Cyc 1507].

RESPECTIVELY.[89] As each belongs to each;[90] as relating to each;[91] as singly or severally considered;[92] each to each;[93] in particular;[94] singly in the order designated.[95] It is a word of division—of separation.[96]

Phrases: "After the present term of the officers hereinbefore named, respectively, shall have expired,"[97] "equally to our heirs at law respectively,"[98] "for themselves, their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, respectively,"[99] "inherit from its parents respectively,"[1] "in trust for my said children respectively,"[2] and "until my children shall respectively attain to the age of majority."[3]

RES PERIT DOMINO SUO.[4]

RES PER PECUNIAM ÆSTIMATUR, ET NON PECUNIA PER REM.[5]

RESPITE.[6] A delay, forbearance, or continuation of time;[7] a privilege granted to a debtor;[8] a postponement of execution;[9] a temporary suspension of the execution of a sentence;[10] the withholding of a sentence for an interval of time.[11]

Respite of appeal. Adjourning an appeal to some future time.[12]

RESPOND.[13] To answer.[14]

---

[89] Respectively:
Applied to assessment of damages see Death § 68 note 66 [a] (2).
Creating tenancy in common see Wills [40 Cyc 1637 text and note 55].
"Distributively" compared see Distributively 18 C. J. p 1292 text and note 8.
"Severally" synonymous see Severally [35 Cyc 1447 text and note 50].
"Respective" ante.

[90] Webster New Int. D. [quot State v. Gaughan, 124 Ark. 584, 187 SW 918, 920].

[a] "Alternately" synonymous.—"While the word 'respectively' is not given precisely the same meaning by lexicographers as the word 'alternately' yet the legislature used the word 'respectively' in the act of 1901 in the same sense as that of 1860 used the word 'alternately.'" Com. v. Conroy, 207 Pa. 212, 216, 56 A 427. Order of peremptory challenges see Juries § 482.

[b] "Severally" synonymous.—"Where the power to call a term was conferred originally upon the justices of the supreme court, not acting collectively or together, but severally; that is, upon each individual acting as circuit judge in his respective district, and in reference to the court over which he had authority to preside, and not in respect to the circuit court of some other district of which he was not primarily ex officio the judge, "severally" is "equivalent in meaning to 'respectively.'" Hanley v. Medford, 56 Or. 171, 108 P 188, 192. "Severally" defined as "respectively" see [35 Cyc 1447 text and note 50]. Authority to call special terms see Courts § 245.

[c] "Successively" synonymous.—Pery v. White, Cowp. 777, 781, 98 Reprint 1356. "Successively" [37 Cyc 512].

[91] Webster D. [quot State v. Gaughan, 124 Ark. 548, 187 SW 918; Wolf v. Lake Erie, etc., R. Co., 55 Oh. St. 517, 535, 45 NE 708, 36 LRA 812]; Theberath v. Celluloid Mfg. Co., 3 Fed. 143, 148 ("its obvious and most usual meaning").

[92] Standard D. [quot Wolf v. Lake Erie, etc., R. Co., 55 Oh. St. 517, 535, 45 NE 708, 36 LRA 812].

[93] Webster New Int. D. [quot State v. Gaughan, 124 Ark. 584, 187 SW 918, 920].

[94] Webster New Int. D. [quot State v. Gaughan, supra].

[95] Standard D. [quot Wolf v. Lake Erie, etc., R. Co., 55 Oh. St. 517, 535, 45 NE 708, 36 LRA 812.

[96] Alsop v. Russell, 38 Conn. 99, 103. See also infra text and note 3; Wills [40 Cyc 1637 text and note 55].

[97] Montgomery County v. Glass, 4 Kan. A. 286, 291, 45 P 935 ("'respectively,' . . . is intended to limit and qualify the words 'after the present term of the officers hereinbefore named shall have expired,' and applies to each of said officers singly; and as thus construed the act was to go into force, as to each officer named, as the term of his office expired, and for this reason this act is obnoxious to the constitutional provision requiring the legislature to fix a definite time for all of its acts to take effect").

[98] State v. Gaughan, 124 Ark. 548, 187 SW 918, 920 (construing a will, "we attach some, though not controlling, importance to the use of the word 'respectively'").

[99] Theberath v. Celluloid Mfg. Co., 3 Fed. 143, 148 (construing contract "it is not easy to say what the parties meant by its [the word 'respectively'] use").

[1] Messer v. Jones, 88 Me. 349, 355, 34 A 177 (construing a statute enumerating cases in which an illegitimate child might inherit from one of its parents, and further providing that "in either of the foregoing cases such child and its issue shall inherit from its parents respectively, and from their lineal and collateral kindred," "the right thus given to the child to inherit from the kindred of his respective parents is coextensive with his right to inherit from his respective parents. The use of the word respectively strengthens the construction thus given to the statute. The world conveys the idea that such child shall inherit, in each case, from the parent or parents, of whom the act has declared him to be an heir, and from the kindred of such parent or parents"). Right of inheritance see Bastards §§ 41–48.

[2] Lipman's App., 30 Pa. 180, 185, 72 AmD 692.

[3] Alsop v. Russell, 38 Conn. 99, 103 (in a will, "these are apt words, none more so could readily be chosen, to express the idea that each child on coming of age should take its portion of the estate").

[4] A maxim meaning "The destruction of the thing is the loss of its owner." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 2 Kent Comm. 591].

[a] Applied in: Haynes v. Second Baptist Church, 12 Mo. A. 536, 540.

[b] Other forms are: (1) "Res periit domino." Applied in: Stern v. Rosenthal, 56 Misc. 643, 644, 107 NYS 772. (2) "Res perit domino." Applied in: Alderman Bros. Co. v. Westinghouse Air Brake Co., 92 Conn. 419, 426, 103 A 267; Gage v. Libby, 14 Allen (Mass.) 261, 269; Boston, etc., Ice Co. v. Royal Ins. Co., 12 Allen (Mass.) 381, 90 AmD 151; Sammis v. Sly, 54 Oh. St. 511, 520, 44 NE 508, 56 AmSR 731; Diamond v. Harris, 33 Tex. 634, 637; Smith v. Drummond, 1 Cab. & E. 160; Espir v. Todd, 1 Cab. & E. 154, 155; Northern El. Co. v. Western Jobbers, 25 Man. 705, 714. (3) "Res perit suo domino." Applied in: Osborn v. Nicholson, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 654, 660, 20 L. ed. 689; Lewis v. Woodfolk, 2 Baxt. (Tenn.) 25, 46. (4) "Res suo perit domino." Applied in: Bayne v. Walker, 3 Dow. 233, 238, 3 Reprint 1049 ("the meaning of the maxim . . . is that no person is bound to answer the consequences of the accident")

[c] "Quoted in our law chiefly in a class of cases to which it did not apply in the Roman law." Harvard L. Rev. Vol 9 p 106 note 1.

[5] A maxim meaning "The value of a thing is estimated according to its worth in money, but the value of money is not estimated by reference to a thing." Black L. D.

[6] See also Criminal Law §§ 3041–3050 (suspension of sentence), §§ 3135–3138 (stay of execution), §§ 3139, 3140 (suspension of execution); Insolvency §§ 216–221; Pardons § 5 (reprieve).

[7] Bouvier L. D.; Wharton L. Lex. [both quot Mishler v. Com., 62 Pa. 55, 60, 1 AmR 377].

[8] Dauphin v. Soulie, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 446, 448.

[9] State v. Blaine County Eighteenth Judicial Dist. Ct., 73 Mont. 541, 237 P 525, 527.

[10] Bouvier L. D. [quot Mishler v. Com., 62 Pa. 55, 60, 1 AmR 377].

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) A temporary suspension of execution. State v. Blaine County Eighteenth Judicial Dist. Ct., 73 Mont. 541, 237 P 525, 528. (2) The suspension, for a time, of the execution of a sentence which has been pronounced. Butler v. State, 97 Ind. 373, 374 [quot 1 Bishop Cr. Proc. § 1299].

[b] "Reprieve" synonymous.—State v. Blaine County Eighteenth Judicial Dist. Ct., 73 Mont. 541, 237 P 525, 527. See Butler v. State, 97 Ind. 373, 374 [quot 1 Bishop Cr. Proc. § 1299] ("nearly synonymous"); Pardons § 5 note 12 [a] (5). "Reprieve" ante.

[11] State v. Blaine County Eighteenth Judicial Dist. Ct., 73 Mont. 541, 237 P 525, 527 [cit 4 Blackstone Comm. p 394].

[12] Black L. D.

Postponement of hearing see Appeal and Error § 2474.

[13] "Respondent" post.

[14] The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148.

[a] "To be accountable" synonymous.—The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148. "Accountable" 1 C. J. p 586.

[b] "Responsible" synonymous.—The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148. "Responsible" see post.

RESPONDEAT OUSTER.[15]

RESPONDEAT RAPTOR QUI IGNORARE NON POTUIT QUOD PUPILLUM ALIENUM ABDUXIT.[16]

RESPONDEAT SUPERIOR.[17] Literally, "Let the principal answer."[18]

RESPONDENT.[19] A party answering.[20] Any one who answers or responds may properly be called a "respondent."[21] "Respondent" is not a technical word, but is often used as meaning the defendant in a suit in personam or the claimant in a suit in rem.[22] Originally, "respondent" was the term used to designate the person against whom a bill in equity was exhibited;[23] the party who makes an answer to a bill or other proceeding in chancery;[24] the person upon whom an ordinary petition in the court of chancery, or a libel in admiralty is served, and who is, as it were, a defendant thereto.[25] It is used also to designate the party who makes an answer to a libel in divorce;[26] or him who contends against an appeal.[27]

Phrase: "Respondent or claimant."[28]

RESPONDENTIA.[29]

RESPONSIBILITY.[30] The primary meaning of "responsibility" is the state of being answerable for an obligation;[31] liability, obligation, bounden duty.[32] A secondary meaning is the ability to answer in payment,[33] the ability to pay.[34] "Responsibility," it has been said, includes judgment, skill, ability, capacity, and integrity,[35] and is implied by "power."[36]

Phrases: "Credit and responsibility,"[37] "his responsibility ceases as soon as the cargo is on board,"[38] and "responsibility of eviction."[39]

---

[15] See Judgments § 14 text and note 13. See also Pleading § 563 text and notes 6–11.

[16] A maxim meaning "Let the ravisher answer, for he could not be ignorant that he has taken away another's ward." Peloubet Leg. Max.

[a] Applied in: Moore v. Hussey, Hob. 93, 99, 80 Reprint 243.

[17] Respondeat superior:
Agency §§ 532–540 (liability of principal for torts of agent), § 533 note 19 [b] (reason for maxim).
Corporations §§ 2829–2861 (liability for torts of agents).
Counties § 274 (liability for torts of officers or agents).
Hospitals §§ 16, 17 (liability for torts of professional staff).
Master and Servant §§ 1451–1510 (liability of master upon doctrine of respondeat superior).
Municipal Corporations §§ 1715–1729 (liability for torts of officers or agents).
Negligence § 578 (of servant imputed to master).
Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 971 text and note 88 (maxim not applying to members of school board)].
States [36 Cyc 881, 882 (liability for torts of officers or agents)].

[18] Bouvier L. D.

[a] Origin.—"The maxim . . . was first applied to public officers by the Statute of Westminster the Second, Cap. 2, from the words of which statute it is taken." Larkin v. McNutt, 2 Pr. Edw. Isl. 300, 303.

[19] "Respond" ante.

[20] Burrill L. D. [quot State v. Duncan, 265 Mo. 26, 175 SW 940, 943, AnnCas1916D 1]. See Parties §§ 138–183.

[21] Lorenzen v. The Clavering, 2 Hawaii Fed. 32, 41 [quot Benedict Adm. § 363]. But see infrà notes [a], [b].

[a] In bankruptcy, one whose property has been seized as that of the bankrupt, on petition of a creditor and the ancillary receiver, is not entitled to recover costs, expenses, and attorney's fees expended in recovering possession in the bankruptcy court, but must bring an independent action, for such owner is not a "respondent" in involuntary proceedings, within Bankruptcy Act § 3e (11 U. S. C. A. § 21). In re Comins, 1 F. (2d) 388. Costs and fees see Bankruptcy §§ 780–790.

[b] In a quo warranto proceeding "this designation ['respondent'] of a defendant, or him who answers (the history of the law regarded), belongs more nearly to equity and proceedings in admiralty, than to the common law side, yet the great weight of practice is to so style a defendant . . ., and while outside the great weight of practice as shown by the text books and the adjudged cases, there is not any very satisfactory reason in either analogy, history, or logic to style him a respondent who in a proceeding in quo warranto is called on to make his answer, yet such is by the weight of authority the well-nigh universal practice, and we ought to defer to it, so that uniformity may serve to prevent confusion and avoid obscurity." State v. Duncan, 265 Mo. 26, 36, 175 SW 940, AnnCas1916D 1. See Quo Warranto §§ 49–51.

[22] Lorenzen v. The Clavering, 2 Hawaii Fed. 32, 41 [quot Benedict Adm. § 363].

"Claimant" in admiralty proceeding see Claimant 11 C. J. p 825 text and notes 4, 5. See also Admiralty §§ 151, 152.

[23] Brower v. Nellis, 6 Ind. A. 323, 33 NE 672, 673. See also Equity §§ 253–356.

[24] Black L. D.

[25] Black L. D.

[26] Bouvier L. D. See Divorce §§ 232–238.

"Corespondent" 13 C. J. p 1236.

[27] Black L. D. See also Appeal and Error §§ 970–973.

[28] Lorenzen v. The Clavering, 2 Hawaii Fed. 32, 41 ("claimant" and "respondent" synonymous in a rule of court providing that "the respondent or claimant" may make an offer, "claimant", not referring especially to the ship). See supra text and note 22.

[29] See Shipping [36 Cyc 180].

[30] See Responsible post.

Tests of see Criminal Law §§ 74–80.

[31] Niagara Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Hibbard, 179 Fed. 844, 848, 103 CCA 330.

[32] Crockett v. Barre, 66 Vt. 269, 272, 29 A 147 [quot Sams v. Cochran, etc., Co., 188 N. C. 731, 125 SE 626, 629].

[a] "Liability" synonymous.—Lovitt v. Snowball, 32 N. B. 217, 227 (per Allen, C. J., construing charter-party [cit Encyclopedic D.; Imperial D.]). See also Liability 36 C. J. p 1050. But see Lovitt v. Snowball, 32 N. B. 217, 230 (per Palmer, J., "It is true the word 'liability' may be more strictly applicable to a known ascertained debt, and 'responsibility' may be more applicable to something in the future that may be more or less uncertain, or that may or may not attach; and there may be some show of reason for saying that it would not aptly express an ascertained debt actually due at the time the responsibility was to cease"); Schofield v. Gibson, 17 N. B. 619, 625 (per Duff, J., "assuming that the two terms are synonymous, which I much doubt").

[b] In French law, responsabilité is distinguished from garantie. See 2 Sourdal Traité de Responsabilité No. 760 [quot Central Vermont R. Co. v. La Compagnie d'Assur., etc., 2 Quebec Q. B. 450, 452] (civil responsibility has a place independent of agreement between the responsible party and the other); 3 Dalloz Dictionnaire du Droit, art 1 No. 4 [quot Central Vermont, etc., R. Co. v. La Compagnie d'Assur., etc., supra] (the responsibility is not derived from contract, but from that natural principle of justice that each repairs the damage caused by his act).

[33] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Hawley, (S. D.) 115 NW 93, 95 ("ability to respond in damages for actual injuries" is the meaning of the word as used in Dak. St. [1907] c 194 § 1, requiring evidence of responsibility of owners of tree nurseries desiring to sell nursery stock within the state)].

[34] Niagara Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Hibbard, 179 Fed. 844, 848, 103 CCA 330.

[35] State v. Rickards, 16 Mont. 145, 151, 40 P 210, 50 AmSR 476, 28 LRA 298.

[36] See Power 49 C. J. p 1241 text and note 19.

[37] Norris v. Graham, 33 Md. 56, 58 (an instruction that if the jury find from the evidence that the wood in question was furnished "on the credit and responsibility of the defendant," then the verdict must be for the plaintiff is erroneous; "the credit and responsibility of a party may attach as well to his liability as security as to his sole undertaking. When, therefore, the general term 'credit and responsibility' is used, it

RESPONSIBLE.[40] A word of many different meanings.[41] In one sense the word is synonymous with "accountable;"[42] as accountable to a judge, master, creditor, ruler, or rightful superior;[43] "answerable,"[44] legally or morally, for the discharge of a duty, trust, debt, service, or other obligation;[45] "bound;"[46] subject to obligations;[47] and in this sense the word includes to some extent "trust."[48] In its other sense, the word means ability to respond;[49] reliable;[50] and in this sense it is an appropriate word to designate one who is able to discharge an obligation, or having an estate adequate to the payment of a debt,[51] to respond or answer for one's conduct or obligations,[52] or to respond or answer in accordance with what is expected or demanded;[53] and in this sense, the word applied to an undertaking to pay money only means "financial ability."[54] Strictly speaking, the word means "liable," "answerable," rather than "able to discharge an obligation."[55]

Responsible bidder.[56] The words "responsible bidder" generally carry the idea of being able to respond or to answer according to what is expected or demanded under the contract;[57] one who is not only financially responsible, but who is possessed of the judgment, skill, ability, capacity and integrity requisite and necessary to perform the contract according to its terms.[58] By statute,[59] the term may exclude nonresidents.[60]

Other phrases: "Articles usually kept in stock . . . for which the assured is held to be responsible,"[61] "be held responsible,"[62] "be responsible,"[63] "competent and responsible person,"[64] "individualmay include a collateral as well as an original and exclusive liability").

---

"Credit" 15 C. J. p 1348.

38. Lovitt v. Snowball, 32 N. B. 217; Schofield v. Gibson, 17 N. B. 619 (construing charter party).

39. Muller v. Bernstein, 198 Ill. A. 104.

40. Promise to be responsible see Guaranty § 6 text and notes 61, 62.

"Responsibility" post.

41. Gravelle v. Pollock Stores Co., 131 Okl. 20, 267 P 473, 475.

42. Century D. [quot The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148]; Webster D. [quot Bright v. Ball, 138 Miss. 508, 103 S 236, 237; Gutta-Percha Co. v. Stokely, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 219, 221]; Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Schlein, 32 F. (2d) 937; Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 661, 43 NE 760.

"In that sense, a bidder, entering into a contract, becomes responsible for its fulfillment." Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 651, 43 NE 760.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) Liable to account. Webster D. [quot Gutta-Percha Co. v. Stokely, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 219, 221]. (2) Liable to accounting. Webster D. [quot Bright v. Ball, 138 Miss. 508, 103 S 236, 237].

"Accountable" 1 C. J. p 586.

43. Century D. [quot The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148].

44. Century D. [quot The Mary F. Barrett, supra]; Webster D. [quot Bright v. Ball, 138 Miss. 508, 103 S 236, 237; Gutta-Percha Co. v. Stokely, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 219, 221]; Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 661, 43 NE 760.

"Answerable" 3 C. J. p 228.

45. Century D. [quot The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148]; Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 661, 43 NE 760.

46. Century D. [quot The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 334, 25 ALR 148].

47. Century D. [quot The Mary F. Barrett, supra].

48. Leader Printing Co. v. Lowry, 9 Okl. 89, 96, 59 P 242 ("the element of trust embraced in the word 'responsible' as used in the statute [providing that the governor is to contract with a 'responsible person' to do the printing, etc., for the territory] would be a confident opinion or expectation that the person to whom the printing a contract is let will faithfully carry out its provisions; in other words, the contract should be let to some trustworthy person. The element of trust embraced in the word 'responsible' is not that trust which alone induces contracts, and by reason thereof takes them out of the general rule of assignment, because the governor is required to take a bond for the faithful performance thereof").

49. Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 660, 43 NE 760.

"In that sense, 'responsible' means to be able to answer or respond in accordance with what is expected or demanded, and to discharge a claim or duty. Peo. v. Kent, supra.

[a] "The scope of the term depends upon the subject-matter to which it is applied. If it is applied to a surety, or to the maker of a bond, note, or other instrument, to be satisfied or discharged by the payment of money, it means ability to discharge the obligation under which the party is thereby placed, by the payment of the sum of money. So far as such an obligation is concerned, financial ability makes a party responsible; and, perhaps, on account of the frequency of such obligations, this is the sense in which it is most often used. But a party may be bound or obliged by duty or contract to meet and discharge claims and obligations other and different from the payment of money, such as a trust or the keeping of stipulations or conditions; and in such cases 'responsibility' means ability to perform or discharge what may be expected or demanded under the duty or contract." Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 661, 43 NE 760. See also infra text and notes 50–54. But see Middendorf v. Alexander Milburn Co., 137 Md. 583, 113 A 348, 354 ("a broker might be 'responsible' without being efficient, honest, or loyal").

50. Peo. v. Kent, 160 Ill. 655, 660, 43 NE 760.

51. Webster D. [quot Bright v. Ball, 138 Miss. 508, 103 S 236, 237; Gutta Percha Co. v. Stokely, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 219, 221].

[a] Similar definition.—"Able to pay a sum for which he is or may become liable, or to discharge an obligation which he may be under." Black L. D. [quot Sams v. Cochran, etc., Co., 188 N. C. 731, 125 SE 626, 629].

52. Gravelle v. Pollock Stores Co., 131 Okl. 20, 267 P 473, 475.

53. Webster D. [quot State v. Nebraska State Institutions, 105 Nebr. 570, 181 NW 530, 531; Peo. v. Dorsheimer, 55 HowPr (N. Y.) 118, 119].

54. Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 SE 225, 227 (but in a statute for letting contracts for public improvements, which requires a "responsible bidder," it has the wider meaning of ability to respond to the requirements of the contract). See supra note 51. See also infra text and note 55.

55. Farley v. Day, 26 N. H. 527, 531 (used in the latter sense in a statute requiring that a writ be indorsed by some "responsible person," where the plaintiff resides out of the state) [quot Sams v. Cochran, etc., Co., 188 N. C. 731, 125 SE 626, 629]. See Costs § 523 note 80 [b].

56. "Lowest responsible bidder" see Counties § 247 note 25 [a]; Law 38 C. J. p 325 text and note 28; Municipal Corporations §§ 2208, 2510–2514; States [36 Cyc 875].

57. Bright v. Ball, 138 Miss. 508, 103 S 236, 237.

58. Wilson v. Lord-Young Engineering Co., Ltd., 21 Hawaii 87, 94.

59. See statutory provisions.

60. Dixon-Paul Printing Co. v. Board of Public Contracts, 117 Miss. 83, 77 S 908 (Const. [1890] § 107, providing that contracts for printing be let to "lowest bidder" and giving the legislature power to regulate letting of contracts, not violated by L. [1916] c 135 § 1, defining "responsible bidder" as excluding nonresidents without a printing plant in the state).

61. Lake v. Simmons, [1926] 2 K. B. 51. See Burglary and Theft Insurance 9 C. J. p 1095 et seq.

[a] "Goods held in trust or for which they are responsible."—North British, etc., Ins. Co. v. London, etc., Ins. Co., 5 Ch. D. 569, 578 [quot Engel v. Lancashire, etc., Assur. Co., 41 T. L. R. 408 (the responsibility in question legal liability only, not the general responsibility of a bailee for goods entrusted to him)].

62. The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 335, 25 ALR 148 (construing Harter Act § 3 [Comp. St. § 8031] "answerable, accountable, liable—'for damages or loss resulting from faults or error in navigation' "). See Shipping [36 Cyc 377–379].

63. See Bailments § 43 text and note 45.

64. Matter of Mang, 50 N. Y. Super. 96 (construing Code Civ. Proc. § 469 providing that guardian of infant ly responsible,"[65] "personally responsible,"[66] "responsible citizens,"[67] "responsible for damage or loss resulting from failure and error in navigation,"[68] "responsible man,"[69] "responsible person,"[70] "stand responsible for the payment of the goods,"[71] "that responsible bidder who offers the terms most advantageous to the city,"[72] "that such lands are responsible for damages to low lands from seepage and saturation by irrigation water,"[73] "will not be responsible for any package exceeding the value of" [a specified amount],[74] and "will not be responsible for articles left by passengers at the station."[75]

RESPONSIO UNIUS NON OMNINO AUDIATUR.[76]

RESPONSIVENESS.[77]

RES PRIVATÆ SUNT QUÆ SINGULORUM SUNT.[78]

RES PROFECTO STULTA EST NEQUITIÆ MODUS.[79]

RES PROPRIA EST QUÆ COMMUNIS NON EST.[80]

RES PUBLICA EST CŒTUS MULTITUDINIS JURIS CONSENSU, ET UTILITAS COMMUNIONE.[81]

RES QUÆ INTRA PRÆSIDIA PERDUCTÆ NONDUM SUNT, QUANQUAM AB HOSTIBUS OCCUPATÆ, IDEO POSTLIMINII NON EGENT, QUIA DOMINUM NONDUM MATURUNT EX GENTIUM JURE.[82]

RES SACRA NON RECIPIT ÆSTIMATIONEM.[83]

RES STULTA EST NEQUITIÆ MODUS.[84]

RES SUA NEMINI SERVIT.[85]

RES SUO PERIT DOMINO.[86]

REST. As a noun, freedom from activity;[87] also what is left or remainder;[88] a stopping place.[89] plaintiff be "competent and responsible person").

---

[65] See Individually 31 C. J. p 885 note 73 [a].

[66] See Personally 48 C. J. p 1049 text and note 17.

[67] Yale College v. Runkle, 8 Fed. 576, 580 (where a bequest was conditional upon "responsible citizens" of the place pledging a sum for the same purpose within six months after the testator's decease, a number of subscriptions for small amounts by a large number of persons of limited means, some of them conditional, was not a subscription by "responsible citizens").

[68] The Mary F. Barrett, 279 Fed. 329, 25 ALR 148 (construing Harter Act § 3 [Comp. St. § 8031]). See Shipping [36 Cyc 377–379].

[69] Clopton v. Cozart, 21 Miss. 363, 368 (where a certificate to enable one to purchase goods on credit stated that he was a "responsible man," "responsible, in that connection, must have been intended to mean capability to discharge an obligation. It conveyed the idea that he possessed the means of making payment").

Representation of financial condition see Fraud §§ 92–115.

[70] Robertson v. Robertson, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 387, 388 (where a rule of court provided that the next friend of the wife who prosecuted a suit for divorce should be "a responsible person," "by the term . . . is meant that the next friend should be possessed of property sufficient to pay the costs which may be adjudged against him, if in the end it should appear that the suit was instituted without any reasonable or justifiable cause. The statute having fixed the amount of security for costs in this court at two hundred and fifty dollars, the next friend should, by analogy, be worth at least that sum over and above all his debts"); Leader Printing Co. v. Lowry, 9 Okl. 89, 96, 59 P 242, 244 (a statute requiring the governor to contract with some responsible person [to do the printing, etc., for the territory], "only means that the governor shall contract with some person who is able to do the printing and discharge the obligations required of him"). See Costs § 523 note 80 [b].

[71] Gravelle v. Pollock Stores Co., 131 Okl. 20, 267 P 473, 475 ("most people would understand, by the expression, that the customer agreed to pay for the goods"). See Guaranty § 2.

[72] McDermott v. Jersey City Street, etc., Comrs., 56 N. J. L. 273, 275 (construing city charter).

"Responsible bidder" supra text and notes 56–57.

[73] In re Canyon County Drain. Dist. No. 1, 29 Ida. 377, 161 P 315, 320 (construing Sess. L. (1915) § 9a, "physically responsible, whether legally responsible . . . or not").

[74] Pratt v. South Eastern R. Co., [1897] 1 Q. B. 718, 720, 721 ("not be responsible at all [either for loss or damage]").

[75] Pratt v. South Eastern R. Co., supra ("responsible not only for damage to, but also for the loss of, the article").

[76] A maxim of the Roman law of evidence meaning "The answer of one witness shall not be heard at all." Black L. D. See Watson v. Palmer, 5 Ark. 501, 505 ("the general rule is that where a material fact is put in issue by the answer, courts of equity follow the maxim of the civil law").

[77] Responsiveness:
Admiralty § 195 (answer).
Criminal Law § 2203 (evidence, motion to strike out), § 2587 (verdict).
Depositions § 209 (answers).
Discovery § 35 text and notes 91–96 (answer), § 39 text and notes 26, 27 (answer as evidence), § 91 (answers to interrogatories).
Dower § 326 (plea or answer).
Equity § 573 (answer), §§ 695, 696 (answer as evidence).
Mandamus § 612 (return or answer).
Partnership § 942 (answer or plea).
Pleading § 222 (plea or answer).
Sales [35 Cyc 554 (plea, answer, or affidavit of defense)].
Trade-Marks, Trade Names, and Unfair Competition [38 Cyc 897 (answer)].
Trial [38 Cyc 1374 (answer, motion to strike out), 1435 (answer to improper question), 1884 (verdict), 1925 (special interrogatories, verdict, or findings)].
Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1867 (plea or answer)].
Waste [40 Cyc 531 (plea or answer)].
Witnesses [40 Cyc 2444 (answers), 2520 (answers on cross-examination)].

[78] A maxim meaning "Private things are those which belong to one individual, and are not common to all." Morgan Leg. Max.

[79] A maxim meaning "There is no mean in wickedness." Morgan Leg. Max. See Res Stulta Est Nequitiæ Modus post.

[80] A maxim meaning "A thing is private which is not common." Peloubet Leg. Max.

[a] Applied in: Le Breton v. Miles, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 261, 270.

[81] A maxim meaning "A commonwealth is the assemblage of a multitude, by a legal agreement, with a mutual participation of advantage." Morgan Leg. Max.

[82] A maxim meaning "Things which have not yet been introduced within the enemy's lines, although held by the enemy, do not need the fiction of postliminy on this account, because their ownership by the law of nations has not yet changed." Black L. D. [cit 3 Grotius de Jure Bellum c 6 § 3, c 9 § 16]. See Postliminy 49 C. J. p 1122.

[83] A maxim meaning "A sacred thing does not admit of valuation." Bouvier L. D.

[84] A maxim meaning "A stupid act is a manner of wickedness." Lofft Max. No. 208. See also Res Profecto Stulta Est Nequitiæ Modus ante. But see Morgan Leg. Max ("Moderation in wickedness adds foolishness to crime").

[85] A maxim meaning "No one can have a servitude over his own property." Trayner Leg. Max.

[a] Other form: "Res sua nemini jure servitutis servit." Cortes v. Yu-Tibo, 2 Philippine 24, 38.

[86] See Res Perit Domino Suo ante.

[87] Webster New Int. D.

"Surplusage" distinguished see Surplusage [37 Cyc 614 text and note 72].

[88] Webster New Int. D.

Phrases:
"All the rest and residue" see All § 3 text and note 85; Wills [40 Cyc 565 note 61].
"All the rest, residue, and remainder" see Wills [40 Cyc 1567 text and notes 76, 77, 1568 note 80].
"Rest and residue" see Wills [40 Cyc 1568 note 80].
"Rest of my estate" see Wills [40 Cyc 1568 note 80].

"Residue" synonymous see Residue ante.

"Rest" in residuary clause see Wills [40 Cyc 1563].

[89] Webster New Int. D.

As adjective the word may be used[90] as in the phrase "rest home."[91]

RESTAURANT.[92] [§ 1] A. As Noun. The word has no defined meaning.[93] It seems to be used indiscriminately for all places[94] where refreshments can be had,[95] from a mere eating house or workshop[96] to any other place where eatables are furnished to be consumed on the premises,[97] to the more common shops or stores, where the chief business is vending articles of consumption and confectionery, and the furnishing of eatables to be consumed on the premises is subordinate;[98] an eating house;[99] an establishment for the sale of refreshments, both food and drink;[1] an establishment where meals and refreshments are served;[2] an establishment where refreshments or meals may be procured by the public;[3] a house where liquors and cooked food are sold;[4] a place for refreshment;[5] a place to which a person resorts for the temporary purpose of obtaining a meal or something to eat;[6] a place where any person who conducts himself properly and is able and willing to pay for same has a right to demand that food be furnished him;[7] a place where eatables can be obtained at all reasonable hours,[8] and not a mere drinking house;[9] a place where meals and refreshments are served;[10] a place where meals are served;[11] a place where refreshments and meals are provided to order,[12] especially one not connected with an hotel;[13] a place where refreshments, food, and drink are served;[14] a place where something to eat, ready prepared, or which can readily be prepared, may be obtained;[15] a place where viands are sold, and not where intoxicants are dispensed;[16] a public eating house;[17] a public eating place;[18] the dining-room of an hotel conducted on the European plan.[19] "Cafe" has been said to be a synonymous term.[20] A restaurant may be in addition a "dramshop"[21] a "saloon,"[22] or a "tippling house."[23] "Res-

---

Rest in computing interest see Executors and Administrators § 510; Guardian and Ward § 248; Interest § 167; Trusts [39 Cyc 428 et seq]; Usury [39 Cyc 951].

90. See Sherman v. Congregational Home Missionary Soc., 176 Mass. 349, 351, 57 NE 702.

91. Sherman v. Congregational Home Missionary Soc., supra (as used in a will, devising property for the establishment of a rest home for worthy working girls, a place of rest for girls who are working for small wages where they may go and board in the country at a low price). See also Charities 11 C. J. p 297 et seq.

"Home" 29 C. J. p 767.

92. Restaurant:
Civil Rights § 18 (discrimination).
Constitutional Law § 428 (public morals).
Gaming § 152 (prohibited).
Intoxicating Liquors § 228 note 15 [k] (sale prohibited).
Licenses § 73 text and note 29.
Municipal Corporations § 565 (regulation), § 4026 (in public park).
"Refreshment saloon" 53 C. J. p 1063.
Sunday [37 Cyc 553 (open on)].
"Victualers" [40 Cyc 204].

93. Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 60 Mich. 420, 426, 27 NW 586; State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705. See Lewis v. Hitchcock, 10 Fed. 4, 6 ("In Webster's Dictionary it is not even recognized as a word yet Anglicised"). See also Innkeepers § 4 note 34.

94. As a "place" see 48 C. J. p 1211 text and note 71.

95. Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 60 Mich. 420, 426, 27 NW 586; State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705. But see Ex p. Lemon, 143 Cal. 558, 77 P 455, 456, 65 LRA 946 ("it is clear that as a general rule a restaurant . . . where the meals are wholly cooked and served by the proprietor and members of his family, must be a very small affair, hardly rising to the dignity of a 'restaurant' ").

96. Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 60 Mich. 420, 426, 27 NW 586; State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705.

"Cookshop" 13 C. J. p 931.

"Eating house" 19 C. J. p 1008.

97. State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705.

98. Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 60 Mich. 420, 426, 27 NW 586.

99. Century D. [quot Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. A. 50]; Webster D. [quot Cecil v. Green, 60 Ill. A. 61, 63 ("Webster's only definition of 'restaurant.' " "Eating house" defined as "a house where provisions are sold ready cooked, and generally eaten on the premises"); Cleveland v. O'Neil, 4 Pa. C. Pl. 148, 149]; Lewis v. Hitchcock, 10 Fed. 4, 6 ("as currently understood, only, or chiefly, an eating house"); State v. Hogan, 30 N. H. 268, 272; In re Liquor Licenses, 4 Montg. Co. (Pa.) 77, 79; Savage v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 199, 88 SW 351, 353; Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417, 419; Rex v. Wells, 24 Ont. L. 77, 81, 2 OntWN 1232, 19 OntWR 452, 18 CanCrCas 377.

1. Century D. [quot Page v. District of Columbia, 20 App. (D. C.) 469, 475 (the "modern definition"); Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. A. 50].

2. Standard Brewing Co. v. Weil, 129 Md. 487, 99 A 661, 663 [cit Century D.; Webster D.].

3. Webster D. [quot Ft. Smith v. Gunter, 106 Ark. 371, 154 SW 181; Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. A. 50, 52; Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417, 419].

4. Encyclopedia D. [quot Page v. District of Columbia, 20 App. (D. C.) 469, 475].

5. Encyclopedia D. [quot Page v. District of Columbia, supra].

"Places of refreshment" 53 C. J. p 1063.

6. State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705.

7. Debenham v. Short, (Tex. Civ. A.) 199 SW 1147, 1148.

8. In re Liquor Licenses, 4 Montg. Co. (Pa.) 77, 79.

9. In re Liquor Licenses, supra.

10. Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417.

11. Century D. [quot Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. A. 50].

12. Rex v. Wells, 24 Ont. L. 77, 81, 2 OntWN 1232, 19 OntWR 452, 18 Can CrCas 377.

13. Rex v. Wells, supra.

14. State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705 ("generally understood") [quot Manesis v. Sulunias, 150 Ga. 315, 103 SE 459, 460].

"Whether they [refreshments, food and drink] are served to guests seated at a table or on stools at a counter does not affect the definition; that being merely a detail in the operation of the restaurant." State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705 [quot Manesis v. Sulunias, 150 Ga. 315, 103 SE 459, 460].

[a] For example, where one "had no tables in his place, but had a counter with stools arranged along in front of it, and to the guests seated on these stools he sold lunches, wieners, and egg sandwiches," this was "strictly a restaurant business." State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705.

15. State v. Hogan, 30 N. H. 268, 372; Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417, 419.

16. Savage v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 199, 88 SW 351, 356. But see Lewis v. Hitchcock, 10 Fed. 4, 6 ("not infrequently a bar forms part of it"); Babb v. Elsinger, 147 NYS 98, 99 ("in a restaurant . . . food is supplied, though the furnishing of drinks, spirituous or otherwise, is not necessarily excluded").

17. Webster D. [quot Ft. Smith v. Gunter, 106 Ark. 371, 154 SW 181; Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. A. 50, 52; Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417, 419].

18. San Francisco v. Larsen, 165 Cal. 179, 131 P 366, 367.

19. Rex v. Wells, 24 Ont. L. 77, 81, 2 OntWN 1232, 19 OntWR 452, 18 Can CrCas 377.

20. State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705 ("in common parlance, and . . . as used in the statute [Sunday closing]"); Rex v. Wells, 24 Ont. L. 77, 81, 2 OntWN 1232, 19 OntWR 452, 18 CanCrCas 377.

21. Scanlon v. Denver, 38 Colo. 401, 88 P 156, 157.

"Dramshop" 19 C. J. p 761.

22. Lendholm v. Peo., 55 Colo. 467, 136 P 70 (in its generic sense the word "saloon" includes "restaurant"). But see Lendholm v. Peo., 55 Colo. 467, 136 P 70, 72 (per Gabbert, J., dissenting, "No one would think of designating a . . . regular restaurant, where liquors are furnished in connection with meals, a saloon").

"Saloon" [35 Cyc 714].

23. Scanlon v. Denver, 38 Colo. 401, 88 P 156, 157 (Denver City Ordinance [1892] No. 102 § 1, providing that no person or corporation within the city shall directly or indirectly sell or give away any intoxicating or malt liquors, taurant" has been defined by an ordinance as "every place where food or refreshments of any kind—not including spirituous, vinous or malt liquors—are prepared for casual visitors and sold for consumption therein."[24]

"Restaurant" held not to include: An apartment where only soft drinks are sold, at a single stand and by the glass;[25] a boarding house;[26] a concert saloon;[27] a drug store selling soda water and ice cream;[28] a hotel;[29] an inn;[30] an ordinary;[31] a place merely for the sale of soft drinks, cigars, cigarettes, and ice cream;[32] a place of amusement;[33] a shop or store,[34] used merely for the manufacture and sale of tobacco, snuff, and cigars.[35]

Phrases: "Business of operating a restaurant,"[36] "public restaurant,"[37] and "servant-girl at a restaurant."[38]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective. The word is sometimes employed as an adjective,[39] as in the phrase "restaurant business."[40]

Restaurant keeper[41] is a caterer[42] who keeps a place for serving meals, and provides, prepares, and cooks raw materials to suit the taste of his patrons,[43] and who has been distinguished from an "innkeeper,"[44] a merchant, manufacturer, or tradesman,[45] and "saloon keeper."[46]

RESTAURATEUR.[47]

REST HOME.[48]

RESTITUABLE. By statute[49] defined as "cannot be relieved against."[50]

RESTITUTIO IN INTEGRUM. A phrase, originally of the civil law, meaning "Restoration or restitution to the previous condition."[51]

RESTITUTION.[52] [§ 1] A. In General. Act of making good, or of giving an equivalent for any to be drunk on the premises where sold or given away, without a license first obtained from the city, was applicable to a person who was a bona fide restaurant keeper, and who sold liquor only to customers to be drunk only in connection with a meal). But see cases infra notes 24–35 passim.

---

[24] Louisville License Ord. § 37 [quot New Galt House v. Louisville, 111 SW 351, 352, 33 KyL 869, 17 LRA NS 566].

[25] Cecil v. Green, 60 Ill. A. 61, 63.

[26] See cases infra this note.

[a] Boarding house is "less public in character and . . . [arranges] with its guests to provide for them during some more or less definite period." State v. Brown, 112 Kan. 814, 212 P 663, 664, 31 ALR 338 [quot Independence v. Richardson, 117 Kan. 656, 232 P 1044].

"Boarding house" 8 C. J. p 1132.

[27] Cleveland v. O'Neil, 4 Pa. C. Pl. 148, 149.

[28] In re Henery, 124 Iowa 358, 100 NW 43, 44.

[29] Debenham v. Short, (Tex. Civ. A.) 199 SW 1147, 1148. See also Intoxicating Liquors § 109 note 81 [a].

[a] In common parlance, a restaurant is never denominated a "hotel," nor a hotel a "restaurant." Debenham v. Short, (Tex. Civ. A.) 199 SW 1147, 1148.

[30] See Innkeepers § 4.

[31] See Ordinary 46 C. J. p 1135 note 49 [b].

[32] Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417, 419.

[33] Cleveland v. O'Neil, 4 Pa. C. Pl. 148, 149.

[34] Debenham v. Short, (Tex. Civ. A.) 199 SW 1147, 1148 ("a restaurant, notwithstanding cigars are sold in it . . . is not a 'store' or a 'shop' within the popular meaning of those words"). But see Davidson v. Chinese Republic Restaurant Co., 201 Mich. 389, 167 NW 967, 969 ("One eats, perhaps drinks, in a restaurant, pays for what is served, and goes away. The business resembles more nearly that of a storekeeper [than that of an inn] who sells wares to the public, which is invited to come and inspect and buy or decline to buy what is offered for sale").

"Shop" [36 Cyc 431].

"Store" [36 Cyc 1326].

[35] State v. Hogan, 30 N. H. 268, 273.

[36] Donahue v. Conant, (Vt.) 146 A 417, 419.

[37] Rex v. Mercier, (Que.) 6 Can CrCas 44.

"Public" as an adjective 50 C. J. p 845.

[38] Cleveland v. O'Neil, 4 Pa. C. Pl. 148, 149 (does not include a girl employed as a singer and dancer in a concert saloon among those entitled to a preferred lien for wages).

[39] See cases infra notes 40–46.

[40] State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705.

[a] "Business of manufacturing or selling goods" distinguished.—San Francisco v. Larsen, 165 Cal. 179, 131 P 366, 367.

"Mercantile pursuit" as not including a restaurant see Mercantile 40 C. J. p 634 note 24 [a] (8), (9).

"Restaurant keeper" distinguished from merchant or tradesman see Restaurant Keeper post.

[41] Restaurant keeper:
Aliens § 88 ("Chinese laborer").
Food § 28 (notice of imitation or substitute), § 95 (liability for injury or loss).
Innkeepers § 61 (loss of patron's property), § 69 (injury to patron).
Trader as not including see Trader [38 Cyc 916].
"Victualing house" [40 Cyc 204].
See also Restaurant ante; Restaurateur post.

[42] "Caterer" 11 C. J. p 33.

[43] In re Ah Yow, 59 Fed. 561, 562; State v. Shoaf, 179 N. C. 744, 102 SE 705.

[44] See cases infra this note. See also Innkeepers §§ 4, 7 note 52 [b].

[a] Restaurant keeper differs from an innkeeper (1) in that he furnishes only food, or food and drink, and not lodging or shelter. Merrill v. Hodson, 88 Conn. 314, 91 A 533, 534 [cit Beale Innkeepers §§ 35, 301]. (2) The keeper of a restaurant, so far as the term is used to designate a mere eating house, where no provision is made for lodging the guest, is not an innkeeper. Independence v. Richardson, 117 Kan. 656, 232 P 1044, 1046 [quot State v. Brown, 112 Kan. 814, 212 P 663, 664, 31 ALR 338]. (3) The keeper of a restaurant who has no beds for the accommodation of travelers is not an innkeeper. Independence v. Richardson, 117 Kan. 656, 232 P 1044; State v. Brown, supra [quot Wandell Inns 27].

[45] See cases infra this note.

[a] According to ordinary usage (1) a restaurant keeper is not either a merchant or a manufacturer. San Francisco v. Larsen, 165 Cal. 179, 131 P 366, 367. (2) A restaurant keeper is not a "merchant" or "tradesman." Although a restaurant keeper does "purchase goods, and . . . sell goods, this is not the essential thing. The services they render to their guests are in the nature of 'work and labor' rather than of the 'sale of goods.'" Rex v. Wells, 24 Ont. L. 77, 80, 2 OntWN 1232, 19 OntWR 452, 18 CanCrCas 377. (3) A restaurant keeper is not a merchant. In re Ah Yow, 59 Fed. 561, 562 (Chinese Exclusion Act). See Merchant § 4 note 56 [b].

"Restaurant" distinguished from:
"Business of manufacturing or selling goods" see supra § 1.
"Store" or "shop" see supra § 1.

[46] Savage v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 199, 88 SW 351, 353.

[47] See Restaurant keeper ante.

[48] See Rest ante.

[49] La. Rev. Civ. Code arts 2223, 2225.

[50] See Harper v. Moore, (Miss.) 107 S 385 ("a minor, carrying on commerce, or being an artisan, is not restituable against the engagements into which he has entered in the way of his business").

Contract of infant see Infants §§ 148–202.

[51] Black L. D.

[a] Condition of rescission.—American Educational Co. v. Taggert, 124 Ill. A. 567, 572 (where, attempting to rescind a contract for board and tuition, board and tuition for two weeks had been had); Fullers' Theatres Ltd. v. Musgrove, 31 Austr. C. L. R. 524, 540. See also Contracts §§ 678–681.

[b] Admiralty rule of damages.—The Baltimore v. Rowland, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 377, 385, 19 L. ed. 463 [quot In re The Loch Trool, 150 Fed. 429, 432]; In re The Rickmers, 142 Fed. 305, 309, 73 CCA 415; The Northumbria, L. R. 3 A. & E. 6, 12; The Black Prince, Lush. 568, 573 [cit The City of Peking, 15 App. Cas. 438, 442, 6 Aspin. 572]. See also Collision § 330 et seq.

[52] Restitution:
Accord and Satisfaction §§ 107–109 (as a condition of relief).

loss, damage, or injury;[53] act of restoring;[54] indemnification;[55] restoration;[56] restoration of anything to its rightful owner.[57]

[§ 2] B. In Practice. The return of something to the owner of it or to the person entitled to it, upon the reversal or setting aside of the judgment or order of court under which it was taken from him.[58] Properly speaking, made only to a defendant whose money or property has been taken from him by the erroneous order of a court, and . . . not available to third parties.[59]

At common law it is a remedy or writ[60] whose object was to restore to the appellant the specified thing or its equivalent, of which he had been deprived by the enforcement of the judgment against him during the pendency of his appeal.[61]

Ambassadors and Consuls § 35 (property of countrymen).
Appeal and Error § 560 (as restoring right to appeal), § 1446 (effect of supersedeas or stay), § 1460 (bond), §§ 3293–3298 (upon reversal of judgment or decree).
Attachment §§ 677–783 (release or security), § 1034 (request for, upon application for dissolution), §§ 1091–1095 (upon dissolution), § 1208 (demand as a condition precedent to action for wrongful), § 1232 (as a defense to action for wrongful), § 1337 (in mitigation of damages for wrongful).
Attorney and Client § 97 (of right to practice after disbarment).
Auctions and Auctioneers § 34 (as a condition of avoiding sale because of puffing), § 46 (of deposit).
Cancellation of Instruments §§ 93–114 (as a condition of relief).
Certiorari § 384 (upon annulment of proceedings below).
Champerty and Maintenance § 102 (upon execution of agreement).
Collision §§ 330–347 (damages for injuries less than total loss).
Contracts §§ 678–681 (as a condition of rescission).
Criminal Law § 3255 (upon conviction).
Damages § 66 (nominal).
Deeds § 183 (as a condition of cancellation).
Detinue 18 C. J. p 987 et seq.
Dower §§ 198–200 (inchoate right).
Ejectment §§ 341–345.
Entry, Writ of § 77.
Embezzlement § 50 (as a defense).
Equity §§ 37, 38 (of personal property), § 39 (of real property), § 120 (of real or personal property), § 920 (on bill of review), § 936 (on original bill to impeach a decree).
Exchange of Property § 37 (reëxchange), § 52 (as a condition of rescission), §§ 74–100 passim (action for).
Executions § 294 (recovery of property by officer), § 502 (effect of injunction).
Finding Lost Goods § 12.
Fines, Forfeitures, and Penalties §§ 38, 39 (of fines).
Fire Insurance §§ 148, 149 (of premium or assessment), § 166 (upon cancellation by insurer), § 175 (upon surrender by insured).
Forcible Entry and Detainer §§ 34–36 (criminal proceeding), § 37 (rerestitution), §§ 149, 151 (in civil proceeding), §§ 153–156 (execution of judgment), § 186 (proceeding by inquisition).
Fraud § 130 (as a condition precedent to action).
Homesteads § 340 (as a condition of avoidance of transfer or encumbrance).
Husband and Wife §§ 20–27 (conjugal rights), §§ 316, 371 (upon avoidance of contract), § 384½ (upon avoidance of deed), § 1283 (judgment upon petition for restitution of paraphernal property).
Infants § 71 (as a condition of avoidance of transactions in respect to property), § 166 (as a condition of avoidance of contracts).
Injunctions § 889 (damages as indemnity), § 890 (undoing the wrong).
Insane Persons § 516 (as a condition of avoidance of a contract), §§ 540, 541 (as a condition of avoidance of a conveyance).
Insurance §§ 403–422 (of premium or assessment), §§ 440–442 (upon cancellation by insurer), § 457 (upon surrender by insured), § 475 (as a condition of cancellation or rescission).
Judgments § 598 (upon vacating), § 816 (collateral attack upon order of).
Judicial Sales §§ 197–203 (upon invalid or vacated sale).
Justices of the Peace § 674 (upon certiorari).
Landlord and Tenant §§ 1687–1692 (release on bond of property distrained), §§ 1755–1912 (reëntry and recovery of possession by landlord).
Larceny §§ 585–595 (of stolen property).
Mandamus § 152 (to courts and judicial officers), § 294 (of books, records, appurtenances), §§ 295–303 (of office or employment), § 338 (reinstatement of teachers), § 339 (reinstatement of pupils), § 355 (of license), § 447 (of membership in corporation).
Marine Insurance §§ 117–130 (of premium), § 429 (after capture or seizure).
Marriage § 138 (upon annulment).
Mines and Minerals § 505 (injunction to restore possession).
Money Received § 39 (on judgment or execution).
Mortgages § 328 (as a condition of cancellation).
Mutual Benefit Insurance § 60 (of dues and assessments as a condition of cancellation by society).
Pardons § 36 (of costs), § 37 (of fine), § 38 (of office).
Payment §§ 72, 73 (as condition of rescission), §§ 280–341 (recovery of).
Pledges §§ 180–189 (on discharge of debt).
Public Lands § 140 (of amount paid for entry upon abandonment), § 408 (of price from railroad companies), § 479 (of amount paid upon cancellation), § 522 (of purchase money in proceeding to cancel patent), § 595 (as condition precedent to action by state to cancel patent), § 633 (money paid for Texas lands not patentable).
Release [34 Cyc 1071 (as a condition of avoidance)].
Replevin § 334.
Sales [35 Cyc 144 (as a condition of rescission), 506 (recovery of goods by seller), 513 (as a condition of seller's right to goods), 697 (recovery of goods from buyer upon conditional sale), 704 (of purchase money upon conditional sale), 708 (recovery of goods from third persons upon conditional sale)].
Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2031 (demand and refusal), 2058 (as a condition precedent upon rescission of contract), 2102 (mitigation of damages)].
Usury [39 Cyc 1010, 1050 (as a condition to relief in equity), 1049 (of usury paid)].
Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1377 (as a condition of rescission by vendor), 1423 (as a condition of rescission by purchaser), 1886 (recovery of possession by vendor), 2001 (recovery of purchase money by purchaser), 2088 (as a condition to right of action for damages against vendor)].
War [40 Cyc 336 (postliminy)].

[53] Webster Int. D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 270, 2 ALR 161.

[a] Similar definition.—That [action] of making restoration to one for loss or injury previously inflicted. Oxford English D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 270, 2 ALR 161 ("the first meaning given")].

[54] Holloway v. People's Water Co., supra.

[55] Webster Int. D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., supra].

[56] Webster Int. D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., supra].

"Restoration" post.

[57] Webster Int. D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 270, 2 ALR 161].

[a] Similar definition.—The action of restoring or giving back something to its proper owner. Oxford English D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 270, 2 ALR 161 ("the first meaning given")].

[58] Black L. D.

[a] "Not of mere right."—"It is ex gratia, resting in the exercise of a sound discretion, and the Court will not order it where the justice of the case does not call for it, or where the process is set aside for a mere slip." Harger v. Washington County Com'rs, 12 Pa. 251, 254 [quot Gould v. McFall, 118 Pa. 455, 456–457, 12 A 336, 4 AmSR 606 (quot State v. Horton, 70 Nebr. 334, 341, 97 NW 434)].

[59] Pawnee City First Nat. Bank v. Avery Planter Co., 69 Nebr. 329, 333, 95 NW 622, 624, 111 AmSR 541.

[60] See Appeal and Error § 3298.

[61] Haebler v. Myers, 132 N. Y. 363, 366, 30 NE 963, 28 AmSR 589, 15 LRA 588 [quot Ashcroft v. Goodman, 139 Tenn. 625, 202 SW 939, 940] ("It was not created by statute, but was exercised by the appellate tribunal as incidental to its power to correct errors, and hence the court not only reversed the erroneous judgment but restored to the aggrieved party that which he had lost in consequence thereof. It was usually a part of the judgment of reversal which directed 'that the defendant be restored to all things which he has lost on occasion of the judgment aforesaid.' A writ of restitution was thereupon issued, provided the amount that the appellant had lost, or paid under compulsion, appeared of record, as by the return of an execution satisfied. Otherwise process in the nature of an order to show cause was first issued, known as a scire facias quare restitutionem habere non debet"). See also Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 270, 2 ALR 161 ("the word was used to denote the return or restoration of a specific thing or condition, and the writ of restitution lay to restore after reversal of a judgment, what the party had lost"). But see Cummings v. Noyes, 10 Mass. 433, 434, 435 (of the right to recover the value of the mesne profits

In equity, the restoration of both parties to their original condition (when practicable) upon the rescission of a contract for fraud or similar cause.[62]

In maritime law, the replacing, by general contribution among the owners of a cargo, of articles lost by jettison from a cargo saved in part.[63]

"Writ of restitution" is one which issues to restore a party to the possession of property of which he had been wrongfully deprived by some previous order of the same court or some previous writ issuing from the same court.[64]

Phrases: "For the restoration and enjoyment of her paraphernal property,"[65] and "to make immediate restitution to the party injured."[66]

RESTITUTORY INTERDICT.[67]

RESTORATION.[68]

RESTORE.[69] To bring back;[70] to bring back or put back to a former position or condition;[71] to bring back to a former and better state;[72] to heal.[73] The word relates to something having a previous existence.[74] Terms that may be used as synonymous are "cure,"[75] "deliver,"[76] "preserve,"[77] "redeliver,"[78] "repair,"[79] "restate,"[80] and "substitute."[81]

Phrases: "If the property is not forthwith restored,"[82] and "the property shall be restored to the mortgagee."[83]

RESTRAIN.[84] [§ 1] A. In General. To abridge,[85] check,[86] confine,[87] curb,[88] debar,[89] en-taken by virtue of a judgment which was afterwards reversed, "at common law, a writ of restitution . . . issues to the sheriff, commanding him to restore the plaintiff in error to his seisin of the land, and also to inquire by a jury of the value of the issues and profits for the meantime; and the amount, when ascertained by this inquisition, to levy of the land and chattels of the defendant, and to pay the same to the plaintiff. This mode of recovering the mean issues has never been adopted in this state. . . . The only mode, therefore, under our laws, of ascertaining the value of the issues and profits, is by the verdict of a jury upon a trial in open court. Such a trial could not regularly be had, without some new suit or process, instituted by the plaintiff in error to bring the defendant into court. A scire facias does not seem adapted to the case, because the amount to which the plaintiff is entitled depends upon evidence in pais, and there is nothing on the record by which the Court could estimate it. Such a process may be conveniently used in personal actions, where damages have been recovered by the original plaintiff; because the record shows the amount to which the plaintiff in error is entitled. There seems, therefore, to be no other course for the plaintiff in error, but to bring a new action for the issues and profits"—either assumpsit or trespass for the mesne profits, the latter, perhaps, "a more apt remedy"). Scire facias [35 Cyc 1147].

---

[62] Black L. D. [quot Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 270, 2 ALR 161].

[63] See Black L. D.

[a] After a collision, a vessel, although injured without her fault, was not entitled to recover demurrage, where it did not appear how much the owner had actually lost by her detention while under repairs; "restitution means indemnity for actual pecuniary loss, and nothing more." The Saginaw, 95 Fed. 703, 704. See Collision §§ 340–341.

[64] Herrin v. Franklin, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 95, 106 (the chancery court has no power to issue a writ of restitution to supersede a writ or order of the circuit court).

[a] "Same court" includes an appellate court passing on the same case in review. Ashcroft v. Goodman, 139 Tenn. 625, 202 SW 939, 940 [quot Herrin v. Franklin, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 95, 106].

[65] Viguerie v. Viguerie, 133 La. 406, 63 S 89, 92 (construing Code, "does not include the right to sue for a loan made to her husband").

[66] Holloway v. People's Water Co., 100 Kan. 414, 167 P 265, 2 ALR 161 (construing statute providing punishment for the violation of an injunction).

[67] See Real Actions § 48. See also Feced v. Abella, 1 Philippine 150 (interdicto de recobrar).

[68] See Restore post. See also Restitution ante.

Restoration:
Alteration of Instruments §§ 12, 13 (as obviating vitiating effect).
Attachment § 546 (of lien).
Executions § 922½ (after satisfaction).
Insane Persons §§ 323–336 (to sanity).
Judgments § 965 (of judgment illegally vacated).
Justices of the Peace § 111 (of jurisdiction).
Motor Vehicles §§ 1166–1186 (damages).
Railroads §§ 314, 347–356 (highways), §§ 451, 453 (watercourses).

"Repair" synonymous see ante.

"Replacement" synonymous see Replacement ante.

[69] See also Restoration ante.

[70] Bowman v. McLaughlin, 45 Miss. 461, 486.

[71] Century D. [quot Hempstead v. New York, 52 App. Div. 182, 187, 65 NYS 14].

[a] Similar definition.—"To bring back to its former state." Webster D. [quot Gilwee v. Pabst Brewing Co., 195 Mo. A. 487, 193 SW 886].

To restore railroad see Railroads § 347 note 10 [e].

[72] Century D. [quot Hempstead v. New York, 52 App. Div. 182, 187, 65 NYS 14].

[73] Bowman v. McLaughlin, 45 Miss. 461, 486.

[74] Chicago Sanitary Dist. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 267 Ill. 252, 108 NE 312, 315; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Milwaukee, 97 Wis. 418, 433, 72 NW 1118 (Rev. St. § 1836, requiring railroads to restore highways crossed by them, applies only to highways already existing). See Railroads § 347 et seq.

[75] See Gilwee v. Pabst Brewing Co., 195 Mo. A. 487, 488, 193 SW 886 [dist Harrison v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 88 Mo. 625].

[76] Marsden v. Walsh, 24 R. I. 91, 95, 52 A 684.

"Deliver" 18 C. J. p 476.

[77] Gilwee v. Pabst Brewing Co., 195 Mo. A. 487, 488, 193 SW 886.

[a] "Preserve" compared.—As used in an instruction that in addition to the market value of a cow that was killed, plaintiff might recover the reasonable expense incurred or value of time spent in reasonable endeavors to "preserve" or "restore" the cow, the words, as used, are synonymous. But, applying the words to an automobile, "restore" means "something more than the preservation of the car . . . To restore it would be to bring it back, as near as possible, to its former state. In other words, the expense of restoring a car would include repair bills." Gilwee v. Pabst Brewing Co., 195 Mo. A. 487, 193 SW 886, 888 [dist Harris v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 88 Mo. 625].

[78] See Redeliver 52 C. J. p 664.

[79] State v. Gibson County, 80 Ind. 478, 481, 41 AmR 821 (according to the lexicographers).

"Repair" ante.

[80] Bowman v. McLaughlin, 45 Miss. 461, 487.

[81] Bowman v. McLaughlin, supra (to restore lost pleadings and proceedings).

[82] Marsden v. Walsh, 24 R. I. 91, 95, 52 A 684 (construing Gen. L. c 207 § 13, "the mortgagee is to 'restore' the property to the mortgagor; that is, he is to deliver it to him").

[83] Esson v. Tarbell, 9 Cush. (Mass.) 407, 414 (as used in Rev. St. c 9 §§ 78, 79, providing that on demand and default of payment from the attaching officer, mortgaged property attached should be restored to the mortgagee, the word may imply that the property was taken out of the constructive, not the actual possession of the mortgagor; but more satisfactory, perhaps, is the larger and more generic meaning, equivalent to the direction that it shall be surrendered and delivered to the mortgagee from whom it is detained by the officer without law and against right).

[84] See also Restraint post.

[85] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 62 Fed. 828, 831 [quot State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884]; Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89.

[86] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545; Ogden v. Madison, 111 Wis. 413, 419, 87 NW 568, 55 LRA 506 ("the lexicographers all agree").

[87] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 62 Fed. 828, 831 [quot State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884]; Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89.

[88] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545; Ogden v. Madison, 111 Wis. 413, 419, 87 NW 568, 55 LRA 506 ("the lexicographers all agree").

[89] Ogden v. Madison, supra ("the legicographers all agree").

join,[90] forbid,[91] hinder,[92] hold back,[93] hold in,[94] hold in check,[95] impede,[96] keep in,[97] limit,[98] prevent,[99] prohibit,[1] repress,[2] restrict,[3] restrict within certain bounds;[4] or stay;[5] also to destroy,[6] "to govern,"[7] to license,[8] or to obstruct.[9] The ordinary meaning of the word, it has been said, is to abridge, confine, keep in, hold in, and the like;[10] and likewise, the essential element of its meaning is to hold in or back, curb, check.[11] However, it has been held that the primary meaning of the word is to keep from action, to repress, to prevent, to debar;[12] and that one of its primary meanings is to suppress.[13] The term has been compared with and distinguished from "to prohibit,"[14] "to regulate,"[15] and "to suppress."[16]

Phrases: "License, regulate, and restrain,"[17] "regulate and restrain,"[18] "restrain and prohibit,"[19] "restrain and punish,"[20] "restrain or prevent competition,"[21] "restrain or prohibit,"[22] "suppress and restrain,"[23] and "tax, regulate, restrain, and prohibit the running at large of dogs."[24]

[§ 2] B. Restrained. Hindered, obstructed, or destroyed.[25]

---

[90] Standard D. [quot State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884].

[91] Century D. [quot State v. Cochran, supra].

[92] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545; Ogden v. Madison, 111 Wis. 413, 419, 87 NW 568, 55 LRA 506 ("the lexicographers all agree").

[93] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545; Burlington v. Lawrence, 42 Iowa 681, 682.

[94] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545; Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89.

[95] Burlington v. Lawrence, 42 Iowa 681, 682.

[96] Gouge v. Hart, 250 Fed. 802, 803.

[97] Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89.

[98] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 62 Fed. 828, 831 [quot State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884]; Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89.

[99] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545; Ogden v. Madison, 111 Wis. 413, 419, 87 NW 568, 55 LRA 506 ("the lexicographers all agree").

"Prevent" synonymous see Prevent 49 C. J. p 1343 text and note 85.

[1] Century D.; Standard D. [both quot State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884]; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 62 Fed 828, 831 [quot State v. Cochran, supra].

[a] "Prohibit" compared and distinguished.—(1) "If there is any difference between them ["prohibit" and "restrain"], 'restrain' is the more general and comprehensive term, as it necessarily includes not only the right to regulate, but to prohibit as well, while the converse is not essentially true. However, the words are usually treated as synonymous." State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884 (construing powers of council as authorized by city charter). See Smith v. Warrior, 99 Ala. 481, 482, 12 S 418 (as used in a statute authorizing the corporate authorities of a town "to license, tax, regulate, and restrain" the retailing of spirituous liquors within the corporate limits, "restrain," in the connection used, is the legal equivalent of the verb "to prohibit"). But see Intoxicating Liquors § 71 text and note 16. (2) "Prohibit" is not synonymous. Emporia v. Volmer, 12 Kan. 622, 630 [cit Madden v. State, 68 Kan. 658, 661, 75 P 1023; Stebbins v. Mayer, 38 Kan. 573, 577, 16 P 745; In re Hauck, 70 Mich. 396, 408, 38 NW 269]. See also "restrain and prohibit" infra text and note 19.

"Prohibit" 50 C. J. p 649.

[2] Burlington v. Lawrence, 42 Iowa 681, 682; Ogden v. Madison, 111 Wis. 413, 419, 87 NW 568, 55 LRA 506 ("the lexicographers all agree").

[3] Standard D. [quot State v. Cochran, 55 Or. 157, 104 P 419, 421, 105 P 884].

"Restrict" equivalent see Intoxicating Liquors § 71.

[4] St. Louis v. Smith, 2 Mo. 113, 116 (dis. op.).

[a] For example, of tippling houses, "to prescribe the hours within which their doors may be kept open; to make regulations to prevent, more effectually, all disorderly practices peculiar to the habits of persons frequenting such places in a city." St. Louis v. Smith, 2 Mo. 113, 116 (dis. op.).

[b] In statutes to restrain animals from running at large, "the word 'restrain' is used variably and relatively, and the duty which it denotes varies with the various relations to which the statutes are applicable." Hansen v. Kemmish, 201 Iowa 1008, 208 NW 277. See also Animals §§ 579–653.

[5] Gouge v. Hart, 250 Fed. 802, 803.

[6] U. S. v. Keystone Watch Case Co., 218 Fed. 502, 515.

[7] Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545 (after defining "restraint," as "to hold back, to curb, to hold in, to check, to prevent, to hinder," to that extent it may mean "to govern"). See also Govern 28 C. J. p 749 text and note 21.

[8] See Intoxicating Liquors § 72.

Power to license:
Implied from power to suppress or restrain see Licenses § 19.
Or prohibit, of power to suppress, regulate, license or restrain see Licenses § 29.

[9] U. S. v. Keystone Watch Case Co., 218 Fed. 502, 515.

[10] Ensley v. State, 172 Ind. 198, 88 NE 62, 65.

[11] Nashville v. Linck, 12 Lea (Tenn.) 499, 512 (concurring opinion).

[12] Smith v. Warrior, 99 Ala. 481, 482, 12 S 418.

[13] Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89.

[a] "Suppress" distinguished.—(1) "Suppress" is not synonymous. Emporia v. Volmer, 12 Kan. 622, 630 [cit Matter of Hauck, 70 Mich. 396, 408]; In re Snell, 58 Vt. 207, 209, 1 A 566. (2) As used in a village charter, authorizing the village to "suppress and restrain" all descriptions of gambling, including the game of billiards, " 'restrain' contemplates the continued existence of the business, placing it within bounds; in effect, licensing it." In re Snell, supra. See Smith v. Madison, 7 Ind. 86, 89 ("each of these definitions [keep in, hold in, abridge, limit, confine] clearly imports that the thing shall be permitted to exist, only in a modified form; that it shall not be suppressed, but regulated"); Burlington v. Lawrence, 42 Iowa 681, 682 ("while the subject is not suppressed, it is held in check and under control"); Emporia v. Volmer, 12 Kan. 622, 630 (" 'restrain' does not contemplate an absolute destruction of a business, but rather a placing it within bounds").

Power to "restrain" not equivalent to "suppress" see Intoxicating Liquors § 71.

"Suppress" [37 Cyc 610].

[14] See supra text and note 1.

[15] See cases infra this note.

[a] "Regulate" compared and distinguished.—(1) "Restrain" is not more comprehensive than "regulate." Chicago Packing, etc., Co. v. Chicago, 88 Ill. 221, 226, 30 AmR 545. (2) "Restrain" is not strictly synonymous with "regulate," since it has a more limited meaning. "The word 'regulate' inevitably involves all that is meant by 'restrain,' and more, as it carries with it the affirmative element somewhat of continued action in a defined direction." Nashville v. Linck, 12 Lea (Tenn.) 499 (concurring opinion). See In re Schneider, 11 Or. 288, 298, 8 P 289 (a bond with sureties possessing certain prescribed qualifications, as well as a license fee, may be required under the power to "regulate and restrain"; "the word 'restrain,' appearing as it does in immediate association with the word 'regulate' in the charter, must be accorded some additional effect").

"Regulate" 53 C. J. p 1172.

[16] See supra note 13.

[17] Vinson v. Monticello, 118 Ind. 103, 104, 19 NE 734 (as a necessary incident includes the power to prohibit the barter or giving away of any intoxicating liquors).

As not including power to require removal of screens see Intoxicating Liquors § 70 note 9 [a].

[18] See supra note 1.

[19] St. Louis v. Smith, 2 Mo. 113, 115 [quot State v. Fay, 44 N. J. L. 474, 476] ("the Legislature . . . intended to give the corporation, by the words . . . two powers. One was to prohibit their existence altogether [of tippling houses], if they thought it best to do so, and the other was to keep them within certain limits as to the number and order, as they should think best"). See also supra note 1.

[20] Ogden City v. McLaughlin, 5 Utah 387, 389, 16 P 321 (as used in the charter of a city does not embrace the "offense of resorting to a house of ill-fame for lewdness," or the restraining of lewdness, "unless it be the lewdness of prostitutes").

[21] McKinley Tel. Co. v. Cumberland Tel. Co., 152 Wis. 359, 140 NW 38. See Restraint of Trade post.

[22] See Intoxicating Liquors § 71 note 17 [c].

[23] Chariton v. Barber, 54 Iowa 360, 361, 6 NW 528, 37 AmR 209; Mt. Pleasant v. Breeze, 11 Iowa 399, 400.

[24] See Animals § 25 note 20 [a].

[25] U. S. v. Keystone Watch Case

Phrases: "No person within the state shall . . . be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his religious sentiments or persuasions;"[26] and "no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained . . . for his religious profession or sentiments."[27]

[§ 3] C. Restraining. In a broad popular sense, hindering or impeding,[28] preventing,[29] prohibiting or staying;[30] in its narrowest, technical sense, applicable only to suits praying for restraining orders or injunctions.[31]

RESTRAINING ORDER.[32]

RESTRAINT.[33] Confinement;[34] hindrance;[35] restriction;[36] also abridgment of liberty or hindrance of the will;[37] holding or pressing back from action;[38] prohibition of action.[39] Any impediment thrown in the way of an unlimited exercise of a power is a restraint.[40] "Restraint" does not mean only corporal confinement or the fear of bodily harm—[41] taking away the will of a person by threats or by improper means of any kind not willingly assented to by the person, but brought about by the exercise of authority or by fear, or apprehension of loss of any kind, must be a restraint.[42] Nor, according to common understanding, does the word imply that the limitation, restriction, or confinement must be imposed by those who are in possession of the person or thing which is limited, restricted, or confined;[43] the word may imply a restriction[44] or hindrance[45] created by the application of external force.

By statute, the word has been defined as the kind of control which one person exercises over another, not to confine him within certain limits, but to subject him to the general authority and power of the person claiming such right.[46]

Restraint of trade.[47] A very old phrase of the Co., 218 Fed. 502, 515 (Sherman Anti-Trust Act). See also Monopolies § 54 et seq.

[26] Frolickstein v. Mobile, 40 Ala. 725, 727 (one whose religious sentiments and persuasions lead him to the conviction that it is his duty to labor the other six days in the week besides Saturday, is "in fact" not restrained in his religious sentiments or persuasions by a municipal regulation, which forbids him to sell goods from his store on the first day of the week).

Religious liberty and freedom of conscience see Constitutional Law §§ 450–457.

[27] Thurston v. Whitney, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 104, 110 (as used in a constitutional provision, without reference to atheists and their competency as witnesses). See also Constitutional Law § 452.

[28] Gouge v. Hart, 250 Fed. 802, 803 (construing Rev. St. § 3224 [Comp. St. (1916) § 5947], providing "no suit for the purpose of restraining the assessment or collection of any tax shall be maintained in any court," "congress used the word 'restraining' . . . in its popular and broad sense, rather than in a technical and very narrow sense"). See Internal Revenue § 278.

[29] Whitlock v. West, 26 Conn. 406, 413.

[a] "Preventing" or "hindering" synonymous.—See Whitlock v. West, 26 Conn. 406, 413 (as used in a statute authorizing towns to restrain certain animals from going at large, "the language . . . is . . . more appropriate to authorize them [towns] to impose a specific restraint on the animals themselves than a mere prohibition upon their owners. It provides that they may pass by-laws for restraining, that is, for preventing or hindering the animals from going at large, and implies direct action upon the animals themselves").

[30] Gouge v. Hart, 250 Fed. 802, 803. But see infra this note; and supra note 1.

[a] "Prohibiting" distinguished.—Stebbins v. Mayer, 38 Kan. 573, 577, 16 P 745 (in the title of a statute not broad enough to authorize an ordinance "restraining").

[31] Gouge v. Hart, 250 Fed. 802, 803.

Restraining order post.

[32] See Injunctions § 10; Prohibition 50 C. J. p 651 et seq.

[33] See also Restraint ante; Restrict post; Restriction post.

Restraint:
Brassiere 9 C. J. p 319 note 8 [a].
Distinguished from "constraint" 12 C. J. p 1294 note 11 [a].
Elections §§ 230–237 (intimidation and violence).
False Imprisonment §§ 8–67 (as element).
Habeas Corpus 29 C. J. p 1 et seq.
Insane Persons §§ 341–367.
Marine Insurance §§ 282–285 (insurance against), §§ 429–430 (as constructive total loss).
Municipal Corporations § 250 (power to regulate as implying power of).
Prisons §§ 38–51.
Synonymous with:
  "Confinement" see 12 C. J. p 422.
  "Constraint" see 12 C. J. p 1294.
  "Detainment" see Marine Insurance § 282 note 50 [a].
Wills [40 Cyc 1144 (undue influence)].

Restraint on alienation:
Deeds § 375.
Estates § 10.
Perpetuities 48 C. J. p 929 et seq.
Wills [40 Cyc 1713].

Restraint on anticipation see Trusts [39 Cyc 237].

Restraint of marriage:
Bills and Notes § 385.
Contracts § 404.
Deeds § 375 (condition).
Wills [40 Cyc 1699 (condition)].

Restraint of princes:
Marine Insurance §§ 282–285 (arrests, restraints, and detentions).
Shipping [36 Cyc 56 (charities), 203 (carriage of goods), 351 text and note 28 (demurrage)].

[34] U. S. v. Elliott, 64 Fed. 27, 30.

[35] U. S. v. Elliott, supra.

[36] U. S. v. Elliott, supra.

[37] Edmondson v. Harris, 2 Tenn. Ch. 427, 434 ("one of the recognized definitions").

[38] U. S. v. Elliott, 64 Fed. 27, 30. See Starratt v. Miller, HodgElRep (Ont.) 458, 467 (of "restraint," "it is said to be, to keep from action by any means; to hold back; to hold on; to curb; to curb, check, repress, coerce, constrain, debar, prevent, abridge, hinder." But as an example of its use, the following: "'I have promised to restrain him hurting any man's reputation.'—Addison.").

[39] U. S. v. Elliott, 64 Fed. 27, 30. See also infra note 40 [a]. But see State v. Calloway, 11 Ida. 719, 84 P 27, 33, 114 AmSR 285, 4 LRANS 109 (construing an ordinance as a regulation and restraint, not a prohibition. "Restraint does not contemplate an absolute destruction of business, but rather places it within certain bounds"); Madden v. State, 68 Kan. 658, 75 P 1023, 1024 ("restraint" not synonymous with "prohibit" [quot Stebbins v. Mayer, 38 Kan. 573, 577, 16 P 754 (where the word is "restrain")]).

[40] St. Louis v. Smith, 2 Mo. 113, 115.

[a] "The restraint may be so great that it amounts almost or entirely to an exclusion of the exercise of the power." St. Louis v. Smith, 2 Mo. 113, 115.

[41] Starratt v. Miller, HodgElRep (Ont.) 458, 467.

[42] Starratt v. Miller, supra.

[43] Olivera v. Union Ins. Co., 3 Wheat. (U. S.) 183, 189, 4 L. ed. 365.

[44] Olivera v. Union Ins. Co., supra; U. S. v. Elliott, 64 Fed. 27, 30.

[a] Distinguished from "seizure" and "arrest."—"'Seizure' is a taking possession of goods for the purpose of confiscating them. 'Arrest' is a taking with the intention of restoring them at one time or other. 'Restraint' is the preventing the goods from being got away, without laying hands upon them." Rodocanachi v. Elliott, L. R. 8 C. P. 649, 659 (per Brett, J., construing "restrainments and detainments of all kings, princes, and people" in marine policy).

[45] U. S. v. Elliott, 64 Fed. 27, 30.

[46] Tex. Code Cr. Proc. art 172 [quot Ex p. Snodgrass, 43 Tex. Cr. 359, 361, 65 SW 1061].

[47] Restraint of trade:
Bills and Notes § 384.
  "Boycott" 9 C. J. p 315.
Conspiracy §§ 43, 175.
Contracts §§ 410–432.
Corporations §§ 472–474 (by-laws).
Injunctions §§ 209–280 (trade, business, or occupation), §§ 335–346 (contracts).
Monopolies 41 C. J. p 76 et seq.

law,[48] meaning undue and unreasonable restraint;[49] at common law, acts, contracts, agreements or combinations which operate to the prejudice of the public interests by unduly restricting competition or by unduly obstructing the due course of trade.[50]

Other phrases. "Any restraint . . . or in any manner practice intimidation,"[51] "restraint of commerce,"[52] and "that the testator . . . not under restraint."[53]

RES TRANSIT CUM SUO ONERE.[54]

RESTRICT.[55] To confine;[56] to limit;[57] to prevent (a person or thing) from passing a certain limit in any kind of action;[58] to restrain;[59] to restrain without bounds.[60]

Power to restrict is not the power to destroy or prohibit.[61]

Regulate and restrict.[62] To attach limitations to (a proposition or conception) so that it shall not apply to all the subjects to which it would otherwise seem to apply.[63]

Other phrases: "Regulated and restricted,"[64] and "restricted lands;"[65] also "restricting or limiting."[66]

RESTRICTION.[67] Confinement within bounds;[68] limitation;[69] restraint;[70] that which restricts;[71] the act of restraining or the state of being restrained;[72] the act of restricting, confining, or limiting;[73] the state of being restricted, limited, or confined within bounds;[74] also reservation, reserve.[75]

---

[48] Trenton Potteries Co. v. U. S., 300 Fed. 550, 553.

"A term of art generations before the Sherman Act was enacted." Trenton Potteries Co. v. U. S., supra.

[49] Trenton Potteries Co. v. U. S., supra.

[50] Pulp Wood Co. v. Green Bay Paper, etc., Co., 168 Wis. 400, 170 NW 230, 232.

[51] Starratt v. Miller, HodgElRep (Ont.) 458, 466 (construing Election L. [1868] § 72, "restraint" used "in connection with force or violence, and so may be said to mean some physical restraint").

[52] U. S. v. Elliott, 64 Fed. 27, 30 (construing Act of July 2, 1890 § 1, the term was used "in its ordinary business understanding and acceptation").

[53] In re Hermann, 178 App. Div. 182, 165 NYS 298 (construing Code Civ. Proc. § 2614 the word "restraint" refers to "a restraint exercised, at the time of the preparation and execution of the will offered for probate, upon the testator by relatives or third persons, leading to and overcoming his free will in the testamentary disposition of his property").

[54] A maxim meaning "The thing passes with its burden." Black L. D. ("Where a thing has been incumbered by mortgage, the incumbrance follows it wherever it goes").

[55] See also Restrain ante; Restriction post; Restrictive post.

[56] Webster D. [quot Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. Beazley, 54 Fla. 311, 361, 45 S 761, 777; Mumford v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 128 Iowa 685, 104 NW 1135, 1138; State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312]; Dart v. Gulfport, 146 Miss. 534, 113 S 441, 444.

"Confine" 12 C. J. p 422.

[57] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312]; Webster D. [quot Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. Beazley, 54 Fla. 311, 361, 45 S 761, 777; Mumford v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 128 Iowa 685, 104 NW 1135, 1138; State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312]; Dart v. Gulfport, 146 Miss. 534, 113 S 441, 444.

"Limit" 37 C. J. p 664.

[58] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312].

[59] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, supra].

"Restrain" ante.

[60] Webster D. [quot Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. Beazley, 54 Fla. 311, 361, 45 S 761; Mumford v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 128 Iowa 685, 691, 104 NW 1135; State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312]; Dart v. Gulfport, 146 Miss. 534, 113 S 441, 444; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Trawick, 68 Tex. 314, 319, 4 SW 567, 570.

[61] Dart v. Gulfport, 146 Miss. 534, 113 S 441, 444 (construing Zoning Act [L. (1924) c 195], authorizing a city to regulate and restrict erection of buildings).

Prohibition or regulation see Municipal Corporations § 250.

[62] See Regulate 53 C. J. p 1172. See also infra text and note 64.

[63] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312].

[64] In re Opinion of Justices, 232 Mass. 605, 124 NE 319, 321 (as used in Const. Amendm. art 50, of advertising to the public, the words do not confer power to prohibit "utterly and without bound," but only to establish reasonable limitation). See Regulate post.

[65] Kenny v. Miles, 250 U. S. 58, 39 SCt 417, 418, 63 L. ed. 841 (construing Act [1912] § 6, "lands the alienation of which is subject to restrictions imposed by congress to protect the Indians from their own incompetency"). See Rogers v. Rogers, 263 Fed. 160; Gypsy Oil Co. v. Clinton, 98 Okl. 282, 220 P 587; Stewart v. Burrows, 80 Okl. 23, 193 P 881; King v. Shults, 72 Okl. 254, 180 P 550; Chupco v. Chapman, 76 Okl. 201, 170 P 259 [quot Seiffert v. Jones, 77 Okl. 204, 186 P 472, 187 P 223; King v. Mitchell, 69 Okl. 207, 171 P 725, 726] (construing act of May 27, 1908 [35 St. at L. 312], relating to Indians).

[66] Heller v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 25 Ont. L. 117, 120, 20 OntWR 478 (construing § 340 of the Railway Act, "the words . . . meet the case of a partial exemption from liability," distinguished from "impairing," "intended to cover the case of total exemption from liability").

"Impair" 31 C. J. p 252.

[67] Restriction:
Assignments § 134.
Carriers §§ 167–249 (liability for goods), §§ 1151–1164 (liability for passengers).
Constitutional Law §§ 109–114 (as self-executing).
Corporations §§ 1035–1040 (right to transfer stock), §§ 3948–3957 (foreign, power of state over).
Courts § 29 (jurisdiction).
Covenants 15 C. J. p 1204 et seq.
Criminal Law §§ 2154–2157 (effect of evidence).
Deeds §§ 367–469.
Indians §§ 36, 79–81 (alienation).
Injunctions §§ 315–346 (restrictive covenants).
Landlord and Tenant §§ 54–119 (assignment, sublease, and mortgage), § 486 (covenant affecting lessor's other property), §§ 710–733 (use of premises).
Mines and Minerals §§ 610–614 (use under lease).
Municipal Corporations §§ 216–232 (extent and limit of powers), §§ 2815–2821 (power to levy assessments and special taxes).
Partnership §§ 296, 297 (partner's authority).
Patents §§ 416–425 (rights conveyed by license), §§ 431–433 (assignments of license and sublicense).
Perpetuities 48 C. J. p 929 et seq.
Powers § 36.
Shipping [36 Cyc 279 (statutory exemption from liability for goods), 287 (contractual limitation of liability for goods), 329 (limitation of liability for baggage), 344 (contractual limitation of liability for passengers), 407 (statutory limitation of shipowner's liability)].
Synonymous:
  "Condition," in connection with a grant of interest in real property see Condition § 2 text and notes 39, 40.
  "Limitation" 37 C. J. p 664.
Telegraphs and Telephones [37 Cyc 1684 (modification of liability by contract)].
Trial [38 Cyc 1340 (evidence for specific purpose)].
Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1499 (encumbrance)].
Wills [40 Cyc 1683].

[68] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312]; Curry v. Marvin, 2 Fla. 411, 415 (as defined "by the best lexicographers").

[69] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312]; Curry v. Marvin, 2 Fla. 411, 415 (as defined "by the best lexicographers").

"Limitation" 37 C. J. p 664.

[70] Webster D. [quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312].

"Restraint" ante.

[a] "Restraint" distinguished.—Starratt v. Miller, HodgElRep (Ont.) 458, 467 ("'restraint' is an act of power; 'restrict' is an act of authority").

[71] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312].

[72] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, supra].

[73] Webster D. [quot Curless v. Watson, 180 Ind. 86, 102 NE 497, 502].

[74] Webster D. [quot Curless v. Watson, supra].

[75] Century D. [quot State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312].

Phrases: "Appellate jurisdiction . . . under such restrictions and regulations not repugnant to this constitution, as may . . . be prescribed by law,"[76] "before the removal of restrictions therefrom,"[77] "existing restrictions and easements,"[78] "municipal corporations of the same class shall possess the same powers and be subject to the same restrictions,"[79] "restriction against alienation,"[80] "restrictions as to buildings,"[81] "restrictions on alienation,"[82] and "under the restrictions to be provided by law."[83]

RESTRICTIVE.[84] Serving or tending to restrict.[85]

RESULT. [§ 1] A. As Noun. Consequences;[86] the effect of one or more concurrent causes;[87] also that which springs or rebounds back from some pre-ëxisting thing.[88] As sometimes used the term means a production or product of some sort, and not a service.[89]

Phrases: "Affect the result,"[90] "direct result,"[91] "result of any civil action or proceeding,"[92] "result of any previous election,"[93] "result of his examination,"[94] and "result of the election;"[95] also, "results of preëxisting disease."[96]

[§ 2] B. As Verb. To terminate, or to end.[97]

Phrases: "Death resulting from infection,"[98] "disease resulting,"[99] "resulting from,"[1] and "resulting from employment."[2]

RESULTING POWERS. A term which has been used in constitutional law to designate the powers exercised by Congress which are not expressly given nor ancillary to any single enumerated power.[3]

RESULTING TRUST.[4]

RESUME.[5] To begin anew; to take again; to take back; to take up again after an interruption.[6]

In reference to the taking by the public of a road from its owners, the term has an allusion to one of the alleged sources of the public right to take private property, whether held in fee or otherwise, and not a suggestion that the owner's title is exceptionally defeasible.[7]

Phrases: "Resume possession,"[8] and "resume work;"[9] also, "resumed area."[10]

"Reservation" ante.

"Reserve" ante.

76. Curry v. Marvin, 2 Fla. 411, 415 (as used in the constitution, "restriction" applies "to the amount and to the time within which an appeal might be taken, or a writ of error sued out").

77. Barnett v. Kunkel, 259 Fed. 394, 398 (as used in the Acts of 1906 and 1908, relating to Indians, "restrictions" refers to "prohibitions against alienation").

78. Ritter v. Hill, 282 Pa. 115, 127 A 455, 457 (construing a contract for the purchase of property, does not include the right of the city to open a street laid out and adopted as part of the city plan).

79. Peo. v. Earl, 42 Colo. 238, 94 P 294, 301 (construing Const. art 14 § 13, providing that the General Assembly shall provide by general laws for the classification of cities and towns into four classes, the powers of each to be defined by general laws so that all municipal corporations of the same class shall possess the same powers and be subject to the same restrictions, "restrictions" refers to such "as relate to subjects pertaining to local self-government, such as may be designated as purely corporate, municipal subjects, as distinguished from such subjects as involve the relations of the citizens or the cities and towns to the state").

80. Hewitt First State Bank v. Lowery, 72 Okl. 115, 178 P 983 (construing 35 St. at L. p 312 c 199 § 4, relating to Indians).

81. See Auctions and Auctioneers § 44 note 60 [e].

82. Marcy v. Seminole County, 45 Okl. 1, 144 P 611 (as used in 35 St. at L. p 312 c 199, relating to Indians, "those restraints or limitations imposed by law upon the power of the owners of the lands mentioned to voluntarily convey the same free from supervision or control of some agency designated by Congress").

83. State v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P 309, 312 (construing Const. § 3 art 11).

84. Restrictive:
Indorsement see Bills and Notes §§ 544–547.
Provision see Insurance § 214.
Title see Statutes [36 Cyc 1029].

85. Webster New Int. D.

"Restrict" ante.

"Restriction" ante.

86. Southern Bell Tel., etc., Co. v. Shamos, 12 Ga. A. 463, 77 SE 312, 315.

[a] In reference to the law of negligence it is said: "One must distinguish somewhat between the term . . . as applied to the injury and . . . as applied to the proximate consequences of the injury." Fisher v. Western Union Tel. Co., 119 Wis. 146, 153, 96 NW 545.

"Consequence" 12 C. J. p 521.

87. Thompson v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 91 Ala. 496, 498, 8 S 406, 11 LRA 146.

"Cause" 11 C. J. p 36.

"Concurrent" 12 C. J. p 393.

"Effect" 19 C. J. p 1016.

88. Transatlantic Ins. Co. v. Bamberger, 11 SW 595, 596, 11 KyL 101.

89. Jensen v. Barbour, 15 Mont. 582, 593, 39 P 906; Texas, etc., R. Co. v. Parsons, 109 SW 240, 247; Pyle v. 2-Miracle Concrete Corp., 126 Wash. 384, 218 P 246, 247.

"Product" 50 C. J. p 631.

"Production" 50 C. J. p 632.

"Service" distinguished see Master and Servant 39 C. J. p 1315 text and note 1 [c].

90. Hobson v. Morin, 1 OntElCas 383, 393.

91. See Direct 18 C. J. p 1044 text and note 58.

"Consequential result" distinguished see Direct 18 C. J. p 1044 text and note 58 [a].

92. Sorensen v. Sorensen, 56 Nebr. 729, 734, 77 NW 68.

93. Reed v. Independence Tp., 93 N. J. L. 101, 107 A 174.

94. Good v. San Diego, 5 Cal. A. 265, 90 P 44, 47.

95. Hobson v. Morin, 1 OntElCas 383, 393.

96. Robinson-Pettet Co. v. Workmen's Compensation Bd., 201 Ky. 719, 258 SW 318, 319.

97. Home Mut. Ben. Assoc. v. Mayfield, 142 Ark. 240, 218 SW 371, 373.

"End" 20 C. J. p 1253.

98. Ballagh v. Interstate Business Men's Acc. Assoc., 176 Iowa 110, 155 NW 241, 245, 157 NW 726.

99. Home Mut. Ben. Assoc. v. Mayfield, 142 Ark. 240, 218 SW 371, 373.

1. Crozier v. Hawkeye Stages, Inc., (Iowa) 228 NW 320, 325.

[a] Synonymous phrases are: "Sustained by," "due to," "sustained by means of," "sustained in consequence of," and "sustained through." Webster New Int. D. [cit Federal L. Ins. Co. v. White, (Tex. Civ. A.) 23 SW (2d) 832, 834].

2. Archibald v. Workmen's Compensation Comr., 77 W. Va. 448, 87 SE 791, 792, LRA1916D 1013.

3. Knox v. Lee, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 457, 535, 20 L. ed. 287 (where the right to sue and make contracts, requiring an oath from officers of the government, building a capitol or presidential mansion, and the enactment of a penal code are given as instances of such power).

4. See Trusts [39 Cyc 104 et seq].

5. Failure to resume work see Mines and Minerals § 306.

6. Century D.

7. In re Opinion of Justices, 66 N. H. 629, 635, 33 A 1076.

8. Ashton Holding Co. v. Ross, 98 Misc. 586, 163 NYS 99; Landesman v. Hauser, 45 Misc. 603, 91 NYS 6.

9. McCormick v. Baldwin, 104 Cal. 227, 229, 37 P 903.

10. Colless v. Minister for Lands, [1899] A. C. 90, 95.

---

*By Wm. Howard Buchanan (Result—Review inclusive).

RESURVEY.[11] To survey again;[12] also, to relocate.[13]

Defined by Commissioner of the General Land Office "a resurvey, properly considered, is but a retracing, with a view to determine and establish lines and boundaries of an original survey."[14]

In proceedings to determine division line between towns term has been held to mean to locate.[15]

RETAIL.[16] [§ 1] A. As Noun. Sale of commodities in small quantities or parcels.[17]

Sales at retail. Those made in small quantities such as are adapted to the wants of individual purchasers.[18]

Other phrases: "At retail,"[19] and "by retail."[20]

[§ 2] B. As Verb. To deal out in small quantities;[21] to deal out or dispose of in small quanties;[22] to dispose of in small quantities;[23] to sell by small parcels and not in gross;[24] to sell by small quantities, in broken parts, in small lots or parcels, not in bulk;[25] to sell directly to the consumer;[26] to sell in small quantities;[27] to sell in small quantities, a little at a time;[28] to sell in small parcels or quantities, and not in gross;[29] to sell in small quantities or at second hand;[30] to sell in small quantities or parcels;[31] to sell in small quantities, such as are immediately called for by consumers;[32] to vend in small quantities for gain.[33]

Retailing. Selling by small quantities, to suit customers, articles which are bought in larger quantities generally.[34]

[§ 3] C. As Adjective—1. In General. "Retail" may be and frequently is employed as an adjective,[35] as in the phrases "regular retail price,"[36] "retail coal dealer,"[37] "retail dealer,"[38] "retail fish dealer,"[39] "retail merchant,"[40] and "retail trade."[41]

[§ 4] 2. Retail Liquor Dealer.[42] A dealer in intoxicating liquor who sells to individuals for consumption;[43] any one who sells in small quantities directly to the consumer;[44] one who sells by small quantities, to suit customers, liquors which are bought in larger amounts generally;[45] one who sells to persons or customers for purposes of consumption.[46]

---

[11] Resurvey of:
Highways § 137.
Public Lands § 54.

[12] Trudeau v. Sheldon, 62 Vt. 198, 202, 20 A 161.

"Survey" [37 Cyc 621].

[13] Culver v. Fair Haven, 67 Vt. 163, 166, 31 A 143.

"Relocation" ante.

[14] Cragin v. Powell, 128 U. S. 691, 698, 9 SCt 203, 32 L. ed. 566.

[15] Underhill v. Jericho, 101 Vt. 41, 140 A 156, 157.

"Locate" 38 C. J. p 131.

[16] See also Retailer post.

[17] Webster D. [quot Kentucky Consumers' Oil Co. v. Com., 192 Ky. 437, 439, 233 SW 892; Katzman v. Com., 140 Ky. 124, 129, 130 SW 990, 140 AmSR 359, 30 LRANS 519 (cit Cyc)].

[18] Com. v. Greenwood, 205 Mass. 124, 127, 91 NE 141.

[a] A vegetable dealer in the market conducts a business of "selling at retail." State v. Cendo, 38 La. Ann. 828, 829.

[19] Bettencourt v. Sheehy, 157 Cal. 698, 109 P 89, 90; Standard Oil Co. v. Com., 119 Ky. 1, 7, 82 SW 970, 83 SW 557; Tripp v. Hennessy, 10 R. I. 129, 132; State v. Scampini, 77 Vt. 92, 107, 59 A 201.

[a] "At wholesale" distinguished.—Com. v. Poulin, 187 Mass. 568, 569, 73 NE 655.

[20] Bettencourt v. Sheehy, 157 Cal. 698, 109 P 89, 90.

[21] Century D. [quot Raines' Case, 38 Pa. Co. 233, 234].

[22] Standard Oil Co. v. Com., 119 Ky. 1, 4, 82 SW 970, 83 SW 557.

[23] Markle v. Akron, 14 Oh. 586, 591.

[a] May be either for or without a consideration.—Markle v. Akron, 14 Oh. 586, 592.

[24] Bouvier L. D. [quot Bryan v. Sparks, 36 Nev. 573, 137 P 522, 523; State v. Lowenhaught, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 13, 15].

[25] Bryan v. Sparks, 36 Nev. 573, 137 P 522, 523 [quot Cyc]; State v. Hawkins, 91 N. C. 626, 627.

"Bulk" 9 C. J. p 1003.

[26] Webster New Int. D. [quot In re Metz Bros. Brewing Co., 88 Nebr. 164, 167, 129 NW 443, 32 LRANS 622].

"Consumer" 12 C. J. p 1309.

[27] Webster New Int. D. [quot In re Metz Bros. Brewing Co., 88 Nebr. 164, 167, 129 NW 443, 32 LRANS 622]; Harris v. Livingston, 28 Ala. 577, 579; Com. v. Poulin, 187 Mass. 568, 569, 73 NE 655; Com. v. Kimball, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 304, 308; State v. Cassety, 30 S. C. L. 90, 91; Koenig v. State, 33 Tex. Cr. 367, 378, 26 SW 835, 47 AmSR 35.

[28] Century D. [quot Kentucky Consumers' Oil Co. v. Com., 192 Ky 437, 439, 233 SW 892].

[29] Bridges v. State, 37 Ark. 224, 226.

"In gross" see Gross § 2.

[30] Standard Oil Co. v. Com., 119 Ky. 1, 7, 82 SW 970, 83 SW 557.

[31] McArthur v. State, 69 Ga. 444, 446; Bryan v. Sparks, 36 Nev. 573, 576, 137 P 522.

[32] Standard D. [quot In re Metz Bros. Brewing Co., 88 Nebr. 164, 167, 129 NW 443, 32 LRANS 622].

[a] "Wholesale" distinguished.—Ex p. Reineger, 184 Cal. 97, 193 P 81, 83; Bettencourt v. Sheehy, 157 Cal. 698, 109 P 89, 90; Kentucky Consumers' Oil Co. v. Com., 192 Ky. 437, 233 SW 892; Com. v. Poulin, 187 Mass. 568, 569, 73 NE 655; Peo. v. Abraham, 16 App. Div. 58, 62, 44 NYS 1077; Tripp v. Hennessy, 10 R. I. 129, 131; State v. Scampini, 77 Vt. 92, 108, 59 A 201; Gorsuth v. Butterfield, 2 Wis. 237, 243. See also Intoxicating Liquors 33 C. J. p 573 text and note 14 [b].

[33] State v. Mooty, 21 S. C. L. 187, 189.

[34] Bryan v. Sparks, 36 Nev. 573, 137 P 522, 523; State v. Lowenhaught, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 13, 15.

[a] "Compounding" and "dispensing" distinguished.—Peo. v. Abraham, 16 App. Div. 58, 62, 44 NYS 1077. See also Compound 12 C. J. p 302 text and note 21; Dispense 18 C. J. p 1278.

[35] See cases infra this section; and § 4.

[36] See Price 49 C. J. § 1 text and note 83.

[37] Carlisle v. Lovell, 171 NYS 996, 998 (as defined by the United States Fuel Administrator, every person, partnership, corporation or association physically handling and delivering coal or coke to customers).

[a] "Coal jobber" distinguished.—Carlisle v. Lovell, 171 NYS 996, 998.

"Coal" 11 C. J. p 934.

"Dealer" 17 C. J. p 1154.

[38] Com. v. Greenwood, 205 Mass. 124, 127, 91 NE 141, 18 AnnCas 185 (one who "sells in small quantities or parcels").

[a] Of gasoline.—Askren v. Continental Oil Co., 252 U. S. 444, 40 SCt 355, 64 L. ed. 654. See also Licenses 37 C. J. p 224 text and note 68 [c].

[b] Of oleomargine.—Under statute regulating sale of oleomargarine, one who sells in less quantities than ten pounds at one time. Ripper v. U. S., 178 Fed. 24, 28, 101 CCA 152. "Oleomargarine" 46 C. J. p 1089.

[c] "Wholesale dealer" distinguished.—Com. v. Greenwood, 205 Mass. 124, 127, 91 NE 141, 18 AnnCas 185; In re Metz Bros. Brewing Co., 88 Nebr. 164, 168, 129 NW 443, 32 LRA NS 622; State v. Lowenhaught, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 13, 15.

"Dealer" 17 C. J. p 1154.

[39] Ex p. Powell, 70 Fla. 363, 70 S 392, 394 (as defined by statute, is any one who sells fish directly to the consumer).

[40] See Merchant § 13.

[41] See Intoxicating Liquors, §§ 103, 111, 182, 262.

[42] Generally see Intoxicating Liquors 33 C. J. p 480.

[43] State v. Cunningham, 130 La. 749, 758, 58 S 558, LRA1915B 389.

[44] Thibaut v. Kearney, 45 La. Ann. 149, 151, 12 S 139, 18 LRA 596.

[45] Webb v. State, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 662, 665; State v. Lowenhaught, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 13, 15.

[a] Less than five gallons.—Goldberg v. U. S., 280 Fed. 89, 91; U. S. v. Morfew, 136 Fed. 491, 492; U. S. v. Alexis Club, 98 Fed. 725, 727.

[b] Less than quart.—Lemons v. State, 50 Ala. 130, 132; Bryant v.

RETAILER.[47] One who deals[48] in merchandise in smaller quantities than he buys, generally with a view to profit;[49] one who sells goods by small quantities or parcels;[50] one who sells to the consumer.[51]

RETAIN.[52] To continue to hold, have, use, recognize, etc.,[53] not to lose, part with, dismiss or permit to escape;[54] to continue to hold, to keep in possession;[55] to hold back;[56] to hold or keep that which one already owns,[57] not to lose or part with or dismiss it;[58] to keep;[59] to keep back that which one then owns;[60] to keep in possession, control, use, custody, etc.,[61] to keep in possession or hold back;[62] also, to keep in pay, to hire.[63] As used in a pleading the term has been held to mean the same as "detain."[64] Phrases: "Retain and employ,"[65] "retain and have the use of,"[66] and "retain or employ."[67]

Retained. Employed for reward.[68] Phrase: "A lien is retained."[69]

RETAINER.[70] A dependent or hanger on;[71] also, a remedy by mere operation of law.[72]

Compensation for disbursements and services. In a technical sense a "retainer" is the name of a payment in advance, to cover future services and disbursements until further provision is made;[73] a sum of money paid to secure the services of the person to be employed.[74]

Phrase: "Retainers to the camp."[75]

May be used as adjective, as in the phrase "retainer pay."[76]

RETAKING.[77]

RETALIATION. The act of returning evil for evil, or disfavors for disfavors.[78]

RETALIATORY STATUTE.[79]

State, 46 Ala. 302, 303; Elam v. State, 25 Ala. 53, 55.

[c] Three gallons or less.—Peters v. Eaton Cir. Judge, 153 Mich. 467, 468, 117 NW 68, 69; Peo. v. Wilcox, 152 Mich. 39, 115 NW 973; State v. Minnesota Club, 106 Minn. 515, 119 NW 494, 497, 20 LRANS 1101.

46. State v. Tarver, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 658, 660.

47. See also Retail ante.

48. "Dealer" 17 C. J. p 1154.

49. Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Lowenhaught, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 13, 15]; Bryan v. Sparks, 36 Nev. 573, 576, 137 P 522, 523 [quot Cyc].

[a] Term includes: (1) Keeper of a woodyard. Washington v. Casanave, 29 F. Cas. No. 17,225, 5 Cranch C. C. 500. (2) Lumber dealer. Campbell v. Anthony, 40 Kan. 652, 20 P 492.

[b] "Wholesaler" distinguished.—Great Atlantic, etc., Tea Co. v. Cream of Wheat Co., 227 Fed. 46, 141 CCA 594, 596.

50. Campbell v. Anthony, 40 Kan. 652, 654, 20 P 492; Bryan v. Sparks, 36 Nev. 573, 576, 137 P 522, 523 [quot Cyc].

51. Great Atlantic, etc., Tea Co. v. Cream of Wheat Co., 227 Fed. 46, 141 CCA 594, 596.

52. Retain:
Bill to subject interest of judgment debtor as legatee see Wills [40 Cyc 2088].
Jurisdiction to give complete relief see Equity §§ 117–129.
Person to enlist in foreign service see Neutrality Laws § 10.
See also Retainer post.

53. Webster New Int. D. [quot Kimbell Trust, etc., Bank v. Hartford Acc., etc., Co., 333 Ill. 318, 164 NE 661, 662].

54. Webster New Int. D. [quot Kimbell Trust, etc., Bank v. Hartford Acc., etc., Co., supra].

55. Richardson v. Seevers, 84 Va. 259, 269, 4 SE 712.

56. Donahoe v. Franks, 199 Fed. 262, 269.

57. Webster Int. D. [quot Featherston v. Merrimon, 140 N. C. 199, 205, 61 SE 675].

[a] Ownership implied.—In re Hildebrand, 262 Pa. 112, 104 A 866.

[b] "Take" not synonymous.—Kimbell Trust, etc., Bank v. Hartford Acc., etc., Co., 333 Ill. 318, 164 NE 661.

"Own" 46 C. J. p 1164.

"Hold" 29 C. J. p 758.

58. Webster New Int. D. [quot Featherston v. Merrimon, 148 N. C. 199, 205, 61 SE 675].

"Dismiss" 18 C. J. p 1141.

"Lose" 38 C. J. p 243.

59. Webster New Int. D. [quot Kimbell Trust, etc., Bank v. Hartford Acc., etc., Co., 333 Ill. 318, 164 NE 661, 662].

"Keep" 35 C. J. p 898.

60. Featherston v. Merrimon, 148 N. C. 199, 61 SE 675, 678.

61. Webster New Int. D. [quot Kimbell Trust, etc., Bank v. Hartford Acc., etc., Co., 333 Ill. 318, 164 NE 661, 662].

"Control" 13 C. J. p 837.

"Custody" 17 C. J. p 440.

"Possession" 49 C. J. p 1092.

"Use" [39 Cyc 845].

62. Cudworth v. Bostwick, 69 N. H. 536, 537, 45 A 408.

63. Elderton v. Emmons, 6 C. B. 160, 176, 60 ECL 160. See also Employ 20 C. J. p 1238; Neutrality Laws 46 C. J. p 4 text and note 41 [3].

[a] Consideration not necessarily implied.—Elsee v. Gatward, 5 T. R. 143, 151, 101 Reprint 82.

"Hire" 29 C. J. p 756.

"Pay" 48 C. J. p 572.

Retaining fee see Attorney and Client § 122.

Retaining lien see Attorney and Client § 363.

64. Sheridan First Nat. Bank v. Yocum, 96 Or. 438, 189 P 220.

"Detain" 18 C. J. p 978.

65. See Employ 20 C. J. p 1239 text and note 33 [a].

66. Legout v. Price, 318 Ill. 425, 431, 149 NE 427.

67. Elderton v. Emmons, 6 C. B. 160, 177, 60 ECL 160, 136 Reprint 1213.

68. Clark v. Baird, 29 N. B. 620, 629.

"Employed" see Employ 20 C. J. pp 1238, 1239 text and notes 50–63. See also Attorney and Client §§ 122, 363.

69. Wells v. Moore, 163 Ark. 542, 260 SW 411, 413.

70. Cross references:
Appearances § 26.
Attorney and Client § 122.
Executors and Administrators § 1193 et seq.
Witnesses [40 Cyc 2187 text and note 38].
See also Retain ante.

71. Luty v. Purdy, 2 Overt. (Tenn.) 163, 167.

"Dependent" 18 C. J. p 554.

72. Miller v. Irby, 63 Ala. 477, 483.

[a] Blackstone says: "If a person, indebted to another, makes his creditor, or debtee, his executor; or, if such a creditor obtains letters of administration to his debtor; in these cases, the law gives him a remedy for his debt, by allowing him to 'retain' so much as will pay himself, before any other creditors whose debts are of equal degree." 3 Blackstone Comm. p 18 [quot Miller v. Irby, 63 Ala. 477, 483].

[b] "The general principle in cases of retainer is, that where the party unites in himself, by representation or otherwise, the character of debtor and creditor, inasmuch as he cannot sue himself, he is entitled to retain, and the law will presume a retainer in satisfaction of the debt, if there are assets in his hands." Taylor v. Deblois, 23 F. Cas. No. 13,790, 4 Mason 131.

73. Severance v. Bizallion, 67 Misc. 103, 121 NYS 627, 629. See also Attorney and Client §§ 122, 363.

"Disbursement" 18 C. J. p 1048.

"In advance" see In 31 C. J. p 363 text and note 82.

"Payment" 48 C. J. § 1.

"Services" [35 Cyc 1434].

74. Hough v. State, 68 Misc. 26, 124 NYS 878, 880.

75. Ex p. Weitz, 256 Fed. 58, 59.

76. See Pay 48 C. J. p 573 text and note 16.

77. See Recaption ante.

78. State v. Fidelity, etc., Ins. Co., 49 Oh. St. 440, 31 NE 658, 34 AmSR 573, 16 LRA 611.

79. See Corporations § 3971 et seq.

RETAXATION.[80]

RETENTION. Act of retaining, or state of being retained.[81]

Phrases: “Retention of any such tree,”[82] and, as an adjective, in the phrase “retention money.”[83]

RETINOSCOPE. A form of ophthalmoscope for reviewing the retina.[84]

RETIRE.[85] The term may be used in either a transitive or intransitive sense.[86] This word is susceptible of various meanings according as it is applied to various circumstances;[87] and it has been variously defined as meaning to recover;[88] to redeem;[89] to regain by the payment of a sum of money;[90] to separate or withdraw;[91] to withdraw from active service.[92]

Retire bill of exchange. If an acceptor retires a bill at maturity, he takes it entirely from circulation, and the bill is in effect paid; but, if an indorser retires it, he merely withdraws it from circulation in so far as he himself is concerned, and may hold the bill with the same remedies as he would have had had he been called upon in due course, and had paid the amount to his immediate indorsee.[93]

Terms not synonymous are: “Dismiss,”[94] “expel,”[95] “remove,”[96] and “retreat.”[97]

Phrases: “Shall retire such disabled members;”[98] also, “shall be retired,”[99] “retired and dismissed,”[1] “retired from active service,”[2] “retired judge,”[3] and “retired officer;”[4] also, “retiring of jury.”[5]

RETIREMENT.[6] The act of retiring;[7] also, the state of being retired,[8] seclusion,[9] or withdrawal;[10] voluntary withdrawal.[11] The term connotes something like a voluntary act.[12]

Retirement of capital stock of a corporation means permanent retirement.[13]

As adjective the word may be used,[14] as in the phrase “retirement allowance.”[15]

RETORNO HABENDO.[16]

RETORSION.[17]

RETORT. In chemistry and the arts, a vessel of glass,[18] earthenware,[19] metal,[20] etc., employed to distill or effect decomposition by the aid of heat.[21]

RETRACTION.[22]

RETRAITE. The French term for a bill for reexchange.[23]

RETRAXIT.[24]

---

[80] See Costs §§ 446 et seq. 657 et seq.

[81] Webster New Int. D.

[82] Cody v. North Adams, 265 Mass. 65, 164 NE 83, 84.

[83] West Yorkshire Bank v. Isherwood, 28 T. L. R. 593, 594.

[84] Swanz v. Clark, 71 Mont. 385, 229 P 1108, 1109.

“Ophthalmoscope” 46 C. J. p 1117.

[85] See also Retirement post.

[86] Brown v. Little, Brown & Co., Inc., (Mass.) 168 NE 521, 526.

[87] Elsam v. Denny, 15 C. B. 87, 94, 80 ECL 94, 139 Reprint 351.

[88] Century D. [quot Empire Security Co. v. Berry, 211 Ill. A. 278].

“Recover” ante.

[a] “Apply” as not synonymous see Apply 4 C. J. p 1400 text and note 22 [a].

[89] Century D. [quot Empire Security Co. v. Berry, 211 Ill. A. 278].

“Redeem” ante.

[90] Century D. [quot Empire Security Co. v. Berry, 211 Ill. A. 278].

[91] Standard D. [quot State v. Love, 95 Nebr. 573, 145 NW 1010, AnnCas1915D 1078].

“Active service” see Active 1 C. J. p 1172.

“Separate” [35 Cyc 1379].

“Withdraw” [40 Cyc 2125].

[92] Standard D. [quot State v. Love, 95 Nebr. 573, 145 NW 1010, AnnCas1915D 1078].

[93] Elsam v. Denny, 15 C. B. 87, 94, 80 ECL 94, 139 Reprint 351.

[94] Brown v. Little, Brown & Co., Inc., (Mass.) 168 NE 521, 526.

“Dismiss” 18 C. J. p 1141.

[95] Brown v. Little, Brown & Co., Inc., (Mass.) 168 NE 521, 526.

“Expel” 25 C. J. p 171.

[96] Brown v. Little, Brown & Co., Inc., (Mass.) 168 NE 521, 526.

“Remove” ante.

[97] Delaney v. State, 14 Wyo. 1, 81 P 792, 794.

[98] State v. Policemen's Pension Fund Bd. of Trustees, 123 Wis. 245, 101 NW 373, 374.

[99] Haag v. New York, 130 Misc. 124, 222 NYS 676, 679.

[1] Peo. v. Bingham, 166 NYS 28, 29.

[2] Denby v. Berry, 263 U. S. 29, 44 SCt 74, 76, 68 L. ed. 148.

[3] Macdonnell v. Blake, 17 Ont. A. 312, 314.

[4] Reed v. Schon, 2 Cal. A. 55, 83 P 77, 79.

[5] Brackin v. McGannon, 137 Tenn. 207, 192 SW 922, 923; Nashville, etc., R. Co. v. Sansom, 113 Tenn. 683, 84 SW 615, 616.

“Jury” see Juries § 1.

[6] See also Retire ante.

Retirement of:
Agent or employee of municipal corporation see Municipal Corporations § 1661.
Army or navy officer see Army and Navy §§ 60–62½.
Enlisted men see Army and Navy § 341.
Fireman see Municipal Corporations §§ 1492–1508.
Partner see Partnership §§ 569–605.
Policeman see Municipal Corporations §§ 1413–1417.

[7] Feeney v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 262 Mass. 238, 159 NE 608, 610; Henley v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 25 OhNPNS 424, 427.

[8] Feeney v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 262 Mass. 238, 159 NE 608, 610; Henley v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 25 OhNPNS 424, 427.

[9] Webster New Int. D.

“Seclusion” [35 C. J. p 1279].

[10] Webster New Int. D.

“Withdrawal” [40 Cyc 2125].

[11] Brown v. Little, Brown & Co., Inc., (Mass.) 168 NE 521, 526.

“Voluntary withdrawal” see Voluntary [40 Cyc 220].

[12] Earle v. Cow, 36 T. L. R. 713.

[a] Antithesis of “enforced resignation.” Brown v. Little, Brown & Co., Inc., (Mass.) 168 NE 521, 526.

[13] Knickerbocker Importation Co. v. State Bd. of Assessors, 74 N. J. L. 583, 65 A 913, 915, 7 LRANS 885.

[14] Lyon v. Corporations, etc., Comr., 258 Mass. 450, 155 NE 440.

[15] Lyon v. Corporations, etc., Comr., supra (“an allowance paid by the commonwealth or by some of its subdivisions, or by one who has been a private employer to one who has ceased to render active service”).

[16] See De Retorno Habendo, 18 C. J. p 787.

[17] See International Law § 47.

[18] “Glass” 28 C. J. p 710.

[19] “Earthenware” 19 C. J. p 855.

[20] “Metal” 40 C. J. p 653.

[21] MacKinnon Boiler, etc., Co. v. Central Michigan Land Co., 156 Mich. 11, 15, 120 NW 26.

[a] Glass retorts are commonly used to distill liquids, and consist of a flask-shaped vessel to which a long neck is attached. The liquid to be distilled is placed in the flask, and heat is applied. The name is also generally given to almost any apparatus in which solid substances, such as coal, wood, or bones, are submitted to destructive distillation, as retorts to produce coal gas, which vary much in dimensions and in shape. MacKinnon Boiler, etc., Co. v. Central Michigan Land Co., 156 Mich. 11, 15, 120 NW 26.

“Apparatus” 3 C. J. p 252.

“Distillation” 18 C. J. p 1287.

[22] Of libel or slander see Libel and Slander §§ 319, 584.

[23] Suse v. Pompe, 8 C. B. N. S. 538, 564, 98 ECL 538, 141 Reprint 1276.

[24] Retraxit:
In general see Dismissal and Nonsuit §§ 3, 4.

RETREAT. To retire from an enemy, or from any advanced position;[25] not necessarily synonymous with "to retire"[26] or "to run."[27]

RETRIAL.[28]

RETROACTIVE or RETROSPECTIVE.[29]

RETROCESSION. The restitution of an ancient title to a true owner.[30]

RETTING. In the process of flax manufacture, steeping or watering with a view to decomposing the gummy substance which binds together the outer membranes and the inner stalk.[31]

RETURN or RETURNS.[32] [§ 1] A. As Noun. Restoration;[33] restitution.[34] In another sense, a formal report of duty discharged.[35]

Returns, in the plural, is a term used to designate the profit on, or advantage from labor, an investment, undertaking, etc.[36]

Phrases: "After his return to the state,"[37] "at the time of the return of such property or sale thereof,"[38] "in case a return cannot be had,"[39] "net return,"[40] "return according to law,"[41] "return into the state,"[42] "return of sale,"[43] "return of the execution,"[44] and "sale or return."[45]

[§ 2] B. As Verb. To bring, carry, put, or send back;[46] to cause to take again a former position; put, carry, or send back as to a former place or holder;[47] also, to come back after an interval, to appear again;[48] to come or go back to the same place;[49] to go, or come again, to the same place or condition;[50]

Authority to enter see Attorney and Client § 151.
Judgment on, as, bar see Judgments § 1202.
Right of retractor to join in writ of error see Appeal and Error 3 C. J. p 688 text and note 29 [a].

25. Webster D. See also Assault and Battery §§ 31, 236; Homicide §§ 238–248.

26. See Retire ante.

27. State v. Burdette, 118 S. C. 664, 101 SE 664, 666; State v. Jordan, 109 S. C. 409, 96 SE 221, 222.

28. See New Trial 46 C. J. p 46.

29. Retroactive or retrospective:
Law or statute see Constitutional Law § 778 et seq; Law § 22; Statutes [36 Cyc 1210].
License see Intoxicating Liquors § 92; Licenses § 102.
Naturalization see Aliens § 165.

Relation back see Relation 53 C. J. p 1185.

30. Amet v. Boyer, 43 La. Ann. 562, 578, 9 S 622.

"Restitution" ante.

[a] "Such an act confers no new title; it merely recognizes and confirms a previously existing title in another." Amet v. Boyer, 43 La. Ann. 562, 578, 9 S 622.

"Owner" see Property § 48.

"Title" see Property § 57.

31. In re Eckstein, 8 Treas. Dec. 25710.

32. Return of:
Aliens §§ 46–127.
Award see Arbitration and Award §§ 286–288.
Bail §§ 64, 114, 344.
Consideration see Cancellation of Instruments §§ 93–114; Sales [35 Cyc 144 et seq, 434]; Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1378 et seq].
Depositions §§ 246–304, 365.
Elections §§ 245–249, 345, 346.
Indictments and Informations § 54.
Marriage § 87.
Ordinance after approval see Municipal Corporations §§ 538, 3063, 3143, 3560.
Prisoner see Prisons §§ 71–75.
Property:
  Converted see Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 2102].
  Stolen see Larceny §§ 594, 595.
Report of commissioners and the like see cross references under Report ante.
Writ, process, or the like:
  Admiralty § 155.
  Alteration of Instruments § 195.
  Appeal and Error §§ 691, 1295, 1297, 1315, 1340, 1383, 2112–2153, 2158, 2184–2224, 2232.
Writ, process, or the like: Continued
  Appearances § 44.
  Arrest §§ 207–209.
  Attachment §§ 339, 447–519, 714, 805.
  Certiorari §§ 249–292.
  Contempt § 98.
  Corporations § 2917.
  Evidence § 915.
  Executions §§ 167, 191, 275, 495, 496, 858–906, 1030, 1144, 1214, 1215.
  False Imprisonment § 64.
  Forcible Entry and Detainer § 98.
  Fraudulent Conveyances § 601.
  Garnishment §§ 319–325.
  Grand Juries § 44.
  Habeas Corpus §§ 172–182.
  Highways §§ 63, 115–127.
  Husband and Wife § 744.
  Infants § 326.
  Injunctions § 631.
  Insane Persons §§ 207, 208.
  Intoxicating Liquors § 384.
  Judgments §§ 493, 702, 839, 1006, 1038, 1108.
  Juries §§ 243, 244.
  Justices of the Peace §§ 154, 158, 159, 167, 178, 346, 364, 437–441, 471, 486–510, 609, 647–651.
  Landlord and Tenant § 1682.
  Logs and Logging § 222.
  Mandamus §§ 324, 604–616, 716.
  Mortgages §§ 1602, 1844.
  Ne Exeat § 38.
  Paupers § 107.
  Pleading § 929.
  Principal and Surety §§ 325, 429.
  Process §§ 31, 74, 127, 257–302, 319–340, 360–370.
  Prohibition §§ 119–123.
  Replevin [34 Cyc 1462].
  Scire Facias [35 Cyc 1156 et seq].
  Searches and Seizures [35 Cyc 1268].
  Sequestration [35 Cyc 1404].
  Sheriffs and Constables [35 Cyc 1720 et seq].
Return to:
Preliminary examination see Criminal Law §§ 627–632.
State after absence see Limitations of Actions §§ 403–405.

33. Webster New Int. D. [quot United Shoe Mach. Co. v. Hirst, 26 Pa. Dist. 401, 408].

"Restoration" ante.

34. Webster New Int. D. [quot United Shoe Mach. Co. v. Hirst, 26 Pa. Dist. 401, 408].

[a] "The return of a thing is the giving or sending it back to the person from whom it was received." In re Session Laws 1923 c 184, 98 N. J. L. 586, 121 A 736, 738.

"Restitution" ante.

35. Field v. Field, 38 N. J. L. 290, 294; Baker v. Smith, 118 Misc. 548, 551, 194 NYS 827.

36. Webster New Int. D.

"Advantage" 2 C. J. p 34.

"Investment" 33 C. J. p 808.

"Proceeds" synonymous see Proceeds 50 C. J. p 429 text and note 24 [a].

"Profits" as "periodical return" see Profit or Profits 50 C. J. p 643 text and note 80 [a].

"Undertaking" [39 Cyc 673].

37. Palmer v. Shaw, 16 Cal. 93, 96.

38. Goodlett v. Goodman Coal, etc., Co., 192 Fed. 775, 782, 113 CCA 61.

39. Longley v. Daly, 1 S. D. 257. 267, 46 NW 247.

40. See Net 45 C. J. p 1399 text and note 76.

"Net" 45 C. J. p 1384.

41. Missouri State L. Ins. Co. v Rhyne, (Tex. Civ. A.) 276 SW 757, 762; Gibson v. Holmes, 78 Vt. 110, 121, 62 A 11, 14, 4 LRANS 451.

"According to law" see According 1 C. J. p 584 text and note 5; Law 36 C. J. p 965 text and note 36.

42. Fowler v. Hunt, 10 Johns. (N Y.) 464, 465.

43. Massey v. Tucker, (Okl.) 284 P 648, 650.

44. Lovegrove v. Brown, 60 Me. 592, 600.

45. See Sales [35 Cyc 253].

46. Webster New Int. D. [quot United Shoe Mach. Co. v. Hirst, 26 Pa. Dist. 401, 408]. See Maxwell Impl. Co. v. Fitzgerald, 85 Ind. A. 206, 146 NE 883, 885.

[a] "To 'return' anything which has been received is, plainly, to hand it over, or deliver the thing to the person or body from whom it came." Com. v. Fitler, 7 Pa. Co. 33, 37.

[b] "Returning" money raised on pledge means simply "repaying" the money borrowed. Baltimore v. Gill, 31 Md. 375, 388.

47. Standard D. [quot Clyatt v. U. S., 197 U. S. 207, 219, 25 SCt 429, 49 L. ed. 726; Johnson v. Curlee Clothing Co., 112 Okl. 220, 240 P 632, 633].

48. Webster D. [quot State v. Freely, 105 S. C. 243, 89 SE 643, 644].

[a] "Enter" as equivalent.—Irving Nat. Bank v. Law, 10 F. (2d) 721, 722.

49. Waterbury First Soc. v. Platt, 12 Conn. 181, 187.

50. Webster D. [quot Clyatt v. U. S., 197 U. S. 207, 219, 25 SCt 429, 49 L. ed. 726; McDonald v. U. S., 292 Fed. 593, 595; Johnson v. Curlee to turn back;[51] to revisit.[52]

Term implies going back to a former location;[53] the prior existence of some state or condition.[54]

In a will the term has been held to mean to come back;[55] to remain.[56]

Phrases: "From the place where the process is returned to the place of service,"[57] "offer to return,"[58] "return into court,"[59] "return on demand,"[60] "return the record,"[61] "return the writ,"[62] "return to employment,"[63] "return to the state,"[64] and "to return all papers;"[65] also "returned premiums,"[66] "returned soldier,"[67] "returned soldier's fund,"[68] "returned unpaid;"[69] also, "returning to his employment."[70]

[§ 3] C. As Adjective—1. In General. The word may be and has been employed,[71] as in the phrases "return charges,"[72] "return premium,"[73] "return transportation to Seattle,"[74] and "return trip."[75]

[§ 4] 2. Return Commissions. A term which, in reference to commission merchants, is said to mean that on goods taken away by a consignor before sale, the consignee receives an equitable allowance to cover the expense of handling, insuring, and storing the goods while in his charge.[76]

[§ 5] 3. Return Day.[77] The day on which a defendant is ordered to appear in court and on which the sheriff is to bring in the writ and report how far he has observed it;[78] the day when a defendant can properly be called upon to appear and plead or suffer default;[79] also, the last day on which any process[80] can be returned;[81] the last day on which a suit may be filed to a given term of court;[82] the last day on which suits returnable to the next term may be filed.[83]

In case of an order to show cause, the "return-day" is the day of the hearing.[84]

With respect to contractual rights of parties in a given case the return day may be whatever they contract it to be.[85]

Return day of election is the day on which votes cast in the election are counted and the official result thereof declared;[86] the day on which the board actually commences the canvass; or, rather, the day on which they ought to do so.[87]

RETURNABLE.[88] Capable of being returned;[89] in law, legally required to be returned.[90]

Phrases: "Returnable according to law,"[91] "returnable process,"[92] and "returnable to a day cer-

---

Clothing Co., 112 Okl. 220, 240 P 632, 633].

[51] Webster D. [quot Clyatt v. U. S., 197 U. S. 207, 219, 25 SCt 429, 49 L. ed. 726; McDonald v. U. S., 292 Fed. 593, 595; Johnson v. Curlee Clothing Co., 112 Okl. 220, 240 P 632, 633].

[52] Waterbury First Soc. v. Platt, 12 Conn. 181, 187.

[53] McDonald v. U. S., 292 Fed. 593, 595. And see Hyman v. Bayne, 83 Ill. 256, 260 (where it was said: "A person cannot return to a place until he has previously been at that place").

[54] Johnson v. Curlee Clothing Co., 112 Okl. 220, 240 P 632, 633.

[55] Den v. Crawford, 8 N. J. L. 90, 112.

[56] Den v. McMurtrie, 15 N. J. L. 276, 286.

[57] In re Crittenden, 6 F. Cas. No. 3,393, 2 Flipp. 212.

[58] See Offer 46 C. J. p 909 text and note 95.

[59] Trump v. Mikell, 105 S. C. 280, 89 SE 643, 644.

[60] Laforge v. Jayne, 9 Pa. 410, 412.

"On demand" see On or Upon § 10.

[61] Mossberg v. Nutter, 124 Fed. 966, 967, 60 CCA 98.

[62] Ellis v. Outler, 25 Okl. 469, 106 P 957, 958.

[63] Inland Rubber Co. v. Industrial Commn., 309 Ill. 43, 140 NE 26, 29.

[64] See Come 11 C. J. p 1231 text and note 37.

[65] Norman v. Smith, 131 Ga. 69, 71, 61 SE 1039.

[66] New York L. Ins. Co. v. Chaves, 21 N. M. 264, 153 P 303, 304.

[67] Stevens v. Fraser, 53 N. D. 228, 205 NW 622.

"Soldier" [36 Cyc 509].

[68] State v. Fraser, 53 N. D. 909, 208 NW 397, 398.

"Fund" 27 C. J. p 926.

[69] Brewster v. Arnold, 1 Wis. 264, 275.

[70] American Glyco Metal Co. v. Industrial Commn., 306 Ill. 421, 138 NE 176, 178.

"Employment" 20 C. J. p 1245.

[71] See cases infra notes 72–75 and §§ 4, 5.

[72] United Shoe Mach. Co. v. Hirst, 26 Pa. Dist. 401, 408.

[73] Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Roberts, 177 Cal. 540, 171 P 313, 314.

"Premium" 49 C. J. p 1330.

[74] McDonald v. U. S., 292 Fed. 593, 595.

[75] Rhodes v. Honolulu Rapid Transit, etc., Co., 16 Hawaii 319, 323.

[76] Botany Worsted Works v. Wendt, 22 Misc. 156, 48 NYS 1024. See also Factors §§ 74–108.

"Commission" 12 C. J. p 143.

"Commission merchant" 12 C. J. p 147.

"Consignee" 12 C. J. p 527.

"Consignor" 12 C. J. p 528.

[77] Return day:
Allowance of temporary alimony before see Divorce § 504.
Answer by garnishee prior to see Garnishment § 423.
Service of writ of garnishment on see Garnishment § 305.
Specification of in writ see Appeal and Error § 1207; Process § 35 et seq.
Time of making return of process see Process §§ 261–263.

[78] Anderson L. D. [quot Likins v. Conn, 35 Pa. Co. 561, 562].

[a] "Days in banc."—"In Blackstone's time return-days were called 'days in banc'; that is, days of appearance in the court of common bench." Likins v. Conn, 35 Pa. Co. 561, 562.

[79] Wilkins v. Troutner, 66 Iowa 557, 560, 24 NW 37.

[80] "Process" see Process § 1.

[81] Carlson v. Burt, 111 Cal. 129, 131, 132, 43 P 583.

[a] Under Federal Equity Rules.—"Whenever a bill is filed the clerk shall issue process of subpœna which shall be returnable into the clerk's office 20 days from the issuing thereof. This constitutes the return day of such bill." Perry v. John Hancock Mut. L. Ins. Co., 2 F. (2d) 250, 251.

[82] White v. Chambers, 29 Ga. A. 482, 116 SE 26, 28.

[83] Mount Vernon Bank v. Gibbs, 1 Ga. A. 662, 666, 58 SE 269.

[a] Similar definition.—"The last day on which suits may be filed so as to be returnable to the next term." Davenport v. Richards, 138 Ga. 611, 612, 75 SE 648, 649; Everett v. Ferst, 126 Ga. 662, 55 SE 916.

[b] Return day for an attachment suit is "the last day within which the attachment could be issued, returnable to a given term of court." Watters v. O'Neill, 151 Ga. 680, 108 SE 35, 37.

[c] "Filing day" synonymous.—Davenport v. Richards, 138 Ga. 611, 612, 75 SE 648; Everett v. Ferst, 126 Ga. 662, 55 SE 916.

[84] Carlson v. Burt, 111 Cal. 129, 131, 43 P 583. See also Motions and Orders § 76.

[85] White v. Chambers, 29 Ga. A. 482, 116 SE 26, 28.

[86] Swinson v. McKay, (Tex. Civ. A.) 106 SW 934, 935. See Wilkinson v. La Combe, 59 Mont. 518, 197 P 836, 838. See also Elections §§ 238–249.

[87] Carlson v. Burt, 111 Cal. 129, 132, 43 P 583.

[88] See Return ante.

[89] Webster D. [quot Daniels v. Lewis, 7 Colo. 430, 434, 4 P 57].

[90] Webster D. [quot Daniels v. Lewis, supra].

"Legally required" see Legally 36 C. J. p 983 text and note 69.

[91] Densmore v. Hall, 109 Me. 438, 442, 84 A 983.

[92] See Process § 13.

tain."[93]

REUNION. When used without qualification, the resumption of a former relation.[94]

REUS. The defendant[95] in an action or suit.[96]

REUS EXCIPIENDO FIT ACTOR.[97]

REUS LÆSÆ MAJESTATIS PUNITUR, UT PEREAT UNUS NE PEREANT OMNES.[98]

REVALUATION. A synonym for reassessment.[99]

REVEALED LAW.[1]

REVEL.[2] To behave in a noisy,[3] boisterous[4] manner, like a bacchanalian.[5]

REVENDICATION. The right to reclaim, to demand the restoration of;[6] the right of an unpaid vendor on the insolvency[7] of the vendee to reclaim in specie[8] such part of the goods as remain in the hands of the vendee entire, and without having changed its quality.[9]

As an action. "Revendication" is also the name of an action of ownership;[10] a real action[11] which relates to claims made on immovable property,[12] or to the immovable rights to which they are subjected.[13]

Stoppage in transitu[14] appears to have been derived from, or to be analogous to, the revendication of the civil law.[15]

REVENGE.[16] A malicious injury inflicted in return for an injury.[17]

REVENUE. [§ 1] A. As Noun—1. In General. A word used in many senses,[18] and variously defined as meaning a return or reward;[19] more particularly, a return for capital invested or labor bestowed;[20] that which returns, or comes back, from an investment;[21] income or annual profit received from lands or other property;[22] net income;[23] the annual rents,[24] profits,[25] interests,[26] or issues[27] of any species of property, real or personal;[28] the yearly income of a government or a person natural or artificial, from the property belonging to such government or person.[29]

Revenues from a water plant are the net revenues or the gross receipts less necessary operating expenses.[30]

Revenues of a ward are all moneys belonging to the minor that come into the hands of the tutor in the course of his administration.[31]

[§ 2] 2. As Public Income.[32] While, perhaps, in its exact definition the term may be confined to money raised by some of the modes of taxation,[33] the income of the government arising from taxation,[34] duties and the like;[35] the product or fruit of taxation,[36] embracing all taxes and assessments imposed by public authority;[37] an annual tax,[38] nevertheless the term ordinarily is not limited to moneys raised by taxation but includes moneys derived from all sources required by law to be paid into the treasury,[39] all money belonging to the state, nation, or municipality,[40] municipal income,[41] all public moneys[42] which the state collects and receives, from whatever source and in whatever manner;[43] and according to some correct lawyers under the idea of revenue is also included the proceeds of the sale of stocks, lands, and other property owned by the government.[44] In its broader sense and general use "public revenue" has been variously defined as meaning public income of any kind;[45] the annual and current income of the state, however derived, which is subject to appropriation for general public uses;[46] the annual income of a state[47] derived from the taxation, customs, excise,[48] or other sources and appropriated to the payment of the national expenses;[49] the annual or periodical yield of taxes, excise, customs, duties,[50] rents,[51] etc., which a nation, state, or municipality collects and receives into the treasury for public use;[52] the annual produce or yield of taxes, excise, customs, duties, rents, etc., which a nation, state, or municipality collects and receives into the treasury for public use;[53] the current income of the state from whatsoever source derived which is subject to appropriation for public uses;[54] the income of the state[55] or nation derived from the duties, taxes, and other sources for the payment of the national expenses;[56] the income which a state collects and receives into its treasury, and is appropriated for the payment of its expenses;[57] the total current income of a government, however derived, subject to appropriation for public uses.[58]

---

[93] Harrison v. Bay Shore Dev. Co., 92 Fla. 875, 111 S 128.

[94] Clark v. Brown, (Tex. Civ. A.) 108 SW 421, 439.

[95] "Defendant" 18 C. J. p 459.

[96] Matter of Miller, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 562, 574. See Accousi v. G. A. Stowers Furniture Co., (Tex.) 83 SW 1104, 1105. See also generally Parties §§ 138–183.

"Action" see Actions § 1.

"Suit" see Actions § 42.

[97] A maxim meaning "The defendant by a plea becomes plaintiff." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Best Evid. p 144].

[a] Applied in McLachlan v. Accident Ins. Co., 3 Que. Super. 230, 234.

[98] A maxim meaning "A traitor is punished, that one may die lest all perish." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Beverley's Case, 4 Coke 123b, 124b, 76 Reprint 1118].

[99] See Reassessment 52 C. J. p 1189.

[1] See Law § 4.

[2] See Breach of the Peace 9 C. J. p 385; Disorderly Conduct 18 C. J. p 1221 text and note 94 [a] (8).

[3] "Noisy" 46 C. J. p 16.

[4] "Boisterous" 8 C. J. p 1142.

[5] Webster D. [cit In re Began, 12 R. I. 309, 310].

[6] Smart v. Bibbins, 109 La. 986, 989, 34 S 49.

[7] "Insolvency" § 1.

[8] "Specie" [36 Cyc 525].

[9] Benedict v. Schaettle, 12 Oh. St. 515, 520.

Recovery of goods by seller see Sales [35 Cyc 506 et seq].

[10] Kung Ching Chong v. Wing Chong, 2 Canal Zone 25.

Possessory action see Actions § 18.

[11] See Real Actions § 1.

[12] See Property § 14 et seq.

"Res immobilis" see Modern Civil Law § 220.

[13] Ellis v. Davis, 109 U. S. 485, 502, 3 SCt 327, 27 L. ed. 1006.

[14] "Stoppage in transitu" see Carriers §§ 320–322; Sales [35 Cyc 493–506].

[15] Benedict v. Schaettle, 12 Oh. St. 520.

[16] Revenge:
As included in "malice" see Homicide 29 C. J. p 1086 text and note 49 [a].
"Malice aforethought" as more comprehensive see Homicide 29 C. J. p 1087 text and note 60 [c].
Necessity that malice be actuated by see Malice 38 C. J. p 349 text and note 71.

[17] Peo. v. Pierson, 2 Ida. (Hasb.) 76, 3 P 688.

"Malicious injury" see Malice § 14.

[18] Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 240, 15 P 732.

[a] "Funds" synonymous.—In re Watson, 51 La. Ann. 1641, 1644, 26 S 409. "Funds" see Funds § 2.

[19] Webster D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732].

"Return" ante.

"Reward" post.

[20] Webster D. [quot Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 24 N. Y. 485, 490].

"Fruit" synonymous see 27 C. J. p 912 text and note 61 [a].

[21] Webster D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732].

"Investment" 33 C. J. p 808.

[22] Worcester D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732; Cromie v. Wabash, etc., Canal, 71 Ind. 208, 216].

[a] "The revenues of a person, natural or artificial, are not the person, nor in any proper use of the language a part of the person." Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 123, 131.

"Income" compared see Income 31 C. J. p 401 text and note 21.

[23] Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 240, 15 P 732.

"Net income" see Income § 8.

[24] "Rent" ante.

[25] "Profit" 50 C. J. p 641.

"Rents and profits" ante.

[26] "Interest" 33 C. J. p 261.

[27] "Issue" 33 C. J. p 817.

[28] Webster D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732].

[a] Similar definition.—"The annual rents, profits, interests or issues of any species of property, real or personal, belonging to an individual or the public." Webster D. [cit Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 24 N. Y. 485, 490].

"Personal property" see Property § 32.

"Property" § 1 et seq.

"Real property" see Property § 19.

[29] State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191 [quot Cyc]; Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 123, 134.

[30] Montana Public Serv. Commn. v. Helena, 52 Mont. 527, 159 P 24, 27.

[31] Carter v. Ætna Casualty, etc., Co., 165 La. 478, 115 S. 661, 662; In re Watson, 51 La. Ann. 1641, 1644, 26 S 409.

[32] Revenue proceedings:
Admiralty §§ 100–103.
Appeal and Error § 168.
Federal Courts § 327 note 40 [a] (6).
Removal of Causes §§ 90–101.

Sources of revenue:
Customs Duties 17 C. J. p 528.
Internal Revenue 33 C. J. p 271.
Intoxicating Liquors § 21.
Licenses 37 C. J. p 162.
Post Office § 83.
Taxation [37 Cyc 672].

In a statute limiting appropriations the term has been held to mean the revenue fixed in the budget, or the budget estimates of revenues.[59]

[§ 3] 3. Phrases. "Act for raising revenue,"[60] "all bills[61] for raising revenue,"[62] "all sums of money received from all sources of revenue whatsoever,"[63] "annual amount of revenues of property committed to the tutor's charge,"[64] "cases relating to the revenue,"[65] "in all cases relating to the revenue,"[66] "income and revenue provided for each year,"[67] "income, revenue and avails,"[68] "obtain revenue,"[69] "ordinary revenue,"[70] "ordinary revenue of the state,"[71] "public revenue,"[72] "revenue arising from said licenses,"[73] "revenue collected and money received by the state from any source whatsoever,"[74] "revenue from water rents collected and paid into the treasury,"[75] "revenue of the post office department,"[76] "revenue of the county for current expenses,"[77] "revenue or levy,"[78] and "state revenue;"[79] also, "canal revenues,"[80] "fruits or revenues,"[81] "minor's revenues,"[82] "revenues applicable within one year to the payment,"[83] "revenues of the canals,"[84] and "surplus revenues of the canals."[85]

---

[33] Donelson v. State, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 692, 695.

[34] Bouvier L. D. [quot Dumas v. Bryan, 35 Ida. 557, 207 P 720, 723].

[a] In the absence of qualifying words or circumstances implying an intention to employ the term in different sense, the term is confined to the usual public income—taxation. Laughlin v. Santa Fe County, 3 N. M. 264, 266, 5 P 817.

[35] Bouvier L. D. [quot The Nashville, 17 F. Cas. No. 10,023, 4 Biss. 188, 192; Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 117; Sullivan v. Galveston, (Tex. Civ. A.) 17 SW (2d) 478, 491]; State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191 [quot Cyc].

[a] Similar definition.—"The income of the government arising from taxation, excise and the like." State v. School Fund Comrs., 4 Kan. 261, 268.

[36] U. S. v. Wright, 28 F. Cas. No. 16,770, 3 Pittsb. 192; State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, Ann Cas1918B 191 [quot Cyc].

[37] Peo. v. Springer, 106 Ill. 542, 544; Potwin v. Johnson, 106 Ill. 532, 533; Webster v. Peo., 98 Ill. 343, 346; Claypool Drain, etc., Dist. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 81 Ill. A. 433, 434; Gunning v. Peo., 76 Ill. A. 574, 578. See Phœnix Grain, etc., Exch. v. Gleason, 22 Ill. A. 373, 374.

[38] Pottsville Borough v. Pottsville Gas Co., 15 Pa. Dist. 979, 980, 32 Pa. Co. 7.

"Tax" see Taxation [37 Cyc 707].

[39] Fergus v. Brady, 277 Ill. 272, 274, 115 NE 393.

[40] Donelson v. State, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 692, 695.

[41] State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191.

[a] "Taxation" compared.—State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191.

[42] [a] "Public money" synonymous.—Hays v. State, 22 Okl. Cr. 99, 210 P 728, 729. "Public money" see Money § 10.

[43] State v. Ewing, 22 Kan. 708, 712 [quot State v. Stanton County, 100 Nebr. 747, 752, 161 NW 264; Omaha v. Hodgskins, 70 Nebr. 229, 233, 97 NW 346; Sullivan v. Galveston, (Tex. Civ. A.) 17 SW (2d) 478, 491].

[44] Bouvier L. D. [quot Sullivan v. Galveston, (Tex. Civ. A.) 17 SW (2d) 478, 491].

[45] State v. Stanton County, 100 Nebr. 747, 751, 161 NW 264.

[46] State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191.

[47] "Customs" see Customs Duties § 1.

[48] "Excise" see Internal Revenue § 3.

[49] Standard D. [quot State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, Ann Cas1918B 191].

[50] "Duty" 19 C. J. p 841.

[51] "Rent" ante.

[52] Webster New Int. D. [quot State v. Stanton County, 100 Nebr. 747, 751, 161 NW 264].

"Public use" see Public § 94.

[53] Webster D. [quot Fletcher v. Oliver, 25 Ark. 289, 299; Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732; State v. Ewing, 22 Kan. 708, 712; State v. Hill, 38 Nebr. 698, 718, 57 NW 548; Pottsville Borough v. Pottsville Gas Co., 15 Pa. Dist. 979, 980, 32 Pa. Co. 7].

[a] Similar definitions.—Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732; Yancey v. New Manchester Mfg. Co., 33 Ga. 622, 624; State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas 1918B 191 [quot Cyc]; Omaha v. Hodgskins, 70 Nebr. 229, 232, 97 NW 346.

[54] State v. Northeast Missouri State Teacher's College, 305 Mo. 57, 264 SW 698, 700.

[55] U. S. v. Bromley, 12 How. (U. S.) 88, 13 L. ed. 905; Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 117; State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas 1918B 191 [quot Cyc]. See also U. S. v. James, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,464, 13 Blatchf. 207, 209.

[56] Worcester D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732]; State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191 [quot Cyc].

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "The income of a nation, derived from its taxes, duties, or other sources, for the payment of national expenses." Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Norton, 91 U. S. 566, 568, 23 L. ed. 454; People's U. S. Bank v. Goodwin, 162 Fed. 937, 941; Sullivan v. Galveston, (Tex. Civ. A.) 17 SW (2d) 478, 491]. (2) "The income of a nation or state derived from the duties, taxes, and other sources for the payment of the national expenses." Worcester D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 239, 15 P 732].

[57] State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191 [quot Cyc]; Com. v. Brown, 91 Va. 762, 779, 21 SE 357, 28 LRA 110.

[58] Standard D. [quot State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1019, AnnCas1918B 191].

[59] State v. New Orleans, 40 La. Ann. 299, 306, 3 S 584.

[60] U. S. v. James, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,464, 13 Blatchf. 207, 209.

[61] "Bill" 7 C. J. p 1178.

[62] Harper v. Elberton, 23 Ga. 566, 570. See also Raise § 3 text and note 54.

[63] Sullivan v. Galveston, (Tex. Civ. A.) 17 SW (2d) 478, 491.

[64] In re Ratcliffe Minors Tutorship, 139 La. 996, 1002, 72 S 713, LRA 1917C 188.

[65] Aachen, etc., F. Ins. Co. v. Omaha, 72 Nebr. 112, 100 NW 137.

[66] Peo. v. Springer, 106 Ill. 542, 544; Webster v. Peo., 98 Ill. 343, 346; Phœnix Grain, etc., Exch. v. Gleason, 22 Ill. A. 373, 374.

[67] See Income 31 C. J. p 403 text and note 76.

[68] See Income 31 C. J. p 403 text and note 96.

[§ 4] B. As Adjective. The word is sometimes employed as an adjective.[86]

Revenue bills[87] are those that levy taxes in the strict sense of the word and are not bills for other purposes which may incidentally create revenue;[88] those which have for their object the levying of taxes in the strict sense of the words.[89]

Revenue measure[90] is one which has for its object the levying of taxes in the strict sense of the words.[91]

Revenue train. A train is a revenue train when it is moved for the purpose of transporting traffic for revenue.[92]

Other phrases: "Revenue officers,"[93] "revenue producing improvements,"[94] and "revenue provisions of any law."[95]

EVEREND. An epithet;[96] an adjective used as a laudatory or complimentary epithet, a mark of respect and of reverence, as the name imports, but nothing more.[97]

REVERSAL.[98] A word which when used with regard to a judgment is said to mean to vacate the decree reversed and leave it as if it had never been rendered;[99] and the term has been held to apply to the action of any court vacating a judgment.[1]

Phrases: "Judgment reversed and cause remanded,"[2] and "reversal of a judgment on appeal."[3]

REVERSE.[4] To overthrow, set aside, make void, annul, repeal, or revoke;[5] more specifically, to vacate a decree or judgment, and leave it as if it had never been rendered.[6] Phrase: "Reverse or affirm, wholly or partly."[7]

Reversed in its technical sense, applies to the ultimate decision, annulling what has been before done.[8] As used in a statute it may be read as "changed and altered" in order to preserve the meaning of the legislature.[9]

Phrases: "Reversed on appeal and settled,"[10] and

---

[69] Com. v. Brown, 91 Va. 762, 779, 21 SE 357, 28 LRA 110.

[70] See Ordinary 46 C. J. p 1134 text and note 23.

[71] State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191.

[72] See Public § 71.

[73] Vansant v. Harlem Stage Co., 59 Md. 330, 334.

[74] State v. Northeast Missouri State Teacher's College, 305 Mo. 57, 264 SW 698, 700.

[75] Webster D. [quot Bates v. Porter, 74 Cal. 224, 240, 15 P 732].

[76] U. S. v. Bromley, 12 How. (U. S.) 88, 97, 13 L. ed. 905.

Postal revenues see Post Office § 83.

[77] Babcock v. Goodrich, 47 Cal. 488, 513.

"Current expenses" 17 C. J. p 408.

[78] In re Monsell, (Okl.) 285 P 836, 838.

"Levy" 36 C. J. p 1031.

[79] State v. Gordon, 266 Mo. 394, 181 SW 1016, 1020, AnnCas1918B 191.

[80] Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 24 N. Y. 485, 488 [aff 34 Barb. 123].

"Canal" see Canals § 1.

[81] Hurlbut v. Gainor, 45 Tex. Civ. A. 588, 593, 103 SW 409.

"Fruits" 27 C. J. p 911.

[82] Sims v. Billington, 50 La. Ann. 968, 976, 24 S 637.

"Minor" 40 C. J. p 1211.

[83] McAnulty v. Pittsburgh, 284 Pa. 304, 131 A 263, 264.

[84] Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 24 N. Y. 485, 490 [aff 34 Barb. 123].

[85] Peo. v. New York Cent. R. Co., 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 123, 134.

[86] See cases infra this section.

[87] "Bill" 7 C. J. p 1178.

[88] Hart v. Burke County, 192 N. C. 161, 134 SE 403, 404; Lusk v. Ryan, 69 Okl. 165, 171 P 323, 324; In re Sprankle Co., 69 Okl. 178, 170 P 1147, 1148.

[89] Colorado Nat. L. Assur. Co. v. Clayton, 54 Colo. 256, 130 P 330, 332.

[90] "Measure" 40 C. J. p 19.

[91] Ard v. Peo., 66 Colo. 480, 182 P 892, 893. See Lusk v. Ryan, 69 Okl. 165, 171 P 323, 324; In re Sprankle Co., 69 Okl. 178, 170 P 1147, 1148.

[a] "If the principal object is another purpose, the incidental production of revenue growing out of the enforcement of the act will not make it one for raising revenue." Ard v. Peo., 66 Colo. 480, 182 P 892, 893. See also Colorado Nat. L. Assur. Co. v. Clayton, 54 Colo. 256, 130 P 330, 332.

[b] Phrase includes an ordinance which imposes a license tax greatly in excess of the probable amount necessary to issue the license and inspect and regulate the business. Tulsa v. Metropolitan Jewelry Co., 74 Okl. 107, 176 P 956, 959.

[c] Phrase does not include act to regulate: (1) Insurance companies and the insurance business in the state. Colorado Nat. L. Assur. Co. v. Clayton, 54 Colo. 256, 130 P 330, 332. (2) The practice of medicine. In re Ambler, 11 Okl. Cr. 449, 148 P 1061, 1067.

[92] Denver, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 249 Fed. 822, 826, 162 CCA 56.

[93] Smith v. Gilliam, 282 Fed. 628, 633.

[94] Schieffelin v. Craig, 183 App. Div. 515, 170 NYS 603, 609.

"Improvement" 31 C. J. p 262.

[95] U. S. v. McConnell, 10 F. (2d) 973, 977.

[96] "Epithet" 20 C. J. p 1298.

[97] Keet v. Smith, 1 P. D. 73, 79 ("not a title of honor or dignity").

[98] See also Reverse post.

"Modification" 40 C. J. p 1486.

[99] Cowdery v. London, etc., Bank, 139 Cal. 298, 304, 73 P 196, 96 AmSR 115. See also Appeal and Error §§ 3174–3251; Criminal Law §§ 3750–3761.

Title affected by reversal see Judicial Sales § 127; Mortgages §§ 1918, 1919.

[1] Kazebeer v. Nunemaker, 82 Nebr. 732, 118 NW 646, 648. See Manfull v. Graham, 55 Nebr. 645, 649, 76 NW 19, 70 AmSR 412 ("by any court authorized to set aside the judgment").

[2] Myers v. McDonald, 68 Cal. 162, 166, 8 P 809; Ryan v. Tomlinson, 39 Cal. 639, 646.

[3] Anderson v. National Ice, etc., Co., 40 Cal. A. 649, 183 P 273.

[4] See also Reversal ante.

[5] Century D. [quot Cowdery v. London, etc., Bank, 139 Cal. 298, 303, 73 P 196, 96 AmSR 115].

[a] To set aside or annul.—Laithe v. McDonald, 7 Kan. 254, 268.

[b] "Repeal" synonymous.—St. Louis v. Kellman, 235 Mo. 687, 139 SW 443, 445. "Repeal" ante.

[c] "Vacate" as synonymous.—Loanes v. Gast, 216 Mass. 197, 199, 103 NE 473.

"Annul" 3 C. J. p 222.

"Overthrow" 46 C. J. p 1163.

"Revoke" post.

"Set aside" [35 Cyc 1439].

[6] Burrows v. Carson, 23 Pa. Dist. 308, 42 Pa. Co. 31 [cit Cyc].

[7] Buffalo v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 176 N. Y. 308, 68 NE 587, 588.

[8] King v. Sloan, 1 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 77, 79.

[9] King v. Sloan, supra.

[10] Bradshaw v. Gunter, 135 Ala. 240, 246, 33 S 549.

"reversed without ordering new trial."[11]

Reversing. Setting aside or annulling.[12]

REVERSED CURRENT.[13] An electric current, which is periodically reversed by a commutator, which thus breaks the current between the changes in direction and takes off the current in sections.[14]

REVERSIBLE ERROR. Error materially affecting the merits of the action;[15] substantial error;[16] such an error as warrants the appellate court in reversing the judgment and remanding the cause.[17]

REVERSION.[18] In a general sense, a returning;[19] a term which signifies a return to a preëxistence of former state or place.[20]

REVERT.[21] A word of Latin derivation, from revertere meaning to turn backward,[22] the meaning of which depends very largely on the connection in which it is used.[23] In its ordinary meaning, to come back;[24] to go or pass;[25] to go to or pass to;[26] to return;[27] to return, come or fall back;[28] to return, to come or go back;[29] to turn back;[30] to turn or throw back.[31]

In another sense, meaning to fall back into,[32] the term implies devolution[33] upon one having an already existing interest;[34] and in this its legal and technical signification the term, when used in reference to property, means to fall back into the possession of the donor or of the former proprietor,[35] to go back, or return, to a person who formerly owned it but who parted with the possession or title to it, by creating an estate in another which has terminated by his act or by operation of law;[36] or to return to the proprietor after the determination of a particular estate granted by him.[37]

In a devise, the term has been employed to create remainders to take effect after the expiration of particular estates.[38]

Phrases: "Balance shall revert,"[39] "I desire one half his portion to revert to,"[40] "revert back to,"[41] "revert in the same way,"[42] "revert to,"[43] "revert to and become a part of my estate,"[44] "revert to and become a part of my residuary estate,"[45] "revert to and become the property of,"[46] "revert to my estate,"[47] "revert to my other children,"[48] "revert to the use of said hospital fund,"[49] "revert to their children,"[50] "said sum to revert to,"[51] "shall revert to my estate,"[52] and "shall revert to the United States;"[53] also, "reverts to the owner of the land from which said right of way was taken."[54]

---

[11] Peo. v. Marshall, (Cal.) 289 P 629, 632; Peo. v. Marshall, (Cal. A.) 283 P 119, 122.

[12] Laithe v. McDonald, 7 Kan. 254, 267 [cit Webster D.].

[13] "Current" 17 C. J. p 408. See also Electricity 20 C. J. p 303.

[14] Westinghouse Electric, etc., Co. v. New England Granite Co., 103 Fed. 951, 952.

Cross references:
"Alternated current" see Alternate 2 C. J. p 1295 note 4 [a].
"Alternating current" see Alternate 2 C. J. p 1295 note 4 [d].
"Continuous current" see Continuous 13 C. J. p 206 note 78.
"Pulsatory current" see Current 17 C. J. p 408.
"Reversed alternative current" see Continuous 13 C. J. p 206 note 78 [a].
"Vibratory or undulatory current" see Current 17 C. J. p 408.

[15] Shinn v. United R. Co., 248 Mo. 173, 181, 154 SW 103.

[16] Condello v. U. S., 297 Fed. 200, 201.

[17] New Mexican R. Co. v. Hendricks, 6 N. M. 611, 615, 30 P 901. See also Appeal and Error §§ 2878–3055; Criminal Law §§ 3600–3722.

[18] With respect to property:
Cemeteries § 21.
Charities § 100.
Curtesy § 30.
Deeds §§ 285–292.
Descent and Distribution §§ 23, 24.
Eminent Domain §§ 289, 598.
Estates §§ 179–194, 253.
Executions § 68.
Husband and Wife § 44.
Insolvency § 282.
Highways § 258.
Judgments § 907.
Landlord and Tenant §§ 537–626, 840, 1206–1217.
Logs and Loggings § 46.
Mechanics' Liens § 26.
Mines and Minerals § 657.
Partition § 4.
Perpetuities § 28.
Public Lands § 380.

[19] Matter of Sharp, 86 Misc. 569, 149 NYS 470, 473.

[20] Clute v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 120 N. Y. 267, 272, 24 NE 317.

[21] See Reversion ante.

[22] Pearce v. Lott, 101 Ga. 395, 399, 29 SE 276.

[23] Armstrong v. Barber, 239 Ill. 389, 402, 88 NE 246.

[24] Pearce v. Lott, 101 Ga. 395, 399, 29 SE 276; Cochran v. Lee, (Ky.) 84 SW 337, 338.

[25] Warrum v. White, 171 Ind. 574, 86 NE 959, 960; Busick v. Busick, 65 Ind. A. 655, 115 NE 1025, 1029, 116 NE 861; Goerlitz v. Malawista, 56 Hun 120, 8 NYS 832, 833; Brown v. Guthery, 190 N. C. 822, 824, 130 SE 836.

"Go" 28 C. J. p 711.

"Pass" 47 C. J. p 1372.

[26] Hiller v. Loring, 126 Me. 78, 136 A 350, 351; Beatty v. Cory Universalist Soc., 39 N. J. Eq. 452, 463; Smith's Pet., 291 Pa. 129, 139 A 832, 835; In re Owens, 164 Wis. 260, 265, 159 NW 906.

"Go to" see Go 28 C. J. p 711 text and note 80.

[27] Standard D. [quot American Brake, etc., Co. v. New York R. Co., 293 Fed. 612, 622]; Sweet L. D. [quot McPheeters v. Wright, 124 Ind. 560, 576, 24 NE 734, 9 LRA 176]; Pearce v. Lott, 101 Ga. 395, 399, 29 SE 276; Cochran v. Lee, (Ky.) 84 SW 337, 338.

[a] Implies a return.—Battey v. Hopkins, 6 R. I. 443, 446.

"Return" ante.

[28] Standard D. [quot Armstrong v. Barber, 239 Ill. 389, 402, 88 NE 246, 250].

[29] Goldstein v. Montreal Trust Co., 31 Que. K. B. 157, 165.

[a] Conveys the thought of going back, in some manner or to some extent. Smith's Pet., 291 Pa. 129, 139 A 832, 835.

[30] Re Cutter, 37 Ont. L. 42, 31 DomLR 382, 388.

[31] Standard D. [quot American Brake, etc., Co. v. New York R. Co., 293 Fed. 612, 622].

[32] Carter v. Goldstein, 63 Can. S. C. 207, 66 DomLR 34, 35.

[33] "Devolution" 13 C. J. p 1034.

[34] Phillips' Est., 10 Pa. Co. 374, 380.

[35] Worcester D. [quot McPheeters v. Wright, 124 Ind. 560, 576, 24 NE 734, 9 LRA 176].

[36] Anderson L. D. [quot Pearce v. Lott, 101 Ga. 395, 399, 29 SE 276]. And see Smith's Pet., 291 Pa. 129, 139 A 832, 835.

[37] Webster D. [quot McPheeters v. Wright, 124 Ind. 560, 576, 24 NE 734, 9 LRA 176]; Hadley v. Henderson, 214 Mich. 157, 183 NW 75, 77.

[38] Smith's Pet., 291 Pa. 129, 139 A 832, 835.

[39] Re Cutter, 37 Ont. L. 42, 10 OntWN 203, 31 DomLR 382, 388.

[40] Matter of Briggs, 186 Cal. 351, 199 P 322, 324.

[41] Beatty v. Cory Universalist Soc., 39 N. J. Eq. 452, 463.

[42] Jardine v. Wilson, 32 U. C. Q. B. 498, 502.

[43] American Brake, etc., Co. v. New York R. Co., 293 Fed. 612, 622; Mastellar v. Atkinson, 94 Kan. 279, 282, 146 P 367, AnnCas1917B 502.

[44] Pearce v. Lott, 101 Ga. 395, 399, 29 SE 276.

[45] Carmichael v. Cole, 83 Colo. 575, 267 P 408, 410.

[46] Marvel v. Wilmington Trust Co., 10 Del. Ch. 163, 87 A 1014, 1015.

[47] Downing v. Grigsby, 251 Ill. 568, 96 NE 513, 614; Cochran v. Lee, (Ky.) 84 SW 337, 338.

[48] In re Owens, 164 Wis. 260, 265, 159 NW 906.

[49] Ingraham v. Ingraham, 169 Ill. 432, 461, 48 NE 561, 49 NE 320.

[50] Dole v. Keyes, 143 Mass. 237, 239, 9 NE 625; Smith's Pet., 291 Pa. 129, 139 A 832, 835.

[51] Carter v. Goldstein, 63 Can. S. C. 207, 66 DomLR 34, 35.

REVERTER. Reversion.[55]

REVEST. To vest[56] again.[57]

REVIEW. A judicial reëxamination[58] of proceedings of a court.[59]

---

[52] Goldstein v. Montreal Trust Co., 31 Que. K. B. 157, 165.

[53] Bybee v. Oregon, etc., R. Co., 139 U. S. 663, 675, 11 SCt 641, 35 L. ed. 305 [quot Spokane, etc., R. Co. v. Washington, etc., R. Co., 49 Wash. 280, 95 P 64, 66].

[54] Remey v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 116 Iowa 133, 89 NW 218, 220.

[55] Black L. D.

"Reversion" ante.

"Possibility of reverter" see Ejectment § 22; Estates § 180.

[56] "Vest" [40 Cyc 197].

[57] Black L. D.

Revesting title conveyed see Deeds §§ 470–480.

[58] "Examination" 23 C. J. p 178.

[59] Webster New Int. D.

Methods of review:

Action to review see Judgments §§ 630–649.
Appeal and Error 3 C. J. p 256.
Application, motion, or petition to:
  Amend, correct, or review see Judgments § 449 et seq.
  To open or vacate see Judgments §§ 484–600; Justices of the Peace § 308.
Audita Querela 6 C. J. p 849.
Bill of review see Equity § 886 et seq.
Certiorari 11 C. J. p 80.
Collateral attack see Judgments §§ 815–869; Justices of the Peace §§ 316–320.
Habeas Corpus 29 C. J. p 1.
New Trial 46 C. J. p 46.
Proceeding in equity see Judgments §§ 680–793; Justices of the Peace §§ 309–315.
Recordari see Justices of the Peace § 617 et seq.
Writ of error coram nobis see Judgments §§ 601–629.

Review of accounts and settlements of:

Executors and Administrators §§ 2491–2526.
Guardian and Ward §§ 412–420.
Receivers § 601 et seq.
Trustee see Trusts [39 Cyc 504].

Reference of action or suit see References ante.

REVIEW, WRIT OF

By John F. McDonald

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra p 748]

ANALYSIS

- I. NATURE AND SCOPE OF REMEDY [§ 1] p 748
- II. RIGHT TO, AND GROUNDS FOR, REVIEW [§§ 2–16] p 749
  - A. Right to Remedy [§§ 2–7] p 749
    - 1. In General [§ 2] p 749
    - 2. Review as of Right [§ 3] p 749
    - 3. Existence of, or Recourse to, Other Remedies [§ 4] p 749
    - 4. Persons Entitled [§ 5] p 750
    - 5. Successive Writs or Proceedings [§ 6] p 751
    - 6. Estoppel or Waiver [§ 7] p 751
  - B. Grounds [§§ 8–16] p 752
    - 1. In General [§ 8] p 752
    - 2. Newly Discovered Evidence [§ 9] p 752
    - 3. Want of Notice [§ 10] p 752
    - 4. Fraud, Accident, Surprise, Mistake, or Misfortune [§§ 11–12] p 752
      - a. In General [§ 11] p 752
      - b. What Constitutes [§ 12] p 753
    - 5. Conduct or Testimony of Witness [§ 13] p 754
    - 6. Qualification or Conduct of Juror [§ 14] p 754
    - 7. Discretionary Matters [§ 15] p 754
    - 8. Miscellaneous [§ 16] p 754
- III. DECISIONS AND MATTERS REVIEWABLE [§§ 17–20] p 755
  - A. In General [§ 17] p 755
  - B. Character of Action or Proceeding [§ 18] p 755
  - C. Character of Decision [§ 19] p 756
  - D. Matters Not before Court, and Incidental Matters [§ 20] p 756
- IV. JURISDICTION AND PROCEEDINGS [§§ 21–62] p 756
  - A. Jurisdiction [§ 21] p 756
  - B. Proceedings To Procure Review [§§ 22–38] p 756
    - 1. In General [§ 22] p 756
    - 2. Parties [§ 23] p 757
    - 3. Notice [§ 24] p 757
    - 4. Time [§ 25] p 757
    - 5. Bond or Other Security [§§ 26–31] p 758
      - a. Necessity, Form, and Contents [§ 26] p 758
      - b. Performance or Breach of Condition [§ 27] p 758
      - c. Effect of Giving Bond [§ 28] p 758
      - d. Discharge [§ 29] p 758
      - e. Actions [§ 30] p 759
      - f. Damages and Amount of Recovery [§ 31] p 759
    - 6. Pleading [§ 32] p 759
    - 7. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§ 33] p 760
    - 8. Evidence [§ 34] p 760
    - 9. Hearing and Determination [§ 35] p 761
    - 10. Appeal and Error [§ 36] p 762
    - 11. Costs [§ 37] p 763
    - 12. Effect of Proceedings [§ 38] p 763
  - C. Proceedings on Trial of Review [§§ 39–62] p 763
    - 1. In General [§ 39] p 763
    - 2. Parties [§ 40] p 764
    - 3. Time [§ 41] p 764
    - 4. Writ or Process [§§ 42–46] p 764
      - a. Nature and Effect [§ 42] p 764
      - b. Time for Suing Out [§ 43] p 764

        c. Issuance, Form, and Contents [§ 44] p 765
        d. Service, Return, and Entry [§ 45] p 765
        e. Defects and Objections [§ 46] p 765
    5. Pleading [§§ 47–51] p 766
        a. In General [§ 47] p 766
        b. Pleas in Bar [§ 48] p 766
        c. Demurrers [§ 49] p 766
        d. Amendments [§§ 50–51] p 766
            (1) In General [§ 50] p 766
            (2) Extent and Limitations of Power [§ 51] p 766
    6. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§ 52] p 767
    7. Evidence [§ 53] p 767
    8. Trial or Hearing [§ 54] p 767
    9. Judgment [§§ 55–59] p 768
        a. In General [§ 55] p 768
        b. Operation and Effect [§ 56] p 768
        c. Amount of Recovery [§ 57] p 769
        d. Set-Off [§ 58] p 769
        e. Enforcement [§ 59] p 769
    10. Appeal and Error [§ 60] p 769
    11. Costs [§§ 61–62] p 769
        a. In General [§ 61] p 769
        b. Costs of Original Action [§ 62] p 770

CROSS REFERENCES

New trial see New Trial 46 C. J. p 46.

Opening and vacating judgments see Judgments §§ 484–600.

Statutory writ of review in nature of writ of certiorari see Certiorari § 23.

Writ of error coram nobis see Judgments §§ 601–629.

I. NATURE AND SCOPE OF REMEDY

[§ 1] The proceeding by way of writ of review,[1] or, as it is sometimes called, a petition for review,[2] or action of review,[3] or a review,[4] is a statutory remedy[5] unknown to the common law.[6] It is in its nature a new trial of the issues previously tried between the parties.[7] In some respects it resembles a writ of error,[8] and also a new trial,[9] but is distinguishable from either of such remedies.[10] It is in one aspect a new and independent proceeding,[11] commenced by a writ which is a new process,[12] but, as regards the merits of the controversy, it is the same action and cannot properly be regarded as an independent one.[13] The nature of a review as regards its purpose and effect also differs according to whether it is brought by the original plaintiff who has failed to sustain his suit or by the original defendant against whom judgment has been obtained,[14] it being in the first instance in effect a continuation of the original suit, plaintiff in review still seeking to recover the debt or damages for which his original action was instituted,[15] while in the latter, although the review arises out of and involves the same matters as were in controversy in the original suit, it is in effect a new action to recover back in the shape of damages what defendant alleges has been wrongfully obtained from him upon the first trial,[16] and when thus brought by defendant is somewhat analogous to an action for money had and received.[17]

---

[1] Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Society for Propagating Gospel v. Whitcomb, 2 N. H. 227, 229.

"The words, 'writ of review' are frequently used as synonymous with 'action of review.'" Society for Propagating Gospel v. Whitcomb, supra.

[2] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143.

[3] Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352, 358; Bell v. Bartlett, 7 N. H. 178.

"The proceeding is often called an action of review." Knox v. Knox, supra.

Action to review judgment see Judgments §§ 630–649.

[4] Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566.

[5] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Howe v. Hapgood, 13 Mass. 490; Enos v. Boardman, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 271.

[a] Statutes not retroactive.—Statutes giving a right to review are not retroactive and would not be constitutional if they permitted a review of judgments which at the time of their enactment had become final and conclusive, all existing remedies having been exhausted and rights having become permanently vested. Atkinson v. Dunlap, 50 Me. 111.

[6] Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342, 345; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

"The writ of review in civil actions is provided by statute to correct errors in judgments rendered on verdicts and is unknown at the common law." Swett v. Sullivan, supra.

[a] "Singular process."—Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342.

[b] Historical.—The remedy of review existed in Massachusetts from a very early date (Mass. Charters p 93; Plymouth Colony L. p 254) and in New Hampshire as early as 1701 (N. H. Prov. L. p 27). Under the early practice new trials were not granted for any error in the proceedings, but after judgment the aggrieved party was at liberty by new process to review the case once as a matter of right under statutes so providing. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[7] Haynes v. Ordway, 52 N. H. 284; Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352; Burley v. Burley, 6 N. H. 204.

[a] Another definition.—"A new action, in which the merits of the former [the original action] may be again tried." Bell v. Bartlett, 7 N. H. 178, 180.

[b] Review has been referred to as a "new trial by way of review." Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220.

[8] Little v. Bunce, 7 N. H. 485, 28 AmD 363.

[a] A writ of review resembles a writ of error in that the party prevailing upon a review is to be restored to all that he has lost by the first judgment. Little v. Bunce, 7 N. H. 485, 28 AmD 363.

[b] In the nature of a writ of error.—Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

Origin, nature and scope of writ of error see Appeal and Error §§ 4–27.

[9] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Brown v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

"A review is said to be equivalent to a new trial after judgment." Whitney v. Porter, supra.

Nature and scope of remedy by new trial see New Trial §§ 1–25.

[10] See cases infra this note.

[a] A review differs from a writ of error in that: (1) Review is not to reverse a judgment for errors in the record of law or fact, but assumes that the original judgment is to stand, the party bringing the review seeking to obtain a new judgment in his favor equal to the former judgment against him or some part thereof. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155. (2) "A review is not a writ of error by which a judgment is reversed, nullified, and rendered void ab initio." Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287, 288.

[b] Review is distinguished from new trial in that: (1) Proceedings in

Legal or equitable nature. Although it seems to have been borrowed from courts of equity,[18] review is not an equitable proceeding.[19]

II. RIGHT TO, AND GROUNDS FOR, REVIEW

[§ 2] A. Right to Remedy—1. In General. The remedy being statutory,[20] the terms of the particular statute by which it is conferred control as to the right thereto,[21] which is limited and confined to such cases as the statute enumerates.[22] Although the statutes authorizing reviews must be strictly complied with,[23] such statutes are remedial[24] and should be liberally construed[25] in order to advance the remedy.[26]

[§ 3] 2. Review as of Right.[27] The remedy by way of a review may be resorted to as a matter of right where the statute so provides.[28]

[§ 4] 3. Existence of, or Recourse to, Other Remedies.[29] A review is proper to correct errors in the original action or proceeding or judgment rendered therein where the party prejudiced thereby has no other adequate remedy;[30] but ordinarily a review will not be granted where there is a regular and ade-review do not operate to vacate the original judgment. See infra § 38; New Trial § 511. (2) Nor is it like a new trial granted before final judgment. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419. (3) A review is obtained on petition rather than on motion. Barron v. Jackson, supra. And see New Trial § 26.

---

[11] Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[12] See infra § 42.

Proceedings on trial of review see infra §§ 39–62.

[13] Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[a] Identity of action.—"The court may grant leave to amend the pleadings of the original suit which shows that the old suit is still pending undetermined; while the defendant can plead no new matter arising after the first judgment, in bar of the original cause of action, because the controversy rests on the merits as they originally existed. The judgment also which is recovered, relates to the commencement of the suit and is final as to the whole matter." Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352, 354.

[14] Knox v. Knox, supra.

[15] Knox v. Knox, supra.

[16] Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[a] The mode by which defendant attempts to recover is by trying over again the original cause of action and making it appear that plaintiff has no right to sustain a suit against him, or at least was not entitled to recover so much as he obtained. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[17] Knox v. Knox, supra.

[18] Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[a] "The same process (1) is in use in courts of equity and at an early period after the migration of our ancestors was adopted as a part of their processes at law probably with the intention of giving to courts of law the powers and the remedies to which they had been accustomed both in courts of law and equity." Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221, 222. (2) Bill of review see Equity §§ 886–924.

[19] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89, 92.

"Whatever may be said of the petition for a review, the review when granted is a strict legal remedy." McDonough v. Blossom, supra.

[20] See supra § 1.

[21] Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566; Booth Bros., etc., Granite Co. v. Smith, 115 Me. 89, 97 A 826; Chesman v. Lane, 17 Vt. 88; Enos v. Boardman, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 271.

"The right of review is derived entirely from, and must be regulated . . . by the statute." Enos v. Boardman, supra.

[22] Booth Bros., etc., Granite Co. v. Smith, 115 Me. 89, 97 A 826; Chesman v. Lane, 17 Vt. 88; Enos v. Boardman, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 271.

[a] A statute prohibiting review in appealed cases does not repeal a statute permitting review in certain cases where new matter which could not have been pleaded in the original action is pleaded on appeal, since after the pleading of the new matter the action is no longer the same. Bloss v. Kittridge, 4 Vt. 272.

[23] Smith v. Paige, 4 Allen (Mass.) 94 (writ of error); Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Chesman v. Lane, 17 Vt. 88.

Grounds of review see infra §§ 8–16.

[24] McNamara v. Carr, 84 Me. 299, 24 A 856.

[25] McNamara v. Carr, supra; Davis v. Beebe, 5 Vt. 560.

[26] Davis v. Beebe, supra.

[27] Review as matter of discretion see infra § 35.

[28] See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] In Maine (1) it is stated in a case decided in 1824 that the legislature had repealed the provision of the statute authorizing reviews as a matter of right (Haskell v. Becket, 3 Me. 92); (2) but under the statute of 1852 it was held that the granting of writs to review judgments against bankrupts was not discretionary with the court but imperative as to all cases coming within the purview of the statute (Colby v. Dennis, 36 Me. 9); (3) and the statute of 1859 was held to authorize a review as a matter of right upon certain specified grounds (Sturtevant v. Randall, 49 Me. 446).

[b] In Massachusetts (1) review was originally granted as of right under the early statutes (Howe v. Hapgood, 13 Mass. 490; Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221; Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342), (2) but the policy of these statutes was criticized (Burrell v. Burrell, supra), (3) and they were said to have been repealed (Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray 415).

[c] In New Hampshire (1) under the early statutory provisions, the aggrieved party was at liberty to review the case once, as a matter of right. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352. (2) But these provisions have been repealed. Rowell v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 59 N. H. 35 (the repealing statute did not take away the right of review in actions in which judgment had been rendered and the limitation of time for review had not expired at the time of the passage of the act); Dickinson v. Lovell, 36 N. H. 364 (the repealing statute did not take away the right of review in actions pending at the time the statute went into effect).

[29] Loss of other remedies as ground of review see infra § 11.

[30] Denison v. Portland Co., 60 Me. 519; Hagar v. Springer, 60 Me. 436; Reynard v. Brecknell, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 302; Loring v. Mansfield, 17 Mass. 394.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) A writ of error will not lie to reverse a judgment founded on a report of referees, on the ground that their report was based on advice given them by a third person, but the remedy to correct irregularities which do not appear upon the record is by review. Denison v. Portland Co., 60 Me. 519. (2)

quate remedy, as by writ of error or appeal.[31] A review may, however, be granted where a party has been deprived of his remedy by writ of error or appeal without fault on his part,[32] in the absence of a statute to the contrary.[33] Where a party must make an election he cannot pursue a different remedy and at the same time reserve a right to prosecute a review.[34]

[§ 5] 4. Persons Entitled. Subject to specific limitations, if any, imposed by the governing statutes,[35] either party to the original action may maintain the proceeding,[36] and they alone[37] or those representing their interests are entitled to the remedy.[38] Furthermore the petitioner must also be a party to[39] or bound by[40] the original judgment or else someone representing the interest of such a party.[41] Under some statutes[42] a review may be granted on the petition of a party in interest[43] who was not a party to the record.[44] But a person having no interest in the subject matter of the original action,[45] or one who is merely interested in or affected by the result of the action and who is not "a party in interest" in the legal sense of that phrase has no such right.[46] An action of review is a chose in action[47] which by

---

Where a party is aggrieved by a determination of a court on matters clearly in its discretion, such as the postponement or continuance of an action, he can obtain a remedy only by review. Reynard v. Brecknell, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 302. (3) Where a debtor has made partial payments, but the creditor takes judgment for the full amount of the debt, the debtor cannot recover the partial payments, but his remedy is by a review of the action in which the judgment was rendered. Hagar v. Springer, 60 Me. 436. (4) Likewise where in an action on a promissory note on which partial payments had been indorsed, defendant appeared and entered his defense, and judgment was rendered against him for the amount appearing due on the note, after deducting the sums indorsed, he cannot maintain an action against plaintiff for money had and received, on the ground that he had made certain other payments not indorsed and not allowed in the action; his remedy, if any, being by an application for a review of the action on the note. Loring v. Mansfield, 17 Mass. 394.

31. Elden v. Cole, 8 Me. 211; Manning v. Nettleton, 140 Mass. 421, 4 NE 802; Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415; Hart v. Huckins, 5 Mass. 260.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) St. (1821) c 67, regulating reviews, does not apply to a judgment from which an appeal was claimed but by mistake was not entered; the remedy, if any, being by writ of error. Elden v. Cole, 8 Me. 211. (2) Under Pub. St. c 187 § 22, by which a petition for reviewing a judgment rendered in the absence and without the knowledge of the petitioner might be filed within one year after notice, it was held that a party who brought suit as next friend to a minor, cannot claim the provisions of the act as applying to him on the ground that judgment for costs complained of should have been rendered against the minor, his remedy being by writ of error. Manning v. Nettleton, 140 Mass. 421, 4 NE 802. (3) Where, upon a petition for a review, it appears from the record that the judgment complained of would be reversed upon a writ of error, a review will not be granted. Hart v. Huckins, 5 Mass. 260.

32. Keene v. White, 136 Mass. 23 (under statute); Petersham v. Dana, 12 Mass. 429 (omission of necessary formalities on the part of the presiding justice and clerk, in bringing up the case by writ of error); Champion v. Brooks, 9 Mass. 228 (misapprehension of the parties and of the lower court).

33. Smith v. McDaniel, 15 N. H. 474.

[a] A creditor, having the right to appeal from the determination of commissioners of an insolvent estate is not entitled to a writ of review, where he fails to enter his appeal at the term of court prescribed by the statute allowing such appeals, the statute expressly providing that, in case the creditor failed to enter his appeal as there allowed, he should be forever barred. Smith v. McDaniel, 15 N. H. 474.

34. Barker v. Wendell, 12 N. H. 119.

35. See statutory provisions.

36. Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352; Bloss v. Kittridge, 4 Vt. 272.

[a] The right in mutual between the original parties if it exists at all. Bloss v. Kittridge, 4 Vt. 272.

37. Johnson v. Johnson, 81 Me. 202, 16 A 661; Elwell v. Sylvester, 27 Me. 536.

Parties see infra § 23.

38. Taylor v. Sewall, 69 Me. 148; Elwell v. Sylvester, 27 Me. 536.

39. Taylor v. Sewall, 69 Me. 148.

40. Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566.

41. Taylor v. Sewall, 69 Me. 148.

[a] An administrator de bonis non cannot maintain a petition to review a judgment rendered against his predecessor for any cause, since he is neither a party to such judgment nor in privity with, nor the representative of the interests of, any one who is. Taylor v. Sewall, 69 Me. 148.

42. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Maine "prior to 1859 a petition for review could be brought only by a party of record or one representing the interests of such party. Elwell v. Sylvester, 27 Me. 536; Nowell v. Sanborn, 44 Me. 80 (1857). Perhaps in consequence of a suggestion . . . the latter case the Legislature of 1859 . . . passed the act . . . [Pub. L. (1859) c 94 § 3] giving the right [of review] to a 'party in interest' who was not a party to the record fixes beyond doubt the precise meaning of the term." Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 380, 102 A 113.

43. Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566; Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 102 A 113; Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954; Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[a] "The party in interest" within the meaning of such a statute is: (1) A person having the care or responsibility of the original action. Johnson v. Johnson, 81 Me. 202, 16 A 661. (2) Or one who has taken part in the prosecution or defense of the original suit. Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 102 A 113. (3) If he be bound by the original judgment it is immaterial whether he appeared or defended the original action. Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566.

44. Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 102 A 113; Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954; Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[a] One avouched in to defend a suit to quiet title under his ancestor's warranty but failing to do so and judgment going against the defendant of record, may file a petition for review. Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954.

[b] A grantor voluntarily assuming defense of a suit against grantee for possession of land is a party in interest entitled to petition for review. Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566.

[c] Where the original action is brought by or against a nominal party, the real party in interest may maintain a writ of review. Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[d] Notice to one avouched in to defend an action, as required to make him a party in interest entitled to a petition for review, need not appear of record nor be in any particular form. Vermeule v. Brazer, 128 Me. 437, 148 A 566.

45. Berry v. Whitaker, 58 Me. 422.

[a] The administrator of an original party cannot prosecute a writ of review in a real action not brought to foreclose a mortgage, since he has no interest in the subject-matter. Berry v. Whitaker, 58 Me. 422.

46. Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 102 A 113; Johnson v. Johnson, 81 Me. 202, 16 A 661.

[a] Distinction between "a party in interest" and "a person in interest."—Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 102 A 113.

[b] Indemnitor, who took no part in defense of the original suit against indemnitee, was not requested to assume defense, and knew nothing of it, was not such "party in interest." Glovsky v. Maine Realty Bureau, 116 Me. 378, 102 A 113.

[c] Residuary legatee.—Under the Maine statute which expressly provides that a review may be obtained on petition by "a party in interest, who was not a party to the record," a widow who is a residuary legatee is not a party in interest who may obtain a review of an action by the administrator cum testamento annexo against an alleged debtor of the estate. Johnson v. Johnson, 81 Me. 202, 16 A 661.

47. Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469.

virtue of an adjudication in bankruptcy vests in the assignee who alone is empowered to prosecute or defend it.[48]

One of several parties. One of several parties plaintiff or defendant may be entitled to a writ of review either under a statute so providing[49] or in the absence of such statute.[50]

[§ 6] 5. Successive Writs or Proceedings. A party may be entitled to only one review under some statutes[51] but under others there is no such restriction.[52] A judgment upon review which does not pass upon the merits is not a bar to a new petition for review,[53] and a review commenced and discontinued is not a bar to another review in the same action, if not prevented by other limitations.[54] However, it has been intimated that the dismissal of one petition may bar a later one,[55] but in the absence of the record of dismissal the later petition will not be barred.[56]

[§ 7] 6. Estoppel or Waiver.[57] The right to a review may be waived by the party or parties entitled thereto,[58] as by an agreement that one trial shall be final as to the parties or party making the agreement;[59] or by agreements to that effect in submitting an action to a reference.[60] But a party is not precluded by such an agreement from his right of review where he recovers judgment in the trial court and the other party reverses the judgment on appeal,[61] nor does a party waive his right to review by voluntarily directing that judgment be entered in favor of one of several opposite parties in the absence of anything to show that such judgment is final.[62] Mere payment of the original judgment does not waive a right of review,[63] but a payment accompanied by a special agreement may do so.[64] A conveyance of the premises by a party in a real action after a verdict in his favor but before judgment does not preclude a judgment in his favor on a review of the action, provided he is otherwise entitled thereto.[65]

---

[48] Zollar v. Janvrin, supra.

[49] See statutory provisions.

[a] Under a provision that one of several defendants may review the action, one of four defendants sued in quare clausum fregit was held entitled to a review. Emerson v. Pattee, 1 Mass. 482.

[50] Nowell v. Sanborn, 44 Me. 80; Paine v. Tilden, 20 Vt. 554.

[a] Historical.—"Our statutes, since the separation [from Massachusetts], have made no provision, in direct terms, for such a contingency. It has been otherwise in the parent state from 1786 to the present time." Nowell v. Sanborn, 44 Me. 80, 84.

[b] Unsuccessful defendants.—(1) One of several unsuccessful defendants in an original tort action may be entitled to a review (Paine v. Tilden, 20 Vt. 554) (2) when the judgment is final as to the other defendants (Paine v. Tilden, supra), (3) but the review does not affect the other defendants as to whom the judgment is final (Paine v. Tilden, supra).

Effect on several defendants of a statute limiting each party to one trial see infra § 6 text and note 51.

[51] See statutory provisions.

[a] In Vermont under a statute providing that "either party may once, and no more, review his cause," where plaintiff in an action of ejectment against two defendants recovered a verdict against only one of them who entered a review, plaintiff at the same time entering a review against the other defendant, and on the second trial a verdict was rendered in favor of both defendants, plaintiff was not entitled to review the action as to defendant against whom he obtained a verdict at the first trial. Frost v. Philbrook, 28 Vt. 736.

[b] Under Rev. St. c 91 § 6, providing that a second review may within a limited time be granted when the full court thinks that justice requires it but not otherwise the petitioner must show diligence and that a second review is likely to change the result. Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208.

[52] See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] In Massachusetts.—(1) In an early case St. (1791) c 17, vesting a discretionary power in the supreme judicial court to grant reviews, was held not to repeal the provision of St. (1786) c 11, that but one review should be granted, and therefore not to authorize the court to grant a second review after one had been granted and prosecuted. Ruggles v. Freeland, 6 Mass. 513. (2) But in a later case construing the same statutes it was held that while a party against whom judgment by default was rendered on one review brought by the other party was not entitled to a second review as a matter of right under the statute of 1786, his remedy is to petition the court, which by St. (1791) c 17, may, in all cases, and as often as justice requires, grant reviews upon petition. Howe v. Hapgood, 13 Mass. 490. (3) A statutory limitation to one review as a matter of right where a verdict had been given against a party was held to refer only to cases where there had been a verdict of a jury. Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498. (4) Such limitation was not applicable to a party in a case where there had been two counts for different causes of action, and there had been two trials, resulting in one verdict in his favor and one against him on each count, since in effect there had been but one verdict against him on each cause of action. Rice v. Townsend, 14 Mass. 366.

Discretion of court in granting writs generally see infra § 35.

[53] Hayes v. Collins, 114 Mass. 54.

[a] Judgment on first petition merely for costs.—Hayes v. Collins, 114 Mass. 54.

[54] Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221.

[55] See case infra this note.

[a] "The record of the dismissal of a former petition upon its merits might be a bar to a second petition." Nantasket Beach R. Co. v. Ransom, 147 Mass. 240, 244, 17 NE 640.

[56] Nantasket Beach R. Co. v. Ransom, supra.

[57] Waiver of objections to writ see infra § 46 text and notes 27, 28.

[58] Hatch v. Dennis, 10 Me. 244; Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218; Rand v. Merchants' Despatch Transp. Co., 60 N. H. 276; Carroll v. Locke, 58 N. H. 163; Bennett v. Atwood, 57 N. H. 216. And see infra text and notes 59, 60.

[a] Reason for rule.—"Statutory provisions . . . for the benefit of individuals . . . may be waived by those for whose benefit they are intended." Carroll v. Locke, 58 N. H. 163.

[59] Hatch v. Dennis, 10 Me. 244; Golden v. Blaskopf, 126 Mass. 523; Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

[a] The other party, by accepting the proposed benefit, is not deprived of his right of review. Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

[b] Waiver not conclusive on court.—While a previous agreement may be a waiver of review as of right, it cannot control the discretion of the court in granting a review on petition. Golden v. Blaskopf, 126 Mass. 523.

Discretion of court as to grant of writ see infra § 35.

[60] Parsons v. Hilliard, 61 N. H. 642; Rand v. Merchants' Despatch Transp. Co., 60 N. H. 276; Carroll v. Locke, 58 N. H. 163; Bennett v. Atwood, 57 N. H. 216.

[a] Where the agreement itself provides that the report of the referee shall be final and that judgment shall be rendered thereon, the right of review is waived. Carroll v. Locke, 58 N. H. 163.

[b] Where an action is submitted by agreement to a reference under a statute which provides that judgment rendered upon the report shall be final and conclusive, the right to review is waived. Rand v. Merchants' Despatch Transp. Co., 60 N. H. 276 (a party by agreeing to a reference under such a statute accepts all the provisions of the statute); Bennett v. Atwood, 57 N. H. 216.

[61] Hatch v. Dennis, 10 Me. 244.

[62] Lyndon v. Cook, 19 Vt. 35.

[a] Illustration.—In an action of tort against several defendants, plaintiff voluntarily entered judgment in favor of one of defendants and then called him as a witness, and, on the trial of the action, a verdict was rendered in favor of the other defendants, and plaintiff entered a review as to all of defendants. Lyndon v. Cook, 19 Vt. 35.

[63] Watson v. Joselyn, 29 Vt. 455.

[64] Smith v. O'Brien, 146 Mass. 294, 15 NE 645.

[a] Where execution was about to be enforced against the property of the party against whom the original judgment was rendered, and he paid a part of the judgment and agreed to pay the balance on a certain day upon condition that the attorney for the successful party would

Restoration of right. The right of review will sometimes be restored to a party who has waived it through a mistake.[66]

[§ 8] B. Grounds—1. In General. The grounds upon which a review may be obtained are generally specified by the statutes providing for the remedy.[67] While ordinarily the statutes authorizing reviews are remedial and should be liberally construed,[68] a review cannot be procured except upon the grounds authorized by a statute which expressly limits the grounds to specified cases.[69]

[§ 9] 2. Newly Discovered Evidence. Under some of the statutes[70] newly discovered evidence is a ground for a review[71] which should be granted where petitioner is not chargeable with any fault in regard to not discovering or producing such evidence at the first trial,[72] and where the evidence is sufficient to sustain a verdict in his favor.[73] While to authorize a review upon the ground of newly discovered evidence it must generally appear that such evidence is admissible[74] and that it is not merely cumulative,[75] collateral,[76] or for the purpose of discrediting a witness,[77] a review may be allowed within certain limitations for newly discovered evidence which is cumulative.[78] A review will not be granted on the ground of newly discovered evidence where such evidence would not be likely to change the result,[79] or for the purpose of admitting testimony which was, or with reasonable diligence might have been, within petitioner's knowledge and reach at the original trial[80] and was either willfully suppressed or negligently omitted;[81] or for the purpose of admitting testimony which under the rules of evidence in force at the time of the original trial was not then admissible.[82] The court must be satisfied from the evidence introduced in support of the petition that the alleged newly discovered evidence could not have been obtained by diligent inquiry prior to the trial of the original action.[83]

[§ 10] 3. Want of Notice. Under statutes permitting the review of an action where judgment is rendered against a party who had no notice of the pendency of the suit,[84] a review will be granted on his showing probable grounds of defense.[85]

[§ 11] 4. Fraud, Accident, Surprise, Mistake, or Misfortune—a. In General. Fraud, accident, surprise, mistake, or misfortune, by reason of which justice has not been done, is a ground for review.[86] refrain from enforcing it until that time, there was a waiver of the right to review the judgment. Smith v. O'Brien, 146 Mass. 294, 15 NE 645.

---

[65] Berry v. Whitaker, 58 Me. 422.

[66] McFadden v. Otis, 6 Mass. 323.

[a] Illustration.—Where a party waives his right of review, acting on the advice of his counsel that he could have relief by writ of error, which he could not, the right of review will be restored. McFadden v. Otis, 6 Mass. 323.

[67] See statutory provisions.

[68] See supra § 2.

Discretion of court see infra § 35.

[69] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Pierce v. Bent, 67 Me. 404.

[a] "Special cases."—Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143.

[70] See statutory provisions.

[71] Buck v. Pierce, (Me.) 1 A 137; Dwinel v. Godfrey, 44 Me. 65; Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479; Ward v. Clapp, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 414.

[72] Buck v. Pierce, (Me.) 1 A 137; Ward v. Clapp, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 414.

[73] Dwinel v. Godfrey, 44 Me. 65.

[74] Crooker v. Randall, 53 Me. 355.

[75] Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208; Crooker v. Randall, 53 Me. 355; Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479; Merrill v. Crocket, 6 Me. 412.

[a] Evidence held to be merely cumulative.—Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208; Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479; Merrill v. Crocket, 6 Me. 412.

[76] Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208.

[77] Trask v. Unity, supra.

[78] Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479.

[a] Newly discovered evidence, although cumulative, is a ground for review (1) where a witness whose testimony on the trial was against petitioner has ascertained that by mistake he testified incorrectly (Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479), (2) or where the newly discovered evidence was placed beyond the knowledge or control of petitioner by means of the other party and with a view to prejudice petitioner's case (Warren v. Hope, supra), (3) or where the newly discovered evidence relates to confessions or declarations of the other party as to a material fact unknown to petitioner at the time of the original trial and inconsistent with the evidence adduced by such party at that trial (Warren v. Hope, supra).

New trial for newly discovered evidence which is cumulative see New Trial § 242.

[79] Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208; Todd v. Chipman, 62 Me. 189.

[80] Todd v. Chipman, supra; Watson v. Wenz, 223 Mass. 341, 111 NE 856.

[81] Todd v. Chipman, 62 Me. 189.

[82] Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118.

[a] Change by the legislature in the rules of evidence.—Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118.

[83] Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Buck v. Pierce, (Me.) 1 A 137; Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208; Atkinson v. Conner, 56 Me. 546; Carpenter v. Sellers, 38 Me. 427.

[a] Where the same efforts that were made after the trial if made before would have discovered the same evidence that is made the basis of the petition a review will not be granted. Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683.

[b] A second review for newly discovered evidence will not be granted after the lapse of eight years from the time of the commencement of the action and after two verdicts adverse to the petitioner and after one review has been had on account of newly discovered evidence, unless the court is fully satisfied that the alleged newly discovered evidence was unattainable by the utmost diligence at any of the former proceedings and that such evidence would change the result. Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208.

[c] The discovery of a document, before supposed to be lost, when the former action failed by reason of improperly admitting evidence as to the contents of such document, without first properly proving its loss, is not a ground of review. Carpenter v. Sellers, 38 Me. 427.

[84] See statutory provisions.

[85] McNamara v. Carr, 84 Me. 299, 24 A 856; Holmes v. Fox, 19 Me. 107; Brewer v. Holmes, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 288; Chase v. Brown, 32 N. H. 130.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Under Rev. St. c 89 § 1, a review has been granted for the review of an action brought against defendant during his absence from the state, and of which he had no notice, where he showed that an attorney who appeared for him and consented to a judgment by default, did so without his knowledge or authority. McNamara v. Carr, 84 Me. 299, 24 A 856. (2) Where process was served on a resident defendant, who was temporarily absent from the state, by leaving a copy of the summons at the last and usual place of abode of his agent, defendant was held entitled to a writ of review. Holmes v. Fox, 19 Me. 107. (3) Under Rev. St. c 192 § 2, where judgment has been rendered against defendant in his absence without actual notice, and for a larger sum than it is shown plaintiff was willing to take in settlement in full for his claim, defendant is entitled to a review. Chase v. Brown, 32 N. H. 130.

Admissibility of evidence to show want of notice see infra § 34.

[86] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Hutchinson v. Gurley, 8 Allen (Mass.) 23; Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220;

Thus a review may be granted to a party who through any of the foregoing causes has lost his ordinary legal rights or remedies.[87] Before a review will be granted, the court must be satisfied not only of the fact of such accident, surprise, etc.,[88] but it must also appear that by reason thereof justice has not been done,[89] in the case sought to be reviewed[90] whether the injustice be in the result of the original trial[91] or in a subsequent deprivation of the right to an appeal,[92] new trial,[93] or review as of right.[94]

[§ 12] b. What Constitutes. Since the words "accident, mistake, or misfortune" ordinarily import something outside of petitioner's control,[95] or at least something that a reasonably prudent man would not be expected to guard against or provide for,[96] a review will not be granted on this ground where a party fails to prepare his case with reference to all the probable contingencies of the trial,[97] or for the purpose of otherwise relieving him of the results of his own negligence[98] or that of his attorney.[99] A review may be allowed for a mistake consisting in an error of computation[1] or for a mistake which is the result of accident or misfortune.[2] It is not every mistake either of the tribunal or of the party, or of his attorney which will justify a review.[3] Thus

---

Nashua, etc., R. Co. v. Stimpson, 35 N. H. 286; Chase v. Brown, 32 N. H. 130.

What must be shown see infra § 34 note 68 [a].

[87] See cases infra this note.

[a] A review may be granted where a party has been deprived: (1) Of the opportunity of being heard upon the original trial. Nashua, etc., R. Co. v. Stimpson, 35 N. H. 286; New England Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Lisbon Mfg. Co., 22 N. H. 170. (2) Of his right to an appeal. Hutchinson v. Gurley, 8 Allen (Mass.) 23; Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220. But see Hilton v. Wiggin, 46 N. H. 120 (under a statute which provides that if a creditor fails to appeal from the decision of the commissioners within the time limited his claim shall be forever barred, the court cannot grant a review, although the failure to appeal was due to accident, mistake, or misfortune). (3) Of his right to a new trial. Woodworth v. Wilson, supra.

[b] Loss of right to exceptions.—(1) Where the judge died within the time allowed a party to file his exceptions he is entitled to a review. McDonough v. Blossom, 109 Me. 141, 83 A 323. (2) And where the accidental failure to enter in the appellate court, exceptions taken upon the trial, results in an affirmance of a judgment against a party he may be granted a review. Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415.

[c] Where it distinctly appears that a trial has not been had by reason of accident, mistake, or misfortune, the court will generally grant a review without inquiring into the merits, if satisfied that a matter of controversy actually exists which the party claiming the review desires and intends to try. Nashua, etc., R. Co. v. Stimpson, 35 N. H. 286.

[88] Exercise of discretion in interest of justice generally see infra § 35.

[89] Pierce v. Bent, 67 Me. 404; Weld v. Sabin, 20 N. H. 533, 51 AmD 240.

[a] Where a judgment by default is rendered against a party through accident or misfortune a review will not be granted where it does not appear that he had any defense or that anything could be gained in the promotion of justice by granting the review. Weld v. Sabin, 20 N. H. 533, 51 AmD 240.

[90] Pierce v. Bent, 67 Me. 404, 408.

"It is the failure of justice actually experienced in the case sought to be reviewed, and not future conjectural inconvenience or loss in another case, that the statute contemplates." Pierce v. Bent, supra.

[91] Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220.

[92] Woodworth v. Wilson, supra.

[93] Woodworth v. Wilson, supra.

[94] Woodworth v. Wilson, supra.

[95] Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954 [quot Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683].

[96] Pickering v. Cassidy, supra.

[97] Pickering v. Cassidy, supra; Atkinson v. Connor, 56 Me. 546; Clark v. Brigham, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 81.

[a] Judgment erroneous because of imperfect and scanty data furnished by the parties.—Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683.

[b] Where a party has reasonable cause to expect that a certain point will be controverted and he might, by proper diligence, have obtained evidence to substantiate the point, he cannot have a review on the ground of surprise or mistake. Atkinson v. Connor, 56 Me. 546.

[c] Where defendant neglected to procure evidence as to the amount of damages, thinking that if a verdict should be found against him the damages would be the subject of a future inquiry, he is not entitled to a review. Clark v. Brigham, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 81.

[98] Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954; Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Atkinson v. Connor, 56 Me. 546; Clark v. Brigham, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 81.

[99] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Crooker v. Randall, 53 Me. 355; Watson v. Wenz, 223 Mass. 341, 111 NE 856; Stillman v. Donovan, 170 Mass. 360, 49 NE 628; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 32 NE 166.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) A default entered through negligence of applicant's attorney who, although notified of the assignment of the case for trial, did not notify applicant or appear to defend the action is not a ground of review. Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143. (2) Absence of petitioner's counsel when referee's report was received in court is not a ground of review. Crooker v. Randall, 53 Me. 355. (3) Failure of counsel to except to alleged erroneous rulings and instructions of trial court does not constitute a ground of review. Stillman v. Donovan, 170 Mass. 360, 49 NE 628. (4) Attorney's negligent failure to use testimony from another trial does not provide a ground of review. Watson v. Wenz, 223 Mass. 341, 111 NE 856.

[b] While recognizing the general rule that a review should not be granted where the only cause of complaint grows out of the negligence or misconduct of petitioner's attorney, there has been a reluctance to lay down an absolute rule that in no case would a review be granted on this ground, since cases might arise where such a rule would work great injustice. Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 32 NE 166.

[1] Starbird v. Eaton, 42 Me. 569; Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169; Ilsley v. Knight, 1 Mass. 467.

[a] Amount due on note.—Ilsley v. Knight, 1 Mass. 467.

[b] Interest on a judgment.—Starbird v. Eaton, 42 Me. 569.

[c] Mistake in computing the area of land in a partition proceeding (1) is ground for review under Rev. St. c 123 (Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169 [dist Sturdivant v. Greeley, 4 Me. 534]), (2) although under St. (1821) c 57 § 4 it was held not to justify a review (Sturdivant v. Greeley, 4 Me. 534).

[2] Shurtleff v. Thompson, 63 Me. 118; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 32 NE 166; Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60; Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220; New England Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Lisbon Mfg. Co., 22 N. H. 170; Riley v. Emerson, 5 N. H. 531.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Defendant was entitled to a review to plead his discharge in bankruptcy, where his counsel failed to appear for him in defense, through a mistaken belief that counsel employed by another defendant also represented defendant and would protect his interests. Shurtleff v. Thompson, 63 Me. 118. (2) Where it appeared that there might have been a misunderstanding between petitioner and his attorney, not wholly imputable to negligence on the part of either of them, a review is authorized. Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 32 NE 166. (3) Mistake of an attorney in not entering an appearance, when the mistake was due to accident and not to carelessness or inattention is good ground for review. Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60. (4) A petition for review was granted a nonresident on the ground of accident and mistake, in that a miscarriage of letters between his attorneys prevented a seasonable application for a new trial or appeal. Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220. (5) Where the attorney failed to enter an appearance through a mistake as to the date of the session of court review may be granted. New England Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Lisbon Mfg. Co., 22 N. H. 170.

[3] Booth Bros., etc., Granite Co. v. Smith, 115 Me. 89, 97 A 826; Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954; Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Heath v. Marshall, 46 N. H. 40.

[a] Erroneous decisions of a court are a cause for review (1) only when based on a mistaken assumption that something is true which the record shows is not (Booth Bros., etc., Granite Co. v. Smith, 115 Me. 89, 97 A 826), (2) or where the court has mere mistakes of opinion or judgment[4] where no data were accidentally overlooked[5] are not grounds of review. Although a mistake made without want of due diligence[6] may be sufficient ground for review, a review will not be allowed where the petitioner had knowledge of[7] or access to[8] facts which could have cured the mistake,[9] or where he could have avoided its consequences by ordinary diligence.[10]

Person guilty of mistake. A review may be granted because of the mistakes of parties[11] or of their attorneys[12] as well as for the mistakes of the court,[13] clerk of court,[14] or of the commissioners in a partition proceeding.[15]

[§ 13] 5. Conduct or Testimony of Witness. While a review will not be granted simply to discredit a witness who testified at the trial,[16] it is sufficient ground for granting a review where a witness who has testified to material facts adverse to petitioner upon the first trial subsequently discovers that through mistake he testified incorrectly,[17] or where such witness is subsequently convicted of perjury in regard to such testimony.[18]

[§ 14] 6. Qualification or Conduct of Juror. It is not sufficient ground for granting a review that a member of the jury in the original action had expressed a general opinion in regard to the case before the trial, if he had formed no judgment of the merits and stood indifferent between the parties,[19] or that a juror was hostile to petitioner, if this fact was known at the time of the trial and no objection was made on this ground;[20] but a review will be granted on account of the interest of a juror, which was not known to petitioner until after a verdict against him and adjournment of the court.[21]

[§ 15] 7. Discretionary Matters. A review will not ordinarily be granted because of matters within the discretion of the trial court,[22] such as the refusal of a continuance or postponement,[23] or the denial of a new trial,[24] or ordering a case for trial out of its regular order on the docket,[25] unless some misapprehension, corruption, or incompetency on the part of the trial court is clearly shown;[26] but if a party is seriously injured by any ruling of the trial court as to matters within its discretion, a petition for review is the proper remedy.[27]

[§ 16] 8. Miscellaneous. A review may be granted to enable defendant to set up a discharge in bankruptcy by way of defense;[28] but a review will not be granted merely because the original action was brought in petitioner's name without his authority,[29] or for the sole purpose of striking out the name of the original plaintiff and substituting that of another party.[30] A review will not be granted to permit a party to supply an omission in the original action,[31] or to cure his own negligence in the original action.[32] palpably failed to consider facts that have been proved (Booth Bros., etc., Granite Co. v. Smith, supra).

---

[4] Booth Bros., etc., Granite Co. v. Smith, supra; Farnsworth v. Kimball, 112 Me. 238, 91 A 954; Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Heath v. Marshall, 46 N. H. 40; Johnson v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 43 N. H. 410.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) "If a party was erroneously of the opinion that a particular piece of evidence was valueless, and so omitted to produce it, such a mistake does not entitle him to a new trial." Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 147, 44 A 683. (2) An error in the judgment of the court in refusing to add interest from the time of verdict to judgment is not ground for review. Johnson v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 43 N. H. 410. (3) An attorney's error of judgment as to some point involved in the proceedings is not a ground of review. Heath v. Marshall, 46 N. H. 40.

[5] Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683.

[6] Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, 13 Mass. 302.

[a] Error in statement of case.—Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, 13 Mass. 302.

[7] Ryder v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 101 Mass. 548.

[a] Error in agreed statement of facts.—Ryder v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 101 Mass. 548.

[8] Brooks v. Belfast, etc., R. Co., 72 Me. 365.

[a] It might be different if the party had been entrapped or misled into making the fatal admission, without laches on his part, or had been prevented from ascertaining and procuring evidence of the real facts. Brooks v. Belfast, etc., R. Co., 72 Me. 365.

[9] Brooks v. Belfast, etc., R. Co., supra; Ryder v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 101 Mass. 548.

[10] Heath v. Marshall, 46 N. H. 40.

[11] Brooks v. Belfast, etc., R. Co., 72 Me. 365; Ryder v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 101 Mass. 548; Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, 13 Mass. 302.

[12] Shurtleff v. Thompson, 63 Me. 118; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 32 NE 166; Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60; Woodworth v. Wilson, 50 N. H. 220; New England Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Lisbon Mfg. Co., 22 N. H. 170; Riley v. Emerson, 5 N. H. 531.

[13] Starbird v. Eaton, 42 Me. 569.

[14] Ilsley v. Knight, 1 Mass. 467.

[15] Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169.

[16] Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208; Haskell v. Becket, 3 Me. 92.

[17] Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479.

[18] Sturtevant v. Randall, 49 Me. 446; Morrell v. Kimball, 1 Me. 322.

[a] Where the petitioner himself had summoned the witness.—Morrell v. Kimball, 1 Me. 322.

[a] A person is entitled to review as a matter of right under St. (1859) c 94 upon proof: (1) That, upon the original trial, a witness testified falsely against petitioner to material facts. Sturtevant v. Randall, 49 Me. 446. (2) That he was taken by surprise, so that he was unable then to produce evidence that it was false. Sturtevant v. Randall, supra. (3) That such witness has been convicted of perjury in such testimony, or that petitioner has discovered sufficient proof of its falsity in the opinion of the court. Sturtevant v. Randall, supra.

[19] Haskell v. Becket, 3 Me. 92.

[20] Haskell v. Becket, supra.

[a] The objection not being taken at the trial is waived. Haskell v. Becket, 3 Me. 92.

[21] Davis v. Allen, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 466, 22 AmD 386.

[22] Dearborn v. Mathes, 128 Mass. 194; Weeks v. Adamson, 106 Mass. 514; Converse v. Carter, 8 Allen (Mass.) 568.

[23] Weeks v. Adamson, 106 Mass. 514.

[24] Dearborn v. Mathes, 128 Mass. 194.

[25] Converse v. Carter, 8 Allen (Mass.) 568.

[26] Converse v. Carter, supra.

[27] Reynard v. Brecknell, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 302.

[28] Golden v. Blaskopf, 126 Mass. 523. But see Bush v. Hovey, 124 Mass. 217 (the court may refuse to grant a review to enable defendant to set up a discharge in bankruptcy where no substantial benefit would thereby enure to the petitioners).

[29] Fullam v. McKenny, 16 Gray (Mass.) 579.

[30] Skillings v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 155 Mass. 581, 30 NE 367.

[31] Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177.

[a] To take advantage of the law of a foreign state.—Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177.

[32] Browne v. Fairhall, supra.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The petitioner, in other words, has had his day in court." Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 497, 106 NE 177.

III. DECISIONS AND MATTERS REVIEWABLE

[§ 17] A. In General. The question as to what judgments, decrees, or decisions are reviewable depends upon the provisions of the statutes,[33] and a review can be granted only in cases coming within their application.[34] In this regard it is to be observed that there is a lack of uniformity not only between the statutes of the different jurisdictions,[35] but also between the successive statutes of the same jurisdiction.[36] Further the court, the decision of which may be reviewed, depends upon the provisions of the applicable statute.[37] Some statutes expressly exclude from the right of review cases where judgment has been twice rendered in favor of the same party.[38]

[§ 18] B. Character of Action or Proceeding. As a general rule, the right of review provided by statutes of the character under consideration, extends to any civil action[39] in which a judgment has been rendered[40] in a judicial tribunal[41] whether rendered upon a verdict,[42] upon a report of referees,[43] upon an agreement of the parties open to review,[44] or upon an agreed state of facts submitted to the court.[45] A review cannot be granted in a criminal case,[46] or any suit or proceeding in equity.[47]

A "civil action," as the term is employed in these statutes, is by some decisions restricted to an action begun by writ[48] and having the characteristics of a common-law action.[49] On the other hand it has been held that a review may be granted of an action commenced by petition,[50] or by trustee process.[51] It is no objection to a review that the pleadings in the action sought to be reviewed are not in the same form as in ordinary actions at law.[52]

Joinder of issue. For an action to be subject to review it may be necessary by specific statutory provision[53] that there be a joinder of issue in the original action[54] and a review may be granted where an issue has been joined followed by a default.[55]

---

[33] See statutory provisions.

[34] Wells' Case, 2 Me. 322; Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163.

[35] Solomons v. Chesley, supra.

[36] Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52; Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163.

[37] See cases infra this note.

[a] In Massachusetts.—(1) Decisions either by the supreme judicial court or of court of common pleas are subject to a review (Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray 415), (2) as is also a judgment of a lower court, affirming a judgment of a justice of the peace, rendered on the complaint of the defendant in review (Anderson v. Brown, 10 Gray 92).

[b] In New Hampshire.—A review may be had of a cause appealed to the supreme court from the judgment of a police court. Moulton v. Fellows, 51 N. H. 421 (under Gen. St. c 215, § 1, which makes no distinction between actions which are in the supreme court by appeal from a justice of the peace, or police court, and those originally there).

[38] See statutory provisions; and case infra this note.

[a] Where defendant filed a plea in offset to plaintiff's demand, but at the first trial submitted no proof thereof, and plaintiff recovered a judgment for his whole claim, and defendant then, by leave of court, filed an additional plea in offset, founded upon the same subject-matter, and at a subsequent term introduced evidence and so far sustained his offset that plaintiff recovered judgment for but a part of his claim, plaintiff is not entitled to a review, judgment having been rendered for him twice in the same cause. Chesman v. Lane, 17 Vt. 88.

[39] Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52; Nantasket Beach R. Co. v. Ransom, 147 Mass. 240, 17 NE 640; Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415; Sheafe v. Sheafe, 29 N. H. 269; Nichols v. Nichols, 28 Vt. 228, 67 AmD 699; Allen v. Taylor, 26 Vt. 599.

[40] Nantasket Beach R. Co. v. Ransom, 147 Mass. 240, 17 NE 640 (construing Pub. St. c 187 §§ 16, 22, authorizing writs of review, and holding that a judgment of the superior court, upon the verdict of a jury, assessing damages upon the petition of one whose land has been taken for a railroad, is a judgment in a "civil action" within the meaning of the above statute).

[41] Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52.

[a] A judgment rendered in the superior court, upon a report of referees, is included in the rule. Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52.

Necessity that decision be that of judicial tribunal in appeal and error generally see Appeal and Error § 129.

[42] Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52.

[a] In Massachusetts (1) in some early cases it was held that a review was authorized only where judgment in the original action was rendered upon a verdict (Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498), (2) but later cases have held that review is not limited to cases where judgment has been rendered on a verdict (Hubon v. Bousley, 123 Mass. 368; Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray 415; Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, 13 Mass. 302).

[43] Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52.

[44] Messer v. Smyth, 60 N. H. 436; Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163; Coburn v. Rogers, 32 N. H. 372 (prior to statute specifically allowing review where there is an agreement subject to review).

[45] Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, 13 Mass. 302.

"Nor do we perceive any reason against such an application as the present which does not equally apply to a judgment rendered upon a verdict." Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, supra.

[46] Wells' Case, 2 Me. 322.

[47] Brooks v. Howard, 55 N. H. 69.

[a] "The word judgment [in statutes authorizing review in actions in which judgment has been rendered] seems to import a judgment at law [rather than] a final decision of a court of equity which is commonly spoken of as the more specific name of decree." Brooks v. Howard, 55 N. H. 69, 70.

[48] Sheafe v. Sheafe, 29 N. H. 269; Nichols v. Nichols, 28 Vt. 228, 67 AmD 699.

[a] In Massachusetts.—(1) In some of the earlier cases it was held that a review was authorized only where the original action was commenced by writ. Borden v. Brown, 7 Mass. 93; Dickenson v. Davis, 4 Mass. 520. (2) But in a later case the statements of the earlier cases were said to be dicta, and it was held that the decisive question is whether the proceeding is in substance a civil action, and not the form of the process. Nantasket Beach R. Co. v. Ransom, 147 Mass. 240, 17 NE 640.

[b] Petition relating to divorce or alimony.—Sheafe v. Sheafe, 29 N. H. 269.

[49] Sheafe v. Sheafe, supra.

[a] Another statement of rule.—"The statute has reference only to those suits or actions, which are commenced and prosecuted according to the course of the common law." Nichols v. Nichols, 28 Vt. 228, 233, 67 AmD 699.

[b] Petition for partition being a statutory proceeding cannot be reviewed. Nichols v. Nichols, 28 Vt. 228, 67 AmD 699.

[50] Nantasket Beach R. Co. v. Ransom, 147 Mass. 240, 17 NE 640. See Hubon v. Bousley, 123 Mass. 368 (holding that a review will lie of a judgment rendered on a petition, inserted in a writ of summons, to enforce a mechanic's lien).

[a] In Maine.—(1) Under an early statute the court, while denying the application for review upon other grounds, expressed a doubt as to whether a petition for partition was a "civil action" within the application of the statute (Sturtivant v. Greeley, 4 Me. 534), (2) but Revision (1840) c 123 expressly included petitions for partition (Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52).

[51] Allen v. Seaver, 38 Vt. 673.

[a] There is no right of review (1) of a judgment that defendant, trustee in trustee process, has assets of an absconding debtor (Huntington v. Bishop, 5 Vt. 186), (2) nor is there any right of review of a judgment on a plea that the person, as whose trustee defendant is sued, is not an absconding or concealed debtor (Emerson v. Paine, 9 Vt. 271).

[52] Hubon v. Bousley, 123 Mass. 368.

[53] See statutory provisions.

[54] Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163.

[a] What constitutes joinder of issue.—(1) By "issue joined" is meant an issue of fact reached by the parties as distinguished from cases where defendant does not plead or appear

[§ 19] C. Character of Decision. Decisions which under these statutes have been held reviewable include, among others,[56] a judgment on a bond given by a deputy to the sheriff,[57] a judgment rendered on a scire facias against bail,[58] a judgment against a trustee,[59] a judgment rendered on a writ of scire facias,[60] and a judgment by default.[61] On the other hand, it has been held that no review can be granted from a judgment or decree which by statute is final and conclusive,[62] of a judgment on a writ of error,[63] or of a decree granting[64] or refusing[65] a divorce, or of a decree of a judge of probate,[66] or of a report of a referee.[67]

[§ 20] D. Matters Not before Court, and Incidental Matters. A review cannot be granted as to a matter not before the court at the original trial and as to which no adjudication or decree was made.[68] The statutes authorizing the review of an action apply only to the cause itself and not to a separate issue, adjunct or incident of such cause,[69] such as a declaration for betterments,[70] or, a plea in offset in an action of book account.[71]

IV. JURISDICTION AND PROCEEDINGS

[§ 21] A. Jurisdiction. The jurisdiction of particular courts with regard to proceedings for review is, as a rule, specifically established by the statutes affording the remedy.[72] An appellate court will not grant a writ of review upon a petition over which an inferior court has jurisdiction.[73] But the denial by an inferior court of a motion for a new trial does not deprive the appellate court of its jurisdiction to grant a writ of review.[74] A court may acquire jurisdiction of the subject matter, and person by a petition for review,[75] or by the suing out of a writ as of right,[76] and having once acquired such jurisdiction the court retains it until a final judgment is rendered.[77] An objection that a court lacked jurisdiction to grant a review may be made at the trial on review.[78]

[§ 22] B. Proceedings To Procure Review—1. In General. Where a review is a matter of right[79] the writ may be sued out without application to the court for leave to do so,[80] and the writ will not be granted upon petition;[81] but where review is not a matter of right the party aggrieved must first apply to the court, by petition, praying for leave to sue out a and thus no issue is raised (Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163) (2) and it is sufficient where defendant pleads the general issue, although plaintiff does not file a similiter (Solomons v. Chesley, supra), (3) or where a party appears in opposition to the claim and agrees to a judgment, although no plea is filed or issue formally joined (Messer v. Smyth, 60 N. H. 436).

---

[55] Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163.

[56] See cases supra § 18.

[57] Page v. Barney, Brayt. (Vt.) 23.

[58] Safford v. Knight, 117 Mass. 281; Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60.

[59] Brigham v. Elliot, 12 Pick. (Mass.) 172 (where it appeared that a trustee has been charged by accident or mistake, when he ought to have been discharged); Ex p. Packard, 10 Mass. 426 (where the judgment against the trustee was by default on a scire facias).

[60] Aldrich v. Williams, 10 Vt. 295.

[a] The writ of scire facias is subject to review under the statute of 1824 because it is not like the common and ordinary writs, to carry into effect a former judgment, but it is in the nature of an original action. Aldrich v. Williams, 10 Vt. 295.

[61] James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367.

[a] In New Hampshire.—(1) Under the earlier statutes it was held that no review could be granted where judgment in the original action was rendered by default. Smith v. Gilman, 3 N. H. 501. (2) But under later statutes a review may be granted where judgment was by default. Solomons v. Chesley, 57 N. H. 163 [dist Smith v. Gilman, supra (which was decided under a statute authorizing reviews of "actions tried," while the later statutes authorize reviews of actions where "issue has been joined and judgment rendered")].

[62] Smith v. McDaniel, 15 N. H. 474.

[63] Enos v. Boardman, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 271.

[64] Lucas v. Lucas, 3 Gray (Mass.) 136.

[65] Lucas v. Lucas, supra.

[66] Barnes v. Abbott, 55 N. H. 147.

[a] Decree approving will.—Barnes v. Abbott, 55 N. H. 147.

[67] Stone v. Davis, 14 Mass. 360.

[a] Illustration.—Upon a report of referees where the party found to be indebted has paid the sum awarded, and the report with the acknowledgment of satisfaction has been returned and recorded no review will be granted. Stone v. Davis, 14 Mass. 360.

[b] Reason for rule.—"Were we to grant . . . a review we are not able to conceive by what course of proceedings we could set aside the award of the referees." Stone v. Davis, 14 Mass. 360.

[68] Henderson v. Henderson, 64 Me. 419.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The statute provides for a review of that which does exist, and which was obtained 'through fraud, accident, mistake or misfortune,' and not that which never has been obtained by any means." Henderson v. Henderson, 64 Me. 419, 420.

[b] Where a husband obtains a judgment of divorce, the wife cannot review such judgment as to alimony and dower alone, where the judgment contains no mention of dower or alimony, and no decree was made as to either. Henderson v. Henderson, 64 Me. 419.

[69] Allen v. Taylor, 26 Vt. 599; Hall v. Hall, 24 Vt. 637.

[70] Allen v. Taylor, 26 Vt. 599; Gage v. Ladd, 6 Vt. 174.

[71] Hall v. Hall, 24 Vt. 637.

[72] See statutory provisions; cases infra this note; and notes 73, 74.

[a] In Massachusetts.—The supreme judicial court may grant a review of its own judgment, affirming the judgment of the court below, to which exceptions were taken and accidently omitted in the supreme court, on being satisfied that the exceptions affect the substantial merits of the case. Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray 415 (construing Rev. St. c 99 § 19, and holding that the statute seems designed to reach every case, whether it could be foreseen or not, with no other limitation than that the court should think it, under all the circumstances, reasonable).

[73] Merrill v. Crocket, 6 Me. 412.

[a] The supreme court, in the exercise of its general power to grant reviews in all cases, will not sustain an application for the review of an action in a justice's court, where the party aggrieved may have redress in the court of common pleas. Merrill v. Crocket, 6 Me. 412.

[74] Stillman v. Whittemore, 165 Mass. 234, 42 NE 1126.

[75] Bodurtha v. Goodrich, 3 Gray (Mass.) 508; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[76] Bodurtha v. Goodrich, 3 Gray (Mass.) 508.

[77] Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[78] See infra § 54.

[79] See supra § 3.

[80] Jackson v. Gould, 72 Me. 335.

[81] Byrnes v. Piper, 5 Mass. 363; Smith v. Cole, 18 N. H. 280.

writ of review.[82] This application for a review is not in itself a review of the action named[83] but is in effect a motion for a new trial after judgment.[84]

[§ 23] 2. Parties.[85] An application or petition for a review should be in the name of the party or parties who actually appear on the record as plaintiff or defendant,[86] or in the names of their representatives.[87] Whether the court may permit the substitution of a proper party by amendment depends upon statutes providing therefor.[88] Upon indemnifying the nominal party of record against costs, a writ of review in his name may be sued out by the real party in interest, where the original action is brought by or against a nominal party.[89]

[§ 24] 3. Notice. Where notice is required by statute[90] no review should be granted until due notice of the application for review has been given to the adverse party.[91] While the court is not obliged to quash a writ of review for want of notice,[92] and may subsequently hear the parties upon the merits of the application[93] a rule to show cause, why such writ should not be quashed, should ordinarily be granted upon affidavit of the adverse party that he had no notice.[94] Under statutes prescribing no particular mode of notice[95] or the term to which it shall be made returnable,[96] if the parties interested have substantial notice of the application, it is sufficient.

[§ 25] 4. Time. Generally, the time within which an application for a review may be made, is specified by statute.[97] Under some statutes a petition for review must be brought within a certain period after the rendition of the judgment complained of,[98] or after notice of such judgment if it was rendered in the absence of petitioner and without his knowledge.[99] The period of the limitation has been held under some statutes to be computed from the term of which the judgment was entitled,[1] under others from the time of the actual judgment[2] but excluding the day on which judgment was rendered.[3]

Laches. Review will not be granted to a party who is guilty of laches.[4]

---

82. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155.

Petition for writ see infra § 32.

83. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265.

"The petition for review and the review itself if granted are two separate and independent proceedings." Green v. French, supra.

84. Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177.

[a] A petition for a review "is in effect a motion for a new trial after judgment." Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177.

85. Persons entitled to writ see supra § 5.

86. Elwell v. Sylvester, 27 Me. 536; Fling v. Trafton, 13 Me. 295; Skillings v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 155 Mass. 581, 30 NE 367; Carrique v. Bristol Print Works, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 444.

[a] Parties to the original judgment.—Skillings v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 155 Mass. 581, 30 NE 367; Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[b] Where the name of one of two defendants is stricken out on motion of plaintiff's attorney, by leave of court and with the consent of the other defendant, a writ of review must be sued out in the name of defendant of record alone, and a motion made by the original plaintiff, at the trial of the review, to restore the name stricken out, will not be allowed. Fling v. Trafton, 13 Me. 295.

87. Elwell v. Sylvester, 27 Me. 536; Skillings v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 155 Mass. 581, 30 NE 367; Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[a] A petitioner who would hold in his own right the money recovered and not for the benefit of the original party of record cannot maintain a petition for review in his own name. Skillings v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 155 Mass. 581, 30 NE 367.

[b] Under Gen. St. c 146 §§ 30-38 (now Gen. St. [1921] c 250 § 2), a writ of review, like a writ of error, must be in the name of the party to the original judgment or in the name of those who have by law succeeded to his rights by death or bankruptcy. Skillings v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 155 Mass. 581, 30 NE 367; Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

88. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Massachusetts.—Gen. St. c 129 §§ 41, 82, authorizing amendments in any civil suit permit the substitution of a new party and are applicable to petitions for review. Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[b] In Maine.—Rev. St. c 123 § 1, and c 124, by failing to provide for the introduction of new parties, has been held not to authorize the substitution of the name of one not a party in the original proceedings. Elwell v. Sylvester, 27 Me. 536.

89. Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438; Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281.

90. See statutory provisions.

91. Collby v. Dennis, 36 Me. 9; Clap v. Joslyn, 1 Mass. 129.

92. Clap v. Joslyn, supra.

93. Clap v. Joslyn, supra.

94. Clap v. Joslyn, supra.

95. Colby v. Dennis, 36 Me. 9; Ferrill v. Simpson, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 359.

[a] Where a nominal party's attorney of record received notice and the real parties in interest were present, such notice is sufficient. Ferrill v. Simpson, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 359.

96. Colby v. Dennis, 36 Me. 9.

[a] A notice allowing such time as the law prescribes for notice in other cases and returnable where respondent may be heard is all that is required. Colby v. Dennis, 36 Me. 9.

Notice generally see Notice 46 C. J. p 534.

97. See statutory provisions.

[a] Statute of 1852 authorized writs of review on judgments against certified bankrupts without regard to the time when the judgments were rendered. Colby v. Dennis, 36 Me. 9.

[b] A statute limiting the time within which a review may be granted applies to nonresident defendants as well as residents temporarily absent. Jackson v. Gould, 72 Me. 335.

98. Jackson v. Gould, supra (within one year after judgment when brought as a matter of right); Leighton v. Lithgow, 2 Me. 114 (within three years); Manning v. Nettleton, 140 Mass. 421, 4 NE 802; Matthewson v. Moulton, 135 Mass. 122 (within one year after rendition of judgment unless rendered in absence of and without knowledge of petitioner); Hobbs v. Whidden, 27 N. H. 386 (three years); Howard v. Hunt, 17 N. H. 449 (one year); French v. Wilkins, 17 Vt. 341 (three years).

99. Riley v. Hale, 146 Mass. 465, 16 NE 276; Smith v. Brown, 136 Mass. 416; Matthewson v. Moulton, 135 Mass. 122; James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367.

[a] "It was the intention of the legislature to authorize any party to file his petition for review within one year after notice of a judgment against him whenever by any means and for any cause there was in fact no service of process upon him and no notice of the pendency of the suit, so that he was deprived of the opportunity to appear and defend his rights in the original action." James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367, 372 [quot Matthewson v. Moulton, 135 Mass. 122, 124].

[b] Absence.—(1) The term "absence" in such a statute does not necessarily mean out of the state (James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367), (2) and if defendant has notice of the suit by service of process upon him, he is constructively and by legal intendment present in court, and a judgment upon his default is not rendered in his absence within the meaning of the statute (Riley v. Hale, 146 Mass. 465, 16 NE 276; Smith v. Brown, 136 Mass. 416; Matthewson v. Moulton, 135 Mass. 122).

1. Leighton v. Lithgow, 2 Me. 114; New Hampshire Strafford Bank v. Cornell, 2 N. H. 324.

[a] Where judgment is rendered in one county as of a prior term in another county, a writ of review must be brought within one year from the last day of such prior term. New Hampshire Strafford Bank v. Cornell, 2 N. H. 324.

2. French v. Wilkins, 17 Vt. 341.

3. French v. Wilkins, supra.

4. Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634; Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415.

[a] Delay in filing exceptions may constitute laches justifying the refusal of a writ of review. Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634.

[b] Failure of a party to obtain

[§ 26] 5. Bond or Other Security[5]—a. Necessity, Form, and Contents. In the absence of statutory requirements,[6] no bond or other security is ordinarily taken or can be required of either party to an application for a review[7] unless a supersedeas or stay of execution is asked.[8] But since the review does not of itself operate as a supersedeas or stay of execution,[9] and sometimes because of express statutory requirements,[10] a bond must be given if a supersedeas or stay is desired.[11]

Form and contents. While the statutes sometimes provide the form and conditions of whatever bonds are to be given,[12] a bond is not vitiated because it is not drawn in strict conformity to the statute,[13] or because it omits certain conditions prescribed by the court if it is still a good bond under the requirements of the statute.[14]

[§ 27] b. Performance or Breach of Condition. Rules governing the performance or breach of the conditions of bonds generally[15] apply to bonds given on a petition for review.[16] What will constitute a breach of the petitioner's bond so as to authorize an action thereon necessarily depends upon the terms of its conditions,[17] which are to be strictly construed.[18] There is a breach of condition where the petitioner is nonsuited[19] or where the petition is denied,[20] and while a breach of condition may be caused by the dismissal of the petition,[21] this is not necessarily so.[22]

[§ 28] c. Effect of Giving Bond. Proceedings for review, where a bond is given to stay execution, must be promptly brought.[23]

[§ 29] d. Discharge. A review bond is discharged by the payment of the original judgment the judgment of the court on the merits of his case whether those merits depended mainly on contested facts or controverted principles of law constitutes laches. Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415.

---

[5] Order of court requiring bond and grant of supersedeas or stay thereon see infra § 35.

[6] See statutory provisions.

[7] Bacon v. Otis, 11 Mass. 407; Bell v. Bartlett, 7 N. H. 178.

[a] Bond limited to original action.—A bond given by a party in the original action as security for the payment of such costs and damages as might be recovered is discharged by the rendition of judgment in his favor in that action, and does not cover any judgment that may be recovered against him on review. Bell v. Bartlett, 7 N. H. 178.

[8] Crehore v. Pike, 47 Me. 435; Bacon v. Otis, 11 Mass. 407.

[9] See infra § 38.

Discretion of court as to grant of writ see infra § 35.

[10] See statutory provisions.

[11] Crehore v. Pike, 47 Me. 435; Nowell v. Sanborn, 44 Me. 80; Randall v. Bancroft, 10 Allen (Mass.) 346; Bacon v. Otis, 11 Mass. 407.

[12] See statutory provisions.

[13] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265; Bingham v. Pepoon, 9 Mass. 239.

[14] Leavitt v. Lyons, 118 Mass. 470.

[a] Imposing additional conditions.—(1) Under some early statutes (Rev. St. c 99 § 22) the court was authorized to impose such terms and conditions in addition to those prescribed by the statute as it might think just and reasonable. Lehan v. Good, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 302. (2) But under a later statute (Gen. St. c 146 § 38) the court cannot impose additional conditions. Leavitt v. Lyons, 118 Mass. 470.

[15] See Bonds §§ 111-136.

[16] See cases infra this section.

[17] Crehore v. Pike, 47 Me. 435; Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265.

[a] Original judgment affirmed as to one of two defendants.—Where defendants gave a bond with sureties to prosecute a review to final judgment, and to "pay such judgment as may be recovered against them," and on review plaintiff in the original action discontinued as to one of defendants and recovered judgment against the other, which was not paid, it was held that the sureties on the bond were liable for the amount of the judgment. Happenny v. Trayner, 111 Mass. 279.

[b] Failure to enter review at term specified.—On a bond conditioned to procure a writ of review by causing the same to be entered at the next term of court, and the petitioner is not able before the expiration of the term mentioned in the bond to procure service of the writ, alters it so as to make it returnable at the next ensuing term, and serves and enters it at that term, the condition of the bond is broken by the failure to enter the writ at the term specified, and his inability to get service of the writ is no defense to an action on the bond. Lehan v. Good, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 302.

[c] Condition to pay intervening damages and additional costs.—(1) Where a bond on review is conditioned to pay "all intervening damages occasioned to the adverse party by delay, with additional costs in case judgment be affirmed," a mere affirmance of the judgment gives no right of action on the bond, unless it appear that intervening damages have been sustained or additional costs recovered. Brown v. Clark, 27 Vt. 576. (2) And the fact that judgment is rendered for a given sum in damages and for a given sum for costs is insufficient to create a liability on the bond unless it is shown that such costs were costs accruing after the review was entered. Brown v. Clark, 28 Vt. 690. (3) The extra expense in procuring witnesses and employing counsel and the time and money necessarily expended in defense of the suit are not "intervening damages" within the application of such condition. Peasely v. Buckminster, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 264. (4) If there have been additional costs but no intervening damages, only such costs can be recovered. Roberts v. Warner, 17 Vt. 46.

[18] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265.

[19] Hicks v. Atkins, 4 Mass. 103.

[20] Kenney v. Burke, 61 Me. 134.

[a] An action on the bond is maintainable after denial of the petition even though a new petition and a new bond have been filed and a stay of execution ordered. Kenney v. Burke, 61 Me. 134.

[21] Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184; Randall v. Bancroft, 10 Allen (Mass.) 346.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where a bond is given by petitioner conditioned that he shall "forthwith prosecute a review of said action to final judgment, and satisfy such execution as may be issued against him on the review," and the petition is dismissed upon the hearing, it is a breach of the condition of the bond. Randall v. Bancroft, 10 Allen (Mass.) 346. (2) Where the bond is conditioned that plaintiff in review shall "forthwith prosecute a review to final judgment," and because of unreasonable delay in prosecuting the writ it is subsequently dismissed, there is a breach of the condition of the bond. Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184.

[22] Roberts v. Pepper, 108 Mass. 356; Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where a bond is given conditioned that petitioner shall prosecute the petition to final judgment and pay costs and damages, and the petition is dismissed without costs, there is no breach of the condition. Roberts v. Pepper, 108 Mass. 356. (2) Where a bond is given providing for the payment of whatever shall be due to the obligee "upon the judgment aforesaid, after the final judgment in review," and the petition is dismissed, there is no breach of condition, the order of dismissal not being a final judgment in review. Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265.

[23] Di Filippo v. Allen, 163 Mass. 528, 40 NE 856; Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184.

[a] A bond conditioned to "forthwith prosecute a review to final judgment:" (1) Is satisfied by doing so within such time as the court having jurisdiction of the petition may order. Bamforth v. Raddin, 14 Allen (Mass.) 66. (2) But in the absence of such an order although the statutes do not set any time within which a writ of review must be brought, they impliedly require promptness. Di Filippo v. Allen, 163 Mass. 528, 40 NE 856 (delay of ten months is too long); Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184 (delay of one year is too long).

[b] Sickness is no excuse for delay, and the fact that after his petition was granted plaintiff in proceedings for review was forced to leave the commonwealth on private business, and to remain absent for several months through illness, will not excuse a failure to prosecute a review to final judgment within a reasonable time. Di Filippo v. Allen, 163 Mass. 528, 40 NE 856.

together with the additional statutory costs and interest,[24] but it is not discharged by the death of the petitioner.[25]

[§ 30] e. Actions. Principles governing actions on bonds generally[26] are applicable to actions on bonds given on a petition for a review.[27] To authorize a recovery on the bond a breach of its conditions must be clearly shown.[28] An averment that defendant failed to prosecute his writ of review to final judgment is a sufficient allegation of a material breach of his bond.[29] It is not necessary to describe fully the writ of review[30] and to set out all the proceedings that were had thereon,[31] nor is it necessary to describe the original judgment where a copy of the bond is annexed to the pleading.[32] It is unnecessary to allege that demand has been made upon the principal debtor,[33] and since the action may be maintained without any prior issuance of execution against the principal debtor,[34] it is unnecessary to allege the issuance of execution.[35] A lack of particularity in unnecessary averments is immaterial.[36]

[§ 31] f. Damages and Amount of Recovery. While the extent of liability on a breach of the bond depends upon the terms of its conditions,[37] there may be in any event a recovery of nominal damages and costs.[38] A condition for the payment of interest does not include interest on the costs of the review,[39] and double interest, secured by a bond to review an action, is to be computed only to the time of the rendition of the judgment on review,[40] after which simple interest should be charged.[41] The court should render judgment[42] and award execution for only so much of the penal sum as is then due and payable in equity and good conscience for the breach of the condition.[43]

[§ 32] 6. Pleading. The rules governing pleading in civil actions generally[44] are applicable to the pleadings on an application to procure a review.[45] The petition on an application for a review must state all the facts required by statute to be alleged,[46] and the petition must also, in order to apprise respondent as to what may be necessary in the arrangement of his defense,[47] set out the facts upon which the petitioner relies as a ground for the relief asked.[48] Facts sufficient to authorize the court to grant the petition must be alleged.[49] A separate petition is required for each action sought to be reviewed,[50] but where the same facts are common to several cases, the petitioner may obtain a review of one on discontinuance of the others.[51] The rules relating to pleas[52] and replications[53] in civil actions generally are applicable to pleas[54] and replications[55] on an application for review. Thus the petition may be met by plea or demurrer,[56] but a party cannot by plea deny the theory on which he and the court proceeded in the original action.[57] As in the case of pleading generally[58] the court may permit the pleadings in an application for review to be amended.[59] The amendment may be allowed after a bond has been filed[60] and supersedeas has been granted[61] or after the expiration of the time within which a new petition could be filed.[62]

---

[24] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236.

[25] Whittaker v. Berry, supra; Hoy v. Herrington, Brayt. (Vt.) 36.

[a] Where the administrator appears and judgment is rendered in favor of defendant in review the bond is not discharged. Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Hoy v. Herrington, Brayt. (Vt.) 36.

[26] See Bonds §§ 137-240.

[27] See cases infra this section.

[28] Ellis v. Pulsifer, 4 Allen (Mass.) 165.

[a] Where the record of the proceedings on the writ of review does not show that the former judgment was affirmed in full or in part, but only a judgment that defendant in review recover his costs of suit an action will not lie upon a bond conditioned to pay the sum for which judgment was rendered with interest and costs "in case the former judgment shall be affirmed in full or in part, and the sum for which judgment shall be rendered, if the said judgment shall be affirmed in part." Ellis v. Pulsifer, 4 Allen (Mass.) 165.

[29] Jagoe v. Robinson, 197 Mass. 416, 83 NE 1095.

Sufficiency of assignment of breach in actions on bonds generally see Bonds §§ 179-185.

[30] Jagoe v. Robinson, 197 Mass. 416, 83 NE 1095.

[31] Jagoe v. Robinson, supra.

[32] Jagoe v. Robinson, supra.

[33] Jagoe v. Robinson, supra.

[34] Smith v. Ingraham, 22 Vt. 414.

[35] Jagoe v. Robinson, 197 Mass. 416, 83 NE 1095.

[36] Jagoe v. Robinson, supra.

[37] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Crehore v. Pike, 47 Me. 435; Roberts v. Warner, 17 Vt. 46.

[38] Brown v. Clark, 28 Vt. 690.

[a] Illustration.—If it appears that the original debt has been paid after the commencement of the suit but without the costs, plaintiff is entitled to recover nominal damages and costs. Brown v. Clark, 28 Vt. 690.

[39] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236.

[40] Bacon v. Otis, 11 Mass. 407.

[41] Bacon v. Otis, supra.

[42] Jenkins v. New England Mar. Ins. Co., 6 Mass. 335.

[a] Illustration.—Where the jury on review affirmed the original judgment and added six per cent interest as damages such interest is regarded as equivalent to part payment on the petitioner's bond conditioned to pay twelve per cent interest on the affirmance. Jenkins v. New England Mar. Ins. Co., 6 Mass. 335.

[43] Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184.

[a] Illustration.—Where there has been a breach of condition by failure promptly to prosecute the review after leave granted but plaintiff in review has satisfied the claim against him, execution is properly awarded for a merely nominal sum on the bond with costs. Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184.

[b] Plaintiff must prove how much is thus due. Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184.

[44] See Pleading 49 C. J. p 1.

[45] See cases infra this section.

[46] See statutory provisions.

[47] Thompson v. Hinds, 33 Me. 584.

[48] Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118; Thompson v. Hinds, 33 Me. 584; Davis v. Beebe, 5 Vt. 560.

[a] Names of witnesses and evidence to be proved.—(1) Under a statute so providing, the names of the witnesses to prove newly discovered evidence and to what each is expected to testify must be stated in the petition (Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118; Thompson v. Hinds, 33 Me. 584) (2) upon oath (Berry v. Lisherness, supra).

Grounds for review see supra §§ 8-16.

[49] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118; Thompson v. Hinds, 33 Me. 584.

[50] McDonough v. Blossom, 109 Me. 141, 83 A 323.

[51] McDonough v. Blossom, supra.

[a] Illustration.—Where two actions involving the same parties were brought on two promissory notes and the defense of forgery by a specified third person was set up in both actions the petitioning party was entitled to a review on one action after discontinuing as to the other. McDonough v. Blossom, 109 Me. 141, 83 A 323.

[52] See Pleading § 197 et seq.

[53] See Pleading § 392 et seq.

[54] See cases infra text and notes 56, 57.

[55] See cases infra this note.

[a] A replication is bad (1) where it contains a departure (Watson v. Joslyn, 29 Vt. 455), (2) repugnance (Watson v. Joslyn, supra), (3) introduces new parties (Watson v. Joslyn, supra), (4) or fails to traverse the plea (Watson v. Joslyn, supra).

[56] Davis v. Beebe, 5 Vt. 560.

[57] Davis v. Beebe, supra.

[a] Thus, where plaintiff in the original action, furnished security, and the court granted a continuance for notice, on the ground that defendant was out of the state and without notice, plaintiff cannot deny either fact by a plea in the application for review. Davis v. Beebe, 5 Vt. 560.

[§ 33] 7. Issues, Proof, and Variance. In accordance with the rules in civil actions generally[63] on the hearing of an application for review ordinarily evidence must be submitted in support of the allegations of the petition,[64] and the petitioner will be confined to the facts alleged in the petition.[65] Where the petition must state what each witness is expected to prove[66] he will be confined to the matters set forth in the petition to be proved by him.[67]

[§ 34] 8. Evidence. The petitioner has the burden of establishing his right to a review,[68] that he has not been guilty of laches,[69] that neither he[70] nor his attorney[71] have been negligent, and that the ground of review existed at the time the petition was filed.[72]

Admissibility. General rules as to the admissibility of evidence in civil actions generally[73] apply to the admissibility of evidence in hearings on an application for review.[74] Where respondent offers competent evidence in opposition to that offered by petitioner in support of his application, it is error for the court to exclude it.[75] Evidence may be admitted to contradict the return of an officer,[76] to prove that an appearance, shown by the record, was made by an attorney without petitioner's knowledge and authority,[77] or to show that the record is erroneous.[78] Petitioner will not be allowed to testify to facts known to him at the time of the trial and which the rules of evidence then in force precluded him from testifying to.[79] The affidavit of the petitioner is admissible to prove facts known only to himself,[80] but affidavits of other persons will not be received in evidence,[81] unless presented as regular depositions,[82] nor will the affidavit of petitioner be received as to facts not known exclusively to himself.[83] A juror may be examined generally in support of the verdict in the former action.[84]

---

[58] See Pleading § 581 et seq.

[59] Haskell v. Hazard, 33 Me. 585; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1; Watson v. Joslyn, 29 Vt. 455.

[a] A newly discovered cause of review, which existed at the time of filing the petition but was not then known to petitioner may be inserted by amendment. Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[b] The names of witnesses who are to prove the facts alleged as ground of review may be inserted by amendment. Haskell v. Hazard, 33 Me. 585.

Introduction of new party by amendment see supra § 23.

[60] Haskell v. Hazard, 33 Me. 585.

[61] Haskell v. Hazard, supra.

[62] Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[a] Reason for rule.—"It is often held to be a good reason for granting amendments on terms, instead of nonsuiting a party, and compelling him to bring a new action, that such action would be barred by the statute of limitations." Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1, 15 (per Shaw, C. J.).

[63] See Pleading §§ 1160, 1167.

[64] Willard v. Ward, 3 Mass. 24.

[a] Effect of costs.—(1) While the legal costs which respondent may tax in case petitioner fails of success are not a sufficient recompense for being compelled to appear and answer to a complaint which may be idle and vexatious (Willard v. Ward, 3 Mass. 24), (2) in a case of particular hardship and where petitioner stipulates to pay double costs, the court may make a rule to show cause without affidavits (Willard v. Ward, supra).

[65] Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479; Simmons v. Apthorp, 1 Mass. 99.

[a] Thus, on an application based upon the ground of newly discovered evidence, petitioner will not be permitted to offer testimony as to any newly discovered evidence other than that stated in the petition. Warren v. Hope, 6 Me. 479.

Time to object for variance see infra § 36 note 39 [b].

[66] See supra § 32 note 48 [a].

[67] Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118.

[68] McDonough v. Blossom, 109 Me. 141, 83 A 323; Taylor v. Morgan, 107 Me. 334, 78 A 377; Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Richardson v. Lloyd, 99 Mass. 475.

[a] Fraud, accident, mistake or misfortune as a ground of review requires that petitioner show: (1) That justice has not been done. McDonough v. Blossom, 109 Me. 141, 83 A 323; Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143. (2) That the consequent injustice was through fraud, accident, mistake or misfortune. McDonough v. Blossom, supra; Donnell v. Hodsdon, supra. (3) What a further hearing will be just and equitable. McDonough v. Blossom, supra; Donnell v. Hodsdon, supra.

[b] Newly discovered evidence.—Where newly discovered evidence is relied on as a ground of review, it must be established that such evidence is in fact new and that it is material. Richardson v. Lloyd, 99 Mass. 475.

Grounds for review see supra §§ 8-16.

[69] Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415.

[70] Taylor v. Morgan, 107 Me. 334, 78 A 377.

[71] Taylor v. Morgan, supra.

[72] Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[a] "The petitioner is bound, after amendment as well as before, to prove a good cause existing at the time when his petition was filed." Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1, 15.

[73] See Evidence §§ 89-156.

[74] See infra text and notes 75-84.

[75] Richardson v. Lloyd, 99 Mass. 475.

[76] James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367; Brewer v. Holmes, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 288.

[a] The return of an officer stating that he summoned the petitioner to appear in the original action may be contradicted. James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367; Brewer v. Holmes, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 288.

Want of notice as a ground of review see supra § 10.

[77] Brewer v. Holmes, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 288.

[78] Hutchinson v. Gurley, 8 Allen (Mass.) 23.

Sufficiency of evidence to vary or contradict record of judgment see infra note 86 [a] (2).

[79] Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118.

[a] Such facts are clearly not newly discovered evidence, but a new way to make testimony available, which was before known but unavailable; and were this a ground for review, then upon every change in the law of evidence, or in relation to competency of witnesses, reviews might be granted. Berry v. Lisherness, 50 Me. 118.

[80] Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Coffin v. Abbot, 7 Mass. 252.

[81] Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Gray v. Moore, 7 Gray (Mass.) 215; Coffin v. Abbot, 7 Mass. 252.

[a] Reason for rule.—The testimony of any witness should be taken either viva voce or by deposition, so as to afford an opportunity for cross-examination. Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Gray v. Moore, 7 Gray (Mass.) 215.

[b] Affidavit of notary public and attorney as to law of a foreign jurisdiction.—Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177.

Affidavits as evidence generally see Affidavits §§ 138-150.

[82] Coffin v. Abbot, 7 Mass. 252.

Use of depositions as evidence generally see Depositions § 342 et seq.

[83] Rogers v. Hill, 4 Mass. 349.

[a] An affidavit of a petitioner alleging that he had learned that a certain witness would have testified to facts therein recited material to his defense, and that at the trial he was ignorant thereof, is insufficient without the deposition or personal testimony of such witness of the facts to which he will testify. Rogers v. Hill, 4 Mass. 349.

[84] Haskell v. Becket, 3 Me. 92; Ferrill v. Simpson, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 359.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) A juror

Weight and sufficiency. Rules as to the weight and sufficiency of evidence in civil actions generally[85] are applicable to the weight and sufficiency of evidence on an application for review.[86] On an application for a review of an action in which petitioner was defaulted, slight evidence is sufficient to sustain the application.[87]

[§ 35] 9. Hearing and Determination. An application for review will be granted only in accordance with provisions of the statute conferring the remedy[88] and upon the court's being satisfied as to the existence of the requisite grounds,[89] otherwise, the application should be dismissed.[90] A review should not be granted where it does not appear that a review would be likely to change the result,[91] nor should it be granted merely to relieve petitioner of the results of his own culpable negligence.[92] Requested rulings on a detached portion of the case[93] and dealing with only a part of the evidence before the court[94] are properly denied.

Discretion as to grant of writ. Ordinarily, and except where it can be claimed as a matter of right,[95] the granting of a review rests in the court's discretion[96] which cannot be disturbed except for errors in matters of law.[97] While this discretion is usually, and sometimes by provision of the statute,[98] very broad,[99] it is not to be exercised arbitrarily[1] by the court hearing the petition.[2] So except in so far as the authority of the court is limited by the provisions of the statute as to the grounds and requisites for granting reviews,[3] it may in its discretion grant a review in cases where the applicant cannot claim it as a matter of right,[4] or where having had such right it has been lost through accident, misfortune, or mistake.[5]

In interest of justice.[6] The court may, sometimes under statutes,[7] grant a review where injustice has been done[8] or whenever, in the exercise of its discretion, it satisfactorily appears that injustice has been done,[9] and the court is satisfied that it would be for the furtherance of justice.[10] And the court is not was properly called on to explain his own feelings and declarations, on an application for a review on the ground that he was hostile to petitioner, and had expressed a general opinion of the cause before the trial. Haskell v. Becket, 3 Me. 92. (2) A juror may be called to testify that a misapprehension as to certain matters on the former trial had no influence upon the verdict. Ferrill v. Simpson, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 359.

---

Qualification or conduct of juror as ground of review see supra § 14.

[85] See Evidence §§ 1730–1806.

[86] See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held insufficient: (1) to entitle applicant to a review. Taylor v. Morgan, 107 Me. 334, 78 A 377. (2) To vary or contradict a record of judgment. Hutchinson v. Gurley, 8 Allen (Mass.) 23.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to prove: (1) That justice had not been done in the original action. McDonough v. Blossom, 109 Me. 141, 83 A 323. (2) That the consequent injustice was through fraud, accident, mistake or misfortune. McDonough v. Blossom, supra. (3) That a further hearing would be just and equitable. McDonough v. Blossom, supra.

[87] Coffin v. Abbot, 7 Mass. 252.

[a] Reason for rule.—Slight evidence is sufficient to sustain the petition because the granting of the petition is not the trial of the cause but merely a determination that the petitioner shall not be precluded from making a defense. Coffin v. Abbot, 7 Mass. 252.

[88] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Davis v. Beebe, 5 Vt. 560.

[89] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Atkinson v. Connor, 56 Me. 546.

[90] D. E. McCann's Sons v. Foley, (Me.) 149 A 837.

[91] Trask v. Unity, 74 Me. 208; Todd v. Chipman, 62 Me. 189; Parker v. Currier, 24 Me. 168.

[a] The court will not exercise its discretion in granting a writ of review, when it is satisfied that a review of the action would result in a verdict similar to the one before returned. Parker v. Currier, 24 Me. 168.

[92] Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 22 NE 166; Clark v. Brigham, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 81.

[a] The discretion of the court should be exercised in such a way as to promote an orderly and proper administration of justice, and not to encourage carelessness, ignorance, or laxity of practice in the conduct of cases. Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 22 NE 166.

[93] Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634.

[94] Welch v. Chase, supra.

[95] See supra § 3.

[96] D. E. McCann's Sons v. Foley, (Me.) 149 A 837; Thomaston v. Starrett, 128 Me. 328, 147 A 427; Collins v. Lawson, 113 Me. 569, 94 A 943; Taylor v. Morgan, 107 Me. 334, 78 A 377; Sherman v. Ward, 73 Me. 29; Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Parker v. Currier, 24 Me. 168; Precious v. O'Rourke, (Mass.) 170 NE 110; Watson v. Wenz, 223 Mass. 341, 111 NE 856; Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Winthrop v. Athol, 216 Mass. 79, 102 NE 900; Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634; Stillman v. Donovan, 170 Mass. 360, 49 NE 628; Scituate Water Co. v. Simmons, 167 Mass. 313, 45 NE 750; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 32 NE 166; Hayes v. Collins, 114 Mass. 54; Wright v. Boynton, 40 N. H. 353.

[a] Rulings, that independently of the court's discretion or any other consideration petitioner is entitled to a review if certain facts are found, are properly denied. Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634.

[97] See infra § 36.

[98] See statutory provisions.

[99] Pickering v. Cassidy, 93 Me. 139, 44 A 683; Holmes v. Fox, 19 Me. 107; Morrell v. Kimball, 1 Me. 322; Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415.

[a] Reason for rule.—"It has become more necessary that the Court should be governed by liberal principles in the exercise of their discretion, that there may be no occasion again to resort to . . . a writ of right, which was formerly productive of such mischief in practice." Morrell v. Kimball, 1 Me. 322, 324.

[1] See cases infra this note.

[a] Sound discretion.—D. E. McCann's Sons v. Foley, (Me.) 149 A 827; Taylor v. Morgan, 107 Me. 334, 78 A 377.

[b] Judicial discretion.—Collins v. Lawson, 113 Me. 569, 94 A 943.

[c] Sound judicial discretion.—Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634.

[2] Thomaston v. Starrett, 128 Me. 328, 147 A 427; Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Winthrop v. Athol, 216 Mass. 79, 102 NE 900; Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634; Hayes v. Collins, 114 Mass. 54.

[3] See infra §§ 2, 8.

[4] Sherman v. Ward, 73 Me. 29.

[5] Jackson v. Gould, 72 Me. 335; Coburn v. Rogers, 32 N. H. 372.

[a] Failing to institute the proceeding within the time limited by the statute.—Jackson v. Gould, 72 Me. 335. But see Hobbs v. Whidden, 27 N. H. 386 (holding that the supreme court has no authority to grant a writ of review unless the petition is filed within the statutory period after the rendition of the judgment complained of).

Time for bringing a petition of review see supra § 25.

[6] Necessity that injustice result from fraud, accident, mistake, or misfortune as ground of review see supra § 11.

[7] See statutory provisions.

[a] "Any other case," in a provision that the court may grant a review in any other case where it shall appear injustice has not been done through specified causes, has been held not to be confined to actions other than those specified in a preceding section allowing reviews as of right. Coburn v. Rogers, 32 N. H. 372.

[8] Reynard v. Brecknell, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 302.

[a] By hurrying a party to trial unprepared.—Reynard v. Brecknell, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 302.

[9] Holmes v. Fox, 19 Me. 107.

[10] Gooding v. Baker, 60 Me. 52, 53; Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169; Morrell v. Kimball, 1 Me. 322.

limited to such grounds as would authorize the granting of a new trial at common law.[11] On the other hand, the court will not grant a review where upon the whole case made by the petition it cannot perceive any probability that injustice was done,[12] or that anything in the promotion of justice would be gained by granting a review.[13]

Judgment or order. While ordinarily the only judgment that can be granted on an application for a review is that it be granted[14] or not granted[15] with an allowance of costs[16] the court in a proper case may impose such terms and conditions in granting the application as it may deem reasonable and proper,[17] and a failure to perform such conditions may be pleaded in bar of the action of review;[18] but the court may in its discretion grant a review without imposing any conditions.[19] The court may order the bond required by statute for allowing a supersedeas or stay of execution[20] and may grant a supersedeas or stay of execution upon such a bond being given.[21] The court may also in its discretion upon cause shown require security for costs.[22] The decision on an application for a writ of review has been held to be a final judgment.[23]

Operation and effect of decision. Upon the granting of an application for review, all proceedings under the petition for the writ are ended,[24] and the whole cause may be fully tried on the review,[25] but the decree or judgment in the original action is left unaffected.[26]

[§ 36] 10. Appeal and Error. Where an application or petition for review is addressed to the discretion of the court[27] the decision of the court in granting or refusing the same is not ordinarily subject to exception,[28] and can be reviewed on exceptions only for erroneous rulings in regard to matters of law.[29] The findings of the court on questions of fact are also conclusive and cannot be reviewed on exceptions.[30] The decision of the court may, however, and sometimes by virtue of express statutory provisions,[31] be reviewed on exceptions for errors in matters of law,[32] as in disregarding the express requirements of the statute as to the grounds and conditions necessary for granting a review,[33] or in granting the writ to a

---

"The great object in view is the furtherance of justice and the preventing of injustice." Gooding v. Baker, supra.

[11] Morrell v. Kimball, 1 Me. 322, 324.

"This is an appeal to the discretion of the Court, in . . . which the utmost latitude is given by the statute. We are not therefore confined to the reasons which . . . are deemed . . . sufficient ground for granting new trials at common law, but are authorized . . . where we are satisfied that it would be for the furtherance of justice." Morrell v. Kimball, supra.

[12] Todd v. Chipman, 62 Me. 189.

[13] Weld v. Sabin, 20 N. H. 533, 51 AmD 240; Emery v. Chesley, 18 N. H. 198.

[14] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[15] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[16] Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

Costs on application for review see infra § 37.

[17] Berry v. Titus, 76 Me. 285 (where the review was granted so far only as was necessary to revise the assessment of damages); Jackson v. Gould, 72 Me. 335 (review granted as a matter of discretion after time for review as a matter of right had expired upon condition that petitioner should waive the right to plead the statute of limitations in defense of the action); Austin v. Dunham, 65 Me. 533 (holding that where after a trial a party becomes insane, and his guardian petitions for a review, a review may be granted upon the condition that the petitioner will stipulate that no objection shall be made to the respondent's testifying generally upon the trial of the case in review); Jones v. Eaton, 51 Me. 386; Tuttle v. Gates, 24 Me. 395; Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415; Howe v. Hapgood, 13 Mass. 490.

[18] See infra § 48.

[19] Sherman v. Ward, 73 Me. 29.

[20] Bush v. Hovey, 124 Mass. 217.

[21] Leavitt v. Lyons, 118 Mass. 470; Lehan v. Good, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 302; Bacon v. Otis, 11 Mass. 407; Nickols v. Foster, 7 Mass. 63.

[a] Second stay of execution.—Where on a petition for review a stay of execution is granted upon petitioner giving a bond, and notice is ordered returnable at the same term, and petitioner fails to serve the notice as required, a second stay of execution will not be granted where before a second notice would be returnable the year within which execution must issue would expire, and the successful party in the original suit would be put to his scire facias or an action of debt upon the judgment. Nickols v. Foster, 7 Mass. 63.

Bond or other security generally see supra §§ 26-31.

[22] Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419; Gale v. French, 16 N. H. 95.

[a] Under general statutes relating to costs.—(1) Under a statute empowering the court, upon cause shown, in actions generally to order reasonable security for costs to be furnished, it has been held that, on an application for a review, mere insolvency of petitioner affords no ground for the exercise of the discretion conferred. Gale v. French, 16 N. H. 95. (2) But the discretion may be exercised where a decision had once, prior to the trial of the action to be reviewed, gone against the petitioner in a trial of the same issues. Gale v. French, supra. (3) Or where plaintiff in review is not an inhabitant of the state. Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419.

[b] Substitution of bail.—The county court has the power to change bail taken for a review, upon the substitution of other sufficient and satisfactory bail, and the bail so substituted is liable for the costs and intervening damages accruing from the time the review was granted. Colgate v. Hill, 20 Vt. 56.

[23] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[a] "Such judgment is . . . final."—Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1, 11.

[24] Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155.

[25] Howe v. Hapgood, 13 Mass. 490.

[26] Henderson v. Henderson, 64 Me. 419.

[a] Decree of divorce.—Henderson v. Henderson, 64 Me. 419.

[27] See supra § 35.

[28] Grant v. Spear, 105 Me. 508, 74 A 1130; Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143; Sherman v. Ward, 73 Me. 29; York, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 45 Me. 151; Browne v. Fairhall, 218 Mass. 495, 106 NE 177; Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634; Stillman v. Donovan, 170 Mass. 360, 49 NE 628; Scituate Water Co. v. Simmons, 167 Mass. 313, 45 NE 750; Stillman v. Whittemore, 165 Mass. 234, 42 NE 1126; Todd v. Barton, 117 Mass. 291; Boston v. Robbins, 116 Mass. 313; Weeks v. Adamson, 106 Mass. 514.

[29] Thomaston v. Starrett, 128 Me. 328, 147 A 427; Scruton v. Multon, 45 Me. 417; Moody v. Larrabee, 39 Me. 282; Watson v. Wenz, 223 Mass. 341, 111 NE 856; Stillman v. Donovan, 170 Mass. 360, 49 NE 628; Stillman v. Whittemore, 165 Mass. 234, 42 NE 1126; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 22 NE 166; Boston v. Robbins, 116 Mass. 313; Hayes v. Collins, 114 Mass. 54.

[30] Sturtevant v. Randall, 49 Me. 446; Moody v. Larrabee, 39 Me. 282; Sylvester v. Hubley, 157 Mass. 306, 22 NE 166.

[a] Judge's determination of facts established by the testimony is not within St. (1852) c 246 § 13, providing for exceptions on matters of law. Moody v. Larrabee, 39 Me. 282.

[31] See statutory provisions.

[32] Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634; Boston v. Robbins, 116 Mass. 313; Richardson v. Lloyd, 99 Mass. 475; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[33] Donnell v. Hodsdon, 102 Me. 420, 67 A 143.

Grounds of review see supra §§ 8-16.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

person not entitled under the statute to make application therefor,[34] or for error in regard to the admission of evidence,[35] or in regard to permitting[36] or refusing[37] amendments to the petition.

Presentation and reservation in lower court of grounds of review. In accordance with the general rules,[38] questions not raised and preserved at the hearing of the application for a review will not be noticed on appeal.[39]

The bill of exceptions must show the nature of the action sought to be reviewed.[40]

[§ 37] 11. Costs. In accordance with the general rule as to costs[41] the recovery of costs on an application for review depends upon statutory provisions.[42] On the application for a writ of review it is said that there is no fixed rule as to costs, but that the question should be determined by the court upon the particular circumstances of each case,[43] but costs will not be allowed respondents, upon the dismissal of a petition for review, where the petition does not appear vexatious, but is founded upon a mistake of remedy.[44] Under a statute authorizing the court to impose costs, they may be given for[45] or against[46] the petitioner. Statutes expressly allowing costs to the prevailing party in all actions[47] do not authorize the allowance of costs on the application for a writ of review,[48] but under a provision authorizing costs for respondents on an application for a writ of certiorari, mandamus, quo warranto, or any like process,[49] the court may award costs to respondents on application for a writ of review.[50]

[§ 38] 12. Effect of Proceedings.[51] A writ of review does not operate to vacate the judgment in the original action,[52] nor as a supersedeas or stay of execution,[53] except by special order of the court[54] upon a proper bond being given.[55] The foregoing principles are applicable whether the review is brought as a matter of right[56] or after a petition.[57] Pending review, the judgment in the original action is not final or conclusive between the parties,[58] and cannot be pleaded in bar[59] or given in evidence[60] as affecting the rights of the parties thereto in any other suit. But the original judgment remains in full force as a judgment although execution be stayed,[61] and is not reversed[62] or otherwise affected.[63]

[§ 39] C. Proceedings on Trial of Review—1. In General. The trial of a review is in the nature of a new and independent action both as regards the original action[64] and also as regards the proceedings on the application for the writ.[65] The trial is begun by the suing out of the writ of review[66] which is the process in this new action,[67] and the review cannot properly be said to be pending until the writ is sued out.[68] The trial of the review is not necessarily in the same court where the original judgment was rendered.[69]

---

[34] Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

Persons entitled to review see supra § 5.

[35] Welch v. Chase, 213 Mass. 519, 100 NE 634; Gray v. Moore, 7 Gray (Mass.) 215.

[a] Admission of affidavits of witnesses other than the petitioner. Gray v. Moore, 7 Gray (Mass.) 215. But see York, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 45 Me. 151 (admissibility of evidence held discretionary and not subject to exception).

Affidavits as evidence on application for review see supra § 34.

[36] Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[37] Davenport v. Holland, supra.

[38] See Appeal and Error § 580 et seq.

[39] See cases infra this note.

[a] Form of the petition for review not objected to at the hearing is not open to exception on appeal. Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[b] A variance between the petition for review and the proof at the hearing cannot be taken for the first time in the appellate court. Hutchinson v. Gurley, 8 Allen (Mass.) 23.

[c] Sufficiency of evidence.—Winch v. Hosmer, 122 Mass. 438.

[40] Collins v. Lawson, 113 Me. 569, 94 A 943.

[a] Exception held insufficient.—Collins v. Lawson, 113 Me. 569, 94 A 943 (nothing to show newly discovered evidence was relevant or material).

Form and sufficiency of bills of exceptions generally see Appeal and Error § 803.

[41] See Costs § 3.

[42] See statutory provisions; and infra this section.

[43] Ilsley v. Knight, 1 Mass. 467.

[a] Where a review is granted to correct a clerk's miscalculation of interest on a note which mistake petitioner's counsel should have discovered when it was made, costs will not be allowed. Ilsley v. Knight, 1 Mass. 467.

[44] Byrnes v. Piper, 5 Mass. 363.

[45] Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

[46] Davenport v. Holland, supra.

[47] See statutory provisions.

[48] Hopkins v. Benson, 21 Me. 399.

[49] See statutory provisions.

[50] Hopkins v. Benson, 21 Me. 399.

[a] Reason for rule.—" 'Like processes' are such, undoubtedly, as have some features in common with all those which are named" in statute allowing costs. Hopkins v. Benson, 21 Me. 399.

[51] Effect of giving bond see supra § 28.

Operation and effect of:
Decision on application for review see supra § 35.
Judgment on review see infra § 56.

[52] Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[53] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[54] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582.

[a] In New Hampshire under rule of court No. 48, where plaintiff obtains a verdict and defendant can show that plaintiff is insolvent or that by reason of his pecuniary condition it would be difficult to collect from him the sum by which the damages might be reduced upon the review he is entitled to a stay of execution as a matter of right. Wiggin v. Janvrin, 47 N. H. 295.

[55] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582; Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342.

[a] "If no bond is given, the original judgment may be executed while the suit in review is pending." Brown v. Brigham, 5 Allen (Mass.) 582, 584.

Bond to procure stay of execution see supra §§ 26-28.

[56] Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

Review as of right see supra § 3.

[57] Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[58] Haynes v. Ordway, 52 N. H. 284; Eastman v. Amoskeag Mfg. Co., 47 N. H. 71.

[a] Although technically the first judgment is not reversed but a new judgment is rendered on the trial of the action on review, yet it is in its nature and effect so far a reversal of the former verdict as the second verdict differs from the first, and is substantially, although not technically, either a reversal of the former judgment or a correction of any errors that may have occurred therein. Haynes v. Ordway, 52 N. H. 284.

[59] Haynes v. Ordway, supra.

[60] Haynes v. Ordway, supra.

[61] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[a] The original judgment stands until the judgment on the review is rendered. Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771.

[62] Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419; Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457; Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[63] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419; Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457.

[64] Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457.

[65] Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155.

[§ 40] 2. Parties. General rules[70] as to parties are applicable.[71] On a review by the original defendant in an action by a husband for injury to his wife it is necessary to join the wife for conformity.[72] Where in the original action there are several parties plaintiff or defendant a review brought by one of them affects him alone.[73] Under a statute which does not authorize a review of a judgment by default, if one of two defendants suffers judgment by default, a review by plaintiff must be brought only against defendant with whom issue was joined.[74]

[§ 41] 3. Time. The time within which the trial of the action on review may be brought is sometimes provided by statutes[75] and is usually dependent on the time the writ of review is sued out.[76]

[§ 42] 4. Writ or Process—a. Nature and Effect. A writ of review is the process by which the proceedings on review are commenced.[77] The writ has been held to be a new process[78] to which there may be pleadings,[79] upon which the proceedings on the trial of a review are based,[80] and by which the parties[81] and the cause of action are again brought into court.[82] A writ of review, although termed a writ of right,[83] has been held to be under some aspects a judicial[84] as distinguished from an original writ,[85] to which it has also been compared.[86]

[§ 43] b. Time for Suing Out. The time within which a writ of review may be sued out is sometimes provided by statutes[87] which are strictly construed.[88] The running of the limitation for bringing the proceedings on a trial of review stops when the writ is sued out.[89] The writ cannot be sued out until after the proceedings for review are ended by final

---

[a] Reason for rule.—"There would be great difficulty in making up a judgment after a trial of the new case, under a petition." Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155, 156.

66. Bradstreet v. Partridge, supra; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457.

67. See infra § 42.

68. Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469; Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457.

69. Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[a] In Massachusetts the provision of Rev. St. c 99 § 25, that all reviews granted by the supreme judicial court should be tried in that court, was not affected by St. (1859) c 196. Day v. Croak, 13 Gray 461.

[b] In New Hampshire (1) under the statute of 1832, it was held that a writ of review of an action wherein judgment was rendered in the superior court must issue from and be made returnable in the court of common pleas (Exeter Bank v. Gilman, 8 N. H. 332), (2) and that on a review of a judgment rendered by a justice of the peace the writ should be brought in the court of common pleas (Rigney v. Hutchins, 9 N. H. 257).

70. See Parties 47 C. J. p 1.

71. See cases infra this section.

72. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[a] Defendant in the original action for injuries to a wife may proceed in review against the administrator of the husband who had recovered a judgment which was satisfied. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[b] Whether execution should issue against the wife of plaintiff in the original action for injury to her, when on review the original defendant prevails, is questionable. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

73. Emerson v. Pattee, 1 Mass. 482; Paine v. Tilden, 20 Vt. 554.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where one of several defendants prosecutes a review in the name of all, and further damages are allowed against defendants on review, judgment for the additional damages should be entered against defendant prosecuting the review and him only. Emerson v. Pattee, 1 Mass. 482. (2) A review brought by one of several defendants will not have the effect of carrying the case forward as to the defendants who do not review. Paine v. Tilden, 20 Vt. 554.

One of several parties entitled to review see supra § 5.

74. Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498 (construing St. [1786] c 66); Smith v. Gilman, 3 N. H. 501.

75. See statutory provisions.

76. See infra § 43.

Effect of bond on time for bringing proceedings see supra § 28.

77. Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457. And see infra text and notes 78-82.

78. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384.

79. Society for Propagating Gospel v. Whitcomb, 2 N. H. 227.

[a] Reason for rule.—"As a writ here [under 1 N. H. L. pp 103, 82] embraces the declaration, it is manifestly such a process." Society for Propagating Gospel v. Whitcomb, 2 N. H. 227, 229.

80. McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155, 156.

"The writ of review is to be regarded as the foundation of the action." Bradstreet v. Partridge, supra.

Definition and nature of the remedy of review generally see supra § 1.

81. Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

82. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

83. Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221; Badger v. Gilmore, 37 N. H. 457.

Review as of right see supra § 3.

84. Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221, 222; Tracy v. Perry, 5 N. H. 172.

"It is issued by the officer of the court and in that respect may be regarded as of the nature of a judicial writ." Burrell v. Burrell, supra.

[a] In the nature of a judicial writ.—Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

85. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Tracy v. Perry, 5 N. H. 172.

[a] A party cannot sue out a writ of review at his own motion as he can an original writ. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155.

86. Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221.

[a] "It is . . . sometimes issued in the form of a capias and attachment, and with the same efficacy, and seems therefore to be, to some purposes, an original writ." Burrell v. Burrell, 10 Mass. 221, 222.

"Original process" defined see Process § 12.

87. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Massachusetts, prior to the enactment of Gen. L. c 250 § 27 requiring the writ to be sued out within a specified time, it was held that in the absence of statutes expressly limiting the time within which the writ must be sued out after application therefor has been granted, this must be done promptly, or at least within a reasonable time. Di Filippo v. Allen, 163 Mass. 528, 40 NE 856 (a writ of review brought ten months after leave of court obtained is not seasonably prosecuted); Quinn v. Brennan, 148 Mass. 562, 20 NE 184 (a writ not brought for more than a year after leave granted was too late).

88. Agel v. Steuer, 226 Mass. 126, 115 NE 242.

[a] Pendency of certiorari proceedings to quash a writ of review at most extends the time for suing out the writ after order only for the time between the institution of the certiorari proceedings and the expiration of the time for excepting to its dismissal. Agel v. Steuer, 226 Mass. 126, 115 NE 242.

89. Howard v. Hunt, 17 N. H. 449; Society for Propagating Gospel v. Whitcomb, 2 N. H. 227.

[a] A review is brought in season if the writ is issued within the time limited, although not served until after the expiration thereof. Howard v. Hunt, 17 N. H. 449; Society for Propagating Gospel v. Whitcomb, 2 N. H. 227.

Discretion of court in granting review lost by lapse of time see supra § 35 note 5 [a].

judgment on the petition.[90]

[§ 44] c. Issuance, Form, and Contents. Subject to statutory provisions governing the manner of suing out writs of review and their form and contents,[91] they must be sued out like original writs,[92] should recite briefly the former proceedings,[93] and like other writs[94] should bear the seal[95] and teste of the court.[96] But a writ of review will not be dismissed because it does not appear from the writ itself what the judgment was as regards all the parties to the original suit,[97] and in a writ to review a judgment of the court of common pleas, an omission to allege that the judgment was in affirmance of a judgment of a justice of the peace is no variance.[98] Under a statute requiring the indorsement of original writs, a writ of review need not be indorsed.[99]

A writ of review may be altered by the party suing it out[1] or by his attorney[2] at any time before service by changing the return day[3] but not after service.[4]

[§ 45] d. Service, Return, and Entry. The service of writs of review is sometimes expressly provided for by statutes[5] which must be complied with.[6] Under some statutes the writ of review is to be served the same as other writs[7] and must be served personally upon such defendants in review as are residents of the state,[8] but where such a party lives outside of the state a good service may be made by leaving a copy of the writ with his original attorney of record.[9] Service of the writ upon a person not an original party according to the record without any leave of court to connect him therewith is a mere nullity.[10]

Return. Rules governing the return of process generally[11] are applicable to the return on a writ of review.[12] The court to which the writ should be made returnable depends upon the provisions of the statutes.[13]

Entry. A writ of review must be served before it can be entered in court,[14] and under some statutes the writ must be entered at the term next following that in which it was granted,[15] unless the order of the court specifies otherwise,[16] but if plaintiff fails to enter the writ at the next term after it is granted, the court has power, in its discretion, to allow it to be entered at the second term.[17]

[§ 46] e. Defects and Objections. Defects in the writ can only be taken advantage of in abatement[18] or motion to quash.[19] On a motion based on a defect of service the court may in its discretion quash the writ[20] or put defendant in review to plead the matter in abatement.[21] A writ of review will abate for a mistake in the name of the place of residence of one of the parties,[22] and a writ of review sued out in the name of a person not entitled thereto may be quashed on motion[23] or abated by the court ex officio on the discovery of the defect,[24] and notice to show cause why a writ of review should not be quashed may be made on an attorney of the adverse party in court without inserting the name of the attorney in the rule[25] and without any special order of the court for service on him.[26]

Waiver. Objections which go merely to the form of the writ must be made at the return-term of the writ or will be held to be waived,[27] and a general appearance by defendant, although afterward withdrawn, waives any error or defect in the writ.[28]

---

[90] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155.

[a] "The continuance of the case, after entry of review granted, operated to prevent a final judgment at the term, and so long as it was kept on the docket by a continuance." Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155, 157.

[91] See statutory provisions.

[92] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

Process generally see Process 50 C. J. p 432.

[93] Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384.

[94] See Process §§ 44, 46.

[95] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Brewer v. Sibley, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 175.

[a] The want of a seal is merely a formal defect which is waived if no objection is made upon the return of the writ. Brewer v. Sibley, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 175.

[96] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89.

[97] Allen v. Seaver, 38 Vt. 673.

[a] Illustration.—Where a judgment in a trustee suit is sought to be reviewed, the fact that the writ does not allege that a judgment was obtained against the trustee furnishes no ground for dismissing the writ of review. Allen v. Seaver, 38 Vt. 673.

[98] Anderson v. Brown, 10 Gray (Mass.) 92.

[99] Tracy v. Perry, 5 N. H. 172.

Indorsement of writs generally see Process § 48.

[1] Plumer v. Fogg, 18 N. H. 559.

[2] Plumer v. Fogg, supra.

[3] Plumer v. Fogg, supra.

[4] Plumer v. Fogg, supra.

[a] After service the writ becomes a record and cannot be altered but upon motion and as an amendment. Plumer v. Fogg, 18 N. H. 559.

Corrections or alterations of return of process generally see Process § 291.

[5] See statutory provisions.

[6] Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142.

[a] Service insufficient.—Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142.

[7] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Davenport v. Holland, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 1.

Service of process generally see Process §§ 56-256.

[8] Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142.

[a] Where there were two defendants in an action sought to be reviewed, one of whom was supposed, both in the original writ and in the writ of review, to be an inhabitant of the state, the service of the writ of review on their attorney, who had appeared in the cause, was insufficient, the statute authorizing such service only as to non-residents. Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142.

[9] Smith v. Hill, 45 N. H. 403.

[10] Smith v. Hill, supra.

[11] See Process §§ 257-302.

[12] Green v. French, 1 Allen (Mass.) 265.

"A writ of review is . . . to be . . . returned like original writs." Green v. French, supra.

[13] See statutory provisions; and Day v. Croak, 13 Gray (Mass.) 461 (a writ to review a judgment of the court of common pleas granted by the supreme judicial court is returnable to the latter court, under Rev. St. c 99 § 25); Exeter Bank v. Gilman, 8 N. H. 332 (under the statute of 1832, a writ to review a judgment of the superior court must issue from and be made returnable to the court of common pleas).

[14] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 68, 88 A 89.

"If writs of review, which must be served 'as other writs,' follow the analogy of other writs, it would seem that they must be served before entry in court." McDonough v. Blossom, supra.

[15] Hobart v. Tilton, 1 Me. 399.

[16] Hobart v. Tilton, supra.

[17] Look v. Ramsdell, 68 Me. 479.

[18] Eldridge v. Bellows, Smith (N. H.) 356.

[19] Eldridge v. Bellows, supra.

[20] Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142

[21] Tilton v. Parker, supra.

[22] Ballard v. McLean, Quincy (Mass.) 106.

[23] Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

Persons entitled to writ of review see supra § 5.

[24] Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

[25] Clap v. Joslyn, 1 Mass. 129.

[26] Clap v. Joslyn, supra.

Amendment. Defects in the writ may be amended.[29]

[§ 47] 5. Pleading—a. In General. On the trial of an action on review, sometimes by express statutory provisions,[30] if an issue has been joined in the original suit[31] the case is tried on the original pleadings,[32] unless an amendment is allowed,[33] but if no issue was joined in the original action the parties may plead to an issue on the action in review,[34] and the case will be tried on any issue of fact[35] or of law[36] joined upon such pleadings.

[§ 48] b. Pleas in Bar. On review generally matters arising since judgment in the original cause cannot be pleaded in bar of the maintenance of the suit;[37] but a failure to perform the conditions imposed in granting a review may be so pleaded,[38] and the courts have intimated that a release may be pleaded.[39]

[§ 49] c. Demurrers. It has been held that there can be no demurrer filed to the declaration on review,[40] at least not as a matter of right,[41] although the court may in its discretion permit or refuse to permit it to be filed.[42]

[§ 50] d. Amendments—(1) In General. Under applicable statutes[43] the court may permit an amendment.[44]

[§ 51] (2) Extent and Limitations of Power. Subject to specific statutory provisions[45] rules governing amendments to pleading in civil actions generally, such as those relating to the discretion of the court,[46] formal defects,[47] changes in the nature or form of the action,[48] and the introduction of new causes of action,[49] are applicable to the amendments of the pleadings in an action on the trial of a review.[50] Under a statute permitting amendments

---

27. Brewer v. Sibley, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 175.

Omission of seal as formal defect see supra § 44 note 95 [a].

28. Fay v. Hayden, 7 Gray (Mass.) 41.

29. Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142.

30. See statutory provisions.

31. Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281.

32. Bradstreet v. Partridge, 59 Me. 155; Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281; Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342; Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498; Otis v. Currier, 17 N. H. 463; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

33. Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281; Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469; Otis v. Currier, 17 N. H. 463; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

34. Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169; Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771.

35. Whitney v. Porter, supra.

36. Whitney v. Porter, supra.

37. Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381; Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469; Otis v. Currier, 17 N. H. 463; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352; Barker v. Wendell, 12 N. H. 119; Burley v. Burley, 6 N. H. 204 (there is no new matter which can be pleaded by plaintiff in review).

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where plaintiff in the original action attached defendant's property and recovered judgment, and the attachment was dissolved upon defendant giving bond to prosecute his review, defendant, plaintiff in review, cannot plead his discharge in bankruptcy, granted subsequently to his giving bond to dissolve the attachment. Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469. (2) The original defendant cannot avail himself of a discharge in insolvency, obtained in pursuance of proceedings commenced since the rendition of the original judgment against him. Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381. But see Todd v. Barton, 117 Mass. 291 (where defendant prior to the original judgment has suggested his bankruptcy and filed a motion for a continuance to await a discharge, he may, upon obtaining a review of the judgment against him, plead his discharge in bar of the action, although it was granted after the rendition of the original judgment, as in so doing he merely perfects the same defense which was set up in the original action).

[b] Reason for rule.—"If the verdict and judgment were originally right, nothing which has since occurred can make them wrong." Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 117, 6 AmR 469; Burley v. Burley, 6 N. H. 204, 205.

[c] A plea in bar setting forth matter arising subsequent to the original judgment is irregular, and is not cured or strengthened by a replication. Zollar v. Janvrin, 49 N. H. 114, 6 AmR 469; Otis v. Currier, 17 N. H. 463.

Review as new trial of issues originally tried see supra § 1.

Introducing evidence of matter subsequent to original judgment see infra § 53.

38. Jones v. Eaton, 51 Me. 386.

Authority of court to grant review on condition see supra § 35.

39. See cases infra this note.

[a] "A release of the original judgment, which is a voluntary extinguishment of that which constitutes the sub-stratum of the review, may stand on a different footing [than a discharge in bankruptcy]." Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381, 383.

[b] "A defendant in review may, perhaps, plead a release of the right of review." Burley v. Burley, 6 N. H. 204, 205.

40. Eldridge v. Bellows, Smith (N. H.) 356.

41. Colebrook v. Merrill, 49 N. H. 213.

42. Colebrook v. Merrill, supra.

[a] Demurrer properly refused.—Colebrook v. Merrill, 49 N. H. 213.

43. See statutory provisions.

44. Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169; Colebrook v. Merrill, 49 N. H. 213; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352; Frost v. Chesley, Smith (N. H.) 202.

[a] A statute providing that actions on review shall be tried on the pleas made on the former trial on record, merely means that no new pleadings shall be required, and not that no amendment of the declaration may be permitted on review. Frost v. Chesley, Smith (N. H.) 202.

[b] In Massachusetts (1) it was held in a few early cases that the pleadings on the trial of an action on review could not be amended (Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342; Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498; Bowman v. Whittemore, 1 Mass. 242), (2) or at least not unless the opposite party consented (Bowman v. Whittemore, supra). (3) But other cases have held that such amendments may generally be allowed. Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray 415; Judd v. Buchanan, 4 Mass. 579.

New evidence receivable on review without amendment see infra § 52.

45. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Maine, under the statute of 1821, the court had no power to amend the pleadings on review, but under a later statute (Rev. St. c 123 § 6), the court was authorized to allow such amendments as it might have done in the original action. Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169.

46. See Pleading §§ 597-604.

47. See Pleading § 628.

48. See Pleading §§ 685-694.

49. See Pleading §§ 671-684.

50. See cases infra this note.

[a] The allowance or refusal of amendments to the pleading in an action on review is within the discretion of the court. Colebrook v. Merrill, 49 N. H. 213.

[b] Pleadings may be amended in matters of form. Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381; Edgerly v. Emerson, 4 N. H. 147; Tilton v. Parker, 4 N. H. 142.

[c] The pleading on review cannot be so amended as to change the form or cause of action. Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771 (tort to contract); Pearson v. Smith, 54 N. H. 65 (contract to tort).

[d] The form and cause of action must be preserved, and amendments must be consistent with the original declaration, so that the court can see that plaintiff will offer in evidence only some matter for which the original action was instituted. Pearson v. Smith, 54 N. H. 65.

[e] An amendment cannot be used to introduce a new cause of action.

the same as in the original action, the new pleadings must be confined to cases where such amendments would have been allowed in the original suit.[51]

[§ 52] 6. Issues, Proof, and Variance. On the trial of the review evidence may be presented on the issue reached on the original pleadings[52] as at the former trial,[53] but an issue not joined in the original action may be reached by proper pleadings on the review[54] and evidence introduced on that issue.[55] Matter which has arisen since the original judgment but which avoids plaintiff's cause of action from the beginning, may be given in evidence by defendant under the general issue filed in the original action.[56] Irrespective of the right, in the action on review, to amend the original pleadings,[57] and where the right to amend them was expressly denied,[58] it has been held that either party is entitled to introduce new evidence,[59] without amending the original pleadings.[60]

[§ 53] 7. Evidence.[61] General rules relating to evidence in civil actions generally[62] apply to the evidence in a trial on the review of an action.[63] Each party is entitled, sometimes under statutes, to all the evidence used on the original trial,[64] which at that time was not subject to any legal objection,[65] or which may not on the review be obtained from the same source in a better or more authentic form,[66] but a copy of a paper used as evidence in the original trial may be inadmissible.[67] Neither the judgment rendered in the original action[68] nor an agreed case as to the original action[69] are admissible in the trial on review although an agreement not limited to the original action is competent on review upon the question of the amount in controversy.[70]

[§ 54] 8. Trial or Hearing. It is generally held, and sometimes under statutory provisions,[71] that actions on review must be tried substantially as if no verdict[72] or judgment[73] had ever been rendered. Since a review is a new trial of the issues originally tried,[74] everything is open on review as it would have been in the original action.[75] Thus, issues of law,[76] as well as issues of fact,[77] may again be tried; and, as in the case of the trial of civil actions generally,[78] the issues of law are to be tried by the court[79] and issues of fact by the jury,[80] and the questions to be tried by a jury on review must be comprehended in the pleadings on which the former trial was had.[81] The trial on a review is conducted

---

Edgerly v. Emerson, 4 N. H. 147 (set-off).

[51] Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381.

[52] Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169.

[53] Wilbur v. Dyer, supra.

Conformity of pleadings and proof in civil actions generally see Pleading §§ 1167–1186.

[54] See supra § 47.

[55] Wilbur v. Dyer, 39 Me. 169.

[56] Barker v. Wendell, 12 N. H. 119.

Evidence admissible under the general issue in civil actions generally see Pleading §§ 1177–1181.

Pleading of matter arising subsequent to original judgment see supra § 48.

[57] Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381, 383.

"It was always admissible to offer new evidence and the allowance of amendments was provided for by statute in order to prevent parties from being turned out of court with a good case, upon mere insufficiency of form." Foster v. Plummer, supra (per Shaw, C. J.).

[58] See supra § 50 note 44 [b] (1).

[59] Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381; Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498.

[60] Perry v. Goodwin, supra.

Amendment of pleadings on review see supra §§ 50, 51.

[61] Competency of witnesses see Witnesses [40 Cyc 2135 et seq].

[62] See Evidence 22 C. J. p 1.

[63] See infra text and notes 64–67.

[64] Gold v. Eddy, 1 Mass. 1; Pickering v. De Rochemont, 60 N. H. 179.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) A deposition taken for the original action of one who had since become a party to the suit was allowed in evidence. Gold v. Eddy, 1 Mass. 1. (2) An auditor's report, admissible on the original trial, is also admissible on review. Pickering v. De Rochemont, 60 N. H. 179.

[65] Gold v. Eddy, 1 Mass. 1.

[66] Gold v. Eddy, supra.

[67] Belknap v. Wendell, 31 N. H. 92.

[a] "It has never been understood . . . that a copy . . . can be used, if objection is made, where the original is within reach." Belknap v. Wendell, 31 N. H. 92, 103.

[68] Good v. Lehan, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 299, 300; Messer v. Swan, 4 N. H. 481.

"Whether the judgment was rightfully rendered was the question and . . . must surely be determined by other evidence than merely the judgment itself." Good v. Lehan, supra.

[a] Under a statute providing that the cause on review be tried the same as if no judgment had been rendered (1) the first judgment has no weight in the trial on review (Messer v. Swan, 4 N. H. 481), (2) and is no evidence of the real facts of the case either for (Messer v. Swan, supra) (3) or against (Messer v. Swan, supra) either party.

[b] Prima facie evidence.—A judgment for plaintiff in an action on a promissory note is not prima facie evidence on review of the execution of the note, for the note is the foundation on which the judgment, the superstructure, rests, and to receive the judgment as prima facie evidence of the genuineness of the note would be relying on the superstructure to sustain the foundation. Good v. Lehan, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 299.

[69] Page v. Brewster, 58 N. H. 126.

[a] Illustration.—Where the parties to the original suit make an agreed case "for the purposes of this suit" the word "suit" is synonymous with "action," and a review being in effect, as well as in form, a new action to recover in the shape of damages what, it is alleged, has been wrongfully taken in the original suit, the agreed case is not evidence on review. Page v. Brewster, 58 N. H. 126.

[70] Russell v. Babbitt, 60 N. H. 373.

[a] Illustration.—Where there was an agreement by the parties at the original trial that if plaintiff was entitled to recover anything, it would be fifty-seven dollars and fifty-five cents, evidence of the agreement was held competent as to the amount in controversy, so that the action might be referred without consent of parties. Russell v. Babbitt, 60 N. H. 373.

[71] See statutory provisions.

[72] Johnson v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 43 N. H. 410.

[73] Sturdivant v. Greeley, 4 Me. 434; Johnson v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 43 N. H. 410; Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384; Messer v. Swan, 4 N. H. 481.

[a] Without such trial, an error in the former judgment cannot be corrected. Johnson v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 43 N. H. 410.

[74] See supra § 1.

[75] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771.

[76] Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415; Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498; Hazen v. Smith, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 59.

[a] "There seems to be nothing in the reason of the thing, any more than in the terms of the statute, which limits this right of a review to the retrial of questions of fact." Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, 3 Gray (Mass.) 415, 422.

[77] Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Winslow, supra; Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498.

[78] See Trial [38 Cyc 1511 et seq, 1925].

[79] Perry v. Goodwin, 6 Mass. 498.

[80] Perry v. Goodwin, supra.

[81] Hart v. Johnson, 7 Mass. 472.

[a] Illustration.—Where judgment was recovered in the original action for seizin of the demanded premises, plaintiff in review cannot file a claim for the jury to inquire into the increased value of the property on account of betterments, no such allegation or claim being included in the original action. Hart v. Johnson, 7 Mass. 472.

in the same manner whether the writ of review has been granted on an application[82] or claimed as a matter of right.[83] It is no peremptory ground for a nonsuit, when a plaintiff has produced the usual copies upon a review, certified to be copies of all papers used and filed upon the former trial, that a paper so used is not copied.[84]

The question of jurisdiction may be raised at the hearing upon the writ.[85]

Verdict. The jury may find their verdict for the original defendant,[86] or for the original plaintiff[87] with greater[88] or less[89] damages than he recovered at the former trial, and, when the jury have found the amount of damages, they may compare the amount with the former verdict, and if the difference is merely nominal and unsubstantial, they may, in their discretion, return a verdict for the same amount as the former verdict.[90]

[§ 55] 9. Judgment—a. In General. The judgment which may be rendered on the trial of a review is usually prescribed by statutes providing for the remedy.[91] Under these statutes it has been held that on the review, a new judgment is rendered, which provides the proper remedy as the rights of the parties then appear,[92] and this judgment may be varied and adapted so as to meet and protect those rights.[93] Thus the original judgment may be affirmed[94] or reversed[95] in whole[96] or in part[97] or modified in any other respect,[98] and the court is not limited to any particular form of judgment[99] but will render such special judgment as the just and legal rights of the parties require.[1] On the other hand, it has been held that the original judgment cannot be reversed in whole[2] or in part,[3] but that if the original judgment were wrong plaintiff in review will have judgment to recover back the money erroneously recovered in the first suit,[4] and if the original judgment were right defendant in review will have judgment for his costs.[5] The judgment rendered on the trial of the review is a final judgment[6] and should be such as to correct the error, if any, in the former judgment,[7] although required by statute to be rendered without regard to the original judgment.[8]

[§ 56] b. Operation and Effect.[9] The judgment rendered on a review does not operate in form as a reversal of the original judgment,[10] either in whole or in part.[11] The original judgment stands,[12] and any proceedings which have been regularly taken thereunder are valid,[13] and the party in whose favor it was rendered is entitled to whatever he has obtained thereby.[14] On the other hand it has been held that the judgment on review is a substitute for the original judgment[15] which thereupon becomes inoperative so that no action can be maintained thereon.[16] But on the contrary it is held that this is not necessarily the case,[17] but that the original judgment remains in force.[18] Since the judgment on review is final judgment,[19] it concludes the rights of the parties.[20]

---

[82] Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[83] Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[84] Belknap v. Wendell, 31 N. H. 92 (construing Rev. St. c 192 § 8, and holding that the court has, in such a case, as in others, a discretion as to the manner of conducting a trial and ample power to suspend the proceedings to give time to supply any casual omissions, where substantial justice seems to require it).

[85] Smith v. Brown, 136 Mass. 416.

[86] Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342.

[87] Swett v. Sullivan, supra.

[88] Swett v. Sullivan, supra; Dame v. Twombly, Smith (N. H.) 262.

[a] A remittitur in the original action does not preclude defendant from recovering a larger amount on review. Dame v. Twombly, Smith (N. H.) 262.

[89] Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342.

[90] Carpenter v. Pierce, 13 N. H. 403.

[91] See statutory provisions. See also infra this section; and infra §§ 56-59.

[92] Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381; Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85.

[93] Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381.

[94] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381; Carrique v. Bristol Print Works, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 444.

[a] Such part of the former judgment as may be found right will be affirmed, especially if it has been executed. Carrique v. Bristol Print Works, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 444.

[95] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281; Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen (Mass.) 472; Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381. But see supra § 38.

[a] A judgment of reversal is the proper judgment on review where the original judgment was erroneous and there has been no satisfaction of it. Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen (Mass.) 472.

[96] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381.

[97] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381; Johnson v. Wetherbee, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 247.

[98] Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381.

[99] Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281; Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen (Mass.) 472; Carrique v. Bristol Print Works, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 444.

[1] Whitney v. Porter, 251 Mass. 547, 146 NE 771; Fuller v. Storer, 111 Mass. 281; Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen (Mass.) 472; Carrique v. Bristol Print Works, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 444.

[2] Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525.

Effect of review generally see supra § 38.

[3] Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525.

[4] Curtis v. Curtis, supra.

[5] Curtis v. Curtis, supra.

[6] Dunlap v. Burnham, 38 Me. 112, 114; Haynes v. Ordway, 52 N. H. 284, 285; Eastman v. Amoskeag Mfg. Co., 47 N. H. 71; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

"Until that judgment is rendered there cannot properly be said to be any final judgment in the cause." Haynes v. Ordway, supra.

"It is manifest that it was designed that the judgment to be rendered . . . was to be such as also to do final and complete justice between the parties." Dunlap v. Burnham, supra.

[7] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342; Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[8] Dunlap v. Burnham, 38 Me. 112.

[9] Operation and effect of judgments generally see Judgments §§ 804-814.

[10] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525; Ely v. Forward, 7 Mass. 25; Pike v. Pike, 24 N. H. 384; Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352; Hart v. Little, Smith (N. H.) 52. But see Haynes v. Ordway, 52 N. H. 284 (although technically the first judgment is not reversed, the second judgment is practically a reversal in so far as it differs from the first).

[a] If the original action is for the recovery of land and plaintiff obtains judgment, a recovery by defendant upon review operates more nearly like a technical reversal. In such case defendant has judgment for the land or for the part to which it appears he has title and he has a writ of possession. Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85.

[11] Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525; Ely v. Forward, 7 Mass. 25.

[12] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352; Hart v. Little, Smith (N. H.) 52.

[13] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525; Drew v. Munsey, Smith (N. H.) 317; Haven v. Libbey, Smith (N. H.) 109; Hodgdon v. Lougee, Smith (N. H.) 104.

[a] If the first judgment has been satisfied by levy upon real estate, the levy is valid and conveys a good title, although subsequently on a review of such judgment the original defendant recovers a judgment against the original plaintiff for a sum equal to the whole amount of the first judgment. Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525.

[14] Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

[§ 57] c. Amount of Recovery. The amount for which judgment may be rendered on the trial of a review is generally regulated by statute.[21] Under such statutes it has been held that if the judgment in the original action was wrong plaintiff in review will have judgment to recover what he should previously have recovered if he is the original plaintiff and failed upon his first trial,[22] or to recover back what was erroneously recovered on the first trial if he is the original defendant against whom judgment was rendered,[23] together with interest from the time of payment if the amount has been paid.[24] If the original judgment was for plaintiff and the damages are increased on review,[25] or if defendant is shown on review to be indebted for a greater amount than the original judgment,[26] the original plaintiff takes judgment for the amount of the increase.[27] without regard to the party by whom the review is brought,[28] and if the damages are decreased the original defendant takes judgment for the amount of the decrease,[29] whether he has paid the original judgment or not.[30] If it is determined that the original judgment was correct, defendant in review merely takes judgment for costs,[31] and execution may be issued thereon if it has not already been satisfied,[32] and the original judgment is not affected.[33]

[§ 58] d. Set-Off. One judgment may be set off against the other under the provisions of some of the statutes.[34] Thus if the plaintiff in review is successful he may be permitted to set off his judgment in review against the original unsatisfied judgment,[35] as where the sum first recovered is reduced.[36]

[§ 59] e. Enforcement. Judgment recovered on a review may be enforced the same as any original judgment,[37] but a judgment on review gives a right of restitution only as against some party to the record.[38]

[§ 60] 10. Appeal and Error. An appeal will lie from the decision rendered on the trial of a review,[39] and a judgment on a writ of review, sued out as of right by a party not entitled to it by statute, will be reversed on a writ of error;[40] but under a statute providing for the recovery of costs unless the court should otherwise order,[41] the decision of the court on review as to costs is conclusive and not subject to exception.[42]

[§ 61] 11. Costs—a. In General. The statutes providing for the remedy of review usually contain provisions for the allowance of costs on the trial of a review.[43] Either under these statutes or by virtue of other applicable statutes,[44] and in accordance

---

[a] Satisfaction.—(1) "If the former judgment has been satisfied, if affirmed, the satisfaction shall remain unaffected." Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381, 383. (2) "If affirmed in part the satisfaction shall still stand." Foster v. Plummer, supra.

[15] Dunlap v. Burnham, 38 Me. 112 (under a statute providing that judgment should be entered without regard to the former judgment); Stevens v. Sabin, 20 N. H. 529.

[16] Dunlap v. Burnham, 38 Me. 112. See Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen (Mass.) 472 (construing Rev. St. c 99 § 10, and Gen. St. c 146 §§ 32, 38, and holding that an action cannot be maintained on a recognizance given by a defendant arrested on an execution, when the judgment upon which the execution issued has been reversed on a review).

[a] "[A] provision in [Gen. St. c 146] § 38, that the execution [of the original judgment] shall not be superseded or stayed by the writ of review . . . has no application to the operation of the judgment in review." Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen (Mass.) 472, 473.

[17] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287, 289.

"The court, undoubtedly, has power to consider one [judgment on review] a substitute for the other [original judgment], when necessary to prevent gross injustice. But, the mere fact, that . . . a different result [is] arrived at from that on the first trial does not, necessarily, render void the former judgment ab initio, and all acts under it." Dyer v. Wilbur, supra.

[18] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236.

[a] Debt lies upon the original judgment, although the result has been partially reversed on review. Hart v. Little, Smith (N. H.) 52.

[19] See supra § 55 text and note 6.

[20] Haynes v. Ordway, 52 N. H. 284; Eastman v. Amoskeag Mfg. Co., 47 N. H. 71.

[21] See statutory provisions. See also infra this section.

[22] Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85.

[23] Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525; Carrique v. Bristol Paint Works, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 444; Ely v. Forward, 7 Mass. 25; Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85.

[a] If the original judgment is affirmed in part, plaintiff in review is entitled to recover back a sum for which the original judgment was too much. Foster v. Plummer, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 381.

[24] Ordway v. Haynes, 54 N. H. 346.

[25] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Andrews v. Foster, 42 N. H. 376.

[26] Church v. Church, 122 Me. 459, 120 A 428.

[27] Church v. Church, supra; Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Andrews v. Foster, 42 N. H. 376.

[a] Review by one of several defendants.—Where judgment is rendered in the original action against several defendants and a review is brought by only one of them, and plaintiff again recovers judgment but for an increased amount, judgment should be rendered against defendant bringing the review for the damages found by the last verdict and the costs of the review, and the former judgment be affirmed to stand as a joint judgment against all of the original defendants. Emerson v. Pattee, 1 Mass. 482.

[28] Andrews v. Foster, 42 N. H. 376.

[29] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236; Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287; Lincoln v. Goulding, 3 Mass. 234; Shepard v. Hatch, 54 N. H. 96; Otis v. Currier, 18 N. H. 85.

[30] Shepard v. Hatch, 54 N. H. 96.

[31] Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525; Ely v. Forward, 7 Mass. 25; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

Costs on:
Proceedings for review generally see supra § 37.
Review generally see infra §§ 61, 62.

[32] Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525; Ely v. Forward, 7 Mass. 25.

[33] Dyer v. Wilbur, 48 Me. 287.

[34] See statutory provisions.

[35] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89; Curtis v. Curtis, 47 Me. 525.

[36] Curtis v. Curtis, supra.

[37] McDonough v. Blossom, 111 Me. 66, 88 A 89.

Enforcement of judgments generally see Judgments §§ 1139-1153.

[38] Little v. Bunce, 7 N. H. 485, 28 AmD 363.

[a] Illustration.—Where A lodged with B, as collateral security, a note made by C and payable to A, but not to order, and B brought a suit on the note against C in the name of A, and recovered judgment which was paid by C to B, and the judgment was reversed on review, and C sued B to recover back the amount of the costs, the damages having been paid by B, and it was held that the action could not be maintained. Little v. Bunce, 7 N. H. 485, 28 AmD 363.

[39] Tay v. Piage, 37 N. H. 468.

[40] Hall v. Wolcott, 10 Mass. 218.

[41] See statutory provisions.

[42] Lunt v. Stimpson, 73 Me. 245.

[43] See statutory provisions.

[44] See statutory provisions.

with the general rule as to costs,[45] on a review the prevailing party is ordinarily entitled to costs,[46] unless the court in granting the review otherwise orders.[47] If it is determined that the original judgment was correct, defendant in review takes judgment for costs alone.[48] Interest will not be allowed on costs of review,[49] and under a statute authorizing the court to limit and allow such costs as law and justice shall require, if defendant reviews and merely succeeds in obtaining a slight reduction in the amount of damages the court may in its discretion limit his costs.[50] A party who obtains a verdict on review by means of a certificate in bankruptcy, which is in effect a reversal of the original judgment, is not entitled to recover costs.[51] An indorser of the original writ is not liable as such for the costs which defendant may recover upon review.[52]

[§ 62] b. Costs of Original Action. Under some statutes it has been held that the party prevailing on review is entitled to costs both of the review and also of the original action,[53] or that he is so entitled unless the court otherwise orders,[54] while under others it has been held that the prevailing party can recover only the costs of the review,[55] or that he is not entitled to costs of the original action where the second judgment merely reduces the damages and is not in effect a complete reversal of the first.[56]

---

[45] See Costs §§ 10-40.

[46] Dodge v. Reed, 40 Me. 331; Pasche v. Graham, 180 Mass. 157, 61 NE 883; Nashua, etc., R. Co. v. Stimpson, 35 N. H. 286, 289; Woodbury v. Parshley, 10 N. H. 392.

"We see no occasion as yet to interfere with the general provision of the statute, that costs follow the event of every suit or proceeding." Nashua, etc., R. Co. v. Stimpson, supra.

[a] Who is the prevailing party.—(1) On review of an action in which debt, damages, or land is demanded, the party in whose favor the error in the original judgment is corrected is the prevailing party and is entitled to costs. Bruce v. Learned, 4 Mass. 614 (construing St. [1784] c 28 § 9). (2) A party who, on the trial of a review, obtains a result more favorable to him than that of the original action is the prevailing party. Williams v. Williams, 133 Mass. 587. (3) Where on review a party reduces the damages recovered against him in the original action, he is the prevailing party and entitled to costs. Dodge v. Reed, 40 Me. 331; Billerica v. Carlisle, 2 Mass. 158. (4) Where judgment in the original action was had against a defendant, who, as plaintiff in review, pleaded a set-off by way of amendment, and recovered judgment thereon against plaintiff in the original suit, although the amendment could have been filed in the original action, the new issue presented thereby was triable in review, under the statute, and therefore plaintiff in review was the prevailing party and entitled to costs. Pasche v. Graham, 180 Mass. 157, 61 NE 883. (5) Where in an action on contract defendant filed a general denial, and also a declaration in set-off, but defaulted and judgment was entered against him for one thousand dollars and costs and on review the original plaintiff recovered one dollar, it was held that plaintiff in review was entitled to costs, even though the sum recovered by the original plaintiff was reduced by set-off. Williams v. Williams, supra. (6) A plaintiff in review who succeeds in correcting an error in the former verdict against him is entitled to judgment for costs, as the prevailing party, notwithstanding the amount of the judgment on review is larger than the original verdict, due to the accumulation of interest. Kavanagh v. Askins, 2 Me. 397. (7) Where plaintiff in review finds that he cannot prevail and becomes nonsuited, defendant in review is the prevailing party and entitled to costs. Treat v. Hathaway, 7 Mass. 503. (8) Where plaintiff in the original action recovers damages in a larger amount on review than he did in the original action, he is the prevailing party, and is entitled to recover costs of the original action and also the costs of the review. Avery v. Holmes, 10 N. H. 574. (9) If the party bringing the review fails to change the decision of the case, so that defendant in review is, upon the new trial, entitled to the same judgment that was rendered in the first action, defendant in review takes a judgment for his costs, as the prevailing party. Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352. (10) Where, upon the review of a real action brought by the original demandant, the land and improvements are each estimated by the jury at a less sum than by the former verdict, the tenant is the prevailing party. Erving v. Pray, 1 Me. 255.

[b] Several parties plaintiff or defendant.—(1) Where, in an action for trespass for assault and battery against two defendants, the jury assessed the damages against them in a certain sum, and on review there was a verdict of not guilty as to one defendant and guilty as to the other, against whom damages for a greater amount were assessed, it was held that defendant found not guilty on review was the prevailing party and entitled to recover his costs, while the original plaintiff was entitled to recover his costs against defendant found guilty. Galloway v. Pitman, 3 Mass. 408. (2) Where, in trespass against three, judgment was rendered against all, and on a review by them a verdict was rendered against two only, the third, who had paid no part of the first judgment, may tax the costs of travel and attendance for himself and all the witnesses used in the defense, both on the first trial and on the review. Durgin v. Leighton, 10 Mass. 56.

[47] Pasche v. Graham, 180 Mass. 157, 61 NE 883.

[48] See supra § 57 text and note 31.

[49] Whittaker v. Berry, 64 Me. 236.

[50] Woodbury v. Parshley, 10 N. H. 392.

[51] Foster v. Hinckley, 40 Me. 54.

[52] Sanford v. Candia, 54 N. H. 419.

[53] Durgin v. Leighton, 10 Mass. 56.

[a] Rule applied.—Where in the original action judgment was rendered against three defendants and on review against only two of them, the third defendant prevailing on review is entitled to costs both of the original action and of the review. Durgin v. Leighton, 10 Mass. 56.

[54] Lunt v. Stimpson, 73 Me. 245; Brown v. Cousens, 51 Me. 301.

[a] In the absence of any order by the court to the contrary it must be taken for granted that in his opinion justice requires that the prevailing party shall recover the costs of both actions. Lunt v. Stimpson, 73 Me. 245.

[55] Taylor v. Gilman, 61 N. H. 636; Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[a] Prior to the act of 1838 (1) limiting the costs recoverable to those of the review, the prevailing party on review was entitled to the costs both of the review and the original action. Avery v. Holmes, 10 N. H. 574. (2) But since 1838 the review does not affect the costs of the original suit whether the review was brought of right or by grant upon petition. Barron v. Jackson, 42 N. H. 419.

[56] Billerica v. Carlisle, 2 Mass. 158.

[a] Where on review by defendant the original judgment is merely reversed in part as to damages, the costs of the original action are not affected. Billerica v. Carlisle, 2 Mass. 158.

REVISE.[1] To correct, to amend, to change;[2] to go over in order to suggest or make desirable changes and corrections;[3] to look carefully over with a view to correction;[4] to review;[5] to review, alter, or amend;[6] to review or reëxamine for correction.[7]

Phrases: "Receive, revise and cause to be recorded,"[8] "revise, amend, and consolidate,"[9] "revise and consolidate,"[10] and "revise, simplify, arrange, and consolidate;"[11] also "revised act,"[12] and "Revised Statutes."[13]

REVISING BARRISTERS. Barristers[14] appointed to revise the list of voters for county and borough members of parliament,[15] and who hold courts for that purpose.[16]

REVISION.[17] The act of reëxamination to correct, review, alter or amend;[18] review, reëxamination, looking at again.[19]

Phrases: "Justice requires a revision,"[20] and "revision and correction."[21]

REVISORY.[22] Having the power or purpose of revision.[23]

Phrase: "Revisory jurisdiction."[24]

REVIVAL.[25] The act of reviving, or the state of being revived;[26] giving energy and efficacy to that which was dormant.[27]

REVIVE.[28] To bring again to life, to reanimate, to renew, to bring into action after a suspension;[29] to give life to again;[30] to restore or bring again to life.[31]

Includes both the revitalization of a dead cause of action and the restoring of the lapsed period of its statutory life.[32]

Applied to dormant judgment, to restore or bring the judgment back to life.[33]

Applied to legislative proceedings, the term signifies the reconference of validity, force, and effect; at least, the reconference of such validity, force, and effect as the measure, law, or bill formerly possessed.[34]

---

[1] See also Revision post.

[2] Gamble v. State, 159 Tenn. 446, 19 SW (2d) 279, 280.

[a] "Amend" (1) may be an equivalent term. Pierce v. Solano County, 62 Cal. A. 465, 217 P 545, 546. "Amend" 2 C. J. p 1316. (2) But "amend" and "revise" have been distinguished in their meanings when used with respect to changes in a constitution. State v. Taylor, 22 N. D. 362, 367, 133 NW 1046 ("to revise" meaning to submit the subject to the people through a constitutional convention).

"Change" 11 C. J. p 286.

"Correct" 14A C. J. p 1426.

[3] Century D. [quot State v. Griffiths, 137 Wash. 448, 451, 242 P 969].

"Correction" 14A C. J. p 1427.

[4] Century D. [quot State v. Griffiths, 137 Wash. 448, 451, 242 P 969].

[5] Century D. [quot State v. Griffiths, supra].

[a] "Review" equivalent.—State v. Griffiths, 137 Wash. 448, 451, 242 P 969. "Review" ante.

[6] Webster D. [quot State v. Towery, 143 Ala. 48, 49, 39 S 309; Vinsant v. Knox, 27 Ark. 266, 272].

"Alter" 2 C. J. p 1165.

[7] Casey v. Harned, 5 Iowa 1, 12.

[8] Ex p. Mason, 256 Fed. 384, 387.

[9] Graham v. Muskegon County Clerk, 116 Mich. 571, 572, 74 NW 729.

[10] Atty.-Gen. v. Parsell, 100 Mich. 170, 173, 58 NW 839.

[11] Mathis v. State, 31 Fla. 291, 297, 12 S 681.

[12] Pierce v. Solano County, 62 Cal. A. 465, 217 P 545, 546 ("a new and original piece of legislation").

[13] Matter of Norton, 39 App. Div. 369, 371, 57 NYS 407.

[14] "Barrister" see Attorney and Client § 4.

[15] Black L. D.

[16] St. 6 Vict. c 18.

[a] Revising barristers' courts.—Courts held in the autumn throughout the country, to revise the list of voters for county and borough members of parliament. Black L. D.

[17] See also Revise ante.

Revision board see Municipal Corporations §§ 1595, 3187 et seq, 3376; Taxation [37 Cyc 1079].

Revision of:
Assessment see Eminent Domain § 435; Municipal Corporations § 3187 et seq; Taxation [37 Cyc 1079].
Constitution see Constitutional Law §§ 14–34.
Insolvency proceedings see Insolvency §§ 283–290.
Jury list see Juries § 223.
Ordinance see Municipal Corporations §§ 881 et seq, 2459.
Sentence see Criminal Law §§ 3096–3101.
Statute see Statutes [36 Cyc 1067].

[18] Webster D. [quot State v. King County Super. Ct., 9 Wash. 369, 373, 37 P 489].

[a] "Amendment" compared see State v. Taylor, 22 N. D. 362, 133 NW 1046, 1048.

[19] Century D. [quot Goodwin v. Prime, 92 Me. 355, 363, 42 A 785].

[20] Goodwin v. Prime, supra.

[21] See Correction 14A C. J. p 1427 text and note 93 [e].

[22] See Revise ante; Revision ante.

[23] Webster D. [quot State v. King County Super. Ct., 9 Wash. 369, 373, 37 P 489].

[24] State v. King County Super. Ct., supra.

[25] See also Revive post; Revivor post; Scire Facias [35 Cyc 1147].

Revival of:
Action or suit:
  In general see Abatement and Revival 1 C. J. p 13 et seq; Appeal and Error §§ 695–906, 1001, 3381; Mandamus §§ 563–571.
  By attorney see Attorney and Client § 155.
  Compelling see Mandamus § 115.
  Taking depositions after see Continuances § 88.
Annuities § 49.
Easements § 180.
Indebtedness see Limitations of Actions § 564 et seq.
Judgment see Constitutional Law § 305; Equity § 870; Executors and Administrators §§ 2232, 2233; Guardian and Ward § 459; Insane Persons § 648; Judgments §§ 896, 949, 991, 1008–1056, 1163; Justices of the Peace § 325.
Lease see Landlord and Tenant §§ 445, 1140.
Lien see Attachment §§ 533, 534; Executions § 502; Maritime Liens § 140; Mortgages §§ 431 note 36 [a], 438, 2168.
Offense see Divorce §§ 203–206.
Ordinance see Municipal Corporations § 900.
Policy see Fire Insurance §§ 240, 249; Insurance §§ 642–646; Life Insurance §§ 237–244.
Statutes [36 Cyc 1099].
Trust as separate estate see Husband and Wife § 511.
Wills [40 Cyc 1212 et seq].

[26] Webster Int. D.

[27] Kelsey v. Smith, 2 Miss. 68, 84.

[28] See Revival ante; Revivor post.

[29] Webster D. [quot Lindsey v. Lyman, 37 Iowa 206, 207]; Rockwell v. Blaney, 5 OhNPNS 580, 583.

[a] Derivation.—The syllable "re" indicates the use of old matter and the syllable "vive" means to "give life to." In re Bank of Commerce, 153 Ind. 460, 53 NE 950, 55 NE 224, 47 LRA 489 [quot Leman v. Cunningham, 12 Ida. 135, 141, 85 P 212].

[b] Implies bringing back to life or action after suspension. In re Zeis, 229 Fed. 472, 474.

"Renew" ante.

[30] In re Bank of Commerce, 153 Ind. 460, 471, 53 NE 950, 55 NE 224, 47 LRA 489.

[31] Leman v. Cunningham, 12 Ida. 135, 85 P 212, 214 [quot Prier v. Traders' Nat. Bank, 24 Wash. 695, 64 P 831]; Thornhill v. Hargreaves, 76 Nebr. 582, 590, 107 NW 847; Tacoma Nat. Bank v. Sprague, 33 Wash. 285, 288, 74 P 393, 394.

"Restore" ante.

[32] Bullard v. Lopez, 7 N. M. 561, 566, 37 P 1103.

[33] Thornhill v. Hargreaves, 76

*By WM. HOWARD BUCHANAN (Revise—Revolving Fund inclusive).

Phrases: "No promise shall operate to revise any action from the bar and limitations,"[35] and "revised, saved, and enacted."[36]

REVIVOR.[37] Revival of a suit which is abated by the death or marriage of any of the parties.[38]

REVOCABILITY.[39] The property of being revocable; revocableness.[40]

REVOCATION.[41] The act of revoking by one having the right;[42] recall;[43] more particularly, the recall of a power or authority conferred,[44] or the vacating of an instrument previously made;[45] the annulment[46] or cancellation[47] of the instrument, act, or promise by or on behalf of the party who made it.[48]

Phrases: "Dependent relative revocation,"[49] "power of revocation,"[50] "reserved power of revocation,"[51] "revocation by marriage and birth of issue,"[52] and "upon the revocation."[53]

REVOKE.[54] To abolish;[55] to annul;[56] to recall, cancel, or set aside;[57] to recall, to take back, to repeal;[58] to recall what one has done or promised;[59] to rescind.[60]

Applied to testamentary disposition, to annul it, so that in legal contemplation it ceases to exist and becomes as inoperative as if it had never been written.[61]

REVOLT.[62]

REVOLUTION.[63]

Nebr. 582, 590, 107 NW 847. See generally Judgments § 1008 et seq.

[34] Maclean v. Brodigan, 41 Nev. 468, 172 P 375, 376. See generally Statutes [36 Cyc 1099 et seq].

[a] "Reënact" synonymous.—Police Jury v. Shreveport, 137 La. 1032, 1041, 69 S 828 [quot State v. Walters, 135 La. 1070, 1086, 66 S 364].

[35] Briscoe v. Anketell, 28 Miss. 361, 373, 61 AmD 553.

[36] State v. Maryland Bank, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 205, 224, 26 AmD 561.

[37] See also Revival ante; Revive ante.

Bill of revivor see Equity § 669.

[38] Webster New Int. D.

[39] See also Revocation post; Revoke post.

Revocability of:
Assignments § 101.
Bills and Notes § 89.
Power to take possession see Chattel Mortgages § 47.

[40] Century D.

[41] Revocation of:
Abandonment see Marine Insurance §§ 455, 456.
Adoption of Children §§ 103–112.
Advancement see Descent and Distribution § 233.
Appointment see Guardian and Ward §§ 122–138; Insane Persons § 284 et seq; Judges § 86; Officers § 69; Receivers § 93.
Assignments § 101.
Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 101, 181–184.
Authority see Agency §§ 151–168; Alteration of Instruments § 134 note 20 [a]; Appeal and Error §§ 666, 1123, 3342; Attorney and Client § 184 et seq; Brokers § 22; Factors § 10; Insurance § 136 et seq; Judgments §§ 296, 297.
Bills and Notes §§ 89, 320, 335 note 84 [a], 491, 552, 681, 829, 1377. See also Banks and Banking § 429.
Bonds § 75.
Charter or franchise see Corporations § 3679 et seq; Franchises § 111; Monopolies § 45; Railroads §§ 45, 46, 102 et seq, 180.
Contract or agreement see Contracts § 621 et seq; Frauds, Statute of § 154; Husband and Wife §§ 221–223, 288; Parent and Child §§ 12, 150, 193.
Dedication §§ 148–158½.
Deed or grant see Deeds § 470; Insolvency §§ 215, 220, 252; Public Lands §§ 291, 380, 386, 695.
Devise see Conversion § 71.
Discharge see Bankruptcy §§ 697–703.
Gifts §§ 45–48, 119–123.
Letters see Executors and Administrators §§ 274–295, 871, 1277, 2682.
License or permit see Attorney and Client § 37 et seq; Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 8, 16; Insurance §§ 26, 136; Landlord and Tenant § 267; Licenses §§ 109–113, 193–204; Mandamus §§ 212, 355; Municipal Corporations §§ 380–382, 982, 3806; Patents § 434; Physicians and Surgeons §§ 64–83; Pilots § 27; Post Office §§ 89–91; Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 1089].
Offer see Compromise and Settlement § 12; Contracts §§ 101–107; Guaranty §§ 20, 70–72.
Order see Courts § 249; Indians § 132 note 75 [a]; Motions and Orders § 237 et seq.
Pardons § 41.
Pension see Municipal Corporations §§ 1422, 1504; Pensions § 31.
Power:
  Generally see Powers §§ 20, 21, 157–159.
  Of sale see Mortgages §§ 1347–1351; Pledges § 246.
References § 72.
Right to continue improvement see Improvements § 11.
Submission see Arbitration and Award §§ 91–127.
Subscription see Corporations §§ 783, 3691 et seq., 3948, 3960, 4063 note 36 [c]; Subscriptions [37 Cyc 492].
Trusts [39 Cyc 92].
Waiver of exemption see Exemptions § 210.
Warrant see Extradition § 41.
Will see Wills [40 Cyc 1171 et seq, 1234].

Reservation of power of revocation see Fraudulent Conveyances § 348.

[42] Webster D. [quot Ford v. Greenawalt, 292 Ill. 121, 126 NE 555, 557].

[43] Wilmington City R. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 8 Del. Ch. 468, 495, 46 A 12.

"Recall" ante.

[44] Bouvier L. D. [Baker v. Fifth Ave. Bank, 225 App. Div. 238, 232 NYS 238].

[a] "Revocation not only means the recalling of the power, but may denote 'the vacating' of the grant for cause." Houston v. Houston City St. R. Co., 83 Tex. 548, 557, 19 SW 127, 29 AmSR 679.

"Authority" 6 C. J. p 864.

"Power" 49 C. J. p 1241.

[45] Bouvier L. D. [quot Baker v. Fifth Ave. Bank, 225 App. Div. 238, 232 NYS 238].

[46] "Annulment" 3 C. J. p 222.

[47] "Cancellation" 9 C. J. p 1153.

"Alteration" distinguished see 2 C. J. p 1167 note 93 [a].

[48] Standard D. [quot Ford v. Greenawalt, 292 Ill. 121, 126 NE 555, 557].

[49] Henry v. Fraser, 29 F. (2d) 633, 634.

[50] Wilmington City R. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 8 Del. Ch. 468, 46 A 12, 18.

[51] Wilmington City R. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., supra.

[52] In re Schuster, 111 Misc. 534, 181 NYS 500, 505.

[53] New South Wales v. Com., 38 Austr. C. L. R. 74, 129.

[54] See also Revocation ante.

[55] Houston v. Houston City St. R. Co., 83 Tex. 548, 557, 19 SW 127, 29 AmSR 679.

"Abolish" 1 C. J. p 305.

[56] Eschbach v. Collins, 61 Md. 478, 499, 48 AmR 123; Houston v. Houston City St. R. Co., 83 Tex. 548, 557, 19 SW 127, 29 AmSR 679.

[a] "Revoked," as applied to an order of removal "imports that the order is in force until it is recalled." Taber v. New Bedford, 177 Mass. 197, 199, 58 NE 640.

"Annul" distinguished see 3 C. J, p 222 text and note 3 [b].

[57] Ford v. Greenawalt, 292 Ill. 121, 126 NE 555, 557.

"Cancel" 9 C. J. p 1153.

"Recall" 52 C. J. p 1190.

[58] In re Morrow, 204 Pa. 484, 486, 54 A 342; Sloan's App., 168 Pa. 422, 430, 32 A 42, 47 AmSR 889.

"Repeal" ante.

[59] Langdon v. Astor, 16 N. Y. 9, 39.

[60] Houston v. Houston City St. R. Co., 83 Tex. 548, 557, 19 SW 127, 29 AmSR 679.

"Rescind" ante.

[61] Gardiner v. Gardiner, 65 N. H. 230, 231, 19 A 651, 8 LRA 383. See Langdon v. Astor, 10 N. Y. Super. 477, 561.

Revocation of will see Wills [40 Cyc 1171].

[62] See Seamen [35 Cyc 1255]; and generally Insurrection and Sedition 33 C. J. p 158.

[63] See Insurrection and Sedition § 11.

REVOLUTIONARY. As a noun, one who instigates or favors revolution;[64] one who takes part in a revolution.[65] As an adjective, pertaining to or connected with, characterized by, of by the nature of, revolution.[66]

REVOLVER.[67] A firearm,[68] especially a pistol,[69] having a breechloading chambered cylinder so arranged that the cocking of the hammer or movement of the trigger in its return motion revolves it and brings the next cartridge in line for firing.[70]

REVOLVING FUND. An expression of recent coinage which usually refers to a renewable credit[71] over a definite period.[72] It may also mean a fund[73] which when reduced is replenished by new funds from specified sources.[74]

---

[64] Gitlow v. Kiely, 44 F. (2d) 227, 233.

"Instigate" 32 C. J. p 941.

"Revolution" see Insurrection and Sedition § 11.

[65] Gitlow v. Kiely, 44 F. (2d) 227, 233.

[66] Gitlow v. Kiely, supra.

[67] Revolver:
Generally see Weapons [40 Cyc 851].
As personal baggage see Carriers 10 C. J. p 1192 text and note 31.

[68] "Firearm" see Weapons [40 Cyc 852].

[69] "Pistol" 48 C. J. p 1210.

"This term is sometimes applied to a pistol not recognized as an army weapon." State v. Wilburn, 7 Baxt. (Tenn.) 57, 59, 32 AmR 551.

[a] "As to the pistol designated as a revolver, we hold this may or may not be such a weapon as is adapted to the usual equipment of the soldier, or the use of which may render him more efficient as such, and therefore hold this to be a matter to be settled by evidence as to what character of weapon is included in the designation 'revolver.' We know there is a pistol of that name which is not adapted to the equipment of the soldier, yet we also know that the pistol known as the repeater is a soldier's weapon—skill in the use of which will add to the efficiency of the soldier." Andrews v. State, 3 Heisk. (Tenn.) 165, 186, 8 AmR 8.

[70] Schraeder v. State, 28 Oh. A. 248, 250.

[a] Rifle is not included within the term. Taylor v. Seil, 120 Wis. 32, 97 NW 498.

"Rifle" post.

[71] "Credit" 15 C. J. p 1348.

[72] U. S. v. Butterworth-Judson Corp., 297 Fed. 971, 979.

[a] "In simple parlance, it relates usually to a situation where a banker or merchant extends credit for a certain amount which can be paid off from time to time, and then credit is again given not to exceed the same amount." U. S. v. Butterworth-Judson Corp., 297 Fed. 971, 979.

[73] "Fund" 27 C. J. p 926.

[74] U. S. v. Butterworth-Judson Corp., 297 Fed. 971, 979.

REWARDS

By Carolan Jefferson Walsh

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra p 776]

ANALYSIS

- I. DEFINITION AND NATURE [§§ 1–2] p 776
  - A. Definition [§ 1] p 776
  - B. Nature [§ 2] p 776
- II. STATUTORY REGULATION [§ 3] p 776
- III. THE OFFER [§§ 4–20] p 777
  - A. Nature of Offer [§§ 4–6] p 777
    - 1. In General [§ 4] p 777
    - 2. Subject Matter and Terms [§ 5] p 777
    - 3. Intent, Interest, and Motive of Offerer [§ 6] p 778
  - B. Who May Make Offer [§§ 7–12] p 778
    - 1. In General [§§ 7–8] p 778
      - a. Capacity To Offer [§ 7] p 778
      - b. Agent [§ 8] p 779
    - 2. Private Corporation [§ 9] p 779
    - 3. State or Federal Governments [§ 10] p 779
    - 4. Municipal Corporation [§ 11] p 780
    - 5. Personal Liability of Officers [§ 12] p 781
  - C. Manner of Making Offer [§ 13] p 781
  - D. To Whom Offer May Be Made [§ 14] p 782
  - E. Revocation [§§ 15–16] p 782
    - 1. In General [§ 15] p 782
    - 2. After Performance or Part Performance [§ 16] p 782
  - F. Lapse of Offer [§ 17] p 782
  - G. Construction of Offer [§§ 18–20] p 783
    - 1. Applicability of General Rules [§ 18] p 783
    - 2. Past or Future Offenses [§ 19] p 783
    - 3. Statutory Rewards [§ 20] p 783
- IV. LEGALITY [§§ 21–22] p 784
  - A. In General [§ 21] p 784
  - B. Prizes and Premiums [§ 22] p 784
- V. CONSIDERATION [§§ 23–24] p 785
  - A. Necessity [§ 23] p 785
  - B. What Constitutes Valid Consideration [§ 24] p 785
- VI. ACCEPTANCE; WHO MAY CLAIM REWARD [§§ 25–35] p 785
  - A. Necessity and Nature of Acceptance [§ 25] p 785
  - B. Notice of Acceptance [§ 26] p 785
  - C. Time of Acceptance [§ 27] p 785
  - D. Who May Accept or Claim Reward [§§ 28–34] p 785
    - 1. In General [§ 28] p 785
    - 2. Agents, Employees, Etc. [§ 29] p 786
    - 3. Police and Other Officers [§§ 30–33] p 786
      - a. Within Scope of Official Duty [§§ 30–31] p 786
        - (1) In General [§ 30] p 786
        - (2) Statutory Award [§ 31] p 788
      - b. Without Scope of Official Duty [§ 32] p 788
      - c. Person Ceasing To Be Officer [§ 33] p 789
    - 4. Particeps Criminis [§ 34] p 789
  - E. Effect of Acceptance [§ 35] p 789
- VII. PERFORMANCE [§§ 36–70] p 790
  - A. Necessity [§ 36] p 790
  - B. Time of Performance [§§ 37–38] p 790
    - 1. In General [§ 37] p 790
    - 2. Commencement Prior to Offer [§ 38] p 790

- C. What Constitutes Performance [§§ 39–63] p 790
  - 1. In General [§ 39] p 790
  - 2. Substantial Performance [§ 40] p 791
  - 3. Earning Statutory Reward [§ 41] p 791
  - 4. Particular Services and Conditions [§§ 42–63] p 791
    - a. Information [§§ 42–47] p 791
      - (1) In General [§ 42] p 791
      - (2) Furnishing Part of Information [§ 43] p 792
      - (3) Informant as Prosecutor or Witness [§ 44] p 792
      - (4) Conviction Unnecessary [§ 45] p 792
      - (5) To Whom Given [§ 46] p 792
      - (6) Motive of Informant [§ 47] p 793
    - b. Arrest [§§ 48–52] p 793
      - (1) In General [§ 48] p 793
      - (2) Person Arrested [§ 49] p 793
      - (3) Legality of Arrest [§ 50] p 794
      - (4) To Convict Not Necessary [§ 51] p 794
      - (5) Voluntary Surrender [§ 52] p 794
    - c. Arrest and Delivery [§ 53] p 794
    - d. Arrest and Conviction [§§ 54–57] p 794
      - (1) In General [§ 54] p 794
      - (2) What Is "Conviction" [§§ 55–56] p 795
        - (a) In General [§ 55] p 795
        - (b) Secured by Other Evidence [§ 56] p 796
      - (3) Claiming and Receiving Witness' Fees [§ 57] p 796
    - e. Recovery of Stolen Property [§§ 58–60] p 796
      - (1) In General [§ 58] p 796
      - (2) When Apprehension of Thief Is Required [§ 59] p 796
      - (3) When Detection of Thief Is Required [§ 60] p 796
    - f. Return of Lost Property [§§ 61–63] p 796
      - (1) In General [§ 61] p 796
      - (2) Return of Part of Property [§ 62] p 797
      - (3) Lien of Finder [§ 63] p 797
- D. Part Performance [§§ 64–65] p 797
  - 1. In General [§ 64] p 797
  - 2. Where Complete Performance Prevented [§ 65] p 797
- E. Performance without Knowledge of Offer [§§ 66–69] p 797
  - 1. In General [§ 66] p 797
  - 2. Rule That Knowledge Is Not Necessary [§ 67] p 798
  - 3. Rule That Knowledge Is Necessary [§ 68] p 798
  - 4. Reliance on Offer [§ 69] p 798
- F. Effect of Performance [§ 70] p 799

VIII. PAYMENT AND APPORTIONMENT [§§ 71–73] p 799
- A. In General [§ 71] p 799
- B. When Claimants Acting in Concert [§ 72] p 799
- C. When Claimants Not Acting in Concert [§ 73] p 800

IX. ACTIONS [§§ 74–86] p 800
- A. Right of Action [§ 74] p 800
- B. Form of Action [§ 75] p 800
- C. Where There Are Several Claimants [§§ 76–78] p 801
  - 1. Parties [§ 76] p 801
  - 2. Interpleader [§ 77] p 801
  - 3. Recovery by One from Another [§ 78] p 801
- D. Pleading [§§ 79–81] p 801
  - 1. Declaration, Complaint, or Petition [§ 79] p 801
  - 2. Plea or Answer [§ 80] p 801
  - 3. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§ 81] p 802
- E. Evidence [§§ 82–84] p 802
  - 1. Presumptions and Burden of Proof [§ 82] p 802
  - 2. Admissibility [§ 83] p 802
  - 3. Weight and Sufficiency [§ 84] p 803
- F. Trial [§ 85] p 803
- G. Review [§ 86] p 804

X. MANDAMUS [§ 87] p 804

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

CROSS REFERENCES

Bounties 9 C. J. p 299.
Finding Lost Goods § 14.
Informers see Customs Duties 17 C. J. p 528; Fines, Forfeitures, and Penalties 25 C. J. p 1143; Internal Revenue 33 C. J. p 271.
Receiving stolen goods to obtain see Receiving Stolen Goods 53 C. J. p 500.
Taking and withholding property to obtain see Larceny § 122.

I. DEFINITION AND NATURE

[§ 1] A. Definition. A reward is a sum of money or other compensation offered to the public generally, or to a class of persons, for the performance of a designated service.[1]

[§ 2] B. Nature. The basis of the right to a reward is "in the nature of a contract."[2] Being contractual,[3] a binding and enforceable contract to pay a reward rests on the one side upon a valid offer,[4] and on the other side upon an acceptance of such offer,[5] including its terms and conditions,[6] by a performance of the service requested in the offer[7] before the offer lapses[8] or is revoked.[9] Until acceptance by performance of the services, it is a mere proposition;[10] but when accepted by performance it becomes a binding contract[11] based on the principles[12] and subject to the laws of contracts generally.[13]

Statutory rewards. A distinction has been advanced[14] and held by some few cases that the contractual element may not be necessary in general statutory rewards, a legal right being conferred without it,[15] as such rewards are in the nature of bounties.[16]

II. STATUTORY REGULATION

[§ 3] The legislature may by statute affect the right of third parties to offer a reward[17] or may declare certain contracts for rewards contrary to public policy.[18]

---

1. U. S.—Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697.

Ill.—Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62.

Mont.—Kirk v. Smith, 48 Mont. 489, 494, 138 P 1088.

Pa.—Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

Eng.—Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 256.

[a] Other definitions.—(1) "Compensation or remuneration for services; a sum of money paid or taken for doing or forbearing to do some act." Burrill L. D. [quot State v. Dustin, 5 Or. 375, 377, 20 AmR 746]. (2) "A recompense or premium offered by the government or an individual for special or extraordinary services to be performed." Black L. D. [quot Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 107, 33 SE 871]. To same effect Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793; Kinn v. First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012. (3) "A sum paid for the performance of some specific act to some person or persons." Kircher v. Murray, 54 Fed. 617, 624.

[b] "Bounty" distinguished.—Abbe v. Allen, 39 HowPr (N. Y.) 481, 488; Hagan v. Black, 159 Tenn. 290, 17 SW (2d) 908. See also Bounties § 1 note 1.

[c] Purse (1) as synonymous with reward or premium see Bronson Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Ramsdell, 24 Mich. 441. (2) Defined generally see Gaming § 46.

"Bet" distinguished see Gaming § 44 note 67.

2. Mass.—Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. 56, 57.

Mo.—Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 72, 165 SW 1135.

N. J.—Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

N. Y.—Vitty v. Eley, 51 App. Div. 44, 64 NYS 397.

Pa.—Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

Tenn.—Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. 113, 44 AmD 296.

3. Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534; Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310; Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

Contracts generally see Contracts 13 C. J. p 214.

4. Offer see § 4 et seq.

5. Acceptance see § 25 et seq.

6. See infra § 25 note 9.

7. Performance see infra § 36 et seq.

8. Lapse of offer see infra § 17.

9. Revocation see infra §§ 15-16.

10. See infra § 4 note 21.

11. Van Vlissingen v. Manning, 105 Ill. A. 255; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas 1914A 793.

Effect of acceptance see § 35.

12. Van Vlissingen v. Manning, 105 Ill. A. 255.

13. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761; Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

14. Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057.

15. Smith v. State, 38 Nev. 477, 151 P 512, LRA1916A 1276; Choice v. Dallas, (Tex. Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

16. Choice v. Dallas, (Tex. Civ. A.) 210 SW 753. See Bounties 9 C. J. p 299.

17. See Kozler v. New York Tel. Co., 93 N. J. L. 279, 108 A 375.

[a] Rule applied.—A statute rendering inadmissible the record of a conviction of a juvenile offender in any action or proceeding of a civil nature, may operate to prevent the admission of such record in an action to recover a reward offered for the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of receiving property stolen from the defendant Kozler v. New York Tel. Co., 93 N. J. L. 279, 108 A 375.

18. See Kozler v. New York Tel. Co., supra.

III. THE OFFER

[§ 4] A. Nature of Offer—1. In General. There must of course be an actual[19] and valid[20] offer, but an offer alone or promise to pay a reward is merely a proposal[21] or a conditional promise[22] on the part of the offerer, and not a consummated contract.[23]

[§ 5] 2. Subject Matter and Terms. It is entirely optional with the offerer of a reward to offer it on any terms that please him,[24] and such terms as he sees fit to require must be substantially complied with before recovery can be had upon the contract.[25] Subject to the rule which forbids illegal contracts,[26] the performance of any act or service may constitute the subject matter of an offer of reward.[27] An offer of reward may be made for the procuring of information and evidence[28] leading to the arrest[29] and conviction of a certain person or persons;[30] which will lead to the return or recovery of certain property.[31] Also the offer may be for the arrest[32] and delivery,[33] or the arrest and conviction of a certain person or persons,[34] or for the

---

[19] Hosier v. Northampton Horse Ins. Co., 21 Pa. Dist. 1001.

[a] A reward cannot be exacted for services even though one has at the peril of his life voluntarily joined in capturing robbers, and saved the victim of the robbery a considerable sum of money. Work v. People's Bank, 18 Que. Super. 486.

[20] Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56, 57; Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902; Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 113, 44 AmD 296; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 522, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[21] Ark.—Amis v. Conner, 43 Ark. 337.

Cal.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111; Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634.

Conn.—Bull v. Talcot, 2 Root 119, 1 AmD 62.

Ga.—Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Biggers v. Owen, 79 Ga. 658, 5 SE 193.

Ind.—Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfiel, 102 Ind. 146, 1 NE 382, 52 AmR 657; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155; Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503.

Mich.—Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmSR 185.

N. Y.—Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Grady v. Crook, 2 AbbNCas 53 [aff 72 N. Y. 612].

Pa.—Patton v. Hassinger, 69 Pa. 311; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

Tex.—Kasling v. Morris, 71 Tex. 584, 9 SW 739, 10 AmSR 797.

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[22] U. S.—McClaughry v. King, 147 Fed. 463, 79 CCA 91, 7 LRANS 216, 8 AnnCas 856.

Ala.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

Ark.—Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

Cal.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

Ga.—Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871.

Ill.—Williams v. West Chicago, etc., R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278.

Ind.—Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140.

Mass.—Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747; Freeman y. Boston, 5 Metc. 56.

[23] Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111; Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

[24] Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56.

[a] Additional condition that accused be convicted may be embodied in an offer of reward by the governor, under statute authorizing him to offer rewards for apprehension. Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

[25] See infra § 36.

[26] See infra §§ 21, 22.

[27] See cases infra notes 28–50.

[28] U. S.—Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697.

Conn.—In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159.

Ill.—Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459.

Mass.—Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747.

N. M.—Cunningham v. Fiske, 13 N. M. 331, 83 P 789.

N. Y.—Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596; Fargo v. Arthur, 43 HowPr 193.

Eng.—Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 132.

What constitutes performance see infra §§ 42–47.

[29] Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

[30] Brown v. Bradlee, 156 Mass. 28, 30 NE 85, 32 AmSR 430, 15 LRA 509; Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686; Choice v. Dallas, (Tex. Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

Performance of offer see infra § 42.

[31] Neville v. Kelly, 12 C. B. N. S. 740, 104 ECL 740, 140 Reprint 1333.

[32] U. S.—McClaughry v. King, 147 Fed. 463, 79 CCA 91, 7 LRANS 216, 8 AnnCas 856.

Ark.—Stroud v. Garrison, 24 Ark. 53.

Ill.—Montgomery County v. Robinson, 85 Ill. 174.

Ind.—Everman v. Hyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284.

Ky.—Moseley v. Stone, 108 Ky. 492, 56 SW 965, 22 KyL 173; Heather v. Thompson, 78 SW 194, 25 KyL 1554.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Md.—Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

Mass.—Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray 374.

Miss.—Oktibbeha County v. Cottrell, 70 Miss. 117, 12 S 156.

Mo.—Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127; Ralls County v. Stephens, 104 Mo. A. 115, 78 SW 291.

Nev.—Sias v. Hallock, 14 Nev. 332.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. C.—Washburn v. Humphreys, 35 N. C. 88.

Oh.—Gilmore v. Lewis, 12 Oh. 281.

Pa.—Juniata County v. McDonald, 122 Pa. 115, 15 A 696.

Tex.—Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679.

Eng.—Bent v. Wakefield Bank, 4 C. P. D. 1.

Performance of condition see infra §§ 48–52.

[33] Ga.—Hewitt v. Lamb, 130 Ga. 709, 61 SE 716.

Kan.—Stone v. Dysert, 20 Kan. 123.

Ky.—Stephens v. Brooks, 2 Bush 137; Nall v. Proctor, 3 Metc. 447.

Md.—Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

Miss.—Gould v. Chickasaw County, 85 Miss. 123, 37 S 710.

N. C.—Currie v. Swindall, 33 N. C. 361.

Pa.—Juniata County v. McDonald, 122 Pa. 115, 15 A 696.

S. C.—Clanton v. Young, 45 S. C. L. 546.

Tex.—Adair v. Cooper, 25 Tex. 548.

Performance of condition see infra § 53.

[34] U. S.—Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192.

Ala.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

Cal.—Van Horn v. Ricks Water Co., 115 Cal. 448, 47 P 361.

Ill.—Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278.

Ky.—Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Goodnight, 10 Bush 552, 19 AmR 80.

La.—Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Mass.—Mead v. Boston, 3 Cush. 404.

Mo.—Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. Y.—Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791.

Pa.—Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

Vt.—Russell v. Stewart, 44 Vt. 170.

Wis.—Kinn v. Mineral Point First detection, apprehension, and bringing to justice of an offender or offenders.[35] Likewise the offer may require the detection[36] and conviction[37] of persons for offenses committed, or thereafter to be committed;[38] the recovery of stolen property[39] and the apprehension of the thief;[40] the return of lost property;[41] or the recovery or rescue of a person.[42]

A prize or premium[43] may constitute a valid offer of a reward[44] for exhibits,[45] architects' plans,[46] the best picture,[47] or the best showing in a tournament.[48] It may be for the suggestion of a name[49] or even to the owner of a horse making the best time on a designated occasion.[50]

[§ 6] 3. Intent, Interest, and Motive of Offerer. An offer must have been made with a contracting intention[51] and it must have been capable of creating a legal relation between the offerer and acceptor.[52] The requisite intention to contract is often not present in offers made under stress of great excitement,[53] anxiety,[54] or physical and mental affliction.[55] Likewise there is no actual offer of reward if the offer is in reality an expression of wrath coupled with boast and bluster,[56] or nothing more than a strong expression of feeling.[57] A mere suggestion to induce offers by others is not an offer.[58] But if it contains the assurance that the money offered has been deposited to show the offerer's sincerity, such an offer is no mere puffing statement[59] but is intended as a promise.[60] It is not necessary that the offerer should have any personal interest in the subject matter,[61] and his motive in making the offer is immaterial[62] so far as the validity of the contract is concerned.[63] Hence the fact that the offerer expected another than the one arrested and convicted to be arrested does not relieve him from liability.[64]

[§ 7] B. Who May Make Offer—1. In General—a. Capacity To Offer. Any person capable of making a contract[65] may bind himself by an offer of a reward.[66]

Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

Ont.—Fortier v. Wilson, 11 U. C. C. P. 495.

Performance of condition see infra §§ 54-57.

35. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

36. Gardner v. Hartford, 14 Conn. 195.

37. Gardner v. Hartford, supra.

38. Gardner v. Hartford, supra; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

[a] Offenses against election laws to be committed at future election. Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

Whether offer applies to past or future offenses see infra § 19.

39. Schirm v. Wieman, 103 Md. 541, 63 A 1056, 115 AmSR 373, 7 LRANS 175; Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596; Mirams v. Our Dogs Pub. Co., [1901] 2 K. B. 564.

Performance of condition see infra §§ 58-60.

40. Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228.

Performance of condition see infra § 59.

41. U. S.—Tome v. Four Cribs of Lumber, 24 F. Cas. No. 14,083, Taney 533.

Iowa.—Hawk v. Marion County, 48 Iowa 472.

La.—Deslondes v. Wilson, 5 La. 397, 25 AmD 187.

Md.—Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill 213.

Mass.—Chase v. Corcoran, 106 Mass. 286.

Mich.—Wood v. Pierson, 45 Mich. 313, 7 NW 888.

N. Y.—Amory v. Flyn, 10 Johns. 102, 6 AmD 316.

Or.—Watts v. Ward, 1 Or. 86, 62 AmD 299.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

Performance of condition see infra §§ 61-63.

42. Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

43. "Premium" defined see Premium 49 C. J. p 1330.

"Prize" defined see Prize § 1.

"Purse" defined see Gaming § 46.

44. See infra § 22.

45. Murray v. Walker, 83 Iowa 202, 48 NW 1075.

Agricultural exhibits and fairs generally see Agriculture §§ 10-21.

46. Audsley v. New York, 74 Fed. 274, 20 CCA 426; Walsh v. St. Louis Exposition, etc., Assoc., 16 Mo. A. 502; Cope v. Hastings, 183 Pa. 300, 38 A 717.

47. Trego v. Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, 2 Pa. Cas. 313, 3 A 819.

48. In re Hempstead Fire Dept., 66 Misc. 381, 121 NYS 359.

49. Holt v. Wood, 14 Pa. Co. 499.

50. Ill.—West v. Carter, 129 Ill. 249, 21 NE 782.

Ind.—Alvord v. Smith, 63 Ind. 58.

Iowa.—Delier v. Plymouth Agricultural Soc., 57 Iowa 481, 10 NW 872.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Fallon, 152 N. Y. 12, 46 NE 296, 57 AmSR 492, 37 LRA 227.

Or.—Misner v. Knapp, 13 Or. 135, 9 P 65, 57 AmR 6.

Wis.—Moshier v. La Crosse County Agricultural Soc., 90 Wis. 37, 62 NW 932; Porter v. Day, 71 Wis. 296, 37 NW 259.

Power of agricultural society to offer see Agriculture § 12.

51. Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 113, 44 AmD 296.

52. Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459; Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 113, 44 AmD 296.

53. Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459.

54. Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 113, 44 AmD 296.

55. Stamper v. Temple, supra.

56. Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459.

[a] An offer out of all proportion to the supposed cause of the offerer's excitement should be regarded as the extravagant exclamation of an excited man rather than as manifesting an intention to contract. Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459.

57. Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 113, 44 AmD 296.

58. Anderson v. St. Louis Public Schools, 122 Mo. 61, 27 SW 610, 26 LRA 707.

59. Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 256.

60. Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., supra.

61. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

62. Furman v. Parke, supra; Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398.

63. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[a] The secret motives of one making an offer of reward form no part of the contract. Kasling v. Morris, 71 Tex. 584, 9 SW 739, 10 AmSR 797.

64. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Kasling v. Morris, 71 Tex. 584, 9 SW 739, 10 AmSR 797.

65. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Mountain v. Multnomah County, 16 Or. 279, 281, 18 P 464.

[a] Applications of rule: (1) An old, weak, illiterate woman may still be competent to offer a reward. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871. (2) One may offer a reward where he was not a citizen of the state or community where the crime was committed and was to derive no benefit and had no moral obligation to offer it. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

Capacity to contract see Contracts § 44.

66. Cal.—Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634.

Ga.—Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 108, 33 SE 871.

Ind.—Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 25 AmR 1.

Ky.—Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush 22.

La.—Murray v. Kennedy, 15 La. Ann. 385, 76 AmD 189.

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310, 312.

Or.—Mountain v. Multnomah County, 16 Or. 279, 281, 18 P 464.

[§ 8] b. Agent. An offer may be made by an agent of the offerer.[67] The offer must be the authorized act of the party on whose behalf it purports to be made.[68] This rule is, of course, applicable to private persons[69] and corporations,[70] and to municipal corporations,[71] and public officers as well.[72]

[§ 9] 2. Private Corporation. A corporation may[73] offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of a person or persons who unlawfully offend against its property or business.[74] Among those which have been held to have such power are banks,[75] insurance companies,[76] railroads,[77] and telephone companies.[78] Furthermore, in accordance with general rules,[79] such offers for rewards may be made by officers and agents of corporations,[80] as for example, banks[81] and railroad companies.[82]

[§ 10] 3. State or Federal Governments. The legislature has the power to offer rewards for the doing of acts which will be of public benefit;[83] and it may, as will be shown, delegate this power to municipal corporations.[84] So too it may empower designated officers,[85] as for example, the governor,[86] prosecuting attorney,[87] United States attorney-general,[88] or United States marshal,[89] to offer rewards for certain purposes. But one acting as agent for an officer may not, without proper authority offer a reward.[90] The authority of such officials to offer rewards must be governed by the construction of the statutory provisions.[91] Where a statute provides for an award in a stated amount for the ar-

---

[a] Offer by executor or administrator.—Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 107, 33 SE 871.

[67] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[68] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, supra.

[69] See cases infra this note.

[a] A writing which "guarantees" the payment of a sum offered by a third person for an arrest and conviction is in effect the offer of a reward by the person signing it. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871.

[b] Estoppel.—Where a reward is published in the names of defendants who did not authorize it but did not object to or countermand it, there is no estoppel. To make them liable their silence must amount to fraud upon the plaintiff, which requires an intent or implied admission on the part of the defendants. The plaintiff's belief cannot of itself affect the defendants. Hugill v. Kinney, 9 Or. 250, 42 AmR 801.

[70] See infra § 9 notes 79-82.

[71] See infra § 11 note 96.

[72] See infra § 10 note 90.

[73] Capacity of corporation to contract see Corporations §§ 2506-2828.

[74] Ala.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

Ark.—Arkansas Southwestern R. Co. v. Dickinson, 78 Ark. 483, 95 SW 802, 115 AmSR 540.

Ill.—Minneapolis Bank v. Griffin, 168 Ill. 314, 48 NE 154.

Ind.—American Express Co. v. Patterson, 73 Ind. 430.

Miss.—Norwood, etc., Co. v. Andrews, 71 Miss. 641, 16 S 262.

Pa.—Kelsey v. Crawford County Nat. Bank, 69 Pa. 426.

[75] Minneapolis Bank v. Griffin, 168 Ill. 314, 48 NE 154; Kelsey v. Crawford County Nat. Bank, 69 Pa. 426.

[76] Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338.

[a] A board of underwriters may authorize the insurance companies to offer a reward in matters connected with their insurance business. Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338.

[77] Arkansas Southwestern R. Co. v. Dickinson, 78 Ark. 483, 95 SW 802, 115 AmSR 54.

[a] A general standing offer of reward for the detection, arrest, and bringing to justice of those obstructing its tracks or offending against its property, is within the implied powers of a railroad corporation. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[78] Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Priest, 31 Tex. Civ. A. 345, 72 SW 241.

[79] Who may represent a corporation see Corporations § 2215.

[80] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[81] See cases infra this note.

[a] When the president of a bank offers a reward for information leading to the arrest of a defaulter, it is binding on the bank unless it be proved that the president exceeded his authority. Minneapolis Bank v. Griffin, 168 Ill. 314, 48 NE 154.

[b] The act of a cashier in offering a reward may become binding on the bank by acquiescence of the directors. Kelsey v. Crawford County Nat. Bank, 69 Pa. 426.

[82] See cases infra this note.

[a] The general manager of a railroad company has authority to offer a general reward for the arrest and conviction of any person found maliciously obstructing its tracks. Arkansas Southwestern R. Co. v. Dickinson, 78 Ark. 483, 95 SW 802, 115 AmSR 54.

[b] Superintendent.—It is within the purposes and scope of the agency of a superintendent of a railroad company to offer a reward for bringing to justice all persons who obstruct its road or offend against its property rights. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 Am SR 48.

[c] An offer signed by a superintendent signing his name as such has been held to be sufficient as a binding offer of the company itself. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[83] Glisper v. Com., 186 Ky. 276, 217 SW 348; Butler County v. Leibold, 107 Pa. 407; Cutting v. Taylor, 3 S. D. 11, 51 NW 949, 15 LRA 691.

[a] Thus the legislature may offer a reward to fire companies complying with certain conditions which would benefit the public by protecting property against fires. Cutting v. Taylor, 3 S. D. 11, 51 NW 949, 15 LRA 691.

[b] Horse thieves.—A statute providing a reward for the apprehension and conviction of horse thieves is constitutional. Glisper v. Com., 186 Ky. 276, 217 SW 348.

[c] Statute requiring payment of fees to police officers for arrest of prohibition law violators is valid police regulation. Hutchins v. Granville County, 193 N. C. 659, 137 SE 711.

Construction of statutory reward see infra § 20.

[84] See infra § 11.

[85] See notes infra this section.

[86] Lees v. Colgan, 120 Cal. 262, 52 P 502, 40 LRA 355; Crawford County v. Spenney, 21 Ill. 288; Hager v. Sidebottom, 130 Ky. 687, 113 SW 870; State v. Dinkins, 77 Miss. 874, 27 S 832; Jones v. Gibbs, 51 Miss. 401.

[87] State v. Greenbrier County, 93 W. Va. 481, 117 SE 135.

[a] For the purpose of apprehending of violators of prohibition laws. State v. Greenbrier County Ct., 93 W. Va. 481, 117 SE 135.

[88] U. S. v. Matthews, 173 U. S. 381, 19 SCt 413, 43 L. ed. 738 (under 26 U. S. St. at L. 985).

[89] U. S. v. Matthews, supra.

[90] See case infra this note.

[a] The governor's private secretary, authorized by Acts (1906) p 260 c 30, to assist him in the labors of the office, cannot in the absence of the governor offer a reward. Hager v. Sidebottom, 130 Ky. 687, 113 SW 870.

[91] Gibbs v. U. S., 14 Ct. Cl. 544; Hungerford v. Moore, 65 Ala. 232; Drew v. Ricks, 17 Ala. 25; Crawford County v. Spenney, 21 Ill. 288; Anderson v. Pierce County, 40 Nebr. 481, 58 NW 955.

[a] Discretion of official.—(1) Governor, offering reward for apprehension of an offender under statute, must use discretion in determining whether a reward shall be offered, the amount thereof, and also determine to what jail the offender shall be delivered. Hager v. Sidebottom, 130 Ky. 687, 113 SW 870. (2) Prosecuting attorney, pursuant to authority so conferred, may within his discretion offer rewards for the apprehension of persons charged with crime. State v. Kanawha County Ct., 84 W. Va. 619, 100 SE 408.

[b] Additional conditions may be imposed by governor of state to those mentioned in statute authorizing offer of reward. Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

[c] An act creating office of state commissioner of prohibition does not repeal law authorizing prosecuting attorney to offer rewards for violations of prohibition laws. State v. Greenbrier County Ct., 93 W. Va. 481, 117 SE 135.

rest of particular offenders, the proclamation of the governor offering such sum or any other can have no legal effect to bind the state aside from, or independent of, the statute,[92] but the legislature may authorize a greater reward which will be regarded as in full payment and not additional to the statutory sum unless the contrary intent is apparent.[93]

[§ 11] 4. Municipal Corporation. Under an express grant of power, a municipality may offer an award,[94] the extent of its power[95] or of officials acting in the exercise thereof[96] depending upon the construction of the statute. In the absence of express authorization, however, it is generally held that municipal corporations are not empowered to offer rewards for the arrest or conviction of offenders against the criminal law of the state,[97] although it has been held that a board being charged with the management and control of county funds has the authority to offer a reward for the recovery of property stolen from the county.[98] On the other hand some authorities have held the power of municipalities to offer rewards for the detection or punishment of crime to be implied[99] under the general rule that powers necessary to effectuate powers express-

---

Construction of statutory reward see infra § 20.

92. Jones v. Gibbs, 51 Miss. 401.

93. Jones v. Gibbs, supra.

94. See cases infra this note; and notes 95, 96.

[a] State might empower or make it the duty of a county to offer rewards. Felker v. Elk County, 70 Kan. 96, 78 P 167, 3 AnnCas 156.

95. Ill.—Crawford County v. Spenney, 21 Ill. 288.

Mass.—Day v. Otis, 8 Allen 477.

Mich.—Loveland v. Detroit, 41 Mich. 367, 1 NW 952.

Mo.—Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127.

Nebr.—Anderson v. Pierce County, 40 Nebr. 481, 58 NW 955.

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

N. J.—Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 125 A 365.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Brower, 111 App. Div. 915, 97 NYS 349.

[a] When rewards for those charged with crime are authorized by statute, a town has no power to offer a reward for one not charged with a crime by complaint or indictment. Day v. Otis, 8 Allen (Mass.) 477.

[b] Adoption of offer of private person.—A county is liable under the statute when the authorities adopt or indorse an offer made by private persons. Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127.

[c] To actions on rewards offered by a municipal corporation it is necessarily a condition precedent to the maintenance thereof that the authority to offer it comes within the statute from which such authority is derived. Abel v. Pembroke, 61 N. H. 357.

96. Gibbs v. U. S., 14 Ct. Cl. 544; Hungerford v. Moore, 65 Ala. 232; Mudd v. Woodside, 136 Ky. 296, 124 SW 321; State v. Greenbrier County Ct., 93 W. Va. 481, 117 SE 135.

[a] Authority to apply funds.—Mudd v. Woodside, 136 Ky. 296, 124 SW 321; Hagan v. Black, 159 Tenn. 290, 17 SW (2d) 908; State v. Greenbrier County Ct., 93 W. Va. 481, 117 SE 135.

[b] Qualifications as to value.—When a statute authorizes a county board to offer rewards for the arrest or conviction of persons stealing any horse, etc., or neat cattle, or any other property exceeding fifty dollars in value, a board has the power to offer a reward when the thing stolen was a horse worth less than fifty dollars, since the qualification as to value was not intended to apply to the property enumerated. Butler v. McLean County, 32 Ill. A. 397.

[c] The proper municipal officers must make the offer, when it is made by a municipality empowered to make it. Peo. v. Holly, 119 Mich. 637, 78 NW 665, 75 AmSR 435, 44 LRA 677.

[d] Municipal officers and boards held authorized.—(1) County board. Butler v. McLean County, 32 Ill. A. 397. (2) County judge. Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127. (3) County prosecuting attorney. State v. Kanawha County Ct., 84 W. Va. 619, 100 SE 408.

[e] Officers and boards held not authorized.—(1) County courts. Hagan v. Black, 159 Tenn. 290, 17 SW (2d) 908. (2) Common council, independently of police commission. Loveland v. Detroit, 41 Mich. 367, 1 NW 952. (3) Selectmen. Brown v. Bradlee, 156 Mass. 28, 30 NE 85, 32 AmSR 430, 15 LRA 509; Day v. Otis, 8 Allen (Mass.) 477.

97. Conn.—Crofut v. Danbury, 65 Conn. 294, 32 A 365.

D. C.—Baker v. Washington, 7 D. C. 134.

Fla.—Murphy v. Jacksonville, 18 Fla. 318, 43 AmR 323.

Ga.—Barrett v. Atlanta, 145 Ga. 678, 89 SE 781, 782 [cit Cyc].

Ind.—Grant County v. Bradford, 72 Ind. 455, 37 AmR 174.

Iowa.—Hanger v. Des Moines, 52 Iowa 193, 2 NW 1105, 35 AmR 266; Hawk v. Marion County, 48 Iowa 472.

Kan.—Felker v. Elk County, 70 Kan. 96, 78 P 167.

Ky.—Patton v. Stephens, 14 Bush 324.

Me.—Gale v. South Berwick, 51 Me. 174.

N. H.—Abel v. Pembroke, 61 N. H. 357.

N. J.—Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

Or.—Mountain v. Multnomah County, 16 Or. 279, 18 P 464.

Tenn.—Hagan v. Black, 159 Tenn. 290, 17 SW (2d) 908.

Va.—Winchester v. Redmond, 93 Va. 711, 25 SE 1001, 57 AmSR 822.

Wis.—Butler v. Milwaukee, 15 Wis. 493.

Ont.—Cornwall v. West Missouri Tp., 25 U. C. C. P. 9.

[a] A city is not authorized to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of an assassin. Baker v. Washington, 7 D. C. 134.

[b] Board of county commissioners.—(1) A county cannot be bound by an offer of reward by a board of county commissioners or supervisors. Huthsing v. Bousquet, 7 Fed. 833, 2 McCrary 152; Hanger v. Des Moines, 52 Iowa 193, 2 NW 1105, 35 AmR 266; Hawk v. Marion County, 48 Iowa 472; Felker v. Elk County, 70 Kan. 96, 78 P 167; 3 AnnCas 156; Stamp v. Cass County, 47 Mich. 330, 11 NW 183; Peo. v. Brower, 111 App. Div. 915, 97 NYS 349. (2) The law confers no power and enjoins no duty upon the board of commissioners of a county to aid in the arrest, prosecution, or conviction of a person charged with the commission of crime, either by an offer of reward, or by the employment of detective or professional skill. Grant County v. Bradford, 72 Ind. 455. (3) Resolution of the county commissioners offering a reward for the finding and identification of a missing man is in excess of legal power conferred upon them as commissioners, and does not authorize a contract between the county and a third person. Scheiber v. Von Arx, 87 Minn. 298, 92 NW 3.

[c] A sheriff has no power to bind the county by the offer of a reward for the capture of an escaped criminal. Crawford County v. Spenney, 21 Ill. 288; Bemis v. Rice County, 23 Minn. 73.

[d] Statutes authorizing counties to compensate officers for ex officio services do not confer power to enact resolution offering bounty to officers for conviction of criminals. Hagan v. Black, 159 Tenn. 290, 17 SW (2d) 908.

98. Hawk v. Marion County, 48 Iowa 472.

99. Luchini v. Police Jury, 126 La. 972, 53 S 68, 21 AnnCas 59; Carnes v. Red River Parish Police Jury, 110 La. 1011, 35 S 267; Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray (Mass.) 374; Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56; Peo. v. Holly, 119 Mich. 637, 78 NW 665, 76 AmSR 435, 44 LRA 677.

[a] Rewards for the detection or conviction of liquor law violators may be offered by a municipal corporation. Luchini v. Police Jury, 126 La. 972, 53 S 68, 21 AnnCas 59; Carnes v. Red River Parish Police Jury, 110 La. 1011, 35 S 267.

[b] Boards and officers held to have implied power to make offer.—(1) Burgesses of town. York v. Forscht, 23 Pa. 391. (2) County boards. Butler v. McLean County, 32 Ill. A. 397. (3) Police jury. Luchini v. Police Jury, 126 La. 972, 53 S 68, 21 AnnCas 59.

[c] A school board has no authority to offer a reward for the detection and punishment of crime, it having no statutory authority, and its objects having nothing to do with rewards. Luchini v. Police Jury, 126 La. 972, 53 S 68, 21 AnnCas 59.

ly granted will be implied;[1] as for example, from the power to provide for the general welfare;[2] although as to this there is contrary authority;[3] or from the power to provide for the enforcement of its police regulations.[4] Further, the power may be implied on the theory that a municipality is a department of the state and the municipal legislators part of its public police.[5]

[§ 12] 5. Personal Liability of Officers. When persons who are public officers publish a reward which they are not authorized to offer as such, or which is in excess of their authority, they are not as a general rule personally liable thereunder,[6] but may be so when the true construction of the offer authorizes such inference.[7]

[§ 13] C. Manner of Making Offer. In the absence of express statutory requirement,[8] the offer may be made orally,[9] the contract not being one required to be in writing by the statute of frauds,[10] but it may be made otherwise.[11] An offer of a reward may be by private contract with a particular person,[12] or it may be by any advertisement or other statement publicly proclaimed,[13] or may be published by being spread upon the record of the proper court or tribunal authorized to make the offer,[14] by proclamation,[15] newspaper publication,[16] handbills,[17] circulars,[18] postal cards,[19] or telegrams.[20] An offer of a reward may be made by statute[21] or ordinance.[22]

Renewal of offer. The silence of the offerer might, under some circumstances, amount to a renewal of an offer.[23]

---

[1] See cases supra note 99; infra notes 2-4.

Implied powers of municipal corporations generally see Municipal Corporations § 190.

[2] Peo. v. Holly, 119 Mich. 637, 78 NW 665, 75 AmSR 435, 44 LRA 677.

[a] Rewards for incendiaries.—Under the welfare clause, a municipal corporation is authorized to offer a reward for the detection and conviction of incendiaries should they destroy property within the city limits. Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray (Mass.) 374; Peo. v. Holly, 119 Mich. 637, 78 NW 665, 75 AmSR 435, 44 LRA 677.

[3] Barrett v. Atlanta, 145 Ga. 678, 89 SE 781.

[4] Luchini v. Police Jury, 126 La. 972, 53 S 68, 21 AnnCas 59; Carnes v. Red River Parish Police Jury, 110 La. 1011, 35 S 267.

[a] Although the prosecution is in the name of the state, if it includes a violation of an ordinance of the police jury, such body has the power to offer a reward, even though it has no power to provide a system for denouncing violations of the state criminal law. Luchini v. Police Jury, 126 La. 972, 53 S 68, 21 AnnCas 59.

[b] Police juries may offer rewards as a means of accomplishing the enforcement of their regulations. For the power of a police jury is not confined to the adoption of regulations to the exclusion of the power of carrying them out. Carnes v. Red River Parish Police Jury, 110 La. 1011, 35 S 267.

[5] York v. Forscht, 23 Pa. 391.

[a] Thus it is the state that makes the offer through one of its departments. York v. Forscht, 23 Pa. 391.

[6] Huthsing v. Bousquet, 7 Fed. 833, 2 McCrary 152 [aff 17 Fed. 54, 3 McCrary 569]; Scheiber v. Von Arx, 87 Minn. 298, 92 NW 3; Belknap v. Reinhart, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 375, 20 AmD 621; Hite v. Goodman, 21 N. C. 364.

[7] King v. Lewis, 32 Ga. A. 110, 122 SE 633; Murray v. Kennedy, 15 La. Ann. 385, 77 AmD 189; Brown v. Bradlee, 156 Mass. 28, 30 NE 85, 32 AmSR 430, 15 LRA 509; Timken v. Tallmadge, 54 N. J. L. 117, 22 A 996.

[a] An offer by B, R, and S, as "selectmen of Milton," is a personal offer of the persons so signing it, especially if they do not in their official capacity have authority to bind the town of which they were selectmen. Brown v. Bradlee, 156 Mass. 28, 30 NE 85, 32 AmSR 430, 15 LRA 509.

[b] When the mayor of a city in New Jersey offers a reward for the arrest of a fugitive defaulting official and he is wholly without authority as mayor to offer rewards, he is personally liable on such offer, since in that state municipal officers who exceed their authority are liable in the same manner as agents who do so. Timken v. Tallmadge, 54 N. J. L. 117, 22 A 996.

[c] Where a United States marshal offers a reward for the capture of a fugitive, adding after his name, the words, "U. S. Marshal," he is personally liable. Murray v. Kennedy, 15 La. Ann. 385, 77 AmD 189.

[d] Reward was official act of mayor and aldermen, where it purported to be such, even though signed by the city clerk. Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56.

[8] See statutory provisions.

[a] Authorization by telephone to sign.—When a county judge authorizes another by telephone to sign his name to the offer, that is sufficient under a statute requiring the offer to be in writing. Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127.

[9] Wilson v. McClure, 50 Ill. 366; Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738; Patton v. Hassinger, 69 Pa. 311; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] Made at a public gathering.—Wilson v. McClure, 50 Ill. 366.

[b] Made by one standing in a crowd and shouting out the offer to those present. Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[c] Made in a political speech.—Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

[10] Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793; Williams v. Byrnes, 1 Moore P. C. N. S. 154, 15 Reprint 660.

[a] Reason for rule.—Until the offer made is accepted by performance there is no contract, executory or otherwise. When the agreement comes into existence the only remaining obligation is that of the offer to pay what is due under it. Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[11] Murray v. Kennedy, 15 La. Ann. 385, 77 AmD 189; Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793; Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[12] Franklin v. Heiser, 9 F. Cas. No. 5,054, 6 Blatchf. 426.

[13] Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ind.—Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140.

Mass.—Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747.

Mo.—Anderson v. Public Schools, 122 Mo. 61, 27 SW 610, 26 LRA 707.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. Y.—Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

Wis.—Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] Written contract within statute of limitations.—(1) An advertisement offering a reward, upon its acceptance was held to be a written contract upon which the statute of limitations would not run for four years. Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634. (2) But a contrary rule, holding that such a contract was not in writing under the statute of limitations, was adopted in Cunningham v. Fiske, 13 N. M. 331, 83 P 789.

[14] Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

[15] Auditor v. Ballard, 9 Bush (Ky.) 572, 15 AmR 728.

[a] No publication other than entry upon the executive journals is necessary for a reward proclaimed and properly signed by an authorized officer. Auditor v. Ballard, 9 Bush (Ky.) 572, 15 AmR 728.

[16] Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Symmes v. Frazier, 6 Mass. 344, 4 AmD 142; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503.

[17] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738; Tarner v. Walker, L. R. 2 Q. B. 301, 8 B. & S. 314 [aff L. R. 1 Q. B. 641]; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

[18] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48; Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62.

[19] Swanton v. Ost, 74 Ill. A. 281; State v. Woodruff, 47 Kan. 151, 27 P 842, 27 AmSR 285.

[20] Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

[21] See cases supra § 10; and infra §§ 20, 41.

[22] See cases supra § 11.

[§ 14] D. To Whom Offer May Be Made. The offer may be directed to a particular person[24] or class of persons,[25] or to the world at large, that is, to any and all persons complying with the terms of the offer.[26]

[§ 15] E. Revocation—1. In General. Since an unaccepted offer confers no contractual rights[27] the offer may be revoked at any time before its acceptance by performance.[28] Personal notice of the revocation is not required,[29] yet an offer can only be revoked either in the manner in which it was made[30] or in some other manner that will give the revocation the same publicity as the offer.[31] Hence a subsequent offer, in different terms from the first, and made in another place, will not revoke the one made previously.[32] But the authorities are not in accord as to whether the discontinuance of an advertisement offering a reward will of itself revoke an offer;[33] however, such an act does prove that those who made it no longer hold it forth conspicuously as a continuing offer.[34]

[§ 16] 2. After Performance or Part Performance. The offer cannot be revoked so as to deprive a person, who acted on the faith of it, of any compensation earned by performance[35] or part performance[36] of its conditions.

[§ 17] F. Lapse of Offer. Generally it is held that an offer of reward not limited in its duration by its own terms is not to be understood as intended to be perpetual[37] but, as in the case of other contracts,[38] it must be considered as having been withdrawn after a reasonable time from its date.[39] What period constitutes a reasonable time necessarily depends largely upon the circumstances under which the offer was made.[40] But it has been held

[23] Neal v. Evans, 6 Ky. Op. 418.

[a] Where the offerer did not mention the withdrawal of his offer to one he met engaged in searching for the offerer's lost mule, it amounted to a renewal of the offer of reward made on Sunday, which might not of itself have been enforceable. Neal v. Evans, 6 Ky. Op. 418.

[24] See cases infra this note.

[a] Applications of rule.—Franklin v. Heiser, 9 F. Cas. No. 5,054, 6 Blatchf. 426; Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29.

[25] See cases infra this note.

[a] Particular classes.—(1) Employees. Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRA NS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793. (2) Bank officers or police detectives. Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62. (3) Fire companies. In re Hempstead F. Dept., 66 Misc. 381, 121 NYS 369; Cutting v. Taylor, 3 S. D. 11, 51 NW 949, 15 LRA 691. (4) Architects. Audsley v. New York, 74 Fed. 274, 20 CCA 426; Walsh v. St. Louis Exposition, etc., Assoc., 16 Mo. A. 502 [aff 90 Mo. 459, 2 SW 842]; Cope v. Hastings, 183 Pa. 300, 38 A 717.

[26] Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133.

[a] Applications of rule.—Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697; Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48; Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544; Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Bull v. Talcot, 2 Root (Conn.) 119, 1 AmD 62; Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62; Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfield, 102 Ind. 151, 52 AmR 657; Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140; Tarbell v. Stevens, 7 Iowa 163; Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen (Mass.) 151, 85 AmD 747; Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56; Medina Union Bank v. Shea, 57 Minn. 180; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135; Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185; Morse v. Bellows, 7 N. H. 549, 28 AmD 372; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Butler County v. Liebold, 107 Pa. 407; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484; Holt v. Wood, 14 Pa. Co. 499; De la Rosa v. Philippine Island Bank, 51 Philippine 926; Kasling v. Morris, 71 Tex. 584, 9 SW 739, 10 AmSR 797; Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731; Bhugwandass v. Netherlands India Sea, etc., Ins. Co., L. R. 14 App. Cas. 83.

[b] Where manufacturers of a medicine advertised that they would pay a certain sum of money to anyone who contracted a named disease after having used the medicine in a specified manner, the contracting of the disease in the manner described imposed a binding obligation upon the advertisers and created a contract between them and plaintiff. Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 256.

[27] Necessity of acceptance see infra § 25; Contracts § 68.

[28] U. S.—Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697.

Cal.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111; Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Berthiaume v. Doe, 22 Cal. A. 78, 133 P 515.

Conn.—Crocker v. New London, etc., R. Co., 24 Conn. 249.

Ga.—Biggers v. Owen, 79 Ga. 658, 5 SE 193.

Ind.—Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140.

Me.—Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503.

Mass.—Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. 409; Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. 56.

Mo.—Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 72, 165 SW 1135 [cit Cyc].

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

N. Y.—Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228.

Oh.—Gilmore v. Lewis, 12 Oh. 281.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

[29] Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697; Lauve v. Balfour, 1 Tex. A. Civ. Cas. § 726.

[30] Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670.

[a] An offer may be withdrawn in the same way it was made prior to its being acted upon. Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[31] Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670.

[32] Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[33] See cases infra this note.

[a] Discontinuance not in itself revocation.—Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409.

[b] Discontinuance tantamount to express revocation.—Lauve v. Balfour, 1 Tex. A. Civ. Cas. § 726.

[34] Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409.

[35] Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 SW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

Effect of performance see infra § 70.

[36] Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[a] The withdrawal of an offer of reward for the detection, arrest and conviction of an offender after his discovery and arrest, but before conviction, does not mean that the claimant is entitled to nothing, even though he consents to the withdrawal of the full reward. Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29.

Where complete performance prevented see infra § 65.

[37] Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409.

[38] See Contracts § 111.

[39] Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409.

[a] Revocation is conclusively presumed to have been made where the offer is not accepted within a reasonable time. Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503.

Time for performance see infra §§ 37–38.

[40] Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503.

[a] Periods held to be more than a reasonable time.—(1) After twelve years. Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503. (2) After ten years. Shaub v. Lancaster, 156 Pa. 362, 26 A 1067, 21 LRA 691; (3) After three years. Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409. (4) Ten months after discontinuance of advertisement. Lauve v. Balfour, 1 Tex. A. Civ. Cas. § 726.

[b] An offer is presumed to remain open during the fifth day after it was made, where it is not limited in time.

that an offer of reward for discovery and information of perpetrators of a past offense is not barred by lapse of time[41] but continues until the statute of limitations shall have run against the crime.[42]

[§ 18] G. Construction of Offer—1. Applicability of General Rules. The general rules governing the interpretation or construction of contracts[43] apply to rewards.[44] As the contract depends wholly upon the offer and its acceptance by performance,[45] its legal import and effect must be determined by the terms of the offer[46] fairly,[47] liberally,[48] and reasonably construed[49] according to the intention of the offerer,[50] as manifested in the offer itself,[51] in the light of the surrounding circumstances.[52] Due regard must be given to the meaning of the language[53] but the offer should not be literally construed[54] to the exclusion of the spirit,[55] as for example, where the offer is of a reward for "the arrest and conviction" of an offender.[56] The construction that tends to validate an offer will prevail over one tending to destroy it.[57]

[§ 19] 2. Past or Future Offenses. Whether a reward for the arrest and conviction of a criminal applies to past or future offenses or to both is a question dependent upon the construction of the offer.[58] Where the terms of the offer are general, the offer may apply equally to offenses committed either before or after the date of the offer.[59]

[§ 20] 3. Statutory Rewards. Statutes offering rewards are ordinarily liberally construed[60] so as to

---

Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

[41] In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159.

[42] In re Kelly, supra.

Statute of limitations after acceptance see infra § 35 note 84 [b].

[43] Construction of contracts generally see Contracts §§ 481-520.

[44] Ala.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

Mass.—Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. 56.

Mo.—Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 72, 165 SW 1135 [cit Cyc].

N. C.—Washburn v. Humphreys, 35 N. C. 88.

Or.—MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas1913B 1275.

Tenn.—Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

Tex.—Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [rev (Civ. A.) 293 SW 339]; Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

[a] The advertisement of an official reward offered by the mayor and aldermen and signed by the city clerk is to be taken, together with the note authorizing it, when it is construed. Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56.

[45] See supra § 2.

[46] Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375. And see notes infra this section.

[47] Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338; Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375.

[48] Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[49] Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135; Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375.

[a] The more reasonable of two constructions should be given to the meaning of the terms of an offer of reward. Washburn v. Humphreys, 35 N. C. 88.

[50] Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56, 57 (per Shaw, C. J.); Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [rev (Civ. A.) 293 SW 339].

[51] Anderson v. St. Louis Public Schools, 122 Mo. 61, 27 SW 610, 26 LRA 707; Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [rev (Civ. A.) 293 SW 339].

[a] Where the mere reading of the offer makes its nature plain and unmistakable, this meaning should be adopted. Juniata County v. McDonald, 122 Pa. 115, 15 A 696.

[b] Any secret intention of the offerer will not be let in to show an intent different from that expressed. Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670.

[52] Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761; Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375.

[53] See cases infra this note.

[a] Language of particular offers construed.—(1) Five thousand dollars reward for an arrest and conviction or information leading thereto is not in the alternative for two things, or ten thousand dollars, but for one thing and only five thousand dollars. Fargo v. Arthur, 43 HowPr (N. Y.) 193. (2) A reward for the arrest and conviction of "any one cutting trees" does not mean each person, where the three persons were cutting the same tree. Boyce v. Goodwin, 158 Ark. 475, 250 SW 523. (3) Where a slave was stolen and a reward of "one hundred dollars for apprehension of both slave and thief, or fifty dollars for the slave out of the state, twenty five for apprehension of slave within state," it means that the one hundred dollars was offered only for the arrest of the thief and slave if taken without the state. Washburn v. Humphreys, 35 N. C. 88. (4) A reward for the return of a dog comes within the Larceny Act imposing a penalty for advertisement of a reward for the return of any property whatsoever and the use in such advertisement of any words purporting that no questions will be asked. Mirams v. Our Dogs Pub. Co., [1901] 2 K. B. 564.

[b] Particular words construed.—(1) "Lost." Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375. (2) "Recover." Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, supra. (3) "Bank officers." Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [reh den (Commn. A.) 10 SW (2d) 534]. (4) "Apprehension" and "arrest" as interchangeable. Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127. (5) "Undertaking to rob or burglarize." Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [reh den (Commn. A.) 10 SW (2d) 534]. (6) Abbreviation of word "superintendent" is immaterial. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[c] An essential difference exists between an offer "for detection, apprehension and conviction" and an offer "for detection and apprehension of criminals payable after conviction." Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[54] Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [rev (Civ. A.) 293 SW 339].

[a] For the purpose of showing compliance by performance of the terms of the contract it is not to be literally construed. Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

[55] Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840; Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [rev (Civ. A.) 293 SW 339].

[56] Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532; Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

[a] Reward for the arrest and conviction of an unknown offender should not be taken literally. Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[b] "$500 reward will be paid to any parties who will secure the arrest and conviction of any person who has injured persons or property by throwing stones or other missiles at the trains of this company," was construed not to apply to the case of a missile thrown in the course of a fight between an employee or passenger and a stranger. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 19 Ill. A. 222.

Arrest and conviction see infra §§ 54-57.

[57] Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[58] Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338; Abel v. Pembroke, 61 N. H. 357.

[a] Where an advertisement recited that sundry houses had been set on fire and offered the reward for the conviction of any person setting fire to buildings, it applied only to offenses previously committed. Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56.

[b] A reward offered "for the arrest with proof to convict of any person or persons for the malicious obstructing of the tracks" is applicable to both past and future offenses. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[59] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[60] In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159; Harrison County v. Hurst, 110 Miss. 716, 70 S 889; Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365; Com. v. Sherk, 35 Pa. Co. 582.

[a] A statute authorizing a county to offer a reward for the apprehension of criminals is to be liberally construed. Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[b] Statute authorizing payment of a reward for the arrest of fleeing murderer must be liberally construed. Ex p. Austin, 129 Miss. 869, 93 S 369; Harrison County v. Hurst, 110 Miss.

effectuate their purpose.[61] However, in a few instances a strict construction has been applied.[62] Unless a contrary intent is apparent, a statute offering a reward will not be construed to include a statutory offense subsequently created,[63] nor will an award offered by a state legislature be construed to include an offense under a statute of the United States.[64] Where an injury is inflicted in one county and death occurs in another, the reward is payable by the county where the fatal injury was inflicted under a statute providing for the payment of a reward, by the county in which the homicide occurred, for the arrest of one who has killed another and is fleeing or attempting to flee.[65]

IV. LEGALITY[66]

[§ 21] A. In General. A contract for a reward, if illegal, is void,[67] its legality being tested by the same rules which govern other contracts.[68] The illegality may consist in the agreement involving the commission of a crime,[69] for example, murder,[70] or bribery,[71] or it may violate a statute by the inclusion in the offer of forbidden terms.[72] It is illegal if based upon an unlawful lottery transaction[73] and is void and unenforceable if it contemplates or involves an illegal arrest.[74] A reward offered by a candidate to electors for their votes is illegal,[75] as also is a candidate's promise, under certain circumstances, to return his official salary back to the county if he is elected.[76] Contracts for rewards are invalid when they are contrary to public policy.[77] Instances of such invalid agreements are marriage brokage contracts,[78] and rewards for testimony favorable to an offender.[79] But offers of reward for the conviction of persons for offenses thereafter committed are not contrary to public policy,[80] neither are contracts for the return of stolen property,[81] provided there is no stipulation to refrain from prosecuting the thief or to compound a felony.[82]

Contempt of court. Offers of rewards involving matters which were then being litigated have been held to be in contempt of court,[83] particularly where such offers were obviously made in bad faith.[84]

[§ 22] B. Prizes and Premiums. When statutes prohibit the offering of premiums or rewards for certain contests or exhibitions,[85] such rewards cannot of course be recovered.[86] But in the absence of statutory prohibition[87] the offer of a prize or premium, for example to the owner of a horse winning a race,[88] made in good faith and not as a cover for betting,[89] and payable by the person or association making the offer,[90] is not unenforceable as a gambling or wagering transaction[91] and is not against public policy.[92] Offers of premiums, by way of profit sharing in one's business, to employees[93] or to customers for exclusive patronage,[94] are enforceable[95] and not in restraint of trade or against public policy.[96]

716, 70 S 889; Ex p. Webb, 96 Miss. 8, 49 S 567; Newton County v. Doolittle, 72 Miss. 929, 18 S 451.

[c] Where one apprehends two joint horse thieves, who are tried and convicted severally, he is entitled to the statutory reward for each thief. Com. v. Sherk, 18 Pa. Dist. 714.

61. Com. v. Heist, 21 Pa. Dist. 985; Com. v. Sherk, 18 Pa. Dist. 714. But see Pennsylvania cases infra note 62 [a].

62. State v. Ost, 129 Minn. 520, 152 NW 866.

[a] A reward for the arrest and conviction of a horse thief does not include a mule thief. State v. Ost, 129 Minn. 520, 152 NW 866; Com. v. Davidson, 4 Pa. Dist. 172; Com. v. Evans, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 215.

63. Com. v. Smith, 16 Pa. Dist. 755, 33 Pa. Co. 367.

[a] Illustration.—A statutory reward for the apprehension of persons stealing horses, does not include a case of larceny by bailee, a crime unknown at the time of the enactment of the statute as to awards. Com. v. Smith, 16 Pa. Dist. 755, 33 Pa. Co. 367.

64. Sias v. Hallock, 14 Nev. 332 (where a reward payable by statute for the arrest of those who rob or attempt to rob was held to apply to a violation of the state law, but not to a robbery of the mail which is an offense against the United States).

65. Newton County v. Wells, 67 Miss. 151, 6 S 614.

66. Legality of contracts generally see Contracts §§ 339–480.

67. Boehmer v. Foval, 55 Ill. A. 71.

[a] Where the entire consideration or a part thereof is illegal the whole contract is void. Boehmer v. Foval, 55 Ill. A. 71.

68. See Contracts § 339.

69. Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

70. Hoggard v. Dickerson, supra.

71. Stotesbury v. Smith, 2 Burr. 924, 97 Reprint 635.

72. Mirams v. Our Dogs Pub. Co., [1901] 2 K. B. 564.

[a] "No questions will be asked" used in an offer in violation of statute. Mirams v. Our Dogs Pub. Co., [1901] 2 K. B. 564.

73. Dieckhoff v. Fox, 56 Minn. 438, 57 NW 930.

74. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22; Moore v. Peace, 97 SW 762, 30 KyL 193; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398.

75. State v. Dustin, 5 Or. 375, 20 AmR 746; State v. Purdy, 36 Wis. 213, 17 AmR 485.

76. State v. Dustin, 5 Or. 375, 20 AmR 746; State v. Purdy, 36 Wis. 213, 17 AmR 485.

77. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22; Moore v. Peace, 97 SW 762, 30 KyL 193; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398.

Offer to police or other officer see infra §§ 30–33.

78. Crawford v. Russell, 62 Barb. (N. Y.) 92; Keat v. Allen, 2 Vern. Ch. 588, 23 Reprint 983.

Marriage brokage contract see Contracts § 405.

79. Boehmer v. Foval, 55 Ill. A. 71.

80. Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

81. Schirm v. Weiman, 103 Md. 541, 63 A 1056, 115 AmSR 373, 7 LRA NS 175, 7 AnnCas 1008.

82. Schirm v. Wieman, supra.

83. Butler v. Butler, 13 P. D. 73; Brodribb v. Brodribb, 11 P. D. 66.

84. Butler v. Butler, supra.

85. See statutory provisions.

86. Bronson Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Ramsdell, 24 Mich. 441.

87. Delier v. Plymouth Agricultural Soc., 57 Iowa 481, 10 NW 872. And see statutory provisions.

88. Cal.—Hankins v. Ottinger, 115 Cal. 454, 47 P 254, 40 LRA 76.

Iowa.—Delier v. Plymouth Agricultural Soc., 57 Iowa 481, 10 NW 872.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Fallon, 152 N. Y. 12, 46 NE 296, 57 AmSR 492, 37 LRA 227.

Wis.—Porter v. Day, 71 Wis. 296, 37 NW 259.

Alta.—Sporle v. Edmonton Exhibition Assoc., Ltd., 7 Alta. L. 383.

89. Porter v. Day, 71 Wis. 296, 37 NW 259.

90. Peo. v. Fallon, 152 N. Y. 12, 46 NE 296, 57 AmSR 492, 37 LRA 227.

91. Hankins v. Ottinger, 115 Cal. 454, 47 P 254, 40 LRA 76; Porter v. Day, 71 Wis. 296, 37 NW 259. See Gaming § 267.

92. Delier v. Plymouth Agricultural Soc., 57 Iowa 481, 10 NW 872.

93. Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

94. Corn Products Refining Co. v. Roser-Runkle Co., 10 OhNPNS 596.

95. Corn Products Refining Co. v. Roser-Runkle Co., supra; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

96. Corn Products Refining Co. v. Roser-Runkle Co., supra.

V. CONSIDERATION

[§ 23] A. Necessity. As in the case of other contracts,[97] a consideration is necessary to support the contract for a reward,[98] without it the contract is unenforceable.[99]

[§ 24] B. What Constitutes Valid Consideration. The consideration which supports the promise of a reward is not benefit to the promisor,[1] it is rather the trouble,[2] inconvenience or detriment[3] to the promisee by reason of the fact that upon the faith of the promise he has done some act.[4] Hence, the performance of the terms of an offer constitute a good and sufficient consideration for the contract upon which to base the recovery by claimant,[5] but performance of services which one is otherwise bound to do does not operate as such a consideration.[6]

VI. ACCEPTANCE; WHO MAY CLAIM REWARD

[§ 25] A. Necessity and Nature of Acceptance. It is a general rule of contracts that before an offer can become a binding promise and result in a contract it must be accepted.[7] Hence, an acceptance of the offer,[8] including its terms and conditions,[9] is necessary to constitute a contract for a reward. Acting upon the offer and complying with its terms and conditions will operate as an acceptance;[10] however, the compliance must be voluntary.[11]

[§ 26] B. Notice of Acceptance.[12] It is not necessary that the person performing the services for which a reward is offered generally should give notice that he accepts the offer,[13] for in such case the party making the offer impliedly dispenses with actual notice[14] and the doing of the act completes the contract.[15]

[§ 27] C. Time of Acceptance.[16] Acceptance of an offer of reward by performing or commencing to perform the service requested must be within a reasonable time, unless the time is limited in the offer itself.[17]

[§ 28] D. Who May Accept or Claim Reward—1. In General. The general rule is that when a reward is offered to the public, as most rewards are,[18] it may be accepted by anyone who, under its terms and conditions, performs the services required,[19] as for

---

97. See Contracts § 145.

98. Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

99. Stilk v. Myrick, 2 Campb. 317, 170 Reprint 1168; Harris v. Watson, Peake N. P. 102, 170 Reprint 94.

1. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[a] But there is a benefit or advantage to the offerer of an advertisement of a reward for anyone using a certain medicine as directed and thereafter contracting a particular disease. It is the instilling of confidence in the remedy in the public which is enough to constitute a consideration. Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 256.

2. Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634.

3. Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 256.

4. Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Train v. Gold, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 380; Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

5. Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544; Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Berthiaume v. Doe, 22 Cal. A. 78, 133 P 515; Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503; Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 56.

6. Smith v. Whilden, 10 Pa. 39, 49 AmD 572; Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902; Stilk v. Myrick, 2 Campb. 317, 170 Reprint 1168; Harris v. Carter, 3 E. & B. 559, 77 ECL 559, 118 Reprint 1251; Harris v. Watson, Peake N. P. 102, 170 Reprint 94.

Agents, employees, and public officers see infra § 29 et seq.

7. See Contracts § 68.

8. Ill.—Van Vlissingen v. Manning, 105 Ill. A. 255.

Kan.—Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

N. Y.—Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791, 7 Transcr. A. 228; Hart v. Hopwood, 89 Misc. 414, 151 NYS 871.

Pa.—Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

Tenn.—Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. 113, 44 AmD 296.

[a] The consent is vital even though the motive for it may be immaterial. Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791.

[b] Prior to acceptance of, or performance of the services specified therein, an offer of reward is not a contract. Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

9. Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

10. Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969; Patton v. Hassinger, 69 Pa. 311.

[a] Compliance with an offer, especially if no notice of acceptance is required, is the most significant evidence of its acceptance. Patton v. Hassinger, 69 Pa. 311.

Effect of performance see infra § 70.

11. Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969.

[a] Where compliance with an offer of reward for the return of property was made to avoid legal proceedings there was no acceptance and no contract. Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969.

12. Performance without knowledge of offer see infra §§ 66–69.

13. Wilson v. McClure, 50 Ill. 366; Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140; Patton v. Hassinger, 69 Pa. 311; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731. See Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670 (recognizing rule).

14. Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62; Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[a] Notification of acceptance being for the benefit of the person who makes the offer, he may dispense with it if he thinks it desirable to do so. Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 256.

15. Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62; Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[a] Rescue of body.—"I will give $5,000 to any person who will bring the body of my wife out of that building, dead or alive." A person who relying on that offer rescued the body of the wife of the offerer from the burning building was held to be entitled to recover the reward. Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

Effect of performance see infra § 70.

16. Time of performance see infra §§ 37, 38.

17. Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 449, 25 LRA 503; Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409.

Lapse of offer see supra § 17.

18. Butler County v. Leibold, 107 Pa. 407.

19. Ga.—Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871.

Kan.—Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

Pa.—Butler County v. Leibold, 107 Pa. 407.

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

example the recovery of property,[20] the apprehension of an offender,[21] or any other act.[22] Hence he who performs such required service may claim the reward[23] unless he has estopped himself[24] or is guilty of bad faith.[25] Likewise when limited to a particular person or group of persons the offer may[26] and must be accepted by such person or group to which it is directed.[27] However, if the services of one outside the designated group are accepted by the offerer he may be liable to such person.[28]

[§ 29] 2. Agents, Employees, Etc. To the general rule, that when a reward is offered to the public it may be claimed by anyone doing the required act,[29] is the exception[30] of agents or officers,[31] employees,[32] and other persons[33] whose duty it already is to do that for the doing of which the reward is offered. However, it is held that the mere fact that one is an employee of the offerer does not preclude him from claiming the reward,[34] particularly where such reward is directed to employees.[35]

[§ 30] 3. Police and Other Officers—a. Within Scope of Official Duty—(1) In General. From an early day it has been established[36] and it continues to be the rule that a promise by a private individual[37] to reward a public officer for doing what it is his duty to do is not only void for want of consideration[38] but also because it is contrary to public policy[39]

Agents, employees, etc. see infra § 29.

Police and other officers see infra §§ 30-33.

20. Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen (Mass.) 151, 85 AmD 747; Wentworth v. Day, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 352, 37 AmD 145; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

[a] Owner of stolen property.—A statute gave a reward to "whoever shall pursue and apprehend any person who shall have stolen any mare," etc. Since the statute makes no distinction between the owner of a stolen horse and any other person, the owner is entitled to such reward. Butler County v. Leibold, 107 Pa. 407.

21. Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Cal.—Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634.

Ill.—Montgomery County v. Robinson, 85 Ill. 174; Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62.

Ind.—Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

Kan.—Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662.

Mass.—Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747; Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. 409.

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

Eng.—Tarner v. Walker, L. R. 2 Q. B. 301; Bent v. Wakefield, etc., Union Bank, 4 C. P. D. 1; Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

22. McClure v. Wilson, 43 Ill. 356; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731; Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1892] 2 Q. B. 484 [aff [1893] 1 Q. B. 256].

23. Bull v. Talcot, 2 Root (Conn.) 119, 1 AmD 62; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 72, 165 SW 1135; Com. v. Heist, 21 Pa. Dist. 985; Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662.

Effect of performance see infra § 70.

24. Witty v. Southern Pac. Co., 76 Fed. 217.

25. Peoples Trust Co. v. Davis, 5 Pa. Dist. & Co. 459.

26. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 SW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

27. Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62.

28. Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, supra.

29. See supra § 28.

30. In re Waggoner, 47 S. D. 401, 199 NW 244.

31. Stacy v. State Bank, 5 Ill. 91.

[a] A director in a bank cannot claim a reward offered for the detection of the person who had robbed the bank and for the recovery of the money stolen. Stacy v. State Bank, 5 Ill. 91.

32. Van Horn v. Ricks Water Co., 115 Cal. 448, 47 P 361; Pruitt v. Miller, 3 Ind. 16; Forsythe v. Murnane, 113 Minn. 181, 129 NW 134. See Bagnall v. Barnard, 59 Hun 151, 13 NYS 199 (holding claimant not an employee).

33. Spinney v. U. S., 32 Ct. Cl. 397; In re Waggoner, 47 S. D. 401, 199 NW 244.

[a] It is the duty of a postmaster to assist in capturing the thief when his office has been robbed and therefore he cannot claim a general reward offered to all persons for the arrest of post-office burglars. Spinney v. U. S., 32 Ct. Cl. 397.

[b] A private watchman employed by a railway company may claim a reward offered by a bank for the arrest of a defaulter. Minneapolis Bank v. Griffin, 66 Ill. A. 577 [aff 168 Ill. 314, 48 NE 154].

Police and other officers see infra §§ 30-33.

34. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 16 Ill. A. 181, 19 Ill. A. 222.

[a] A railroad employee may claim a reward offered to the public for the arrest of persons injuring the property of the railroad. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 16 Ill. A. 181, 19 Ill. A. 222.

35. Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404.

36. Bridge v. Cage, Cro. Jac. 103, 79 Reprint 89.

[a] "If once it should be allowed That such Promises [to an officer to pay more for his services than the law allows] could maintain an Action, the People would quickly be given to understand how kindly they would be taken, and happy would that Man be who could have his Business well done without them." 1 Hawkins P. C. c 68 § 4.

[b] "It would open a door to profligacy, chicanery, and corruption, if the officers appointed to carry out the criminal law were permitted to stipulate by private contract; it would open a door to the escape of offenders by culpable supineness and indifference on the part of those officers, and compel the injured persons to take upon themselves the burden of public prosecutions." Smith v. Whildin, 10 Pa. 39, 40, 49 AmD 572; Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

[c] A species of quasi-extortion, and partaking of the character of a bribe. Stotesbury v. Smith, 2 Burr. 924, 97 Reprint 635; Bridge v. Cage, Cro. Jac. 103, 79 Reprint 89; Badow v. Salter, W. Jones 65, 82 Reprint 34.

37. Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561; Gray v. Martino, 91 N. J. L. 462, 103 A 24.

Statutory rewards see infra § 31.

38. Hanmer v. Wells, 174 App. Div. 724, 160 NYS 651. See Contracts § 208.

39. U. S.—Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ark.—St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Grafton, 51 Ark. 504, 11 SW 702, 14 AmSR 66.

Ill.—Neustadt v. Hall, 58 Ill. 172.

Kan.—Williamson v. Labette County, 122 Kan. 349, 252 P 466.

Ky.—Mason v. Manning, 150 Ky. 805, 150 SW 1020, 43 LRANS 131; Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush 22; Trundle v. Riley, 17 B. Mon. 396; Mitchell v. Vance, 5 T. B. Mon. 528, 17 AmD 96.

Mass.—Pool v. Boston, 5 Cush. 219.

Mich.—Foley v. Platt, 105 Mich. 635, 63 NW 520.

Minn.—Day v. Putnam Ins. Co., 16 Minn. 408; Warner v. Grace, 14 Minn. 487.

Miss.—Odineal v. Barry, 24 Miss. 9.

Mo.—Kick v. Merry, 23 Mo. 72, 66 AmD 658.

N. J.—Gray v. Martino, 91 N. J. L. 462, 103 A 24.

N. Y.—Hanmer v. Wells, 174 App. Div. 724, 160 NYS 651; Deuhert v. Schwend, 13 NYSt 712; Weaver v. Whitney, Hopk. 13; City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. 95.

Oh.—Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. St. 396, 81 NW 641, 11 LRANS 1170; Gilmore v. Lewis, 12 Oh. 281.

Okl.—Beck v. Sulser, 48 Okl. 187, 150 P 107; Oklahoma R. Co. v. Morris, 48 Okl. 8, 148 P 1032.

Pa.—Shields v. Latrobe-Connellsville Coal, etc., Co., 239 Pa. 233, 86 A 784; McCandless v. Allegheny Besseand illegal.[40] Accordingly, no sheriff,[41] deputy or under sheriff,[42] constable[43] jailer,[44] policeman,[45] peace officer,[46] or other official[47] is entitled to a reward for the performance of services when the services are within the scope or line of his official duties,[48] and his compensation therefor is fixed by

---

mer Steel Co., 152 Pa. 139, 25 A 579; Barry v. Gvoic, 8 Pa. Dist. & Co. 544.

Tenn.—Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840; Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. 113, 44 AmD 296.

Tex.—Ellis v. Stone, 4 Tex. Civ. A. 157, 23 SW 405.

Va.—Buek v. Nance, 112 Va. 28, 70 SE 515, AnnCas1912C 1293.

Wis.—Ring v. Devlin, 68 Wis. 384, 32 NW 121.

[a] Against the policy of the law.—St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Grafton, 51 Ark. 504, 11 SW 702, 14 AmSR 66; Williamson v. Labette County, 122 Kan. 349, 252 P 466; Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561; Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22; Pool v. Boston, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 219; Day v. Putnam Ins. Co., 16 Minn. 408; Warner v. Grace, 14 Minn. 487; Kick v. Merry, 23 Mo. 72, 66 AmD 658; Gilmore v. Lewis, 12 Oh. 281; Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 113, 44 AmD 296.

[b] Against sound morals.—Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. St. 396, 81 NW 641, 11 LRANS 1170.

40. Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Tyler County Ct. v. Long, 72 W. Va. 8, 77 SE 328, AnnCas 1915B 808.

41. Ill.—Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809.

Iowa.—Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 187 NW 27.

Nebr.—Ward v. Adams, 95 Nebr. 781, 146 NW 950.

N. Y.—Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

Pa.—Shields v. Latrobe-Connellsville Coal, etc., Co., 239 Pa. 233, 86 A 784.

W. Va.—Tyler County Ct. v. Long, 72 W. Va. 8, 77 SE 328, AnnCas1915B 808.

42. See cases infra this note.

[a] Under sheriff.—Williamson v. Labette County, 122 Kan. 349, 252 P 466.

[b] Deputy sheriff.—Witty v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 76 Fed. 217; Thacker v. Smith, 103 Kan. 641, 175 P 983; Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Mason v. Manning, 150 Ky. 805, 150 SW 1020, 43 LRANS 131; Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 100 Mo. A. 258, 73 SW 305.

[c] Special deputy.—Miller v. Hogeboom, 56 Nebr. 434, 76 NW 888.

43. Ind.—Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

Miss.—Ex p. Gore, 57 Miss. 251.

N. Y.—Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686; Hatch v. Mann, 15 Wend. 44 [rev 9 Wend. 262].

Oh.—Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. St. 396, 81 NE 641, 11 LRANS 1170, 10 AnnCas 726.

Pa.—Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902; Barry v. Gvoic, 8 Pa. Dist. & Co. 544; Com. v. Harshman, 7 Pa. Dist. 741, 20 Pa. Co. 666.

[a] Constable within his jurisdiction.—Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. St. 396, 81 NE 641, 11 LRANS 1170, 10 AnnCas 726; Beck v. Sulser, 48 Okl. 187, 150 P 107.

[b] Official duty.—A constable who, within his jurisdiction, arrests a person who has committed a felony, will, in making the arrest, be presumed and held to act in his official capacity, whether such arrest be made by him under or without a warrant; and the law will not permit him to claim that an arrest made, pursuant to official duty, was made by him in his individual capacity as a private citizen so as to enable him to claim an offered award. Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. St. 396, 81 NE 641, 11 LRANS 1170, 10 AnnCas 726.

44. Buek v. Nance, 112 Va. 28, 70 SE 515, AnnCas1912C 1293.

45. U. S.—Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

Ill.—Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64.

Kan.—Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

Mo.—Kick v. Merry, 23 Mo. 72, 66 AmD 658.

N. Y.—Hanmer v. Wells Fargo & Co. Express, 174 App. Div. 724, 160 NYS 651; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

Okl.—Oklahoma R. Co. v. Morris, 48 Okl. 8, 148 P 1032.

[a] Chief of police.—Williamson v. Labette County, 122 Kan. 349, 252 P 466; Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

[b] Special police officer.—Gray v. Martino, 91 N. J. L. 462, 103 A 24.

[c] Detective.—Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596.

46. Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Oklahoma R. Co. v. Morris, 48 Okl. 8, 148 P 1032; Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

47. See cases infra this note.

[a] Other persons held not entitled to reward: (1) A man acting as one of the posse comitatus, called out by the sheriff to protect property during a strike, cannot claim a reward offered for the arrest of persons interfering with such property. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Grafton, 51 Ark. 504, 11 SW 702, 14 AmSR 66. (2) A keeper of a county asylum cannot change his status to that of a private person so as to be able to claim a reward for returning one of the lawfully committed inmates of his institution to another insane asylum from which he had escaped. Ring v. Devlin, 68 Wis. 384, 32 NW 121. (3) Agent of officer. If a police officer communicates information as to the guilt of a suspected offender to a person who induces the criminal to confess and his conviction is secured in consequence of the confession such person cannot recover the reward. Dunham v. Stockbridge, 133 Mass. 233. (4) County attorney. In re Waggoner, 47 S. D. 401, 199 NW 244. (5) A watchman. Ensminger v. Horn, 70 Ill. A. 605; Pool v. Boston, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 219.

48. U. S.—U. S. v. Matthews, 173 U. S. 381, 19 SCt 413, 43 L. ed. 738; Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ark.—Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532; St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Grafton, 51 Ark. 504, 11 SW 702, 14 AmSR 66.

Cal.—Lees v. Colgan, 120 Cal. 262, 52 P 502, 40 LRA 355.

Conn.—In re Russell, 51 Conn. 577, 50 AmR 55.

Ill.—Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809; Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Mahoney v. Whyte, 49 Ill. A. 97.

Ind.—Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

Iowa.—Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Means v. Hendershott, 24 Iowa 78.

Kan.—Williamson v. Labette County, 122 Kan. 349, 252 P 466; Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561; Thacker v. Smith, 103 Kan. 641, 175 P 983; Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA1918E 348; Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 520, 139 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, AnnCas 1915D 257 [cit Cyc].

Ky.—Collier v. Green, 205 Ky. 361, 265 SW 812; Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush 22; Smitha v. Gentry, 45 SW 515, 20 KyL 171, 42 LRA 302; Riley v. Grace, 33 SW 207, 17 KyL 1007.

Mass.—Davies v. Burns, 5 Allen 349; Pool v. Boston, 5 Cush. 219.

Minn.—Day v. Putnam Ins. Co., 16 Minn. 408; Warner v. Grace, 14 Minn. 487.

Miss.—Ex p. Gore, 57 Miss. 251.

Mo.—Kick v. Merry, 23 Mo. 72, 66 AmD 658; Davis v. Millsap, 159 Mo. A. 167, 169, 140 SW 751 [cit Cyc]; Thornton v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 42 Mo. A. 58.

Nebr.—Ward v. Adams, 95 Nebr. 781, 146 NW 950; Miller v. Hogeboom, 56 Nebr. 434, 76 NW 888.

N. Y.—Hanmer v. Wells, 174 App. Div. 724, 160 NYS 651; Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601; 92 NYS 596; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686; Hatch v. Mann, 15 Wend. 44; City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. 95.

N. C.—Malpass v. Caldwell, 70 N. C. 130.

Oh.—Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. 396, 81 NE 641, 11 LRANS 1170; Gilmore v. Lewis, 12 Oh. 281; Brown v. Sandusky County, 24 Oh. Cir. Ct. 481.

Okl.—Oklahoma R. Co. v. Morris, 48 Okl. 8, 148 P 1032 [quot Cyc].

Pa.—Butler County v. Leibold, 107 Pa. 407; Smith v. Whildin, 10 Pa. 39, 49 AmD 572; Barry v. Gvoic, 8 Pa. Dist. & Co. 544; Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902; Com. v. Harshman, 7 Pa. Dist. 741, 20 Pa. Co. 666; Com. v. Koffroth, 30 Pa. Co. 45. But see Peoples Trust Co. v. Davis, 5 Pa. Dist. & Co. 431 (holding officers performing services in line of duty are entitled to a reduced award).

Tenn.—Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. 113, 44 AmD 296.

Tex.—Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Priest, 31 Tex. Civ. A. 345, 72 SW 241.

Vt.—Brown v. Godfrey, 33 Vt. 120.

Wis.—Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012; Ring v. Devlin, 68 Wis. 384, 32 NW 121.

Eng.—Thatcher v. England, 6 C. B. 263, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

[a] The making of extraordinary efforts and the incurring of expense not covered by legal fees will not entitle an officer to recover a reward law.[49] It makes no difference that the service is rendered at a time when the officer is not on duty,[50] or that the arrest is made without a warrant[51] when there are reasonable grounds for believing the offender guilty,[52] or that the crime for which the arrest is made was committed in another county of the state,[53] or in another state.[54] However, where arrests are made without warrants, or for crimes in another state, some courts apply a different rule[55] on the theory that such services are without the scope and line of the officer's duty.[56]

[§ 31] (2) Statutory Award. Some cases make a distinction between the right of an officer to take a reward from a private individual for the performance of his official duty and his right to such a reward when offered by statute,[57] holding that in the latter case he is entitled to it[58] where the statute is sufficiently liberal and generic to comprehend the services of officers,[59] or where the statute limits the reward to officers alone.[60] But other authorities hold that unless expressly as provided in the statute[61] an officer is not entitled even to a statutory reward.[62]

[§ 32] b. Without Scope of Official Duty. When an officer performs the services for which a reward is offered by acts outside the scope and line of duty, there is no rule of public policy which forbids his claiming the reward,[63] hence he is entitled to it.[64] Therefore, as they are without the scope of his duty he may ordinarily claim a reward for acts done outside of his territorial jurisdiction,[65] such as those for making an arrest which it was his legal duty to make. Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809.

---

[49] Williamson v. Labette County, 122 Kan. 349, 252 P 466; Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514; Somerset Bank v. Edmund, 76 Oh. St. 396, 81 NE 396, 11 LRANS 1170, 10 AnnCas 726; Beck v. Sulser, 48 Okl. 187, 150 P 107; Tyler County Ct. v. Long, 72 W. Va. 8, 77 SE 328, AnnCas1915B 808.

[50] In re Russell, 51 Conn. 577, 50 AmR 55; Oklahoma R. Co. v. Morris, 48 Okl. 8, 148 P 1032.

[51] Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213. 181 P 561; Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858.

[52] Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

[53] Lees v. Colgan, 120 Cal. 262, 52 P 502, 40 LRA 355; Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Warner v. Grace, 14 Minn. 487.

[54] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

[a] A sheriff in a sister state, arresting a fugitive from justice under a warrant and pursuant to a notice from a sheriff in this state, describing such fugitive and indicating the place where he may be found, acts strictly within the line of his duty as an officer, and is entitled only to such reward or compensation as is allowed him by law, and cannot recover from county commissioners a general reward offered for the apprehension of such fugitive under statute. Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 5 NE 604, 44 LRA 809.

[55] Barry v. Gvoic, 8 Pa. Dist. & Co. 544.

[56] Barry v. Gvoic, supra.

Without scope of official duty see infra § 32.

[57] Barry v. Gvoic, 8 Pa. Dist. & Co. 544.

[a] Offer by public authority, under statute. U. S. v. Mathews, 173 U. S. 381, 19 SCt 413, 43 L. ed. 738.

[58] U. S. v. Mathews, supra; Com. v. O'Brien, 22 Pa. Dist. 1045, 41 Pa. Co. 255; Com. v. Heist, 21 Pa. Dist. 985; Com. v. McCleary, 30 Pa. Co. 263; Com. v. Matthews, 29 Pa. Co. 498; McCain's Pet., 4 Pa. Co. 9.

[a] A deputy United States marshal, who had complied with all the conditions of the offer and of the statute, is entitled to receive the amount of the reward offered. U. S. v. Mathews, 173 U. S. 381, 19 SCt 413, 43 L. ed. 738.

[59] U. S. v. Mathews, supra; Gray v. Martino, 91 N. J. L. 462, 103 A 24; Com. v. O'Brien, 22 Pa. Dist. 1045, 41 Pa. Co. 255.

[60] Hutchins v. Granville County, 193 N. C. 659, 137 SE 711; Porterfield v. State, 92 Tenn. 289, 21 SW 519.

[a] Law requiring payment of fees to officers for arrests of prohibition law violators is constitutional. Hutchins v. Granville County, 193 N. C. 659, 137 SE 711.

[61] See statutory provisions, and supra note 60.

[62] Lees v. Colgan, 120 Cal. 262, 52 P 502, 40 LRA 355; Pool v. Boston, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 219; Ex p. Gore, 57 Miss. 251; Com. v. Koffroth, 30 Pa. Co. 45; Com. v. Miller, 25 Pa. Co. 491.

[a] Deputy game protectors are not entitled to the reward payable to constables for securing a conviction for violation of the game laws. Alms v. Indiana County, 45 Pa. Super. 137.

[b] A peace officer is not entitled to reward offered to "persons" securing conviction for liquor violations when he is allowed a fee for such conviction. Martin Fiscal Ct. v. Runyon, 222 Ky. 260, 300 SW 629.

[63] Harris v. More, 70 Cal. 502, 11 P 780; Montgomery County v. Johnson, 126 Kan. 36, 266 P 749; Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA 1918E 348; Gallagher v. Garrett, 144 Md. 241, 124 A 898.

[64] U. S.—Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ark.—Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

Ind.—Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

Ind. T.—Curran v. Collier, 7 Ind. T. 148, 104 SW 572.

Iowa.—Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27.

Kan.—Montgomery County v. Johnson, 126 Kan. 36, 266 P 749; Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 138 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, AnnCas1915D 257; Marsh v. Wells, 88 Kan. 538, 541, 129 P 168, 43 LRANS 133 [cit Cyc].

Ky.—Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Collier v. Green, 205 Ky. 361, 265 SW 812.

La.—Pilie v. New Orleans, 19 La. Ann. 274; Murphy v. New Orleans, 11 La. Ann. 323.

Mass.—Hartley v. Granville, 216 Mass. 38, 102 NE 942, 48 LRANS 392, AnnCas1915A 725.

Minn.—Bystrom v. Rohlen, 134 Minn. 67, 158 NW 796; Burkee v. Matson, 114 Minn. 233, 237, 130 NW 1025, 34 LRANS 924 [cit Cyc]; Forsythe v. Murnane, 113 Minn. 181, 129 NW 134.

Mo.—Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Davis v. Millsap, 159 Mo. A. 167, 140 SW 751; Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 100 Mo. A. 258, 73 SW 305.

N. Y.—Gregg v. Pierce, 53 Barb. 387.

Okl.—Miners' Wholesale Grocery Co. v. Jennings, 98 Okl. 32, 224 P 192.

Pa.—Com. v. Harshman, 7 Pa. Dist. 741, 20 Pa. Co. 666; In re Swartz, 30 Pa. Co. 141; McCain's Pet., 4 Pa. Co. 9.

Tex.—Kasling v. Morris, 71 Tex. 584, 9 SW 739, 10 AmSR 797; Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

Vt.—Russell v. Stewart, 44 Vt. 170; Davis v. Munson, 43 Vt. 676, 5 AmR 315; Brown v. Godfrey, 33 Vt. 120.

Wis.—Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[a] A constable doing detective work in reliance upon an offer of reward may recover, such work not being within the scope of his ordinary duties. Hartley v. Granville, 216 Mass. 38, 102 NE 942, 48 LRANS 392, AnnCas1915A 725.

[b] If an officer renders extraordinary services beyond or outside the limit of his ordinary official duty and for which a reward has been offered, he becomes entitled to the reward. Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809; Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Davis v. Millsap, 159 Mo. A. 167, 140 SW 751; Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 100 Mo. A. 258, 73 SW 305; Gregg v. Pierce, 53 Barb. (N. Y.) 387; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[c] A fireman does not contract to risk his life in rescuing a person from a burning building in the fire department's service, and is therefore entitled to the reward offered for such rescue. Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[65] Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Gallagher v. Garrett, 144 Md. 241, 124 A 898; Brown v. Godfrey, 33 Vt. 120.

[a] "An officer has no authority, and is not bound, to search for offenders outside of the line of his jurisdiction, and if he should go in pursuit of an offender beyond or with-

performed in another state,[66] county,[67] or outside of his city;[68] or for the arrest of fugitives from another state.[69] Arrests without a warrant[70] when the officer's authority is limited to the execution of a warrant[71] are also without the scope of his duty[72] and he may claim rewards for them.[73] "Non pay" officers, who are under no obligation to investigate criminal offenses,[74] are not precluded from claiming rewards.[75] If the reward is offered by a surety on a bail bond for the delivery of the principal, it may be claimed by an officer.[76]

[§ 33] c. Person Ceasing To Be Officer. When an officer has ceased to be such, he may become entitled to the reward by services thereafter rendered.[77]

[§ 34] 4. Particeps Criminis. The maxim that no man shall profit by his own wrong applies to those claiming rewards.[78] Hence one is not entitled to a reward who aids or abets in the commission of a crime,[79] or in its concealment,[80] or who performs the services through collusion with an offender.[81] Similarly, one purchasing property, with reasonable grounds for believing that it belonged to the offerer, and had been stolen is not entitled to the reward offered for its return.[82]

[§ 35] E. Effect of Acceptance. While a mere offer not assented to does not constitute a contract,[83] an acceptance of the terms of an offer of reward by any person who complies therewith by performing the service creates a complete and valid contract.[84] out his jurisdiction, his services, while thus without his jurisdiction, would be those of a private person . . . and for the payment of such services he would be allowed to stipulate by contract like any private person." Brown v. Godfrey, 33 Vt. 120.

---

[66] Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532; Davis v. Millsap, 159 Mo. A. 167, 140 SW 751; Miners' Wholesale Grocery Co. v. Jennings, 98 Okl. 32, 224 P 192.

[67] Marsh v. Wells, 88 Kan. 538, 129 P 168, 43 LRANS 133; Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858.

[a] If the crime was committed and the trial held in another county than that in which the deputy sheriff was an officer, an agreement to compensate him for procuring evidence leading to the conviction of the offender is not contrary to public policy. Harris v. More, 70 Cal. 502, 11 P 780.

[68] Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Bystrom v. Rohlen, 134 Minn. 67, 158 NW 796; Burkee v. Matson, 114 Minn. 233, 130 NW 1025, 34 LRANS 924.

[69] Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ark.—Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

Kan.—Montgomery County v. Johnson, 126 Kan. 36, 266 P 749.

Ky.—Collier v. Green, 205 Ky. 361, 265 SW 812.

Mo.—Smith v. Vérnon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

But see supra § 30 note 54 for contrary rule.

[a] An officer not required by statute to arrest fugitives from sister states may arrest a fugitive and recover a reward. Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

[70] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

[a] Arrests outside jurisdiction without a warrant do not preclude the recovery of an offered reward. Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Marsh v. Wells, 88 Kan. 538, 129 P 168, 43 LRANS 133; Bystrom v. Rohlen, 134 Minn. 67, 158 NW 796.

[71] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

[72] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, supra.

[73] U. S.—Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, supra.

Kan.—Marsh v. Wells, 88 Kan. 538, 129 P 168, 43 LRANS 133.

Minn.—Bystrom v. Rohlen, 134 Minn. 67, 158 NW 796.

Pa.—White's Pet., 15 Pa. Dist. 730.

Tex.—Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

[a] A special constable, holding a warrant directed simply to any constable of the county, and who, relying upon an offer of reward, makes the arrest, has been held to be entitled to the reward. Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

[b] Where there was no proof as to nature of a marshal's information, even though before making arrest he said that he was "about to arrest train robbers," he is not precluded from earning a reward on the ground that the arrest was part of his duty. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

[74] Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 138 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, AnnCas1915D 257 [reh den 92 Kan. 299, 140 P 896, 51 LRANS 639].

[75] Montgomery County v. Johnson, 126 Kan. 36, 226 P 749; Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA 1918E 348; Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 138 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, AnnCas1915D 257 [reh den 92 Kan. 299, 140 P 896, 51 LRANS 639].

[76] Curran v. Collier, 7 Ind. T. 148, 104 SW 572.

[a] Reason for rule.—Such a reward is offered solely for the surety's benefit to save him harmless on the bond and neither public policy nor positive law prevents a policeman from receiving it. Curran v. Collier, 7 Ind. T. 148, 104 SW 572.

[77] Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 100 Mo. A. 258, 73 SW 305.

[a] Where an offer of reward is renewed to one who had been a deputy sheriff and the offer is acted upon, it becomes a contract which is executed upon rendition of the services for which the reward is offered, and a substantial performance of the conditions of the reward entitles the claimant to the recompense proffered. Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 100 Mo. A. 258, 73 SW 305.

[78] Clinton County v. Davis, 162 Ind. 60, 69 NE 680, 64 LRA 780, 1 AnnCas 282.

[79] Clinton County v. Davis, supra; Hassan v. Doe, 38 Me. 45; Jenkins v. Kelren, 12 Gray (Mass.) 330, 74 AmD 596.

[a] Illegal vote buying to claim a reward.—Clinton County v. Davis, 162 Ind. 60, 69 NE 680, 64 LRA 780, 1 AnnCas 282; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

[80] Clinton County v. Davis, 162 Ind. 60, 69 NE 680, 64 LRA 780, 1 Ann Cas 282; Jenkins v. Kelren, 12 Gray (Mass.) 330, 74 AmD 596; Bledsoe v. Jackson, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 429.

[a] The person who had concealed a fugitive murderer and agreed to share with him the reward offered for his arrest cannot recover it. Bledsoe v. Jackson, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 429.

[81] Greenwade v. Com., 5 Ky. Op. 647; State v. Dinkins, 77 Miss. 874, 27 S 832.

[a] One who colludes with an escaped criminal, inducing him to allow himself to be delivered up for trial, promising that a part of the reward offered for him, when collected, should be used in his defense, is not entitled to the reward. State v. Dinkins, 77 Miss. 874, 27 S 832.

[82] Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969.

[83] See supra § 25.

[84] Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ind.—Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 1.

Kan.—Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561; Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662.

Mich.—Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. Y.—Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 104 Or. 248, 208 P 761; MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas 1913B 1275.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

Tex.—Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Commn. A.) 298 SW 404.

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 522, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793 [quot Cyc]; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] "Although the offer is made to the world, the contract is made with that limited portion of the public who come forward and perform the condition on the faith of the advertisement." Carlill v. Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 266, 268 (per Borden, L. J.).

[b] The statute of limitations, after the acceptance of the offer of a reward for an arrest and conviction, which is the accrual of the cause of action, does not begin to run until after conviction. Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634.

Acceptance by performance see infra § 70.

VII. PERFORMANCE

[§ 36] A. Necessity. To make the offer a binding and enforceable contract, the act must be done or the services rendered in accordance with the terms of the offer, before it lapses or is revoked.[85]

[§ 37] B. Time of Performance—1. In General. Although the offer may not designate any time within which the services are to be rendered, it must be accepted by such performance within a reasonable time according to the nature of the subject matter.[86]

[§ 38] 2. Commencement Prior to Offer. While acts done or information given prior to an offer of reward cannot constitute performance,[87] yet a performance begun before the offer is made does entitle the party to the reward when it is completed afterward.[88]

[§ 39] C. What Constitutes Performance—1. In General. The person making the offer having the right to prescribe the conditions under which he will be liable,[89] the reward can be claimed only by him who, according to the true construction of the offer, has complied with these conditions,[90] and who was the efficient[91] and moving cause of the performance of the services.[92] The fact that the offerer renders assistance to the claimant in earning the reward does not preclude its recovery.[93] Performance may be by the agent of the claimant.[94]

Determination of sufficiency by offerer. Where an offerer, having the right to attach any conditions he sees fit,[95] provides that he,[96] or other persons,[97] shall be the final judge of disputes arising over the reward, their decision, in the absence of fraud, is conclusive.

---

[85] Cal.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

Conn.—Bull v. Talcot, 2 Root 119, 1 AmD 62.

Ind.—Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfiel, 102 Ind. 146, 1 NE 382, 52 AmSR 657.

Kan.—Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA1918E 348.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Mass.—Freeman v. Boston, 5 Metc. 56, 57.

N. J.—Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

Pa.—Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker, 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

Performance as acceptance see infra § 70.

[86] Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503; Loring v. Boston, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 409; Schaub v. Lancaster, 156 Pa. 362, 26 A 1067, 21 LRA 691.

[a] Statutory limitation of prosecution.—(1) "The offer [for detection and conviction] . . . is not limited in its terms as to time, but the statute of limitations, which is applicable to the crime in question, necessarily restricts the offer to the period within which the delinquent must be informed against and prosecuted. . . . So long as the statute of limitations continued to run against the offender, so long would this offer of reward continue good. As soon as the statute becomes a bar to the prosecution, all liability to pay the reward of course ceases, for the conviction of the offender is an event necessarily antecedent to the payment of the reward." In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159, 163. (2) Claimant making arrest ten years after the offer of reward is entitled to recover it where prosecution was not barred by statute. Drummond v. U. S., 35 Ct. Cl. 356.

Lapse of offer see supra § 17.

Within what time offer must be accepted see supra § 27.

[87] Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[a] Where plaintiff not only did not know of reward, but reward was not in fact offered at the time he performed services, he cannot recover it. Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902.

[88] Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 72, 165 SW 1135 [cit Cyc]; Neville v. Kelly, 12 C. B. N. S. 740, 104 ECL 740, 142 Reprint 1333.

Necessity of knowledge of offer see infra §§ 66–69.

Revocation after part performance see supra § 16.

[89] Right of offerer to prescribe conditions see supra § 5.

[90] Cal.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

Conn.—Gardner v. Hartford, 14 Conn. 195; Bull v. Talcot, 2 Root 119, 1 AmD 62.

Ill.—Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 19 Ill. A. 222.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 490, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Mass.—Kaplan v. Suher, 254 Mass. 180, 150 NE 9, 42 ALR 1142; Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747.

Mich.—Peterson v. Mark, 134 Mich. 594, 96 NW 926.

N. Y.—Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228; Peo. v. Brower, 111 App. Div. 915, 97 NYS 349; In re Hempstead Fire Dept., 66 Misc. 381, 121 NYS 359.

Or.—MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas1913B 1275.

Pa.—Com. v. Turner, 17 Pa. Dist. 794, 34 Pa. Co. 358; Com. v. Edwards, 10 Phila. 215.

Tex.—Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237; Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Priest, 31 Tex. Cr. 345, 72 SW 241.

Wash.—Davidson v. Times Printing Co., 63 Wash. 577, 116 P 18, 34 LRA NS 1164.

Wis.—Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmSR 731.

Alta.—Sporle v. Edmonton Exhibition Assoc., Ltd., 7 Alta. L. 383.

[a] Unless and until there has been essentially a complete performance of all the material terms and conditions specified in the offer, there is no completed contract, and no one is entitled to payment of the reward. Union County v. Hopkins, 93 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[b] Unfair dealing by collusion on the part of a contender for a prize will justify the offerer in rejecting his claim. Davidson v. Times Printing Co., 63 Wash. 577, 116 P 18, 34 LRANS 1164.

[c] Return of lost boy.—In an action to recover a reward offered for the delivery of a lost boy where the defense was that the boy was not lost when found by plaintiff but was on his way home, evidence that the boy was several miles from his home and was going in the opposite direction from it, when plaintiff took possession of him, was held to warrant the inference that the boy was lost. Peterson v. Mark, 134 Mich. 594, 96 NW 926.

Construction of offer see supra §§ 18–20.

[91] Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

[a] Where a policeman was the efficient cause of an arrest, and he was voluntarily paid the reward after notice that a private citizen claimed it, the rights of such citizen are not enlarged, nor is he entitled to claim a reward even though public policy precludes police officers from receiving rewards for arrests. Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

[b] The completed contract is with those persons only who have essentially caused, or participated in causing, the specified result. Union County v. Hopkins, 93 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[92] Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686; Rinehart v. Lancaster, 18 WklyNC (Pa.) 364; Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

[93] Bagnall v. Barnard, 59 Hun 151, 13 NYS 151.

[a] Aiding the finder.—Where defendant offered a reward for the recovery of the body of his son who had been drowned, the fact that he supplied plaintiff with a diving suit and a man to work the apparatus does not disentitle plaintiff to the reward. Bagnall v. Barnard, 59 Hun 151, 13 NYS 199.

[94] Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 76, 23 L. ed. 697; Montgomery County v. Robinson, 85 Ill. 174; Heather v. Thompson, 78 SW 194, 25 KyL 1554.

[a] An agent contracting to arrest a fugitive for the person who has located him, cannot repudiate the contract on the ground that the amount of the reward for the fugitive was withheld from him. Heather v. Thompson, 78 SW 194, 25 KyL 1554.

Waiver. As in the case of any other contract[98] nonperformance of certain terms of the offer may be excused by waiver[99] after which the offerer cannot defeat recovery on the ground that such terms were not complied with.[1]

[§ 40] 2. Substantial Performance. Generally substantial compliance with the terms of the offer is sufficient,[2] literal performance not being necessary.[3] However, at least a substantial compliance with the conditions of the offer must be shown to authorize a recovery.[4]

[§ 41] 3. Earning Statutory Reward. Where a reward is offered by statute, the question of whether a claimant is entitled thereto must be determined by a construction of the terms of the particular statute involved,[5] he being entitled to the reward upon fulfilment of the conditions imposed by the statute[6] and not otherwise,[7] although substantial performance has been held sufficient[8] and he is not required to go further than such conditions.[9]

Allowance of claim. Claims for statutory rewards are sometimes allowed only when boards of supervisors directly allow them.[10] A statute authorizing the payment of a reward, upon allowance by the board of supervisors and the circuit court, does not require the county to be made a party to the proceeding in the circuit court; the county being required to act for itself when the claim is presented to the board of supervisors after allowance by the court.[11] A claim for a reward stands allowed by the board of supervisors, as the statute requires, either when the board directly allows it or when its action disallowing it is reversed by the circuit court on appeal.[12]

[§ 42] 4. Particular Services and Conditions—a. Information—(1) In General. Where the reward is offered for information[13] leading to an arrest and conviction, or return of property, or for other purposes, that person is entitled to it who just gives the information[14] which is the effective[15] or proxi-

---

95. Right of offerer to prescribe conditions see supra § 5.

96. Davidson v. Times Printing Co., 63 Wash. 577, 116 P 18, 34 LRA NS 1164.

97. Smith v. American Auto Assoc., 69 Misc. 60, 125 NYS 804.

98. See Contracts § 788.

99. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699; Miners' Wholesale Grocery Co. v. Jennings, 98 Okl. 32, 224 P 192.

[a] Interpleader may constitute a waiver of substantial conditions of an offer of reward. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

1. Miners' Wholesale Grocery Co. v. Jennings, 98 Okl. 32, 224 P 192.

2. U. S.—Franklin v. Heiser, 9 F. Cas. No. 5,054, 6 Blatchf. 426.

Del.—Gilkey v. Bailey, 2 Del. 359.

Ill.—Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278.

Kan.—Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662.

Ky.—Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Goodnight, 10 Bush 552, 19 AmR 80.

La.—Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Mass.—Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747.

Mich.—Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

N. Y.—Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Brennan v. Haff, 1 Hilt. 151.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 104 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

Wash.—Hall v. State, 102 Wash. 519, 173 P 429.

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

Eng.—Smith v. Moore, 1 C. B. 438, 50 ECL 438, 135 Reprint 610.

3. Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155; Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen (Mass.) 151, 85 AmD 747; Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

4. U. S.—Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697.

Ark.—Boyce v. Goodwin, 158 Ark. 475, 250 SW 523; Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532; Amis v. Conner, 43 Ark. 337.

Cal.—Burke v. Wells, 50 Cal. 218.

Conn.—Gardner v. Hartford, 14 Conn. 195.

Ill.—Williams v. West Chicago, etc., R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 19 Ill. A. 222.

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Mass.—Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747.

Mich.—Peterson v. Mark, 134 Mich. 594, 96 NW 926.

Mo.—Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Ralls County v. Stephens, 104 Mo. A. 115, 78 SW 291; Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386.

N. Y.—Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228.

Pa.—Com. v. Edwards, 10 Phila. 215.

Tex.—Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237; Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Priest, 31 Tex. Civ. A. 345, 72 SW 241.

Wash.—Davidson v. Times Printing Co., 63 Wash. 577, 580, 116 P 18, 34 LRANS 1164 [cit Cyc].

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRA NS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

5. See cases infra this note and notes 6–9.

6. Drew v. Ricks, 17 Ala. 25.

Construction of statutory offers see supra § 20.

7. Itawamba County v. Candler, 62 Miss. 193; Anderson v. Pierce County, 40 Nebr. 481, 58 NW 955.

8. Smith v. State, 38 Nev. 477, 151 P 512, LRA1916A 1276.

9. Drew v. Ricks, 17 Ala. 25.

[a] Illustration.—Under a statute providing that runaway slaves may be apprehended by any person and carried before the next justice of the peace who shall either commit them to jail or send them to the owner if known and that the owner shall pay to the person apprehending them a stated sum, the person apprehending a slave is entitled to the reward although he refuses to take him to jail when he is ordered by the justice to be committed. Drew v. Ricks, 17 Ala. 25.

10. See statutory provisions.

11. Ex p. Webb, 96 Miss. 8, 49 S 567 [overr Warren County v. Lanier, 87 Miss. 606, 40 S 429].

12. Ex p. Webb, 96 Miss. 8, 49 S 567 [overr Tate County v. Moore, 87 Miss. 245, 39 S 781].

13. See cases infra this note.

[a] "Information" means the communication of material facts for the first time. Lancaster v. Walsh, 4 M. & W. 16, 150 Reprint 16.

[b] A mere suspicion, though helpful as a clue or suggestion, is not "information." Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237; Fallick v. Barber, 1 M. & S. 108, 105 Reprint 41. And see notes infra this section.

14. Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102; Smith v. Moore, 1 C. B. 348, 50 ECL 438, 135 Reprint 610; Lancaster v. Walsh, 4 M. & W. 16, 150 Reprint 16.

15. U. S.—Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 76, 23 L. ed. 697.

Ill.—Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Williams v. West Chicago R. Co., 94 Ill. A. 385 [aff 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278].

Mich.—Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

N. J.—Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

N. Y.—Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

mate[16] means of securing the desired arrest[17] and conviction[18] or recovery of property,[19] even though he does nothing else except divulge such information,[20] and the physical capture is made by others.[21] However, the information furnished by a person under such an offer of reward must be timely;[22] for example, it comes too late when given after the criminal has surrendered[23] or has been arrested,[24] or when the information was already known when the informant gave it.[25] The information must also be adequate;[26] it will be inadequate when not leading to the desired result,[27] such as the recovery of property,[28] or an arrest[29] and conviction,[30] or when insufficient upon which to found a complaint.[31]

[§ 43] (2) Furnishing Part of Information. An informer furnishing part of the information is entitled to a reward for an arrest and conviction,[32] or to participation therein,[33] where his information proximately[34] contributes to,[35] or is necessary to a conviction.[36] But giving information of the identity of offenders does not of itself entitle the informer to such a reward.[37]

[§ 44] (3) Informant as Prosecutor or Witness. The informant need not act as prosecutor to entitle him to the reward.[38] Nor is it necessary that he should be a witness at the trial of the offender.[39]

[§ 45] (4) Conviction Unnecessary. When the reward offered is for the detection or discovery of an offender his conviction is not necessary;[40] it being sufficient if there is a discovery[41] or an arrest.[42]

[§ 46] (5) To Whom Given. The information may be given either to the offerer,[43] his agent,[44] or to

---

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 104 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

Eng.—Tarner v. Walker, L. R. 2 Q. B. 301; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

[16] Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

[17] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Tarner v. Walker, L. R. 2 Q. B. 301.

[18] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133.

[a] Information alone does not entitle one to a reward for an apprehension and conviction unless the information leads to an arrest and conviction. Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697; Williams v. West Chicago R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809; Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Swanton v. Ost, 74 Ill. A. 281; Everman v. Hyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284.

[19] Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

[a] Production of letter.—If a person proclaims that he is desirous of obtaining an alleged letter, and will pay a reward for its production to him, one who, in consideration of such proclamation and offer, produces the letter and claims the reward is entitled to a judgment therefor. Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 67 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

[20] Kaplan v. Suker, 254 Mass. 180, 150 NE 9, 42 ALR 1142.

[21] Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697; Umatilla County v. Estes, 104 Or. 248, 208 P 761; Choice v. Dallas, (Tex. Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

[22] Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459; Bent v. Wakefield Bank, 4 C. P. D. 1.

[23] Bent v. Wakefield Bank, supra.

[a] Where information was not acted upon in time to make arrest before surrender of offender to another, the informant is not entitled to the reward. Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

[24] Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

[a] Those extracting a confession out of accused are not entitled to share in reward even though a conviction would not be had otherwise, because the information was given after the arrest. Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

[b] Where the reward was for information leading to the recovery of certain stolen property and the apprehension of the thief, plaintiff who had arrested the thief before the offer was made but gave defendant information leading to the recovery of the property afterward is entitled to the reward. Neville v. Kelly, 12 C. B. N. S. 740, 104 ECL 740, 142 Reprint 1333.

[25] Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459.

[26] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Howland v. Lounds, 51 N. Y. 604, 10 AmR 654; Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237; Smith v. Moore, 1 C. B. 438, 50 ECL 438, 135 Reprint 610.

[a] A reward having been offered for information leading to the discovery of a thief, A told B that C knew something of the theft and if given refreshment might be induced to confess. This was accordingly done and C confessed and was convicted. A was held to be entitled to the reward. Smith v. Moore, 1 C. B. 438, 50 ECL 438, 135 Reprint 610.

[b] Question for jury.—A watchmaker to whom a stolen watch had been brought by a receiver informed the person robbed of this fact who was thereby enabled to discover from the receiver where the thieves could be found and they were arrested and convicted. It was left to the jury to say whether this information entitled the watchmaker to recover a reward offered for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the thieves. Tarner v. Walker, L. R. 2 Q. B. 301.

[27] Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596.

[28] Holland v. Lounds, 51 N. Y. 604, 10 AmR 654.

[29] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596.

[a] Where one informed a bank offering a reward for the arrest of its absconding teller that he was at a certain hotel, an officer ascertained that he had left, and another informed the police that the defaulter was at his hotel and he was there arrested, the first informer was entitled to no part of the reward. Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596.

[30] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64.

[31] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, supra.

[32] In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

[33] Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418. See infra §§ 71-73.

[34] Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

[35] Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

[36] In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159.

[37] Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64.

[38] U. S. v. 100 Barrels Distilled Spirits, 27 F. Cas. No. 15,946, 1 Lowell 244.

[39] U. S. v. 100 Barrels Distilled Spirits, supra; Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen (Mass.) 151, 85 AmD 747.

[40] Cunningham v. Fiske, 13 N. M. 331, 83 P 789; Brennan v. Haff, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 151.

[a] Even against evidence of a failure to convict the plaintiff may prove the parties he asserted to be the murderers were such, where the offer was for the discovery of certain murderers, since the failure of conviction might result from causes entirely independent of the fact that the actual murderers were discovered and tried. The cause of action therefore accrued when the murderers were discovered. Cunningham v. Fiske, 13 N. M. 331, 83 P 789.

Arrest and conviction see infra §§ 54-57.

[41] Cunningham v. Fiske, 13 N. M. 331, 83 P 789.

[42] Brennan v. Haff, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 151.

[43] Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365; Lockhart v. Barnard, 14 M. & W. 674, 153 Reprint 646.

[44] Lockhart v. Barnard, supra.

a person in authority.[45] But the giving of information by one claimant to another is not sufficient.[46]

[§ 47] (6) Motive of Informant. The motive of the claimant in supplying the requisite information is immaterial to his recovery of the reward,[47] with the qualification that the giving must be voluntary.[48] The informant's motive may, however, reduce the amount of his share in a reward.[49]

[§ 48] b. Arrest—(1) In General. Where a reward is offered for the apprehension[50] or arrest[51] of a criminal, that person is generally held entitled to the reward who furnishes information leading directly to the arrest[52] or causes the arrest to be made by an officer,[53] or by his own agent,[54] or other person;[55] a personal arrest by claimant not being necessary.[56] But the doctrine of some cases is that the giving of information which leads to an arrest actually made by others is not a performance of an offer of a reward for an arrest;[57] under this doctrine the reward belongs to those who assume the personal danger and responsibility[58] either by actually making the arrest,[59] or causing it to be made by another.[60] One who merely accompanies the real captor is not entitled to any part of the reward,[61] unless such captor be disqualified to claim it,[62] in which case those who most effectively aided in causing the arrest may recover it.[63]

[§ 49] (2) Person Arrested. The arrest must be of such person as is described in the offer.[64] This rule has been applied to rewards for fugitives from justice,[65] murderers fleeing or attempting to flee,[66] horse thieves,[67] and to other persons.[68]

---

[45] Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365; Lancaster v. Walsh, 4 M. & W. 16, 150 Reprint 16; Lockhart v. Barnard, 14 M. & W. 674, 153 Reprint 646.

[46] Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[47] Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133.

[48] Vitty v. Eley, 51 App. Div. 44, 64 NYS 397.

[a] The contractual element would be destroyed if the information were cork-screwed out of a claimant by threats of prosecution. Vitty v. Eley, 51 App. Div. 44, 64 NYS 397.

[49] Gallagher v. Garrett, 144 Md. 241, 124 A 898.

[50] Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127; Gilmore v. Lewis, 12 Oh. 281; Com. v. Turner, 17 Pa. Dist. 794, 34 Pa. Co. 358.

[a] Detention of criminal in response to request by telephone does not entitle one to reward under a statute giving a reward for apprehension. Com. v. Turner, 17 Pa. Dist. 794, 34 Pa. Co. 358.

[51] Newton County v. Doolittle, 72 Miss. 929, 18 S 451; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[a] Retaking a culprit in an attempted escape from an arrest is not a second arrest within the meaning of an offer of reward, where there was an immediate and continuous pursuit. Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

[b] Safe delivery to the proper persons or place for holding him for trial is implied in a reward offered for the arrest or capture of a fugitive. Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[52] Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray (Mass.) 374; Umatilla County v. Estes, 104 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

[53] Montgomery County v. Robinson, 85 Ill. 174; Swanton v. Ost, 74 Ill. A. 281; Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 138 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, AnnCas1915D 257; Heather v. Thompson, 78 SW 194, 25 KyL 1554; Ralls County v. Stephens, 104 Mo. A. 115, 78 SW 291.

[54] Montgomery County v. Robinson, 85 Ill. 174; Heather v. Thompson. 78 SW 194, 25 KyL 1554; Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

[a] Although having the power to make an arrest himself, if an officer omits to exercise it and allows another officer to arrest the offender he may still be entitled to the reward. Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 138 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, Ann Cas1915D 257.

[b] One is entitled to a reward when the person making the pursuit and capture is his agent, and the concealment by the principal of the fact a reward had been offered gives the agent no claim thereto. Montgomery County v. Robinson, 85 Ill. 174.

[55] Cummings v. Clinton County, 181 Mo. 162, 79 SW 1127.

[56] Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155; Forsythe v. Murnane, 113 Minn. 181, 129 NW 134; Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[a] Where a statute provides (1) an award to "whosoever shall pursue and apprehend any person," the right to the award is not limited to the person who actually takes the offender into custody. Com. v. Heist, 21 Pa. Dist. 985. (2) And the reward may be divided between one causing the detention of a criminal and the one arresting him. Com. v. Heist, supra.

[57] McClaughry v. King, 147 Fed. 463, 79 CCA 91, 7 LRANS 216, 8 Ann Cas 856; Minnesota, etc., Cattle Co. v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 147 Fed. 463, 77 CCA 607 [aff 210 U. S. 1, 28 SCt 607, 52 L. ed. 931]; Ste. Marie v. U. S., 9 Ct. Cl. 415; Everman v. Hyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284; Sias v. Hallock, 14 Nev. 332; Juniata County v. McDonald, 122 Pa. 115, 15 A 696; Com. v. Sandoe, 18 Pa. Dist. 433; Com. v. Taylor, 17 Pa. Dist. 10; Walker's Case, 23 Pa. Co. 305.

[a] One informing officer of location of a thief is not entitled to a reward for his capture. Everman v. Hyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284.

[b] Two rewards for different services were offered, one for the apprehension of a fugitive and the other for information that would conduce to his arrest. The former reward contemplated the actual capture of the fugitive and was not earned by the giving of information which led to his arrest by a foreign government. Shuey v. U. S., 92 U. S. 73, 23 L. ed. 697.

[58] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699; Minnesota, etc., Cattle Co. v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 147 Fed. 463, 77 CCA 607 [aff 210 U. S. 1, 28 SCt 607, 52 L. ed. 931]; McClaughry v. King, 147 Fed. 463, 79 CCA 91, 7 LRANS 216, 8 AnnCas 856; Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

[59] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699; McClaughry v. King, 147 Fed. 463, 74 CCA 91, 7 LRANS 216, 8 AnnCas 856; Minnesota, etc., Cattle Co. v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 147 Fed. 463, 77 CCA 607 [aff 210 U. S. 1, 28 SCt 607, 52 L. ed. 931]; Com. v. Sandoe, 18 Pa. Dist. 433; Com. v. Taylor, 17 Pa. Dist. 10; Walker's Application, 9 Pa. Dist. 121; Com. v. Anderson, 5 Kulp (Pa.) 302; Com. v. Fisher, 5 YorkLegRec (Pa.) 103; Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

[60] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699; Minnesota, etc., Cattle Co. v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 147 Fed. 463, 77 CCA 607 [aff 210 U. S. 1, 28 SCt 607, 52 L. ed. 931]; McClaughry v. King, 135 Fed. 195 [aff 147 Fed. 463, 79 CCA 91, 7 LRANS 216, 8 AnnCas 856].

[61] Stroud v. Garrison, 24 Ark. 53; Johnson v. Com., 76 SW 832, 25 KyL 986.

[62] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

[63] Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, supra.

[64] Amis v. Conner, 43 Ark. 337; State v. Auditor, 61 Mo. 263; Com. v. Edwards, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 215.

[a] A reward offered for the arrest of two persons is not earned by the arrest of one of them. Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679.

[65] State v. Auditor, 61 Mo. 263.

[a] Fugitives from justice.—"It does not follow that the arrest of the persons advertised as fugitives would authorize the payment of the reward offered, if it appeared that at the time of their arrest they were not in fact fugitives from justice, but living openly and notoriously at their usual places of abode, without any concealment, and accessible by the officers of the law at all times. . . . The reward is offered to secure fugitives from justice, and not to secure the delivery of a person not a fugitive." State v. Auditor, 61 Mo. 263, 269.

[66] Ex p. Austin, 129 Miss. 869, 93 S 369; Harrison County v. McCaleb, 110 Miss. 733, 70 S 899; Wilkinson County v. Jones, (Miss.) 52 S 453; Newton County v. Doolittle, 72 Miss. 929, 18 S 451; Monroe County v. Bell, (Miss.) 18 S 121.

[a] Person fleeing arrest for homicide.—(1) A statute providing an

[§ 50] (3) Legality of Arrest. The arrest must be legal.[69] Hence, those illegally arresting a person who is entitled to his liberty[70] or one against whom there exists no reasonable grounds of suspicion[71] cannot recover a reward offered for his capture[72] for the reason that an agreement for such an arrest is contrary to public policy[73] and unenforceable.[74]

[§ 51] (4) To Convict Not Necessary. Under statutes authorizing the offering of a reward for the arrest and apprehension,[75] or the detection and apprehension[76] of an offender a person claiming the reward has no duty resting upon him of convicting the person arrested[77] although the reward cannot be paid until after conviction[78] and the offer of the reward purports to be for such arrest and conviction.[79]

[§ 52] (5) Voluntary Surrender. If the offender voluntarily surrenders himself[80] or is on the way to surrender[81] the reward is not earned by his captors,[82] or those arranging for his arrest.[83] But those taking the accused into custody are entitled to the reward, where, without fraud or collusion, they persuade him to surrender,[84] or where, because of injuries, the fugitive abandons the idea of escape and asks to be returned.[85]

[§ 53] c. Arrest and Delivery. When the reward is offered for the capture or arrest of an offender and his delivery, claimant must show both a capture and a delivery by him.[86] The delivery may be to an agent,[87] to an officer in another state[88] or, indeed, to an officer present at the time of the arrest.[89] But delivery is excused if, after capture, it is prevented by lawful authority,[90] or by the death of the person arrested.[91]

[§ 54] d. Arrest and Conviction—(1) In General. The rule is well settled[92] that when the reward is offered for the arrest and conviction of an offender award to one arresting anyone killing another who is fleeing or attempting to flee applies to the arrest of one who has concealed himself to avoid arrest. Ex p. Austin, 129 Miss. 869, 93 S 369. (2) The arrest must be made while the murderer is fleeing or attempting to flee, under the express terms of the statute. Wilkinson County v. Jones, (Miss.) 52 S 453. Harrison County v. McCaleb, 110 Miss. 733, 70 S 899; Monroe County v. Bell, (Miss.) 18 S 121. (3) Such a statute does not apply to one accused of murder who has returned, after fleeing to another state, to the county where the killing occurred for the purpose of standing trial and was going about openly although he had not actually surrendered himself to the proper authorities. Sunflower County v. Wright, 111 Miss. 790, 72 S 226. (4) It is not necessary that the victim of a mortal wound shall be actually dead before the arrest of the person inflicting the wound. Martin v. Copiah County, 71 Miss. 407, 15 S 73. (5) Where an arrest has been made by one citizen and the prisoner escaping from him is arrested by another who delivers him to the custody of the proper officer, such other is entitled to the reward named in the statute. Wilson v. Wallace, 64 Miss. 13, 8 S 128. (6) A reward cannot be claimed for the arrest of one after he had been arrested for the offense with which he was charged and tried and discharged by a justice of the peace of the county. Itawamba County v. Candler, 62 Miss. 193. (7) Where one who wounded another, while his victim was still alive, was arrested, and tried for assault with intent to kill, and discharged, but on his victim's subsequently dying, he fled, the one arresting him was entitled to the reward. Newton County v. Doolittle, 72 Miss. 929, 18 S 451.

---

67. State v. Ost, 129 Minn. 520, 152 NW 866.

68. See cases infra this note.

[a] If the reward is offered for the apprehension of runaway slaves it cannot be recovered by one who apprehended the negroes when they were returning to their owner. Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

[b] Guilty persons.—If the reward is offered for the arrest of the persons who committed a burglary the claimant must show that the persons whose arrest he caused but who escaped from jail were the guilty parties. Annis v. Conner, 43 Ark. 337.

69. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22.

[a] Where stolen money was under the control of accused in an unknown place, it is immaterial that it was not in his physical possession, to render arrest by claimants to reward a legal one under the statute. Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 10 SW (2d) 534.

70. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398.

71. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22.

72. Moore v. Peace, 97 SW 762, 30 KyL 193; Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398; Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [rev (Civ. A.) 293 SW 339].

73. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398.

74. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22.

75. Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

76. Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

77. Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

78. Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Anderson v. Pierce County, 40 Nebr. 481, 58 NW 955; Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

79. Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365. And see supra § 45.

80. Currie v. Swindall, 33 N. C. 361; Bent v. Wakefield Bank, 4 C. P. D. 1.

81. Sunflower County v. Wright, 111 Miss. 790, 72 S 226; Oktibbeha County v. Cottrell, 70 Miss. 117, 12 S 156.

82. Sunflower County v. Wright, 111 Miss. 790, 72 S 226; Oktibbeha County v. Cottrell, 70 Miss. 117, 12 S 156; Currie v. Swindall, 33 N. C. 361; Bent v. Wakefield Bank, 4 C. P. D. 1.

[a] Parties assisting in surrender to protect accused from violence without knowledge of reward are not entitled thereto. Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

83. Taft v. Hyatt, supra.

84. Hogg v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 370.

85. Mudd v. Woodside, 136 Ky. 296, 124 SW 321.

86. Ky.—Nall v. Proctor, 3 Metc. 447.

Md.—Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

Miss.—Gould v. Chickasaw County, 85 Miss. 123, 37 S 710.

N. C.—Currie v. Swindall, 33 N. C. 361.

Pa.—Juniata County v. McDonald, 122 Pa. 115, 15 A 696.

S. C.—Clanton v. Young, 45 S. C. L. 546.

Tex.—Adair v. Cooper, 25 Tex. 548.

[a] Delivery to wrong jail, where proper one was specified in offer, does not defeat right to a reward for the arrest and delivery of a fugitive. Collier v. Green, 205 Ky. 361, 265 SW 812; Stephens v. Brooks, 2 Bush (Ky.) 137.

87. Hewitt v. Lamb, 130 Ga. 709, 61 SE 716, 14 AnnCas 800.

[a] Where A offered a reward for the arrest of B and his delivery to a sheriff in Georgia, and C, with the assistance of others, arrested B in California and delivered him to the agent of the state of Georgia, who brought him to Georgia and delivered him to the sheriff, C having made the arrest in California was held to be entitled to the reward. Hewitt v. Lamb, 130 Ga. 709, 61 SE 716.

88. Harrison County v. Hurst, 110 Miss. 716, 70 S 889.

89. Harrison County v. Hurst, supra.

90. Stone v. Dysert, 20 Kan. 123; Stephens v. Brooks, 2 Bush (Ky.) 137.

91. Mosley v. Stone, 108 Ky. 492, 56 SW 965, 22 KyL 173.

92. Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

the terms are construed copulatively[93] and the claimant must show that he caused both the arrest and the subsequent conviction,[94] as both are conditions precedent to his recovery.[95] Moreover, such an offer must be enforced as an entirety, or not at all,[96] and the reward cannot be apportioned between what is due for the arrest and what due for the conviction.[97] However, the reward may be recovered if a conviction is prevented by the offerer[98] or by lawful authority,[99] but the failure of prosecuting officers to charge accused with the crime named in the offer does not entitle a claimant to such reward.[1] Likewise, if the offenders are killed resisting arrest, a reward for their arrest and conviction is recoverable,[2] but on the other hand, if a conviction is prevented by the suicide of the offender, the reward cannot be recovered.[3]

Furnishing information. The authorities are not in accord on the performance required of the claimant to a reward for an arrest and conviction.[4] One line of decisions reasons that since such an offer is not to be literally construed,[5] there is a substantial compliance[6] by one who gives, to the proper person interested,[7] information which leads to the arrest and subsequent conviction of the offender,[8] although he neither makes the arrest himself[9] nor testifies at the trial.[10] Other cases follow a contrary rule, to the effect that the mere furnishing of information leading to an arrest and conviction does not entitle one to a reward,[11] claimant having to show that the arrest was made by him[12] or by another under his direction,[13] and he must also show some active agency in procuring the conviction.[14]

[§ 55] (2) What Is "Conviction"—(a) In Gen-

---

[93] Caryl v. State, supra.

[94] Ala.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 Am SR 48.

Cal.—Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634.

Ill.—Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278.

Mo.—Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. Y.—Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

Pa.—Rinehart v. Lancaster, 3 Pa. Cas. 210, 6 A 91; Ringler v. Bushong, 43 Pa. Co. 138.

Wash.—Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

Ont.—Fortier v. Wilson, 11 U. C. C. P., 495.

[a] Plaintiff must have been principally instrumental in securing the arrest and conviction. Rinehart v. Lancaster, 18 WklyNC (Pa.) 364.

[b] Conviction of precise offense.—(1) Conviction for murder of person other than one named in reward does not entitle party to reward. Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792. (2) Where the reward was for the detection and conviction of any person who may be guilty of feloniously setting fire to a building and the evidence shows that a person was convicted of setting fire to a building, but the court could not infer that it was feloniously done, a recovery of such reward was not allowed. Mead v. Boston, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 404. (3) A reward for the detection and conviction of persons who "set fire to any building destroyed" is not earned by the detection and conviction of a person who set fire to a building where the fire went out before any very substantial damage was done, since the injury did not amount to a destruction within the meaning of the offer. Gardner v. Hartford, 14 Conn. 195. (4) The offer of a reward by a telephone company for the conviction of persons tearing down or cutting wire or obstructing the transmission of messages does not apply to the cutting of a dead wire, since that does not interfere with messages. Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Priest, 31 Tex. Civ. A. 345, 72 SW 241.

[95] Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 Am SR 278; Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386; Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Fortier v. Wilson, 11 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 495.

[96] Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 Am SR 278; Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 153, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809.

[97] Van Horn v. Ricks Water Co., 115 Cal. 448, 47 P 361; Williams v. West Chicago R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809.

[98] Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Goodnight, 10 Bush (Ky.) 552, 19 AmR 80; Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

[99] Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192; Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

[a] Suspension of judgment, after verdict of guilty, or motion of district attorney. Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192.

[1] Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

[2] Smith v. State, 38 Nev. 477, 151 P 512, LRA1916A 1276.

[3] Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792; Fortier v. Wilson, 11 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 495.

[4] Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

[5] Construction of offer see supra §§ 18-20.

[6] Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662; Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen (Mass.) 151, 85 AmD 747; Kinn v. First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[7] Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

[8] Kan.—Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 86 Kan. 305, 310, 120 P 542, 46 LRANS 662 [cit Cyc].

Me.—Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

Mass.—Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray 374; Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen 151, 85 AmD 747.

Mich.—Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

Mo.—Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

Tex.—Choice v. Dallas, (Civ. A.) 210 SW 753; Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

Wis.—Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969.

[a] The service contemplated is the obtaining and giving to some proper person interested sufficient information in relation to the perpetrator of the crime and his whereabouts as to authorize and secure the arrest of the offender, and subsequently to procure his conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction. Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155.

[b] The information must have been given before the apprehension to entitle the informer to the reward, even though such information brought about the conviction. Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Rogers v. McCoach, 66 Misc. 85, 120 NYS 686.

[9] Kan.—Elkins v. Wyandotte County, 91 Kan. 518, 138 P 578, 51 LRANS 638, AnnCas1915D 257 [reh den 92 Kan. 299, 140 P 896, 51 LRANS 639].

Mass.—Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray 374.

Pa.—Berks County v. Stroble, 11 Pa. Dist. & Co. 327.

Tex.—Choice v. Dallas, (Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

Wis.—Kinn v. First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[10] Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray (Mass.) 374; Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

[11] Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532; Williams v. Chicago St. R. Co., 119 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 Am SR 278; Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386; Berks County v. Stroble, 11 Pa. Dist. & Co., 327; Ringler v. Bushong, 43 Pa. Co. 138.

[a] Identifying parties already under arrest, not having done anything toward their capture or conviction, would not entitle one to the reward. Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 Am SR 278.

[12] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48; Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386; Berks County v. Stroble, 11 Pa. Dist. & Co. 327; Ringler v. Bushong, 43 Pa. Co. 138.

[13] Ringler v. Bushong, supra.

[14] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828; Lovejoy v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. A. 386.

[a] Claimant must furnish proof to convict.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

eral. The word "conviction" in the offer is to be taken in its popular sense[15] and it includes a plea[16] or verdict of guilty,[17] even though not followed by a sentence.[18] If an appeal from the judgment be taken, the reward is not earned until final conviction.[19]

[§ 56] (b) Secured by Other Evidence. The communication of suspicions as to the guilt of a person whose arrest and conviction are secured by other evidence is not a compliance with the terms of the offer.[20]

[§ 57] (3) Claiming and Receiving Witness' Fees. It does not prejudice one in his claim for a reward for the arrest and conviction of the one testified against, that he claims[21] and receives witness' fees for attendance at the trial.[22]

[§ 58] e. Recovery of Stolen Property—(1) In General. To be entitled to a reward for the recovery of stolen property the claimant must of course show that he was instrumental in bringing about such recovery.[23] Hence, the one imparting to the proper person knowledge of the facts which leads to the discovery of the things stolen, with a view of obtaining the promised reward,[24] is entitled to it.[25] But he who is merely the conduit through which the recovery is passed,[26] and simply makes the actual seizure in consequence of such information, is not so entitled.[27]

[§ 59] (2) When Apprehension of Thief Is Required. If the reward is offered for the apprehension of the thief and the recovery of the stolen property both conditions must be performed in order to make the offerer liable.[28]

[§ 60] (3) When Detection of Thief Is Required. One who gives the owners of stolen property, who have offered a reward for its recovery and detection of the thief, information by which, with reasonable diligence on their part, they are enabled to recover the property and detect the thief, is entitled to the reward.[29]

[§ 61] f. Return of Lost Property—(1) In General. Independently of statutory provisions requiring a reward to the finder of lost goods,[30] he is not entitled to a reward for restoring it to the owner if none has been offered;[31] although he may be entitled to compensation for his expense in preserving the property.[32] But he is entitled to a reward if one has been offered,[33] provided the return is voluntary,[34]

---

15. Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

[a] But the judgment of a juvenile court, committing a child to a training school for delinquency, is not a conviction under an offer of reward. McCrary v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 37 Ga. A. 670, 141 SE 416.

16. Haskell v. Davidson, 91 Me. 488, 40 A 330, 64 AmSR 254, 42 LRA 155; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

17. Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

18. Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192; Stone v. Wickliffe, 106 Ky. 252, 50 SW 44, 20 KyL 1806; Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 86, 31 AmSR 738.

[a] An order arresting judgment and discharging the prisoner does not set aside a verdict of guilty in a criminal case; and such verdict is nevertheless a conviction, within the meaning of a contract to pay a reward for the conviction of the person guilty of the offense in question. Buckley v. Schwartz, 83 Wis. 304, 53 NW 511.

19. Stone v. Wickliffe, 106 Ky. 252, 50 SW 44, 20 KyL 1806; Scott v. American Express Co., (Mo. A.) 233 SW 492.

[a] Where convicted defendant died pending his appeal from judgment of conviction there was no liability on the offerer of the reward, since the contract contemplated a final conviction. Scott v. American Express Co., (Mo. A.) 233 SW 492.

20. Burke v. Wells, 50 Cal. 218; Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Austin v. Milwaukee County, 24 Wis. 278.

21. Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

22. Smith v. Vernon County, supra.

23. Brague v. Lord, 67 N. Y. 495. 2 AbbNCas 1.

[a] A servant whose information to a mistress was the first cause of suspicion is not entitled to any part of a reward offered for the restoration of stolen property, where such information was not given with the intention of inducing the mistress to act, or of becoming a party to any ensuing proceedings. City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 95.

[b] Putting the owner in possession of the horse, for the return of which the offer was made, is not necessary to maintain an action for a reward "for the return of a stolen horse." Plaintiff was only required to find and offer to return the animal. Everman v. Hyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284.

24. To whom information must be given see supra § 46.

Reliance on offer see infra § 69.

25. Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596; City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 95.

[a] The criterion in such a case is: Who acquired and imparted the knowledge necessary to the discovery, with the intent and purpose of bringing about a restoration of the property, taking the risks of failure and acting with a view to the benefits if successful. City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 95.

26. City Bank v. Bangs, supra.

27. Atwood v. Armstrong, 102 App. Div. 601, 92 NYS 596; City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 95.

28. Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228.

[a] Neither the apprehension of the forger nor the recovery of the money, or any part of it, alone, comes within the terms of an offer of reward for the apprehension of a forger and the recovery of the money or a proportionate part thereof. Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228.

29. Besse v. Dyer, 9 Allen (Mass.) 151, 85 AmD 747.

30. See Finding Lost Goods § 14.

31. Cal.—Berthiaume v. Doe, 22 Cal. A. 78, 133 P 513.

Iowa.—Dougherty v. Posegate, 3 Iowa 88.

Mass.—Wentworth v. Day, 3 Metc. 352, 37 AmD 145.

N. Y.—Amory v. Flyn, 10 Johns. 102, 6 AmD 316.

Or.—Watts v. Ward, 1 Or. 86, 62 AmD 299.

[a] The finder of a public document, paper, or record, or one into whose hands such an instrument comes by finding or otherwise, gains no such property in the same as to authorize him to estimate what the value of the document may be to him, to whom it may belong, or who may have an interest therein, and to withhold the same from the rightful owner or lawful custodian until the sum estimated or demanded for the picking up and keeping shall be paid. De la O v. Acoma, 1 N. M. 226.

[b] The Roman law denied to the finder of lost property a reward for finding it. 2 Kent Comm. p 356 [cit Dig. 47, 2, 44, §§ 4-10].

32. See Finding Lost Goods § 14.

33. Berthiaume v. Doe, 22 Cal. A. 78, 133 P 515; Wentworth v. Day, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 352, 37 AmD 145; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

[a] Insisting upon the identification of the property before restoring it does not waive the right to claim the reward. Wood v. Pierson, 45 Mich. 313, 7 NW 888.

[b] Refusal of agent to disclose name of finder.—The reward cannot be recovered back because the agent or lawyer who returned the property refused to disclose the name of the finder and made threats. Grady v. Crook, 2 AbbNCas 53 [aff 72 N. Y. 612].

34. Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969.

Lien of finder see infra § 63.

and within the terms of the offer.[35] However, a distinction is made between lost and mislaid property,[36] it being held that a reward for the return of lost property is not earned by one who finds it where it has been deposited.[37]

[§ 62] (2) Return of Part of Property. If only part of the lost property is restored to the loser, the finder is so entitled to a proportionate part of the reward.[38]

[§ 63] (3) Lien of Finder. If the reward offered is definite and certain, the finder has a lien on the property[39] to the amount of the reward[40] until it is paid.[41] But if the offer is indefinite,[42] such as that of a "liberal reward,"[43] the finder has no lien.[44]

[§ 64] D. Part Performance[45]—1. In General. Where the offer of a reward is entire,[46] the general rule may be stated to be that the person who performs only part of the service or services requested is not entitled to any of the reward,[47] since an entire contract is not apportionable[48] and also because such part performance is not a compliance with the terms of the offer.[49] But this rule has been held not to apply to offers of rewards for the recovery of lost goods or property.[50]

[§ 65] 2. Where Complete Performance Prevented.[51] When the claimant has performed part of the service and is prevented by the offerer,[52] or by those for whose acts he is responsible,[53] or by proper legal authorities,[54] from completing the work, he is entitled to the whole reward,[55] or at least to compensation on a quantum meruit.[56]

[§ 66] E. Performance without Knowledge of Offer—1. In General. Upon the proposition of the right of one to recover a reward for services performed without knowledge of the offer, there exists a hopeless conflict of authority.[57] By some courts it is held that a previous knowledge of the offer is not necessary to a recovery,[58] while in what seems to be a majority of the jurisdictions, the rule is that such knowledge is a prerequisite.[59]

---

[35] Simpson v. Twenty-Eighth St. Co., 92 Misc. 399, 156 NYS 87; Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375.

[a] Where the property was not lost or was not recovered within the terms of the advertised offer, the reward cannot be said to be earned. Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375.

[b] One merely giving information that leads to the recovery of property by criminal proceeding does not comply with an offer of reward for "return of property, no questions asked." Simpson v. Twenty-Eighth St. Co., 92 Misc. 399, 156 NYS 87.

[36] McAvoy v. Medina, 11 Allen (Mass.) 548, 87 AmD 733; Sovern v. Yoran, 16 Or. 269, 20 P 100, 8 AmSR 293; Huthmacher v. Harris, 38 Pa. 491, 80 AmD 502.

[37] Kincaid v. Eaton, 98 Mass. 139, 93 AmD 142; Commercial Bank v. Pleasants, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 375.

[38] Hawk v. Marion County, 48 Iowa 472; Deslondes v. Wilson, 5 La. 397, 25 AmD 187; Symmes v. Frazier, 6 Mass. 344, 4 AmD 142.

[a] It is consistent with honesty and fair dealing, and not inconsistent with any principle of law to allow a pro rata share of the reward offered to the finder of part of the lost property. Symmes v. Frazier, 6 Mass. 344, 4 AmD 142.

[39] Ind.—Everman v. Hyman, 3 Ind. A. 459, 29 NE 1140.

Md.—Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill 213.

Mass.—Preston v. Neale, 12 Gray 222; Wentworth v. Day, 3 Metc. 352, 37 AmD 145.

Mich.—Wood v. Pierson, 45 Mich. 313, 7 NW 888.

Or.—MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas1913B 1275.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

[40] Preston v. Neale, 12 Gray (Mass.) 222; Wood v. Pierson, 45 Mich. 313, 7 NW 888; MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas 1913B 1275.

[41] Ind.—Everman v. Hyman, 3 Ind. A. 459, 29 NE 1140.

Md.—Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill 213.

Mass.—Wentworth v. Day, 3 Metc. 352, 37 AmD 145.

Mich.—Wood v. Pierson, 45 Mich. 313, 7 NW 888.

Or.—MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas1913B 1275.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484.

[42] Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill (Md.) 213.

[a] Where no reward is offered, the finder of lost property is not entitled to a lien. Hendler v. Perkins, 4 Pa. Super. 344.

[43] Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill (Md.) 213.

[a] Who would be the judge of the liberality of the reward? The owner does not by his offer design to make the recoverer the exclusive judge, and it is as unreasonable and unjust that the offerer should be the exclusive judge. In the event of a disagreement between them the amount would have to be ascertained by a judicial tribunal, involving the delays incident to litigation, and it would be a gross perversion of the intention of the owner that he be deprived of possession of his property until the delays of litigation were exhausted. Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill (Md.) 213.

[44] Wilson v. Guyton, supra. But see Baker v. Hoag, 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 113 (holding that a promise "to see the finder paid" might entitle the finder to receive his compensation before he parted with possession of the property).

[45] Part performance before offer made see supra § 38.

[46] Entire and severable or divisible contracts see Contracts § 525.

[47] Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228. See Contracts § 787.

[a] Arrest and conviction of one of several murderers.—Where a reward is offered for the arrest and conviction of any one implicated in the murder of several persons, performance is not sufficient where one is arrested and convicted who was implicated in the murder of but one of the persons mentioned in the offer. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[48] Van Horn v. Ricks Water Co., 115 Cal. 448, 47 P 361; Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456; Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809; Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679.

[a] Insufficiency of part performance.—If the promise is to pay so much money for the arrest of two persons, it is an entire proposition which, when acted upon by any person, would constitute a contract single in its nature, and not subject to apportionment under rules recognized wherever the common law is in force. Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679.

[49] Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310; Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N. Y. 228.

[50] Return of part of property see supra § 62.

[51] Conviction prevented see supra § 54 notes 98–3.

Delivery prevented see supra § 53 notes 90, 91.

[52] Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[53] Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Goodnight, 10 Bush (Ky.) 552, 19 AmR 80; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 522, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793 [cit Cyc].

[a] Where attorneys of offerer by solicitation caused indictments to be dismissed against offenders in order to use them as witnesses, the plaintiff who captured them is entitled to the reward for their capture and conviction. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Goodnight, 10 Bush (Ky.) 522, 19 AmR 80.

[54] Stone v. Dysert, 20 Kan. 123.

[55] Stone v. Dysert, supra; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Goodnight, 10 Bush (Ky.) 552, 19 AmR 80; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas 1914A 793.

[56] Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679; Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793.

[57] Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

[a] Decisions on both sides base the rule on the same case, that of Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, although their interpretations are opposed to each other. Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833.

[b] The weight of authority is claimed by proponents of each rule. (1) The weight of authority is that knowledge of the offer is not essential. Drummond v. U. S., 35 Ct. Cl. 356; Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833. (2) The weight of authority supports the view that knowledge is necessary.

Statutory rewards are the subject of a further distinction from private rewards, it being suggested[60] and held that knowledge of a statutory reward is not necessary[61] for the reason that a legal right is given without the aid of contract.[62]

[§ 67] 2. Rule That Knowledge Is Not Necessary. The rule applied in some jurisdictions is that the person performing the services is entitled to the reward, although he did not know of the offer at the time.[63]

[§ 68] 3. Rule That Knowledge Is Necessary. Adhering to the contractual basis of the offer of a reward and its acceptance,[64] this rule requires a knowledge of the offer by the person rendering the service in order to entitle him to a reward,[65] arguing that without such knowledge there can be no meeting of the minds,[66] hence no contract.[67] However, where performance is completed after acquiring knowledge of the offer, although begun in ignorance thereof, those performing the services may recover the reward.[68]

[§ 69] 4. Reliance on Offer. The authorities are also in conflict on the question of the necessity of a reliance on the reward by the one performing the services.[69] Obviously if the reward is to be relied upon knowledge of it is necessary.[70] One theory is that the motives actuating the performance are immaterial[71] and cannot be inquired into,[72] while on the other hand it is held that the services must be

---

Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534.

[58] See infra § 67.

[59] See infra § 68.

[60] Drummond v. U. S., 35 Ct. Cl. 356; Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670; Clinton County v. Davis, 162 Ind. 60, 69 NE 680, 64 LRA 780, 1 AnnCas 282; Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057.

[61] Smith v. State, 38 Nev. 477, 151 P 512, LRA1916A 1276; Choice v. Dallas, (Tex. Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

[62] Smith v. State, 38 Nev. 477, 151 P 512, LRA1916A 1276; Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057; Choice v. Dallas, (Tex. Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

[63] U. S.—Drummond v. U. S., 35 Ct. Cl. 356.

Del.—Eagle v. Smith, 9 Del. 293.

Ind.—Sullivan v. Phillips, 178 Ind. 164, 98 NE 868, AnnCas1915B 670; Monroe County v. Wood, 39 Ind. 345; Dawkins v. Sappington, 26 Ind. 199; Everman v. Hyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284.

Ky.—Auditor v. Ballard, 9 Bush 572, 15 AmR 728 [overr Lee v. Flemingsburg, 7 Dana 28].

Mass.—Crawshaw v. Roxbury, 7 Gray 374.

Vt.—Russell v. Stewart, 44 Vt. 170.

Eng.—Gibbons v. Proctor, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 594.

[a] Reason for rule.—As it is unnecessary that the one performing the services be induced to do so by the reward, on a parity of reasoning there is no more necessity that he should have even known it was offered before he did it. Eagle v. Smith, 9 Del. 293.

[b] A leading case on this theory is Auditor v. Ballard, 9 Bush (Ky.) 572, 575, 15 AmR 728, where the appellee was refused a reward because he did not know, when arresting and delivering a fugitive, that it had been offered. The court declared: "If the offer was made in good faith, why should the state inquire whether appellee knew that it had been made. Would the benefit to the state be diminished by a discovery of the fact that the appellee, instead of acting from mercenary motives, had been actuated solely by a desire to prevent the escape of a fugitive and to bring a felon to trial."

[64] See supra § 2; and infra notes 65–67.

[65] Ala.—Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544.

Ark.—Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534.

Cal.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111; Hewitt v. Anderson, 56 Cal. 476, 38 AmR 65.

Conn.—Marvin v. Treat, 37 Conn. 96, 9 AmR 307.

Ill.—Williams v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 191 Ill. 610, 61 NE 456, 85 AmSR 278; Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Police Pension Fund v. Railway Ticket Protective Bureau, 175 Ill. A. 464; Van Vlissingen v. Manning, 105 Ill. A. 255; Ensminger v. Horn, 70 Ill. A. 605; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 16 Ill. A. 181.

Kan.—Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561.

Mich.—Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

Minn.—Forsythe v. Murnane, 113 Minn. 181, 129 NW 134.

Miss.—Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Messer, 112 Miss. 267, 72 S 1004.

Mo.—Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135; Stone v. St. Louis Union Trust Co., 150 Mo. A. 331, 333, 130 SW 825 [quot Cyc]; Sanderson v. Lane, 43 Mo. A. 158.

N. Y.—Howland v. Lounds, 51 N. Y. 604, 10 AmR 654; Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791; Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969; Vitty v. Eley, 51 App. Div. 46, 64 NYS 397; Rubenstein v. Frost, 116 NYS 681; City Bank v. Bangs, 2 Edw. 95.

N. D.—Couch v. State, 14 N. D. 361, 103 NW 942.

Pa.—Smith v. Lancaster County, 29 Pa. Dist. 902. Contra Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833 (holding that weight of authority is that previous knowledge is not necessary).

Tenn.—Stamper v. Temple, 6 Humphr. 113, 14 AmD 296.

Tex.—Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057; Choice v. Dallas, (Civ. A.) 210 SW 753; Tobin v. McComb, (Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

Wis.—Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] "The liability must be created, if at all, by contract. One may do such things as are specified in the offer, but, in so doing, does not act in performance of it, and therefore does not accept it, when he is ignorant of its being made. There is no such mutual agreement of minds as is essential to a contract." Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 377, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057.

[b] Where reward is for the return of lost property, it is immaterial that the property be found before the finder knows of the reward, the reward being for the return, not the finding. MacFarlane v. Bloch, 59 Or. 1, 115 P 1056, AnnCas1913B 1275; Hosier v. Northampton Horse Ins. Co., 21 Pa. Dist. 1001.

[66] Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561; Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057.

[67] Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057.

[a] Without a meeting of the minds it is impossible to see how a reward can be brought into the classification of a contract; an aggregatio mentium cannot exist without the acceptance of an offer, express or implied, or from a fiction of law. Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59.

[b] No implication of a contractual relation arises unless the person performing the services knew of the offer at the time. Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64.

[68] Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

Performance prior to offer see supra § 38.

[69] See infra notes 71–75.

[70] Rule that knowledge is necessary see supra § 68.

[71] Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133.

[a] Although induced by other motives than the reward, namely, to ease her conscience, plaintiff was held entitled to the reward as having performed the required services. The question of her knowledge of the offer is not entered into. Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133.

[72] Williams v. Carwardine, supra.

given voluntarily[73] with a view to obtaining the reward.[74] Hence one performing the required services with knowledge of the offer of reward but without any intention of claiming it cannot recover.[75]

[§ 70] F. Effect of Performance. If an offer is acted upon before its expiration[76] or revocation,[77] the offer and the acceptance by performance become a valid contract,[78] based upon a sufficient consideration,[79] upon which an action will lie to recover the amount of reward offered.[80]

VIII. PAYMENT AND APPORTIONMENT

[§ 71] A. In General. A reward is to be paid to the person or persons who perform, at least substantially, the services required.[81] But where the persons performing the services are disqualified to claim the reward,[82] others whose services proximately contributed to such performance may receive it.[83] Rewards are apportionable among several claimants who participated in the performance of the required services under certain circumstances.[84] However, there can be no apportionment to one whose participation was of no great consequence,[85] and no difficulty of apportionment will justify an order redistributing the reward among its donors who do not claim it.[86]

[§ 72] B. When Claimants Acting in Concert. If two or more claimants of a reward have performed the services required by concerted action, they are entitled to an equitable[87] distribution among themselves,[88] in proportion to the relative value of their

---

73. Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969.

74. Ark.—Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534.

Cal.—Hewitt v. Anderson, 56 Cal. 476, 38 AmR 65; Burke v. Wells, 50 Cal. 218.

Ill.—Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sebring, 16 Ill. A. 181.

Kan.—Taft v. Hyatt, 105 Kan. 35, 180 P 213, 181 P 561 [cit Cyc].

Mich.—Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

Mo.—Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

N. Y.—Howland v. Lounds, 51 N. Y. 604, 10 AmR 654; Vitty v. Eley, 51 App. Div. 44, 64 NYS 397.

Tex.—Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 Tex. 375, 99 SW 1111, 9 LRANS 1057; Choice v. Dallas, (Civ. A.) 210 SW 753.

75. Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534; Hewitt v. Anderson, 56 Cal. 476, 38 AmR 65; Smith v. Vernon County, 188 Mo. 501, 87 SW 949, 107 AmSR 324, 70 LRA 59; Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 72, 165 SW 1135 [cit Cyc]; Sheldon v. George, 132 App. Div. 470, 116 NYS 969.

[a] When a statutory reward directed payment to be made to the person "who shall in consequence of such offer apprehend any person . . . charged with a capital or high crime," it was held that under the plain language of the statute there could be no recovery for what was not done in consequence of the offer. Abel v. Pembroke, 61 N. H. 357.

76. Expiration by lapse of time see supra § 17.

77. Revocation see supra §§ 15, 16.

78. Ala.—Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 40 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

Cal.—Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Berthiaume v. Doe, 22 Cal. A. 78, 133 P 515.

Ill.—Von Vlissingen v. Manning, 105 Ill. A. 255.

Ind.—Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfiel, 102 Ind. 146, 1 NE 382, 52 AmR 657; Harson v. Pike, 16 Ind. 140.

Me.—Mitchell v. Abbott, 86 Me. 338, 29 A 1118, 41 AmSR 559, 25 LRA 503.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. Y.—Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

Pa.—Cummings v. Gann, 52 Pa. 484, 490. See Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833.

Philippine.—De la Rosa v. Philippine Islands Bank, 51 Philippine 926.

Tex.—Kasling v. Morris, 71 Tex. 584, 9 SW 739, 10 AmSR 797.

Wis.—Zwolanek v. Baker Mfg. Co., 150 Wis. 517, 137 NW 769, 44 LRANS 1214, AnnCas1914A 793; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] It is elementary that where a party publishes an offer to the world, and before it is withdrawn another acts upon it, the party making the offer is bound to perform his promise. Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfiel, 102 Ind. 146, 1 NE 382, 52 AmR 657.

[b] If plaintiff accepted and performed in reliance on the offer before it was revoked a valid contract was thereby consummated. Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

[c] There is no consideration for one's agreement to take less than the amount offered for the best exhibit at a fair, where the exhibitor has become entitled to the sum originally offered. Murray v. Walker, 83 Iowa 202, 48 NW 1075.

79. Consideration see supra §§ 23, 24.

80. Actions see infra § 74 et seq.

81. Effect of performance see supra § 70.

Substantial performance see supra § 40.

82. Who may claim reward see supra §§ 28–34.

83. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

[a] Where the offerer waives substantial performance as by interpleader, it admits that some one of the defendants is entitled to the reward, and, if the officers making the actual arrest are disqualified, other persons proximately aiding in the accomplishment of the required service will receive it. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

84. See infra §§ 72, 73.

85. Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858.

86. Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27.

[a] When the offerer interpleads, the reward cannot be returned to it. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

87. Iowa.—Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27.

Mich.—Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

Minn.—Forsythe v. Murnane, 113 Minn. 181, 129 NW 134.

Oh.—Rea v. Smith, 2 Handy 193, 12 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 398.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

88. Ark.—Chambers v. Ogle, 117 Ark. 242, 174 SW 532.

Iowa.—Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27.

Ky.—Tomlinson v. Phœnix, 8 Ky. Op. 547.

Md.—Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

Mich.—Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

Nebr.—Elkhorn Valley Lodge No. 57, I. O. O. F. v. Hudson, 59 Nebr. 672, 81 NW 859.

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

N. Y.—Fargo v. Arthur, 43 HowPr 193.

Oh.—Rea v. Smith, 2 Handy 193, 12 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 398.

Or.—Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

Pa.—Peoples Trust Co. v. Davis, 5 Pa. Dist. & Co. 431; Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833; Com. v. Heist, 39 Pa. Co. 392.

Wis.—Kinn v. Mineral Point First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[a] Trainman, the first to furnish information, who assisted officers in the arrest and was ready to testify at the trial is entitled to participate in the reward. Benton v. Kentucky Bankers' Assoc., 211 Ky. 554, 277 SW 858.

[b] Concert a question of fact.—Where several persons searched for a dead body for the recovery of which services.[89] However, there seems to be no arbitrary rule as to the carrying out of such distribution.[90] Where they join in claiming a reward it need not be shown that each did all of the work,[91] it being sufficient that each performed an essential part[92] and that through their joint efforts the terms and conditions of the offer were satisfied.[93]

[§ 73] C. When Claimants Not Acting in Concert. It is generally held that if the service demanded is done by several persons not acting in concert one with another he alone is entitled to the reward who first complied with the offer.[94] However, there is a line of cases allowing an equitable[95] apportionment among several claimants not acting in concert[96] or even acting unknown to each other[97] where, but for the acts of each of the independent parties, the required services would not have been performed.[98]

IX. ACTIONS

[§ 74] A. Right of Action. A right of action to recover a reward accrues to plaintiff upon his doing the act or performing the service for which the reward was offered.[99] But any conditions precedent to the right to maintain the action must, of course, be complied with.[1] Where the offering of rewards for certain purposes and the payment of them is intrusted by statute to the discretion of the governor of the state, no action will lie against the state for a reward which the governor has refused to pay.[2] Claims for services to a county under a reward offered therefor by its board of supervisors have been held to be within the exclusive jurisdiction of such board,[3] its disposition not being subject to review upon the facts;[4] and no action will lie against the county therefor after the board has considered and rejected them.[5]

[§ 75] B. Form of Action. The ordinary form of a reward had been offered, and it was found by one, the question whether he acted independently or jointly with the other searchers is a question of fact. Elkhorn Valley Lodge No. 57 I. O. O. F. v. Hudson, 59 Nebr. 672, 81 NW 859.

---

[c] Not partners.—The mere fact that two or more persons act together in making an arrest does not make them partners so as to authorize one to make an agreement with a stranger concerning the division of the reward which will bind the others. Hart v. Green, 16 Colo. A. 70, 65 P 344.

89. Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662; Fargo v. Arthur, 43 HowPr (N. Y.) 193; Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761; Peoples Trust Co. v. Davis, 5 Pa. Dist. & Co. 431.

[a] Where the information is supplied by several and is not a repetition of the same facts, but information of independent facts, the whole combining to satisfy the terms and conditions of the offer, the distribution among the claimants should be based on the relative value of their acts. Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662; Fargo v. Arthur, 43 HowPr (N. Y.) 193; Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

90. Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662.

[a] Equal distribution of the reward is sometimes made to those acting in concert. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699; Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Tomlinson v. Phœnix, 8 Ky. Op. 547.

91. Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

[a] Simultaneous action between those acting in concert is unnecessary, neither must they all have been originally concerned in the performance of the services. Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

92. Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418; Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833.

93. Maggi v. Cassiday, 190 Iowa 933, 181 NW 27; Oldfield v. Reading, 18 Pa. Dist. 833.

94. Ark.—Stroud v. Garrison, 24 Ark. 53.

Nebr.—Elkhorn Valley Lodge No. 57, I. O. O. F. v. Hudson, 59 Nebr. 672, 81 NW 859.

N. H.—Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

Tenn.—Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

Wash.—Hall v. State, 102 Wash. 519, 173 P 429.

Eng.—Thatcher v. England, 3 C. B. 254, 54 ECL 254, 136 Reprint 102.

[a] No sufficient concert of action exists, where a prisoner escaping from an officer surrenders to a citizen during the pursuit, to entitle the citizen to a portion of the reward. Stair v. Heska Amone Cong., 128 Tenn. 190, 159 SW 840.

[b] That it is difficult to determine, in some cases, whether persons are in concert or not does not affect the rule. Elkhorn Valley Lodge No. 57, I. O. O. F. v. Hudson, 59 Nebr. 672, 81 NW 859; Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185.

[c] All of those independently pursuing robbers, in an effort to secure a reward, without any agreement of concerted action, are not entitled to participate in the reward on the capture effectuated by some of them. Cotton v. Downs, 168 Ark. 736, 271 SW 340.

What constitutes compliance see supra § 39.

95. Cotton v. Downs, 168 Ark. 736, 271 SW 340; Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

96. Cotton v. Downs, 168 Ark. 736, 271 SW 340; Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas 1915B 662; Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761; Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237, 240 [cit Cyc].

[a] Although not actively in concert with those actually capturing the persons for whose apprehension the reward is offered, one who furnishes information leading to their capture is entitled to an equitable portion of the reward. Umatilla County v. Estes, 105 Or. 248, 208 P 761.

[b] Where an independent party drove robbers into the hands of another party in attempting to effect their capture, it being clear that but for his pursuit they would not have been captured in that place and manner, he is entitled to share in the reward. Cotton v. Downs, 168 Ark. 736, 271 SW 340.

[c] Parties acting independently cannot complain of court's action in interpleader suit in dividing the reward among them where there was no concert of action, and no claimant alone met the terms of the offer and accomplished its purpose. Rochelle v. Pacific Exp. Co., 56 Tex. A. 142, 120 SW 543.

97. Cotton v. Downs, 168 Ark. 736, 271 SW 340; Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

98. Cotton v. Downs, 168 Ark. 736, 271 SW 340; Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas 1915B 662.

[a] One need not perform the whole service alone to be entitled to a part of the reward. Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

99. Morrell v. Quarles, 35 Ala. 544; Ryer v. Stockwell, 14 Cal. 134, 73 AmD 634; Pierson v. Morch, 82 N. Y. 503; Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] Assignment after action commenced does not operate to defeat the action. Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477.

Determination by offerer of sufficiency of performance see supra § 39 notes 95–1.

1. Necessity of performance see supra § 36. And see Actions § 72; Contracts § 791.

2. State v. Dinkins, 77 Miss. 874, 27 S 832.

3. Stamp v. Cass County, 47 Mich. 330, 11 NW 183.

Allowance of reward fixed by statute see supra § 41 notes 10–12.

4. Stamp v. Cass County, 47 Mich. 330, 11 NW 183.

5. Stamp v. Cass County, supra.

[a] One who claims all of a re- action for the recovery of a reward is assumpsit,[6] but debt may also lie.[7]

[§ 76] C. Where There Are Several Claimants—1. Parties.[8] If the services by which the reward was earned were performed by two or more persons they should sue jointly;[9] however, it has been held that the failure to join a police officer as a party plaintiff furnishes no ground for objection.[10]

Intervention.[11] Persons with the necessary interest may intervene in actions for rewards.[12]

[§ 77] 2. Interpleader. When the reward is claimed by different persons, the offerer may file a bill of interpleader.[13] Similar proceedings are sometimes adopted.[14]

[§ 78] 3. Recovery by One from Another. Although there is authority to the contrary,[15] it has been said to be the better rule[16] that the person really entitled to a reward may recover it from one to whom it was erroneously paid.[17] And the fact that one claimant sued for the reward and recovered a judgment does not affect the right of another claimant.[18]

[§ 79] D. Pleading—1. Declaration, Complaint, or Petition. In accordance with the general rules of pleadings[19] the declaration, complaint, or petition must allege every material fact which constitutes plaintiff's cause of action,[20] including the performance by plaintiff of conditions precedent to his right of action,[21] but it need not negative matters of defense.[22] It must sufficiently allege, inter alia, the contract[23] based upon the offer of defendant,[24] which was accepted by plaintiff,[25] who complied with the terms and conditions by performing the services requested.[26]

[§ 80] 2. Plea or Answer. The rules governing ward and submits the matter to a board of supervisors, who give him only a part, cannot further litigate the question. Prentiss v. Farnham, 22 Barb. (N. Y.) 519.

---

[6] Ill.—Madison First Nat. Bank v. Hart, 55 Ill. 62.

Mass.—Symmes v. Frazier, 6 Mass. 344, 4 AmD 142.

N. J.—Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

N. Y.—Fitch v. Snedaker, 38 N. Y. 248, 97 AmD 791.

Eng.—Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133; Lancaster v. Walsh, 4 M. & W. 16, 150 Reprint 16.

Assumpsit generally see Assumpsit, Action of 5 C. J. p 1378.

[7] Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[a] Debt is a concurrent remedy with indebitatus assumpsit, although assumpsit is the most usual and convenient form of action for the recovery of a reward. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[8] Parties generally see Parties 47 C. J. p 1.

[9] Goldsborough v. Cradie, 28 Md. 477; Janvrin v. Exeter, 48 N. H. 83, 2 AmR 185; Williams v. Carwardine, 4 B. & Ad. 621, 24 ECL 274, 110 Reprint 590, 5 C. & P. 566, 24 ECL 711, 172 Reprint 1101, 6 ERC 133.

[10] Jenkins v. Kelren, 12 Gray (Mass.) 330, 74 AmD 596.

[11] Intervention generally see Parties §§ 185-226.

[12] Burke v. Wells, 50 Cal. 218; Ward v. Keystone Land, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. A.) 38 SW 532.

[13] See Interpleader § 25 text and notes 93, 94.

Waiver of substantial conditions by interpleader see supra § 39 note 99 [a].

[14] See cases infra this note.

[a] Action in the nature of a bill of interpleader.—Warner v. Grace, 14 Minn. 487.

[b] Bill in equity to secure proper distribution among claimants. Peoples Trust Co. v. Davis, 5 Pa. Dist. & Co. 431.

[15] Sergeant v. Stryker, 16 N. J. L. 464, 32 AmD 404.

[a] An action will not lie for the recovery of a reward by the person entitled thereto against the person to whom it was paid through mistake or misrepresentation, for the reason that no privity is shown to exist between the parties in relation to the money sought to be recovered. Sergeant v. Stryker, 16 N. J. L. 464, 32 AmD 404.

[16] Claxton v. Kay, 101 Ark. 350, 142 SW 517, AnnCas1913E 972.

[17] Claxton v. Kay, supra; Dawson v. Gurley, 22 Ark. 381; Stephens v. Brooks, 2 Bush (Ky.) 137; Williams v. Thweatt, 46 S. C. L. 478.

[a] The rule is particularly applicable where the reward is offered by a public agency, for in such a case it is in effect held for the person entitled thereto and if one without right receives it he will be liable to an action as for money had and received for the use of him actually entitled thereto. Claxton v. Kay, 101 Ark. 350, 142 SW 517, AnnCas1913E 972.

[18] Swanton v. Ost, 74 Ill. A. 281.

[a] A court order allowing a reward to another will not preclude one who was not a party to the proceedings before the court from himself claiming it. Claxton v. Kay, 101 Ark. 350, 142 SW 517, AnnCas1913E 972.

[19] Pleading generally see Pleading 49 C. J. p 1.

[20] See cases infra this note.

[a] Allegations held sufficient.—Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111; McLeod v. Meade, 77 Cal. 87, 19 P 189; Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

[b] Allegations held insufficient.—McCrary v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 37 Ga. A. 670, 141 SE 416; Codding v. Mansfield, 7 Gray (Mass.) 272; Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310; Southwestern Land Co. v. McCallam, 41 Okl. 657, 136 P 1093.

[21] See cases infra this note.

[a] Performance of conditions precedent held sufficiently pleaded.—Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[b] Where reward is to be awarded by a jury selected under the terms of the offer, the petition must state that the reward has been awarded as so provided, or that such award was prevented by the fault of defendant. Southwestern Land Co. v. McCallam, 41 Okl. 657, 136 P 1093.

[22] See Pleading § 165; and cases infra this note.

[a] Some of claimants need not plead that others, who are police officers, are not for that reason entitled to share with them in reward. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Belek, 211 Fed. 699.

[b] Negativing revocation of offer.—If a complaint alleges an offer of a reward, and that within five days thereafter in reliance thereon plaintiff performed the services requested, it need not aver that such offer had not been revoked or withdrawn. Wilson v. Stump, 103 Cal. 255, 37 P 151, 42 AmSR 111.

[23] See Contracts 13 C. J. p 829; and supra § 2.

[24] Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1.

[a] Petition is properly dismissed on general demurrer where plaintiff sues one railroad for a reward offered by another distinct corporation, stipulating that the latter would pay the reward for persons tampering with its tracks. McCrary v. Western, etc., R. Co., 35 Ga. A. 641, 134 SE 347.

[25] See cases infra note 26.

[26] Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 NW 473, 42 AmR 731.

[a] That plaintiff was instrumental in the conviction must be alleged; it is not enough to merely allege that the prisoner was arrested upon his complaint, indicted, convicted, sentenced, and executed, where the reward was for the apprehension and conviction. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[b] That the information resulted in conviction must be alleged in an action to recover a reward "for information resulting in the conviction" of anyone tampering with the offerer's railroad property, unless there be something to render the allegation of conviction unnecessary in a particular case. McCrary v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 37 Ga. A. 670, 141 SE 416.

[c] Averment that defendant caused commitment of child to training school to escape liability for reward does not relieve plaintiff from alleging conviction to recover reward. McCrary v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 37 Ga. A. 670, 141 SE 416.

[d] Certainty.—Where the reward was offered "to any person who will give information . . . that will lead to the detection and conviction pleadings of defendants in actions on contracts for rewards are those applicable to civil actions generally,[27] subject to the restrictions imposed by the particular form of action employed.[28] Thus special defenses may be set up when proper[29] and must be specially pleaded to be available.[30]

[§ 81] 3. Issues, Proof, and Variance. The general rules that relate to such questions in other civil actions[31] govern matters of the issues,[32] proof,[33] and variance.[34]

[§ 82] E. Evidence—1. Presumptions[35] and Burden of Proof. In accordance with the general rule that the burden of proof rests on the party having the affirmative of the issue[36] the burden is on plaintiff to prove clearly all of the material elements of his cause of action for the recovery of a reward.[37] Although it is not necessary to prove that an official of a corporation who offered a reward had been authorized to do so by a resolution of the board of directors,[38] yet claimant has the burden of proving the authority of a superintendent to admit the liability of his corporation for a reward.[39] The presumption is that the act was an official transaction, where a circular having been sent by mail to plaintiff suing to recover a reward, in response to a letter directed to the superintendent, is in an official envelope and addressed in the handwriting of his secretary.[40] Where a resolution was adopted in good faith at a regular meeting of the board, and, after being signed by the commissioners individually, was attested by the county auditor, and in that form published in a newspaper, the authorized inference to be drawn from such published resolution is that the board intended in its official capacity to create a public liability.[41]

[§ 83] 2. Admissibility. As the general rules governing the admissibility of evidence in actions on contracts[42] apply to actions for rewards,[43] evidence is admissible to prove the offer,[44] the authority of

---

of the person who set fire to" a certain house. The declaration alleged that plaintiff arrested one P as the incendiary of the house and gave information thereof whereupon such proceedings were had that the prisoner was convicted. This was adjudged insufficient because "for aught the declaration states, P may have been detected before plaintiff arrested him, or afterwards, on information derived wholly from other persons." Codding v. Mansfield, 7 Gray (Mass.) 272.

[27] See Pleading §§ 197–379.

[28] See Assumpsit, Action of §§ 64–71; Debt §§ 30–40.

[a] Unless a plea of non est factum is filed as required by statute, a corporation, alleged to have offered a reward through persons assuming to act as its officials, cannot deny their authority thus to bind it. Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679.

[29] See case infra this note and note 30.

[a] Setting up special defense.—Where a telephone company offered a reward for the conviction of any person guilty of cutting, pulling, tearing down, or misplacing its wires, posts, etc., or unlawfully obstructing the transmission of messages in violation of statute, the company had the right, in an action against it to recover the reward because of the conviction of one for cutting a wire, to plead as a special defense the fact that the wire cut was a dead one, and did not come within the offer and that plaintiff had personal notice that the reward did not apply to such wires. Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Priest, 31 Tex. Civ. A. 345, 72 SW 241.

[30] Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[a] Revocation before acceptance of offer is a matter of defense and must be pleaded. Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

[31] See Pleading §§ 1144–1211.

[32] See Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534.

[a] Issue of whether plaintiff was actuated by the reward when procuring burglar's arrest is raised by general denial and plaintiff's undisputed testimony. Arkansas Bankers' Assoc. v. Ligon, 174 Ark. 234, 295 SW 4, 53 ALR 534.

[33] See cases infra this note.

[a] No failure of proof.—Where, in an action to recover a reward for the prosecution of vote sellers at an election, defendant pleaded an unlawful contract between plaintiff and one of the bribers to pay the latter for information, merely to link plaintiff with the alleged unlawful transaction, and not as the basis of a cause of action, the fact that the answer charged that the contract was entered into between plaintiff and B and T, and the proof showed that the contract was merely between plaintiff and B, constituted a mere variance, and not a failure of proof. Mount v. Montgomery County, 168 Ind. 661, 80 NE 629, 14 LRANS 483.

[b] Proof of guilt.—When the reward was offered for the arrest of the persons who committed a burglary, and plaintiff caused the arrest of certain persons who escaped from jail before trial, he could not recover the reward without proving that these persons were guilty. Amis v. Conner, 43 Ark. 337.

[34] In re Kelly, 39 Conn. 159; Mount v. Montgomery County, 168 Ind. 661, 80 NE 629, 14 LRANS 483; Stone v. Wickliffe, 106 Ky. 252, 50 SW 44, 20 KyL 1806; Morris v. Kasling, 79 Tex. 141, 15 SW 226, 11 LRA 398.

[a] Illustration.—A reward offered for the apprehension and conviction of such person as may have been implicated in the murder of four named individuals is not recoverable, upon an allegation that plaintiff had caused a certain party to be convicted of the murder of one of the individuals, it not being alleged that he was concerned in the murder of the other three. Furman v. Parke, 21 N. J. L. 310.

[35] Presumption as to lapse of offer see § 17 note 39.

Presumptions generally see Evidence §§ 13–25.

[36] Burden of proof generally see Evidence §§ 25–89.

[37] Amis v. Conner, 43 Ark. 337; Higgins v. Lessig, 49 Ill. A. 459; Howland v. Lounds, 51 N. Y. 604, 10 AmR 654; In re Heffelfinger, 20 Pa. Dist. 1054; Com. v. Sandoe, 18 Pa. Dist. 433; Com. v. Smith, 15 Pa. Dist. 473.

[a] Every interpleading claimant has the burden of proof as to his own claim. Union County v. Hopkins, 95 N. J. Eq. 444, 123 A 365.

[b] Claimant of premium offered for best six building plans has the burden of showing that his were among the best six plans submitted. Audsley v. New York, 74 Fed. 275, 20 CCA 426.

[38] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[a] Authority of agent.—A handbill headed with the names of two railroad companies offering a reward "for the arrest, with proof to convict, any person or persons for the maliciously obstructing of the tracks of these companies" signed T. D. K. Superintendent, is on its face the act of the corporation acting through its agent, and it is not necessary to show that the superintendent had express authority conferred upon him by a resolution of the board of directors. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[39] Blain v. Pacific Express Co., 69 Tex. 74, 6 SW 679.

[40] Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[41] Scheiber v. Von Arx, 87 Minn. 298, 92 NW 3.

[42] See Contracts §§ 960–975; Evidence 22 C. J. p 89 et seq.

[43] See cases infra this note and notes 44–48.

[a] Parol testimony cannot be admitted to explain or interpret a resolution of a board of underwriters of city, offering a reward to be paid by the insurance companies for the apprehension of, with sufficient evidence to convict, any person guilty of the crime of arson. Salbadore v. Crescent Mut. Ins. Co., 22 La. Ann. 338.

[44] McPeek v. Western Union Tel. Co., 107 Iowa 356, 78 NW 63, 70 Am SR 205, 43 LRA 214.

[a] To prove the offer of a reward for the arrest of a person, a copy of the governor's proclamation duly certified by the secretary of the offerer to make it,[45] a ratification of the offer,[46] and all of the acts of plaintiff by which he earned the reward.[47] However, evidence declared by statute to be inadmissible cannot be used to prove the performance of the services required.[48]

[§ 84] 3. Weight and Sufficiency. The general rules relating to weight and sufficiency of evidence[49] apply.[50] If the reward was offered for the arrest and conviction of the person who committed a certain crime, the record of the conviction of a person for that crime is prima facie evidence of his guilt and it need not be otherwise proved.[51] An official certificate of the governor to a reward offered for the apprehension of an offender is only prima facie valid, and may be shown to be invalid by proof that would invalidate other official certificates purporting to be acts of the officers whose names they bear.[52]

[§ 85] F. Trial. Directing a verdict,[53] dismissal of the proceeding,[54] questions for the court and jury[55] giving and refusing of instructions,[56] the ver-state, with whom the original is deposited, is admissible. McPeek v. Western Union Tel. Co., 107 Iowa 356, 78 NW 63, 70 AmSR 205, 43 LRA 214.

---

45. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

[a] That circular was received in an official envelope of the company by one who had written to the superintendent is admissible to prove that the superintendent acted officially. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, 85 Ala. 292, 4 S 828, 7 AmSR 48.

46. Central R., etc., Co. v. Cheatham, supra.

47. Simonds v. Clapp, 16 N. H. 222; Brague v. Lord, 2 AbbNCas (N. Y.) 1; Rollins v. Clement, 25 S. C. 601.

[a] A record of the conviction of a person for shooting another, and the trial of his guilt, are admissible in evidence against one who has offered a reward for the arrest and conviction, for the purpose of showing that the person convicted was guilty, and that the reward had been earned by plaintiff who caused the arrest and conviction. Brown v. Bradlee, 156 Mass. 28, 30 NE 85, 32 AmSR 430, 15 LRA 509.

48. Kozler v. New York Tel. Co., 93 N. J. L. 279, 108 A 375.

[a] Evidence of the conviction of a juvenile offender is not admissible in an action for a reward for information leading to an arrest and conviction where a statute prohibits the admission in evidence of either the record or the fact of conviction of a juvenile in any civil or criminal proceeding. Kozler v. New York Tel. Co., 93 N. J. L. 279, 108 A 375.

49. See Evidence §§ 1730-1807.

50. See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to show: (1) The contract. Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA 1918E 348. (2) An arrest on information supplied by several. Bloomfield v. Maloney, 176 Mich. 548, 142 NW 785, AnnCas1915B 662. (3) Substantial compliance with offer. Marsh v. Wells, 88 Kan. 538, 129 P 168, 43 LRANS 133. (4) Recovery authorized. Kincaid Trust, etc., Bank v. Hawkins, 234 Ill. A. 64. (5) Plaintiff entitled to part of reward for information furnished. Genesee County v. Pailthorpe, 246 Mich. 356, 224 NW 418.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to support verdict.—Campbell v. Mercier, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA1918E 348.

[c] Evidence sufficient to go to jury on question of agent's authority to offer reward: Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 106 Mo. A. 135, 80 SW 744.

[d] Evidence held sufficient to sustain finding that: (1) Offer was ratified by company. Arkansas Southwestern R. Co. v. Dickinson, 78 Ark. 483, 95 SW 802, 115 AmSR 54. (2) Plaintiff had earned reward. Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA1918E 348. (3) The reward was not conditioned on the murderer being brought in dead. Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135. (4) That party attempting and officers actually making arrest were entitled to share equally. Montgomery County v. Johnson, 126 Kan. 36, 266 P 749.

[e] Evidence held to warrant conclusion that plaintiff had knowledge of the reward, although apparently he could not read. Vitty v. Eley, 51 App. Div. 44, 46, 64 NYS 397.

[f] Evidence held insufficient: (1) To show fraud and collusion. Statesman Pub. Co. v. Foltin, 87 Or. 65, 167 P 782. (2) That arrested person was a "fleeing homicide" within statute. Brasfield v. State, 143 Miss. 769, 109 S 736. (3) To prove guilt of prisoner who committed suicide beyond a reasonable doubt so it could be said a jury would have convicted him. Caryl v. State, 135 Wash. 1, 236 P 792.

51. Ark.—Arkansas Southwestern R. Co. v. Dickinson, 78 Ark. 483, 95 SW 802, 115 AmSR 54.

Cal.—Burke v. Wells, 34 Cal. 60.

Mass.—Brown v. Bradlee, 156 Mass. 28, 30 NE 85, 32 AmSR 430, 15 LRA 509; Mead v. Boston, 3 Cush. 404.

N. Y.—Brennan v. Haff, 1 Hilt. 151.

Pa.—York v. Forscht, 23 Pa. 391.

52. Hager v. Sidebottom, 130 Ky. 687, 113 SW 870.

53. See cases infra this note.

[a] Direction of verdict held proper.—Hart v. Green, 16 Colo. A. 70, 65 P 344.

[b] Refusal to direct verdict held proper.—Curran v. Collier, 7 Ind. T. 148, 104 SW 572.

[c] Direction of verdict held improper.—Huckins v. East Saginaw Second Nat. Bank, 47 Mich. 92, 10 NW 122.

Direction of verdict generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1563-1593].

54. Johnson v. Com., 76 SW 832, 25 KyL 986.

[a] Dismissal held erroneous.—Johnson v. Com., 76 SW 832, 25 KyL 986.

Generally see Dismissal and Nonsuit 18 C. J. p 1142.

55. See cases infra this note.

[a] The legal effect of a contract of reward is for the court. Boehmer v. Foval, 55 Ill. A. 71.

[b] Questions of fact for jury: (1) Whether a reward was offered. Miller v. Hogeboom, 56 Nebr. 434, 76 NW 888. (2) Whether the offer was induced by fraud. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871. (3) Whether one was induced by reward. Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237. (4) Whether one acted independently or in concert with others. Elkhorn Valley Lodge No. 57 I. O. O. F. v. Hudson, 59 Nebr. 672, 81 NW 859. (5) Whether plaintiff was first to give information. Lancaster v. Walsh, 4 M. & W. 16, 150 Reprint 16. (6) Whether information actually led to the apprehension. Tarner v. Walker, L. R. 1 Q. B. 641 [aff L. R. 2 Q. B. 301]. (7) Whether prize jury award had been made according to conditions of offer. Southwestern Land Co. v. McCallam, 41 Okl. 657, 136 P 1093. (8) Whether those arresting supposed robber had reasonable grounds to believe property had been stolen, rendering arrest legal. Henderson v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Commn. A.) 10 SW (2d) 534. (9) Where chairman of political committee offered reward for conviction of any violator of election laws as chairman, and later in speech said he had one thousand dollars to pay for such conviction, whether offer was made personally, or in his representative capacity, is for jury to decide. Wilmoth v. Hensel, 151 Pa. 200, 25 A 1082, 17 LRA 536.

Province of court and jury see Trial [38 Cyc 1511-1530].

56. See cases infra this note.

[a] Instructions held erroneous or properly refused: (1) In general. Hart v. Green, 16 Colo. A. 70, 65 P 344; Biggers v. Owen, 79 Ga. 658, 5 SE 193; Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Everman v. Heyman, 26 Ind. A. 165, 28 NE 1022, 84 AmSR 284; Dunham v. Stockbridge, 133 Mass. 233; Huckins v. East Saginaw Second Nat. Bank, 47 Mich. 92, 10 NW 122; Hugill v. Kinney, 9 Or. 250, 42 AmR 801. (2) Where more than one of the parties claims to be the sole moving cause of an arrest and conviction and there is some evidence to support their claims, it is error to charge that none of the parties is alone entitled to recover the whole reward. Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237.

[b] Instructions held not erroneous or improperly refused: (1) In general. Dunham v. Stockbridge, 133 Mass. 233; Kirk v. Smith, 48 Mont. 489, 138 P 1088; Southwestern Land Co. v. McCallam, 41 Okl. 657, 136 P 1093. (2) Where other instruction was not requested. Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 106 Mo. A. 135, 80 SW 744; Kirk v. Smith, 48 Mont. 489, 138 P 1088. (3) Harmless error in instruction. Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1. (4) Instruction held not inconsistent with claim of plaintiffs. Tobin v. McComb, (Tex. Civ. A.) 156 SW 237. (5) An instruction that, to sustain a defense of settlement of defendant's liability for a reward, the jury must find that the sum received was accepted in full settlement of all plaintiff's claims for the reward, was not objectionable as applying to claims for rewards that might be offered by others than defendant. Hoggard v. Dickerson, 180 Mo. A. 70, 165 SW 1135.

dict and findings,[57] and costs[58] are governed by the usual rules applicable to civil actions.

[§ 86] G. Review. Appellate proceedings in an action for a reward are governed by the rules which apply in civil cases,[59] for example, the usual presumptions will be indulged[60] and a judgment will not be disturbed for error which is not prejudicial.[61]

X. MANDAMUS

[§ 87] Mandamus may lie in a proper case[62] to compel a public officer to pay a statutory reward which has been earned.[63]

REX. The king.[1]

REX AD JUSTITIAM FACIENDAM NON COGITUR.[2]

REX DATUR PROPTER REGNUM; NON REGNUM PROPTER REGEM.[3]

REX DEBET ESSE SUB LEGE; QUIA LEX FACIT REGEM.[4]

REX EST CAPUT ET SALUS REIPUBLICÆ.[5]

REX EST LEGALIS ET POLITICUS.[6]

REX EST LEX VIVENS.[7]

REX EST MAJOR SINGULIS, MINOR UNIVERSIS.[8]

REX EST PATER PATRIÆ.[9]

REX EST PERSONA MIXTA, MEDICUS REGNI; PATER PATRIÆ; ET SPONSUS REGNI.[10]

REX EST PERSONA SACRA ET MIXTA CUM SACERDOTE.[11]

REX EST QUI METUIT, ET QUI CUPIT NIHIL.[12]

REX HOC SOLUM NON POTEST FACERE QUOD NON POTEST INJUSTE AGERE.[13]

REX IN REGNO SUO NON HABET PAREM.[14]

REX LEGE CADERE NON POTEST.[15]

REX LEGI SUBJECTUS EST.[16]

Instructions generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1594 et seq].

57. See cases infra this note.

[a] Findings held not materially inconsistent.—Smith v. Fenner, 102 Kan. 830, 172 P 514, LRA1918E 348.

[b] Notwithstanding testimony of those capturing robber, that they would have made capture regardless of reward, court may infer that the reward was an inducement. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Henderson, (Tex. Commn. A.) 298 SW 404 [reh den (Commn. A.) 10 SW (2d) 535].

Generally see Trial [38 Cyc 1868].

58. Kinn v. First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

[a] Costs will not be paid out of the reward which was deposited in court to be apportioned among the claimants, as the whole of the reward so deposited became the property of the claimants. Kinn v. First Nat. Bank, 118 Wis. 537, 95 NW 969, 99 AmSR 1012.

Costs generally see Costs 15 C. J. p 1.

59. See cases infra this note; and notes 60, 61.

[a] If the verdict of the jury is not against the clear weight of the evidence it will not be overturned on appeal. Campbell v. Mercer, 108 Ga. 103, 33 SE 871; Elkhorn Valley Lodge No. 57 I. O. O. F. v. Hudson, 59 Nebr. 672, 81 NW 859.

[b] The findings of fact of the appellate court are binding on the supreme court; their correctness is not considered on appeal. Hogan v. Stophlet, 179 Ill. 150, 53 NE 604, 44 LRA 809.

[c] Prejudicial instructions are ground for reversal. Biggers v. Owen, 79 Ga. 658, 5 SE 193; Dunham v. Stockbridge, 133 Mass. 233; Hugill v. Kinney, 9 Or. 250, 42 AmR 801.

Generally see Appeal and Error, 3 C. J. p 256.

60. See cases infra this note.

[a] Presumptions: (1) Presumptions are indulged in support of the judgment, not against it. Means v. Hendershott, 24 Iowa 78. (2) Where the record shows that a paper was placed in evidence, it is presumed that its contents were made known to the jury on the trial. Arkansas Southwestern R. Co. v. Dickinson, 78 Ark. 483, 93 SW 802, 115 AmSR 54.

Presumptions on review generally see Appeal and Error §§ 2662-2752.

61. Bronnenberg v. Coburn, 110 Ind. 169, 11 NE 29; Hayden v. Souger, 56 Ind. 42, 26 AmR 1; Cornwell v. St. Louis Transit Co., 106 Mo. A. 135, 80 SW 744.

Harmless or prejudicial error see Appeal and Error §§ 2878-3055.

62. See Mandamus 38 C. J. p 526.

63. See cases infra this note.

[a] Mandamus to compel: (1) State auditor to pay reward. Hager v. Sidebottom, 130 Ky. 687, 113 SW 870; Stone v. Wycliffe, 106 Ky. 252, 50 SW 44, 20 KyL 1806. (2) State controller to draw warrant for reward. Lees v. Colgan, 120 Cal. 262, 52 P 502, 40 LRA 355. (3) Warden to pay reward for capture and return of escaped convict. Mudd v. Woodside, 136 Ky. 296, 124 SW 321.

1. Black L. D.

2. A maxim meaning "The king cannot be forced to do justice." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max.].

3. A maxim meaning "A king is given for the sake of the kingdom; not the kingdom for a king." Morgan Leg. Max.

4. A maxim meaning "The king should be subject to the law; for the law makes the king." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 1 Blackstone Comm. 239].

5. A maxim meaning "The king is the guardian and head of the commonwealth." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Beverley's Case, 4 Coke 123b, 124, 76 Reprint 1118].

6. A maxim meaning "The king is both a legal and political person." Black L. D.

7. A maxim meaning "The king is the living law." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Jenkins Cent. 17].

8. A maxim meaning "The king is greater than any single person, less than all." Black L. D.

9. A maxim meaning "The king is the father of his country." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 162].

10. A maxim meaning "The king is a mixed person; the physician of the state, the father of the country, and the husband of the kingdom." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Magdalen College Case, 11 Coke 66b, 70b].

11. A maxim meaning "The king is a sacred person, and mixed with the priesthood." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 5 Coke 28b, 77 Reprint 33].

12. A maxim meaning "He is truly a king who fears nothing, and who desires nothing." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Riley Max. 401].

13. A maxim meaning "The king can do everything but an injustice." Black L. D. [cit Magdalen College Case, 11 Coke 66b, 72a].

14. A maxim meaning "The king has no equal in his own kingdom." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Wharton Leg. Max. 899].

15. A maxim meaning "The king can not legally cease." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 163].

16. A maxim meaning "The king is

---

*By Wm. Howard Buchanan (Rex—Ridgling inclusive).

REX NIHIL ALIUD EST QUAM LEX AGENS.[17]

REX NIL DAT NISI PER RECORDUM.[18]

REX NIL POTEST JUBERE NISI PER CURIAM LEGITIME CONSTITUAM.[19]

REX NON DEBET ESSE SUB HOMINE, SED SUB DEO ET SUB LEGE, QUIA LEX FACIT REGEM.[20]

REX NON DEBET JUDICARE SED SECUNDUM LEGEM.[21]

REX NON EST UBI VOLUNTAS DOMINATUR.[22]

REX NON POTEST FALLERE NEC FALLI.[23]

REX NON POTEST INVITUM CIVEM REGNO REPELLERE.[24]

REX NON POTEST MALUM VEL INJURIAM FACERE.[25]

REX NON POTEST PECCARE.[26]

REX NON POTEST SUBDITIUM ONERARE IMPOSITIONIBUS.[27]

REX NUNQUAM INFRA ÆTATEM EST.[28]

REX NUNQUAM MORITUR.[29]

REX PRÆSUMITUR IN SCRINIO PECTORIS SUI HABERE OMNIA JURA.[30]

REX PROSEQUI IN JUDICIS POTEST IN QUA CURIA SIBI VISUM FUERIT.[31]

REX QUOD INJUSTUM EST FACERE NON POTEST.[32]

REX SEMPER PRÆSUMITUR ATTENDERE ARDUA REGNI PRO BONO PUBLICO OMNIUM.[33]

REX SUMMUS DOMINUS SUPRA OMNES.[34]

REX TUETUR LEGEM, ET LEX TUETUR JUS.[35]

RHEOSTAT. Any contrivance for regulating a current[36] by means of (usually) variable resistances.[37]

RHEUMATIC FEVER.[38] Acute articular rheumatism.[39]

RHEUMATISM. A generic term that is applied to almost every ache and pain not otherwise accounted for.[40] An acute[41] general disease,[42] variable and shifting in character, attacking the joints, with a marked tendency to involve the heart;[43] a constitutional disease, which may be acute, subacute, or chronic,[44] manifesting itself in a variety of morbid states, and characterized chiefly by pains of various types;[45] the disease specifically known as acute articular rheumatism,[46] including subacute and chronic forms apparently of the same causation.[47]

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS.[48] A rheumatic inflammation of the joints.[49]

RHINOSCOPE. An instrument for the exploration of the nasal cavities.[50]

RHOMBOID. A geometrical term applied to an oblong figure, the longer sides of which are horizontal and .parallel[51] and the shorter sides oblique and subject to the law." In re Massey, 45 Fed. 629, 637.

---

[17] A maxim meaning, "The king is nothing else than law in action." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 163].

[18] A maxim meaning "The king gives nothing except by record." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 163].

[19] A maxim meaning "The king can order nothing except through his regularly constituted parliament." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 163].

[20] A maxim meaning "The king ought to be under no man but under God and the law, because the law makes a king." Black L. D. [cit Broom Leg. Max. 47].

[21] A maxim meaning "The king ought to govern only according to law." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Jenkins Cent. 9].

[22] A maxim meaning "He is not a king who is ruled by his own will." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 163].

[23] A maxim meaning "The king cannot deceive, nor be deceived." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Jenkins Cent. 48].

[24] A maxim meaning "The king can not expel a subject against his own will from the kingdom." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 164].

[25] A maxim meaning "The king can not do evil or injustice." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 164].

[26] A maxim meaning "The king cannot do wrong." Black L. D. [cit 2 Rolle 304].

[a] Maxim does not find a place in the jurisprudence of this country. Mills v. Stewart, 76 Mont. 429, 247 P 332, 333, 47 ALR 424. See also Langford v. U. S., 101 U. S. 341, 343, 25 L. ed. 1010.

[27] A maxim meaning "The king may not oppressively levy taxes upon a subject." Morgan Leg. Max [cit Halkerstone Max. 164].

[28] A maxim meaning "The king is never an infant." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 164].

[29] A maxim meaning "The king never dies." Black L. D. [cit Broom Max. 50; Branch Max. (5th ed.) 197].

[30] A maxim meaning "The king is presumed to have all the law in the recesses of his heart." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Max. 164].

[31] A maxim meaning "The king can proceed to judgment in whatever court he pleases." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Wharton Leg. Max. 900].

[32] A maxim meaning "The king cannot do what is unjust." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Jenkins Cent. 9].

[33] A maxim meaning "The king is always presumed to attend to the business of the realm for the public good of all." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Sadler's Case, 4 Coke 54b, 56, 76 Reprint 1012].

[34] A maxim meaning "The king is the great lord over all." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 2 Inst. 501].

[35] A maxim meaning "The king protects the law, and the law protects the right." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Coke Litt. 130a].

[36] "Current" 17 C. J. p 408.

[37] Webster New Int. D. See generally Electricity 20 C. J. p 303.

[a] "An attachment known as the 'rheostat' was located on the turntable, and was a device by means of which the current of electricity necessary to turn the table was turned off or on." Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, (Tex. Civ. A.) 201 SW 1049.

[38] See Acute 1 C. J. p 1189 text and note 57 [a].

[39] Century D. [quot Holmes v. Continental Casualty Co., 102 Me. 287, 288, 65 A 385].

"Rheumatism" post.

[40] Bailey v. Fraternal Reserve L. Assoc., 202 Ill. A. 430, 435.

[41] "Acute" 1 C. J. p 1189.

[42] "Disease" 18 C. J. p 1139.

[43] Robinson v. State, 212 Ala. 459, 102 S 693, 695 [quot Cyc]; Blackman v. U. S. Casualty Co., 117 Tenn. 578, 593, 103 SW 784 (where it was said to be characterized by local fever, inflammation, swelling, aching pains, and acid sweats, distressing, debilitating, and frequently prostrating).

[44] "Chronic" 11 C. J. p 761.

[45] Webster D. [quot Robinson v. State, 212 Ala. 459, 102 S 693, 695].

[46] Century D. [quot Holmes v. Continental Casualty Co., 102 Me. 287, 288, 65 A 385].

"Acute articular rheumatism" see Acute 1 C. J. p 1189 text and note 57 [a].

"Rheumatic fever" ante.

[47] Century D. [quot Holmes v. Continental Casualty Co., 102 Me. 287. 289, 65 A 385].

[48] See Rheumatism ante.

[49] Moennich v. Chicago, 147 Ill. A. 553, 557.

[50] Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Palmore, 68 Kan. 545, 550, 75 P 509, 64 LRA 90.

[51] "Parallel" 46 C. J. p 1176.

parallel, giving two obtuse angles and two acute angles;[52] an oblique-angled parallelogram.[53]

RHUMKORF COIL.[54] A coil constructed on the following principle: Around a central core of soft iron is wound a certain number of turns of copper wire, each turn being insulated by a layer of paper or some other insulating material; then on top of this coarser wire is wound in the same direction a large number of layers of very thin wire, each one likewise insulated by a layer of paper or other insulating material, and the fine wires connect with the two poles on top, and the coarser wires connect with the lower, with the commutator running from one pole to the other. This box is filled with what is called "condenser," which is a series or number of plates of tin foil such as we find wound around tobacco.[55]

RIBBED VELVETS.[56]

RIBBON. A strip of fine stuff as silk, satin, or velvet, having two selvages.[57]

"Ribbons," without any qualification, has been held to include velvet ribbons as well as ribbons manufactured wholly of silk.[58]

RIBS. As used among dealers in meats the term has no definite or specific meaning.[59]

In mining, the columns or partitions left in the coal vein to support the roof.[60]

RIB SIDE. A mining term applied to the sides of an entry or room in the mine.[61]

RICE. The grain[62] or seeds[63] of rice.[64]

Phrases: "Brown rice,"[65] "uncleaned rice,"[66] and "white rice."[67]

As an adjective, as in the phrases "rice anthracite coal,"[68] "rice beer,"[69] "rice bran,"[70] and "rice seed."[71]

RICH. A relative term, variously defined as meaning[72] abounding in desirable or effective qualities or elements;[73] fertile;[74] fruitful;[75] of superior quality;[76] producing or yielding abundantly;[77] productive or fertile;[78] yielding large returns.[79] It is the opposite of poor.[80]

Phrases: "Dying rich,"[81] and "rich soil."[82]

RIDE.[83] To be carried on a horse or other animal or in any kind of vehicle or carriage;[84] to be carried or travel on horseback;[85] also, to control and manage;[86] to manage or control while seated on;[87] to sit on and control so as to be carried.[88]

In accident insurance policies "riding" is the equivalent of "traveling."[89]

Phrases: "Ride or drive,"[90] also "riding and driving races,"[91] "riding as a passenger in or upon a public conveyance,"[92] "riding at his own risk,"[93]

---

52. Moennich v. Chicago, 147 Ill. A. 553, 557 [cit International Encyc.].

"Angle" 2 C. J. p 1346.

53. Moennich v. Chicago, 147 Ill. A. 553, 557 [cit International Encyc.].

54. See generally Electricity 20 C. J. p 303.

55. Robertson v. Oelschlaeger, 137 U. S. 436, 442, 443, 11 SCt 148, 150, 34 L. ed. 744 (where it was said "that [it] is used in schools and universities, and also by physicians. . . . It is also used to explode mines at times . . . [and] dynamite cartridges. . . . It has no practical use in telegraphing. Its main use is for illustrating the laws of electrical induction").

"Insulation" 32 C. J. p 948.

56. See Cords 13 C. J. p 1236 text and note 25.

57. Century D.

58. Lane v. Russell, 14 F. Cas. No. 8,053, 4 Cliff. 122, 126. But see Chapon v. Smythe, 5 F. Cas. No. 2,611, 11 Blatchf. 120.

59. Borum v. Swift, 125 Ga. 198, 201, 53 SE 608.

60. Reddon v. Union Pac. R. Co., 5 Utah 344, 349, 15 P 262.

61. Muren Coal, etc., Co. v. Howell, 119 Ill. A. 209, 211.

62. "Grain" 28 C. J. p 757.

63. "Seed" [35 Cyc 1370].

64. Webster New Int. D.

[a] Mochi or canned boiled rice and so-called wafers consisting of rice and barley have been held not to be rice. Hoyt v. U. S., 12 Cust. A. 47.

65. U. S. v. Brandenstein, 8 Cust. A. 435, 436.

66. U. S. v. Brandenstein, supra.

67. U. S. v. Brandenstein, supra.

68. See Mines and Minerals § 91.

69. See Beer 7 C. J. p 1025 text and note 56.

70. U. S. v. Brandenstein, 8 Cust. A. 435, 436.

"Bran" 9 C. J. p 318.

71. U. S. v. Brandenstein, 8 Cust. A. 435, 436.

72. Leppelman's Succ., 30 La. Ann. 468, 471. See also Descent and Distribution § 95.

73. Century D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, 45 Ind. A. 178, 90 NE 496, 498].

74. Century D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

75. Century D.; Webster D. [both quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

76. Century D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

77. Century D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

78. Webster D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

79. Webster D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

80. Webster D. [quot Boltz v. O'Conner, supra].

"Poor" 49 C. J. p 1080.

81. See Descent and Distribution § 95 (as affecting "marital portion").

82. Boltz v. O'Conner, 45 Ind. A. 178, 90 NE 496, 498.

83. Persons riding generally see Carriers § 1033 et seq; Motor Vehicles §§ 774–777, 802–811, 826, 827; Negligence §§ 278, 290, 566–572, 585–594; Railroads §§ 1821, 1835, 2176, 2300–2311; Street Railroads [36 Cyc 1467].

Riding in:
Conveyance not provided for passengers see Accident Insurance § 151; Carriers § 1512.
Dangerous or improper place see Carriers §§ 1386, 1511–1514.

Riding on:
Locomotive see Accident Insurance § 94.
Platform of conveyance see Accident Insurance §§ 95, 152; Carriers §§ 1513, 1514.
Steps of moving conveyance see Accident Insurance § 152; Carriers §§ 1513–1514.

Riding with incompetent driver see Negligence § 572.

84. Webster D. [quot Citizens' R. Co. v. Ford, 93 Tex. 110, 113, 53 SW 575, 46 LRA 457].

"Drive" equivalent see Drive 19 C. J. p 764 text and note 99 [a].

85. Webster D. [quot Citizens' R. Co. v. Ford, 93 Tex. 110, 113, 53 SW 575, 46 LRA 457].

86. Silverstein v. Commercial Casualty Ins. Co., 237 N. Y. 391, 393, 143 NE 231.

[a] As transitive verb "to ride" imports the idea of control or management. Silverstein v. Commercial Casualty Ins. Co., 237 N. Y. 391, 393, 143 NE 231.

87. Silverstein v. Commercial Casualty Ins. Co., supra.

88. Silverstein v. Commercial Casualty Ins. Co., supra.

89. Powis v. Ontario Acc. Ins. Co., 1 Ont. L. 54.

90. State v. Smith, 29 R. I. 245, 248, 72 A 710; State v. Thurston, 28 R. I. 265, 268, 66 A 580.

91. Swanbrough v. United Commercial Travelers, 66 Colo. 384, 181 P 204, 206, 6 LRA 485.

92. Boyd v. Royal Indemn. Co., 120 Oh. St. 515, 166 NE 580, 581.

93. Tompkins v. Boston El. R. Co., 201 Mass. 114, 87 NE 488, 489, 131 Am SR 392, 20 LRANS 1063.

"riding in or upon,"[94] "riding upon,"[95] "while riding a motorcycle,"[96] "while riding as a passenger . . . in a passenger elevator,"[97] "while riding as a passenger in a public conveyance,"[98] and "while riding on the platform or steps of any railway car."[99]

RIDER.[1] A new and unrelated enactment or provision attached to appropriation bills in the legislature.[2]

RIDGLING. A male of any beast half-gelt;[3] an animal[4] half castrated;[5] a stallion only one of whose testicles come down into the scrotum.[6]

RIFLE. As a noun, a rifle has a well defined meaning;[7] a firearm, of whatever size, having upon the surface of its bore spiral grooves, called rifling, to impart rotary motion to the projectile, insuring greater accuracy of fire.[8]

Flobert rifle. A smooth bore rifle, no longer manufactured, which formerly was commonly used in shooting galleries and for target practice of that kind.[9]

Target rifle. A low power twenty-two caliber rifle;[10] such as shoots twenty-two caliber short cartridges.[11]

†RIGGING. When applied to the handling of heavy loads, whether of timber, metal, stone, or other similar material, the tackle, lines, and fastenings with which the task is accomplished, without regard to the material, whether metal or vegetable, from which they are fabricated.[12]

RIGGING THE MARKET. Going into the market pretending to buy shares by a person who is put forward to buy them, who is not really buying them, but only pretending to buy them, in order that they may be quoted in the public papers as bearing a premium, which premium is never paid.[13]

RIGHT.[14] [§ 1] A. As Noun—1. In General. A word of broad signification, variously defined[15] and having a wide scope of meaning in its many applications.[16]

In law, that which the law directs, a liberty of doing or possessing something consistent with law;[17] that which is directed by law for one's protection and advantage is said to be one's right.[18]

---

[94] Wallace v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 26 Ont. L. 10, 2 DomLR 854, 857, AnnCas1913A 838.

[95] Christ v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 176 Minn. 592, 224 NW 247.

[96] Silverstein v. Commercial Casualty Ins. Co., 237 N. Y. 391, 393, 143 NE 231.

[97] London Guarantee, etc., Co. v. Ladd, 299 Fed. 562, 564.

[98] Powis v. Ontario Acc. Ins. Co., 1 Ont. L. 54.

[99] Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Thornton, 100 Fed. 582, 588, 40 CCA 564, 49 LRA 116.

[1] Attached to policy see Fire Insurance §§ 49, 72; Insurance §§ 222, 270.

[2] Com. v. Barnett, 199 Pa. 161, 172, 48 A 976.

[3] Douglass v. Moses, 89 Iowa 40, 41, 56 NW 271, 48 AmSR 353; Webster D. [quot Brisco v. State, 4 Tex. A. 219, 221, 30 AmR 162].

"Gelding" distinguished see 28 C. J. p 607 text and note 44 [a].

"Gelt" 28 C. J. p 608.

[4] See Animals 3 C. J. p 1; Horse 30 C. J. p 458.

[5] Webster D. [quot Briscoe v. State, 4 Tex. A. 219, 221, 30 AmR 162].

[6] Union Inv. Co. v. Rosenzweig, 79 Wash. 112, 114, 139 P 874.

[a] "Stallion" distinguished.—State v. McDonald, 10 Mont. 21, 22, 24 P 628, 24 AmSR 25.

[7] Johnson v. Hazelhurst Hardware Co., 113 Miss. 428, 74 S 294.

[8] Webster New Int. D.

[a] Included in definition of "gun."—Henderson v. State, 75 Fla. 464, 467, 78 S 427.

[b] Held not "pistol" or "revolver."—Taylor v. Seil, 120 Wis. 32, 35, 97 NW 498.

[9] Johnson v. Hazelhurst Hardware Co., 113 Miss. 428, 433, 434, 74 S 294.

[10] Johnson v. Hazelhurst Hardware Co., supra.

[11] Johnson v. Hazelhurst Hardware Co., supra.

[12] McCollin v. James Black Masonry, etc., Co., 247 Mo. 174, 151 SW 973, 975.

[13] Rubery v. Grant, L. R. 13 Eq. 443, 447, 42 L. J. Ch. 19, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 538.

[14] Cross references:
Absolute right see Absolute 1 C. J. p 31 text and note 33 [e].
Acquired right see Acquired 1 C. J. p 909 text and note 38 [d].
"Bill of rights" 7 C. J. p 1181; Constitutional Law § 444.
"Civil rights" 11 C. J. p 799.
"Color of right" 11 C. J. p 1227.
"Common right" 12 C. J. p 206.
"Constitutional right" 12 C. J. p 1294.
Constitutional rights see Constitutional Law 12 C. J. p 653.
Contingent right see Contingent 13 C. J. p 117 text and note 46.
Copyright see Copyright and Literary Property 13 C. J. p 936.
Dower right see Dower §§ 105–200, 204–206.
"Exclusion right" see Exclusion 23 C. J. p 275.
Exemption right see Exemptions 25 C. J. p 1; Homesteads 29 C. J. p 770.
"Existing right" see Exist 25 C. J. p 168.
Incorporeal right see Incorporeal 31 C. J. p 408.
"Legal right" see Legal § 12.
"Litigious right" see Litigious 38 C. J. p 69.
Marital rights see Marital 38 C. J. p 491.
Mining rights see Mines and Minerals § 74.
Natural right see Natural § 13.
Patent rights see Patents § 1.
"Perfect right" see Perfect 48 C. J. p 810.
Personal rights see Personal § 15.
Political rights see Political § 18.
"Preferential right" see Preferential 49 C. J. p 1323.
"Primary right" see Primary 49 C. J. p 1348.
Private rights see Private § 23.
Property rights see Property § 50.
Proprietary rights see Proprietary 50 C. J. p 790 text and note 19.
"Prospective right" see Prospective 50 C. J. p 798.
Public land rights see Public Lands 50 C. J. p 872.
Public right see Public § 72.
Real rights see Real 52 C. J. p 1156 text and note 75.
Religious rights see Religious Societies ante.
Right as property see Property §§ 3, 8, 9.
Right of:
  Action see Actions §§ 46–71.
  Common see Common Lands § 1.
  Drainage see Drains § 1; Easements 19 C. J. p 856; Waters [40 Cyc 542].
  Preëmption see Public Lands § 87.
  Privacy see Right of Privacy post.
  Property see Property § 3. See also Detinue 18 C. J. p 987; Replevin ante p 404; Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 1997].
  Quarantine see Executors and Administrators §§ 764–770.
  Recaption see Recaption 52 C. J. p 1190; Recapture 52 C. J. p 1190.
  Redemption see Chattel Mortgages § 577; Executions § 722; Judicial Sales §§ 103–105; Redemption 53 C. J. p 664.
  Search see Arrest §§ 74, 76; Intoxicating Liquors §§ 360–398; Searches and Seizures [35 Cyc 1263]; War [40 Cyc 298].
  Stockholder see Corporations §§ 1264–1798.
  Subrogation [37 Cyc 361].
  Succession see Descent and Distribution 18 C. J. p 795.
  Suffrage see Elections §§ 13–23.
  Way see Right of Way post.
Right to:
  Bear arms see Arms 5 C. J. p 287; Bear 7 C. J. p 1018 text and note 76 [a].
  Counsel see Criminal Law § 2076.
  Jury trial see Criminal Law § 641; Juries §§ 12–175, 398.
  Open and close see Criminal Law §§ 2083–2085; Executions § 529; Trial [38 Cyc 1300].
  Subscribe for stock see Corporations §§ 752–1032.
  Take for public use see Eminent Domain 20 C. J. p 501.
Vested right see Constitutional Law §§ 485–592.
Water rights see Waters [40 Cyc 636, 640–650, 658, 660–663, 666–668, 671, 674–680, 701–709, 713–738, 764, 780–782, 814–816, 829–835, 841, 844].
Writ of right see Real Actions §§ 2–25.

[15] Waddell v. Ravalli County School Dist. No. 3, 79 Mont. 432, 257 P 278, 280.

[16] Gould v. Eagle Creek School

*By Carlos M. Sandoval (Rifle).

† By Wm. Howard Buchanan (Rigging—Right of Post Liminii inclusive).

[§ 2] 2. As Consequence or Relation. A right has been said to be the legal consequence that attends[19] or applies[20] to certain facts, such as some advantage,[21] concern,[22] or benefit;[23] a relation of a person or persons to some thing or person.[24] A right, in a legal sense, exists when, in consequence of given facts, the law declares that one person is entitled to enforce against another a claim, or to resist the enforcement of a claim urged by another.[25]

[§ 3] 3. Something Belonging to or Claimable—a. In General. The term may be employed to designate that to which one has a just claim,[26] power, privilege, or the like, vested in one by law or by authority, social custom, or the like.[27] Accordingly it has been variously defined as meaning a claim;[28] a just claim;[29] a just claim, or that to which one has a just claim;[30] a legal claim;[31] a well founded claim;[32] a well founded or acknowledged claim;[33] something with which the law invests one person and with respect to which, for his benefit, another, or perhaps all others, are required by the law to do or perform acts or to forbear or sustain from acts;[34] that which a man is entitled to have, or to do, or to receive from others, within the limits prescribed by law;[35] that which justly belongs to one;[36] that which may be lawfully claimed of any other person;[37] that which one has a legal claim to do;[38] that which one has a legal or social claim to do or to exact;[39] whatever one may lawfully claim;[40] also, as meaning any power or privilege vested in a person by law, whether to act or demand action or forbearance at the hands of another;[41] authority;[42] capacity or privilege the enjoyment of which is secured to a person by law;[43] capacity residing in one man of controlling, with the assent and assistance of the state, the action of others;[44] capacity or power of exacting from another or others, acts or forbearances;[45] liberty of doing or possessing something consistent with the law;[46] power,[47] or legal power;[48] power, prerogative, and privilege, and especially when applied to corporations;[49] prerogative;[50] privilege;[51]

Dist., 7 Minn. 203. See also infra §§ 2–13.

17. Imperial D. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 90].

18. International R. Co. v. Rann, 224 N. Y. 83, 87, 120 NE 153.

19. The Common L. p 214 [quot U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Borough Bank, 161 App. Div. 479, 146 NYS 870, 876; White v. Multnomah County, 13 Or. 317, 323, 10 P 484, 57 AmR 20].

20. Mikkelson v. Pacific SS. Co., 46 F. (2d) 124, 125.

[a] Right is sometimes presumed from circumstances, where the origin and fountain cannot be found. Tinkham v. Arnold, 3 Me. 120, 125.

21. Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Lyon, 63 Okl. 285, 165 P 419, 420].

22. Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Lyon, supra].

"Advantage" 2 C. J. p 34.

23. Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Lyon, 63 Okl. 285, 165 P 419, 420].

"Benefit" 7 C. J. p 1135.

24. North Branch Pass. R. Co. v. City Pass. R. Co., 38 Pa. 361, 367.

[a] It cannot arise or exist in advance of the persons or things related, and of which it expresses the relation. North Branch Pass. R. Co. v. City Pass. R. Co., 38 Pa. 361, 367.

25. Mellinger v. Houston, 68 Tex. 37, 45, 3 SW 249. See also infra § 3.

26. Webster New Int. D.

27. Webster New Int. D.

28. Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553].

"Claim" 11 C. J. p 816.

29. Webster D. [quot Monmouth v. Plimpton, 77 Me. 556, 560, 1 A 693].

30. Imperial D. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 90].

"Just claim" see Just 35 C. J. p 433 text and note 71.

31. Webster D. [quot Hathorn v. Robinson, 98 Me. 334, 56 A 1057, 1059].

"Legal claim" see Legal § 3.

32. Bouvier L. D. [quot Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Amacker, 53 Fed. 48, 56; Union Nat. Bank v. Byram, 131 Ill. 92, 100, 22 NE 842; Smart v. Morrison, 15 Ill. A. 226, 229; State v. Lyon, 63 Okl. 285, 165 P 419, 420]; Mellinger v. Houston, 68 Tex. 37, 45, 3 SW 249.

"Well-founded" see Well [40 Cyc 889 text and note 8].

33. Bouvier L. D. [quot Chelentis v. Luckenbach SS. Co., 247 U. S. 372, 38 SCt 501, 504, 62 L. ed. 1171]; Christensen v. Morse Dry Dock, etc., Co., 216 App. Div. 274, 214 NYS 732, 743; Colonna Shipyard, Inc. v. Bland, 150 Va. 349, 143 SE 729, 730, 59 ALR 497.

[a] One has right, when the law authorizes him, to exact from another an act or forbearance. Peo. v. Ulster County, 65 N. Y. 300, 308.

34. Cooley Torts p 23 [quot Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Hennegan, 33 Tex. Civ. A. 314, 317, 76 SW 452].

35. Waddell v. Ravalli County School Dist. No. 3, 79 Mont. 432, 257 P 278, 280; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Baty, 6 Nebr. 37, 40, 29 AmR 356.

36. Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553]; Webster D. [quot Carney v. Kain, 40 W. Va. 758, 781, 23 SE 650].

37. Imperial D. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 90].

38. U. S. v. Patrick, 54 Fed. 338, 348.

[a] Right to do an act is the possession of the highest authority. Smith v. Floyd, 140 N. Y. 337, 340, 35 NE 606.

39. Webster New Int. D. [quot State v. Barr, 8 OhS&CP 541, 546, 5 OhNP 435; Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553].

40. Coty v. Prestonettes, Inc., 285 Fed. 501, 504.

41. Webster New Int. D. [quot Waddell v. Ravalli County School Dist. No. 3, 79 Mont. 432, 257 P 278, 280].

42. Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553]; U. S. v. Patrick, 54 Fed. 338, 348.

"Authority" 6 C. J. p 864.

43. Webster New Int. D. [quot Waddell v. Ravalli County School Dist. No. 3, 79 Mont. 432, 257 P 278, 281].

44. State v. Barr, 8 OhS&CP 541, 546, 5 OhNP 435.

45. Peo. v. Ulster County, 65 N. Y. 300, 308.

46. Imperial D. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 90]; Wharton L. Lex. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 91].

"Liberty" 37 C. J. p 159.

47. Anderson L. D. [quot State v. Barr, 8 OhS&CP 541, 546, 5 OhNP 435]; Walker D. [quot Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 668, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130]; Smith v. Cornell Univ., 21 Misc. 220, 225, 45 NYS 640; Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas1913A 63.

"Power" 49 C. J. p 1241.

48. Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553]; U. S. v. Patrick, 54 Fed. 338, 348.

49. Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 667, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130; State v. Barr, 8 OhS&CP 541, 546, 5 OhNP 435.

50. Anderson L. D. [quot State v. Barr, supra]; Walker D. [quot Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 668, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130]; Smith v. Cornell Univ., 21 Misc. 220, 225, 45 NYS 640; Shaw v. Proffit, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas1913A 63.

"Prerogative" 49 C. J. p 1332.

51. Anderson L. D. [quot State v. Barr, 8 OhS&CP 541, 546, 5 OhNP 435]; Walker D. [quot Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 668, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130]; Smith v. Cornell Univ., 21 Misc. 220, 225, 45 NYS 640; McCann v. Burns, 73 Or. 167, 136 P 659, 660, 143 P 916, 1099; Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas1913A 63.

"Privilege" 50 C. J. p 400.

and also as meaning immunity;[52] immunity granted by authority.[53] As an enforceable legal right, it means that which one has a legal right to do.[54]

Individual right is that which a person is entitled to have or to receive from others or to do under protection of the law.[55]

In statute relating to waiver of right, the term has been construed to mean a tangible legal right, one resting on contract or in tort, which would be recognized and enforced by law.[56]

"Rights," in the plural, is said to be generic, common, embracing whatever may be lawfully claimed.[57]

[§ 4] b. In Respect of Property. With respect to property the term may be employed as designating a claim or title to, or interest in, anything whatsoever that is enforceable by law,[58] or that which one has a claim to possess or own;[59] an enforceable[60] claim or title to any subject matter whatever;[61] an interest;[62] that interest which a person actually has in any subject of property, entitling him to hold or convey it at pleasure;[63] the interest or share which anyone has in a piece of property;[64] ownership;[65] property;[66] that which one person ought to have or receive from another, it being withheld from him, or not in his possession;[67] title,[68] lawful title or claim,[69] or legal title.[70] It is most frequently applied to property in its restricted sense,[71] and has been held to include something more than the mere right of property,[72] embracing the possession of the full and complete title, and of all remedies relating thereto,[73] and such rights as spring out of its lawful management, or as are incident to its ownership and the power of disposition,[74] as the right to the free use, enjoyment, and disposal of it.[75]

In Spanish law, a right was either in the thing or to the thing.[76]

---

[52] Walker D. [quot Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 668, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130]; Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas1913A 63.

"Immunity" 31 C. J. p 252.

[53] U. S. v. Patrick, 54 Fed. 338, 348.

[54] Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas 1913A 63.

[55] State v. Austin, 114 N. C. 855, 862, 19 SE 919, 41 AmSR 817, 25 LRA 283.

"Individual" 31 C. J. p 885.

[56] Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Cox, 55 Oh. St. 497, 511, 45 NE 641, 35 LRA 507.

[57] U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Borough Bank, 161 App. Div. 479, 146 NYS 870, 876; Lomas v. State, 3 Heisk. (Tenn.) 287, 306.

[a] Classifications.—(1) Rights are of three kinds: Rights jus proprietatis, jus possessionis, and jus vagum, or an imperfect right. Settlements may be ranked among the latter species. It is a right to preemption; a claim to favor. Smith v. Brown, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 513, 516. "Jus possessionis" see Jus 36 C. J. p 429 text and note 69 [bf]. "Jus proprietatis" see Jus 35 C. J. p 429 text and note 69 [bn]. (2) All rights which appertain to man are of one or the other of two classes, that is to say, first, natural rights; or second, acquired rights. Borden v. State, 11 Ark. 519, 527, 54 AmD 217. "Acquired rights" see Acquire 1 C. J. p 909 text and note 38 [d]. "Natural rights" see Natural § 13. (3) Rights which pertain to persons, other than such as are termed natural rights, are essentially the creatures of municipal law, written or unwritten. Mellinger v. Houston, 68 Tex. 37, 45, 3 SW 249. (4) "There are two classes of rights which the law accords to persons generally. These may be termed (1) substantive, and (2) remedial. The former includes those rights which one enjoys under the legal system prior to the disturbance of normal relations; the latter includes those rights by which a person may resort to the machinery of justice, either to secure amends for a disturbance of his substantive rights or to prevent a threatened disturbance." Massachusetts Bonding etc., Co. v. Novotny, 200 Iowa 227, 202 NW 588, 591. (5) Rights are not classified or distinguished as public and private. No authority makes any such classification. Dubuque v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 39 Iowa 56, 64.

[b] Wrongs ripening into rights.—By a long series of years, wrongs may ripen into rights. Tinkham v. Arnold, 3 Me. 120, 125.

"Obligations" distinguished see Contracts § 552.

"Remedies" distinguished see Actions § 37 text and notes 30, 31.

[58] Bailey v. Miller, 45 Ind. A. 475, 91 NE 24, 25.

[59] Webster D. [quot Carney v. Kain, 40 W. Va. 758, 781, 23 SE 650]; Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553].

[60] "Enforceable" 20 C. J. p 1256.

[61] Anderson L. D. [quot Carney v. Kain, 40 W. Va. 758, 781, 23 SE 650]; Hathorn v. Robinson, 98 Me. 334, 56 A 1057, 1059; Smith v. Cornell Univ., 21 Misc. 220, 225, 45 NYS 640.

[62] Bouvier L. D. [quot State v. Lyon, 63 Okl. 285, 165 P 419, 420]; Walker D. [quot Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 668, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130]; Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553]; Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas 1913A 63.

"Interest" 33 C. J. p 261.

[63] Haskins v. Ryan, 71 N. J. Eq. 575, 579, 64 A 436.

[64] Webster New Int. D. (quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553].

[a] Similar definition.—"A right in any subject of property is the interest that a person actually has in that property." Stratton v. Buller, 268 Fed. 823, 824 [cit Cyc].

[b] "Right doth include the estate in esse in conveyances." Coke Littleton p 345a [quot Hoge v. Hollister, 2 Tenn. Ch. 606, 609]. And see Ammidown v. Granite Bank, 8 Allen (Mass.) 285, 290.

[65] Webster D. [quot Hathorn v. Robinson, 98 Me. 334, 56 A 1057, 1059; Monmouth v. Plimpton, 77 Me. 556, 560, 1 A 693; Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553].

"Ownership" see Property § 53.

[66] Walker D. [quot Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 668, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130]; Webster D. [quot Hathorn v. Robinson, 98 Me. 334, 56 A 1057, 1059]; Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas1913A 63.

Property as right see Property § 3.

[67] Black L. D. [quot U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Borough Bank, 161 App. Div. 479, 146 NYS 870, 876].

[a] "In this sense 'right' has the force of 'claim,' and is properly expressed by the Latin 'jus.'" Black L. D. [quot U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Borough Bank, 161 App. Div. 479, 146 NYS 870, 876].

"Jus" 35 C. J. p 428.

[68] Webster New Int. D. [quot Ex p. Bailey, 20 Okl. 497, 501, 94 P 553]; Hale v. Grow, 88 W. Va. 173, 106 SE 409, 412.

[a] Often included in "title," which is the more general word. Ammidown v. Granite Bank, 8 Allen (Mass.) 285, 290 [cit Coke Littleton p 345b]. See also Property § 59 text and note 6.

"Title" see Property § 57.

[69] Browne L. D. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 91].

"Lawful title" see Lawful 36 C. J. p 968 text and note 45.

[70] Webster D. [quot Monmouth v. Plimpton, 77 Me. 556, 560, 1 A 693].

"Legal title" see Legal § 14.

[71] Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 667, 111 SW 907; Peo. v. Dikeman, 7 HowPr (N. Y.) 124, 130; Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 201, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas 1913A 63.

[72] Springer v. Berry, 47 Me. 330, 337.

[73] Bailey v. Miller, 45 Ind. A. 475, 91 NE 24, 25.

[74] Springer v. Berry, 47 Me. 330, 337.

[75] Bailey v. Miller, 45 Ind. A. 475, 91 NE 24, 25. See Ammidown v. Granite Bank, 8 Allen (Mass.) 285, 290 [cit 1 Blackstone Comm. p 138].

"Free use" see Free 27 C. J. p 891 text and note 3.

[76] Sullivan v. Richardson, 33 Fla. 1, 116, 14 S 692.

[§ 5] 4. Right of Entry.[77] Right to possession.[78]

Phrase: "Enforcement of any . . . right of entry."[79]

[§ 6] 5. Right of Navigation.[80] A right of way[81] exercised for the purpose of trade[82] and commerce[83] which may be enjoyed in the sea, in public, and in private waters;[84] the right to pass by water.[85]

[§ 7] 6. Right of Property.[86] That sole and despotic dominion which one man claims and exercises over the external things of the world, in total exclusion of the right of any other individual in the universe.[87] It consists in the free use, enjoyment, and disposal of all his acquisitions, without any control or diminution, save only by the laws of the land;[88] the right to acquire, possess and enjoy property in any way consistent with the equal rights of others and the just exactions and demands of the state;[89] a perfect and exclusive right.[90]

[§ 8] 7. Right in Rem.[91] A right which avails against all persons whomsoever;[92] that which avails against persons generally.[93]

[§ 9] 8. Right in Personam.[94] A right which avails exclusively against certain or determinate persons.[95]

[§ 10] 9. Right To Reserve.[96] As used in the sense that obtains in baseball nomenclature, the term is intended to signify an option.[97]

[§ 11] 10. Other Phrases. Among many phrases in which the word "right" as a noun has been used are: "Accrued right or title,"[98] "accruing right,"[99] "all right,"[1] "all right and title,"[2] "all right, title and interest,"[3] "all the right and claim,"[4] "all the right, title and interest,"[5] "any pretended right or title,"[6] "any property, right, title, or interest,"[7] "any right acquired or accrued under any enactment thereby repealed,"[8] "by right, devise or bequest,"[9] "by right of representation,"[10] "claiming right thereto,"[11] "claim of right,"[12] "claims of a 'right under an authority exercised under the United States,'"[13] "color of right,"[14] "common right,"[15] "constitutional right,"[16] "contract, obligation, or right, or lien,"[17]

---

77. "Entry" 20 C. J. p 1274.

Right of entry:
In general see Forcible Entry and Detainer 26 C. J. p 797; Landlord and Tenant 35 C. J. p 937.
Affecting:
  Adverse possession see Adverse Possession §§ 113–129.
  Contributory negligence see Negligence § 819.
As chose in action see Property § 42 text and note 62.
As estate see Estates § 1 text and note 48.
Upon disseizin see Husband and Wife § 694.

78. Cecil v. Clarke, 44 W. Va. 659, 666, 30 SE 216.

[a] "Right of action" synonymous.—Guion v. Anderson, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 298, 307. "Right of action" see Actions § 40.

79. Granger v. Luther, 42 S. D. 636, 176 NW 1019, 1031.

80. "Navigation" 45 C. J. p 576. See also Navigable Waters §§ 50–134.

81. "Right of way" post.

82. "Trade" [38 Cyc 670].

83. "Commerce" see Commerce § 1.

84. McNeil v. Jones, 26 N. S. 299, 303.

85. Queddy River Driving Boom Co. v. Davidson, 3 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 243, 262.

86. See generally Property 50 C. J. p 725.

87. 2 Blackstone Comm. c 1 p 2 [quot Bruch v. Carter, 32 N. J. L. 554, 562].

88. 1 Blackstone Comm. c 1 p 138 [quot Hutchinson v. Schimmelfeder, 40 Pa. 396, 398, 80 AmD 582]; Evans v. Reading Chemical Fertilizer Co., 160 Pa. 209, 218, 28 A 702. To same effect Bruch v. Carter, 32 N. J. L. 554, 562; Toledo Bank v. Toledo, 1 Oh. St. 622, 662; Block v. Schwartz, 27 Utah 387, 76 P 22, 25, 101 AmSR 971, 65 LRA 308, 1 AnnCas 550.

[a] Similar definition.—A right which "consists in the free use, enjoyment, and disposition of all a person's acquisitions without any control or diminution save only by the law of the land." Roderigas v. East River Sav. Inst., 48 HowPr (N. Y.) 166, 174; Matter of Jacobs, 2 N. Y. Cr. 539, 543 [both cases cit 1 Blackstone Comm. c 1 p 138].

[b] Right of property in article involves the power to sell and dispose of such article as well as to use and enjoy it. Bartemeyer v. Iowa, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 137, 21 L. ed. 929.

[c] "Exclusive right of using and transferring property," says Chancellor Kent, "follows as a natural consequence from the perception and admission of the right itself." Roderigas v. East River Sav. Inst., 48 How Pr (N. Y.) 166, 174.

[d] Contingent interest construed as right of property.—Nash v. Nash, 12 Allen (Mass.) 345, 348.

[e] Debts included.—Bowen v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 153 N. Y. 476, 47 NE 907, 60 AmSR 667.

[f] Right represented by ticket to public place of amusement is a right of property. Ex p. Quarg, 149 Cal. 79, 81, 84 P 766, 767, 117 AmSR 115, 5 LRANS 183, 9 AnnCas 747.

89. Bertholf v. O'Reilly, 74 N. Y. 509, 515, 30 AmR 323 [quot Ives v. South Buffalo R. Co., 201 N. Y. 271, 94 NE 431, 34 LRANS 162, AnnCas 1912B 156].

90. Lohrstorfer v. Lohrstorfer, 140 Mich. 551, 560, 104 NW 142, 70 LRA 621.

91. Cross references:
Action or proceeding in rem see Actions § 171.
"In rem" see In § 7 text and note 87.
"Jus in re" see Jus 35 C. J. p 429 text and note 69 [an].

92. Wabash, etc., R. Co. v. Shacklet, 105 Ill. 364, 379, 44 AmR 791.

"Right in personam" distinguished see infra § 14.

93. Hook v. Hoffman, 16 Ariz. 540, 554, 147 P 722.

94. Cross references:
Action or proceeding in personam see Actions § 171.
"In personam" see In § 7 text and note 87.
"Jus in personam" see Jus 35 C. J. p 429 text and note 69 [am].

95. Hook v. Hoffman, 16 Ariz. 540, 554, 147 P 722.

[a] "Right in rem" distinguished.—Hook v. Hoffman, 16 Ariz. 540, 554, 147 P 722.

96. Cross references:
Injunction to restrain violation of reserve clause see Injunctions § 313.
Reserve clause as:
  Affecting mutuality of contract see Contracts § 188 text and note 73.
  Violation of Federal Anti-Trust Act see Monopolies § 171 text and note 62.

"Reserve" ante.

97. Metropolitan Exhibition Co. v. Ewing, 42 Fed. 198, 202, 7 LRA 381.

"Option" 46 C. J. p 1122.

98. See Accrue 1 C. J. p 733 note 24 [h].

99. See Accrue 1 C. J. p 734 note 29 [c].

1. See All § 3 text and note 86.

2. See All § 3 text and note 87.

3. United Sugar Co. v. Guaranty Trust Co., 254 Mass. 292, 150 NE 95.

4. Richardson v. Cambridge, 2 Allen (Mass.) 118, 121, 79 AmD 767.

5. See All § 3 text and note 88; Interest 33 C. J. p 263 text and note 76.

6. See Pretend 49 C. J. p 1341 text and note 4.

7. See Property § 5 text and note 86.

8. In re Chaffers, 15 Q. B. D. 467, 470.

"Enactment" 20 C. J. p 1247.

9. See By 9 C. J. p 1111 text and note 97.

10. See By 9 C. J. p 1111 text and note 98.

"Representation" ante.

11. See Claim 11 C. J. p 825 text and note 89.

12. See Claim 11 C. J. p 823 text and note 62.

13. See Claim 11 C. J. p 823 text and note 59.

14. "Color of right" see 11 C. J. p 1227.

15. See Common Right 12 C. J. p 206.

16. See Constitutional Right 12 C. J. p 1294.

17. Gould v. Eagle Creek School Dist., 7 Minn. 203.

“creating a right,”[18] “entitled in his own right,”[19] “exclusive right,”[20] “exclusive right to sell,”[21] “exclusive right to supply ale,”[22] “exclusive right to vend,”[23] “exercised the right,”[24] “exercising the right of suffrage,”[25] “existing right,”[26] “free and undisturbed right to the use,”[27] “free right of passage,”[28] “good right,”[29] “good right to convey,”[30] “holder in his own right,”[31] “impairing the right to private property,”[32] “legal right,”[33] “life right,”[34] “litigious right,”[35] “local right,”[36] “my own right heir, or right heirs,”[37] “other estate, interest, right, or possibility,”[38] “perfect right,”[39] “persons claiming the right to purchase,”[40] “preferential right,”[41] “pretended right or title,”[42] “primary right,”[43] “prior right,”[44] “private right,”[45] “property right,”[46] “property, right, or custody,”[47] “property right to be ‘owned in the future,’ ”[48] “prospective right,”[49] “public right,”[50] “public right of travel,”[51] “question of right or titles,”[52] “quit my right,”[53] “real right,”[54] “reserved a right,”[55] “right accrued,”[56] “right already existing or accrued,”[57] “right and interest,”[58] “right and interest by descent,”[59] “right and justice,”[60] “right and power,”[61] “right and privilege,”[62] “right and proper,”[63] “right arising out of an obligation,”[64] “right cognizable in a court of equity,”[65] “right, debt or duty,”[66] “right existing or accrued,”[67] “right, franchise, or privilege,”[68] “right hereby secured,”[69] “right in a contract,”[70] “right in a highway,”[71] “right in being,”[72] “right in real property,”[73] right “lawfully accrued or established,”[74] “right of access to adjoining park,”[75] “right of a common-law remedy,”[76] “right of alienation,”[77] “right of appeal,”[78] “right of appellant,”[79] “right of challenge,”[80] “right of conquest,”[81] “right of counsel

---

“Contract” see Contracts § 1.

“Lien” see Liens §§ 1–8.

“Obligation” 46 C. J. p 845.

18. State v. Barr, 8 OhS&CP 541, 546, 5 OhNP 435.

19. See Entitle 20 C. J. p 1272 text and note 88.

20. See Exclusive 23 C. J. p 275 text and note 67.

21. See Exclusive 23 C. J. p 274 note 40 [a] (“exclusive agency” distinguished).

22. See Exclusive 23 C. J. p 275 text and note 71.

23. See Exclusive 23 C. J. p 275 text and note 72.

24. See Exercise 25 C. J. p 165 note 4 [g].

25. See Exercise 25 C. J. p 165 note 6 [g].

26. See Exist 25 C. J. p 168 text and note 75.

27. See Free 27 C. J. p 894 text and note 36.

28. See Free 27 C. J. p 894 text and note 94.

29. See Good 28 C. J. p 719 text and note 31.

30. See Good 28 C. J. p 719 note 31 [a].

31. See Holder 29 C. J. p 760 text and note 28.

32. See Impair 31 C. J. p 253 text and note 77.

“Private property” see Property § 17.

33. See Legal § 12.

34. See Life 37 C. J. p 348 text and note 42.

35. See Litigious 38 C. J. p 69 text and note 69.

36. See Common Right 12 C. J. p 206 note 28 [c] (distinguishing “common right”).

37. See My 45 C. J. p 362 text and note 95.

38. In re Devon, [1896] 2 Ch. 562, 568.

“Estate” see Estates § 1.

“Interest” 33 C. J. p 261.

“Possibility” 49 C. J. p 1117.

39. See Perfect 48 C. J. p 810 text and notes 30–32.

40. Nations v. Miller, (Tex.) 146 SW 261, 264.

“Purchase” 51 C. J. p 93.

41. See Preferential 49 C. J. p 1323 text and notes 60–61.

42. See Pretended Right or Title 49 C. J. p 1342.

43. See Primary 49 C. J. p 1348 text and note 69.

44. See Prior 50 C. J. p 324 text and note 20.

45. See Private § 23.

46. See Property § 5 text and note 50.

47. See Property § 5 text and note 51.

48. See Property § 5 text and note 53.

49. “Prospective right” see Prospective 50 C. J. p 798 text and notes 4, 5.

50. See Public § 72.

51. See Public § 72 note 3 [b].

52. See Question 51 C. J. p 122 text and note 68.

53. See Quit 51 C. J. p 299 text and note 11.

54. See Real § 1 text and note 74.

55. Morgan’s Case, 14 Ct. Cl. 319, 328.

“Reserve” ante.

56. State v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 99 Kan. 831, 163 P 157, 160; In re Coal Mines Control Agreement, [1923] 1 Ch. 586.

“Accrue” 1 C. J. p 732.

57. Murphy v. Utter, 186 U. S. 95, 22 SCt 776, 782, 46 L. ed. 1070.

58. Cromartie v. Everglade Lumber Co., (Fla.) 129 S 767, 768; U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Borough Bank, 161 App. Div. 479, 146 NYS 870, 876.

59. Wright v. Holmes, 100 Me. 508, 512, 62 A 507, 3 LRANS 769.

“Descent” see Descent and Distribution § 1.

60. Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 402, 408, 17 AmD 525.

“Justice” 35 C. J. p 434.

61. Smith v. Hightstown, 71 N. J. L. 536, 60 A 393, 394.

“Power” 49 C. J. p 1241.

62. Smith v. Floyd, 140 N. Y. 337, 341, 35 NE 606.

“Privilege” 50 C. J. p 400.

63. Hunt v. Thompson, 19 Wyo. 523, 532, 120 P 181, 122 P 624.

“Proper” 50 C. J. p 721.

64. Belden v. Farmers’, etc., Bank, 16 Cal. A. 452, 459, 118 P 449.

“Obligation” 46 C. J. p 846.

65. In re Ungaro, 88 N. J. Eq. 25, 102 A 244, 246.

66. Corey v. Morrill, 71 Vt. 51, 59, 42 A 976, 978; Green v. Adams, 59 Vt. 602, 608, 10 A 742, 59 AmR 761; Fairbanks v. Benjamin, 50 Vt. 99, 102; Beach v. Boynton, 26 Vt. 725, 735; Brooks v. Clayes, 10 Vt. 37, 54.

“Debt” 17 C. J. p 1371.

“Duty” 19 C. J. p 841.

67. Sehl v. Syracuse, 81 App. Div. 543, 546, 81 NYS 482.

68. British Columbia Electric R. Co. v. Stewart, [1913] A. C. 816.

“Franchise” see Franchises § 1.

69. Coleman v. Allen, 5 Mo. A. 127, 135.

70. Booth v. Burgess, 72 N. J. Eq. 181, 188, 65 A 226. See generally Contracts 13 C. J. p 214.

71. La Crosse v. Cameron, 80 Fed. 264, 276, 25 CCA 399.

“Highway” see Highways § 1.

72. Godwin v. Banks, 87 Md. 425, 441, 40 A 268.

“In being” see In § 8.

73. Chrisman v. Southern California Edison Co., 83 Cal. A. 249, 256 P 618, 622.

“Real property” see Property § 19.

74. Peo. v. Cohocton Stone Road, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 17.

75. Goetz v. Knoxville Power, etc., Co., 154 Tenn. 545, 290 SW 409, 414.

76. Colonna Shipyard, Inc. v. Bland, 150 Va. 349, 143 SE 729, 731, 59 ALR 497.

“Common-law remedies” see Common Law § 23.

77. Manierre v. Welling, 32 R. I. 104, 140, 78 A 507, AnnCas1912C 1311.

“Alienation” 2 C. J. p 1035.

78. Johnson v. U. S., 6 Utah 403, 406, 24 P 256, 677. See generally Appeal and Error §§ 1, 464–579.

[a] Defined as “a privilege, that is, a prerogative to take an appeal.” McCann v. Burns, 73 Or. 167, 170, 136 P 659, 143 P 916, 1099.

Constitutional guaranty see Constitutional Law § 1112.

79. Snipes v. Davis, 131 S. C. 298, 127 SE 447, 452.

80. Tierney v. U. S., 280 Fed. 322, 324.

“Challenge” 11 C. J. p 226.

81. Caldwell v. State, 1 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 327, 408.

“Conquest” 12 C. J. p 509.

acting for the Attorney-General,"[82] "right of defense,"[83] "right of dower,"[84] "right of election,"[85] "right of free passage,"[86] "right of lien,"[87] "right of occupation,"[88] "right of office,"[89] "right of personal security,"[90] "right of possession,"[91] "right of preëmption,"[92] "right of priority,"[93] "right of privacy,"[94] "right of reply,"[95] "right of rescission,"[96] "right of retainer,"[97] "right of succession,"[98] "right of suit,"[99] "right of way,"[1] "right or estate in the lands,"[2] "right or privilege,"[3] "right or title,"[4] "right, property and interest,"[5] "right secured,"[6] "right, title and interest,"[7] "right, title, use, and occupation,"[8] "right to a free market,"[9] "right to all oil, coal, and other minerals,"[10] "right to be,"[11] "right to bear arms,"[12] "right to bear arms for the defense of himself,"[13] "right to be heard,"[14] "right to be let alone,"[15] "right to compensation,"[16] "right to contract,"[17] "right to infer,"[18] "right to possession,"[19] "right to real property,"[20] "right to receive,"[21] "right to redeem,"[22] "right to remain in,"[23] "right to sell,"[24] "right to subscribe to stock,"[25] "right to the proceeds,"[26] "right to use a mine,"[27] "right to use the timber,"[28] "right to work minerals,"[29] "same right,"[30] "sovereign right,"[31] "subject to easement or right,"[32] "substantial right,"[33] "substantive right,"[34] "the right, title, and interest of any defendant there-

---

82. Reg. v. Le Blanc, 6 CanCrCas 348, 349.

83. Aldrich v. Wright, 53 N. H. 398, 400, 16 AmR 339 ("right to do whatever apparently is reasonably necessary to be done in defense"). See also Defense or Defence 18 C. J. p 463; Self-Defense [35 Cyc 1373].

84. Woodford v. Woodford, 44 N. J. Eq. 79, 80, 14 A 273. See generally Dower 19 C. J. p 448.

85. Catlin v. Catlin, 60 Md. 573, 577.

"Election" 19 C. J. p 1257.

86. Castle v. Bell Tel. Co., 49 App. Div. 437, 440, 63 NYS 482.

87. Wood's App., 30 Pa. 274, 277 ("A phrase which expresses the liability of certain property for a certain legal duty, or a right to resort to it in order to enforce the duty"). See generally Liens 37 C. J. p 303.

88. Caldwell v. State, 1 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 327, 407.

"Occupation" 46 C. J. p 895.

89. See Color of Office 11 C. J. p 1225 note 13 [b] ("right of office" distinguished from "color of office").

90. See Constitutional Law § 449 text and note 36.

91. See Possession 49 C. J. p 1099 text and note 43.

92. See Public Lands § 87.

93. U. S. v. Preston, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,087, 4 Wash. C. C. 446, 451 ("a preference of payment before the other creditors of the insolvent").

Priorities in distribution of insolvent estate see Insolvency §§ 190–200.

"Priority" 50 C. J. p 325 and cross references there listed.

94. See Right of Privacy post.

95. Rex v. Martin, 9 Ont. L. 218, 226, 9 CanCrCas 371, 4 AnnCas 912, 2 BRC 336.

"Reply" ante.

96. Isner v. Nydegger, 63 W. Va. 677, 682, 60 SE 793.

"Rescission" ante.

97. Chase Nat. Bank v. Sayles, 30 F. (2d) 178, 183. See also Executors and Administrators § 1193 et seq.

98. In re Stebbins, 52 Misc. 438, 103 NYS 563, 566. See generally Descent and Distribution 18 C. J. p 795.

99. Jacobsen v. Jacobsen, 11 Or. 454, 455, 5 P 567 ("a present right to resort to the courts for redress").

"Right of action" see Actions § 40.

"Suit" see Actions § 42.

1. See Right of Way post.

2. Howell v. Hill, 94 Miss. 566, 48 S 177.

"Estate" see Estates § 1.

3. Felix v. U. S., 186 Fed. 685, 689, 108 CCA 503; U. S. v. Ringeling, 8 Mont. 353, 357, 26 P 643.

"Privilege" 50 C. J. p 400.

4. Peo. v. Kings County Dev. Co., 177 Cal. 529, 171 P 102, 104; Peo. v. Banning Co., 167 Cal. 643, 140 P 587.

"Title" see Property § 57.

5. Wallace v. Taliaferro, 2 Call (6 Va.) 447, 481.

6. Kellom v. Easley, 14 F. Cas. No. 7,668, 1 Dill. 281, 286; Camp v. Smith, 2 Minn. 155, 168.

7. See Deeds § 265 text and note 72, § 302; Interest 33 C. J. p 265 note 49.

8. Moss Point Lumber Co. v. Harrison County, 89 Miss. 448, 557, 42 S 290, 873.

"Use and occupation" see Occupation 46 C. J. p 896 text and note 95.

9. Booth v. Burgess, 72 N. J. Eq. 181, 188, 65 A 226 ("right of every dealer, in the full enjoyment of his right to contract, to have all other possible dealers with him left free to deal or not as they may voluntarily elect").

"Market" 38 C. J. p 1258.

10. Hale v. Grow, 88 W. Va. 173, 106 SE 409, 412.

"Coal" 11 C. J. p 934.

"Mineral" see Mines and Minerals §§ 9–12.

"Oil" 46 C. J. p 1087.

11. "Exist" compared see Exist 25 C. J. p 167 note 54 [b].

12. See Bear 7 C. J. p 1018 note 76 [a].

13. Peo. v. Zerillo, 219 Mich. 635, 189 NW 927, 928.

"Arms" 5 C. J. p 287.

14. Ex p. Dawes, (Okl. Cr.) 239 P 689, 692; Hosmer v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 312, 218 P 164, 168.

15. Henry v. Cherry, 30 R. I. 13, 21, 73 A 97, 136 AmSR 928, 24 LRA NS 991, 18 AnnCas 1006. See also Right of Privacy post.

16. Steel, etc., Mongers v. Bonnite Insulator Co., 90 N. J. Eq. 200, 106 A 380, 381.

"Compensation" 12 C. J. p 229.

17. Mathewson v. Mathewson, 79 Conn. 23, 25, 63 A 285, 5 LRANS 611, 6 AnnCas 1027. See also Constitutional Law § 444 et seq.

18. State v. Blake, 208 Iowa 995, 221 NW 569, 570.

"Infer" 31 C. J. p 1181.

19. Cahill v. Pine Creek Oil Co., 38 Okl. 568, 134 P 64, 65.

[a] "Right of possession" distinguished.—Cahill v. Pine Creek Oil Co., 38 Okl. 568, 134 P 64, 65. See also Property § 56.

20. Imperial Water Co. No. 1 v. Wores, 29 Cal. A. 253, 155 P 124, 126.

"Real property" see Property §§ 19–31.

21. Union Trust Co. v. Heiner, 26 F. (2d) 391.

"Receive" 52 C. J. p 1191.

22. Case v. Cherokee Lanyon Spelter Co., 62 Kan. 69, 72, 61 P 406. See also Redeem ante; Redemption ante.

[a] "Opportunity to redeem" not synonymous.—Case v. Cherokee Lanyon Spelter Co., 62 Kan. 69, 72, 61 P 406.

23. Farquaharson v. Farquaharson, (Pr. Edw. Isl.) 6 DomLR 818, 819, 11 EastLR 201.

"Remain" ante.

24. Mabie v. Whittaker, 10 Wash. 656, 663, 39 P 172.

"Sell" [35 Cyc 1374].

25. In re Davison, 134 Misc. 769, 236 NYS 437, 443.

Subscriptions to capital stock see Corporations §§ 752–1032.

26. Woodruff's Case, 7 Ct. Cl. 605, 613.

"Proceeds" 50 C. J. p 427.

27. O'Donnell v. Luskin, 12 Montg. Co. (Pa.) 109, 110.

"Mine" see Mines and Minerals §§ 1–8.

28. Paxton Lumber Co. v. Panther Coal Co., 83 W. Va. 341, 98 SE 563, 565.

"Timber" see Logs and Logging § 2.

29. Inland Revenue Comrs. v. Joicey, [1913] 2 K. B. 580. See generally Mines and Minerals 40 C. J. p 717.

30. See Same [35 Cyc 790 text and note 6].

31. See Sovereign [36 Cyc 516].

32. See Subject [37 Cyc 341 text and note 61].

33. See Appeal and Error § 265.

34. Dexter v. Edmands, 89 Fed. 467, 468.

"Remedy" distinguished see Remedy ante.

in,"[35] "under claim of right,"[36] "vested right,"[37] "water right,"[38] and "court of right."[39] Also among many phrases in which the plural "rights" as a noun has been used are: "Absolute rights of individuals,"[40] "acquired rights,"[41] "all other rights and privileges appertaining to the copyright,"[42] "all property and rights of every kind and nature belonging to and vested in such incorporated city,"[43] "all rights,"[44] "all rights and liabilities existing, acquired, or incurred,"[45] "all rights and liabilities existing, acquired, or incurred at the time this act takes effect are hereby saved,"[46] "all rights of the parties,"[47] "all the real and personal estate[48] rights, property, credits,[49] and effects[50] whether vested or contingent,"[51] "all the rights and privileges,"[52] "all the rights and property,"[53] "any interests and rights,"[54] "civil rights,"[55] "contingent rights,"[56] "determined rights,"[57] "exclusive rights and privileges,"[58] "existing or accruing rights are preserved,"[59] "existing rights of others,"[60] "franchises, rights, and privileges,"[61] "goods, chattels, rights, and credits of the deceased,"[62] "his rights under said contract,"[63] "incorporeal rights,"[64] "marital rights,"[65] "marital rights, duties, or obligations,"[66] "material rights,"[67] "merger of rights,"[68] "mining rights,"[69] "money, rights or credits,"[70] "mutual assumption of marital rights, duties, or obligations,"[71] "natural rights,"[72] "patent rights,"[73] "personal rights,"[74] "political rights,"[75] "property and civil rights,"[76] "property and civil rights . . . within the province,"[77] "property and rights of the city,"[78] "property, contracts, and rights of action,"[79] "property rights,"[80] "property rights or interests,"[81] "proprietary rights,"[82] "real rights,"[83] "rights acquired by marriage,"[84] "rights and benefits,"[85] "rights and claims,"[86] "rights and credits,"[87] "rights and credits of assignor,"[88] "rights and effects,"[89] "rights and franchises,"[90] "rights and liabilities,"[91] "rights and liberty,"[92] "rights and privileges,"[93] "rights and privileges" [as a corporation],[94] "rights and privileges as to party wall,"[95] "rights and property,"[96] "rights as such, of any corporation now existing,"[97] "rights, defenses, or limitations lawfully accrued or established,"[98] "rights in ports and shores,"[99] "rights of another,"[1] "rights of shareholder,"[2] "rights or privileges secured to any citizen of the state,"[3] "rights, privileges and immunities,"[4] "rights, remedies, and liabilities,"[5] "rights retained by the people,"[6] "rights [which husband] has by law,"[7] "terms and conditions, rights and privileges,"[8] "where the rights in future might be bound,"[9] and "with all the rights and privileges."[10]

---

[35] Tucker v. Denico, 27 R. I. 239, 245, 61 A 642; Mitchell v. Campbell, 48 R. I. 120, 136 A 249, 250.

[36] See Claim 11 C. J. p 824 text and note 77.

[37] See Vested Right [40 Cyc 199].

[38] See Water Right [40 Cyc 540].

[39] See Real Actions §§ 2–25.

[40] See Absolute 1 C. J. p 361 note 33 [c].

[41] See Acquire 1 C. J. p 909 note 38 [d].

[42] See All § 9 text and note 97.

[43] Barber Asphalt Paving Co. v. Field, 134 Mo. A. 663, 667, 111 SW 907.

[44] Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Allen, 15 Fla. 637, 658.

[45] Peo. v. Driessen, 178 Mich. 118, 144 NW 526, 528.

[46] See Liability 36 C. J. p 1052 text and note 98.

[47] See All § 3 text and note 90.

[48] "Personal estate" see Personal § 7.

[49] "Credits" 15 C. J. p 1348.

[50] "Effects" 19 C. J. p 1017.

[51] McGregor v. Campbell, 19 Man. 38, 44, 11 WestLR 153.

"Contingent" 13 C. J. p 114.

"Vested" [40 Cyc 197].

[52] See All § 3 text and note 89.

[53] Smith v. Hightstown Borough, 71 N. J. L. 276, 279, 57 A 901.

[54] See Interest 33 C. J. p 263 text and note 81.

[55] See Civil Rights 11 C. J. p 799.

[56] See Contingent 13 C. J. p 117 text and note 46.

[57] See Determine 18 C. J. p 985 note 33 [a].

[58] See Exclusive 23 C. J. p 275 text and note 68.

[59] See Exist 25 C. J. p 168 text and note 72.

[60] See Exist 25 C. J. p 168 text and note 76.

[61] Adams v. Yazoo, etc., R. Co., 77 Miss. 194, 258, 24 S 200, 317, 28 S 956, 60 LRA 33.

[62] Newport Prob. Ct. v. Hazard, 13 R. I. 3, 9.

[63] Cohrt v. Kock, 56 Iowa 658, 660, 10 NW 230.

[64] See Incorporeal 31 C. J. p 408.

[65] See Marital 38 C. J. p 1191.

[66] See Obligation § 4 text and note 4.

[67] See Material 39 C. J. p 1388 text and note 10.

[68] See Merger 40 C. J. p 650 text and notes 23–29.

[69] See Mines and Minerals § 74.

[70] Sargeant v. Leland, 2 Vt. 277, 280.

"Money" 40 C. J. p 1489.

[71] See Mutual 44 C. J. p 1501 text and note 25.

[72] See Natural § 13.

[73] See Patents § 1.

[74] See Personal § 15.

[75] See Political § 18.

[76] See Property § 5 text and note 95.

[77] See Property § 5 text and note 96.

[78] International R. Co. v. Rann, 224 N. Y. 83, 88, 120 NE 153.

[79] See Property § 5 text and note 6.

[80] See Property § 5 text and note 50.

[81] See Property § 5 text and note 52.

[82] See Proprietary 50 C. J. p 790 text and note 19.

[83] See Real 52 C. J. p 1156 text and note 75.

[84] Hamilton v. McNeill, 150 Iowa 470, 129 NW 480, 481, AnnCas1912D 604.

"Marriage" see Marriage § 1.

[85] Jennings v. Reed, 75 N. J. Eq. 530, 72 A 939, 940.

[86] De Ford v. Johnson, 251 Mo. 244, 158 SW 29, 31, 46 LRANS 1083.

[87] See Credit 15 C. J. p 1350 note 87 [a].

[88] Runner v. Dwiggins, 147 Ind. 238, 239, 46 NE 580, 36 LRA 645.

"Assignor" see Assignments § 3.

[89] Union Nat. Bank v. Byram, 131 Ill. 92, 100, 22 NE 842.

[90] State v. Twin Falls Canal Co., 21 Ida. 410, 121 P 1039, 1040, LRA 1916F 236; Alexandria, etc., R. Co. v. Alexandria, etc., R. Co., 75 Va. 780, 789, 40 AmR 743.

[91] Means v. Harrison, 114 Ill. 248, 251, 2 NE 64.

[92] Caldwell v. State, 1 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 327, 441.

[93] See Privilege § 2 text and note 1.

[94] International, etc., R. Co. v. State, 75 Tex. 356, 373, 12 SW 685.

[95] Roche v. Allan, 23 Ont. L. 300, 307, 2 OntWN 787, 913, 18 OntWR 749.

Party Walls § 1.

[96] Smith v. Hightstown, 71 N. J. L. 276, 57 A 901, 903.

[97] St. Joseph F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Houch, 63 Mo. 112, 118.

[98] Donovan v. Flynn, 219 App. Div. 471, 220 NYS 44, 48.

[99] Wilson v. Welch, 12 Or. 353, 359, 7 P 341. See generally Navigable Waters 45 C. J. p 398.

[a] According to Hale they are of three kinds. First, the jus privatum, or right of property or franchise; second, jus publicum, or public right of passage and navigation; and third, the jus regium, or governmental right. Wilson v. Welch, 12 Or. 353, 359, 7 P 341.

"Port" 49 C. J. p 1084.

"Shore" [36 Cyc 432].

[1] Wood v. Michigan Air-Line R. Co., 81 Mich. 358, 362, 45 NW 980.

[2] Union Nat. Bank v. Byram, 131 Ill. 92, 100, 22 NE 842 (they are "rights of a contract, or in technical language, choses in action). See generally Corporations §§ 1264–1798.

[3] Hennepin County v. Jones, 18 Minn. 199.

"Citizen" see Citizens § 1.

"State" see States [36 Cyc 826].

[§ 12] 11. Other Terms Compared. "Right" is, or may be employed as, the correlative of "duty,"[11] "obligation,"[12] "remedy,"[13] or "wrong."[14] "Right" has been compared with and, in the connection in which used, has been distinguished from "cause of action,"[15] "indulgence,"[16] "law,"[17] "obligation,"[18] "privilege,"[19] "remedy,"[20] "status,"[21] and "title."[22] On the other hand "right" has been compared with certain other terms and held to be equivalent to or synonymous with them in the particular connection in which employed, such as "all right,"[23] "debt or duty,"[24] "deed,"[25] "duty,"[26] "estate,"[27] "liberty,"[28] "obligation,"[29] "ownership,"[30] "power,"[31] "privilege,"[32] and "title."[33]

[§ 13] B. As Adjective. Fit; suitable; proper; correct;[34] also, opposed to "left."[35]

Phrases: "My own right heirs,"[36] "my right heirs,"[37] "right heirs,"[38] "right heirs and distributees,"[39] "right heirs at law,"[40] and "right heirs by blood;"[41] also "right bank."[42]

RIGHT AND WRONG TEST.[43]

RIGHT AWAY. At once;[44] within a reasonable time, in view of the particular facts.[45]

RIGHTFUL. Lawful;[46] legitimate.[47]

Phrases: "Rightful possession,"[48] and "rightful subjects of legislation."[49]

RIGHT IN ACTION.[50]

RIGHT OF ACTION.[51]

RIGHT OF COMMON.[52]

RIGHT OF CONSCIENCE.[53]

RIGHT OF DOWER.[54]

---

4. Phœnix F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Tennessee, 161 U. S. 174, 16 SCt 471, 40 L. ed. 660; Grand Canyon R. Co. v. Treat, 12 Ariz. 69, 79, 95 P 187; Atlanta, etc., Air-Line R. Co. v. State, 63 Ga. 483, 484; State v. Ashman, 123 Tenn. 654, 135 SW 325, 326; Nashville, etc., Turnp. Co. v. Davidson County, 106 Tenn. 258, 262, 61 SW 68; Lonas v. State, 3 Heisk. (Tenn.) 287, 306.

"Immunity" 31 C. J. p 252.

"Privilege" 50 C. J. p 400.

5. Curry v. Bacharach Quality Shops, 271 Pa. 364, 117 A 435, 438; Curry v. Bacharach Quality Shops, (Pa.) 114 A 818, 821, 271 Pa. 364, 117 A 435.

"Liability" 36 C. J. p 1050.

"Remedy" see Actions § 91.

6. Ex p. Powell, 70 Fla. 363, 70 S 392, 397.

"People" 48 C. J. p 805.

7. Heald v. Kilgore, (N. H.) 149 A 866, 868. See also Husband and Wife §§ 4–177.

8. See Privilege § 2 text and note 8.

9. Cully v. Ferdais, 30 Can. S. C. 330; Raphael v. Maclaren, 27 Can. S. C. 319, 325; Stevenson v. Montreal, 27 Can. S. C. 187, 191; O'Dell v. Gregory, 24 Can. S. C. 661, 663; Rodier v. Lapierre, 21 Can. S. C. 69, 71.

10. Memphis v. Phœnix F. & M. Ins. Co., 91 Tenn. 566, 569, 19 SW 1044.

11. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co. v. Kurtz, 10 Ind. A. 60, 35 NE 201, 37 NE 303, 304; Bouvier L. D. [quot Winnipeg v. Barrett, 5 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 32, 91].

12. See Obligation § 3 text and note 66.

13. See Actions §§ 93–99.

14. See Actions §§ 93–99.

15. Smart v. Morrison, 15 Ill. A. 226, 229.

16. Brown v. Meady, 10 Me. 391, 395, 25 AmD 248.

17. State v. Worden, 46 Conn. 349, 364, 33 AmR 27.

18. See Obligation § 3 text and notes 67–69.

19. See Privilege § 1 note 57 [a], 2. Compare supra § 3.

20. See Remedy ante.

21. Calhoun v. Bryant, 28 S. D. 266, 276, 133 NW 266.

22. See Property § 59 text and note 6. Compare supra § 4.

23. Monmouth v. Plimpton, 77 Me. 556, 560, 1 A 693.

24. Beach v. Boynton, 26 Vt. 725, 736; Brooks v. Clayes, 10 Vt. 37, 54.

25. Rowton v. Rowton, 1 Hen. & M. (11 Va.) 92, 98.

26. Doyle v. Missouri, etc., R. Co., (Mo. A.) 185 SW 1175.

27. Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Amacker, 53 Fed. 48, 56 ("at least in wills").

28. See Liberty 37 C. J. p 159 text and note 61; and supra § 3.

29. See Obligation § 3 text and note 65.

30. Hathorn v. Robinson, 98 Me. 334, 56 A 1057, 1059.

31. See Power 49 C. J. p 1242 text and note 18. See also supra § 3.

32. Smith v. Cornell Univ., 21 Misc. 220, 222, 45 NYS 640. See also supra § 3.

33. Monmouth v. Plimpton, 77 Me. 556, 560, 1 A 693. See also supra § 4.

34. Webster New Int. D.

"Correct" 14A C. J. p 1426.

"Fit" 26 C. J. p 646.

"Proper" 50 C. J. p 721.

"Suitable" [37 Cyc 525].

[a] Archbishop Whately says: "That which is conformable to the supreme will is absolutely right, and is called right simply, without any reference to a special end. The opposite to right is wrong." This announces a standard but gives no practical aid. Allen v. Ferguson, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 1, 4, 21 L. ed. 854.

35. Webster New Int. D.

36. See My C. J. p 362 text and note 96. See also Wills [40 Cyc 1461 text and note 21].

37. See My 45 C. J. p 362 text and note 3.

38. See Heir § 44.

39. In re Tatham, 250 Pa. 269, 278, 95 A 520, AnnCas1917A 855.

"Distributee" 18 C. J. p 1291.

40. State Street Trust Co. v. Sampson, 228 Mass. 411, 412, 117 NE 832.

"Heir at law" see Heir § 24.

41. Harison v. Jones, 82 Ga. 599, 603, 9 SE 527.

"Heirs by blood" see Heir § 23 text and note 10.

42. Borkenhagen v. Vianden, 82 Wis. 206, 208, 52 NW 260 ("the east bank—or the bank lying to the right of an object passing down stream").

43. See Criminal Law § 75; Homicide § 13.

44. Webster New Int. D.

45. Lorimer v. Boylan, 98 Mich. 18, 22, 56 NW 1043.

46. Terr. v. O'Conner, 5 Dak. 397, 41 NW 746, 749, 3 LRA 355; Maynard v. Hill, 2 Wash. T. 321, 326, 5 P 717.

"Lawful" 36 C. J. p 967.

47. Baca v. Parez, 8 N. M. 187, 200, 42 P 162.

"Legitimate" 36 C. J. p 988.

48. Sims v. State, 36 Tex. Cr. 154, 36 SW 256.

[a] "Legal possession" distinguished.—Sims v. State, 36 Tex. Cr. 154, 36 SW 256.

"Legal possession" see Legal § 15 text and note 80.

"Possession" 49 C. J. p 1072.

49. Leatherwood v. Hill, 10 Ariz. 243, 89 P 521, 522; Bennett v. Nichols, 9 Ariz. 138, 80 P 392, 393; McRae v. Cochise County, 5 Ariz. 26, 44 P 299, 301; Terr. v. O'Connor, 5 Dak. 397, 403, 41 NW 746, 749, 3 LRA 355; Maynard v. Hill, 2 Wash. T. 321, 326, 5 P 717.

50. See Actions § 40 note 36 [c].

51. See Actions § 40.

52. See Common Lands § 1 text and notes 13, 14.

53. See Conscience, Right of 12 C. J. p 512.

54. Inchoate right of dower see Dower §§ 105–200.

Right of widow before assignment of dower see Dower §§ 204–206.

RIGHT OF DRAINAGE.[55]

RIGHT OF EMINENT DOMAIN.[56]

RIGHT OF ENTRY.[57]

RIGHT OF NAVIGATION.[58]

RIGHT OF POST LIMINII.[59]

---

[55] See Drains § 1 note 7 [d]; Jus 35 C. J. p 429 note 69 [i]. And see generally Easements 19 C. J. p 356; Waters [40 Cyc 542].

Right of drainage as hereditament see Property § 29 note 41 [b].

[56] See generally Eminent Domain 20 C. J. p 501.

[57] See Right § 5.

[58] See Right § 6.

[59] See Postliminy 49 C. J. p 1122.

RIGHT OF PRIVACY

By Francis J. Ludes

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra this page]

ANALYSIS

I. DEFINITION [§ 1] p 816

II. EXISTENCE, NATURE, AND EXTENT [§§ 2–12] p 817
  - A. In General [§ 2] p 817
  - B. Nature [§ 3] p 818
  - C. Extent [§§ 4–11] p 818
    - 1. In General [§ 4] p 818
    - 2. Paramount Rights of Public [§§ 5–7] p 819
      - a. In General [§ 5] p 819
      - b. Public Institutions or Public Enterprises [§ 6] p 819
      - c. Persons Accused or Convicted of Crime [§ 7] p 819
    - 3. Pictures [§§ 8–9] p 820
      - a. In General [§ 8] p 820
      - b. Statutory Provisions [§ 9] p 820
    - 4. Names [§§ 10–11] p 821
      - a. In General [§ 10] p 821
      - b. Statutory Provisions [§ 11] p 821
  - D. Waiver or Forfeiture [§ 12] p 821

III. ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES [§ 13] p 822

IV. INJUNCTIVE RELIEF [§ 14] p 823

V. OFFENSE OF OPENING, READING, OR PUBLISHING LETTERS OR TELEGRAMS [§ 15] p 823

CROSS REFERENCES

Easement of prospect or privacy see Easements § 139.
Freedom of speech and of the press see Constitutional Law §§ 467–481.
Libel and Slander 36 C. J. p 1134.
Personal liberty see Constitutional Law §§ 445–448.
Personal security see Constitutional Law § 449.
Property rights:
  In:
    Lectures, sermons, and addresses see Copyright and Literary Property § 20.
Property rights: Continued
  In: Continued
    Letters see Copyright and Literary Property §§ 18, 32.
    Photographs see Copyright and Literary Property § 30.
  Of author to use of his name see Copyright and Literary Property §§ 24, 25.
Right to privacy from overlooking windows see Adjoining Landowners § 80.
Searches and Seizures [35 Cyc 1263].

I. DEFINITION

[§ 1] The "right of privacy," as the term is employed with reference to the determination of whether a cause of action in damages exists for an unwarranted invasion of such right[1] or whether it may be protected by injunctive relief,[2] may be defined as the right of an individual to be let alone,[3] or to live a life of seclusion,[4] or to be free from unwarranted publicity,[5] or to live without unwarranted interference by the public about matters with which the public is not necessarily concerned.[6]

---

[1] Action for damages see infra § 13.

[2] Injunctive relief see infra § 14.

[3] Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967; Rosenwasser v. Ogoglia, 172 App. Div. 107, 158 NYS 56 [quot Cooley Torts (3d ed) p 33].

[4] Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

[5] Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

[6] Brents v. Morgan, supra.

[a] Similar definition.—"The right of a person to be secure from invasion by the public into matters of a private nature." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 71, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

II. EXISTENCE, NATURE, AND EXTENT

[§ 2] A. In General. The authorities are in conflict as to the propriety of recognizing the existence of an individual's right of privacy as a distinct basis of a cause of action because of its infringement[7] apart from other rights, such as the right to liberty,[8] property,[9] or reputation.[10] While some decisions specifically recognize such a right,[11] by others, it is specifically denied.[12]

---

[7] See cases infra notes 11, 12.

[8] Right to:
Freedom:
  From unreasonable or unlawful search or seizure see Searches and Seizures [35 Cyc 1263].
  Of speech and of press see Constitutional Law §§ 467-481.
Personal:
  Liberty see Constitutional Law §§ 445-448.
  Security see Constitutional Law § 449.

[9] Easement of prospect or privacy see Easements § 139.

Rights:
In:
  Lectures, sermons, and addresses see Copyright and Literary Property § 20.
  Letters see Copyright and Literary Property §§ 18, 32.
  Photographs see Copyright and Literary Property § 30.
Of author to use of his name see Copyright and Literary Property §§ 24, 25.
To privacy from overlooking windows see Adjoining Landowners § 80.

[10] Libel and slander see Libel and Slander 36 C. J. p 1134.

[11] Ga.—Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

Kan.—Kunz v. Allen, 102 Kan. 883, 172 P 532, LRA1918D 1151.

Ky.—Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967; Foster-Milburn Co. v. Chinn, 134 Ky. 424, 120 SW 364, 135 AmSR 417, 34 LRANS 1137.

La.—Itzkovitch v. Whitaker, 117 La. 708, 42 S 228, 116 AmSR 215; Schulman v. Whitaker, 117 La. 704, 42 S 227, 7 LRANS 274, 8 AnnCas 1174.

Mo.—Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

N. J.—Edison v. Edison Polyform, etc., Co., 73 N. J. Eq. 136, 67 A 392; Vanderbilt v. Mitchell, 72 N. J. Eq. 910, 67 A 97, 14 LRANS 304.

[a] The absence of precedent, even for all time, is not conclusive of the question as to the existence of the right. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 Ann Cas 561.

[b] Failure of authorities to mention not conclusive.—"While neither Sir William Blackstone nor any of the other writers on the principles of the common law have referred in terms to the right of privacy, the illustrations given by them as to what would be a violation of the absolute rights of individuals are not to be taken as exhaustive, but the language should be allowed to include any instance of a violation of such rights which is clearly within the true meaning and intent of the words used to declare the principle." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 70, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

[c] Recognition of natural rights.—(1) "It is one of those rights referred to by some law writers as 'absolute'—such as would belong to their persons merely in a state of nature, and which every man is entitled to enjoy, whether out of society or in it." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 194, 50 SE 68, 70, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 Ann Cas 561. (2) "The individual surrenders to society many rights and privileges which he would be free to exercise in a state of nature, in exchange for the benefits which he receives as a member of society. But he is not presumed to surrender all those rights, and the public has no more right, without his consent, to invade the domain of those rights which it is necessarily to be presumed he has reserved than he has to violate the valid regulations of the organized government under which he lives." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., supra.

[d] Personal liberty.—"The right of one to exhibit himself to the public at all proper times, in all proper places, and in all proper manner is embraced within the right of personal liberty. The right to withdraw from the public gaze at such times as a person may see fit, when his presence in public is not demanded by any rule of law, is also embraced within the right of personal liberty. Publicity in one instance, and privacy in the other, are each guarantied. If personal liberty embraces the right of publicity, it no less embraces the correlative right of privacy, and this is no new idea in Georgia law. . . . The right of privacy within certain limits is a right derived from natural law, recognized by the principles of municipal law, and guarantied to persons in this state both by the Constitutions of the United States and of the state of Georgia, in those provisions which declare that no person shall be deprived of liberty except by due process of law." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 70, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

[e] "Personal security includes the right to exist and the right to the enjoyment of life while existing, and is invaded not only by a deprivation of life, but also by a deprivation of those things which are necessary to the enjoyment of life according to the nature, temperament, and lawful desires of the individual." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

[f] Difficulty of delimitation not a bar to recognition.—"It may be that there will arise many cases which lie near the border line which marks the right of privacy, on the one hand, and the right of another individual or of the public, on the other. But this is true in regard to numerous other rights which the law recognizes as resting in the individual. In regard to cases that may arise under the right of privacy, as in cases that arise under other rights where the line of demarkation is to be determined, the safeguard of the individual, on the one hand, and of the public, on the other, is the wisdom and integrity of the judiciary." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 72, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

[12] Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 64 NE 442, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478; Owen v. Partridge, 40 Misc. 415, 82 NYS 248; Henry v. Cherry, 30 R. I. 13, 73 A 97, 136 AmSR 928, 24 LRANS 991, 18 Ann Cas 1006; Hillman v. Star Pub. Co., 64 Wash. 691, 117 P 594, 35 LRANS 595. See Von Thodorovich v. Franz Josef Ben. Assoc., 154 Fed. 911 (where there is a dictum to the effect that equity will not relieve as to a breach of privacy even in the case of a private individual and much less in the case of one standing in the public eye like an emperor); Murray v. Gast Lith., etc., Co., 8 Misc. 36, 28 NYS 271 (denying parent damages and injunction in case of unauthorized publication of portrait of his infant daughter).

"The so-called 'right of privacy' has not as yet found an abiding place in our jurisprudence, and, as we view it, the doctrine cannot now be incorporated without doing violence to settled principles of law by which the profession and the public have long been guided." Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 556, 64 NE 442, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478 [quot Henry v. Cherry, 31 R. I. 13, 73 A 97, 109, 136 AmSR 928, 24 LRA NS 991].

[a] Failure of authorities to mention held persuasive.—"Mention of such a right is not to be found in Blackstone, Kent, or any other of the great commentators upon the law; nor, so far as the learning of counsel or the courts in this case have been able to discover, does its existence seem to have been asserted prior to about the year 1890, when it was presented with attractiveness, and no inconsiderable ability, in the Harvard Law Review (volume 4, p. 193) in an article entitled 'Rights of a Citizen to His Reputation.'" Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 64 NE 442, 443, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478.

[b] Natural rights recognized only as guaranteed by the constitution.—"Since . . . except when expressly limited, the General Assembly exercises all of the legislative powers of sovereignty possessed by the British Parliament, which is all-powerful, and since acts of that body are tested merely by the principles of the Constitution, and never by standard of transcendent rights alleged to have been reserved by the individual when he entered into society, there is no room in our constitutional theory for any transcendent right or instinct of nature except as guaranteed by that Constitution." Henry v. Cherry, 30 R. I. 13, 73 A 97, 104, 136 AmSR 928, 24 LRANS 991, 18 AnnCas 1006.

[c] Difficulty of application.—"If such a principle be incorporated into the body of the law through the instrumentality of a court of equity, the attempts to logically apply the principle will necessarily result not only in a vast amount of litigation, but in litigation bordering upon the absurd, for the right of privacy, once established as a legal doctrine, cannot be confined to the restraint of the publication of a likeness, but must necessarily embrace as well the publication of a word picture, a comment upon one's looks, conduct, domestic relations or habits. And, were the right of privacy once legally asserted, it would necessarily be held to include the same things if spoken instead of printed, for one, as well as the other, invades the right to be absolutely let alone. . . . I have gone only far enough to barely suggest the vast field of litigation which would necessarily be opened up should this court hold that privacy exists as a legal right enforceable in equity by injunction, and by damages where they seem necessary to give complete relief." Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 64 NE 442, 443, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478.

[§ 3] B. Nature. The right of privacy, assuming its existence,[13] has been held to be a purely personal right,[14] although there is authority to the effect that it is a property right,[15] at least where the right of an individual to privacy with reference to his own picture is involved.[16] Upon the theory that the right is purely personal, it has been held that it may be enforced only by the person whose right has been infringed,[17] that the individual right of privacy which any person has during life dies with the person,[18] and that any right of privacy which survives, is a right pertaining to the living only.[19] But while it has been held that a parent cannot enjoin an unauthorized publication of the portrait of an infant child,[20] relief has been granted to the parents of infants, where the right of privacy was invaded after the death of the children.[21]

[§ 4] C. Extent—1. In General. While the cases in which a right of privacy has been asserted are for the most part cases involving the use of the name[22] or picture[23] of an individual, the right has also been recognized with reference to a publication of his private affairs.[24] However, the right to privacy does not prohibit the communication of any

---

[d] Right to freedom from assault distinguished.—"Every exponent of the right of privacy cites as an authority in support of his contentions one sentence in Cooley on Torts, p. 29, where the learned author is discussing the right of personal immunity, and the sentence is as follows: 'The right to one's person may be said to be a right of complete immunity; to be let alone.' . . . The paragraph is given over entirely to a discussion of the doctrine of assault. The author is not, therefore, ushering in a new right of complete immunity. The right 'to be let alone' refers unmistakably to the right to be free from bodily injury, or from a reasonable fear of bodily injury, at the hands of a fellow being. . . . Apprehension of immediate physical harm is not an essential element of the right of privacy. But the incompatability between the principle of assault and that of the right of privacy is most strikingly brought out by the familiar rule that words alone can never constitute an assault. Cooley, Torts, 167. If words cannot constitute an assault, how, then, can writings; and, if writings cannot, how could the publication of a picture? It would seem reasonable to conclude that the principle of the right of privacy finds no support in the doctrine of assault." Henry v. Cherry, 31 R. I. 13, 73 A 97, 109, 136 AmSR 928, 24 LRANS 991, 18 AnnCas 1006.

[e] In Michigan the right of privacy was denied in an action brought by the widow of a lawyer to restrain the use of his picture and name as a label for a brand of cigars. Atkinson v. Doherty, 121 Mich. 372, 80 NW 285, 80 AmSR 507, 46 LRA 219. Compare Miller v. Gillespie, 196 Mich. 423, 163 NW 22 (where plaintiff brought an action to have the police records of his arrest surrendered, and although the court denied relief, did so without denying the jurisdiction of a court of equity to afford a remedy for a wrongful invasion of privacy).

[13] See supra § 2.

[14] Von Thodorovich v. Franz Josef Ben. Assoc., 154 Fed. 911; Schulman v. Whitaker, 117 La. 704, 42 S 227, 7 LRANS 274, 8 AnnCas 1174; Riddle v. MacFadden, 201 N. Y. 215, 94 NE 644; Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 64 NE 442, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478.

[a] Rule applied.—No appeal can be taken from a unanimous affirmance by the appellate division of a judgment in an action under the statute for the invasion of the right of privacy, unless allowed by Code Civ. Proc. § 191, such an action being one for personal injury. Riddle v. MacFadden, 201 N. Y. 215, 94 NE 644.

[15] Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

[16] Munden v. Harris, supra.

"It belongs to the same class of rights which forbids the reproduction of a private manuscript or painting, or the publication of private letters, of oral lectures delivered by a teacher to his class, or the revelation of the contents of a merchant's books by a clerk." Corliss v. E. W. Walker Co., 64 Fed. 280, 31 LRA 283.

[a] Property right of material profit and value.—One has the exclusive right to his picture on the score of its being a property right of material profit, and also a property right of value in that it is one of the modes of securing to a person the enjoyment of life and the exercise of liberty. Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

[b] Representation of portrait.—The right of a private individual to be protected in the representation of his portrait in any form is a property as well as a personal right. Corliss v. E. W. Walker Co., 64 Fed. 280, 31 LRA 283.

[17] Von Thodorovich v. Franz Josef Ben. Association, 154 Fed. 911; Murray v. Gast Lith., etc., Co., 8 Misc. 36, 28 NYS 271.

[a] The right of the emperor of a foreign country to restrain an association, doing business in the United States, from using his name and portrait, in advertising its business, because such use is offensive to him, is personal to him, and cannot be availed of in a suit in the federal court for such relief by the consul of such country residing in the United States. Von Thodorovich v. Franz Josef Ben. Assoc., 154 Fed. 911.

[18] Atkinson v. Doherty, 121 Mich. 372, 80 NW 285, 80 AmSR 507, 46 LRA 219; Schuyler v. Curtis, 147 N. Y. 434, 42 NE 22, 49 AmSR 671, 31 LRA 286.

[a] Name and likeness of deceased person as label for brand of cigars.—Equity will not restrain the use of the name and likeness of a deceased person as a label for a brand of cigars named after him, although offensive to the family of the deceased, so long as it does not amount to a libel. Atkinson v. Doherty, 121 Mich. 372, 80 NW 285, 80 AmSR 507, 46 LRA 219.

[19] Schuyler v. Curtis, 147 N. Y. 434, 42 NE 22, 49 AmSR 671, 31 LRA 286.

[a] Any privilege of surviving relatives of a deceased person to protect his memory exists for the benefit of the living to protect their feelings and to prevent a violation of their own rights in the character and memory of the deceased, and the mere fact that a person's feelings may be injured by the erection of a statue to a deceased relative is not ground for an injunction against its erection unless there is reasonable and plausible ground for the existence of this mental distress and injury. It must not be the creation of mere caprice, nor of pure fancy, nor the result of a supersensitive and morbid mental organization, dwelling with undue emphasis on the exclusive and sacred character of this right of privacy. Schuyler v. Curtis, 147 N. Y. 434, 42 NE 22, 49 AmSR 671, 31 LRA 286.

[20] Murray v. Gast Lith., etc., Co., 8 Misc. 36, 28 NYS 271.

[21] Bazemore v. Savannah Hospital, (Ga.) 155 SE 194, 196 [dist Murray v. Gast Lith., etc., Co., 8 Misc. 36, 28 NYS 271 (in which the parent sought to recover damages for the unauthorized publication of the portrait of his living infant child)]; Douglas v. Stokes, 149 Ky. 506, 149 SW 849, 42 LRANS 386, AnnCas1914B 374 (where plaintiff's wife gave birth to twin boy children, born together from the shoulders down to the end of their bodies, and after their death plaintiff employed defendant, a photographer, to photograph the corpse in its nude condition, it being agreed that defendant was to make twelve photographs for plaintiff and no more, but defendant made other photographs, on which he obtained a copyright, and the court held that defendant's misuse of the negative constituted a violation of plaintiff's right of privacy of the bodies of his dead children, for which defendant was liable in damages).

[22] See infra § 10.

[23] See infra § 8.

[24] Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967; Brex v. Smith, (N. J. Ch.) 146 A 34.

[a] Submission of bank accounts of members of police department.—A prosecutor may be enjoined from requiring submission to him of the bank accounts of all members of the police department, to assist him in making an investigation, as such action would work irreparable injury for which there is no adequate remedy at law. Brex v. Smith, (N. J. Ch.) 146 A 34.

matter, though in its nature private, when the publication is made under circumstances which would render it a privileged communication according to the rule of slander and libel,[25] and it has been said that there can be no redress for the invasion of privacy by oral publication.[26] In any event, the right of privacy must be recognized and enforced without curtailment of constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and of the press.[27]

[§ 5] 2. Paramount Rights of Public—a. In General. The right of privacy does not extend so far as to subvert those rights which spring from social conditions, including business relations,[28] or to prohibit the publication of matter which is of public or general interest.[29]

[§ 6] b. Public Institutions or Public Enterprises. An educational institution which is not only a corporation but a public institution has no right of privacy which will be conserved by injunction,[30] and an enterprise which is of public interest, and not a matter of business in which its rights might be interfered with, cannot claim any right of privacy.[31]

[§ 7] c. Persons Accused or Convicted of Crime.[32] Officers of the law have power to take and use photographs of persons confined in jail on criminal charges, for the purpose of identification,[33] and the use of such photographs cannot be enjoined,[34] unless the threatened use is wrongful or improper,[35] as the use of such photographs for the purpose of identification is not an invasion of the right of privacy.[36] On the other hand it has been held that the taking of a photograph of one who is merely suspected of crime may be enjoined if not necessary to identify him or to detect the crime,[37] and if a person is under arrest or within the court's jurisdiction, generally there is no necessity for the taking of a photograph before his trial and conviction,[38] but if a photograph is taken, the officer is not liable on his official bond.[39] In jurisdictions where the right of privacy is not recognized, the use of such photographs cannot be enjoined on this ground.[40]

After conviction. The relation to the public of one who has been convicted of crime is such as to forfeit whatever right of privacy he may be said

---

25. Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

Privileged communications see Libel and Slander §§ 203-260.

26. Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

27. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 80, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

"What we have ruled cannot be in any sense construed as an abridgement of the liberty of speech and of the press as guarantied in the Constitution. Whether the reproduction of a likeness of another which is free from caricature can in any sense be declared to be an exercise of the right to publish one's sentiments, certain it is that one who merely for advertising purposes, and from mercenary motives, publishes the likeness of another without his consent, cannot be said, in so doing, to have exercised the right to publish his sentiments. . . . There is in the publication of one's picture for advertising purposes not the slightest semblance of an expression of an idea, a thought, or an opinion, within the meaning of the constitutional provision which guaranties to a person the right to publish his sentiments on any subject. Such conduct is not embraced within the liberty to print, but is a serious invasion of one's right of privacy, and may in many cases, according to the circumstances of the publication and the uses to which it is put, cause damages to flow which are irreparable in their nature. The knowledge that one's features and form are being used for such a purpose, and displayed in such places as such advertisements are often liable to be found, brings not only the person of an extremely sensitive nature, but even the individual of ordinary sensibility, to a realization that his liberty has been taken away from him; and, as long as the advertiser uses him for these purposes, he cannot be otherwise than conscious of the fact that he is for the time being under the control of another, that he is no longer free, and that he is in reality a slave, without hope of freedom, held to service by a merciless master; and if a man of true instincts, or even of ordinary sensibilities, no one can be more conscious of his enthrallment than he is." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., supra.

Freedom of speech and of press see Constitutional Law §§ 467-481.

28. Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

"By becoming a member of society one surrenders those natural rights which are incompatible with social conditions. In the nature of things, man in the social organization must be referred to and spoken of by others, and this may be done freely so long as it is free from slander." Munden v. Harris, supra.

29. Smith v. Suratt, 7 Alaska 416; Jones v. Herald Post Co., 230 Ky. 227, 18 SW (2d) 972.

"There are times, however, when one, whether willingly or not, becomes an actor in an occurrence of public or general interest. When this takes place, he emerges from his seclusion, and it is not an invasion of his right of privacy to publish his photograph with an account of such occurrence." Jones v. Herald Post Co., supra.

Publication of picture as violation of statute see infra § 9.

30. Vassar College v. Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co., 197 Fed. 982.

[a] Rule applied.—Defendant, a Missouri corporation, manufactured and sold a variety of candy called "Vassar Chocolates," which it advertised widely, employing the name "Vassar" together with a likeness of a young lady in scholastic garb and wearing a mortarboard hat, also using an imitation of the college pennant, a college yell, and imitation of the college seal, with the words "Vassar Chocolates" and "Always fresh" substituted for the words "Vassar College" and "Purity and Wisdom." It was held that Vassar College, as a public corporation, had no such property right in its name and insignia displayed by defendant in its advertisement as would entitle the college to restrain defendant's use thereof in his advertisements; the injury, if any, being psychological, rather than real. Vassar College v. Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co., 197 Fed. 982, 983.

31. Smith v. Suratt, 7 Alaska 416.

32. Photographs or Bertillon measurements on arrest see Arrest § 73.

33. Ark.—Mabry v. Kettering, 92 Ark. 81, 122 SW 115.

Ind.—State v. Clausmeier, 154 Ind. 599, 57 NE 541, 77 AmSR 511, 50 LRA 73.

Md.—Downs v. Swann, 111 Md. 53, 73 A 653, 134 AmSR 586, 23 LRANS 739.

N. J.—Bartletta v. McFeeley, (Ch.) 152 A 17.

Wash.—Hodgeman v. Olsen, 86 Wash. 615, 150 P 1122, LRA1916A 739.

[a] Whether a person should be photographed, fingerprinted, and measured is an administrative question to be determined by the police. Bartletta v. McFeeley, (N. J. Ch.) 152 A 17.

34. Mabry v. Kettering, 92 Ark. 81, 122 SW 115; Hodgeman v. Olsen, 86 Wash. 615, 150 P 1122, 1126, LRA 1916A 739.

"Whether in any case or on any state of facts the court would have the power to grant injunctive relief prohibiting the circulation of these pictures is a more difficult question, but one which we find it unnecessary to decide. It is clear that their distribution to duly constituted police officers and other penal institutions cannot be enjoined. That is one of the purposes of the keeping of such records. As we have seen in our discussion of the merits of the complaint, such distribution is justifiable as a reasonable police measure for the protection of society. The right of privacy, upon which the appellant insists, if it has any existence in this state, is not invaded by such distribution." Hodgeman v. Olsen, supra.

35. Mabry v. Kettering, 92 Ark. 81, 122 SW 115; Hodgeman v. Olsen, 86 Wash. 615, 150 P 1122, LRA1916A 739.

36. Mabry v. Kettering, 92 Ark. 81, 122 SW 115.

37. Itzkovitch v. Whitaker, 117 La. 708, 42 S 228, 116 AmSR 215; Schulman v. Whitaker, 117 La. 704, 42 S 227, 7 LRANS 274, 8 AnnCas 1174.

38. Itzkovitch v. Whitaker, 117 La. 708, 42 S 228, 116 AmSR 215; Schulman v. Whitaker, 117 La. 704, 42 S 227, 7 LRANS 274, 8 AnnCas 1174.

39. State v. Clausmeier, 154 Ind. 599, 57 NE 541, 77 AmSR 511, 50 LRA 73.

40. Owen v. Partridge, 40 Misc. 415, 82 NYS 248.

to have ever possessed,[41] and this is true, at least to the extent that the protection of society requires such forfeiture.[42]

Police record. An innocent person who has been arrested cannot have the police record destroyed, such record being true, and not exposing him to ridicule, obloquy, or disgrace, and not being a wrongful invasion of his right of privacy.[43]

[§ 8] 3. Pictures—a. In General.[44] Some decisions have expressly denied the existence of a right of privacy allowing the prevention of the publication of an individual's portrait.[45] Where however the existence of a right of privacy is recognized,[46] a private individual has a right to be protected in the representation of his portrait in any form[47] and the use of a person's portrait or photograph without his consent and for the purpose of exploiting the publisher's business is a violation of the right of privacy.[48] A public character, however, cannot in the absence of a breach of contract or violation of confidence in securing the picture from which the publication is made enjoin its publication.[49]

[§ 9] b. Statutory Provisions. By express statutory provision one whose picture is used within the state for advertising purposes or for the purposes of trade without his written consent first obtained may maintain an equitable action to restrain such use and to recover damages by reason of such unlawful use.[50] The validity of such a statute has been sustained[51] and it gives to the person whose picture is sought to be used for such purposes an unlimited right to control of its use,[52] unless he is estopped from claiming the benefit of the statute.[53] An oral consent will not take the place of the written consent required by the statute.[54] In the case of an infant consent must be obtained from his parent[55] or guardian.[56] Such a statute, however, does not prohibit every use of the portrait or picture of a living person without his consent,[57] such as the publication of a person's photograph without his consent in a daily newspaper in connection with items of news not in any way libelous,[58] or in a motion picture film of current events.[59] In an action under the statute, it is immaterial whether the use of plaintiff's picture held him up to public ridicule or contempt.[60] Where defendant displayed a photograph of plaintiff to advertise photographs furnished in exchange for its trading stamps, it is immaterial whether the photographer had exhibited the photograph in defendant's shop,[61] or had made a contract with defendant whereby he was allowed to display the photographs.[62]

---

[41] Hodgeman v. Olsen, 86 Wash. 615, 150 P 1122, LRA1916A 739.

[42] Hodgeman v. Olsen, supra.

[43] Miller v. Gillespie, 196 Mich. 423, 163 NW 22.

[44] Persons accused or convicted of crime see supra § 7.

[45] Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 64 NE 442, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478; Henry v. Cherry, 30 R. I. 13, 73 A 97, 136 AmSR 928, 24 LRANS 991, 18 AnnCas 1006; Hillman v. Star Pub. Co., 64 Wash. 691, 117 P 594, 35 LRANS 595. But see Marks v. Jaffa, 6 Misc. 290, 26 NYS 908 (where defendant devised the scheme of publishing in his newspaper a picture of two actors, with an invitation to the readers to vote, with a view to determining who was the more popular of the two, complainant declined to consent, yet a publication was made, when the bill was filed to restrain it, and an injunction was granted).

[a] Illustration.—The unauthorized publication of lithographic prints or copies of a photograph of a young woman as part of an advertisement of a legitimate manufactured article cannot be enjoined where there is no allegation that the picture is libelous in any respect, but the complaint alleges that the likeness is so good that it is easily recognized, and that it is used to attract attention to the advertisement, although the publication has caused great mental and physical distress to such woman, necessitating the employment and attendance of a physician. Roberson v. Rochester Folding-Box Co., 171 N. Y. 538, 64 NE 442, 89 AmSR 828, 59 LRA 478.

[46] See supra § 2.

[47] Corliss v. E. W. Walker Co., 64 Fed. 280, 31 LRA 283.

[48] Ga.—Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

Kan.—Kunz v. Allen, 102 Kan. 883, 172 P 532, LRA1918D 1151.

Ky.—Foster-Milburn Co. v. Chinn, 134 Ky. 424, 120 SW 364, 135 AmSR 417, 34 LRANS 1137.

Mo.—Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

N. J.—Edison v. Edison Polyform, etc., Co., 73 N. J. Eq. 136, 67 A 392.

[49] Corliss v. E. W. Walker Co., 64 Fed. 280, 31 LRA 283.

[a] Reason for rule.—"The distinction in the case of a picture or photograph lies, it seems to me, between public and private characters. A private individual should be protected against the publication of any portraiture of himself, but where an individual becomes a public character the case is different. A statesman, author, artist, or inventor, who asks for and desires public recognition, may be said to have surrendered this right to the public. When any one obtains a picture or photograph of such a person, and there is no breach of contract or violation of confidence in the method by which it was obtained, he has the right to reproduce it, whether in a newspaper, magazine, or book. It would be extending this right of protection too far to say that the general public can be prohibited from knowing the personal appearance of great public characters. Such characters, may be said, of their own volition, to have dedicated to the public the right of any fair portraiture of themselves." Corliss v. E. W. Walker Co., 64 Fed. 280, 282, 31 LRA 283.

[50] See statutory provisions; cases infra this note; and notes 51–62.

[a] Construction.—(1) Where the statute is, in part at least, penal, it should be construed accordingly. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas 1915B 1024; Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752 (construction in favor of party charged with crime); Jeffries v. New York Evening Journal Pub. Co., 67 Misc. 570, 124 NYS 780. (2) The statute must be interpreted in the light of its history and the evil at which it was aimed. Colyer v. Richard K. Fox Pub. Co., 162 App. Div. 297, 146 NYS 999. (3) The primary object of the legislature in passing this statute was to prevent the use of a person's picture for advertising purposes or for the purposes of trade without having obtained his written consent. Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., supra.

[51] See cases infra this note.

[a] Statutes sustained.—(1) These statutes have been held not unconstitutional (Wyatt v. McCreery, 126 App. Div. 650, 111 NYS 86 [statute is valid so far as it requires one before using the picture of an infant to obtain the consent in writing of the parent or guardian]) (2) as depriving persons of liberty without due process of law (Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., 114 App. Div. 920 mem, 100 NYS 1140 mem, 120 App. Div. 467, 104 NYS 1102 [holding right of control in the person whose picture is sought to be used for purposes of trade or advertising is not limited by statute]).

[52] Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024; Kunz v. Bosselman, 131 App. Div. 288, 115 NYS 650; Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., 114 App. Div. 920 mem, 100 NYS 1140 mem.

[a] A picture within the meaning of such statute is not necessarily a photograph of the living person but includes any representation of such person. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024 (liability may be incurred under such statute by the use of a picture of a person made up to represent another and described by name as being such other).

[b] Changes in the pose.—Under the statute, one whose picture had been used in designing a poster may enjoin the posting for advertising purposes, although slight changes were made by the artist in the pose. Loftus v. Greenwich Lith. Co., 192 App. Div. 251, 256, 182 NYS 428 ("If the wholesome provisions of the Civil Rights Law, upon which this action is based, can be thwarted by using a portrait or picture without consent, provided some such slight change in the pose is made by enlargement of the picture or otherwise, then the statute will be of little use and the purpose for which it was enacted will be defeated").

[c] Use of name and picture in a feature film.—A moving picture company which without authority uses the name and picture of a person as a feature and not as incidental to the film, and not designed to instruct or educate those who see it, but only to amuse them and to make money for the company, uses the portrait and name of the person for the purposes of trade within the meaning of such statute and subjects itself to the liabilities imposed thereby. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024.

[d] Sale of cartoons containing a person's picture.—A sale by defendant, for profit, of cartoons containing plaintiff's picture is a use for the purposes of trade and prohibited by statute. McNulty v. Press Pub. Co., 136 Misc. 833, 241 NYS 29.

[e] Photographic representation of an actual court scene including a picture of the plaintiff in connection with a story of a crime in which plaintiff was in no way involved is a use for the purposes of trade. Martin v. New Metropolitan Fiction, Inc., 248 NYS 359.

[§ 10] 4. Names[63]—a. In General. While it has been held that where no question of trade or business purposes is involved,[64] nor any special injury to property, character, or reputation,[65] a person generally has no such exclusive right to the use of a name as will enable him to prevent its assumption or use by another, it has been held that equity will restrain its unauthorized use as part of a corporate title,[66] or in connection with its business or advertisements,[67] and will prevent the use of a pretended certificate of recommendation of a medicinal preparation,[68] although the person whose name is used is not a business competitor.[69]

[§ 11] b. Statutory Provisions. Statutes sometimes prohibit the use of a person's name for advertising purposes or for purposes of trade without his written consent first obtained.[70] Such statutes have been held constitutional.[71] If they are, in part at least, penal, they should be construed accordingly.[72] Such a statute does not extend to the name

---

53. Wendell v. Conduit Mach. Co., 74 Misc. 201, 133 NYS 758 [dist Wyatt v. McCreery, 126 App. Div. 650, 111 NYS 86].

[a] An employee posing for a portrait to be used in his master's business cannot, on the termination of the employment, sue under the statute to restrain the further use of his portrait. Wendell v. Conduit Mach. Co., 74 Misc. 201, 133 NYS 758.

[b] Reason for rule.—"The statute was intended to prevent the unauthorized use of another's portrait for advertising purposes or purposes of trade, and made the written consent of the person whose portrait was used for such purposes evidence of that authority; but it never was meant that an employé could fraudulently, or by his culpable negligence amounting to constructive fraud, mislead his employer into expenditures to build up his trade and thereafter claim the intervention of a court of equity where such intervention would visit a material injury upon the employer." Wendell v. Conduit Mach. Co., 74 Misc. 201, 133 NYS 758, 759.

[c] Where plaintiff is an infant and has her pictures taken and in consideration of a reduced rate gives the photographer the right to sell, give away, or otherwise dispose of, copies for profit, she is not estopped from invoking the protection of the statute as to third persons procuring and using such pictures for advertising purposes, or purposes of trade. Wyatt v. McCreery, 126 App. Div. 650, 111 NYS 86 [foll Wyatt v. Wanamaker, 126 App. Div. 656, 111 NYS 90].

[d] Contract of employment between moving picture actor and producer has been held to prevent the actor from invoking the statute in order to prevent the films produced from being used in a different manner from that originally contemplated. Fairbanks v. Winik, 119 Misc. 809, 198 NYS 299 [rev on other grounds, 206 App. Div. 449, 201 NYS 487].

54. Almind v. Sea Beach R. Co., 157 App. Div. 230, 141 NYS 842.

55. Wyatt v. McCreery, 126 App. Div. 650, 111 NYS 86; Wyatt v. Wanamaker, 58 Misc. 429, 110 NYS 900 [aff 126 App. Div. 656, 111 NYS 90].

56. Wyatt v. McCreery, 126 App. Div. 650, 111 NYS 86; Wyatt v. Wanamaker, 58 Misc. 429, 110 NYS 900 [aff 126 App. Div. 656, 111 NYS 90].

[a] Agreement with minor.—The fact that a photographer has a right under an oral agreement with a minor, to sell copies of a photograph accompanied by the fact that he had sold them to a third person who delivered them to defendant is no defense, since the consent was oral, and since the consent of the minor's parent or guardian was not obtained, and defendant had not obtained such consent. Wyatt v. Wanamaker, 58 Misc. 429, 110 NYS 900 [aff 126 App. Div. 656, 111 NYS 90].

57. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024; Martin v. New Metropolitan Fiction, Inc., 248 NYS 359.

58. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024; Colyer v. Richard K. Fox Pub. Co., 162 App. Div. 297, 146 NYS 999; Jeffries v. New York Evening Journal Pub. Co., 67 Misc. 570, 124 NYS 780; Moser v. Press Pub. Co., 59 Misc. 78, 109 NYS 963.

[a] Advertising purposes or purposes of trade.—A person's picture is not used for "advertising purposes" or for "purposes of trade," within a statute prohibiting the use of any person's picture or portrait without his written consent for advertising purposes, or for purposes of trade, so as to warrant an injunction against such use unless it is used as part of an advertisement, nor is it used for the purposes of trade within the section when merely used for the dissemination of information, and not for commerce of traffic. Jeffries v. New York Evening Journal Pub. Co., 67 Misc. 570, 124 NYS 780 [quot Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752].

[b] Although paper contains advertisements, the use of a person's portrait or picture is not a use for advertising or trade purposes. Colyer v. Richard K. Fox Pub. Co., 162 App. Div. 297, 146 NYS 999.

59. Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 474, 178 NYS 752.

"I am unable to see any practical difference between the presentation of these current events in a motion picture film and in a newspaper. . . . It matters not what may be the motive in the publishing of these films, whether instructive or whether to satisfy the morbid curiosity, any more than it matters what may be the motive in the publishing of actual news items in a newspaper." Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., supra.

[a] Films of actual events.—Although the publication of moving pictures is a trade, it is not such a "trade" as was within the contemplation of the legislature in the passage of the statute, and such statute does not prohibit the publication of a person's picture without his consent in a single set of films of actual events used at one time for distribution in different parts of the country before different audiences as a matter of current news. Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752.

[b] Bill boards in front of theater.—The statute does not prohibit the use upon the bill boards in front of a theater of the pictures of persons appearing in motion pictures of actual events without their consent. Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752.

60. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024.

61. Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., 114 App. Div. 920 mem, 100 NYS 1140 mem, 120 App. Div. 467, 104 NYS 1102.

62. Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., supra.

63. Names generally see Names 45 C. J. p 365.

Right of a public institution to prevent the use of its name see supra § 6.

64. Right to use one's own or another's name for trade or business purposes see Trade-Marks, Trade Names, and Unfair Competition [38 Cyc 807].

65. See Names § 18.

66. Edison v. Edison Polyform, etc., Co., 73 N. J. Eq. 136, 67 A 392.

Use as corporate name generally see Corporations § 376.

67. Edison v. Edison Polyform, etc., Co., 73 N. J. Eq. 136, 67 A 392.

68. Edison v. Edison Polyform, etc., Co., supra.

69. Edison v. Edison Polyform, etc., Co., supra.

70. See statutory provisions.

71. Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., 114 App. Div. 920 mem, 100 NYS 1140 mem, 120 App. Div. 467, 104 NYS 1102.

72. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, of a copartnership.[73] Under such a statute the use of the name of an editor of a set of books in advertisements of an inferior edition, with which he has no connection, will be restrained.[74] The exhibition of motion pictures of a factory which displays the owner's name thereon gives no cause of action,[75] but if the motion picture manufacturer thereafter takes an interior arranged by himself purporting to be the interior of the factory, and uses such owner's name to describe the interior, such use would be within the purview of the statute.[76] If the person's name is used as a feature and not as incidental to a moving picture film, but for the purpose of making money for the company, such use is for the purposes of trade,[77] but the use of a person's name as the author of a story has been held not for the purposes of trade,[78] and the use of a person's name once in a novel is not within the statute.[79] The statute does not prohibit every use of the name of a living person without his consent,[80] such as the right to publish an author's true name in connection with the publication of books which he published under a nom de plume,[81] or the publication of a person's name in a daily newspaper in connection with items of news,[82] or in a motion picture film of current events,[83] or on the billboards in front of a theater of persons appearing in motion pictures of actual events.[84]

[§ 12] D. Waiver or Forfeiture. The right of privacy may be waived by the individual[85] or by any one authorized by him,[86] and this waiver may be either express[87] or implied.[88] The existence of the waiver carries with it the right to an invasion of privacy only to such an extent, however, as may be legitimately necessary and proper in dealing with the matter which has brought about the waiver.[89]

III. ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES

[§ 13] An unwarranted invasion of the right of privacy will sustain an action in tort,[90] and it is not necessary that special damages should have occurred from its violation in order to entitle the aggrieved party to recover,[91] and they need not be alleged[92] or proved.[93]

Defenses. The truth of the matter published does

AnnCas1915B 1024; Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752; Merle v. Sociological Research Film Corp., 166 App. Div. 376, 152 NYS 829.

73. Rosenwasser v. Ogoglia, 172 App. Div. 107, 158 NYS 56.

74. Eliot v. Jones, 66 Misc. 95, 120 NYS 989 [aff 140 App. Div. 911 mem, 125 NYS 1119 mem].

75. Merle v. Sociological Research Film Corp., 166 App. Div. 376, 152 NYS 829, 832.

"To constitute a violation of the [statute], I think it must appear that the use of the plaintiff's picture or name is itself for the purpose of trade and not merely an incidental part of a photograph of an actual building, which cannot be presumed to add to the value of the photograph for trade or advertising, and even a use that may in a particular instance cause acute annoyance cannot give rise to an action under the statute unless it fairly falls within the terms of the statute." Merle v. Sociological Research Film Corp., supra.

76. Merle v. Sociological Research Film Corp., supra.

77. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024.

Use of picture for purposes of trade see supra § 9.

78. D'Altomonte v. New York Herald Co., 208 N. Y. 596, 102 NE 1101.

79. Damron v. Doubleday Doran and Co., Inc., 133 Misc. 302, 231 NYS 444 [aff 234 NYS 773 mem].

80. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024; Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752.

81. Ellis v. Hurst, 70 Misc. 122, 128 NYS 144 [aff 145 App. Div. 918 mem, 130 NYS 1110 mem (aff 207 N. Y. 661 mem, 100 NE 1126 mem), and overr Ellis v. Hurst, 66 Misc. 235, 121 NYS 438, and dist Eliot v. Jones, 66 Misc. 95, 120 NYS 989 (aff 140 App. Div. 911 mem, 125 NYS 1119 mem)].

"The act was evidently designed to forbid the unauthorized and wanton appropriation or use of a person's name, picture, or portrait for trade or advertising purposes, where such use is wholly unrelated to the matters or things with which said name, picture, or portrait is associated, and it may perhaps also have been intended to forbid the unauthorized use of one's name, portrait, or picture when such use is asserted to be related to or connected with the things advertised or sold, but where such a relationship or connection is, in fact, unreal, unsubstantial, pretended, or false." Ellis v. Hurst, 70 Misc. 122, 128 NYS 144, 146.

Common-law right of author to use of name see Copyright and Literary Property § 24.

82. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024; Moser v. Press Pub. Co., 59 Misc. 78, 109 NYS 963.

83. Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., 189 App. Div. 467, 178 NYS 752.

84. Humiston v. Universal Film Mfg. Co., supra.

85. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561; Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967; Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

[a] Publication by the individual.—The right of privacy ceases on the publication of the facts by the individual, or with his consent. Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

86. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

87. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., supra; Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

88. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561; Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

[a] Consent may be shown by acts which would be inconsistent with the claim of exclusive use, as if one should become a man engaged in public affairs, or who by a course of conduct, has excited public interest. Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

89. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

[a] Waiver by becoming a candidate for public office does not extend into those matters and transactions of private life which are wholly foreign, and can throw no light whatever on the question as to his competency for the office, or the propriety of bestowing it on him. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561.

90. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., supra; Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967; Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 642, 134 SW 1076.

[a] Petition held sufficient.—Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561; Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

91. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561; Kunz v. Allen, 102 Kan. 883, 172 P 532, LRA1918D 1151; Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967; Foster-Milburn Co. v. Chinn, 134 Ky. 424, 120 SW 364, 135 AmSR 417, 34 LRANS 1137; Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

92. Foster-Milburn Co. v. Chinn, 134 Ky. 424, 120 SW 364, 135 AmSR 417, 34 LRANS 1137.

93. Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561; Kunz v. Allen, 102 Kan. 883, 172 P 532, LRA1918D 1151; Foster-Milburn Co. v. Chinn, 134 Ky. 424, 120 SW 364, 135 AmSR 417, 34 LRANS 1137; Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

Statutory provisions as to pictures and names see supra §§ 9, 11.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section numbe1.

not afford a defense,[94] nor does the absence of malice in the publisher.[95]

Damages.[96] Plaintiff is entitled to recover substantial damages,[97] although the only damages suffered by him resulted from mental anguish,[98] and the fact that the damages cannot be measured by a pecuniary standard is not a bar to his recovery.[99] Although not necessary to a recovery,[1] if there are special damages they may be stated and recovered,[2] and if the element of malice appears, as that term is known to the law, exemplary damages may be recovered.[3]

IV. INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

[§ 14] Where a person's right of privacy is invaded, he may enjoin such violation.[4] An action to enjoin the chief of police from taking a picture of plaintiff and exposing the same in the rogues' gallery is not an action to punish an infraction of the criminal laws.[5]

Evidence. General rules as to the admissibility[6] and weight and sufficiency of the evidence[7] apply.[8] Evidence of the custom of photographers to furnish photographs at special rates in return for the right to reproduce them and sell copies is not admissible in an action against one not connected with the photographer,[9] and evidence as to whether defendant had a contract with the photographer whereby defendant could display plaintiff's picture,[10] or as to whether the photographer had exhibited plaintiff's photograph in defendant's shop,[11] is inadmissible.

Damages.[12] In accordance with the general rule,[13] where an action is brought to enjoin an unlawful invasion of the right of privacy, a court of equity will retain jurisdiction so as to administer complete relief.[14] In an action to enjoin the invasion of the right of privacy all damages sustained by plaintiff are recoverable.[15] Some statutes authorize a recovery of exemplary damages for the unlawful use of a name or picture of a living person,[16] and a person recovering under such statute cannot thereafter obtain more damages by suing for libel.[17]

V. OFFENSE OF OPENING, READING, OR PUBLISHING LETTERS OR TELEGRAMS[18]

[§ 15] There are statutes in some jurisdictions making it a misdemeanor to willfully and without authority, open and read or cause to be opened and read a sealed letter or telegram or private paper, or a copy thereof, or to publish the same or any portion thereof.[19] An indictment for opening and reading or making public a letter addressed to another person must allege that it was a sealed letter,[20] or that it was published with knowledge that it had been opened and read without authority.[21] Communicating the contents of a letter to a single person, who has a legitimate interest in knowing what use was being made of information stolen from his office and who was not interested in giving general publicity to the facts in the letter, is not publishing it within the meaning of the statute.[22]

---

[94] Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

[95] Brents v. Morgan, supra.

[96] Generally see Damages 17 C. J. p 699.

In action for injunction see infra § 14.

[97] Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 122 Ga. 190, 202, 50 SE 68, 106 AmSR 104, 69 LRA 101, 2 AnnCas 561; Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

"In an action for an invasion of such right the damages to be recovered are those for which the law authorizes a recovery in torts of that character; and if the law authorizes a recovery of damages for wounded feelings in other torts of a similar nature, such damages would be recoverable in an action for a violation of this right." Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., supra.

[98] Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

[a] Mortification and humiliation.—For the publication of notice respecting plaintiff's indebtedness, plaintiff can recover reasonable compensation for mortification and humiliation. Brents v. Morgan, 221 Ky. 765, 299 SW 967.

[99] Brents v. Morgan, supra.

[1] See supra note 91.

[2] Munden v. Harris, 153 Mo. A. 652, 134 SW 1076.

[3] Munden v. Harris, supra.

[4] Munden v. Harris, supra; Brex v. Smith, (N. J. Ch.) 146 A 34; Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N.Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024; Loftus v. Greenwich Lith. Co., 192 App. Div. 251, 182 NYS 428.

[a] Complaint held sufficient.—Bazemore v. Savannah Hospital (Ga.) 155 SE 195 [dist Murray v. Gast Lith. Co., 8 Misc. 36, 28 NYS 271]; Kunz v. Bosselman, 131 App. Div. 288, 115 NYS 650.

[5] Schulman v. Whitaker, 117 La. 704, 42 S 227, 7 LRANS 274, 8 AnnCas 1174.

[a] Jurisdiction.—A complaint to enjoin the chief of police from taking a picture of plaintiff and exposing the same in the rogues' gallery, relates to a personal right and is within the jurisdiction of the civil district court. Schulman v. Whitaker, 117 La. 704, 42 S 227, 7 LRANS 274, 8 AnnCas 1174.

[6] See Evidence § 89 et seq.

[7] See Evidence § 1730 et seq.

[8] See cases infra this note; and notes 9-11.

[a] Evidence held insufficient to support a finding that defendant produced the face of a woman of his own conception and did not attempt to reproduce a picture of plaintiff. Loftus v. Greenwich Lith. Co., 192 App. Div. 251, 182 NYS 428.

[9] Wyatt v. Wanamaker, 58 Misc. 429, 110 NYS 900 [aff 126 App. Div. 656, 111 NYS 90].

[10] Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., 114 App.Div. 920, 100 NYS 1140 [aff 104 NYS 1102].

[11] Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., supra.

[12] Generally see Damages 17 C. J. p 699.

In action at law see supra § 13.

Waiver of jury trial as to damages by invoking jurisdiction of equity see Juries § 119.

[13] See Equity § 117 et seq.

[14] See cases infra notes 15-17.

[15] Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C, 839, AnnCas1915B 1024.

[a] Compensatory damages under the statute are limited to the humiliation, mortification, and mental distress which plaintiff may have suffered. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 71 Misc. 203, 130 NYS 876.

[16] See statutory provisions.

[a] Damages held not excessive.—(1) Twelve thousand five hundred dollars. Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 147 App. Div. 783, 132 NYS 237 [reversing 71 Misc. 203, 130 NYS 876]. (2) One thousand dollars. Rhodes v. Sperry-Hutchinson Co., 114 App. Div. 920 mem, 100 NYS 1140 mem, 120 App. Div. 467, 104 NYS 1102.

[17] Binns v. Vitagraph Co., 210 N. Y. 51, 103 NE 1108, LRA1915C 839, AnnCas1915B 1024.

[18] Offense against postal laws see Post Office §§ 285-289.

[19] See statutory provisions.

[20] State v. Bagwell, 107 N. C. 859, 12 SE 254, 9 LRA 840.

[21] State v. Bagwell, supra.

[22] Peo. v. Burns, 178 App. Div. 845, 166 NYS 323, 36 NYCr 95 [aff 222 N Y. 621 mem, 118 NE 1072 mem].

RIGHT OF PROPERTY.[1]

RIGHT OF PROPERTY, TRIAL OF.[2]

RIGHT OF RECAPTION.[3]

RIGHT OF REDEMPTION.[4]

RIGHT OF SEARCH.[5]

RIGHT OF SUIT.[6]

RIGHT OF WAY.[7] [§ 1] A. In General. The term has a twofold signification;[8] it sometimes is used to describe a right belonging to a party, a right of passage over any tract;[9] a mere intangible right to cross;[10] a right of crossing;[11] and it is also used to describe that strip of land which railroad companies take upon which to construct their roadbed.[12]

As law of the road.[13] In regulations as to the use of highways, the right of way may mean the right of a vehicle to proceed uninterruptedly in a lawful manner in the direction in which it is moving in preference to another vehicle approaching from a different direction into its path.[14]

[§ 2] B. As Easement To Pass or Cross. In its restricted use and technical sense,[15] a right of way is a mere easement[16] on the lands of others;[17] a mere incorporeal right;[18] an easement;[19] an easement appurtenant to an estate owned by the person in whose favor the easement exists;[20] an easement of perpetual use;[21] a charge imposed upon one heritage for the use and advantage of a heritage belonging to another proprietor;[22] a charge or burden upon the land of one for the benefit of another;[23] an easement or incorporeal hereditament;[24] in common law, an easement, in the civil law, a servitude;[25] a mere servitude.[26] In this sense the term has been variously defined as a private way, which is an incorporeal hereditament of that class of easements, in which a particular person, or particular description of persons, have an interest and a right, although another person is the owner of the fee of the land, in which it is claimed;[27] a privilege which an individual or a particular description of individuals as the inhabitants of a certain village, or the owners or occupiers of a certain farm have of going over another's ground;[28] a privilege which one person, or particular description of persons, may have of passing over the land of another in some particular line;[29] a right not to be hindered, obstructed, or delayed by persons who reasonably can avoid hindering, obstructing, or delaying the one who has by law precedence in using the right of way;[30] a right of ingress and egress to and from the grantee's lands;[31] a right of passing over another man's ground;[32] a right of a person to travel over a particular tract of land without interference;[33] a right of travel over another's land;[34] a right to pass for all or for certain purposes, at all or at certain times, over and upon another man's land;[35] a right to pass over another's land more or less frequently, according to the nature of the use to be made of the easement;[36] a right to pass over the land of another;[37] a right to a way over the lands of another;[38] a right to use the passage over the lands of another;[39] a servitude of passage;[40] nothing more than a special and limited right of use.[41]

---

[1] See Right § 11.

[2] See Attachment § 831 et seq; Executions §§ 506–508; Garnishment § 584 et seq; Replevin post; Trover and Conversion [38 Cyc 1997].

[3] See Recaption 52 C. J. p 1190; Recapture 52 C. J. p 1190.

Recaption of mortgaged property see Chattel Mortgages § 455 text and note 41 [a].

[4] See Chattel Mortgages § 577; Executions § 722; Judicial Sales §§ 103–105; Mortgages § 2067. See also Redemption 53 C. J. p 664.

[5] See Arrest §§ 74, 75; Intoxicating Liquors §§ 360–398; Searches and Seizures [35 Cyc 1263]; War [40 Cyc 298 et seq].

[6] See Right ante.

[7] Right of way:
- Easements §§ 3, 5, 7, 31, 71–98, 110, 114–135.
- Fixtures § 43 note 59 [c].
- Grant of, to railroad by:
  - Homesteader see Public Lands § 335.
  - United States see Public Lands §§ 411–438.
- Improvements § 2 note 14 [e].
- Indians § 80 (Indian lands).
- Injury to, or obstruction of see Case, Action on §§ 17, 42 note 83 [b]; Injunctions § 282; Justices of the Peace § 71.
- Interest in land see Interest 33 C. J. p 263 text and note 98 [m].
- Judicial Sales § 115.
- Mines and Minerals § 263.
- Of or for:
  - Bridges § 17.
  - Canals §§ 4–10.
  - Ditch see Waters [40 Cyc 718].
  - Drains § 160.
  - Improvement of river see Navigable Waters § 37 et seq.
  - Levees and Flood Control § 9 text and note 57.
  - Railroad:
    - In general see Railroads §§ 166 et seq, 193–199, 608.
    - Boundaries § 112.
    - Ejectment to recover see Ejectment § 19.
    - In accident policy see Accident Insurance § 154.
    - Injunction to prevent crossing see Injunctions § 528.
    - Mortgage of see Railroads §§ 668, 669.
    - New or additional use see Eminent Domain § 92.
    - Purchasers of railroad under foreclosure see Railroads § 800.
    - Railroads §§ 1271–1278.
  - Street Railroads [36 Cyc 1375 et seq.].
  - Telegraphs and Telephones [37 Cyc 1617, 1629].
- Of or for: Continued
  - Toll Roads [38 Cyc 377].
  - Water company see Waters [40 Cyc 780].
- Priorities between lien for right of way granted railroad and mortgage see Railroads § 716.
- Private way see Private § 33.
- Private right of way see Private § 24.
- Telegraph or telephone line along see Gas § 10.

[8] Central Trust Co. v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 29 Fed. 546, 555; Atlanta, etc., R. Co. v. Coffee County, 152 Ga. 432, 110 SE 214, 215; Marion, etc., Tract. Co. v. Simmons, 180 Ind. 289, 102 NE 132, 133; Maysville, etc., R. Co. v. Ball, 108 Ky. 241, 56 SW 188, 191.

[9] Central Trust Co. v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 29 Fed. 546, 555; Atlanta, etc., R. Co. v. Coffee County, 152 Ga. 432, 110 SE 214, 215; Maysville, etc., R. Co. v. Ball, 108 Ky. 241, 56 SW 188, 191.

[a] "Way" synonymous.—Cox v. Tipton, 18 Mo. A. 450, 455; Chollar-Potosi Min. Co. v. Kennedy, 3 Nev. 361, 373, 93 AmD 409.

[b] "Road" distinguished.—Chollar-Potosi Min. Co. v. Kennedy, 3 Nev. 361, 373, 93 AmD 409; Green v. Morris, etc., R. Co., 24 N. J. L. 486, 490.

[10] Marion, etc., Tract. Co. v. Simmons, 180 Ind. 289, 102 NE 132, 133.

[11] Marion, etc., Tract. Co. v. Simmons, supra.

[12] See Railroads § 193.

[13] Right of way in use of highway:
- In general see Highways §§ 413–420; Municipal Corporations § 3883.
- Ambulances see Motor Vehicles §§ 771–773; Municipal Corporations § 3883 text and note 33.
- At intersection of:
  - Railroads §§ 1734, 1735.
  - Streets see Motor Vehicles §§ 702–711, 713–725; Municipal Corporations §§ 3874 text and note 12, 3901–3903.
- Fire apparatus see Motor Vehicles §§ 765, 766; Municipal Corporations § 3883.
- Mail wagons see Municipal Corporations § 3883.
- Physician's vehicle see Municipal Corporations § 3883 text and note 34.
- Police see Municipal Corporations § 3883.
- Police vehicles see Motor Vehicles § 769.
- Public service water company see Waters [40 Cyc 780].
- Ships and other vehicles see Collision §§ 52–54, 158 et seq.

[14] Heidle v. Baldwin, 18 Oh. St. 375, 161 NE 44, 45, 58 ALR 1186, note; Kling v. George Ast Candy Co., (Oh. A.) 168 NE 761.

[15] See cases infra notes 16–41.

[16] Stockton Gas, etc., Co. v. San Joaquin County, 148 Cal. 313, 322, 83 P 54, 5 LRANS 174; Challiss v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 16 Kan. 117, 127.

[a] "Technically a right of way is an easement."—Anderson v. Willson, 48 Cal. A. 289, 191 P 1016, 1019.

[b] Right of way for a canal is, properly speaking, nothing more than a mere easement in the land of another. Anderson v. Willson, 48 Cal. A. 289, 191 P 1016, 1019.

[17] Brown v. Young, 69 Iowa 625, 626, 29 NW 941; Shreveport, etc., R. Co. v. Hinds, 50 La. Ann. 781; Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Louisiana Western R. Co., 49 La. Ann. 1270, 1278, 22 S 219; Lidgerding v. Zignego, 77 Minn. 421, 424, 80 NW 360, 361, 77 AmSR 677; Clawson v. Wallace, 16 Utah 300, 306, 52 P 9.

[18] Warren Borough v. Pleasant Bridge Co., 16 Pa. Co. 44, 45.

"Incorporeal rights" see Incorporeal 31 C. J. p 408.

[19] In re North Beach, etc., R. Co., 32 Cal. 499, 506; Anderson v. Willson, 48 Cal. A. 289, 191 P 1016, 1019 [cit Cyc]; Central Illinois Coal Min. Co. v. Illinois Power Co., 249 Ill. A. 199, 204 [cit Cyc]; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Geisel, 119 Ind. 77, 78, 21 NE 470; Clark v. Wabash R. Co., 132 Iowa 11, 13, 109 NW 309; S. E., etc., Shepherd Co. v. Shibles, 100 Me. 314, 318, 61 A 700; Powell v. Big Horn Low Line Ditch Co., 81 Mont. 430, 263 P 692 [cit Cyc]; Mannix v. Powell County, 60 Mont. 510, 199 P 914, 915 [cit Cyc]; Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Carland, 5 Mont. 146, 157, 3 P 134; Peo. v. State Tax Comrs., 67 Misc. 508, 509, 124 NYS 711. See generally Easements 19 C. J. p 856.

[a] Easement of reclamation district for its levee constitutes a "right of way." Reclamation Dist. No. 551 v. Sacramento County Super. Ct., 151 Cal. 263, 267, 90 P 545.

[b] "The grant of a right of way is the grant of an easement." Vandalia R. Co. v. Topping, 62 Ind. A. 657, 113 NE 421, 423; Muncie Electric Light Co. v. Joliff, 59 Ind. A. 349, 109 NE 433, 435.

[20] Gulick v. Fisher, 92 Md. 353, 357, 48 A 375.

"Easement appurtenant" see Easements § 4.

[21] McGhee v. Wilson, 111 Ala. 615, 620, 20 S 619, 56 AmSR 72; Shaw

*By WM. HOWARD BUCHANAN (Right of Property—Ringleader inclusive).

Denoting tenure. The term denotes the tenure by which land is held;[42] it is descriptive of the easement right and not of the land to which it is affixed.[43]

By custom. A right of way by custom is one that appertains to a certain district or territory, but not to any particular tenement forming part of that territory.[44] Nor is it confined to owners of land within that territory.[45]

From necessity. A right of way from necessity is where a man having several tracts of land sells one which is surrounded by the others, having no way of ingress and egress but through one of those reserved.[46]

General or special. The grant of a right of way, per se, and nothing else, may be a footway, or it may be a general right of way, that is, a right of way not only for people on foot, but for people on horseback, or people in carts, carriages, and other vehicles.[47]

In gross or appendant. A right of way may be either in gross[48] or appendant.[49]

---

v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 203, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas1913A 63 [cit Cyc].

[22] Manbeck v. Jones, 190 Pa. 171, 173, 42 A 536.

[23] Shaw v. Proffitt, 57 Or. 192, 193, 109 P 584, 110 P 1092, AnnCas 1913A 63 [cit Cyc].

[a] For irrigation ditch, an easement; a charge or burden upon the land of one for the benefit of another. Blake v. Boye, 38 Colo. 55, 62, 88 P 470, 8 LRANS 418.

[24] Stuyvesant v. Woodruff, 21 N. J. L. 133, 136, 47 AmD 156.

"Incorporeal hereditament" see Property § 31.

[25] Manbeck v. Jones, 190 Pa. 171, 173, 42 A 536.

[26] Louisiana Sulphur Min. Co. v. Brimstone R., etc., Co., 143 La. 743, 79 S 324, 325.

"Servitude" see Easements § 1 text and note 2 [a].

[27] Wild v. Deig, 43 Ind. 455, 458, 13 AmSR 399; Anderson L. Dict. [quot Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Southern R. Co., 90 Fed. 30, 32].

[a] "Common highway" distinguished.—Lanier v. Booth, 50 Miss. 410, 413.

[b] "Common way" distinguished.—3 Cruise Dig. p 100 [quot Dinehart v. Wells, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 432, 435].

[c] "King's highway" distinguished.—3 Cruise Dig. p 100 [quot Dinehart v. Wells, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 432, 435]. "King's highway" see Highways § 1 text and note 72 [a].

"Public highway" distinguished see Highways § 1 text and note 7 [a].

"Private way" see Private § 33.

[28] Lanier v. Booth, 50 Miss. 410, 413 (distinguishing a "common highway").

[a] Similar definition.—"The privilege which an individual, or a particular description of persons, such as the inhabitants of the village of A., or the owners or occupiers of the farm of B., may have of giving over another person's grounds." 3 Cruise Dig. p 100 [quot Dinehart v. Wells, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 432, 435].

[29] Ballard v. Titus, 157 Cal. 673, 681, 110 P 118; Kripp v. Curtis, 71 Cal. 62, 63, 11 P 879.

[30] Driscoll v. Boston El. R. Co., 223 Mass. 533, 536, 112 NE 219.

[31] San Rafel Ranch Co. v. Ralph Rogers Co., 154 Cal. 76, 77, 96 P 1092.

[32] Williams v. Western Union R. Co., 50 Wis. 71, 76, 5 NW 482.

[33] Kalinowski v. Jacobowski, 52 Wash. 359, 362, 100 P 852.

[34] Clawson v. Wallace, 16 Utah 300, 306, 52 P 9.

[35] Stuyvesant v. Woodruff, 21 N. J. L. 133, 136, 47 AmD 156 [quot Cass County v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 25 Nebr. 348, 353, 41 NW 246, 2 LRA 188].

[36] Bodfish v. Bodfish, 105 Mass. 317, 319 [quot Cass County v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 25 Nebr. 348, 353, 41 NW 246, 2 LRA 188].

[37] Poole v. Greer, (Del.) 65 A 767; Peo. Bryan v. State Tax Comrs., 67 Misc. 508, 509, 124 NYS 711.

[38] Seery v. Waterbury, 82 Conn. 567, 570, 74 A 908, 25 LRANS 681, 18 AnnCas 73.

[39] Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Southern R. Co., 90 Fed. 30, 32.

[40] Knox v. Louisiana R., etc., Co., 157 La. 602, 607, 102 S 685.

[41] Bosley v. Susquehanna Canal, 3 Bland (Md.) 63, 67.

[42] San Pedro, etc., R. Co. v. Pillsbury, 23 Cal. A. 675, 680, 139 P 669.

[43] San Pedro, etc., R. Co. v. Pillsbury, supra. See Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Lesueur, 2 Ariz. 428, 19 P 157, 160, 1 LRA 244.

[44] Graham v. Walker, 78 Conn. 130, 61 A 98, 99, 112 AmSR 93, 2 LRANS 983, 3 AnnCas 641.

[45] Graham v. Walker, supra.

"Easement" distinguished see Easements § 14.

[46] Lawton v. Rivers, 13 S. C. L. 445, 447, 13 AmD 741. See also Easements §§ 114–126.

Way of necessity as highway see Highways § 1 text and note 71 [d].

[47] Speer v. Erie R. Co., 72 N. J. Eq. 411, 413, 65 A 1024.

[48] Alley v. Carleton, 29 Tex. 74, 94 AmD 260.

[a] Right of way in gross (1) "is attached to and vests the right in the person to whom it is granted. . . . Being attached to the person [it] cannot be assigned or granted over to another. And, since this is the case, it must be claimed by grant or from prescription by the claimant in his own person, and does not arise in this manner where it can be fairly construed to be appurtenant to another estate." Alley v. Carleton, 29 Tex. 74, 94 AmD 260. (2) "A right of way in gross is a mere personal privilege to the owner of the land." Brasington v. Williams, 143 S. C. 223, 141 SE 375, 382.

Easement in gross see Easements § 5.

[49] Alley v. Carleton, 29 Tex. 74, 94 AmD 260.

[a] Right of way appendant "is incident to an estate, one terminus of which is the land or tenement of the party claiming it. It inheres in the land, concerns the premises, and pertains to its enjoyment, and

[§ 3] C. Phrases. "Clearing right-of-way,"[50] "exclusive right of way,"[51] "existing rights of way,"[52] "free right of way,"[53] "less railroad right of way,"[54] "public right of way by user,"[55] "railroad right of way,"[56] "real estate and rights of way,"[57] "reasonable right of way,"[58] "right of way as located,"[59] "right-of-way clearing,"[60] "right of way for a canal,"[61] and "some rights of way."[62]

RIGHTS, BILL OF.[63]

RIGHT TO OPEN AND CLOSE.[64]

RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY.[65]

RIGHT, WRIT OF.[66]

RIGIDITY. As used with reference to a ladder, a relative term.[67]

RIGIDLY. To the same extent;[68] exactly.[69]

RIM. As a noun, the border, edge, or margin of anything.[70] Phrase: "Upturned rim continuously connected."[71]

As a verb, to furnish with a rim.[72]

Rimming. The enlarging of a hole drilled for oil.[73] Phrase: "Rimming out."[74]

As an adjective, the word may be employed[75] as in the phrase "rim bender."[76]

RING. [§ 1] A. As Noun, a circular band, especially of precious metal, to be worn usually on the finger.[77] Also a combination for illegal or otherwise improper purposes.[78]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, the word may be employed.[79]

Ring waste. A highly purified article of scoured wool, made from wool top or combed wool.[80]

[§ 3] C. As Verb. To sound, as a bell.[81]

Ring up fares. A term said to mean pulling a rope at the side of a car upon receipt of each fare to move the index one point on the circular scale of the regulator, the registry of the fare being announced by the stroke of a bell.[82]

RING-DROPPING. A trick variously practiced.[83]

RING FIGHT.[84]

RINGING UP or RINGING OUT.[85]

RINGLEADER. A leader of any body of men or animals;[86] not necessarily a word of bad import.[87] passes with it. . . . It may be derived from express grant, from necessity, by implication, from a grant in which it is not expressed, and by prescription." Alley v. Carleton, 29 Tex. 74, 94 AmD 260.

---

Easement see Easements § 4.

[50] Laine v. Kennedy, 43 N. B. 173, 175.

[51] See Exclusive 23 C. J. p 275 text and note 70.

[52] See Exist 25 C. J. p 168 text and note 77.

[53] See Free 27 C. J. p 894 text and note 95.

"Free right of passage" equivalent see Free 27 C. J. p 894 text and note 94 [a].

[54] Roxana Petroleum Corp. v. Jarvis, 127 Kan. 365, 273 P 661, 665.

[55] See Public § 2 text and note 15, § 72 text and note 3 [c].

[56] See Railroads § 2 text and note 68.

Railroad right of way generally see Railroads §§ 193–199.

[57] Kinney v. Citizens' Water, etc., Co., 173 Ind. 252, 259, 90 NE 129, 26 LRANS 195.

[58] See Reasonable 52 C. J. p 1187 text and note 55.

[59] Akers v. United New Jersey R., etc., Co., 43 N. J. L. 110, 111.

[60] Laine v. Kennedy, 43 N. B. 173, 175.

[61] Anderson v. Willson, 48 Cal. A. 289, 191 P 1016, 1019. See also Canals §§ 4–10.

[62] Anderson v. Willson, supra.

[63] See Bill of Rights 7 C. J. p 1181; Constitutional Law § 444.

[64] Right to open and close: Generally see Criminal Law §§ 2083–2085; Trial [38 Cyc 1300 et seq.]. In claim case see Executions § 529.

[65] See Criminal Law § 641; Juries §§ 12–103.

[66] See Real Actions §§ 2–25.

[67] [a] "The longer the ladder, and the fewer and less effective the braces, the greater the flexibility, the less the rigidity." Joseph Halstead Co. v. U. S. Fire Escape Counter-Balance Co., 257 Fed. 95, 168 CCA 307.

[68] State v. Feuerhaken, 96 Iowa 299, 301, 65 NW 299.

[69] State v. Feuerhaken, supra.

[70] Lincoln v. Waterbury Button Co., Inc., 297 Fed. 619, 620.

"Border" 9 C. J. p 139.

"Edge" 19 C. J. p 1012.

"Margin" 38 C. J. p 991.

[71] Lincoln v. Waterbury Button Co., Inc., 297 Fed. 619, 620.

[72] Webster New Int. D.

[73] Lincoln v. Waterbury Button Co., Inc., supra. See generally Mines and Minerals 40 C. J. p 717.

[74] Hanna v. Smith, 173 Mich. 483, 139 NW 256, 259.

[75] Cotton v. Owensboro Wheel Co., (Ky.) 97 SW 763.

[76] Cotton v. Owensboro Wheel Co., supra.

[77] Webster New Int. D.

As baggage see Carriers § 1560 text and note 10.

As chattel see Chattel § 1 text and note 80.

Return of ring see Breach of Marriage Promise § 21 text and note 96.

[78] Schomberg v. Walker, 132 Cal. 224, 228, 64 P 290.

[79] Webster New Int. D.

[80] Standard Varnish Works v. U. S., 59 Fed. 456, 457, 8 CCA 178.

[81] Webster New Int. D.

[82] Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. McCurdy, 114 Pa. 554, 557, 8 A 230, 60 AmR 363.

[83] Black L. D.

[a] "One mode is as follows, the circumstances being taken from Patrick's Case, East P. C. 678: The prisoner, with accomplices, being with their victim, pretend to find a ring wrapped in paper, appearing to be a jeweler's receipt for a 'rich, brilliant diamond ring.' They offer to leave the ring with the victim if he will deposit some money and his watch as a security. He lays down his watch and money, is beckoned out of the room by one of the confederates, while the others take away his watch, etc. This is a larceny." Black L. D. See Rex v. Watson, 2 Leach C. C. 640, 168 Reprint 422; Rex v. Marsh, 1 Leach C. C. 345, 168 Reprint 276; Rex v. Patch, 1 Leach C. C. 238, 168 Reprint 221.

Cheats generally see Cheat 11 C. J. p 747; False Pretenses 25 C. J. p 582; Gaming 27 C. J. p 961.

[84] See Prize Fighting § 1 text and note 4 [f].

[85] See Gaming § 120.

Validity of transaction see Gaming § 275.

[86] Webster New Int. D.

[87] Miller v. David, L. R. 9 C. P. 118, 125.

RIOT

By Francis J. Ludes

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra p 828]

ANALYSIS

- I. DEFINITION [§§ 1–2] p 828
  - A. In General [§ 1] p 828
  - B. Distinguished from Other Offenses [§ 2] p 829
- II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE [§§ 3–13] p 830
  - A. In General [§ 3] p 830
  - B. Acts Constituting Offense [§ 4] p 830
  - C. Number of Persons Necessary [§ 5] p 831
  - D. Purpose of Original Assembly [§§ 6–7] p 832
    - 1. Lawful [§ 6] p 832
    - 2. Unlawful [§ 7] p 832
  - E. Mutual or Common Intent and Concert of Action [§ 8] p 832
  - F. Enterprise of Private Nature [§ 9] p 833
  - G. Riotous Execution of Lawful Enterprise [§§ 10–11] p 833
    - 1. In General [§ 10] p 833
    - 2. In Terrorem Populi [§ 11] p 833
  - H. Execution of Unlawful Enterprise [§ 12] p 833
  - I. Reading Riot Act Unnecessary [§ 13] p 834
- III. PARTIES TO OFFENSE [§§ 14–17] p 834
  - A. In General [§ 14] p 834
  - B. Active Rioters [§ 15] p 834
  - C. Quiescent Rioters [§ 16] p 835
  - D. After Notice To Disperse [§ 17] p 835
- IV. PROSECUTION AND PUNISHMENT [§§ 18–40] p 835
  - A. Indictment or Information [§§ 18–27] p 835
    - 1. In General [§ 18] p 835
    - 2. Particular Averments [§§ 19–26] p 835
      - a. Participants [§ 19] p 835
      - b. Purpose of Assembly [§ 20] p 835
      - c. Inciting To Riot [§ 21] p 836
      - d. As to Terror [§ 22] p 836
      - e. As to Violence [§ 23] p 836
      - f. Lawful Act [§ 24] p 836
      - g. Unlawful Act [§ 25] p 836
      - h. Duplicity [§ 26] p 837
    - 3. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§ 27] p 837
  - B. Defenses [§§ 28–30] p 837
    - 1. In General [§ 28] p 837
    - 2. Absence [§ 29] p 838
    - 3. Nonparticipation [§ 30] p 838
  - C. Evidence [§§ 31–33] p 838
    - 1. Presumptions and Burden of Proof [§ 31] p 838
    - 2. Admissibility [§ 32] p 838
    - 3. Weight and Sufficiency [§ 33] p 839
  - D. Trial [§§ 34–37] p 839
    - 1. In General [§ 34] p 839
    - 2. Questions of Law and Fact [§ 35] p 839
    - 3. Instructions [§ 36] p 839
    - 4. Verdict [§ 37] p 840
  - E. New Trial [§ 38] p 840
  - F. Arrest of Judgment [§ 39] p 840
  - G. Sentence and Punishment [§ 40] p 841

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

V. SUPPRESSION OF RIOT [§§ 41–45] p 841
  A. By Private Citizens [§ 41] p 841
  B. By Civil Authorities [§§ 42–43] p 841
    1. Posse Comitatus [§ 42] p 841
    2. Militia as Posse Comitatus [§ 43] p 842
  C. By State [§§ 44–45] p 842
    1. In General [§ 44] p 842
    2. Governor's Independent Action [§ 45] p 842

CROSS REFERENCES

Affray 2 C. J. p 383.
Breach of the Peace 9 C. J. p 385.
Conviction of assault as bar see Criminal Law § 456.
Conviction of other offense under charge of riot see Indictments and Informations § 525.
Former jeopardy see Criminal Law §§ 359–490.
Insurrection 33 C. J. p 158.
Joinder of charge of assault and battery see Indictments and Informations § 351.
Liability for injury during riot:
  Counties §§ 275, 276.
  Municipal Corporations §§ 1739–1743.
Loss by riot excepted from risk see Fire Insurance § 437.
Militia 40 C. J. p 660.
Mob 40 C. J. p 1231.
Prize Fighting 50 C. J. p 411.
Unlawful Assembly [39 Cyc 831].

I. DEFINITION

[§ 1] A. In General. It has been said that a correct idea of the offense of riot is only to be obtained by analyzing the cases which have been decided.[1] However, a riot is commonly defined as a tumultuous disturbance of the peace by three or more persons, assembled and acting with a common intent; either in executing a lawful private enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner, to the terror of the people, or in executing an unlawful enterprise in a violent and turbulent manner.[2] The modern definition of riot is in harmony with and follows the common-law definition.[3] It has no technical import, as distinguished from its signification when used in the everyday affairs of life,[4] and the legal meaning of the word corresponds with the meaning given to it in ordinary usage,[5] and is practically synonymous with "mob" in legal usage.[6]

---

[1] State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

[2] U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; U. S. v. Stewart, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,401a, 2 Hayw. & H. 280.

Ga.—Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 793, 31 SE 750; Jacobs v. State, 20 Ga. 839, 841.

Ill.—Darst v. Peo., 51 Ill. 286, 2 AmR 301.

Ind.—Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273, 275; State v. Dillard, 5 Blackf. 365, 35 AmD 128; State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570, 571.

Ky.—American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Stearns Lumber Co., 145 Ky. 225, 140 SW 148, 36 LRANS 566, AnnCas1913B 628; Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277.

Mass.—Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 520, 6 AmD 148.

N. H.—State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83, 84.

N. Y.—Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 153, 64 NYS 411; Peo. v. White, 55 Barb. 606, 613; Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly 1, 17.

N. C.—State v. Simpson, 12 N. C. 504, 505.

Pa.—Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Schwenk, 95 Pa. 89, 92, 40 AmR 629; Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

S. C.—State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486, 490.

Utah.—Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 149, 1 P 653.

Wis.—Aron v. Wausau, 98 Wis. 592, 597, 74 NW 354, 40 LRA 733.

Eng.—Clifford v. Brandon, 2 Campb. 358, 366, 170 Reprint 1183; Rex v. James, 5 C. & P. 153, 24 ECL 500, 172 Reprint 918; Rex v. Billingham, 2 C. & P. 234, 12 ECL 545, 172 Reprint 106; Reg. v. Cunninghame, 16 Cox C. C. 420; Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 116, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503; Anonymous, 6 Mod. 43, 87 Reprint 806.

[a] Hawkins' definition.—"A tumultuous disturbance of the peace by three or more persons assembling together of their own authority, with an intent mutually to assist one another against any one who shall oppose them in the execution of some enterprise of a private nature, and afterward actually executing the same in a violent and turbulent manner, to the terror of the people, whether the act itself was lawful or unlawful." 1 Hawkins P. C. 513 [quot Roberts v. State, 21 Ark. 183, 185; Cherryvale v. Hawman, 80 Kan. 170, 101 P 994, 995, 133 AmSR 195, 23 LRANS 645, 18 AnnCas 149; Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 236, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277; Adamson v. New York, 188 N. Y. 255, 258, 80 NE 937, 117 AmSR 863, 10 LRANS 925; Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 153, 64 NYS 411; People v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1, 83; State v. Hughes, 72 N. C. 25, 26; State v. Stalcup, 23 N. C. 30, 31, 35 AmD 732; Com. v. Martin, 7 Pa. Dist. 219, 225, 9 Kulp 69; State v. Johnson, 43 S. C. 123, 125, 20 SE 988; State v. Connolly, 37 S. C. L. 337, 338; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257, 260; State v. Brooks, 19 S. C. L. 361, 362; State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117, 119; State v. Creighton, 10 S. C. L. 256, 257; Reg. v. Kelly, 6 U. C. C. P. 372]; American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Stearns Lumber Co., 145 Ky. 255, 140 SW 148, 149, 36 LRA NS 566, AnnCas1913B 628; London, etc., F. Ins. Co. v. Bolands, Ltd., [1924] A. C. 836. To same effect Bouvier L. D.; 1 Russell Crimes p 265 [quot Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277].

[b] Lord Coke's definition.—"Riot, in the common law, signifieth when three or more do any unlawful act, as to beat a man, or to hurt him in his park, chase, or warren, or to enter or take possession of another man's land, or to cut or destroy his corn, grass, or other profit." Coke Litt. [quot Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 147, 1 P 653].

[c] Lord Holt's definition.—"If a number of men assemble with arms, in terrorem populi, although no act be done, it is a riot." Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 116, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503 [quot State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257, 260].

[d] Blackstone's definition.—"A 'riot' is where three or more actually do an unlawful act of violence, either with or without a common cause or quarrel, as, if they beat a man, or hunt and kill game in another's park, chase, warren, or liberty, or do any other unlawful act with force and violence, or even do a lawful act, as removing a nuisance, in a violent and tumultuous manner." 4 Blackstone Comm. 146, 147 [quot Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 235, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277; Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 153, 64 NYS 411; Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1, 56; Spruill v. North Carolina Mut. L. Ins. Co., 46 N. C. 126, 127; State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486, 490].

[e] Bishop's definition.—"Such disorderly conduct in three or more assembled persons, actually accomplishing an object, as is calculated to terrify others." 2 Bishop Cr. L. § 1143 [quot Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., (Ky.) 116 SW 234, 236; Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 153, 64 NYS 411; Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 147, 1 P 653].

[f] Statutory definitions.—(1) "Any use of force or violence, or any threat to use force or violence if accompanied by immediate power of execution, by three or more persons acting together and without authority of law is riot." Okl. Comp. L. (1909) § 2497; Lord Or. L. § 2068; Johnson v. State, 16 Okl. Cr. 428, 183 P 926; Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630; Crawford v. Ferguson, 5 Okl. Cr. 377, 115 P 278, 45 LRANS 519; Cochran v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 379, 111 P 974; State v. Stephanus, 53 Or. 135, 99 P 428, 17 AnnCas 1146; State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37; State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361. (2) "If three or more persons

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

Inciting to riot. The gist of this offense is its tending to provoke a breach of the peace, even though the parties may have assembled in the first instance for an innocent purpose,[7] and it is an offense at common law.[8]

[§ 2] B. Distinguished from Other Offenses. Riot, rout, and unlawful assembly are kindred offenses and the greater includes the less;[9] yet the several offenses are clearly distinguishable each from the others.[10] A rout differs from a riot in that the persons do not actually execute their purpose, but only make some motion towards its execution;[11] but what degree of execution of their purpose will convert a rout into a riot may often be difficult to determine.[12] An unlawful assembly differs from a riot in that if the parties assemble in a tumultuous manner, and actually execute their purpose with violence, it is a riot; but if they merely meet upon a purpose, which, if executed, would make them rioters, and, having done nothing, they separate without carrying their purpose into effect, it is an unlawful assembly.[13] Riot is an offense distinct from affray,[14] insurrection,[15] treason,[16] or trespass.[17] shall assemble together with intent to do any unlawful act with force and violence against the person or property of another, or to do any unlawful act against the peace," etc. Kan. Gen. St. (1901) § 2269; Cherryvale v. Hawman, 80 Kan. 170, 101 P 994, 133 AmSR 195, 23 LRANS 645, 18 AnnCas 149. (3) "If two or more persons do an unlawful act of violence or any other act in a violent and tumultuous manner, they shall be guilty of a riot," etc. Ga. Pen. Code § 354; Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750. (4) "Any use of force or violence disturbing the public peace, or any threat to use such force and violence, if accompanied by immediate power of execution, by two or more persons acting together and without authority of law is a riot." Peo. v. Ortiz, 17 Porto Rico 1149; Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653; Porto Rico Pen. Code § 359; Utah Comp. L. § 5054 p 614.

---

[g] Other definitions.—(1) "If parties assemble in a tumultuous manner, and actually execute their purpose with violence, it is a riot at common law." State v. Stephanus, 53 Or. 135, 99 P 428, 17 AnnCas 1146. (2) "Where three or more actually do an unlawful act of violence, either with or without a common cause of quarrel, or do a lawful act in a violent or tumultuous manner." Com. v. Martin, 7 Pa. Dist. 219, 225, 9 Kulp 69. (3) An unlawful act committed with force and violence by three or more constitutes a riot. Burrill L. D.; Stroud Jud. D. [quot Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 153, 64 NYS 411]. (4) "The tumultuous disturbance of the public peace by an unlawful assembly of three or more persons, in the execution of some private object." Webster D. [quot Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277]. (5) "A riot is (a) where an unlawful assembly has actually begun to execute the purpose for which it is assembled, by a breach of the peace and to the terror of the public; or (b) where a lawful assembly has formed and proceeded to execute an unlawful purpose to the terror of the people, although they had not that purpose when they assembled." Clark Elem. L. p 119.

[3] Ky.—Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277.

La.—Dupin v. Mutual Ins. Co., 5 La. Ann. 482.

Me.—State v. Snow, 18 Me. 346.

Mass.—Com. v. Gibney, 2 Allen 150.

N. C.—State v. Hughes, 72 N. C. 25; State v. Stalcup, 23 N. C. 30, 35 AmD 732.

Pa.—Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Schwenk, 95 Pa. 89, 40 AmR 629.

Wis.—Aron v. Wausau, 98 Wis. 592, 74 NW 354, 40 LRA 733.

"Brawls" defined 9 C. J. p 319.

[4] Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277.

[5] Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., supra.

[a] "Riot," as used in a life policy, wherein it is provided that the policy shall be void if the insured die by means of any riot, means where three or more persons actually do some unlawful act, either with or without a common cause. Spruill v. North Carolina Mut. L. Ins. Co., 46 N. C. 126, 127.

[b] As used in L. (1855) c 428, making a city liable for "property destroyed by riot," which act was passed before riot was made a statutory crime, the word is to be construed as having its common-law meaning. Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 153, 64 NYS 411.

[6] Marshall v. Buffalo, supra.

"Mob" defined 40 C. J. p 1231.

"Mob violence" defined 40 C. J. p 1232.

[7] Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482, 499.

[a] Counseling must be done in such a manner that it carries with it the force of the crime. Peo. v. Echavarria, 29 Porto Rico 824.

[8] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482.

[9] State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257, 258; Hawkins P. C. c 65 § 9 [quot Follis v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 535, 537, 40 SW 277].

[10] State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387; Hawkins P. C. c 65 § 9 [quot Follis v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 535, 537, 40 SW 277].

[a] Apt illustration of distinctions.—"If three or more persons meet together for the purpose of beating another who lives a mile off, there is an unlawful assembly. While they are on the road to carry out the purpose, there is a rout. Where they make the attack and beat him, there is a riot." Clark Elem. L. p 119.

[11] State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387; Peo. v. Alonso, 19 Porto Rico 426.

[a] A rout is (1) "where three or more meet to do an unlawful act upon a common ground, . . . and make some advances towards it." Blackstone Comm. [quot Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1, 56]. (2) "A tumultuous meeting of three or more persons upon some common purpose, to do an unlawful act, making some motion towards its execution." State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 600, 42 AmD 387. (3) "An assembly moving forward towards the execution of its unlawful design." Follis v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 535, 40 SW 277 [quot Hawkins P. C. c 65 § 9]. (4) "An unlawful assembly which has made a motion toward the execution of the common purpose of the persons assembled." Clark Elem. L. p 119.

[12] State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387.

See U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675 (it is not necessary that an act of violence should have been perpetrated).

[13] State v. Stephanus, 53 Or. 135, 99 P 428, 17 AnnCas 1146; Rex v. Birt, 5 C. & P. 154, 24 ECL 501, 172 Reprint 919; Reg. v. Pugh, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1251.

Purpose of original assembly see infra §§ 6, 7.

Unlawful assembly generally see Unlawful Assembly [39 Cyc 831].

[14] See Affray § 6.

[a] An unlawful assembly, riotously and tumultuously disturbing the selectmen of a town in the exercise of their duty on a public day and in a public place and obstructing the inhabitants of the town in the use of their constitutional privilege of election is a riot, and not an affray. Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148.

[15] See Insurrection § 3.

[16] See cases infra this note.

[a] The offense is not treason if the object of the assembly is to resist a statute, but not to overthrow government. Aron v. Wausau, 98 Wis. 592, 74 NW 354, 40 LRA 733.

[b] "Riot, insurrection, and civil commotion" were held to import occasional local or temporary outbreaks of unlawful violence, which, though temporarily destructive in their effects, did not rise to the proportions of organized rebellion against the government. Boon v. Ætna Ins. Co., 40 Conn. 575, 584.

Treason generally see Treason [38 Cyc 950].

[17] See cases infra this note.

[a] A trespass is the disturbance

II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE[18]

[§ 3] A. In General. Riot is essentially an offense against the public peace and good order, and looks to this rather than an infraction of the personal rights of any particular individual as such.[19] It involves the execution of an agreement, express or implied between three or more persons to commit an assault or battery or a breach of the peace.[20] In some jurisdictions it is held to be composed of three necessary elements: (1) An unlawful assembly; (2) an intent mutually to assist against lawful authority; (3) acts of violence.[21] Under statutes in some jurisdictions, the elements of the crime are the use of force or violence, or threats to use force and violence accompanied by immediate power of execution;[22] and unless these elements exist, there can be no riot.[23] In England, the following elements have been held necessary: (1) A number of persons, three at least; (2) a common purpose; (3) the execution or inception of the common purpose; (4) an intent to help one another by force if necessary against any person who may oppose them in the execution of their common purpose; and (5) force or violence not merely used in demolishing a building, but displayed in such a manner as to alarm at least one person of reasonable firmness and courage.[24] The place where the riot occurs is immaterial.[25]

[§ 4] B. Acts Constituting Offense.[26] The violent and turbulent enterprises of bodies of men have uniformly been considered as dangerous to the rights of other citizens.[27] Thus where a band of persons makes an uproar and displays arms,[28] or marches on a public street with violence and without a permit,[29] or makes an assault accompanied with loud threats and threatening display of force,[30] or forcibly destroys the property of another,[31] a riot may be committed, often in combination with another offense. Civil officers may commit a riot by a digression from the line of duty.[32] Mischief makers may become rioters while indulging in a charivari,[33] or in holi-of another in the enjoyment of a lawful right, and if it is done by numbers unlawfully combined, the same act is a riot. Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148 [quot Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653].

---

[18] Felony or misdemeanor see infra § 40.

[19] Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945.

[20] Perkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 250 P 544.

[21] State v. Hoffman, (N. C.) 154 SE 314.

Definition of offense see supra § 1.

[22] Cochran v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 379, 111 P 974.

Statutory definitions see supra § 1.

[23] Cochran v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 379, 111 P 974.

[24] Pitchers v. Surrey County, [1923] 2 K. B. 57; Ford v. Metropolitan Police, [1921] 2 K. B. 344; Field v. Metropolitan Police, [1907] 2 K. B. 853; Boggan v. Motor Union Ins. Co., [1922] 2 Ir. 184, 222.

[25] See cases infra this note.

[a] Public place.—It is not necessary that the act constituting a riot must be committed in a public place. Carmody v. State, 178 Ind. 158, 98 NE 870.

[b] Military camp.—A riot is a riot even though the rioters are soldiers and it takes place in a military camp. Pitchers v. Surrey County, 39 T. L. R. 7.

[26] Evidence to establish riot see infra § 33.

[27] Com. v. Cribs, Add. (Pa.) 277; Higgins v. Minaghan, 78 Wis. 602, 47 NW 941, 23 AmSR 428, 11 LRA 138.

[a] Kicking a foot ball in a town, although an amusement, when accompanied by circumstances of noise and tumult, such as were calculated to excite terror and alarm among the inhabitants of the town, was said to be a riot. 2 Chitty Cr. L. p 494 [cit State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257, 261].

[28] See cases infra this note.

[a] Arming of men, to the number of three or more, with guns, in organized force, in a peaceful neighborhood, to the terror of the citizens, is riot. Com. v. Armstrong, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 656.

[b] Where three men in front of a house at night curse and threaten the occupant in loud voices, repeatedly firing a gun, thereby greatly frightening him and the members of his family, each participating in such conduct, they are all guilty of riot. Lewis v. State, 2 Ga. A. 659, 58 SE 1070.

[29] Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

[30] Ga.—Stafford v. State, 93 Ga. 207, 19 SE 50; Stokes v. State, 73 Ga. 816; Rachels v. State, 51 Ga. 374; Jacobs v. State, 20 Ga. 839.

Ill.—Logg v. Peo., 92 Ill. 598.

Ind.—Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273; State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570.

N. H.—State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83.

S. C.—State v. Jackson, 28 S. C. L. 13.

Tex.—McKinney v. State, (Cr.) 68 SW 176.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where defendant and another assaulted complaining witness under circumstances indicating a previous agreement to use violence. Stafford v. State, 93 Ga. 207, 19 SE 50. (2) Where committee, presenting request to foreman, came with hundreds of followers shouting demands, and frightened the foreman's wife. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659. (3) Where persons in a riotous, tumultuous, and violent manner attempt to commit a violent injury on the person of another, violently threatening to beat, cut, and shoot him, the offense is riot. State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570. (4) Where persons assemble for the purpose and with the intent of violently beating, bruising, and injuring another person, and actually carry out that purpose. McKinney v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 68 SW 176.

[b] An assault committed by three or more with a preconceived intent has been held to constitute a riot. Peo. v. White, 55 Barb. 606 [aff 32 N. Y. 465].

[31] Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 236, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277; Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Schwenk, 95 Pa. 89, 40 AmR 629; State v. Brooks, 19 S. C. L. 361.

[a] Where a breaker at a coal mine was set afire at night by a party of men who fired a number of shots and drove the watchman away, there was riot. Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Schwenk, 95 Pa. 89, 96, 40 AmR 629.

[b] Five masked men, forcibly breaking at night into a dwelling house, and compelling the occupant to vacate, under threats of personal violence, and then burning the building, constitutes a riot, within the meaning of a fire insurance policy stipulating against loss or damage by fire caused by riot, etc. Germania F. Ins. Co. v. Deckard, 3 Ind. A. 361, 28 NE 868.

[32] See cases infra this note.

[a] Where police officers forcibly and turbulently take property which may not lawfully be taken without an order of court, they are guilty of riot. Darst v. Peo., 51 Ill. 286, 2 AmR 301.

[b] An officer cannot break down the doors of an outbuilding when he holds an execution, without a previous demand and refusal to open them, and if he does he may be guilty of riot. Douglass v. State, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 525.

[c] If a sheriff and posse, on the way to take a felon, turn aside and attack a peaceable unoffending citizen, both the sheriff and posse would be guilty of riot. State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117.

[d] An information will lie for a riotous entry into a house after the expiration of the term to enforce a forfeiture. Rex v. Stroude, 2 Show. 149, 89 Reprint 852.

[33] State v. Brown, 69 Ind. 95, 35 AmR 210; Bankus v. State, 4 Ind. 114; Higgins v. Minaghan, 78 Wis. 602, 47 NW 941, 23 AmSR 428, 11 LRA 138.

day celebrations.[34] Intimidating[35] or resisting[36] civil officers may constitute a riot and so may the coercion of workmen.[37] Malicious mischief,[38] night disorders,[39] pole raising,[40] and prize fights[41] may also become riots. The forcible appropriation of property is an act of riotous tendency,[42] while public meetings[43] are prolific sources of this offense. A disturbance at a theater may result in riot[44] and an act of trespass is often accompanied by it.[45]

[§ 5] C. Number of Persons Necessary. The common-law rule requires that three or more persons must act together in committing the offense,[46] and most of the statutes defining riot provide that the offense cannot be committed by less than three persons;[47] but a number of states, in their riot statutes, fix the minimum number of persons at two.[48]

34. Madisonville v. Bishop, 113 Ky. 106, 67 SW 269, 23 KyL 2363, 57 LRA 130.

[a] Where one thousand people were assembled in the main street of a city celebrating Christmas by obstructing traffic and discharging bombs and skyrockets and other missiles loaded with powerful explosives, at private property, endangering life and preventing the use of the street for business, such conduct was held riotous. Madisonville v. Bishop, 113 Ky. 106, 67 SW 269, 23 KyL 2363, 57 LRA 130. But see Aron v. Wausau, 98 Wis. 592, 74 NW 354, 40 LRA 733 (where a street was occupied by a crowd of thirty or more persons obstructing the sidewalks and unlawfully exploding firecrackers and other fireworks whereby plaintiff was injured, such conduct was held not riotous as there was nothing to indicate that the crowd had any common intent or purpose).

35. U. S. v. Stewart, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,401a, 2 Hayw. & H. 280; Green v. State, 109 Ga. 536, 35 SE 97.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where a crowd, bearing deadly weapons and acting in an excited manner, prevented a sheriff and his posse from removing a prisoner from a jail. Green v. State, 109 Ga. 536, 35 SE 97. (2) Where three or more persons opposed the mayor in keeping the polls open and preserving the peace on election day. U. S. v. Stewart, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,401a, 2 Hayw. & H. 280.

36. State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37.

[a] Although not terrifying others, an assault upon and beating of peace officers in a tumultuous manner has been held to constitute a riot. State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486.

37. Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

38. State v. Alexander, 41 S. C. L. 5.

Malicious mischief generally see 38 C. J. p 356.

39. Com. v. Cribs, Add. (Pa.) 277.

[a] Illustration.—Thus, where a band of men, consisting of eight or ten persons, disguised, paraded at night through the streets of a town, armed with guns or pistols, or both, and marched backward and forward through the streets, shooting guns and blowing horns, to the terror and alarm of the inhabitants, they were guilty of a riot. State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257, 258.

40. Com. v. Morrison, Add. (Pa.) 274.

41. State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387.

[a] Illustration.—Where one thousand spectators were assembled and a magistrate forbade the fight, whereupon a person in the crowd insisted that the fight proceed and the magistrate attempted to arrest him, and a tumult arose and a forcible rescue was accomplished. Rex v. Billingham, 2 C. & P. 234, 12 ECL 545, 172 Reprint 106.

42. State v. Simpson, 12 N. C. 504.

43. See cases infra this note.

[a] Thus (1) where a call of a public meeting is addressed exclusively to persons favorable to its objects, the interference of individuals hostile to its proceedings, and the breaking up and dispersion of the meeting by them, is a riot of a flagrant kind. Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150. (2) So where three or more persons by agreement go to a church where divine service is to be performed, and laugh and talk during the performance of the same in a manner which might be excusable in a tavern, and in so doing manifest a determination to resist by force any effort that may be made to remove them, or prevent their so doing, they are guilty of riot. Com. v. Dupuy, Brightly (Pa.) 44. (3) And where a public meeting is called to concert measures for the relief of certain persons in custody, and a magistrate, fearing a disturbance, posts a notice to the effect that the meeting will not be permitted; and the police, under such a notice, attempt to prevent such an assembly and three or more persons attempt to break through the cordon of police to reach the place of assembly, such an attempt has been held to constitute a riot. Reg. v. Cunninghame, 16 Cox C. C. 420.

44. Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1.

[a] Hissing actor.—If a body of men go to the theater with the settled intention of hissing an actor and thereupon effect this object by tumult and disorder they are guilty of riot. Clifford v. Brandon, 2 Campb. 358, 366, 170 Reprint 1183.

45. U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

Ga.—Sanders v. State, 60 Ga. 126.

Ind.—State v. Scaggs, 6 Blackf. 37.

Nebr.—Meese v. State, 15 Nebr. 558, 560, 20 NW 33.

Va.—Samanni v. Com., 16 Gratt. (57 Va.) 543.

Eng.—Rex v. Wyvill, 7 Mod. 286, 87 Reprint 1245.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) An assemblage for the purpose of seizing a man without lawul authority, executed by tumultuously surrounding his house, and entering it, is a riot. U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675. (2) Where four persons violently and unlawfully burst open an outer door of a dwelling-house and then and there tear down and carry off one of the window shutters, accompanying these acts by throwing missiles against the house, a riot is committed. State v. Scaggs, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 37.

46. U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; U. S. v. Stewart, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,401a, 2 Hayw. & H. 280.

Ala.—Thompson v. State, 106 Ala. 67, 17 S 512.

Fla.—Ammons v. State, 9 Fla. 530.

Ky.—White v. Com., 10 Bush. 557.

Md.—Beard v. State, 74 Md. 130, 21 A 700.

Mass.—Com. v. Gibney, 2 Allen 150.

Mich.—Stout v. Keyes, 2 Dougl. 184, 43 AmD 465.

N. H.—State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83.

Pa.—Shouse v. Com., 5 Pa. 83; Com. v. Dupuy, Brightly 44.

S. C.—State v. Jackson, 28 S. C. L. 13.

Tenn.—State v. Allison, 3 Yerg. 428.

Eng.—Reg. v. Cunninghame, 16 Cox C. C. 420; Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252; Rex v. Sudbury, 12 Mod. 262, 88 Reprint 1309, 2 Salk. 593, 91 Reprint 502.

[a] Illustration.—"By the common law, where three persons are together for a common, unlawful purpose, and acting in concert, it is not necessary, to constitute a riot, that all should do some physical act. It is enough, if two, or perhaps one, does the unlawful deed, if the other be aiding, assisting and abetting. He becomes an actor by aiding and abetting. Suppose one actually pulls down a building, while the other two stand by to watch and keep others off, they become participators in the act." State v. Straw, 33 Me. 554, 556.

47. See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] Two persons acting together cannot commit a riot. Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630.

[b] Where two of an assembly of persons flog another, the offense is riot, involving concert of action between three or more persons. Perkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 250 P 544.

[c] A negro servant or slave with two white persons may commit a riot. State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462; State v. Thackham, 1 S. C. L. 358.

[d] That the same identical act should be done by three persons is unnecessary, it being sufficient if they had a common purpose to do the act complained of, or were engaged in aiding or assisting one another in accomplishing such common purpose, although the individual act of each was separate from that of the others. State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361.

48. See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] One person alone cannot commit a riot. State v. Egan, 10 La. Ann. 698; Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653; Harison v. Errington, Poph. 202, 79 Reprint 1292.

[b] Where a single person is engaged in an act of violence, and others stand by encouraging him without yielding physical aid, there is no riot. Scott v. U. S., Morr. (Iowa) 142.

[c] Where four persons were jointly tried and convicted, it was held error to sustain a writ of certiorari on ground of insufficiency of evidence as to three of the defendants, because one person cannot com-

Further the statute may make the number depend upon whether arms are carried.[49]

[§ 6] D. Purpose of Original Assembly—1. Lawful. It is not necessary that the riotous violence should have been premeditated by the assembled perpetrators;[50] therefore the original assembly may have been by accident or for a lawful purpose.[51] To this view there is a dissenting opinion; but it seems to be based on an erroneous idea of what had been the English rule,[52] the early English cases holding that where, in a lawful assembly, a sudden fray happens "between" the persons assembled, there is no riot,[53] but if a stranger is attacked,[54] or the assembly was originally unlawful,[55] a riot is accomplished.

[§ 7] 2. Unlawful. If parties assemble unlawfully[56] or for an unlawful purpose,[57] and execute any part of an unlawful purpose with violence,[58] such acts may make a riot.

[§ 8] E. Mutual or Common Intent and Concert of Action. It has been said that "a mutual intent to assist one another against any who shall oppose them" is an element of the offense of riot,[59] but it seems that, while this specific intention may be held by rioters, it is not in general essential to the offense,[60] and a previous agreement[61] or conspiracy need not be shown.[62] The intention which is generally an element of the offense is the intent to join in or encourage the acts which constitute the riot, namely, the assembly, violence, turbulence, and the act violently and turbulently performed.[63] In some jurisdictions it is necessary that there be concert mit the offense of riot. Lewis v. State, 5 Ga. A. 496, 63 SE 570.

---

[49] See statutory provisions.

[50] U. S.—U. S. v. Peaco, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,018, 4 Cranch C. C. 601.

Me.—State v. Snow, 18 Me. 346.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly 1.

S. C.—State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117.

Eng.—Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252.

[51] U. S.—U. S. v. McFarland, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,674, 1 Cranch C. C. 140.

Ind.—Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659.

Ky.—Louisville v. Lougher, 209 Ky. 299, 272 SW 748.

Me.—State v. Snow, 18 Me. 346.

Mass.—Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148.

N. Y.—Solomon v. Kingston, 24 Hun 562 [aff 96 N. Y. 651].

Oh.—Champaign County v. Church, 62 Oh. St. 318, 57 NE 50, 78 AmSR 718, 48 LRA 738.

Pa.—Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277.

S. C.—State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117.

Tex.—Blackwell v. State, 30 Tex. A. 672, 18 SW 676.

Wis.—State v. Dean, 71 Wis. 678, 38 NW 341.

Eng.—Rex v. Hubson, East P. C. 258; Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252.

[a] Where persons assembled for a lawful purpose, do afterwards associate together to commit an unlawful act, such association will be considered as assembling together for that purpose. State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117.

[b] If a sudden disturbance arises among persons meeting together for an innocent purpose, they will be guilty of a mere affray; but if they form parties and engage in violent proceedings with promise of mutual assistance, or if impelled with a sudden disposition to demolish buildings, they are rioters, and are not excused by the propriety of their original design. Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493, 498; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482, 499.

[c] After the assemblage has been formed, if the public speaker or his hearers should engage in any unlawful speech or conduct of such a nature as to be reasonably calculated to produce a breach of the peace, the assemblage would become unlawful, and if fights or affrays should result therefrom, a riot would be created. Louisville v. Lougher, 209 Ky. 299, 272 SW 748.

[d] The purpose for which persons, who do an act in a violent and tumultuous manner, may have assembled is no part of the crime under the statute. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659.

[52] State v. Hoffman, (N. C.) 154 SE 314; State v. Hughes, 72 N. C. 25; Spruill v. North Carolina Mut. L. Ins. Co., 46 N. C. 126; State v. Stalcup, 23 N. C. 30, 35 AmD 732 (where the English case [Rex v. Birt, 5 C. & P. 154, 24 ECL 501, 172 Reprint 919] does not bear out the opinion).

[53] Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252; Anonymous, 6 Mod. 43, 87 Reprint 806.

[54] Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252.

[55] Anonymous, 6 Mod. 43, 87 Reprint 806.

[56] State v. Johnson, 89 Iowa 594, 57 NW 302; Meese v. State, 15 Nebr. 558, 20 NW 33; Com. v. Kinney, 2 Va. Cas. (4 Va.) 139.

[57] U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; U. S. v. Peaco, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,018, 4 Cranch C. C. 601.

Ga.—Fisher v. State, 78 Ga. 258.

Ind.—State v. Scaggs, 6 Blackf. 37.

Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 89 Iowa 594, 57 NW 302.

Nebr.—Meese v. State, 15 Nebr. 558, 20 NW 33.

N. H.—State v. Batchelder, 5 N. H. 549.

Porto Rico.—Peo. v. Ortiz, 17 Porto Rico 1149.

Va.—Com. v. Kinney, 2 Va. Cas. 139.

Eng.—Rex v. Birt, 5 C. & P. 154, 24 ECL 501, 172 Reprint 919.

[58] See infra § 12.

[59] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29; State v. Connolly, 37 S. C. L. 337; State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117.

[60] U. S.—U. S. v. McFarland, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,674, 1 Cranch C. C. 140.

Ga.—Jemley v. State, 121 Ga. 346, 49 SE 292.

Mass.—Com. v. Berry, 5 Gray 93.

N. H.—State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83; State v. Renton, 15 N. H. 169.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly 1.

Pa.—In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[a] "It would be endless, as well as superfluous, to examine whether every particular person engaged in a riot was in truth one of the first assembly, or had a previous knowledge of their design." In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29, 32.

See to same effect Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482.

[b] Premeditation by three or more persons assembled, or promises of mutual assistance, before or at the time of committing the actual violence are unnecessary. U. S. v. Peaco, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,018, 4 Cranch C. C. 601. But see State v. Snow, 18 Me. 346 (holding that there must be some degree of premeditation for the execution of a common purpose).

[61] Peo. v. Alonso, 19 Porto Rico 426.

[62] Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70.

[63] Ga.—Hunter v. State, 127 Ga. 43, 55 SE 1044; Baptist v. State, 109 Ga. 546, 35 SE 658; Tripp v. State, 109 Ga. 489, 34 SE 1021; Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750; Prince v. State, 30 Ga. 27; Nowell v. State, 32 Ga. A. 505, 123 SE 908; Walker v. State, 17 Ga. A. 525, 87 SE 711; Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70; Lewis v. State, 5 Ga. A. 496, 63 SE 570, 571; Croy v. State, 4 Ga. A. 457, 61 SE 847; Stanfield v. State, 1 Ga. A. 532, 57 SE 953.

Me.—State v. Snow, 18 Me. 346, 347.

Mass.—Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly 1.

Oh.—Champaign County v. Church, 62 Oh. St. 318, 348, 57 NE 50, 78 AmSR 718, 48 LRA 738.

Okl.—Casteel v. State, 13 Okl. Cr.

of action.[64]

[§ 9] F. Enterprise of Private Nature. The term "riot" is sometimes limited to the tumultuous disturbances which arise in the execution of private enterprises or quarrels,[65] as distinguished from a public attempt to overthrow or subvert the government, which is treason.[66]

[§ 10] G. Riotous Execution of Lawful Enterprise—1. In General. In order that the execution of an otherwise lawful act may constitute a riot, violence must be actually employed[67] and the act must be done in a tumultuous manner[68] so as to disturb the public peace[69] or cause terror to citizens in the community.[70] The common-law offense of riot did not include that class of riots where two or more persons with a common intent do any act in a violent and tumultuous manner.[71] The offense in such a case is wholly one against the public peace and tranquillity, and though the act be violently done, if there is no attendant tumult which disturbs the public peace, there is no riot.[72]

[§ 11] 2. In Terrorem Populi.[73] The phrase "in terrorem populi" is used by Hawkins as descriptive of the offense denominated a riot; but it is clear that there may be a riot without terrifying anyone.[74] Where the act consists of going about armed, the gist of the offense consists alone in the terror to the public, inspired by the conduct of the parties,[75] but where an unlawful act is committed, the element of terror is unnecessary.[76] The ingredient of terror excited does not require that more than one person be alarmed.[77]

[§ 12] H. Execution of Unlawful Enterprise. It seems that the violent and turbulent execution of any unlawful act capable of being so committed, by a sufficient number of persons, may be a riot,[78] even

---

19, 161 P 330; Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630.

Or.—State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361.

Pa.—Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277.

S. C.—State v. Connolly, 37 S. C. L. 337; State v. Cole, 13 S. C. L. 117.

Tenn.—West v. State, 9 Humphr. 66.

Wis.—Aron v. Wausau, 98 Wis. 592, 74 NW 354, 40 LRA 733.

[a] Although the individual acts of the rioters be separate, they constitute riot if done in accomplishing a common purpose. State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361.

[64] Jemley v. State, 121 Ga. 346, 49 SE 292; Coney v. State, 113 Ga. 1060, 39 SE 425; Tripp v. State, 109 Ga. 489, 34 SE 1021; Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750; Stafford v. State, 93 Ga. 207, 19 SE 50; Prince v. State, 30 Ga. 27; Nowell v. State, 32 Ga. A. 505, 123 SE 908; Walker v. State, 17 Ga. A. 525, 87 SE 711; Oglesby v. State, 12 Ga. A. 684, 78 SE 134; Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70; Croy v. State, 4 Ga. A. 457, 61 SE 847; Lewis v. State, 2 Ga. A. 659, 58 SE 1070; Stanfield v. State, 1 Ga. A. 532, 57 SE 953; Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1; Casteel v. State, 13 Okl. Cr. 19, 161 P 330; Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630.

[a] The concert of action may exist in the execution of the act. It is not necessary that the parties should deliberate beforehand, that they should interchange views with each other before commencing the execution of the design. Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1, 84.

[b] A person acting alone, who fired a shot in the air and one at rioters attacking a procession, of which he was a member, cannot be convicted of riot. Reg. v. Corcoran, 26 U. C. C. P. 134.

[65] Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1; Homestead Case, 1 Pa. Dist. 785.

[66] Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1; Homestead Case, 1 Pa. Dist. 785, 12 Pa. Co. 97.

[67] Ga.—Jacobs v. State, 20 Ga. 839; Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945; Croy v. State, 4 Ga. A. 457, 61 SE 847; Lewis v. State, 2 Ga. A. 659, 58 SE 1070.

Ind.—Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273; State v. Voshall, 4 Ind. 589; Bankus v. State, 4 Ind. 114; State v. Dillard, 5 Blackf. 365, 35 AmD 128.

Pa.—Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277.

S. C.—State v. Blair, 47 S. C. L. 93; State v. Brooks, 19 S. C. L. 361.

Utah.—Peo. v. O'Laughlin, 3 Utah 133, 147, 1 P 653.

[a] "Force" and "violence" do not necessarily mean actual use of physical force accompanied with turbulence or violence; but any unlawful act, however apparently peaceable and quiet, when done with such numbers, in such manner, and under such circumstances as to show that the actors intended to and were capable of carrying out and did so carry out an unlawful purpose in an unlawful manner, rendering resistance thereto apparently, in the minds of reasonable men of ordinary courage, dangerous to life or property, is such "force" and "violence" as is contemplated by the statute. Peo. v. O'Laughlin, 3 Utah 133, 134, 1 P 653.

[b] Statutory exception.—A statute may require that the act, done or attempted to be done, be an unlawful act executed in a violent and turbulent manner, to constitute riot. Smith v. State, 14 Mo. 147.

[68] Ga.—Jacobs v. State, 20 Ga. 839; Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945; Croy v. State, 4 Ga. A. 457, 61 SE 847; Lewis v. State, 2 Ga. A. 659, 58 SE 1070.

Ind.—Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273; State v. Voshall, 4 Ind. 589; Bankus v. State, 4 Ind. 114; State v. Dillard, 5 Blackf. 365, 35 AmD 128.

Pa.—Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277.

S. C.—State v. Blair, 47 S. C. L. 93; State v. Brooks, 19 S. C. L. 361.

Utah.—Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) A charivari continuing until 2 A. M., the noise being heard a mile away, was held to be a riot, although the participants were unarmed, in good humor, remained on the highway, and refrained from indecent language. Bankus v. State, 4 Ind. 114. (2) Whatever rights a committee of five might have had to visit a foreman, and present a request, they violated the law when they came with hundreds of followers, shouting a demand, by which they frightened the foreman's wife and drove him away. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659.

[69] Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945.

[70] Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659.

[71] Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945.

[72] Taylor v. State, supra.

[a] Neither noise nor violence alone attending the performance of a lawful act can make a riot, both being essential to cause the reaction necessary to change the quality of a lawful act. Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945. To same effect Barron v. State, 74 Ga. 833.

[73] In terrorem populi 31 C. J. p 359 note 92 [a].

[74] Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 519, 6 AmD 148 [quot Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 154, 64 NYS 411].

[a] Actual fright is unnecessary as it is enough "if the action of the parties implicated be so violent and tumultuous as to be likely to cause fright, and if individuals are frightened." 2 Wharton Cr. L. §§ 1537, 1544 [quot Spring Garden Ins. Co. v. Imperial Tobacco Co., 132 Ky. 7, 116 SW 234, 236, 136 AmSR 164, 20 LRANS 277].

[75] Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148; State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486; State v. Whitesides, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 88; Rex v. Hughes, 4 C. & P. 373, 19 ECL 560, 172 Reprint 462.

[76] See infra § 12.

[77] Peo. v. O'Laughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

[a] Immediate power of executing their purpose is necessary under the Utah statute. Peo. v. O'Laughlin, 3 Utah 133, 148, 1 P 653.

[78] Del.—State v. Townsend, 2 Del. 543.

Ga.—Green v. State, 109 Ga. 536, 35 SE 97; Fisher v. State, 78 Ga. 258; Bolden v. State, 64 Ga. 361; Sanders v. State, 60 Ga. 126; Rachels v. State, 51 Ga. 374; Davenport v. State, 38 Ga. 184; Croy v. State, 4 Ga. A. 457, 61 SE 847.

Ill.—Darst v. Peo., 51 Ill. 286, 2 AmR 301; Dougherty v. Peo., 5 Ill. 179.

Ind.—Germania F. Ins. Co. v. Deckard, 3 Ind. A. 361, 28 NE 868; State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570.

Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 89 Iowa 594, 57 NW 302.

Me.—State v. Straw, 33 Me. 554.

though no person or persons are actually terrified.[79]

[§ 13] I. Reading Riot Act Unnecessary. At common law a riot is no less a riot because the proclamation from the riot act has not been read.[80] If the proclamation be not read the parties are guilty of the common-law offense, which is a misdemeanor.[81]

III. PARTIES TO OFFENSE

[§ 14] A. In General. A rioter is one who inflames people's minds and induces them by violent means to accomplish an illegal object.[82] A corporation cannot in general be indicted for riot.[83]

[§ 15] B. Active Rioters. All concerned in an unlawful assembly are equally guilty of the subsequent acts done by any of them in furtherance of the common object of the assembly,[84] and all who are present at the commission of any riotous act and actively engage therein by act, sign, or word are principal rioters.[85] All those who incite others to commit riot,[86] or actively participate in enterprises which reasonably lead to riot, if a riot results, may be principal rioters,[87] although absent from the place

---

Mass.—Com. v. Campbell, 7 Allen 541, 83 AmD 705; Com. v. Berry, 5 Gray 93.

Mo.—Smith v. State, 14 Mo. 147.

N. H.—State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83; State v. Batchelder, 5 N. H. 549.

Or.—Newby v. Terr., 1 Or. 163.

Pa.—Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Schwenk, 95 Pa. 89, 40 AmR 629; Shouse v. Com., 5 Pa. 83; Homestead Case, 1 Pa. Dist. 785.

Porto Rico.—Peo. v. Ortiz, 17 Porto Rico 1149.

S. C.—State v. Jenkins, 48 S. C. L. 215, 94 AmD 132; State v. Littlejohn, 1 S. C. L. 316.

Tenn.—Douglass v. State, 6 Yerg. 525.

Tex.—McKinney v. State, (Cr.) 68 SW 176.

Va.—Com. v. Kinney, 2 Va. Cas. (4 Va.) 139.

Wis.—State v. Dean, 71 Wis. 678, 38 NW 341.

Eng.—Reg. v. Howell, 9 C. & P. 437, 38 ECL 259, 173 Reprint 901; Rex v. Hughes, 4 C. & P. 373, 19 ECL 560, 172 Reprint 462; Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252; Reg. v. Casey, Ir. R. 8 C. L. 408; Rex v. Sudbury, 12 Mod. 262, 88 Reprint 1309, 2 Salk. 593, 91 Reprint 502; Reg. v. Wallis, 1 Salk. 334, 91 Reprint 294.

79. Ind.—Thayer v. State, 11 Ind. 287.

Mass.—Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148.

S. C.—State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486.

Tenn.—State v. Whitesides, 1 Swan 88.

Eng.—Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503.

[a] The essence of a "riot" may be the terrorem populi or it may be the committing of some unlawful act with violence, or in a violent and tumultuous manner. State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486, 490.

80. State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83; Rex v. Fursey, 6 C. & P. 81, 25 ECL 332, 172 Reprint 1155.

81. Rex v. Fursey, supra.

82. Spies v. Peo., 122 Ill. 1, 198, 12 NE 865, 961, 17 NE 898, 3 AmSR 320 [cit Reg. v. Sharpe, 3 Cox C. C. 288]; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493, 498; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482, 499.

[a] A person who joins himself to rioters, after the riot begins, or encourages them by words, signs or gestures, or otherwise takes part in their proceedings, is a rioter. Com. v. Jenkins, Thach. Cr. (Mass.) 118; Peo. v. White, 55 Barb. 606 [aff 32 N. Y. 465]; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[b] One seen coming from the rioters armed and intoxicated, styling himself the leader, was held a rioter. State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

[c] Servants.—One who commits an unlawful act while acting as the servant, or by the direction, of another, is as guilty as if he acted for himself, and may be one of three committing a riot. State v. Jackson, 28 S. C. L. 13; State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462; State v. Thackam, 1 S. C. L. 358; State v. Bugbee, 22 Vt. 32.

83. Reg. v. Great North of England R. Co., 9 Q. B. 315, 58 ECL 315, 115 Reprint 1294; 1 Blackstone Comm. pp 476, 477.

84. U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

Ga.—Green v. State, 109 Ga. 536, 35 SE 97; O'Quinn v. State, 39 Ga. A. 829, 148 SE 618.

Ill.—Bell v. Mallory, 61 Ill. 167.

N. Y.—Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 64 NYS 411.

Pa.—Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

Eng.—Reg. v. Howell, 9 C. & P. 437, 38 ECL 259, 173 Reprint 901; Rex v. Billingham, 2 C. & P. 234, 12 ECL 545, 172 Reprint 106; Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252.

[a] Where an assembly was originally lawful and certain of those assembled suddenly undertake and commit a riot, only those who act are guilty of riot. Reg. v. Ellis, Holt K. B. 636, 90 Reprint 1252.

85. U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

Ind.—Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Doan v. State, 26 Ind. 495.

Iowa.—Scott v. U. S., Morr. 142.

Mass.—Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

Pa.—Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482.

[a] Every person who encourages or promotes or takes part in a riot, whether by words, signs, or gestures, or by wearing the badge or ensigns of the rioters, is guilty of the offense. In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29; Clifford v. Brandon, 2 Campb. 358, 170 Reprint 1183. To same effect Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Com. v. Jenkins, Thach. Cr. (Mass.) 118; State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 180, 85 Pa. 611, 86 P 361.

86. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Newby v. Terr., 1 Or. 163; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Goldberg, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482; Reg. v. Sharpe, 3 Cox C. C. 288.

[a] Inflammatory speeches.—If persons are assembled together to the number of three or more, and speeches are made to those persons to excite and inflame them, with a view to incite them to acts of violence, and if that same meeting is so connected, in point of circumstances, with a subsequent riot that you cannot reasonably sever the latter from the incitement that was used, those who incited are guilty of riot, although they are not present when it occurs. Reg. v. Sharpe, 3 Cox C. C. 288.

[b] Persons assembled with intent to whip a man, or to have it done, are guilty of a riot, although some other person inflicts the blows. Newby v. Terr., 1 Or. 163.

[c] Although no riot results, a defendant may be convicted of counseling others to commit a riot. Peo. v. Dessus, 12 Porto Rico 330.

87. U. S.—U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

Ill.—Bell v. Mallory, 61 Ill. 167.

Pa.—Com. v. Cribs, Add. 277; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482.

S. C.—State v. Blair, 47 S. C. L. 93.

Eng.—Reg. v. Howell, 9 C. & P. 437, 38 ECL 259, 173 Reprint 901; Reg. v. Wallis, 1 Salk. 334, 91 Reprint 294.

where the riot is committed.[88]

[§ 16] C. Quiescent Rioters. Persons merely present at a riot who neither do nor say anything in furtherance of the offense are not rioters,[89] but it has been said that a presumption of guilt may be drawn as to all who are present and not actually assisting in the suppression of a riot,[90] although the contrary has been held.[91] If persons are present in order to lend the courage of their presence to the rioters,[92] or to assist if necessary,[93] they may be equally guilty with the principals.

[§ 17] D. After Notice To Disperse. Under the old common law and the English statutes, if the statutory riot act was properly and carefully read to rioters, and they refused to desist and disperse, and remained assembled for one hour or more, the rioters thereupon become felons.[94] Generally, in the United States, an order by a peace officer, directing rioters to disperse, brands those who remain as rioters[95] and causes them, by remaining, to declare their intent to be considered as members of the mob.[96]

IV. PROSECUTION AND PUNISHMENT

[§ 18] A. Indictment or Information[97]—1. In General. General rules relating to the form[98] and substance[99] of indictments and informations apply to indictments and informations for riot.[1] It is not necessary to allege a proclamation to disperse.[2] In cases where two grades of offense are the result of the same act, it would seem that the state should unite both offenses in the same indictment under separate counts.[3]

Where the offense is defined by statute the indictment must be framed with reference to the statute,[4] although it is sufficient in general to follow the language of the statute,[5] and the common law precedents as to each element of the offense need not be followed.[6] But where the statutory offense is essentially the same as the common-law offense of riot, an indictment which is good at common law is also good under the statute.[7]

[§ 19] 2. Particular Averments—a. Participants. It is not necessary to allege the names of three or more persons charged with riot.[8] It is sufficient to name those who are known[9] and to allege that the others are unknown.[10]

[§ 20] b. Purpose of Assembly. Where an unlawful assembly has ripened into a riot it has been said that the unlawful assembly must be charged in the indictment.[11] From the common-law forms it seems that the disturbance of the peace is a sufficiently precise statement of the purposes of the rioters,[12] although it has been said that the indictment should show explicitly for what act the rioters assembled.[13] It need not allege that the defendants assembled to assist each other in the execution of an act of a private nature,[14] or that they executed the act for which they assembled.[15]

---

[88] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482; State v. Blair, 47 S. C. L. 93; Reg. v. Howell, 9 C. & P. 437, 38 ECL 259, 173 Reprint 901.

[a] One who begins a riot, but leaves it before it is over, is responsible for all acts done in completion of the offense. State v. Blair, 47 S. C. L. 93.

[89] Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 64 Pa. Super. 482; Reg. v. Atkinson, 11 Cox C. C. 330.

[a] "To make a man a party to a riot, he must be active, either in doing or countenancing, or supporting, or ready, if necessary to support the unlawful act." Com. v. Craig, Add. (Pa.) 190.

[90] Com. v. Craig, supra; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[91] State v. McBride, 19 Mo. 239.

[92] U. S. v. Peaco, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,018, 4 Cranch C. C. 601; State v. Straw, 33 Me. 554; Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838; Williams v. State, 9 Mo. 270.

[a] That all should commit some physical act is unnecessary; all being guilty as principals if they are present, consenting and in a position under which they might render aid and assistance. Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

[93] U. S. v. Peaco, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,018, 4 Cranch C. C. 601; State v. Straw, 33 Me. 554; Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838; Williams v. State, 9 Mo. 270.

[94] Rex v. Woolcock, 5 C. & P. 516, 24 ECL 684, 172 Reprint 1078; Rex v. Birt, 5 C. & P. 154, 24 ECL 501, 172 Reprint 919; Rex v. James, 5 C. & P. 153, 24 ECL 500, 172 Reprint 918; Rex v. Child, 4 C. & P. 442, 19 ECL 593, 172 Reprint 774.

[95] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[96] In re Charge to Grand Jury, supra.

"Mob" and "riot" are said to be synonymous terms. See supra § 1.

[97] See generally Indictments and Informations 31 C. J. p 548.

[98] See Indictments and Informations §§ 81 et seq, 155 et seq.

[99] See Indictments and Informations § 170 et seq.

[1] See cases infra this section; and §§ 19–26.

[2] State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83.

[3] Com. v. Kinney, 2 Va. Cas. (4 Va.) 139.

Duplicity see infra § 26.

[4] Blackwell v. State, 30 Tex. A. 672, 674, 18 SW 676.

[a] Indictments held sufficient.—Lock v. State, 122 Ga. 730, 50 SE 932; Carter v. State, 7 Ga. A. 44, 65 SE 1072; Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273; State v. Voshall, 4 Ind. 589; Bankus v. State, 4 Ind. 114; State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570; State v. Scaggs, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 37; State v. Dillard, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 365, 35 AmD 128; Peo. v. Ortiz, 17 Porto Rico 1149.

[b] Indictments held insufficient.—Casteel v. State, 13 Okl. Cr. 19, 161 P 330; Blackwell v. State, 30 Tex. A. 672, 18 SW 676.

[c] All the circumstances which constitute the definition of the offense, in the act, must be stated so as to bring the defendant precisely within it. McWaters v. State, 10 Mo. 167.

[d] Offense committed in a public place.—An affidavit charging riot is sufficient without alleging that the offense was committed in a public place. Carmody v. State, 178 Ind. 158, 98 NE 870.

[e] Riotous demolition.—Where defendants are indicted for the felony of riotous demolition, the indictment may be sustained as for a misdemeanor at common law; that is, for a riot, with a statement of the demolition of the house as matter of aggravation. Reg. v. Casey, Ir. R. 8 C. L. 408.

[5] Com. v. Rankin, 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 530; Bonneville v. State, 53 Wis. 680, 11 NW 427.

[a] Information held insufficient although following the language of the statute, where it neither describes the act which constitutes the offense, nor designates the act by any term or form of expression whereby the nature or character of the act may be understood with reasonable certainty. Peo. v. Carbine, 185 Ill. A. 161; Peo. v. Crilly, 185 Ill. A. 160.

[6] Whitley v. State, 66 Ga. 656.

[7] Roberts v. State, 21 Ark. 183; State v. Dillard, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 365, 35 AmD 128.

[8] Com. v. Rankin, 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 530; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257; State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462.

[9] See cases infra note 10.

[10] Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576; Lewis v. State, 5 Ga. A. 496, 63 SE 570; Com. v. Berry, 5 Gray (Mass.) 93; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257; State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462; State v. O'Donald, 12 S. C. L. 532, 10 AmD 691; Anonymous, 3 Salk. 317, 91 Reprint 846.

[§ 21] c. Inciting To Riot. It is an indictable offense at common law to incite others to tumult and riot;[16] and the indictment need not aver that tumult and riot were thereby excited.[17]

[§ 22] d. As to Terror. If an indictment for riot alleges that an unlawful act has been committed, the words "in terrorem populi" are not necessary;[18] aliter where the offense consists of terrifying people.[19]

[§ 23] e. As to Violence. An allegation that the act upon which the offense is based was riotously, tumultuously, and violently committed is necessary to an indictment,[20] unless words equivalent thereto are used,[21] or the allegations show that the acts were done violently.[22]

[§ 24] f. Lawful Act. Where it is alleged that a lawful act was performed in a violent and tumultuous manner, a description of the violence and tumult should be connected with the description of the act.[23]

[§ 25] g. Unlawful Act. In general an indictment for riotously committing an unlawful act should set forth circumstances which show the commission of the unlawful act,[24] but it is unnecessary to state the circumstances constituting the violence and tumult.[25] It is sufficient if the facts charged consti-

---

[a] Indictment held sufficient.—An indictment for riot which charged that two defendants, who were named, with divers other persons, "to the jurors unknown," to the number of ten did assemble, etc., was held sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty against the two defendants who were tried and convicted. State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

[b] Indictment held insufficient which charged two defendants with riot, with "divers other persons, to wit, to the number of five," without alleging that the five others were unknown. State v. O'Donald, 12 S. C. L. 532, 10 AmD 691. See also Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576 (holding that the objection would be good on a special demurrer but would not constitute any reason for arresting the judgment or granting a new trial).

[11] Com. v. Gibney, 2 Allen (Mass.) 150; State v. Hughes, 72 N. C. 25; Blackwell v. State, 30 Tex. A. 672, 18 SW 676; Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503. But see McWaters v. State, 10 Mo. 167 (holding that the word "unlawful" as used in the statute was never intended to enter into the definition of the offense).

[a] An indictment should show either an unlawful assemblage and its purpose, or a lawful assemblage and a subsequent agreement to commit an unlawful act. Casteel v. State, 13 Okl. Cr. 19, 161 P 330; Blackwell v. State, 30 Tex. A. 672, 18 SW 676.

[b] Allegation that defendants unlawfully assembled, prior to doing in an unlawful, violent, and tumultuous manner the act as charged, is no part of the description of the alleged offense. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273.

[12] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; Roberts v. State, 21 Ark. 183; Com. v. Jenkins, Thach. Cr. (Mass.) 118; State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83; State v. Renton, 15 N. H. 169.

[a] Illustration.—On the trial of persons indicted for a riot, a count of the indictment setting forth that they, with others, riotously assembled, to the disturbance of the public peace, and then riotously began to pull down a certain dwelling-house, it was held to be sufficient, although it did not state the unlawful act which they were assembled to commit. Com. v. Jenkins, Thach. Cr. (Mass.) 118.

[b] The disturbance of the peace is an unlawful purpose which may be accomplished by noise, outcries, and general disorderly conduct without attacking the person or property of anyone. State v. Renton, 15 N. H. 169.

[13] Reg. v. Gulston, 2 Ld. Raym. 1210, 92 Reprint 298.

[a] The act ought to be shown, that the court might judge, whether the act was unlawful or not. Reg. v. Gulston, 2 Ld. Raym. 1210, 92 Reprint 298.

[14] State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83.

[15] State v. Russell, supra.

[16] See supra §§ 1, 15.

[17] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; Peo. v. Dessus, 12 Porto Rico 330.

[18] Ind.—Thayer v. State, 11 Ind. 287.

Mass.—Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148.

S. C.—State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486.

Tenn.—State v. Whitesides, 1 Swan 88.

Eng.—Rex v. Hughes, 4 C. & P. 373, 19 ECL 560, 172 Reprint 462; Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503.

[19] Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148; State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257; State v. Whitesides, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 88; Rex v. Hughes, 4 C. & P. 373, 19 ECL 560, 172 Reprint 462; Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503.

[a] "Lord Holt has given a distinction, founded in good sense, between those indictments, in which the words in terrorem populi are essential, and those wherein they may be omitted. He says that, in indictments for that species of riots which consist in going about armed, &c., without committing any act, the words aforesaid are necessary, because the offence consists in terrifying the public; but in those riots in which an unlawful act is committed the words are useless." Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 519, 6 AmD 148 [quot Marshall v. Buffalo, 50 App. Div. 149, 154, 64 NYS 411].

[20] State v. Kutter, 59 Ind. 572; State v. Dillard, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 365, 35 AmD 128; State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570; Com. v. Runnels, 10 Mass. 518, 6 AmD 148; Martin v. State, 9 Mo. 286.

[a] Indictment held sufficient.—State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570.

[b] Indictment held insufficient.—Martin v. State, 9 Mo. 286.

[21] State v. Kutter, 59 Ind. 572.

[22] Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273.

[23] See cases infra this note.

[a] In a disturbance near a dwelling house, where verbal threats against the owner of the house were made, it should be alleged that the owner was in the house, or within hearing, at the time. State v. Hathcock, 29 N. C. 52.

[b] Unlawfulness and violence.—(1) Where an offense consists in three or more persons doing an act in a violent and tumultuous manner, it is not necessary, in order to sustain a prosecution for such an offense, that the act done should be unlawful. Although the word violent be not used in the affidavit or information, in describing the offense, if the allegation show that the act was done violently, it will be sufficient. Kiphart v. State, 42 Ind. 273. (2) Averment as to an unlawful act see infra § 25. (3) Averment as to violence see supra § 23.

[24] State v. Martin, 7 N. C. 533; Bonneville v. State, 53 Wis. 680, 11 NW 427; Reg. v. Solely, 11 Mod. 115, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503.

[a] Where a dwelling-house has been damaged, ownership in others than the rioters should be alleged. State v. Martin, 7 N. C. 533; Reg. v. Soley, 11 Mod. 115, 88 Reprint 935, 2 Salk. 594, 91 Reprint 503.

[b] In obstructing and breaking up a justice's court, it is not necessary to allege or prove that the person holding the court was commissioner, or that he was proceeding lawfully in the business before him. State v. Boies, 34 Me. 235.

[25] Lock v. State, 122 Ga. 730, 50 SE 932; Baptist v. State, 109 Ga. 546, 35 SE 658; Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838; State v. Dean, 71 Wis. 678, 38 NW 341.

[a] Indictments held sufficient.—(1) An indictment alleging that certain named persons "did in a violent and tumultuous manner prevent the sheriff . . . from removing [from] the common jail" a prisoner therein confined sufficiently charges the offense of riot, as against a spetute an attempt to commit an act of violence, which, if completed, would be an indictable offense.[26]

[§ 26] h. Duplicity. An indictment is not open to the objection of duplicity because it alleges a riotous assembly and an act of violence which of itself might constitute a distinct offense.[27]

[§ 27] 3. Issues, Proof, and Variance. The general rules as to issues, proof, and variance[28] apply in prosecutions for riot.[29] Upon an indictment for riot it is not necessary to prove that the intended act of violence was perpetrated,[30] or that there was a proclamation to disperse,[31] or upon an indictment for inciting others to commit riot, that an act of violence was done in consequence of such incitement.[32] An allegation, which is merely incidental to, and not an essential part of, the offense of riot, need not be proved.[33] Where an indictment alleges that but two or three persons committed a riot, proof that less than the minimum number required[34] were engaged will not sustain the charge;[35] but where an indictment charges that certain persons, together with others to the jurors unknown, committed a riot,[36] the acquittal of one or two of the defendants cannot be offered as a reason for the discharge of the rest.[37]

[§ 28] B. Defenses[38]—1. In General. The absence of any essential element of the offense[39] may be set up as a defense; especially that the act or acts charged would not, even if true, constitute riot.[40]

---

cial demurrer setting up that the indictment did "not allege any act done in a violent and tumultuous manner, which prevented" the sheriff from removing the prisoner. Aliter if the point had been made that the act charged was not set forth with sufficient particularity. Green v. State, 109 Ga. 536, 35 SE 97. (2) An indictment which alleges that defendants, "on the first day of September, 1888, at and within the county of Pope, then and there, being together, did riotously, and with force and violence assault, beat, wound, and ill-treat" a certain person, sufficiently charged a riot, and the time and place of its commission. Lambert v. Peo., 34 Ill. A. 637. (3) "That James Scaggs, jun., Thomas Scaggs, William Huff, and Jackson Trent, late of, &c., labourers, on, &c. at, &c. with force and arms, in a riotous, violent, and unlawful manner, did then and there violently and unlawfully burst open the outer door of the dwelling-house of one Thomas Smith, situate, &c. . . . contrary to the form of the statute, &c." State v. Scaggs, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 37. (4) An affidavit and information charging that "on" etc., "in," etc., A, B and C "did then and there, in a riotous, tumultuous, and violent manner, assemble themselves together, and then and there, in a riotous, tumultuous, and violent manner . . . unlawfully attempt to commit a violent injury on the person of said affiant by then and there violently and unlawfully threatening to beat, cut, and shoot said affiant, contrary to the forms of the statute," etc., state facts sufficient to constitute a charge of riot. State v. Acra, 2 Ind. A. 384, 28 NE 570.

[26] State v. York, 70 N. C. 66; Bonneville v. State, 53 Wis. 680, 11 NW 427.

[a] Illustration.—As where an indictment charged that defendants "with force and arms at Columbia, in the county and State aforesaid, unlawfully, riotously and routously, did assemble and gather together to disturb the peace of the said State; and being so then and there assembled and gathered together, in and upon one E. R. Warner, a peace officer and policeman of the city of Columbia, in the county and State aforesaid . . . then and there unlawfully, riotously and routously, did make an assault; and then the said E. R. Warner . . . then and there unlawfully, riotously, and routously, did beat, bruise, and wound, and illtreat, and other wrongs to the said E. R. Warner . . . then and there unlawfully, riotously, and routously, did to the great damage of the said E. R. Warer . . . in contempt and defiance of the laws . . . against the form of the act of the General Assembly in such case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the State." State v. Sims, 16 S. C. 486, 487.

[27] State v. Russell, 45 N. H. 83; Rex v. Sudbury, 12 Mod. 262, 88 Reprint 1309, 2 Salk. 593, 91 Reprint 502.

[a] Where statute declares that if a person does this, or this, etc., an indictment upon such a statute may allege in a single count that defendant did as many of the forbidden things as the pleader chooses, employing the conjunction "and" where the statute has "or" and it will not be double, and will be established by proof of any one of them. Hobbs v. State, 133 Ind. 404, 32 NE 1019, 18 LRA 774.

[28] See Indictments and Informations § 438 et seq.

[29] See cases infra this note; and notes 30-37.

[a] Where one person is indicted for assault with intent to kill, it is not error to refuse to charge that defendant may be convicted of riot. Robinson v. State, 84 Ga. 674, 11 SE 544.

[b] Under an indictment for riotously breaking into an outhouse it is competent to show that the house was within the curtilage. Douglass v. State, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 525.

[c] An indictment charging a riot and forcible trespass to land which is in the actual possession of a tenant of the owner should charge the possession to be in the tenant and not in the owner; if the latter is charged to be in possession, proof of the possession of his tenant will not support the indictment. State v. Wilson, 23 N. C. 32.

[d] Where defendants are charged with assaulting another and attempting to injure her by throwing rocks, evidence, on a trial for riot, that they actually succeeded in striking her does not create such a variance between the allegations and proof as to require defendants' discharge. Carter v. State, 7 Ga. A. 44, 65 SE 1072.

[e] The erection and exhibition of a stuffed Paddy, constructed and exposed in such a way as to be calculated to produce a riot and disturbance, is a misdemeanor at common law, although if it should appear in evidence that the figure thus exposed was not a Paddy, but a Shelah, the two effigies appearing to be of an opposite character and the indictment averring it to be a Paddy, the variance is fatal. Com. v. Haines, 6 Pa LJ 239.

[30] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

[31] Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

[32] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

[33] Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

[a] Stabbing of police officer.—It need not be proved that the officer was stabbed by one of the rioters with a knife, or even that he was stabbed at all, though it is alleged in the indictment. Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

[34] See supra § 5.

[35] Ga.—Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576; Lewis v. State, 5 Ga. A. 496, 63 SE 570.

Ind.—Hardebeck v. State, 10 Ind. 459; Turpin v. State, 4 Blackf. 72.

La.—State v. Egan, 10 La. Ann. 698.

Mass.—Com. v. Berry, 5 Gray 93.

Mo.—State v. Kuhlmann, 5 Mo. A. 588.

S. C.—State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257; State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462; State v. O'Donald, 12 S. C. L. 532, 10 AmD 691.

Eng.—Rex v. Sudbury, 12 Mod. 262, 88 Reprint 1309, 2 Salk. 593, 91 Reprint 502.

[36] See supra § 19.

[37] See cases supra note 35.

[38] Former jeopardy see Criminal Law § 359 et seq.

[39] Essential elements of offense see supra §§ 3-13.

[40] See cases infra this note.

[a] An unlawful act executed peaceably and quietly by a number of persons is not a riot. Riley v. Peo., 29 Ill. A. 139; Reg. v. Hunt, 1 Cox C. C. 177.

[b] Use of force, in executing legal process, necessary to overcome resistance does not constitute riot. Graves v. State, 1 Ind. 368; Com. v. Taylor, 4 PaLJR 480.

[c] Not acting without authority of law.—Where defendant, on an attempt being made, by an officer without a warrant, to arrest him, retreated into a saloon, and upon the entry of two of the officer's assistants a fight ensued, whereupon defendant broke away and assisted his friends, a contention that defendant was not acting without authority of law in resisting the arrest and hence not liable under the statute, is untenable. State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37.

Acts constituting offense see supra § 4.

There can be no such thing as justification for riot.[41]

[§ 29] 2. Absence. A person who joins the rioters after cessation of the riotous acts is not guilty of riot.[42]

[§ 30] 3. Nonparticipation. It has been said that, in riotous and tumultuous assemblages, all who are present and are not actually assisting in their suppression are, in the presumption of law, participants;[43] but spectators who are so circumstanced may remove this presumption by proof of their actual nonparticipation and harmless intent,[44] although this proof will not avail them if they remain after notice to disperse.[45]

[§ 31] C. Evidence[46]—1. Presumptions and Burden of Proof. General rules with respect to the burden of proof[47] and presumptions[48] apply.[49] A presumption of common intent may arise from the circumstances and acts committed,[50] but the mere fact that three or more persons in a violent manner beat another does not raise a presumption of law that they assembled with that intent,[51] or, after being assembled, agreed mutually to assist one another in executing such purpose.[52] The state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt[53] every essential element of the offense.[54] Thus concert of action must be shown[55] when it is an element of the offense.[56] Where a riot includes a trespass, it is not necessary to prove the actual ownership of the property,[57] but its possession in some one other than the rioters should be shown.[58] A charge that some of the rioters are unknown is a negative averment and need not be proved,[59] the onus of disproving it being on the defendants.[60] After the state makes a prima facie case of riot, if there are matters of defense, it devolves upon the defendants to show what they are.[61]

[§ 32] 2. Admissibility. The admissibility of the evidence is governed by the rules regulating the competency, materiality, and relevancy of the evidence in criminal prosecutions generally.[62] It has been held that the parties charged must be proved to have been present, before the fact of the riot can be given in evidence.[63] Where defendants' witnesses testify that they were of the party concerned in the riot they will not be allowed to give evidence of their intention in meeting.[64] The evidence should be competent[65] and relevant,[66] but to establish the identity of the parties where the offense is committed pursuant to a system or peculiar method, an extended inquiry into collateral facts may be proper.[67] Evidence which tends to show a common intent and concert of action is admissible.[68] The acts and declarations of one defendant, at the time of the riot[69] are admissible in evidence against all the defendants on trial,[70] but evidence of other acts by defendants at a different place and time is not admissible,[71] unless it is first shown that the various acts were all parts of one continuous transaction.[72] Testimony of a general feeling of alarm and disquiet is properly received to show that defendants disturbed the public peace,[73] but mere opinion evidence[74] is generally inadmissible.[75]

---

[41] Peo. v. Brown, 193 App. Div. 203, 184 NYS 165.

[a] That crimes were committed by others in the course of the commission of the riot, which were ignored by the authorities is no justification for the crime of riot on the part of striking workmen. Peo. v. Brown, 193 App. Div. 203, 184 NYS 165.

[b] Two sets of rioters.—It is immaterial that there were two sets of rioters; the presumption is that the others will be brought to trial and on conviction the court will apportion the punishment. Whitley v. State, 66 Ga. 656.

[c] Excitement, whatever might be the cause, is no justification of the intended force and violence. U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

[42] Sloan v. State, 9 Ind. 565.

[43] See supra § 16.

[44] Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482; In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[45] In re Charge to Grand Jury, supra.

[46] Evidence generally see Criminal Law § 947 et seq.

[47] See Criminal Law § 993 et seq.

[48] See Criminal Law § 1005 et seq.

[49] See cases infra this section.

[50] State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37.

[51] State v. Kempf, 26 Mo. 429.

[52] State v. Kempf, supra.

[53] Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630.

[54] Elements of the offense see supra §§ 3-13.

[55] Turner v. State, 120 Ga. 850, 48 SE 312; Coney v. State, 113 Ga. 1060, 39 SE 425.

[56] Concert of action as element of offense see supra § 8.

[57] State v. Wilson, 23 N. C. 32; State v. Bennett, 20 N. C. 170.

[58] State v. Wilson, 23 N. C. 32; State v. Bennett, 20 N. C. 170.

[59] State v. Blair, 47 S. C. L. 93.

[60] State v. Blair, supra.

[61] Logg v. Peo., 92 Ill. 598.

[62] See Criminal Law § 1034 et seq.

[63] Nicholson's Case, Lew. C. C. 300, 168 Reprint 1047.

[64] U. S. v. Dunn, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,007, 1 Cranch C. C. 165.

[65] State v. Johnson, 43 S. C. 123, 20 SE 988.

[a] Members of secret society.—Under an indictment for riot evidence may be received to show that the defendants were members of the same secret society, where it appears that the assault and battery grew out of a matter originating in the society. State v. Johnson, 43 S. C. 123, 20 SE 988.

[66] Shuler v. State, 126 Ga. 630, 55 SE 496; Hunt v. State, 116 Ga. 615, 42 SE 1004.

[67] Perkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 250 P 544.

[68] O'Quinn v. State, 39 Ga. A. 829, 148 SE 618.

[a] Evidence of defendant's threats to get his wife to beat prosecutrix is admissible to show a common intent and concert of action between defendant and his wife charged with riot. O'Quinn v. State, 39 Ga. A. 829, 148 SE 618.

[69] Shuler v. State, 126 Ga. 630, 55 SE 496.

[a] Thirty minutes after the alleged riot, what was said by one of two joint defendants, in the absence of the other defendant, and not of a character to throw light on the question of the guilt of either, was inadmissible. Shuler v. State, 126 Ga. 630, 55 SE 496.

[70] State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257; Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

[71] State v. Renton, 15 N. H. 169.

[72] Com. v. Campbell, 7 Allen (Mass.) 541, 83 AmD 705.

Evidence of other offenses generally see Criminal Law § 1132 et seq.

[73] Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

[a] Testimony that a woman fainted, from fright caused by the tumult, was properly admitted to throw light on the conduct of the accused. Johnson v. State, 124 Ga. 656, 52 SE 880.

[b] Declarations, expressions of fear, and acts of the residents of the neighborhood, during and while the acts of defendants were being performed, are admissible as tending to show a breach of the public peace, within the meaning of the statute defining riot. Peo. v. O'Loughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

[74] Opinion evidence generally see

[§ 33] 3. Weight and Sufficiency. General rules relating to the weight and sufficiency of evidence[76] apply.[77] To sustain a conviction of one charged with the offense of riot it is necessary that the evidence should show the joint action,[78] of at least the requisite number of persons[79] with a common intent[80] to do an unlawful act of violence[81] or a lawful act in a violent and tumultuous manner.[82] Mutual intent[83] and concert of action[84] need not be established by positive proof, but may be inferred from the circumstances and acts committed.

[§ 34] D. Trial—1. In General. The general rules governing trials in criminal prosecutions[85] apply.[86] Riot, being originally a common-law misdemeanor, may be tried under common-law rules, wherever they still obtain.[87] It is entirely in the discretion of the court to determine whether several defendants shall be tried jointly or separately.[88]

[§ 35] 2. Questions of Law and Fact. Applying general rules,[89] issues of fact must be determined by the jury[90] where the evidence is legally sufficient to warrant its submission.[91]

[§ 36] 3. Instructions. General rules as to instructions[92] apply in prosecutions for riot.[93] The charge to the jury must define riot according to the law of the jurisdiction[94] and should be complete and correctly lay down the law,[95] and should be clear and

---

Criminal Law § 1532 et seq.

[75] See cases infra this note.

[a] Effect of use of certain words.—Mere opinion evidence as to the effect of the use of certain words is inadmissible. Shuler v. State, 126 Ga. 630, 55 SE 496.

[b] Effect of unlawful acts.—Evidence of the effect upon the minds and feelings of the people in the vicinity, occasioned by the unlawful acts, was admissible as tending to show a breach of the public peace, within the meaning of the statute defining riot. Peo. v. O'Laughlin, 3 Utah 133, 1 P 653.

[76] See Criminal Law § 1559 et seq.

[77] See cases infra this section.

[a] Evidence held sufficient: (1) To sustain a conviction of riot. Hunt v. State, 116 Ga. 615, 42 SE 1004; Baptist v. State, 109 Ga. 546, 35 SE 658; Green v. State, 109 Ga. 536, 35 SE 97; Sims v. State, 87 Ga. 569, 13 SE 551; Perkins v. State, 78 Ga. 316; Sanders v. State, 60 Ga. 126; O'Quinn v. State, 39 Ga. A. 829, 148 SE 618; Kilcrease v. State, 21 Ga. A. 803, 95 SE 271; Walker v. State, 17 Ga. A. 525, 87 SE 711; Oglesby v. State, 12 Ga. A. 684, 78 SE 134; Lewis v. State, 2 Ga. A. 659, 58 SE 1070; Peo. v. Brown, 193 App. Div. 203, 184 NYS 165; Wilson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 332, 217 P 885; State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37; State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Goldberg, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482; Peo. v. Ortiz, 17 Porto Rico 1149; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257. (2) To sustain a conviction of inciting to riot. Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 499; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Esick, 65 Pa. Super. 498; Com. v. Zeber, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Weston, 65 Pa. Super. 497; Com. v. Goldberg, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Detwiler, 65 Pa. Super. 494; Com. v. Tepsick, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Blum, 65 Pa. Super. 493; Com. v. Merrick, 65 Pa. Super. 482. (3) To sustain a conviction of riot committed while disguised. Darneal v. State, 14 Okl. Cr. 540, 174 P 290. (4) To justify a finding that defendant participated in a riot. Peo. v. Brown, 193 App. Div. 203, 184 NYS 165.

[b] Evidence held insufficient to sustain a conviction for riot. Stanfield v. State, 1 Ga. A. 532, 57 SE 953; Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630.

[78] Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to show concert of action.—Stafford v. State, 93 Ga. 207, 19 SE 50; Oglesby v. State, 12 Ga. A. 684, 78 SE 134; Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70; Proctor v. State, 5 Okl. Cr. 553, 115 P 630.

[b] Evidence held insufficient to show concert of action.—Turner v. State, 120 Ga. 850, 48 SE 312; Coney v. State, 113 Ga. 1060, 39 SE 425; Tripp v. State, 109 Ga. 489, 34 SE 1021; Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750; State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462.

[79] Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750.

[a] Evidence held insufficient.—Croy v. State, 4 Ga. A. 457, 61 SE 847.

[80] Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to show a common intent.—Moncrief v. State, 36 Ga. A. 654, 137 SE 863; Oglesby v. State, 12 Ga. A. 684, 78 SE 134; Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70; State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37; Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1.

[b] Evidence held insufficient to show a common intent.—Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750.

[81] Dixon v. State, supra.

[a] Evidence held sufficient.—Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

[82] Dixon v. State, 105 Ga. 787, 31 SE 750.

[a] Evidence held sufficient.—Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659.

[83] U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675; U. S. v. McFarland, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,674, 1 Cranch C. C. 140; U. S. v. Peaco, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,018, 4 Cranch C. C. 601; U. S. v. Stockwell, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,405, 4 Cranch C. C. 671; Walker v. State, 17 Ga. A. 525, 87 SE 711; Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70; State v. Kempf, 26 Mo. 429; State v. Seeley, 51 Or. 131, 94 P 37; State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361.

[84] Walker v. State, 17 Ga. A. 525, 87 SE 711; Grier v. State, 11 Ga. A. 767, 76 SE 70; Com. v. Jenkins, Thach. Cr. (Mass.) 118; Perkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 250 P 544.

[85] Trial generally see Criminal Law § 2000 et seq.

[86] See cases infra this section.

[87] U. S. v. McFarlane, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,675, 1 Cranch C. C. 163; Peo. v. White, 55 Barb. 606 [aff 32 N. Y. 465].

[88] Peo. v. White, supra; Peo. v. Judson, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 1; State v. Littlejohn, 1 S. C. L. 316.

Separate trials of codefendants generally see Criminal Law § 2006.

[89] See Criminal Law § 2272 et seq.

[90] State v. Hoffman, (N. C.) 154 SE 314.

[91] See case infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to take case to jury on issues respecting riot and whether defendants aided and abetted riot. State v. Hoffman, (N. C.) 154 SE 314.

Jury as judges of law and fact see Criminal Law § 2273.

[92] See Criminal Law § 2353 et seq.

[93] See cases infra this section.

[a] Hypothetical illustration.—Where the law is substantially charged, the court may refuse to give a hypothetical illustration in the language of a written request. Whitley v. State, 66 Ga. 656.

[94] Whitley v. State, supra.

[a] Refusal to charge common law definition along with the code definition has been held not erroneous. Whitley v. State, 66 Ga. 656.

[95] See cases infra this note.

[a] Merely charging definition.—In recharging on the law of riot, it is error to merely charge the definition, thereby omitting the elements of common intent and concert of action. Nowell v. State, 32 Ga. A. 505, 123 SE 908.

[b] Common intent.—It is error to charge that: "If the defendants 'united, with or without a common intent, in doing an unlawful act of violence, the acts and words of each one while the thing [was] in progress [became] the acts and words of the other.'" Hunter v. State, 127 Ga. 43, 55 SE 1044.

[c] Instructions held correct.—(1) As to effecting entire purpose. State v. Snow, 18 Me. 346. (2) As to persons liable. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659. (3) As to manner of committing the offense. Taylor v. State, 8 Ga. A. 241, 68 SE 945.

[d] Instruction held properly refused which declared that persons who assembled peaceably may do acts in a violent and tumultuous manner after they have assembled, without being criminally liable. Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659.

explicit,[96] and not misleading.[97] They should not submit issues not in the case,[98] or invade the province of the jury.[99]

[§ 37] 4. Verdict. General rules[1] govern the form and sufficiency of verdicts in prosecutions for riot.[2] Where the findings do not embrace the elements necessary to constitute a riot,[3] they must operate as an acquittal of the offense.[4] One good count in an indictment for riot and assault will ordinarily support a general verdict of guilty,[5] although the other counts may be defective.[6] A general verdict of guilty under an indictment for riot has been held to be sufficient, although the evidence merely establishes that defendants were guilty of rout[7] or unlawful assembly,[8] or an assault.[9] Upon an indictment properly charging a riot and an assault,[10] defendants may be found guilty of the assault and acquitted of the riot.[11] On an information for riotously diverting a watercourse, a verdict finding defendants not guilty of riot, but guilty of diverting a watercourse, is repugnant and void.[12] Where several persons are named in an indictment for riot, a verdict finding only one guilty is repugnant and void,[13] and all must be acquitted[14] unless the indictment contains an allegation that defendant committed the riot with others to the jurors unknown.[15] Where four defendants jointly indicted for a riot are put on trial and the state announces that it will claim no conviction as to two of them and then examines these two as witnesses against the others, a verdict is not void because it finds all guilty.[16]

[§ 38] E. New Trial. General rules[17] govern as to new trials in prosecutions for riot.[18] Thus a formal defect in the indictment is not ground for a new trial,[19] nor is the refusal of the court to give a hypothetical illustration of a riot,[20] or the giving of an instruction that is not prejudicial.[21] The subsequent acquittal of another joint defendant in a separate trial does not entitle one already convicted to a new trial.[22]

[§ 39] F. Arrest of Judgment. General rules[23] govern as to arrest of judgment in prosecutions for riot.[24] In states where three perpetrators are required[25] and a riot is charged as having been committed by a certain number of defendants who are named, if but two of the alleged are found guilty and all the rest are acquitted, finding less than the minimum number guilty furnishes ground for a motion in arrest of judgment,[26] aliter if the indictment

---

96. See cases infra this note.

[a] An unqualified charge that, if a person at some distance when the riot takes place comes up immediately afterward and does violence on the same object, he is not guilty of a riot, is properly refused. Hibbs v. State, 24 Ind. 140.

[b] Instructions held erroneous.—Lambert v. Peo., 34 Ill. A. 637.

97. See cases infra this note.

[a] Instruction held not misleading.—When considered in connection with the other instructions an instruction that each of defendants must have been "acting in conjunction with not less than two other persons in committing the act," was held not objectionable, as misleading the jury to infer that any two persons would answer the requirement. State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361.

[b] Instructions held misleading.—Hardebeck v. State, 10 Ind. 459.

98. See cases infra this note.

[a] Where defendants were indicted for riot and the evidence showed that they were engaged in beating another person in a violent and tumultuous manner, the court properly refused to charge the law as to assault and battery. Perkins v. State, 78 Ga. 316.

[b] Instructions held properly refused.—Bolin v. State, 193 Ind. 302, 139 NE 659; Com. v. Frishman, 235 Mass. 449, 126 NE 838.

99. Shuler v. State, 126 Ga. 630, 55 SE 496; State v. Kuhlman, 5 Mo. A. 588.

1. See Criminal Law § 2580 et seq.

2. See cases infra this section.

[a] Construction of verdict.—Where four persons are jointly indicted for riot and the verdict finds two of them guilty of "unlawful riot," and the other two guilty of "lawful riot," this was in effect a finding of not guilty of the latter two. Barron v. State, 74 Ga. 833.

3. Essential elements of the offense see supra §§ 3-13.

4. State v. Stephanus, 53 Or. 135, 99 P 428, 17 AnnCas 1146.

[a] Where the verdict finds facts from which the court can see that the assembly of defendants was not unlawful, defendants cannot be convicted of a riot. State v. Hughes, 72 N. C. 25.

[b] A conviction cannot be sustained where defendant is found guilty of a riot but not of the assault charged, for the verdict shows that the assault, the object of the riotous assembly, was never executed. Reg. v. Kelly, 6 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 372.

5. State v. Connolly, 37 S. C. L. 337.

6. See cases supra note 5.

7. State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

8. State v. Sumner, 29 S. C. L. 599, 42 AmD 387; State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

[a] It is wholly immaterial, after a general verdict of guilty on an indictment for riot, whether the facts proved establish that defendants are guilty of a riot, rout, or an unlawful assembly. State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

9. State v. Brazil, supra.

10. Joinder of riot and assault and battery see Indictments and Informations 31 C. J. p 784 note 99.

11. See case infra this note.

[a] On an indictment for riot, and a riotous assault and battery, by four persons, one of them may be convicted of the assault and battery, and the others acquitted of the whole. Shouse v. Com., 5 Pa. 83.

Conviction of an assault and battery under an indictment for riot see Indictments and Informations 31 C. J. p 870 note 6.

12. Rex v. Colson, 3 Mod. 72, 87 Reprint 47.

13. Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576; Harison v. Errington, Poph. 202, 79 Reprint 1292.

Ground for arrest of judgment see infra § 39.

14. Lewis v. State, 5 Ga. A. 496, 63 SE 570; Turpin v. State, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 72; Rex v. Sudbury, 12 Mod. 262, 88 Reprint 1309, 2 Salk. 593, 91 Reprint 502.

15. See cases supra note 14.

16. Sims v. State, 87 Ga. 569, 13 SE 551.

17. See Criminal Law § 2615 et seq.

18. See cases infra this section.

[a] Where four persons are indicted for riot and there is no allegation that others participated in the riot, and after conviction a new trial is granted to three of the defendants, a new trial should also be granted to the other defendant. Lewis v. State, 5 Ga. A. 496, 63 SE 570.

19. Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576.

20. Whitley v. State, 66 Ga. 656.

21. Rachels v. State, 51 Ga. 374.

22. Simmons v. Terr., 11 Okl. 574, 69 P 787.

23. See Criminal Law § 2768 et seq.

24. See cases infra this section.

[a] Where all the essential ingredients of the crime of riot are contained in the indictment, a motion in arrest of judgment cannot prevail on the ground that no offense is charged. State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L. 257.

25. See supra § 5.

26. Ga.—Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576.

Ind.—Turpin v. State, 4 Blackf. 72.

La.—State v. Egan, 10 La. Ann. 698.

S. C.—State v. Brazil, 24 S. C. L.

had been that defendants with others committed the offense.[27] Where it is alleged that defendant committed the crime with others,[28] failure to state that the others are unknown is ground for arresting the judgment if less than the minimum number required are found guilty,[29] although the contrary has been held.[30] Where a number of persons are indicted for a riot and one is tried separately and found guilty, and the others are not yet taken,[31] or are tried and acquitted,[32] the court must nevertheless enter judgment against the first. This is the rule under statutes[33] in some jurisdictions.[34]

[§ 40] G. Sentence and Punishment. At common law the offense of riot is a misdemeanor.[35] By most of the state statutes riot is also made a misdemeanor;[36] but an occasional statute, although making the offense a misdemeanor, also makes the crime a felony where certain matters of aggravation have been laid and proved.[37] While the common-law offense provides for both a fine and jail imprisonment,[38] the imprisonment is not a necessary part of the punishment.[39] Riots are punishable as at common law, notwithstanding a statute,[40] but where a statute fixes the penalty for the common-law offense,[41] no other than the statutory penalty can be inflicted.[42] Statutes providing for the punishment of the crime[43] are solely for the guidance of the court in passing sentence[44] and do not classify any degrees of the crime.[45]

V. SUPPRESSION OF RIOT

[§ 41] A. By Private Citizens. Citizens may, on their own authority,[46] lawfully endeavor to suppress a riot[47] and may arm themselves for that purpose,[48] and whatever is honestly done by them[49] in the execution of that object[50] will be supported and justified by law. However, it would be more discreet in such cases to be assistant to the sheriff and other civil authorities.[51]

[§ 42] B. By Civil Authorities—1. Posse Comitatus.[52] It is a general rule that every citizen capa-

---

257; State v. Calder, 13 S. C. L. 462.

Eng.—Rex v. Sudbury, 12 Mod. 262, 88 Reprint 1309, 2 Salk. 593, 91 Reprint 502.

[a] Where six are indicted and two die and two are acquitted, judgment will not be arrested as to the two found guilty. Rex v. Scott, 3 Burr. 1262, 97 Reprint 822, 1 W. Bl. 350, 96 Reprint 195.

[27] See cases supra note 26.

[28] See supra § 19.

[29] State v. O'Donald, 12 S. C. L. 532, 10 AmD 691.

[30] Martin v. State, 115 Ga. 255, 41 SE 576.

[31] State v. Pugh, 3 N. C. 55, 2 AmD 621.

[a] Where one of several indicted for a riot is convicted, the others not yet taken, he is estopped by the verdict to deny his guilt, and may be punished, although the others may be acquitted. State v. Pugh, 3 N. C. 55, 2 AmD 621.

[32] Simmons v. Terr., 11 Okl. 574, 69 P 787; State v. Allison, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 428. But see State v. Mooney, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 431 [dist State v. Pugh, 3 N. C. 55, 2 AmD 621] (holding that a defendant granted a separate trial was incompetent as a witness for the others, because if they had been acquitted on his evidence, he would then have stood alone in the indictment and ought to have been discharged).

[a] The court cannot look to extrinsic facts to find reasons to arrest the judgment, but must find them in the record of the one found guilty. State v. Allison, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 428.

[b] Defendant is concluded by the record and the subsequent acquittal of another of the joint defendants in a separate trial will not entitle the one convicted to a discharge. Simmons v. Terr., 11 Okl. 574, 69 P 787.

[33] See statutory provisions.

[34] Rachels v. State, 51 Ga. 374.

[35] U. S. v. McFarlane, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,675, 1 Cranch C. C. 163; Peo. v. White, 55 Barb. 606 [aff 32 N. Y. 465]; Reg. v. Casey, Ir. R. 8 C. L. 408.

[36] See statutory provisions.

[37] See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] In Alaska, under Pen. Code § 112, which provides that a person convicted of riot under the preceding section shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than fifteen years "if such person carried at the time of such riot any species of dangerous weapon, or was disguised, or encouraged or solicited other persons who participated in the riots to acts of force or violence," and in all other cases by imprisonment in the county jail not more than a year or by a fine, a court is without power to impose a penitentiary sentence where the indictment did not charge any of the acts of aggravation enumerated. Christensen v. U. S., 151 Fed. 766, 81 CCA 390.

[b] In Oregon, under a statute providing that a rioter who carries a dangerous weapon shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary, a defendant who participates in a riot, during the course of which other participants committed an assault with a dangerous weapon, may be sentenced to the penitentiary. State v. Mizis, 48 Or. 165, 85 P 611, 86 P 361.

[c] In Virginia, under a statute providing that if any rioter pulls down or destroys, in whole or in part, any dwelling house, or assists therein, he shall be confined in the penitentiary (1) a building of which part of the lower floor is used as a store and part as a dining room, and the upper part as sleeping quarters, is a dwelling house within the meaning of the statute (Samanni v. Com., 16 Gratt. (57 Va.) 543), (2) and the breaking of a door and window in the house so as to render them useless is sufficient to bring the guilty party within the statute (Samanni v. Com., supra), (3) and an intention to destroy the house is not necessary (Samanni v. Com., supra).

[d] Aggravated riot not amounting to felony.—Where persons are convicted of a riot, although with the aggravation of riotously rescuing a fugitive slave from his master, it is illegal to sentence them to the penitentiary, the proper imprisonment for such offense being in the county jail. Clellans v. Com., 8 Pa. 223.

[e] Deadly or dangerous weapon.—The instrument carried must be either a deadly or dangerous weapon per se; and a driving whip is not such a dangerous weapon. State v. Page, 15 S. D. 613, 91 NW 313.

[38] U. S. v. McFarlane, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,675, 1 Cranch C. C. 163.

[39] U. S. v. McFarlane, supra.

[40] U. S. v. McFarlane, supra.

[41] See statutory provisions.

[42] White v. Com., 10 Bush (Ky.) 557.

[43] See statutory provisions.

[44] Peo. v. Brown, 193 App. Div. 203, 184 NYS 165.

[45] Peo. v. Brown, supra; Johnson v. State, 16 Okl. Cr. 428, 183 P 926.

[46] State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62; Com. v. Hare, 4 PaLJ 257; Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150.

[a] It is the duty of every good citizen to endeavor to suppress a riot. Respublica v. Montgomery, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 419.

[47] Pond v. Peo., 8 Mich. 150; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62; Com. v. Hare, 4 PaLJ 257; Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150.

[48] Com. v. Hare, 4 PaLJ 257; Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150.

[49] State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62; Com. v. Hare, 4 PaLJ 257; Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150; Respublica v. Montgomery, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 419.

[50] State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62; Com. v. Hare, 4 PaLJ 257; Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150.

[51] State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62; Com. v. Hare, 4 PaLJ 257; Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150.

[52] Defined [35 Cyc 1526].

ble of bearing arms,[53] of every rank, description, and denomination,[54] is bound to yield a prompt obedience, when called to the assistance of the sheriff,[55] or other authorized peace officer,[56] to suppress a riot. A person neglecting to do so is guilty of an offense[57] for which he may be indicted,[58] and fined and imprisoned[59] at the discretion of the court.[60] It is also an offense for a magistrate to refuse to raise the posse, when necessity therefor arises.[61] With this posse the sheriff may exercise an authority, as their chief, which can hardly be distinguished from that of a general subduing a revolt.[62]

[§ 43] 2. Militia as Posse Comitatus.[63] Where a force of militia reports to a civil officer to aid him to suppress riot, this force has no power to act independently of civil authority,[64] or to usurp its functions,[65] or take its place.[66] Such force may act simply as armed police,[67] subject to the control of magistrates[68] and other civil authorities.[69] While such a military force is acting strictly in aid of civil authorities, the military officers have only the same powers as have the civil officers,[70] and the military must perform only such service and render such aid as is required by a civil officer.[71] The military officers have a discretion as to the best means of executing an order received from civil authority;[72] but the service or duty must be first prescribed and designated by the civil authority.[73]

[§ 44] C. By State—1. In General. Primarily, the duty of protecting lives and property from the unlawful violence of mobs or rioters rests in the state.[74] This duty is not divested,[75] nor in any degree impaired or diminished,[76] by the delegation of the same duty to municipalities.[77]

In the District of Columbia it has been held that the president has power to call out the military in aid of the civil authorities.[78]

[§ 45] 2. Governor's Independent Action. Except when inhibited by a state constitution,[79] the governor may dispense with certain statutory formalities[80] where an emergency exists,[81] and may direct the use of the state military forces in the suppression of a riot.[82] Where the governor orders out troops to quell a riot, the troops do not become a part of the sheriff's posse comitatus,[83] but are in the service of the state,[84] and all means necessary for the restoration of order may be used.[85]

---

[53] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29; Rex v. Pinney, 3 B. & Ad. 947, 23 ECL 412, 110 Reprint 349, 5 C. & P. 254, 24 ECL 552, 172 Reprint 962; Reg. v. Vincent, 9 C. & P. 91, 38 ECL 65, 173 Reprint 754; Rex v. Kennett, 5 C. & P. 282, 24 ECL 566, 172 Reprint 976.

[54] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[55] In re Charge to Grand Jury, supra.

[56] Rex v. Pinney, 3 B. & Ad. 947, 23 ECL 412, 110 Reprint 349, 5 C. & P. 254, 24 ECL 552, 172 Reprint 962; Reg. v. Brown, C. & M. 314, 41 ECL 175, 174 Reprint 522.

[a] The marshal has a right to take a posse, and to call on all citizens to aid him in arresting rioters; and the citizens have a right to arm themselves. U. S. v. Fenwick, 25 F. Cas. No. 15,086, 4 Cranch C. C. 675.

[57] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29; Respublica v. Montgomery, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 419; Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 P 754, 15 LRA 116; Reg. v. Brown, C. & M. 314, 41 ECL 175, 174 Reprint 522; Reg. v. Vincent, 9 C. & P. 91, 38 ECL 65, 173 Reprint 754.

[58] Reg. v. Brown, C. & M. 314, 41 ECL 175, 174 Reprint 522; Reg. v. Vincent, 9 C. & P. 91, 38 ECL 65, 173 Reprint 754.

[59] In re Charge to Grand Jury, 4 PaLJ 29.

[60] In re Charge to Grand Jury, supra.

[61] Rex v. Kennett, 5 C. & P. 282, 24 ECL 566, 172 Reprint 976.

[a] It is prima facie evidence of a criminal neglect of duty, where, on a riot taking place, a magistrate neither reads the proclamation from the Riot Act, nor restrains nor apprehends the rioters, nor gives any order to fire on them, nor makes any use of a military force under his command. Rex v. Kennett, 5 C. & P. 282, 24 ECL 566, 172 Reprint 976.

[62] Com. v. Shortall, 206 Pa. 165, 55 A 952, 98 AmSR 759, 65 LRA 193.

[a] Every necessary means to restore peace, and prevent criminal outrages against person or property may be used in the suppression of dangerous riots by the sheriff and his assistants. Com. v. Daley, 4 PaLJ 150.

[b] Arms may be used as in battle to bear down resistance; and if loss of life ensues, the circumstances will be a justification. The measure does not, however, cease to be civil, or fall beyond the rule which applies when a house is entered in the night by burglars, or a traveler shoots a highwayman who demands his money. Com. v. Shortall, 206 Pa. 165, 55 A 952, 98 AmSR 759, 65 LRA 193.

[63] Independent action of militia in suppressing a riot see infra § 45 text and notes 83, 84.

Expense of maintenance see Militia § 80.

[64] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[65] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[66] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[67] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[68] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[69] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[70] State v. Coit, supra.

[71] Chicago v. Chicago League Ball Club, 196 Ill. 54, 63 NE 695, 89 AmSR 243; Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[72] Chicago v. Chicago League Ball Club, 196 Ill. 54, 63 NE 695, 89 AmSR 243; Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356; State v. Coit, 8 OhS&CP 62.

[73] Ela v. Smith, 5 Gray (Mass.) 121, 66 AmD 356.

[74] Chicago v. Chicago League Ball Club, 196 Ill. 54, 63 NE 695, 89 AmSR 243.

[75] Chicago v. Chicago League Ball Club, supra.

[76] Chicago v. Chicago League Ball Club, supra.

[77] Power of municipality to suppress see Municipal Corporations § 208.

[78] U. S. v. Stewart, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,401a, 2 Hayw. & H. 280.

[79] See constitutional provisions.

[80] See statutory provisions.

[81] Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 P 754, 15 LRA 116.

[a] Danger imminent.—Where a statute provides that a governor must request local authorities to suppress a riot, before he may act independently, this course of action is not binding on him, when, in his judgment, the danger of riot is so imminent as not to permit of the delay necessary to so many formalities. Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 P 754, 15 LRA 116.

[b] Decision not reviewable.—The governor's decision that it is necessary to use the military forces, to suppress riot, is not one that may be reviewed by the courts. Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 P 754, 15 LRA 116.

[82] Chapin v. Ferry, supra.

[83] Com. v. Shortall, 206 Pa. 165, 55 A 952, 98 AmSR 759, 65 LRA 193; Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 P 754, 15 LRA 116.

[a] Where the situation goes beyond county control, the governor intervenes as the supreme executive, and he or his military representative becomes the superior commanding officer. Com. v. Shortall, 206 Pa. 165, 55 A 952, 98 AmSR 759, 65 LRA 193.

Militia as posse comitatus see supra § 43.

[84] Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 P 754, 15 LRA 116.

[85] Com. v. Shortall, 206 Pa. 165, 55 A 952, 98 AmSR 759, 65 LRA 193.

RIOT AND CIVIL COMMOTION INSURANCE.[1] A form of insurance[2] which, among other things, insures against direct loss or damage caused to property by civil commotion,[3] riot,[4] or riot attending strike.[5]

RIOTER. One who inflames people's minds and induces them by violent means to accomplish an illegal object.[6]

RIOTOUS.[7] Partaking of the nature of an unlawful assembly or its acts;[8] seditious,[9] tumultuous,[10] or violent.[11] In a popular sense, wanton or boisterous.[12]

RIOTOUSLY.[13]

RIP. To separate or divide the parts of by cutting or tearing; tear or cut open or off; split.[14]

RIPA.[15] A Latin word meaning a bank;[16] a bank of stream not navigable;[17] a river bank;[18] shore of a river.[19]

RIPARIAN.[20] [§ 1] A. In General. A term derived from the Latin, riparius, of or belonging to the banks of a river,[21] in turn derived from ripa.[22] It has been defined as meaning of or pertaining to the bank of a river;[23] pertaining to or situated on the bank of a river;[24] relating to the bank of a stream or other water—river, lake, or sea.[25] Ordinarily, the term applies to a river and flowing water,[26] is used to describe the rights of owners of uplands along running streams or rivers,[27] and relates to the bank, and not the bed, of the stream.[28]

Phrases: "Riparian or other rights,"[29] and "riparian owner."[30]

[§ 2] B. Riparian Property. Property having a water frontage.[31]

Land, to be riparian, must have the stream flowing over it or along its borders.[32] The land must be located on the watershed of that portion of the stream which is in question.[33]

[§ 3] Riparian Waters. Waters of the ordinary flow and underflow of the stream;[34] water below the highest line of the normal flow of the river.[35]

RIPARIAN OWNER or RIPARIAN PROPRIETOR.[36]

---

[1] Exemption from liability in fire policy see Fire Insurance § 437.

[2] Insurance generally see Insurance 32 C. J. p 950.

[3] "Civil Commotion" 11 C. J. p 794.

[4] "Riot" see ante § 1.

[5] See Brous v. Imperial Assur. Co., 130 Misc. 450, 224 NYS 136.

[a] Particular policies construed.—Kirshenbaum v. Massachusetts Bonding, etc., Co., 107 Nebr. 368, 186 NW 325; Brooklyn Clothing Corp. v. Fidelity-Phenix F. Ins. Co., 205 App. Div. 743, 200 NYS 208; Brous v. Imperial Assur. Co., 130 Misc. 450, 224 NYS 136; Brooklyn Clothing Corp. v. People's Nat. F. Ins. Co., 118 Misc. 674, 195 NYS 27.

[6] Spies v. Peo., 122 Ill. 1, 198, 12 NE 865, 17 NE 898, 3 AmSR 320. See Reg. v. Sharpe, 3 Cox C. C. 288. See also Riot § 1.

[7] Riotous assembly see Riot ante; Unlawful Assembly [39 Cyc 831].

[8] Webster D. [quot Madisonville v. Bishop, 113 Ky. 106, 109, 67 SW 269, 23 KyL 2363, 57 LRA 130].

[9] Webster D. [quot Madisonville v. Bishop, supra].

[10] Webster D. [quot Madisonville v. Bishop, supra].

[11] State v. Kutter, 59 Ind. 572, 574.

[12] State v. Kennan, 25 Wash. 621, 626, 66 P 62.

[13] See Riot ante.

[14] Century D.

[a] "Tear" distinguished.—Keenan v. Cherry, 47 R. I. 125, 131 A 309, 311.

[b] Bars of lead or iron may be broken or cut, but with respect to lead or iron in that shape the legislature would hardly apply the term "rip." State v. Stone, 30 N. J. L. 299, 300.

[15] See Riparian post.

[16] Century D. [quot Mobile Dry-Docks Co. v. Mobile, 146 Ala. 198, 203, 40 S 205, 3 LRANS 822, 9 Ann Cas 1229].

[17] Gough v. Bell, 22 N. J. L. 441, 464.

[18] Sutter v. Heckman, 1 Alaska 188, 192; Clements v. Watkins Land, etc., Co., 36 Tex. Civ. A. 339, 344, 82 SW 665.

"Bank" § 2.

[19] Anderson L. D. [quot Bathgate v. Irvine, 126 Cal. 135, 143, 58 P 442, 77 AmSR 158].

"Shore" [36 Cyc 432].

[20] "Littoral" see 38 C. J. p 69; Navigable Waters § 143.

[21] Mobile Dry-Docks Co. v. Mobile, 146 Ala. 198, 203, 40 S 205, 3 LRANS 822, 9 AnnCas 1229 [cit Century D.].

[22] Mobile Dry-Docks Co. v. Mobile, supra; Sutter v. Heckman, 1 Alaska 188, 192.

"Ripa" ante.

[23] Webster Int. D. [quot Mobile Dry-Docks Co. v. Mobile, 146 Ala. 198, 203, 40 S 205, 3 LRANS 822].

[24] Century D. [quot Mobile Dry-Docks Co. v. Mobile, supra; Mobile Transp. Co. v. Mobile, 128 Ala. 335, 348, 30 S 645, 86 AmSR 143, 64 LRA 333].

[25] Anderson L. D. [quot Bathgate v. Irvine, 126 Cal. 135, 143, 58 P 442, 77 AmSR 158].

[26] Rickey v. Toronto, 30 Ont. L. 523, 524, 5 OntWN 892, 19 DomLR 146.

[27] Sutter v. Heckman, 1 Alaska 188, 192.

Riparian rights see Navigable Waters §§ 143–205; Waters [40 Cyc 542].

[28] Lyon v. Fishmongers' Co., 1 App. Cas. 622, 683 [quot Meyers v. St. Louis, 8 Mo. A. 266, 273; Delaplaine v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 42 Wis. 214, 229].

[29] Potomac Dredging Co. v. Smoot, 108 Md. 54, 58, 69 A 507.

[30] See Navigable Waters § 145; Waters [40 Cyc 558].

[31] Shepard's Point Land Co. v. Atlantic Hotel, 132 N. C. 517, 44 SE 39, 45, 61 LRA 937.

[32] Crawford Co. Hathaway, 67 Nebr. 325, 93 NW 781, 790, 108 Am SR 647, 60 LRA 889.

[a] Lands which do not in any way border upon water of stream are not riparian to it. Clements v. Watkins Land, etc., Co., 36 Tex. Civ. A. 339, 344, 82 SW 665.

[b] Land extending beyond watershed.—When an owner's lands bordered on a stream, the fact that a part of it extended beyond the natural watershed of the stream did not prevent that part from being riparian land. Jones v. Conn, 39 Or. 30, 39, 64 P 855, 65 P 1068, 87 AmSR 634, 54 LRA 630.

[c] Land extending to levee.—Those lands which actually extend to a river—that is, which come down to the banks of the river, are riparian, and on the borders of the Mississippi, and other navigable streams, where there are levees established according to law, the levees shall form the banks—the lands extending to the levee, although not actually washed by the river. Hart v. Orleans Parish Levee Comrs., 54 Fed. 559, 561.

[33] Gordonsville v. Zinn, 129 Va. 542, 106 SE 508, 513, 14 ALR 318.

[a] Land which is not within watershed of the river is not riparian thereto. Anaheim Union Water Co. v. Fuller, 150 Cal. 327, 88 P 978, 979, 11 LRANS 1062.

[34] Motl v. Boyd, 116 Tex. 82, 286 SW 458, 468.

[a] "Flood waters" distinguished.—Motl v. Boyd, 116 Tex. 82, 286 SW 458, 468.

[35] Parker v. El Paso Water Impr. Dist. No. 1, 116 Tex. 631, 297 SW 737, 743.

[a] "Riparian waters."—"All the waters in a stream below the highest line of its normal flow." Humphreys-Mexia Co. v. Arseneaux, 116 Tex. 603, 297 SW 225, 229, 53 ALR 1147.

[36] See Navigable Waters § 145

---

*By WM. HOWARD BUCHANAN (Riot and Civil Commotion Insurance—Riparum Usus Publicus Est Jure Gentium, Sicut Ipsius Fluminis inclusive).

RIPARIAN PROPERTY.[37]

RIPARIAN RIGHTS.[38]

RIPARIAN WATERS.[39]

RIPARUM USUS PUBLICUS EST JURE GENTIUM, SICUT IPSIUS FLUMINIS.[40]

RIPE. Full grown; developed; finished;[41] ready for reaping or gathering;[42] ready for action;[43] also having experience, knowledge, or skill; wise or clever.[44]

RIPENING SEEDS OF CONTROVERSY. A state of fact indicating imminent and inevitable litigation.[45]

RIPPLING. In the process of flax manufacture, separating the boll from the stems.[46]

RIPRAP. A common name applied to broken stone used for beds, walls, and foundations in building and construction;[47] stone when laid into a kind of shingling upon the slope of a dirt embankment at such points as it is likely to be washed by water.[48] Also a kind of wall.[49]

RIPSAW. A machine consisting of a cast iron table in the center of which, running in a slit, is a small circular saw.[50]

RISERS. The name of two small wires leading up to and through the roof, commonly found in power houses.[51]

RISING OF COURT. A term used as equivalent to "final adjournment" or "the last day of the term."[52]

RISK.[53] Chance[54] of encountering hazard,[55] or peril,[56] or exposure[57] to such a chance;[58] danger, hazard, peril;[59] degree of exposure to loss or injury.[60]

In insurance law,[61] the danger or hazard of a text and note 74 [a]; Waters [40 Cyc 558 text and note 36].

---

37. See Riparian ante.

38. See Navigable Waters § 143 text and note 33 [a]. And see Waters [40 Cyc 557 et seq].

39. See Riparian ante.

40. A maxim meaning "The use of river-banks is by the law of nations public, like that of the stream itself. Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit Dig. 1, 8, 5].

41. Century D.

42. Webster New Int. D. See Norfolk Beet Sugar Co. v. Berger, 1 Nebr. (Unoff.) 151, 157, 95 NW 336 (in a contract for beets, "ripe" as the equivalent of the standard of quality agreed upon, namely, twelve per cent of sugar, with a purity coefficient of eighty).

"Green or ripe" see Green 28 C. J. p 825.

43. Webster New Int. D.

"Ripe for judgment" see Judgments § 209.

44. Century D.

45. In re Cryan, 301 Pa. 386, 152 A 675, 679 [quot in part In re Pittsburgh's Consolidated City Charter, 297 Pa. 502, 506, 147 A 525]. See Kariher's Pet., 284 Pa. 455, 131 A 265 [quot Reese v. Adamson, 297 Pa. 13, 15, 146 A 262, 263] (construing Uniform Declaratory Judgments Act of June 18, 1923, jurisdiction of a proceeding to obtain a declaratory judgment "will never be assumed unless the tribunal appealed to is satisfied that an actual controversy, or the ripening seeds of one, exists").

[a] "Controversy" distinguished.—"If differences between the parties concerned, as to their legal rights, have reached the stage of antagonistic claims, which are being actively pressed on one side and opposed on the other, an actual controversy appears, where, however, the claims of the several parties in interest, while not having reached that active stage, are nevertheless present, and indicative of threatened litigation in the immediate future, which seems unavoidable, the ripening seeds of a controversy appear." In re Cryan, 301 Pa. 386, 152 A 675, 679. "Controversy" see Actions § 29.

[b] "Actual controversy" distinguished.—An "actual controversy" is an immediate controversy; the ripening seeds of one; a controversy which is inevitable and imminent, between parties, all of whom are before the court. Sterrett's Est., 300 Pa. 116, 123, 150 A 159, 161.

Declaratory judgment see Judgments § 57.

Determination of abstract questions see Actions § 68; Courts §§ 78, 79; Equity §§ 138–140.

46. In re Eckstein, Treas. Dec. No. 25,710.

47. Encyclopædia Americana [quot U. S. v. Greene, 146 Fed. 801, 862].

48. Wood v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 24 Vt. 608, 610.

49. Wood v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., supra.

50. Merritt v. Victoria Lumber Co., 111 La. 159, 35 S 497, 498.

51. Woelflen v. Lewiston-Clarkston Co., 49 Wash. 405, 95 P 493, 495.

[a] "Lightning arresters" synonymous.—Woelflen v. Lewiston-Clarkston Co., 49 Wash. 405, 95 P 493, 495. "Lightning arrester" see Lightning 37 C. J. p 660 text and note 37.

52. State v. Weaver, 11 Nebr. 163, 165, 8 NW 385, 386 (construing a statute requiring a party to reduce his exceptions to writing within such time as the court may direct, not exceeding forty days from "the rising of the court").

"Last day of the term" see Last 36 C. J. p 954 text and note 57.

53. Assumption of risk:
Carriers §§ 93, 99 (by shipper), §§ 1511–1514 (riding in dangerous place).
Landlord and Tenant §§ 911, 912 (by tenant).
Master and Servant §§ 882–1024 (by servant), §§ 1361–1372 (question of law or fact), §§ 1418–1425 (instructions).
Negligence § 203 (by licensee).
Railroads § 2124 (by licensee).
Seamen [35 Cyc 1245].
Workmen's Compensation Acts §§ 53–78.

54. "Chance" 11 C. J. p 279.

55. "Hazard" 29 C. J. p 236.

56. "Peril" 48 C. J. p 812.

[a] "Peril" synonymous.—Britannia Shipping Corp. v. Globe, etc., F. Ins. Co., 244 NYS 720, 721 ("the court is unable to see sufficient difference between the meanings of the respective terms to warrant a holding that a loss by theft, though not a 'peril,' is a 'risk' of the harbor").

57. "Exposure" 25 C. J. p 218.

58. Webster D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, (Tex. Civ. A.) 141 SW 541, 543]. See Britannia Shipping Corp. v. Globe, etc., F. Ins. Co., 244 NYS 720 ("risk" is "a word referring to exposure to mischance or evil or harm").

59. Webster D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, (Tex. Civ. A.) 141 SW 541, 543].

[a] "Danger" synonymous.—Bottig v. Polsky, 101 Or. 530, 201 P 188, 199 ("loading of a box car with empty barrels in the usual or ordinary manner does not involve a risk or danger").

"Danger" 17 C. J. p 1126.

60. Webster D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, (Tex. Civ. A.) 141 SW 541, 543].

"Injury" 32 C. J. p 514.

61. Insurance risk:
Generally see Insurance § 277 (commencement and duration), § 501–505 (material misrepresentation, statutory modification of consequences), §§ 715–756 (reinsurance).
Accident Insurance §§ 72–99.
Boiler Insurance § 3.
Burglary and Theft Insurance § 7.
Casualty Insurance 11 C. J. p 30.
Credit Insurance § 10.
Cyclone and Tornado Insurance § 7.
Fidelity Insurance § 4 et seq.
Fire Insurance §§ 243–278 (increasing risk), §§ 429–446.
Guaranty Insurance § 4.
Hail Insurance § 10.
Health Insurance § 7.
Industrial Insurance § 1.
Liability Insurance § 5 et seq.
Life Insurance § 170 (material misrepresentation, statutory modification of consequences), § 294 (military or naval service).
Lightning Insurance § 2.
Live-Stock Insurance §§ 18, 19.
Lloyd's Insurance §§ 17, 23.

*By CHARLES REZNIKOFF (Ripe—Robada inclusive).

loss by or to insured;[62] the casualty contemplated in a contract of insurance;[63] the degree of hazard[64] or danger upon which the premiums of insurance are calculated;[65] also defined as an obligation or contract of insurance on the part of insurer.[66]

Phrases in which "risk" has been employed are: "Any change increasing the risk,"[67] "assumption of risk,"[68] "at his own risk,"[69] "at owner's risk,"[70] "consent to risk,"[71] "extraordinary risk,"[72] "fact material to the risk,"[73] "imputed appreciation of risk,"[74] "increase the risk of loss,"[75] "incurring risk,"[76] "material to the risk,"[77] "necessary risk [or risks],"[78] "obvious and patent risk,"[79] "open visible risk,"[80] "ordinary risk" [or "ordinary risks"],[81] "owner's risk,"[82] "owner's risk against all casualties,"[83] "owner's risk of delay,"[84] "risk assumed,"[85] "risk commencing,"[86] "risk incidental to the employment,"[87] "risk of collision,"[88] "risk of seizure or capture,"[89] "risk of war" [or "risks of war"],[90] "risk ordinarily incident to the employment,"[91] "risk ordinarily incident to the work,"[92] "risk peculiar to the operation of a railroad,"[93] "shifting risk,"[94] and "usual risk of lighterage."[95] Phrases in which "risks" has been employed are: "All risks,"[96] "glaring risks,"[97] "obvious and ordinary risks,"[98] "obvious risks" [or "obvious risk"],[99] "risks and damages necessarily incident to the work and employment in which plaintiff was engaged,"[1] "risks of navigation,"[2] "risks of the employment,"[3] "risks of the service,"[4] "risks, perils or dangers of the seas, bays, harbors, rivers, and fires,"[5] and "the bidder takes the risk."[6]

RIVAL. A river bank or shore; a stream or wa-

Marine Insurance §§ 92–113 (commencement, duration, and termination), §§ 231–253 (deviation and change of risk), §§ 264–331.
Motor Vehicles § 46 et seq.
Mutual Benefit Insurance § 3.
Physician's defense see Liability Insurance § 61.
Plate Glass Insurance § 6.
Rent Insurance § 4.
Title Insurance [38 Cyc 348].
Workmen's Compensation Acts §§ 53–78.

[62] Webster D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, (Tex. Civ. A.) 141 SW 541, 543].

[63] Webster D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, supra].

[64] Black L. D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, supra].

[65] Peo. v. May, 162 App. Div. 215, 217, 147 NYS 487, 489.

[66] Black L. D. [quot United Benev. Assoc. v. Baker, (Tex. Civ. A.) 141 SW 541, 543]. See Continental Ins. Co. v. Ætna Ins. Co., 138 N. Y. 16, 21, 33 NE 724 ("The word 'risk,' in its ordinary and popular use, with reference to insurance, describes the liability assumed as specified on the face of the policy, and in that sense it is used in numerous statutes of this state regulating insurance companies, and in some adjudged cases").

[a] In marine policy the word has a double meaning, both the voyage commenced with necessary conditions to make the underwriters liable, and also the chance of loss during its performance. Bradford v. Symondson, 7 Q. B. D. 456, 464 ("used in the first sense by the authorities").

[b] "Policies" not synonymous.—London, etc., F. Ins. Co. v. Lycoming Ins. Co., 105 Pa. 424, 430 (as used in an agreement, "policies" mean the instruments in which the contracts of insurance are embodied, and "risks" the hazards at the places where the property insured is located).

[c] "Stock subscriptions" distinguished.—A statute prohibiting foreign insurance companies from taking "risks," except upon certain conditions, does not invalidate stock subscriptions, although such conditions have not been complied with. Stock subscriptions are not risks; "at least, not in legal parlance, though when taken in some corporations there is a sense in which they may well be called 'risks.' But in legal phraseology, they are as distinct as any transactions known to the law." Bartlett v. Chouteau Ins. Co., 18 Kan. 369. Foreign corporation doing business in state see Insurance § 29.

[67] See Any 3 C. J. p 230 note 74.

[68] See 5 C. J. p 1412; Master and Servant § 882.

[a] "Contributory negligence" distinguished.—See Master and Servant § 883; Negligence §§ 503, 1417.

[69] See At 5 C. J. p 1420 text and note 61.

[70] See At 5 C. J. p 1420 text and note 87.

[71] See Consent 12 C. J. p 515 note 28 [a].

[72] See Extraordinary 25 C. J. p 296 text and note 60; Master and Servant § 895.

[73] See Fact 25 C. J. p 335 text and note 6.

[74] See Impute 31 C. J. p 354 text and note 25 [a].

[75] Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Dibrell, 137 Tenn. 528, 194 SW 581, LRA 1917E 554 (construing Shannon Code § 3306, "the same as 'increases the risk,' and both alike include the risk of loss involved in the issuance of the policy").

[76] See Incur 31 C. J. p 410 text and note 45.

[77] See Material 39 C. J. p 1385 text and note 13; Insurance §§ 501–505; Life Insurance § 170; Mutual Benefit Insurance § 68 note 82 [a] (3).

[78] See Necessary 45 C. J. p 580 text and note 71.

[79] See Obvious 46 C. J. p 891 text and note 72.

[80] See Open 46 C. J. p 1107 text and note 16.

[81] See Ordinary 46 C. J. p 1132 text and note 24; Master and Servant §§ 907, 1418 note 26 [e].

[82] See Property § 52 text and note 56; At 5 C. J. p 1420 text and note 87.

[83] See Property § 52 text and note 57; Against 2 C. J. p 400 note 1.

[84] See Property § 52 text and note 58.

[85] See Mutual Benefit Insurance § 68 note 82 [a] (4).

[86] See Beginning 7 C. J. p 1030 note 33 [b].

[87] See Workmen's Compensation Acts § 64.

[88] See Collision § 1 text and notes 51–64.

[89] In re Tonnevold, [1916] 2 K. B. 551 (construing charter party).

[90] Dennehy v. U. S., 15 F. (2d) 196 (war risk insurance).

[91] Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Mills, 49 Tex. Civ. A. 349, 108 SW 480, 481 [quot Texas, etc., R. Co. v. Kelly, 98 Tex. 123, 80 SW 79 ("a risk of injury that does not arise out of an act of negligence on the part of the defendant or its servants, and, whenever a risk is created by an act of negligence on the part of a railroad company or its employés, this is not a risk ordinarily incident to the employment")].

[92] See Master and Servant § 907 note 15 [a].

[93] See Operation 46 C. J. p 1113 note 24 [d]; Master and Servant §§ 922–928.

[94] See [35 Cyc 2014]; Fire Insurance § 92.

[95] See Usual [39 Cyc 873].

[96] See All 2 C. J. p 1134 text and note 91.

[97] See Master and Servant § 1421 note 50 [c].

[98] See Obvious 46 C. J. p 891 text and note 71.

[99] See Obvious 46 C. J. p 891 text and note 76.

[1] Nelson v. C. Heinz Stove Co., 320 Mo. 655, 8 SW(2d) 918, 921 ("those that cannot be avoided even by the highest degree of care"). See also Necessarily 45 C. J. p 579 text and note 98.

[2] Pitcher v. Hennessey, 48 N. Y. 415, 419 (a broader term than "perils of navigation" or "perils of the sea" within the meaning of a contract). See also Marine Insurance § 272; Shipping [36 Cyc 238].

[3] Ouelette v. J. H. Mendell Engineering, etc., Co., 79 N. H. 112, 115, 105 A 414 ("commonly used to describe situations involving a dereliction from duty, rather than the chances which remain after ordinary care has been used to make the situation a safe one. It is the chance of injury arising out of some want of care").

[4] Ouelette v. J. H. Mendell Engineering, etc., Co., supra ("commonly used to describe situations involving a dereliction from duty, rather than the chances which remain after ordinary care has been used to make the situation a safe one. It is the chance of injury arising out of some want of care").

[5] Britannia Shipping Corp. v. Globe, etc., F. Ins. Co., 244 NYS 720, 722 (does not include loss by theft).

[6] Womack v. Tidwell, 38 Ga. A. 232, 143 SE 620, 621 ("when he refuses to comply with his bid and lets the property be sold again . . . he takes the chance of the property bringing more or less than he bid, tercourse.[7]

RIVER. [§ 1] A. As Noun.[8] A word derived from the Latin "rivus,"[9] in turn derived from a Greek verb signifying "to flow."[10] In an ordinary sense, a body of water,[11] or a body of flowing water;[12] a considerable body of water flowing with a perceptible current in a certain definite course or channel, and usually without cessation during the entire year;[13] a considerable stream of water that has a current of its own, flowing from a higher level, that constitutes its source, to its mouth, where it debouches;[14] a current[15] of water;[16] a flood or flowing course;[17] a land current of water;[18] a large inland stream of water flowing into the sea, a lake, or another river;[19] a large stream of water flowing through a certain portion of the earth's surface, and discharging itself into the sea, a lake, marsh, or another river;[20] a large stream of water flowing in a channel[21] on land toward the ocean, a lake, or another river;[22] a natural stream of water flowing betwixt banks or walls in a bed of considerable depth and width, being so called whether its current sets always one way or flows and reflows with the tide;[23] a running stream, pent on each side by walls or banks;[24] a running stream of water pent in on either side by banks, shores or walls;[25] a stream flowing in a channel into another river, into the ocean, or into a lake or sea;[26] a stream of water;[27] water flowing in a channel between banks more or less defined.[28] Rivers are said to be public or private, navigable or nonnavigable.[29]

Larger than brook or rivulet. In popular language, a river is an inland current of water formed by the confluence of brooks and small streams;[30] a body, current, or stream of flowing water of no specific dimensions, larger than a brook or rivulet,[31] thus eliminating or increasing his liability").

---

7. See Hudson v. Tabor, 1 Q. B. D. 225, 232 ("according to Du Cange." As used in a case in 37 Liber Assiz. pl. 10 the word is used in the latter sense).

8. River:

- In general see Commerce §§ 83–86; Navigable Waters 45 C. J. p 398; Waters [40 Cyc 542].
- As a boundary:
  - Boundaries §§ 59–68.
  - International Law § 27.
  - Municipal Corporations § 62.
  - States [36 Cyc 840].
  - Towns [38 Cyc 601].
- Bank of see Bank 6 C. J. p 1178.
- Bed of see Bed 7 C. J. p 1022.
- Collision in see Collision 11 C. J. p 1004 et seq.
- Distinguished from:
  - Bay see Bay 11 C. J. p 1013 note 31 [b].
  - Lake see Waters [40 Cyc 553 text and note 13, 634 note 75].
- Ferries 25 C. J. p 1047 et seq.
- Fishing right in see Fish § 9 et seq.
- Fresh-water river see 27 C. J. p 906.
- Internationalized see International Law § 27.
- Judicial notice of see Evidence §§ 1861, 1862.
- Levees see Levees and Flood Control 36 C. J. p 995 et seq.
- Logs in see Logs and Logging §§ 116–120.
- Pilots 48 C. J. p 1182.
- Private see Private 50 C. J. p 369; Navigable Waters § 3 note 14 [c]; Waters [40 Cyc 553 text and note 15].
- Synonymous with:
  - Kill see 35 C. J. p 913.
  - Stream [36 Cyc 1334 text and note 81].
- "Tidal navigable river" see Navigable Waters § 3 note 17 [a].

9. Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45; State v. Gilmanton, 14 N. H. 467, 477.

[a] "'Rivus' is used constantly by the Latin authors in a sense that implies a current from a source to a mouth." Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45. To same effect State v. Gilmanton, 14 N. H. 467, 477 ("a flowing of water from one point to another").

10. State v. Gilmanton, supra.

11. Berlin Mills Co. v. Wentworth's Location, 60 N. H. 156.

"Body of water" as including "river" see Body 8 C. J. p 1135 note 60 [c].

12. Shelby County Bd. of Comrs. v. Castetter, 7 Ind. A. 309, 312, 33 NE 986, 987, 34 NE 687.

13. Century D. [quot Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45]. See State v. Gilmanton, 9 N. H. 461, 464 (a current would indicate that the water at a certain place was a river instead of a bay).

[a] "Watercourse" compared.—A broader and more comprehensive word than "river." Shelby County Bd. of Comrs. v. Castetter, 7 Ind. A. 309, 312, 33 NE 986, 34 NE 687.

14. The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772 [quot Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 5, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45].

[a] Civilians held that a stream might acquire the denomination of a river either by its magnitude or by the common acceptance of the neighborhood. Reg. v. Meyers, 3 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 305, 317.

[b] "Seacoast" included.—Reg. v. Grey, L. R. 1 Q. B. 469, 472 ("'river' may also be used so as to include the neighboring seacoast").

[c] "Strait" or "gut" distinguished.—The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772 ("The 'East river,' so called, has none of these three essential elements [a current of its own, flowing from a higher level, its source, to its mouth, where it debouches]. It has no source distinguishable from its mouth, nor has it any current of its own. It is a mere strait or gut, connecting the Atlantic ocean, through Long Island sound on the east, with the Atlantic ocean, through the upper and lower bays of New York on the south. It is swept by the tides, and has no current except such as the tides give it. Its whole length from Throg's neck to Governor's island is about seventeen miles"). "Gut" 28 C. J. p 1321 text and note 43; "Strait" [36 Cyc 1332].

15. Richardson D. [quot State v. Gilmanton, 14 N. H. 467, 478].

16. Rees Encycl. [quot State v. Gilmanton, supra].

17. Richardson D. [quot State v. Gilmanton, supra].

[a] "Flood" distinguished.—"A river," according to the civilians, "was distinguished from a common current occasioned by land floods, because one had always a constant stream regularly confined within banks, and the other might be casual and temporary, flowing over a level. A temporary inundation by floods was not accounted to deserve the appellation of a river." Reg. v. Meyers, 3 U. C. C. P. (Ont.) 305, 317.

18. Johnson D. [quot State v. Gilmanton, 14 N. H. 467, 478].

19. Worcester D. [quot The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772; Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 241, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45].

20. Imperial D. [quot The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772; Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45].

21. Webster D. [quot State v. Gilmanton, 14 N. H. 467, 478 ("'a large stream' which implies a current")].

22. Webster D. [quot The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772; Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 241, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45; Harlan, etc., Co. v. Paschall, 5 Del. Ch. 435, 463].

23. Bouvier L. D. [quot Berlin Mills Co. v. Wentworth, 60 N. H. 156].

24. Woolrych D. [quot Alabama v. Georgia, 23 How. (U. S.) 505, 513, 16 L. ed. 556].

25. State v. Faudre, 54 W. Va. 122, 125, 46 SE 269, 102 AmSR 927, 63 LRA 877 [quot State v. Chemical Co., (N. J. Ch.) 107 A 164, 166].

26. Stormonth D. [quot The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772; Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45].

27. Richardson D. [quot State v. Gilmanton, 14 N. H. 467, 478].

28. Berlin Mills Co. v. Wentworth's Location, 60 N. H. 156; Rex v. Oxfordshire, 1 B. & Ad. 289, 20 ECL 489, 109 Reprint 794; New Hamburg v. Waterloo County, 22 Ont. 193, 202.

29. McHardy v. Ellice, 37 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 580, 590.

30. McHardy v. Ellice, supra.

31. Johnson D. [quot Harlan, etc., Co. v. Paschall, 5 Del. Ch. 435, 463; Webster D. [quot The Garden City, 26 Fed. 766, 772; Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 241, 38 AmSR 330; Harlan, etc., Co. v. Paschall, 5 Del. Ch. 435, 463]; Worcester D. [quot The Garden City, supra; Chamberlain v. Hemingway, supra]; Com. v. Garner, 3 Gratt. (44 Va.) 624, 669.

[a] "Brook," "rivulet" distinguished.—"A brook is the name given less than a sea;[32] a running stream of no specific dimensions, larger than a brook or rivulet, and pent on either side by walls or banks.[33] However, while the term may ordinarily be used "in a high and large sense,"[34] it is sometimes applied to very humble streams.[35]

A river consists of water, bed, and banks;[36] the main channel alone does not constitute the river.[37] A river is the stream in all its conditions and stages.[38] A river begins at its source when it comes to the surface,[39] and is a river from the point where the water comes to the surface and begins to flow in a channel until it mixes with the sea, lake, or other water.[40]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, the term is sometimes employed as in the phrases[41] "river bed,"[42] "river fish,"[43] and "river front."[44]

R. L. D. An abbreviation of "Retail Liquor Dealer."[45]

R. M. L. D. An abbreviation of "Retail Malt Liquor Dealer."[46]

ROAD. [§ 1] A. As Noun,[47] in its usual sense "road" is defined elsewhere in this work.[48]

In maritime law, a place where ships may ride at anchor at some distance from the shore;[49] an open passage of the sea which, although it lies out at sea, yet in respect of the situation of the land adjacent, and the depth and wideness of the place, is a safe place for the common riding or anchoring of ships.[50]

Phrases: "Road of public easement;"[51] also "roads and ways necessary to promote the transportation of the raw products of mine or farm or forest,"[52] and "roads, tramways, trails, flumes, ditches, or pipe lines."[53]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, the term may be employed.[54]

Phrases: "Road brand,"[55] "road crossing,"[56]

---

to rivers of the smallest description, and if the waters be increased by those of another brook, the name of brook is changed into that of rivulet. When several rivulets unite and so produce a considerable volume of running water, this watercourse takes the name of river." McHardy v. Ellice, 37 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 580, 590.

[b] "Creek" not synonymous.—"Every river cannot with propriety be said to be a creek or every creek a river." McHardy v. Ellice, 37 U. C. Q. B. (Ont.) 580, 590 [rev 1 Ont. A. 628, 636] (construing a statute providing for the maintenance of bridges, "the Legislature used the word 'river' . . . as meaning a stream of water larger than what would be commonly or could be properly called a creek in Canada"). "Creek" 15 C. J. p 1453.

32. Woolrych D. [quot Alabama v. Georgia, 23 How. (U. S.) 505, 513, 16 L. ed. 556].

33. Shelby County v. Castetter, 7 Ind. A. 309, 33 NE 986, 987, 34 NE 687.

34. McHardy v. Ellice, 1 Ont. A. 628, 636.

35. McHardy v. Ellice, supra.

36. Howard v. Ingersoll, 13 How. (U. S.) 381, 391, 14 L. ed. 189; State v. Richardson, 140 La. 329, 72 S 984, 987; Morgan v. Livingston, 6 Mart. (La.) 19, 229; Eastman v. St. Anthony Falls Water-Power Co., 43 Minn. 60, 64, 44 NW 882; Dodge County v. Saunders County, 70 Nebr. 442, 97 NW 617, 619; Starr v. Child, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 149, 153; Gavit v. Chambers, 3 Oh. 495, 497; Motl v. Boyd, 116 Tex. 82, 286 SW 458, 467. See Louisiana, etc., R. Transf. Co. v. Long, (Miss.) 131 S 84, 87 ("under the law the term 'river' includes the bed of the stream, up to its state of ordinary high water"); Per Robertson, in Com. v. Garner, 3 Gratt. (44 Va.) 624, 669 ("the writers on national law . . . tell us a river is not to be considered as so much water merely, but as water flowing in a particular channel and enclosed in certain banks, citing Grotius De Jure Belli ac Pacis, book 2, ch. 3, § XVII, 1").

[a] "These several parts [constitute] the river, the whole river. It is a compound idea; it cannot exist without all its parts. Evaporate the water, and you have a dry hollow. If you could sink the bed, instead of a river you would have a fathomless gulf. Remove the bank, and you have a boundless flood." Howard v. Ingersoll, 13 How. (U. S.) 381, 391, 14 L. ed. 189 [quot State v. Richardson, 140 La. 329, 72 S 984, 987; Dodge County v. Saunders County, 70 Nebr. 442, 446, 97 NW 617].

[b] "Mississippi River," in its usual sense, includes the bed of the stream up to its ordinary state of high water. Minor v. New Orleans, 115 La. 301, 38 S 999, 1003. "Mississippi River" 40 C. J. p 1226.

37. Schermerhorn v. Hudson River R. Co., 38 N. Y. 103, 104. But see Peo. v. Gold Run Ditch, etc., Co., 66 Cal. 138, 4 P 1152, 1155, 56 AmR 80 ("the river itself is the water flowing in its channel").

[a] Thus, the water of the river surrounds its islands, "and, for convenience, the different channels may have received different names, but they are the river still." Schermerhorn v. Hudson River R. Co., 38 N. Y. 103, 104.

38. Com. v. Garner, 3 Gratt. (44 Va.) 624, 669.

"Equally the river when reduced even far below ordinary low water, or when full to the top of its banks, or even when swelled by freshets beyond them." Com. v. Garner, supra (per Robertson, J.).

[a] As a boundary (1) however, "river" has been said to mean the stream in its ordinary state of high water. Minor v. New Orleans, 115 La. 301, 38 So. 999, 1003. (2) On the other hand, as a boundary between states, it has been said to mean a permanent river, that is, the river within low-water mark. Handly v. Anthony, 5 Wheat. (U. S.) 374, 381, 5 L. ed. 113.

39. Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 5, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45; Dudden v. Clutton Union Guardians of Poor, 1 H. & N. 627, 629, 156 Reprint 1353.

40. Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45.

[a] "It may sometimes be dry, but it must appear that the water usually flows in a particular direction and has a regular channel with bed, banks, or sides." Chamberlain v. Hemingway, 63 Conn. 1, 6, 27 A 239, 38 AmSR 330, 22 LRA 45.

41. See cases infra notes 42, 44.

42. See Bed 7 C. J. p 1022.

Of fresh-water river see Fresh-water River 27 C. J. p 906 note 99 [a].

43. Including eels see Fish § 45 note 20 [a].

44. Eastman v. St. Anthony Falls Water-Power Co., 43 Minn. 60, 64, 44 NW 882 (as used in a deed, "it [river front] evidently was not intended to refer to any part of the river bed, but is a description applicable to the shores above low-water mark, and, used in connection with 'land under water,' lends support to the construction . . . that it was intended to grant the submerged land above low-water mark.").

45. State v. Nippert, 74 Kan. 371, 86 P 478, 479; Billingsley v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 597, 113 P 241, 243 (initials used in records of the revenue service).

"Retail liquor dealer" ante.

46. Topeka v. Stevenson, 79 Kan. 394, 99 P 589, 131 AmSR 297, 17 Ann Cas 491 (initials used in a retail liquor dealer's permit).

47. Indicative of easement see Easements § 94 note 45 [b].

48. See Highways § 1.

49. The Steamer J. W. Everman, 14 F. Cas. No. 7,591, 2 Hughes 17, 28.

[a] Hampton Roads.—"In the very name . . . is implied a place of anchorage at a distance from the shore." The Steamer J. W. Everman, 14 F. Cas. No. 7,591, 2 Hughes 17, 28.

[b] "Roadstead" synonymous.—See The Steamer J. W. Everman, 14 F. Cas. No. 7,591, 2 Hughes 17, 28 ("a road or roadstead").

"Roadstead" see Collision § 1.

50. Lord Hale, De Juris Maris Pt. 2 c 2 [quot The Cuzco, 225 Fed. 169, 176; U. S. v. Morel, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,807, Brunn. Coll. Cas. 373].

51. Fendall v. Miller, 99 Or. 610, 196 P 381, 384 [quot Towns v. Klamath County, 33 Or. 225, 53 P 604, 606 (a grant of an easement "to be used as a road of public easement," indicates that it was to be an open public way, a public thoroughfare)].

52. Flora Logging Co. v. Boeing, 43 F. (2d) 145, 148 (includes "logging railroad").

"Logging railroad" see Logs and Logging § 14.

53. See Mines and Minerals § 850 note 79 [a].

54. See cases infra notes 55–66.

55. See Animals § 85 note 3 [b].

"Brand" 9 C. J. p 318.

56. Chandler v. Peninsula Light, etc., Co., 152 Va. 903, 147 SE 249 (in "road district,"[57] "road duty,"[58] "road engine,"[59] "road law,"[60] "road overseer,"[61] "road patrolman,"[62] "road precinct,"[63] "road supervisor,"[64] "road tax,"[65] and "road vehicle."[66]

ROADBED.[67] In common roads, the material part of the road;[68] the whole material laid in place and ready for travel.[69]

In railroad parlance a "roadbed" is a word of plain import,[70] with a well understood meaning.[71] It has been said that, strictly speaking,[72] and in its restricted sense,[73] the roadbed is the bed or foundation[74] on which the superstructure of the railroad rests.[75] In a less strict sense "roadbed" has been a statute relating to the height of wires above road crossings). See also Railroads §§ 2, 336–410.

---

"All road crossings" see All § 3 text and note 92.

"Any road crossing" see Any § 6 text and note 32.

"Crossing" 17 C. J. p 385.

57. See Highways §§ 268–277.

"District" 18 C. J. p 1292.

58. Best v. Birmingham, 16 Ala. A. 631, 80 S 695, 696.

[a] "Street duty" distinguished.—"The terms 'road duty' and 'street duty' have separate and distinct fields of operation, the one referring to roads, outside of the city, the other to streets, inside the city." Best v. Birmingham, 16 Ala. A. 631, 80 S 695, 696.

"Duty" 19 C. J. p 841.

Street work by inhabitants see Municipal Corporations § 3704.

Work on roads by taxpayers see Highways §§ 515–521.

59. Central of Georgia R. Co. v. Goodson, 118 Ga. 833, 45 SE 680, 681.

[a] "Yard engine" distinguished.—Engines which regularly run between different points on a railroad line are known as "road engines," in contradistinction to "yard engines," which perform service only in the yards. Central of Georgia R. Co. v. Goodson, 118 Ga. 833, 45 SE 680, 681.

"Engine" 20 C. J. p 1260.

60. Columbia, etc., Turnp. Co. v. Hughes, 131 Tenn. 267, 174 SW 1108 (a term that has by the statutes of the state acquired a well-known meaning, applicable only to the general road system of a county).

61. See Highways §§ 288–307½.

"Overseer" 46 C. J. p 1162.

62. Hop v. Brink, 205 Iowa 74, 217 NW 551, 554 (an office created and defined by statute, the appointment to which is made by the board of supervisors of the county). See also Highways §§ 288–307½.

[a] Road superintendent is not a road patrolman. Hop v. Brink, 205 Iowa 74, 217 NW 551, 554.

63. See Highways § 268 note 45 [e].

"Precinct" 49 C. J. p 1319.

64. See Highways §§ 288–307½.

65. See Highways §§ 491–521.

"Tax" see Taxation [37 Cyc 706].

66. See Licenses § 81 note 9 [b].

"Vehicle" [39 Cyc 1125].

67. Roadbed:
Accident Insurance § 154.
Construction of see Railroads § 315.
Defects in:
  Master and Servant §§ 505–514.
  Motor Vehicles § 366.
  Railroads § 315.
Motor Vehicles § 373.
Regulations as to see Street Railroads [36 Cyc 1461].

68. Standard D. [quot Hardenburgh v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 78 Misc. 105, 138 NYS 662, 663].

69. Webster New Int. D. [quot Hardenburgh v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., supra]; Stix v. Travelers' Indemn. Co., 175 Mo. A. 171, 157 SW 870, 872 [quot Rouse v. St. Paul F. & M. Ins. Co., 203 Mo. A. 603, 219 SW 688].

[a] "Gutters" included.—Stix v. Travelers' Indemn. Co., 175 Mo. A. 171, 157 SW 870, 872 ("obviously the roadbed involved here consisted of that portion between the gutters on either side which was constructed for travel, and not to the gutters designed for the purpose of draining water from the adjacent roadbed" [quot Rouse v. St. Paul F. & M. Ins. Co., 203 Mo. A. 603, 219 SW 688]).

[b] "Roadway" synonymous.—Applied to common roads, "roadbed" and "roadway" ordinarily mean the same thing. Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 413, 6 SCt 1132, 4 L. ed. 118; San Francisco v. Canadian Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98. See Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 West Wkly 1088.

70. In re United New Jersey R., etc., Co., 75 N. J. L. 385, 67 A 1075, 1076.

71. Standard L. Ins. Co. v. Langston, 60 Ark. 381, 385, 30 SW 427.

72. Dunn v. Burlington, etc., R. Co., 35 Minn. 73, 80, 27 NW 448.

73. State v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 135 Mo. 618, 637, 37 SW 532.

74. "Foundation" 26 C. J. p 1003.

75. Webster D. [quot Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 413, 6 SCt 1132, 30 L. ed. 118; San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98; Shreveport v. Shreveport Belt R. Co., 107 La. 785, 32 S 189; Atty.-Gen. v. Detroit, 148 Mich. 71, 121, 111 NW 860; Cass County v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 25 Nebr. 348, 41 NW 246, 247, 2 LRA 188]; Worcester D. [quot Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 413, 6 SCt 1132, 30 L. ed. 118; San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98; Shreveport v. Shreveport Belt R. Co., 107 La. 785, 787, 32 S 189]. See Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Langston, 60 Ark. 381, 385, 30 SW 427; San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, 149 Cal. 83, 84 P 771, 774; Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 WestWkly 1088.

"In the ordinary and popular acceptation . . . as applied to railroads." Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 413, 6 SCt 1132, 30 L. ed. 118.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "The bed or foundation upon which rests the superstructure of rails and sleepers." In re New York Bay R. Co., 75 N. J. L. 389, 67 A 1049, 1051; In re United New Jersey R., etc., Co., 75 N. J. L. 385, 386, 67 A 1075, 1076. (2) "The bed or foundation on which the superstructure (ties, rails, etc.) rests." Webster New Int. D. [quot Hardenburgh v. Employers' Liability Assur. Co., 78 Misc. 105, 138 NYS 662, 663]. (3) "The bed upon which the superstructure of the railroad rests." Dunn v. Burlington, etc., R. Co., 35 Minn. 73, 80, 27 NW 448, 451. (4) The foundation on which the superstructure of a railroad rests. Webster D. [quot San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization, 60 Cal. 12, 34]. (5) "The mere foundation upon which the superstructure of ties, rails, etc., rests." State v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 135 Mo. 618, 637, 37 SW 532.

[b] From standpoint of engineering, it is the bed or foundation on which the superstructure of ties and rails is made to rest. McClure v. Great Western Acc. Assoc., 133 Iowa 224, 110 NW 466, 119 AmSR 598, 8 LRANS 970, 12 AnnCas 41 ("the definition common to all the authorities").

[c] "Railroad" compared.—(1) It has a broader significance than "roadbed" since "railroad" includes the roadbed and the superstructure including crossties, rails, and fastenings. Skiles v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 130 Mo. A. 162, 108 SW 1082, 1084. (2) "Railroad" synonymous see Railroads § 1 text and note 26.

[d] "Right of way" compared.—"'Roadbed' does not of necessity include the entire right of way." McClure v. Great Western Acc. Assoc., 133 Iowa 224, 110 NW 466, 119 AmSR 598, 8 LRANS 970, 12 AnnCas 41. See Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Brogan, 52 Mont. 461, 158 P 820, 823 (roadbed is a part of the "right of way," in the sense in which "right of way" is used in the congressional grants). "Right of way" ante.

[e] "Road" synonymous.—Where statutory definitions of "road" and "roadbed" are alike, the words mean substantially the same thing. See Nashville, etc., R. Co. v. Board of Equalization for Assessment, etc., 122 Tenn. 1, 122 SW 467, 474.

[f] "Roadway" compared.—(1) Applied to railroads, "roadbed" and "roadway" do not mean the same. Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 6 SCt 1132, 1142, 30 L. ed. 118; San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98. See Grand Trunk Pac. R. Co. v. Calgary, 55 Can. S. C. 103, 111 (construing ordinance relating to assessment, per Idington, J., "I cannot hold 'roadbed' and 'roadway' as interchangeable terms in this connection"); Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 WestWkly 1088. (2) "Roadway" has the more extended signification. Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., supra; San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., supra [quot Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cass County, 8 N. D. 18, 20, 76 NW 239]. See Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, supra. (3) "In addition to the part denominated road-bed, the roadway includes whatever space of ground the company is allowed by law in which to construct its road-bed and lay its track." San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98 [quot Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cass County, supra]. See Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 WestWkly 1088. "Roadway" post.

defined as that part of the right of way especially prepared for the emplacement of ties, rails, and other necessary superstructures, and to which the ties, rails, and other necessary superstructures are affixed;[76] the road, including the roadway[77] or right of way,[78] with the roadbed and its superstructure of ties, rails, etc., in place thereon;[79] and accordingly it has been said that the roadbed may include land for sidings and turnouts,[80] snowsheds,[81] and crossing planks,[82] but not the rails and ties,[83] a railroad bridge,[84] a coal and ore terminal,[85] or steamers.[86] From an engineering standpoint, the roadbed includes all that is necessary to support the superstructure.[87] By statute, the roadbed of a railroad may include all side tracks, switches, trestles, bridges, and the ties, rails, fastenings, and superstructure of every kind.[88]

Phrases: "Damage by striking any portion of the roadbed,"[89] "franchise, roadway, road-bed, rails, and rolling stock,"[90] "roadbed and track,"[91] and "roadbed of any railway."[92]

ROADHOUSE. A certain kind of restaurant.[93]

ROADMASTER. A foreman employed by the supervisors to oversee the men employed on the roads and keep their time.[94]

ROADSTEAD.[95]

ROADWAY.[96] A road.[97]

Roadway of street is the portion used for horses and vehicles.[98]

Applied to railroads,[99] the right of way.[1] Ac-

---

[g] "Superstructure" compared.—"Although the word 'superstructure' might, in present railway engineering phraseology, be limited to sleepers, rails, and fastenings . . . yet we have no doubt that the legislature of that day, adopting the ordinary meaning of the word, intended by it the roadbed, with whatever had been constructed upon it." Philadelphia v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 177 Pa. 292, 298, 35 A 610, 34 LRA 564 (construing statute, excepting from taxation by ordinance for city purposes, "superstructure and water stations"). "Superstructure" [37 Cyc 604].

[h] "Track" synonymous.—Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. Alabama Midland R. Co., 87 Ala. 520, 522, 6 S 407, 408 [expl Anniston, etc., R. Co. v. Jacksonville, etc., R. Co., 82 Ala. 297, 2 S 710] (but adding "'roadbed' . . . must include a sufficient space on either side of the track to allow trains to pass each other in safety," but "does not include, necessarily, the whole embankment which supports the track"). But see Railroad 51 C. J. § 2 note 34 [d].

76. Great Northern R. Co. v. Flathead County, 61 Mont. 263, 268, 202 P 198 [quot Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Murray, 55 Mont. 162, 170, 174 P 704, 706].

"Under this definition, it is any and all parts of the right of way especially prepared, under the tracks, over the tracks, and coterminous with the limits of the right of way, if required for the emplacement of necessary structures forming an integral part of the continuous railroad property." Great Northern R. Co. v. Flathead County, supra.

77. "Roadway" post.

78. "Right of way" ante.

79. State v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 135 Mo. 618, 637, 37 SW 532.

80. Philadelphia v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 177 Pa. 292, 298, 35 A 610, 34 LRA 564.

81. Great Northern R. Co. v. Flathead County, 61 Mont. 263, 202 P 198, 200.

82. Woosley v. Wabash R. Co., (Mo. A.) 274 SW 871.

83. Atty. Gen. v. Detroit, 148 Mich. 71, 95, 111 NW 860. But see supra note 75 [g].

84. Cass County v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 25 Nebr. 348, 41 NW 246, 247, 2 LRA 188 [overr Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Richardson County, 61 Nebr. 519, 525, 85 NW 532].

85. Philadelphia v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 177 Pa. 292, 298, 35 A 610, 34 LRA 564.

86. San Francisco v. Cent. Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98.

87. Osgood v. U. S. Health, etc., Ins. Co., 76 N. H. 475, 84 A 50, 51, Ann Cas1913C 425 [cit Century D.; Webster New Int. D.].

"It is manifest that this would ordinarily be much more than the mere width of such superstructure." Osgood v. U. S. Health, etc., Ins. Co., supra.

88. See Nashville, etc., R. Co. v. Board of Equalization for Assessment, etc., 122 Tenn. 1, 122 SW 467, 474.

89. See Motor Vehicles § 373.

90. Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 6 SCt 1132, 1140, 30 L. ed. 118.

91. St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. v. Grayson, 72 Ark. 119, 124, 78 SW 777, 778 (in a statute establishing a drainage and levee district, includes the right of way).

92. Osgood v. U. S. Health, etc., Ins. Co., 76 N. H. 475, 84 A 50, 51, Ann Cas1913C 425 (as used in an accident insurance policy, "all that part of the right of way which may be swept by the moving rolling stock").

93. U. S. v. Boasberg, 283 Fed. 305, 306 ("a phrase with a well-known meaning").

"Restaurant" ante.

94. Andrus v. Shippen Tp., 34 Pa. Co. 312, 315. See Highways § 301 note 75 [f].

95. See Collision § 1 text and note 65. See also "Road" ante.

96. Roadway:
Adverse Possession § 477 (unoccupied land).
Easements 19 C. J. p 856.
Highways 29 C. J. p 353 et seq.
Municipal Corporations §§ 2267–3596 (public improvements), §§ 3597–4029 (use and regulation of public places).
Railroads §§ 192–199 (extent of way or land acquired).
"Roadbed" compared see Roadbed ante.
"Track" synonymous see Railroads § 2.

97. Cherry v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 189 N. C. 90, 116 SE 192, 193.

[a] Either public or private, according to its location. Central Illinois Coal Min. Co. v. Illinois Power Co., 249 Ill. A. 199, 204.

"Road" ante.

98. J. Burton Co. v. Chicago, 236 Ill. 383, 86 NE 93, 95, 15 AnnCas 965.

[a] "It may be coextensive with the street." J. Burton Co. v. Chicago, 236 Ill. 383, 86 NE 93, 95, 15 Ann Cas 965.

[b] "Curbing" included.—Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Abrahamson, 38 Cal. A. 109, 175 P 490 (for purposes of Vrooman Act § 20, relating to street improvements, so that acceptance of roadway includes, curbing). "Curb" 17 C. J. p 454.

[c] "Alley" not synonymous.—Central Illinois Coal Min. Co. v. Illinois Power Co., 249 Ill. A. 199, 204. See Henderson v. Carey-Reed Co., 180 Ky. 449, 202 SW 882 (the "roadway" of an alley is not the entire alley—it does not include a strip of ground covered by a platform). "Alley" 2 C. J. p 1150.

[d] "Right of way" not synonymous.—Central Illinois Coal Min. Co. v. Illinois Power Co., 249 Ill. A. 199, 204. As to railroads see infra text and notes 1–3. "Right of way" ante.

[e] "Highway" not synonymous.—Central Illinois Coal Min. Co. v. Illinois Power Co., 249 Ill. A. 199, 204. "Highway" see Highways § 1.

[f] "Street" not synonymous.—Central Illinois Coal Min. Co. v. Illinois Power Co., 249 Ill. A. 199, 204.

99. See Taxation [37 Cyc 844].

1. San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization, 60 Cal. 12, 34; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cass County, 8 N. D. 18, 20, 76 NW 239. See Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 WestWkly 1088.

[a] "Right of way" synonymous.—Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Los Angeles County, 158 Cal. 437, 111 P 250, 251 [quot San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, 149 Cal. 83, 84 P 771]. See Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Brogan, 52 Mont. 461, 158 P 820, 822 (as used in a constitutional provision, relating to taxation, "roadway" is not synonymous with "right of way," as that term was used in the railroad land grants, but is synonymous with "right of way" when used to designate the bare strip of ground upon which the roadbed, rails, and other necessary appliances of the road are laid or erected, and not as including any of the improvements upon or annexed to that strip—the naked land used for right of way purposes). See also Adverse Possession § 477 note 53 [e] (1). But see Grand Trunk Pac. R. Co. v. Calgary, 55 Can. S. C. 103, 111 (in an ordinance relating to assessment and taxation, per Idington, J., "'right of way' not convertible into 'roadway' in this connection").

[b] "Railroad" compared.—The word has received a more extended signification than "roadway." U. S. Trust Co. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 8 N. M. 673, 689, 47 P 725.

cording to the ordinary and popular meaning of the word as applied to railroads, it includes simply the continuous strip of land within which the railroad is constructed;[2] whatever space of ground the company is allowed by law in which to construct its roadbed and lay its track.[3] "Roadway" has, however, been held to include not only the strip of land upon which the main line is constructed, but all ground necessary for the construction of sidetracks, turnouts, connecting tracks, station houses, freight houses, and all other accommodations necessary to accomplish the objects of the incorporation [of the railroad].[4] To a large extent the definition of "roadway" or what it comprises is a question of fact to be decided in each case.[5] It may not include the yards and the stations,[6] a telegraph line,[7] or steamers.[8]

Phrases: "Franchise, roadway, road-bed, rails, and rolling stock,"[9] "present roadway,"[10] "roadway of any street,"[11] "the roadway of any street or other public ground,[12] and "the roadway thereof and the superstructure thereon."[13]

ROAST.[14]

ROASTER.[15]

ROB.[16] To take something away from by force.[17]

In mining, to mine coal or ore without provision for the preservation of the mine.[18]

ROBADA. A Spanish word meaning "stolen;"[19] equivalent to "hurtada"[20] but not limited to "robo" (robbery).[21]

---

2. San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, 149 Cal. 83, 90, 84 P 771, 774.

3. Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 6 SCt 1132, 1142, 30 L. ed. 118; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Los Angeles County, 158 Cal. 437, 111 P 250, 251; San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, 149 Cal. 83, 84 P 771, 774; San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cass County, 8 N. D. 18, 20, 76 NW 239. See Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 WestWkly 1088 ("In the ordinary and popular acceptation of the word as applied to railroads").

"But another way of saying that it is the continuous strip of land, not exceeding in width the nine rods permitted by law [Civ. Code § 465 subd 4], which the company acquires and uses for the construction and maintenance of its roadbed and railroad track." San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, supra.

4. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cass County, 8 N. D. 18, 76 NW 239 [disappr San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, 149 Cal. 83, 84 P 771, 774].

5. Grand Trunk Pac. R. Co. v. Calgary, 55 Can. S. C. 103, 108, 114 (per Davies, J.).

6. Grand Trunk Pac. R. Co. v. Calgary, supra (per Brodem, J., dissenting). See Canadian Nat. R. Co. v. Edmonton, (Alta.) 5 WestWkly 1088.

7. Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Brogan, 52 Mont. 461, 158 P 820.

8. San Francisco v. Central Pac. R. Co., 63 Cal. 467, 469, 49 AmR 98.

9. Santa Clara County v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 118 U. S. 394, 6 SCt 1132, 1140, 30 L. ed. 118 (construing state constitution and statute, as not including fences).

10. See Municipal Corporations § 2443½ text and note 1.

11. Joplin v. Freeman, 125 Mo. A. 717, 103 SW 130, 131 (as used in a statute relating to street improvements the phrase is not broad enough to include sidewalks. It indicated "the intention of the legislature to discriminate between that part of the street used as a highway for general travel from that part used exclusively as a sidewalk for pedestrians").

12. J. Burton Co. v. Chicago, 236 Ill. 383, 86 NE 93, 95, 15 AnnCas 965 (as used in an ordinance, does not mean "a portion of a street between two curbs, two sidewalks, and, in some instances, two parkways," and may include alleys, which may or may not have sidewalks).

13. Grand Trunk Pac. R. Co. v. Calgary, 55 Can. S. C. 103, 110 (construing ordinance relating to assessment and taxation, per Idington, J., "the acreage of trackage and superstructure of any kind in use for actual running of the railway").

14. See Mines and Minerals § 92.

15. "Coffee roaster" 11 C. J. p 947.

16. In colloquial sense see Libel and Slander § 139.

17. Webster New Int. D. See also Robbery post p 1001.

18. Webster New Int. D.

[a] "Robbed," as used in coal mining operations, constitutes all stumps, pillars, and walls removed, and all the coal remaining in place in entries, cross entries, rooms, and other mining openings which had previously been made in removing the coal therefrom. Sagamore Coal Co. v. Clark, (Ky.) 109 SW 349, 350. See Lloyd v. Catlin Coal Co., 210 Ill. 460, 71 NE 335, 338 (as meaning to weaken the supporting pillars of coal so that the miners may save extra labor in cutting air passages).

[b] "Robbing a mine."—Taking out the pillars of ore or coal which have been left standing to support the roof while the mass is being taken out. Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Gray, 152 Fed. 939, 940, 82 CCA 87. See Sagamore Coal Co. v. Clark, (Ky.) 109 SW 349, 351 ("according to the evidence 'robbing' a mine is more dangerous than ordinary mining, as the work of removing stumps and pillars constituting supports to the mine roof to get the coal they contain often leaves the roof or upper walls of the mine without sufficient support").

19. U. S. v. Baguio, 25 Philippine 575. See also Burglary 9 C. J. p 1006; Larceny 36 C. J. p 721.

20. U. S. v. Baguio, supra.

21. U. S. v. Baguio, supra. See also Robbery post p 1001.

ROBBERY

By Douglas Robinson Gray

[Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this Work, see Cross References infra p 1007]

ANALYSIS

I. DEFINITIONS AND DISTINCTIONS [sub-analysis p 1001]

II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE [sub-analysis p 1001]

III. GRADE, DEGREE, OR CLASSIFICATION OF OFFENSE [sub-analysis p 1002]

IV. DEFENSES [sub-analysis p 1003]

V. PERSONS LIABLE [sub-analysis p 1003]

VI. PROSECUTION AND PUNISHMENT [sub-analysis p 1003]

VII. ATTEMPTS AND ASSAULTS WITH INTENT TO ROB [sub-analysis p 1006]

VIII. BANK ROBBERY [sub-analysis p 1006]

IX. ROBBERY WITH HOMICIDE [sub-analysis p 1006]

X. ROBBERY WITH RAPE [sub-analysis p 1007]

SUB-ANALYSIS

I. DEFINITIONS AND DISTINCTIONS [§§ 1–11] p 1007
- A. Definitions [§§ 1–10] p 1007
  - 1. Robbery [§§ 1–2] p 1007
    - a. At Common Law [§ 1] p 1007
    - b. Under Statute [§ 2] p 1007
  - 2. Automobile Banditry [§ 3] p 1008
  - 3. Conjoint Robbery [§ 4] p 1008
  - 4. Highway Robbery [§ 5] p 1009
  - 5. Plain Robbery [§ 6] p 1009
  - 6. Rapina [§ 7] p 1009
  - 7. Reif [§ 8] p 1009
  - 8. Robo [§ 9] p 1009
  - 9. Rob [§ 10] p 1009
- B. Distinctions [§ 11] p 1009

II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE [§§ 12–54] p 1010
- A. In General [§ 12] p 1010
- B. Particular Elements [§§ 13–54] p 1011
  - 1. Taking or Asportation in General [§ 13] p 1011
  - 2. Property Taken [§§ 14–19] p 1012
    - a. Nature of Property [§§ 14–15] p 1012
      - (1) In General [§ 14] p 1012
      - (2) Choses in Action and Documents Evidencing Same [§ 15] p 1012
    - b. Value [§ 16] p 1012
    - c. Ownership [§§ 17–19] p 1013
      - (1) By Person from Whom Taken [§ 17] p 1013
      - (2) By Accused [§ 18] p 1014
      - (3) Contraband Property [§ 19] p 1014
  - 3. Taking from Person, Presence, or Possession [§§ 20–23] p 1015
    - a. Necessity for [§ 20] p 1015

- b. What Constitutes Taking from Person [§§ 21–22] p 1015
  - (1) At Common Law [§ 21] p 1015
  - (2) Under Statutes [§ 22] p 1015
- c. What Constitutes Taking from Presence or Possession [§ 23] p 1016

- 4. Force or Intimidation [§§ 24–44] p 1016
  - a. Necessity for [§§ 24–25] p 1016
    - (1) In General [§ 24] p 1016
    - (2) Particular Statutory Provisions [§ 25] p 1017
  - b. Time of [§§ 26–29] p 1018
    - (1) Prior, Contemporaneous, and Subsequent Force or Intimidation Generally [§ 26] p 1018
    - (2) Previous Force without Accompanying Purpose To Rob [§ 27] p 1018
    - (3) Subsequent Force To Aid Escape [§ 28] p 1019
    - (4) Subsequent Force To Prevent Recapture of Property [§ 29] p 1019
  - c. What Constitutes Force Generally [§§ 30–32] p 1019
    - (1) In General [§ 30] p 1019
    - (2) Degree of Force [§ 31] p 1019
    - (3) Administration of Poison [§ 32] p 1020
  - d. What Constitutes Intimidation Generally [§§ 33–39] p 1020
    - (1) In General [§ 33] p 1020
    - (2) Degree of Intimidation [§ 34] p 1020
    - (3) Particular Fears [§§ 35–39] p 1020
      - (a) Bodily Injury [§§ 35–36] p 1020
        - aa. In General [§ 35] p 1020
        - bb. Method of Arousing Fear [§ 36] p 1021
      - (b) Fear of Rape [§ 37] p 1022
      - (c) Injury to Property [§ 38] p 1022
      - (d) Threats of Arrest and Prosecution [§ 39] p 1022
  - e. Snatching [§§ 40–41] p 1022
    - (1) In General [§ 40] p 1022
    - (2) Statutes Modifying Common Law [§ 41] p 1024
  - f. Artifice and Trickery in General [§ 42] p 1024
  - g. Pocket Picking [§ 43] p 1024
  - h. Forced Sale, Gift, Etc. [§ 44] p 1025
- 5. Consent [§§ 45–48] p 1025
  - a. In General [§ 45] p 1025
  - b. By Whom Given [§ 46] p 1026
  - c. What Constitutes [§§ 47–48] p 1026
    - (1) In General [§ 47] p 1026
    - (2) Consent for Purpose of Entrapping Robber [§ 48] p 1026
- 6. Intent [§§ 49–53] p 1026
  - a. Necessity for Felonious Intent or Animus Furandi [§ 49] p 1026
  - b. Time of Forming Intent [§§ 50–51] p 1027
    - (1) In General [§ 50] p 1027
    - (2) Premeditation [§ 51] p 1028
  - c. Claim of Right [§ 52] p 1028
  - d. Intoxication [§ 53] p 1029
- 7. Motive [§ 54] p 1029

- III. GRADE, DEGREE, OR CLASSIFICATION OF OFFENSE [§§ 55–71] p 1029
  - A. In General [§ 55] p 1029
  - B. Degrees of Robbery [§§ 56–64] p 1029
    - 1. First Degree [§§ 56–60] p 1029
      - a. With Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§ 56] p 1029
      - b. Armed with Dangerous Weapon or Aided by Accomplice [§ 57] p 1030
      - c. Actual Violence or Fear of Immediate Personal Injury [§ 58] p 1030
      - d. Fear of Immediate Injury [§ 59] p 1030
      - e. Infliction of Bodily Injury [§ 60] p 1030
    - 2. Second Degree [§§ 61–63] p 1031
      - a. Without Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§ 61] p 1031
      - b. Fear of Future Injury [§ 62] p 1031
      - c. Under Circumstances Not Amounting to First Degree Robbery [§ 63] p 1031
    - 3. Third Degree [§ 64] p 1031
  - C. Classification without Division into Degrees [§§ 65–69] p 1031
    - 1. With Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§ 65] p 1031

2. Wounding or Striking; Intent To Maim [§ 66] p 1031
3. Robbery Committed by Two or More Persons [§ 67] p 1031
4. Use of Actual Force or Intimidation [§ 68] p 1032
5. Snatching [§ 69] p 1032
D. Value [§ 70] p 1032
E. Return of Property [§ 71] p 1032

IV. DEFENSES [§§ 72–78] p 1032
A. In General [§ 72] p 1032
B. Capacity To Commit Crime [§ 73] p 1032
C. Redelivery of Property [§ 74] p 1032
D. Command of Superior [§ 75] p 1032
E. Legal Arrest [§ 76] p 1032
F. Act of War [§ 77] p 1032
G. Trespass by Victim [§ 78] p 1032

V. PERSONS LIABLE [§§ 79–81] p 1033
A. Persons Present [§§ 79–80] p 1033
1. Participants [§ 79] p 1033
2. Nonparticipants [§ 80] p 1033
B. Persons Absent [§ 81] p 1034

VI. PROSECUTION AND PUNISHMENT [§§ 82–216] p 1035
A. Indictment or Information [§§ 82–119] p 1035
1. In General [§ 82] p 1035
2. Taking and Asportation [§ 83] p 1036
3. Property Taken [§§ 84–99] p 1036
a. Nature of Property [§§ 84–92] p 1036
(1) Necessity for Description [§ 84] p 1036
(2) Sufficiency of Description [§§ 85–92] p 1036
(a) In General [§ 85] p 1036
(b) Goods and Chattels [§ 86] p 1036
(c) Choses in Action [§ 87] p 1036
(d) Money [§§ 88–92] p 1036
aa. In General [§ 88] p 1036
bb. Kind, Denomination, and Number of Pieces [§ 89] p 1037
cc. Lawfulness [§ 90] p 1037
dd. Foreign Money [§ 91] p 1037
ee. Particular Descriptions [§ 92] p 1037
b. Value [§§ 93–94] p 1038
(1) In General [§ 93] p 1038
(2) Money [§ 94] p 1038
c. Ownership or Right to Possession [§§ 95–99] p 1039
(1) In General [§ 95] p 1039
(2) Absence of Ownership by Accused [§ 96] p 1039
(3) Ownership by Victim [§ 97] p 1040
(4) Right to Possession by Victim [§§ 98–99] p 1041
(a) In General [§ 98] p 1041
(b) Joint Possession [§ 99] p 1041
4. Taking from Person, Presence, or Possession [§§ 100–104] p 1041
a. Necessity of Allegation [§ 100] p 1041
b. Sufficiency [§§ 101–104] p 1042
(1) From Person [§ 101] p 1042
(2) From Presence [§ 102] p 1042
(3) From Person or Presence [§ 103] p 1042
(4) From Person or Possession [§ 104] p 1042
5. Force or Intimidation [§§ 105–109] p 1043
a. Necessity of Allegation [§ 105] p 1043
b. Sufficiency [§§ 106–109] p 1043
(1) In General [§ 106] p 1043
(2) Degree of Force [§ 107] p 1043
(3) Nature of Force or Intimidation Employed [§ 108] p 1043
(4) Particular Statutory Provisions [§ 109] p 1043
6. Consent [§ 110] p 1044

- 7. Intent [§§ 111–113] p 1045
  - a. Necessity of Allegation [§ 111] p 1045
  - b. Sufficiency [§§ 112–113] p 1046
    - (1) In General [§ 112] p 1046
    - (2) Act as to Which Intent Should Be Alleged [§ 113] p 1046
- 8. Grade, Degree, or Classification of Offense [§§ 114–118] p 1046
  - a. In General [§ 114] p 1046
  - b. Degrees [§ 115] p 1047
  - c. Classification without Formal Degrees [§§ 116–118] p 1047
    - (1) Committed by Two or More [§ 116] p 1047
    - (2) Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§ 117] p 1047
    - (3) Highway Robbery [§ 118] p 1048
- 9. Joinder of Parties [§ 119] p 1048

B. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§§ 120–143] p 1048
- 1. In General [§ 120] p 1048
- 2. Time of Offense [§ 121] p 1048
- 3. Participation in Robbery [§ 122] p 1048
- 4. Identification of Victim [§ 123] p 1048
- 5. Taking [§ 124] p 1049
- 6. Property Taken [§§ 125–135] p 1049
  - a. Nature or Character [§§ 125–129] p 1049
    - (1) In General [§ 125] p 1049
    - (2) Chattels [§ 126] p 1049
    - (3) Money [§§ 127–129] p 1049
      - (a) In General [§ 127] p 1049
      - (b) Current or Lawful Money of United States [§ 128] p 1049
      - (c) Foreign Money [§ 129] p 1050
  - b. Number or Quantity [§ 130] p 1050
  - c. Value [§ 131] p 1050
  - d. Ownership, Custody, or Possession [§§ 132–135] p 1051
    - (1) In General [§ 132] p 1051
    - (2) Where Ownership Laid in Victim [§ 133] p 1051
    - (3) Where Ownership Laid in Third Person [§ 134] p 1052
    - (4) Where Care, Custody, Control, or Possession Laid in Victim [§ 135] p 1052
- 7. From Person, Presence, or Possession [§ 136] p 1052
- 8. Force or Intimidation [§§ 137–139] p 1053
  - a. In General [§ 137] p 1053
  - b. Intimidation [§ 138] p 1053
  - c. Assault [§ 139] p 1053
- 9. Classification of Offense [§§ 140–143] p 1053
  - a. Actual Force or Intimidation [§ 140] p 1053
  - b. Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§ 141] p 1054
  - c. Wounding or Striking [§ 142] p 1054
  - d. Highway Robbery [§ 143] p 1054

C. Evidence [§§ 144–180] p 1054
- 1. Burden of Proof and Presumptions [§§ 144–147] p 1054
  - a. In General [§ 144] p 1054
  - b. Elements of Offense [§ 145] p 1054
  - c. Defendant's Possession of Stolen Property [§ 146] p 1054
  - d. Robbery with Dangerous Weapon [§ 147] p 1055
- 2. Admissibility [§§ 148–165] p 1055
  - a. In General [§ 148] p 1055
  - b. Ownership of Property Taken [§ 149] p 1057
  - c. Force or Intimidation [§ 150] p 1057
  - d. Consent [§ 151] p 1057
  - e. Intent [§ 152] p 1057
  - f. Connection with Crime [§§ 153–165] p 1058
    - (1) In General [§ 153] p 1058
    - (2) Presence at or near Scene of Crime [§ 154] p 1059
    - (3) Motive [§ 155] p 1059
    - (4) Change in Defendant's Economic Circumstances [§ 156] p 1060
    - (5) Weapons or Other Instruments of Crime [§§ 157–160] p 1060
      - (a) Attempt To Purchase [§ 157] p 1060
      - (b) Possession of [§§ 158–159] p 1060

aa. By Defendant [§ 158] p 1060
bb. By Companion [§ 159] p 1061
(c) Found near Scene of Crime [§ 160] p 1061
(6) Stolen Property or Property Similar Thereto [§§ 161–164] p 1061
(a) Existence, Identification, and Description [§ 161] p 1061
(b) Disposition of [§ 162] p 1061
(c) Possession [§§ 163–164] p 1062
aa. By Defendant [§ 163] p 1062
bb. By Companion [§ 164] p 1063
(7) Possession of Other Property Actually or Presumably in Possession of Robber [§ 165] p 1063
3. Weight and Sufficiency [§§ 166–180] p 1063
a. In General [§ 166] p 1063
b. Elements of Offense [§§ 167–175] p 1065
(1) In General [§ 167] p 1065
(2) Particular Elements [§§ 168–175] p 1065
(a) Asportation [§ 168] p 1065
(b) Property Taken [§§ 169–171] p 1066
aa. Existence [§ 169] p 1066
bb. Value [§ 170] p 1066
cc. Ownership and Possession [§ 171] p 1066
(c) Person or Presence [§ 172] p 1066
(d) Force, Intimidation, or Other Method of Taking [§ 173] p 1066
(e) Consent [§ 174] p 1068
(f) Intent [§ 175] p 1068
c. Degree or Classification of Offense [§ 176] p 1069
d. Connection with Crime [§§ 177–180] p 1069
(1) In General [§ 177] p 1070
(2) Degree of Proof [§ 178] p 1072
(3) Circumstantial Evidence [§§ 179–180] p 1073
(a) In General [§ 179] p 1073
(b) Possession of Stolen Property [§ 180] p 1074
D. Trial [§§ 181–203] p 1074
1. Questions for Jury [§§ 181–186] p 1074
a. In General [§ 181] p 1074
b. Identification of Property [§ 182] p 1075
c. Elements of Offense [§ 183] p 1075
d. Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§ 184] p 1075
e. Degree of Offense [§ 185] p 1075
f. Connection of Accused with Offense [§ 186] p 1076
2. Instructions [§§ 187–200] p 1076
a. In General [§ 187] p 1076
b. Nature and Elements of Offense [§§ 188–197] p 1077
(1) In General [§ 188] p 1077
(2) Particular Elements [§§ 189–197] p 1077
(a) Taking [§ 189] p 1077
(b) Property Taken [§§ 190–191] p 1077
aa. Value [§ 190] p 1077
bb. Ownership, Possession, or Control [§ 191] p 1078
(c) From Person or Presence [§ 192] p 1078
(d) Force or Intimidation [§§ 193–194] p 1078
aa. Necessity of Instruction [§ 193] p 1078
bb. Sufficiency [§ 194] p 1078
(e) Consent [§ 195] p 1079
(f) Intent [§§ 196–197] p 1079
aa. Necessity of Instruction [§ 196] p 1079
bb. Sufficiency [§ 197] p 1080
c. Grade, Degree, or Classification of Crime [§§ 198–199] p 1081
(1) Robbery [§ 198] p 1081
(2) Other Offenses [§ 199] p 1082
d. Connection of Accused with Crime [§ 200] p 1082
3. Verdict [§§ 201–203] p 1083
a. In General [§ 201] p 1083
b. Specification of Offense [§§ 202–203] p 1083

(1) In General [§ 202] p 1083
(2) Specification of Degree [§ 203] p 1084
E. Sentence and Punishment [§§ 204–215] p 1084
1. In General [§ 204] p 1084
2. By Whom Prescribed [§ 205] p 1084
3. Circumstances Affecting Punishment [§§ 206–214] p 1085
a. In General [§ 206] p 1085
b. Committed by Two or More [§ 207] p 1085
c. Dangerous or Deadly Weapon [§§ 208–209] p 1085
(1) In General [§ 208] p 1085
(2) Capital Punishment [§ 209] p 1086
d. Highway Robbery [§ 210] p 1087
e. Snatching [§ 211] p 1087
f. Value of Property Taken [§ 212] p 1087
g. Other Particular Circumstances [§§ 213–214] p 1087
(1) Of Aggravation [§ 213] p 1087
(2) Of Mitigation [§ 214] p 1088
4. Excessive Punishment [§ 215] p 1088
F. Review [§ 216] p 1089

VII. ATTEMPTS AND ASSAULTS WITH INTENT TO ROB [§§ 217–241] p 1090
A. Definitions and Distinctions [§ 217] p 1090
B. Nature and Elements of Offense [§§ 218–225] p 1090
1. In General [§ 218] p 1090
2. Overt Act [§ 219] p 1090
3. Intent [§ 220] p 1091
4. Assault [§ 221] p 1091
5. Force or Intimidation [§§ 222–224] p 1091
a. In General [§ 222] p 1091
b. Accusation of Crime [§ 223] p 1092
c. Attempt To Snatch [§ 224] p 1092
6. Ownership [§ 225] p 1092
C. Persons Liable [§ 226] p 1092
D. Prosecution and Punishment [§§ 227–241] p 1092
1. Indictment or Information [§§ 227–231] p 1092
a. In General [§ 227] p 1092
b. Intent [§ 228] p 1092
c. Description of Property [§ 229] p 1093
d. Consent [§ 230] p 1093
e. Completed Offense [§ 231] p 1093
2. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§ 232] p 1093
3. Conviction of Offenses Included in Charge [§ 233] p 1093
4. Evidence [§§ 234–236] p 1094
a. Burden of Proof and Presumptions [§ 234] p 1094
b. Admissibility [§ 235] p 1094
c. Weight and Sufficiency [§ 236] p 1094
5. Trial [§§ 237–240] p 1095
a. Questions for Court and Jury [§ 237] p 1095
b. Instructions [§§ 238–239] p 1095
(1) In General [§ 238] p 1095
(2) Included Offenses [§ 239] p 1096
c. Verdict [§ 240] p 1096
6. Punishment [§ 241] p 1096

VIII. BANK ROBBERY [§§ 242–244] p 1097
A. Nature and Elements of Crime [§ 242] p 1097
B. Prosecution [§§ 243–244] p 1097
1. Indictment or Information [§ 243] p 1097
2. Evidence [§ 244] p 1098

IX. ROBBERY WITH HOMICIDE [§§ 245–251] p 1098
A. Nature and Elements of Crime [§ 245] p 1098
B. Persons Liable [§ 246] p 1098
C. Prosecution and Punishment [§§ 247–251] p 1098
1. Complaint [§ 247] p 1098

2. Issues, Proof, and Variance [§ 248] p 1098
3. Conviction of Included Offense [§ 249] p 1098
4. Evidence [§ 250] p 1098
5. Punishment [§ 251] p 1099

X. ROBBERY WITH RAPE [§§ 252–254] p 1099
A. Nature and Elements of Crime [§ 252] p 1099
B. Persons Liable [§ 253] p 1099
C. Prosecution and Punishment [§ 254] p 1099

CROSS REFERENCES

Bail see Bail § 177 text and note 71 [c].
Carrier's liability for robbery of passenger see Carriers § 1334 text and note 76.
Charging commission of robbery as libel or slander see Libel and Slander § 155.
Extradition:
  Offenses extraditable generally as between states see Extradition § 8.
  Of robber under treaty with foreign nation see Extradition § 57 text and note 97 [s].
Insurance against robbery see Burglary and Theft Insurance 9 C. J. p 1095.
Mails, robbery of see Post Office § 292.
Married woman's liability for robbery see Husband and Wife § 420½ text and notes 53, 54.
Other crimes:
  Assault and Battery §§ 173–371.

Other crimes:—Continued
  Bandolerismo 6 C. J. p 1176.
  Burglary 9 C. J. p 1006.
  Conspiracy to rob see Conspiracy § 49.
  Extortion 25 C. J. p 232.
  False Pretenses 25 C. J. p 582.
  Homicide in commission of robbery see Homicide § 70 text and note 68.
  Larceny 36 C. J. p 721.
  Piracy 48 C. J. p 1206.
  Receiving Stolen Goods 53 C. J. p 500.
  Threats [38 Cyc 289].
  Trespass [38 Cyc 1175–1189].
Train robbery see Railroads § 2349.
Venue of prosecution for robbery see Criminal Law § 288.

I. DEFINITIONS AND DISTINCTIONS

[§ 1] A. Definitions[1]—1. Robbery—a. At Common Law. At common law robbery is the felonious taking of goods or money from the person or presence of another by means of force or intimidation.[2]

[§ 2] b. Under Statute.[3] Statutory definitions in many jurisdictions are a substantial codification of the common law definition,[4] and have been so declared by the courts.[5]

---

[1] Attempt and assault with intent to commit robbery see infra § 217.

Bank robbery see infra § 242.

Robbery with other offenses:
Homicide see infra § 245.
Rape see infra § 252.

[2] U. S.—U. S. v. Jones, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,494, 3 Wash. C. C. 209.

Ala.—Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791; Parks v. State, 21 Ala. A. 177, 106 S 218.

Ariz.—Ramirez v. Terr., 9 Ariz. 177, 80 P 391.

Ark.—Martin v. State, 178 Ark. 1117, 13 SW (2d) 597; Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Cal.—In re Myrtle, 2 Cal. A. 383, 84 P 334; Peo. v. Cleary, 1 Cal. A. 50, 81 P 753.

Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Ill.—O'Donnell v. Peo., 224 Ill. 218, 79 NE 639.

Iowa.—State v. Kegan, 62 Iowa 106, 17 NW 179.

Ky.—Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492; Howard v. Com., 198 Ky. 453, 248 SW 1059; Stockton v. Com., 125 Ky. 268, 101 SW 298, 30 KyL 1302.

Mass.—Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242.

Mo.—State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575.

N. H.—State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152.

Pa.—Com. v. Snelling, 4 Binn. 379; Com. v. Anagustov, 82 Pa. Super. 156.

Tenn.—Hammond v. State, 3 Coldw. 129.

Va.—Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764; Green v. Com., 133 Va. 695, 112 SE 562; Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

W. Va.—Franklin v. Brown, 73 W. Va. 727, 81 SE 405, LRA1915C 557 (application for release on habeas corpus); State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

Wyo.—McGinnis v. State, 16 Wyo. 72, 91 P 936.

[a] Blackstone's definition.—"The felonious and forcible taking from the person of another of goods or money to any value, by violence or putting him in fear." 4 Blackstone Comm. p 242 [quot Com. v. Prewitt, 82 Ky. 240, 241; State v. Hackett, 166 La. 261, 117 S 141, 143; State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728, 729; Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242, 244; State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260, 262; State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152, 166; State v. Holt, 192 N. C. 490, 135 SE 324, 325; Com. v. Anagustov, 82 Pa. Super. 156, 158; Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385, 386; State v. Dengel, 24 Wash. 49, 63 P 1104; State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 760, 131 AmSR 955].

[b] Lord Mansfield says robbery is "a felonious taking of property from the person of another by force." 2 East P. C. p 725 [quot State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152, 167; State v. Holt, 192 N. C. 490, 135 SE 324, 325]. To same effect Breckinridge v. Com., 97 Ky. 267, 30 SW 634, 635, 17 KyL 163.

[c] Other definitions are: (1) "A felonious taking of money or goods, to any value, from the person of another, or in his presence, against his will, by violence or putting him in fear." 2 East P. C. p 707 [quot State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152, 166]. To same effect State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83, 87. (2) "The felonious and violent taking of any money or goods from the person of another, putting him in fear, be the value thereof above or under one shilling." 1 Hale P. C. p 532 [quot Peo. v. O'Hara, 332 Ill. 436, 163 NE 804, 806]. (3) "Robbery, accurately defined, is 'the felonious and forcible taking from the person of another, goods or money to any value, by violence or putting him in fear.'" Bouvier L. D. [quot Deal v. U. S., 274 U. S. 277, 47 SCt 613, 615, 71 L. ed. 1045]. (4) "Robbery, at common law, is the taking with intent to steal, of personal property in possession of another, from his person or in his presence, by violence or putting him in fear." 34 Cyc 1796 [quot Peo. v. Covelesky, 217 Mich. 90, 185 NW 770, 772].

[3] Degrees of robbery see infra §§ 56–64.

[4] See statutory provisions; and cases infra this note.

[a] In Idaho under a statute (§ 6590 Rev. Codes) defining robbery as "the felonious taking of personal property in the possession of another, from his person or immediate presence, and against his will, accomplished by means of force or fear," "the essence of that crime is the felonious taking of personal property in the possession of another by means of force or fear." State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79.

[b] In Illinois under a statute defining robbery as "the felonious and violent taking of money, goods, or other valuable thing, from the person of another by force or intimidation" (Cr. Code § 246, Cahill Rev. St. [1925] c 38 par 515), "the gist of the offense of robbery is the force or intimidation and taking from the person of another, against his will, a thing belonging to him or in his custody." Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664, 665; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417, 418; Peo. v. Nolan, 250 Ill. 351, 95 NE 140, 34 LRA NS 301, AnnCas1912B 401.

[c] In New York under a statute defining robbery as "the unlawful taking of personal property, from the person or in the presence of another, against his will, by means of force,

Statutes prescribing a punishment for robbery without defining the crime[6] do not change the common law definition,[7] which consequently prevails in such jurisdictions.[8]

Statutes prescribing a form of indictment for robbery are not to be construed as definitions of the offense.[9]

Enactment of a statute creating the new offense of train robbery[10] does not repeal a prior statute defining robbery generally.[11]

Enactment of statutes classifying robbery without division into degrees[12] does not repeal existing statutes defining robbery.[13]

[§ 3] 2. Automobile Banditry. Automobile banditry as defined by statute consists in the use or attempt to use an automobile, aeroplane, or other self-propelling vehicle to facilitate escape from the scene of a robbery or other felony.[14]

[§ 4] 3. Conjoint Robbery. Conjoint robbery is a term which has been used under statutes prescribing punishment therefor,[15] as describing robbery committed by two or more persons.[16] or violence, or fear of injury, immediate or future, to his person or property, or the person or property of a relative or member of his family, or of any one in his company at the time of the robbery," [Pen. L. § 2120] robbery is "the unlawful taking of personal property from the person or in the presence of another by means of force or violence." Peo. v. Marwig, 227 N. Y. 382, 125 NE 535, 22 ALR 845. To same effect Peo. v. Emieleta, 238 N. Y. 158, 144 NE 487 (both cases prosecutions for homicide in commission of robbery).

---

[d] In Oklahoma under a statute defining robbery as "a wrongful taking of personal property in the possession of another from his person or immediate presence and against his will, accomplished by means of force or fear (Comp. St. [1921] § 1784), "to constitute 'robbery' the taking must be either directly from the person or immediate presence and against the will of the party robbed, and must be by force or a previous putting in fear." Randall v. State, 33 Okl. Cr. 262, 243 P 983. To same effect Sanders v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 842.

[e] In Texas under a statute providing that "If any person by assault, or violence, or by putting in fear of life or bodily injury, shall fraudulently take from the person or possession of another, any property with intent to appropriate the same to his own use, he shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for life, or for a term of not less than five years; and, when a firearm or other deadly weapon is used or exhibited in the commission of the offense, the punishment shall be death, or by confinement in the penitentiary for any term not less than five years" (Pen. Code art 1327 [856]) "the offense of robbery consists of the fraudulent taking from the person or possession of another of property by some of the means named in the statute." Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 125, 234 SW 406, 408.

Common-law definition see supra § 1.

[5] Peo. v. Shuler, 28 Cal. 490, 492; State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152, 166; Crews v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 350, 353.

"The statutes of most of our states against robbery are merely a reassertion of the common law." State v. Gorham, supra.

"By our Statute robbery is defined to be: 'The felonious taking, from the person of another, goods or money of any value, by violence, or putting in fear.' . . . the one statutory definition, is, in substance, the same as at common law. The elements necessary to make out this offense in the one case, are demanded in the other." Crews v. State, supra.

"The fifty-ninth section of the Act concerning crimes and punishments defines robbery as follows: 'Robbery is the felonious and violent taking of money, goods or other valuable thing from the person of another by force or intimidation.' This in no material respect is different from the common law definition of the crime of robbery." Peo. v. Shuler, supra.

[6] See statutory provisions.

[7] Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 215; Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242.

[8] Ala.—Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791.

Ky.—Cosby v. Com., 185 Ky. 503, 217 SW 357; Com. v. Prewitt, 82 Ky. 240.

Pa.—Com. v. Anagustov, 82 Pa. Super. 156.

Va.—Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764; Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

W. Va.—Franklin v. Brown. 73 W. Va. 727, 81 SE 405, LRA1915C 557.

"Our statute does not define robbery, so that we have to look to the common law for the definition." Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764, 767.

[a] In Louisiana (1) the statute prescribes a punishment for robbery (Rev. St. § 809, 1 Marr Rev. St. § 1700) without defining it, and the crime has been judicially defined as follows: "'Robbery' is the felonious taking of the property of another from his person, or in his presence, against his will, by violence or by putting him in fear." State v. Wilson, 136 La. 345, 67 S 26. (2) "Robbery is a common-law offense, and the English Common law must be resorted to for the definition of it." State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728, 729.

[9] Com. v. Weiner, 255 Mass. 506, 152 NE 359, 360.

"G. L. c. 277, § 39, defines 'robbery,' when used in an indictment, to mean 'the taking and carrying away of personal property of another from his person and against his will, by force and violence, or by assault and putting in fear, with intent to steal'; and section 79 furnishes as a form for an indictment for robbery, 'in cases in which [it is] applicable,' 'under chapter 265, § 19, that A. B., did assault C. D. with intent to rob him, and thereby did rob and steal from the person of said C. D. (mention the property), of the property of said C. D.' Even without the authority given by section 79 for the use of any form of indictment authorized by law, it is manifest that the section contemplates that there may be facts which constitute the offense to which the form given may not be appropriate, and that it does not establish the form as a definition of the offense." Com. v. Weiner, supra.

Indictments:
For robbery generally see infra §§ 82-119.
Statutory forms see Indictments and Informations § 172.

[10] Train robbery see Railroads § 2349.

[11] Smith v. Terr., 4 Ariz. 95, 78 P 1035 (habeas corpus case).

[12] See infra §§ 65-69.

[13] Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631; Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007.

[a] Use of firearms.—Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631; Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007.

[b] Conjoint robbery.—Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007.

[14] See statutory provisions.

[a] In Indiana there is "an act defining the crime of automobile banditry and prescribing the punishment therefor" which provides as follows: "If two or more persons, co-operating and aiding each other therein, shall commit a felony, having at the time on or near the premises where such felony is committed an automobile, motorcycle, aeroplane, or other self-moving conveyance, by the use of which they escape, attempt to escape or intend to escape, or having committed such felony, they seize an automobile, motorcycle, aeroplane, or other self-moving conveyance by the use of which they escape, or attempt to escape, they and each of them shall be guilty of automobile banditry, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the state prison for any determinate period not less than ten (10) years nor more than twenty-five (25) years." Gen. L. (1921) c 32 § 1.

Evidence sufficient to convict see infra § 177 text and note 97.

Robbery of motor vehicle see Motor Vehicles § 1495.

[15] See infra § 67.

[16] Simpson v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 783.

[a] A classification of robbery.—"It is contended that, since the robbery is charged to have been committed by two persons, the prosecution should have been under the conjoint robbery statute (section 1793, Comp. St. 1921). There is but one definition of robbery under the statutes of this state. That is robbery as defined by section 1784, Comp. St. 1921. Conjoint robbery, as referred to in section 1793, Comp. St. 1921 is merely robbery as defined by section 1784, when committed by two or more per-

[§ 5] 4. Highway Robbery. Highway robbery[17] is robbery committed on or near the highway.[18] A robbery committed on a railroad track[19] or wharf[20] is not committed in a highway within the meaning of such statutes. Robbery committed in plain view of[21] and within a reasonable distance from[22] a highway is highway robbery. The fact that neither accused nor prosecutor knew of the road, constitutes no defense.[23]

[§ 6] 5. Plain Robbery. "Plain robbery" is a term having no technical meaning,[24] but sometimes used to distinguish robbery without aggravation from the aggravated classification of the offense.[25]

[§ 7] 6. Rapina. Rapina, as the term is used in the civil law, is "the violent taking from the person of another of money or goods for the sake of gain."[26]

[§ 8] 7. Reif. Reif is a term of old Scotch law meaning robbery.[27]

[§ 9] 8. Robo. "Robo" under the Philippine penal code consists in taking, with intent to gain, any personal property by the use of violence or intimidation against any person or force upon any thing.[28] It is a hybrid crime peculiar to the Philippines, being broader in its scope than either the "rapina" of the civilians,[29] or the "robbery" of the common law.[30] While the offense is often called "robbery," it includes sundry crimes which would be classified as distinct offenses at common law.[31]

Robo en cuadrilla, as that term is used under statutes making it a classification of robbery subject to increased penalty,[32] is shown where robbery is committed by more than three persons armed and acting in concert.[33] It is not shown, however, where the robbers numbered three or less,[34] nor where, although more than three in number, only three or less were armed.[35]

[§ 10] 9. Rob. Broadly speaking, to rob is to steal[36] or thieve.[37]

[§ 11] B. Distinctions.[38] Robbery has been distinguished from assault,[39] bribery,[40] coercion,[41] extortion,[42] false pretenses,[43] larceny,[44] theft,[45] and sons. The latter section is a statute of classification and not of definition." Simpson v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 783, 784.

---

[17] Brigandage or bandolerismo see Bandolerismo 6 C. J. p 1176.

[18] State v. Holt, 192 N. C. 490, 135 SE 324; State v. Brown, 113 N. C. 645, 18 SE 51.

[a] Similar definition.—"Robbery committed on or near the public highway." Encyclopedic D. [quot Anderson v. Hartford, etc., Indemn. Co., 77 Cal. A. 641, 247 P 507 (insurance case)].

[b] History of highway robbery see Anderson v. Hartford, etc., Indemn. Co., 77 Cal. A. 641, 247 P 507.

"Highway" defined generally see Highways § 1.

"Highwayman" 29 C. J. p 352.

[19] State v. Johnson, 61 N. C. 140.

[20] State v. Cowan, 29 N. C. 239.

[21] State v. Nicholson, 124 N. C. 820, 32 SE 813.

[22] State v. Nicholson, supra.

[a] Fifty to seventy five yards from county road.—State v. Nicholson, 124 N. C. 820, 32 SE 813.

[23] State v. Nicholson, supra.

[24] Peo. v. Blumberg, 314 Ill. 567, 145 NE 627.

[25] Peo. v. Blumberg, supra.

Robbery aggravated by:
Conjoint commission see infra § 67.
Dangerous or deadly weapon see infra § 65.

[26] Cyclopedic L. D.

[27] 2 Burrill L. D. (2d ed.) p 398. See also Black L. D. [cit Cowell].

[28] Philippine Pen. Code (1911) art 502.

Distinction between robo and bandolerismo see Bandolerismo 6 C. J. p 1176.

[29] See supra § 7.

[30] Common-law and statutory definitions following same see supra §§ 1, 2.

[31] U. S. v. Flores, 19 Philippine 178, 185.

"The crime of robbery, in its various phases as defined by the Penal Code of these Islands, includes the common-law crimes of burglary, robbery, and some cases of extortion. It does not seem strange or illogical, therefore, to hold the crime proved in the case at bar to be robbery, although in Anglo-Saxon jurisdictions it would probably not be so denominated." U. S. v. Flores, supra.

[32] See statutory provisions.

[33] U. S. v. Giron, 5 Philippine 257; U. S. v. Palilio, 4 Philippine 198; U. S. v. Castro, 4 Philippine 87.

[34] U. S. v. De los Santos, 5 Philippine 565.

[35] U. S. v. Celestino, 14 Philippine 34; U. S. v. Cabuncal, 11 Philippine 415; U. S. v. Aquino, 11 Philippine 244; U. S. v. Melegrito, 11 Philippine 229.

"The criminal act should not be classified as robbery en cuadrilla, for the reason that the record does not show that the four persons who committed the crime were all armed; one of them, only, was seen to carry a stick, and article 505 of the code requires that four or more armed persons unite in the robbery." U. S. v. Barroga, 21 Philippine 161, 163.

"The fact that the thieves, of whom there were more than three, were all armed has not been established, for which reason the deed only deserves to be classified as simple robbery, without the character of cuadrilla." U. S. v. Celestino, 14 Philippine 34, 36.

[36] Baygents v. State, 154 Miss. 36, 122 S 187.

[37] Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561.

[38] Robo as distinct from bandolerismo see Bandolerismo 6 C. J. p 1176.

[39] Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660.

[a] Assault with deadly weapon.—"The gravamen of an alleged assault [with a deadly weapon] is the attack. . . . The gravamen of an alleged robbery is the taking, by means of force or fear, of personal property in the possession of another from his person or immediate presence." Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660, 661.

As included in robbery see supra § 6.

Criminal assault generally see Assault and Battery §§ 173-371.

[40] See Bribery § 1.

[41] U. S. v. Abrille, 36 Philippine 807.

[a] Intention of accused.—"The distinction between the two lines of decisions, the one holding to robbery and the other to coercion, is deemed to be the intention of the accused. Was the purpose with intent to gain to take the property of another by the use of force or intimidation? Then, conviction for robbery. Was the purpose, without authority of law but still believing himself the owner or the creditor, to compel another to do something against his will, and to seize property? Then, conviction for coercion under article 497 of the Penal Code. The motives of the accused are the prime criterion. (5 Groizard, Código Penal, p. 716.) And there was no common robber in the present case, but a man who had fought bitterly for title to his ancestral estate, taking the law into his own hands and attempting to collect what he thought was due him." U. S. v. Abrille, 36 Philippine 807, 809.

Robo see supra § 9.

[42] See Extortion § 2 text and note 10.

[43] See False Pretenses § 98.

[44] See infra text and notes 47-57.

[45] U. S. v. Rosales, 1 Philippine 300.

[a] Distinction illustrated.—"The taking of a bull belonging to Brigido Bonafe from the corral where he was inclosed on the night of Saturday, the 7th of November, 1891, and the destruction of part of the said corral, cannot be properly classified as robbery, but constitutes the crime of theft, since, as in order to take the animal away, it was not necessary to destroy the corral or to cut the stakes driven into the ground. The only thing that was done was to pull up some of these stakes for the purpose of making the opening the thieves required, and so the man in charge found the corral the next day." U. S. v. Rosales, 1 Philippine 300, forcible trespass.[46]

Larceny. In a generic sense larceny and robbery are but different degrees of the same crime,[47] robbery being merely an aggravated form of larceny[48] or theft,[49] the aggravation consisting in the use of actual or constructive violence against the person of the victim.[50] In other words, robbery may be briefly defined as a forcible larceny from the person.[51] While robbery has been termed an aggravated form of larceny, it is a distinct crime.[52] There can be no robbery without violence, and no larceny with it.[53] Therein lies the principal distinction between larceny,[54] including larceny from the person,[55] and robbery. A further distinction is that the crime of larceny may or may not include a taking from the person or presence,[56] whereas the crime of robbery must include such a taking.[57]

II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE

[§ 12] A. In General. Robbery is a felony both at common law[58] and under the statutes,[59] and constitutes an offense against both person and property.[60] It has been characterized as a grave,[61] seri-

---

301.

Robbery as aggravated theft see infra text and note 49.

[46] State v. Deal, 64 N. C. 270; State v. Sowls, 61 N. C. 151, 154.

[a] Distinction stated.—"The distinction between robbery and forcible trespass is, that in the former there is, and in the latter there is not, a felonious intention to take the goods, and appropriate them to the offender's own use." State v. Sowls, 61 N. C. 151, 154. To same effect State v. Deal, 64 N. C. 270, 273.

[47] Cosby v. Com., 185 Ky. 503, 217 SW 357.

[48] Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Okl.—Berry v. State, (Cr.) 279 P 982; Hill v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 406, 200 P 253.

Tex.—Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561.

Va.—Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764.

W. Va.—State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914.

"Larceny" defined see Larceny §§ 1-4.

[49] Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561.

[50] Cal.—Peo. v. Clary, 72 Cal. 59, 13 P 77.

Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Ky.—Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051.

Nev.—State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

N. J.—State v. McDonald, 89 N. J. L. 421, 99 A 128.

Or.—State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

Wash.—State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 P 667.

W. Va.—State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

Force or intimidation as element of robbery see infra §§ 24-44.

[51] Cal.—Peo. v. Clary, 72 Cal. 59, 13 P 77; Peo. v. Jones, 53 Cal. 58.

Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Ind.—Hickey v. State, 23 Ind. 21.

Iowa.—State v. Wasson, 126 Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125.

Kan.—Guffey v. Continental Casualty Co., 109 Kan. 61, 197 P 1098 (action on insurance policy); State v. Segemond, 40 Kan. 107, 19 P 370, 10 AmSR 169.

Ky.—Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051.

La.—State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52.

Mass.—Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. 215.

Nev.—State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

N. J.—State v. McDonald, 89 N. J. L. 421, 99 A 128.

Okl.—Berry v. State, (Cr.) 279 P 982; Randall v. State, 33 Okl. Cr. 262, 243 P 983; Hill v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 406, 200 P 253.

Or.—State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

Va.—Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764.

Wash.—State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 P 667.

W. Va.—State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955.

[a] Robbery is "a compound larceny composed of the crime of larceny from the person with the aggravation of force, actual or constructive, used in the taking." Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 159, 27 ALR 1291.

[52] Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764, 767.

"Robbery is an aggravated form of larceny, but is treated as a distinctive crime." Clark Cr. L. (2d ed.) p 323 [quot Butts v. Com., supra].

[53] Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Actual or constructive violence as element of robbery see infra § 24.

[54] Ark.—Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Ky.—Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162.

Mass.—Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242.

Nev.—State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

Okl.—Randall v. State, 33 Okl. Cr. 262, 243 P 983; Hill v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 406, 200 P 253.

[a] Blackstone said: "Previous violence or putting in fear is the criterion that distinguished robbery from other larcenies." 2 Comm. p 1404 [quot State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260, 262].

[55] Doyle v. State, 77 Ga. 513; Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170; Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107. See also Larceny § 63.

Distinction between larceny from the person and robbery by snatching see infra § 41 text and note 60½.

[56] See Larceny §§ 55-63.

[57] Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162.

[58] 4 Blackstone Comm. pp 97, 241 et seq; 9 Halsbury L. Eng. p 661.

[59] Killingsworth v. State, 90 Fla. 299, 105 S 834.

Within rule making unintended homicide in commission of a felony murder see Homicide § 70 text and note 68.

[60] Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816; Brown v. State, 120 Ala. 342, 25 S 182; Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81; Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791; Parks v. State, 21 Ala. A. 177, 106 S 218; Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725; Hill v. State, 42 Nebr. 503, 60 NW 916 (prosecution for homicide in course of robbery).

"Robbery is an offense against the person as well as against the property of the party robbed, against the person by violence, and against the property by manucaption with felonious intent of taking the property." Brown v. State, 120 Ala. 342, 25 S 182, 184.

[a] In the Philippines (1) under a code provision that: "The crime of robbery is committed by any person who, with intent to gain, shall take any personal property by the use of violence or intimidation against any person or force upon anything" (Pen. Code art 502), robbery may be committed by forcibly taking property from a house without occupants at the time of the taking. U. S. v. Bajet, 25 Philippine 105, 107 (where the court said: "The crime is classified as one of robbery of an inhabited house, since the building was used as a dwelling, although there was no one actually present in the house at the time of the robbery, and such casual absence cannot bring the crime within the classification of robbery in an uninhabited place, for the reason that the building was ordinarily inhabited and intended as a dwelling, the inhabitants of which might have suffered bodily harm during the commission of the crime, and it is on this account that the penal law punishes more severely the robbery of a house used as a dwelling than that committed in an uninhabited place"). (2) But the crime would ordinarily be classified as burglary. See Burglary 9 C. J. p 1006; and especially § 156 text and note 71 [e].

[61] Franklin v. Brown, 73 W. Va. 727, 81 SE 405, LRA1915C 557.

ous,[62] aggravated,[63] infamous,[64] and heinous[65] crime.[66]

Elements enumerated. Generally speaking the elements of robbery are the taking,[67] of personal property or money[68] from the person or presence[69] of another, by actual or constructive force,[70] without his consent,[71] and with the animus furandi or intent to steal.[72] In defining and discussing the crime of robbery the foregoing elements, in whole or in part, often have been stated by the courts.[73]

Included crimes.[74] While distinct therefrom,[75] every robbery includes a larceny,[76] and may include an assault[77] or assault and battery.[78]

[§ 13] B. Particular Elements[79]—1. Taking or Asportation in General. To constitute robbery there must be an asportation.[80] In other words, it must appear that the property was taken from the possession of the victim into that of the robber.[81] But the crime is consummated if the robber acquires possession of the property for even a short time,[82] and his subsequent disposition of the property taken is immaterial.[83]

Compelling another to execute an obligation[84] is not robbery,[85] nor is it robbery to compel another to secure a negotiable instrument from a third person for eventual delivery to defendant.[86]

---

[62] Buckley v. State, 79 Nebr. 86, 112 NW 283.

[63] Buckley v. State, supra.

[64] U. S. v. Evans, 28 App. (D. C.) 264.

[65] State v. Williams, (Mo.) 292 SW 19.

[66] Grades or degrees of robbery see infra §§ 55–71.

Punishment see infra §§ 204–215.

[67] See infra § 13.

[68] See infra §§ 14–19.

[69] See infra §§ 20–23.

[70] See infra §§ 24–44.

[71] See infra §§ 45–48.

[72] See infra §§ 49–53.

[73] Ala.—Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816; Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81.

Ill.—Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35; Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923.

Kan.—Guffey v. Continental Casualty Co., 109 Kan. 61, 197 P 1098 (action on insurance policy).

La.—State v. Hackett, 166 La. 261, 117 S 141.

Utah.—Peo. v. Hughes, 11 Utah 100, 39 P 492.

Va.—Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

[a] Elements stated and explained.—"To constitute this offense there must be (1) violence, but it need only be slight, for anything which calls out resistance is sufficient; or, what will answer in place of actual violence, there must be such demonstrations as put the person robbed in fear. The demonstrations or fear must be of a physical nature, with the single exception that, if one parts with his goods through fear of a threatened charge of sodomy, the taking is robbery. There must therefore be (2) a larceny embracing the same elements as a simple larceny; and (3) the taking must be from what is technically called the 'person,' the meaning of which expression is not that it must necessarily be from the actual contact of the person, but it is sufficient if it is from the personal protection and presence." Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385, 387.

[b] Lord Mansfield's enumeration.—"In 2 East's P. C. 725, Lord Mansfield states that the true nature and original definition of robbery were the felonious taking of property from the person of another by force, in which there were three things to be observed: First, that it must be done feloniously; second, that it must be from the person of another; and, third, that it must be done by force." Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923, 927.

[74] Conviction of under indictment for robbery see Indictments and Informations §§ 497, 523.

[75] See supra § 11.

[76] Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836; State v. Hackett, 166 La. 261, 117 S 141; State v. McDonald, 89 N. J. L. 421, 99 A 128.

"Larceny is a necessary ingredient of the crime of robbery." State v. McDonald, supra.

Robbery as aggravated larceny see supra § 11.

[77] Com. v. Anagustov, 82 Pa. Super. 156, 158.

[78] Com. v. Anagustov, supra.

"Under all authorities the offense involves assault, assault and battery, or putting in fear; and the latter is constructive assault. There can be no robbery without an assault or putting in fear." Com. v. Anagustov, supra.

[79] As element of larceny see Larceny §§ 43–63.

Asportation defined generally see Asportation 5 C. J. p 607.

[80] Ala.—Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816.

Ill.—Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107, 14 Ann Cas 186.

Mass.—Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. 215.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Alcantara, 6 Philippine 387.

Va.—Green v. Com., 133 Va. 695, 112 SE 562.

W. Va.—State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955.

[81] U. S. v. Alcantara, 6 Philippine 387; Green v. Com., 133 Va. 695, 112 SE 562; State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955.

[a] "The taking must be the securing dominion or absolute control of the property. The absolute dominion must exist at some time, though it be only momentary." Green v. Com., 133 Va. 695, 112 SE 562, 563.

[b] Passively receiving property delivered to defendant for safekeeping and subsequently misappropriating the same is an offense, but not the offense of robbery because there is no "taking" in the technical sense of that word as used in the law of robbery. U. S. v. Alcantara, 6 Philippine 387 (jewels).

[82] Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107, 14 Ann Cas 186; State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83; Rex v. Lapier, 1 Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263; Rex v. Peat, 1 Leach C. C. 228, 168 Reprint 216.

[a] One minute.—State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83.

[b] Fraction of a minute.—Rex v. Peat, 1 Leach C. C. 228, 168 Reprint 216.

[c] A single second.—Rex v. Lapier, 1 Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263.

[83] State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83; Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265; Rex v. Lapier, 1 Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263; Rex v. Peat, 1 Leach C. C. 228, 168 Reprint 216.

[a] Abandonment.—Where defendant had seen his victim put two hundred dollars into his coat pocket, and the next day held him up and deprived him of the coat, he was guilty of robbery even though the money was no longer in the coat and defendant on discovering this threw the coat away. Under such circumstances defendant was guilty of robbing the victim of his coat, the offense having been complete when he forcibly deprived his victim thereof, and the subsequent disposition of the coat being immaterial. Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265.

[b] Loss.—Where defendant forcibly tore an earring from a lady's ear, but had no sooner secured the earring than he lost it again when it fell into her hair, he was nevertheless guilty of a completed robbery. Rex v. Lapier, Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263.

[c] Return to owner.—Where defendant by threat of violence secured his victim's purse, but immediately returned it with the remark: "If you value your purse you will please to take it back, and give me the contents of it," and at this instant defendant was overpowered, the offense had been completed when he took the purse and consequently his immediate return thereof and subsequent apprehension before he could escape with it did not prevent conviction for robbery. Rex v. Peat, 1 Leach C. C. 228, 168 Reprint 216.

[84] Not attempt to rob see infra § 217 text and note 38.

[85] McKeown v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 381, 246 P 659; Rex v. Phipoe, 2 Leach C. C. 673, 168 Reprint 438.

[a] At common law.—Where defendant threatened her victim with a carving knife and thus induced him to execute a promissory note in defendant's favor, the crime was not robbery, for the note written with defendant's ink on defendant's paper could not be considered as property of the victim taken from the latter. Rex v. Phipoe, 2 Leach C. C. 673, 168 Reprint 438.

[b] Under a statute defining robbery as the wrongful taking of personal property in the possession of another from his person or immediate presence and against his will, accomplished by means of force or fear, compelling another to execute and deliver an instrument purporting to create an obligation is not robbery, because there is no taking of property. McKeown v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 381, 246 P 659, 660 (where the court said: "There was not a taking of

[§ 14] 2. Property Taken—a. Nature of Property—(1) In General. The same property which is the subject of larceny[87] is the subject of robbery,[88] and the crime of robbery does not otherwise depend upon the kind of property taken.[89]

[§ 15] (2) Choses in Action and Documents Evidencing Same.[90] At common law choses in action are not a subject of robbery,[91] nor are the evidences thereof as such subjects of robbery.[92] But the physical evidence of a chose in action may be the subject of robbery in so far as it represents a memorandum of value to the person from whom taken.[93]

Under statutes making it robbery feloniously and forcibly to take "money or personal property" when read in connection with other statutory provisions making the evidences of choses in action the subject of larceny,[94] physical evidences of choses in action may be the subject of robbery.[95] Under the rule that robbery is merely an aggravated form of larceny,[96] and under statutes providing that the subjects of theft shall embrace every species of personal property capable of being taken,[97] evidences of choses in action may be the subjects of robbery.[98]

[§ 16] b. Value.[99] So long as the property taken has some value,[1] the amount of its value is immaterial both at common law[2] and under statutes containing no requirement respecting the amount of value.[3] An actual pecuniary value is not essential, so long as it appears that the property had some value to the person robbed.[4] property from the person or immediate presence of another, but a settlement of a claimed injury under duress, or on extortion by the defendant").

---

[c] Conviction of robbery reversed because crime really extortion.—Where any person, by extortionate means, obtains from another his signature to any paper or instrument, whereby, if such signature were freely given, a debt, demand, charge, or right of action is created, the offense is "extortion" and not "robbery." McKeown v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 381, 246 P 659.

Choses in action as subjects of robbery see infra § 15.

Obtaining money or property by threats see Threats [38 Cyc 289].

86. State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955.

[a] Check.—Where defendants threatened to kill one Wallace unless he gave them two hundred dollars, and while accompanied by the armed defendants Wallace persuaded a friend to give to him a check for two hundred dollars to the order of one of the defendants, giving such friend another check drawn by Mrs. Wallace to the order of such friend in exchange, all of this occurring in West Virginia, prior to going to Kentucky where the friend's check was delivered by Wallace to one of the defendants, there was no robbery committed in West Virginia, because nothing was there taken by defendant. State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955 (whether there was a robbery in Kentucky, quære).

87. See Larceny §§ 5-42.

88. State v. Lapista, 30 Del. 260, 105 A 676; State v. Trexler, 4 N. C. 188, 6 AmD 558.

89. Stephens v. State, 92 Fla. 43, 109 S 303; State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83.

Choses in action see infra § 15.

90. As subjects of larceny see Larceny §§ 8, 26, 27.

Compelling execution of instrument see supra § 13 text and notes 84-86.

91. Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561 (stating common law rule although decided under statute).

92. Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249. See State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955 (quære whether taking a check can constitute robbery).

[a] Promissory note.—"If by putting in fear, or by actual violence to the person, a promissory note is extorted, this is not robbery, for the note is void. It is of no value to the wrongdoer, and of no detriment to him from whom it is forced." Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249, 252.

93. Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249, 252; Rex v. Bingley, 5 C. & P. 602, 24 ECL 729, 172 Reprint 1118.

"Taking by violence from the person of the prosecutor a slip of paper containing a memorandum of a sum of money, which was due or owing to him from another, is robbery. The paper was not evidence of the debt which could have been used against the debtor, but it was evidence that reminded the prosecutor of the existence and amount of the debt; and, as was said by the court, his keeping of it showed that he considered it of some value." Jackson v. State, supra.

94. See statutory provisions. And see Larceny § 27.

95. Turner v. State, 1 Oh. St. 422.

[a] Bank notes regarded not as money but as personal property. Turner v. State, 1 Oh. St. 422.

96. See supra § 11.

97. See statutory provisions.

98. Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561.

[a] Check.—Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561, 563.

99. As affecting grade or degree of offense see infra § 70.

1. Ware v. State, 12 Ala. A. 101, 67 S 763; Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417; State v. McAllister, 65 W. Va. 97, 63 SE 758, 131 AmSR 955.

2. Ware v. State, 12 Ala. A. 101, 67 S 763; Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249; James v. State, 53 Ala. 380; State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83; Rex v. Bingley, 5 C. & P. 602, 24 ECL 729, 172 Reprint 1118.

[a] "A penny as well as a pound forcibly extorted, constitutes a robbery, the gist of the offense being the force and terror." Roscoe Cr. Ev. p 908 [quot James v. State, 53 Ala. 380, 387].

3. Ark.—Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561, 563.

Cal.—Peo. v. Stevens, 141 Cal. 488, 75 P 62.

Fla.—Stephens v. State, 92 Fla. 43, 109 S 303.

Ga.—McDow v. State, 110 Ga. 293, 34 SE 1019.

Ill.—Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417; Peo. v. Christy, 302 Ill. 343, 134 NE 713.

Kan.—State v. Tucker, 115 Kan. 203, 222 P 96.

Mo.—State v. Craft, 23 SW (2d) 183.

Okl.—Berry v. State, (Cr.) 279 P 982.

Philippine.—U. S. v. De la Cruz, 12 Philippine 87.

Tex.—Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 125, 234 SW 406.

Wash.—State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141; State v. Rowan, 84 Wash. 158, 146 P 374, 375.

[a] Whether the victim is robbed of ten cents or ten thousand dollars is immaterial.—State v. Tucker, 115 Kan. 203, 222 P 96.

[b] About three dollars.—Where the defense to a charge of robbery was that nothing of value was taken from the victim, proof that the defendants took two one dollar bills and some silver was sufficient to sustain a conviction of robbery. Peo. v. Christy, 302 Ill. 343, 134 NE 713.

Amount as fixing degree see infra § 70.

4. Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249; Rex v. Bingley, 5 C. & P. 602, 24 ECL 729, 172 Reprint 1118.

[a] Memorandum slip.—A, who attacked B and by violence took from him a piece of paper on which was written a memorandum respecting money due B, was properly found guilty of robbery, as "the prosecutor, by carrying this memorandum in his pocket, shewed that he considered that it was of some value to himself." Rex v. Bingley, 5 C. & P. 602, 603, 24 ECL 729, 172 Reprint 1118.

[b] Old valise.—"It was not necessary, as these instructions import, that it should have been proved in every event, that the valise had any specific pecuniary value. If there was evidence showing that it was not worthless—that it was not wholly unfit for use, or that the owner kept and preserved it as of value to him, it was the subject of robbery, though the pecuniary value which could be imputed to it was nominal, insignificant, or incapable of estimation." Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249, 252.

[§ 17] c. Ownership—(1) By Person from Whom Taken. It is not essential that property should be taken from the actual owner,[5] or holder of the legal title,[6] a qualified or special property right in the victim being sufficient.[7] In other words, the charge of robbery may be sustained by proof that property was forcibly taken from the care,[8] custody,[9] control,[10] management,[11] or possession,[12] of one having a right superior to that of the robber.[13] It must, however, appear that the person from whose presence property was taken had control or dominion over it, even though he did not actually own it,[14] and, according to certain authority, his custody thereof must be of a character sufficient to serve as the basis of a possessory action.[15] The foregoing rules apply both at common law and under statutes declaratory thereof, in this respect,[16] and the courts have pointed out that there is no difference between the common law and particular statutory provisions in respect to the victim's ownership or possession of property.[17]

Robbing a thief. Robbery may be committed by

---

5. Ala.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

Ark.—Lanahan v. State, 176 Ark. 104, 2 SW (2d) 55.

Cal.—Peo. v. Anderson, 80 Cal. 205, 22 P 139; Peo. v. Shuler, 28 Cal. 490; Peo. v. Vice, 21 Cal. 344.

Ga.—Stegar v. State, 39 Ga. 583, 99 AmD 472.

Ill.—Peo. v. Ziderowski, 325 Ill. 232, 156 NE 274.

La.—State v. Hobgood, 46 La. Ann. 855, 15 S 406.

Mass.—Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. 215.

Mich.—Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442; Durand v. Peo., 47 Mich. 332, 11 NW 184.

Minn.—State v. Schnachtel, 157 Minn. 272, 196 NW 674.

Mo.—State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRA 343, 2 AnnCas 261.

Mont.—State v. Reagin, 64 Mont. 481, 210 P 86 (homicide in course of attempted robbery).

Nebr.—Peterson v. State, 115 Nebr. 302, 212 NW 610.

Nev.—State v. Ah Loi, 5 Nev. 99.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Madas, 201 N. Y. 349, 94 NE 857, AnnCas1912B 229; Brooks v. Peo., 49 N. Y. 436, 10 AmR 398.

Okl.—Robards v. State, 37 Okl. Cr. 371, 259 P 166.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86.

Tex.—Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619.

Eng.—Spencer's Case, 2 East P. C. 712.

[a] Apparent ownership is sufficient.—State v. Hobgood, 46 La. Ann. 855, 15 S 406.

[b] Child of owner.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991 (emancipation of child immaterial, as child's title made no difference where he at any rate had possession); Brooks v. Peo., 49 N. Y. 436, 10 AmR 398, 1 Cow. Cr. 503.

[c] Employee of owner.—Peo. v. Cabasso, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442; State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRA 343; Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619.

6. Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991; Com. v. Weiner, 255 Mass. 506, 509, 152 NE 359; State v. Huffman, (Mo.) 238 SW 430; Ibeck v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 287, 16 SW (2d) 232 (1st case).

"The essence of robbery is the exertion of force, actual or constructive, against another in order to take personal property of any value whatsoever, with the intention of stealing it, from the protection which the person of that other affords. . . . It is not affected by the state of the legal title to the goods taken." Com. v. Weiner, supra.

[a] Robber interrupting sale.—Where one Floyd was buying an auto from one Bertagni and had paid Bertagni one thousand and fifty dollars when defendant came along and forcibly took the money, in a prosecution for robbing Bertagni it was not material whether or not the sale had been consummated and title to the money had actually passed to Bertagni, as defendant was equally guilty whether Bertagni held the money as owner or bailee. State v. Huffman, (Mo.) 238 SW 430.

[b] Title in fee need not be in victim.—Ibeck v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 287, 16 SW (2d) 232 (1st case).

7. Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923, 927.

"The rule is satisfied by a showing of qualified or special property in the person assaulted in the thing taken in the robbery. The reason for this rule finds its basis in the common law, and is recognized by numerous states in this country and by the courts of England." Peo. v. Knox, supra.

8. Peo. v. Ziderowski, 325 Ill. 232, 156 NE 274; Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673; Ibeck v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 287, 16 SW (2d) 232 (1st case).

9. Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673; Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442; State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRA 343, 2 AnnCas 261; Robards v. State, 37 Okl. Cr. 371, 259 P 166.

10. Ala.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

Ark.—Lanahan v. State, 176 Ark. 104, 2 SW (2d) 55.

Ill.—Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673.

Mich.—Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442.

Okl.—Robards v. State, 37 Okl. Cr. 371, 259 P 166.

Tex.—Ibeck v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 287, 16 SW (2d) 232.

11. Ibeck v. State, supra.

12. Ala.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

Ark.—Lanahan v. State, 176 Ark. 104, 2 SW (2d) 55.

Cal.—Peo. v. Dean, 66 Cal. A. 602, 226 P 943.

Ga.—Stegar v. State, 39 Ga. 583, 99 AmD 472.

Ill.—Peo. v. Ziderowski, 325 Ill. 232, 156 NE 274.

La.—State v. Hobgood, 46 La. Ann. 855, 15 S 406.

Mo.—State v. Huffman, 238 SW 430; State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRA 343, 2 AnnCas 261.

Mont.—State v. Reagin, 64 Mont. 481, 210 P 86 (prosecution for homicide in commission of attempted robbery).

Philippine.—U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86.

Tex.—Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619; Clark v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 107, 220 SW 100.

Eng.—Spencer's Case, 2 East P. C. 712.

"The possession of the property is sufficient. Ownership is not necessary." U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86, 107.

[a] Possession by officer of law.—The possession of an undersheriff, robbed of property taken under process of law, though claimed by a third person, is sufficient possession to support robbery, as against party accused. State v. Reagin, 64 Mont. 481, 210 P 86 (prosecution for homicide in commission of attempted robbery).

[b] Exclusive possession is sufficient.—Lanahan v. State, 176 Ark. 104, 2 SW (2d) 55.

[c] Legal possession is sufficient.—Stegar v. State, 39 Ga. 583, 99 AmD 472.

13. Effect of ownership by accused see infra § 18.

Robbing thief see infra text and note 18.

14. State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 983; State v. Hall, 54 Wash. 142, 102 P 888.

[a] "For instance, if A. takes the property of B. from the immediate presence of C. by force or putting in fear, A. is not guilty of the crime of robbery unless B. had control and dominion over C.'s property at the time of the taking." State v. Hall, 54 Wash. 142, 102 P 888.

[b] Rule applied.—Where an indictment mentioned only W as the owner, and then alleged a forcible taking from the presence of W's wife, who was not alleged to have even a special property in the money taken, it was insufficient to charge robbery. State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979.

15. State v. Lawler, supra.

[a] "The turning point and test rule in all cases of this sort may be formulated into this question: Did the party alleged in the indictment to be the owner have such a special property or right of possession in the goods as would enable him to maintain an action for them if taken out of his custody? If this interrogatory be answered affirmatively, then prosecution will lie in the name of such alleged owner; otherwise, not." State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 983, 51 AmSR 575.

16. See supra text and notes 5–15.

17. See cases infra this note.

[a] Particular statutory provisions (1) defining robbery as the forcible taking of property of another (State v. Adams, 58 Kan. 365, 49 P 81; Com. v. Weiner, 255 Mass. 506, 152 NE 359 [where the court said: "G. L. c. 277, § 39, defines 'robbery' when used in an indictment, to mean 'The taking and carrying away of per-taking property even from one who has himself stolen it.[18]

[§ 18] (2) By Accused. To be the subject of robbery, the ownership or right of possession of the property taken must be in another than defendant.[19] The owner of property is ordinarily[20] not guilty of robbery in forcibly taking it from another,[21] as where he violently retakes his property from one who has acquired it unlawfully.[22]

Gambling proceeds. It is generally held that the loser in a game of chance may forcibly retake his lost property or money without being guilty of robbery,[23] although some authorities make a distinction between fairly conducted and unfairly conducted games, holding that one who loses fairly is guilty of robbery in retaking his losses by force[23½] but is not guilty of robbery in retaking that of which he has been cheated.[23⅓] Further it has been held that a winner is not guilty of robbery in taking his winnings from the banker of the game[23¼] or directly from the loser.[23⅕]

[§ 19] (3) Contraband[24] Property. Contraband property may be the subject of robbery.[25] Statutes providing that no property rights shall exist in property of a specified character,[26] do not preclude private ownership of such property sufficient to make it the subject of robbery.[27]

---

sonal property of another from his person and against his will, by force and violence, or by assault and putting in fear, with intent to steal'; . . . The grammatical construction of § 39 indicates that 'the personal property of another,' taken 'from his person,' shall belong to him; but it does not make clear the extent of his proprietary interest in it. We do not think the definition was intended to narrow the language of Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 215, which declared that the property taken away must be that of the person robbed or of some third person. That case did not set out who the third person must be, but it seems that the court assumed him to be any one other than the robber; for the essential point of the decision was that an indictment which failed to set out the ownership was insufficient, and the reason given was that in the absence of such an allegation, the charge might be proved by evidence that the accused took from the victim property belonging to himself which he had the right to retake forcibly, no robbery having been committed"]), (2) or as forcibly taking property from the person of another (Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442 [where the court said: "The first offense mentioned and described by the statute in the language, 'If any person shall assault another and shall feloniously rob, steal and take from his person any money or other property,' covers a robbery of the kind alleged in the first count in the information to have been committed. McMullen, though not the actual owner of the property stolen, was in custody and control of it"]) have been construed as not changing the rule that the victim's possession of the property taken is sufficient without actual ownership.

[18] State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52; Com. v. Finn, 108 Mass. 466; U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86.

Alleging right to possession in indictment see infra § 98.

[19] Peo. v. Vice, 21 Cal. 344; Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836; Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 215.

Rules in larceny see Larceny §§ 74–84.

[20] See Triplett v. Com., 122 Ky. 35, 91 SW 281, 283, 28 KyL 974 (wherein the court held defendant not guilty of robbery in retaking property under a claim of right because there was no felonious intent, and then added: "We do not mean to hold that one may not be guilty of robbery . . . by the wrongful taking of his own property, if he thereby designs to commit a fraud or entail a loss upon a rightful bailee or upon another").

Larceny by stealing one's own property from bailee see Larceny § 150.

[21] Ala.—Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791.

Cal.—Peo. v. Vice, 21 Cal. 344.

Iowa.—State v. Wasson, 126 Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125.

Okl.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

Tex.—Smedley v. State, 30 Tex. 214; Temple v. State, 86 Tex. Cr. 219, 215 SW 965; Barnes v. State, 9 Tex. A. 128.

Wash.—State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

But see Black v. State, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 588 (where defendants were indicted for forcibly taking a slave and evidence of their alleged title to the property was rejected on the theory that ownership would furnish no defense to the charge. It is not clear, however, whether the charge was robbery or some different crime).

[a] "It is well settled that one cannot be guilty of robbery by taking his own specific property from the possession of another, although the taking may be accomplished under such circumstances as would amount to robbery if the property belonged to the person from whom it was taken." Temple v. State, 86 Tex. Cr. 219, 215 SW 965, 966.

[b] Though he may be guilty of another offense the owner of property is not guilty of robbery in taking it from the person of the possessor. Peo. v. Vice, 21 Cal. 344.

[c] Reason for rule.—"The rule, moreover, is not without reason in its support. A contrary rule would prevent an owner of property who caught a thief in the act of carrying away his property from retaking the property by force or by putting the thief in fear, contrary to that general principle that a man has the right to protect his property against the unlawful invasion of another by such acts of force as are necessary to so protect it." State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742, 744.

Taking under claim of right as affecting intent see infra § 52.

[22] State v. Price, 38 Ida. 149, 219 P 1049; Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 215; Fisher v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 229, 277 SW 386, 42 ALR 740; Glenn v. State, 49 Tex. Cr. 349, 92 SW 806, 13 AnnCas 774; State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

[a] Forcibly retaking from thief.—State v. Price, 38 Ida. 149, 219 P 1049.

[23] Gant v. State, 115 Ga. 205, 41 SE 698; State v. Price, 38 Ida. 149, 219 P 1049; Sikes v. Com., 34 SW 902, 17 KyL 1353; Thompson v. Com., 18 SW 1022, 13 KyL 1916.

[a] Illustration.—In a prosecution for robbery, an instruction that, if a person losing at cards voluntarily delivers the money lost to the winner's actual possession, the winner owns the money, so that the forcible taking of it from his possession may constitute robbery, is reversible error. State v. Price, 38 Ida. 149, 219 P 1049.

Right to recover gambling losses generally see Gaming §§ 314–331.

[23½] Coker v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 504, 160 SW 366; Blain v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 448, 31 SW 368.

[23⅓] Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204 (fraudulent dice); Fisher v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 229, 277 SW 386, 42 ALR 740 (marked cards); Temple v. State, 86 Tex. Cr. 219, 215 SW 965 (false statement as to number of cards in deck) [dist Blain v. State, supra, and Carroll v. State, infra].

[a] Defendant's mere claim that his money was won by unfair practices is insufficient to save him from a charge of robbery in retaking by force losses peaceably paid over and in the possession of his opponent. Carroll v. State, 42 Tex. Cr. 30, 57 SW 99.

[23¼] Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

[a] Illustration.—If defendant himself wins under the rules of the game, and the "banker" takes the money and puts it "in the game," defendant is not guilty of robbery in forcibly taking his original stake and winnings. Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

[23⅕] Smith v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 81 SW 712 (craps).

[24] "Contraband" defined see 13 C. J. p 210.

[25] Lout v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 73, 244 P 818 (prosecution for homicide in commission of robbery); Arner v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 23, 197 P 710; U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86.

[a] Intoxicating liquor.—Arner v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 23, 197 P 710.

[b] Opium.—U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86.

[26] See statutory provisions.

[27] Ray v. Com., 230 Ky. 656, 20 SW (2d) 484, 66 ALR 1297.

"No contention is made that the whisky taken was without value. Counsel rely solely, to sustain their contention, upon the proposition that the prosecuting witness had no property rights in it. . . . It is the business of the state, through its duly constituted peace officers, to bring [§ 20] 3. Taking from Person, Presence, or Possession[28]—a. Necessity for. Since robbery is an offense against the person as well as against property,[29] it is essential to the crime that there should be a taking from the "person" of the victim.[30] To satisfy this requirement, however, it is sufficient if property be taken from his "presence."[31] In other words, the property must be actually or constructively taken from the person,[32] or as some authorities have phrased the rule, it must be taken from the "person or presence,"[33] or from the "person or possession"[34] of the victim.

From "possession" and person or presence. Under statutes defining robbery as a wrongful taking of personal property in the possession of another from his person or immediate presence,[35] it must appear that the taking was not only from the person or presence but also from the possession[36] of the victim. But if the property is on the person of the victim, and not merely in his presence, his possession thereof sufficiently appears.[37]

[§ 21] b. What Constitutes Taking from Person—(1) At Common Law. At common law it is not necessary that the property should be taken from the physical person of the victim,[38] the requirement that it be taken from his "person" being satisfied if it is taken from his "presence."[39]

[§ 22] (2) Under Statutes. The requirement of a taking from the person is satisfied by a taking from the presence under statutes defining robbery as a felonious and forcible taking from the "person,"[40]

---

such action as the law prescribes against contraband property and its users, and it is not the privilege of highwaymen to hold up at the point of a gun the possessors of contraband property and take it away from them by force, nor did the Legislature so intend by merely providing that such possessor should have no property rights in the property when unlawfully kept." Arner v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 23, 197 P 710, 712.

[28] Necessity of alleging in indictment see infra § 100.

[29] See supra § 12 text and note 60.

[30] U. S.—Weisman v. U. S., 1 F. (2d) 696, 697 [quot Cyc]; U. S. v. Jones, 1 F. Cas. No. 15,494, 3 Wash. C. C. 209.

Cal.—Peo. v. Beck, 21 Cal. 385.

Ga.—Stegar v. State, 39 Ga. 583, 99 AmD 472.

Hawaii.—Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725, 732 [cit Cyc].

Ill.—O'Donnell v. Peo., 224 Ill. 218, 79 NE 639.

Iowa.—State v. Leighton, 56 Iowa 595, 9 NW 896.

Mo.—State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575.

Tenn.—Crews v. State, 3 Coldw. 350; Kit v. State, 11 Humphr. 167.

Va.—Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

Eng.—Rex v. Phipoe, 2 Leach C. C. 673, 168 Reprint 438.

[31] See infra §§ 21, 22.

[32] Crews v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 350, 353.

"The taking must be felonious and forcible, from the person of the party robbed, either active [actual] or constructive. It is actual, when, in fact, the taking is immediately from the person; and constructive, when in the possession of the party robbed, as if the robber having first assaulted the owner, takes away his horse standing near, or having put him in fear, drives away his cattle, or takes up his pelisse or cloak, which the owner, to save it from the robber, had thrown into the bush." Crews v. State, supra.

[33] Ala.—Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816.

Ark.—Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Ill.—Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Sicks, 299 Ill. 282, 132 NE 573.

Hawaii.—Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725.

Mo.—State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575.

[34] Hamilton v. Com., 12 Ky. Op. 613; Whitt v. Com., 1 Ky. Op. 185.

[35] See statutory provisions.

[36] Peo. v. Ham Tong, 155 Cal. 579, 102 P 263, 132 AmSR 110, 24 LRA NS 481; Peo. v. Ho Sing, 6 Cal. A. 752, 93 P 204.

[37] Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865, 872.

"Property may be in the possession of a person and still not be on his person; but it is impossible for property to be on the person without also being in the possession of such person. Therefore it is a necessary presumption, and this court takes judicial notice of the fact, that property is in the possession of the person who has it on his person." Rasberry v. State, supra.

[38] Waters v. State, 22 Ala. A. 644, 119 S 248; Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791; James v. State, 53 Ala. 380; Com. v. Dantine, 261 Pa. 496, 104 A 672 (prosecution for homicide in commission of robbery); Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

[a] Illustration.—A, traveling with B, and having been intrusted with B's goods to help carry them, by violence feloniously exerted against B, carried off the goods. A was guilty of robbery, since up to the time of the violence his possession was constructively that of B, and the taking being in B's presence, was constructively from his person. James v. State, 53 Ala. 380.

[39] Ala.—Rice v. State, 204 Ala. 104, 85 S 437; Hill v. State, 145 Ala. 58, 40 S 654; Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791.

Hawaii.—Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725 (stating common law rule but decided under statute).

Pa.—Com. v. Dantine, 261 Pa. 496, 104 A 672 (prosecution for homicide in commission of robbery).

Va.—Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

Eng.—Rex v. Selway, 8 Cox C. C. 235; Rex v. Francis, Str. 1015, 93 Reprint 1004; Rex v. Grey, East P. C. 708; Rex v. Donnally, 1 Leach C. C. 193, 199, 168 Reprint 241.

[a] Taking from direct personal control.—Taking property from the presence of a person and under his direct physical personal control, as where the property is lying beside the victim, is the equivalent of taking from his person. Rice v. State, 204 Ala. 104, 85 S 437.

[b] By the great weight of authority, the words "taking from the person of another," as used in connection with the common-law definition of robbery, are not restricted in application to those cases in which the property taken is in actual contact with the person of the one from whom it is taken, but include within their meaning the taking by violence or intimidation from the person wronged, in his presence, of property which either belongs to him or which is under his personal protection and control." Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791, 793.

[40] Fla.—Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

Ga.—Crawford v. State, 90 Ga. 701, 17 SE 628, 35 AmSR 242 (homicide in course of robbery).

Ill.—Peo. v. O'Hara, 332 Ill. 436, 163 NE 804; Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Sicks, 299 Ill. 282, 132 NE 573; O'Donnell v. Peo., 224 Ill. 218, 79 NE 639.

Iowa.—State v. Calhoun, 72 Iowa 432, 34 NW 194, 2 AmSR 252.

Mass.—Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517; Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517.

Mich.—Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442, 444; Peo. v. Covelesky, 217 Mich. 90, 185 NW 770.

Nebr.—Hill v. State, 42 Nebr. 503, 60 NW 916.

Oh.—Turner v. State, 1 Oh. St. 422.

Tenn.—Crews v. State, 3 Coldw. 350.

"The words 'from the person of another,' as used in our statute, have the same meaning with which they were used at common law, and robbery may be committed by violence or putting in fear and feloniously taking money or other property from the person or in the presence or under the immediate control and possession of the person assaulted." Peo. v. O'Hara, 332 Ill. 436, 163 NE 804, 806.

[a] Illustration.—As to jewelry delivered to defendant by the complaining witness' maid, it was unnecessary, in order to establish robbery, to prove that property was taken from person of the complaining witness; it being enough if it was in her protection or control, and that by violence or putting in fear she was compelled to surrender it. Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517.

[b] From money drawer and bank vault in presence of cashier having custody and control thereof. Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

"person or presence,"[41] or "person or possession"[42] of another. It is not necessary that the property taken should have been in actual contact with the person of the victim.[43]

[§ 23] c. What Constitutes Taking from Presence or Possession. Under the rule that a taking from the "presence" of another is equivalent to a taking from his "person,"[44] by "presence" is meant a possession or control so immediate that violence or intimidation is essential to sunder it.[45] But property may be in the possession and control of another without being in his presence,[46] and it is not robbery to take property from the possession or control of a person so far absent that neither force nor intimidation is used to effect the taking.[47] Whether or not there was a taking from the "presence" is therefore a question to be determined in accordance with the circumstances of the particular case.[48]

Possession. Under statutes providing that a person shall be punished for robbery if he feloniously and forcibly takes property "from the person or possession of another,"[49] or defining robbery as the forcible and felonious taking of property "in the possession of another, from his person or immediate presence,"[50] forcibly taking money from a place under the personal protection of the victim is taking it from his "possession."

[§ 24] 4. Force or Intimidation—a. Necessity for—(1) In General. There can be no robbery without violence,[51] actual or constructive,[52] used or threatened.[53] Force or intimidation is the very gist of the crime,[54] its distinguishing characteristic,[55] and all the authorities hold that to establish robbery it must be shown that the taking was accomplished either by force or by putting in fear.[56]

---

[41] Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725, 732; State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302, 303; State v. Lamb, 242 Mo. 398, 146 SW 1169; State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575; Peo. v. Emieleta, 238 N. Y. 158, 144 NE 487 (prosecution for homicide in course of robbery); Peo. v. Madas, 201 N. Y. 349, 94 NE 857, AnnCas1912B 229.

"It was not necessary to a conviction to show . . . the taking of the property directly from her person. . . . It is enough if the property is taken in her presence." State v. Smith, supra.

[42] Ibeck v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 287, 16 SW (2d) 232.

"The only other exception to the charge was for its failure to tell the jury that in order to make appellant guilty of robbery, the property taken must have been on or about Compton's person. This we think not a sound rule. One may be robbed of money or other property not taken from his person." Ibeck v. State, supra.

[43] Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44; State v. Calhoun, 72 Iowa 432, 34 NW 194, 2 AmSR 252; Peo. v. Covelesky, 217 Mich. 90, 185 NW 770.

[44] See supra §§ 21, 22.

[45] State v. Calhoun, 72 Iowa 432, 34 NW 194, 2 AmSR 252; Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442; State v. Williams, (Mo.) 183 SW 308.

[a] From the "person" statute.—"The thought of the statute, as expressed in the language, is that the property must be so in the possession or under the control of the individual robbed that violence or putting in fear was the means used by the robber to take it. If it be away from the owner, yet under his control, in another room of the house, as in this case, it is nevertheless in his personal possession; and, if he is deprived thereof, it may well be said it is taken from his person. Goods are called personal property in the law, and presumed to accompany the person. If taken from the owner, this relation of owner and property is surrendered, and the goods are separated from the person." State v. Calhoun, 72 Iowa 432, 436, 34 NW 194, 2 AmSR 252 [quot Peo. v. Cabassa, 249 Mich. 543, 229 NW 442, 444].

[b] "Person or presence" statute.—In a prosecution for robbery, where money was taken from a ticket office, it was done "in the presence of" the station agent, who had been shot, and was lying on the floor of the waiting room, and could hear the noise through the open ticket window, which connected the two rooms. State v. Williams, (Mo.) 183 SW 308.

[46] Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Sicks, 299 Ill. 282, 132 NE 573.

[47] Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664, 665; Peo. v. Sicks, 299 Ill. 282, 132 NE 573; Whitt v. Com., 1 Ky. Op. 185.

[48] See cases infra this note.

[a] Taking from presence shown.—(1) Defendants, who forcibly entered an express car and by violence ejected the express agent, cut the train into two parts and moved a portion about a quarter of a mile, where they blew the safe, were guilty of robbery. State v. Kennedy, 154 Mo. 268, 55 SW 293. (2) While B was in his smokehouse, about fifteen paces from his house, defendant came up and said that if B put his head out, he would "shoot it off." B, being thus detained, codefendant entered the house and carried off valuables of B, who did not know why he was detained until defendants had left. This was a sufficient taking in the presence of B to constitute robbery. Clements v. State, 84 Ga. 660, 11 SE 505, 20 AmSR 385.

[b] Taking from presence not shown.—A and B were walking together, B carrying A's bundle, when C and D came up and assaulted A. B threw down the bundle, and ran to the assistance of A, when C took it up and made off with it. C and D were indicted for robbery, A being the prosecutor. It was held, that they could not be convicted of the robbery, but only of simple larceny, as the thing stolen was not in the personal custody of the prosecutor. Rex v. Fallows, 5 C. & P. 508, 24 ECL 680, 172 Reprint 1075.

[49] Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619; Clark v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 107, 220 SW 100.

[a] Locked safe.—Where two defendants, one of whom knew the combination of a safe, at the point of a pistol held up a railroad employee on duty in the ticket office, but who did not know the combination, and opening the safe stole the contents thereof, they were guilty of robbery in taking the money from the "possession" of the ticket agent as against the contention that the crime was not robbery but theft because the money was not taken from the person or possession of the ticket agent. Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619.

[b] Car driven by another.—Where an automobile salesman demonstrating a car for persons who stated a desire to buy permitted one of those persons to drive the car, but remained in it himself, he did not thereby part with possession of the car, so that taking the car from him thereafter by force was robbery, and his "possession" continued even after he had been induced to get out of the car and enter a house. Clark v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 107, 220 SW 100.

[50] Peo. v. Dean, 66 Cal. A. 602, 226 P 943.

[a] Money in a theater at night must be considered in possession of janitors and watchmen, so that its taking by force against them constituted robbery and not larceny. Peo. v. Dean, 66 Cal. A. 602, 226 P 943.

[51] Anderson v. Hartford Acc., etc., Co., 77 Cal. A. 641, 247 P 507 (action on insurance policy); Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Robbery by snatching see infra § 41.

[52] Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 159, 27 ALR 1291.

"As for taking by force, it may be either actual or constructive. 'Constructive force' is anything which produces fear sufficient to suspend the power of resistance and prevent the free exercise of the will." Montsdoca v. State, supra.

"Violence need not be actual to constitute the offense of robbery. It is robbery to create in the person to be despoiled a reasonable apprehension of violence to avoid which he parts with the thing. An assault which has not traveled to a battery, or probably any such array of force as is calculated to create the reasonable apprehension, though short of a technical assault, suffices." Montsdoca v. State, supra.

[53] State v. Roselli, 109 Kan. 33, 198 P 195 (prosecution for murder in course of robbery).

[54] Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84; Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923; Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256, 257; Peo. v. Nolan, 250 Ill. 351, 95 NE 140, 34 LRANS 301, AnnCas1912B 401.

[55] Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162; Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619.

[56] Ala.—Henderson v. State, 172

But both need not be present.[57] Taking by actual force without intimidation is robbery,[58] and conversely, taking by intimidation without use of actual force is also robbery.[59] In other words, force and intimidation are alternative requirements, and either is sufficient without the other.[60]

Statutes defining robbery ordinarily include force or intimidation or some phase thereof,[61] as an essential element of the crime; and except where the classification of[62] or punishment for[63] the offense is in issue, the question of which was used is unimportant.[64]

[§ 25] (2) Particular Statutory Provisions. Under statutes defining robbery as a taking by assault,

---

Ala. 415, 55 S 816.

Ariz.—Reynolds v. State, 14 Ariz. 537, 132 P 434.

Ark.—Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas1918A 419; Bowlin v. State, 72 Ark. 530, 81 SW 838; Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262; Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Cal.—MacGruer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 89 Cal. A. 227, 264 P 501 (action on insurance policy).

Del.—State v. Lapista, 30 Del. 260, 105 A 676.

Ga.—Doyle v. State, 77 Ga. 513; Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Ill.—Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84; Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256; Collins v. Peo., 39 Ill. 233.

Iowa.—State v. Osborne, 116 Iowa 479, 89 NW 1077.

Ky.—Brown v. Com., 135 Ky. 635, 117 SW 281, 135 AmSR 471, 21 Ann Cas 672; Jones v. Com., 57 SW 472, 22 KyL 388; Farrell v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 386.

La.—State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728.

Mo.—State v. Holmes, 317 Mo. 9, 295 SW 71, 58 ALR 652 [quot Cyc]; State v. Cantrell, 290 Mo. 232, 234 SW 800.

N. J.—State v. McDonald, 89 N. J. L. 421, 99 A 128.

Okl.—Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Nelson v. State, 11 Okl. Cr. 259, 145 P 315; Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149.

Philippine.—Peo. v. Chan Wat, 49 Philippine 114; U. S. v. Martin, 23 Philippine 58; U. S. v. Blanco, 10 Philippine 298; U. S. v. Nueca, 7 Philippine 511.

Tex.—Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349; Gallagher v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 306, 30 SW 557.

Va.—Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

Wash.—State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRA NS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

Wis.—Gilloti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252.

Eng.—Rex v. Smith, 2 East P. C. 783.

"Force or intimidation . . . is an indispensable element of robbery." Doyle v. State, 77 Ga. 513, 515.

"If neither of these elements is present, then the crime of robbery is not proven." Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84, 85.

[a] Actual violence or reasonable apprehension thereof.—To constitute robbery, there must be actual violence, or such a demonstration or threats as will create a reasonable apprehension of bodily injury if the victim resists. State v. McDonald, 89 N. J. L. 421, 99 A 128.

Different rule under "snatching" statute see infra § 41 text and notes 55, 56.

Force against property see infra § 30.

[57] Graves v. Com., 186 Ky. 479, 217 SW 356; Com. v. Titsworth, 98 SW 1028, 30 KyL 402; State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

[58] Cal.—Peo. v. Ortega, 7 Cal. A. 480, 94 P 869.

Miss.—Baygents v. State, 154 Miss. 36, 122 S 187.

Mo.—State v. Broderick, 59 Mo. 318.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Glynn, 54 Hun 332, 7 NYS 555 [aff 123 N. Y. 631, 25 NE 953].

Philippine.—Peo. v. Chan Wat, 49 Philippine 114.

Eng.—Merriman v. The Hundred of Chippenham, 2 East P. C. 709; Davies' Case, 2 East P. C. 709; Rex v. Lapier, 1 Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263.

"If force be used, fear is not an essential ingredient." State v. Broderick, 59 Mo. 318, 320.

[a] Where the victim testified that he was not afraid, nevertheless the fact that he was knocked down and his money taken was sufficient to show commission of robbery. Peo. v. Ortega, 7 Cal. A. 480, 94 P 869. To same effect Baygents v. State, 154 Miss. 36, 122 S 187.

[b] Tearing a ring from a lady's ear, so quickly as to give no time for fear and so forcibly as to bring the blood, is robbery. Rex v. Lapier, 1 Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263.

[c] Forcible seizure of jewels from person of mistress, without use of threats or intimidation is robbery. Peo. v. Chan Wat, 49 Philippine 114.

[59] Ala.—Hood v. State, 18 Ala. A. 287, 92 S 30; Stanley v. State, 18 Ala. A. 60, 88 S 183 [certiorari den 205 Ala. 431, 88 S 449].

Ark.—Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Del.—State v. Lapista, 30 Del. 260, 105 A 676.

Kan.—State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302.

Ky.—Lissenbee v. Com., 198 Ky. 639, 249 SW 782.

Nev.—State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

Okl.—Cochran v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 379, 111 P 974.

Eng.—Spencer's Case, 2 East P. C. 712; Rex v. Simons, 2 East P. C. 712; Taplin's Case, 2 East P. C. 712; Rex v. Blackham, 2 East P. C. 711.

[a] Fear as constructive violence.—"The principle, indeed, of robbery is violence, but it has been often holden, that actual violence is not the only means by which a robbery may be effected, but that it may be effected by fear, which the law considers as constructive violence." Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561, 564.

[b] "It is well understood that robbery may be committed by putting one in fear without other force or violence." Lissenbee v. Com., 198 Ky. 639, 640, 249 SW 782.

[c] Highway robbery.—State v. Lapista, 30 Del. 260, 105 A 676.

[60] Ark.—Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Miss.—McDaniel v. State, 16 Miss. 401, 47 AmD 93.

Mo.—State v. Broderick, 59 Mo. 318.

N. H.—State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Glynn, 54 Hun 332, 7 NYS 555 [aff 123 N. Y. 631, 25 NE 953].

N. C.—State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83.

Tex.—Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRA NS 1024; Pendy v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 643, 31 SW 647; Bond v. State, 20 Tex. A. 421.

[a] By definition.—"The words of the definition of robbery are in the alternative, 'violence or putting in fear,' and it appears that if the property be taken by either of these means, against the will of the party, such taking will be sufficient to constitute robbery." Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561, 564.

[b] Highway robbery.—State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83.

Allegation in indictment of violence or putting in fear see infra § 105.

[61] See infra § 25.

Robbery by snatching see infra § 41.

[62] See passim infra §§ 55–71.

[63] See passim infra §§ 206–214.

[64] See cases infra this note.

[a] In Massachusetts it has been held that even under a statute using the conjunctive "and" in place of the usual disjunctive "or," and defining robbery as taking "by force and violence, or other assault, and (italics ed.) putting in fear" (St. [1804] c 142 § 7) "a larceny committed with actual force and violence, or (italics ed.) with a constructive force by any assault and putting in fear, is to be adjudged a robbery." Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242, 244.

[b] In New Hampshire under a statute defining robbery as a taking "by assault or by violence and putting in fear" (Gen. St. c 264 § 16; Pub. St. c 278 § 17) it has been held that an indictment omitting the words "putting in fear" is good, because the statute is a substantial codification of the common law and the requirements of force or putting in fear are equally alternative whether the prosecution be at common law or under statute. State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152.

[c] In Texas.—"Our statute says that, if any person by assault or violence, or by putting in fear of life or bodily injury, shall fraudulently take from the person or possession of another property, with the intention to appropriate the same to his own use, he shall be guilty of robbery, etc. So that it would seem from the wording of this statute one taking property by assault or by violence, or by putting in fear of life or bodily injury, without assault and violence, would be guilty of robbery." Williams v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 361, 102 SW 1134, 1135, 123 AmSR 884.

violence, putting in fear of life, or putting in fear of bodily injury, a taking by any one,[65] or by any combination[66] of these methods may constitute robbery. Under a statute punishing as a particular classification of robbery any taking by force, violence, assault or putting in fear, the offense may be committed by taking in any one or more of the specified ways.[67]

[§ 26] b. Time of—(1) Prior, Contemporaneous, and Subsequent Force or Intimidation Generally. The force or intimidation essential to robbery[68] need not precede the taking of the property.[69] But it must either precede or be contemporaneous with such taking,[70] in the sense that the force or intimidation is concurrent[71] or concomitant[72] with the taking. Subsequent force cannot relate back to the act of taking so as to be considered force accompanying the act,[73] and the general rule is that violence or intimidation subsequent to a taking by other means will not render the act robbery.[74]

Subsequent force as part of precedent taking.[75] Although there be a measurable period of time between the taking and subsequent force, if the latter occurs so soon after the former as to be part of the same transaction, the violence is legally concomitant with the taking.[76]

[§ 27] (2) Previous Force without Accompanying Purpose To Rob. Even though the violence precedes the taking, and results from causes other than an intent to rob, feloniously taking the property of a victim rendered helpless by one's own violence has been held robbery,[77] although there is authority to the contrary.[78]

---

[65] Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 79, 149 SW 186, 67 Tex. Cr. 170, 149 SW 190; Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593.

[66] Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 170, 149 SW 190; Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 79, 149 SW 186; Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593.

[67] Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

[68] See supra § 24.

[69] Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162.

[a] Accompanying sufficient.—The force employed or the putting of the person robbed in fear is not required to precede the taking of the property, but if both or either accompany the taking of the property the offense is robbery. Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162.

[70] Ala.—Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81.

Ark.—Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas1918A 419; Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262.

Cal.—Peo. v. Stevens, 141 Cal. 488, 75 P 62.

Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291; Colbey v. State, 46 Fla. 112, 35 S 189, 110 AmSR 87.

Ga.—Fanning v. State, 66 Ga. 167.

Ill.—Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256.

Ind.—Shinn v. State, 64 Ind. 13, 31 AmR 110.

Kan.—State v. Miller, 53 Kan. 324, 36 P 751.

Ky.—Jones v. Com., 74 SW 263, 24 KyL 2481.

Mo.—State v. Holmes, 317 Mo. 9, 295 SW 71, 58 ALR 652 [quot Cyc]; State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, 1123, LRA1915C 121 [cit Cyc].

Oh.—Hanson v. State, 43 Oh. St. 376, 1 NE 136.

Okl.—Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

Eng.—Rex v. Jackson, Leach C. C. 267, 168 Reprint 236.

[a] "This violence must precede or accompany the taking of the property." Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262 [quot Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 114, 187 SW 913, AnnCas 1918A 419]. To same effect Martin v. State, 178 Ark. 1117, 13 SW (2d) 597, 598.

[b] "If putting in fear is relied on, it must be the fear under duress of which the possession [of the property] is parted with. . . . 'The fear of physical ill must come before the relinquishment of the property to the thief, and not after; else, the offense is not robbery.' 2 Bish. Cr. Law, § 1175." Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 36, 9 S 81 [quot Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 114, 187 SW 913, AnnCas 1918A 419; Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 596, 34 SW 262].

[71] Tiller v. State, 11 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 461, 32 Oh. Cir. Ct. 704.

[72] Tiller v. State, supra; Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149.

[73] Jones v. Com., 115 Ky. 592, 74 SW 263, 24 KyL 2481, 103 AmSR 340.

When considered part of precedent taking see infra text and note 76.

[74] Ala.—Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81.

Ark.—Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262; Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Cal.—Peo. v. Stevens, 141 Cal. 488, 75 P 62.

Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Ill.—Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256.

Ky.—Dawson v. Com., 74 SW 701, 25 KyL 5.

Mo.—State v. Holmes, 317 Mo. 9, 295 SW 71, 58 ALR 652.

[a] Force or intimidation after taking by trick.—(1) Where defendant asked another to get him a glass of water so that he could see how certain diamonds looked in the water, and such other left the diamonds with defendant and then went to get the water, and thereafter defendant followed her out, drawing a revolver, forced her into the basement and locked the door, he was not guilty of robbery because the force or violence was used subsequently to instead of before or contemporaneously with the taking of the diamonds. State v. Holmes, 317 Mo. 9, 295 SW 71, 58 ALR 652. (2) Where defendant persuaded his victim voluntarily to hand him a gun for examination, and on learning that it was loaded threatened to shoot the victim, and by this intimidation secured the gun, he was not guilty of robbery. Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81.

[b] Resenting accusation.—Where defendant stealthily and successfully picked his victim's pocket, but shortly thereafter was accused of being a thief and in resentment attacked his accuser, such subsequent force did not make the crime robbery. Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256.

[75] Relation back generally see supra text and notes 73, 74.

[76] Peo. v. Glynn. 54 Hun 332, 334, 7 NYS 555 [aff 123 N. Y. 631, 25 NE 953]; Tiller v. State, 11 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 461, 32 Oh. Cir. Ct. 704; Sherman v. State, 4 Oh. Cir. Ct. 531, 2 Oh. Cir. Dec. 691.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Where defendants took property upon the deck of a schooner, and on being discovered by the captain in charge used actual force to remove the property from the deck to a small boat in which they escaped, and it was contended by the defense that there was no robbery because the taking possession of the property was without force, the court in denying such contention ruled that the use of force in removing the property from the captain's presence was sufficient to make the crime robbery. Peo. v. Glynn, 54 Hun 332, 7 NYS 555 [aff 123 N. Y. 631, 25 NE 953]. (2) "The circumstances of the taking as detailed by the prosecuting witness show that while examining rings in the store . . . , the plaintiff in error grabbed the tray containing them from the counter, placed it under his arm and ran to the door. The prosecuting witness immediately pursued him. The plaintiff in error succeeded in getting out of the door and proceeded to close it when the prosecuting witness attempted to prevent this closing, and after this struggle at the door the plaintiff in error escaped with the property. . . . Was the grabbing of the tray, the pursuit through the store, the struggle to escape at the door a part of the act by which the taking was effected? We think that they were. The taking of the property from the prosecuting witness or from his presence and under his control was not effected until these various acts of violence were completed, for the reason that plaintiff in error did not succeed in his attempt to possess himself of the property until after all these acts of violence occurred." Tiller v. State, 11 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 461, 462, 32 Oh. Cir. Ct. 704.

[77] Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316, 135 NE 729; Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460.

[a] Quarrel and robbery as afterthought.—If, as the result of a quarrel, a fight occurs, in which one of the parties is overcome, and the other then, without having formed the intention before the fight began, takes

[§ 28] (3) Subsequent Force To Aid Escape. Force or intimidation employed subsequent to the taking and merely as a means of escape is insufficient basis for a charge of robbery.[79]

[§ 29] (4) Subsequent Force To Prevent Recapture of Property. If property is taken without force or intimidation, the subsequent use of force[80] or intimidation[81] to prevent retaking of the property by the victim does not render the act robbery.

[§ 30] c. What Constitutes Force Generally—(1) In General. Where force is relied upon as an element of the crime,[82] it must be such as effects the transfer of the property from the victim to the robber.[83] It must amount to actual personal violence,[84] except under statutes making force against property an element of robbery, in which case violence against property is sufficient without violence against the person.[85]

Place exerted. The particular place in which the force is exerted is immaterial.[86]

[§ 31] (2) Degree of Force. The amount or degree of force requisite to robbery is such force as is actually sufficient to overcome the victim's resistance,[87] as by bewildering and confusing him,[88] and of course force amounting to a substantial physical struggle is sufficient.[89] If the force used is sufficient to overcome resistance, the particular degree of violence employed is immaterial as an element of the crime,[90] and becomes important only the money of the vanquished one, the offense committed is robbery. Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316, 135 NE 729.

---

[b] Intimidation to get information.—Where a person who has put another in a state of terror for the purpose of extorting information from him avails himself of the state of terror so created to enable him to take property then discovered for the first time, such taking constitutes robbery. Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460.

[78] U. S. v. Birueda, 4 Philippine 229, 230.

"The fact that the owner of the money and his companions were tied at the time can not be considered as violence, because they had been tied for some hours previously for a reason entirely foreign to the fact of the taking of the money. The idea of taking the money grew, evidently, in the minds of the appellant and his codefendants after the former were captured, as appears from all the evidence adduced in the case." U. S. v. Birueda, supra.

[a] In Kentucky it has been held that (1) although a deputy marshal had the right to arrest, without a warrant, persons who were drunk and disorderly, and following such arrest to search them to ascertain whether they possessed weapons or other means of resisting his authority, or of effecting their escape if imprisoned, if in making such search he obtained money from them, it was his duty to return it upon discharging them from arrest, and if, after making the arrest, he took advantage of the duress under which such arrest placed them, and by force or putting them in fear took from them money in their possession feloniously, intending at the time to convert it to his own use, his act was robbery. Wynn v. Com., 135 Ky. 447, 122 SW 516. (2) On the other hand, if the deputy searched persons in good faith, and not for the purpose of robbing them, but after thus getting the money feloniously kept and converted it to his own use, his act in so doing constituted petit larceny rather than robbery. Wynn v. Com., supra.

[79] Colbey v. State, 46 Fla. 112, 35 S 189, 110 AmSR 87; Jones v. Com., 115 Ky. 592, 74 SW 263, 24 KyL 2481, 103 AmSR 340; State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259; Hill v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 406, 200 P 253, 254.

[80] Howard v. Com., 198 Ky. 453, 248 SW 1059 (homicide prosecution wherein defense was resistance to alleged robbery); Jones v. Com., 115 Ky. 592, 74 SW 263, 24 KyL 2481, 103 AmSR 340; State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259.

[a] Does not change larceny to robbery.—Generally if, after property has been taken surreptitiously, force is exercised by the taker in his endeavor to get away with it, or in resistance of the attempt of the person robbed to retain it or recover it from the robber, this does not convert the larceny into robbery. State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259.

[81] Dawson v. Com., 74 SW 701, 25 KyL 5; State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259; State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121; Peo. v. McGinty, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 62; Rex v. Francis, 2 East P. C. 708; Harman's Case, 2 Rolle 154, 81 Reprint 721.

[82] Force and intimidation as alternative requirements see supra § 24.

[83] Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81; Martin v. State, 178 Ark. 1117, 13 SW (2d) 597, 598; Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas 1918A 419; Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262.

"If force is relied on in proof of the charge, it must be the force by which another is deprived of his property and the accused gains possession of it." Martin v. State, supra.

[84] Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293; Barksdale v. State, 24 Ga. A. 115, 100 SE 45; Tanner v. State, 24 Ga. A. 132, 100 SE 44.

Ill.—Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170.

Ky.—Stockton v. Com., 125 Ky. 268, 101 SW 298, 30 KyL 1302.

Mont.—State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 237, 92 P 566.

N. J.—State v. Donohue, (Sup.) 59 A 12.

Okl.—Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

[a] "Actual force," in one definition of robbery, implies personal violence, and if there is any injury to the person or any struggle to obtain possession of property before it is taken, it is the force contemplated by the penal code. Tanner v. State, 24 Ga. A. 132, 100 SE 44.

[b] If the article be taken without any sensible or material violence to the person, and without any struggle for its possession, it is merely "larceny from the person" and not "robbery." Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170.

Degree of force immaterial see infra § 31.

[85] See cases infra this note.

[a] In the Philippines to constitute robbery as defined by the penal code there must be (1) violence or intimidation against the person (see supra § 24 text and note 56) (2) or force with regard to the property taken (U. S. v. Nueca, 7 Philippine 511). (3) If neither force to a thing nor violence nor intimidation to the person is present, there is no robbery. U. S. v. Birueda, 4 Philippine 229.

[86] Com. v. Weiner, 255 Mass. 506, 509, 152 NE 359.

"That the force is exerted within a store or building rather than on the highway or out of doors is immaterial." Com. v. Weiner, supra.

[87] Cal.—Peo. v. Clayton, 89 Cal. A. 405, 264 P 1105.

Fla.—Martin v. State, 129 S 112; Montscoda v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 158, 27 ALR 1291 [cit Cyc]; Colbey v. State, 46 Fla. 112, 35 S 189, 110 AmSR 87.

Ida.—Terr. v. McKern, 3 Ida. 15, 26 P 123.

Ky.—Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162; Williams v. Com., 50 SW 240, 20 KyL 1850.

N. H.—State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152.

Okl.—Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

Tex.—Rylee v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 482, 236 SW 744, 745 [cit Cyc].

Wash.—State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

"Any forcible taking of property from the possession of another by means which overcome resistance, however slight, is a taking by the infliction of actual injury." State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152, 158.

[a] Any force sufficient to take one's property against the will is sufficient to show robbery. Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162.

[88] Mahoney v. Peo., 3 Hun (N. Y.) 202, 5 Thomps. & C. 329.

[89] Peo. v. Ortega, 7 Cal. A. 480, 94 P 869; Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170.

[a] Knocking a man down and squeezing his money from his hand is so obviously robbery as to merit no discussion of a claim to the contrary. Peo. v. Ortega, 7 Cal. A. 480, 94 P 869.

[90] Ark.—Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632.

Cal.—Peo. v. Clayton, 89 Cal. A. 405, 264 P 1105.

Del.—State v. Lapista, 30 Del. 260, 105 A 676.

Fla.—Martin v. State, 129 S 112; Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S when considered in connection with the grade of the offense[91] or the punishment to be imposed.[92] It is not necessary to show a personal injury,[93] nor a blow,[94] nor force sufficient to overcome any resistance the victim was capable of offering.[95] In fact robbery by force may exist, although the victim makes no resistance.[96]

[§ 32] (3) Administration of Poison. Administration of poison rendering the victim helpless to resist the taking of his property is sufficient to constitute force,[97] of a constructive character,[98] supporting a charge of robbery.

[§ 33] d. What Constitutes Intimidation Generally—(1) In General. Intimidation as the word is used in the law of robbery,[99] means putting in fear.[1] To constitute robbery by intimidation, it is essential that the property taken be surrendered because of the apprehension of injury,[2] and that the fear be that under compulsion of which the victim parts with his property.[3] If there exists reasonable belief that injury will result from noncompliance with the robber's demand, the necessary "fear" is present.[4]

Caused by defendant.[5] The fear essential to robbery must be caused by defendant,[6] intentionally,[7] and not arise from the mere temperamental timidity of the victim.[8]

[§ 34] (2) Degree of Intimidation. The intimidation must be such as to cause a reasonable apprehension of danger.[9] But the fear aroused need not amount to great terror,[10] panic,[11] nor hysteria.[12] It is sufficient, if the fear is strong enough to overcome the victim's resistance and induce him to part with the property under its compulsion.[13]

[§ 35] (3) Particular Fears—(a) Bodily Injury—aa. In General. Putting the victim in fear of

---

157, 158, 27 ALR 1291 [cit Cyc].

Ind.—Seymour v. State, 15 Ind. 288.

Nev.—State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Foley, 44 Hun 628.

Okl.—Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

R. I.—State v. McCune, 5 R. I. 60, 61, 70 AmD 176.

Tex.—Rylee v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 482, 236 SW 744, 745 [cit Cyc].

Wash.—State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRA NS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

[a] No matter how slight the act of force may be, the crime is robbery if such force is sufficient to overcome the victim's resistance. State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

[b] Highway robbery.—State v. Lapista, 30 Del. 260, 105 A 676; State v. McCune, 5 R. I. 60, 70 AmD 176.

Pocket picking see infra § 43.

Snatching see infra §§ 40, 41.

[91] See passim infra §§ 55–71.

[92] Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

Punishment generally see infra §§ 204–215.

[93] Com. v. Davis, 66 SW 27, 23 KyL 1717.

[94] Com. v. Davis, 66 SW 27, 23 KyL 1717.

[95] Rylee v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 482, 236 SW 744.

[96] Moran v. State, 125 Ga. 33, 53 SE 806; McIntyre v. State, 41 Ga. A. 352, 152 SE 914.

[97] State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364.

[a] Unconscious victim.—Where defendant administered poison to produce unconsciousness and took money from a cash register in a saloon of which the unconscious person had charge, he was guilty of robbery, since the administration of the poison constituted constructive force. State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364.

[b] Conscious but helpless.—Williams v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 361, 102 SW 1134, 123 AmSR 884 (putting arm around man vomiting from drugged drink and picking his pocket while he was conscious thereof, but too weak and sick to resist).

[98] State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364.

[a] On analogy to rape.—"We are unable to see why a different rule should be established in a case wherein robbery is charged and in which force is an essential element, than in a case wherein rape is the charge, wherein force is likewise an essential element. If constructive force may be used in the one case, why not in the other? No satisfactory reason has been advanced why a different rule should exist, and we are unable to think of one worthy to be mentioned, and are therefore of the opinion that the trial court did not err in holding that constructive force was resorted to by appellant." State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364, 365.

[99] Defined generally see Intimidation 33 C. J. p 478.

[1] Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561; Tanner v. State, 24 Ga. A. 132, 100 SE 44.

"'Intimidation,' in our code definition of robbery, is synonymous with the 'putting in fear' in the common law." Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114, 115 (application for habeas corpus).

[a] Another definition.—"'Intimidation' is 'the use of violence or threats to influence the conduct or compel the consent of another.'" New Standard D. [quot Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114, 115 (application for habeas corpus)].

[2] Steward v. Peo., 224 Ill. 434, 79 NE 636; Rippetoe v. Peo., 172 Ill. 173, 50 NE 166; U. S. v. Sosa, 4 Philippine 172; Rex v. Reane, 2 Leach C. C. 616, 168 Reprint 410.

[3] Martin v. State, 178 Ark. 1117, 13 SW (2d) 597.

[4] Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494; Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693.

[5] Method of arousing fear see infra § 36.

[6] State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121; State v. Weinhardt, 253 Mo. 629, 161 SW 1151.

[7] State v. Weinhardt, supra.

Intention to steal see infra §§ 49–53.

[8] State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 177, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121.

[a] Objective fright essential.—"The fright of him who is robbed must be under the law an objective fright; it must have been due, in short, to some act on the part of the accused, and not arise from the mere temperamental timidity of the person whose property happens to be stolen from his person or presence." State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 177, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121.

[9] Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 159, 27 ALR 1291; Com. v. Titsworth, 98 SW 1028, 30 KyL 402; Davis v. Com., 54 SW 959, 21 KyL 1295; State v. Carmans, Tapp. (Oh.) 65.

"The menace must be of a sort to excite reasonable apprehension of danger." Montsdoca v. State, supra.

[10] Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561; State v. Nicholson, 124 N. C. 820, 32 SE 813.

[11] Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693, 694.

"'Fear' in this connection does not mean a panic of fright to the extent of losing one's senses or control." Horn v. State, supra.

[12] Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469; Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693.

[a] Fear may exist without hysteria and the fact that a woman cashier retained her composure when held up at the point of a gun does not negative the element of intimidation where she made no resistance to the robbery, because believing she would be shot if she resisted. Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469.

[13] Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632; Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561; Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291; State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 Ann Cas 61.

[a] Moving cause.—"It is sufficient that the putting in fear overcome the resistance on the part of the person from whom the property is taken and is the moving cause inducing him to part unwillingly with his property." Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632, 634.

[b] Even a slight cause of fear is sufficient. Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632. To same effect. State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

bodily injury is sufficient intimidation to sustain a charge of robbery.[14] Actual fear need not be proved,[15] as a legal presumption of fear will arise from facts clearly indicating a cause therefor.[16] It is not necessary that the victim should have feared bodily injury if he did not resist,[17] it being sufficient if he feared it in the event he should resist.[18]

A short separation of victim and defendant after intimidation and before the property is taken will not necessarily preclude the presence of intimidation as an element of the offense.[19]

Particular statutory provisions. Under a statute defining robbery as a felonious taking from another "by violence to his person or by putting such person in fear of some immediate injury to his person," it is an essential element of robbery by intimidation that the victim was put in fear of "immediate" bodily injury.[20]

Bodily injury to others. Under the statutes in some jurisdictions robbery may be committed by a taking effected through putting the victim in fear of bodily injury to other persons.[21]

[§ 36] bb. Method of Arousing Fear. The fear of bodily injury sufficient to support a charge of robbery may be aroused by a word,[22] or gesture,[23] as where the victim is threatened with a gun[24] or knife.[25]

Even indirect language of a threatening character may be sufficient to constitute intimidation.[26]

Statutes grading robbery by use of dangerous or deadly weapons. Under a statute defining robbery as a taking "by force or fear," and further providing that robbery with a dangerous or deadly weapon is first degree, and all other robbery second degree, the use of a dangerous or deadly weapon is not an essential element of the crime.[27]

---

14. Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

N. Y.—Brooks v. Peo., 49 N. Y. 436, 10 AmR 398, 1 Cow. Cr. 503.

N. D.—State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 103 NW 419.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Martin, 23 Philippine 58; U. S. v. Garcia, 4 Philippine 151; U. S. v. Ginete, 3 Philippine 641.

Tenn.—Britt v. State, 7 Humphr. 45.

Tex.—Coffelt v. State, 27 Tex. A. 608, 11 SW 639, 11 AmSR 205.

Eng.—Rex v. Blackham, 2 East P. C. 711.

15. Haley v. Com., 210 Ky. 554, 276 SW 519; Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631; Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469.

16. Haley v. Com., 210 Ky. 554, 276 SW 519; Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631; Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469.

[a] "Where a pistol is pointed in a threatening manner at an owner or custodian of money, who thereupon permits it to be taken, such act is 'robbery' although the custodian or owner may not be in actual fear, since fear is presumed where such act is committed violently and against the will of the person robbed." Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469 [quot Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631, 632].

17. Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469; Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693.

18. Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469; Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693.

[a] Victim retaining composure.—"In this case it was not essential to constitute robbery that the custodian of the money taken become hysterical and believe that she would meet death if she failed to immediately respond to the demands made. It is sufficient if the demand, with the display of firearms as shown by the evidence, caused her to stand aside and permit the money in her custody to be taken in the manner disclosed by the evidence. The delivery or taking the money is not rendered voluntary because the witness did not see fit to endanger her safety by attempting to resist. . . . A defendant will hardly be heard to say that, by holding up another at the point of a gun, and taking property from his person or immediate presence, he is not guilty of robbery, merely because the person robbed was able to exercise self-control." Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469, 470.

19. Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074.

[a] Fear continuing during separation.—Where defendant, displaying a gun, threatened to shoot a doctor whom he accused of mistreating defendant's wife, unless the doctor paid him one thousand dollars, and where under fear of his life the doctor walked to a bank with defendant following, and then the doctor went into the bank alone, procured the money, and came out and paid defendant, the fact that there was a short separation of defendant and the person robbed, who was still laboring under fear of personal violence while separated from defendant, did not change the fact that the money was taken by intimidation so as to constitute robbery. Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074.

20. Webb v. State, 99 Miss. 545, 55 S 356.

Immediate character of danger as affecting degree or classification of offense see passim infra §§ 55–71.

21. See statutory provisions.

22. Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

23. Clary v. State, supra; Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469.

"A threat may be made and be just as potent by some act or gesture as if made by words." Ross v. State, supra.

24. Ala.—Stanley v. State, 18 Ala. A. 60, 88 S 183 [certiorari den 205 Ala. 431, 88 S 449].

Kan.—State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302.

Ky.—Haley v. Com., 210 Ky. 554, 276 SW 519.

Okl.—Wissinger v. State, (Cr.) 264 P 631.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Howard, 4 Philippine 238.

Tex.—Reyes v. State, (Cr. A.) 102 SW 1156.

Wash.—State v. Casto, 120 Wash. 557, 207 P 952.

[a] Taking with hand on pistol.—"Under Acosta's testimony, when appellant reached over with his left hand and took the money he had his right hand on his pistol, and as he was straightening up, he pulled his pistol and presented it towards Acosta, and defied him to take his money from him, and turned and walked away. These acts are incidents too close together for a fine spun theory that he was not put in fear of his life, or that there was no assault. We believe these facts show both an assault upon Acosta and fear on his part; for as stated by him, when he saw the pistol, he was afraid to do anything for fear of bodily harm at the hands of appellant." Reyes v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 102 SW 1156, 1158.

[b] Extortion or robbery.—The taking of money from complaining witness, a soldier, by threatening him with a revolver, when by prearranged plan he was discovered in a room in a hotel with a woman, was robbery rather than extortion. State v. Casto, 120 Wash. 557, 207 P 952.

Use of dangerous or deadly weapon as affecting grade or degree of robbery see infra §§ 56, 57, 61, 65.

25. State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

[a] Flashing a knife and telling the victim to keep still is sufficient intimidation to show robbery. State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

26. Sweat v. State, 90 Ga. 315, 12 SE 275.

[a] Vague and indirect threats leading the victim to fear death at the hands of officers who have arrested him on a trumped up charge of homicide, or at the hands of a mob, if he does not consent to their appropriation of his money, show intimidation sufficient to constitute robbery. Sweat v. State, 90 Ga. 315, 17 SE 275.

27. Peo. v. Clayton, 89 Cal. A. 405, 264 P 1105, 1109.

"Adverting to the language contained in section 211 of the Penal Code, it will be noted that the statute is silent as to the method which may be employed by the robber in committing the crime by which he either exerts force upon or produces fear in his victim. No authority is cited by appellant for including within the proposed instruction the proposition that in committing the crime of which defendant was specifically charged it was necessary that the force applied by defendant must have

[§ 37] (b) Fear of Rape. Taking property from a woman given to induce defendant to desist from an assault with intent to rape, is robbery.[28]

[§ 38] (c) Injury to Property. Robbery may be committed by obtaining property from the person of another by threats of injury to his property.[29]

[§ 39] (d) Threats of Arrest and Prosecution. Ordinarily[30] taking property by means of threats of arrest and criminal prosecution is not robbery.[31]

Threatened accusation of sodomy. Although the doctrine has been called an excrescence on the law,[32] it is a well settled exception to the general rule that the threat of prosecution for sodomy may constitute intimidation supporting a charge of robbery.[33] Such threats are sufficient whether the party threatened is guilty or innocent of the unnatural crime.[34] But if the victim gives the defendant money without being actually in fear but merely for the purpose of subsequent prosecution, it has been held that there is no robbery.[35]

Threats accompanied by actual force or intimidation. Where threats to arrest or prosecute for crimes other than sodomy are accompanied by actual force or threat of bodily injury, robbery is shown.[36]

[§ 40] e. Snatching[37]—(1) In General. There is a conflict in the cases decided under the common law and statutes substantially similar with respect to the element of force or intimidation,[38] as to whether mere snatching of property constitutes robbery.[39] According to one view such snatching without further indication of violence, is robbery.[40] been 'real and direct,' and that it 'was caused by means of some dangerous weapon.'" Peo. v. Clayton, supra.

---

As affecting degree of robbery see infra § 56.

[28] Rex v. Blackham, 2 East P. C. 711.

[29] Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492, 493 [cit Cyc]; Rex v. Brown, 2 East P. C. 731; Rex v. Simons, 2 East P. C. 731; Rex v. Astley, East P. C. 729; Rex v. Taplin, East P. C. 712.

"The fear which will make a felonious taking, as here, robbery need not necessarily be fear of bodily harm as insisted by appellant. Robbery may be committed by obtaining property from the person of another by threats of injury to his property." Lanford v. Com., supra.

[a] Threat to tear down growing corn and to level house.—Rex v. Simons, 2 East P. C. 731.

[b] Threat to bring a mob and burn victim's house.—Rex v. Brown, 2 East P. C. 731.

[30] See cases infra this note.

[a] In the Philippines.—(1) The crime of robbery as defined by the Penal Code includes some cases of common-law extortion. U. S. v. Flores, 19 Philippine 178. (2) Accordingly taking money under threats of arrest and criminal prosecution may constitute robbery. U. S. v. Sanchez, 26 Philippine 83; U. S. v. Martin, 23 Philippine 58, 63 ("threats of arrest . . . sufficient to constitute force and intimidation"); U. S. v. Recio, 21 Philippine 511; U. S. v. Osorio, 21 Philippine 237 ("Robbery then is unquestionably the proper classification for the crime committed against said Chinaman, from whom sham officers of the law succeeded in securing the sum of P 300, under pressure and menace of arrest, indictment and trial for violation of the opium law, for such procedure constitutes intimidation"); U. S. v. Flores, 19 Philippine 178; U. S. v. Smith, 3 Philippine 20. (3) Even though under the common law system of jurisprudence the crime would be classified as "extortion" (see Extortion § 1 et seq) (4) or "threats" (see Threats [38 Cyc 293, 294]). (5) Bribery is, however, a distinct and different crime in Philippine jurisprudence. See Bribery § 1 text and note 13.

Unnatural crime see infra text and notes 32-35.

[31] Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291; Simmons v. State, 41 Fla. 316, 25 S 881.

Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Ill.—Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494, 495.

Tenn.—Britt v. State, 7 Humphr. 45.

Tex.—Williams v. State, 12 Tex. A. 240.

Eng.—Rex v. Edwards, 5 C. & P. 518, 24 ECL 685, 172 Reprint 1079; Rex v. Wood, 2 Leach C. C. 721, 168 Reprint 461.

"It is undoubtedly the law, as argued by counsel for the plaintiffs in error, that extorting money by threats of prosecution will not amount to robbery, save in the instance of threats of prosecution for an unnatural crime, crimen innominatum." Peo. v. Bodkin, supra.

[a] Reasons for rule.—(1) To obtain money by a threat to take the party before a magistrate and thence to prison is not robbery, for the threat of legal imprisonment ought not so to alarm any mind as to induce the person to part with his property. Rex v. Wood, 2 Leach C. C. 721, 168 Reprint 461. (2) "Threat of prosecution for a crime is generally regarded as insufficient to create fear upon the theory that a man in the hands of the law is not legally presumed to be in danger of bodily harm." Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 159.

[b] Threat to accuse husband of indecent assault.—Obtaining money from a woman by threatening to accuse her husband of an indecent assault is not robbery. Rex v. Edwards, 5 C. & P. 518, 24 ECL 685, 172 Reprint 1079, 1 M. & Rob. 257, 174 Reprint 88.

[32] Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

[33] Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Nebr.—Thompson v. State, 61 Nebr. 210, 85 NW 62, 87 AmSR 453.

N. Y.—Peo. v. McDaniels, 1 Park. Cr. 198.

Tenn.—Britt v. State, 7 Humphr. 45.

Eng.—Rex v. Gardner, 1 C. & P. 479, 12 ECL 278, 171 Reprint 1282; Rex v. Hickman, Leach C. C. 278, 168 Reprint 241; Rex v. Jones, Leach C. C. 139, 168 Reprint 171; Rex v. Donnally, Leach C. C. 193, 168 Reprint 199; Rex v. Elmstead, 2 Russell, Cr. & M. 106.

[a] Reason for exception.—"So abominable is the crime, and so destructive is even the accusation of it, of all social right and privilege, that the law considers that the accusation is a coercion which men cannot resist." Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293, 319.

[34] Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293; Rex v. Gardner, 1 C. & P. 479, 12 ECL 278, 171 Reprint 1282.

[35] Rex v. Fuller, R. & R. 408, 168 Reprint 870.

[36] Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Ga.—Sweat v. State, 90 Ga. 315, 17 SE 273; Bussey v. State, 71 Ga. 100, 51 AmR 256.

Ill.—Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494.

Nebr.—Williams v. State, 51 Nebr. 711, 71 NW 729.

Tex.—Williams v. State, (Tex. Cr. A.) 55 SW 500; McCormick v. State, 26 Tex. A. 678, 9 SW 277.

"'If . . . such threats or accusations are accompanied with force, actual or constructive, and the property or money is given up in consequence of this force, the transaction is robbery.'" Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293, 319 [quot Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494, 495].

[a] Illustration.—One who made an attack upon an automobile driver on a public highway, grasped the driver by the shoulder, shook him, and commanded him to get out of the automobile, forcefully took possession of the automobile, and represented himself to be an officer of the law, and threatened the driver with prosecution for some imaginary offense, and thereby induced the traveler to part with money, was guilty of robbery as there was fear of bodily injury. Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

[37] Attempt to snatch see infra § 224.

Pocket picking see infra § 43.

[38] Statute modifying common-law rule see infra § 41.

[39] Stockton v. Com., 125 Ky. 268, 101 SW 298, 30 KyL 1302.

[40] State v. Carr, 43 Iowa 418; Brown v. Com., 135 Ky. 635, 117 SW 281, 135 AmSR 471, 21 AnnCas 672; Jones v. Com., 112 Ky. 689, 66 SW 633, 23 KyL 2081, 99 AmSR 330, 57 LRA 432; Stockton v. Com., 125 Ky. 268, 101 SW 298, 30 KyL 1302.

But the weight of authority holds that mere snatching is not robbery,[41] as where the property is snatched so quickly as to allow no time for resistance.[42] Irrespective of these conflicting views, the authorities unite in condemning snatching as robbery where there is concurrent intimidation,[43] or actual violence in excess of mere snatching,[44] as where the force used in snatching is so great as to knock the victim down,[45] or where the property is so attached to the person[46] or apparel[47] of the victim as to afford resistance, although there is authority holding that the attachment of the property

---

[a] No chance to resist.—"The snatching or grabbing and jerking of pocketbook out of the witness' hand was probably done so quickly that he had no chance to actively resist; and, if this be true, we think such taking or snatching must be construed as taking by violence or force." Jones v. Com., 112 Ky. 689, 66 SW 633, 634, 99 AmSR 330, 57 LRA 432 (common law).

[b] Sudden snatching enough.—"Nor are we prepared to admit that a sudden snatching of a purse from the hand is not the use of such force as to constitute robbery. On the contrary, with due deference to the authority cited by counsel, we hold that a sudden snatching from the hand or person of another constitutes the force and violence sufficient under our statute [requiring a taking by "force or violence, or by putting in fear"] to constitute robbery." State v. Carr, 43 Iowa 418, 423.

[c] Grabbing money.—Evidence that one of defendants asked the prosecutor for a dime with which to buy beer, and that, on the latter's drawing money from his pocket, the other defendant suddenly and forcibly wrenched the money (about six dollars) from the prosecutor's hand, and fled, authorized a conviction for robbery, and an instruction on larceny was properly refused. Brown v. Com., 135 Ky. 635, 117 SW 281, 135 AmSR 471, 21 AnnCas 672.

[d] Snatching ten dollar bill from victim's hand and running.—Stockton v. Com., 125 Ky. 268, 101 SW 298, 30 KyL 1302.

41. Ala.—Evans v. State, 80 Ala. 4.

Ark.—Coon v. State, 109 Ark. 346, 160 SW 226; Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262.

D. C.—Williams v. U. S., 3 App. 335.

Ga.—Jackson v. State, 114 Ga. 826, 40 SE 1001, 88 AmSR 60; Spencer v. State, 106 Ga. 692, 32 SE 849; Doyle v. State, 77 Ga. 513. But see McDow v. State, 110 Ga. 293, 34 SE 1019 (decided before passage of the robbery by snatching statute, and where in the official syllabus the court said: "Where one demanded of another an article of value in the hands of the latter, and, upon refusal to deliver, declared, 'I will take it any way,' accompanying the words with a forcible snatching of and running off with the article, the same being done against the actual consent of the person in possession of the article, the offense of robbery was committed, if there was an intent to steal"). Rule in Georgia under particular statutory provisions see infra § 41.

Ill.—Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170.

Ind.—Bonsall v. State, 35 Ind. 460.

La.—State v. West, 106 La. 274, 30 S 848.

Mass.—Com. v. Ordway, 12 Cush. 270.

Mo.—State v. Spivey, 204 SW 259; State v. Sommers, 12 Mo. A. 374.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Hall, 6 Park. Cr. 642; McCloskey v. Peo., 5 Park. Cr. 299.

N. C.—State v. Henderson, 66 N. C. 627; State v. John, 50 N. C. 163, 69 AmD 777.

Okl.—Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

S. C.—State v. Watson, 7 S. C. 63, 67.

Tenn.—Enos v. State, 3 Heisk. 58 note.

Tex.—Johnson v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 140, 32 SW 537; Boyd v. State, (Cr.) 29 SW 157.

Va.—Johnson v. Com., 24 Gratt. (65 Va.) 555.

Eng.—Reg. v. Walls, 2 C. & K. 214, 61 ECL 214, 175 Reprint 89; Rex v. Gnosil, 1 C. & P. 304, 12 ECL 182, 171 Reprint 1206; Rex v. Baker, Leach C. C. 290, 168 Reprint 247; Rex v. Macaulay, 1 Leach C. C. 287, 168 Reprint 246.

"Merely snatching the property from the person of another, without violence or putting in fear, is not robbery." Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93, 95].

[a] No struggle or injury.—The mere snatching of money from another's hands without any struggle or injury to the owner does not constitute robbery. Coon v. State, 109 Ark. 346, 160 SW 226.

42. Jarrott v. State, 96 Tex. Cr. 239, 257 SW 256.

[a] Illustration.—Snatching money from another's hand so suddenly as not to allow time for resistance is not robbery, but theft from the person. Jarrott v. State, 96 Tex. Cr. 239, 257 SW 256.

43. Evans v. State, 80 Ala. 4.

44. Ala.—Evans v. State, 80 Ala. 4.

Ark.—Routt v. State, 61 Ark. 594, 34 SW 262.

Cal.—Peo. v. Crowley, 100 Cal. 478, 35 P 84.

Ga.—Smith v. State, 117 Ga. 320, 43 SE 736, 97 AmSR 165; Burke v. State, 74 Ga. 372; Bowen v. State, 16 Ga. A. 110, 84 SE 730.

Ill.—Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107, 14 AnnCas 186; Klein v. Peo., 113 Ill. 596.

Ky.—Perry v. Com., 85 SW 732, 27 KyL 512.

Mo.—State v. Spivey, 204 SW 259.

Oh.—Sherman v. State, 4 Oh. Cir. Ct. 531, 2 Oh. Cir. Dec. 691.

Okl.—Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149.

Pa.—Com. v. Hollister, 157 Pa. 13, 27 A 386, 25 LRA 349.

R. I.—State v. McCune, 5 R. I. 60, 70 AmD 176.

Tex.—Reese v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 457, 239 SW 619.

Eng.—Davies' Case. 2 East P. C. 709; Rex v. Lapier, Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263; Rex v. Moore, 1 Leach C. C. 335, 168 Reprint 270; Rex v. Mason, R. & R. 419, 168 Reprint 876.

45. Evans v. State, 80 Ala. 4.

[a] Illustration.—Where defendant snatched a woman's satchel with such force that he knocked her down, it was robbery as against the contention that mere snatching cannot constitute the offense. Evans v. State, 80 Ala. 4.

46. Ga.—Smith v. State, 117 Ga. 320, 43 SE 736.

Ill.—Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107.

Mo.—State v. Spivey, 204 SW 259.

Okl.—Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

Eng.—Rex v. Lapier, Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263; Rex v. Moore, Leach C. C. 335, 168 Reprint 270.

[a] Ear.—Rex v. Lapier, Leach C. C. 320, 168 Reprint 263 (where an earring was snatched from a woman's ear, the blood being drawn from her ear).

[b] Finger.—Smith v. State, 117 Ga. 320, 43 SE 736 (where a purse secured by a steel chain around the owner's finger was suddenly snatched with force sufficient to break the chain and injure the owner's finger, the offense was robbery).

[c] Hair.—Rex v. Moore, Leach C. C. 335, 168 Reprint 270 (where a diamond pin was snatched from a lady's hair so violently as to take with it part of her hair).

47. Ill.—Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107, 14 AnnCas 186.

Ky.—Perry v. Com., 85 SW 732, 27 KyL 512.

Mo.—State v. Spivey, 204 SW 259; State v. Broderick, 59 Mo. 318.

Okl.—Ellis v. State, 38 Okl. Cr. 243, 260 P 93; Monaghan v. State, 10 Okl. Cr. 89, 96, 134 P 77, 46 LRANS 1149 [quot Cyc].

R. I.—State v. McCune, 5 R. I. 60, 70 AmD 176.

Eng.—Rex v. Mason, R. & R. 419, 168 Reprint 876.

[a] Breaking chain.—It is robbery where defendant snatches a watch from the owner's person with sufficient force to break the chain. Perry v. Com., 85 SW 732, 27 KyL 512.

[b] Tearing button-hole.—Where defendant, in snatching a watch, tore the chain from the button-hole and from the watch, the crime was robbery. State v. Broderick, 59 Mo. 318.

[c] Highway robbery.—Snatching a watch with such force as to break a ribbon by which it was attached to the victim's neck shows force sufficient to convict for highway robbery. State v. McCune, 5 R. I. 60, 70 AmD 176. But see U. S. v. Sims, 27 F. Cas. No. 16,290, 4 Cranch C. C. 618 (holding that snatching is not highway robbery, even if breaking a ribbon holding a watch).

to the person or apparel does not turn snatching into robbery,[48] or where a physical struggle,[49] or blow[50] accompanies the snatching.

Knocking property out of the holder's personal possession and taking it away has been held robbery, because some force was required to secure the property.[51] Other authorities have held that merely knocking property from the owner's hand and picking it up after he has left is not robbery.[52]

[§ 41] (2) Statutes Modifying Common Law.[53] Under a statute defining robbery as a taking by force or intimidation "or the sudden snatching, taking, or carrying away" of anything of value "without the consent of the owner or person in possession or control thereof," mere snatching is robbery.[54] Neither force[55] nor intimidation[56] is essential.[57] But it must appear that the victim was conscious that his property was being taken,[58] although if he acquires such knowledge at any time before the taking is completed, the statute is satisfied.[59] The difference between the sneak thief and the snatch thief under the statute lies in the stealth of the taking,[60] and it has been said that the only difference between robbery by snatching and larceny from the person is that in the latter case the property is abstracted without the knowledge of its possessor.[60½]

[§ 42] f. Artifice and Trickery in General. Taking property from another by artifice or trickery is not robbery.[61]

[§ 43] g. Pocket Picking.[62] Where there is neither actual violence nor intimidation, the act of picking pockets is not robbery.[63] The force used in stealthy abstraction of property from the pocket of the victim,[64] or in open rifling of the pockets of one unconscious,[65] is not the character of violence essential to robbery. But if force or intimidation is used in place of stealth, the crime is robbery.[66]

---

[48] Peo. v. Hall, 6 Park. Cr. (N. Y.) 642.

[49] Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107, 14 AnnCas 186; State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259, 261.

"Snatching a valuable article from another is always denominated robbery where any force is exercised . . . to overcome the resistance of the person robbed." State v. Spivey, supra.

[a] Illustration.—Where the victim discovered that defendant was attempting to snatch a diamond pin from his tie when it was half out, and thereupon a physical struggle ensued for possession of the pin. Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107, 14 AnnCas 186.

[50] Sherman v. State, 4 Oh. Cir. Ct. 531, 2 Oh. Cir. Dec. 691.

[a] Snatching and striking the victim in the face so soon after the snatching as to be practically concomitant therewith is robbery. Sherman v. State, 4 Oh. Cir. Ct. 531, 2 Oh. Cir. Dec. 691.

[51] Peo. v. Clayton, 89 Cal. A. 405, 264 P 1105.

[a] From under arm.—Where defendant twice knocked a strong box under the arm of his victim, and at the second attempt succeeded in gaining possession of the box, there was sufficient force used to make the crime robbery as against the contention that it was merely larceny. Peo. v. Clayton, 89 Cal. A. 405, 264 P 1105.

[52] Peo. v. McGinty, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 62; Rex v. Francis, Str. 1015, 93 Reprint 1004.

[53] Attempt to snatch see infra § 224.

Under statutes substantially in accord with common law see supra § 40.

[54] Pride v. State, 125 Ga. 750, 54 SE 688; Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890.

Rule in Georgia before passage of such statute see supra § 40.

[55] Hickey v. State, 125 Ga. 145, 53 SE 1026; Hall v. State, 41 Ga. A. 368, 153 SE 199, 200; Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890. But see Moore v. State, 20 Ga. A. 190, 92 SE 963 (holding that to constitute the offense of robbery by sudden snatching, the element of force is necessary).

"Prior to the act of 1903 (Ga. L. 1903 p 43), amending the former definition of robbery (Pen. Code 1895, § 151), 'violence of some kind was indispensably essential to the offense of robbery. Without violence there could be no robbery.' Since the amendment, violence is not an essential element of that offense, but 'robbery by suddenly taking or carrying away the property of another without his consent,' can be committed without violence of any kind." Hall v. State, supra.

[56] Hickey v. State, 125 Ga. 145, 53 SE 1026.

[57] General rule requiring force or intimidation in robbery see supra § 24.

[58] Morris v. State, 125 Ga. 36, 53 SE 564; Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890.

Georgia rule where robbery is by force or intimidation see infra § 45 text and notes 78–80.

[59] Hall v. State, 41 Ga. A. 368, 153 SE 199; Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890.

[60] Hickey v. State, 125 Ga. 145, 53 SE 1026; Hall v. State, 41 Ga. A. 368, 153 SE 199; Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890.

[a] If the possessor becomes conscious, even in the taking, that his property is being taken away from him, and this knowledge is obtained before the taking is complete, the offense of robbery is committed." Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890, 891 [quot Hall v. State, 41 Ga. A. 368, 153 SE 199].

[60½] Hall v. State, supra; Williams v. State, supra.

Distinction between larceny and robbery in general see supra § 11.

[61] Ala.—Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81.

Ga.—Doyle v. State, 77 Ga. 513.

Ind.—Shinn v. State, 64 Ind. 13, 31 AmR 110.

Mo.—State v. Cantrell, 290 Mo. 232, 234 SW 800.

Tex.—Clark v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 107, 220 SW 100.

[a] Taking held not by trick.—Where the demonstrator of an automobile was induced by trick to leave it and enter a house, where he was threatened with a pistol and bound, and the prospective purchasers then took the car, the demonstrator retained "possession" within the meaning of Pen. Code (1911) art 1327, defining robbery, until the others took actual possession of it so that they obtained possession by force, and not by trick. Clark v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 107, 220 SW 100.

[62] Snatching see supra §§ 40–41.

[63] Ala.—Ex p. Carson, 17 Ala. A. 345, 85 S 827 (application for bail).

Ark.—Martin v. State, 178 Ark. 1117, 13 SW (2d) 597.

Fla.—Colbey v. State, 46 Fla. 112, 35 S 189, 110 AmSR 87.

Ga.—Morris v. State, 125 Ga. 36, 53 SE 564; Fanning v. State, 66 Ga. 167.

Ida.—Terr. v. McKern, 3 Ida. (Hasb.) 15, 26 P 123.

Ill.—Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256; Hall v. Peo., 171 Ill. 540, 49 NE 495.

Ind.—Brennon v. State, 25 Ind. 403.

Ky.—Sutton v. Com., 154 Ky. 799, 159 SW 589; Adams v. Com., 153 Ky. 88, 154 SW 381, 44 LRANS 637; Bibb v. Com., 112 SW 401, 33 KyL 726; Dawson v. Com., 74 SW 701, 25 KyL 5; Jones v. Com., 115 Ky. 592, 74 SW 263, 24 KyL 2481, 103 AmSR 340.

Mo.—State v. Cantrell, 290 Mo. 232, 234 SW 800; State v. Spivey, 204 SW 259; State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121.

Oh.—State v. Whitten, 82 Oh. St. 174, 92 NE 79, 80; State v. Strear, 10 OhNPNS 204.

Okl.—Nelson v. State, 11 Okl. Cr. 259, 145 P 315.

Eng.—Harman's Case, 2 Rolle 154, 81 Reprint 721.

[a] Engaging victim in conversation.—Accused, who inserted his hand in the pocket of prosecutor and stole the money therein, while his accomplice engaged prosecutor in conversation, unaccompanied by any force or threat, was not guilty of robbery. State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121.

[b] Stealthily picking a drunkard's pocket.—Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125 NE 256.

[c] Sitting astride an unconscious man and rifling his pockets.—Brennon v. State, 25 Ind. 403.

[64] Peo. v. Jones, 290 Ill. 603, 125

Shoving and pushing a victim unaware of the pocket picking has been held to show sufficient force to render the act robbery.[67]

[§ 44] h. Forced Sale, Gift, Etc. If force or fear is the moving cause inducing the victim to part with his property, it makes no difference by what other circumstances the taking may be accompanied.[68] In such case the act is robbery, even though the taking is in the guise of a sale,[69] gift,[70] or legal confiscation.[71] On the other hand, if the element of force or intimidation is in fact absent, the taking is not robbery.[72]

[§ 45] 5. Consent[73]—a. In General. It is essential to the commission of the crime of robbery that the taking should be without the consent of the victim.[74]

Against the will. Under the civil law it would

NE 256; State v. Strear, 10 OhNPNS 204.

Force used to render conscious victim unaware of taking see infra § 45 text and note 79.

65. Hall v. Peo., 171 Ill. 540, 49 NE 495, 496; Brennon v. State, 25 Ind. 403.

"When the force used is to prevent the resistance of or to overpower the person robbed, there such force makes the offense robbery. If one should rifle the pockets of a sleeping or an unconscious person, even to the unbuttoning of clothes and turning out of pockets, such offense would not be robbery." Hall v. Peo., supra.

Taking property from victim rendered unconscious by violence of defendant see infra § 45 text and notes 77, 78.

66. Carter v. State, 3 Ga. A. 477, 60 SE 216; Keys v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 279, 131 SW 1068; Williams v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 361, 102 SW 1134, 123 Am SR 884; Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRA NS 1024, 13 AnnCas 455; Rex v. Gascoigne, Leach C. C. 280, 168 Reprint 243.

[a] Using force when discovered.—Where one in an attempt to commit larceny from the person was caught by his intended victim with his hand in his pocket, and a struggle ensued, the former endeavoring to take the money and the latter resisting the effort, and the money was finally taken by the infliction of physical injuries, robbery was committed. Carter v. State, 3 Ga. A. 477, 60 SE 216.

[b] Helpless but conscious victim.—Prosecutor went into a saloon, and after taking several drinks became nauseated, and while vomiting, and in a measure helpless, accused, the bartender, took hold of him without his consent, and ran his hand first in prosecutor's left pocket. Prosecutor told him to take his hand out. Accused then withdrew his hand, threw his left hand around prosecutor as if to hold him, and ran his right hand into prosecutor's right pocket, which the prosecutor endeavored to prevent, meanwhile, telling accused to let his money alone; but accused seized prosecutor's pocket-book, jerking it out of his pocket, with the money in it, and refused to return it. This was held to constitute such a taking of property by assault as to constitute robbery within the provisions of a statute providing that if a person by assault or violence, or by putting in fear of life or bodily injury, shall fraudulently take from the person or possession of another property with the intention to appropriate it to his own use, he shall be guilty of robbery. Williams v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 361, 102 SW 1134, 123 AmSR 884.

[c] Intimidation.—Where a person orders others to hold up their hands, and through fear of life they do so, and he goes through their pockets and takes money, he is guilty of robbery and not mere theft. Keys v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 279, 131 SW 1068.

[d] Where an officer, under pretense of making a search, holds up the victim's hands and extracts money from his pocket, this is robbery. Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRANS 1024.

67. Snyder v. Com., 55 SW 679, 21 KyL 1538; Com. v. Snelling, 4 Binn. (Pa.) 379.

Effect of victim being unaware of taking see infra § 45 text and note 77 et seq.

68. State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

69. Spencer's Case, 2 East P. C. 712; Rex v. Simons, 2 East P. C. 712.

[a] At inadequate price.—Where the prosecutor had certain corn in his possession, and defendant came along with a great mob marching in military order, and defendant said if he did not sell the corn for thirty shillings a load they would take it anyway, whereupon the prosecutor sold for thirty shillings a load that which was worth thirty eight shillings a load, defendant was convicted and executed for robbery. Spencer's Case, 2 East P. C. 712.

70. Taplin's Case, 2 East P. C. 712.

[a] Asking alms with a drawn sword and thereby securing a colorable gift by means of intimidation. 2 East P. C. p 711.

[b] Mob begging.—Where a boy knocked violently at the door of one Mahon's house and said, "God bless your honour, remember the poor mob," and on being told to go along, said he would fetch his captain, went away and returned with his captain and the rest of the mob, some of whom remarked, "God bless the gentleman, he is always generous," and on Mahon's asking the captain, "How much?" the latter replied, "Half-a-crown, Sir," whereupon Mahon gave him half a crown to the cheers of the mob, whereas he had intended to give him only a shilling, this was held robbery by the captain. Taplin's Case, 2 East P. C. 712.

71. State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

[a] Personating officers.—Where defendants falsely represented to the victim that they were officers of the law authorized to arrest him and to take his property and money, but such representations were insufficient to induce the victim to surrender his property, and it was only under compulsion of actual force and intimidation that he did surrender it, the offense was robbery. State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRANS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

72. U. S. v. Sosa, 4 Philippine 172.

[a] Begging with a bolo.—An armed man's request for money is not necessarily sufficient to show intimidation, and where defendants were given money while engaged in bona fide begging, the fact that they were at the time armed with bolos to be used for cutting camachiles did not of itself establish intimidation making the act robbery where the other circumstances failed to indicate that the money was given under fear of injury. U. S. v. Sosa, 4 Philippine 172.

73. Other offenses:
Burglary see Burglary §§ 21, 22.
Larceny see Larceny §§ 85-100.

74. Ala.—Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249.

Cal.—Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254.

Ga.—Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114; Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Ill.—Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84.

Ind.—Seymour v. State, 15 Ind. 288.

Okl.—Shouquette v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 169, 219 P 727.

Wash.—State v. Casto, 120 Wash. 557, 207 P 952.

Eng.—Rex v. Fuller, R. & R. 408, 168 Reprint 870.

[a] "If the taking is with the consent or at the direction of the person whom it is charged the accused robbed there is no robbery." Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 562, 135 NE 84, 85.

[b] Facts held sufficient to show nonconsent.—Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254 (victim's expressed willingness to submit to threatened arrest for immoral conduct rather than give up his property, when defendant shoved him back onto bed and by threat of violence induced him to give it up).

[c] In Texas, under a statute silent as to consent, but defining robbery as a felonious taking from the person or possession of another by violence or putting in fear, (1) it has been stated that want of consent is not an element of the offense. Wilson v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 134, 11 SW (2d) 803. (2) Other authority states that the taking must be without the victim's consent. Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539, 545 (cit Cyc to the effect that lack of consent is essential, and where the court said: "Of course, if Rivera [the victim] consented to the robbery, the offense was not committed"); Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 Am SR 759, 1 LRANS 1024. (3) The true rule in Texas would appear to be that a consent induced by force or intimidation is not such as to preclude conviction for robbery (Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408 [holding that where defendant, who was armed with a pistol, by threats forced the custodian of bank funds to appear that the taking must be not only without the consent, but also against the conscious will of the victim to constitute robbery.[75] In common-law jurisdictions it has been broadly stated that the taking must be against the will of the victim,[76] but this would appear to mean no more than that the taking must be without conscious consent, as in such jurisdictions it is robbery to take from an unconscious victim reduced to that condition by violence of the taker.[77]

Victim unconscious or otherwise unaware of taking. It is not essential that the victim be conscious,[78] nor aware of the robbery if conscious,[79] provided force is used to render him unconscious, or unaware of the taking.[80]

[§ 46] b. By Whom Given. To constitute a defense to a charge of robbery, consent must be given by the victim,[81] or by some one authorized to represent him in this respect.[82]

[§ 47] c. What Constitutes—(1) In General. "Consent" as used in the law of robbery has been said to mean a voluntary yielding of the will[83] by one with power to act,[84] and cannot exist where there is either force[85] or intimidation.[86]

[§ 48] (2) Consent for Purpose of Entrapping Robber.[87] Where property is taken with the consent of the victim, given without knowledge of defendant and for the purpose of catching him in the commission of the act, the taking of the property is not robbery.[88] But it has also been held that carrying marked money in anticipation of being robbed is not consent constituting a defense.[89]

[§ 49] 6. Intent[90]—a. Necessity for Felonious Intent or Animus Furandi. In the absence of contrary statute,[91] there can be no robbery without a open the vault, the fact of the custodian's consent, does not change the offense from robbery]), (4) and that in stating that lack of consent is not an element of the crime, the courts mean merely that a taking by force or intimidation is equivalent to a taking without consent (Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265 [where the court held that to constitute robbery, the taking need not be "without the consent of the owner and fraudulently done"; a taking by putting in fear of life or bodily injury being sufficient]). See also Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 277 SW 135 (where the court stated the converse of this proposition; that is, stated that a taking without consent was equivalent to a taking by violence or putting in fear). (5) As to necessity of alleging lack of consent in indictment see infra § 110 text and note 96 [a].

---

Necessity of alleging in indictment or information see infra § 110.

[75] See case infra this note.

[a] Distinction illustrated.—"Upon appeal to the Supreme Court of Spain it was held that the appellant had been improperly convicted of theft. The point upon which the court there discriminated the offense from theft was that the seizure had been effected against the will of the owner. Upon this feature of the case, the court, after comparing the definitions of theft and robbery in the Penal Code, observed that for robbery it is necessary that there should be a taking against the will of the owner and for theft it suffices that consent on the part of the owner is lacking. (8 Crim. Jur., 235.) In the case before us the offense was committed against the manifest will of Yu Lay and not merely without her consent." Peo. v. Chan Wat, 49 Philippine 114, 116.

[76] Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84.

[77] See infra text and note 78 et seq.

[78] Bowen v. State, 16 Ga. A. 110, 84 SE 730, 732; Rex v. Hawkins, 3 C. & P. 392, 14 ECL 626, 172 Reprint 470; 4 Blackstone Comm. pp 243, 244.

"To constitute robbery by force, it is not essential that the victim shall be conscious. While it is not robbery to abstract property furtively from the person of one who is unconscious, that offense is committed where, to accomplish the taking, he is beaten or bodily injury is inflicted upon him." Bowen v. State, supra.

[79] Bowen v. State, supra.

"Under the common law, and under the decisions of our Supreme Court relative to robbery by force or intimidation, it is not essential that the person robbed should be conscious at the time the robbery is committed that something is being taken away from him." Bowen v. State, supra.

Rule under snatching statute see supra § 41.

Using force to divert attention from pocket-picking see supra § 43 text and note 67.

[80] Pocket-picking as not robbery see supra § 43.

[81] Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84.

[82] Peo. v. Goldberg, supra; Shouquette v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 169, 219 P 727, 733.

"It is also well settled that the consent of the owner to the forcible taking of his property must be given by some one having authority to consent to the particular act." Shouquette v. State, supra.

[83] Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114, 115.

" 'Consent' is 'a voluntary yielding of the will,' or 'a rational and voluntary concurrence in an act.' " New Standard D. [quot Shehany v. Lowry, supra].

[a] "A 'compelled consent' is in law no consent at all." Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114, 115.

"Consent" defined generally see Consent § 1.

[84] Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114, 115.

"Consent supposes a physical power to act; a moral power of acting, and a serious, determined, and free use of these powers." Bouvier L. D. [quot Shehany v. Lowry, supra].

[85] Shehany v. Lowry, supra.

"Where money is taken by one from another violently by force and intimidation, as is charged in the present indictment, it would be impossible for the person upon whom such violence, force, and intimidation were exerted to legally consent to such taking, and the 'wrongful and fraudulent' taking would therefore be without the consent of such owner; and we think that the language in which the offense is charged in the present indictment would convey to the jury the nature of the offense charged against the defendant so plainly that it would be easily understood. . . . We hold in this case, where a robbery is charged as having been committed 'wrongfully, fraudulently, and violently, by force and intimidation,' that these words clearly imply that the taking was without the consent of the person alleged to have been robbed." Shehany v. Lowry, supra.

"It is charged that the defendant committed the offense of 'robbery, for that said accused . . . with force and arms did wrongfully, fraudulently, and violently, by force and intimidation, take from the person of R. C. Parker, with intent to steal the same,' etc. It would seem that the language used necessarily conveys a clear implication that the money was taken without the consent of the owner as that term is understood in law." Shehany v. Lowry, supra.

[86] Shehany v. Lowry, supra.

"Bearing in mind the meaning of the word 'consent,' it would seem to follow that there can be no legal consent given in the face of intimidation." Shehany v. Lowry, supra.

[87] Effect in prosecutions for other offenses:
Burglary see Burglary § 22.
Larceny see Larceny §§ 94–99.

[88] Stanley v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 195, 219 P 734; Shouquette v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 169, 219 P 727.

[a] Rule stated.—Where property is taken with the consent of the owner, such taking does not constitute robbery, although the object of the taking is to entrap the perpetrator, who has no knowledge of such consent, but really intends to commit the crime. Stanley v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 195, 219 P 734; Shouquette v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 169, 219 P 727.

[89] Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRANS 1024.

[90] Intent to intimidate see supra § 33 text and note 7.

[91] See case infra this note.

[a] In Minnesota it has been stated in a robbery case that, "criminal intent is not necessarily an element of a crime defined by statute. . . . The statute does not in terms make intent a necessary element in the crime of robbery." State v. Bruno, 141 Minn. 56, 58, 169 NW 249 (where, criminal,[92] felonious,[93] or, under an express statute, a fraudulent[94] intent. The animus furandi,[95] or intent to steal, is essential to the crime.[96] In other words, there must be a criminal intent of a character including the specific intent to rob.[97] Where there is no intent to deprive the owner of his property permanently and to convert it to his own use, one is not guilty of robbery in forcibly taking property in the course of an arrest,[98] nor in pursuance of a sufficient[99] or insufficient[1] warrant; nor under military orders,[2] nor as a matter of self-protection,[3] nor by mistake,[4] nor merely as a joke.[5]

Secrecy is not necessary as an element of the felonious intent essential to robbery.[6]

The element of force or intimidation is not a substitute for the intent to steal.[7]

[§ 50] b. Time of Forming Intent—(1) In General. The intent to steal must be present at the time however, the court did not decide as to the necessity of intent as an element of robbery, the decision being merely that an instruction as to the necessity of intent was not required where the facts clearly proved its existence so that no issue was raised on this point).

---

92. Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764.

Criminal intent generally see Criminal Law §§ 41-50.

93. Ala.—Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816; Thomas v. State, 91 Ala. 34, 9 S 81.

Mich.—Peo. v. McKeighan, 205 Mich. 367, 171 NW 500.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Hall, 6 Parker Cr. 642.

Okl.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

Va.—Jordan v. Com., 25 Gratt. (66 Va.) 943.

Wash.—State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742, 745.

"It is essential that the taking be with a felonious intent, and, unless it is so taken, the act of taking is not robbery." State v. Steele, supra.

94. Glenn v. State, 49 Tex. Cr. 349, 92 SW 806, 13 AnnCas 774.

95. See case infra this note.

[a] Defined.—"Now what is this animus furandi? It is generally translated as 'an intent to steal.' But what is an intent to steal? It is an intent to feloniously deprive the owner permanently of his property. But 'feloniously' in this connection simply means 'with criminal intent.'" Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764, 768.

96. U. S.—In re Lewis, 83 Fed. 159.

Ala.—Kennedy v. State, 208 Ala. 66, 93 S 822.

Ark.—Brown v. State, 28 Ark. 126.

Cal.—Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836.

Colo.—Analytis v. Peo., 68 Colo. 74, 188 P 1113.

Fla.—Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

Ga.—Sledge v. State, 99 Ga. 684, 26 SE 756.

Iowa.—State v. Hollyway, 41 Iowa 200, 20 AmR 586.

Kan.—Guffey v. Continental Casualty Co., 109 Kan. 61, 197 P 1098 (action on insurance policy).

Ky.—Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051; Triplett v. Com., 122 Ky. 35, 91 SW 281, 28 KyL 974.

Mich.—Peo. v. McKeighan, 205 Mich. 367, 171 NW 500.

Miss.—McCray v. State, 153 Miss. 587, 121 S 291; Jones v. State, 95 Miss. 121, 48 S 407, 21 AnnCas 1137; Woods v. State, 6 S 207.

Mo.—State v. Smith, 174 Mo. 586, 74 SW 624; State v. Woodward, 131 Mo. 369, 33 SW 14; State v. O'Connor, 105 Mo. 121, 16 SW 510.

Nebr.—Langford v. State, 32 Nebr. 782, 49 NW 766.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Hall, 6 Parker Cr. 642.

N. C.—State v. Nicholson, 124 N. C. 820, 32 SE 813.

N. D.—State v. Fordham, 13 N. D. 494, 101 NW 888.

Oh.—State v. Carmans, Tapp. 97.

Okl.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

Pa.—Com. v. White, 133 Pa. 182, 19 A 350, 19 AmSR 628.

Philippine.—Peo. v. Cara, 48 Philippine 217; U. S. v. Alabot, 38 Philippine 698; U. S. v. Abrille, 36 Philippine 807; U. S. v. Manluco, 28 Philippine 360; U. S. v. Vega, 2 Philippine 167.

Tex.—Barton v. State, (Cr.) 227 SW 317.

Utah.—Peo. v. Hughes, 11 Utah 100, 39 P 492.

Va.—Jordan v. Com., 25 Gratt. (66 Va.) 943.

Wash.—State v. Byers, 136 Wash. 620, 241 P 9, 10 [quot Cyc].

W. Va.—State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

Eng.—Rex v. Hall, 3 C. & P. 409, 14 ECL 635, 172 Reprint 477; Reg. v. Edwards, 1 Cox C. C. 32; Rex v. Gnosil, 1 C. & P. 304, 12 ECL 182, 171 Reprint 1206.

B. C.—Rex v. Ford, 13 B. C. 109, 12 CanCrCas 555.

"It is not a robbery if the animus furandi is lacking." Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051, 1053.

"To constitute robbery the taking must in all cases be accompanied with a felonious intent, or animus furandi." Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179, 181.

As to necessity of alleging intent in indictment see infra § 111.

97. Killingsworth v. State, 90 Fla. 299, 105 S 834; Peo. v. McKeighan, 205 Mich. 367, 171 NW 500, 502. See Guffey v. Continental Casualty Co., 109 Kan. 61, 197 P 1098 (action on insurance policy).

"An intent to commit a simple assault would not justify a conviction." Peo. v. McKeighan, supra.

[a] Intent permanently to deprive owner of property and to convert to taker's use, is essential. Guffey v. Continental Casualty Co., 109 Kan. 61, 197 P 1098 (action on insurance policy).

98. State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914, 918.

"Where an officer transcends his authority in the performance of what he conceives to be his official duty, and carries property away in good faith, it is not robbery, because the essential element of intent to steal is lacking." State v. Morris, supra.

[a] Even though it was not entirely clear that an arrest was made or attempted, if a special constable in an altercation with a drunken man confiscated the latter's liquor and pistol, but without intent to steal them, this was not robbery. State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914.

99. U. S. v. Cuison, 4 Philippine 194, 196.

"An officer who takes possession of personal property by means of a search warrant lawfully issued and properly served cannot be held liable for the crime of robbery of the said property." U. S. v. Cuison, supra.

1. In re Lewis, 83 Fed. 159.

2. State v. Sowls, 61 N. C. 151; U. S. v. Atienza, 2 Philippine 242.

[a] Taking victim's sword in obedience to captain's order to disarm was not robbery, and even if no such order was given, the soldier was not guilty of robbery if he bona fide believed that he was acting under such an order. State v. Sowls, 61 N. C. 151.

Act of war as defense see infra § 77.

Command of superior as defense see infra § 75.

3. Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051; Rex v. Holloway, 5 C. & P. 524, 24 ECL 688, 172 Reprint 1082.

[a] Taking gun in fight.—If defendant in fact took and kept another's pistol, while engaged in a rough and tumble fight, merely to prevent his opponent from shooting him, defendant was not guilty of robbery because the animus furandi was lacking. Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051.

4. Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

[a] Taking without knowledge.—Where defendant forcibly took a roll of bills belonging to him, and by mistake also took a cashier's check hidden in the roll of bills and which check did not belong to defendant, he was not guilty of robbery of the bills because they were his own property, and was not guilty of robbery of the cashier's check because he took it by mistake. Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

5. Com. v. White, 133 Pa. 182, 19 A 350, 19 AmSR 628.

[a] Despite the use of violence or menace it has been held that it is not robbery to obtain property merely as a joke. Com. v. White, 133 Pa. 182, 19 A 350, 19 AmSR 628.

6. State v. Bradburn, 104 N. C. 881, 10 SE 526.

7. Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836.

[a] Illustration.—Under a statute defining robbery as the felonious taking of personal property by means of force or fear, force or fear alone is insufficient to supply the "felonious" element, which can be supplied only by the intent to steal or animus furandi. Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836.

of the taking.[8] Taking property without a present intent to steal is not converted into robbery because of a subsequent illegal appropriation of the property,[9] although such subsequent misappropriation is a circumstance to be considered in determining the existence of the requisite intent at the time of the taking.[10]

[§ 51] (2) Premeditation.[11] Premeditation is not essential to the felonious intent necessary to the commission of the offense of larceny.[12]

[§ 52] c. Claim of Right.[13] As a general rule it is not robbery to take property under a bona fide claim of right or title thereto.[14] Cases held within this rule and therefore not robbery include the forcible taking under a bona fide claim of specific property,[15] or property taken as security,[16] of gambling gains[17] or losses,[18] and of money taken from the alleged thief in reimbursement for money honestly believed to have been stolen.[19]

Collection of debt. It has been both affirmed[20] and denied[21] that collection by force or intimidation of a debt honestly believed due constitutes robbery.

---

[8] Ala.—Kennedy v. State, 208 Ala. 66, 93 S 822.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Atienza, 2 Philippine 242.

Va.—Jordan v. Com., 25 Gratt. (66 Va.) 943, 947.

W. Va.—State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914, 917.

Eng.—Rex v. Holloway, 5 C. & P. 524, 24 ECL 688, 172 Reprint 1082.

"The intent to steal the property at the time it is first taken is just as essential to the crime of robbery as the use of force in the taking." State v. Morris, supra.

"No subsequent felonious purpose will render the previous taking felonious." Jordan v. Com., supra.

[a] On manucaption.—"An essential factor in robbery is that the taking should, at the time of manucaption, have been with a larcenous intent." Kennedy v. State, 208 Ala. 66, 93 S 822.

[9] U. S. v. Atienza, 2 Philippine 242; State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914, 915.

"To constitute the crime of robbery in this case the intent to steal, take, and carry away the pistol must have existed in the minds of the accused at the time the prosecuting witness was disarmed. Any subsequent appropriation or carrying away of the pistol, although illegal, does not make it robbery." State v. Morris, supra.

[10] Kennedy v. State, 208 Ala. 66, 93 S 822.

"Notwithstanding the entertainment by the accused of a larcenous intent after the taking, that otherwise constituted robbery, does not suffice to afford the concurring larcenous intent requisite to constitute robbery, the fact that accused carried the property away, retained its possession on his flight, was a circumstance, inconclusive, of course, that the jury was entitled to consider in ascertaining whether the taking was defensive, protective, as defendant asserted, or that it was in consequence of a larcenous intent." Kennedy v. State, supra.

[11] As element of crime in general see Criminal Law §§ 41-50.

"Premeditation" defined see 49 C. J. p 1327.

[12] Peo. v. Pedel, 81 Cal. A. 558, 254 P 298, 299.

"Deliberation or premeditation is not an element of the crime of robbery." Peo. v. Pedel, supra.

[13] Actual ownership of property taken see supra § 18.

Taking by police or military see supra § 49 text and notes 98-2.

[14] Ark.—Brown v. State, 28 Ark. 126.

Cal.—Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836.

Colo.—Analytis v. Peo., 68 Colo. 74, 188 P 1113.

Ga.—Crawford v. State, 90 Ga. 701, 17 SE 628, 35 AmSR 242.

Iowa.—State v. Wasson, 126 Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125; State v. Hollyway, 41 Iowa 200, 20 AmR 586.

Ky.—Triplett v. Com., 122 Ky. 35, 91 SW 281, 28 KyL 974.

Mo.—State v. Culpepper, 293 Mo. 249, 238 SW 801.

N. C.—State v. Deal, 64 N. C. 270.

Oh.—State v. Carmans, Tapp. 65.

Okl.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

Philippine.—Peo. v. Cara, 48 Philippine 217; U. S. v. Abrille, 36 Philippine 807; U. S. v. Vega, 2 Philippine 167.

Tex.—Glenn v. State, 49 Tex. Cr. 349, 92 SW 806.

Utah.—Peo. v. Hughes, 11 Utah 100, 39 P 492.

Va.—Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764, 768 [cit Cyc].

Wash.—State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

Eng.—Rex v. Hall, 3 C. & P. 409, 14 ECL 635, 172 Reprint 477.

B. C.—Rex v. Ford, 13 B. C. 109, 12 CanCrCas 555.

[a] "The basis of these decisions is the lack of a criminal intent, as there can be no animus furandi, or criminal intent, where the property is taken under a bona fide claim of right." Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764, 768.

[15] Ark.—Brown v. State, 28 Ark. 126.

Cal.—Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836.

Ky.—Triplett v. Com., 122 Ky. 35, 91 SW 281, 28 KyL 974.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Hall, 6 Parker Cr. 642.

Okl.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Manluco, 28 Philippine 360.

Eng.—Rex v. Hall, 3 C. & P. 409, 14 ECL 639, 172 Reprint 477.

[a] Cotton bales.—Brown v. State, 28 Ark. 126.

[b] Game trap.—Rex v. Hall, 3 C. & P. 409, 14 ECL 635, 172 Reprint 477 (holding that, where A had set wires in which game was caught, and B, a gamekeeper, found them, and took the game and wires for the use of the lord of the manor, whereupon A demanded them with menaces, and B gave them up, and the jury found that A acted under a bona fide impression that the game and wires were his property, there was no robbery).

[c] Marked money.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179.

[d] Range, pump, and machinery.—Peo. v. Sheasbey, 82 Cal. A. 459, 255 P 836 (forcibly retaken from installment purchaser by seller).

[e] Timber.—U. S. v. Manluco, 28 Philippine 360.

[16] Peo. v. Hall, 6 Parker Cr. (N. Y.) 642.

[17] State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

[a] Crap winnings.—State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

[18] Peo. v. Hughes, 11 Utah 100, 39 P 492; Rex v. Ford, 13 B. C. 109, 12 CanCrCas 555.

Ownership of gambling gains or losses see supra § 18 text and note 23 et seq.

[19] Analytis v. Peo., 68 Colo. 74, 188 P 1113; Glenn v. State, 49 Tex. Cr. 349, 92 SW 806, 13 AnnCas 774.

[a] One who had reason to believe, and did believe, that another had stolen one hundred dollars from him, and, acting on that belief, took by force from such other person money which he had, did not commit robbery. Analytis v. Peo., 68 Colo. 74, 188 P 1113.

[20] Fannin v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 41, 100 SW 916, 918, 123 AmSR 874, 10 LRANS 744.

"We are not willing to lay down the proposition that if a man collects a debt by force and threats, and putting in fear, he will not be guilty of robbery. There might be peculiar facts and circumstances which would exonerate him, and which the jury might consider in mitigation of the punishment, but no man has a right, as we understand the law, to take the law in his own hands, and at the point of a six-shooter, putting the debtor in fear of his life or serious bodily injury, collect a debt, however just, and then defend against it, on the ground that the property was not fraudulently taken because appellant owed him the money, and would not pay him. This is more than a simple trespass, and it will be a dangerous doctrine to hold that a man can thus collect his debts. If it was specific property that appellant had a right to, under the circumstances he might use force to get or regain possession of same without being guilty of robbery; and, under the circumstances of this case, where appellant had no right to any specific property, the prosecutor owing him a debt for wages, the amount of which was even controverted, and he simply drew a pistol and made prosecutor pay him what he (appellant) claimed was due, we hold that this was not a good defense, and the court did not err in charging the jury as he did." Fannin v. State, supra.

[21] State v. Hollyway, 41 Iowa 200, 203, 20 AmR 586; State v. Culpepper, 293 Mo. 249, 238 SW 801; Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764; Reg. v. Hemmings, 4 F. & F. 50, 176 Reprint 462.

Unliquidated damages. It has been held that the rule that taking under a claim of right is not robbery[22] should not be extended to protect from such charge one who by force or intimidation collects unliquidated damages.[23]

[§ 53] d. Intoxication.[24] Intoxication sufficient to prevent the forming of a felonious intent is a good defense to a charge of robbery.[25]

[§ 54] 7. Motive. Under the general rule,[26] the specific motive or ultimate object to be attained by the robbery is immaterial.[27]

The subsequent use of the property by the robber does not affect his guilt,[28] as it is not necessary that his motive should be appropriation of the stolen property to his personal use.[29]

III. GRADE, DEGREE, OR CLASSIFICATION OF OFFENSE[30]

[§ 55] A. In General. Under statutes in some jurisdictions robbery is divided into degrees,[31] or otherwise classified[32] in accordance with the nature and extent of the violence or intimidation employed, and other circumstances of aggravation.[33]

[§ 56] B. Degrees of Robbery—1. First Degree—a. With Dangerous or Deadly Weapon.[34] Under statutes classifying robbery by one armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon as robbery in the first degree, the word "armed" means furnished or equipped.[35] The actual display[36] or use[37] of the weapon is unnecessary, as it is the possible use to which the weapon might have been put that controls.[38] It is not necessary to prove a technical assault.[39] Statutory provisions as to robbery with a "dangerous or deadly" weapon, are violated if the weapon used be either "dangerous" or "deadly."[40]

"We do not see how it can be said to be robbery where the defendant by putting in fear compels his debtor to pay that which the defendant in good faith believes to be a just and honest debt then due. The felonious intent is wanting." State v. Hollyway, supra.

[a] Admitted debt.—"How about collecting an admitted debt by use of threats accompanied by the presentation of firearms against the debtor? B, a debtor, has in his pocket ten $5 bills. His title to each is perfect. He owes A $5. A has not now, and never had, any title or possession of either of the bills. A presents a pistol to B and says, 'Pay me the $5 you owe me immediately, else I will kill you.' B, out of fear, hands him one of the $5 bills. Has not A, by trespass, taken the bill, with intent to deprive B permanently of his property? Undoubtedly, but with no dishonest or criminal intent. . . . He took an unlawful means of collecting his debt, and was guilty of an aggravated assault, but not of robbery, and so the cases hold." Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764, 768.

[b] Disputed debt.—If the prosecuting witness owed to defendant, or if defendant in good faith believed the witness owed him the money which defendant compelled the witness to pay by force or threats, defendant was not guilty of robbery because the felonious intent was wanting. State v. Culpepper, 293 Mo. 249, 238 SW 801.

22. See supra text and note 14.

23. Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 615, 31 ALR 1074.

"Many courts have held that the taking and retention of the property of another for the purpose of paying or securing the payment of a debt would not necessarily constitute larceny or robbery. . . . We refuse, however, to extend this somewhat mooted doctrine so as to cover cases where the taking of the property is for the purpose of forcibly collecting uncertain liquidated damages for an alleged criminal assault. To hold otherwise would amount to an invitation to those aggrieved by the criminal acts of others to assume the functions of judge, jury, and sheriff to violently and forcibly compensate themselves for the injury or assumed injury inflicted, to any extent deemed adequate by the aggrieved person alone, and that such violence would amount to no more than a mere trespass or simple assault." Tipton v. State, supra.

[a] For tort.—In a prosecution for robbery, where the taking of the property is for the purpose of forcibly collecting uncertain unliquidated damages as compensation for an alleged felonious assault on the taker's wife, such forcible taking may constitute robbery, and does not come within the rule that the forcible taking and retention of the property of another for the purpose of securing the payment of a debt might not be deemed robbery. Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074.

24. Effect in criminal prosecutions generally see Criminal Law §§ 81–87.

25. State v. Byers, 136 Wash. 620, 241 P 9. But see State v. Stebbins, 188 Mo. 387, 395, 87 SW 460 (where the court said: "Drunkenness could not justify, excuse or mitigate the offense," where there was no claim that defendant was insane).

26. See Criminal Law § 43.

27. Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074.

[a] Avarice, revenge, or curiosity.—"The taking of something of value from another, by means of force or fear of injury, is the gist of the offense of robbery; whether the motives leading up to the assault grew out of avarice, revenge, or curiosity is immaterial. None of these motives would justify robbery, or change the degree of the offense, or operate to mitigate the punishment therefor." Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 615, 31 ALR 1074.

28. Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460.

29. Jordan v. Com., 25 Gratt. (66 Va.) 943.

30. Distinct offenses:
Attempts and assaults see infra §§ 217–241.
Bank robbery see infra §§ 242–244.
Robbery with other offenses:
  Homicide see infra §§ 245–251.
  Rape see infra §§ 252–254.

Snatching under statute see supra § 41.

Terms defined:
"Conjoint robbery" see supra § 4.
"Highway robbery" see supra § 5.
"Robo en cuadrilla" see supra § 8.

31. See infra §§ 56–64.

32. See infra §§ 65–69.

33. See statutory provisions.

34. As basis of classification without division into degrees see infra § 65.

Use of such weapons as first degree robbery under statutes not specifically referring thereto see infra § 58 text and note 53.

35. Peo. v. Hall, (Cal. A.) 287 P 533.

"'Armed' with a dangerous weapon means furnished or equipped with weapons of offense or defense." Peo. v. Hall, supra.

36. Peo. v. Hall, supra.

"The evidence showed that both defendants were armed with a revolver, and that, in addition thereto, one of them was possessed of a black-jack. Whether or not they exposed these deadly weapons in order to carry out their criminal act is of no consequence. The fact that they had them in their possession available for immediate use is sufficient to bring the case within the statute." Peo. v. Hall, supra.

37. Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660; Peo. v. Freeman, 86 Cal. A. 374, 260 P 826.

[a] Even though no effort was made to use the weapon as such the fact that defendant was armed with a deadly or dangerous weapon, is sufficient to show first degree robbery. Peo. v. Freeman, 86 Cal. A. 374, 260 P 826.

38. Peo v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660.

39. Peo. v. Hall, (Cal. A.) 287 P 533; Peo. v. Seawright, 72 Cal. A. 414, 237 P 796.

"Section 211a of the Penal Code, which declares that 'all robbery which is perpetrated by torture or by a person being armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon, is robbery in the first degree,' does not require proof that there was an actual assault upon the person with a deadly weapon, but only that the accused was armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon." Peo. v. Hall, supra.

40. Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660.

Whether or not the weapon is "dangerous or deadly" depends on the attendant circumstances,[41] and the possible use thereof.[42] An unloaded revolver is a dangerous weapon within the meaning of the statute.[43]

[§ 57] b. Armed with Dangerous Weapon or Aided by Accomplice. Under a statute defining robbery in the first degree as a robbery committed by one armed with a dangerous weapon or aided by an accomplice actually present,[44] an armed robber acting with an armed accomplice actually present may be convicted of first degree robbery.[45]

[§ 58] c. Actual Violence or Fear of Immediate Personal Injury. Under statutes defining robbery in the first degree as taking from another "by violence to his person or by putting him in fear of some immediate injury to his person,"[46] one or the other is essential.[47] But either is sufficient to constitute first degree robbery,[48] as the statutes do not define different offenses but merely one offense which may be committed in different ways.[49] A technical assault need not be proved.[50] It is not necessary that force should be used after the taking has been completed.[51] If intimidation is relied on, the fear aroused must be of immediate injury.[52]

Robbery by use of a deadly and dangerous weapon is included within first degree robbery under such statutes.[53]

[§ 59] d. Fear of Immediate Injury.[54] Under statutes providing that the fear forming an element of robbery may be the fear of an unlawful injury to the person or property of the victim, immediate or future, and that when accomplished by means of putting the person in fear of immediate injury to his person it is first degree robbery,[55] putting the victim in fear of immediate personal peril is first degree robbery.[56]

[§ 60] e. Infliction of Bodily Injury. Under a statute classifying as first degree, robbery committed (1) with a dangerous weapon, or (2) aided by an accomplice actually present, or (3) whenever the

---

[a] The words "deadly" and "dangerous" are to be given distinct and different meanings in construction of the statute. Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660.

[41] Peo. v. Freeman, 86 Cal. A. 374, 260 P 826, 827.

[42] Peo. v. Freeman, supra.

"Notwithstanding the fact that ordinarily and in and of itself the instrumentality may be in fact comparatively harmless, if, considering the attendant circumstances, together with the present ability of its possessor, the instrument is capable of being used in a deadly or dangerous manner, for the purpose of the particular occasion only, the character of the instrument may be established." Peo. v. Freeman, supra.

"It is patent that ordinarily, and without the aid of some animate agency, a gun in itself, either loaded or unloaded, possesses no qualities either dangerous or deadly. In other words, it is only by its use, whether arising from human or other manipulation, that it assumes a deadly character, or one dangerous to life or limb; and just so, only in a lesser degree, is any other invention, device, or instrument." Peo. v. Freeman, supra.

[43] Peo. v. Freeman, supra; Peo. v. Shaffer, 81 Cal. A. 752, 254 P 666, 667.

[a] Use as bludgeon.—"It is a matter of common knowledge, that in committing robbery pistols are frequently used as bludgeons rather than as firearms. The fact, therefore, that a person perpetrating such crime is armed with a pistol is enough to justify the conclusion that the pistol used by him is a 'dangerous' weapon within the meaning of said section 211a of the Penal Code, even though it be not loaded." Peo. v. Egan, 77 Cal. A. 279, 246 P 337 [quot Peo. v. Freeman, 86 Cal. A. 374, 260 P 826, 827; Peo. v. Shaffer, 81 Cal. A. 752, 254 P 666, 667].

[44] See statutory provisions.

[45] Peo. v. Paradiso, 248 N. Y. 123, 161 NE 443, 444.

"The defendant had no pistol. Robbery having been committed, it became a first degree robbery for two reasons: First, one of the principals had a dangerous weapon; second, the defendant was aided by an accomplice actually present. Because the two were acting together it would have been robbery, first degree, if neither had had a pistol." Peo. v. Paradiso, supra.

[46] See statutory provisions; and case infra this note.

[a] In Kansas.—"'Every person who shall be convicted of feloniously taking the property of another from his person or in his presence, and against his will, by violence to his person or by putting him in fear of some immediate injury to his person, shall be adjudged guilty of robbery in the first degree.' Gen. Stat. [1915] § 3443." State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302, 303.

[47] State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259.

[48] State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302; State v. Curtis, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 122, 124; State v. Bater, (Mo.) 232 SW 1012; State v. Williams, (Mo.) 183 SW 308; State v. Flynn, 258 Mo. 211, 167 SW 516.

"A reading of section 3307 [Rev. St. (1919)] advises that it defines robbery in the first degree. This degree of robbery may result from either violence to the person or the putting in fear of some immediate injury to the person." State v. Curtis, supra.

Force and intimidation as alternative phases of element of offense see supra § 24.

[49] State v. Williams, (Mo.) 183 SW 308; State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, LRA1915C 121; State v. Montgomery, 109 Mo. 645, 19 SW 221, 32 AmSR 684.

[a] Either separately or both together.—Rev. St. (1909) § 4530, providing that one feloniously taking the property of another on his person or in his presence and against his will, by violence or by putting him in fear of immediate injury, shall be guilty of "robbery in the first degree," defines but one offense, which may be committed by either of the two methods designated, or by both at the same time. State v. Williams, (Mo.) 183 SW 308.

[50] State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302, 303.

"It was not necessary to a conviction to show violence to her person. . . . A robbery may be committed without a search of the clothing or an assault upon the person of the victim. If in her fright she had dropped her purse and the defendant had taken it from the ground, it would have constituted robbery." State v. Smith, supra.

[51] State v. Parker, 262 Mo. 169, 170 SW 1121, 1123, LRA1915C 121.

"Force to prevent arrest, or to prevent recovery of the stolen property after the asportation of the property is complete and after detachment from the person of the owner of the property is consummated, are not necessary elements of robbery in the first degree." State v. Parker, supra.

[52] State v. Howerton, 59 Mo. 91, 92.

"In robbery in the first degree, it is indispensable that the putting in fear should be of some immediate injury. This distinguishes it from robbery in the second degree, ([Wagner St.] § 21) where the fear may arise from the threatened injury to be inflicted at a different time. Unless the violence which puts the party in fear is of some immediate injury to his person, there can be no robbery in the first degree." State v. Howerton, supra.

[53] State v. Curtis, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 122; State v. Williams, (Mo.) 263 SW 198.

Statutes specifically referring to use of such weapons see supra §§ 56, 57; and infra § 61.

[54] Fear of future injury as second degree robbery see infra § 62.

[55] See statutory provisions.

[56] Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074.

[a] "Where one points a pistol at another, and with threats and menace of death compels the person assaulted to leave the presence of the one making the assault to procure money and property, which, when procured, is delivered to the person making the assault, while the person assaulted is under continued fear and duress, this constitutes [first degree] robbery." Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074.

offender inflicts grievous bodily harm,[57] defendant may be guilty of robbery with a dangerous weapon, even though he inflicts no bodily harm.[58]

[§ 61] 2. Second Degree—a. Without Dangerous or Deadly Weapon. Under statutes providing that robbery committed with a dangerous or deadly weapon is robbery in the first degree,[59] and, that all other robbery is in the second degree,[60] robbery committed without a dangerous or deadly weapon is second degree robbery.[61]

[§ 62] b. Fear of Future Injury. Under statutes providing that the fear forming an element of robbery may be the fear of unlawful injury to the person or property of the victim, immediate or future, and that when accomplished by means of putting the person in fear of immediate injury to his person, it is robbery in the first degree,[62] and in all other cases in the second degree,[63] putting him in fear of future injury to person[64] or property[65] is second degree robbery.

[§ 63] c. Under Circumstances Not Amounting to First Degree Robbery. Under statutes defining robbery in the first degree as a robbery committed by one armed with a dangerous weapon or aided by an accomplice actually present,[66] or when grievous bodily injury is inflicted, and defining robbery in the second degree as any robbery by violence or by putting the person robbed in fear of immediate injury, and not amounting to robbery in the first degree,[67] it is possible for two persons to be guilty of one robbery in the second degree.[68]

[§ 64] 3. Third Degree. Under statutes defining robbery in the first and second degrees as "all robbery accomplished by force or violence, or by fear of immediate injury to the person," and robbery in the third degree as all other robbery,[69] where the evidence shows that if defendant committed any robbery it was by force and violence, he cannot be convicted of robbery in the third degree.[70]

[§ 65] C. Classification without Division into Degrees[71]—1. With Dangerous or Deadly Weapon.[72] Statutes prescribing an increased penalty for robbery with a dangerous or deadly weapon without providing for formal "degrees" of robbery[73] do not define an offense,[74] but create a classification of the existing offense of robbery.[75] Under such statutes actual use of the weapon is not necessarily essential to constitute such classification of robbery.[76] A loaded revolver pointed at the victim within shooting distance is a dangerous weapon as a matter of law.[77] Under a statute making robbery with a "dangerous" weapon a particular classification of the crime and silent as to "deadly" weapons,[78] a court apparently drawing no distinction between "dangerous" and "deadly" has defined a "deadly weapon" as an instrument that is or may be used for offense or defense and is capable of producing death.[79]

[§ 66] 2. Wounding or Striking; Intent To Maim.[80] Under a statute creating a classification of robbery where the robber assaults another and feloniously takes while armed a dangerous weapon with intent, if resisted, to kill or maim, or being so armed does wound or strike the victim,[81] the elements of the offense are assault, robbery, being armed with a dangerous weapon, and either actual wounding or striking or intent to kill or maim, if resisted.[82]

[§ 67] 3. Robbery Committed by Two or More Persons. A statute providing an increased penalty whenever two or more persons conjointly commit a robbery or where the whole number of persons conjointly committing a robbery and persons present and aiding such robbery amount to two or more,[83] does not define an offense but merely classifies the existing offense of robbery,[84] and a robbery committed by two or more need not be prosecuted under the conjoint robbery statute.[85] A statute enacted after such conjoint robbery statute and providing an increased punishment for robbery with a dangerous weapon,[86] does not repeal the conjoint robbery statute,[87] and applies whether robbery is committed singly[88] or conjointly.[89]

---

[57] See statutory provisions.

[58] State v. Bruno, 141 Minn. 56, 169 NW 249, 250.

"It is urged that the court should have instructed the jury that in order to accomplish robbery the defendant must have inflicted grievous bodily harm. This is not the statute, nor is it the law. Robbery may be committed by one armed with a dangerous weapon though no bodily harm is in fact inflicted. General Statutes [1913] §§ 8635, 8636." State v. Bruno, supra.

[59] See supra § 56.

[60] See statutory provisions.

[61] Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660, 661.

"If a person is about to commit a robbery, there are several courses open to him. If he goes empty-handed he may succeed or he may fail, and in addition thereto, he may be killed. If he succeeds in committing the offense and is thereafter tried, he will have the benefit of claiming robbery in the second degree." Peo. v. Seaman, supra.

[62] See supra § 59.

[63] See statutory provisions.

[64] Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 314, 31 ALR 1074.

"Where the taking is accomplished by putting the person robbed in fear of immediate peril it is robbery in the first degree; where it is accomplished by means of fear of future injury to the person or property it would be robbery in the second degree." Tipton v. State, supra.

[65] Tipton v. State, supra.

[66] See supra § 57.

[67] See statutory provisions.

[68] Peo. v. Thompson, 198 N. Y. 396, 91 NE 838.

[69] See statutory provisions.

[70] Peo. v. Massett, 7 NYS 839, 7 NYCr 393.

[71] Punishment for robbery see infra §§ 204–215.

[72] As first degree robbery see supra §§ 56, 57.

[73] See statutory provisions.

[74] Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007; Randall v. State, 33 Okl. Cr. 262, 243 P 983.

[75] Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007; Randall v. State, 33 Okl. Cr. 262, 243 P 983, 984.

[76] Peo. v. Cassin, 322 Ill. 276, 153 NE 381.

[77] Schiner v. State, 178 Wis. 83, 189 NW 261, 262.

"It is true an empty revolver merely pointed at a person, and not used to strike with, is not a dangerous weapon, however much the person at whom it is pointed may be put to fear. A loaded revolver pointed at a person within shooting distance is a dangerous weapon as a matter of law." Schiner v. State, supra.

[78] See statutory provisions.

[79] Peo. v. Dwyer, 324 Ill. 363, 155 NE 316, 317.

"Some weapons are deadly per se; others, owing to the manner in which they are used, become deadly." Peo. v. Dwyer, supra.

"A weapon with which death may be easily and readily produced is a deadly weapon; anything made for the purpose of destroying life or for another purpose, or not made by man at all, if it is a thing with which death can be easily and readily produced, the law recognizes as a deadly weapon." Peo. v. Dwyer, supra.

[80] Proof essential to support indictment charging wounding or maiming see infra § 142.

[81] See statutory provisions.

[82] Schiner v. State, 178 Wis. 83, 189 NW 261.

[83] See statutory provisions.

[84] Simpson v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 783; Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007; Richards v. State, 22 Okl. Cr. 199, 210 P 295, 296.

[§ 68] 4. Use of Actual Force or Intimidation. Statutes defining robbery as a wrongful taking by force or intimidation, and punishing robbery by actual force more severely than robbery by intimidation,[90] create the single offense of robbery and separate it into different grades.[91]

[§ 69] 5. Snatching. Statutory provisions defining robbery by snatching[92] create a distinct grade or classification of the offense.[93]

[§ 70] D. Value.[94] Under statutes silent as to value, and classifying robbery in accordance with the nature or extent of the force or intimidation employed,[95] the value of the property taken is not material to the grade[96] or degree[97] of the offense.

[§ 71] E. Return of Property. In the absence of statutory provision to that effect,[98] return of the propery taken by robbery does not reduce the grade of the offense.[99]

IV. DEFENSES

[§ 72] A. In General. The defense of limitations[1] and matters of defense consisting in the absence of a necessary element of the crime,[2] are treated elsewhere.

[§ 73] B. Capacity To Commit Crime.[3] The general capacity of particular parties to commit robbery[4] or crime generally[5] is treated elsewhere.

[§ 74] C. Redelivery of Property.[6] Where the offense of robbery is actually completed, the redelivery of the property to the owner is no defense.[7]

[§ 75] D. Command of Superior.[8] It is not a defense that the robbery was committed under the command of a superior.[9]

[§ 76] E. Legal Arrest.[10] Arresting officers who use violence and rob the party arrested are not exonerated on account of the legality of the arrest.[11]

[§ 77] F. Act of War.[12] It is a defense that property was taken as an act of war.[13]

[§ 78] G. Trespass by Victim. Trespass by the victim on defendant's property does not justify defendant in robbing the trespasser.[14]

---

[85] Simpson v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 783.

[86] See supra § 65 text and note 73.

[87] Wells v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 179, 245 P 1007.

[88] Simpson v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 783.

[89] Simpson v. State, supra.

[90] See statutory provisions.

[91] Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293, 315; Tanner v. State, 24 Ga. A. 132, 100 SE 44, 45.

"When the Code speaks of force, it means actual violence; and when it speaks of intimidation, it still means force, not actual and direct, but exerted upon the person robbed by operating upon his fears—the fear of injury to his person, or property, or character. The law considers, however, that actual violence is attended with more immediate and serious consequences than violence by intimidation; and therefore it is that a distinction is made in the punishment. The former constitutes the offense with greater enormity. The offense, I conclude, is single, for the reason stated, and the element of force is necessary to constitute it in either case. It was so considered at common law." Long v. State, supra [quot in Tanner v. State, supra].

Robbery by snatching see infra § 69.

[92] See supra § 41.

[93] Pride v. State, 124 Ga. 791, 53 SE 192.

[94] Value as element see supra § 16.

[95] See supra §§ 56–69.

[96] Stephens v. State, 92 Fla. 43, 109 S 303.

[97] State v. Howerton, 58 Mo. 581.

[98] See statutory provisions.

[99] Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204, 207.

"It seems to have been the theory to some extent of both the prosecution and the defense that in robbery the return of the property before the beginning of the prosecution would have the same effect as in theft, namely, to reduce the grade of the offense to a misdemeanor. This is the statutory rule applicable to theft, but, in the absence of a statute, it is believed that it would not be applicable to robbery." Cole v. State, supra.

[a] A statute so providing with reference to theft is inapplicable to robbery. Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204.

[1] See Criminal Law §§ 340–358.

[2] See supra §§ 12–54.

[3] Persons liable see infra §§ 79–81.

[4] Drunkard see supra § 53.

[5] See Criminal Law §§ 71–89.

[6] As evidence that criminal intent was lacking see infra § 152 text and note 15; and § 175 text and notes 49, 50.

[7] Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67, 70; Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254; McGinty v. State, 97 Ga. 368, 23 SE 831; Rex v. Peat, Leach C. C. 228, 168 Reprint 216.

"Where the offense of robbery is once actually completed by the felonious and violent taking of property from the person of another into the possession of the thief, it cannot be purged by any subsequent redelivery of the property to the owner; and this is true although the thief may have retained possession but a short length of time." McGinty v. State, supra [quot Peo. v. Strauss, supra].

[a] Too small to keep.—Where defendants took money from their victim at the point of a revolver, but on finding that he had only three dollars returned the money as too small a sum to be worth keeping, the redelivery of the money did not cure the prior completed robbery. Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67.

Affecting grade or degree see supra § 71.

[8] Effect on criminal responsibility in general see Criminal Law § 56.

[9] Thomas v. State, 134 Ala. 126, 33 S 130.

Acting under military orders as affecting intent see supra § 49 text and note 2.

[10] Taking property under warrant as affecting intent see supra § 49 text and notes 99, 1.

[11] Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRANS 1024.

[12] Acting under military orders as affecting intent see supra § 49 text and note 2.

[13] Com. v. Flanary, 1 Ky. Op. 183; Hammond v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 129.

[14] Hardeman v. State, 14 Ala. A. 35, 70 S 979.

V. PERSONS LIABLE[15]

[§ 79] A. Persons Present—1. Participants. If several associate together to commit robbery, and are present ready to aid and assist, all are guilty,[16] as principals or accessories.[17] Thus one present and aiding and abetting in the commission of a robbery is liable to conviction for the crime, even though he did not participate in the actual taking of the property,[18] or received none of the proceeds,[19] and irrespective of any particular agreement made between codefendants.[20] Defendant's failure to talk much in connection with the execution of the crime is an immaterial circumstance.[21]

Near scene to aid escape. Persons remaining near the scene of the robbery with intent to aid in the robbers' escape are guilty[22] without proof of conspiracy.[23]

Insanity of a corobber will not preclude liability of one present and aiding in the commission of the crime.[24]

Use of dangerous weapon. Under statutes making robbery with a dangerous weapon a particular classification of the offense,[25] an unarmed defendant present at a robbery by armed codefendants is guilty of robbery with a dangerous weapon.[26] It is not necessary to prove an agreement among the codefendants as to use of a dangerous weapon.[27]

[§ 80] 2. Nonparticipants. One aiding in a robbery without felonious intent is not liable therefor.[28]

Mere presence. In accordance with general rules[29] defendant's mere presence at the scene of the robbery will not render him liable as an aider and abettor.[30] But if his presence was due to a preconceived plan to rob, his presence will establish his guilt.[31]

---

[15] General rules see Criminal Law §§ 99-161.

[16] Cal.—Peo. v. Macchiaroli, 54 Cal. A. 665, 202 P 474.

Mass.—Com. v. Ryan, 154 Mass. 422, 28 NE 289.

Mo.—State v. Stewart, 127 Mo. 290, 29 SW 986.

Nev.—State v. O'Keefe, 23 Nev. 127, 43 P 918, 62 AmSR 768.

N. Y.—Peo. v. McElroy, 14 NYS 203.

Wash.—State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

Wis.—Fifer v. State, 189 Wis. 50. 206 NW 861, 863.

"Having concocted the general scheme of the holdup, and each party particularly having assisted therein in performing his allotted part of the plot, they are all guilty under the law." Fifer v. State, supra.

[a] Joint enterprise.—Where defendant and two others held up a man and woman seated in an automobile and defendant robbed the man while the others robbed the woman, and all then drove away in the automobile, there was a joint enterprise and defendant was guilty of robbing the woman. Peo. v. Macchiaroli, 54 Cal. A. 665, 202 P 474.

[17] See Criminal Law §§ 107-147.

[18] Hood v. State, 18 Ala. A. 287, 92 S 30; Com. v. Ryan, 154 Mass. 422, 28 NE 289; State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391; State v. Affronti, 292 Mo. 53, 238 SW 106; State v. Bater, (Mo.) 232 SW 1012; State v. Stewart, 127 Mo. 290, 29 SW 986; Green v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 320, 300 SW 65.

[a] Holding horse while accomplice takes property from driver.—Com. v. Ryan, 154 Mass. 422, 28 NE 289.

[b] Pointing pistol at pedestrian while accomplice takes his watch.—State v. Stewart, 127 Mo. 290, 29 SW 986.

[c] Holding victim's hands while confederate goes through pockets.—State v. Bater, (Mo.) 232 SW 1012.

[d] Covering victim with gun while companion rifles cash register.—State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391.

[19] Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051.

[a] Illustration.—One who is present aiding and abetting a robbery is punishable for the robbery, although receiving none of the money. Southerland v. Com., 217 Ky. 94, 288 SW 1051.

[20] Searcy v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 550, 232 SW 799.

[21] Sparks v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 553, 555, 271 SW 631.

"It is also insisted that the talking between prosecuting witness and the three men implicated and engaged in the alleged threatening, was done by one Morris and that very little was said by the appellant. We are unable to see how this could absolve appellant if his guilty connection with the making of the threats is shown, and that he acted with Morris and was present endorsing, backing up and participating with Morris in the criminal transaction." Sparks v. State, supra.

[22] Clernt v. State, 109 Nebr. 628, 192 NW 209; State v. Brummett, 116 Wash. 407, 199 P 726.

[a] Driver of car.—A defendant who was not present in the room when a robbery was committed, but who, under agreement with those who actually committed the crime, took them to the scene thereof in an automobile and remained there to aid their escape after the commission of the offense, can be convicted of robbery. State v. Brummett, 116 Wash. 407, 199 P 726.

[23] State v. Reich, 293 Mo. 415, 239 SW 835.

Conspiracy to rob see Conspiracy § 49.

[24] Pruitt v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 189, 237 SW 572.

[a] Belief in sanity.—"If appellant agreed with Alford to commit a robbery, believing him sane at the time, and was present at the time the robbery was committed, and aided him in the commission, appellant could be punished therefor, although it afterwards transpired that Alford was insane and not subject to punishment." Pruitt v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 189, 237 SW 572, 574.

[25] See supra §§ 56, 57, 65.

[26] Peo. v. Byrnes, 302 Ill. 407, 134 NE 730; Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270; Peo. v. Paradiso, 248 N. Y. 123, 161 NE 443.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) In a prosecution for robbery, where four accused persons visited the scene of the crime with a common purpose, and three of them were armed with revolvers and used them in committing the crime, the unarmed defendant could be rightly indicted and convicted for robbery with a dangerous weapon. Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270. (2) Conviction under an indictment charging robbery with a revolver may be sustained by proof that one of several robbers had and used a revolver, this justifying conviction of all. Peo. v. Byrnes, 302 Ill. 407, 134 NE 730.

[27] Searcy v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 550, 232 SW 799, 800.

"Proof of an acting together of a number of persons in a robbery would make out the guilt of all, and if the weapon used in the assault was a pistol, proof would not be necessary that it was agreed among the alleged principals that a pistol should be used." Searcy v. State, supra.

[28] Williams v. Com., 110 SW 339, 33 KyL 330; Rex v. Hawkins, 3 C. & P. 392, 14 ECL 626, 172 Reprint 470. See Peo. v. O'Regan, 221 App. Div. 331, 223 NYS 339 (holding that an instruction that, if accused drove the automobile used by robbers without knowing of the robbery, but thereafter, on learning thereof, failed to notify the authorities and took a share of the proceeds, he was equally guilty, was erroneous as in such event his guilt, if any, would be only as an accessory after the fact).

[a] Merely picking up money thrown down by the victim and handing it to the robber is insufficient to render one liable without further proof of intent to participate in the robbery. Williams v. Com., 110 SW 339, 33 KyL 330.

[b] No common intent.—If a gang of poachers attack a gamekeeper and leave him senseless on the ground, and one of them returns and steals his money, that one only can be convicted of robbery, as it was not in pursuance of any common intent. Rex v. Hawkins. 3 C. & P. 392, 14 ECL 626, 172 Reprint 470.

[29] See Criminal Law § 121.

[30] Peo. v. Powers, 293 Ill. 600, 127 NE 681; Ellsworth v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 334, 244 SW 147, 149.

"The presence of the accused at the scene of the offense is not enough. It must be shown by sufficient testimony that he knew the intent of the party claimed to be his coprincipal, and that, so knowing, he aided by acts or encouraged by words or gestures said coprincipal in the commission of the offense." Ellsworth v. State, supra.

Intent to commit a different crime. Persons combining in an assault are not guilty of robbery committed by one of them without proof that those not actually taking the property participated in the specific intent to rob.[32] Under statutes making the offense of extorting property on a threat to accuse the victim of sodomy, a crime distinct from robbery,[33] one participating in a common purpose to so extort property, and present part of the time at the scene of the crime, but neither intending to aid nor actually aiding in a robbery by violence, is not liable for a robbery committed by his confederate.[34] But the accidental circumstance that another crime was contemplated and committed contemporaneously with the robbery will not exculpate a defendant intending to aid in the commission of robbery.[35] Where robbery occurs as a natural and proximate outcome of other unlawful acts, it has been held that all persons participating in such other unlawful acts are guilty of robbery,[36] and may be convicted as principals, even though they lacked the original intent to commit robbery where they aided and abetted after discovering that robbery was being committed.[37]

[§ 81] B. Persons Absent. To be guilty of robbery one need not necessarily be present at the commission of the crime.[38] Persons absent from the scene of the robbery may be liable to prosecution therefor as principals or accessories before or after the fact,[39] if they were particeps criminis before[40] or after,[41] the commission of the robbery.

Merely receiving the proceeds of the robbery, with knowledge thereof, will not necessarily render one liable for robbery.[42]

---

31. Peo. v. Powers, 293 Ill. 600, 127 NE 681.

[a] Man remaining in automobile.—Where some of the occupants of an automobile left the automobile and committed robbery, the mere presence of defendant in the automobile at the time of the robbery, and his failure to take active measures to prevent the crime, would not make him a principal; but he would be guilty as such if the robbery was in pursuance of a common design, to which he had assented, even though he did not actively participate in the commission of the crime. Peo. v. Powers, 293 Ill. 600, 127 NE 681.

32. Peo. v. Foley, 59 Mich. 553, 26 NW 699.

33. See statutory provisions.

Taking by threatened accusation of sodomy as robbery see supra § 39.

34. Reg. v. Henry, 9 C. & P. 309, 38 ECL 187, 173 Reprint 847, 2 Moody C. C. 118, 169 Reprint 47.

35. Ferguson v. State, 32 Ga. 658.

[a] Jail break.—The prisoner, being confined in jail with a number of others, in different cells, having effected his escape from his cell into the body of the jail, broke the locks of the doors of the others, and when the jailor made his appearance, a number of them rushed upon, seized, blindfolded, and robbed him. On these facts all of the prisoners are guilty of the robbery, although it did not appear affirmatively that the prisoner personally participated in the act of the robbery, nor in fact who did commit the robbery. The presumption being that the robbery was the common intent of all. Had the facts shown that an escape from the jail was the common intent, and that the robbery formed no part of the original design, but was an independent act by some others of the party, in which prisoner did not participate, the case might have been different. Ferguson v. State, 32 Ga. 658.

36. Moeller v. Peo., 70 Colo. 223, 226, 199 P 414.

"If they all went out intending such molestation and one or more in the course thereof committed robbery they were all guilty of robbery, because robbery is a natural and proximate outcome of an enterprise of riot and battery under circumstances like the present, and frequently accompanies it, as in this case. All companions are guilty of what grows naturally and proximate out of a common unlawful purpose." Moeller v. Peo., supra.

[a] Rioting strikers.—Where street car strikers conspired to do riotous violence and battery, and pursuant to such conspiracy some of the strikers committed robbery and assault with intent to do great bodily harm, all of the parties to conspiracy were guilty of robbery and assault to do great bodily harm. Moeller v. Peo., 70 Colo. 223, 227, 199 P 414.

37. Moeller v. Peo., supra.

"These defendants, even if they went out merely unlawfully to molest in a trifling way, when they saw that the purpose of their companions was to rob and continued to assist them, were guilty as principals." Moeller v. Peo., supra.

[a] Illustration.—Where defendants joined a part of other street car strikers, who went to the end of a car line and robbed and assaulted a conductor and a motorman, and where defendants participated in the robbery and assault, they were guilty of robbery and assault as principals, regardless of their original intention in joining the other strikers. Moeller v. Peo., 70 Colo. 223, 199 P 414.

38. Peo. v. Wilson, 76 Cal. A. 688, 245 P 781; Peo. v. Cania, 217 App. Div. 34, 216 NYS 478; State v. Heyward, 11 S. C. L. 312, 10 AmD 604; Ashworth v. State, 31 Tex. Cr. 419, 20 SW 982.

39. See Criminal Law §§ 107-147. Peo. v. Baker, 94 Cal. A. 687, 271 P 777.

40. Peo. v. Wilson, 76 Cal. A. 688, 245 P 781; Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254; Peo. v. Sartori, 43 Cal. A. 304, 184 P 879; State v. La Rocca, 168 La. 204, 121 S 744; State v. Walters, 135 La. 1070, 66 S 364; State v. Roderman, 297 Mo. 143, 248 SW 964.

"Although perhaps it was not conclusively shown that appellant was actually present at the time when and at the place where the robbery occurred, after an examination of the transcript of the evidence, this court is convinced that it was ample to justify the conclusion by the jury that defendant either aided and abetted in the commission of the crime, or, not having been present where the crime was committed, advised and encouraged its commission—which is sufficient to meet the requirements of the statute." Peo. v. Baker, 94 Cal. A. 687, 689, 271 P 777.

[a] A prearranged and detailed plan of the robbery need not be shown in order to convict one absent from the scene of the robbery but aiding and abetting its commission. Peo. v. Sartori, 43 Cal. A. 304, 184 P 879.

[b] Even though the plan contemplated defendant's presence at the robbery, his absence will not prevent his conviction if he did not communicate a withdrawal from the scheme to his fellow robbers. Peo. v. Wilson, 76 Cal. A. 688, 245 P 781.

41. Heyen v. State, 114 Nebr. 783, 210 NW 165.

[a] Harboring a robber renders defendant liable provided it appears that he did so with knowledge of such robber's guilt. Heyen v. State, 114 Nebr. 783, 210 NW 165.

42. Peo. v. Shephardson, 48 Cal. 189.

[a] Not accessary.—One who receives money obtained by robbery, with knowledge that it was so obtained, is not an accessary to the robbery. Peo. v. Shephardson, 48 Cal. 189.

[b] In the Philippines (1) under a code provision defining accessories as "those who, having knowledge of the commission of the crime, and without having participated therein, either as principals or accomplices, take part subsequent to its commission" by profiting or assisting the offenders to profit by the effects of the crime, by concealing or destroying the evidence of the crime, or by harboring, concealing, or assisting in the escape of the offender under certain circumstances (see statutory provisions), (2) one may be convicted as an accessory to a robbery, although he did not participate in the crime (U. S. v. Montano, 3 Philippine 110, 111 [where the court said: "In order to convict the defendant of the crime of being accessory to the crime of robbery committed as shown by the evidence in this case, it was not necessary to show that he had participated therein. It was sufficient to show that he had knowledge of it, and the proof shows that he acquired such knowledge when he was told by the owners that these carabaos had been taken away from the owners by robbery. After having obtained this knowledge he disposed of the property or concealed the same so that the owners were deprived of their property—the body and effect of the crime"]), (3) and had no knowledge that the property was stolen at the time that he received it (U. S. v. Montano, 3 Philippine 110, 111 [where the court said: "The owners were not able to recover possession of their

Use of dangerous weapon. Under statutes classifying robbery in accordance with its commission with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill or maim, if resisted,[43] an absent defendant may be liable for robbery of such classification without proof that he participated in his codefendant's intent to kill or maim.[44]

Insanity of codefendant. One procuring another, whom he knows to be insane, to commit a robbery is liable for the robbery, even though absent from the scene of the crime.[45]

Robbery of uninhabited house. Under a statute providing, inter alia, that those who directly force or induce others to commit a crime are to be considered as principals,[46] one instigating another to commit a robbery of an uninhabited house and furnishing the means of accomplishing it is guilty thereof as a principal.[47]

VI. PROSECUTION AND PUNISHMENT

[§ 82] A. Indictment or Information—1. In General. In accordance with general rules,[48] and in the absence of statutory provisions to the contrary,[49] an indictment or information for robbery must allege all the elements of the offense.[50] In jurisdictions where statutes prescribe a punishment for robbery without defining the crime,[51] an indictment or information following the common-law definition of the crime[52] is sufficient.[53] In jurisdictions where the statutes define the crime[54] the indictment should allege all the elements of the crime so defined.[55]

[§ 83] 2. Taking and Asportation. A taking of property by reason of the disposal of the same by the defendant after he had been informed that the carabaos had been taken from the owners through robbery"]).

---

[43] See passim supra §§ 55–71.

[44] Killingsworth v. State, 90 Fla. 299, 105 S 834.

[a] "One charged as accessory before the fact to the commission of robbery, alleged to have been committed by the person charged as principal armed with a pistol and with intent to kill the person robbed if he should resist, may be convicted as accessory before the fact without showing that he likewise had an intention that the person to be robbed should be killed if he resisted." Killingsworth v. State, 90 Fla. 299, 300, 105 S 834.

[45] Pruitt v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 189, 237 SW 572.

[46] See statutory provisions.

[47] U. S. v. Galuran, 12 Philippine 339.

[a] One instigating another to rob an uninhabited house and supplying money to buy a false key, and also promising a specified payment for each article taken, is guilty as a principal of robbery by force against property. U. S. v. Galuran, 12 Philippine 339.

[48] See Indictments and Informations § 238.

[49] See statutory provisions.

Following language of statute see Indictments and Informations § 268 text and note 48.

Statutory forms in general see Indictments and Informations § 172.

[50] State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728, 729; State v. Patterson, 42 La. Ann. 934, 8 S 529; Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358.

"Indictments for robbery must set out specifically all the essential elements of the crime at common law, and the indictment in this case is defective in that it does not set out the essential elements of the crime." State v. England, supra.

[a] In substance.—"An indictment for robbery must set out, in substance, all the elements of that crime as a common-law offense." State v. Patterson, 42 La. Ann. 934, 8 S 529.

[b] Necessary allegations enumerated.—"To constitute a good and sufficient indictment for robbery, the indictment must allege a felonious taking of personal property of another, against his will, from his person, or what is equivalent thereto, in his presence, by force or putting him in fear." Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358, 359.

[c] Immaterial omission.—The omission of the word "rob" will not invalidate the indictment where the facts as charged constitute robbery. State v. Robinson, 29 La. Ann. 364.

[d] Forms held sufficient.—(1) Common form. Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385, 387 ("The indictment should contain all the allegations essential in simple larceny, with the additional matter that makes the larceny robbery. The common form by which to effect this is to say that, at a time and place, the defendant, 'in and upon one B., feloniously did make an assault, and him, the said B., in bodily fear did feloniously put, and [setting out the things taken and their values as in simple larceny] of the moneys, goods, and chattels of the said B. from the person and against the will of the said B., then and there feloniously and violently did steal, take, and carry away against the peace and dignity of the commonwealth of Virginia'"). (2) Other forms. Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455; Com. v. Finn, 120 Ky. 693, 86 SW 693, 27 KyL 771; Bolden v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 183; Com. v. Harding, 1 Ky. Op. 132; State v. Wilcoxen, 38 Mo. 370; State v. Gill, 21 Mont. 151, 53 P 184; State v. Gorham, 55 N. H. 152; Reardon v. State, 4 Tex. A. 602; Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358.

[e] Form held insufficient.—State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728.

[51] See supra §§ 1–10.

[52] See supra § 1.

[53] Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385, 387.

"Inasmuch as the first clause of our statute under which the indictment in the present case was found merely regulates the punishment without defining the crime of robbery, it is clear, upon principle and authority, that any indictment under this clause of our statute drawn as at the common law will be sufficient." Houston v. Com., supra.

[a] No statutory robbery.—"The objection to the indictment, stated generally, seems to be that it does not charge the offense of 'statutory robbery.' This is true, but it is true simply because there is in Virginia no such thing as 'statutory robbery.' The offense of robbery was not created by the statute, but was, at a very early period, and still is, a common-law offense, and was adopted by us at the foundation of our state government, with the great body of the common law then adopted, and the crime, with its common-law definition, has remained unchanged. The statute above quoted does no more, and was intended to do no more, than to regulate the punishment of the pre-existing well defined common-law offense. This is apparent from the initial words of the statute: 'If any person commit robbery,'—that is, by any of the means expressed in the first clause,—'he shall be punished,' etc.; the statute in no way even pretending to define the offense of robbery; and for the obvious reason that the legislature intended to adopt the common-law definition, and along with it the settled legal meaning of the words and phrases necessary to charge the offense." Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385, 386.

[54] See supra §§ 1–10.

[55] See cases infra this note; and passim §§ 83–118.

[a] Forms held sufficient.—Anderson v. State, 28 Ind. 22; State v. Henry, 47 La. Ann. 1587, 18 S 638; State v. Faudi, (Mo.) 11 SW (2d) 1014; State v. Flynn, (Mo.) 292 SW 413; State v. Hahn, 316 Mo. 229, 289 SW 845; State v. Butler, 316 Mo. 264, 289 SW 636; State v. Wallace, (Mo.) 278 SW 663; State v. Strada, (Mo.) 274 SW 34; State v. Yates, (Mo.) 252 SW 641; State v. Barber, (Mo.) 242 SW 664; State v. Affronti, 292 Mo. 53, 238 SW 106; State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260; Hill v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 406, 200 P 253; Killion v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 215, 198 P 625; U. S. v. Aquino, 11 Philippine 244.

[b] Held insufficient.—"Walter Blackwell, late of the county and District aforesaid, on the 27th day of January, 1908, in said county and district, did then and there represent to H. B. Dobbins that he was an officer and watchman, and did then and there threaten to arrest the said H. B. Dobbins and put him in jail, and did then and there willfully and feloniously take, steal, and carry away the personal property of the said H. B. Dobbins, consisting of a suit case, the value of $4 and one suit of clothes, value $20, delivered to the said Walter Blackwell by the said H. B. Dobbins, through fear of threatened injury to his person by the said Walter Blackwell, said property being the property the property, being an essential element of the offense,[56] must of course be alleged in the indictment or information.[57] While there is authority to the effect that an indictment for robbery must allege a "carrying away" of the property,[58] the better rule is that, where the taking is properly alleged, it is unnecessary to charge a carrying away.[59]

[§ 84] 3. Property Taken[60]—a. Nature of Property—(1) Necessity for Description. The indictment or information must describe the property taken.[61]

[§ 85] (2) Sufficiency of Description—(a) In General. It is not essential for the indictment or information to contain an accurate[62] or definite[63] description of the property taken. An indictment sufficiently describes the property taken, if it enables the jury to identify the chattels stolen with those referred to in the indictment, and shows the court that the articles are the subject of robbery.[64]

[§ 86] (b) Goods and Chattels. Pursuant to the rule above stated[65] particular descriptions of goods and chattels have been held sufficient.[66]

[§ 87] (c) Choses in Action.[67] In accordance with rules above stated[68] as applied by courts sometimes differing in their conclusions on similar states of fact,[69] particular descriptions of choses in action have been held sufficient[70] or insufficient[71] in indictments for robbery.

[§ 88] (d) Money[72]—aa. In General. Where the property taken is money, it is ordinarily sufficient to give a general description thereof by amount.[73] In stating this rule,[74] some courts have qualified it by holding or stating that it must be further alleged that a more particular description is of H. B. Dobbins, against the peace and dignity of the state of Mississippi." Blackwell v. State, 94 Mass. 240, 48 S 290.

---

56. See supra § 13.

57. Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358; and infra cases passim §§ 84–99.

Allegation as to nature of taking see infra §§ 100–104.

58. Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 215.

59. Crutcher v. State, 19 Ala. A. 529, 98 S 652, 653; Terry v. State, 13 Ind. 70; Thompson v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 511, 34 SW 629; State v. Smith, 40 Wash. 615, 82 P 918.

"In an indictment charging robbery, it is not necessary to charge that the property forcibly taken was carried away." Crutcher v. State, supra.

60. Subjects of robbery generally see supra §§ 14–19.

61. Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561, 563.

"In charging the offense of robbery, as in charging larceny or theft, a description of the property taken is essential." Holland v. State, supra.

62. Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417.

63. Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

64. Cal.—Peo. v. Chuey Ying Git, 100 Cal. 437, 34 P 1080.

Fla.—Stephens v. State, 92 Fla. 43, 109 S 303, 304 [cit Cyc].

Ill.—Peo. v. Nolan, 250 Ill. 351, 95 NE 140, 34 LRANS 301, AnnCas1912B 401 [cit Cyc].

Ind.—Brennon v. State, 25 Ind. 403; Terry v. State, 13 Ind. 70.

Ky.—Hooper v. Com., 204 Ky. 32, 263 SW 659; Nichols v. Com., 3 Ky. Op. 258.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Loop, 3 Park. Cr. 559.

N. C.—State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83.

N. D.—State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 103 NW 419.

Wash.—State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 P 667.

W. Va.—State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

[a] "A general description of the property to show that it is personalty and to bar another indictment for the same offense," is sufficient. Nichols v. Com., 3 Ky. Op. 258, 260.

65. See supra § 85.

66. See cases infra this note.

[a] "A bunch of keys of the value of one dollar." Nevill v. State, 133 Ala. 99, 101, 32 S 596.

[b] "A knife of the value of seventy-five cents." Nevill v. State, 133 Ala. 99, 101, 32 S 596.

[c] "Certain personal property then and there belonging to said John Sandberg, to wit, one leather pocketbook, one small, gold-framed photograph, picture of said John Sandberg, one hunting knife. . . . All of the above-described property being of the aggregate value of five ($5) dollars." State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 205, 103 NW 419.

[d] "One pin" of a stated value is a sufficient description of a diamond stud. Peo. v. Nolan, 250 Ill. 351, 95 NE 140, 34 LRANS 301, AnnCas1912B 401.

[e] "One pocket-book of the value of fifty cents." Terry v. State, 13 Ind. 70.

[f] "One purse of the value of 25 cents." State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

[g] "Personal property, to wit, money, jewelry and hair ornaments." Peo. v. Chuey Ying Git, 100 Cal. 437, 34 P 1080.

[h] "Shoes, cigarettes and jewelry, all the personal property of the said James Mitchell, Felix Girard and Albert Hudson, and a subject of larceny." Hooper v. Com., 204 Ky. 32, 33, 263 SW 659.

67. As subject of robbery see supra § 15.

68. See supra §§ 85, 86.

69. Compare infra text and note 70 [b] with infra text and note 71 [a].

70. See cases infra this note.

[a] "One time check of the value of 50 cents." State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

[b] Promissory notes.—(1) "It is also contended that the information is insufficient, in that it fails to make a particular description of the notes alleged to have been taken at the time of the robbery; that the description 'notes of the value of $435.00' is not a sufficient description of said notes, in that it does not set out the dates, the amounts of the notes, the payees or payors on said notes, nor the dates when the notes became due. This description was sufficient to sustain a charge of robbery." Berry v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 279 P 982, 985. (2) An indictment for robbery of "one promissory note of the value of $50.85," sufficiently describes the property. State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

71. See case infra this note.

[a] Check.—An indictment alleging robbery of one John Long by taking a check described merely as, "One check of the value of $12.35, the same being the property of the said John Long," described the check insufficiently so that the indictment was open to a motion to quash. Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561.

72. Value see infra § 94.

73. Ala.—Boyd v. State, 153 Ala. 41, 45 S 591.

Cal.—Peo. v. Stevens, 141 Cal. 488, 75 P 62; Peo. v. Richards, 136 Cal. 127, 68 P 477; Peo. v. Howard, 3 Cal. A. 36, 84 P 462.

Fla.—Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

Ga.—Humphries v. State, 100 Ga. 260, 28 SE 25.

Ill.—Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316, 135 NE 729.

Ky.—Hooper v. Com., 204 Ky. 32, 263 SW 659.

La.—State v. Devine, 51 La. Ann. 1296, 26 S 105.

Mass.—Com. v. Griffiths, 126 Mass. 252.

Mo.—State v. Calvert, 209 Mo. 280, 107 SW 1078; State v. Rush, 95 Mo. 199, 8 SW 221; State v. Burnett, 81 Mo. 119.

Tex.—Gunter v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 147, 233 SW 843; Noe v. State, 78 Tex. Cr. 661, 182 SW 1122; Parrent v. State, (Cr.) 76 SW 474; White v. State, (Cr.) 57 SW 100; Colter v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 284, 39 SW 576; Thompson v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 511, 34 SW 629.

Utah.—State v. La Chall, 28 Utah 80, 77 P 3.

"Allegation that property taken consisted of money of value of named amount was legally sufficient." Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

74. See supra text and note 73.

unknown,[75] or that wherever possible it is better practice to include a more definite description.[76]

[§ 89] bb. Kind, Denomination, and Number of Pieces. It has been held unnecessary to allege the kind,[77] denominations,[78] or number of pieces,[79] taken, although there is authority to the contrary.[80]

Particular statutory provisions. In some jurisdictions there are statutes expressly[81] or by necessary implication[82] providing that money taken in robbery may be described as a specified sum without specification of kind, denomination, or number of pieces. Statutes of this character in terms referring to indictments for larceny[83] have been held applicable to indictments for robbery.[84]

[§ 90] cc. Lawfulness. While it is customary in an indictment or information to include an allegation that the money taken was then and there lawful or current as such,[85] there is authority to the effect that such an allegation is unnecessary.[86]

[§ 91] dd. Foreign Money. Money of a foreign country being regarded as personal property,[87] should, under general statutes requiring a description of property by name, kind, quantity and number,[88] be so described in the indictment.[89]

[§ 92] ee. Particular Descriptions. As complying with the rules above stated,[90] particular descriptive allegations have been held sufficient as to the taking of money generally,[91] or of a certain sum,[92] or of paper money,[93] or coins.[94] On the other hand, particular descriptions, as not complying with the rules above stated,[95] have been held insufficient.[96]

---

[75] Ala.—Brown v. State, 120 Ala. 342, 25 S 182; Owens v. State, 104 Ala. 18, 16 S 575.

Del.—State v. Stewart, 17 Del. 433, 42 A 624.

Ind.—McQueen v. State, 82 Ind. 72.

Mont.—Terr. v. Bell, 5 Mont. 562, 6 P 60.

N. Y.—Quinlan v. Peo., 6 Park. Cr. 9.

Tex.—Wade v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 170, 32 SW 772, 60 AmSR 31; Winston v. State, 9 Tex. A. 143.

[76] Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

[a] Statement of rule and qualification.—"While it is the more approved practice to describe as definitely as the circumstances or the evidence before the grand jury reasonably permits, especially in cases where such description has a real bearing upon the guilt or innocence of the accused, yet if the information had merely alleged that the property taken by the robbery consisted of money of the value of a named amount, such allegation would have been legally sufficient, and would have supported a conviction, if the evidence had shown the robbery of any particular kind of money of value, even though the value was less than the amount alleged." Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44, 46.

[77] Maxwell v. State, 9 Ga. A. 875, 72 SE 445; Bracher v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 198, 161 SW 124; State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 P 667.

[a] Whether gold, silver, or paper money was taken need not be alleged. Maxwell v. State, 9 Ga. A. 875, 72 SE 445.

[78] Maxwell v. State, 9 Ga. A. 875, 72 SE 445; Bracher v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 198, 161 SW 124; State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 P 667.

[79] State v. Johnson, supra.

[80] See cases infra this note.

[a] Kind.—Croker v. State, 47 Ala. 53.

[b] Denominations.—Arnold v. State, 52 Ind. 281, 21 AmR 175.

[c] Number of pieces.—Arnold v. State, 52 Ind. 281, 21 AmR 175.

Particular descriptions held sufficient or insufficient see infra § 92.

[81] See statutory provisions.

[82] See case infra this note.

[a] In Illinois "the Criminal Code [Hurd Rev. St. (1921) c 38] provides in section 6 of division 11 that every indictment shall be deemed sufficiently technical which states the offense in the terms and language of the statute creating the offense or so plainly that the nature of the offense may be easily understood by the jury, and section 9 of division 11 provides that no motion in arrest of judgment or writ of error will be sustained for any matter not affecting the real merits of the offense charged in the indictment. The language of the statute descriptive of the offense of robbery includes money, and the gist of the offense is the force and intimidation used in the taking. Whether or not, under the strict rules of pleading which prevailed at common law, it was necessary in the indictment to describe the kind of money taken, that rule has no application under our statute. Each count in this indictment charges the offense in the language of the statute so plainly that its nature can be easily understood, and the objection made does not affect the real merits of the offense charged." Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316, 317, 135 NE 729.

[83] See Larceny § 275.

[84] Hooper v. Com., 204 Ky. 32, 263 SW 659; Cosby v. Com., 185 Ky. 503, 217 SW 357; State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 P 667.

[a] In Texas.—Code Cr. Proc. (1911) arts 458, 468, providing that a general description in an indictment of any property by name, kind, quality, number, and ownership is sufficient, and that, in an indictment for theft of money, it is sufficient to describe it as money, an indictment for robbery, which describes the money stolen as seventy dollars in gold, current money of the United States, and one hundred and sixty dollars in bank notes, current money of the United States, is sufficient, although the prosecutor can give a full description of both the gold and the bank notes by stating the denominations thereof." Terrell v. State, 76 Tex. Cr. 428, 174 SW 1088.

[b] Only amount need be specified.—"As the Code declares it shall not be necessary in an indictment for the larceny of money to specify 'the coin, number, denomination or kind,' it follows that the only requirement is to state the amount thereof. This the indictment does with sufficient accuracy 'to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended, and with such degree of certainty as to enable the court to pronounce judgment, on conviction, according to the right of the case,' and that is all an indictment need do." Cosby v. Com., 185 Ky. 503, 217 SW 357, 358.

[85] See cases infra this note; and passim infra § 92.

[a] Allegations held sufficient.—(1) "The indictment described the property alleged to have been taken as one $2 bill, and three $1 bills, lawful currency of the United States of America.' Appellants demurred to the indictment on the theory that the clause 'lawful currency of the United States of America,' referred only to the 'three $1 bills,' and did not refer to the 'one $2 bill.' The demurrer was properly overruled. The allegations 'one $2 bill' and 'three $1 bills,' it will be noted, are connected by the conjunctive word 'and,' and not by the disjunctive word 'or.' . . . 'Lawful currency of the United States of America,' thus used, refers to both the 'one $2 bill' and 'three $1 bills.'" Burke v. State, 18 Ala. A. 152, 89 S 162, 163. (2) "Where an information charges the taking of money by robbery, describing the property as 'money, both coin and currency in the approximate amount of $458.00,' the information will be interpretated as alleging current money of the United States." Roach v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 1095. (3) "Where an information charges the taking of money by robbery, describing the property as '$200 in ten and twenty dollar bills,' the information will be interpreted as alleging current money of the United States." Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477.

[86] Griffith v. Com., 9 Ky. Op. 513.

"The indictment is good. It is immaterial whether the notes were lawful currency of the country or not. The indictment is for robbery. If the notes are of any value the party committing the offense is guilty. No technical description can be given of them and none other should be required." Griffith v. Com., supra.

Foreign money see infra § 91.

[87] Wade v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 170, 32 SW 772, 60 AmSR 31.

[88] See statutory provisions.

[89] Wade v. State, supra.

[a] Description held insufficient.—"One dollar in Mexican money, of the value of fifty cents." Wade v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 170, 32 SW 772, 60 AmSR 31.

[90] See supra §§ 88-91.

[91] See cases infra this note.

[a] "About $18 in money."—Cosby v. Com., 185 Ky. 503, 217 SW 357.

[b] "Fifty dollars in money, of the value of fifty dollars." Maxwell v. State, 9 Ga. A. 875, 72 SE 445.

[c] "Eleven dollars in money, which then and there passed current as money of the United States of America and of the value of eleven dollars." Noe v. State, 78 Tex. Cr. 661, 662, 182 SW 1122.

[d] "Four dollars of good and lawful money of the United States of America and of the value of four dollars." Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316,

[§ 93] b. Value[97]—(1) In General. It must appear from the indictment or information that the article taken had some value.[98] Although there is authority to the contrary,[99] the general rule is that value need not be averred by a distinct and specific allegation,[1] nor accurately,[2] unless required by statute.[3]

Where several articles are taken, the separate value need not be alleged.[4] But it has been held that where articles of different kinds are alleged to have been taken, and only the collective value of the whole is averred, there can be no conviction of robbery upon proof of taking one kind alone.[5]

[§ 94] (2) Money.[6] In an indictment or information for robbery by taking money, it is customary to allege the amount taken, and an additional allegation as to value is often included.[7] But as the term money itself imports some value,[8] of which fact the court will take judicial notice,[9] it is not necessary, even when the allegations must show some value,[10] to describe money with respect to its value,[11] and, at

---

135 NE 729.

[e] "Money, both coin and currency in the approximate amount of $458.00." Roach v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 1095.

92. See infra this note.

[a] "The sum of $88.30."—Hooper v. Com., 204 Ky. 32, 263 SW 659.

93. See cases infra this note.

[a] "'Five dollars in paper money of the value of five dollars' sufficiently describes the property alleged to have been stolen." Humphries v. State, 100 Ga. 260, 28 SE 25.

[b] "Thirty dollars of greenbacks."—Wesley v. State, 61 Ala. 282.

[c] "One United States note, commonly called greenback, of the value of ten dollars." McEntee v. State, 24 Wis. 43.

[d] "One hundred and sixty dollars in bank notes, current money of the United States of America, of the value of one hundred and sixty dollars, a better description of the money being to the grand jury unknown." Terrell v. State, 76 Tex. Cr. 428, 174 SW 1088, 1089.

[e] "$200 in ten and twenty dollar bills."—Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477. To same effect Roach v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 1095.

[f] "The sum of $1745 in paper currency of the United States of America." State v. Shonhausen, 26 La. Ann. 421. To same effect State v. Carro, 26 La. Ann. 377.

[g] "One $10 bill, of the lawful currency of the United States of America, of the denomination of $10." Boyd v. State, 153 Ala. 41, 43, 45 S 591.

[h] "One twenty-dollar bill of the value of twenty dollars, and four five dollar bills of the value of twenty dollars." Baldwin v. State, 204 Ala. 91, 85 S 304; Walker v. State, 17 Ala. A. 416, 85 S 305.

[i] "Forty dollars, paper currency, money of the United States of America, of the value of forty dollars." Gables v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 68 SW 288.

94. See cases infra this note.

[a] "Current silver coin of the realm of the value of one dollar and fifteen cents." Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

[b] "Thirty cents in specie coin of the United States, consisting of one piece of the denomination of twenty-five cents and one piece of the denomination of five cents." Nevill v. State, 133 Ala. 99, 101, 32 S 596.

[c] "Fifty cents in money, which then and there passed current as money of the United States of America, and of the value of fifty cents." Gables v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 68 SW 288.

[d] "One half dollar, one quarter dollar, and four dimes, in silver coinage of the U. S. A." Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 16, 53 S 991.

[e] "Seventy dollars in gold, current money of the United States of America, of the value of seventy dollars." Terrell v. State, 76 Tex. Cr. 428, 174 SW 1088, 1089.

[f] "Three silver dollars in coin of the value of three dollars." Kirk v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 224, 32 SW 1045.

[g] "Silver coin of the value of," etc. Compton v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 15, 148 SW 580; State v. Jackson, 26 W. Va. 250.

[h] "Two dollars in silver coin money of the United States, of the value of two dollars." Moore v. State, 36 Tex. Cr. 88, 35 SW 668.

[i] "Three copper cent pieces, each of the value of one cent." Moore v. State, 36 Tex. Cr. 88, 35 SW 668.

95. See supra §§ 88–91.

96. See cases infra this note.

[a] "'Fifteen dollars in gold coin' without any specification of the number of pieces, or of the character or identity of the coin, or any portion of it," is an insufficient description. Arnold v. State, 52 Ind. 281, 21 AmR 175.

[b] "'One two bill, lawful currency of the United States of America' etc." Watts v. State, (Ala.) 39 S 455 (indictment bad on demurrer).

[c] "Ten dollars in money of United States currency" is too indefinite a description, as the term "currency" may mean coin, bank notes, or notes issued by the government. Croker v. State, 47 Ala. 53.

97. As element of offense see supra § 16.

98. Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417; Peo. v. Nolan, 250 Ill. 351, 95 NE 140, 34 LRANS 301, AnnCas1912B 401; Com. v. Cahill, 12 Allen (Mass.) 540.

99. Com. v. Cahill, supra. See Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249 (decided under statute, but containing dicta to the effect that a distinct averment of value was essential at common law).

[a] On analogy to larceny.—While the value of the property taken is immaterial, both at common law and under statute it must be property subject of larceny, and the indictment for robbery must contain distinct averments as to value such as would be essential in larceny indictments. Com. v. Cahill, 12 Allen (Mass.) 540.

Necessity for alleging value in indictment for larceny see Larceny § 301.

1. Kan.—In re Wheatley, 114 Kan. 747, 220 P 213 (a habeas corpus case expressly disapproving State v. Sagermond, 40 Kan. 107, 19 P 370, 10 AmSR 169 so far as the latter held that there must be an allegation of value).

Ky.—Baldwin v. Com., 2 KyL 439; Bolden v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 183; Nichols v. Com., 3 Ky. Op. 258.

Me.—State v. Perley, 86 Me. 427, 30 A 74, 41 AmSR 564.

N. C.—State v. Brown, 113 N. C. 645, 18 SE 51.

Tex.—Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 15, 234 SW 401; Gunter v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 147, 233 SW 843, 844; Williams v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 523, 31 SW 405; Williams v. State, 10 Tex. A. 8.

Wash.—State v. Rowan, 84 Wash. 158, 146 P 374.

"The value of the property taken in a robbery case is not necessary to be stated in the indictment." Gunter v. State, supra.

[a] Where use of the words "goods and chattels" sufficiently implies value without any further allegation thereof. Buntin v. State, 68 Ind. 38 (indictment for attempt to rob).

2. Peo. v. Nolan, 250 Ill. 351, 95 NE 140, 34 LRANS 301, AnnCas1912B 401.

3. Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249.

[a] Where the form of indictment for robbery prescribed by code contains a distinct averment as to value, an indictment omitting such averment is bad. Jackson v. State, 69 Ala. 249.

4. Jackson v. State, supra; Com. v. Cahill, 12 Allen (Mass.) 540.

5. Com. v. Cahill, supra.

6. Allegations as to value of money generally see Indictments and Informations § 276 text and notes 3, 4.

7. See supra §§ 88–92.

8. Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417.

9. Roach v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 1095; Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477.

10. See supra § 93.

11. Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664; Peo. v. Fiereto, 303 Ill. 186, 135 NE 417; Roach v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 1095, 1097; Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477, 478; least in the absence of preliminary objection, an allegation that money of value unknown was taken will support a conviction for robbery.[12]

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

Surplusage. Where the indictment or information contains an allegation of a particular value, such allegation may be treated as surplusage.[13]

[§ 95] c. Ownership or Right to Possession[14]—(1) In General. There is authority stating broadly that the indictment or information should contain an allegation as to the ownership of the property taken.[15] But the true rule would seem to be that an allegation as to ownership is not essential,[16] except in so far as such an allegation may be necessary to identify the property taken,[17] or to negative defendant's ownership thereof.[18]

[§ 96] (2) Absence of Ownership by Accused. The general rule[19] is that the indictment or information should contain allegations sufficient to negative accused's ownership of the property taken.[20] In other words, there should be an allegation setting out the ownership of the property taken, in so far as necessary to negative the idea that accused was taking his own property.[21]

Sufficiency of allegations. Allegations held sufficient to negative accused's ownership of the property

---

Carlile v. State, 97 Tex. Cr. 477, 262 SW 489.

"The first contention is that the information is insufficient in failing to particularly describe the money taken in the robbery and in failing to allege the value of it. The information described the property taken as '$200 in ten and twenty dollar bills.' This is a sufficient allegation on this point. Where an information charges that money is taken either by larceny or robbery, it is properly construed to mean money of the United States, and the court will take judicial knowledge of its value." Jenkins v. State, supra [quot Roach v. State, supra].

[a] Foreign money.—Carlile v. State, 97 Tex. Cr. 477, 262 SW 489, 490 (wherein the court said: "The indictment upon which the former trial was had described the property taken from Dennett as 'two hundred pesos in Mexican money,' but did not allege its value. This was unimportant, however, as in an indictment for robbery it is unnecessary to allege value; it not affecting the penalty").

[12] Peo. v. Hewitt, 78 Cal. A. 426, 248 P 1021.

[a] Illustration.—An information charging defendant with taking "a certain sum of money, the amount of which is to the district attorney unknown," is sufficient on appeal to support a conviction for robbery, where no demurrer was interposed. Peo. v. Hewitt, 78 Cal. A. 426, 248 P 1021.

[13] State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[14] As element of offense see supra §§ 17-19.

[15] Boles v. State, 58 Ark. 35, 37, 22 SW 887; State v. Wasson, 126 Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125.

"The sufficiency of the indictment was challenged both by demurrer and by motion in arrest of judgment; and we think it is obviously defective in failing to allege the ownership of the money charged to have been taken. That allegation is found in all the common law precedents of indictments for robbery, and we have been unable to find any adjudged case in which it has been dispensed with under a statute similar to ours." Boles v. State, supra.

[16] Cal.—Peo. v. Sampson, 99 Cal. A. 306, 278 P 492.

Minn.—State v. Schnachtel, 157 Minn. 272, 196 NW 674.

Mo.—State v. Williams, 183 SW 308.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Gimeno, 3 Philipine 233.

Tenn.—Clemons v. State, 92 Tenn. 282, 21 SW 525.

Tex.—Williams v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 147, 38 SW 999.

[17] Peo. v. Sampson, 99 Cal. A. 306, 278 P 492; Owen v. Com., 76 SW 3, 25 KyL 466.

"The rule is also that as a part of the description of the stolen property, and to aid in its identification, the indictment must aver its ownership, or show that the owner is unknown if that is a fact. . . . But the statement of the ownership is only a part of the description of the stolen property, and, if it is otherwise identified, the failure to charge in the indictment the ownership would not be material." Owen v. Com., supra.

[a] Allegation sufficient.—"The indictment before us charges that the property stolen was taken from the person of Marsh Atkinson by the defendant with the fraudulent intent to deprive said Atkinson permanently of his property. If it had been charged in addition that the things taken were Atkinson's property, nothing would have been added to the legal sense or to the definiteness of the description of the stolen property. The charge that it was stolen from the person of Marsh Atkinson was just as definite as a charge that it was his property, since proof of the taking of the property from his person would have been held sufficient proof of his ownership. To identify the property as that taken from the person of Marsh Atkinson is certainly as sufficient to apprise the defendant of what is meant as it would be to identify it as belonging to Atkinson." Owen v. Com., 76 SW 3, 4, 25 KyL 466.

[18] See infra § 96.

[19] [a] In Oregon.—Under Bellinger & C. Comp. § 1305, declaring the manner of stating the act constituting the crime, as set forth in the appendix to the Code, sufficient, where the form there given is applicable, and 1 Bellinger & C. Comp. p 750 form No. 9, prescribing the form for robbery as "feloniously took a gold watch (or as the case may be) from the person of C. D., and against his will, by violence to his person," an indictment for robbery need not state the name of the owner of the property alleged to have been taken. State v. Eddy, 46 Or. 625, 81 P 941, 82 P 707; State v. Dilley, 15 Or. 70, 13 P 648 ("The indictment at common law would have been defectve. It would have been necessary under that system to have averred specially to whom the money belonged. The fact that it might have belonged to the robber, and not to the person robbed, had to be negatived. The presumption was that the person having possession of it owned it, but that did not answer the nicety of the law, as it then existed. It had to be affirmatively alleged that it was the property of some one aside from the person who forcibly compelled its surrender to himself. But our statute has dispensed with the necessity of so useless a requirement. It has provided, in express terms, what shall be a sufficient statement in an indictment for robbery, being armed with a dangerous weapon").

Effect of defendant's plea see infra text and note 26.

[20] Higgins v. State, (Tex. A.) 19 SW 503. And see infra text and note 21.

[a] Fatal defect.—An indictment for robbery is fatally defective in failing to allege the ownership of the property taken in one other than defendant. Higgins v. State, (Tex. A.) 19 SW 503.

[21] U. S.—U. S. v. McNemara, 26 F. Cas. No. 15,701, 2 Cranch C. C. 45.

Ala.—Dorsey v. State, 134 Ala. 553, 33 S 350.

Ark.—Boles v. State, 58 Ark. 35, 22 SW 887.

Cal.—Peo. v. Ammerman, 118 Cal. 23, 50 P 15; Peo. v. Hicks, 66 Cal. 103, 4 P 1093; Peo. v. Vice, 21 Cal. 344; In re Myrtle, 2 Cal. A. 383, 84 P 335.

Ida.—State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79.

Ind.—Welch v. State, 195 Ind. 87, 143 NE 354.

Iowa.—State v. Wasson, 126 Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125.

Mass.—Com. v. Clifford, 8 Cush. 215.

Okl.—Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108.

Tex.—Smedly v. State, 30 Tex. 214; Higgins v. State, (A.) 19 SW 503; Parker v. State, 9 Tex. A. 351; Barnes v. State, 9 Tex. A. 128.

Wash.—State v. Morgan, 31 Wash. 226, 71 P 723; State v. Dengel, 24 Wash. 49, 63 P 1104.

Wyo.—McGinnis v. State, 16 Wyo. 72, 91 P 936.

[a] In holding an indictment insufficient it has been said: "Had the indictment charged that the gun was the property of the person from whom it was taken, it would probably have been supported by proof that this article was in his legal custody and control, though belonging to some third party. But in this indictment there is no allegation that it belonged to any one, much less does it affirmatively appear that it is the property of some one other than the defendants." Smedly v. State, 30 Tex. 214, 217.

taken include allegations that the property was unlawfully taken from the person and possession of the victim,[22] or that the property belonged to some one other than accused,[23] as to a third person.[24] An allegation that accused took the property "feloniously" has been held insufficient to aver ownership in one other than accused.[25]

Plea of accused, it has been held, may be such as to cure lack of or defective allegations in the indictment as to negativing the ownership of the property by accused.[26]

[§ 97] (3) Ownership by Victim.[27] The general rule is that it is not necessary to allege that the person from whom the property was taken was the owner thereof,[28] it being sufficient if it appears from the allegations that accused was not the owner.[29] Irrespective of where the legal title really lies, ownership may properly be laid in the person from whose physical possession the property was taken.[30] It is also permissible to lay the ownership in one neither the accused nor the person from whom the property was taken,[31] and in this connection it is not essential to allege that the person from whom the property was taken held the same in behalf of the actual owner.[32]

---

[22] State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79. See Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108 (where the court said: "It is contended that the information is fatally defective in that it nowhere lays the ownership of the property stolen. The information charges: 'Did take, steal, and carry away from the person and possession of him, the said Claude Deshazo, certain personal property, to wit, one diamond set ring, one diamond set shirt stud, and $40 lawful money of the United States of America, with the unlawful, willful, wrongful and felonious intent then and there on the part of them, the said W. K. Decker and Homer Wilson, to rob and deprive the said Claude Deshazo of the aforesaid property, and to convert the same to the use and benefit of them the said W. K. Decker and Homer Wilson.' . . . The allegations above set forth are sufficient in themselves to negative the idea that the property in the possession of Deshazo alleged to have been forcibly taken from his person was not the property of Decker and Wilson").

[a] Illustration.—"An information charging robbery, in that the defendant 'did then and there, and by means of said fear inspired in the said Efton Carr, as aforesaid, willfully, unlawfully, and feloniously take, steal, and carry away from the person of said Efton Carr, and against the will of him, the said Efton Carr, certain personal property then and there being in the possession of, and on the person of said Efton Carr, to wit, eight dollars in silver coin, lawful money of the United States of America, and of the value of eight dollars,' is sufficient, and negatives the idea that said silver coin was the property of the defendant." State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79.

[23] Peo. v. Hale, 64 Cal. A. 523, 222 P 148.

[24] Welch v. State, 195 Ind. 87, 143 NE 354.

[a] It was sufficient to allege that the property belonged to an oil company from whose employee it was taken, was a sufficient allegation that it was not the property of defendant. Welch v. State, 195 Ind. 87, 143 NE 354.

[25] McGinnis v. State, 16 Wyo. 72, 91 P 936.

[a] "Feloniously" has no reference to ownership.—An information for robbery, which alleges that accused "feloniously" took from a person named by violence a specified sum, is fatally bad for failing to allege the ownership of the property; the word "feloniously" characterizing the act as being done with a criminal intent, and not being a substitute for an allegation of ownership. McGinnis v. State, 16 Wyo. 72, 91 P 936.

[26] In re Myrtle, 2 Cal. A. 383, 84 P 335, 339.

"It must appear either from the language of the information or the plea of the defendant that the property taken is not the property of the defendant." In re Myrtle, supra.

[a] Plea of guilty to a complaint charging robbery fully except that it omitted allegations of ownership has been held sufficient to show that defendant did not own the property taken so as to justify his conviction and cure the error in the complaint. In re Myrtle, 2 Cal. A. 383, 84 P 335.

[27] As element of offense see supra §§ 17-19.

[28] State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52; State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224; Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108; Clemons v. State, 92 Tenn. 282, 21 SW 525.

[a] Custody.—Information alleging that defendant made an assault on the assistant cashier of a bank, who was at the time in lawful custody of money belonging to the bank, and, by putting him in fear of some immediate injury to his person, feloniously did rob and steal, etc., was sufficient, although it did not charge that the assistant cashier was owner of the money taken, or that he had any interest therein. State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224.

[b] Possession.—"As to the matter of ownership, further than is to be inferred from the possession, the indictment is entirely silent. Is that a fatal defect? We think not. The statute declares that 'robbery is the felonious and forcible taking from the person of another goods or money of any value, by violence, or putting the person in fear' (Mill. & V. Code, § 5380;) and the indictment here contains all the words of the statute, or their full equivalent, and more besides." Clemons v. State, 92 Tenn. 282, 21 SW 525, 526.

[29] Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108, 1109; Dickson v. State, 26 Okl. Cr. 403, 224 P 723.

"It is not necessary in a robbery case to allege . . . that the property belonged to the party from whose possession it was forcibly taken. All that is requisite is an allegation that it belongs to some other person than the defendant." Wilson v. State, supra.

Necessity and sufficiency of allegations as to nonownership of accused see supra § 96.

[30] Ala.—Montgomery v. State. 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

Ill.—Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316, 135 NE 729.

Mo.—State v. Wilhite, 317 Mo. 388, 295 SW 82; State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRA 343, 2 AnnCas 261 (discussing and overr State v. Morledge, 164 Mo. 522, 65 SW 226, and State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575, in so far as the latter cases hold contrary to the text rule).

Okl.—Dickson v. State, 26 Okl. Cr. 403, 224 P 723.

Tex.—Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408; Bell v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 146, 177 SW 966.

"So far as the sufficiency of the charge is concerned, the ownership of the property taken may be laid in the one in possession of same at the time of the robbery." State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224, 226.

"In charging . . . robbery it is proper to allege that the money or property taken was the property of the person in lawful possession of it, although he was not the actual owner, unless such possession was that of a mere custodian." State v. Wilhite, 317 Mo. 388, 295 SW 82.

[a] Bank president.—"Mr. Pondrom was president of the bank, in charge and control of its assets. He was clearly within the rule; his possessory rights were such that it was proper to charge that the property taken from him was his property," even though title thereto was in the bank. State v. Wilhite, 317 Mo. 388, 295 SW 82, 83.

[b] Minor.—Robbery being an offense against the person as well as against the property, an indictment charging the property to be that of a minor, which in fact was money his father had sent him to collect and bring to him, is sufficient. Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

[c] Officer of law.—Property levied on by an officer, being in his exclusive possession, ownership may be alleged in him in an indictment for robbery. Bell v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 146, 177 SW 966.

[31] Com. v. Weiner, 255 Mass. 506, 152 NE 359, 360.

"The defendant, intending to steal goods which happened to belong to Skinner, assaulted Ives whose duty it was to protect them from thieves, put him in fear and forcibly took them away. Such an act is robbery, and the doer is properly convicted of robbery on in indictment which lays the ownership of the goods taken away in the true owner and not in the person attacked." Com. v. Weiner, supra.

[32] Peo. v. Dean, 66 Cal. A. 602. 226 P 943; State v. Schnachtel, 157 Minn. 272, 196 NW 674.

Under particular statutory provisions. Under statutes providing that if an offense is described with sufficient certainty in other respects to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured is immaterial,[33] an erroneous allegation as to ownership of the property taken does not make the indictment bad.[34]

[§ 98] (4) Right to Possession by Victim[35]—(a) In General. It is not necessary to allege that the victim's possession of the property taken was lawful.[36] The reasons for this rule have been stated to be that the possession is presumed lawful,[37] or, on the other hand, that robbery is shown, even if the victim's possession was unlawful.[38]

Particular statutory provisions. Under a statute defining robbery as a felonious taking of the property of another from the person or presence of such other, or from the person of his wife, servant, clerk, or agent,[39] the indictment or information will be sufficient to charge robbery, even though it alleges a taking from one other than those specified in the statute.[40]

[§ 99] (b) Joint Possession. The indictment or information may properly allege possession in either of two joint possessors of property taken.[41]

[§ 100] 4. Taking from Person, Presence, or Possession[42]—a. Necessity of Allegation. The indictment or information must allege a taking from the person or presence of the victim.[43]

From possession.[44] Under statutes providing that to constitute robbery the taking must be of property in the possession of another from his person or im-

---

[a] As agent.—"It is contended that the information is defective in not alleging that Lohman and Micotti, alleged to have had the possession of the personal property, were the agents of the Oakland-San Francisco Theater Company, alleged to have been the owner of the same. We see no merit in the objection." Peo. v. Dean, 66 Cal. A. 602, 226 P 943, 945.

[b] Clerk.—"The first point made is that the indictment is defective, in that while charging the felonious taking of the property of Shapira Bros. in the presence and against the will of one Deeny, it does not charge that the latter had any 'special interest in or charge or control over the property taken.' . . . The property, jewelry of very considerable value, was taken from the store of Shapira Bros. in St. Paul. Deeny was the clerk in charge of the stock and premises at the time of the robbery. It might have been better pleading to have indicated in the indictment his relationship to the stolen property. However, it was not necessary." State v. Schnachtel, 157 Minn. 272, 196 NW 674.

[c] Stranger.—"An indictment for robbery, charging defendant with the felonious taking of the property of A., in the presence and against the will of B., by force and violence, is not fatally defective because it fails to aver that B. had any relationship to A., or the possession or control of the property or any duty with respect to it. It was not necessary that the indictment negative the idea that B. might have been a stranger to both the property and its owner." State v. Schnachtel, 157 Minn. 272, 196 NW 674.

Lawfulness of possession see infra § 98.

[33] See statutory provisions.

[34] Peo. v. Smith, 78 Cal. A. 68, 248 P 261.

"It is sufficient to sustain a charge of robbery if the property feloniously and forcibly taken from the person of another belonged to any person other than the defendant; and under section 956 of the Penal Code an erroneous allegation as to ownership of the property is immaterial, if the offense is otherwise described with sufficient certainty to identify the act of robbery, the identity of the act of robbery being the same no matter upon whom the injury involved in the larceny which is included in the robbery might fall." Peo. v. Smith, supra.

[35] Allegations as to taking from person, presence, or possession see infra §§ 100-104.

[36] Danzey v. State, 126 Ala. 15, 16, 28 S 697; Welch v. State, 195 Ind. 87, 143 NE 354; State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52.

[a] Illustration.—An indictment alleging that accused took from the possession of A property belonging to B, is good as against the contention that it was defective in failing to further allege that A was "lawfully in possession or that he was the legal custodian." Danzey v. State, 126 Ala. 15, 16, 28 S 697.

[37] Danzey v. State, supra; Welch v. State, 195 Ind. 87, 143 NE 354.

"It will be presumed, unless the contrary apears, that his possession was lawful." Welch v. State, supra.

[38] State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52.

[a] Thief.—The lawfulness of the victim's possession need not be alleged because it would be robbery to take property from the peaceable possession of even one who had himself stolen it. State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52.

Lawfulness of victim's possession as element of offense see supra § 17.

Recapturing own property from unlawful possessor as not robbery see supra § 18.

[39] See statutory provisions.

[40] State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224.

[a] Not words of limitation.—"The gravamen of the offense consists in the taking by violence, or by putting in fear, the money or property of another from one who was at the time in the lawful possession of the same. Whether that one was the owner or the legal custodian is immaterial so far as the charging of the offense is concerned. The words of the statute, therefore, defining those from whom the unlawful taking of property shall constitute robbery may be disregarded as words of description rather than of limitation. State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 341, 253 SW 224.

[b] Person in lawful possession.—It is not necessary that the person alleged to have been in lawful possession of the property taken be limited to those named in the statute. State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224.

[41] Thompson v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 234, 237 SW 926.

[a] Business.—Property being in the joint possession of two persons engaged together in business, an indictment for robbery based on the taking of it correctly alleges the possession in one of them. Thompson v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 234, 237 SW 926.

[42] As element of offense see supra §§ 20-23.

[43] Ala.—Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816; Hill v. State, 145 Ala. 58, 40 S 654.

Cal.—Peo. v. Beck, 21 Cal. 385.

Ky.—Breckinridge v. Com., 97 Ky. 267, 30 SW 634, 17 KyL 163.

Miss.—Smith v. State, 82 Miss. 793, 35 S 178.

Mo.—State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575.

Tenn.—Kit v. State, 11 Humphr. 167.

Tex.—Smith v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 342, 39 SW 933.

Utah.—Peo. v. Kerm, 8 Utah 268, 30 P 988.

"The offense of robbery, its vital element, being against the person, as well as the property, it is imperative that the indictment either pursue the Code form wherein the term 'person' is employed, or else that the averments particularly describe such a taking as, in legal effect, amounts to a taking from the person, viz., in the presence of the party offended against, and who then had the property 'under his direct, physical, personal control'—a taking not necessarily from actual contact of the body, but from under his personal protection." Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816.

[a] From wagon.—(1) Where an indictment alleged the taking of personal property "from the wagon" of complainant, but did not charge a taking from complainant's person, or a taking of property under his then present personal protection, it was fatally defective. Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816. (2) "The averment is that the property was taken 'from his wagon.' This allegation signifies the place from which the goods were taken, but does not, in any sense, refer the act to the person, as that is understood in legal parlance, when robbery is the crime intended to be charged. The indictment would not sustain a judgment of conviction of robbery." Henderson v. State, 172 Ala. 415, 55 S 816.

[44] Allegation of taking from possession as not equivalent to allegation of taking from person or presence see infra §§ 101, 103.

mediate presence,[45] an indictment charging that property was taken from the "presence" of the victim, but failing to charge his "possession," is defective.[46] But where the charge is that it was taken from his "person," a further allegation that it was also taken from his "possession" is not necessary.[47]

[§ 101] b. Sufficiency—(1) From Person. An allegation of a taking from the presence of the victim, is sufficient averment that it was taken from his "person,"[48] as the latter word is used in the law of robbery.[49] An allegation that property was taken from the "possession" of another is not sufficient as an allegation that it was taken from his "person."[50]

From "another person." An allegation that property was taken from "another person," is not sufficient as an allegation that it was taken from "the person of another."[51]

[§ 102] (2) From Presence. Aside from statutes relative to possession,[52] and in accordance with the rule requiring the victim to be in control of property taken from his presence,[53] it has been held that where an indictment alleges a taking from the "presence" of another, it must further allege his control or dominion over the property taken from his presence.[54]

[§ 103] (3) From Person or Presence. No set form of words is necessary to constitute an allegation of a taking from the person or presence of the victim, any language from which this may reasonably be inferred being sufficient.[55] But an allegation that property was taken from the "person or possession" of another is not equivalent to an allegation that it was taken from his "person or presence."[56]

Use of disjunctive. Since a taking from the "presence" of the victim is equivalent to a taking from his "person,"[57] and since synonymous terms may properly be laid in the disjunctive in an indictment,[58] it would seem on principle that an indictment for robbery may properly allege a taking from the person "or" presence, and there is judicial authority expressly to such effect;[59] but other authority is directly contrary.[60]

[§ 104] (4) From Person or Possession.[61] Under a statute making it robbery to take from the person "or" possession,[62] an indictment alleging a taking from the person "and" possession has been held sufficient.[63]

---

[45] See supra § 20.

[46] Peo. v. Ham Tong, 155 Cal. 579, 102 P 263, 24 LRANS 481; Peo. v. Walbridge, 123 Cal. 273, 55 P 902; Peo. v. Ho Sing, 6 Cal. A. 752, 93 P 204; Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865, 872.

"In cases when property is taken in the immediate presence of its owner, it must be alleged that he was also in possession of such property, or the offense of robbery will not be charged." Rasberry v. State, supra.

[a] On demurrer.—Where an indictment did charge that property was taken from the "presence" of the victim, but did not charge that it was taken from his "possession," the indictment was demurrable. Peo. v. Ho Sing, 6 Cal. A. 752, 93 P 204.

[47] Peo. v. Walbridge, 123 Cal. 273, 55 P 902; Peo. v. Ah Sing, 95 Cal. 654, 30 P 796; Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865 [reh den 4 Okl. Cr. 634, 112 P 759].

[a] One allegation includes the order.—"When the allegation is that the property was taken from the person of another, it will be but an unnecessary repetition to allege that such property was in the possession of such person, for the first allegation necessarily includes the latter." Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865, 872.

[b] The contention is too technical to merit consideration, as an allegation of a taking from the actual person of the victim necessarily imports a taking from the possession. Peo. v. Walbridge, 123 Cal. 273, 55 P 902.

[48] State v. Wilson, 136 La. 345, 67 S 26; State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224.

[a] "The words 'in his presence' are by judicial construction held to be substitutionary or tantamount in meaning to the words 'from his person,'" so that it is not essential that a taking "from the person" be alleged in so many words, an allegation of a taking from the presence being a sufficient allegation of a taking from the person. State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 342, 253 SW 224.

[49] Taking from person or presence as equivalent requirements see supra §§ 20–22.

[50] Smith v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 342, 39 SW 933.

[51] Peo. v. Beck, 21 Cal. 385.

[52] See supra § 100 text and notes 44–47.

[53] See supra § 17; especially text and note 14.

[54] State v. Hall, 54 Wash. 142, 102 P 888.

[a] For instance, where an information alleged that defendant took the property of the Spokane Merchants' Association from the immediate presence of G. E. Parsons, it was fatally defective for failure to allege possession of, or control or dominion over, the property by said Parsons. State v. Hall, 54 Wash. 142, 102 P 888.

[55] See cases infra this note.

[a] Form sufficient.—(1) An indictment charging "that the defendants, being each armed with a loaded revolver, made an assault upon Bruce Shaw, Ira Aull, Lyndall Wells, and Maude Quinn and by force and intimidation put them in bodily fear and danger of their lives, and 'from the personal possession, custody, and control of the said Bruce Shaw, Ira Aull, Lyndall Wells, and Maude Quinn then and there feloniously, forcibly, violently, and by intimidation did rob, steal, take, and carry away' the property described in the count, 'of the money, funds, and property of the Kincaid Trust & Savings Bank, a banking corporation,'" is not open to the objection that it fails to allege directly and certainly a taking either from the person or from the presence of the persons assaulted. Peo. v. O'Hara, 332 Ill. 436, 163 NE 804, 806. (2) "It does not say in so many words the property was taken from the person of McNeal, but it distinctly says that it was taken from McNeal, after saying he was in the possession of it at the time it was taken, and that it was taken from him by force, by pointing pistols and other weapons at him, and by putting him in fear. With these statements in the indictment, all to be taken as true on demurrer, we not only think it certain to a common intent, to a person of common understanding, that the money was taken from the person of McNeal, but that it is impossible to draw from the language used any other conclusion than that it was so taken. We think it sufficiently clear to enable the court to pronounce judgment on conviction, according to the right of the case. In this opinion we do not intend to indicate or sanction any change in the essential elements of the law of robbery, as that the property must be taken from the person of another, or in his presence, for such, accompanied by the assault, we regard as the distinguishing elements of the crime of robbery from larceny, but only to affirm that this is sufficiently charged in the indictment in this case." Breckinridge v. Com., 97 Ky. 267, 30 SW 634, 636, 17 KyL 163.

Use of disjunctive see infra text and notes 57–60.

[56] Hill v. State, 145 Ala. 58, 40 S 654.

[57] See supra §§ 21, 22, 101.

[58] See Indictments and Informations § 181 text and note 30.

[59] Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725 [cit and disappr Slover v. Terr., 5 Okl. 506, 49 P 1009].

[60] Slover v. Terr., 5 Okl. 506, 49 P 1009.

[61] Necessity of alleging taking "from possession" in addition to "from person or presence" see supra § 100.

[62] See supra § 22.

[63] McCormick v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 214, 8 SW (2d) 164.

[§ 105] 5. Force or Intimidation[64]—a. Necessity of Allegation. Whenever force or intimidation is a necessary element of the crime,[65] it must be alleged in an indictment or information for robbery that the taking was accomplished by force or intimidation.[66]

[§ 106] b. Sufficiency—(1) In General. It is not necessary to allege both force and intimidation, an allegation of either being sufficient.[67] But if both force and intimidation are alleged, this does not render the indictment or information bad.[68]

An allegation of a taking "with force and arms" is not equivalent to an allegation of a taking by force or putting in fear,[69] and according to some authority is insufficient as a charge of robbery.[70] But in accordance with the rule that an allegation of either force or fear is sufficient,[71] better reasoned authority holds that an indictment charging robbery "with force and arms" is sufficient.[72]

Ability to injure. An allegation of present ability to commit a violent injury is not necessary.[73]

[§ 107] (2) Degree of Force.[74] In an indictment for robbery by actual violence, it is not necessary to include allegations as to the degree of force employed,[75] except where important as constituting an aggravating circumstance.[76]

[§ 108] (3) Nature of Force or Intimidation Employed. Except as the matter may be material to the degree or classification of the offense,[77] or under particular statutory provisions,[78] the indictment or information need not allege the kind or manner of force used,[79] nor the nature of the fear aroused,[80] nor the means by which the victim was intimidated.[81]

[§ 109] (4) Particular Statutory Provisions.[82] Under a statute providing for punishment of one who feloniously takes another's property "by assault or violence or by putting in fear of life, or bodily injury,"[83] the indictment must charge a taking by one of the modes specified in the statute.[84] Under a statute defining robbery as a felonious taking by assault and putting in fear or by “force and violence,”[85] an allegation of a taking “forcibly and by violence” sufficiently alleges a taking by force and violence.[86] Under a statute defining robbery as a felonious taking “by assault or by putting in fear of life or bodily injury,” and further providing that if a firearm or other deadly weapon is used, the punishment shall be death or a prescribed period of imprisonment,[87] ordinary robbery may be charged without stating the instrument or means by which the assault was made.[88] If the indictment charges use of a deadly weapon in such a form that striking out that portion would leave no charge of assault, violence or putting in fear, there can be no conviction for ordinary robbery.[89]

---

[64] Allegation of taking by force as equivalent to allegation of taking against will see infra § 110.

[65] See supra §§ 24-44.

[66] Ark.—Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632.

Ga.—Lampkin v. State, 87 Ga. 516, 13 SE 523.

Ill.—Collins v. Peo., 39 Ill. 233.

Ind.—Craig v. State, 157 Ind. 574, 62 NE 5.

Iowa.—State v. Brewer, 53 Iowa 735, 6 NW 62.

Ky.—Blanton v. Com., 58 SW 422, 22 KyL 515.

La.—State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728; State v. Cook, 20 La. Ann. 145.

Mass.—Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242.

Miss.—State v. Presley, 91 Miss. 377, 44 S 827.

Mo.—State v. Montgomery, 109 Mo. 645, 19 SW 221, 23 AmSR 684.

Mont.—State v. Gill, 21 Mont. 151, 53 P 184.

N. C.—State v. Brown, 113 N. C. 645, 18 SE 51; State v. Cowan, 29 N. C. 239.

N. D.—State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 103 NW 419.

Tenn.—McTigue v. State, 4 Baxt. 313.

Tex.—Wiley v. State, (Cr. A.) 43 SW 995; Trimble v. State, 16 Tex. A. 115.

Utah.—State v. Waldron, 28 Utah 14, 76 P 1135; State v. Davis, 28 Utah 10, 76 P 705.

Wis.—Gillotti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252.

[a] Such averments are sacramental.—State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728.

[67] Ark.—Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632; Traver v. State, 72 Ark. 524, 81 SW 615; Young v. State, 50 Ark. 501, 8 SW 828; Clary v. State, 33 Ark. 561.

Ky.—Blanton v. Com., 58 SW 422, 22 KyL 515.

Mass.—Com. v. Humphries, 7 Mass. 242.

Miss.—Cunningham v. State, 28 S 750.

Mo.—State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575; State v. Stinson, 124 Mo. 447, 27 SW 1098.

Mont.—State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 237, 92 P 566.

Tex.—Burns v. State, (Cr.) 70 SW 24.

[a] Forms held sufficient.—(1) To charge robbery by force. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 237, 92 P 566; Gilloti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252. (2) To charge robbery by intimidation. Peo. v. Conrad, 299 Ill. 473, 132 NE 466.

Force or intimidation as alternative requirements see supra § 24.

[68] Lampkin v. State, 87 Ga. 516, 13 SE 523; State v. Williams, (Mo.) 183 SW 308; State v. Flynn, 258 Mo. 211, 167 SW 516.

[a] The allegations are not inconsistent, as both force and intimidation may be used by the robber. State v. Flynn, 258 Mo. 211, 167 SW 516.

[b] One crime.—"The indictment in the present case does not charge two distinct offenses. Robbery by force and robbery by intimidation are two grades of the same offense, and both grades may be charged in the same count." Lampkin v. State, 87 Ga. 516, 13 SE 523, 524. To same effect Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Snatching as grade of robbery see supra § 69.

[69] State v. England, 148 La. 178, 86 S 728.

[70] State v. England, supra; Com. v. Mills, 3 Pa. Super. 161.

[71] See supra text and note 67.

[72] Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492; Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 170, 149 SW 190; Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 79, 149 SW 186.

[a] As averment of robbery by force.—Where an indictment alleged that defendant took another's property "unlawfully, willfully, and feloniously with force and arms, and by putting him in fear," even if it was assumed that the indictment was insufficient as an allegation of putting in fear because it did not aver the kind of fear (which, however, was unnecessary), nevertheless it was sufficient as an averment of robbery by force. Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492.

[b] As averment of robbery by "violence" under statute.—An indictment charging robbery by "force and arms" sufficiently alleged that the offense was effected by "violence" within the meaning of a statute defining robbery, inter alia, as a taking by violence. Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 79, 149 SW 186.

[73] Craig v. State, 157 Ind. 574, 62 NE 5.

[74] Not element of crime see supra § 31.

[75] State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 237, 92 P 566.

[76] See statutory provisions; and infra § 213.

Degrees of offense see infra § 115.

[77] See infra § 115 et seq.

[78] See statutory provisions. And compare infra § 109.

[79] State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 237, 92 P 566.

[80] Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492, 493 [cit Cyc].

See State v. Clancy, 20 Mont. 498, 52 P 267 (where the court refused to decide whether the kind of fear must be specified, as in any event there was a sufficient allegation of force).

[a] Indictment alleging merely a taking "by putting in fear," without averring of what the victim was put in fear, whether of bodily harm, or injury to property, or reputation, was sufficient. Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492.

[81] State v. Moore, 203 Mo. 624, 102 SW 537, 538; State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 103 NW 419.

"It is insisted that the information is bad, in that it fails to inform the defendant of the nature of the instrument or the means by which he put the prosecuting witness in fear of immediate injury to his person. As to this neither the common law nor our statute requires the grand jury or the prosecuting attorney to set out the means by which the victim of a robbery is put into fear." State v. Moore, supra.

[82] As to degree or classification of offense see infra § 114 et seq.

[83] See supra § 25.

[84] Shoemake v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 480, 232 SW 518; Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 170, 149 SW 190; Robin-

“Accomplished by” force or fear. Under statutes defining robbery as a felonious taking “accomplished by” means of force or fear,[90] an information is sufficient if it alleges a taking accomplished “with” force or fear,[91] but is insufficient if it alleges a taking “accompanied” by force or fear.[92]

Fear of “immediate” injury. Under a statute providing that any one feloniously taking the personal property of another “by violence to his person or by putting such person in fear of some immediate injury to his person,” shall be guilty of robbery,[93] an indictment charging robbery by putting in fear must allege that the fear was of “immediate” injury.[94]

[§ 110] 6. Consent.[95] Except as the rule may be changed by statute,[96] it must appear from the indictment or information that the victim did not consent to the taking of his property.[97] But it is not son v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 79, 149 SW 186.

---

[a] Sufficient allegation of taking by violence.—Robinson v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 79, 149 SW 186.

[b] Insufficient allegation of taking by assault.—An indictment charging that defendants “did then and there unlawfully in and upon A., make an assault, and then and there by said ———, fraudulently and against the will of the said A., take from the person,” etc., was insufficient to charge robbery, since it omitted the allegation that defendants took the property by means of an assault. Shoemake v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 480, 232 SW 518.

85. See supra § 25.

86. Gillotti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252, 253.

“There is no appreciable distinction between the two expressions. One could not perpetrate an offense ‘forcibly and by violence’ without doing so by force and violence. To make a distinction between the two expressions fatal to an information, especially after conviction, would be a most clear violation of the statutory demand and the settled judicial policy that ‘the court shall, in every stage of an action, disregard any error or defect in the pleadings or proceedings which shall not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party. . . .’ Section 2829, St. 1898.” Gillotti v. State, supra.

87. See supra § 25.

88. Perez v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 444, 244 SW 548.

“Under this statute, to charge ordinary robbery it is sufficient to charge that an assault was made without stating the instrument or means by which the assault was made, and if it is desired to prosecute for a felony less than capital, the indictment should be so drawn.” Perez v. State, supra.

Necessity of such averment in indictment for robbery with firearm, etc. see infra § 117 text and note 40.

89. Perez v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 444, 244 SW 548.

“In the instant case . . . the pleader has chosen to depart from the form ordinarily used, and to charge an assault with a deadly weapon, thus characterizing the case as a capital one. If the part of the indictment which charges that the assault was made with a deadly weapon be abandoned, then there is nothing left in the indictment upon which to prosecute. In other words, striking out the words ‘assault with a deadly weapon’ from the indictment (as the indictment in this case is drawn) strikes from it an element of the offense, and gives the case a different aspect from an indictment which contains an averment appropriate to charge ordinary robbery; but with the added averment that, in committing the assault, a deadly weapon was used, in such an indictment the latter averment may be abandoned without in any sense marring the perfection of that part of the indictment which charges ordinary robbery.” Perez v. State, supra.

90. See supra § 25.

91. State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 104 P 556.

[a] Equivalent word.—“The sufficiency of the information is attacked on two grounds: . . . (2) that it is not alleged that the taking of the property was accomplished by force or fear. The statute defines robbery as follows: ‘Robbery is the felonious taking of personal property in the possession of another, from his person or immediate presence, and against his will, accomplished by means of force or fear.’ Rev. Codes § 8309. . . . It is . . . said that the word ‘with’ does not appropriately express the means by which the taking was accomplished, and hence that one of the elements of the crime, as defined by the statute, to wit, that it must have been accomplished by force or fear, is omitted from the charge. This contention is also without substantial merit. It is always better that the charge be made in the language of the statute, but the necessity to pursue this course is not imperative in any case. Terms expressive of the same idea may be employed provided only they embody the essential elements of the crime as defined in the statute.” State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 104 P 556, 557.

92. State v. Johnson, 26 Mont. 9, 66 P 290, 291.

“Between ‘accomplished’ and ‘accompanied’ a clear distinction in meaning exists. For example, thunder often accompanies lightning, but thunder is not the means or agency whereby the physical results of lightning are accomplished. Again, the means by which an act could have been accomplished may have accompanied the doing of the act without being the efficient means or agency; that is, without accomplishing it.” State v. Johnson, supra.

93. See supra § 25.

94. Webb v. State, 99 Miss. 545, 55 S 356.

[a] Failure to so allege is a fatal defect.—Webb v. State, 99 Miss. 545, 55 S 356.

Allegation as essential when charging degree or classification of offense see infra § 115.

95. Nonconsent as element of offense see supra §§ 45–48.

96. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Texas.—(1) The authorities are conflicting as to whether nonconsent is an element of robbery under a statute silent as to consent. See supra § 45 text and note 74 [c]. (2) But it appears settled that the indictment need not allege a taking without the victim's consent (Wilson v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 134, 11 SW (2d) 803; McCormick v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 214, 8 SW (2d) 164), (3) nor against his will (McCormick v. State, supra [where the court said: “In an indictment for robbery, where the statutory elements of the offense are averred, it is not necessary to allege ‘want of consent,’ nor that the taking was ‘against the will’ of the owner”]). (4) Where, however, such terms are used, their use will not vitiate the indictment (Wilson v. State, supra); (5) and they may be rejected as surplusage (Wilson v. State, supra; McCormick v. State, supra), (6) at least where the taking was by assault and violence (Chancey v. State, 58 Tex. Cr. 54, 124 SW 426).

97. Cal.—Peo. v. Riley, 75 Cal. 98, 16 P 544.

Ga.—Scott v. State, 25 Ga. A. 553, 103 SE 732.

Ill.—Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664.

Ind.—Anderson v. State, 28 Ind. 22.

Iowa.—State v. Kegan, 62 Iowa 106, 17 NW 179.

La.—State v. Wilson, 136 La. 345, 67 S 26.

Miss.—State v. Presley, 91 Miss. 377, 44 S 827.

Mo.—State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541.

Or.—State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

Pa.—Acker v. Com., 94 Pa. 284.

Utah.—State v. La Chall, 28 Utah 80, 77 P 3.

necessary to show this by an express allegation that the taking was against his will,[98] or "against"[99] or "without"[1] his consent. The lack of consent may be implied from equivalent allegations,[2] such as allegations that the property was taken by force or intimidation.[3]

Sufficiency of particular phrases. In accordance with the foregoing principles,[4] it has been held that consent was sufficiently denied where the indictment or information alleged that the taking was accomplished by means of "force,"[5] "force and fear,"[6] "force and intimidation,"[7] or "force and violence;"[8] or that it was done "unlawfully, feloniously, forcibly, and violently."[9]

[§ 111] 7. Intent[10]—a. Necessity of Allegation. The intent to steal, or animus furandi, should be alleged in some form in the indictment or information.[11]

Wash.—State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[a] Apt words.—"Any information attempting to charge the crime of robbery which fails substantially to allege that the taking of the property was against the will of the person robbed would be palpably bad. For obviously no person can be robbed when he consents to or acquiesces in the taking of his property. There must be apt words in the information which negative the idea of consent or acquiescence." State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541, 542.

[b] "It must appear from some source in an information for robbery that the taking was not with the consent of the victim." State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141, 143.

[c] Alleging "with" consent.—"The indictment in this case, which charged the offense of robbery, failing to allege that the fraudulent, wrongful, and violent taking of the property was without the consent of the owner, but, on the contrary, alleging that the taking was with his consent, set forth no crime under the laws of this state; and the verdict of 'guilty of robbery by force and violence' and the judgment based thereon were void, and the court erred in overruling the defendant's motion to arrest the judgment." Scott v. State, 25 Ga. A. 553, 103 SE 732.

[98] Cal.—Peo. v. Riley, 75 Cal. 98, 16 P 544.

Ill.—Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664.

Ind.—Anderson v. State, 28 Ind. 22; Terry v. State, 13 Ind. 70.

La.—State v. Wilson, 136 La. 345, 67 S 26; State v. Patterson, 42 La. Ann. 934, 8 S 529.

Miss.—State v. Presley, 91 Miss. 377, 44 S 827.

Mo.—State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541.

Or.—State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

Pa.—Acker v. Com., 94 Pa. 284.

Utah.—State v. La Chall, 28 Utah 80, 77 P 3.

Wash.—State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[a] The set and fixed phrase, "against the will" need not be used in an indictment for robbery. State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541.

[b] Tautological.—"In an information for robbery of money from a person named therein, and which alleges force, violence, and putting said person in fear by defendants, the words 'against his will' would be tautological; and they are unnecessary." State v. Wilson, 136 La. 345, 67 S 26.

[99] Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664.

[1] Peo. v. Shuler, 28 Cal. 490; Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114.

[2] Shehany v. Lowry, supra; State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541, 543; Acker v. Com., 94 Pa. 284.

"While it is held, both at common law and under statutes defining 'robbery,' with a uniformity which is almost universal, that the indictment must charge that the taking of the property is 'against the will' of the person robbed, the cases hold and the text-books likewise lay down the rule that it is not an absolute prerequisite that the set and fixed phrase of the statute or of the common law be used to negative the fact of consent; that any other word or words which clearly allege that the caption of the property taken was without the consent of the person robbed is sufficient." State v. Massey, supra.

[3] Cal.—Peo. v. Riley, 75 Cal. 98, 16 P 544.

Ga.—Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114.

Ind.—Anderson v. State, 28 Ind. 22; Terry v. State, 13 Ind. 70.

Iowa.—State v. Kegan, 62 Iowa 106, 17 NW 179.

La.—State v. Wilson, 136 La. 345, 67 S 26; State v. Patterson, 42 La. Ann. 934, 8 S 529.

Miss.—State v. Presley, 91 Miss. 377, 44 S 827.

Mo.—State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541.

Or.—State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

Utah.—State v. La Chall, 28 Utah 80, 77 P 3.

Wash.—State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

"Manifestly, either physical violence or intimidation implies a restraint of violence, and nothing else; and the addition of the phrase 'against his will,' would have been an unnecessary tautology, instead of a requisite element of description." State v. Patterson, 42 La. Ann. 934, 8 S 529.

[4] See supra text and notes 96-3.

[5] State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541.

[a] "The noun 'force' means 'power exerted against will or consent.' Webster's Dictionary," and accordingly an indictment alleging a taking by force sufficiently alleges a taking against the will. State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541, 543.

[6] Peo. v. Riley, 75 Cal. 98, 16 P 544; State v. La Chall, 28 Utah 80, 77 P 3.

[7] Shehany v. Lowry, 170 Ga. 70, 152 SE 114, 115.

"In the present case it is charged that the defendant committed the offense of 'robbery, for that said accused . . . with force and arms did wrongfully, fraudulently, and violently, by force and intimidation, take from the person of R. C. Parker, with intent to steal the same,' etc. It would seem that the language used necessarily conveys a clear implication that the money was taken without the consent of the owner as that term is understood in law." Shehany v. Lowry, supra.

[8] State v. Kegan, 62 Iowa 106, 17 NW 179; State v. Patterson, 42 La. Ann. 934, 8 S 529; State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[9] State v. Presley, 91 Miss. 377, 44 S 827.

"In the case before us we think the indictment charges a condition of things manifestly against the will of the party robbed. Technical law is good law under proper circumstances, but not where it shocks common sense. One cannot 'unlawfully, feloniously, forcibly, and violently' rob and steal from the person of another, without it being against his will." State v. Presley, supra.

[10] As element of offense see supra §§ 49-53.

[11] U. S.—Vane v. U. S., 254 Fed. 32, 165 CCA 442.

Ala.—Chappell v. State, 52 Ala. 359.

Ark.—Keeton v. State, 70 Ark. 163, 66 SW 645.

Ga.—Holland v. State, 8 Ga. A. 202, 68 SE 861.

Hawaii.—Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725.

Iowa.—State v. Kegan, 62 Iowa 106, 17 NW 179.

Ky.—Ward v. Com., 14 Bush 233.

La.—State v. Henry, 47 La. Ann. 1587, 18 S 638.

Miss.—McCray v. State, 153 Miss. 587, 121 S 291; Jones v. State, 95 Miss. 121, 48 S 407, 21 AnnCas 1137.

Mo.—State v. Brown, 104 Mo. 365, 16 SW 406.

Mont.—State v. Gill, 21 Mont. 151, 53 P 184.

Nebr.—Smith v. State, 72 Nebr. 345, 100 NW 806.

Nev.—State v. Switzer, 38 Nev. 108, 145 P 925.

N. C.—State v. Brown, 113 N. C. 645, 18 SE 51.

N. D.—State v. Fordham, 13 N. D. 494, 101 NW 888.

Oh.—Boose v. State, 10 Oh. St. 575; Matthews v. State, 4 Oh. St. 539; Turner v. State, 1 Oh. St. 422.

Okl.—Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Alabot, 38 Philippine 698.

Tex.—Murphy v. State, 43 Tex. Cr. 515, 67 SW 108.

[a] Fatal omission.—"In this there are two counts; the first of which is in the form prescribed by the Revised Code (p. 809, Form No. 12), except that it does not contain the word 'feloniously,' in charging the acts constituting the offence. This omission is fatal. Without it,

Willfulness. An indictment charging an unlawful and felonious taking need not also allege that the taking was willful.[12]

Wrongfulness. An allegation charging that the act was committed feloniously need not further charge that it was done wrongfully.[13]

[§ 112] b. Sufficiency—(1) In General. According to certain authorities an indictment or information for robbery must allege the intent to steal expressly, and in so many words.[14] Other courts take the view that an indictment or information is sufficient if it employs any apt language indicating the existence of the intent to steal.[15] Under the latter view it is not necessary to use the word "steal,"[16] and is sufficient to allege that the property was taken feloniously[17] or fraudulently.[18]

[§ 113] (2) Act as to Which Intent Should Be Alleged. The allegation of intent to steal should be made with reference to the actual taking,[19] of the property, and need not be made with reference to an assault preceding such taking.[20] If the taking is alleged to have been felonious, it is not necessary further to allege that the putting in fear was done feloniously.[21]

[§ 114] 8. Grade, Degree, or Classification of Offense[22]—a. In General. An indictment or information for robbery need not allege facts showing the degree or other classification of the robbery.[23] But or some corresponding expression, there is nothing in the indictment to show that the persons engaged in the affair were not merely indulging in mischievous sport, instead of being actuated animo furandi." Chappell v. State, 52 Ala. 359, 360.

---

12. Lissenbee v. Com., 198 Ky. 639, 249 SW 782.

[a] Rule applied.—An indictment for robbery, charging that the property was taken unlawfully and feloniously, is not objectionable for omitting the word "willfully," since the words "unlawfully and feloniously" clearly import a willful act. Lissenbee v. Com., 198 Ky. 639, 249 SW 782.

13. Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865.

"Every felonious act is necessarily a wrongful act. Therefore, in an information or indictment for robbery, when it is alleged that the act was feloniously done, this in substance and effect charges that it was wrongfully done, and it is not necessary to go further and allege that such act was wrongful." Rasberry v. State, supra.

14. McCray v. State, 153 Miss. 587, 121 S 291; Jones v. State, 95 Miss. 121, 48 S 407, 21 AnnCas 1137.

[a] Rule applied.—(1) An indictment, which alleges that accused willfully, unlawfully, and feloniously took the property of prosecutor from his person and against his will, by violence and by putting him in fear of immediate injury, but fails to charge an intent to steal, is defective. Jones v. State, 95 Miss. 121, 48 S 407, 21 AnnCas 1137. (2) "Indictment for robbery charging that defendant, with force and arms, willfully, unlawfully, and feloniously took personal property of one J. W. from person of said J. W. against his will, by violence to his person or by putting said J. W. in fear of some immediate injury to his person, held not to charge an offense, since there was no charge of intent on part of defendant to steal personal property taken from person of J. W." McCray v. State, 153 Miss. 587, 121 S 291.

15. U. S.—Vane v. U. S., 254 Fed. 32.

Ark.—Keeton v. State, 70 Ark. 163, 66 SW 645.

Ga.—Holland v. State, 8 Ga. A. 202, 68 SE 861.

Hawaii.—Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725.

La.—State v. Henry, 47 La. Ann 1587, 18 S 638.

Mo.—State v. Huffman, 238 SW 430; State v. Lasson, 292 Mo. 155, 238 SW 101.

Nev.—State v. Switzer, 38 Nev. 108, 145 P 925.

[a] Rule applied.—An indictment based on Rev. St. (1919) § 3307, covering the requirements of the statutes, was held good, although not charging that defendant committed the acts "with the felonious intent on his part to convert said money to his own use without the consent of the owner." State v. Huffman, (Mo.) 238 SW 430.

[b] Forms held sufficient.—(1) "The argument of appellant is that the indictment is uncertain as to the intent, and duplicitous in its effect; but it is not subject to that criticism. It specifically charges that the defendant did, against the will and consent of Gentry Carson, with force and arms, take, steal, and carry away $25 of his lawful money, with the felonious and fraudulent intent then and there to convert the same to his own use, and to deprive permanently the said Gentry Carson of his property." Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455, 456. (2) Other forms. State v. Henry, 47 La. Ann. 1587, 18 S 638; State v. Gill, 21 Mont. 151, 53 P 184.

[c] In Philippines.—(1) The intent to gain or commission of robbery "con animo de lucro" need not be specifically alleged, as it will be implied from an allegation of a taking of another's property by force or violence. U. S. v. Alabot, 38 Philippine 698. To same effect U. S. v. San Pedro, 4 Philippine 405. (2) "When a complaint alleges, as this one does, that the defendant, armed with a gun, at midnight entered the house of the complaining witness, and after beating him with the butt of the gun took from his family money and other property and departed with it, it is not necessary to add thereto the statement that the defendant acted 'feloniously.'" U. S. v. Gimeno, 3 Philippine 233.

16. Keeton v. State, 70 Ark. 163, 66 SW 645.

17. Keeton v. State, supra; Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, 26 Hawaii 725, 735; State v. Switzer, 38 Nev. 108, 109, 145 P 925.

"The word 'feloniously' used in the body of the indictment, in a legal sense, means, 'done with intent to commit crime.' Its use in an indictment has uniformly been held to be a sufficient averment of the intent necessary to constitute the crime." State v. Switzer, supra [quot Terr. v. Kim Ung Pil, supra].

"The words, 'feloniously did take from the person,' etc., as used in the indictment, import stealing lucri causa and an asportation with intent to deprive the person in the lawful possession of the property in the goods." Keeton v. State, 70 Ark. 163, 165, 66 SW 645.

[a] Illustration.—Where an information charged that defendant did "willfully, unlawfully and feloniously take from the person of and in the presence of Jack Vera . . . of the personal goods and chattels of the said Jack Vera," etc., it was not open to the objection that it was fatally defective for failure to allege that the property was taken with intent to commit a larceny, as the use of the word "feloniously" was a sufficient allegation of the necessary intent. State v. Switzer, 38 Nev. 108, 145 P 925.

18. Holland v. State, 8 Ga. A. 202, 68 SE 861.

[a] Intent to steal implied.—The word "fraudulently" in an indictment alleging that accused unlawfully, wrongfully, fraudulently, etc., took certain property from the owner by force, implies an intent to steal. Holland v. State, 8 Ga. A. 202, 68 SE 861.

19. Webster v. State, 146 Miss. 682, 111 S 749, 750.

"The intent to steal which must be alleged and proven . . . is with reference to the property taken, the intent to steal which is here sufficiently alleged, for an allegation that a person 'did feloniously take, steal, and carry away property,' of course, includes the idea that he took the property with the intention of stealing it." Webster v. State, supra.

20. Webster v. State, supra.

[a] In a prosecution for the complete offense of robbery, it is sufficient to allege that the taking was with the intent to steal without also alleging that the assault preceding such taking was made with the intent to steal. Webster v. State, 146 Miss. 682, 111 S 749.

21. State v. Brown, 104 Mo. 365, 16 SW 406.

22. Generally see supra §§ 55-71.

Conviction of included offense see Indictments and Informations §§ 497, 504, 523.

23. Peo. v. Tognola, 83 Cal. A. 34, 256 P 455; Peo. v. Egan, 77 Cal. A. 279, 246 P 337, 339; Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631.

"In cases of murder, arson, and burglary it has been held that allegations for such purpose are not essential, . . . and no valid reason appears why a different rule of pleading should be required in charging the where it is sought to charge accused with a particular degree or other classification of robbery, it is ordinarily held that the indictment or information must allege facts sufficient to bring the charge within the definition[24] of such degree or other classification in order to sustain a conviction therefor,[25] although there is authority to the contrary.[26]

[§ 115] b. Degrees. Dangerous or deadly weapon. Under statutes classifying as first degree, robbery committed while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon,[27] it is not necessary to describe[28] or name[29] the deadly weapon, nor, according to one authority, is it even necessary to allege that accused was armed with a deadly weapon.[30]

Force or fear of immediate personal injury. Under statutes defining first degree robbery as one accomplished by force or fear of immediate personal injury,[31] an indictment charging robbery by intimidation is defective as a charge of first degree robbery if it fails to set forth the facts so as to show the nature of the injury feared.[32]

Particular forms. In accordance with general principles above stated,[33] particular indictments or informations have been held sufficient as charging first[34] or second[35] degree robbery.

[§ 116] c. Classification without Formal Degrees—(1) Committed by Two or More. Under statutes providing one maximum punishment for robbery committed singly, and another and greater maximum punishment for robbery committed with a companion,[36] conviction under an indictment charging that AB "and" CD committed a specified robbery is sufficient to justify imposition of sentence under the joint robbery statute as against the contention that "with" should have been used instead of "and."[37]

An indictment for conjoint robbery need not allege a conspiracy.[38]

[§ 117] (2) Dangerous or Deadly Weapon. Under statutes not dividing the offense into formal degrees, but making robbery while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon a classification of the crime more serious than when committed while not so armed,[39] to charge such classification of robbery the indictment or information must contain appropriate allegations respecting a dangerous or deadly weapon.[40] To charge the classification of robbery without a dangerous or deadly weapon, it is ordinarily not necessary expressly to aver the absence of such weapon,[41] although there is authority to the contrary.[42] An indictment properly charging robbery but failing properly to charge use of a dangerous or deadly weapon, is sufficient to sustain a conviction of crime of robbery. The point is therefore without merit." Peo. v. Egan, supra.

---

[24] See supra §§ 55–71; and see passim supra §§ 1–10.

[25] Cal.—Peo. v. Tognola, 83 Cal. A. 34, 256 P 455.

Fla.—Martin v. State, 129 S 112.

Mich.—Peo. v. Calvin, 60 Mich. 113, 26 NW 851.

Minn.—State v. O'Neill, 71 Minn. 399, 73 NW 1091.

Mo.—State v. Holmes, 289 SW 904.

Okl.—Slover v. Terr., 5 Okl. 506, 49 P 1009.

Pa.—Com. v. Dolinak, 86 Pa. Super. 455.

Tex.—Perez v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 444, 244 SW 548.

Wis.—Gillotti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252.

[a] Complaint held sufficient to charge robbery of inhabited house.—Peo. v. Jagon, 49 Philippine 555.

Particular degrees or classifications see infra §§ 115–118.

[26] Peo. v. Tognola, 83 Cal. A. 34, 256 P 455.

[27] See supra § 56.

[28] Peo. v. Tognola, 83 Cal. A. 34, 256 P 455.

[29] Peo. v. Tognola, supra.

[30] Peo. v. Tognola, supra.

Contrary rule under other statutes see infra § 117 text and note 40.

Specific elements of degree or classification generally see supra §§ 56, 61, 65.

[31] See supra § 59.

[32] Slover v. Terr., 5 Okl. 506, 49 P 1009.

[33] See supra § 114.

[34] State v. Holmes, 316 Mo. 122, 289 SW 904; State v. McCullough, 316 Mo. 42, 289 SW 811; State v. Baldwin, (Mo.) 281 SW 940; State v. Roberts, 311 Mo. 521, 278 SW 971; State v. McCombs, (Mo.) 259 SW 440; State v. Roderman, 297 Mo. 143, 248 SW 964.

[a] Aided by accomplice actually present.—Peo. v. Roof, 138 App. Div. 633, 122 NYS 677.

[b] Putting in fear of immediate injury to person.—State v. Goodwin, (Mo.) 300 SW 723.

[35] See case infra this note.

[a] Without dangerous weapon but by actual force and violence.—State v. O'Neil, 71 Minn. 399, 73 NW 1091.

[36] See supra § 67.

[37] Com. v. Dolinak, 86 Pa. Super. 455.

[a] Robo en cuadrilla, form held sufficient to charge. U. S. v. Aquino, 11 Philippine 244. See also Bandolerismo 6 C. J. p 1176; En Cuadrilla 20 C. J. p 1249.

[38] Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108, 1109.

"It is first contended that the information fails to state the facts showing a conspiracy between Wilson and his codefendant Decker. This is unnecessary under the statutory provisions of this state. Section 2574, Compiled Statutes 1921." Wilson v. State, supra.

[a] Forms held sufficient.—Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108; Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865, 4 Okl. Cr. 634, 112 P 759.

[39] See supra § 65.

[40] Martin v. State, (Fla.) 129 S 112; Perez v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 444, 244 SW 548; Gillotti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252, 253.

Rule under different statutes see supra § 115.

[a] Capital offense.—Under a statute providing that if a firearm or other deadly weapon is used in robbery, the punishment shall be death or life imprisonment, an averment that a deadly weapon was used is essential to charge such classification of robbery. Perez v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 444, 244 SW 548.

[b] Indictment held sufficient.—Peo. v. Carpenter, 315 Ill. 87, 145 NE 664, 665 ("The indictment charges that the plaintiffs in error feloniously made an assault with a dangerous weapon on Ohlemiller and robbed him. The indictment was sufficient").

Sufficiency without such averment as charge of ordinary robbery see supra § 109 text and notes 88, 89.

[41] Martin v. State, (Fla.) 129 S 112; Gillotti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252, 253.

"To hold that neglect to charge absence of such characteristic is fatal as to the lowest grade of the offense does seem, 'as claimed by the state,' extremely technical and entirely out of harmony with the policy of our system heretofore indicated. It would seem, looking to the substance of things, that an allegation as to whether the offender was 'armed with a dangerous weapon' is only essential to show that the offense is one of a higher degree than the lowest which would include the latter." Gillotti v. State, supra.

[a] Illustration.—St. (1898) § 4378, provides that any person who shall by force and violence, or by assault and putting in fear, feloniously rob, steal, and take from the person of another any money or other property which may be the subject of larceny, the robber not being armed with a dangerous weapon, shall be punished, etc. Held that an information charging that defendants did feloniously make an assault on prosecutor, and did take certain described property from his person and against his will, feloniously, forcibly, and by violence, and by putting prosecutor in fear, and did take, steal, and carry the same away, stated an offense under such section, although it did not allege that defendants were not armed with a dangerous weapon. Gillotti v. State, 135 Wis. 634, 116 NW 252.

[42] Peo. v. Calvin, 60 Mich. 113, 26 NW 851.

robbery without a dangerous weapon.[43]

Description of weapon. Where the indictment charges that accused was armed with a firearm, it need not further allege that it was loaded.[44]

[§ 118] (3) Highway Robbery.[45] Under statutes making highway robbery a particular classification of the offense[46] and providing that this classification of the crime shall consist in "robbing any person in or near any public highway,"[47] an indictment is incorrect which alleges that the offense was committed "in"[48] or "near"[49] the highway, instead of using the disjunctive phrase "in or near" the highway. It is not necessary to specify the particular highway.[50]

[§ 119] 9. Joinder of Parties.[51] General rules[52] apply with respect to joint indictments or informations in prosecutions for robbery.[53]

[§ 120] B. Issues, Proof, and Variance[54]—1. In General. In accordance with general rules[55] in a prosecution for robbery the state must prove both the commission of the offense[56] and the guilty participation of accused therein[57] as charged in the indictment or information.[58]

[§ 121] 2. Time of Offense. In accordance with general rules,[59] under an allegation of a robbery committed on a specified date, the prosecution may prove commission of the offense at any time within the period of limitations.[60]

[§ 122] 3. Participation[61] in Robbery.[62] Where two or more participated in the commission of the offense,[63] failure to prove that an accused participated in the actual taking may not constitute a variance.[64] Failure to prove that other persons participated in the robbery as charged is not necessarily a variance.[65] An indictment charging that accused and another, as principals, committed robbery, was sufficient to inform accused that he was charged with entering into a conspiracy to commit the crime and that pursuant to such conspiracy the crime was committed, so as to authorize evidence of such conspiracy.[66]

[§ 123] 4. Identification of Victim.[67] The proof must correspond with the allegations as to the identity of the person robbed.[68]

---

[43] Peo. v. Boer, 262 Ill. 152, 104 NE 162.

[a] Disregarded as surplusage.—Where, in one count, defendant was properly charged with robbery and at the end of such count was incorporated an allegation that defendant used a dangerous weapon with intent to kill or maim himself [instead of the victim] if resisted, the erroneous allegation as to use of a dangerous weapon could be disregarded as surplusage and the indictment could support a conviction of robbery. Peo. v. Boer, 262 Ill. 152, 104 NE 162.

[44] Peo. v. Dwyer, 324 Ill. 363, 155 NE 316.

[a] Pistol.—"An indictment which charges that the defendant was armed with a pistol charges that he was armed with a deadly weapon," without necessity of the further allegation that it was loaded. Peo. v. Dwyer, 324 Ill. 363, 155 NE 316.

[45] Defined see supra § 5.

[46] See statutory provisions.

[47] See statutory provisions.

[48] State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83, 88; State v. Anthony, 29 N. C. 234.

"Without stopping to inquire whether an indictment following the very words of the statute and laying the offence 'in or near' the public highway, would be good, it is sufficient to say, that the indictment in this case charges the offence to have been committed in the highway, which is the most precise and unobjectionable, if not the only proper way of laying it, instead of in the disjunctive." State v. Burke, supra.

[a] "In the common and public highway of the state" is indefinite as to the particular place where the robbery was committed, but is sufficiently certain to apprise the prisoner of the place of offense and to support a plea of autrefois acquit. State v. Wilson, 67 N. C. 456.

[49] State v. Anthony, 29 N. C. 234.

[a] There may be two counts, one alleging "in" and the other "near" the highway as the place of robbery. State v. Anthony, 29 N. C. 234.

[50] State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83; State v. Wilson, 67 N. C. 456.

[51] Joint commission of robbery as affecting classification of offense: Generally see supra § 67. Indictment see supra § 116.

[52] See Indictments and Informations §§ 312–319.

[53] Ray v. Com., 230 Ky. 656, 20 SW (2d) 484, 66 ALR 1297; Rex v. Rafferty, 2 Lew. C. C. 271, 168 Reprint 1151.

[a] Averment of being together.—Where several are indicted for robbery, it is not necessary to aver that they were together. Rex v. Rafferty, 2 Lew. C. C. 271, 168 Reprint 1151.

[54] Conviction of included offenses see Indictments and Informations §§ 497, 523.

[55] See Indictments and Informations §§ 438–481.

[56] Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35.

Evidence of the crime generally see infra §§ 144–180.

[57] Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35.

[a] Corpus delicti and identity.—"Proof sufficient to sustain a conviction of the crime of robbery involves the proof of two distinct propositions: First, that money, goods, or other valuable thing was feloniously and violently taken from the person of another by force or intimidation; and, second, that it was done by the person charged and none other—in other words, proof of the corpus delicti and the identity of the accused." Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35, 37.

[58] Charging the offense see supra §§ 82–119.

[59] See Indictments and Informations § 454.

[60] Perry v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 644, 155 SW 263.

[a] December 2 and 23.—"Those bills that complain that whereas the indictment alleged that 'the offense was committed on or about the 3d day of December, that the court erred in permitting the witnesses to testify that the offense occurred on December 23d,' present no error. The state could prove any date within the period of limitation." Perry v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 644, 155 SW 263, 264.

[61] Of person accused generally see Indictments and Informations §§ 455–458.

[62] Necessity of proving see supra § 120.

[63] See supra § 79. See also Criminal Law §§ 99–161.

[64] State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391; State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379, 381.

[a] Proof that defendant held the gun while a codefendant took the money is sufficient. State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391.

[b] Standing guard outside building where robbery was committed.—State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

[65] Collins v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 156, 178 SW 345.

[a] Different counts.—Where the count of the indictment on which he was tried charged accused as principal in committing a robbery, and did not name any other person, the fact that persons named in other counts as principals were shown not to have participated does not constitute a variance. Collins v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 156, 178 SW 345.

[66] Ray v. Com., 230 Ky. 656, 20 SW (2d) 484, 66 ALR 1297.

[67] General rules see Indictments and Informations §§ 463–468.

Legal existence of corporation see infra § 134.

[68] Sparks v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 154, 177 SW 968; Eshelman v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 177 SW 969.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to show that person named in indictment was the one robbed. Peo. v. Cummings, 338 Ill. 636, 170 NE 750.

[b] Evidence held insufficient to establish the identity of the person robbed with the person named in the indictment as having been robbed. Sparks v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 154, 177 SW 968; Eshelman v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 177 SW 969.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

Name. Where identity is sufficiently established, a variance between the name of the victim as stated in the indictment or information and his real name as shown by the proof is immaterial.[69] But where identity is not established, a variance as to names is fatal.[70]

[§ 124] 5. Taking.[71] In a prosecution for robbery it is essential to prove that there was a taking of the property.[72]

[§ 125] 6. Property Taken[73]—a. Nature or Character—(1) In General. The evidence must show a taking of some property answering substantially to that described as taken.[74]

Evidence admissible[75] under pleadings. Evidence that property other than that alleged to have been taken was found in the possession of accused may be admissible where bearing on the issue of his participation in the robbery.[76]

[§ 126] (2) Chattels.[77] Evidence that accused took a chattel substantially, although not exactly, answering the description alleged in the indictment or information is not a fatal variance.[78]

[§ 127] (3) Money—(a) In General. Where the indictment or information contains a specific description of the money taken,[79] the proof must correspond to such description.[80] But where the indictment charges the taking of a certain sum without a specific description, it is unnecessary to prove the kind or character of money taken.[81]

Statutes relative to larceny providing that on a trial for larceny of money or bank-notes, the particular species need not be proved[82] have been held applicable to prosecutions for robbery.[83]

[§ 128] (b) Current or Lawful Money of United States. Allegations that accused took lawful or current money of the United States may be supported by evidence of the general character of the money taken without specific testimony to the effect that the money was current or lawful,[84] and it is not necessary under such allegations to prove that the money was technically legal tender.[85] It is sufficient to

---

69. Peo. v. Gonzales, 6 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 263, 56 P 804; Peo. v. Decina, 306 Ill. 260, 137 NE 844.

[a] Name by which known.—There was no fatal variance because person robbed was stated in indictment to be John Ross, while his real name was John Rossi; the injured party having adopted Ross as his name when he went into business, and being generally known by that name, since "it is sufficient to sustain an averment of a particular name that a person is usually or popularly known by such name." Peo. v. Decina, 306 Ill. 260, 137 NE 844, 845.

70. Parks v. State, 21 Ala. A. 177, 106 S 218.

[a] Rule applied.—Where indictment charging robbery named Wesley Duke as the victim, and the evidence tended to show that J. W. Duke was the victim, variance held reversible error. Parks v. State, 21 Ala. A. 177, 106 S 218.

71. As element of offense see supra § 13.

72. Peo. v. Foss, 85 Cal. A. 269, 259 P 123.

[a] A conviction for "robbery" cannot be sustained where evidence did not show any taking. Peo. v. Foss, 85 Cal. A. 269, 259 P 123.

Necessity of proving elements of crime generally see Indictments and Informations § 438 text and note 54.

73. Subjects of robbery see supra §§ 14–19.

74. Peo. v. Richards, 136 Cal. 127, 68 P 477; Com. v. Cahill, 12 Allen (Mass.) 540. Compare Burke v. Peo., 148 Ill. 70, 35 NE 376 (where it was alleged that defendants took a pocketbook and specified kinds and denominations of money therein, and the proof showing the taking of a pocketbook containing undescribed money was held sufficient to support a conviction. While the court rested its decision on the ground that proof of the description of the property taken need not correspond with the allegations, it will be noted that allegations and proof did correspond in the facts that (1) a pocketbook was taken, and (2) it contained money).

75. Generally see infra § 165.

76. Kellum v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 272, 238 SW 940.

[a] Other property of victim.—Testimony that victim's property was found in possession of defendant was admissible, though not the particular property alleged in the indictment to have been taken. Kellum v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 272, 238 SW 940.

77. Money see infra §§ 127–129.

78. State v. Alexander, 66 Kan. 726, 72 P 227.

[a] Gold watch.—Where it was alleged that defendant took a gold watch, proof that he took a gold-filled watch was not a variance. State v. Alexander, 66 Kan. 726, 72 P 227.

79. See passim supra §§ 88–92.

80. Scott v. Com., 9 Ky. Op. 835; McCaskey v. State, 76 Tex. Cr. 255, 174 SW 338.

[a] "Greenback currency."—"Whether it was necessary to give any description of the bills or money alleged to have been taken, it is unnecessary to decide. It is sufficient that the thing taken was charged to be two dollars in 'greenback currency.' It was necessary to identify the offense charged with that proven, that it should have been proved by some sort of evidence that the currency taken was greenback currency." Scott v. Com., 9 Ky. Op. 835, 839.

[b] Proof of two nickels under allegation of one dime.—The variance between an indictment alleging that accused robbed prosecutor of "one ten-cent piece, commonly known as one dime," and the proof of robbery of "two five-cent pieces of money, commonly known as nickels," is fatal. McCaskey v. State, 76 Tex. Cr. 255, 174 SW 338.

Number or quantity of bills or coins see infra § 130.

81. Webb v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 503, 7 SW (2d) 562, 9 SW (2d) 335.

[a] Sum of $500.—"The point made in the motion that the indictment charged that the money taken 'was current money of the United States' seems to be based upon a mistake of fact. The indictment does not contain such an averment. It charges that from Berry there was taken the sum of $500. With that averment the evidence corresponded. Under the averment, it is unnecessary to prove either the character or the value of the money." Webb v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 503, 7 SW (2d) 562, 564, 9 SW (2d) 335.

82. See Larceny §§ 374–376.

83. State v. Rodgers, 21 Mont. 143, 53 P 97.

[a] Bank-notes.—Pen. Code § 2109, providing that on a trial for larceny of money or bank-notes, the allegations of the indictment are sustained if defendant be proved to have stolen any money or notes, although the particular species be not proved, is applicable to a prosecution for robbery. State v. Rodgers, 21 Mont. 143, 53 P 97.

84. Jenkins v. State, 131 Ark. 312, 198 SW 877; State v. Brache, 63 Wash. 396, 115 P 853.

[a] Rule applied.—(1) "The indictment alleged that the money stolen was lawful money of the United States; and it is said the testimony does not establish this allegation. It does not appear that any witness said, in express terms, that the money stolen was lawful money of the United States. But this is the necessary meaning of all that was said on that subject. The cashier described the money as $645 in gold, and as currency and silver and minor coin. Other witnesses used the same terms, and also referred to portions of the money as greenbacks and as bills, and it is perfectly obvious that in each instance the witness was talking about the medium of exchange circulating in this country which we call money and which is measured in dollars, and we conclude, therefore, that there was no failure of proof on this subject." Jenkins v. State, 131 Ark. 312, 198 SW 877, 879. (2) Proof that one was robbed of one dollar and seventy-five cents in "silver" and of "a twenty-dollar gold piece and one five" sufficiently showed a robbery of "lawful money of the United States," as charged in the information, in the absence of specific objection at the trial and countervailing evidence, as the jury could properly presume that this was lawful money of the United States. State v. Brache, 63 Wash. 396, 115 P 853.

85. Jackson v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 273, 131 SW 1076.

[a] Rule applied.—"Appellant insists that the court was in error in not giving his special requested instruction which, in substance, is as follows: 'That the meaning and show that accused took greenbacks,[86] or silver,[87] or dollars.[88] Conversely, an indictment charging the taking of dollars may be supported by proof of the taking of lawful money of the United States.[89]

[§ 129] (c) Foreign Money. An indictment charging the taking of foreign money of specified denomination may be supported by proof of the taking of gold coin only, where the evidence shows such denomination may consist of either gold or silver coins.[90] Under an allegation charging a taking of paper money of a foreign country, it is not a variance to prove the taking of bank bills passing current as money.[91]

[§ 130] b. Number or Quantity. Where an indictment alleges the taking of several articles, it is sufficient to prove the taking of any one of them.[92] It must, however, be shown that accused took some one of the things alleged.[93]

[§ 131] c. Value. While it must appear that the thing taken had a value,[94] it is not necessary to prove the amount of the value.[95] Consequently a conviction may be sustained on proof of either a greater[96] or a less[97] value than that alleged in the indictment signification of the term "lawful money" as alleged in the indictment is legal tender coin, or legal tender treasury notes of the United States, and does not mean nor include United States treasury warrants, and does not include bank bills though they pass as current, nor gold certificates, and unless you find in this case from the evidence that the money taken from H. B. Steele, if you find that it was so taken, was lawful money as herein defined, you will acquit the defendant.' This charge does not present the law as it is held in this state. The court charged the jury that if they should believe from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that appellant took the money described in the indictment, or any part thereof, with intent to deprive Steele of the value of said money, or any part thereof, he would be guilty. The money described in the indictment, under our decisions, is lawful current money of the United States. The court, therefore, did not err in refusing the requested instruction." Jackson v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 273, 131 SW 1076.

---

86. Haskins v. State, 148 Ark. 351, 230 SW 5.

[a] Allegation of taking good and lawful money of the United States may be supported by proof that he took "greenbacks." Haskins v. State, 148 Ark. 351, 230 SW 5.

87. State v. Mitchell, 36 Ida. 724, 214 P 217.

[a] United States currency.—"The information charged robbery by the felonious taking 'from the person, possession and immediate presence of one Manual Coster, $10 in currency of the value of $10 in gold coin of the United States of America,' while the proof shows the taking of silver money of uncertain amount. This is no variance. Silver money is currency." State v. Mitchell, 36 Ida. 724, 214 P 217.

88. Jenkins v. State, 131 Ark. 312, 198 SW 877; Eshelman v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 177 SW 969; Sparks v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 154, 177 SW 968. But see Early v. State, 56 Tex. Cr. 61, 118 SW 1036 (where the court said: "The indictment charges appellant with taking one $10 bill and one $5 bill, current money of the United States of America, of the value of $15. The evidence shows only that he took 'a $10 bill and a $5 bill.' No witness undertakes to testify what character of money, or that it was in fact money, further than the expressions '$5 bill' and '$10 bill.' There is not a word of evidence that indicates it was United States currency of any sort, greenbacks, national bank bills, or treasury notes; but the evidence leaves it just as stated—'a $5 bill and a $10 bill.' Why it is thus left is not explained in the record. This allegation of the indictment must be proved. The evidence is too indefinite in this respect").

[a] Reason for rule.—A charge that one robbed another of six dollars "lawful money of the United States" is sustained by proof that the accused took "dollars" in money since only in the United States is the "dollar" used as a monetary denomination. Eshelman v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 177 SW 969; Sparks v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 154, 177 SW 968.

89. Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 125, 234 SW 406.

[a] Rule applied.—An indictment for robbery, describing the property stolen as "six hundred dollars," was sufficient to authorize proof that money of the United States was taken; the "dollar" being the monetary unit or standard of value of the United States (U. S. Comp. St. § 6448; Rev. St. § 3571 [U. S. Comp. St. § 6541]), while foreign money comes under the general description of "property" in Code Cr. Proc. art. 458. Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 125, 234 SW 406.

90. Carlile v. State, 97 Tex. Cr. 477, 262 SW 489.

[a] Mexican pesos.—Under an indictment charging robbery of "pesos in Mexican money," uncontradicted testimony of state's witness that he had been engaged in banking business in Mexico, and knew that "peso" meant either gold or silver coin, warranted a conviction on proof of robbery of gold coins only. Carlile v. State, 97 Tex. Cr. 477, 262 SW 489.

91. Allen v. U. S., 115 Fed. 3, 52 CCA 597.

[a] Canadian chartered bank bills.—Allen v. U. S., 115 Fed. 3, 52 CCA 597.

92. Ala.—Brown v. State, 120 Ala. 342, 25 S 182; Davis v. State, 3 Ala. A. 71, 57 S 493.

Ark.—Phillips v. State, 36 Ark. 282.

Fla.—Williams v. State, 42 Fla. 205, 27 S 898.

N. D.—State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 103 NW 419.

Tex.—White v. State, (Cr.) 57 SW 100.

Wash.—State v. Smith, 40 Wash. 615, 82 P 918.

93. Spanish v. State, 67 Fla. 414, 65 S 457.

[a] Mere proof of total value insufficient.—Under an information charging a robbery from the person of a ten dollar bill, a five dollar bill, a one dollar bill, and a silver dollar, all of the value of seventeen dollars, proof that seventeen dollars were taken is insufficient, without proof of the taking of at least one of the alleged items making up the total. Spanish v. State, 67 Fla. 414, 65 S 457.

Description of money generally see supra §§ 127–129.

94. See supra § 16.

95. Hyde v. State, 168 Ark. 580, 271 SW 330; State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[a] Even when amount was alleged in the information, this rule was recognized. State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141, 143.

96. Hyde v. State, 168 Ark. 580, 271 SW 330; Bracher v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 198, 161 SW 124.

[a] Ten dollars alleged and fourteen dollars proved.—Where an indictment alleged that C was robbed of ten dollars, proof that he was robbed of fourteen dollars was not a variance. Bracher v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 198, 161 SW 124.

97. Ala.—Davis v. State, 3 Ala. A. 71, 57 S 493.

Ark.—Hyde v. State, 168 Ark. 580, 271 SW 330.

Fla.—Wood v. State, 98 Fla. 703, 124 S 44.

Mo.—State v. Deviney, 278 SW 726.

Tex.—Jones v. State, 64 Tex. Cr. 510, 143 SW 621; Robinson v. State, 62 Tex. Cr. 645, 138 SW 704; Fannin v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 41, 100 SW 916, 123 AmSR 874, 10 LRANS 744.

[a] Any amount sufficient.—(1) "The indictment alleged that it was something over $11 taken; whereas, Denke testified it was $10 and some cents taken. This is not a variance. Under the allegation there was $11 and some cents, it will be sufficient to show that any amount of money was taken. It is not necessary to show that the exact amount stated in the indictment was taken. It is sufficient if any amount was taken." Robinson v. State, 62 Tex. Cr. 645, 138 SW 704, 705. (2) "The complaint that the indictment, having alleged that $74 was taken in the form of $10 bills, $5 bills, and $2 bills, that the proof must show that $10 bills were taken and $5 bills were taken, and $2 bills were taken, is incorrect. It is not necessary to prove that all the property alleged was taken. Proof of any part is sufficient." Jones v. State, 64 Tex. Cr. 510, 143 SW 621, 622.

[b] $11 alleged and proof of over $10 and under $11.—Robinson v. State, 62 Tex. Cr. 645, 138 SW 704.

[c] $150 alleged and $89.25 proved.—Hyde v. State, 168 Ark. 580, 271 SW 330.

[d] $1,100 alleged and $193 proved.—State v. Deviney, (Mo.) 278 SW 726.

[e] Returning the change.—Where accused was charged with robbery under an indictment alleging that he took a ten-dollar bill from prosecutor, proof that defendant claiming eight dollars from prosecutor for wages compelled him to deliver up a ten-dollar bill, and thereafter returned two or information, such difference between allegation and proof not constituting a material variance.

Evidence of value may be admissible even though no value is alleged.[98]

[§ 132] d. Ownership, Custody, or Possession—(1) In General. Where both ownership and possession are laid in one person, proof of a taking from the presence of other persons is a fatal variance.[99] But variance as to actual ownership is immaterial where the allegations and proof correspond as to the identity of the person from whose custody and control the property was taken.[1] Where ownership is properly alleged in one person, and proved, failure to sustain a further allegation of ownership in another person is not material.[2]

Particular statutory provisions.[3] Under statutes providing that if a crime involves commission of an offense to the person or property, and be described in other respects with sufficient certainty to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured or owner of the property taken is not material,[4] a variance between the name of the person alleged to have been robbed and the one proved to have been robbed is nevertheless fatal where the identity of the victim is essential to identification of the act of robbery committed.[5]

Evidence admissible. Under an indictment or information charging accused with "robbing" a specified person, evidence is admissible to show that such person was custodian of the property taken which was owned by others.[6]

[§ 133] (2) Where Ownership Laid in Victim. Where ownership is laid in the person from whose person or presence the property was taken,[7] it is not a fatal variance to prove that actual ownership, or legal title, was in a third person,[8] such as a relative,[9] or employer.[10] A fortiori there is no fatal variance where the proof shows that the victim actually owned a portion of the property taken,[11] or had a part interest in the whole,[12] or title per tout and not per my.[13]

Conflicting evidence as to ownership. Where the information alleges ownership in the person from whom property was taken, and the proof is conflicting as to whether such person or a third party owned the property, such evidence does not constidollars change, did not constitute a variance. Fannin v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 41, 100 SW 916, 123 AmSR 874, 10 LRANS 744.

---

[98] Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 15, 234 SW 401.

[a] Reason for rule.—In a prosecution for robbery, where property alleged to have been taken was a diamond ring, the court did not err in allowing the state to prove the value of the diamond, over the objection that such proof was incompetent, inasmuch as no value was alleged in the indictment. This is true because an allegation of value is unnecessary and proof of value would affect neither the question of guilt nor that of penalty. Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 15, 234 SW 401.

[99] Crews v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 350.

[1] Peo. v. Kozel, 303 Ill. 112, 135 NE 208.

[a] Illustration.—Where an indictment for robbing a bank referred to it as "the Bank of C.," the fact that it was referred to in evidence as "C. State Bank" was immaterial, where it further appeared that the indictment and proof corresponded with respect to the person from whose immediate custody and control the money was taken. Peo. v. Kozel, 303 Ill. 112, 135 NE 208.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to prove ownership as against claim of variance.—Peo. v. Rogers, 303 Ill. 578, 136 NE 470; Peo. v. Sobzcak, 286 Ill. 157, 121 NE 592.

[2] Peo. v. Rogers, 303 Ill. 578, 136 NE 470.

[3] See also infra § 133.

[4] See statutory provisions.

[5] Lissenbee v. Com., 198 Ky. 639, 249 SW 782.

[a] Property taken not particularly described except with reference to owner.—The misnomer of the owner of the property taken in an indictment for robbery is material, where there was no particular description of the property taken, and no statement of any act or acts by which the particular transaction could be identified, except the name of the victim, so that the indictment would not be a bar to a subsequent prosecution for robbery of the victim, naming him correctly, and did not give defendant notice of the offense for which he was to be tried, and therefore variance between allegation and proof is not immaterial, under Cr. Code Pract. § 128. Lissenbee v. Com., (Ky.) 249 SW 782.

[6] State v. Reich, (Mo.) 239 SW 835.

[a] Illustration.—Evidence that the person named in the information as robbed was in actual possession of the money only as cashier of the company owning it was admissible as against contention that Const. art 2 § 22, giving defendant the right to demand the nature and cause of the accusation, was thereby violated. State v. Reich, (Mo.) 239 SW 835.

[7] Propriety of such allegation see supra § 97.

[8] Ala.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

Ark.—Jenkins v. State, 131 Ark. 312, 198 SW 877.

Cal.—Peo. v. Smith, 78 Cal. A. 68, 248 P 261.

Mo.—State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRA 343, 2 AnnCas 261.

N. Y.—Brooks v. Peo., 49 N. Y. 436, 10 AmR 398, 1 Cow. Cr. 503.

Tex.—Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408.

[9] Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991; Brooks v. Peo., 49 N. Y. 436, 10 AmR 398, 1 Cow. Cr. 503.

[a] Father.—"Robbery is an offense against the person as well as against the property of the person robbed. The person robbed in this case being rightfully in possession of the money when it was taken (having been sent by his father to collect and bring the money to him), and he being the person from whom it was taken, the indictment properly charged the property to be that of the minor. Nor does it constitute a material variance, such as to prevent a conviction, if the proof shows or tends to show that the legal title to the property was in the father of the minor robbed." Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 16, 53 S 991.

[10] Jenkins v. State, 131 Ark. 312, 198 SW 877; Peo. v. Smith, 78 Cal. A. 68, 248 P 261; State v. Montgomery, 181 Mo. 19, 79 SW 693, 67 LRANS 343, 2 AnnCas 261.

[a] Rule applied.—"The indictment charged appellant with having robbed one Wilbur A. Johnson of the sum of $17,996, 'the personal property of said Wilbur A. Johnson.' The evidence proved that the money belonged to the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, a corporation, by whom Johnson was employed, but was in Johnson's possession at the time of the robbery, and that he was robbed of the same while on his way to deposit the money in the bank. The variance complained of was immaterial." Peo. v. Smith, 78 Cal. A. 68, 248 P 261.

[11] State v. Craft, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 183.

[12] State v. Fair, 35 Wash. 127, 76 P 731, 102 AmSR 897.

[a] Partnership.—Under statutes providing that in the prosecution of any offense committed in stealing, etc., it shall not be deemed a variance if it appear that either general or special property in the whole or part of personalty stolen was in the person alleged to be owner, where an indictment alleges ownership in the person from whose presence the property was taken, and the proof shows that the property belonged to a copartnership of which he was a member, there is no fatal variance. State v. Fair, 35 Wash. 127, 76 P 731, 102 AmSR 897.

[13] State v. Craft, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 183.

[a] Husband and wife.—Although only a part of the money of which the person was robbed belonged to him, while the other portion belonged to his wife, where defendants in a robbery prosecution robbed him of that portion as the evidence tended to show, there was no material variance between the information and proof showing the portion was the wife's, since the gravamen of the offense of robbery is the taking of property of another, and since, if husband and wife owned money jointly and by entirety, then each owned a whole interest in the money, holding per tout et non per my. State v. Craft, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 183.

tute a variance authorizing the court to take the case from the jury, the issue of ownership being for the latter to decide.[14]

Particular statutory provisions.[15] Under a statute providing that when an offense involves commission of a private injury, and is described with sufficient certainty to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured is not material,[16] where an information alleges ownership in the person from whom property was taken, accused may be convicted even if the proof shows actual ownership to have been in a third person.[17]

[§ 134] (3) Where Ownership Laid in Third Person. Where the indictment alleges that property taken from one person belonged to a third person, it has been held that ownership must be proved as laid.[18] Other authority is to the effect that where ownership is laid in a third person, and custody or possession is laid in the victim,[19] the allegations as to the third person's ownership are surplusage which need not be proved.[20]

Existence of corporate owner. Under this latter view[21] it is unnecessary to sustain by proof allegations as to the legal existence of a corporation alleged to be actual owner of the property.[22] A fortiori proof of the legal existence of a corporation alleged to be owner is unnecessary where the proof shows the victim to be the actual owner of part of the property taken.[23]

[§ 135] (4) Where Care, Custody, Control, or Possession Laid in Victim. Under the general rule[24] material allegations of the victim's possession of the property taken must be proved as laid.[25] Proof supporting allegations that property was in the care, custody, control, or possession of the person from whom taken is sufficient, without proof that he owned such property.[26] Under an allegation of possession in one of the persons from whom property was taken, proof that the property was in their joint possession is not a variance.[27]

[§ 136] 7. From Person, Presence, or Possession.[28] An indictment or information charging a taking from the "person" may be supported by proof of a taking from the "presence,"[29] as such proof does not constitute a fatal variance.[30]

---

[14] Peo. v. Anderson, 80 Cal. 205, 22 P 139.

[15] See also supra § 132.

[16] See statutory provisions.

[17] Peo. v. Anderson, 80 Cal. 205, 22 P 139.

[18] Staples v. State, 114 Ga. 256, 40 SE 264.

"Though an indictment for robbery need not charge that the property alleged to have been forcibly taken from the person of the victim in fact belonged to a third person, if it does so charge it is essential that the state prove the case as laid." Staples v. State, 114 Ga. 256, 40 SE 264.

[19] See supra § 98.

[20] Peo. v. Rogers, 303 Ill. 578, 136 NE 470.

"There was no failure to prove ownership as alleged. The proof in the record shows that the Western Newspaper Union is a corporation by user. . . . Even if the proof had not established the existence of the corporation, the allegation that the Western Newspaper Union is a corporation and was the owner of the property might be regarded as mere surplusage. The indictment alleges, also, that the money was in the possession of Plomgren as the agent of the company and that it was taken from him by force and violence. This amounts, in robbery, to a sufficient charge that the property was the property of Plomgren, possession of property being a sufficient ownership under this offense as against the robber." Peo. v. Rogers, 303 Ill. 578, 136 NE 470, 472.

[21] See supra text and notes 19, 20.

[22] Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673, 675; Peo. v. Rogers, 303 Ill. 578, 136 NE 470; Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923, 927.

"A majority of the courts of this country hold, in a case where an indictment charges the property to have been in the possession and care of the person robbed, that the allegation of such possession, supported by proof, is sufficient to sustain a conviction for robbery though the one assailed does not own the property." Peo. v. Knox, supra.

[23] Peo. v. Bernstein, 304 Ill. 351, 136 NE 683; Peo. v. Hansen, 263 Ill. 44, 104 NE 1069.

[a] Illustration.—Where an indictment charged defendant with having robbed a railroad ticket agent of property belonging to the company, and also of the agent's own property, and the evidence was sufficient to sustain a conviction for robbery of the agent's property, a verdict of guilty will not be reversed because of the failure to prove that the railroad company was a corporation. Peo. v. Hansen, 263 Ill. 44, 104 NE 1069.

[24] See Indictments and Informations § 471.

[25] Wilson v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 134, 11 SW (2d) 803 (where the indictment alleged taking from the possession of O'Keefe, Parrish, and Copeland property owned and possessed by all three, and the court said: "The claim is further made that the proof shows possession and special ownership of the property taken in O'Keefe and Parrish only, while the indictment alleges such possession and ownership in three, viz. O'Keefe, Parrish, and Copeland, which constituted a fatal variance, and demanded a peremptory charge to acquit. The allegation of possession and ownership was a material one, and proof was necessary to sustain it as laid").

[26] Peo. v. Ziderowski, 325 Ill. 232, 156 NE 274; Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673; Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923.

[a] Bookkeeper in charge of office robbed.—"One of the variances charged between the allegations of the indictment and the proof is that the prosecution should have proved that the money taken belonged to the three individuals composing the partnership of A. H. Ross & Sons. The indictment alleges that the money taken was in the care, custody, and control of Margruite Lonson. The evidence shows that she was the bookkeeper in charge of the safe and its contents, and that she was the only person present in the office when the robbery was committed. . . . An allegation in an indictment which charges that the property taken was in the care and possession of the person robbed, supported by proof, is sufficient to sustain a conviction for robbery, even though the person assailed does not own the property." Peo. v. Ziderowski, 325 Ill. 232, 156 NE 274, 279.

[27] Carreon v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 572, 236 SW 985.

[a] Illustration.—"Both Darbyshire and Nold were assaulted and covered with pistols by two men. Darbyshire testified that as manager he had the care and control of the money as they were taking it from the bank to their place of business. The most that can be said is that it may have been in their joint possession. The facts do not show such exclusive care, control, and management in Nold as would render fatal an allegation of possession in Darbyshire. The fact that Nold, and not Darbyshire, picked up the sack to carry it across the sidewalk into their place of business would not, we think, make it inappropriate to still charge possession in Darbyshire. They were both present and acting together in conveying the money." Carreon v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 572, 236 SW 985, 986.

[28] As element of offense see supra §§ 20-23.

[29] State v. Eddy, (Mo.) 199 SW 186; State v. Lamb, 242 Mo. 398, 146 SW 1169.

[30] Peo. v. Funk, 325 Ill. 57, 155 NE 838; State v. Smith, 113 Kan. 737, 216 P 302, 303; State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391; State v. Lamb, 141 Mo. 298, 42 SW 827.

"While the evidence did not prove all the allegations in the information, namely, the taking of property directly from her person, it did sufficiently establish the charge that the offense was committed in her presence, and under the statute it is robbery if the property is taken either from the person or in the presence of the party by fear of immediate injury to the person. There was no variance between the information and the evidence." State v. Smith, supra.

[a] From cash register.—Where an information charged a taking from

Possession. Under statutes defining "robbery" so as to include a taking from the "possession" as well as from the "person" of another,[31] an indictment alleging a taking from the person and possession of the victim may be supported by proof of taking from his possession only.[32]

[§ 137] 8. Force or Intimidation[33]—a. In General. An indictment charging robbery by both force and intimidation may be sustained by proof of either,[34] and proof of one without the other is no variance.[35]

[§ 138] b. Intimidation.[36] Where the indictment alleges a taking by intimidation, and is silent as to actual force, intimidation must be proved.[37] Such an indictment may be supported by proof of both force and intimidation,[38] but if the force alone should be proved under such an indictment, there is a fatal variance.[39]

Persons intimidated. Under an indictment charging intimidation of several persons, it is necessary to prove intimidation only of the particular person from whose possession the property was taken.[40]

Evidence admissible. Under an indictment charging a taking by threats of future injury, evidence of threats of immediate injury is admissible.[41]

[§ 139] c. Assault. Proof of the use of a dangerous or deadly weapon is sufficient to support an allegation of an assault in a robbery prosecution.[42] An indictment charging a joint assault on two or more persons cannot be supported by proof of an assault on only one or the other of two,[43] but may be established by proof of the use of a weapon to threaten all of several.[44]

[§ 140] 9. Classification of Offense[45]—a. Actual Force or Intimidation. Under statutes classifying robbery according to whether the taking was by actual force or by intimidation,[46] accused cannot be convicted of robbery by intimidation on evidence showing robbery by force.[47] Under statutes making robbery by threats to do some illegal act injurious to the character, person, or property of another one classification of the offense, and robbery by assault, or violence, or putting in fear of life or bodily injury a different and more serious classification of the crime,[48] on an indictment for the lower classification of robbery it is not a variance to prove both threats and assault by violence.[49] Under an indictment silent as to whether accused was armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon, evidence showing the use of such a weapon may be admissible,[50] and does the "person" of the victim, proof that the money was taken from a cash register in the presence of, and under the control of, the victim was not a fatal variance. State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391.

---

[31] See supra § 20.

[32] Briggs v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 544, 2 SW (2d) 238.

[33] As affecting classification of offense see infra § 68.

[34] Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

[a] Use of conjunctive.—"Where an indictment charges the alternative ingredients of the offense of robbery conjunctively, the charge will be sustained if either alternative ingredient is proven." Montsdoca v. State, 84 Fla. 82, 93 S 157, 27 ALR 1291.

[35] Graves v. Com., 186 Ky. 479, 217 SW 356.

[a] Force alone proved.—Since robbery may be accomplished if the owner is deprived of his property either by force or by putting in fear, evidence showing that defendant robbed the owner of his watch by force without putting him in fear was not a fatal variance from the indictment charging robbery by force, violence, and putting in fear. Graves v. Com., 186 Ky. 479, 217 SW 356.

[36] As element of offense see supra § 24 et seq.

[37] Glass v. Com., 6 Bush (Ky.) 436, 437:

"The offense alleged in the indictment was that the defendant feloniously took certain treasury notes, the property of George Messmore, 'in his presence and against his will, by putting him in fear of some immediate injury to his person.' To authorize a conviction of the offense so charged and traversed by the plea of not guilty, it was incumbent on the commonwealth to prove the fact that the treasury notes were taken in Messmore's presence by putting him in fear." Glass v. Com., supra.

[38] State v. Sanders, 14 N. D. 203, 103 NW 419.

[39] State v. Crowell, 149 Mo. 391, 50 SW 893, 73 AmSR 402.

[40] State v. Emmons, 285 Mo. 54, 225 SW 894.

[a] Allegations as to fear of others mere surplusage.—In a prosecution for bank robbery, under Rev. St. (1909) § 4530, where the evidence showed that the bank's agent and cashier was in charge of its property, it was necessary to show only that he was put in fear; so that, although the information charged that not only the cashier, but also the president and a stockholder of the bank, who were present, were put in fear, an instruction requiring a finding only that the cashier in charge was put in fear was proper, the allegation as to the president and stockholder being surplusage. State v. Emmons, 285 Mo. 54, 225 SW 894.

[41] State v. Howerton, 58 Mo. 581.

"On the trial, the prosecution was permitted to introduce evidence showing threats of immediate injury to Gennan, and that is assigned for error, because the indictment alleged that the property was obtained by threats of injury to be inflicted at a different [i. e. future] time. But there is no force in this objection. The evidence was admissible to prove that the threats of violence operated on the fears of Gennan, and it had a very important bearing, and constituted an essential element in the offense." State v. Howerton, supra.

[42] State v. Eddy, (Mo.) 199 SW 186.

[a] Presenting pistol and threatening to blow head off.—"It is strenuously urged that there is a variance between the charge and the proof, in that the information herein charges a robbery by an assault and a taking of the property from the person of the prosecuting witness by putting him in fear of an immediate injury to his person; but that the evidence fails to establish an assault, and fails to show that the property was taken from the person of the prosecuting witness. There is nothing of merit in these contentions. The evidence shows that Kennedy, the accomplice of the defendant, presented a pistol at the prosecuting witness, while within a few feet of the latter, and threatened to blow the head off of the prosecuting witness, and that Kennedy afterwards compelled the prosecuting witness to go behind the prescription case and lie down. It requires no citation of authorities to demonstrate that this was an assault." State v. Eddy, (Mo.) 199 SW 186, 187.

[43] Pate v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 471, 239 SW 967.

[44] Wilson v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 134, 11 SW (2d) 803.

"Nor is there any merit in appellant's claim that the proof fails to sustain a joint assault upon the three persons named as alleged in the indictment. It shows, in substance, that a pistol was waved and exhibited in the presence of all three, and that all three were compelled to lay down while the money was taken." Wilson v. State, supra.

[45] Conviction of included offense see Indictments and Informations § 497.

[46] See supra § 68.

[47] Story v. State, 12 Ga. A. 644, 77 SE 914.

[48] See supra § 68.

[49] Williams v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 523, 31 SW 405.

[a] Both threats and gun play.—Where defendant was indicted for robbery by threatening to do an illegal act to the person of the victim, and the proof showed that in addition to threatening injury to the victim defendant also assaulted him by pointing a gun at him, the proof of the assault in addition to the threats did not constitute a variance. Williams v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 523, 31 SW 405.

[50] Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 277 SW 135.

[a] To prove assault and violence.—"The objection that there was no not show a fatal variance.[51]

[§ 141] b. Dangerous or Deadly Weapon.[52] Under an indictment charging that all defendants were armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon,[53] proof that one was not so armed does not constitute a fatal variance.[54]

[§ 142] c. Wounding or Striking. Under statutes making it a more serious classification of the crime where, in the course of a robbery, defendant armed with a dangerous weapon wounds or strikes his victim,[55] an indictment charging both a wounding and a striking may be supported by proof of either.[56] But if the evidence shows neither a wounding nor a striking, but merely that defendant was armed with a dangerous weapon, it is insufficient to support such indictment.[57]

[§ 143] d. Highway Robbery.[58] An indictment for robbery on or near the highway cannot be supported by proof that the offense was committed in a building alongside the highway.[59] Where the indictment alleges only that the robbery was committed "in" the highway, proof that the offense was committed "near" the highway is a variance.[60]

[§ 144] C. Evidence—1. Burden of Proof and Presumptions—a. In General. In accordance with general rules,[61] in a prosecution for robbery the state has the burden of proving the elements of the offense,[62] and defendant's guilty participation therein.[63]

[§ 145] b. Elements of Offense. The prosecution has the burden of proving the animus furandi, or intent to steal.[64] Criminal intent may be inferred from a taking with intent to appropriate to the taker's own use.[65] The burden rests on the state to prove the use of force or intimidation.[66] A presumption of fear will arise from evidence showing reasonable grounds therefor,[67] as in the case of a violent taking of property against the owner's will.[68] Possession of the property by the complaining witness, or his agent, at the time it was stolen, is presumptive evidence of ownership.[69] Where the property is owned by another than the one from whose person or presence it was taken, the state need not prove such owner's nonconsent to the taking,[70] the burden resting on defendant to establish consent as an affirmative defense.[71]

[§ 146] c. Defendant's Possession of Stolen Property. Defendant's possession of the property stolen is not of itself sufficient to raise a presumption of guilt,[72] nor to cast upon him the burden of proving his innocence.[73] When considered in connection with other facts, such possession may[74] or allegation in the indictment that the robbery was by the use of a gun or other deadly weapon is equally untenable. The indictment charged the robbery as being by an assault and by violence and whether the placing of the gun to the prosecuting witness' back put him in fear of death or serious bodily injury or not, it certainly constituted an assault and violence." Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 10, 277 SW 135.

---

[51] Wyatt v. State, 58 Tex. Cr. 115, 124 SW 929, 930, 137 AmSR 926.

"While the pistol was used in making the assault, it was used as a bludgeon only, and not for the purpose of shooting. Concede that under this state of facts the state would have been justified in charging robbery by means of deadly weapons, still we are of opinion that under the circumstances appellant cannot be heard to complain that the state did not so charge, but only prosecuted him for robbery by means of an assault and violence." Wyatt v. State, supra.

[52] See supra § 65.

[53] See supra § 117.

[54] Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270.

[a] Rule applied.—In a prosecution for robbery, where four accused persons visited the scene of the crime with a common purpose, and three of them were armed with revolvers and used them in committing the crime, the unarmed defendant was at least an accessary before the fact, and could be rightly indicted and convicted as a principal, and a conviction on an indictment charging that each of the four was armed with a revolver will be upheld. Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270.

[55] See supra § 66.

[56] McDuffee v. State, 55 Fla. 125, 46 S 721.

[57] Com. v. Gallagher, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 565.

[a] Mere scratch on face is not a "wound" within the meaning of the statute. Com. v. Gallagher, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 565.

[b] Putting arms around victim's neck and throwing him to ground is force, but not the particular kind of violence essential to "striking," which latter implies force applied with an impetus, that is, a blow. Com. v. Gallagher, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 565.

[58] Defined see supra § 5.

[59] State v. Stewart, 17 Del. 433, 42 A 624.

[60] State v. Cowan, 29 N. C. 239.

[61] See Criminal Law §§ 993–1004.

[62] See cases infra § 145.

[63] Peo. v. Bertlini, 171 App. Div. 460, 157 NYS 599, 34 N. Y. Cr. 260 [rev on other grounds 218 N. Y. 584, 113 NE 541]; Peo. v. Cassidy, 160 App. Div. 651, 146 NYS 15.

[a] "Upon the issue of identification, the burden of proof rests upon the people, and the defendant was entitled to the benefit of any reasonable doubt." Peo. v. Bertlini, 171 App. Div. 460, 157 NYS 599, 604, 34 N. Y. Cr. 260 [rev on other grounds 218 N. Y. 584, 113 NE 541].

[b] Participation as principal.—Stringfellow v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 504, 14 SW (2d) 1031.

Possession of stolen property see infra § 146.

[64] Com. v. Crecorian, 264 Mass. 94, 162 NE 7.

[65] Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

[66] Com. v. Crecorian, 264 Mass. 94, 162 NE 7.

[67] Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

[68] Wissinger v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 631; Ross v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 143, 237 P 469.

[69] Peo. v. Oldham, 111 Cal. 648, 44 P 312.

[70] Williams v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 147, 38 SW 999.

[71] Williams v. State, supra.

[a] Illustration.—It being necessary under the statute of robbery only to charge a forcible and fraudulent taking from the person and possession of another, the state need not prove, where a third person other than the one robbed was the true owner, that defendant did not have the true owner's consent, but proof of the contrary is for defendant. Williams v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 147, 38 SW 999.

[72] State v. Martin, (Mo.) 262 SW 1047.

Sufficiency to support conviction see infra § 180.

[73] State v. Harris, 194 Iowa 1304, 191 NW 83, 84.

"It is not correct to say that any burden of proof is cast upon the defendant. Such an instruction implies a legal presumption of guilt, obligatory upon the jury, if the defendant fail to meet the burden thus cast upon him. Nor was it proper to fix honesty of acquisition of the possession of the property as a standard of explanation sufficient to rebut the prima facie case. If the defendant's explanation should show that he acquired his possession in a manner independent of the facts charged in the indictment and consistent with his innocence thereof, it would be a sufficient explanation for the purpose of his defense, even though it were tainted with other dishonesty." State v. Harris, supra.

[74] State v. Wasson, 126 Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125; U. S. v. Divino, 18 Philippine 425.

[a] Recent character of possession.—A presumption of guilt may arise from the recent possession of stolen property. State v. Wasson, 126 may not[75] warrant an inference of guilt.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

[§ 147] d. Robbery with Dangerous Weapon. In a prosecution for robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon,[76] there is no presumption that a pistol or revolver used in conection with the robbery was loaded,[77] although the jury may be authorized to draw the inference that it was loaded.[78]

[§ 148] 2. Admissibility[79]—a. In General. While the evidence admissible in a prosecution for robbery must conform to the general rules[80] as to relevancy, competency, and materiality,[81] subject to such rules the entire transaction may be shown,[82] and evidence may be admitted which tends to corroborate that already introduced for the prosecution[83] or defense.[84] In corroboration of the victim's testimony it is proper to introduce evidence of other persons to the effect that the victim was seen near the place of the alleged robbery at about the time of its alleged commission,[85] as to his actual possession of property similar to that he claims was taken,[86] or as to the victim's nervous condition following the alleged commission of the offense;[87] and where the victim claims to have been assaulted or

---

Iowa 320, 101 NW 1125.

[b] Absence of evidence of ownership.—"While the persons who committed the robbery were not recognized and their identity is entirely unknown, nevertheless, the accused, having been found in possession of the stolen carabao shortly after the commission of the crime, without the documents necessary under the law to justify ownership and possession, and he not having made the slightest explanation as to that possession, his conviction under the evidence presented in this case is justified by law." U. S. v. Divino, 18 Philippine 425, 427.

75. Peo. v. Albero, 223 App. Div. 442, 228 NYS 441 [app dism 248 N. Y. 599, 162 NE 540].

[a] Absence of identification by eyewitnesses.—"The defendants have not been convicted of criminally receiving stolen property, knowing it to have been stolen. They stand convicted of a robbery which is claimed to have taken place in the presence of five witnesses, no one of whom has identified either defendant as a participant therein, and this, notwithstanding that the crime took place in a well-lighted room and under circumstances which gave to the witnesses opportunity to observe closely the faces, build, and manner of dress of the criminals. Common experience teaches that witnesses to crimes of this character do not so easily forget the faces of those who rob them at the point of a gun. In these circumstances, we think that any inference of guilt of the robbery which arose from possession of some of its proceeds was repelled and overcome, and that the verdict convicting the appellants was against the weight of the evidence." Peo. v. Albero, 223 App. Div. 442, 228 NYS 441, 442.

76. See supra §§ 56, 57, 61, 65.

77. State v. Ragan, 123 Or. 521, 262 P 954.

78. State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

79. Prosecutions for assault or attempts see infra § 235.

80. See Criminal Law §§ 1034–1558.

81. Ala.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991; Brewer v. State, 16 Ala. A. 501, 79 S 199.

Cal.—Peo. v. Clark, 106 Cal. 32, 39 P 53.

Ga.—Lampkin v. State, 87 Ga. 516, 13 SE 523.

Ill.—Peo. v. McGuirk, 312 Ill. 257, 143 NE 855.

Iowa.—State v. Beck, 73 Iowa 616, 35 NW 684.

Ky.—Webb v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 792.

Md.—Duffy v. State, 151 Md. 456, 135 A 189.

Mich.—Peo. v. Becker, 48 Mich. 43, 11 NW 779.

Mo.—State v. Rebasti, 306 Mo. 336, 267 SW 858.

Mont.—State v. Howard, 30 Mont. 518, 77 P 50.

Nebr.—Heyen v. State, 114 Nebr. 783, 210 NW 165.

Okl.—Robinson v. State, 8 Okl. Cr. 667, 130 P 121.

Or.—State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

Tex.—Colter v. State, 37 Tex. Cr. 284, 39 SW 576; Thompson v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 511, 34 SW 629.

Vt.—State v. Totten, 72 Vt. 73, 47 A 105.

Va.—Thompson v. Com., 88 Va. 45, 13 SE 304.

82. Iowa.—State v. Miller, 83 Iowa 291, 49 NW 90.

Ky.—Pickerel v. Com., 30 SW 617, 17 KyL 120.

Mont.—State v. Howard, 30 Mont. 518, 77 P 50.

Nebr.—Peterson v. State, 115 Nebr. 302, 304, 212 NW 610 [cit Cyc].

N. Y.—Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460.

Tex.—Knight v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 13, 277 SW 138; Montgomery v. State, 101 Tex. Cr. 474, 276 SW 250; Perry v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 644, 155 SW 263; Harris v. State, 55 Tex. Cr. 469, 117 SW 839; Underwood v. State, 39 Tex. Cr. 409, 46 SW 245; Williams v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 523, 31 SW 405.

Wash.—State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

[a] Illustration.—"Appellant complains that the court permitted the prosecuting witness to say that someone held something that left like a gun against his back at the time he was being robbed, and also at the court's action in permitting the prosecuting witness to state that he was a little scared at that time. It being proper to show all the conditions and circumstances occurring at the time the offense is alleged to have been committed, which was germane thereto, this testimony was properly admitted under this rule." Montgomery v. State, 101 Tex. Cr. 474, 476, 276 SW 250.

[b] Description of scene of crime.—It was not error to allow the boy alleged to have been robbed to testify that he could not see a companion from the place of the robbery, as the evidence was admissible in describing the scene of the crime, and tending to show that the boy was alone, and not accompanied by his companion, who had left a certain town with him. Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

[c] Conversation as to robbery.—Testimony for the state that on the night of the alleged robbery defendant asked the witness to come and go with them, given in detailing a conversation with defendant in regard to the robbery, was admissible. Perry v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 644, 155 SW 263.

83. Ala.—Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991; Boyd v. State, 153 Ala. 41, 45 S 591; Ware v. State, 12 Ala. A. 101, 67 S 763.

Mass.—Com. v. Watson, 109 Mass. 354.

Mo.—State v. Balch, 136 Mo. 103, 37 SW 808.

Nebr.—Tracey v. State, 46 Nebr. 361, 64 NW 1069.

Tex.—Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 277 SW 135; Delaney v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 594, 90 SW 642.

84. Hunter v. State, 113 Tex. Cr. 90, 18 SW (2d) 1084.

[a] Illustration.—Where defendant, prosecuted for robbery by assault, set up the defense that the prosecuting witness had given a woman five dollars for an act of intercourse, that the fight ensued due to the fact that the prosecuting witness attempted to recover a portion thereof, and that defendant attempted to aid the woman, it was held that refusal to permit defendant to show that the part of the town where the offense was committed was occupied by negro prostitutes, defendant and woman both being negroes, was error, since such evidence would have a tendency to lend color to the defense. Hunter v. State, 113 Tex. Cr. 90, 18 SW (2d) 1084.

85. Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

86. Boyd v. State, 153 Ala. 41, 45 S 591; Bradley v. State, 103 Ala. 29, 15 S 640; Peo. v. Linares, 142 Cal. 17, 75 P 308.

[a] Possession of money.—It was permissible for the state to prove by others than the person robbed that he had money on his person shortly before the robbery, and to do so it was competent to show that he was spending money in a near-by saloon, whence he went in a short time to the place where he was robbed, and that he drew out his pocketbook at the saloon, and was seen with money out in front of the saloon. Boyd v. State, 153 Ala. 41, 45 S 591.

[b] Money of particular description.—Bradley v. State, 103 Ala. 29, 15 S 640.

[c] Possession before and not after robbery.—Peo. v. Linares, 142 Cal. 17, 75 P 308.

Admission to prove ownership see infra § 149.

87. Walker v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 141, 287 SW 497.

injured in the course of the robbery, other evidence may be introduced in support of his testimony to such effect.[88] So, under general rules[89] evidence as to other particular matters has been held admissible[90] or inadmissible.[91]

Complaint of robbery. Evidence that the victim complained of the robbery immediately after it occurred is admissible as part of the res gestæ.[92] Conversely, evidence explaining the victim's failure to complain is likewise admissible.[93]

---

[88] Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171; Tracey v. State, 46 Nebr. 361, 64 NW 1069.

[a] Fact of blood stains on victim's handkerchief and eye shade from a wound in his head, was competent to corroborate the victim's testimony as to the fact and circumstances of the robbery and the conditions under which it was perpetrated. Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171.

[b] Torn bills.—Where there was evidence that, in the scuffle between defendant and the prosecutor, two bills in the prosecutor's hand were torn in two, the torn pieces remaining with the prosecutor were admissible in corroboration of his testimony as to the assault. Tracey v. State, 46 Nebr. 361, 64 NW 1069.

Admission to prove element of force see infra § 150.

[89] See Criminal Law §§ 1034–1558.

[90] See cases infra this note.

[a] Age of victim.—Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171.

[b] Disposition of stolen property.—(1) Where the prosecuting witness claimed that, when in accused's restaurant, accused and another removed from his person a roll of bills, a question as to what was done with the bills after they were taken from the prosecuting witness is not improper, on the ground that it was not shown that accused was present at that time, the testimony called for being material, and it being obvious that accused was near. Peo. v. Osaki, 25 Cal. A. 329, 143 P 789. (2) Disposition by defendant as tending to connect him with commission of the crime see infra § 162.

[c] Finding stolen property in possession of third person.—A police officer may testify that a third person, who had the stolen watch in his possession, called it to the officer's attention, that the officer went to the police station, examined the records, and then took possession of it, although this did not take place in accused's presence. McMillan v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 288, 146 SW 1190.

[d] Internal revenue license.—Where the prosecutor was assaulted and robbed under an alleged conspiracy, while endeavoring to secure evidence of an illegal sale of liquor, the state may show that defendant, the proprietor of the place where the robbery occurred, had a United States internal revenue license, and explained that he got it to avoid prosecution by the federal authorities. Phillips v. State, 73 Tex. Cr. 317, 164 SW 1004.

[e] Use of alias.—On cross-examination of accused, evidence as to his use of other names is relevant and material, it being proper to list a witness's accuracy or veracity and to go into his history to do so. State v. Murray, 316 Mo. 31, 292 SW 434, 438.

[f] Evidence that defendant directed sheriff to place where bag taken was hidden.—Silver v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 512, 8 SW (2d) 144, 9 SW (2d) 358, 60 ALR 290.

[91] See cases infra this note.

[a] Ability of witness to purchase liquor at speakeasy.—Exclusion of evidence whether the state's witness could obtain whisky at a speakeasy where the robbery occurred was not error as it was wholly irrelevant and immaterial whether or not the proprietor of the speakeasy had sufficient confidence in the discretion of the witness to sell him intoxicating liquor. Duffy v. State, 151 Md. 456, 135 A 189.

[b] Accessary's explanation of failure to tell police of robber's presence.—In a prosecution of an accessary after the fact for harboring bank robbers, a ruling preventing him from telling the jury in answer to the question why he did not tell a police officer was not erroneous, where the question was not so framed as to elicit a proper defense such as duress, etc. Heyen v. State, 114 Nebr. 783, 210 NW 165.

[c] Attempt to escape from jail following incarceration.—Webb v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 792.

[d] Character of cabaret where robbery committed.—In a prosecution for robbery of the proprietor and others in a cabaret, the court did not err in not permitting accused to bring out what kind and character of persons frequented and worked in the cabaret, and what kind of business was there carried on, that intoxicating liquor was unlawfully sold there, immoral women employed, and unseemly conduct indulged in, all with the connivance of the officers of the law, since such matters would give no one the right to rob the proprietor or shoot up his place. Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 15, 234 SW 401.

[e] Civil action to recover robbery losses.—In a prosecution for the robbery of a bank messenger, exclusion of evidence offered by defendant that the bank had instituted a civil action to recover the amount so stolen was held not error. The evidence was offered to show animus and the interest of the bank in a criminal prosecution, but the court said the evidence could add nothing to the interest already established from the fact of robbery, and, if anything, might soften the jury toward defendant by showing that the bank would be civilly compensated for its loss. State v. Rebasti, 306 Mo. 336, 267 SW 858.

[f] Conflicting accounts of defendant.—Where a witness testified that defendant had made three statements as to where she had obtained the articles in question, it was error to allow the witness, who had given the substance of one statement, to testify that he did not remember the other two statements, "except that they were different from each other and from the first statement." Moses v. State, 88 Ala. 78, 7 S 101, 16 AmSR 21.

[g] "Crooked" gambling.—(1) In a prosecution for robbery committed in the course of a poker game, wherein defendant had claimed that his money had been obtained by trick or fraud, evidence to show that the proprietor conducted a "crooked game" was inadmissible as it did not prove that defendant's money had been obtained by fraudulent winning at play constituting mere larceny within Pen. Code § 332. Peo. v. Horgan, 32 Cal. A. 1051, 162 P 399. (2) Rejection of defendant's evidence that one of the victims of an alleged robbery had used crooked dice in a crap game six months before the alleged robbery was not error. Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204.

[h] Defendant's mistreatment of witness for prosecution.—Permitting testimony suggesting that defendant mistreated the state's witness was error, absent evidence showing defendant's participation in such mistreatment, as the evidence would tend to prejudice the jury against defendant. Levert v. State, (Ala.) 129 S 475.

[i] Diagram of jail.—Where no theory of the cause is advanced by defendant that would render material a plan or diagram of the interior of the jail in which defendants were incarcerated, a refusal to admit such a diagram is not error. State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

[j] Name of companion of victim.—The court did not err in sustaining an objection to a question on cross-examination of the prosecuting witness as to who the young lady was in the automobile with him at the time of the alleged holdup, defendant having been furnished with a list of the witnesses whom the state expected to call, and the name of the girl not being given, and defendant apparently having no desire to call her. Peo. v. McGuirk, 312 Ill. 257, 143 NE 855.

[k] Peace bond of defendant.—In view of Rev. St. (1919) § 3748, authorizing defendant to be put under a peace bond if the jury find that there was good reason to fear the commission of an offense, the issues in the peace bond proceeding and the quantum of proof are different from those in a prosecution for the offense of robbery, and it was error to admit in evidence in the prosecution for robbery the fact that defendant had been put under a peace bond, as the jury might have concluded that the order requiring the peace bond was an adjudication on the merits against defendant in the robbery trial. State v. Culpepper, 293 Mo. 249, 238 SW 801.

[l] Purpose of defendant's visit to town.—A question of defendant to the witness, "Did or did not the accused visit you about July 9th, and, if so, how long did he remain in A.?" where counsel stated that it was not to show an alibi, but to show that accused came to A on a visit, and that he did not come for the purpose of robbery, and was simply knocking about A as a visitor was irrelevant. Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991.

[m] Reward for conviction of robbers.—In a prosecution for robbery of a jewelry store, the exclusion of the store owner's answer to the question, "Do you belong to any association which offers a reward for the arrest and conviction of any person who steals anything from your store?" was not error, in the absence of a showing that he, upon conviction, expected a reward, thus establishing an interest on his part in the conviction. State v. Costello, (Mo.) 252 SW 727.

[n] Sobriety some hours after robbery.—In a prosecution for robbery, committed between one and three o'clock, in the afternoon, a question to a witness as to the condition of the victim of the robbery, as to being drunk or sober, when he returned to his place "along towards dark," is not competent because of the difference in time. Robinson v. State, 8 Okl. Cr. 667, 130 P 121.

Habits and reputation.[94] Evidence as to the victim's moral habits,[95] or reputation for violence,[96] and as to defendant's professional reputation,[97] has been held inadmissible.

[§ 149] b. Ownership of Property Taken.[98] Evidence that the victim of a robbery had the property in his possession before the crime is admissible to prove ownership.[99] Failure to list property for taxation is not admissible to prove lack of ownership.[1]

[§ 150] c. Force or Intimidation.[2] To show that force and violence were used, the extent of the injuries inflicted on the person robbed may be proved.[3] This may be shown either by an attending physician[4] or by any other competent witness who saw the victim immediately after the robbery.[5] It is competent for the person robbed to testify that he was frightened.[6]

[§ 151] d. Consent. Evidence otherwise proper is admissible on the issue of the victim's consent to the taking of his property.[7]

[§ 152] e. Intent.[8] Evidence as to any relevant circumstance is admissible on the issue of intent.[9] But evidence offered on the issue of intent is properly excluded where it affords no legitimate inference with reference thereto.[10]

The prosecution may show criminal intent by evidence of defendant's conduct before[11] or after[12] the

---

[o] Theft insurance.—In a prosecution for robbery of a jewelry store, it was not error to exclude testimony that the owner carried theft insurance, particularly where the question. "Do you carry insurance on your" was interrupted before completion and no subsequent statement made as to the fact sought to be proved. State v. Costello, (Mo.) 252 SW 727.

[p] Third person's attempt to steal.—Where defendant, accused of robbery, claimed that it was committed by F, evidence that F later tried to steal defendant's purse is inadmissible. State v. Totten, 72 Vt. 73, 47 A 105.

[92] People v. Murphy, 56 Mich. 546, 23 NW 215; Driscoll v. People, 47 Mich. 413, 11 NW 221; Robinson v. State, 8 Okl. Cr. 667, 130 P 121.

Res gestæ generally see Criminal Law §§ 1114-1121.

[93] Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539.

[a] Illustration.—Where a third person accompanied the complaining witness when robbed, and then promised to reimburse him if he would not complain, the complaining witness could show this promise as his reason for not promptly reporting the robbery. Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539.

[94] Character and reputation in criminal prosecutions generally see Criminal Law §§ 1122-1131.

[95] Brewer v. State, 16 Ala. A. 501, 79 S 199; Peo. v. Becker, 48 Mich. 43, 11 NW 779.

[a] Drinking.—The court properly refused to permit inquiry into the question whether the person robbed was a drinking man or not; the point not being material. Brewer v. State, 16 Ala. A. 501, 79 S 199.

[b] Frequenting houses of ill fame.—Where the witness testified that accused took him to a house of ill fame, and thence into the street where he was robbed, evidence that accused was not accustomed to visit such places was immaterial. Peo. v. Becker, 48 Mich. 43, 11 NW 779.

[96] Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 15, 234 SW 401.

[a] Dangerous man.—The court did not err in refusing to permit defendant to prove the general reputation of the alleged injured party as being that of a dangerous and violent man, there being no claim on the part of either the state or accused of any facts or the existence of any issues which could have been affected, or made clearer either way, by proof of the injured party's reputation. Thompson v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 15, 234 SW 401.

[97] Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517.

[a] As dentist.—Where defendant dentist, among other contentions, claimed that the complaining witness owed him money for dental work, and the court permitted him to show the value of the work done by him, evidence tending to show his reputation as a dentist was properly excluded as unimportant. Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517.

[98] Subjects of robbery: Generally see supra §§ 14-16. Ownership see supra §§ 17, 19.

[99] Bradley v. State, 103 Ala. 29, 15 S 640.

Admission to corroborate victim see supra § 148.

[1] State v. Hobgood, 46 La. Ann. 855, 15 S 406.

[2] Element of offense see supra §§ 24-44.

[3] Smith v. State, 207 Ala. 428, 93 S 397; Brown v. State, 120 Ala. 342, 25 S 182; State v. Alexander, 66 Kan. 726, 72 P 227; Raleigh v. State, 74 Tex. Cr. 484, 168 SW 1050.

[a] In rebuttal.—Where the state showed facts constituting robbery, and accused denied that he struck the prosecutor with his gun, testimony of a witness that he saw a man strike the prosecutor, and the testimony of a physician that he discovered scalp wounds caused by a blunt instrument, were proper in rebuttal. Raleigh v. State, 74 Tex. Cr. 484, 168 SW 1050.

Admission to corroborate testimony of victim see supra § 148.

[4] Com. v. Flynn, 165 Mass. 153, 42 NE 562.

[5] Com. v. Flynn, supra.

[6] Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293; Revier v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 633, 289 SW 1015; Knight v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 13, 277 SW 138; Dill v. State, 6 Tex. A. 113.

[a] Fear to resist.—Revier v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 633, 289 SW 1015, 1016.

[7] Davis v. State, 159 Ala. 104, 48 S 694.

[a] Willingness or consent.—It being proper for the witness robbed to testify that he did not consent to the taking, an objection to a question calling on him to state whether he was willing or consented for the defendant to take his money is properly overruled. Davis v. State, 159 Ala. 104, 48 S 694.

[8] As element see supra §§ 49-53.

[9] Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204; Rex v. Winkworth, 4 C. & P. 444, 19 ECL 594, 172 Reprint 775. And see cases infra text and notes 10-15.

[a] Time of report of robbery is properly shown where defense is based on claim that property was originally taken in attempt to recover that of which defendant had been cheated in a dice game and that he had attempted to return their property to certain of the persons from whom it had been taken who had not participated in the cheating. Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204, 206.

[b] Where defendants formed part of a mob and advised the prosecutor to give money to the mob, evidence of demands made by the same mob at other places is admissible to show that the advice was not bona fide. Rex v. Winkworth, 4 C. & P. 444, 19 ECL 594, 172 Reprint 775.

[10] Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204; Blain v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 448, 31 SW 368.

[a] Wink.—Where the defense was that defendant in an effort to recover property of which he had been cheated in a dice game compelled all of the participants to put up their hands after which their money was taken from them, it is proper to refuse to allow defendant to testify that during the holdup he winked at several of the parties who were in line with their hands up to give them to understand that he did not mean any harm to them, and that all he wanted was to get back the money he believed he had been cheated out of in the dice game, since to permit him to testify that all this was included in and meant by him in a wink would appear to be going beyond a fair interpretation of a wink. Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204, 206.

[b] Gambling gains.—Evidence that the money stolen was won by gambling from defendant has been held inadmissible. Blain v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 448, 31 SW 368.

[11] State v. Fallon, 2 N. D. 510, 52 NW 318; State v. Shields, 13 S. D. 464, 83 NW 559; Gables v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 68 SW 288.

[a] Drawing gun and ordering others off street shortly before robbery occurred. State v. Fallon, 2 N. D. 510, 52 NW 318.

[b] Drugging drink sold victim.—Gables v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 68 SW 288.

[c] Commenting on value of watch worn by person robbed.—State v. Shields, 13 S. D. 464, 83 NW 559.

[12] Kennedy v. State, 208 Ala. 66, 93 S 822.

taking.

Defense. It is competent for defendant to testify that at the time of the alleged robbery he thought that he had a right to take the property as his own,[13] or to introduce any evidence legitimately tending to support such claim.[14] Evidence of an attempt to return the property is admissible on the issue of intent.[15]

[§ 153] f. Connection with Crime—(1) In General. Any evidence legitimately tending to connect defendant with commission of the robbery is admissible,[16] such as defendant's surprise and confusion on suddenly meeting the victim shortly after the robbery;[17] or his suspicious statement on observing the victim display money before the robbery;[18] or evidence showing defendant's effort to fabricate an alibi.[19] It is permissible to introduce evidence tending to identify defendant and the robber as the same person,[20] such as similarity in physical appearance,[21] or handwriting;[22] or to identify defend-

---

[a] Carrying away gun claimed to have been taken merely as protective measure.—On the issue of whether the taking by defendant of a pistol, from one attempting without authority to arrest him, was with larcenous intent, or merely defensive and protective, as claimed by him, the fact that he carried it away and retained it on his flight to another state, although inconclusive, was a circumstance admissible for the jury's consideration. Kennedy v. State, 208 Ala. 66, 93 S 822.

[13] State v. Hollyway, 41 Iowa 200, 20 AmR 586; Peo. v. Hughes, 11 Utah 100, 39 P 492.

[14] State v. Culpepper, 293 Mo. 249, 238 SW 801.

[a] Telegrams showing right to commissions.—Where the defense was that the prosecuting witness owed to defendant the money taken as commissions on a real estate deal, in which the prosecuting witness had sold land to another for whom defendant resold it, telegrams from the first purchaser, referring defendant to the prosecuting witness, for the terms of the purchase, were admissible on behalf of defendant as establishing his agency in making the second sale and tending to show his good faith in claiming the commission from the prosecuting witness who refused to consummate the sale. State v. Culpepper, 293 Mo. 249, 238 SW 801.

[15] Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204.

[a] Rule applied.—Defended on the ground that defendants merely retook money lost by the use of fraudulent dice, the exclusion of evidence of defendants' acts and declarations immediately after discovering that they had taken more than they lost and their efforts to restore it was error. Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204.

Return of property as not in itself defense see supra § 74.

[16] Cal.—Peo. v. Meile, 97 Cal. A. 56, 274 P 1003; Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67; Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267.

Ill.—Peo. v. McGuirk, 312 Ill. 257, 143 NE 855; Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551.

Kan.—State v. Wise, 129 Kan. 155, 281 P 886, 887.

La.—State v. Skeahan, 167 La. 1003, 120 S 626.

Mo.—State v. Evans, 23 SW (2d) 152.

Nebr.—Peterson v. State, 115 Nebr. 302, 304, 212 NW 610 [cit Cyc]; Keating v. State, 67 Nebr. 560, 93 NW 980.

N. Y.—Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460.

N. C.—State v. Harden, 177 N. C. 580, 98 SE 782.

Tex.—Revier v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 634, 289 SW 1016; Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539; Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265; Reardon v. State, 4 Tex. A. 602.

"The test of admissibility is the connection of the facts with the offense charged." Peo. v. McGuirk, 312 Ill. 257, 143 NE 855, 857.

[a] Defendant's possession of memorandum with victim's name and telephone number.—Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67.

[b] Rental of safety deposit box under assumed name.—Evidence that defendant, two days after robbery, rented a safety deposit box under an assumed name as admissible on the same theory as flight or concealment of the person. Peo. v. Meile, 97 Cal. A. 56, 274 P 1003.

[c] Telephone calls.—On a trial for robbing a doctor who had been summoned to a lonely spot by telephone, ostensibly to visit a sick boy, evidence of such telephone call, and evidence that defendants had previously telephoned another doctor, and, on learning that he was out, said he was not wanted unless he could come right away was relevant and material. Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551.

[d] Relation to servants of house robbed.—Admission of testimony that servants in a home which was robbed were related to accused was proper, as showing the method by which the parties gained entrance to the home for the purpose of committing robbery. Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267.

[17] State v. Harden, 177 N. C. 580, 98 SE 782.

[18] Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265.

[19] Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824.

[a] Attempt to induce witness to testify falsely that the latter was with defendant at his home at the time of the robbery. Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824.

[20] Ala.—Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171; Smith v. State, 207 Ala. 428, 93 S 397; Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34; Lewis v. State, 165 Ala. 83, 51 S 308.

Cal.—Peo. v. Griffin, 75 Cal. A. 561, 243 P 36; Peo. v. Hale, 64 Cal. A. 523, 222 P 148.

Ga.—Williams v. State, 27 Ga. A. 684, 109 SE 535.

Ill.—Peo. v. McGuirk, 312 Ill. 257, 143 NE 855; Peo. v. Maciejewski, 294 Ill. 390, 128 NE 489.

La.—State v. McCullough, 168 La. 161, 121 S 609; State v. Martin, 149 La. 673, 90 S 19.

Mass.—Com. v. Kelly, 186 Mass. 403, 71 NE 807.

Mich.—Peo. v. Londe, 230 Mich. 484, 203 NW 93.

Mo.—State v. Kowertz, 25 SW (2d) 113.

Nebr.—Peterson v. State, 115 Nebr. 302, 304, 212 NW 610 [cit Cyc].

Tex.—Ramos v. State, 107 Tex. Cr. 606, 298 SW 431; Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824; Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593; Tabor v. State, 52 Tex. Cr. 387, 107 SW 1116; Davis v. State, (Cr.) 44 SW 1099.

Wash.—State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

[a] Testimony as to previous identification by victim.—In a prosecution in which alibi was a defense, admission of testimony as to the identification of accused by the prosecuting witness at the city prison, where the victim pointed out accused crossing a corridor and also picked him from a lineup of twelve or fifteen prisoners, was not error, in the absence of a showing that the identification was not a bona fide one. Peo. v. Hale, 64 Cal. A. 523, 222 P 148.

[b] Testimony not positive.—Testimony of the victim, even if not positive as to the identification of defendant, was competent and admissible. Peo. v. Maciejewski, 294 Ill. 390, 128 NE 489.

[c] Companionship with robber.—Evidence showing defendant's arrest a week after the robbery in company with a man whose description corresponded to the younger of two bank robbers was properly admitted to establish identity. State v. Kowertz, (Mo.) 25 SW (2d) 113.

Defendant's possession of:
Weapons see infra § 158.
Stolen property see infra § 163.
Other identifying property see infra § 165.

[21] Ramos v. State, 107 Tex. Cr. 606, 298 SW 431; Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824.

[a] Scar on face.—Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824.

[b] Size, build, and features.—Ramos v. State, 107 Tex. Cr. 606, 298 SW 431.

[22] Peo. v. Griffin, 75 Cal. A. 561, 243 P 36.

[a] Illustration.—Testimony of bank employees, who identified defendant as the person who had taken out safety deposit boxes under different names and who had signed certain entry slips with such names, was held admissible, notwithstanding that it incidentally revealed that defendant had assumed different names, where the purpose of the testimony was to connect defendant with such signatures and then to use them for comparison with signatures of a man who placed an automobile in garage, which had been identified as the one used in perpetrating a robbery. Peo. v. Griffin, 75 Cal. A. 561, 243 P 36.

ant by the sound of the exhaust of his car,[23] a laundry mark,[24] or the use of a wig.[25]

Evidence inadmissible. Where, under the general rules,[26] evidence offered on the issue of identification is improper, it will be excluded,[27] as in the case of evidence offered by the prosecution as to identification on a preliminary hearing,[28] or evidence offered by the defense as to physical characteristics differing from those of the robber but acquired subsequent to defendant's arrest.[29]

Corroborative evidence. Evidence supporting the claim of a witness that he knew defendant well enough to identify him is admissible.[30]

Rebuttal. Evidence otherwise proper is admissible in rebuttal of an identification claimed to be erroneous.[31]

[§ 154] (2) Presence at or near Scene of Crime. Evidence is admissible to show that defendant was at or near the scene of the robbery shortly before[32] or after[33] commission of the crime. Evidence may also be introduced to show that defendant visited the scene of the robbery some time before its commission for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the surroundings.[34]

Companion. Evidence as to the presence of a companion of defendant in the general locality of the robbery at about the time of its commission is inadmissible where the companion has not been connected with the robbery.[35]

[§ 155] (3) Motive. While motive is immaterial as an element of the offense,[36] evidence of motive may properly be admitted to connect defendant with commission of the robbery.[37]

---

23. Williams v. State, 27 Ga. A. 684, 109 SE 535.

[a] Circumstance for consideration.—On a trial for robbery committed at a store, testimony of a witness that the exhaust of the car in which the robbers came to the store sounded like that of the car in which defendant and others left the same store about thirty minutes earlier was properly admitted as a circumstance to be considered with other evidence in determining the identity of the robbers, over the objection that the witness could not identify the car by the sound of the exhaust. Williams v. State, 27 Ga. A. 684, 109 SE 535.

24. State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

[a] Rule applied.—Evidence that the laundry mark on a handkerchief found near the scene of the robbery and another laundry mark on the collar defendant was wearing when arrested were the same is properly considered. State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

25. Lewis v. State, 165 Ala. 83, 51 S 308.

[a] Illustration.—Where, on the trial of a woman for robbery, the prosecutor testified that the woman who helped rob him had long hair, and a witness for accused testified that the woman she saw running from prosecutor had bushy hair, and accused at the trial had short, nappy hair, it was competent for the state to ascertain whether she habitually wore a wig, and to prove that she owned one, and that one was found in her house shortly after the offense. Lewis v. State, 165 Ala. 83, 51 S 308.

26. See supra § 148; and see Criminal Law §§ 1050-1056.

27. Peo. v. Rybak, 120 Misc. 814, 200 NYS 513; State v. Evans, 98 Or. 214, 192 P 1062, 193 P 927.

[a] Additional identification.—In a prosecution for robbery in the first degree, where complainant positively identified defendant on the trial, it was error to admit testimony that complainant identified defendant after the robbery as one of three men who had robbed him. Peo. v. Rybak, 120 Misc. 814, 200 NYS 513.

[b] Protestations of innocence.—While, under Lord L. § 727, declaring that evidence may be given of a declaration or act of another in the presence and within the observation of a party, and his conduct in relation thereto, the state might introduce evidence of defendant's strong protestation of innocence when the prosecuting witness identified him as a robber, it would clearly be immaterial to introduce it as showing identification of defendant by the prosecuting witness. State v. Evans, 98 Or. 214, 192 P 1062, 193 P 927.

28. Peo. v. Moretti, supra (holding, however, that such evidence could be used for impeachment).

29. State v. Curtis, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 122.

30. Peo. v. Bolton, 324 Ill. 322, 155 NE 310; State v. Newman, 245 Mo. 495, 150 SW 1050.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) In a prosecution for robbery committed at a garage, where defendant's identity was in issue, checks, given by defendant at the garage previous to the date of the robbery and which defendant had later offered to take up and which were finally returned unpaid, were held admissible to show that the complaining witnesses had opportunity to become acquainted with defendant and to recognize him. Peo. v. Bolton, 324 Ill. 322, 155 NE 310. (2) Evidence that accused visited the house the night before the robbery, pretending to search for another, was admissible to corroborate the nurse at the house, who testified to seeing accused then, and also when the robbery was committed. State v. Newman, 245 Mo. 495, 150 SW 1050.

31. Hackins v. State, 212 Ala. 606, 103 S 468.

[a] Facts which might have influenced witness to err in picking defendant from line of suspects.—Hackins v. State, 212 Ala. 606, 103 S 468.

32. Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34; Montgomery v. State, 169 Ala. 12, 53 S 991; State v. Newman, 245 Mo. 495, 150 SW 1050.

[a] Two hours before.—Where the prosecutor testified that he was robbed while about three quarters of a mile from a town by accused and five other negroes, the testimony of a witness that he had seen accused in the town about two hours before the crime, and that he was at the time with a crowd, was admissible. Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34.

[b] Presence in city twenty-four hours before robbery.—"We see no error in permitting the witness Patrick Newman to testify that defendant came into his home the night before the robbery. It was not an attempt to prove an independent crime, but was a legitimate effort to prove that defendant was in St. Louis less than 24 hours before the robbery, which, though very slight evidence of his guilt, was some evidence of that fact." State v. Newman, 245 Mo. 495, 150 SW 1050, 1051.

33. Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171; Peo. v. Elliott, (Cal. A.) 285 P 401.

[a] Arrest of defendant near scene of robbery and shortly after its commission. Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171.

[b] Remote but admissible.—In a prosecution for robbery committed about 9:30 o'clock, testimony that the witness saw the men on the highway at 11 o'clock, although remote, was admissible. Peo. v. Elliott, (Cal. A.) 285 P 401.

34. Sweeney v. State, 161 Ark. 278, 256 SW 73.

[a] Two weeks before.—In a prosecution for robbery, the court did not err in admitting testimony that the witness saw accused two weeks before the date of the robbery near the scene of the robbery, and that, when the witness and others got up and left, he followed them up the creek, and that there was a thicket which was a resort where the witness and others went to play cards and shoot craps every Sunday, being admissible to identify accused and to prove that he had visited the scene and obtained knowledge of the surroundings. Sweeney v. State, 161 Ark. 278, 256 SW 73.

35. Dillard v. State, (Ark.) 298 SW 27.

[a] Illustration.—In a robbery trial, testimony as to seeing defendant's companion at a certain town before dark on the night of the robbery committed after 9:30 P. M. in a city fifty-six miles away, while the witness was going away from such city, was held properly excluded, as immaterial, where the witness did not see defendant with such person and the latter was not identified as the principal or accessary. Dillard v. State, (Ark.) 298 SW 27.

36. See supra § 54.

37. Peo. v. Tanner, 36 Cal. A. 20, 171 P 439; Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824; Armstrong v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 248, 30 SW 235.

[a] Evidence that defendant was greatly in need of money to pay his debts may be introduced to show motive. Armstrong v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 248, 30 SW 235.

[b] Knowledge that victim had money.—In a trial for robbery with firearms, the prosecuting witness' testimony as to the amount of money he had in his purse the day before the robbery, and his statement at such time in defendant's presence that he

[§ 156] (4) Change in Defendant's Economic Circumstances. Evidence is admissible to show that defendant's financial or economic circumstances improved after the robbery.[38]

[§ 157] (5) Weapons or Other Instruments of Crime—(a) Attempt To Purchase. Defendant's attempt before the robbery to purchase weapons or other articles suitable for use in committing the offense may be shown in evidence.[39]

[§ 158] (b) Possession of—aa. By Defendant. Where defendant's possession of weapons[40] or other instruments of crime[41] affords no reasonable inference of guilt of the offense charged it should be excluded. But subject to this qualification, and in accordance with general rules,[42] evidence is admissible in a robbery prosecution to show that accused owned, possessed, or had access to tools, implements, or other articles with which the robbery was or might have been committed,[43] and especially when the article is of a lethal nature.[44] Thus it is ordinarily permissible to prove defendant's ownership or possession of weapons before[45] or after[46] commission of the robbery, as where weapons were later found in defendant's car,[47] or in a room occupied was going to see another on the next day about a sum owed him, was held admissible to show motive, and that defendant had reason to believe that the witness had and was collecting money. Faulkner v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 378, 283 SW 824.

---

[c] Refusal of victim to join I. W. W. may have been a motive for his robbery by members of that organization, and for this reason evidence bearing thereon was properly admitted, even though the truth or falsity of defendant's membership in the I. W. W. was otherwise irrelevant. Peo. v. Tanner, 36 Cal. A. 20, 171 P 439.

[38] State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52; Martin v. State, 94 Tex. Cr. 175, 249 SW 839; Perry v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 644, 155 SW 263.

[a] Bank deposits.—Testimony that accused had, after the robbery, deposited large sums of money in two other banks is not error, because the money so deposited was not identified as the money taken in the robbery. Martin v. State, 94 Tex. Cr. 175, 249 SW 839 (where the court said: "It is to be conceded that the nearer in point of time to the alleged robbery is the possession of property, the fruits of such crime, the stronger the probative force of such possession. The fact that appellant was engaged in a small business and apparently continued therein after the robbery, and that within two or three months he began to deposit large sums of money, much of which was in currency, without any apparent source of such income, seems to us admissible as a circumstance or as circumstances against him, and that the objection of remoteness goes to the weight and not the admissibility of the testimony").

[b] Paying off debts.—Martin v. State, 94 Tex. Cr. 175, 249 SW 839; Perry v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 644, 155 SW 263, 265 (where the court said: "Mrs. C. J. Brown testified that a few days before the robbery she had loaned appellant some money, and that on the day after the robbery appellant had paid her back. This was admissible as a circumstance in the case. The motorman being robbed of money on Friday night, it was permissible to show that appellant had no money prior to that date, but had money the day after the robbery").

[c] Improvement in attire.—The circumstance that accused was shabbily dressed before robbery and well dressed afterwards was admissible, though state did not rely entirely on circumstantial evidence. State v. Wales, 168 La. 322, 122 S 52.

[39] Peo. v. Oldham, 111 Cal. 648, 44 P 312.

[a] Cartridges.—Evidence is competent that before the robbery defendant had attempted to buy cartridges for his gun. Peo. v. Oldham, 111 Cal. 648, 44 P 312.

[40] Williams v. State, 51 Nebr. 711, 71 NW 729.

[41] Williams v. State, supra.

[a] "Flash roll" and similar instruments of confidence man.—Williams v. State, 51 Nebr. 711, 71 NW 729.

Burglars' tools see infra text and notes 54, 55.

[42] See Criminal Law § 1045.

[43] Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551; Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162; State v. Barone, 173 Minn. 232, 217 NW 104; State v. Conley, (Mo.) 238 SW 804.

[a] Weapons not used.—"It is contended that the court erred in the ruling, because it was not shown that the revolver was connected with the robbery. It is competent to prove that an accused, when arrested, possessed a weapon or tools suitable for the commission of the crime charged, even if no claim is made that the tools or deadly weapon was actually used in committing the crime." Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551, 553.

[b] Brass knucks and saws.—"The alleged incompetent evidence complained of was that respecting the finding of the brass knucks and saws on his person by the policeman. This evidence, in connection with appellant's possession of the ring, of which Heintz had been robbed, and the pistol by means of which the robbery was effected, was clearly competent, as it tended to identify him as the perpetrator of the crime; also to prove a motive for its commission by him and his preparedness for resorting to deeds of violence in accomplishing it." Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162, 163.

[44] State v. Conley, (Mo.) 238 SW 804, 806.

"The testimony in regard to the finding of the pistols in the automobile was authorized under the rule which renders admissible evidence in regard to the possession of weapons, tools, implements, or any articles with which the particular crime was or might have been committed. Especially is this rule applicable where the possession of the instrument shown is of a lethal nature, such as a pistol, which may be made one of the necessary adjuncts in the commission of a crime characterized by violence, as in a case of robbery." State v. Conley, supra.

[45] State v. Nichols, 179 Minn. 301, 229 NW 99; State v. Switzer, 38 Nev. 108, 145 P 925.

[a] Four days.—Evidence that defendant about four days prior to the alleged robbery, had in his possession a revolver similar to that used in the robbery and found on his person after his arrest a few days subsequent to the offense was admissible. State v. Switzer, 38 Nev. 108, 145 P 925.

[b] Eleven months.—"Admitting evidence that defendant, at prior times and places, had in his possession a revolver similar to the one used by him in the robbery complained of, was not error. . . . In the discretion of the court, such evidence was admissible, although one of the occasions was some 11 months prior to the robbery charged." State v. Nichols, 179 Minn. 301, 229 NW 99.

[46] Ala.—Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171.

Cal.—Peo. v. Ward, 77 Cal. 113, 19 P 373.

Ill.—Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270; Bow v. Peo., 160 Ill. 438, 43 NE 593.

La.—State v. Gordon, 115 La. 571, 39 S 625.

Minn.—State v. Barone, 173 Minn. 232, 217 NW 104; State v. Minot, 79 Minn. 118, 81 NW 753.

Mo.—State v. Woodard, 309 Mo. 19, 273 SW 1047; State v. Conley, 238 SW 804.

Tex.—Silver v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 512, 8 SW (2d) 144, 9 SW (2d) 358, 60 ALR 290; Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593; Williams v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 523, 31 SW 405; Crumes v. State, 28 Tex. A. 516, 13 SW 868, 19 AmSR 853.

[a] Two months.—Admission of evidence that a revolver was found on the person of accused two months after the commission of an alleged robbery was not error. Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270.

[b] Eight months.—Evidence in relation to weapons and cartridges found at defendant's arrest over eight months after robbery was admissible. State v. Barone, 173 Minn. 232, 217 NW 104.

[47] State v. Conley, (Mo.) 238 SW 804; Silver v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 512, 8 SW (2d) 144, 9 SW (2d) 358, 60 ALR 290.

[a] Illustration.—In a prosecution for robbery committed by threats with pistols, evidence that pistols were found in the automobile occupied by defendant and his companions shortly after the robbery is admissible against defendant under the rule permitting evidence in regard to the possession of weapons, tools, or articles with which the particular crime was or might have been committed. State v. Conley, (Mo.) 238 SW 804.

by him,[48] or in an outbuilding adjacent to his residence.[49]

Introduction into evidence. In accordance with general rules,[50] weapons or other articles are admissible in evidence when it appears from other evidence that they were or might have been used in the robbery.[51]

Evidence offered by the defense as to how defendant acquired possession of a weapon used in the robbery will be excluded where immaterial.[52] Where the robber had ample time before arrest to dispose of a gun used in the robbery, it has been held that defendant cannot show that he had no gun when arrested.[53]

Burglar's tools. Evidence showing defendant's possession of burglar's tools is admissible where a burglary was attempted or committed in connection with the robbery.[54] But where such articles were not used in connection with the robbery, evidence of defendant's possession thereof is inadmissible.[55]

[§ 159] bb. By Companion. It is competent to show that codefendant had a weapon on his person when arrested for the robbery.[56]

[§ 160] (c) Found near Scene of Crime. It is permissible to show that cartridges found near the scene of the robbery were of the same caliber as defendant's gun.[57] But in the absence of testimony connecting the weapon with defendant or the robbery, evidence is admissible that following a conversation with defendant officers found a gun near the scene of the crime.[58]

[§ 161] (6) Stolen Property or Property Similar Thereto—(a) Existence, Identification, and Description. Evidence otherwise proper[59] is admissible to prove the existence[60] of the property stolen, or to identify[61] or describe[62] it.

Introducing property into evidence.[63] On sufficient identification,[64] it is permissible to introduce in evidence the stolen property itself.[65]

[§ 162] (b) Disposition of. Evidence is admis-

---

48. Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593.

[a] Rule applied.—Evidence of the finding of pistols in a room occupied by defendant and a companion when arrested, which coincided in appearance with the description of those used in committing the offense, was admissible. Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593.

49. State v. Woodard, 309 Mo. 19, 273 SW 1047.

[a] Hidden in smokehouse.—Where there was evidence of defendant's attempt to rob a bank while armed with a pistol, and the state's witness testified that he was near defendant's house at the time of the latter's return on the day of the offense, and that defendant went into his smokehouse and then came to the witness, it was not improper to show by the witness that he went to the smokehouse with defendant's consent and found concealed therein a loaded pistol. "Testimony of this character is admissible as a circumstance tending to show the appellant's connection with the crime." State v. Woodard, 309 Mo. 19, 273 SW 1047, 1049.

50. See Criminal Law § 1225.

51. Peo. v. Allegretti, 291 Ill. 364, 126 NE 158.

[a] Illustration.—Pistols and a police star, taken from the automobile in which defendants were arrested, were properly admissible on a trial for robbery, where the evidence indicated that defendants knew that the weapons, or some of them, were in the car before they were arrested, and while driving about the city. Peo. v. Allegretti, 291 Ill. 364, 126 NE 158.

52. Peo. v. Kaswick, 319 Ill. 306, 150 NE 16.

[a] Target pistol.—In a prosecution for robbery while armed with a deadly weapon, it was not error to exclude evidence on behalf of defendants that a witness for the defense owned a target pistol used in the robbery and as to the manner of its coming into the possession of one of defendants using it. Peo. v. Kaswick, 319 Ill. 306, 150 NE 16.

53. Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34.

54. State v. Minot, 79 Minn. 118, 81 NW 753.

[a] Files, drills, punches, ratchet, and explosives.—State v. Minot, 79 Minn. 118, 81 NW 753.

55. Peo. v. Sansome, 84 Cal. 449, 24 P 143; State v. Shannon, 33 Mo. 596.

56. Peo. v. Dean, 308 Ill. 74, 139 NE 37.

[a] Revolver.—Peo. v. Dean, 308 Ill. 74, 139 NE 37.

57. State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

58. Yeager v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 462, 294 SW 200. See Smith v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 434, 292 SW 877, 879 (where the court said: "That a new sawed-off shotgun was found in the San Antonio river at a certain place the day after the robbery might have been proved by the state; but that it was found as a result of declarations made by Jack Smith or one Hobrecht was not proper upon the trial of Kenneth Smith alone").

[a] Rule applied.—In a prosecution for robbery, admitting testimony that, after arresting defendants and placing them in jail and after a conversation with one defendant with reference to a gun, out of the presence and hearing of defendant on trial, the witness and others went to a certain spot and found the gun, there being no showing that the gun had any connection with the robbery or with defendant on trial, was error. Yeager v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 462, 294 SW 200.

59. See supra § 148.

60. State v. Bailey, 90 Or. 627, 178 P 201.

[a] Promissory note.—In a robbery case, where defendant was charged with taking a note from the prosecuting witness, defendant denying that there was any note, the state was entitled to show that the note described in the indictment was placed in the hands of a bank for collection. "The state was entitled to trace the note, if there was one, from the time of its execution until its destruction." State v. Bailey, 90 Or. 627, 178 P 201, 205.

61. Ware v. State, 12 Ala. A. 101, 67 S 763.

[a] Original purchase of property taken.—In a prosecution for robbery, evidence as to where the prosecuting witness had bought the watches taken, corroborated by that of the one from whom he bought them, was admissible, since it aided in identifying the watches recovered as the watches that were taken. Ware v. State, 12 Ala. A. 101, 67 S 763.

62. Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561; Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204.

[a] Particular kind of money, as gold, silver, or currency. Cole v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 533, 286 SW 204.

63. Demonstrative evidence generally see Criminal Law §§ 1221-1232.

64. See case infra this note.

[a] Need not identify beyond reasonable doubt.—In a criminal case the state is only required to establish the guilt of accused beyond a reasonable doubt, and not each separate circumstance or item of evidence, and hence was not required to identify property alleged to have been taken from one of the victims of the alleged robbery beyond a reasonable doubt in order to justify its admission in evidence. State v. Conroy, 82 Wash. 417, 144 P 538.

65. Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561; State v. Conroy, 82 Wash. 417, 144 P 538.

[a] Check.—"There are some bills of exceptions complaining of the rulings of the court. The first of these is a complaint of the introduction in evidence of the check which was identified as the one that was taken from the injured party and found in the possession of the appellant. The objection urged was that it was immaterial and irrelevant. In bill No. 2 complaint is made of the testimony of the injured party describing the check and identifying it, and also stating from whom he got it; also giving his movements with the check up to the time it was taken from him. Bill No. 3 complains of the testimony of the person who issued the check, his identification of it, and his delivering it to Long in time and accord with his version of the affair. The bills mentioned seem to present no error. The check being the fruit of the alleged crime, it was competent to introduce it in evidence, and the relation of facts touching its possession and acquisition so far as they were detailed were pertinent and sible to show that defendant attempted to get rid of the property stolen or property similar thereto.[66] It is also proper to show defendant's subsequent sale of property stolen,[67] or subsequent deposit of money meeting the general description of that taken in the robbery.[68]

[§ 163] (c) Possession[69]—aa. By Defendant. Possession by the accused of the stolen property shortly after the robbery is admissible against him,[70] as where it was found on his person,[71] or in business[72] or residential[73] premises occupied by defendant, or in the cell in which he was incarcerated after the robbery.[74] It is also proper to show defendant's subsequent possession of property or money which, because of its similarity to that taken, might have been the stolen property,[75] the fact that such evidence is inconclusive affecting its probative force, but not its admissibility.[76] The source from which witnesses finding stolen property learned that it was in defendant's possession does not affect the admissibility of such evidence.[77]

Exclusive character of possession. To be admissible as evidence inferring guilt, defendant's possession should be exclusive in the sense that it is in-proper." Holland v. State, 110 Tex. Cr. 384, 10 SW (2d) 561, 562.

---

[66] Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171; Peo. v. Barnhill, 337 Ill. 413, 169 NE 210; Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[a] Fumbling in pockets.—Evidence that when defendant and another were arrested for robbery shortly after its commission certain moneys were taken from them, and that money was afterwards found in the automobile in which they were transported to the city hall, and that one of them, while in the automobile, kept fumbling in his pocket, though told to keep his hands out of his pockets, was admissible as tending to corroborate the evidence concerning the robbery, and the taking of money, and as tending to show an attempt on the part of the prisoner to get rid of the money. Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171.

[b] Hurried effort to dispose of under assumed name.—Possession of recently stolen property, accompanied by an active and hurried effort, under an assumed name, to dispose thereof, is evidence to go to the jury upon the issue of whether the accused stole the property. Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[67] State v. Barber, (Mo.) 242 SW 664.

[a] Illustration.—In a prosecution for robbery, where defendant admitted that he drove the car in which the robbers came to the store of prosecuting witness and by which they made their escape, but claimed he was driving it for hire and had no knowledge of the robbery before or after it was committed, evidence that some time after the robbery defendant and one of the participants sold a part of the jewelry taken at the time of the robbery was competent. "The evidence complained of was clearly admissible as tending to show defendant's connection with the robbery." State v. Barber, (Mo.) 242 SW 664, 666.

[68] State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379.

[a] Deposit corresponding in character and proportionate amount.—State v. Malsogoff, 88 Wash. 419, 153 P 379 (gold, silver, and currency taken by five robbers and about one-fifth of the amount taken deposited by defendant in gold, silver, and currency).

[69] Possession of identifying property other than that stolen see infra § 165.

Sufficiency of possession of stolen property to:
Raise presumption of guilt see supra § 146.
Support conviction see infra § 180.

[70] Cal.—Peo. v. Sullivan, 144 Cal. 471, 77 P 1000; Peo. v. Castile, 3 Cal. A. 487, 86 P 746; Peo. v. Salas, 2 Cal. A. 537, 84 P 295.

Mich.—Peo. v. Whitson, 43 Mich. 419, 5 NW 454.

Mo.—State v. Finn, 199 Mo. 597, 98 SW 9; State v. Hyatt, 179 Mo. 344, 78 SW 601; State v. Balch, 136 Mo. 103, 37 SW 808; State v. Wyatt, 124 Mo. 537, 27 SW 1096.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Mackinder, 80 Hun 40, 29 NYS 842.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Castro, 23 Philippine 67; U. S. v. Barroga, 21 Philippine 161.

Tex.—Glover v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 46, 299 SW 240; Fitzgerald v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 34, 219 SW 199; Thompson v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 511, 34 SW 629.

Utah.—Peo. v. Kerm, 8 Utah 268, 30 P 988.

[a] Possession of weapon taken from person robbed.—State v. Finn, 199 Mo. 597, 98 SW 9.

[71] U. S. v. Castro, 23 Philippine 67.

[a] Stolen stick-pin seen in defendant's shirt.—U. S. v. Castro, 23 Philippine 67.

[72] State v. Hyatt, 179 Mo. 344, 78 SW 601.

[a] In cellar of saloon of which defendant had charge.—State v. Hyatt, 179 Mo. 344, 78 SW 601.

[73] State v. Wyatt, 124 Mo. 537, 27 SW 1096; Fitzgerald v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 34, 219 SW 199.

[a] House where arrested.—Evidence that the stolen property was found the morning after the robbery, in the house where defendant was arrested, is competent. State v. Wyatt, 124 Mo. 537, 27 SW 1096.

[74] Peo. v. Whitson, 43 Mich. 419, 5 NW 454.

[75] Williams v. State, 123 Ala. 39, 26 S 521; Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673; Peo. v. Deluce, 237 Ill. 541, 86 NE 1080; Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593; Harris v. Com., 129 Va. 751, 105 SE 541.

[a] Bill with "binder and four horses thereon."—In prosecution for robbery, where prosecuting witness testified that a ten dollar bill, taken from him, had "a binder and four horses on it" the fact that defendant had a similarly marked ten dollar bill on him at the time of the arrest was a circumstance to be considered by the jury, together with the other facts in the case, notwithstanding the existence of numerous other similarly marked bills in circulation. Harris v. Com., 129 Va. 751, 105 SE 541.

[b] Marked money.—Evidence that bill found in defendant's possession after arrest was peculiarly marked, as was one taken from complaining witness, was admissible. Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593.

[c] Ten dollar gold certificate.—"It is further contended that the admission in evidence of the $10 bill taken from Filipak's shoe was error. Brolet testified that among other bills he had been robbed of a $10 gold certificate. Shortly thereafter the police officers found in Filipak's shoe a bill of that character and denomination. One of the officers testified that at the police station Filipak denied, before his shoe was removed, that he had any money other than that found in his pockets. While there was no complete identification of the $10 certificate taken from Brolet, the similarity of the bill found to the one stolen, the denial by Filipak that he had the bill, and the brief interval between the robbery and the discovery of the bill in Filipak's shoe, were circumstances which tended to prove the charge." Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673, 675.

[d] Foreign coin.—"The plaintiff in error further insists that the court committed error in permitting the two Kaspers to testify that they saw a Russian coin in the possession of the plaintiff in error, without identifying it as to amount or in other particulars. Plaintiff in error admitted the possession of a Russian coin, and did not attempt to show that it was different in amount from the one which the complaining witness testified had been taken from him. This evidence was competent. The weight to be given to it is for the jury." Peo. v. Deluce, 237 Ill. 541, 86 NE 1080, 1082.

[e] Fifteen dollars.—A letter written by defendant a few days after the robbery, in which he stated that he had got hold of about fifteen dollars, is admissible, in connection with other evidence, where it appeared that the amount taken was about fifteen dollars. Williams v. State, 123 Ala. 39, 26 S 521.

[76] Peo. v. Filipak, 322 Ill. 546, 153 NE 673.

[77] Fitzgerald v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 34, 219 SW 199, 200.

"It could make no difference, as to the admissibility of such evidence, from what source the officers learned the whereabouts of said watch; and if there was any fact relevant to the question as to how the watch came to be in such place, which had defensive weight, it was appellant's right to have the same before the jury, to thus enable them to decide what weight to give to the finding of said watch at said place." Fitzgerald v. State, supra.

consistent with an independent possession by others.[78]

Explaining possession. Defendant may properly introduce evidence to explain on grounds compatible with innocence of the robbery his possession of the property stolen or property similar thereto.[79] But where there is no claim that money was found in defendant's possession, evidence offered by the defense as to receipt of money by defendant from proper sources should be excluded as immaterial.[80]

Lack of possession. Where there was ample time for the robber to dispose of the stolen property before the time of defendant's arrest, defendant cannot introduce evidence that no property of such description was found on his person when arrested.[81]

[§ 164] bb. By Companion.[82] It has been held proper to admit evidence showing possession of the stolen property by an accomplice[83] or intimate[84] of defendant.

[§ 165] (7) Possession of Other Property Actually or Presumably in Possession of Robber. Aside from and in addition to rules as to weapons[85] and stolen property,[86] it is permissible in identification of defendant to show that he possessed any articles actually or presumably possessed by the robber.[87] Evidence offered in rebuttal to the effect that defendant never possessed property of this character will be excluded where too remote to be relevant.[88]

[§ 166] 3. Weight and Sufficiency[89]—a. In General. To convict of robbery the burden rests on the state[90] to prove beyond a reasonable doubt the commission of the offense[91] and defendant's guilty participation therein.[92] In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held sufficient to sustain a conviction of robbery,[93] as of robbery committed in a particular place,[94] such as | a bank,[95] store,[96] or house,[97] or of robbery commit-

---

[78] Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551.

Possession by companion see infra § 164.

[79] Buford v. State, 124 Miss. 418, 86 S 860; Chancey v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 85, 96 SW 12.

[a] Amount of money.—Defendant may introduce evidence to account for the amount of money found on him after the robbery. Chancey v. State, 50 Tex. Cr. 85, 96 SW 12.

[b] Time of possession.—Where the state was permitted to prove that when the defendant was arrested for the robbery in question he had possession of a sum of money equal, approximately, to his share of the money if he participated in the robbery, it was error to refuse to permit to him to show that a reasonable time prior to the robbery he had such money and account for his possession, and one day prior to the robbery is too short a time to limit such evidence. Buford v. State, 124 Miss. 418, 86 S 860.

[80] Peo. v. Becker, 48 Mich. 43, 11 NW 779.

[81] Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34.

[a] Money.—Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34.

[82] Exclusive character of defendant's personal possession see supra § 163 text and note 78.

[83] Peo. v. Scott, 84 Cal. A. 642, 258 P 638; Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 277 SW 135.

[84] Clay v. State, 122 Ga. 136, 50 SE 56.

[a] Woman.—Where the article taken was a watch and the accused and a certain woman were very intimate, evidence that the watch was in the possession of the woman the morning after the robbery was admissible. Clay v. State, 122 Ga. 136, 50 SE 56.

[85] See supra §§ 157–160.

[86] See supra §§ 161–164.

[87] Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171; Smith v. State, 207 Ala. 428, 93 S 397; Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34; State v. Martin, 149 La. 673, 90 S 19; Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593; Tabor v. State, 52 Tex. Cr. 387, 107 SW 1116.

[a] Bloodstained revolver.—Anderson v. State, 209 Ala. 36, 95 S 171 (found on defendant when arrested shortly after the robbery).

[b] Bullet-riddled hat.—Smith v. State, 207 Ala. 428, 93 S 397 (left in repair shop by defendant who claimed bullet hole a mere cigaret burn).

[c] Car.—Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593 (of same make and model as one used in commission of the robbery).

[d] Conductor's pass.—Tabor v. State, 52 Tex. Cr. 387, 107 SW 1116 (robbery committed on railroad train, pass issued to defendant showed he was on the train).

[e] Envelope.—Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593 (holding that where defendant at time of offense used automobile bearing foreign license, and at time of arrest in different city used same type of car bearing newly issued domestic license, evidence that envelope in which such domestic license was inclosed was found on premises occupied by defendant and companion in committing offense was admissible).

[f] Goggles.—Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593 (similar in appearance to those used by robber).

[g] Grocery billhead.—State v. Martin, 149 La. 673, 90 S 19 (exhibited to victim by negro before robbery and given to defendant, also a negro, by grocer who further testified that he had never given a similar billhead to any other negro).

[h] Rain soaked clothing and muddy shoes.—Washington v. State, 188 Ala. 101, 66 S 34 (robbery committed in rain, evidence admissible even though probative force not over strong).

[i] Wrapping paper.—Arlington v. State, 98 Tex. Cr. 68, 263 SW 593 (wherein the court held that evidence that paper, usable for wrapping and bearing advertisement of store at which defendant and companion bought articles and exhibited roll of bills immediately after offense, was found in room, occupied by them immediately before offense, from which they soon departed, was admissible).

Probative force of evidence see infra § 179.

[88] State v. Curtis, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 122.

[a] Black or tan shoes.—"The state's witnesses testified in their identification of defendant that, on the night of the robbery, he wore tan shoes and that, when they observed him the next day at the jail, he wore tan shoes. Defendant's testimony shows that on the day of the robbery he wore black shoes, and it may be inferred from his testimony that he did not at that time possess tan shoes. Defendant offered to show by a shoe dealer that, in September or October previous, he bought a pair of low black shoes from him and had another pair repaired, and that the shoes defendant wore at the trial were the same shoes sold him by the dealer. The fact that defendant had previously bought or owned black shoes, or that he owned them on the day of the robbery, would not have tended to show that the perpetrator of the robbery did not wear tan shoes. Moreover, the only relative and material question related to whether defendant wore tan shoes on the night of the robbery, not whether he ever wore such shoes." State v. Curtis, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 122, 124.

[89] General rules see Criminal Law §§ 1559–1999.

[90] See supra §§ 144–147.

[91] See infra §§ 167–175.

[a] Corpus delicti.—(1) Evidence sufficient to convict as against contention that corpus delicti was not proved. Peo. v. Strider, 96 Cal. A. 632, 274 P 601; Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621; State v. Henry, 168 La. 855, 123 S 597; State v. Depriest, 288 Mo. 459, 232 SW 83; Bloomer v. Peo., 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 146, 3 Keyes 9. (2) Term defined see Criminal Law § 1578.

[b] Completed offense.—(1) Evidence held sufficient to show completed offense as against claim that only an attempt was proved. Peo. v. Bacciocco, 81 Cal. A. 19, 251 P 817; Peo. v. Rogers, 303 Ill. 578, 136 NE 470 (holding that evidence that defendant and his companions threatened prosecuting witness with guns and demanded that he deliver the package of money he was carrying to them, and that, when he attempted to flee, they followed him and knocked him unconscious with their guns, and that, when witness' companion reached him and he recovered consciousness, the package was gone, was sufficient to warrant the inference that the defendant and his companions took the money, though no witness testified to seeing them do so, and therefore establishes robbery, and not merely an assault with intent to rob). (2) Evidence held insufficient to support conviction for completed offense. Peo. v. Dahl, (Cal. A.) 290 P 608.

[92] See infra §§ 177–180.

[93] Ala.—Cowart v. State, 22 Ala. A. 300, 115 S 145.

Ariz.—Orme v. State, 276 P 321.

Ark.—Phillips v. State, 162 Ark. 541, 258 SW 403; Tarkington v. State, 154 Ark. 365, 242 SW 830; Benson v. State, 103 Ark. 87, 145 SW 883.

Cal.—Peo. v. Sampson, (A.) 286 P 434; Peo. v. Elliott, (A.) 285 P 401; Peo. v. Mesa, 101 Cal. A. 103, 281 P 83; Peo. v. Green, 93 Cal. A. 435, 269 P 687; Peo. v. Powell, 83 Cal. A. 62, 256 P 561; Peo. v. Hewitt, 78 Cal. A. 426, 248 P 1021; Peo. v. Dutro, 75 Cal. A. 138, 242 P 84; Peo. v. Yates, 71 Cal. A. 788, 236 P 185; Peo. v. Oakleaf, 66 Cal. A. 314, 226 P 24; Peo. v. Mahach, 65 Cal. A. 359, 224 P 130; Peo. v. McNabb, 63 Cal. A. 732, 219 P 1031; Peo. v. McNabb, 63 Cal. A. 755, 219 P 1028; Peo. v. Goulding, 60 Cal. A. 542, 213 P 277; Peo. v. Scott, 43 Cal. A. 439, 185 P 305; Peo. v. Tanner, 36 Cal. A. 20, 171 P 439; Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621; Peo. v. Osaki, 25 Cal. A. 329, 143 P 789; Peo. v. Mario, 18 Cal. A. 70, 122 P 76; Peo. v. Boyd, 16 Cal. A. 130, 116 P 323; Peo. v. Crowley, 13 Cal. A. 322, 109 P 493.

D. C.—Smith v. U. S., 57 App. 71, 17 F. (2d) 223.

Ga.—Jones v. State, 10 Ga. A. 59, 72 SE 518; Holland v. State, 8 Ga. A. 202, 68 SW 861.

Ill.—Peo. v. Bell, 328 Ill. 446, 159 NE 807; Peo. v. McGuirk, 312 Ill. 257, 143 NE 855; Peo. v. Decina, 306 Ill. 260, 137 NE 844; Peo. v. Jordan, 303 Ill. 316, 135 NE 729; Peo. v. Gijga, 299 Ill. 172, 132 NE 506; Peo. v. Maciejewski, 294 Ill. 390, 128 NE 489; Peo. v. Sobzcak, 286 Ill. 157, 121 NE 592; Peo. v. Kielczewski, 269 Ill. 293, 109 NE 981; Peo. v. Strand, 268 Ill. 542, 109 NE 274.

Iowa.—State v. Newcomber, 174 NW 255; State v. Leete, 187 Iowa 305, 174 NW 253. See also State v. Becker, 159 Iowa 72, 140 NW 201 (where the evidence of defendant's guilt of robbery was sufficient to go to the jury, but conviction was reversed for failure to submit issue of assault with intent to rob).

Kan.—State v. Rose, 118 Kan. 583, 235 P 868.

Ky.—Nelson v. Com., 232 Ky. 568, 24 SW (2d) 276; Browder v. Com., 232 Ky. 205, 22 SW (2d) 615; Boyd v. Com., 194 Ky. 73, 238 SW 182; Aldridge v. Com., 192 Ky. 215, 232 SW 619; Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162; Hughes v. Com., 124 SW 788.

Mass.—Com. v. Crecorian, 264 Mass. 94, 162 NE 7.

Minn.—State v. Bruno, 141 Minn. 56, 169 NW 249; State v. Flockey, 128 Minn. 40, 150 NW 168; State v. Briggs, 122 Minn. 493, 142 NW 823.

Mo.—State v. Faudi, 11 SW (2d) 1014; State v. Brazel, 270 SW 273; State v. Cantrell, 256 SW 464; State v. Brown, 290 Mo. 177, 234 SW 785.

Nebr.—Gardiner v. State, 110 Nebr. 11, 192 NW 946; Curtis v. State, 97 Nebr. 397, 150 NW 264; Williams v. State, 91 Nebr. 605, 136 NW 1011; Bunge v. State, 87 Nebr. 557, 127 NW 899.

Nev.—State v. Lewis, 50 Nev. 212, 255 P 1002.

N. J.—State v. DeBellis, 136 A 603 [aff 104 N. J. L. 187, 138 A 923].

N. Y.—Bloomer v. Peo., 1 Abb. Dec. 146, 3 Keyes 9.

N. C.—State v. Dorsett, 182 N. C. 826, 109 SE 39.

Okl.—Lassiter v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 756; Luce v. State, 36 Okl. Cr. 49, 252 P 452; Randall v. State, 33 Okl. Cr. 262, 243 P 983; Cox v. State, 25 Okl. Cr. 252, 220 P 70; Hill v. State, 19 Okl. Cr. 406, 200 P 253; Moody v. U. S., 2 Okl. Cr. 662, 103 P 862, 103 P 1039.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86; U. S. v. Castro, 23 Philippine 67; U. S. v. Divino, 18 Philippine 425; U. S. v. Navarro, 18 Philippine 357; U. S. v. Gregorio, 4 Philippine 443 (as to one of two defendants); U. S. v. San Pedro, 4 Philippine 405; U. S. v. Fuentes, 4 Philippine 404; U. S. v. Palisoc, 4 Philippine 207; U. S. v. Almasan, 4 Philippine 186; U. S. v. Oangoang, 3 Philippine 312.

Tex.—Walker v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 141, 287 SW 497; Williams v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 565, 286 SW 237; Walker v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 561, 286 SW 236; Mouhart v. State, 99 Tex. Cr. 463, 269 SW 801; Curtis v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 448, 248 SW 362; Spiller v. State, 68 Tex. Cr. 195, 150 SW 1164; Robinson v. State, 62 Tex. Cr. 645, 138 SW 704.

Utah.—State v. Sullivan, 276 P 166.

Wash.—State v. Fateh-Mohamed, 76 Wash. 462, 136 P 676.

[a] Accomplice's testimony.—(1) Sufficiently corroborated by independent evidence. Fortman v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 1109. (2) Held sufficient to support conviction without corroboration. Peo. v. Piech, 333 Ill. 293, 164 NE 692.

[b] Circumstantial evidence.—Peo. v. Waugh, 30 Cal. A. 402, 158 P 336; Peo. v. Barnhill, 337 Ill. 413, 169 NE 210; State v. Dingman, 155 Iowa 332, 135 NW 1082; State v. Rose, 118 Kan. 583, 235 P 868; State v. Goodwin, (Mo.) 300 SW 723; State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364; Bloomer v. Peo., 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 146, 3 Keyes 9; Brannon v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 835; Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108; State v. King, 67 Wash. 651, 122 P 323.

[c] Confession aside, other evidence held sufficient to convict. Peo. v. Bateman, 80 Cal. A. 151, 251 P 335.

[d] Foreigner's testimony in broken English without aid of interpreter held sufficient to support conviction where the witness understood the language. Peo. v. Holtzclaw, 76 Cal. A. 168, 243 P 894.

[e] Victim's testimony corroborated by that of arresting officer.—Cowart v. State, 22 Ala. A. 300, 115 S 145.

94. Cal.—Peo. v. White, (A.) 283 P 368.

Ida.—State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79.

Ill.—Peo. v. Nehrkorn, 305 Ill. 467, 137 NE 407.

Iowa.—State v. Bogardus, 188 Iowa 1293, 176 NW 327.

Mo.—State v. Kaplan, 16 SW (2d) 35.

Nebr.—Boonton v. State, 86 Nebr. 114, 125 NW 144.

N. J.—State v. Casuso, 6 N. J. Misc. 112, 140 A 27 [aff sub nom. State v. Legenza, 146 A 917].

Tex.—Phillips v. State, 73 Tex. Cr. 317, 164 SW 1004.

Wash.—State v. Parsons, 135 Wash. 353, 237 P 497.

[a] Automobile of victim.—State v. Bogardus, 188 Iowa 1293, 176 NW 327; State v. Parsons, 135 Wash. 353, 237 P 497.

[b] Bakery plant.—Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923.

[c] Club.—State v. Depriest, 288 Mo. 459, 232 SW 83.

[d] Filling station.—Peo. v. White, (Cal. A.) 283 P 368; Peo. v. Laird, 69 Cal. A. 511, 231 P 596.

[e] Garage.—Peo. v. Nehrkorn, 305 Ill. 467, 137 NE 407.

[f] Ice cream plant.—State v. Casuso, 6 N. J. Misc. 112, 140 A 27 [aff sub nom. State v. Legenza, (N. J.) 146 A 917].

[g] Private office.—Peo. v. Fisher, 303 Ill. 594, 136 NE 496.

[h] Railroad ticket and telegraph office.—State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069.

[i] Speakeasy.—Phillips v. State, 73 Tex. Cr. 317, 164 SW 1004.

[j] Street car.—State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79 (conductor); State v. Rebasti, 306 Mo. 336, 267 SW 858 (bank messenger).

[k] Theatre.—State v. Kaplan, (Mo.) 16 SW (2d) 35.

[l] Viaduct.—Boonton v. State, 86 Nebr. 114, 125 NW 144.

Where affecting classification of offense see infra § 176.

95. Ark.—Baldwin v. State, 119 Ark. 518, 178 SW 409.

Cal.—Peo. v. Booth, 72 Cal. A. 160, 236 P 987; Peo. v. Mendival, 62 Cal. A. 712, 217 P 793.

Ill.—Peo. v. Hildebrand, 307 Ill. 544, 139 NE 107.

Iowa.—State v. Patten, 191 Iowa 639, 182 NW 788 (entering bank with intent to rob as distinct offense in Iowa see infra § 242 text and note 49).

Mo.—State v. Beebe, 2 SW (2d) 712.

R. I.—State v. Miller, 142 A 662.

Wash.—State v. Simpson, 119 Wash. 653, 206 P 561.

Bank robbery as distinct offense see infra §§ 242–244.

96. Cal.—Peo. v. Foster, 198 Cal. 112, 243 P 667.

Ill.—Peo. v. Sicks, 299 Ill. 282, 132 NE 573.

Kan.—State v. King, 102 Kan. 155, 169 P 557.

Mo.—State v. Zoller, 1 SW (2d) 139.

Okl.—Holt v. State, 29 Okl. Cr. 386, 234 P 216; Vandergriff v. State, (Cr.) 282 P 897.

[a] Candy.—Peo. v. Foster, 198 Cal. 112, 243 P 667.

[b] Drugs.—State v. Zoller, (Mo.) 1 SW (2d) 139; State v. McCombs, (Mo.) 259 SW 440.

[c] Furs.—Peo. v. Robinson, 308 Ill. 398, 139 NE 599.

[d] Jewelry.—Peo. v. Sicks, 299 Ill. 282, 132 NE 573.

97. Ill.—Peo. v. Chalem, 336 Ill. 399, 168 NE 306.

Ky.—Anderson v. Com., 193 Ky. 663, 237 SW 45.

Minn.—State v. Duddy, 152 Minn. 179, 188 NW 261.

Miss.—Coleman v. State, 155 Miss. 482, 124 S 652.

Mo.—State v. Goodwin, 300 SW 723.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

ted in connection with another distinct offense;[98] also to cases in which the evidence was held insufficient to sustain a conviction of robbery,[99] as of a robbery committed in a particular place.[1]

[§ 167] b. Elements of Offense[2]—(1) In General. In accordance with general rules,[3] the state must prove by direct or circumstantial evidence every element of the offense.[4]

[§ 168] (2) Particular Elements—(a) Asportation.[5] The evidence must be sufficient to show an actual taking of the property.[6]

Nebr.—Hukill v. State, 109 Nebr. 279, 190 NW 867.

[a] Private residence.—Fowler v. Com., 195 Ky. 80, 241 SW 814; Anderson v. Com., 193 Ky. 663, 237 SW 45; Coleman v. State, 155 Miss. 482, 124 S 652.

[b] Rooming house.—Peo. v. Chalem, 336 Ill. 399, 168 NE 306.

[c] Shack.—Hukill v. State, 109 Nebr. 279, 190 NW 867.

[d] Vacant house.—State v. Bater, (Mo.) 232 SW 1012 (victim dragged from street into vacant house and there robbed).

[98] Cal.—Peo. v. Pickens, 61 Cal. A. 405, 214 P 1027; Peo. v. Sharp, 58 Cal. A. 637, 209 P 266; Peo. v. Morales, 56 Cal. A. 270, 204 P 1088.

Kan.—State v. Hamilton, 119 Kan. 564, 240 P 416.

Mo.—State v. Silvey, 296 SW 128.

N. C.—State v. Dorsett, 182 N. C. 826, 109 SE 39.

Tex.—Walker v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 141, 287 SW 497.

Wis.—Fifer v. State, 189 Wis. 50, 206 NW 861.

[a] Assault.—Peo. v. Pickens, 61 Cal. A. 405, 214 P 1027 (with deadly weapon); State v. Hamilton, 119 Kan. 564, 240 P 416 (under circumstances which would have constituted murder or manslaughter had death ensued); State v. Silvey, (Mo.) 296 SW 128 (felonious); State v. Dorsett, 182 N. C. 826, 109 SE 39 (as to one defendant of three convicted of robbery); Walker v. State, 105 Tex. Cr. 141, 287 SW 497 (indecent); Fifer v. State, 189 Wis. 50, 206 NW 861.

[b] Burglary.—Peo. v. Sharp, 58 Cal. A. 637, 209 P 266.

[c] Kidnapping.—Peo. v. Morales, 56 Cal. A. 270, 204 P 1088.

[d] Larceny.—State v. Hamilton, 119 Kan. 564, 240 P 416.

[99] Peo. v. Steinbuch, 306 Ill. 441, 138 NE 137; Ditman v. State, 36 Okl. Cr. 77, 252 P 449; Wever v. State, 22 Okl. Cr. 414, 211 P 1062; U. S. v. Palisoc, 36 Philippine 443; U. S. v. Gregorio, 4 Philippine 443 (as to one of two defendants); U. S. v. De la Pata, 3 Philippine 612.

[1] Peo. v. Cramer, 298 Ill. 509, 131 NE 657; State v. Burke, 197 Iowa 338, 197 NW 66; Nobles v. State, 154 Miss. 179, 122 S 392.

[a] Restaurant.—Peo. v. Cramer, 298 Ill. 509, 131 NE 657.

[b] Store.—Nobles v. State, 154 Miss. 179, 122 S 392.

[c] Yards.—State v. Burke, 197 Iowa 338, 197 NW 66.

[2] Enumerated and discussed see supra §§ 12-54.

[3] See Criminal Law § 1582.

[4] Ala.—Thomas v. State, 134 Ala. 126, 33 S 130.

Ariz.—Ramirez v. Terr., 9 Ariz. 177, 80 P 391.

Ark.—Rogers v. State, 109 SW 1160; Shell v. State, 84 Ark. 344, 105 SW 575.

Cal.—Peo. v. Nolan, 144 Cal. 75, 77 P 774; Peo. v. Patterson, 124 Cal. 102, 56 P 882; Peo. v. Barry, 90 Cal. 41, 27 P 62; Peo. v. Lum Yit, 83 Cal. 130, 23 P 228; Peo. v. White, 5 Cal. A. 329, 90 P 471; Peo. v. Gonzales, 6 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 263, 56 P 804; Peo. v. McDonald, 5 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 415, 45 P 1005.

Ga.—Hickey v. State, 125 Ga. 145, 53 SE 1026; Moran v. State, 125 Ga. 33, 53 SE 806; Johnson v. State, 1 Ga. A. 729, 57 SE 1056; Harris v. State, 1 Ga. A. 136, 57 SE 937.

Ill.—Peo. v. Campbell, 234 Ill. 391, 84 NE 1035, 123 AmSR 107; Steward v. Peo., 224 Ill. 434, 79 NE 636; Turley v. Peo., 188 Ill. 628, 59 NE 506; Rippetoe v. Peo., 172 Ill. 173, 50 NE 166; Hall v. Peo., 171 Ill. 540, 49 NE 495.

Ind.—Lee v. State, 156 Ind. 541, 60 NE 299; McCarty v. State, 127 Ind. 223, 26 NE 665; Brennon v. State, 25 Ind. 403.

Ky.—Kincaid v. Com., 78 SW 433, 25 KyL 1695.

Minn.—State v. Minot, 79 Minn. 118, 81 NW 753.

Mo.—State v. Calvert, 209 Mo. 280, 107 SW 1078; State v. Vaughan, 199 Mo. 108, 97 SW 879; State v. Davis, 186 Mo. 533, 85 SW 354; State v. Swisher, 186 Mo. 1, 84 SW 911; State v. Alexander, 184 Mo. 266, 83 SW 753; State v. Rowland, 174 Mo. 373, 74 SW 622; State v. Tate, 156 Mo. 119, 56 SW 1099; State v. Tate, 145 Mo. 667, 47 SW 792; State v. Moore, 106 Mo. 480, 17 SW 658.

Mont.—State v. Roach, 11 Mont. 227, 28 P 260; State v. Sullivan, 9 Mont. 174, 22 P 1088.

Nebr.—Walbridge v. State, 13 Nebr. 236, 13 NW 209.

N. Y.—Peo. v. McKenna, 118 App. Div. 766, 103 NYS 870; Peo. v. O'Neil, 6 N. Y. Cr. 226, 4 NYS 410.

N. C.—State v. Leach, 119 N. C. 828, 25 SE 858.

Oh.—McNeal v. State, 11 Oh. Dec. (Reprint) 782, 29 CincLBul 185.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Claravall, 34 Philippine 441.

S. D.—State v. Shields, 13 S. D. 464, 83 NW 559.

Tex.—Tabor v. State, 52 Tex. Cr. 387, 107 SW 1116; Reyes v. State, (Cr.) 102 SW 1156; Glenn v. State, 49 Tex. Cr. 349, 92 SW 806; Gables v. State, (Cr.) 68 SW 288; Brooks v. State, (Cr.) 37 SW 739; Rogers v. State, 32 Tex. Cr. 447, 24 SW 282; Odle v. State, 13 Tex. A. 612.

Va.—Wheeler v. Com., 86 Va. 658, 10 SE 924.

Wash.—State v. Jamieson, 45 Wash. 314, 88 P 214.

[a] Evidence held sufficient.—Brown v. State, 34 Ariz. 150, 268 P 618; Cathey v. State, 180 Ark. 1081, 24 SW (2d) 971; Peo. v. Pasqueria, 30 Cal. A. 625, 159 P 173; State v. Dingman, 155 Iowa 332, 135 NW 1082; State v. Harmon, 317 Mo. 354, 296 SW 397; Peo. v. Sperduto, 221 App. Div. 577, 224 NYS 529; Com. v. Earl, 91 Pa. Super. 447.

[b] Evidence held insufficient.—Reynolds v. State, 14 Ariz. 537, 132 P 434; Peo. v. Sylvis, 72 Cal. A. 632, 237 P 802; Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35; U. S. v. Claravall, 34 Philippine 441.

[5] As element of offense see supra § 13.

[6] Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35; Green v. Com., 133 Va. 695, 112 SE 562.

[a] Pocket-book knocked from hand and left lying beside victim.—Where the evidence showed defendant's assault and battery upon a woman, rendering her unconscious, that before the assault she had her pocket-book in her hand, that on recovering consciousness she saw defendant bending over her and kicked him, whereupon he ran, and that she then noticed her pocket-book lying a few feet away and on examination found its contents intact, the evidence was insufficient to support a conviction for robbery because there was nothing to show that defendant ever took the pocket-book or had it or its contents in his absolute control for even a moment. Green v. Com., 133 Va. 695, 112 SE 562.

[b] Where property might have been lost instead of taken.—"In the present case there is not sufficient evidence to show that Bados was robbed, or, if he was, that he was robbed by the defendant. Bados testified that there was a free for all fight, in which he, the defendant, and two other persons took part; that he did not see any one take his money, but that he first missed it while he was driving away in his cab after the fight was over. His shirt was torn and unbuttoned in front. It is just as consistent with the circumstances to conclude that the money dropped from his pocket and was lost in the scuffle as that it was stolen. There were a number of persons present at the scene of the fight, but Bados made no complaint to them that he was robbed. He testified that he did not know whether any one took the money or how he lost it. Under this state of evidence the proof is insufficient to establish the commission of the crime charged." Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35, 37.

[c] Sufficient evidence of taking.—"The appellant first contends that the evidence is insufficient to support the verdict. The evidence of the complaining witness is to the effect that, on the date alleged in the information, he met the appellant and his codefendant in the town of Buckley; that they seized and carried him for some distance along the sidewalk; that the appellant abstracted from his trousers pocket all of his silver, amounting to about $1.75; that they then threw him onto the sidewalk, face downward; and that, when he got onto his feet, his pocketbook, containing 'a twenty-dollar gold piece and one five,' and which he was carrying in his inside coat pocket, was gone. There is some corroboration of this testimony. Our statute (Rem. & Bal. § 2418) defines robbery as the 'unlawful taking of personal property from the person of another . . . against his will and by means of force or violence, or fear of injury immediate or future to his person or property,' etc.

[§ 169] (b) Property Taken[7]—aa. Existence. The evidence should be sufficient to show that the property claimed to have been taken actually existed.[8]

[§ 170] bb. Value.[9] Any evidence showing that the property taken had some value is sufficient to establish this element of the crime,[10] such as the introduction into evidence of the article itself,[11] or testimony that the articles taken were articles which the person robbed "had purchased,"[12] by paying a specified sum of money.[13]

Value of United States coin need not be proved.[14]

[§ 171] cc. Ownership and Possession.[15] Where defendant makes no claim of right, the fact that the property taken was in the immediate possession or custody and control of the prosecuting witness is sufficient evidence of ownership to sustain a conviction.[16] Where ownership of the property is alleged to be in a corporation, it is sufficient to prove a de facto existence of such corporation.[17]

[§ 172] (c) Person or Presence.[18] The evidence must be sufficient to show a taking from the person or presence of the victim.[19]

[§ 173] (d) Force, Intimidation, or Other Method of Taking.[20] The evidence must be sufficient to

---

The evidence of the taking of the money is ample to support the verdict. True, the appellant denied laying his hands upon the complaining witness except to assist him to arise after he had fallen from drunkenness, and denied the taking of the money. But the truth of the testimony was for the jury." State v. Brache, 63 Wash. 396, 115 P 853.

[7] Subjects of robbery see supra §§ 14–19.

[8] See case infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to establish existence and identification of promissory note taken in robbery by maker and subsequently burned by same person. State v. Bailey, 90 Or. 627, 178 P 201.

[9] As element of offense see supra § 16.

[10] Peo. v. Ferlito, 100 Cal. A. 355, 280 P 136. And see infra text and notes 11–13.

[a] Shortage of funds following robbery in bank.—"There was proof of the corpus delicti in that a party, identified as the defendant, entered the bank and with a drawn revolver made threats as to what he would do if any one interfered with him, and was heard handling money in the cage, and thereafter there was evidence that there was a shortage of the funds in the cage. It makes no difference what the amount of the shortage was; the theft of any amount would be sufficient to make the crime robbery." Peo. v. Ferlito, 100 Cal. A. 355, 280 P 136.

[11] Peo. v. Dumas, 161 Mich. 45, 125 NW 766.

[a] Knife.—Peo. v. Dumas, 161 Mich. 45, 125 NW 766.

[12] James v. State, 53 Ala. 380.

[13] U. S. v. De la Cruz, 12 Philippine 87.

[14] Barddell v. State, 144 Ala. 54, 39 S 975; Peo. v. Stevens, 141 Cal. 488, 75 P 62; State v. Helvin, 65 Iowa 289, 21 NW 645; State v. Hyde, 22 Wash. 551, 61 P 719.

[15] As element of offense see supra §§ 17–19.

[16] Cal.—Peo. v. Nelson, 56 Cal. 77; Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621.

Ida.—State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 121 P 79.

Ill.—Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923; Howard v. Peo., 193 Ill. 615, 61 NE 1016; Bow v. Peo., 160 Ill. 438, 43 NE 593.

Ind.—McAleer v. State, 200 Ind. 366, 163 NE 593.

La.—State v. Hobgood, 46 La. Ann. 855, 15 S 406.

Mont.—State v. Howard, 30 Mont. 518, 77 P 50.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Albao, 29 Philippine 86.

"Where the defendant makes no claim of ownership to the property taken, the fact that the property was taken from the possession of the prosecuting witness is sufficient proof of the ownership, or at least of the fact that the defendant was not the owner and had no right to its possession." State v. Brill, 21 Ida. 269, 274, 121 P 79.

[a] In victim's pocket.—Evidence that prosecuting witness got two checks, had them cashed, and that the money in his pocket, when attacked, was a part of their proceeds, is sufficient to show that the money was his property. Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621.

[b] Evidence sufficient to show victim was special owner.—Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408.

[c] Evidence sufficient to show victim's personal possession of property.—"The rule is that once a fact is established inferences follow from it in proportion to the circumstances by which it is surrounded. One ever-present inference results as soon as a fact is proven to exist; namely, that as soon as it passes from the now to the then, so soon as it has passed from the present it is presumed to have remained as proven to exist until the contrary is shown. . . . Here the evidence is undisputed that Anderson was assaulted, knocked down, and badly bruised; the vest pocket where he kept his wallet was cut out, and it is established that nine days before the robbery he had the sum of $320 in his wallet when it was last inspected, and that he kept the wallet containing his money in the inside pocket of his vest. In our opinion the evidence is sufficient to establish the fact that Anderson in fact carried the money in his inside vest pocket, and that it was there at the time the robbery was committed." State v. Olson, (Mont.) 287 P 938, 940.

[d] In the Philippines, where a defendant, tried for robbery by cutting and removing crops, claimed the owner had given him permission to do so, the court, in holding the evidence insufficient to sustain a conviction, said: "Without discussing the question whether or not the crime of robbery may be committed by cutting zacate of spontaneous growth, we are of the opinion that, in view of the contradictory statements with reference to the identity of the lands upon which the zacate was cut, the recommendation of the Attorney-General that the decision of the lower court be reversed, the complaint be dismissed and the defendant discharged from the custody of the law, should be accepted, for the reason that the proof is not sufficiently clear and positive to show the guilt of the defendant, beyond a reasonable doubt." U. S. v. Mamonong, 21 Philippine 414, 416.

[17] Peo. v. Bernstein, 304 Ill. 351, 136 NE 683; Peo. v. Kozel, 303 Ill. 112, 135 NE 208; Peterson v. State, 115 Nebr. 302, 212 NW 610.

Proof of corporate existence generally see Corporations § 180.

[18] As element of offense see supra §§ 20–23.

[19] Peo. v. Sylvis, 72 Cal. A. 632, 237 P 802.

[a] Evidence held sufficient.—"The contention is that the proof utterly failed to show that the money was taken in the presence of Fritz Nensel. Defendants' position is based on the evidence that the money was taken from Mrs. Nensel's custody, while she and defendants were in the cellar, and that, at that time, Fritz Nensel was in the kitchen above them. From these facts it is argued that Mrs. Nensel and defendants, at the time of the robbery, were without the presence and hearing of Nensel. The facts for the state develop that both Mr. and Mrs. Nensel were unlawfully restrained by defendants, that both of them were in custody at the same time, and that the money was taken and the robbery committed while both of them were under restraint, and while they were only a few feet apart. The robbery, so the evidence tends to show, occurred as the result of the restraints. We have no hesitancy in reaching the conclusion that Nensel at least was within the constructive presence of defendants at the time the money was taken. The statute we think comprehends that degree of presence. However, as he was under the restraint and in the custody of defendants, thus permitting them to take the money against his will, we think, under the facts, that he was then in their actual presence." State v. Craft, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 183, 185.

[b] Evidence held insufficient.—Peo. v. Sylvis, 72 Cal. A. 632, 237 P 802 (where it appeared that the pocket-book taken was picked up from the ground after the victim had left the scene).

[20] As element of offense see supra §§ 24–44.

Evidence where affecting classification of offense see infra § 176.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

prove a taking by force or intimidation,[21] or, where several different methods are specified in a statute defining robbery,[22] to show a taking by some one of such specified methods,[23] proof of any one being sufficient.[24] Where intimidation is relied upon,[25] it must be established by proof of conduct, words, or circumstances reasonably calculated to produce fear.[26] But it is not necessary that there be proof of actual fear, as fear may be presumed where there is just cause for it.[27]

Particular evidence held sufficient. In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held sufficient to show an assault,[28] or to show actual force,[29] or intimidation;[30] or to show the use of both force and intimidation,[31] or of either one or the other.[32]

---

21. Reynolds v. State, 14 Ariz. 537, 132 P 434; Peo. v. O'Connor, 310 Ill. 403, 141 NE 748; Stevens v. State, 19 Nebr. 647, 28 NW 304.

22. See statutory provisions; and supra § 25.

23. Davis v. State, 150 Ga. 19, 100 SE 767; Easley v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 238, 199 SW 476.

[a] None of three methods.—Where the evidence in a prosecution for robbery fails to show the use of any force or intimidation, or a sudden snatching, taking, or carrying away such as is defined to be robbery by Pen. Code (1910) § 148, defendant's conviction for robbery is unauthorized. Davis v. State, 24 Ga. A. 327, 100 SE 767.

24. State v. Bailey, 90 Or. 627, 178 P 201, 204.

"The crime of robbery is made out by proving that property was taken from the person by some one or more of the means enumerated in the statute." State v. Bailey, supra.

25. Force and intimidation as alternative requirements see supra § 24.

26. Easley v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 238, 199 SW 476.

Particular evidence as to intimidation see infra text and notes 30–32, 35.

27. Ga.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

Ky.—Haley v. Com., 210 Ky. 554, 276 SW 519.

Mo.—State v. Kennedy, 154 Mo. 268, 55 SW 293; State v. Lamb, 141 Mo. 298, 42 SW 827; State v. Lawler, 130 Mo. 366, 32 SW 979, 51 AmSR 575.

Nebr.—Trimble v. State, 61 Nebr. 604, 85 NW 844.

Nev.—State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Santiago, 1 Philippine 716.

Tex.—Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRA NS 1024.

Wash.—State v. Redmond, 122 Wash. 392, 210 P 772.

[a] Leading case.—Long v. State, 12 Ga. 293.

28. Montgomery v. State, 101 Tex. Cr. 474, 477, 276 SW 250; Robinson v. State, 62 Tex. Cr. 645, 138 SW 704, 705.

29. Ga.—Hines v. State, 16 Ga. A. 411, 85 SE 452.

Iowa.—State v. Duffy, 124 Iowa 705, 100 NW 796.

Ky.—Blanton v. Com., 58 SW 422, 22 KyL 515.

Mo.—State v. Evans, 23 SW (2d) 152.

Nev.—State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364.

N. Y.—Peo. v. McElroy, 14 NYS 203; Bloomer v. Peo., 1 Abb. Dec. 146, 3 Keyes 9.

Tex.—Rylee v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 482, 236 SW 744.

Wash.—State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 7 LRANS 566.

[a] Bruised and beaten condition of victim a circumstance sufficient to show that actual force was used. Hines v. State, 16 Ga. A. 411, 85 SE 452.

[b] Holding victim while his property is taken. State v. Evans, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 152 (by companion); Rylee v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 482, 236 SW 744 (by the holder).

[c] Struggle between victim and defendant in connection with attempt to pick the victim's pocket is sufficient to authorize the jury to infer use of actual force. Hines v. State, 16 Ga. A. 411, 85 SE 452.

[d] Unconscious victim.—(1) Evidence sufficient to show administration of drug rendering victim unconscious for purpose of robbery so as to establish a taking by force. State v. Snyder, 41 Nev. 453, 172 P 364, 365 (where the court said: "It is also contended in behalf of appellant that the evidence of the doctors shows that the condition in which Cooper was found could not have been caused by chloral hydrate, as contended by the state, for the reason that the witness Cooper testified that almost immediately upon drinking the beer testified to he became unconscious, because, as contended, chloral hydrate does not produce the condition of unconsciousness in which Cooper was found in less than 30 minutes, unless a dose is taken which will cause certain death. While one of the witnesses testified flatly that chloral hydrate would not produce unconsciousness in less than 30 minutes, Dr. Kistler, who had been called to attend Cooper, did not so testify; and, while his testimony was somewhat uncertain, he did state: 'At the time that I was called to treat the man, I supposed he was suffering from chloral poisoning. I have the same opinion now.' From an examination of the works of textwriters, it is apparent that what may be a medicinal dose for one person is a poisonous dose for another. In some instances a dose of 30 grains has proven fatal, while in other cases more than an ounce has been taken without ill effect. . . . We do not think the contention of appellant can be sustained"). (2) Evidence sufficient to show force applied to victim after he had become unconscious. Bowen v. State, 16 Ga. A. 110, 84 SE 730 (where the court said: "The evidence was sufficient to show that the prosecutor's watch, money, and other things of value, of which the indictment alleged he had been robbed by force, were taken from his person while he was drunk or unconscious from liquor furnished to him by the defendant, which probably was drugged, and that his watch chain was broken and bodily injuries were inflicted upon him while he was in that condition; and the circumstances authorized the jury to conclude that the watch chain was broken and the injuries were inflicted in the taking of these things from his person, and that the defendant was the perpetrator of the crime").

30. Ill.—Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494.

Ky.—Haley v. Com., 210 Ky. 554, 276 SW 519.

Mo.—State v. Hall, 7 SW (2d) 1001.

Nebr.—Williams v. State, 51 Nebr. 711, 71 NW 729.

Nev.—State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

Tex.—Acosta v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 643, 179 SW 870; Glasper v. State, 76 Tex. Cr. 310, 174 SW 585; McCormick v. State, 26 Tex. A. 678, 9 SW 277.

Wash.—State v. Redmond, 122 Wash. 392, 210 P 772.

[a] Drawing knife.—State v. Kelley, (Mo.) 284 SW 801; State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260.

[b] Masked men without guns.—Where the victim of an alleged robbery was seated in a parked car with a young lady eating ice cream when two masked men suddenly came out of the bushes and stood on either side of the car, and without displaying guns or uttering threats, proceeded to take money from the lady's purse, and then ordered the prosecuting witness to step out of the car, whereupon they took his watch, money, and a one thousand dollar diamond, the evidence was sufficient to show intimidation notwithstanding the witness' testimony that "I wasn't to say scared," but "was afraid if I did resist them I would be injured." Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693.

[c] Pressing gun against head.—State v. Redmond, 122 Wash. 392, 210 P 772.

[d] Reasonable but mistaken belief that defendant had gun.—Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494.

[e] Suddenly prodding driver in back and demanding his money when the driver did not even know defendant was in his car is sufficient to authorize an inference that the driver surrendered his money because of intimidation. State v. Craft, 299 Mo. 332, 253 SW 224.

[f] Threatening attitude of three men demanding money of single victim.—Peo. v. Bodkin, 304 Ill. 124, 136 NE 494.

31. Peo. v. Case, 77 Cal. A. 477, 246 P 1083; Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517; State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 102 P 260; State v. Bailey, 90 Or. 627, 178 P 201.

[a] Placing arm upon shoulders and holding pistol to face.—Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517.

[b] Threatening to throw victim in well, binding hands and feet, and taking note from person while bound.—State v. Bailey, 90 Or. 627, 178 P 201.

32. Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621.

Particular evidence held insufficient. In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held insufficient to show an assault,[33] or force[34] or intimidation,[35] as where there is no evidence at all respecting the method of taking.[36]

[§ 174] (e) Consent. The nonconsent of the victim essential as an element of robbery[37] may be inferred from circumstances reasonably raising such an inference.[38]

[§ 175] (f) Intent. In accordance with general rules[39] the intent to steal essential as an element of robbery[40] must be affirmatively established.[41] But such intent may be made to appear by the circumstances which accompany the taking.[42]

Evidence held sufficient. In accordance with the circumstances involved the evidence in particular cases has been held sufficient to show intent to steal,[43] as against defendant's claim that he took in jest,[44] or under duress.[45]

Evidence insufficient. In accordance with the circumstances involved, evidence in particular cases has been held insufficient to prove intent to steal,[46] as where the evidence was insufficient to disprove defendant's contention that he took under claim of right.[47]

---

33. Easley v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 238, 199 SW 476; Peo. v. O'Connor, 310 Ill. 403, 141 NE 748.

34. Easley v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 238, 199 SW 476.

35. Peo. v. O'Connor, 310 Ill. 403, 141 NE 748; Easley v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 238, 199 SW 476.

[a] Grabbing drunken man's purse.—Where the victim of a robbery had been drinking and was sitting on the sidewalk of a busy thoroughfare and engaged in taking out his pocket-book to examine it with closed eyes, when defendants grabbed the pocket-book and carried it off, the victim's intoxication as evidenced by his actions was such as to preclude belief of his statement that defendants yelled threats of death in a loud voice, especially where a disinterested witness testifies that defendants merely pilfered the victim without force or threats after an auto had knocked him down, and there was insufficient evidence of either force or intimidation. Peo. v. O'Connor, 310 Ill. 403, 141 NE 748.

[b] Where defendant had stick in his hand, undescribed as to size, weight, length, or material of which made, and the evidence shows no demonstration or threat, the mere possession of this undescribed stick is insufficient to authorize an inference of intimidation. Easley v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 238, 199 SW 476.

36. Reynolds v. State, 14 Ariz. 537, 132 P 434.

[a] Evidence relating only to identification.—Evidence that accused and the prosecutor were engaged in a game of cards, during which they indulged in friendly drinks, that when the prosecutor reached home in an intoxicated condition his pocketbook was missing, and that it was found the next morning empty at a place where he had become entangled in the wires of a fence, and that on such following morning accused had money in his possession, without any evidence as to when or by what means the money was taken from the prosecutor or that it was taken by means of force or fear, was insufficient to support a conviction for robbery, since, while it showed an opportunity by accused to take the money and subsequent possession of like property which would have been sufficient to connect him with the robbery when shown to have been committed, it had no weight in establishing the commission of the robbery. Reynolds v. State, 14 Ariz. 537, 132 P 434.

37. See supra §§ 45–48.

38. Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84; Stewart v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 31 SW 407.

[a] Evidence held sufficient.—(1) Generally. Stewart v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 31 SW 407. (2) Consent proved as against claim that victim hired robbers to defraud an insurance company. Peo. v. Goldberg, 302 Ill. 559, 135 NE 84.

39. See Criminal Law § 1583.

40. See supra §§ 49–53.

Evidence of particular intent governing classification of offense see infra § 176.

41. Coles v. State, 23 Oh. Cir. Ct. 313; Denman v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 47 SW 366.

42. Cal.—Peo. v. Hite, 135 Cal. 76, 67 P 57.

Ill.—Howard v. Peo., 193 Ill. 615, 61 NE 1016.

Mo.—State v. Carroll, 160 Mo. 368, 60 SW 1087.

N. Y.—Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460.

Tex.—Tones v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 363, 88 SW 217, 122 AmSR 759, 1 LRA NS 1024.

[a] Defendant's declarations of another purpose, made immediately before the robbery, are not conclusive on intent. Peo. v. Woody, 48 Cal. 80.

43. See cases infra this note.

[a] Generally.—Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254; Stone v. Peo., 71 Colo. 162, 204 P 897; Foster v. State, 83 Nebr. 264, 119 NW 475; Bell v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 146, 177 SW 966.

[b] Avoiding officer.—Where the defense was that the money taken was due for drinks, but the evidence showed that defendant stealthily approached the customer and forcibly took more than the amount claimed to be due, and then tried to escape from a policeman who witnessed the act, and made no explanation when arrested, there was evidence sufficient to show criminal intent. State v. Carroll, 160 Mo. 368, 60 SW 1087.

[c] Intent to steal particular property.—Rice v. State, 204 Ala. 104, 85 S 437.

44. Caskey v. State, 95 Tex. Cr. 379, 254 SW 996.

45. Fox v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 18 SW (2d) 661; Tunnell v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 49, 290 SW 182.

[a] Illustration.—"The testimony for the state shows that appellant and another man had the prosecuting witness drive them in his car to a point east of the city of Fort Worth and near what is known as Polytechnic. At this place the companion of appellant drew a pistol and ordered prosecuting witness to 'stick 'em up,' and then told appellant to go through him. The witness testified that thereupon the appellant went through his pockets and relieved him of a sum of money. He said that up to this time appellant had been pretending to be drunk, but that, during the process of the taking from him of the money, appellant seemed very sober and very much alive. . . . Appellant testified in his own behalf and admitted that he was present and took part in the robbery, but claimed that he was in fact drunk, and that what he did do he did through fear and while under duress. The trial court submitted this theory of the case to the jury in his charge, to which no exception was taken. In its rebuttal, the state introduced a witness who saw appellant near the place where the latter and his companion got in the car of prosecuting witness and apparently at a time shortly before that occurrence. This witness testified that appellant was not drunk at the time. We are of opinion that the evidence sufficiently supports the judgment." Fox v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 18 SW (2d) 661.

[b] Sequestration.—"The defense of sequestration is a familiar one in these cases, and is of such a character as not to be entitled to much consideration unless supported by strong evidence. Not only is there no evidence that the defendant was an involuntary member of the band, except as his own assertion to that effect, but the circumstance that the leader of the band allowed him to carry a revolver strongly discredits any such theory. We can entertain no doubt as to the defendant's guilt." U. S. v. Callotes, 2 Philippine 16.

46. See cases infra this note.

[a] Generally.—Hixon v. State, 38 Ga. A. 36, 142 SE 565; Barnes v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 135, 272 SW 188.

[b] Circumstantial evidence.—"The accused was convicted of robbery. There was direct evidence as to a 'holdup' by the defendant, but the evidence as to his intent in so doing (whether he 'held up' the person named in the indictment with the intent to rob him, or with the intent to give him a beating, or with the intent to procure his arrest for automobile speeding) was wholly circumstantial, and was not sufficient to exclude every reasonable hypothesis save that of his guilt of the offense charged. It follows that his conviction was unauthorized, and that the refusal to grant a new trial was error." Hixon v. State, 38 Ga. A. 36, 142 SE 565.

47. Barnes v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 135, 272 SW 188; State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914.

[a] As special constable.—"Where the indictment charges the accused

Voluntary return of stolen property[48] is entitled to some weight as evidence of absence of criminal intent,[49] but is not in itself sufficient to negative such intent.[50]

[§ 176] c. Degree or Classification of Offense. To convict of a particular degree[51] or other distinct classification[52] of robbery, the evidence should be sufficient to establish beyond a reasonable doubt the facts essential to constitute such particular degree or other classification of the crime.[53] The dangerous or deadly character of a weapon with which defendant was armed in committing a robbery may be established by circumstantial evidence.[54] Where the weapon is a firearm, to show its dangerous or deadly character it is not essential to prove that it was loaded.[55] In a prosecution for robbery, aggravated by the use of firearms, with intent to kill or maim if resisted, the intent to kill or maim may be found without proof that the gun was loaded.[56] In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held sufficient to support a conviction of robbery in the first,[57] second,[58] or third[59] degree, or of other specific classifications of the crime,[60] such as automobile banditry,[61] conjoint robbery,[62] highway rob-of robbing the prosecuting witness of a revolver, being armed with a deadly weapon, and the evidence and circumstances disclose that the accused, a special constable on his way to execute criminal process, accompanied by a companion for that purpose, upon reaching the home of the latter, found the prosecuting witness there with bottles of intoxicating liquors in his pocket and partially exposed to view, and after a short colloquy took him from his horse by force, assisted by his companion, having in their possession and ready for use their pistols, disarmed him of the revolver mentioned in the indictment, and took from him his liquor, and the pistol so taken is delivered, a day or so after, to a justice of the peace by a prohibition officer who, happening on the scene of the alleged robbery, assisted in disarming the prosecuting witness and the confiscation of his liquor, the essential element of the intent to steal, take and carry away the revolver on the part of the accused at the time they came into possession of the revolver is not clearly shown, and the taking under such circumstances does not warrant a conviction of robbery." State v. Morris, 96 W. Va. 291, 122 SE 914.

---

[b] Taking as detective without consulting all of other officials.—Barnes v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 135, 272 SW 188.

[48] As no defense see supra § 74.

[49] Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67; Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254.

[50] Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67; Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254.

[51] Degrees of offense see supra §§ 56–64.

[52] Classification of offense see supra §§ 65–69.

[53] See cases infra notes 54–80.

[54] Peo. v. Sampson, 99 Cal. A. 306, 278 P 492; State v. Kowertz, (Mo.) 25 SW (2d) 113.

[a] Manner of use.—"The proof of the dangerous and deadly character of the weapon used by appellant and his companion was sufficient in this case. In the absence of countervailing testimony on the point, the jury was authorized to find that the revolvers or automatic pistols used in the robbery were what the robbers intended their victims to believe they were, to wit, dangerous and deadly weapons, and that their lives would be imperiled if they resisted the robbers who were armed therewith. By this we do not mean to say that an issue of fact upon the dangerous and deadly character of the weapon used could not be raised by the evidence. But we do intend to hold that, where nothing appears beyond the fact that a weapon is used in a robbery, in the manner dangerous and deadly weapons are ordinarily used to accomplish a robbery, the jury has the right, from such use alone, to draw the inference that the weapon so used was in fact a dangerous and deadly weapon." State v. Kowertz, (Mo.) 25 SW (2d) 113, 115 (use of such weapon justifies additional punishment for first degree robbery).

[b] Nature of wound inflicted.—"The character of weapon used by the defendant may be shown, of course, by circumstantial evidence, and proof that the victim was rendered unconscious by the blow and remained in that condition for a considerable time, together with the nature of the injury inflicted, warrants the inference, in the absence of other evidence, that a dangerous weapon was used." Peo. v. Sampson, 99 Cal. A. 306, 278 P 492, 493.

[55] State v. Kowertz, (Mo.) 25 SW (2d) 113.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to prove weapon was loaded.—Peo. v. Hall, 87 Cal. A. 634, 262 P 50; Peo. v. Seawright, 72 Cal. A. 414, 237 P 796.

[56] Peo. v. Deluce, 237 Ill. 541, 86 NE 1080.

[a] Holding gun over victim.—Where there was evidence that accused held a revolver while prosecutor was being robbed, the jury might find that accused intended to kill or maim, if resisted, though there was no proof that the revolver was loaded. Peo. v. Deluce, 237 Ill. 541, 86 NE 1080.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to show intent.—(1) Generally. Peo. v. Seawright, 72 Cal. A. 414, 237 P 796. (2) "In the instant case the evidence in question goes beyond what is necessary in accordance with the authorities cited to make out a prima facie case. In order to put the complainant in fear, the revolver was not merely pointed at him, with a threat, but was actually opened up, so as to exhibit the bullets. The desperate nature and character of the holdup in itself constitutes strong and powerful evidence indicative on the part of the defendants, together with the uttered threats, of an intention to accomplish their end, if need be, by the use of this revolver in such a way as to constitute the instrument a dangerous one as contemplated by the statute. We are satisfied from an examination of the record, . . . that all of the elements of the offense have been satisfactorily and abundantly proven." Schiner v. State, 178 Wis. 83, 189 NW 261, 263.

Sufficiency of evidence as to intent to steal see supra § 175.

[57] Cal.—Peo. v. Davis, (A.) 289 P 194; Peo. v. White, (A.) 283 P 368; Peo. v. Vejar, 93 Cal. A. 259, 269 P 671; Peo. v. Barnett, 87 Cal. A. 243, 261 P 1068; Peo. v. Scott, 84 Cal. A. 642, 258 P 638; Peo. v. Bacciocco, 81 Cal. A. 19, 251 P 817; Peo. v. Collins, 79 Cal. A. 127, 249 P 60; Peo. v. Strauss, 75 Cal. A. 447, 243 P 67.

Kan.—State v. Wise, 129 Kan. 155, 281 P 886; State v. Hamilton, 119 Kan. 564, 240 P 416; State v. King, 102 Kan. 155, 169 P 557.

Minn.—State v. Barone, 173 Minn. 232, 217 NW 104; State v. Duddy, 152 Minn. 179, 188 NW 261. See State v. Klashtorni, 177 Minn. 363, 225 NW 278 (where the court held the evidence sufficient to sustain a conviction for first degree robbery but reversed for error in instructions).

Mo.—State v. Pine, 18 SW (2d) 48; State v. Kaplan, 16 SW (2d) 35; State v. Ball, 321 Mo. 1171, 14 SW (2d) 638; State v. Selvaggi, 2 SW (2d) 765; State v. Beebe, 2 SW (2d) 712; State v. Zoller, 1 SW (2d) 139; State v. Goodwin, 300 SW 723; State v. Drew, 300 SW 473; State v. Harmon, 317 Mo. 354, 296 SW 397; State v. Harmon, 296 SW 391; State v. Flynn, 292 SW 413; State v. Holmes, 316 Mo. 122, 289 SW 904; State v. Ingram, 316 Mo. 268, 289 SW 637; State v. Butler, 316 Mo. 264, 289 SW 636; State v. Harvey, 289 SW 589; State v. Van Valkenburgh, 285 SW 978; State v. Strada, 274 SW 34; State v. Rebasti, 306 Mo. 336, 267 SW 858; State v. McCombs, 259 SW 440; State v. Kile, 253 SW 709; State v. Huffman, 238 SW 430; State v. Lasson, 292 Mo. 155, 238 SW 101; State v. Wilson, 237 SW 776; State v. Flynn, 258 Mo. 211, 167 SW 516; State v. Sydnor, 253 Mo. 375, 161 SW 692. See State v. James, 216 Mo. 394, 115 SW 994 (evidence held to support conviction, but conviction reversed on other grounds).

N. Y.—Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460; Peo. v. Sperduto, 221 App. Div. 577, 224 NYS 529.

Okl.—Pope v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 417, 246 P 657; Tipton v. State, 23 Okl. Cr. 86, 212 P 612, 31 ALR 1074; Wade v. State, 18 Okl. Cr. 592, 197 P 180.

[a] Armed with dangerous or deadly weapon.—Peo. v. Green, 93 Cal. A. 435, 269 P 687; Peo. v. Milburn, 89 Cal. A. 526, 265 P 285; Peo. v. Hall, 87 Cal. A. 634, 262 P 50; Peo. v. Wysong, 86 Cal. A. 329, 260 P 825; Peo. v. Case, 77 Cal. A. 477, 246 P 1083; Peo. v. Egan, 77 Cal. A. 279, 246 P 337; State v. Chodos, 147 Minn. 420, 180 NW 536; Peo. v. Prince, 143 App. Div. 524, 128 NYS 273, 26 N. Y. Cr. 81. See also infra text and note 69.

[58] Peo. v. Fallai, 99 Cal. A. 297, 278 P 449; Peo. v. Wilson, 93 Cal. A. 632, 269 P 951; Peo. v. Bryan, 91 Cal. A. 189, 266 P 972; Peo. v. Pedel, 81 Cal. A. 558, 254 P 298.

[59] State v. Rose, 118 Kan. 583, 235 P 868.

[60] See infra text and notes 61–71.

[61] Cazak v. State, 196 Ind. 63, 147 NE 138.

Defined see supra § 3.

[62] Roddy v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 765; Henry v. State, 32 Okl. Cr. 67, 240 P 128; Stockton v. State, 31 Okl.

bery,[63] robo en cuadrilla,[64] robbery with wounds[65] or personal violence,[66] robbery committed in an uninhabited place[67] or in the house of the victim,[68] robbery while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon,[69] and robbery by intimidation[70] or by snatching;[71] also to cases in which the evidence was held insufficient to sustain a conviction of robbery in the first[72] or third[73] degree, or of other specific classifications of the crime,[74] such as robo en cuadrilla,[75] robbery by use of actual force,[76] robbery with wounds,[77] and robbery while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon.[78]

To justify imposition of death penalty for robbery while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon,[79] both defendant's connection with the crime and all elements of the particular statutory classification of robbery must be established by sufficient evidence.[80]

[§ 177] d. Connection with Crime—(1) In General. In accordance with general rules,[81] to warrant a conviction for robbery, the evidence must identify accused as the person who committed the crime.[82]

Particular evidence sufficient. In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held sufficient to show defendant's connection with, or participation in, the robbery,[83] as

---

Cr. 234, 238 P 508; Brown v. State, 29 Okl. Cr. 195, 233 P 248; Wilson v. State, 28 Okl. Cr. 102, 228 P 1108; Richards v. State, 22 Okl. Cr. 199, 210 P 295; Rochel v. State, 21 Okl. Cr. 37, 204 P 466; McLaughlin v. State, 18 Okl. Cr. 627, 197 P 717; Meigs v. State, 14 Okl. Cr. 460, 172 P 974; Robinson v. State, 8 Okl. Cr. 667, 130 P 121.

Defined see supra § 4.

[63] Com. v. Nace, 59 Pa. Super. 210.

Defined see supra § 5.

[64] U. S. v. Lazaro, 34 Philippine 871; U. S. v. Sevilla, 30 Philippine 288; U. S. v. Martin, 23 Philippine 58; U. S. v. Romero, 22 Philippine 565; U. S. v. Tabanda, 20 Philippine 195; U. S. v. Bernales, 18 Philippine 525; U. S. v. De la Cruz, 12 Philippine 87; U. S. v. Quijano, 11 Philippine 368 (as to part of defendants); U. S. v. Manangan, 11 Philippine 186; U. S. v. Gamboa, 11 Philippine 39; U. S. v. De los Santos, 6 Philippine 411; U. S. v. Liuanag, 2 Philippine 107.

Defined see supra § 9.

[65] U. S. v. Mondejar, 19 Philippine 158.

[66] U. S. v. Hilario, 1 Philippine 202.

[67] U. S. v. Magsino, 2 Philippine 710.

[a] Freight car.—U. S. v. Magsino, 2 Philippine 710.

[68] U. S. v. Recio, 21 Philippine 511.

[69] Colo.—Bunch v. Peo., 87 Colo. 84, 285 P 766; Voris v. Peo., 75 Colo. 574, 227 P 551.

Fla.—Edge v. State, 99 Fla. 1242, 128 S 820.

Ill.—Peo. v. Cummings, 338 Ill. 636, 170 NE 750; Peo. v. Barnhill, 337 Ill. 413, 169 NE 210; Peo. v. Reid, 336 Ill. 421, 168 NE 344; Peo. v. Chalem, 336 Ill. 399, 168 NE 306; Peo. v. McCaffrey, 336 Ill. 111, 167 NE 795; Peo. v. Wilson, 334 Ill. 412, 166 NE 40; Peo. v. Sheets, 333 Ill. 624, 165 NE 141; Peo. v. Witt, 333 Ill. 258, 164 NE 682; Peo. v. Kircher, 333 Ill. 200, 164 NE 150; Peo. v. Giardiano, 332 Ill. 476, 163 NE 798; Peo. v. Lawson, 331 Ill. 380, 163 NE 149; Peo. v. Fahrner, 330 Ill. 516, 162 NE 133; Peo. v. Bell, 328 Ill. 446, 159 NE 807; Peo. v. Papke, 325 Ill. 410, 156 NE 375; Peo. v. Thompson, 321 Ill. 594, 152 NE 516; Peo. v. O'Donnell, 315 Ill. 568, 146 NE 490; Peo. v. Powlski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551; Peo. v. Jones, 310 Ill. 275, 141 NE 773; Peo. v. Dean, 308 Ill. 74, 139 NE 37; Peo. v. Mandrell, 306 Ill. 413, 138 NE 215; Peo. v. Bernstein, 304 Ill. 351, 136 NE 683; Peo. v. Byrnes, 302 Ill. 407, 134 NE 730; Peo. v. Christy, 302 Ill. 343, 134 NE 713.

Iowa.—State v. Mitchell, 195 Iowa 1073, 192 NW 1.

Mich.—Peo. v. Kolodzieski, 237 Mich. 654, 212 NW 958; Peo. v. Kellar, 214 Mich. 246, 183 NW 226.

Okl.—Nicholson v. State, (Cr.) 288 P 996; Strong v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 1091; Spears v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 1060; Sanders v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 842; Roddy v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 765; Smiddy v. State, (Cr.) 286 P 813; Vandergriff v. State, (Cr.) 282 P 897; Pierson v. State, (Cr.) 281 P 315; Fortman v. State, (Cr.) 280 P 1109; Newman v. State, (Cr.) 279 P 980; Patterson v. State, (Cr.) 279 P 356; Simpson v. State, (Cr.) 266 P 783; Young v. State, (Cr.) 263 P 167; Brown v. State, 29 Okl. Cr. 195, 233 P 248. See Williams v. State, 35 Okl. Cr. 171, 249 P 433 (evidence of robbery with firearms held sufficient to sustain conviction, but reversal required on other grounds).

Tex.—Kelly v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 514, 17 SW (2d) 460; Smith v. State, 92 Tex. Cr. 300, 244 SW 138; Thompson v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 234, 237 SW 926; Beard v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 205, 220 SW 342; Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593.

Wis.—Fifer v. State, 189 Wis. 50, 206 NW 861.

See also supra text and note 57 [a].

[70] Edenfield v. State, 41 Ga. A. 252, 152 SE 615.

[71] Williams v. State, 9 Ga. A. 170, 70 SE 890, 891 (where the court said: "In the present case, though the testimony of the prosecuting witness is weak and to a degree self-contradictory, still there was testimony that he was conscious that something was being taken from his pocket, before or at least at the same time that the outcry was made that his money was being taken from him, and therefore the jury were authorized to find that his purse was suddenly taken away from him without his consent, but with his knowledge, and that the offense, if any, was robbery by sudden taking, and not larceny from the person or secret theft").

[72] Peo. v. Cania, 217 App. Div. 34, 216 NYS 478; Peo. v. Di Gregario, 205 App. Div. 629, 200 NYS 66.

[73] Peo. v. Kiernan, 202 App. Div. 542, 195 NYS 207.

[74] See infra text and notes 75-78.

[75] U. S. v. Alumisin, 15 Philippine 396; U. S. v. Quijano, 11 Philippine 368 (as to part of defendants); U. S. v. Vallesteros, 6 Philippine 401; U. S. v. Plana, 2 Philippine 9; U. S. v. Mendigoren, 1 Philippine 658.

Defined see supra § 9.

[76] Tanner v. State, 24 Ga. A. 132, 100 SE 44.

[a] Illustration.—Evidence that the two defendants conspired to rob a certain person, and that one defendant put a pistol in the face of such person and commanded him to hold up his hands, and that after he held up his hands the other defendant, without the consent of such person, took money from his pockets, did not show a "robbery by force." Tanner v. State, 24 Ga. A. 132, 100 SE 44. See to same effect Barksdale v. State, 24 Ga. A. 115, 100 SE 45.

[77] Com. v. Gallagher, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 565.

[a] Slight scratch.—An indictment under Rev. St. c 125 § 13, which alleges that defendant robbed A and struck and wounded him, is not proved, as to the wounding, by evidence that defendant made a slight scratch on A's face by rupturing the cuticle only. Com. v. Gallagher, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 565.

[78] O'Quinn v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 279 P 358; Cornett v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 274 P 676.

[79] See statutory provisions; and infra § 209.

[80] Silva v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 415, 278 SW 216.

[81] See Criminal Law § 1584.

[82] Ark.—James v. State, 68 SW 247.

Cal.—Peo. v. Kelly, 146 Cal. 119, 79 P 846; Peo. v. Cappola, 6 Cal. Unrep. Cas. 232, 56 P 248; Peo. v. Castile, 3 Cal. A. 485, 86 P 745.

Ga.—Usom v. State, 97 Ga. 194, 22 SE 399.

Ill.—Schroeder v. Peo., 196 Ill. 211, 63 NE 678; Ogden v. Peo., 134 Ill. 599, 25 NE 755.

Iowa.—State v. Brafford, 121 Iowa 115, 96 NW 710; State v. Reasby, 100 Iowa 231, 69 NW 451; State v. Callahan, 96 Iowa 304, 65 NW 150; State v. Sipult, 81 Iowa 40, 46 NW 748.

Minn.—State v. Blanchard, 88 Minn. 82, 92 NW 504.

Mo.—State v. Rowland, 174 Mo. 373, 74 SW 622.

Nebr.—Keating v. State, 67 Nebr. 560, 93 NW 980.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Stack, 41 App. Div. 548, 58 NYS 691; Peo. v. Flanagan, 22 App. Div. 516, 48 NYS 241 [aff 158 N. Y. 722, 53 NE 1129].

Tex.—Carson v. State, (Cr.) 24 SW 643.

Wash.—State v. Fair, 35 Wash. 127, 76 P 731, 102 AmSR 897.

[83] Cal.—Peo. v. Summers, (A.) 290 P 464; Peo. v. White, (A.) 283 P 368; Peo. v. Meile, 97 Cal. A. 56, 274 against the claim of alibi,[84] as where the evidence was sufficient to show defendant's active participation,[85] or his guilt as an accomplice,[86] or aider and abettor,[87] rendering him liable as an accessary[88] or principal[89]

P 1003; Peo. v. Strider, 96 Cal. A. 632, 274 P 601; Peo. v. Green, 93 Cal. A. 435, 269 P 687; Peo. v. Redding, 93 Cal. A. 169, 269 P 197; Peo. v. Grace, 88 Cal. A. 222, 263 P 306; Peo. v. Brock, 87 Cal. A. 601, 262 P 369, 263 P 544; Peo. v. Costello, 87 Cal. A. 313, 262 P 75; Peo. v. Shaffer, 81 Cal. A. 752, 254 P 666; Peo. v. Griffin, 75 Cal. A. 561, 243 P 36; Peo. v. Booth, 72 Cal. A. 160, 236 P 987; Peo. v. Laird, 69 Cal. A. 511, 231 P 596; Peo. v. Foley, 57 Cal. A. 558, 207 P 492; Peo. v. Gorman, 14 Cal. A. 253, 111 P 285.

Ill.—Peo. v. McCaffrey, 336 Ill. 111, 167 NE 795; Peo. v. Tyler, 316 Ill. 67, 146 NE 740; Peo. v. O'Donnell, 315 Ill. 568, 146 NE 490; Peo. v. Hildebrand, 307 Ill. 544, 139 NE 107; Peo. v. Mandrell, 306 Ill. 413, 138 NE 215; Peo. v. Maciejewski, 294 Ill. 390, 128 NE 489.

Iowa.—State v. Bogardus, 188 Iowa 1293, 176 NW 327.

Kan.—State v. Goodman, 123 Kan. 19, 254 P 333.

Ky.—Anderson v. Com., 193 Ky. 663, 237 SW 45; Wynn v. Com., 135 Ky. 447, 122 SW 516.

La.—State v. Henry, 168 La. 855, 123 S 597.

Miss.—Coleman v. State, 155 Miss. 482, 124 S 652.

Mo.—Peo. v. Selvaggi, 2 SW (2d) 765; State v. Hahn, 316 Mo. 229, 289 SW 845; State v. Van Valkenburgh, 285 SW 978; State v. Deviney, 278 SW 726; State v. Bray, 246 SW 921; State v. Lasson, 292 Mo. 155, 238 SW 101; State v. Depriest, 288 Mo. 459, 232 SW 83.

Nebr.—Boonton v. State, 86 Nebr. 114, 125 NW 144.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Mahoney, 224 App. Div. 771, 230 NYS 213; Peo. v. Sperduto, 221 App. Div. 577, 224 NYS 529.

Okl.—Stockton v. State, 31 Okl. Cr. 234, 238 P 508; Sellers v. State, 27 Okl. Cr. 245, 226 P 109.

Pa.—Com. v. Fink, 93 Pa. Super. 57.

Philippine.—Peo. v. Luncay, 49 Philippine 464; U. S. v. Sevilla, 30 Philippine 288; U. S. v. De los Santos, 6 Philippine 411; U. S. v. Magsino, 2 Philippine 710.

Tex.—Carter v. State, 107 Tex. Cr. 568, 298 SW 424; Searcy v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 550, 232 SW 799; Jackson v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 273, 131 SW 1076.

[a] Despite flour smeared on faces in attempt at disguise, positive identification of defendants by witnesses who saw them by the light of a lamp, and who had known them prior to the robbery is sufficient to support a conviction. Coleman v. State, 155 Miss. 482, 124 S 652.

[b] Detailed description amply supporting identification. Peo. v. Hahn, 58 Cal. A. 704, 209 P 268.

[c] Positive identification based upon ample time and opportunity to observe robber.—State v. Boone, (Mo.) 289 SW 575.

[d] Pay roll robbery.—Peo. v. Berardi, 332 Ill. 295, 163 NE 668, 62 ALR 274; Com. v. Fink, 93 Pa. Super. 57.

[84] Ariz.—Bradley v. State, 279 P 256; Young Chung v. State, 15 Ariz. 79, 136 P 631.

Ark.—Anthony v. State, 163 Ark. 662, 259 SW 732; Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632; Williams v. State, 153 Ark. 289, 239 SW 1065; Baldwin v. State, 119 Ark. 518, 178 SW 409.

Cal.—Peo. v. Fallai, 99 Cal. A. 297, 278 P 449; Peo. v. Scott, 84 Cal. A. 642, 258 P 638; Peo. v. Bigelow, 64 Cal. A. 731, 222 P 622; Peo. v. Hale, 64 Cal. A. 523, 222 P 148; Peo. v. Truitt, 49 Cal. A. 727, 194 P 295; Peo. v. Valencia, 27 Cal. A. 407, 150 P 68.

Ill.—Peo. v. Yates, 339 Ill. 421, 171 NE 557; Peo. v. Wilson, 334 Ill. 412, 166 NE 40; Peo. v. Witt, 333 Ill. 258, 164 NE 682; Peo. v. Giardiano, 332 Ill. 476, 163 NE 798; Peo. v. Papke, 325 Ill. 410, 156 NE 375; Peo. v. Robinson, 308 Ill. 398, 139 NE 599; Peo. v. Hall, 308 Ill. 198, 139 NE 123; Peo. v. Nehrkorn, 305 Ill. 467, 137 NE 407; Peo. v. Martin, 303 Ill. 233, 135 NE 404; Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923; Peo. v. Christy, 302 Ill. 343, 134 NE 713; Peo. v. Cunningham, 300 Ill. 376, 133 NE 270; Peo. v. Scott, 261 Ill. 165, 103 NE 617.

Iowa.—State v. Bird, 196 Iowa 474, 194 NW 73; State v. O'Brien, 188 Iowa 165, 175 NW 769.

Ky.—Schuster v. Com., 232 Ky. 171, 22 SW (2d) 586.

Mich.—Peo. v. Kolodzieski, 237 Mich. 654, 212 NW 958; Peo. v. Kellar, 214 Mich. 246, 183 NW 226.

Minn.—State v. Barone, 173 Minn. 232, 217 NW 104; State v. Chodos, 147 Minn. 420, 180 NW 536.

Miss.—Coleman v. State, 155 Miss. 482, 124 S 652.

Mo.—State v. Ball, 321 Mo. 1171, 14 SW (2d) 638; State v. Beebe, 2 SW (2d) 712; State v. Boone, 289 SW 575; State v. Affronti, 292 Mo. 53, 238 SW 106.

Nebr.—Hukill v. State, 109 Nebr. 279, 190 NW 867; Booton v. State, 86 Nebr. 114, 125 NW 144.

Nev.—State v. Boyle, 248 P 48.

Okl.—Smiddy v. State, (Cr.) 286 P 813; Vandergriff v. State, (Cr.) 282 P 897; Berry v. State, (Cr.) 279 P 982; Young v. State, (Cr.) 263 P 167; Pope v. State, 34 Okl. Cr. 417, 246 P 657.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Turla, 38 Philippine 346; U. S. v. Tabandá, 20 Philippine 195; U. S. v. Manangan, 11 Philippine 186; U. S. v. Gamboa, 11 Philippine 39; U. S. v. Manabat, 7 Philippine 209; U. S. v. Vargas, 5 Philippine 136.

S. D.—State v. Hanrahan, 49 S. D. 434, 207 NW 224.

Tex.—Green v. State, 99 Tex. Cr. 251, 268 SW 746; Lay v. State, 82 Tex. Cr. 202, 198 SW 291; Bracher v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 198, 161 SW 124; Hendricks v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 75, 160 SW 1190.

Wis.—Schiner v. State, 178 Wis. 83, 189 NW 261.

[a] Number of witnesses.—Evidence held to support conviction for robbery, where one witness identified defendant and three testified to alibi for him. Peo. v. Yates, 339 Ill. 421, 171 NE 557.

[b] Sharply conflicting evidence.—Conviction for robbery, where accused was picked up by officers shortly after the crime and positively identified by the victims, was sustained, although there was evidence of an alibi and the testimony was sharply conflicting, the question in such a case being for the jury. Green v. State, 99 Tex. Cr. 251, 268 SW 746.

[c] Judicial comment on defense.—"An alibi is usually the main defense in most of these cases, and facts are generally presented which peculiarly call for solution at the hands of the jury. It is strenuously insisted that the testimony of defendant's witnesses on the question of alibi disproves his presence at the scene of the robbery. This issue was presented to the jury, and decided adversely to his contention. It is manifest from reading the reported cases that the alibi is taken into account when preparations are made to perpetrate the crime. With rapid transit now furnished in the use of automobiles, a defendant by honest testimony may be shown to have been at a certain place at a given time, and yet may have hurriedly driven to another point, committed a crime, and returned to the place where these witnesses located him. The testimony relating to alibi, like the other facts in the case, must be considered by the jury in passing upon the weight of the evidence." State v. Affronti, 292 Mo. 53, 238 SW 106, 111.

[85] Peo. v. Brennan, 35 Cal. A. 101, 169 P 239; Peo. v. Pasqueria, 30 Cal. A. 625, 159 P 173; U. S. v. Romero, 22 Philippine 565; Johnson v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 12 SW (2d) 1017.

[a] Where defendant admitted he was present but denied that he participated.—Johnson v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 12 SW (2d) 1017.

[86] DeBeauford v. State, 95 Tex. Cr. 398, 254 SW 572 (holding that the evidence of one of the principals to a robbery connecting defendant with it and defendant's confession admitting that he loaned a pistol to one of the principals for the purpose of being used in the robbery was sufficient to sustain a conviction of being an accomplice).

[87] Ark.—Williams v. State, 153 Ark. 289, 239 SW 1065.

Cal.—Peo. v. Davis, (A.) 289 P 194; Peo. v. Gianello, 68 Cal. A. 214, 228 P 671.

Colo.—Stone v. Peo., 71 Colo. 162, 204 P 897.

Ga.—Pirkle v. State, 11 Ga. A. 98, 74 SE 709.

Mo.—State v. Ball, 321 Mo. 1171, 14 SW (2d) 638.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Cania, 217 App. Div. 34, 216 NYS 478.

[a] Presence at commission of crime.—(1) Absent, but aiding and abetting. Peo. v. Sartori, 43 Cal. A. 304, 184 P 879; Peo. v. Cania, 217 App. Div. 34, 216 NYS 478. (2) Present, and aiding and abetting. Stone v. Peo., 71 Colo. 162, 204 P 897; Pirkle v. State, 11 Ga. A. 98, 74 SE 709.

[b] Plotting robbery, although not participating in physical acts. Peo. v. Clensey, 97 Cal. A. 71, 274 P 1018.

[c] Woman defendant.—Peo. v. Sanders, 73 Cal. A. 330, 238 P 372.

[88] See cases infra this note.

[a] Before the fact.—Mulligan v. Peo., 68 Colo. 17, 189 P 5 (evidence sufficient to go to jury); Whiting v. State, 97 Fla. 693, 122 S 2 (evidence sufficient to support conviction); Killingsworth v. State, 90 Fla. 299, 105 S 834 (evidence sufficient to sustain conviction); Com. v. Baldi, 250 Mass. 528, 146 NE 11 (as to one of two defendants).

[89] Cal.—Peo. v. Sampson, (A.) 286 P 434.

in accordance with controlling statutes[90] and general rules.[91]

Particular evidence insufficient. In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held insufficient to connect defendant with the robbery,[92] as against his claim of alibi,[93] or to show that he aided and abetted,[94] or was guilty as a principal.[95]

Automobile banditry.[96] Evidence held sufficient to show defendant's participation in automobile banditry is set forth in the note.[97]

[§ 178] (2) Degree of Proof. Under general rules,[98] identification of defendant as the robber must be established beyond a reasonable doubt.[99] If the evidence is sufficient to comply with this standard, it will support a conviction even though based on the testimony of a single witness,[1] and, it has been held, despite a preponderance of evidence in favor

---

Ill.—Peo. v. Powers, 293 Ill. 600, 127 NE 681.

Mass.—Com. v. Baldi, 250 Mass. 528, 146 NE 11 (as to one of two defendants).

N. J.—State v. DeBellis, 136 A 603 [aff 104 N. J. L. 187, 138 A 923].

Philippine.—U. S. v. Barroga, 21 Philippine 161.

Tex.—McDaniel v. State, (Cr.) 10 SW (2d) 98.

[a] Defendant's unexplained presence at scene of robbery and possession of fruits thereof held to support jury's conclusion that he was principal (Pen. Code § 31). Peo. v. Sampson, (Cal. A.) 286 P 434.

[b] Driver of car.—Evidence that defendant, on trial for robbery, planned the robbery, drove accomplices to within one hundred feet of the scene of robbery, and handed one a revolver, held to sustain his conviction as principal rather than accessary before the fact. State v. DeBellis, 136 A 603 [aff 104 N. J. L. 187, 138 A 923].

[c] Keeping watch.—"The conceded facts warrant a finding by the jury that appellant was a principal offender, under articles 66, 67, and 69, vol. 1, P. C. 1925. There was evidence that he was present, keeping watch, aided in securing the safety of his confederates, and, from his actions in concert with them before, at the time of and subsequent to the unlawful act, an agreement to do so may be inferred." Moody v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 55, 290 SW 161, 162.

[d] Seated in car.—"The argument is that, if the evidence showed any offense, it merely showed that the plaintiff in error was informed of the crime after it was committed, and may have been guilty as an accessary after the fact. But the evidence went much further than that. The facts that, when Miller saw Reinhart and proposed to 'get him,' the car was immediately stopped and the revolver procured from the seat between the plaintiff in error and Krenmyer, the association of the parties at the time and in the rooming house, and the division of the proceeds of the robbery, raised a justifiable inference of a common understanding, and that what was done by those who actively took part in the robbery was contemplated when the five started out in the racing car. The court did not err in refusing to set aside the verdict." Peo. v. Powers, 293 Ill. 600, 127 NE 681, 682.

[90] See Peo. v. Raymond, 338 Ill. 590, 170 NE 703 (before fact—guilty as principal under statute).

[91] See Criminal Law §§ 99-161.

[92] Cal.—Peo. v. Seawright, 72 Cal. A. 414, 237 P 796.

Ill.—Peo. v. Steinbuch, 306 Ill. 441, 138 NE 137.

Ind.—Wheat v. State, 195 Ind. 660, 146 NE 581.

Iowa.—State v. Burke, 197 Iowa 338, 197 NW 66.

Miss.—Nobles v. State, 154 Miss. 179, 122 S 392; Stuart v. State, 64 S 417.

Nebr.—Eggers v. State, 113 Nebr. 676, 204 NW 817.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Fitzsimmons, 144 App. Div. 211, 128 NYS 996, 26 N. Y. Cr. 171.

Philippine.—U. S. v. Quijano, 11 Philippine 368; U. S. v. Vallesteros, 6 Philippine 401.

Tex.—Owens v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 270, 16 SW (2d) 239; Hilson v. State, 101 Tex. Cr. 449, 276 SW 272; Wilson v. State, 94 Tex. Cr. 348, 250 SW 1033.

[a] Commission at defendant's house.—Where the only evidence connecting defendant with the crime was that it was committed at his house, at night, by several persons with whom he was on intimate terms, and that, although denied credit for a trifling sum the day before the robbery, he had paid a bill of twenty-five dollars the next day, the evidence was insufficient to prove defendant's participation in the robbery. Walbridge v. State, 13 Nebr. 236, 13 NW 209.

[b] Mere possibility of guilt.—"Furthermore, Bados testified that two other persons besides himself and the defendant took part in the fight. If the money of Bados was taken by any one in the fight, it is just as probable that it was taken by one or both of his two other assailants, with whom it is not shown that the defendant was acting in concert. The rule is that, even though it 'be positively proved that one of two or more persons committed a crime, yet if there is any reasonable doubt as to which is the guilty party the accused must be acquitted.'" Peo. v. Brooks, 334 Ill. 549, 166 NE 35, 37.

[c] Present but not participating.—"This evidence is not sufficient to sustain the verdict of guilty, as against Hunter and Barger. It clearly shows, without dispute, that neither of them robbed the prosecuting witness; and, in the absence of any evidence tending to show that they conspired with the robbers, or had, or reasonably could have had, an understanding with them to meet them . . . or that they in any other way aided in the robbery or procured it to be committed, the mere fact that they were driving the car in which he was riding when the robbery occurred is not enough to support an inference that they participated in it. And merely being present when others committed a robbery did not make them guilty of that crime." Wheat v. State, 195 Ind. 660, 146 NE 581, 582.

[d] Registering under assumed name in the same hotel as the robbers within forty-eight hours after the crime, and being closely associated with them, is not sufficient to prove defendant's guilt of the crime. Peo. v. Cania, 217 App. Div. 34, 216 NYS 478.

[e] That defendant overheard conversation relative to delivery of property stolen before the robbery occurred, and that he knew one of the identified robbers, is not of itself sufficient evidence on which to convict defendant. Peo. v. Di Gregario, 205 App. Div. 629, 200 NYS 66.

[93] Peo. v. Cramer, 298 Ill. 509, 131 NE 657, 659; Peo. v. Caruso, 184 App. Div. 512, 172 NYS 47; U. S. v. Plana, 2 Philippine 9; Owens v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 270, 16 SW (2d) 239.

"The proof that the defendant was not at the place of the robbery and could not have participated in it was complete, came from unquestioned sources, and was unaffected by any fact or circumstance, or by any testimony, except the discredited claim of identification. The judgment is reversed." Peo. v. Cramer, supra.

[94] State v. Gamber, 69 Wash. 66, 124 P 210.

[95] Stringfellow v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 504, 14 SW (2d) 1031.

[96] Defined see supra § 3.

[97] See case infra this note.

[a] Evidence sufficient to identify defendant as party using automobile to escape from scene of robbery.—"Under the specification that the verdict is not sustained by sufficient evidence, the appellant claims that he was not sufficiently identified. However, a witness testified that she was in the bank at the time of the robbery and that the appellant was one of the robbers and that he was dressed in woman's clothes. This witness testified in part as follows: 'I was in the First National Bank of Dyer, on December 20, 1922, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon on business. I saw that man right there (indicating the defendant) in the bank. He had woman's clothes on. There were three men in the bank. They were right inside closing the vault. When they closed the vault they started away slowly walking backwards. I saw one of the party dressed as a woman. He was the last person to get in the machine. Two shots were fired. When the last was fired the person dressed as a woman was just going into the machine. They started off going toward Chicago Heights. I am sure this defendant was the man I saw there dressed as a woman.' The defendant testified that he was in another place in bed asleep at the time of the robbery. There was other testimony denying the state's evidence but it is within the province of the jury to determine what evidence they will believe and what they will not believe." Cazak v. State, 196 Ind. 63, 64, 147 NE 138.

[98] See Criminal Law § 1584 text and note 61; also §§ 1590, 1593-1998.

[99] Peo. v. O'Donnell, 315 Ill. 568, 146 NE 490.

[1] Peo. v. Foster, 198 Cal. 112, 243 P 667; Peo. v. Gentile, 326 Ill. 540, 158 NE 222; U. S. v. Mondejar, 19 Philippine 158.

of an alibi.[2] A conviction may be sustained although a witness fails to swear positively and testifies merely that he believes accused to be the robber,[3] and the jury may be justified in accepting testimony of identification despite mistakes or discrepancies therein as to minor matters of description.[4]

[§ 179] (3) Circumstantial Evidence[5]—(a) In General. Where the sum total of circumstantial evidence is sufficient,[6] defendant may be identified by his voice,[7] or particular manner of talking,[8] or by tracks,[9] or footprints,[10] or by any distinctive features of his person[11] or apparel,[12] or by any other evidence of a purely circumstantial character.[13] But where the sum total of circumstantial evidence falls short of complete identification, evidence of this character is insufficient to establish defendant's connection with the crime.[14]

---

[a] That other witnesses failed or refused to identify defendant as the robber will not preclude conviction upon the testimony of one witness who did identify. Peo. v. Foster, 198 Cal. 112, 243 P 667 (refused); Peo. v. Fisher, 303 Ill. 594, 136 NE 496 (failed).

2. Schuster v. Com., 232 Ky. 171, 22 SW (2d) 586.

3. State v. Lucas, 57 Iowa 501, 10 NW 868; Asher v. Com., 221 Ky. 599, 299 SW 203; State v. Riddle, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 179.

4. Peo. v. Green, 93 Cal. A. 435, 269 P 687; Peo. v. Booth, 72 Cal. A. 160, 236 P 987; Peo. v. Hale, 64 Cal. A. 523, 222 P 148; State v. Brehan, 141 Wash. 516, 252 P 128.

[a] Age.—Peo. v. Booth, 72 Cal. A. 160, 236 P 987.

[b] Clothing.—Peo. v. Booth, 72 Cal. A. 160, 236 P 987 (disagreement between witnesses as to color).

[c] Color of woman robber's eyes.—Peo. v. Green, 93 Cal. A. 435, 269 P 687.

[d] Stock of gun.—"The fact that one witness could not say with certainty that there was or was not wood on the stock of the gun with which he was held up does not blot out the identification of the robbers. That the witness was frightened and excited was but natural, and, under the circumstances, we think he could not be expected to establish that he examined minutely a gun pressing against his body to enforce inactivity, and which was also partially concealed in the hand of the robber." Peo. v. Hale, 64 Cal. A. 523, 222 P 148, 150.

[e] Tall or short.—"It is contended that the evidence was insufficient to justify the verdict. The main basis of this contention is that, because the complaining witness, in describing the men charged, referred to two of them as being tall and the other short, when in fact they were all short men, his evidence is not credible. But the question of height is always a comparative one. While on the witness stand, he insisted on saying that two of them were tall, even though they stood up before him and their measurements were given. The identification by the state's witness was sufficient, if believed by the jury, to warrant the verdict." State v. Brehan, 141 Wash. 515, 252 P 128, 131.

[f] Whether smooth shaven.—Peo. v. Booth, 72 Cal. A. 160, 236 P 987.

5. Possession of stolen property see infra § 180.

6. See Criminal Law § 1584.

7. State v. Riddle, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 179; State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069; State v. Bell, (Mo.) 300 SW 504; State v. Sydnor, 253 Mo. 375, 151 SW 692; U. S. v. Manabat, 7 Philippine 209; Hill v. State, 108 Tex. Cr. 629, 2 SW (2d) 267.

[a] Hearing is one of the five senses, and knowledge acquired through it is as certain as though acquired through any other sense." State v. Bell, (Mo.) 300 SW 504, 506.

[b] Has probative value.—"Knowledge of a fact is communicated to a person through one or more of the five senses, which are hearing, seeing, feeling, smelling, and tasting. In some persons, a sense is more acute or developed more than in others. However, courts cannot undertake to say as a matter of law that testimony of a witness, based on one of his senses, has no probative value. In its consideration of the facts and circumstances, the jury may conclude that it is without probative value, but that it is so because the jury is the trier of the facts. Defendant does not seem to deny that it would have been direct evidence of that fact if Anderson had testified that he identified defendant as the robber by means of sight. It is none the less direct evidence that he identified defendant by his voice. The force of the identification of defendant by means of his voice was a question of fact and within the province of the jury, and, as the facts made a submissible case, the weight of this testimony was for the jury. The identification of defendant did not depend wholly upon circumstantial evidence, as defendant contends, for the identification of a person by means of his voice is direct evidence of identification, as much so as though the identification had been through sight." State v. Riddle, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 179, 182.

[c] Voice of intimate friend.—"The night was dark and there was no light in the house and the only mode by which the witness was able to identify the accused was by the sound of his voice. It was shown that she and the accused had known each other intimately since their youth, having lived in the same barrio for many years, so that there was nothing unreasonable in her assertion that she recognized the accused by his voice, although she could not see his face on account of the darkness." U. S. v. Manabat, 7 Philippine 209.

8. State v. Bogardus, 188 Iowa 1293, 176 NW 327.

[a] Through nose.—State v. Bogardus, 188 Iowa 1293, 176 NW 327.

9. Fowler v. Com., 195 Ky. 80, 241 SW 814.

[a] Tracks corroborating identification.—Positive identification by the prosecuting witness of defendants as two of the three who robbed him, although such identification was weakened by other circumstances appearing of record, but was also corroborated by tracks tending to connect defendants with the commission of the crime, was sufficient to sustain a verdict finding defendants guilty of the robbery. Fowler v. Com., 195 Ky. 80, 241 SW 814.

10. Moore v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 569, 226 SW 415.

[a] Cogent evidence.—"The peculiarities of the footprints made by the shoes, and the exactness with which they correspond with the tracks made by the shoes worn by the appellant on the occasion, bring the case within a class in which footprints are regarded as a very high character of evidence of identification." Moore v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 569, 226 SW 415, 416.

11. Peo. v. Chalem, 336 Ill. 399, 168 NE 306; State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069; State v. Bray, (Mo.) 246 SW 921.

[a] Eyes.—State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069.

[b] False tooth.—Peo. v. Chalem, 336 Ill. 399, 168 NE 306.

[c] Form and shape.—State v. Bray, (Mo.) 246 SW 921.

[d] Mouth and chin of masked man.—State v. Bray, (Mo.) 246 SW 921.

[e] Size.—State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069; State v. Higgins, 311 Mo. 599, 278 SW 977.

12. Peo. v. Gorman, 14 Cal. A. 253, 111 P 285; State v. Higgins, 311 Mo. 599, 278 SW 977; State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069.

[a] Blue overalls and tan shoes.—State v. Allison, (Mo.) 300 SW 1069.

[b] Torn coat.—Peo. v. Gorman, 14 Cal. A. 253, 111 P 285.

13. See case infra this note.

[a] Torn pieces of paper found in the woods may justify conviction of defendant for robbing a bank where they are put together so as to show a diagram of the bank robbed, drawn in defendant's handwriting and on the back of an advertisement of defendant's stallion service. Peo. v. Barnhill, 337 Ill. 413, 169 NE 210.

14. State v. Campbell, 69 Iowa 556, 29 NW 604; Maxwell v. State, 109 Tex. Cr. 533, 5 SW (2d) 991.

[a] Form and size.—Where the only evidence connecting defendant with the crime is the opinion of the person robbed that defendant was of the form and size of one of his assailants, and the fact that he associated much with one of those convicted, defendant should be acquitted. State v. Campbell, 69 Iowa 556, 29 NW 604.

[b] Track in sand.—"It will be observed that the main incriminating fact was a track made by an average size shoe with a break in it in sand not shown to be damp, and that appellant had neither a weapon nor the fruits of the robbery in his possession when arrested a few hours thereafter. Other slight circumstances are the similarity of his voice and walk given by witnesses whose observation was taken under stress of excitement, and whose opportunity to closely scrutinize the guilty party was very limited. A conviction in this case would rest upon identification of a track made in the wind-swept sand of West Texas. No other incriminating facts of any cogency are shown. The testimony for appellant, given without any contradiction, showed him to be one of the world's unfortunate poor, lured by the hope that the West held for him a promise of freedom from poverty and want. He faced instead a felony charge, without funds and without friends, and under circumstances not of his own making, which militated against an acquittal. We

[§ 180] (b) Possession of Stolen Property.[15] There is authority to the effect that defendant's unexplained possession of the stolen property is not of itself sufficient to show his guilt.[16] Other authority holds that such unexplained possession is alone sufficient to authorize,[17] although not to require,[18] a conviction. In any event, such evidence is of probative force,[19] and may be sufficient to prove defendant's connection with the robbery where it is supported by evidence of other incriminatory facts.[20]

Proof of possession. In accordance with the circumstances involved, evidence in particular cases has been held sufficient[21] or insufficient[22] to prove defendant's possession of the stolen property.

[§ 181] D. Trial[23]—1. Questions for Jury[24]—a. In General. Under general rules,[25] it is the province of the jury to pass upon the weight[26] and credibility[27] of the evidence. It is for the jury to resolve such conflicts as may arise,[28] and on conflicting evidence questions of fact are for the jury's determination,[29] it being for them to decide as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.[30] are not able to give our sanction to a conviction resting upon the evidence of identification as appearing in this record." Maxwell v. State, 109 Tex. Cr. 533, 5 SW (2d) 991, 992.

---

[15] Circumstantial evidence generally see supra § 179.

[16] Peo. v. Haughey, 79 Cal. A. 541, 250 P 406; Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267.

[a] Possession of similar property.—"In view of the new trial, it may be proper to say, in consideration of a request made at this trial, that if the defendant's counsel had asked for an instruction that the mere possession of the defendant of the $50 bills taken from defendant upon his arrest did not alone warrant an inference that the defendant was guilty of the crime, it should have been given. Conscious, exclusive, and recent possession of the stolen property does warrant such an inference; . . . and such possession, when unexplained, is taken as conclusive. . . . But in this record the $50 bills found upon the defendant were not identified in the remotest degree with the $50 bills, or any of them, taken by the robbers, and there is no inherent feature in a piece of circulating currency that identifies it, short of private mark or note of its number, or the like. Of course, the possession of such bills admitted of argument against the defendant; but I speak only of the probative force thereof in this record." Peo. v. Bertline, 171 App. Div. 460, 157 NYS 599, 605 [rev on ground other evidence of identification should have been admitted 218 N. Y. 584, 113 NE 541].

[17] Peo. v. Deluce, 237 Ill. 541, 86 NE 1080; State v. Harris, 194 Iowa 1304, 191 NW 83.

[18] Peo. v. Deluce, 237 Ill. 541, 86 NE 1080; State v. Harris, 194 Iowa 1304, 191 NW 83.

[19] Peo. v. Haughey, 79 Cal. A. 541, 250 P 406, 407; State v. King, 67 Wash. 651, 122 P 323.

"While the possession of stolen property unexplained is not sufficient to show guilt, it is a circumstance tending to show guilt, and may be considered by the jury in connection with other testimony." Peo. v. Haughey, supra.

"Putting it in another way, possession of stolen property, if unexplained, 'is an item to be taken into consideration by the jury, together with other incriminating circumstances in arriving at a verdict.'" Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267, 269.

[20] Peo. v. Smith, supra; State v. Conley, (Mo.) 238 SW 804.

"While it is true that possession of the stolen property immediately following a robbery is not in itself sufficient evidence to warrant a verdict of robbery, nevertheless slightly corroborative evidence taken with the evidence of other inculpatory circumstances, taken with the evidence of possession of the stolen property, is sufficient to support a conviction." Peo. v. Smith, supra.

[a] Attempt to get rid of such property and failure to deny accusation of robbery.—Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267.

[21] See cases infra this note.

[a] In car occupied by defendant.—In a prosecution for robbery, evidence that a portion of the stolen money was found equally divided between three suit cases in an automobile occupied by defendant and two companions, with evidence identifying defendant and some of his companions as participants in the robbery, and as having traveled together in the automobile from the scene of the robbery, is sufficient possession of the property to sustain a conviction of defendant. State v. Conley, (Mo.) 238 SW 804.

[b] In vest found in defendant's room.—In a prosecution for robbery, evidence that a stolen watch was found in defendant's vest in the room occupied by him was sufficient to show his possession. Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551 (holding also that the fact that a police officer was in accused's room more than once after his arrest for robbery was insufficient to raise a suspicion that a stolen watch found in accused's' vest was placed therein by any other than accused).

[c] Two defendants.—If defendants charged with róbbery of bonds were jointly engaged in the common undertaking of disposing of the bonds, they were both in possession thereof, within the rule as to the possession of recently stolen property, although only one of them had physical possession thereof. Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[22] See case infra this note.

[a] Room occupied by others in defendant's house.—Dorsey v. State, 25 Ariz. 139, 213 P 1011, 1012.

[23] In criminal cases generally see Criminal Law §§ 2000-2614.

[24] Jury's determination of punishment see infra § 205.

[25] See Criminal Law §§ 2290-2292.

[26] Ark.—Wright v. State, 177 Ark. 1039, 9 SW (2d) 233.

Cal.—Peo. v. Anderson, (A.) 288 P 1095.

Ill.—Peo. v. O'Donnell, 315 Ill. 568, 146 NE 490; Peo. v. Maciejewski, 294 Ill. 390, 128 NE 489.

Mich.—Peo. v. Czarnecki, 241 Mich. 696, 217 NW 781; Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

Mo.—State v. Klegman, 1 SW (2d) 833; State v. Smith, 247 SW 154; State v. Lasson, 292 Mo. 155, 238 SW 101.

Oh.—Sydell v. State, 17 Oh. A. 418.

Okl.—Barnhart v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 803.

R. I.—State v. Miller, 142 A 662.

Tex.—Fitzgerald v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 34, 219 SW 199.

[27] Cal.—Peo. v. Anderson, (A.) 288 P 1095.

Ill.—Peo. v. Kilbane, 322 Ill. 190, 152 NE 566.

Ky.—Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455.

Mo.—State v. Klegman, 1 SW (2d) 833; State v. Drew, 300 SW 473; State v. Harmon, 296 SW 391; State v. Smith, 247 SW 154.

Okl.—Barnhart v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 803.

[28] Wright v. State, 177 Ark. 1039, 9 SW (2d) 233, 234.

"It is the province of the jury to pass upon the conflicts in, and the weight of, the testimony." Wright v. State, supra.

[29] Ala.—Cowart v. State, 22 Ala. A. 300, 115 S 145.

Cal.—Peo. v. Bigelow, 64 Cal. A. 731, 222 P 622.

Ill.—Peo. v. Kilbane, 322 Ill. 190, 152 NE 566; Peo. v. Allegretti, 291 Ill. 364, 126 NE 158.

Kan.—State v. Tucker, 115 Kan. 203, 222 P 96.

Mo.—State v. Dickhout, 26 SW (2d) 937.

Tex.—Pearson v. State, 79 Tex. Cr. 609, 187 SW 336.

Wash.—State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to take case to jury.—Reeves v. State, 17 Ala. A. 684, 88 S 197; State v. Tucker, 115 Kan. 203, 222 P 96; State v. Dickhout, (Mo.) 26 SW (2d) 937; Pearson v. State, 79 Tex. Cr. 609, 187 SW 336; State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141.

[30] Cal.—Peo. v. Grace, 88 Cal. A. 222, 263 P 306.

Ill.—Peo. v. Knox, 302 Ill. 471, 134 NE 923.

Kan.—State v. Tucker, 115 Kan. 203, 222 P 96.

Ky.—Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455; Maxey v. Com., 219 Ky. 745, 294 SW 507; Hughes v. Com., 124 SW 788.

Mo.—State v. McCullough, 316 Mo. 42, 289 SW 811; State v. Newland, 285 SW 400.

Nebr.—Gardiner v. State, 110 Nebr. 11, 192 NW 946.

Okl.—Noel v. State, 14 Okl. Cr. 548, 174 P 293.

[§ 182] b. Identification of Property. On conflicting evidence, the sufficiency of the identification of the property taken or alleged to have been taken is for the jury.[31]

[§ 183] c. Elements of Offense.[32] On conflicting evidence, it is for the jury to determine whether there was a taking,[33] by force[34] or intimidation,[35] with intent to steal,[36] and without the consent[37] of the victim.

[§ 184] d. Dangerous or Deadly Weapon.[38] Where the facts are undisputed, the dangerous or deadly character of a weapon with which accused was armed is a question for the court.[39] But where the evidence is doubtful, the question is for the jury.[40] Whether or not defendant used a gun is for the jury on conflicting evidence.[41]

[§ 185] e. Degree of Offense.[42] Where under statute the degree of robbery depends upon the dangerous or deadly character of a weapon used by defendant,[43] the jury should determine the degree in the sense of deciding whether or not the weapon was dangerous or deadly.[44]

Tex.—Pearson v. State, 79 Tex. Cr. 609, 187 SW 336.

Va.—Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358.

[a] Meager evidence.—"This evidence was meager, but sufficient to make an issue for the jury. It was the province of that tribunal to determine whether the defendant was guilty of the offense charged." Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455, 456.

[b] Evidence of guilt held sufficient to: (1) Authorize overruling of demurrer to the evidence. State v. Tucker, 115 Kan. 203, 222 P 96; State v. McCullough, 316 Mo. 42, 289 SW 811; State v. Dickens, (Mo.) 285 SW 445; State v. Baldwin, (Mo.) 281 SW 940; State v. Roberts, 311 Mo. 521, 278 SW 971; State v. Wallace, (Mo.) 278 SW 663 (clear and convincing evidence); State v. Smith, (Mo.) 247 SW 154; State v. Taylor, 293 Mo. 210, 238 SW 489 (substantial testimony); State v. Thompson, (Mo.) 238 SW 115. (2) Authorize overruling of motion to advise jury to acquit. Noel v. State, 14 Okl. Cr. 548, 174 P 293 (conjoint robbery). (3) Authorize refusal of peremptory instruction to acquit. State v. Bell, (Mo.) 300 SW 504; Pearson v. State, 79 Tex. Cr. 609, 187 SW 336. (4) Authorize refusal to direct verdict of not guilty. Peo. v. Grace, 88 Cal. A. 222, 263 P 306 (even if statute could be construed as authorizing directed verdict). (5) Require submission of guilt or innocence of accused to the jury. Peo. v. Clark, 61 Cal. A. 46, 214 P 248; Gardiner v. State, 110 Nebr. 11, 192 NW 946.

Connection with crime see infra § 186.

Elements of offense see infra § 183.

31. Com. v. Tolliver, 119 Mass. 312; Henderson v. State, 97 Tex. Cr. 247, 260 SW 868, 869.

"Whether the property taken was a pin or a stud, even if there be any difference between the two, was a question of fact for the jury, and the testimony concerning same making it appear that the article was called by the witnesses both a stud and a pin, we would uphold the refusal of the trial court for an instructed verdict based on the variance. However, we seriously doubt there being support of any claim of variance." Henderson v. State, supra.

[a] Evidence sufficient to take case to jury.—"A second objection in support of the motion is that the state, having alleged that the property taken from the prosecuting witness was moonshine whisky, was bound to prove the fact, and that they did not so prove it. But the witness testified that the kegs taken from his car at the time of the robbery contained moonshine whisky when they were placed in the cache, and that, when loading them into his car prior to the robbery, he opened one of them and took a drink of its contents and that it proved to be moonshine whisky. This, we are clear, was sufficient proof to take the question to the jury." State v. Denby, 143 Wash. 288, 255 P 141, 144.

32. Enumerated and discussed see supra §§ 12–54.

33. Cowart v. State, 22 Ala. A. 300, 115 S 145.

"Defendants admitted their presence and also having an altercation with Maxwell, but denied strenuously they attempted to or did rob the man. As stated, this conflict presented a question for the jury to determine." Cowart v. State, supra.

34. Cal.—Peo. v. Church, 116 Cal. 300, 48 P 125.

Iowa.—State v. Calhoun, 72 Iowa 432, 34 NW 194, 2 AmSR 252.

Ky.—King v. Com., 76 SW 341, 25 KyL 713; Farrell v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 386.

Mo.—State v. Spivey, 204 SW 259.

Tex.—Thompson v. State, (Cr.) 26 SW 1081.

Wash.—State v. Casto, 120 Wash. 557, 207 P 952.

[a] Woman robber putting arms around victim.—Evidence that while prosecuting witness was engaged in conversation with accused, a woman, after her accomplices appeared on the scene, she threw her arms around him and took money out of his pocket, made the question whether force and violence were used one for the jury. State v. Spivey, (Mo.) 204 SW 259.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to take case to jury.—State v. Faudi, (Mo.) 11 SW (2d) 1014; Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

35. State v. Casto, 120 Wash. 557, 207 P 952.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to take case to jury.—Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

36. Iowa.—State v. Wegener, 180 Iowa 102, 162 NW 1040.

Ky.—Triplett v. Com., 122 Ky. 35, 91 SW 281, 28 KyL 974.

Mich.—Peo. v. Rubel, 221 Mich. 142, 190 NW 635.

N. Y.—Hope v. Peo., 83 N. Y. 418, 38 AmR 460; Bloomer v. Peo., 1 Abb. Dec. 146, 3 Keyes 9; Peo. v. Hall, 6 Park. Cr. 642.

N. C.—State v. Sowls, 61 N. C. 151.

Okl.—Johnson v. State, 24 Okl. Cr. 326, 218 P 179, 181.

"In all cases of this kind, the question whether the act is done with a felonious intent is one of fact for the jury." Johnson v. State, supra.

[a] Voluntary character of participation in robbery.—State v. Wegener, 180 Iowa 102, 162 NW 1040.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to take case to jury.—(1) Generally. Lunce v. Com., 232 Ky. 214, 22 SW (2d) 629. (2) Where it appeared that two others than defendant actually held up the person robbed while defendant was with another in an automobile and took them away from the scene after the robbery, evidence was sufficient to carry to the jury the question as to whether he understandingly co-operated and aided in the perpetration of the robbery. Peo. v. Rubel, 221 Mich. 142, 190 NW 635.

37. Boyd v. Com., 194 Ky. 73, 238 SW 182; State v. Casto, 120 Wash. 557, 207 P 952.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to go to jury where defendants testified that the victim voluntarily gave up his money to them under an agreement to divide the spoils of gambling in which all had theretofore participated with others, and where victim testified defendants took his money at the point of a pistol. Boyd v. Com., 194 Ky. 73, 238 SW 182.

38. As affecting degree or other classification of offense see supra passim §§ 55–71.

For court or jury in prosecutions for homicide see Homicide § 575.

For jury where affecting degree see infra § 185.

39. Peo. v. Dwyer, 324 Ill. 363, 155 NE 316, 317.

40. Peo. v. Dwyer, supra.

"Where the weapon in question and the manner of its use are of such character as to admit of but one conclusion, the question whether or not it is deadly is one of law for the court to determine, but when the character of the weapon is doubtful or the question depends upon the manner of its use, it is a question for the jury to determine from a description of the weapon, from the manner of its use, and the circumstances of the case." Peo. v. Dwyer, supra.

41. Peo. v. Funk, 325 Ill. 57, 155 NE 838.

42. Generally see supra §§ 56–64.

43. See supra § 57.

44. Peo. v. Seaman, 101 Cal. A. 302, 281 P 660, 661.

"If a person is about to commit a robbery, there are several courses open to him. If he goes empty-handed he may succeed or he may fail, and in addition thereto, he may be killed. If he succeeds in committing the offense and is thereafter tried, he will have the benefit of claiming robbery in the second degree. On the other hand, if he uses a gun or other weapon mentioned in the statute and succeeds in committing the robbery and is put on trial, then it will be a question for the jury to decide whether the crime was first degree or second degree. The mere fact that on the trial the defendant testified that his gun was not loaded does not require the jury to believe such testimony." Peo. v.

[§ 186] f. Connection of Accused with Offense. Identification being a question of fact, it is for the jury, on conflicting evidence, to determine whether accused was connected with or participated in the robbery,[45] as against his claim of alibi,[46] as where the question is whether defendant acted in concert with another in committing the crime,[47] or did acts rendering him guilty as an accessary[48] or principal[49] under general rules.[50]

[§ 187] 2. Instructions—a. In General. General rules[51] govern as to instructions in a trial for robbery,[52] and in accordance therewith particular instructions given or requested have been held proper[53]

Seaman, supra.

Matters respecting dangerous weapons as for court or jury generally see supra § 184.

[45] Ala.—Lynn v. State, 21 Ala. A. 2, 106 S 344 [certiorari den 214 Ala. 77, 106 S 347].

Cal.—Peo. v. Anderson, (A.) 288 P 1095; Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267; Peo. v. Seawright, 72 Cal. A. 414, 237 P 796; Peo. v. Anderson, 59 Cal. A. 408, 211 P 254.

Colo.—Mulligan v. Peo., 68 Colo. 17, 189 P 5; Smith v. Peo., 39 Colo. 202, 88 P 1072.

Fla.—Whiting v. State, 97 Fla. 693, 122 S 2.

Ill.—Peo. v. O'Donnell, 315 Ill. 568, 146 NE 490; Peo. v. Allegretti, 291 Ill. 364, 126 NE 158.

Iowa.—State v. Ayles, 205 Iowa 1024, 219 NW 41.

Ky.—Asher v. Com., 221 Ky. 599, 299 SW 203; Lanford v. Com., 209 Ky. 693, 273 SW 492.

La.—State v. Skeahan, 167 La. 1003, 120 S 626.

Mich.—Peo. v. Czarnecki, 241 Mich. 696, 217 NW 781; Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

Mo.—State v. Riddle, 23 SW (2d) 179; State v. Kowertz, 317 Mo. 426, 297 SW 358.

Mont.—State v. Sullivan, 9 Mont. 174, 22 P 1088.

N. J.—State v. Mantis, 151 A 376.

N. Y.—Peo. v. Cania, 217 App. Div. 34, 216 NYS 478.

Okl.—Williams v. State, 35 Okl. Cr. 171, 249 P 433.

Pa.—Com. v. Fink, 93 Pa. Super. 57.

R. I.—State v. Miller, 142 A 662.

Wash.—State v. Druxman, 88 Wash. 424, 153 P 381; State v. Hodoff, 88 Wash. 413, 153 P 377.

[a] Basis of identification.—In a prosecution for robbing a bank, where there was testimony conflicting with that of witnesses that defendant was one of the robbers, whether the identifying witnesses formed their opinion from the fact that defendant had been arrested as such, and not from their own knowledge, was a question for the jury. State v. Hodoff, 88 Wash. 413, 153 P 377.

[b] Method of identification.—"All the evidence in this case was offered by the prosecution. The defendant did not, at the time of the trial or at any time subsequent to his arrest, make any effort to explain the suspicious circumstances in which he was involved. Though he was not positively identified as one of the parties to the crime his general description tallied with that given by the witnesses, and it was for the jury to determine whether this method of identification was sufficient." Peo. v. Smith, 74 Cal. A. 510, 241 P 267, 268.

[c] By voice.—State v. Riddle, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 179; State v. Bell, (Mo.) 300 SW 504.

[d] Evidence held sufficient to take case to jury.—(1) Generally. Peo. v. Bigelow, 64 Cal. A. 731, 222 P 622; Mulligan v. Peo., 68 Colo. 17, 189 P 5; Asher v. Com., 221 Ky. 599, 299 SW 203; Meredith v. Com., 218 Ky. 571, 291 SW 745; Peo. v. Covelesky, 217 Mich. 90, 185 NW 770; State v. Riddle, (Mo.) 23 SW (2d) 179; State v. Maness, (Mo.) 19 SW (2d) 628; State v. Faudi, (Mo.) 11 SW (2d) 1014; State v. Deviney, (Mo.) 278 SW 726; State v. Eddy, (Mo.) 199 SW 186; State v. Mantis, (N. J.) 151 A 376; Williams v. State, 35 Okl. Cr. 171, 249 P 433; Com. v. Fink, 93 Pa. Super. 57. (2) Testimony of prosecuting witness to effect that she recognized defendant as the man that wrenched a bag of money from her hands. State v. Thompson, (Mo.) 238 SW 115. (3) "Several witnesses gave testimony which tended to show that this defendant and another white man, one Chapin, held pistols upon Burchfield and took the money away from him, representing at the time that they were officers of the law. There was also evidence of inculpatory statements by defendant, voluntarily made; and the defendant was shown without dispute to be a man of general bad character. On the other hand, the defendant denied that he was the man who robbed Burchfield, and also denied that he made the statements attributed to him. He also offered the testimony of one Monicue Morris, colored, to the same effect. This conflict in the testimony presented a question for the determination of the jury." Lynn v. State, 21 Ala. A. 2, 106 S 344, 345 [certiorari den 214 Ala. 77, 106 S 347].

[46] Cal.—Peo. v. Fallai, 99 Cal. A. 297, 278 P 449; Peo. v. Murphy, 92 Cal. A. 729, 268 P 927.

Ill.—Peo. v. Papke, 325 Ill. 410, 156 NE 375; Peo. v. Garbaciak, 306 Ill. 254, 137 NE 832; Peo. v. Martin, 304 Ill. 494, 136 NE 711, 303 Ill. 233, 135 NE 404.

Ky.—Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455.

Mich.—Peo. v. Covelesky, 217 Mich. 90, 185 NW 770.

Mo.—State v. Taylor, 18 SW (2d) 474; State v. Klegman, 1 SW (2d) 833; State v. Drew, 300 SW 473; State v. Kowertz, 317 Mo. 426, 297 SW 358; State v. Harmon, 296 SW 391; State v. Adair, 160 Mo. 391, 61 SW 187.

N. Y.—Peo. v. O'Regan, 221 App. Div. 331, 223 NYS 339.

Okl.—Barnhart v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 803.

[a] Preponderance of evidence favoring alibi.—"We have considered the record in this case with more than usual care from the fact that the apparent preponderance of the evidence seems sufficient to have raised a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's presence at the time of the robbery. But this was a question for the jury." State v. Harmon, (Mo.) 296 SW 391, 397.

[b] "While the evidence of appellant's guilt was purely circumstantial, . . . [it] was the exclusive province of the jury to pass upon the credibility of the appellant and the other witnesses whose testimony tended to establish his alibi." State v. Drew, (Mo.) 300 SW 473, 474.

[47] State v. Kowertz, 317 Mo. 426, 297 SW 358.

[a] Where companion took money from cash register.—State v. Kowertz, 317 Mo. 426, 297 SW 358.

[48] Mulligan v. Peo., 68 Colo. 17, 189 P 5; Whiting v. State, 97 Fla. 693, 122 S 2.

[a] Before the fact.—Mulligan v. Peo., 68 Colo. 17, 189 P 5; Whiting v. State, 97 Fla. 693, 122 S 2 ("armed robbery").

[49] Peo. v. McKeighan, 205 Mich. 367, 171 NW 500.

[a] Aiding and abetting.—Whether defendant, charged as a principal with the crime of assault and robbery without a dangerous weapon, denounced by Comp. L. (1915) § 15208, aided and abetted the commission of the alleged offense, is a question for the jury. Peo. v. McKeighan, 205 Mich. 367, 171 NW 500.

[50] See Criminal Law §§ 107–147.

[51] See Criminal Law §§ 2353–2496.

[52] See cases infra this note.

[a] Assuming truth of matters in issue.—A charge is erroneous which assumes the truth of matters of fact in controversy. State v. Bailey, 54 Iowa 414, 6 NW 589; Bradshaw v. State, 44 Tex. Cr. 222, 70 SW 215; Houston v. Com., 87 Va. 257, 12 SE 385.

[b] Construction as a whole.—In determining whether the court erred in charging the jury, all the instructions are to be taken together and read as a whole. Peo. v. Etting, 99 Cal. 577, 34 P 237; Moeller v. Peo., 70 Colo. 223, 199 P 414; State v. Bateman, 196 Mo. 35, 95 SW 413; State v. Rodgers, 21 Mont. 143, 53 P 97.

[c] Request to charge should be refused, although correct in the abstract, if there is no evidence in the case on which to base it. Haley v. State, 49 Ark. 147, 4 SW 746; Peo. v. Modina, 146 Cal. 142, 79 P 842; Ferguson v. State, 32 Ga. 658; State v. McLain, 159 Mo. 340, 60 SW 736; State v. Graham, 133 N. C. 645, 45 SE 514; Harris v. Com., 129 Va. 751, 105 SE 541, 542 ("we need not stop to consider whether the instruction in the abstract was true. It relates to a question not affecting the guilt or innocence of the accused, and the court was entirely right in refusing to give it").

[d] Inferences from facts.—It is not the judge's duty to point out what inferences (1) may (Haley v. State, 49 Ark. 147, 4 SW 746) (2) or should (Haley v. State, supra) be drawn from particular facts in evidence.

[53] See cases infra this note. See Autrey v. State, 15 Ala. A. 574, 74 S or improper.[54]

[§ 188] b. Nature and Elements of Offense[55]—(1) In General. Following the general rule,[56] the court should define the offense,[57] and instruct the jury clearly as to every essential element thereof.[58]

[§ 189] (2) Particular Elements—(a) Taking.[59] An instruction to find an accused present at the robbery guilty if he made an assault and "took" the property is correct even though the physical "taking" thereof was by his co-defendant acting in concert.[60] It has been held unnecessary to charge the jury as to the necessity of a carrying away of the property taken.[61]

[§ 190] (b) Property Taken[62]—aa. Value. It is sufficient to charge the jury that the property must have some value.[63]

Under statute defining robbery as felonious taking of "money, goods or other valuable thing,"[64]

397; Bolden v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 183; State v. Silvey, (Mo.) 296 SW 128; State v. Baldwin, (Mo.) 281 SW 940; State v. Deviney, (Mo.) 278 SW 726; State v. Daugherty, 302 Mo. 638, 259 SW 787; Compton v. State, 67 Tex. Cr. 15, 148 SW 580.

[a] Associates.—Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632 (where testimony showed that complaining witness was first put in fear of his life by accused and then his property was taken from the side of his car by the companions of accused who acted under his direction, it did not make any difference that accused's companions were not jointly indicted for the offense, and an instruction, authorizing a conviction if the jury believed from the evidence that accused and his associates took the property by force, was not erroneous on the theory that defendant had no associates because he alone was indicted).

[b] Circumstantial evidence.—Peo. v. Giardiano, 332 Ill. 476, 163 NE 798; Peo. v. Guido, 321 Ill. 397, 415, 152 NE 149 ("when there are circumstances forming important links in connection with the direct evidence in a case, an instruction upon the law concerning the competency of circumstantial evidence is proper").

[c] Completely presenting case under evidence.—State v. Hahn, 316 Mo. 229, 289 SW 845.

[d] Not misleading.—Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632 (using the words "feloniously and violently" following immediately after the words "steal, take and carry away," was not misleading as calculated to lead the jury into believing that they were directed to find defendant guilty of robbery under circumstances which would only make him guilty of larceny).

[e] Not prejudicial.—Nelms v. State, 18 Ga. A. 92, 88 SE 917 ("in his statement denying a robbery, [accused] claimed that he and his associate won the prosecutor's watch and money, by what was called a 'belt trick,' and detailed the colloquy between his associate and himself as the prosecutor approached them, in which his associate referred to the prosecutor, and pulling out his belt, said 'Maybe we can catch him on it.' The defendant's counsel, in directing the defendant during his statement at the trial, told the defendant to 'go out there and show the jury how that belt trick is worked.' Throughout the testimony, as it appears from the record, the device by which the defendants, as they claimed, won the watch and money, a belt game or belt trick, and the nature of the trick, was demonstrated to the jury by the defendant. Under these circumstances it was not error for the trial judge, in stating to the jury the contentions of the defendant, to use the expression 'they say . . . they flimflammed him out of it.' The defendant claimed that he won the money on a belt game or trick, and the language used was not for any reason assigned objectionable, though it may not have been classical)".

[f] Sufficiently favorable to defendant.—State v. Simpson, 119 Wash. 653, 657, 206 P 561 ("It is sufficient to give correct instructions upon any issue involved in a case in the language of the court").

[g] Within issues.—Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593 (in a prosecution for robbery with firearms, where the prosecuting witness claimed to have been made to hand over money won in a game of cards at the command of defendant who then had a pistol in his hand, a charge setting out the manner in which the witness came into possession of the money and alluding to the game was properly within the issues).

[54] See cases infra this note.

[a] Effect of victim's death before taking.—Fox v. State, 102 Ark. 393, 144 SW 516, 518 ("It is next urged that the court erred in refusing to instruct the jury to acquit the defendant if it found that Mrs. Winkleman died from the effects of the assault made on her before the money was taken from her person. The court by proper instruction had told the jury what robbery was under our statutes, and in plain and unambiguous language had covered every phase of the question. All the evidence in the case tended to show that the murder and robbery were a part of the same transaction, and that the robbery was the purpose for which the murder was committed. Therefore we do not think that the court erred in refusing to give the instruction").

[b] Misleading.—Hardeman v. State, 14 Ala. A. 35, 70 S 979 (defendant's requested charge that if he had chickens stolen from his premises a few nights before the robbery, and thought some one was attempting to steal them when he went out about the time of the robbery, he had a right to act on the reasonable appearance of things, was properly refused, as vague and misleading).

[c] Principal in second degree.—Bryant v. State, 15 Ga. A. 535, 83 SE 795 ("On the trial of two persons for robbery by force, when the evidence authorized but did not demand the conviction of one of them as principal in the first degree, and the conviction of the other as principal in the second degree, it is prejudicial error, in the case of the latter, for the court to charge as follows: 'If you should find that one of these defendants suddenly snatched money from the person of the prosecuting witness, it would make no difference whether it was the total amount named in the bill of indictment, or a portion of it, without the consent of the person in possession and control thereof, but with his knowledge that something was being taken from his person, and it was taken from him so quickly that he could not stop it, and it was done with intent to steal—if you find that one of these two did it and the other one did not know about it, then only that one who did it would be guilty of robbery by force.' This part of the charge is clearly erroneous. For one to be guilty as a principal in the second degree, he must not only know that a crime is being committed, but he must be present aiding, and abetting in the commission of it. Penal Code (1910) § 42").

[55] Enumerated and discussed see supra § 12-54.

[56] See Criminal Law §§ 2362-2368.

[57] See cases infra this note.

[a] Definition held sufficient generally.—State v. Thompson, (Mo.) 238 SW 115.

[b] Statutory definition.—On a trial for robbery, it is sufficient for the court, in defining robbery, to give the statutory definition of the crime. Peo. v. White, 5 Cal. A. 329, 90 P 471.

[c] "The omission of the word 'unlawful' in defining the crime of robbery is unimportant, if the acts charged, if committed at all, could not be other than unlawful." State v. Bruno, 141 Minn. 56, 169 NW 249.

Defining degrees see infra §§ 198, 199.

[58] Ga.—Grant v. State, 125 Ga. 259, 54 SE 191; Clay v. State, 122 Ga. 136, 50 SE 56.

Iowa.—State v. Atkins, 122 Iowa 161, 97 NW 996.

Mo.—State v. Alexander, 184 Mo. 266, 83 SW 753.

Okl.—Axhelm v. U. S., 9 Okl. 321, 60 P 98.

Tenn.—Miller v. State, 12 Lea 223.

W. Va.—State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

[59] As element of offense see supra § 13.

[60] State v. Friedman, 313 Mo. 88, 280 SW 1023, 1025.

[61] State v. Friedman, supra.

[a] Reason for rule.— ". . . No case is cited in which it has been held that, in an instruction for highway robbery, the court should require the jury to find that the property was carried away. No such case can be found; but in several cases it has been held that the allegation contended for by defendant need not be in an indictment for highway robbery. If it need not be alleged, it need not be proved, and, if it need not be proved that the property was carried away, then it is not necessary for the court to tell the jury that they must find that it was carried away." State v. Friedman, 313 Mo. 88, 280 SW 1023, 1025.

[62] Subjects of robbery see supra §§ 14, 15.

[63] State v. Dickens, (Mo.) 285 SW 445.

Value as element of offense see supra § 16.

[64] See supra §§ 2, 14.

where the indictment and evidence show a taking of "money," the charge need not point out that a "thing" taken must be "valuable."[65]

[§ 191] bb. Ownership, Possession, or Control.[66] Where the point is in issue, the court should instruct the jury as to the necessity that the property taken belong to some one other than accused.[67] If a claim of right by accused is not in issue, an instruction explaining that the property must have been taken from the immediate possession or control of the victim is sufficient as to ownership.[68]

[§ 192] (c) From Person or Presence.[69] The court should charge the jury as to the necessity of a taking from the person, presence, or immediate possession of the victim.[70]

[§ 193] (d) Force or Intimidation[71]—aa. Necessity of Instruction. The jury should be instructed as to the necessity of a taking by means of force or intimidation.[72]

[§ 194] bb. Sufficiency. Since either force or intimidation is sufficient to support a charge of robbery,[73] it is proper to charge the jury to such effect.[74] When instructing on the issue of one phase of the element of force or intimidation, the court need not include in such instruction matter as to the other phase of the element.[75]

Since the degree of force used is immaterial,[76] it is proper to so instruct the jury.[77]

Particular instructions. Under general rules[78] particular instructions given or requested as to the method of taking have been held proper[79] or improper.[80]

---

[65] Peo. v. Papke, 325 Ill. 410, 156 NE 375.

[a] Illustration.—"It is complained the instruction was erroneous in that it omitted the word 'valuable,' which qualifies the word 'thing.' The statute defines robbery as the felonious and violent taking of 'money, goods or other valuable thing' from the person of another by force or intimidation. Defendant was charged in the indictment with the felonious and violent taking of money from Loseff, and the proof of the people was that defendant took money violently from Loseff." Peo. v. Papke, 325 Ill. 410, 156 NE 375, 377.

[66] As element of offense see supra §§ 17–19.

[67] State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

[a] Defendant's claim of ownership.—Instruction held erroneous because of omission to state that before defendants could be found guilty the jury must find that the property taken was the property of some person other than defendants, particularly in view of fact that defendants claimed that money and property they were accused of stealing was won in a dice game and that they used their revolvers to protect winnings when interfered with by others. State v. Steele, 150 Wash. 466, 273 P 742.

[b] Instruction held sufficient.—In a prosecution for robbery committed by forcibly retaking money won from accused in gaming, court's charge that it was not unlawful to forcibly take from another one's own property, adequately presented defendant's theory, and a charge that where two persons engaged in gaming and the party losing voluntarily delivered the money lost to the winner, that the winner is the owner of the property, was not error as inferring that accused did not have the right to retake the property under the theory of the defense that the winnings were to be divided to cheat a third person. Punchard v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 603, 240 SW 939.

[68] State v. Asher, (Mo.) 246 SW 911; State v. Affronti, 292 Mo. 53, 238 SW 106; State v. Jacob, 131 Wash. 490, 230 P 647.

[a] Instructions held sufficient.—(1) An instruction that if the assault was made on N, servant of P, and the money and personal property of said P was taken "from the person or in his presence and against the will of said N., etc.," was not open to objection that the words "in his presence," referred only to the owner of the property, and not to the agent or servant, since the information would have been good if it had charged that N was the owner of the property, and a conviction would have been sustained upon proof that P owned it, in which event the instruction would have been good. State v. Asher, (Mo.) 246 SW 911. (2) "One who has the lawful possession and control of the personal property of another, in his or her possession, with the consent and permission of the owner, may be regarded for the purposes of this trial as the owner of said property," announces a correct principle of law. State v. Affronti, 292 Mo. 53, 71, 238 SW 106.

[b] Issue not raised.—"Appellant contends the testimony raised an issue as to whether Little was in actual control, care, and management of the money, and that the trial judge committed an error in failing to submit such issue to the jury. If the issue was fairly raised, it ought to have been submitted. We cannot agree with the contention that it was raised. When the whole evidence is considered, it clearly reflects Little's relation to the money, leaves no disputed ground, and, fairly construed, raises no such issue; and we believe the court would have been wholly unwarranted in submitting it. What we have said above applies with equal cogency to the contention that the court ought to have submitted the question as to whether Little was a mere servant of the bank." Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408, 410.

[69] As element of offense see supra §§ 20–23.

[70] Peo. v. Stevens, 141 Cal. 488, 75 P 62; Hamilton v. Com., 12 Ky. Op. 613; State v. Davidson, 38 Mo. 374.

[71] As element of offense see supra §§ 24–44.

[72] Cal.—Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621.

Ga.—Harrison v. State, 12 Ga. A. 552, 77 SE 830.

Iowa.—State v. Miller, 83 Iowa 291, 49 NW 90.

Ky.—Hamilton v. Com., 12 Ky. Op. 613.

Mo.—State v. Hall, 7 SW (2d) 1001.

Mont.—State v. Johnson, 26 Mont. 9, 66 P 290.

Okl.—Roddy v. State, (Cr.) 287 P 765.

Tex.—Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

Wash.—State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 120 AmSR 1003, 7 LRA NS 566, 12 AnnCas 61.

[73] See supra § 24.

[74] Sutton v. State, 162 Ark. 438, 258 SW 632; Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621; State v. Hall, (Mo.) 7 SW (2d) 1001.

[a] Information alleging force "and" fear.—Under Pen. Code § 211, defining robbery as felonious taking of personalty from person against his will by "force or fear," instruction permitting conviction if the offense was accomplished by "force or fear" is proper, although the information alleged "force and fear." Peo. v. Ferrara, 31 Cal. A. 1, 159 P 621.

[b] Manucaption.—"We are unable to fathom with precision the objection to the instruction reading, 'or an assault permitted the manucaption.' If it means that defendant did not take money from Umbeck by force and violence and putting him in fear, then we refer to that portion of the instruction which requires the finding that defendant made an assault on Umbeck, and with force and violence wrongfully and unlawfully did rob, steal, take, and carry away his money. If the objection means that the record fails to disclose that defendant laid his hands on Umbeck in taking the money, such literal fact is not necessarily a requisite to the crime of robbery, for the putting in fear and the compelling by assault the delivery of money is tantamount to the taking of it by manucaption." State v. Hall, (Mo.) 7 SW (2d) 1001, 1005.

[75] Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

[a] When charging on robbery by violence, the court need not also include a charge on putting in fear, and therefore failing in such connection to specify fear "of life or bodily injury" does not render the instruction erroneous. Palmer v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 335, 160 SW 349.

[76] See supra § 31.

[77] State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 7 LRANS 566.

[a] It was proper to charge that the degree of force used was immaterial so long as it was sufficient to compel prosecutor to part with his property. State v. Parsons, 44 Wash. 299, 87 P 349, 7 LRANS 566.

[78] See supra § 187 et seq.

[79] See cases infra this note.

[§ 195] (e) Consent.[81] Instructions as to the necessity of a taking by assault,[82] force,[83] and intimidation,[84] or "against the will" of the victim,[85] are ordinarily sufficient to advise the jury that the taking must be without the victim's consent. A request for a charge on consent is properly refused where so framed as to be an incorrect statement of the law.[86]

[§ 196] (f) Intent[87]—aa. Necessity of Instruction. Ordinarily[88] the court should charge the jury in some form[89] that the taking must have been with intent to steal.[90]

Acting under compulsion. Where the issue is raised by the evidence,[91] there should be an instruction relative to participation under duress or compulsion of another.[92]

Claim of right. An instruction relative to taking under claim of right should be given where this issue is raised by the evidence,[93] but need not be given

---

[a] Assault.—(1) Generally. Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 12, 277 SW 135 ("The charge complained of follows the statutory definition of an assault and is in accordance with the forms approved by this court"). (2) Held in conformity with evidence. Coulson v. State, 102 Tex. Cr. 8, 277 SW 135.

[b] Intimidation.—(1) Not misleading. Harrison v. State, 12 Ga. A. 552, 77 SE 830; Roddy v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 765, 768 (instruction that "the essential elements may be the fear of any unlawful injury, immediate or future, of the person or property of the person from whom said property is taken"). (2) Not prejudicial. Roddy v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 765.

[80] See cases infra this note.

[a] Intimidation.—(1) Generally. Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265 (where accused was charged with putting another in fear of his life by using a gun and fraudulently taking his coat from him, and the evidence showed that some one made the victim remove his coat and leave it on the ground, it was not error to refuse to instruct that if accused held the victim up with a gun, and caused him to remove and leave his coat, intending to steal money believed to be in the coat, he should be acquitted); Burnsides v. State, 51 Tex. Cr. 399, 102 SW 118 (in a prosecution for robbery by inducing a person to deliver property by threatening to do an illegal act injurious to his character, person, or property, where the indictment alleged that accused falsely impersonated an officer, and that he falsely charged a person with unlawfully boarding a train, a charge that if the jury believe that accused arrested the person charging him with unlawfully boarding a train, and that while he was in the custody of accused, accused threatened to place him in jail, etc., and if they believe such placing in jail would have been injurious to his character, or person, and accused thereby fraudulently induced him to pay accused $4.90, etc., is not sufficient to present the state's case to the jury, since it based the guilt of accused upon a threat to do a legal act, and ignored certain allegations in the indictment). (2) Issue not raised by evidence. Horn v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 220, 230 SW 693 (an instruction that the jury must find that defendant, who admitted taking property from prosecuting witness, put him in fear of life or bodily injury, and if they had a reasonable doubt they should acquit, the refusal of requested charge that, if defendant took the property, but did not put the witness in fear of life or bodily injury, they should acquit, was proper; the issue not being raised by the evidence); Powell v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 201, 131 SW 590, 591 (where a witness testified that he was knocked down by a blow on the nose or face, and that accused turned him over and took his money out of his pockets and ran away, but did not testify that he was in fear of his life, it was error to instruct the jury to convict if they believed that accused made an assault on the witness, and used violence on him, and put him in fear of life and bodily injury; "The court should have confined the consideration of the jury to the question of assault and violence, inasmuch as there was no testimony showing the old man was put in fear of his life").

[b] Snatching. — (1) Incorrect statement of law. Peo. v. Pedel, 81 Cal. A. 558, 254 P 298 (instruction embodying properly refused). (2) Issue not raised by evidence. Peo. v. Pedel, supra; Roquemore v. State, 111 Tex. Cr. 77, 11 SW (2d) 316.

[81] Nonconsent as element of offense see supra § 45.

[82] Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539.

[83] Watkins v. State, 36 Ga. A. 297, 136 SE 815.

[84] Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539.

[85] Burkhalter v. State, supra.

[a] Where evidence of consent was weak.—Burkhalter v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 504, 247 SW 539, 545.

[86] Sydell v. State, 17 Oh. A. 418.

[a] Time of consent.—"We request that the court charge the jury to the effect that if the prosecuting witness, Clara Bowman, consented to the robbery by the defendants, that the defendants could not be convicted of the crime of robbery." The court was correct in refusing this charge. The charge would imply that if at any time the victim had consented to the robbery by defendants, at any time prior to the commission thereof, they would not be guilty of the crime of robbery, notwithstanding she may have changed her mind and set aside all plans previously entered into, if any. Sydell v. State, 17 Oh. A. 418, 421.

[87] As element of robbery see supra §§ 49–53.

Instructions relative to intent generally see Criminal Law § 2368.

[88] See State v. Bruno, 141 Minn. 56, 169 NW 249, 250 (criminal intent is not necessarily an element of a crime defined by statute. . . . . The statute does not in terms make intent a necessary element in the crime of robbery. Whether intent is ever an issue on a trial for robbery we need not determine. If the acts charged by the state were committed, there could be no issue of intent in this case. Such acts necessarily constitute robbery").

[89] Sufficiency of instructions see infra § 197.

[90] Cal.—Peo. v. White, 5 Cal. A. 329, 90 P 471.

Ga.—Sledge v. State, 99 Ga. 684, 26 SE 756.

Ill.—Turley v. Peo., 188 Ill. 628, 59 NE 506.

La.—State v. Covington, 169 La. 939, 126 S 431.

Miss.—Jones v. State, 152 Miss. 900, 120 S 199; Jones v. State, 95 Miss. 121, 48 S 407, 21 AnnCas 1137; Woods v. State, 6 S 207.

Mo.—State v. Graves, 185 Mo. 713, 84 SW 904; State v. Brown, 104 Mo. 365, 16 SW 406.

Mont.—State v. Oliver, 20 Mont. 318, 50 P 1018.

N. D.—State v. Fordham, 13 N. D. 494, 101 NW 888.

Tex.—Barnes v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 135, 272 SW 188; Carreon v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 572, 236 SW 985; Bollen v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 70, 86 SW 1025; Smith v. State, (Cr.) 81 SW 712.

W. Va.—State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

[a] Omission reversible error.—State v. McCoy, 63 W. Va. 69, 59 SE 758.

[91] See Owens v. State, 215 Ala. 42, 109 S 109 (requested charge to acquit if satisfied that defendant did what he did from compulsion and fear of being shot or killed was properly refused, as abstract).

[92] Carreon v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 572, 236 SW 985.

[a] Application of rule.—"If appellant had no knowledge of the purpose of said codefendants to perpetrate a robbery, and was not cognizant that one was being committed at the time, he would not be guilty of any offense. After the robbery was committed, even though he may have then learned thereof, if he was compelled by his codefendants to drive the car away in their effort to escape, he would not be guilty of any offense. The charge requested pertinently submitted to the jury in an affirmative way appellant's defense. We fail to find in the charge given by the court any presentation of appellant's defensive theory whatever. . . . The court may have thought little reliance should be placed on appellant's testimony, and the jury may have given as little credence to it, but the issue was fairly raised, and under the well-settled law in this state appellant was entitled to his affirmative presentation of it." Carreon v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 572, 236 SW 985, 986.

[93] Temple v. State, 86 Tex. Cr. 219, 215 SW 965; Carr v. State, 55 Tex. Cr. 352, 116 SW 591.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) Failure to instruct that, if defendant was induced to part with his money and place it under the control of his adversary in a gambling game through deceit and fraud, he would not be guilty of robbery in regaining possession, was error. Temple v. State, 86 Tex. Cr. 219, 215 SW 965. (2) Where it appeared that the alleged robbery grew out of a game of cards between accused and prosecuting witness, and it was contested as to which was entitled to the money taken which had where there is no evidence to support the point.[94]

Participating to aid arrest. Where the point is in issue, there should be an instruction relative to the effect of defendant's participation in the robbery to aid in the apprehension of the robbers.[95]

[§ 197] bb. Sufficiency. It is sufficient to charge intent in the language of a statute defining the crime of robbery.[96] An instruction requiring an intent to "rob" has been held equivalent to requiring an intent to "steal."[97] A charge otherwise sufficient is not objectionable because advising the jury that one may be guilty of robbery even though his attack was originally made for a different purpose.[98]

Use of "felonious," "feloniously," etc. If the element of intent is otherwise adequately expressed, the court need not use[99] or if it does use, need not define,[1] the words "felonious" or "feloniously." But if there is no instruction on intent otherwise sufficient, use of the words "wilfully, feloniously and violently" in describing the taking will not cure the error.[2]

Facts establishing intent. It is not the province of the court to instruct the jury what facts would have established an intent on the part of accused to commit a robbery.[3]

Particular instructions. In accordance with general rules,[4] particular instructions given or requested relative to intent have been held sufficient[5] or in-

---

been bet on the game, accused was entitled to a charge on fraudulent intent, though a claim of ownership is not always or necessarily a defense to a charge of robbery, and it was error to refuse to charge that if the jury believed that accused took the money under an honest claim of right, believing that it was his property, or if they had a reasonable doubt whether such was the case, they should acquit. Carr v. State, 55 Tex. Cr. 352, 116 SW 591.

94. Peo. v. Williams, 72 Cal. A. 52, 236 P 355; Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517; State v. Hall, (Mo.) 7 SW (2d) 1001.

[a] Illustration.—In a prosecution for robbery by subjecting complaining witness to force and fear so that she delivered jewelry, and under a defense developed by the evidence that the jewels were voluntarily delivered as security for a loan, requests that if defendant honestly believed he had a legal right to take the jewelry he must be acquitted, likewise if he procured possession to obtain money with which to satisfy a debt which he believed legally due him from the complaining witness, he should be acquitted, were properly refused as inapplicable to evidence. Com. v. Homer, 235 Mass. 526, 127 NE 517.

95. Barnes v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 135, 272 SW 188.

[a] As detective.—(1) Where the defense was that accused was acting as detective and had no intention to keep proceeds of robbery, refusal to charge that, if he had no such intention, jury should acquit, was error. Barnes v. State, 100 Tex. Cr. 135, 272 SW 188. (2) Where the defense was that accused was acting as detective to secure conviction of real robbers, and had no intention of appropriating money, charge that made right to acquittal forfeit, if he aided or encouraged by gestures, was error, as acquittal should have been made to depend upon matter of intention. Barnes v. State, supra.

96. Peo. v. Scarbak, 245 Ill. 435, 92 NE 286, 288.

"Plaintiffs in error insist that the giving of the first instruction was erroneous for the reason that it is not a complete definition of the crime of robbery, in that it omits the felonious intent as to a constituent element of the offense. This instruction is in the exact language of the statute. The definition as contained in the statute does not omit any essential element of the crime of robbery as it existed at common law, and the definition of the crime by the statute being complete, it was not error to give this instruction in the language of the statute." Peo. v. Scarbak, supra.

97. Baygents v. State, 154 Miss. 36, 122 S 187.

[a] Failure to otherwise state intent necessary to constitute crime was not error.—Baygents v. State, 154 Miss. 36, 122 S 187.

98. Peo. v. White, 5 Cal. A. 329, 90 P 471; State v. Covington, 169 La. 939, 126 S 431.

[a] Illustrations.—(1) An instruction, that if accused by the use of force and violence on the person of the prosecutrix, or by putting her in fear, compelled her against her will to deliver to him her personal property, and that accused took and received the same by such means, he was guilty of robbery, although he may have attacked the prosecutrix for some other purpose, is not open to the objection that it advised the jury that the intent to take the property was not necessary to constitute the crime. Peo. v. White, 5 Cal. A. 329, 90 P 471. (2) Where a judge charged the jury that to constitute the crime of robbery felonious intent to take property must exist at the time, and force or threatened force be used, the trial judge did not err in modifying it by giving a further charge that if one, after committing any other crime which is done or may not be done with the intention of robbing him or her, then robs a person, that is robbery, even though the criminal intent of robbing might not have been present at the time of beating and wounding or whatever the crime might have been, since the judge had the right to modify the special charge so as to make it applicable to evidence submitted to the jury. State v. Covington, 169 La. 939, 126 S 431.

99. State v. Hall, (Mo.) 7 SW (2d) 1001; State v. Carolla, 316 Mo. 213, 292 SW 721; State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541; State v. Spray, 174 Mo. 569, 74 SW 846; State v. Rowland, 174 Mo. 373, 74 SW 622.

[a] "Feloniously," is a word of classification, not of definition nor a part of the crime. Such words are merely descriptive of the grade of the offense, and would not enlighten or aid the jury in determining if the violent acts of the defendant were robbery in the first degree. State v. Carolla, 316 Mo. 213, 292 SW 721, 727.

[b] Instruction held sufficient.—"It is further contended that the court failed to require the jury, in and by instruction 1 given sua sponte, to find that the assault was felonious, and that the taking of the property was feloniously done. This instruction does require the jury to find that the property was taken by defendant 'with the intent at the time to wrongfully take and carry away and to convert the same fraudulently to his own use and deprive the owner thereof permanently without his consent.'" State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541, 544.

1. State v. Carolla, 316 Mo. 213, 292 SW 721, 727; State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541; State v. Rader, 262 Mo. 117, 132, 171 SW 46.

"The general rule is in robbery as in ordinary cases, that feloniously need not be used in the instruction, or if used that it need not be defined." State v. Rader, supra [quot State v. Carolla, supra].

[a] "Even in prosecutions for robbery in the first degree, on all-fours by analogy both in the respect that a larceny is committed ordinarily and that the statutes defining it likewise use the word 'feloniously,' we find no such invariable rule. On the contrary the general rule is in robbery as in ordinary cases, that feloniously need not be used in the instruction, or if used that it need not be defined." State v. Rader, 262 Mo. 117, 133, 171 SW 46 [quot State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541, 544].

[b] Definition given held sufficient.—"The word 'feloniously,' as used in these instructions, means wickedly, and against the admonition of the law; that is, wickedly and unlawfully." State v. Newland, (Mo.) 285 SW 400, 402.

2. State v. McLain, 159 Mo. 340, 60 SW 736.

3. State v. West, 157 Mo. 309, 57 SW 1071.

4. See Criminal Law §§ 2353–2496.

5. See Walling v. State, 55 Tex. Cr. 254, 116 SW 813. See also Hood v. State, 18 Ala. A. 287, 289, 92 S 30 (where the question was, did the defendant by force or by putting prosecutor in fear take, or aid in taking, the money from his person, the court did not err in refusing to instruct: "Did H. (defendant) know the money was to be taken before it was taken? If the jury cannot answer this question, each one of them, in the affirmative, after they have considered all the evidence, they cannot convict the defendant of robbery, or an assault with intent to rob." "Defendant might not have known that prosecutor had any money before he actually took it"); Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593 (in a prosecution for robbery with firearms, where the state showed that, after a game of cards, defendant compelled the state's principal witness to hand back money he had won in the game, a charge that if defendant presented a pistol at or to-sufficient.[6]

[§ 198] c. Grade, Degree, or Classification of Crime[7]—(1) Robbery. Where such issues are involved in the case, the court, following the general rule,[8] should define degrees[9] or other distinct classifications[10] of the offense.[11]

Under statutes grading the offense according to whether force or intimidation is used,[12] it is proper to charge that on an indictment charging robbery by force and intimidation, a verdict may be found for either[13] or both[14] classifications of the offense as the evidence may disclose. Under such an indictment there should be no instruction as to the distinct statutory classification[15] of robbery by snatching.[16]

Particular instructions. Under general rules,[17] particular instructions given or requested have been held proper or improper with respect to degrees,[18] or other distinct classifications[19] of the offense, such as robbery with a dangerous or deadly weapon,[20] by snatching,[21] or by use of actual force or intimidaward the state's witness, and took from his possession the money described in the indictment without his consent, but did not intend to permanently appropriate it, or, if there was a reasonable doubt as to such intention, defendant should be acquitted, was not objectionable as authorizing a conviction although defendant afterwards intended to repay the state's witness).

---

[a] Charge requiring jury to find robbery as alleged in indictment held sufficient where the indictment alleged a taking with intent to steal. Watkins v. State, 36 Ga. A. 297, 136 SE 815.

[b] Not objectionable as assuming facts in issue nor as expressing opinion on what had been proved. State v. Covington, 169 La. 939, 126 S 431.

[6] See Peo. v. McKeighan, 205 Mich. 367, 171 NW 500, 502 ("One of the essential elements of this crime that it is necessary to prove beyond a reasonable doubt is that the respondent had a felonious intent at the time of counseling, aiding, and abetting the commission of the said offense of robbery. It was therefore necessary that the learned trial judge should give clear and explicit instructions as to this important feature of the alleged offense. The learned trial judge charged with reference to this as follows: 'Now if you find by the evidence in this case beyond a reasonable doubt that the respondent counseled, advised, and knew and had a criminal intent at the time that he advised with the other men, and you find the other men did proceed to hold up, rob, and take the money away from the man Spencer, then, under our law, the respondent is equally guilty with the other parties who absolutely took the money away from him.' This, in our opinion, was not a sufficient statement of the necessary intent. It should have been clearly stated that it was necessary that the respondent had a criminal intent to rob, steal, or take from the person of Fred Spencer property that could have been the subject of larceny. An intent to commit a simple assault would not justify a conviction upon the charge alleged in the information").

[a] Confusing.—Milam v. State, 24 Okl Cr. 247, 218 P 168 (not sufficiently clear and explicit as to motive and intent and record showed jury confused as to law and issues on this point).

[b] Special charge on motive.—Collins v. State, 77 Tex. Cr. 156, 178 SW 345, 356 ("There was no necessity for the court to give the charge on want of motive as requested by appellant. He offered no evidence that he had no motive further than he had borrowed considerable money from Mrs. Greer [wife of the victim], and that he could probably continue to borrow money from her. But the fact that he made arrangement to borrow $350 from Mrs. Greer and the prosecuting witness, her husband, had stopped payment of this check, and any others that might be drawn in his favor, or in the name of his mother, was a motive for appellant to make the assault that was made. There is ample evidence for the jury to find a motive for the crime as committed, and the court correctly refused the special charge requested on the issue of motive").

[7] Grade, degree or classification of robbery see supra §§ 55-71.

[8] See Criminal Law §§ 2451-2455.

[9] Peo. v. Kiernan, 202 App. Div. 542, 195 NYS 207.

[a] Definition of robbery generally is insufficient.—Peo. v. Kiernan, 202 App. Div. 542, 195 NYS 207.

[b] Where court failed to define any one of the three degrees of robbery, and the jury found defendant guilty of robbery in the third degree without knowing what it was, the judgment of conviction was reversed. Peo. v. Kiernan, 202 App. Div. 542, 195 NYS 207.

[c] Amplifying statutory definition.—An instruction defining a degree of robbery is not objectionable because the court amplifies and clarifies the statutory definition. Peo. v. Scott, 84 Cal. A. 642, 258 P 638.

[d] Third degree robbery definition superfluous.—Where defendant who was convicted of robbery in the second degree does not request any charge relating to robbery in the third degree, and there is nothing in the evidence to charge defendant with robbery in the third degree, he is not prejudiced by an instruction defining robbery in the third degree correctly, but not as comprehensively as might be. Peo. v. Thompson, 198 N. Y. 396, 91 NE 838.

[10] See case infra this note.

[a] Words of statute.—It was not error to instruct, in the words of the statute, that, if one by assault, violence, or putting in fear of life or bodily injury fraudulently takes from another any property with intent to appropriate it to his own use, he is guilty of robbery, and that, when a firearm is exhibited in committing the offense, the punishment must be death or imprisonment for not less than five years. "This is the language of the statute." Brown v. State, 61 Tex. Cr. 334, 136 SW 265, 266.

[11] Included offenses see infra § 199.

[12] See supra § 68.

[13] Carter v. State, 3 Ga. A. 477, 60 SE 216.

[14] Carter v. State, supra.

[15] See supra § 69.

[16] Pride v. State, 124 Ga. 791, 53 SE 192.

"While all three of the grades of that offense now provided for may be charged in the same indictment, manifestly it is not proper, where only one grade is charged, to instruct the jury as to the law applicable to the other two grades; and, of course, it is equally improper, where two of the grades only are charged in the indictment, to instruct the jury as to the other grade. No citation of authority is required to support this plain legal proposition. It is also manifest that if in a case where the indictment charges only two of the grades the court gives in charge to the jury the law applicable to the other, which is not covered by the indictment, and the evidence introduced upon the trial is such that the accused was likely injured by such erroneous instruction, it is cause for a new trial." Pride v. State, supra.

[17] See Criminal Law §§ 2451-2455.

[18] [a] Instruction held proper.—State v. Newland, (Mo.) 285 SW 400 (first degree).

[19] See infra text and notes 20-23.

[20] [a] Instructions held improper.—(1) A requested instruction as to the effect of using a deadly weapon after commission of the robbery is properly refused where the evidence fails to raise the issue, and on the contrary clearly shows that such weapon was used before the victim was deprived of her property. Jarman v. State, 112 Tex. Cr. 239, 16 SW (2d) 130. (2) Under Pen. Code (1911) art 1327, providing that if any person, by threat or violence or by putting in fear of life, etc., shall fraudulently take from another's possession any property with intent to appropriate it, he shall be punished by confinement for life or for not less than five years, "and" when a firearm is used or exhibited in the commission of the offense, etc., shall be punished by death or imprisonment for not less than five years, an instruction charging the statute was improper for using the word "or" instead of the word "and." Coker v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 504, 160 SW 366 (error held harmless in view of other instructions).

[21] [a] Instruction held improper.—"On the trial of one indicted under section 148 of the Pen. Code of 1910, for robbery by force and intimidation, it was error to give in charge to the jury the part of that section which relates to robbery by sudden snatching." Blackshear v. State, 20 Ga. A. 87, 92 SE 547 (holding, however, that "where the judge specifically confined the investigation of the jury to the determination of the guilt of the accused of robbery by force or intimidation, there was no reversible error in so charging, for the jury could not have been misled thereby").

tion;[22] and highway robbery.[23]

[§ 199] (2) Other Offenses. Where the evidence raises the issue, the court may[24] and ordinarily should[25] instruct the jury as to any offense of a lower grade necessarily included within a charge of robbery. But such a charge is not required where under the evidence accused is either guilty of robbery or innocent of any offense charged.[26] Where the evidence raises the issue of guilt of another offense, but fails to sustain the charge of robbery, instructions should not be given on the latter crime.[27]

[§ 200] d. Connection of Accused with Crime. An instruction that the jury must believe beyond a reasonable doubt that accused committed the robbery has been held sufficient on the issue of identification.[28]

---

[22] [a] Instructions held proper.—(1) Accused "complains of the following excerpt from the charge: 'You will bear in mind that I have instructed you to eliminate the question of robbery by intimidation and by suddenly snatching and carrying away. I read you section 149 of the Penal Code: "Robbery by open force or violence shall be punished by imprisonment and labor in the penitentiary for not less than four years nor longer than twenty years."' The evidence authorized this charge. Furthermore, under it the jury were required to find that there was a robbery by force, before they would be authorized to convict, and were not authorized to convict for robbery by intimidation or snatching." Watkins v. State, 36 Ga. A. 297, 136 SE 815, 816. (2) A charge that defendant, if guilty, would be guilty of robbery by open force or violence, was held authorized by evidence. McIntyre v. State, 41 Ga. A. 352, 152 SE 914.

[23] [a] Instruction held proper.—Under a statute making it an offense to rob "any person in or near any public highway," an indictment charging commission "in" the highway is good as against the contention that it should have been "in or near"; and an instruction that if the robbery was committed "at or near" the public highway was unobjectionable where the evidence had been confined to occurrences "in" the highway. "Had there been any evidence given of a robbery near the highway, upon an indictment for robbery in the highway, the charge of the Judge would have been erroneous and the prisoner entitled to a new trial." State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83, 89.

[24] Davis v. Com., 230 Ky. 589, 20 SW (2d) 455, 456; State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

"The complaint of the instructions is that they permitted a conviction of grand larceny on an indictment for robbery. Robbery includes the offense of grand larceny (Criminal Code, §§ 262, 263), and the punishment for the latter is less severe. It was proper to give instructions covering the whole law of the case, and, since the defendant was given the lighter penalty, he was plainly not prejudiced." Davis v. Com., supra.

[a] Illustration.—In a prosecution for robbery and assault with intent to kill if resisted, an instruction that if the jury find from the evidence beyond reasonable doubt that defendants, or either of them, are guilty of stealing from the person of the prosecuting witness the sum described in the indictment or some part thereof, but do not find that they or either of them assaulted said witness with intent, if resisted, to kill or wound said witness, then they should find defendants or either of them guilty of the crime of larceny from the person, is not erroneous, as robbery is larceny aggravated by the circumstance that the property taken is taken from the person of another by violence or by putting him in fear, and the greater crime necessarily embraces the lesser offense of the same class. State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434.

[25] Cal.—Peo. v. Robinson, 65 Cal. 136, 3 P 607.

Ind.—Duffy v. State, 154 Ind. 250, 56 NE 209.

Iowa.—State v. Becker, 159 Iowa 72, 140 NW 201; State v. Duffy, 124 Iowa 705, 100 NW 796.

Ky.—Richards v. Com., 67 SW 818, 24 KyL 14; Com. v. Prewitt, 82 Ky. 240.

Mo.—State v. Lasson, 292 Mo. 155, 238 SW 101; State v. Cantrell, 290 Mo. 232, 234 SW 800; State v. Weinhardt, 253 Mo. 629, 161 SW 1151.

N. C.—State v. Holt, 192 N. C. 490, 135 SE 324.

[a] Assault and battery.—State v. Becker, 159 Iowa 72, 140 NW 201.

[b] Assault with deadly weapon.—State v. Holt, 192 N. C. 490, 135 SE 324.

[c] Attempt or assault with intent to commit robbery.—State v. Becker, 159 Iowa 72, 140 NW 201; State v. Thompson, (Mo.) 238 SW 115.

[d] Grand larceny.—State v. Lasson, 292 Mo. 155, 238 SW 101; State v. Cantrell, 290 Mo. 232; 234 SW 800.

[e] Petit larceny.—Com. v. Prewitt, 82 Ky. 240; State v. Weinhardt, 253 Mo. 629, 161 SW 1151. Contra Farrell v. Com., 11 Ky. Op. 386.

[f] Simple assault.—State v. Becker, 159 Iowa 72, 140 NW 201.

[g] Charge held sufficient.—"The main contention of the plaintiffs in error is that the court did not sufficiently charge on the question of embezzlement. The charge of the court as a whole shows a careful consideration and presentation of all the issues involved. While in the main charge the court does not use the term 'embezzlement,' he does charge fully as to what proof is necessary before conviction could be had. Sydell was not present at the robbery, but planned it. It, therefore, became necessary to charge fully on conspiracy. The court charged on the necessary elements of robbery, assault and battery, assault and pocket-picking, and the necessary elements to be proved by the state to establish conspiracy, and the degree of proof required to convict." Sydell v. State, 17 Oh. A. 418, 420.

[26] Cal.—Peo. v. O'Brien, 88 Cal. 483, 26 P 362; Peo. v. Bryan, 91 Cal. A. 189, 266 P 972; Peo. v. Pedel, 81 Cal. A. 558, 254 P 298; Peo. v. North, 81 Cal. A. 113, 252 P 1063.

Iowa.—State v. Stanley, 109 Iowa 142, 80 NW 228.

Kan.—State v. Clough, 70 Kan. 510, 79 P 117.

Ky.—Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162.

Mo.—State v. Friedman, 313 Mo. 88, 280 SW 1023; State v. Daugherty, 259 SW 787; State v. Thompson, 238 SW 115; State v. Coffee, 158 Mo. 568, 59 SW 964; State v. Brown, 104 Mo. 365, 16 SW 406.

Nebr.—Bunge v. State, 87 Nebr. 557, 127 NW 899.

N. C.—State v. Nicholson, 124 N. C. 820, 32 SE 813.

Tex.—Long v. State, 47 Tex. Civ. A. 296, 83 SW 384; Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408; Raleigh v. State, 74 Tex. Cr. 484, 168 SW 1050.

[a] Generally.—Where defendant, who was armed with a pistol, by threats forced the custodian of bank funds to open the vault, the fact of the custodian's consent does not change the offense from robbery, and a charge on lower grades of offenses is unnecessary. Guyon v. State, 89 Tex. Cr. 287, 230 SW 408.

[b] Grand larceny.—Armstrong v. Com., 190 Ky. 217, 227 SW 162; State v. Thompson, (Mo.) 238 SW 115.

[c] Petit larceny.—State v. Whalen, 148 Mo. 286, 49 SW 989; Bunge v. State, 87 Nebr. 557, 127 NW 899.

[d] Simple assault.—Bunge v. State, 87 Nebr. 557, 127 NW 899; Raleigh v. State, 74 Tex. Cr. 484, 168 SW 1050.

[e] Sudden snatching constituting larceny.—Peo. v. Pedel, 81 Cal. A. 558, 254 P 298.

[27] Bunge v. State, 87 Nebr. 557, 127 NW 899.

"Where the trial court permits the jury to find defendant guilty of larceny from the person after instructing them that the charge of robbery is not sustained by the evidence, instructions on the law of robbery should not be given." Bunge v. State, supra.

[28] Asher v. Com., 221 Ky. 599, 299 SW 203.

[a] Illustration.—"Appellant next insists that he was entitled to an instruction on the question of identity as this was the sole issue in this case. Under instruction No. 1, which was given, the jury was told that it must believe to the exclusion of a reasonable doubt that the appellant did the act for which he was being tried. This it could not do unless it believed the evidence of the commonwealth on the question of his identification. The instruction amply took care of appellant's rights in this matter." Asher v. Com., 221 Ky. 599, 299 SW 203, 204.

[b] Evidence held sufficient to justify instructions.—(1) In a prosecution charging defendant as accessory before the fact to robbery, facts and circumstances are sufficient to warrant an instruction submitting the issue whether defendant, not being present, advised and encouraged the commission of the crime. Miller v. State, 155 Ark. 68, 243 SW 1063. (2) An instruction that the jury must find that assault and taking of property were actually done by defendant himself, others having been implicated, was proper, where the evidence showed that defendant assaulted prosecuting witness and took property from him. State v. Massey, 274 Mo. 578, 204 SW 541.

Particular instructions. Under general rules,[29] as applied to the circumstances involved, particular instructions given or requested as to the connection of accused with or his participation in the robbery have been held proper[30] or improper.[31]

Possession of stolen property. The court may properly instruct the jury as to the evidential effect of accused's unexplained possession of the stolen property,[32] but should leave the weight of such evidence to the jury.[33]

[§ 201] 3. Verdict—a. In General. General rules[34] apply as to the form[35] certainty,[36] and responsiveness[37] of verdicts in prosecutions for robbery.[38]

In a special verdict, in compliance with the general rule,[39] a finding as to intent may be necessary.[40]

Assessing punishment.[41] Under a statute providing that where the jury fail to agree on the punishment to be inflicted, or do not declare such punishment by their verdict, the court shall assess the punishment,[42] a verdict finding accused guilty of robbery as charged and expressly leaving the punishment to the court, is good as against the contention that it should have stated that the jury were unable to agree upon the punishment.[43]

[§ 202] b. Specification of Offense[44]—(1) In General. A general verdict is sufficient to convict of the highest offense charged in the indictment.[45]

---

[c] Evidence held insufficient to raise an issue of alibi requiring instructions. Robinson v. State, 62 Tex. Cr. 645, 138 SW 704.

[29] See Criminal Law §§ 2375–2379; and passim §§ 2353–2496.

[30] Nichols v. Com., 3 Ky. Op. 258, 261.

[a] Alibi.—"Charge which instructed the jury to find appellant not guilty if they had a reasonable doubt as to his presence at the place where the offense was committed, was not open to any objection. The defense was an alibi, and if the evidence raised in the minds of the jury a reasonable doubt of the presence of the accused at the time and place of the alleged commission of the offense, he was entitled to an acquittal." Fields v. State, 95 Tex. Cr. 20, 252 SW 759, 761.

[b] Responsibility for acts of accomplice.—(1) Instruction that, "when two or more persons knowingly act together in the commission of an unlawful act or purpose, then whatever either does in furtherance of such unlawful act or purpose is in law the act and deed of each of such persons," was proper. State v. Deviney, (Mo.) 278 SW 726, 729. (2) "Where two or more defendants are charged jointly with the commission of a crime, it is not necessary that it be shown that each of the defendants, or either one of them, when tried alone, actually committed the crime charged. It is insufficient if it be shown that the defendants were acting together jointly for the common purpose and that the essential elements of the crime exist as to any of them, in which event all would be equally guilty of the crime, and any one of them may be prosecuted alone," was proper under the evidence. Gardiner v. State, 110 Nebr. 11, 192 NW 946, 947.

[31] See cases infra this note.

[a] Argument as to mistake in identification.—"You have a right to take into consideration all the circumstances surrounding this alleged holdup, and it is for you to decide whether or not a person put in such imminent peril, and taken by surprise, if any, as the complaining witness in this case has testified to, is or is not liable to be mistaken in his identification, and whether or not he has made a mistake in identifying the defendants, or either of them, in this case," stated no proposition of law and was properly refused as merely an argument on the evidence. Peo. v. Garbaciak, 306 Ill. 254, 137 NE 832.

[b] Forced identification.—"That if the jury finds that the identification of the defendants or any of them by the complainant was forced in any by the police officer then they may acquit on that alone," was improper for the reason that, if the jury had any reasonable doubt as to the fact of identification, it was their duty to acquit under the general instructions of the court. Peo. v. Radcliffe, 232 N. Y. 249, 133 NE 577.

[32] Peo. v. Wilson, 135 Cal. 331, 67 P 322; Peo. v. Hallam, 6 Cal. A. 331, 92 P 190; State v. Harris, 97 Iowa 407, 66 NW 728; Ford v. State, 41 Tex. Cr. 1, 51 SW 935, 53 SW 869.

[33] State v. Sullivan, 9 Mont. 174, 22 P 1088.

[a] Instructions held proper.—(1) An instruction that the unexplained possession of stolen property soon after the theft was committed was sufficient of itself to authorize a conviction unless it was overcome by other evidence sufficient to create a reasonable doubt was a correct statement of the law and applicable to the evidence. Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551. (2) General charge on circumstantial evidence sufficiently covering point. Tabor v. State, 52 Tex. Cr. 387, 107 SW 1116.

[b] Instruction held improper.—A requested charge that the fact that the person charged to have been robbed did not have any money just prior to the robbery was a circumstance that might raise a reasonable doubt as to defendant's guilt, and another that the fact that defendant did not have in his possession the money charged to have been taken just after the alleged robbery and at or near the scene was a like circumstance, were properly refused as argumentative. Boyd v. State, 153 Ala. 41, 45 S 591.

[34] See Criminal Law §§ 2571–2613.

[35] See cases infra this note.

[a] Forms held sufficient.—(1) Generally. State v. Faudi, (Mo.) 11 SW (2d) 1014; State v. Butler, 316 Mo. 264, 289 SW 636. (2) Finding defendant guilty as charged and assessing punishment. Grayham v. State, 22 Ala. A. 170, 113 S 646; State v. Flynn, (Mo.) 292 SW 413; State v. Wood, (Mo.) 285 SW 737; State v. Dickens, (Mo.) 285 SW 445; State v. Newland, (Mo.) 285 SW 400; State v. Deviney, (Mo.) 278 SW 726; State v. Reich, 293 Mo. 415, 239 SW 835.

Failure to assess punishment see infra text and notes 41–43.

[36] See cases infra this note.

[a] Held sufficiently certain.—Peo. v. Tognola, 83 Cal. A. 34, 256 P 455, 456 ("A verdict reciting that, 'We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of robbery in the first degree, as charged in the information,' is not void for uncertainty. The language 'as charged in the information' is surplusage and may be disregarded").

[b] Held uncertain.—Rex v. Edmonstone, 13 CanCrCas 125.

Certainty generally see Criminal Law § 2585.

[37] See cases infra this note.

[a] Held responsive.—(1) Verdict finding defendant "guilty of robbery and assess his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for life," the indictment charging simple robbery and robbery with a deadly weapon. Tabor v. State, 52 Tex. Cr. 387, 107 SW 1116. (2) "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, and fix his punishment at imprisonment in the penitentiary for ten years," where the indictment for robbery was in the Code form. Grayham v. State, 22 Ala. A. 170, 113 S 646, 647. (3) "We, the jury, in the above-entitled cause, find the defendant guilty of robbery in the first degree, as charged in the information, and assess the punishment at imprisonment in the penitentiary for 20 years." State v. Reich, 293 Mo. 415, 239 SW 835, 837.

Generally see Criminal Law § 2587.

[38] Specification of offense see infra § 202.

[39] See Criminal Law § 2586.

[40] State v. Curtis, 71 N. C. 56.

[a] Reversible error.—Upon an indictment for robbery, a special verdict which finds acts of violence, but does not find with what intent they were committed, is imperfect, and there must be a new trial. State v. Curtis, 71 N. C. 56.

[41] Generally see Criminal Law §§ 2602–2605.

[42] See Criminal Law § 2602.

[43] Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477, 478.

"Under this provision of the law, it is not essential that the jury shall expressly state in their verdict that it is unable to agree upon a verdict." Jenkins v. State, supra.

[44] Generally see Criminal Law §§ 2599, 2600.

[45] Harris v. State, 1 Ga. A. 136, 57 SE 937.

[a] Illustration.—"Where the evidence showed that a certain named person was robbed of his money by the joint acts of two men—one of the men, at the point of a pistol, requiring the person so robbed to stand and hold up his hands, while the other held him, searched his pockets, and took the money therefrom—these facts made both men guilty of both grades of the crime of robbery, and a verdict of guilty on said indictment generally is not contrary to the evidence or to the law, because such verdict was a finding of guilty of the highest grade of the offense, to

If the jury find that accused is guilty only of the included offense of larceny, they should so state.[46] On a charge of a higher classification of robbery, a verdict sufficient to find guilt of a lower classification will be sustained as such.[47]

Guilty as charged. Where the indictment or information charges only one classification of robbery, a verdict of guilty as charged is a verdict of guilt of such classification.[48]

[§ 203] (2) Specification of Degree. Under statutes providing that where the jury may find accused guilty of one of different degrees of a crime, a verdict of guilty must specifically state the degree for which accused is convicted,[49] a verdict of guilty of robbery should, where different degrees are involved, specify the degree of robbery of which he is found guilty;[50] but it has been held that a verdict of guilty as charged may be a sufficient specification of degree.[51] In jurisdictions where there are no degrees of robbery,[52] or in jurisdictions having both degrees and other distinct classifications and under a charge of a classification not constituting a degree,[53] the verdict need not specify a degree of robbery.

[§ 204] E. Sentence and Punishment—1. In General. At common law robbery was regarded as a felony of the gravest character,[54] punishable by death,[55] with or without benefit of clergy according to prevailing provisions of early statutes.[56] The offense is now generally punished by imprisonment although in some jurisdictions the death penalty is retained for certain degrees or other classifications of robbery.[57]

General rules governing sentence[58] and punishment[59] apply in prosecutions for robbery.[60]

[§ 205] 2. By Whom Prescribed. Whether the wit, robbery by force; the facts, as it was claimed, making only the lower grade, or robbery by intimidation." Harris v. State, 1 Ga. A. 136, 57 SE 937.

---

[46] Peo. v. Gilbert, 60 Cal. 108; State v. Clough, 70 Kan. 510, 79 P 117; State v. Steptoe, 65 Mo. 640 [aff 1 Mo. A. 19].

[47] Van Diest v. Peo., 71 Colo. 121, 204 P 606.

[a] Illustration.—Where an information charged defendant with robbery while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon with intent to kill or maim if resisted, and the verdict found him guilty of "robbery with a deadly weapon, to wit, a gun," but failed to say "as charged in the information" or otherwise to find his intent to kill or maim, such verdict was nevertheless a good conviction of robbery and defendant had no ground for objection so long as the sentence was within the punishment prescribed for robbery without such intent. Van Diest v. Peo., 71 Colo. 121, 204 P 606.

[48] Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551; Peo. v. Pleitt, 308 Ill. 323, 139 NE 597.

[a] Armed with dangerous weapon.—(1) Under Cr. Code § 246, authorizing a longer sentence, if the robber is armed with a dangerous weapon and where the only count in an indictment, charging defendants with robbery, charged that defendants, at the time of the robbery, were armed with a pistol, a verdict of "guilty of robbery in manner and form as charged in the indictment" was a verdict of guilty of robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon. Peo. v. Pleitt, 308 Ill. 323, 139 NE 597. (2) "The court gave an instruction containing forms of verdicts, in one of which the jury were permitted to find the defendants guilty of robbery when armed with a deadly weapon, and in the other a form with a finding that the defendants were guilty but were not armed with a deadly weapon at the time the offense was committed. The verdict was guilty of robbery in manner and form as charged in the indictment, and both counts of the indictment charged the defendants with robbery while armed with a deadly weapon, and the verdict was a finding that they were guilty as charged." Peo. v. Powloski, 311 Ill. 284, 142 NE 551, 554.

[49] See Criminal Law § 2600.

[50] Peo. v. Tognola, 83 Cal. A. 34, 256 P 455, 456.

"Since the amendment by section 211a, of the Penal Code, dividing robbery into the first and second degrees, a verdict of guilty must specify the degree of the crime." Peo. v. Tognola, supra.

[51] Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477.

[a] Information charging first degree.—"Counsel urge that this verdict is insufficient, in failing to state the degree. . . . At the time the verdict was returned, objection to the form of the verdict was made, and the court inquired in what particular it was insufficient, and counsel declined to make more specific his objection. The defendant is charged with robbery in the first degree. The verdict finds him guilty as charged. In the absence of a more specific objection, the verdict is sufficient." Jenkins v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 280 P 477, 478.

[52] Dosh v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 239, 161 SW 979.

"The verdict of the jury was: 'We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and assess his punishment at five (5) years' confinement in the penitentiary.' Appellant contends that this verdict is invalid, and the judgment must be set aside because it does not find of what degree of robbery appellant was guilty. There are no degrees of robbery. Robbery, however committed, is only one offense. If the statute seeks to inflict capital punishment, it is necessary to allege that the robbery was committed by exhibiting a firearm or deadly weapon; and, unless this is alleged, the jury cannot inflict the death penalty. The verdict in this case was clearly sufficient." Dosh v. State, supra.

[53] Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865 [reh den 4 Okl. Cr. 634, 112 P 759].

[a] Conjoint robbery.—It is not necessary for a verdict of guilty of conjoint robbery to state the degree of which defendant is convicted, there being no degrees and but one punishment prescribed. Rasberry v. State, 4 Okl. Cr. 613, 103 P 865 [reh den 4 Okl. Cr. 634, 112 P 759].

[54] See supra § 12.

[55] Franklin v. Brown, 73 W. Va. 727, 81 SE 405, LRA1915C 557.

[56] Franklin v. Brown, supra; 4 Blackstone Comm. p 243; 3 Chitty Cr. L. p 806.

[57] See statutory provisions. And see infra § 209.

[58] See Criminal Law §§ 3000-3149.

[59] See Criminal Law §§ 3186-3257.

[60] See cases infra this note.

[a] Conformity to statute.—Defendant convicted of robbery cannot be sentenced to a term of imprisonment longer than the maximum provided by statute for such offense. State v. Edwards, 127 S. C. 116, 120 SE 490 (where defendant contended "that the sentence of 15 years was more than the law provides for conviction of one guilty of robbery," and the court held that under Cr. Code § 124, authorizing a sentence of from three months to ten years for a felony for which no special punishment is provided, and § 127 authorizing a punishment according to common usage and practice in cases for which no punishment is provided by statute, a sentence of fifteen years for highway robbery was erroneous).

[b] Indeterminate sentence.—Pen. Code § 213, making robbery punishable by penitentiary imprisonment for not less than one year, is within the indeterminate sentence law (Pen. Code § 671), and thereunder robbery may be punished by maximum penalty of imprisonment for life. Peo. v. Gonzales, 36 Cal. A. 782, 173 P 407 ("We can see no merit in the claim that the law does not prescribe the maximum penalty for the crime of robbery. The maximum penalty 'prescribed by the law' is the extreme penalty that the law authorizes to be imposed; that is, life imprisonment in the present case, as we have seen. The two sections of the Penal Code may be read together, and they amount to this: 'Robbery is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one year and it may be for life.' As before suggested, the fact that a maximum and a minimum penalty is prescribed necessarily implied a discretion to court or the jury may or should assess the punishment for one convicted of robbery depends on the statutory provisions of the particular jurisdiction.[61]

[§ 206] 3. Circumstances Affecting Punishment[62] —a. In General. Within the limitations and provisions of applicable statutes,[63] the punishment for robbery should be measured by the circumstances involved.[64] Where the statute authorizes or requires an increased penalty under specified conditions, no such penalty can be imposed in the absence of evidence as to such specified conditions.[65]

First degree; life imprisonment.[66] Under a statute providing that the court may impose a life sentence where the crime is punishable by imprisonment for not less than a specified number of years, and no maximum is fixed,[67] a convicted defendant not entitled to an indeterminate sentence,[68] may, where such minimum without maximum penalty is provided, be sentenced to life imprisonment for first degree robbery.[69]

[§ 207] b. Committed by Two or More.[70] Under a statute making robbery when committed by two or more persons conjointly punishable by life imprisonment,[71] it is the conjoint commission of the offense, rather than a conjoint conviction or sentence, that attaches such penalty.[72]

Punishment for robo en cuadrilla,[73] constituting a particular classification of robbery in the Philippines,[74] is governed by the general rules controlling punishment of crimes in that jurisdiction[75] as applied to the circumstances and the offense.[76]

[§ 208] c. Dangerous or Deadly Weapon[77]—(1) In General. Under statutes prescribing increased punishment for robbery with a dangerous or deadly weapon,[78] the use of such a weapon is an aggravating circumstance increasing the penalty.[79] be exercised by the judge pronouncing the sentence, and the circumstance that such discretion is specifically mentioned in said section 671 does not affect the legal aspect of the case. It is clear that the judgment is informal, and it is therefore reversed, with discretion to the lower court to pronounce judgment in accordance with said indeterminate sentence law of 1917").

---

[c] Place of imprisonment.—Under a statute providing that males between sixteen and twenty-one years of age convicted of a felony for the first time shall be sentenced to the reformatory, unless the felony is one involving the penalty of life imprisonment, in which case a penitentiary sentence is requisite, a male of such age convicted of robbery punishable by imprisonment for life or a term of years, may be sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary. This is true because life imprisonment is "involved" within the meaning of the statute if the offense is such that the court may—even though it neither does nor must—punish by sentence for life. Croswell v. Peo., 74 Colo. 547, 223 P 51.

[d] Responsiveness of sentence to verdict.—Under a verdict finding defendant guilty of "plain robbery," he may be sentenced for robbery. Peo. v. Blumberg, 314 Ill. 567, 145 NE 627 (where judgment of conviction was for "plain robbery," and accused was charged with robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon, but the matter of aggravation was waived, "plain," had no technical meaning, and the conviction was for robbery, punishable by imprisonment in penitentiary as against defendant's contention that there was no such crime as "plain robbery" and therefore at most he was guilty of larceny—for which he could not be sentenced to the penitentiary).

61. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Missouri, under a statute setting a minimum term of imprisonment for robbery, it is the province of the jury to determine the measure of the punishment. State v. Williams, (Mo.) 292 SW 19.

Assessment in verdict see supra § 201.

62. Grade, degree or classification of offense see supra §§ 55-71.

63. See statutory provisions.

64. Buckley v. State, 79 Nebr. 86, 112 NW 283.

[a] Discretion.—"The statute defining the crime of robbery gives the court a large discretion in fixing the punishment. This discretion is to be exercised according to the aggravation of the crime committed. It was not contemplated by the Legislature that the extreme penalty allowed by the statute should be imposed for the first offense when any mitigating circumstances are shown in the evidence." Buckley v. State, 79 Nebr. 86, 112 NW 283.

65. U. S. v. Callotes, 2 Philippine 16.

[a] Illustration.—Under a statute providing an increased punishment for robbing an inhabited dwelling by securing entrance thereto in any one of certain specified ways, defendant cannot be sentenced to the increased penalty where the evidence fails to disclose how he secured entrance. U. S. v. Callotes, 2 Philippine 16.

66. Excessive character of such punishment see infra § 215.

67. See statutory provisions.

68. See Criminal Law § 3223.

69. Peo. v. Jennings, 132 Misc. 196, 229 NYS 281.

[a] Even though not fourth offender.—"The Penal Law provides that, where a crime is punishable by imprisonment 'for not less than a specified number of years, and no limit of the duration of the imprisonment is declared, the court . . . may, in its discretion, sentence the offender to imprisonment during his natural life.' Penal Law, § 2191. Therefore a criminal convicted of . . . robbery in the first degree, may be sentenced to life imprisonment. It is probable that this would not be so in the case of a person 'never before convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment in a state prison' and that such culprit would be entitled to an indeterminate sentence. Penal Law, § 2189. But it is not necessary to decide that point in this case, as the relator had previously, on February 26, 1924, been convicted of receiving stolen property, first degree. This crime was punishable by imprisonment for not more than 5 years. Penal Law, § 1308, as amended by chapter 429 of the Laws of 1921. Because of this prior conviction, the relator was not entitled to an indeterminate term, and the sentence imposed upon him is in accordance with the law." Peo. v. Jennings, 132 Misc. 196, 229 NYS 281, 282.

70. As distinct classification of robbery see supra § 67.

71. See statutory provisions.

72. Slover v. Terr., 5 Okl. 506, 49 P 1009.

[a] Single conviction for conjoint commission.—"It is error for the court, upon the conviction of one defendant of a conjoint robbery, to impose a sentence of punishment by imprisonment for a less period than life." Slover v. Terr., 5 Okl. 506, 49 P 1009.

73. Defined see supra § 9.

74. See supra § 67.

75. See Criminal Law § 3066.

76. See cases infra this note.

[a] Aggravating circumstances.—U. S. v. Sevilla, 30 Philippine 288 (nocturnity and morada); U. S. v. Tabanda, 20 Philippine 195 (nocturnity and morada); U. S. v. Granadoso, 16 Philippine 419 (in uninhabited place, and disguised); U. S. v. Mallari, 5 Philippine 563 (nocturnity, morada and taking advantage of official position as municipal policemen); U. S. v. Tiquio, 2 Philippine 21 (inhabited house).

[b] Chief of band.—"The evidence shows that the defendant, Salvador, acted as chief of the band. The penalty, therefore, which should be imposed upon him should be in the grade immediately above the penalty imposed upon the members of the band, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 2 of article 504 of the Penal Code." U. S. v. Tabanda, 20 Philippine 195, 196.

[c] Maximum degree of punishment will be imposed where there are two or more aggravating and no extenuating circumstances. U. S. v. Sevilla, 30 Philippine 288; U. S. v. Tabanda, 20 Philippine 195.

77. As degree or other distinct classification of robbery see supra §§ 56, 61, 65.

78. See statutory provisions.

79. Martin v. State, (Fla.) 129 S 112; Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593. See Peo. v. Luncay, 49 Philippine 464 (use of iron knucks an aggravating circumstance).

"Robbery is the substantive offense charged, and instruments or acts used to produce fear are aggravating circumstances which may in-

Under a statute providing an increased penalty for robbery if the perpetrator "is armed with a dangerous weapon, or being so armed, he wounds or strikes," etc.,[80] the increased penalty may be imposed if one is convicted of robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon even though he did not use the same.[81]

Intent. Under a statute providing increased punishment for robbery with a dangerous weapon and silent as to intent as respects use of such weapon,[82] one convicted under an indictment charging robbery with a dangerous weapon, may be sentenced to such increased punishment even though there is no finding as to this intent.[83] But where the statute requires a specific intent as to use of the weapon, punishment for this classification of robbery cannot be imposed in the absence of a finding of the requisite intent.[84]

Unarmed companions. Under statutes providing an increased punishment for one committing a robbery while armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon, and silent as to the punishment of any unarmed companions,[85] unarmed companions participating in a robbery by an armed man are not subject to increased penalty for robbery while armed.[86]

[§ 209] (2) Capital Punishment.[87] Under statutes making robbery with a dangerous or deadly weapon a capital offense,[88] to justify imposition of the death penalty it is essential to show commission of the crime with a weapon of the specified character.[89] Under a statute providing that the death penalty shall be imposed for an assault and robbery where the robber is armed with a dangerous weapon and has an "intent to kill or maim the person so robbed,"[90] the intent to kill or maim only if resisted crease the penalty if it be a dangerous weapon." Martin v. State, (Fla.) 129 S 112, 114.

---

[a] Use or exhibition.—Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593.

Intent to use see infra text and notes 82-84.

80. See statutory provisions.

81. Peo. v. Cassin, 322 Ill. 276, 153 NE 381, 382.

"Section 246 of the Criminal Code describes the crime of robbery, and in fixing the punishment provides: 'Or if he is armed with a dangerous weapon, or being so armed, he wounds or strikes him,' etc., the greater penalty shall be inflicted. Counsel argue that the word 'or' should be construed to mean 'and,' and that before the infliction of the heavier penalty the indictment must charge, and the proof show, that the defendant was armed with a dangerous weapon, and wounded or struck the victim. While in proper cases the word 'or' may be construed to mean 'and,' there is nothing in this act that in any way indicates such an intention on the part of the Legislature. . . . We are of the opinion that this section of the Criminal Code means just what it says, and that conviction of robbery, where the jury finds that the accused was armed with a dangerous weapon, requires the imposition of the heavier penalty, whether such weapon was or was not used. . . . It was not error to impose the heavier penalty." Peo. v. Cassin, supra.

Mere possession without use as sufficient to constitute such classification of robbery see supra § 65 text and note 76.

82. See statutory provisions.

83. Peo. v. Hildebrand, 307 Ill. 544, 139 NE 107, 111.

[a] Cases distinguished.—"It is argued that, inasmuch as the jury did not specifically find the plaintiffs in error were armed with dangerous weapons, the verdict merely finds them guilty of robbery, and they cite in support of this contention McKevitt v. Peo., 208 Ill. 460, 70 NE 693 [infra text and note 84]. It was held in that case that the verdict, 'Guilty in manner and form as charged in the indictment,' did not include a finding of the specific intent with which it was charged the defendant was animated while armed with the revolver. The statute under which the defendant in that case was convicted of robbery provided that, if the person convicted was armed with a dangerous weapon, with intent, if resisted, to kill or maim the victim, he should be subject to the greater penalty. In 1919 this statute was amended, so as to provide that, if the defendant is armed with a dangerous weapon, he shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for any term of years not less than 10 or for life. Laws 1919, p. 427. No question of intent is involved. It is not required to be charged or proved. The mere fact of committing a robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon incurs the liability to the higher punishment. The judgment will be affirmed." Peo. v. Hildebrand, 307 Ill. 544, 139 NE 107, 111.

84. Peo. v. Boer, 262 Ill. 152, 105 NE 162; McKevitt v. Peo., 208 Ill. 460, 70 NE 693 (explained in Peo. v. Hildebrand supra text and note 83 [a]).

[a] Illustration.—Under Cr. Code (Hurd Rev. St. [1912] c 38) § 246, defining robbery, and providing that every person guilty of robbery shall be imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than fourteen years, or, if he was armed with a dangerous weapon, with intent, if resisted, to kill or maim the person so robbed, he may be imprisoned for any term of years or for life, where an indictment for robbery did not sufficiently allege an intent, if resisted, to kill or maim the person robbed, a judgment stating that accused was guilty of robbery, and that he was armed with a revolver, with such intent, and sentencing him to imprisonment for a term of years not to exceed the maximum fixed by statute for the crime of which he was convicted, was erroneous in form, since it sentenced him to a term of imprisonment not exceeding the maximum term fixed by the statute for the aggravated offense, while under the indictment he could be legally sentenced only for a term not exceeding fourteen years. Peo. v. Boer, 262 Ill. 152, 105 NE 162.

85. See statutory provisions.

86. Peo. v. Paradiso, 248 N. Y. 123, 161 NE 443; Peo. v. Arthur, 221 App. Div. 227, 222 NYS 314 [app dism 247 N. Y. 518, 161 NE 165]; Peo. v. Kevlon, 221 App. Div. 224, 222 NYS 311, 313.

"Section 1944 deals simply with the subject of increased punishment for one who commits a crime in a certain manner. It does not purport to define a crime. Section 2, supra, on the other hand, defines who is a principal in the commission of a crime. As an additional deterrent to crimes of violence and the use of dangerous weapons in their commission, it was entirely reasonable for the Legislature to provide that any person participating therein while armed should receive punishment in addition to that which follows the commission of the felony itself. The purpose being to prevent or deter criminals from using dangerous weapons in the commission of crime, it was but logical that the extra punishment provided should be visited only upon those in possession of such dangerous weapons. If the intention had been that every participant should be subject to such additional punishment, it would have been a simple matter for the Legislature to have so provided by the use of appropriate language. It follows that the sentence imposed was improper, and the defendant should be resentenced in accordance with the provisions of law." Peo. v. Kevlon, supra.

[a] Degree may be raised but not punishment.—"Where one of two or more criminals has a dangerous weapon, the degree of the crime which all commit may be raised by reason of the weapon—all acting together are guilty of the same crime, but when it comes to the punishment, the one having the weapon is to get an additional sentence as provided in section 1944. The intention of the Legislature was to discourage the carrying of weapons and to make an added risk in committing crime to the one having the pistol or the gun. Heretofore the one with the gun ran no more chances than the others without weapons—now he will get five to ten years more for his cowardice." Peo. v. Paradiso, 248 N. Y. 123, 161 NE 443, 444.

87. As excessive see infra § 215.

Sufficiency of evidence to convict see supra § 176 text and note 80.

88. See statutory provisions.

[a] In Texas.—"The crime of robbery by assault is a felony, but not capital; however, when deadly weapons are used it becomes capital. Pen. Code, art. 1327." Gonzales v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 248, 226 SW 405, 406.

89. Dosh v. State, 72 Tex. Cr. 239, 161 SW 979; Green v. State, 66 Tex. Cr. 446, 147 SW 593.

90. See statutory provisions.

is sufficient to require the death penalty.[91]

[§ 210] d. Highway Robbery.[92] Under statutes providing a minimum and maximum period of imprisonment as punishment for highway robbery,[93] the sentence imposed should vary in proportion to the aggravation involved in commission of the crime.[94]

[§ 211] e. Snatching.[95] Under a statute amending an existing statutory definition of robbery as a taking by force or intimidation, by further providing that the offense may consist in a sudden snatching of property from the person, and silent as to punishment for such snatching,[96] robbery by snatching is punishable as robbery by force.[97]

[§ 212] f. Value of Property Taken. In the absence of contrary statute,[98] the value of the property taken in a robbery does not affect the punishment therefor.[99]

[§ 213] g. Other Particular Circumstances—(1) Of Aggravation. Other[1] particular circumstances affecting punishment and justifying an increased penalty under statutory provisions[2] as applied to the facts involved, include use of force or violence in excess of that requisite to accomplishment of the crime,[3] wounding or injuring the victim in a specified way,[4] abuse of confidence,[5] nocturnity,[6] and committing the offense in an inhabited house,[7] as in the dwelling of the victim.[8]

---

[91] Com. v. Martin, 17 Mass. 359.

[a] Intent merely to frighten the victim by display of firearms is insufficient. Com. v. Martin, 17 Mass. 359 (where, however, the evidence showed intent to kill or maim if resisted).

[92] Defined see supra § 5.

[93] See statutory provisions.

[94] State v. Lee, 166 N. C. 250, 80 SE 977.

[a] Thus, under the statute fixing the punishment for highway robbery at imprisonment for not less than four months nor more than ten years, where there is no aggravation, the punishment should approximate the lower limit, and when there is aggravation the highest degree should be inflicted. State v. Lee, 166 N. C. 250, 80 SE 977.

[b] Statute applicable.—"The last exception of the prisoner is, that the Court sentenced him under the provisions of chap. 32, sec. 13, Bat. Rev. instead of the 29th section of the same chapter. The 13th section provides for the punishment of persons convicted of crimes which were punishable with death, by the laws existing at the time the present Constitution went into effect. The 29th section provides for the punishment of offenses which were punishable with public whipping or other corporal punishment, at the time the present Constitution went into effect. Robbery in the public highway, was a capital felony, at that time, and is the subject of punishment under the 13th section of the statute." State v. Burke, 73 N. C. 83, 89.

[c] Statute held not void for uncertainty.—"The error assigned is, that the court could not by law make solitary imprisonment any part of the punishment, and that the residue of the sentence to hard labor for life was erroneous, because it was necessarily dependent on the other erroneous sentence, and therefore fixed no certain time for its commencement. This exception is founded upon the ground that the St. of 1804, c. 143, § 7, on which the conviction was had, was void for uncertainty. This argument rests on a very slight verbal inaccuracy in the terms of the statute providing for the punishment of highway robbery. The provision is, that any person, duly convicted, 'shall be punished by solitary imprisonment for such term, not exceeding two years, and by confinement afterwards to hard labor for life.' It is true there is nothing to which the term 'such' can strictly apply. But it is impossible to mistake its meaning. It is equivalent to a term, or the term of. With a slight variation of expression, it would be free from grammatical inaccuracy; though perhaps not the best chosen expression which could have been used: For instance, 'for such term as shall not exceed,' is equivalent in meaning, and not very different in expression from the term used in the statute. We think a statute of such immense importance to the peace of society, and the safety of persons and property, is not to be adjudged void for uncertainty, on account of any slight inaccuracy of expression, when it is impossible to mistake its meaning. This judgment is affirmed." Evans v. Com., 3 Metc. (Mass.) 453, 455.

[95] As:
Distinct classification of robbery see supra § 69.
Force constituting an element of robbery see supra §§ 40, 41.

[96] See statutory provisions.

[97] Pride v. State, 125 Ga. 748, 54 SE 686; Jones v. State, 18 Ga. A. 8, 89 SE 342, 343.

"There is no merit in the contention of the plaintiff in error that his motion in arrest of judgment should have been granted by the trial judge on the ground that no penalty is prescribed for the offense of which he was convicted. . . . Robbery by sudden snatching is punishable as prescribed in section 149 of the Penal Code of 1910." Jones v. State, supra.

[98] See statutory provisions.

[99] U. S. v. Granadoso, 16 Philippine 419; U. S. v. De los Santos, 6 Philippine 411.

[1] Already considered:
Commission by two or more see supra § 207.
Dangerous or deadly weapon see supra § 208.
Snatching see supra § 211.
Value see supra § 212.

[2] See statutory provisions.

[3] U. S. v. Melchor, 41 Philippine 453; U. S. v. Lazaro, 34 Philippine 871. See U. S. Barroga, 21 Philippine 161, 163 ("Neither may the crime be held to be comprised within paragraph 4 of the said article 503, for the injury inflicted upon Benita Manuel can only be classified as menos grave; the physician who attended her from the beginning so classified the wounds and testified that after he had set the fractured bone and had treated her two or three times, she returned home and he did not see her again, though he believed that she could not have engaged in her habitual labors during a period of thirty days. Therefore these wounds must be classified simply as lesiones menos graves").

[a] Robbery with lesiones, or as defined by statute (Pen. Code art 503 No. 4) robbery committed with violence greater than requisite to commission of the crime, should be punished with the maximum sentence. U. S. v. Melchor, 41 Philippine 453.

[4] Peo. v. Luncay, 49 Philippine 464; Peo. v. Uto Alli, 49 Philippine 73.

[a] Even if necessary to accomplishment of robbery.—"Paragraph 4 of article 503 of the Penal Code . . . reads as follows: 'A penalty ranging from presidio mayor in its medium degree to cadena temporal in its minimum degree, whenever the violence or intimidation employed in committing the robbery shall have been carried to a degree clearly unnecessary to the commission of the crime, or when in the course of the perpetration of the crime the offenders shall have inflicted upon any persons not connected with its commission any of the physical injuries falling within the terms of paragraphs three and four of article four hundred and sixteen.' The appellant contends that the information does not allege that violence or intimidation employed in committing the crime was 'carried to a degree unnecessary to the commission of the crime.' That is true, but it is alleged in the information that the wound on the neck of the offended party caused a deformity and the lower court found that the deformity existed. This being the case, the defendant was properly convicted under the paragraph quoted in connection with paragraph 3 of article 416. The penalty imposed by the court is in accordance with law and the findings of the court below are fully sustained by the evidence." Peo. v. Uto Alli, 49 Philippine 73, 75.

[b] The organ of hearing is a principal member, within the meaning of No. 2 of article 416 of the Penal Code; and the loss of the use of an ear, as a result of the infliction of physical injuries, makes a case under the provision cited. If such offense is committed upon occasion of robbery, the appropriate penalty is that prescribed in No. 3 of article 503 of the same Code. Peo. v. Luncay, 49 Philippine 464.

[5] U. S. v. Cas, 14 Philippine 21.

[a] By guest breaking into wooden box. U. S. v. Cas, supra.

[6] Peo. v. Urbano, 50 Philippine 90; Peo. v. Luncay, 49 Philippine 464; U. S. v. Celestino, 14 Philippine 34; U. S. v. Cas, 14 Philippine 21; U. S. v. Gamboa, 11 Philippine 39; U. S. v. Arceo, 4 Philippine 733; U. S. v. Mack, 4 Philippine 185; U. S. v. Castro, 4 Philippine 87; U. S. v. Oangoang, 3 Philippine 312.

"Penalty must be imposed in its maximum degree, in view of the aggravating circumstance of nocturnity." Peo. v. Urbano, 50 Philippine 90, 94.

[§ 214] (2) Of Mitigation. Particular circumstances going in mitigation of the punishment under statutory provisions[9] as applied to the facts involved, include the age,[10] and intoxication[11] of the person convicted.

Race. Under a statute providing that "the circumstance of the offender being a native, mestizo, or Chinaman shall be taken into consideration by the judges and courts in their discretion for the purpose of mitigating or aggravating the penalties, according to the degree of intent, the nature of the act, and the circumstances of the offended person,"[12] it has been held that race is not an extenuating circumstance in robbery cases.[13]

[§ 215] 4. Excessive Punishment.[14] Under statutes making the term of imprisonment for robbery discretionary with the court within specified limits,[15] a sentence imposed within such limits will not be disturbed on review in the absence of a clear abuse of discretion.[16] But where the penalty imposed is clearly excessive, it will be modified.[17]

Imprisonment. In accordance with general rules,[18] and the circumstances involved sentences prescribing particular periods of imprisonment for robbery have been held excessive[19] or not excessive.[20]

---

[7] Peo. v. Jagon, 49 Philippine 555; U. S. v. Celestino, 14 Philippine 34.

[a] Use of specific word "inhabited."—"From the facts alleged in the present case it may be deduced with certainty that Martin Dasig and Ismaela Ramos' house where the robbery was committed, was occupied by them inasmuch as it is not logical or reasonable to suppose that they would have a house exclusively for their trunks, valises, wearing apparel and jewelry, and another house exclusively for the residence. The words 'Martin Dasig's house' in connection with the words 'trunk, valise, money, jewelry and wearing apparel' are sufficient to show that the house was the home of the spouses Martin Dasig and Ismaela Ramos, without the necessity of using the specific word 'inhabited.' The acts alleged in the complaint in the present case are, therefore, sufficient to constitute the crime of robbery committed in an inhabited house by armed robbers, who broke open a locked valise, defined and penalized in article 508 of the Penal Code." Peo. v. Jagon, 49 Philippine 555, 560.

[b] Store.—(1) Although a store may be used as a dwelling, yet, where robbery is committed in a store, to sustain a conviction for that crime "in an inhabited house" under article 508 of the Penal Code, the information must further allege that the store was used and occupied as a dwelling. Peo. v. Tubog, 49 Philippine 620. (2) "Article 508 of the Penal Code applied by the court, refers to robbery committed in an inhabited house, public building or edifice devoted to religious worship. The information does not allege that the crime was committed in any of the places mentioned. The allegation that it was committed in a store is not equivalent to the allegation that it was committed in an inhabited house. A store may be inhabited, but not necessarily. Ordinarily it is not inhabited. This element being essential to it, must be expressly alleged in the information. Needless to say, a store is neither a public building nor an edifice devoted to worship. This being so, the crime must be considered to be included in article 512 which refers to robbery committed in an uninhabited place." Peo. v. Baguyo, 50 Philippine 582, 585.

[8] U. S. v. Turla, 38 Philippine 346; U. S. v. Recio, 21 Philippine 511; U. S. v. Gamboa, 11 Philippine 39; U. S. v. Arceo, 4 Philippine 733.

"The fact that the crime was committed in the dwelling of the offended party, Estanislao Cuevas, should be considered as a generic aggravating circumstance, the same as nocturnity, there being no extenuating circumstance, to counteract the effects of the said aggravating ones." U. S. v. Turla, 38 Philippine 346, 348.

[9] See statutory provisions.

[10] U. S. v. Fuentes, 4 Philippine 404.

[a] Under eighteen.—U. S. v. Fuentes, 4 Philippine 404 (required imposition of penalty immediately inferior to the medium grade of presidio correccional, under other facts involved).

As affecting punishment for crime generally see Criminal Law §§ 3218, 3065.

[11] U. S. v. Oangoang, 3 Philippine 312.

[a] Rule applied.—"The aggravating circumstance of nocturnity must be considered against the defendants, but this circumstance is offset by the mitigating circumstance of drunkenness with respect to Julian Jimenez, for we consider it to have been proven that the latter was intoxicated at the time the crime was committed, and that intoxication was not habitual with him. For these reasons the penalty prescribed by the law should be imposed upon the said Jimenez in its medium degree, and upon the other defendant, Maximo Oangoang, in its maximum degree; as with respect to the latter there are no mitigating circumstances to be considered." U. S. v. Oangoang, 3 Philippine 312.

[12] Philippine Pen. Code c 5 art 11.

[13] U. S. v. Loria, 11 Philippine 232.

"The trial court was of opinion that the aggravating circumstance of nocturnity should be taken into consideration in imposing the penalty, but compensated this aggravating circumstance with the extenuating circumstance of race set out in article 11 of the Penal Code. Neither the aggravating nor the extenuating circumstance thus found by the trial judge should have been taken into consideration. We do not think that the evidence of record conclusively establishes the alleged fact that the offense was committed at night; so far as can be gathered from the testimony, the robbery may have taken place either during the daylight on the Sunday preceding the night on which it is alleged to have been committed, or upon the morning of the day following; and this court has uniformly declined to consider the extenuating circumstance of race in cases of conviction of the crime of robbery." U. S. v. Loria, supra.

[14] Power to impose:
Death penalty see supra § 209; see also supra § 204.
Life imprisonment see supra § 206 text and notes 66–69. And see § 204 text and note 60 [b].

[15] See statutory provisions.

[16] State v. Johnson, 141 Wash. 324, 251 P 589; State v. Newman, 108 W. Va. 642, 152 SE 195.

[17] State v. Newman, supra.

[18] See Criminal Law § 3212.

[19] See cases infra this note.

[a] Fifteen years.—Buckley v. State, 79 Nebr. 86, 112 NW 283, 284 ("The crime was not of the most aggravated form of robbery possible. The amount stolen was small. The crime was committed in a business place and not in a dwelling house, and no actual injury was done either to the person or property of the complaining witness except the taking of the small amount of money. To a man of nearly 50 years of age imprisonment in the penitentiary for 15 years is a terrible punishment indeed. It is virtually imprisonment for life. Such severe sentences more than anything else tend in after years to arouse public sympathy for the criminal, which sometimes leads to the unreasonable exercise of the pardoning power. Notwithstanding the confidence we have in the discretion of the trial judge who heard the evidence in this case, we believe that this sentence ought to be reduced. . . . The sentence is reduced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for 10 years"); Bridges v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 264 P 640 (reduced to ten years).

[b] Twenty-five years.—Strong v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 287 P 1091 (robbery with firearms. Sentence reduced to fifteen years without discussion of circumstances rendering punishment of twenty-five years excessive).

[c] Fifty years.—Pierson v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 281 P 315 (defendant took a nickel and a watch from victim while co-defendant held gun. Co-defendant had pleaded guilty and got only five years. Defendant stood trial and got fifty years. Sentence reduced to twenty-five years).

[d] Life imprisonment.—Sanders v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 289 P 798 (where defendant helped plan the robbery, drove the car, and sat in the car while his accomplice entered a store and committed the actual robbery, and where it further appeared that the accomplice got only fifteen years because he turned state's evidence and that defendant was convicted largely on the testimony of his accomplice, a life sentence was reduced to twenty years on the suggestion of the attorney-general); Vandergriff v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 282 P 897 (robbery with firearms by defendant of sufficient maturity to realize the consequences

Death penalty.[21] Under statutes permitting but not requiring imposition of the death penalty for robbery,[22] a death sentence may be modified to one for imprisonment if under the circumstances death seems an excessive punishment,[23] or if such sentence was the result of passion and prejudice.[24] But a sentence to death otherwise proper,[25] will be upheld where neither excessive nor the result of passion nor prejudice.[26]

[§ 216] F. Review. Under general rules,[27] an appellate court will not reverse a conviction of robbery for harmless error,[28] nor for insufficiency of evidence if there is substantial evidence supporting the verdict.[29]

Record on appeal. A reviewing court will not grant a new trial for alleged error where the basis for the claim of error does not appear in the record.[30] of his own acts. Court considered life imprisonment excessive and reduced sentence to fifty years without discussion of reasons).

---

[20] See cases infra this note.

[a] Nine months.—Heyen v. State, 114 Nebr. 783, 210 NW 165 (plus fine of $300 for harboring and protecting robbers).

[b] Six to fifteen years.—Hukill v. State, 109 Nebr. 279, 190 NW 867 (wanton and unnecessary violence, premeditation, and no extenuating circumstances).

[c] Twelve years.—State v. Lucas, 57 Iowa 501, 10 NW 868 (maximum possibly twenty); Bennett v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 27 SW 135 (where defendant placed a knife at his victim's throat and robbed him).

[d] Fifteen years.—Peo. v. Crowley, 13 Cal. A. 322, 109 P 493 (for less culpable of two robbers severely injuring intoxicated old man and taking all he had); Peterson v. State, 115 Nebr. 302, 212 NW 610 (robber in car crowded victim's car against a telegraph pole and menaced him with gun); Rex v. Minguy, 31 Que. K. B. 105 (robbery with violence).

[e] Seventeen years.—State v. Brafford, 121 Iowa 115, 96 NW 710 (where defendant used a revolver and threatened to kill prosecuting witness).

[f] Twenty years.—Peo. v. Crowley, 13 Cal. A. 322, 109 P 493 (for more culpable of two robbers severely injuring intoxicated old man and taking all he had); State v. Williams, (Mo.) 292 SW 19 (fixed by jury—robber used force and violence on person of victim).

[g] Twenty to thirty years.—State v. Johnson, 141 Wash. 324, 251 P 589 (robbery of bank under circumstances which might have resulted in murder; statute imposed a minimum but no maximum).

[h] Twenty-five years.—State v. Levy, 126 Mo. 554, 29 SW 703 (where defendants robbed one of three thousand five hundred dollars and there was reason to believe that they were habitual criminals); State v. Newman, 108 W. Va. 642, 152 SE 195 (robbery of filling station, not especially vicious aside from controverted fact that victim was confined in a cell where he might have suffocated to death. Court had discretion to sentence ten years to life. Reviewing court considered eligibility to parol as a factor in upholding sentence).

[i] Life imprisonment.—Peo. v. Dumas, 161 Mich. 45, 125 NW 766 (stealing twenty-five cent jack-knife where, however, it further appeared that defendant entered a closed store at night, struck the proprietor's wife with a gun to quiet her, and evidenced intent to kill or maim if resisted). See Franklin v. Brown, 73 W. Va. 727, 81 SE 405, LRA1915C 557 (on application for habeas corpus that life imprisonment is not a punishment disproportionate to the character and degree of robbery within the meaning of a constitutional provision forbidding infliction of disproportionate penalties).

[21] Power to impose generally see supra § 209.

[22] See statutory provisions.

[23] Brown v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 491.

[a] Reduced to fifteen years imprisonment.—The death penalty for robbery with firearms was held excessive under circumstances, and modified to fifteen years' imprisonment in the penitentiary (Comp. St. [1921] § 2820). Brown v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 491, 493.

[24] Brown v. State, supra.

"The attorneys for the defendant in their argument urged that the sentence imposed upon the defendant was imposed by the court through passion and prejudice, and that the punishment was excessive, and suggested that, if the court found the defendant had due process of law, the sentence should be modified. The county attorney of Alfalfa county and the Attorney General in open court consented to a modification of the sentence. The court, after carefully examining the facts and circumstances as disclosed by the record, accepts the agreement of the attorneys for the state and the defendant to a modification of the sentence, and modifies the judgment from death by electrocution to imprisonment for a period and term of 15 years. The judgment and sentence is accordingly modified to 15 years, and, as so modified, is affirmed." Brown v. State, supra.

[a] Imposed for refusal to squeal on accomplices.—Brown v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 266 P 491.

[25] Power to impose see supra § 209.

[26] Thompson v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 234, 237 SW 926; Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358.

[a] Hit sleeping victim with axe.—"The amount of property secured is insignificant, it is true, but the motive which prompted the crime was evidently the hope of securing property of greater value. The assault shown by the evidence to have been made upon both Isenberg and Silverstein was of a deadly character, and made with an instrument which, in the manner used, was calculated and likely to produce death, and the fact that death did not result therefrom is more of an accident than lack of design on the part of appellant. We are not aware of a case presenting a more cold-blooded, inhuman, and unprovoked attack made upon sleeping inmates of a house for the sole and only purpose of securing to the perpetrator an opportunity to secure for himself money or property belonging to those upon whom the attack was made. We do not feel inclined, under the facts of this case, to say that the jury was without warrant in assessing the penalty of death. The judgment of the trial court is therefore affirmed." Thompson v. State, 91 Tex. Cr. 234, 237 SW 926, 927.

[b] Shooting and blinding woman victim.—Where defendant entered a store for the ostensible purpose of making purchases, and while these were being wrapped shot the proprietess intentionally and in cold blood to facilitate robbery of the cash register, and it further appeared that while the victim survived she was permanently deafened, and blinded in one eye, and her sense of smell was destroyed, imposition of the death penalty was not excessive punishment. Brookman v. Com., 151 Va. 522, 145 SE 358.

[27] See Criminal Law §§ 2615–2999, 3258–3778.

[28] Ala.—Stanley v. State, 18 Ala. A. 60, 88 S 183 [certiorari den 205 Ala. 431, 88 S 449].

Cal.—Peo. v. Clary, 72 Cal. 59, 13 P 77.

Fla.—Stephens v. State, 92 Fla. 43, 109 S 303.

La.—State v. Durbin, 22 La. Ann. 154.

Mo.—State v. Davis, 186 Mo. 533, 85 SW 354.

Tex.—Coker v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 504, 160 SW 366; Ford v. State, 41 Tex. Cr. 1, 51 SW 935, 53 SW 869; Green v. State, 32 Tex. Cr. 298, 22 SW 1094.

[a] Admission of evidence.—Stanley v. State, 18 Ala. A. 60, 88 S 183 [certiorari den 205 Ala. 431, 88 S 449].

[b] Inaccurate instruction furnishes no ground for reversal, where it could not have been prejudicial. State v. Davis, 186 Mo. 533, 85 SW 354. To same effect Coker v. State, 71 Tex. Cr. 504, 160 SW 366.

[29] Newman v. State, (Okl. Cr.) 279 P 980, 982.

"Where the evidence is such that, if believed by the jury, they could reasonably find the guilt of the accused, this court will not disturb the judgment on the ground of insufficiency of the evidence." Newman v. State, supra.

[30] White v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 53 SW 631.

[a] Charge as not based on evidence.—A reviewing court will not grant a new trial because of alleged error in the charge, where the evidence given, which is not before the reviewing court, may have justified the charge. White v. State, (Tex. Cr.) 53 SW 631.

VII. ATTEMPTS AND ASSAULTS WITH INTENT TO ROB

[§ 217] A. Definitions and Distinctions. An attempt to commit robbery has been defined as the doing of acts toward the commission of robbery, and with such intent, but falling short of actual perpetration of the completed offense.[31] An assault with intent to commit robbery has been defined as an assault with intent to take money, goods, or other valuable thing from the person of another by force or intimidation.[32]

Distinction between attempt and assault with intent. In jurisdictions where the statutes provide a punishment for assault with intent to commit robbery, and also for an attempt to commit a crime generally,[33] there exists the crime of attempted robbery as distinct from the crime of assault with intent to commit robbery.[34] In this connection it has been said that every assault necessarily includes an attempt,[35] and that the difference between an assault and an attempt is that in the former there is an element of present ability not essential to the latter.[36]

Compelling another to execute an obligation[37] is not an attempt to rob.[38]

[§ 218] B. Nature and Elements of Offense—1. In General. To constitute an attempt or assault with intent to rob, it must appear that the circumstances were such that the crime would have been robbery had the attempt been successful.[39] In accordance with the general rule that one may be guilty of an attempt to commit a crime although unknown to the criminal, there are extrinsic facts making its commission impossible,[40] defendant may be convicted for an assault with intent to rob even though the victim was in fact without money or valuable property.[41]

[§ 219] 2. Overt Act. In accordance with general rules,[42] there can be no attempt to commit robbery in the absence of an overt act in part execution of the intent to commit the crime.[43] An actual demand for money or property is not essential if the circumstances otherwise show an overt act.[44] Abandonment of the purpose or intent to rob before commission of an overt act precludes guilt of the crime of attempt to rob.[45] But repentance after commission of an overt act will not rid the attempt of its criminal character.[46]

---

[31] State v. McGinnis, 158 Mo. 105, 59 SW 83 (homicide in course of robbery attempt).

[32] Peo. v. Kuhn, 291 Ill. 154, 125 NE 882.

[33] See statutory provisions.

[34] Peo. v. Burns, 138 Cal. 159, 69 P 16, 70 P 1087, 60 LRA 270.

[35] Peo. v. Burns, supra.

[36] Peo. v. Burns, supra.

As to present ability to commit assault generally see Assault and Battery §§ 185-188.

[37] Not robbery see supra § 13 text and note 84.

[38] Rex v. Edwards, 6 C. & P. 521, 25 ECL 555, 172 Reprint 1346.

[a] Illustration.—A was decoyed into a house and chained down to a seat, and compelled to write an order for the payment of money and an order for the delivery of deeds. The paper on which he wrote remained in his hand half an hour, but he was chained all the time. It was held that this was not an assault with intent to rob within the St. 7 & 8 Geo. IV c 29 § 6. Rex v. Edwards, 6 C. & P. 521, 25 ECL 555, 172 Reprint 1346.

[39] Elements of robbery see supra §§ 13-54.

[40] See Criminal Law § 96.

[41] Hamilton v. State, 36 Ind. 280, 285, 10 AmR 22.

"The position contended for by counsel for the appellant in the case under consideration would lead to consequences which forbid our adoption of it. A robber supposes that an individual has a well filled pocketbook or a valuable watch on his person, and resolving to possess himself thereof, he meets the individual; with a slung-shot, or a bludgeon, he knocks him down, searches his pockets, and fails to find that which he expected to find. Shall it be held that he is guilty of a misdemeanor only? He has taken the first step; has taken it with the intent to commit the crime of robbery, and is clearly, in our opinion, within the statute on which the information is founded." Hamilton v. State, supra.

[a] Penniless victim.—Where the charge is an assault with intent to rob of a certain sum of money, it is no defense that the party assaulted had no money on his person at that time. Hamilton v. State, 36 Ind. 280, 10 AmR 22.

[42] See Criminal Law § 93.

[43] Peo. v. Rizzo, 246 N. Y. 334, 158 NE 888, 55 ALR 711. See Dunning v. Com., 5 Ky. Op. 173, 175 (where the court said: "A mere 'attempt to rob,' unaccompanied with an assault with a deadly weapon, or a demand of something of value from the person of another with force and violence with the felonious intent to commit robbery, is not an offense at common law, nor by statute. Neither is it a public offense to carry an ordinary pocket knife concealed, which may be a deadly weapon. The record therefore fails to show that the examining court had any authority to commit Thomas P. Dunning on these two charges, or to require bail of him, nor that the county judge was authorized to take the bond").

[a] Merely looking for pay roll messenger.—Where defendant and others armed themselves and drove around in a car looking for a certain pay roll messenger with intent to rob him wherever he might be found, but were arrested before they had located their victim, and in fact no pay roll had been drawn from the bank at the time, defendant was not guilty of an attempt to commit robbery under a statute punishing any act "tending" to commission of a crime as an attempt, because the acts in question had not come near enough to consummation of the robbery to "tend" toward its commission within the meaning of the statute. Peo. v. Rizzo, 246 N. Y. 334, 158 NE 888, 55 ALR 711.

[b] Overt act shown.—(1) "The facts in evidence were ample to justify the conclusion that the person who pushed open the saloon door did so for the purpose and with the intent to enter the saloon, and with force and violence feloniously take from the possession of the inmates such money as they might have upon them. The pushing open the door and the partial entry through the same were such overt acts as amounted to an attempt to commit the intended crime. . . . The large number of persons in the saloon prevented the consummation of the robbery." Peo. v. Moran, 18 Cal. A. 209, 122 P 969, 970. (2) Where defendant proposed to one Nelson that the latter knock a certain person unconscious at a specified time and place and divide the money with defendant, and such Nelson advised the police, and thereafter, acting under police instructions, Nelson and a detective introduced to defendant as a fellow crook went to the business office of the proposed victim, took a lead pipe supplied by defendant and at his suggestion went upstairs ostensibly to knock out the victim, who was unaware of the whole matter, and defendant waited outside to get the money, defendant was guilty of an attempt to commit robbery through aiding, abetting, and counseling its commission. Peo. v. Du Veau, 105 App. Div. 381, 94 NYS 225.

[44] Rex v. Trusty, East P. C. 418.

[a] Stopping coach.—Where defendants rushed from behind a hedge, pointed a pistol at the driver of a coach, and bade him stop, which he did, at the same time calling for help, and thereby preventing consummation of the robbery, defendants were guilty of an attempt to rob even though they had made no demand for money. Rex v. Trusty, East P. C. 418.

[45] State v. Feltovic, 110 Conn. 303, 147 A 801, 804 (homicide in course of attempted robbery).

[46] State v. Feltovic, supra (homicide in course of attempted robbery).

"The principle invoked in behalf of the accused is dependent upon the facts claimed to have been proved by his showing a voluntary and free abandonment of his purpose to perpetrate a robbery or to attempt to perpetrate one before his purpose has

[§ 220] 3. Intent. It must appear that defendant had the intent to steal[47] or rob,[48] and defendant cannot be convicted where his intent was to take under a bona fide claim of right.[49] But a specific intent to rob a particular person is not essential to commission of attempted robbery,[50] a general attempt to rob any persons found in a certain place being sufficient.[51]

Where malice aforethought is by statute made an element of the crime,[52] it is not necessary to show actual ill will toward the victim.[53]

[§ 221] 4. Assault. It must appear that the assault was made upon the person intended to be robbed.[54]

[§ 222] 5. Force or Intimidation—a. In General. It is essential that defendant should have used, or intended to use, force or intimidation.[55] But the crime may be committed by intimidation as well as by actual force,[56] and proof of actual ability to inflict the injury threatened is not necessarily essential.[57] Resistance by the victim does not preclude existence of the element of force or intimidation.[58]

Subsequent force. Violence forming an element of the offense must not be subsequent to the attempt to take the property.[59]

Degree of force. There must be an appreciable degree of personal violence used or intended to constitute the force essential to the crime of attempted robbery or assault with intent to rob.[60] But subject to this requirement, the amount or degree of been put into action by overt act or acts in carrying out the intended crime. An intent or purpose to commit the crime of robbery may be abandoned at any time before the intent or purpose has by some act become an attempt to commit that crime; at that point the crime of an attempt to commit the robbery has been committed. The accused cannot thereafter escape the penalty of his attempt to commit the crime by repentance after that crime has been committed." State v. Feltovic, supra.

---

[47] Iowa.—State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403.

Ky.—Taylor v. Com., 3 Bush 508.

Mont.—State v. Hanson, 49 Mont. 361, 141 P 609.

Nebr.—Latimer v. State, 55 Nebr. 609, 76 NW 207, 70 AmSR 403.

Nev.—State v. Glovery, 10 Nev. 24, 27.

Tex.—Barton v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 368, 227 SW 317, 13 ALR 147.

Va.—Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764.

"The intent is of the essence of the offense, and it is to be ascertained from the circumstances of each case." State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, 433, AnnCas1918A 403.

"The intent is the gist of the offense and must be clearly established; . . . it is not necessarily to be inferred from the act or acts done, whatever they may be; but must be made out from an impartial consideration of the entire surroundings; which is sometimes extended beyond the immediate res gestæ." State v. Glovery, supra.

[48] Smiley v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 528, 222 SW 1108.

[a] Specific intent to rob.—To sustain the conviction of assault with intent to rob, it was essential that the evidence show a specific intent to rob. Smiley v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 528, 222 SW 1108.

[49] Barton v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 368, 227 SW 317, 13 ALR 147; Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764; Reg. v. Boden, 1 C. & K. 394, 47 ECL 394, 174 Reprint 863.

[a] Collecting wages at point of gun.—Where, on the day of his discharge, an employee held up the superintendent to demand the payment of his wages up to the time of his discharge, he lacked a criminal intent and was not guilty of attempted robbery even though as a matter of law the wages were not due on discharge but some days later. Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764.

[b] Good faith.—If defendant made assault on prosecuting witness solely for the purpose of obtaining money which defendant in good faith believed prosecuting witness owed him, he was not guilty of assault with intent to rob, although he used force or threats, which, in the absence of the claim of right in good faith made, would have amounted to an assault with intent to rob. Barton v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 368, 227 SW 317, 13 ALR 147.

[c] Semblance of claim.—A, at C fair, came up to B, the prosecutor's father (being a stranger to him), and gave him eleven sovereigns to buy him a horse, and B put them into his pocket. B refused to give the eleven sovereigns back, and A and the prisoner, who was in his company, assaulted him, but could not get the money from him. On the next day the prisoner asked B for the eleven sovereigns, and at L fair, on a subsequent day, the prisoner having seen the prosecutor receive seven sovereigns, demanded the eleven sovereigns of him, and then knocked him down, and tried to get the seven sovereigns out of his pocket. Held, that there was such a semblance of a claim of right, that this was not an assault with intent to rob. Reg. v. Boden, 1 C. & K. 394, 47 ECL 394, 174 Reprint 863.

[50] State v. Waite, 141 Wash. 429, 251 P 855.

[51] State v. Waite, 141 Wash. 429, 251 P 855, 858.

"The charge is to the effect that, to find the defendants guilty, it was not necessary to find that they had a specific intent to rob the person named in the information as the prosecuting witness; that it was enough if they found that the defendants had the intent to rob the persons they found in the room, and that one of such persons was the prosecuting witness. Manifestly, this must be the correct rule, else there could be no conviction in any case for a crime of this sort, which fails of consummation because of the intervention of the law officers. While the state could show, as they did in this instance, that the intent was to rob all of the persons present, which number included the prosecuting witness, they could not show that the specific intent was to rob any particular person. It must be remembered that the statute denounces the act of attempted robbery. The person against whom the act is directed is not the gravamen of the offense. This is a matter which the state must show in order to identify the act, and it is sufficiently identified when it is shown that the act is directed against a number, and the particular person named is one of that number." State v. Waite, supra.

[52] See statutory provisions.

[53] Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas1918A 419.

[a] Meaning of "malice aforethought."—Under the statute regarding assault with intent to rob, making malice aforethought an element of the crime, the words "malice aforethought" mean the voluntary and intentional doing of an unlawful act with the purpose, means, and ability to accomplish the reasonable and probable consequence of it, done in a manner showing a heart regardless of social duty and fatally bent on mischief, and it is not necessary to show any actual anger or ill feeling toward the victim. Gordon v. State. 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas1918A 419.

[54] Rex v. Thomas, Leach C. C. 330, 168 Reprint 268.

[55] Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170; State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403; Walters v. State, 56 Tex. Cr. 10, 118 SW 543.

[a] Mere jostling coupled with an unsuccessful attempt to take a stud from the victim's tie is not an attempt to rob. Walters v. State, 56 Tex. Cr. 10, 118 SW 543.

[b] Pushing and crowding in accordance with the usual methods of pickpockets, in an effort to steal a stud from the tie of a man on a crowded street car, is not such conduct as will constitute the force or intimidation essential to make the crime assault with intent to rob. Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170.

[c] Trying to take money from under pillow of sleeper by stealth is not an attempt to commit robbery. State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403.

[56] McNamara v. Peo., 24 Colo. 61, 48 P 541.

[57] MeNamara v. Peo., supra.

[58] Peo. v. Kuhn, 291 Ill. 154, 125 NE 882.

[59] State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403; Hanson v. State, 43 Oh. St. 376, 1 NE 136.

[a] Striking victim in effort to escape after abandonment of an unsuccessful attempt to take money is not such use of force as will make the offense an assault with attempt to rob. State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403.

[60] Peo. v. Ryan, 239 Ill. 410, 88 NE 170.

force exerted is immaterial.[61]

[§ 223] b. Accusation of Crime. Under a statute defining third degree robbery as an extortion or gaining of the money or property of another by accusing or threatening to accuse him of a felony, and other statutes punishing an attempt to commit such crime, an accusation or threat to accuse one of doing something not a felony does not constitute an attempt to commit third degree robbery.[62]

[§ 224] c. Attempt To Snatch.[63] Under a statute providing punishment for "whoever shall be found guilty of attempting to rob, from the person of another, money or other property by cutting, or tearing the clothes, thrusting the hands into the pockets, or otherwise,"[64] an attempt to snatch property is punishable under the "otherwise" provision of the statute.[65]

[§ 225] 6. Ownership. To constitute the crime of assault with intent to rob, it is essential that the property intended to be taken should have been that of some one other than defendant.[66] But it is not necessary that the property should have belonged to the victim of such assault.[67]

[§ 226] C. Persons Liable. All persons actually participating or aiding and abetting in the commission of an attempt or assault with intent to rob are subject to prosecution and punishment therefor.[68]

[§ 227] D. Prosecution and Punishment—1. Indictment or Information—a. In General. An indictment or information for attempt or assault with intent to rob must allege every fact and circumstance that is necessary to constitute the offense,[69] including the assault[70] and intent.[71] Under general rules[72] particular indictments or informations have been held sufficient[73] or insufficient.[74] It has been said that the same particularity is not required in charging attempted acts as is required in charging the completed crime.[75]

[§ 228] b. Intent. An indictment or information for an attempt or assault with intent to rob should charge the essential intent.[76] Intent has been held sufficiently charged by an allegation that defendant "attempted" fraudulently to take the property,[77] or that he acted "feloniously,"[78] or "in pursuance of" an assault and attempt to rob,[79] or by any other terms clearly implying such intent.[80]

---

[61] Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913.

[a] "The law does not require that one be beaten up before he submits to the robbery to constitute the offense. It is sufficient if he yields because of this fear. Nor is one required to resist to the uttermost. The crime is committed if one exerts sufficient force to overcome the resistance encountered where the property is not taken surreptitiously. When there is manifested a present purpose to take from the person of another his property, not clandestinely, but openly, and by means of the exercise of such force as may be necessary to overcome any resistance offered, the crime of assault to rob is committed." Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 115, 187 SW 913.

[62] State v. Snow, 320 Mo. 267, 6 SW (2d) 934.

[a] Violation of liquor laws.—Evidence showing an attempt to obtain money by accusing another of possessing and transporting alcohol will not sustain conviction for attempt to commit third degree robbery because such liquor law violation is not a felony. State v. Snow, 320 Mo. 267, 6 SW (2d) 934.

[63] Snatching as constituting completed offense see supra §§ 40, 41.

[64] See statutory provisions.

[65] State v. West, 106 La. 274, 30 S 848.

[a] Purse.—State v. West, 106 La. 274, 30 S 848.

[66] Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791.

[67] Douglass v. State, supra; State v. Carroll, 214 Mo. 392, 135 SW 1051, 21 LRANS 311.

[a] Cashier of bank.—Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791.

[68] Stone v. State, 162 Ark. 154, 258 SW 116; State v. Johnson, 198 Iowa 588, 199 NW 316; State v. Milo, 126 Or. 238, 269 P 225, 227.

[a] Aiding and abetting.—(1) If one was present at the place of attempted robbery by prearrangement with one making the attempt, and was there with the purpose of actually aiding in its commission, to the knowledge of the one who attempted the robbery, he was guilty as a principal, although he did not actually participate in the assault in view of Code § 5299. State v. Johnson, 198 Iowa 588, 199 NW 316. (2) A person present, ready, and consenting to aid and abet in assault with intent to rob is guilty of the crime under Crawford & M. Dig. § 2412. Stone v. State, 162 Ark. 154, 258 SW 116.

[b] Use of weapon.—If defendants entered a store with the common intent to rob, the act of one in pointing a revolver at the proprietor was in law an act of an associate (L. § 1919). State v. Milo, 126 Or. 238, 269 P 225 (where the court said: "If they were acting together, with a common intent to assault and rob, the act of Kelly in pointing a revolver at the body of Blackburn, and in commanding him to 'stick 'em up' and to 'get into the back room,' is, in law, also the act of Milo, his associate in crime; likewise, the blows that were inflicted upon Emery's chin and head by Milo were, in law, the blows of Kelly").

[69] Ill.—Conolly v. Peo., 4 Ill. 474.

Iowa.—State v. Callahan, 96 Iowa 304, 65 NW 150.

Md.—Hollohan v. State, 32 Md. 399.

Mass.—Com. v. Cody, 165 Mass. 133, 42 NE 575; Com. v. Mowry, 11 Allen 20.

S. D.—State v. Shields, 13 S. D. 464, 83 NW 559.

Tex.—Adams v. State, (Cr. A.) 62 SW 1059; Clark v. State, 41 Tex. Cr. 641, 56 SW 621.

Wash.—State v. Fenton, 30 Wash. 325, 70 P 741; State v. Costello, 29 Wash. 366, 69 P 1099.

Eng.—Reg. v. Huxley, C. & M. 596, 41 ECL 324, 174 Reprint 650.

[70] State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151.

[a] Allegations held sufficient.—State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151.

[71] See infra § 228.

[72] See supra text and notes 69, 70; and see Indictments and Informations § 292.

[73] See cases infra this note.

[a] Generally.—Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791; Peo. v. Holden, 13 Cal. A. 354, 109 P 495; State v. Broyles, 317 Mo. 276, 295 SW 554; State v. Heady, 316 Mo. 111, 289 SW 564; State v. McFadden, 309 Mo. 112, 274 SW 354; State v. Williams, (Mo.) 263 SW 195.

[b] Attempted robbery in first degree.—State v. Newman, (Mo.) 289 SW 831.

[c] Dangerous or deadly weapon.—McNamara v. Peo., 24 Colo. 61, 48 P 541; Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 109 NW 986.

[74] See case infra this note.

[a] Held insufficient.—Chappell v. Com., 200 Ky. 429, 255 SW 90 (omission of word "maliciously" where statute made malice element of offense).

[75] Traver v. State, 72 Ark. 524, 81 SW 615.

Indictments and informations for completed crime see supra §§ 82–119.

[76] State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151.

[a] Allegations held sufficient.—State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151.

[77] Runnells v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 431, 30 SW 1065; Atkinson v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 424, 30 SW 1064.

[78] State v. Hughes, 31 Nev. 270, 102 P 562.

[79] State v. Hughes, supra.

[80] Peo. v. Johnson, 57 Cal. A. 271, 207 P 257; Com. v. Tanner, 3 Ky. Op. 264, 265.

"The facts alleged in the indictment are sufficient to show the intent to take and carry away the property, and therefore it was unnecessary to aver an intention on the part of appellee 'to steal, take and carry it in so many words away.' And of necessity must have been against the will of the owner of the property. The acts alleged as constituting the of-

[§ 229] c. Description of Property. It is not necessary particularly to describe the property defendant intended to take.[81]

Value. It is not necessary to allege the value of the property.[82]

Ownership. An indictment or information for an attempt or assault with intent to commit robbery need not allege the ownership of the property,[83] nor negative defendant's ownership thereof.[84] Where an indictment or information undertakes to set forth ownership, it is sufficient to allege that the property was in the immediate custody or possession of the victim of the attempted robbery.[85]

[§ 230] d. Consent. Nonconsent of the victim is sufficiently averred by allegations of force or intimidation.[86]

[§ 231] e. Completed Offense. The indictment or information need not define the offense of robbery.[87] It need not,[88] and should not,[89] allege the elements of the completed offense of robbery.

[§ 232] 2. Issues, Proof, and Variance. Under general rules,[90] material allegations of the indictment or information must be proved, and a variance in a material matter is fatal.[91]

[§ 233] 3. Conviction of Offenses Included in Charge. Under an indictment for assault with intent to rob, defendant cannot be convicted of robbery.[92]

---

fense, are the same as those named in the statute, and are described in its precise language." Com. v. Tanner, supra.

[81] Ind.—Dickinson v. State, 70 Ind. 247.

Kan.—State v. Roberts, 67 Kan. 631, 73 P 905.

Ky.—Taylor v. Com., 3 Bush 508; Com. v. Tanner, 3 Ky. Op. 264, 265.

Miss.—Grogan v. State, 63 Miss. 147.

Tex.—Crumes v. State, 28 Tex. A. 516, 13 SW 868, 19 AmSR 853.

[82] Buntin v. State, 68 Ind. 38; Com. v. Tanner, 3 Ky. Op. 264.

[83] State v. Gulliver, 163 Iowa 123, 142 NW 948.

[a] Robbery distinguished.—"The offenses [of robbery and assault with intent to rob] are quite distinct. One is an invasion of a property right and the other an invasion of a right of person. The gist of robbery is the wrongful taking of the property of another under certain circumstances of aggravation, and an allegation of the ownership of the property is necessary to make the charge complete and intelligible. In the other case the overt criminal act is the injury or attempted injury of the person of another, and, for reasons already stated, an allegation of the name of the person assaulted is essential to a complete charge; but, the intent having reference only to the mental attitude or purpose of the assailant, it is sufficiently expressed in alleging it in general terms." State v. Gulliver, 163 Iowa 123, 142 NW 948, 956.

[84] State v. Dilley, 15 Or. 70, 13 P 648.

[a] Rule applied.—An indictment under Cr. Code § 533, "for assault and robbery, being armed with a dangerous weapon," need not allege that the money taken from the person assaulted was his property and not the property of accused. State v. Dilley, 15 Or. 70, 13 P 648.

[85] Sims v. State, 23 Ala. A. 387, 126 S 498; Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791; State v. Carroll, 214 Mo. 392, 113 SW 1051, 21 LRANS 311; Tyson v. U. S., 7 Okl. Cr. 433, 122 P 733.

"An indictment for assault with intent to rob need not state what the defendant intended to take, nor that he intended to deprive the owner thereof, nor is it necessary to allege ownership in the party assaulted; mere possession in him being sufficient. Tyson v. U. S., supra.

[a] Assaulting cashier to rob bank.—(1) A count charging assault on a cashier with intent to rob the bank was not bad, it being unnecessary that the money belong to the person from whom taken. This is not like charging an assault with attempt to rob B, as the bank's money is in the custody of the cashier. Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791. (2) An indictment charging an assault on the president and cashier of a bank with intent to rob the bank is sufficient as against an objection that it failed to charge that an attempted robbery was commited upon and against the person of individuals named. Sims v. State, 23 Ala. A. 387, 126 S 498.

[86] Peo. v. Johnson, 57 Cal. A. 271, 207 P 257.

[87] State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151.

[88] Dickerson v. Com., 2 Bush (Ky.) 1; Hollohan v. State, 32 Md. 399; Morris v. State, 13 Tex. A. 65.

[89] State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151. See Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 241, 109 NW 986 (where, after stating that the information was insufficient to charge the completed offense, the court added: "It does, however, charge the crime defined by sec. 4376, Stats. 1898, and of which the defendant was convicted. This section is as follows: 'Any person being armed with a dangerous weapon who shall assault another with intent to rob or murder shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not more than fifteen years nor less than one year.' It is true that the present information charged actual robbery instead of intent, but, as actual robbery always includes intent, there is no prejudicial variance between the statute, the information, and the verdict. The information charged more than the statute required, but in legal effect it charged also all that the statute or the verdict covered").

[a] Neither necessary nor proper.—"The intent with which the assault is made is the gravamen of the offense. In charging the crime of assault with intent to commit a felony, such as robbery, it is not necessary or proper to charge intent and facts which would make out the ultimate offense of robbery. Indeed, that would be a fictitious charge. If such facts existed, the charge would be of robbery itself, and not assault with intent to rob. The indictment is not vulnerable to the assignment against it. The indictment is sufficient." State v. Norman, 190 Iowa 472, 180 NW 151, 152.

[90] See Indictments and Informations §§ 438–481.

[91] Erwin v. State, 117 Ga. 296, 43 SE 719; State v. Fallon, 2 N. D. 510, 52 NW 318; Barton v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 368, 227 SW 317, 13 ALR 147.

[a] Intimidation.—"Where an indictment charged the accused with assault with intent to rob, in that he 'did unlawfully and maliciously make an assault upon the person of H., and by menaces in a forcible and violent manner demand money of the said H., with intent to commit a robbery upon the person of said H., a verdict of guilty was unwarranted, when there was no evidence that the accused by menaces made a demand of H. for his money, though the evidence may have shown that he committed the offense in some other manner." Erwin v. State, 117 Ga. 296, 43 SE 719.

[b] Persons assaulted.—Under a count charging an assault to rob two persons jointly, defendant cannot be convicted if the assault was made on only one of such persons. Barton v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 368, 227 SW 317, 13 ALR 147.

[c] Use of weapon.—(1) "Where an information charges the defendant with the crime of an assault with a dangerous weapon, to wit, a pistol, with intent to commit a felony, and describes the assault as committed by then and there shooting a loaded pistol at and against the party assaulted, with intent to rob him, and the evidence shows that the assault was committed by thrusting the pistol in the face of the party assaulted, and demanding his money, and that the pistol was not discharged until after the assailant had started to make his escape, there is a fatal variance between the allegations and the proof." State v. Fallon, 2 N. D. 510, 52 NW 318. (2) Where an indictment charges that an assault with attempt to rob was made by pointing a loaded gun at the victim, it may, in the absence of affirmative proof that the gun was unloaded, be sustained by proof that a gun was pointed at the victim. State v. Milo, 126 Or. 238, 269 P 225.

[d] Variance not material.—Charge of an attempt to rob the cashier of the "Bank of Barnhart," and proof of an attempt to rob the cashier of the "Farm and Dairy Bank" at Barnhart, where, so far as the record shows, there was but one bank at Barnhart, and all of the other witnesses, including those for defendant, referred to it as the Bank of Barnhart. State v. Broyles, 317 Mo. 276, 295 SW 554, 556.

[92] Peo. v. Scofield, 142 Mich. 221, 105 NW 610.

Conviction of:

Attempt to rob on charge of completed offense see Indictments and Informations § 504.

Different degree or classification of completed robbery than that charged see Indictments and Informations § 497.

[§ 234] 4. Evidence—a. Burden of Proof and Presumptions. In a prosecution for assault with intent to rob, while armed with a dangerous weapon, proof that a gun was pointed at the victim raises a presumption that it was loaded,[93] casting on defendant the burden of proving the contrary.[94]

[§ 235] b. Admissibility. Under general rules,[95] as applied to the circumstances involved, particular evidence has been held admissible[96] or inadmissible,[97] as in the case of evidence offered on the issue of intent.[98]

Victim's possession of money. Evidence is inadmissible to show that the person assaulted had no money, unless it be shown that defendant knew that fact.[99]

[§ 236] c. Weight and Sufficiency.[1] The essential intent may be established by any circumstances from which the jury may reasonably infer it,[2] and such an inference may be proper despite defendant's failure to say a word about wanting valuables.[3] The victim's successful prevention of the robbery has no tendency to disprove defendant's intent to rob.[4] Evidence of defendant's identification may be sufficient despite refusal of the identifying witnesses to swear positively that defendant was the man,[5] or their admission that a mistake is always possible.[6]

---

[93] McNamara v. Peo., 24 Colo. 61, 48 P 541; State v. Milo, 126 Or. 238, 269 P 225; State v. Parr, 54 Or. 316, 103 P 434; Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 109 NW 986.

[a] "When a highwayman pokes a gun into the face of his victim and commands him to 'stick 'em up,' his actions and his words speak a language that is well understood by the victim. It is plain to the victim and to the robber that the command to 'stick 'em up,' accompanied by gun play, is a representation by the assailant that he is prepared to execute his command. It is unnecessary for the victim of a holdup to visualize the powder and the leaden ball within the highwayman's gun, or to subject his body to gunfire, in order to vindicate the law. The outlaw who attempts to rob another by putting such other in fear of death or great bodily harm through his conduct in deliberately pointing a gun at such other at close range impliedly represents that the gun is loaded, and the proof of such conduct establishes prima facie that the gun so used was loaded and capable of being discharged." State v. Milo, 126 Or. 238, 269 P 225, 227.

[94] Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 109 NW 986.

[95] See Criminal Law §§ 1034–1558.

[96] See cases infra this note.

[a] Generally.—Chafino v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 393, 154 SW 546 (where the court said: "Appellant has a very brief and incomplete bill of exceptions, showing that he objected to the prosecuting witness testifying that he had his money in his shoe on the night of the alleged assault, and that it was his custom to carry his money in such manner. The bill shows no error in the admission of this testimony. This witness testified that the assault was committed by two persons—one having a pistol, who stopped him, and made him hold up his hands, while the other went through all his pockets, and ran his hands up and down his body and legs, in search of money, and his explanation of why they did not get his money was that he had it in his shoe, and was accustomed to carry it there").

[b] Competent.—Wingate v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 234, 152 SW 1078 (holding that, evidence by a police officer that he found a pistol in the street where the assault occurred the morning after the assault was competent and admissible).

[c] Material.—Abner v. Com., 210 Ky. 536, 276 SW 513 (holding that evidence for defendants that the prosecuting witness had a pistol in his car at the time of arrest was material, and should have been admitted, in view of their contention that the prosecuting witness had a pistol and proposed to swap with them when the car stopped).

[d] Rebuttal.—Perdue v. State, 17 Ala. A. 500, 86 S 158 (holding that, where a witness at whose house defendant was arrested had testified that the sheriff and another came to her house that night, it was error to exclude evidence offered in rebuttal as to what, if anything, they did in such house).

[97] See cases infra this note.

[a] Generally.—Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791 (holding that question to cashier whether bank lost money on afternoon accused entered it was too broad and general in trial for assault on cashier to rob bank, as it might have related to transactions with persons other than defendant).

[b] Immaterial.—State v. Gulliver, 163 Iowa 123, 142 NW 948, 953 (holding that evidence for defendant that shortly before the offense defendant had made a profit of two hundred dollars from a certain venture was immaterial, because "The fact whether defendant did or did not reap a profit from the entertainment had no such bearing upon or connection with his alleged guilt as to make it admissible on any theory of the case").

[c] Hearsay.—State v. Gulliver, 163 Iowa 123, 142 NW 948 (holding that, in a prosecution for assault with intent to rob a bank cashier, evidence that a detective representing a banker's association had investigated the case in its interest, and had approached certain witnesses and made statements adverse to defendant, was inadmissible because mere hearsay and without relevance or materiality).

[98] See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held admissible.—(1) In view of Code Cr. Proc. (1911) art 261, which provides that municipal authorities may establish rules authorizing arrests, without warrant, of persons found in suspicious places or under circumstances showing they have been guilty of felony or breach of the peace, in a prosecution with intent to rob where defendant claimed that he arrested state's witness when he found him and a female companion in a compromising position in a parked automobile in a public park, and arrest without warrant was authorized by a municipal ordinance, refusal to admit the ordinance, whether valid or not, was error, as it bears on the issue of intent, defendant having claimed that he was on his way to report the matter and surrender the property to the authorities when arrested. Smith v. State, 94 Tex. Cr. 478, 251 SW 1077. (2) Exclusion of cashier's testimony as to whether defendant got, or attempted to get, money from bank or cashier and whether latter knew of overt act to get money from within cage was reversible error, testimony being admissible as of res gestæ and relevant on issues of intent and insanity. Douglass v. State, 21 Ala. A. 289, 107 S 791.

[b] Evidence held inadmissible.—Testimony of a witness that accused, charged with an attempt to rob, had solicited the witness some six days before to join in committing robbery but not referring to prosecutor, is too remote to show the specific intent necessary under Rev. Codes § 8894, providing that an act done with intent to commit a crime but failing to effect its commission is an attempt to commit the crime. State v. Hanson, 49 Mont. 361, 141 P 669.

[99] Angley v. State, 35 Tex. Cr. 427, 34 SW 116.

[1] In criminal cases generally see Criminal Law §§ 1559–1999.

[2] Burk v. State, 22 Ala. A. 107, 114 S 71; Peo. v. Franklin, 46 Cal. A. 1, 188 P 607, 608; State v. Broyles, 317 Mo. 276, 295 SW 554.

[a] Illustration.—"The question of serious consideration is the action of the court in refusing to grant to the defendant his motion for a new trial. And that presents the question as to whether there is evidence of an intent to rob. Intent can only be shown by facts and circumstances from which the jury is authorized to draw the inference. . . . In the instant case the assault on Hale was at night, at the isolated house of the assaulted party, where defendant and his two associates had no right and no lawful business. They called Hale from his house to his doorstep and made an unprovoked assault upon him. As a part of the res gestæ defendant told the others to 'go in and search the house.' The confession of the defendant was that they 'went after money.' The inference that the assault was made with the intent to rob was justified by the evidence for the state. The denials by the defendant and his witness that they went to Hale's house to rob was for the jury. The court had all the parties before him, heard the evidence, and saw them testify. We will not disturb his judgment." Burk v. State, 22 Ala. A. 107, 114 S 71, 72.

[3] Peo. v. Leahy, 295 Ill. 588, 129 NE 517; State v. Simon, 317 Mo. 336, 295 SW 1076.

[a] Illustration.—Where the facts were that defendant jumped from a car, shoved a pistol against the victim, and ordered him to get into the car, but said nothing about wanting money or property, and defendant contended in a prosecution for assault to rob that the evidence was just as compatible with intent to kill or kidnap as it was with intent to rob, the court nevertheless held that the evidence was sufficient to authorize the jury to draw the inference of an attempt to rob. State v. Simon, 317 Mo. 336, 295 SW 1076.

[4] Peo. v. Kuhn, 291 Ill. 154, 125 NE 882.

Evidence sufficient. In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held sufficient to sustain conviction of an attempt or assault with intent to rob,[7] as where it was sufficient to prove the elements of the offense,[8] such as assault,[9] intent to steal,[10] and the use of, or intent to use, force or intimidation;[11] or was sufficient to prove defendant's connection with, or participation in, the offense,[12] as where defendant denied his presence,[13] or, while admitting his presence, denied participation in the offense.[14]

Evidence insufficient. In the notes below are given references to cases in which the evidence was held insufficient to sustain a conviction for an attempt or assault with intent to rob,[15] as where it was insufficient to prove the elements of the offense,[16] such as intent to steal,[17] and the use of, or intent to use, force or intimidation;[18] or was insufficient to prove defendant's connection with, or participation in, the offense,[19] as against his claim of alibi.[20]

[§ 237] 5. Trial[21]—a. Questions for Court and Jury. The credibility of the evidence is for the jury.[22] On conflicting evidence questions of fact are for the jury,[23] such as the issue of whether there was an assault,[24] and whether it was committed with intent to rob.[25] But where only one conclusion may reasonably be drawn from the facts, the question of intent is one of law for the court.[26]

[§ 238] b. Instructions—(1) In General. On a trial for an attempt or assault with intent to rob, the court should instruct the jury as to the elements of the offense,[27] such as the intent to steal or rob,[28] and the use of, or intent to use, force or intimidation.[29]

---

5. Peo. v. Franklin, 46 Cal. A. 1, 188 P 607.

[a] Resemblance enough.—"While none of them would positively swear that the appellant was the man they had seen on the morning of the assault, each of them picked him from among other prisoners, and on the trial each was positive in the statement that the appellant resembled the man they had seen at the time of the crime, each expressing the belief that he was the same. Standing alone, this evidence would have been sufficient on the subject of identification. It is not necessary that identification be made positively by any one witness. It is a matter for the jury to determine from all the circumstances in evidence on the subject." Peo. v. Franklin, 46 Cal. A. 1, 188 P 607.

6. Weldon v. State, 179 Ark. 10, 14 SW (2d) 245.

7. Ark.—Hight v. State, 172 Ark. 240, 288 SW 384.

Cal.—Peo. v. Gonzales, 69 Cal. A. 609, 231 P 1014; Peo. v. Murphy, 62 Cal. A. 709, 217 P 810; Peo. v. McNabb, 17 Cal. A. 154, 118 P 915.

Ill.—Peo. v. Kusinski, 295 Ill. 575, 129 NE 503.

Kan.—State v. Roberts, 67 Kan. 631, 73 P 905.

Tex.—Seymour v. State, 93 Tex. Cr. 186, 245 SW 913; Drysdale v. State, 70 Tex. Cr. 273, 156 SW 685; Burns v. State, (Cr.) 70 SW 24.

Wis.—Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 109 NW 986.

Ont.—Rex v. Arsino, 19 OntWN 136.

[a] Armed with dangerous or deadly weapon.—Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 109 NW 986.

[b] Circumstantial evidence.—Peo. v. Gordon, 61 Cal. A. 98, 214 P 276.

[c] Pay roll.—Peo. v. Kusinski, 295 Ill. 575, 129 NE 503.

8. Peo. v. Allen, 32 Cal. A. 110, 162 P 401; State v. Cox, 250 Mo. 375, 157 SW 308.

9. Cole v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 660, 237 SW 256; White v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 617, 236 SW 983.

10. Ala.—Burk v. State, 22 Ala. A. 107, 114 S 71 [certiorari den 216 Ala. 655, 114 S 72].

Cal.—Peo. v. Johnson, 57 Cal. A. 271, 207 P 257.

Ill.—Peo. v. Leahy, 295 Ill. 588, 129 NE 517; Peo. v. Kuhn, 291 Ill. 154, 125 NE 882.

Okl.—Tyson v. U. S., 7 Okl. Cr. 433, 122 P 733.

Tex.—Cole v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 660, 237 SW 256; White v. State, 90 Tex. Cr. 617, 236 SW 983; Hernandez v. State, 60 Tex. Cr. 382, 131 SW 1091.

[a] As against defendant's claim that he thought he was participating in arrest instead of robbery.—Drysdale v. State, 70 Tex. Cr. 273, 156 SW 685.

[b] Despite defendant's contention that he was merely avenging insult.—Peo. v. Franklin, 46 Cal. A. 1, 188 P 607.

11. See Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas1918A 419 (evidence sufficient to show force used).

12. Ark.—Gordon v. State, supra.

Ga.—Holbrook v. State, 37 Ga. A. 106, 138 SE 919.

Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 198 Iowa 588, 199 NW 316.

Mo.—State v. Newman, 289 SW 831.

Tex.—Barnes v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 394, 292 SW 548.

[a] As against claim that victim too drunk to identify defendant.—Gordon v. State, 125 Ark. 111, 187 SW 913, AnnCas1918A 419.

[b] Drug store, attempted robbery of. State v. Newman, (Mo.) 289 SW 831.

[c] Identification by voice and appearance.—Barnes v. State, 106 Tex. Cr. 394, 292 SW 548.

13. Ark.—Weldon v. State, 179 Ark. 10, 14 SW (2d) 245.

Ill.—Peo. v. Kuhn, 291 Ill. 154, 125 NE 882.

Iowa.—State v. Gulliver, 163 Iowa 123, 142 NW 948.

Mo.—State v. Woodard, 309 Mo. 19, 273 SW 1047.

Okl.—Bates v. State, 22 Okl. Cr. 369, 211 P 438.

Tex.—Wingate v. State, 69 Tex. Cr. 234, 152 SW 1078.

14. Stone v. State, 162 Ark. 154, 258 SW 116; Peo. v. Leahy, 295 Ill. 588, 129 NE 517; Peo. v. Holdich, 224 Mich. 72, 194 NW 484.

15. Ala.—Perdue v. State, 17 Ala. A. 500, 86 S 158.

Ga.—Killabrew v. State, 33 Ga. A. 55, 125 SE 725.

Ill.—Garrity v. Peo., 70 Ill. 83.

Mo.—State v. Tate, 145 Mo. 667, 47 SW 792.

Tex.—Sanders v. State, 53 Tex. Cr. 613, 111 SW 157.

Eng.—Reg. v. Birch, 2 C. & K. 193, 61 ECL 193, 175 Reprint 81, 1 Den. C. C. 185, 169 Reprint 204.

[a] Circumstantial evidence.—Perdue v. State, 17 Ala. A. 500, 86 S 158.

16. Moffett v. State, 83 Tex. Cr. 284, 202 SW 960.

17. State v. Hanson, 49 Mont. 361, 141 P 669.

[a] Assault without intent to rob or steal.—State v. Hanson, 49 Mont. 361, 141 P 669, 671.

18. Walters v. State, 56 Tex. Cr. 10, 118 SW 543.

19. Carter v. State, 104 Tex. Cr. 163, 283 SW 174.

20. Perdue v. State, 17 Ala. A. 500, 86 S 158.

21. General rules see Criminal Law §§ 2000-2614.

22. Peo. v. Leahy, 295 Ill. 588, 129 NE 517, 519.

23. State v. Broyles, 317 Mo. 276, 295 SW 554.

24. State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403.

25. State v. Simon, 317 Mo. 336, 295 SW 1076; Barton v. State, 88 Tex. Cr. 368, 227 SW 317, 13 ALR 147; Butts v. Com., 145 Va. 800, 133 SE 764.

26. Butts v. Com., supra.

27. See infra text and notes 28-34.

Elements stated see supra §§ 218-225.

28. Axhelm v. U. S., 9 Okl. 321, 60 P 98; Mortimer v. State, 97 Tex. Cr. 485, 262 SW 501, 502.

"The court instructed the jury on the law of assault with intent to rob and upon the law of self-defense. A request was made that the court instruct the jury that there could be no conviction, unless they found from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that in making the assault appellant had the specific intent to commit robbery. If the prosecution for an assault with intent to rob is maintainable under the facts, a charge instructing the jury that to justify a conviction there must be proof of his specific intent to rob should have been given." Mortimer v. State, supra.

[a] Instruction is erroneous which omits the element of felonious intent. Axhelm v. U. S., 9 Okl. 321, 60 P 98.

29. State v. Lewis, 173 Iowa 643, 154 NW 432, AnnCas1918A 403.

Particular instructions. Under general rules,[30] particular instructions given or requested have been held proper or improper,[31] as instructions respecting the elements of the offense,[32] or defendant's connection therewith or participation therein,[33] or the use of a dangerous or deadly weapon.[34]

[§ 239] (2) Included Offenses. Where the evidence is sufficient to raise the issue as to whether defendant was guilty of another offense included in an attempt or assault with intent to rob, the court should instruct the jury as to such other offense.[35] But where the evidence raises no such issue, no instruction as to an included offense need be given.[36]

[§ 240] c. Verdict. General rules[37] apply with respect to the form and sufficiency of the verdict in a prosecution for an attempt or an assault with intent to commit robbery.[38]

[§ 241] 6. Punishment. General rules[39] apply with respect to the punishment inflicted for an attempt or assault with intent to commit robbery.[40]

---

[30] See supra text and notes 27-29; and Criminal Law §§ 2353, 2354 et seq.

[31] See case infra this note.

[a] Instructions requested but failing clearly to state the law are properly refused. State v. Glovery, 10 Nev. 24.

[32] See case infra this note.

[a] Instruction proper.—In a prosecution for assault with intent to rob, where defendant was convicted of assault with intent to commit larceny from the person, an instruction that if defendant assaulted the prosecuting witness to take from him a pistol with which the witness had threatened defendant he could not be convicted was sufficient, and it was unnecessary to give a further charge as to the law of self-defense. State v. Schell, 172 Iowa 127, 153 NW 62.

[33] See cases infra this note.

[a] Instruction held proper.—An instruction that, if accused was present when the victim was assaulted and robbery attempted, aiding, abetting, "or ready and consenting to aid and abet," the perpetrators or either of them, the jury should find him guilty was proper. Stone v. State, 162 Ark. 154, 258 SW 116 (where the court added: "Indeed, from the nature of the crime it is difficult to see how any one can be present, ready to aid and abet the person actually committing the assault, and yet not be aiding and abetting him. His very presence at the scene of the crime, standing ready to aid and abet the person actually making the assault, would show a participation in it. His presence for that purpose would have a tendency to awe the person assaulted, and, by the mere suggestion of numbers, prevent him from making resistance").

[b] Instruction held improper.—Where the evidence showed that the assault occurred in accused's saloon, and that accused, who had never seen the assaulted party before, was seen to strike some one, and, when the scuffle was over, the assaulted party's pocketbook was gone, and there was no evidence as to who took it or of any prior common purpose of the persons committing the assault, a charge that if accused was aiding and abetting in committing the assault, and that the assault was committed with intent to rob, accused would be guilty of assault with intent to rob, was erroneous, as permitting a conviction for assault with intent to rob, although the aiding and abetting by accused may have been simply in the assault. Peo. v. Belton, 160 Mich. 416, 125 NW 386.

[34] See cases infra this note.

[a] View that prosecution must prove gun loaded.—An instruction on a trial for an assault with intent to rob being armed with a dangerous weapon, that if the revolver, as used by accused, was the means by which prosecutor was compelled to submit to the robbery, the revolver was shown to be a dangerous weapon, was erroneous in the absence of direct proof that the revolver was loaded, and the jury should have been told what facts will justify them in finding that the revolver was a dangerous weapon. Lipscomb v. State, 130 Wis. 238, 109 NW 986.

[b] View that defense must prove gun unloaded.—Where, in a prosecution for assault with intent to rob, under L. § 1919, evidence showed that defendant and codefendant entered the store together with a common intent, and that codefendant pointed a revolver against the body of the proprietor and commanded him to "stick 'em up" and "get into the back room," an instruction that the gun pointed at the proprietor with intent to rob was presumed to have been loaded, and that the presumption, although not conclusive, was for the jury's consideration, was not erroneous, under § 794, since the jury could infer that the gun was loaded, and in any event no prejudice resulted where direct evidence showed that the gun was in fact loaded. State v. Milo, 126 Or. 238, 269 P 225.

[35] Abner v. Com., 210 Ky. 536, 276 SW 513 (recognizing rule); Peo. v. Brockett, 195 Mich. 169, 161 NW 991; Smiley v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 528, 222 SW 1108.

[a] Aggravated assault.—Smiley v. State, 87 Tex. Cr. 528, 222 SW 1108, 1109.

[b] Simple assault.—Peo. v. Brockett, 195 Mich. 169, 161 NW 991 (instruction insufficient).

[36] Peo. v. Fitts, 4 Cal. A. 432, 91 P 536; Abner v. Com., 210 Ky. 536, 276 SW 513.

[a] Assault and battery.—Abner v. Com., 210 Ky. 536, 276 SW 513.

[b] Simple assault.—Peo. v. Fitts, 4 Cal. A. 432, 91 P 536.

[37] See Criminal Law §§ 2580-2605.

[38] See cases infra this note.

[a] Form held correct.—State v. Heady, 316 Mo. 111, 289 SW 564, 565.

[b] Omission of specific finding as to intent is not necessarily fatal. Peo. v. Kuhn, 291 Ill. 154, 125 NE 882 (finding of guilty in manner and form charged is sufficient where, under the pleadings and evidence, it should be construed as a finding of intent).

[39] See supra §§ 204-215; and see Criminal Law §§ 3186-3257.

[40] See cases infra this note.

[a] Conformity to information.—Where information was sufficient to charge assault with intent to rob under Rev. St. (1919) § 3263, but insufficient under § 3262 relating to assault with intent to kill, fixing punishment at thirty years was error, maximum punishment under § 3263 being five years. State v. McFadden, 309 Mo. 112, 274 SW 354.

[b] Double punishment.—"The assault or violence in the robbery case being an essential element or ingredient of the offense, and constituting an important and material part of that offense, as it does in the offense of assault with intent to commit murder, and having been once punished in the robbery case as a material part thereof, it cannot be again punished, as it would be if the judgment below [for an assault during the robbery with intent to commit murder] were allowed to stand." Wilcox v. State, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 571, 574, 40 AmR 53.

[c] Statute held in force.—St. § 1159, providing punishment for robbery, held still in force as against contention that there was no statute in force for punishing robbery, and hence could be no offense of assault with intent to rob. Abner v. Com., 210 Ky. 536, 276 SW 513 (further stating that the opinion in Gibson v. Com., 204 Ky. 748, 265 SW 339, in so far as contra, had been withdrawn).

[d] Use of mortality tables in computing sentence.—"After the return of the verdict the court announced its conclusion that the only punishment that could be inflicted upon appellant was imprisonment in the state prison for one-half of his natural life; and thereupon, under objection and exception of appellant, it was shown that under the American Tables of Mortality the expectation of life of appellant was 38 years, and judgment was rendered for the exact half of that time, to wit, 19 years. We are satisfied that, for obvious reasons, a court, for the purpose of a judgment of imprisonment in a criminal case, cannot take as a basis for such judgment the expectation of life upon which insurance companies calculate their policies, and which is founded on what vital statistics show to be the average expectation. What the actual life of a particular person would be, and what would be the half of it, cannot be known; and, if one-half of the life of the appellant were the only punishment prescribed for the crime of which he was convicted, such punishment would be too vague and indefinite to be possible of enforcement, and no judgment would be rendered against him." Peo. v. Burns, 138 Cal. 159, 69 P 16, 70 P 1087, 1088, 60 LRA 270.

VIII. BANK ROBBERY[41]

[§ 242] A. Nature and Elements of Crime. In some jurisdictions there are statutes creating and punishing the offense of entering a bank or other depositary with intent to rob such institution, and doing violence therein.[42] Such statutes do not denounce the crime of robbery,[43] but create a new and distinct offense.[44] Under statutes making it an offense to enter a bank and intimidate its employees with intent to rob,[45] the felony created lies in the violence in or against the bank or other institution,[46] coupled with the intent to steal its money or property,[47] and it is not essential to the commission of the offense that there should be an actual robbery.[48]

Word "bank" as used in such a statute has been held broad enough to include an unincorporated institution.[49]

Validity of statutes. Statutes of this character have been held valid.[50]

[§ 243] B. Prosecution—1. Indictment or Information. Under statutes of this character,[51] the pleader is not remitted to the common-law definition of "robbery,"[52] and the indictment or information need not contain allegations that property was taken from the person or presence of the individual assaulted,[53] nor that it was taken by force.[54] An allegation of the intent necessary under the statute may be inferred from allegations of facts equivalent thereto.[55]

Presence of money or property. In a prosecution under a statute making it a felony to enter a bank and use violence with intent to take or carry away its money or property,[56] it need not be averred in the information that there was any money or property in the bank.[57]

Corporate capacity of bank need not be alleged[58] nor proved.[59]

---

[41] Under common law and statutes relating to robbery generally see supra §§ 12-54.

[42] See statutory provisions.

[43] Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[44] Peo. v. Quigley, supra.

[a] Illustration.—A statute providing that whoever, with the intent to commit the crime of larceny, or any felony, shall injure or wound, or shall put in fear any person for the purpose of stealing from any building, bank, safe, or other depositary of money, bonds, or other valuables, shall, whether he succeeds or fails in the perpetration of such larceny or felony, be punished, etc., does not undertake to denounce the common-law crime of robbery, but on the contrary creates a new offense. Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[45] See statutory provisions.

[46] Smith v. State, 109 Nebr. 579, 584, 191 NW 687.

[47] Smith v. State, supra.

[48] Smith v. State, supra.

"The actual securing of any money or property is not of the essence of the charge. The felony created by the statute lies in the violence of or against the bank and in the intent to steal, take or carry away." Smith v. State, supra.

[49] State v. Wagner, 202 Iowa 739, 210 NW 901.

[a] Legal existence of incorporated banking institution is not essential element of the crime of entering a bank with intent to rob, defined in Code (1924) § 13002, since "bank" or "banking association" as used in such statute includes any institution doing a general banking business within the meaning of "bank," which is an institution which receives money of others on general deposit, makes loans and discounts, deals in notes and bills of exchange, and otherwise transacts the general business of banking, in view of § 9151. State v. Wagner, 202 Iowa 739, 210 NW 901.

[50] State v. Eaton, 171 Minn. 158, 213 NW 735; State v. Colcord, 170 Minn. 504, 212 NW 894; Smith v. State, 109 Nebr. 579, 191 NW 687.

[a] Illustration.—A statute making it a felony to enter a bank in a building and do violence therein with intent to steal, take, or carry away any of its property is valid. Smith v. State, 109 Nebr. 579, 191 NW 687, 688 ("Error is assigned because . . . the law under which the prosecution proceeded is what counsel for the defense terms 'confusion's masterpiece,' and of no effect. The act is certainly a bunglesome place of English. It is as follows: 'That whoever enters any building occupied as a bank, depository or trust company and by violence or by putting in fear any person or persons in charge of or connected with said bank, depository or trust company with intent to take, steal or carry away any of the money, goods, chattels or other property belonging to or in the care, custody or control of said bank, depository or trust company shall be deemed guilty of a felony and on conviction thereof shall be confined in the state penitentiary not less than ten nor more than twenty-five years.' Comp. St. 1922, § 9622. Ill drawn as the statute is, its meaning may thus far be deduced with certainty, i. e., he who enters a bank and does violence, with intent to steal, take or carry away any money or property belonging to it or under its care or control, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. Plainly also it includes as guilty of a felony the person who enters a bank and puts in fear any person in charge thereof or therewith connected, with such intent").

[51] See supra § 242.

[52] Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[a] While retaining some elements of common-law robbery, such a statute does not remit the pleader to the common-law definition of what constitutes robbery. Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[b] Form of information held sufficient.—Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

[53] Peo. v. Quigley, supra.

"This statute does not make it necessary to charge that the property was taken from the person of the party assaulted, but only from any building, bank, safe, or other depository of money, bonds, or other valuables, and accomplished by confining, maiming, injuring, or wounding, or attempting to do so, or putting in fear any person who might interfere with the plan. Such person so put in fear or assaulted might be a patrolman on the street or a customer in the bank or one just entering or leaving the bank, provided the assault was made in the perpetration of the offense." Peo. v. Quigley, supra.

Necessity of such allegation in indictment for robbery see supra § 100.

[54] Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787.

Necessity of such allegation in indictment for robbery see supra § 105.

[55] Peo. v. Quigley, 217 Mich. 213, 185 NW 787, 788.

"It would seem that an intent to commit a larceny or the purpose of stealing from a bank sufficiently appears charged when it is charged that there was a felonious assault and as a part thereof a felonious stealing and robbery from the bank depository, and such is the law." Peo. v. Quigley, supra.

"It is said that the intent of the assault is not averred nor the purpose thereof, as required by the statute. The statute requires an intent to commit the crime of larceny, or any felony, or an assault or putting in fear for the purpose of stealing from any building, bank, safe, or other depository of money, bonds, or other valuables. An intent is therefore involved. Is such intent sufficiently charged in the information? To hold that an information charging two men with entering a bank and there feloniously assaulting the cashier and putting him in bodily fear and danger of his life, and then and there that they did, by force and violence and against the will of the cashier, feloniously rob and carry away $60,000 in money, bonds, and securities from the bank, safe, and depository, does not charge that the assault was made with intent to commit a larceny or felony, or for the purpose of stealing from the bank, would offend common sense." Peo. v. Quigley, supra.

[56] See statutory provisions.

[57] Smith v. State, 109 Nebr. 579, 191 NW 687.

[a] Reason for rule.—Since the felony created by Comp. St. (1922) § 9622 lies in the violence of or against a bank, coupled with the intent to steal, take, or carry away its property, it is not necessary to allege in the indictment that there was any money or property in the bank to be taken away. Smith v. State, 109 Nebr. 579, 191 NW 687.

[58] State v. Wagner, 202 Iowa 739, 210 NW 901.

[§ 244] 2. Evidence. General rules[60] govern as to the admissibility[61] and sufficiency[62] of evidence in prosecutions for the statutory offense of bank robbery.[63]

IX. ROBBERY WITH HOMICIDE[64]

[§ 245] A. Nature and Elements of Crime. In the Philippines, the complex and distinct crime of "robbery with homicide" consists in a robbery accompanied by a contemporaneous,[65] but not a subsequent,[66] homicide.[67]

[§ 246] B. Persons Liable. All persons present and participating in any way with guilty intent are liable for the crime of robbery with homicide.[68]

[§ 247] C. Prosecution and Punishment—1. Complaint. A complaint for robbery with homicide must charge each of the component offenses with the precision essential to a charge of them separately.[69] In accordance with general rules as to the allegation of the name of a person necessary to a description of the offense,[70] a complaint for robbery with homicide should either allege the name of the victim of the offense,[71] or, if such be the fact, contain an allegation that his name is unknown.[72]

[§ 248] 2. Issues, Proof, and Variance.[73] To convict defendant of robbery with homicide there must be proof of both of the component offenses.[74] Where defendant is charged with robbery of one person, he cannot be convicted of robbery with homicide if the evidence shows that he robbed a different person.[75]

[§ 249] 3. Conviction of Included Offense.[76] Under a complaint charging robbery with homicide, defendant may be convicted of either of the constituent simple crimes.[77]

[§ 250] 4. Evidence. General rules[78] apply with respect to weight and sufficiency of evidence.[79]

---

[59] State v. Wagner, supra.

[a] Allegation surplusage.—An allegation of the corporate capacity of a bank in an indictment for entering a bank with intent to rob, under Code (1924) § 13002, need not be proved, but may be rejected as surplusage, in view of § 13749, since such capacity is not an essential element of the crime, and the allegation was unnecessary, and the rule that the state must prove matters alleged with needless particularity of description is inapplicable. State v. Wagner, 202 Iowa 739, 210 NW 901.

[60] Admissibility see Criminal Law §§ 1034-1558.

Weight and sufficiency see Criminal Law §§ 1559-1999.

[61] See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held admissible.—(1) "The Anoka National Bank was robbed on December 8, 1925. There is evidence that four persons acting in concert participated. Some of the witnesses were permitted to say what was said and done by others than defendant at the time, and to identify one Salmey who was convicted in the Colcord case, though they did not identify the defendant. There was evidence that immediately before the robbery, on a street near the bank, Salmey and the defendant were together, and that they came out of the bank together. This evidence justified proof that Salmey was in the bank whether or not the witness identified the defendant. And what was said by any of those engaged in the joint enterprise was on familiar principles competent." State v. Eaton, 171 Minn. 158, 159, 213 NW 735. (2) "Defendants, accused of bank robbery in Minnesota, were apprehended about two months later in Louisiana. When arrested they had three guns, ammunition, nitroglycerin, dynamite caps, fuse, and other articles. Evidence of the stuff so in their possession was properly admitted." State v. Colcord, 170 Minn. 504, 212 NW 894.

[62] See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence held sufficient to support conviction.—(1) Generally. State v. Fadler, 126 Kan. 664, 271 P 283; Smith v. State, 109 Nebr. 579, 191 NW 687. (2) To show defendant's connection with, or participation in, the crime. State v. Harding, 204 Iowa 1135, 216 NW 642 (unexplained possession of money stolen from bank); State v. Eaton, 171 Minn. 158, 213 NW 735 (as against claim of alibi); Regan v. State, 116 Nebr. 723, 218 NW 737 (as against claim of alibi). (3) To show guilty knowledge of accessory after the fact. Heyen v. State, 114 Nebr. 783, 210 NW 165.

[b] Evidence held insufficient to support conviction.—State v. Wallis, (N. M.) 283 P 906 (circumstantial evidence held insufficient to show defendant's participation).

Evidence sufficient to convict of robbery of bank punished as ordinary robbery see supra § 166 text and note 95.

[63] Nature and elements of crime see supra § 242.

[64] Homicide committed in course of robbery see Homicide § 70 text and note 68.

[65] U. S. v. Palmadres, 7 Philippine 120.

[66] U. S. v. Palmadres, supra.

[67] Rule in robbery with rape see infra § 252.

[68] U. S. v. Santos, 4 Philippine 189.

[a] No material part in actual murder.—"When, as in the present case, the purpose of the crime is robbery, and when in order to consummate the same defendants prepared themselves and arranged for the commission of the crime, beginning with the killing of the victim and ending with the stealing of his effects, thus accomplishing their purpose, all are to be considered principals who, by common consent, resolve upon the commission of the robbery and take part therein intentionally and by overt acts, accompanying the one who does the actual act to the place of the crime and coöperate in the consummation of same, and, finally, taking part in the distribution of the stolen property. They are therefore liable as principals for all the consequences of the punishable acts committed, whether they took any material part in the murder or not." U. S. v. Santos, 4 Philippine 189, 193.

[69] U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, 38 Philippine 330, 334.

[a] Complaint held sufficient.—U. S. v. Alabot, 38 Philippine 698.

[70] See Indictments and Informations § 272.

[71] U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, 38 Philippine 330, 334.

[72] U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, supra.

"From the fact that the name of the injured person may, in case of necessity, be alleged as unknown it should not be inferred that the naming of such person, when known, is of no importance. Where the name of the injured party is necessary as matter of essential description of the crime charged, the complaint must invest such person with individuality by either naming him or alleging that his name is unknown." U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, supra.

[73] Generally see Indictments and Informations §§ 438-481.

[74] U. S. v. Paddit, 1 Philippine 426.

[a] Rule applied.—Where the information charges the complex crime of robbery with homicide, the proof must show beyond a reasonable doubt that a robbery was committed, proof of a homicide alone not being sufficient to support a conviction for this offense. U. S. v. Paddit, 1 Philippine 426.

[75] U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, 38 Philippine 330.

[76] Generally see Indictments and Informations §§ 482-530.

[77] U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, 38 Philippine 330, 334; U. S. v. Paddit, 1 Philippine 426.

"Where a complex crime is charged and the evidence fails to support the charge as to one of the component offenses the defendant can be convicted of the other." U. S. v. Lahoylahoy, supra.

[78] See Criminal Law §§ 1559-1999.

[§ 251] 5. Punishment. Imposition of the death penalty[80] is justified where the crime is committed at night in the dwelling of the victim.[81] But the death sentence may be reduced to life imprisonment where it appears that the country was in an unsettled condition when the crime was committed and that defendant was a native,[82] or where it appears that there was a homicide but no robbery.[83]

X. ROBBERY WITH RAPE

[§ 252] A. Nature and Elements of Crime. In the Philippines, the complex crime of robbery with rape consists in robbery accompanied by rape committed on the occasion of the robbery.[84] It is not necessary to show that the rape was committed prior to,[85] or simultaneously with,[86] the robbery.[87]

En cuadrilla.[88] Commission of robbery in a band does not constitute the crime of robo en cuadrilla if on the occasion of the robbery there is also a rape, as this latter fact changes the offense to the complex crime of robbery with rape.[89]

[§ 253] B. Persons Liable. All persons taking part in the commission of the complex crime of robbery with rape are identically liable therefor.[90] Defendants participating in the component robbery but not in the component rape are nevertheless liable for the complex crime of robbery with rape,[91] especially where such defendants, although aware of the circumstances, make neither remonstrance nor material opposition to the rape.[92]

[§ 254] C. Prosecution and Punishment. General rules[93] govern as to weight and sufficiency of evidence.[94] Aggravating circumstances include nocturnity,[95] and commission of the offense in the dwelling of the offended parties,[96] and in an isolated part of the country.[97]

ROCHDALE SYSTEM. A general term appropriate to any kind of business, store, or other, where the coöperative method[1] is pursued.[2]

ROCHESTER TONIC.[3]

ROCK. [§ 1] A. In General. A somewhat indefinite word or term.[4]

[§ 2] B. As Noun.[5] A large concrete mass of stony material;[6] a large mass of stony matter.[7] In

---

79. See cases infra this note.

[a] Evidence sufficient (1) to require conviction of "robbery, with homicide" instead of simple "homicide." U. S. v. Santa Maria, 4 Philippine 635. (2) To support conviction of robbery with homicide committed en cuadrilla and as direct participant. U. S. v. Matinong, 22 Philippine 439.

80. See statutory provisions.

81. U. S. v. Fernandez, 11 Philippine 133.

82. U. S. v. Santa Maria, 4 Philippine 635, 637.

83. U. S. v. Paddit, 1 Philippine 426, 427.

"If the charge had been murder (asesinato) the evidence would have been entirely sufficient to sustain the charge as qualified by alevosia, with the aggravating circumstances of nocturnity, and the sentence of the court to the death penalty might have been sustained, but the charge is for robbery resulting in homicide. After a careful consideration of the testimony we are inclined to believe that the offense of robbery has not been proven beyond a reasonable doubt. No witness saw the taking of the package by the defendants and none of the property has been found in their possession. The property was hidden two weeks before the occurrence; there was no evidence as to the manner in which it was hidden nor whether it remained at the place or was seen there at any time from the time it was placed there two weeks previous to the time of its disappearance." U. S. v. Paddit, supra.

84. U. S. v. Tiongco, 37 Philippine 951.

[a] Robbery in house followed by subsequent rape of two residents of the house taken outdoors and raped on the occasion of the robbery constitutes the complex crime of robbery with rape. U. S. v. Tiongco, 37 Philippine 951.

85. U. S. v. Tiongco, supra.

86. U. S. v. Tiongco, supra.

87. Rule in robbery with homicide see supra § 245.

88. "Robo en cuadrilla" defined see supra § 9.

89. Peo. v. Bretana, 49 Philippine 444, 449.

90. U. S. v. Tiongco, 37 Philippine 951.

91. U. S. v. Tiongco, supra.

92. Peo. v. Bretana, 49 Philippine 444; U. S. v. Tiongco, 37 Philippine 951.

93. See Criminal Law §§ 1559-1999.

94. See case infra this note.

[a] Evidence sufficient to support conviction as against claim of alibi. Peo. v. Bretana, 49 Philippine 444.

95. Peo. v. Bretana, supra; U. S. v. Tiongco, 37 Philippine 951.

96. Peo. v. Tiongco, supra.

97. Peo. v. Bretana, 49 Philippine 444, 450; U. S. v. Tiongco, 37 Philippine 951.

"In the application of the penalty there should be taken into consideration the aggravating circumstances of nocturnity and the fact that it was committed in an uninhabited place, and in band, the last not being a qualifying circumstance of robbery with rape, on account of said complex crime not being included in the provision of article 504 of the same Code, the same not being offset by any mitigating circumstance; wherefore the penalty provided by law must be imposed in its maximum decree, or cadena perpetua." Peo. v. Bretana, supra.

1. See Coöperative 13 C. J. p 932.

2. Warren Co. Co-op. Assoc. v. Boyd, 171 N. C. 184, 88 SE 153, 155.

[a] "The name was taken from the city of Rochdale, Lancaster, England, said to be the birthplace of the co-operative movement as a system of conducting business." Warren Co. Co-Op. Ass'n v. Boyd, 171 N. C. 184, 88 SE 153, 155 [cit Encyclopædia Brit.].

3. See Beer 7 C. J. p 1924 note 49 [f].

4. Chapman v. Lepotsky, 23 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 90, 92.

5. Rock:

As deadly weapon see Homicide § 74 text and note 98.

As instrument see Instrument 32 C. J. p 945 note 63 [b].

Crushing and grinding see Manufactures § 55 note 90 [a].

Flint see Solid [36 Cyc 511].

Solid [36 Cyc 511].

6. Webster D. [quot Okey v. Moyers, 117 Iowa 514, 515, 91 NW 771].

7. Webster D. [quot Chapman v. Lepotsky, 23 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 90, 92].

[a] "Stone weighing two pounds cannot properly be styled a 'rock.'" State v. Seamons, 1 Greene (Iowa) 418, 420.

*By CHARLES REZNIKOFF (Rochdale System— Rotary inclusive).

geology, a comprehensive word,[8] any natural deposit or portion of the earth's crust, whatever be its hardness or softness;[9] every layer which forms a portion of the solid crust of the earth.[10] In its popular acceptation, only the solid portions of the earth;[11] the stony matter of the earth's crust;[12] the stratum or formation of stone or other fixed hard material underlying and supporting the loose material of which the surface of the earth is ordinarily composed.[13] In ordinary language, the stony matter which constitutes the earth's crust as distinguished from clay, gravel, sand, peat, etc.[14] Technically, "rock" is a mixture of mineral substances, except when it is one species, in a bed or mass;[15] a mass of material matter composed of one or more, usually of several, kinds of minerals, having as a rule no definite external form, and liable to vary considerably in chemical composition.[16] The word includes both stratified and loose rock.[17]

[§ 3] C. As Adjective, the term may be employed.[18]

Rock excavation.[19] The excavation of all the diverse qualities of what is properly called "rock," encountered in the progress of the work.[20]

Rock work.[21] In engineering parlance, a flexible term,[22] applied to loose or solid rock.[23] However, the term is not usually applied to stones of smaller dimension than a cubic yard.[24]

Other phrases: "Rock crystal,"[25] "rock formation,"[26] "rock in place,"[27] and "rock oil."[28]

ROD.[29]

RODEO BOUNDARIES.[30]

ROGATIONES, QUÆSTIONES, ET POSITIONES DEBENT ESSE SIMPLICES.[31]

ROGATIO TESTIUM. In the case of a nuncupative will, a formal calling of witnesses to bear witness.[32]

ROGATORY.[33]

ROGUE.[34] A French word which in that language signifies proud, arrogant.[35] In English criminal law, an idle and disorderly person; a trickster; a wandering beggar; a vagrant or vagabond.[36] In some of the ancient English statutes "rogue" means an idle, sturdy beggar.[37]

Phrase: "Rogue and vagabond."[38]

ROGUES' GALLERY.[39] A collection of portraits of persons arrested as rogues or criminals, for the use of the police.[40]

ROISTERER. Various definitions of the word are

---

8. U. S. v. Cooke, 207 Fed. 682, 686.

9. Webster D. [quot Chapman v. Lepotsky, 23 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 90, 92].

10. Okey v. Moyers, 117 Iowa 514, 515, 91 NW 771.

11. Okey v. Moyers, supra.

12. Webster D. [quot Chapman v. Lepotsky, 23 Oh. Cir. Ct. N. S. 90, 92].

13. Okey v. Moyers, 117 Iowa 514, 515, 91 NW 771.

[a] Soapstone included.—Okey v. Moyers, 117 Iowa 514, 515, 91 NW 771 ("it would seem such formation was within definition of the court"). "Soapstone" [36 Cyc 499].

14. Encyclopedic D. [quot Chicago v. Duffy, 117 Ill. A. 261, 277].

[a] Shale included in term as used in the phrase "as 'rock' is generally used." Schlitz v. Akers, (Cal.) 292 P 463, 464.

[b] "Oil field parlance."—"A petroleum engineer . . . testified that technically the term 'rock' includes 'shale or stone,' but in 'oil field parlance' the term refers to hard formations, usually in large bodies, as, for instance, 'granite;' and further, that 'shale is not considered rock by oil people.'" Schlitz v. Akers, (Cal.) 292 P 463, 464.

15. Standard D. [quot Okey v. Moyers, 117 Iowa 514, 515, 91 NW 771].

16. Encyclopædia Brit. [quot Okey v. Moyers, supra].

[a] Constituents of rock are mineral, although they may be organic in origin. Standard D. [quot Okey v. Moyers, 117 Iowa 514, 515, 91 NW 771].

17. Mills v. Continental Bag, etc., Co., 15 OntWN 131, 132 ("according to the dictionaries").

[a] Boulders included, as distinguished "from stones or small boulders such as were buried." Mills v. Continental Bag, etc., Co., 15 OntWN 131, 132.

"Boulder" see 9 C. J. p 143.

18. See cases infra notes 19–24.

19. See Rock Work infra text and notes 22–24.

20. Drhew v. Altoona City, 121 Pa. 401, 421, 15 A 636, 639 [quot Mills v. Continental Bag, etc., Co., 15 OntWN 131, 132].

[a] Applies to all rock tunnel and tunnel in mixed earth and rock. Chicago v. McKechney, 205 Ill. 372, 452, 68 NE 954, 982. See Rock Work infra text and notes 22–24.

21. See Rock Excavation supra text and note 19.

22. Urbana Constr. Co. v. Webster County, etc., Joint Drain. Dist., 169 Iowa 351, 151 NW 385.

23. Urbana Constr. Co. v. Webster County, etc., Joint Drain. Dist., supra.

24. Urbana Constr. Co. v. Webster County, etc., Joint Drain Dist., supra.

25. See Precious Stone 49 C. J. p 1320 note 51 [g].

26. Schlitz v. Akers, (Cal.) 292 P 463, 464 (includes shale).

"Formation" 26 C. J. p 983.

27. U. S. v. Cooke, 207 Fed. 682, 686 (in construction contract, "a far more restricted meaning" than "rock," and includes neither hardpan nor cement gravel).

"In place" see Mines and Minerals § 39.

28. See Petroleum 48 C. J. p 1053; Mines and Minerals § 12.

[a] Kerosene is a rock oil. Buchanan v. Exchange F. Ins. Co., 61 N. Y. 26, 29. "Kerosene" 35 C. J. p 900.

29. As deadly weapon see Homicide § 74 text and note 97.

"Brake rod" 9 C. J. p 318.

"Bridle rods" 9 C. J. p 499.

30. See Boundaries § 199 note 18 [a].

31. A maxim meaning "Demands, questions, and answers ought to be simple." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Hob. p 143].

32. Godfrey v. Smith, 73 Nebr. 756, 766, 103 NW 450. See Wills [40 Cyc 1137].

33. Letters rogatory see Depositions § 1 text and note 16; § 137.

34. See Rogues' Gallery post; Vagrancy [39 Cyc 1108].

As epithet see Libel and Slander § 138.

35. Bouvier L. D.

36. Black L. D. [cit 4 Blackstone Comm. p 169].

"Beggar" 7 C. J. p 1030.

"Disorderly person" 18 C. J. p 1277.

"Vagabond" [39 Cyc 1107].

"Vagrant" see Vagrancy [39 Cyc 1108].

37. Bouvier L. D.

[a] Tinkers or peddlers who traveled up and down the country and were rogues. Cockaine v. Hopkins, 2 Lev. 214, 83 Reprint 525.

38. Hawke v. Hulton, [1909] 2 K. B. 93 (construing the Lotteries Act of 1823 "wholly inappropriate," as applied to a limited company).

39. "Rogue" ante.

40. Webster New Int. D. See Mabry v. Kettering, 92 Ark. 81, 84, 122 SW 115; Schulman v. Whitaker, 115 La. 628, 630, 39 S 737 (causing physical measurements and photographs to be taken and placed in the rogues' gallery is one of the well recognized methods adopted by all police authorities in large cities for pre-given in the dictionaries, all unfavorable.[41]

ROLL. [§ 1] A. As Noun.[42] Strictly and technically, a schedule of parchment, which may be turned up with the hand in the form of a pipe or tube, sheet to sheet, tacked together in such manner that the whole length might be wound up together in the form of spiral rolls.[43]

Rolls. The record or memorials of the judges of the courts of record.[44]

Rolls of citizenship. In a statute relating to Indians, "the last authenticated rolls of each tribe which have been approved by the council of the nations, and the descendants of those appearing on such rolls" and certain others specified who have been lawfully added to the rolls.[45]

[§ 2] B. As Verb.[46] To revolve by turning over;[47] to press or level.[48]

In police circles commonly understood as meaning to rob.[49]

Rolled-up plea. In the English authorities the name applied to a defense to an action of libel.[50]

Rolling. Moving or acting like one who, or that which rolls; having a turnover.[51] Phrases in which "rolling" has been employed are: "Due rolling,"[52] "parallel rolling,"[53] "rolling credit,"[54] "rolling [sale] while in transit,"[55] "rolling stock,"[56] and "rolling store."[57]

[§ 3] C. As Adjective, the word may be employed.[58]

Roll machine. A machine used in woolen manufacturing.[59]

ROLLER.[60]

ROLLER MILL.[61]

ROLLING STOCK.[62] A definite and precise term, as to the scope of which there can be no misunder-venting and suppressing crime). See also Arrest § 73; Criminal Law § 1104.

41. State v. Smith, 125 N. C. 615, 626, 34 SE 235.

"There are no harmless roisterers. That species of roisterer, if it ever existed, became extinct before the dawn of history." State v. Smith, supra (per Douglass, J., concurring).

[a] From the old French "rusterer," meaning "ruffian." State v. Smith, 125 N. C. 615, 626, 34 SE 235 [cit Century D.].

42. Roll:
Assessment see 5 C. J. p 821; Municipal Corporations §§ 3140–3143; Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 1022]; Taxation [37 Cyc 1046].
Judgment see Judgments §§ 223–239.
Of tribal membership see Indians §§ 30, 31.
"Phony roll" 48 C. J. p 1055.

43. Bouvier L. D. [quot Colman v. Shattuck, 2 Hun (N. Y.) 497, 502].

44. McCahill v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 26 N. J. Eq. 531, 536 [quot 1 Coke Inst. p 260].

45. Act June 7, 1897 (U. S. St. at L. c 3). See U. S. v. Wildcat, 244 U. S. 111, 37 SCt 561, 563, 61 L. ed. 1024; Rowe v. Sartain, (Okl.) 230 P 919, 921; Halsell v. Beartail, (Okl.) 227 P 392, 394.

46. "To play" synonymous see Indictments and Informations § 181 note 30 [a] (2).

47. Webster New Int. D.

48. Webster New Int. D.

"Cold-rolled" 11 C. J. p 958.

49. Lasecki v. State, 190 Wis. 274, 208 NW 868, 869.

50. Comment and criticism see Libel and Slander §§ 276–294, 376.

[a] Speaking of pleas of justification and fair comment (1) Scrutton, L. J., said: "Unfortunately some years ago the two pleas were apparently rolled into one, and since then there has been much difference of opinion in the Court of Appeal whether that rolled up plea was a plea of justification coupled with a plea of fair comment, or was a plea of fair comment only." Agar Khan v. Times Pub. Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 675, 682 [quot Foley v. Press Pub. Co., 226 App. Div. 535, 235 NYS 340, 350]. (2) Since decided, however, to be a plea of fair comment only. The term, "rolled-up" plea is a misnomer based on a misconception of the plea; "it has been sometimes treated as containing two separate defenses rolled into one, but it in fact raises only one defense, that being the defense of fair comment or matter of public trust. The averment that the facts were truly stated is merely to lay the necessary basis for the defense on the ground of fair comment. This averment is quite different from a plea of justification of a libel on the ground of truth, under which the defendant has to prove not only that the facts are truly stated but also that any comments upon them are correct." Sutherland v. Stopes, [1925] A. C. 47, 62, 63 (per Viscount Finlay) [quot Foley v. Press Pub. Co., supra, and foll Barnes v. Sykes, (Man.) [1926] 3 WestWkly 476, 1926 Can. Ann. Dig. 242]. See Riddell, J. A., in Boys v. Star Printing, etc., Co., 60 Ont. L. 592, 600, [1927] 3 DomLR 847 ("there is a well settled form of plea of fair comment which in my generation at the Bar was in this province called the 'double plea' and more recently from its use in the leading cases of Sutherland v. Stopes, [1925] A. C. 47, the 'rolled up plea.' ").

[b] Form.—"That all the facts stated in the alleged libel are true, that there remains in the libel over and above all statements of fact certain expressions of opinion, which standing alone would be libellous but that those expressions of opinion when related to the facts were fair comment, and that, therefore, the expression of opinion was as fully justified as the statement of fact. That this plea is difficult of interpretation and even more difficult of application to specific situations is apparent upon a rendition of the English authorities." Foley v. Press Pub. Co., 226 App. Div. 535, 235 NYS 340, 350.

51. Webster New Int. D.

52. Witherow Steel Corp. v. Donner Steel Co., 31 F. (2d) 157, 160 (in the manufacture of automobile axles or shafts, "any rolling in which there is a variation in the contour of at least one of the two grooves of the rolls. In die rolling a round bar, uniform grooves are graved or cut into the periphery of the roll or rolls, one ordinarily disposed above the other in their operations").

53. Witherow Steel Corp. v. Donner Steel Co., supra (in the manufacture of automobile axles or shafts, "a known method of rolling a hot metal bar of uniform cross-sectional size and form between a pair of smooth or grooved rolls for reducing its thickness and altering its shape").

54. Tobler v. Willis, 59 Tex. 80, 85, 86 ("the meaning of the term 'rolling credit for three years,' within a given amount, according to the mercantile usages of trade in Galveston, is that where purchases are made on sixty days' time, from time to time, under 'a credit for' three years for $3000, that the purchaser would not have the right to continue to purchase up to the given amount, unless upon paying the overdue accounts; but that the vendor would have the right to refuse further sales upon default of purchaser to pay overdue accounts promptly, notwithstanding the stipulation for 'rolling credit for three years up to a given amount' ").

55. Vaccaro v. Farris, 92 W. Va. 655, 115 SE 830, 832 (sale of a carload of bananas).

56. See Rolling Stock post.

57. See Rolling Store post.

58. See Elliott v. Secor, 60 Mo. 163, 164.

59. Elliott v. Secor, supra ("according to . . . men of experience in woolen manufacturing, a 'set of carding machines,' includes three pieces, one 'first breaker,' one finisher and a condensor. A 'roll machine' consists of one first breaker and a finisher. The latter is chiefly used for making custom rolls, and is generally called a first breaker and finisher, and sometimes called a roll machine").

60. See Dead Roller 17 C. J. p 1153.

61. See Mills § 12.

62. Rolling stock:
As equipment see Railroads §§ 481, 979–1005; Street Railroads [36 Cyc 1457].
As personal property see Property § 36 text and note 53.
Included in:
  "Equipment" 20 C. J. p 1301.
  "Railroad" see Railroads § 1.
Not included in:
  "Appendage" 4 C. J. p 1374 note 13 [d].
  "Appurtenances" see Railroads § 673 text and note 9.
  "Local property" see Local 38 C. J. p 129.
Liability for condition of see Carriers §§ 89–99, 1377, 1378; Master and Servant §§ 495–504.
Mortgage of see Railroads §§ 668, 681.

standing,[63] embracing the movable property belonging to a railroad.[64] The term implies the reverse of annexation and a permanent fixture.[65]

Phrases: "Railroad or street railway stock,"[66] and "rolling stock, plant and appliances."[67]

ROLLING STORE. By statute, a store on a truck or motor vehicle carrying stocks of groceries or other goods and selling the same to the public.[68]

ROLL-SET. A term employed in the manufacture of automobile axles or shafts, which "implies spacing and adjustment of the rolls to enable the exuding metal fin, overfill, or flash to spread sidewise of the groove."[69]

ROMAN ADOPTION.[70]

ROMAN CATHOLIC.[71] A Christian who admits the authority of the pope.[72]

ROMAN CENSUS. A numbering of the people with a valuation of their fortunes.[73]

ROMAN LAW.[74] In a general sense, comprehends all the laws which prevailed among the Romans, without regard to the time of their origin, including the collections of Justinian, now generally denominated the civil law.[75]

RONDO.[76]

ROOF.[77] The cover of a building.[78]

Adjectively, as in "roof garden."[79]

ROOFING. The material for a roof.[80]

ROOM.[81] A familiar word,[82] not without some considerable varieties of meaning.[83] It has been

---

Synonymous with "rolling plant" see Plant 48 C. J. p 1220 note 31.
Taxation of see Commerce § 133; Taxation [37 Cyc 845].

[63] San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Stockton, 149 Cal. 83, 84 P 771, 774.

[64] Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Weber, 96 Ill. 443, 448; Great Northern R. Co. v. Flathead County, 61 Mont. 263, 202 P 198, 200.

[a] It comprises "such property as in its ordinary use is taken from one part of the line to another, such as cars, locomotives, and their attachments and usual accompaniments." Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Weber, 96 Ill. 443, 448 [quot Great Northern R. Co. v. Flathead County, 61 Mont. 263, 202 P 198, 200].

[b] Includes: (1) A narrow gauge locomotive used in moving operations. Black Diamond Coal Mining Co. v. Glover Mach. Works, 212 Ala. 654, 103 S 853. (2) Locomotives, flat cars, box cars, logging trucks, hand cars, push cars, coaches, cabooses, and coal cars may be denominated "rolling stock" of a railroad. Flanagan Bank v. Graham, 42 Or. 403, 71 P 137, 141.

[c] Of street railroads, their rolling stock embraces "cars fully equipped for the transportation of passengers or of freight, so far as they are permitted to transport merchandise." Lorain Steel Co. v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 187 Mass. 500, 73 NE 646, 648. In general see Street Railroads [36 Cyc 1338].

[65] Beardsley v. Ontario Bank, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 619, 635.

[66] Lorain Steel Co. v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 187 Mass. 500, 73 NE 646, 648.

[67] Per Osler, J. A., in Toronto R. Co. v. Toronto, 6 Ont. L. 187, 193 (construing the statute, "the general words plant and appliances, which follow the particular specific term 'rolling stock' ought in my opinion to be read as restricted to the same genus as the latter, the whole having the meaning of rolling stock, rolling plant and appliances, such as tools in connection with or belonging to such stock").

[68] Acts (1923) c 75 § 4 [Hill Co. v. Whitice, 149 Tenn. 168, 258 SW 407].

[a] Description of "rolling store."—"It is a miniature store, stocked with all kinds of merchandise usually carried in a grocery store, placed on an automobile truck, so that the store can be moved from house to house, and the merchandise sold therefrom the same as it would be sold from a store at a fixed location. The vehicle in question is about 16 feet long by 6 feet wide, and has an aisle down the center for the use of the customers. The scheme of the business is to give purchasers cash and carry prices at their doors." Erwin v. Omaha, 118 Nebr. 331, 224 NW 692, 693.

[b] In category of "peddling."—Erwin v. Omaha, 118 Nebr. 331, 224 NW 692, 694. "Peddle" 48 C. J. p 778.

[c] "Traveling store" synonymous.—See Acts (1923) c 75 § 4 [quot Hill Co. v. Whitice, 149 Tenn. 168, 258 SW 407].

[69] Witherow Steel Corp. v. Donner Steel Co., 31 F. (2d) 157, 161.

[70] See Adoption § 2.

[71] Roman catholic:
Charities § 27.
Distinguished from:
  "Catholic" 11 C. J. p 33.
  "Protestant" 50 C. J. p 825.
Education see Parent and Child § 7; Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 820, 1126].
Exemption of property see Municipal Corporations § 2907; Taxation [37 Cyc 940].
Religious Societies 54 C. J. p 1 et seq.

[72] Hale v. Everett, 53 N. H. 9, 55, 16 AmR 82.

[73] Williams' Case, 3 Bland (Md.) 186, 246.

[a] Nature of census.—"Although said to have been made every five years, was not always taken at certain intervals; and was sometimes omitted altogether. It does not, however, appear to have been, in fact, an enumeration of all the inhabitants, but was merely a numbering and classing of the citizens of Rome, and of the colonial cities, and, being commensurate with property, power, and taxation, seems to have been, in many respects, more like what, in Maryland, is called an assessment law for the valuation of real and personal property for the purpose of taxing it, than such a census as is directed to be taken by the Constitution of the United States." Williams' Case, 3 Bland (Md.) 186, 246 [cit Adams Rom. Ant. pp 89, 134; Gibbons Decline and Fall of Rome cc 2, 6, 17; Niebuhr Hist. Rome pp 340, 347].

[74] Cross references:
Civil Law 11 C. J. p 795.
Law 36 C. J. p 957.
Modern Civil Law 40 C. J. p 1235.
Roman codes see Code §§ 2–7.

[75] Burrill L. D.

[76] See Gaming § 31.

[77] Roof:
As used in federal Safety Appliance Act see Master and Servant § 503 note 57.
"Board" 8 C. J. p 1130 note 90 [a].
Demise of see Landlord and Tenant § 631.
Landlord's liability for condition of see Landlord and Tenant §§ 898, 927.

[78] Webster New Int. D. See Candia v. Rubin, 209 App. Div. 357, 204 NYS 590 (construing in a lease, by "roof" only the upper covering of the building intended and not machinery upon it, such as the water tank and pumping system).

[79] U. S. v. Broadmoor Hotel Co., 30 F. (2d) 440, 441 ("any public performance for profit at any roof garden, cabaret, or other similar entertainment" in a revenue act "imports something more than the furnishing by the hotel of attractive and agreeable surroundings and music by an orchestra").

[80] Sylvania v. Hilton, 123 Ga. 754, 760, 51 SE 744, 746, 107 AmSR 162, 2 LRANS 483.

[81] Room:
Distinguished from:
  "Apartment" (of room in rooming house) see Rooming House post.
  "Floor" 26 C. J. p 742 note 98 [a].
  "House" 30 C. J. p 472 note 51 [a].
Gaming § 85.
Included in "Building" 9 C. J. p 683 note 70 [j].
Lease of see Landlord and Tenant §§ 631 note 43 [c], 636 note 27 [a].
Mining term see Mines and Minerals § 93.
Place § 1 text and note 72.
Pool see Disorderly Houses § 26; Gaming § 89.
Private residence see Private § 2 note 98 [a].
Public place see Gaming § 92.
Store [36 Cyc 1330].
Synonymous with:
  "Apartment" 3 C. J. p 250.
  "Chamber" 11 C. J. p 227.
  "House" 30 C. J. p 472 text and note 51.
  "Loft" 38 C. J. p 137.
Waiting [40 Cyc 251].
Whole [40 Cyc 929 note 71].

[82] Daniels v. Hudson River F. Ins. Co., 12 Cush. (Mass.) 416, 427, 429, 59 AmD 192.

[83] Daniels v. Hudson River F. Ins. Co., supra.

"Suppose one, in offering a house to be sold or let, should represent that there is a fireplace in every room. Suppose there is a cellar, or an attic, with or without windows, are they rooms? Or suppose a large apart-defined as a single inclosure, separated by partitions or other means from the other parts of a building;[84] a subdivision of a building,[85] or the building itself where the structure contains but one room;[86] space in a building marked off or set apart by a partition;[87] space which has been set apart or appropriated to any purpose.[88] In its broad sense, any space or apartment separated from others by partitions;[89] and in this sense it would include a mere closet,[90] or any small apartment thus separated.[91] "Room" may include a rear porch,[92] but it has been held not to include sleeping quarters in a store, screened from the gaze of customers.[93] The word may apply as truly to a place of great privacy as to a place of public resort.[94]

Phrases: "Room in the dwelling house,"[95] and "room or rooms;"[96] also "building of five rooms,"[97] and "rooms of a dwelling house."[98]

ROOM-AND-PILLAR SYSTEM. In mining parlance, a term synonymous with "pillar-and-stall system."[99]

ROOMER. A lodger.[1]

ROOMING HOUSE.[2] Formulating a definition of "rooming house" has been said to be a dangerous, if not impossible task.[3] However, it has been defined as merely a house or building where there are one or more bedrooms which the proprietor can spare for the purpose of giving lodgings to such persons as he chooses to receive;[4] usually a house where bedment into which the front door opens, used for the double purpose of an entry, and for a sitting room in warm weather, and furnished for that purpose, is it a room within the representation that there is a fireplace in it? Or suppose above stairs, one or more small apartments, capable of being used as a closet or clothes-press, or for a bedroom; would the representation be falsified by showing that either of these divisions of the house had no fireplace in it?" Daniels v. Hudson River F. Ins. Co., supra.

84. State v. Barge, 82 Minn. 256, 260, 84 NW 911, 53 LRA 428.

85. Peo. v. Keller, 96 Misc. 92, 161 NYS 132, 135.

86. Peo. v. Keller, supra.

87. Webster D. [quot Bentley v. Taylor, 81 Iowa 306, 308, 47 NW 58].

88. Webster D. [quot Bentley v. Taylor, supra].

89. Crosby v. Montgomery, 108 Ala. 498, 503, 18 S 723, 726.

90. Crosby v. Montgomery, supra. But see infra text and note 97.

91. Crosby v. Montgomery, supra.

92. Jetsinger v. London Guarantee, etc., Co., 210 Ill. A. 308, 310.

93. Strell v. Zisman, (N. J. Ch.) 136 A 801.

94. Grom v. Peo., 135 Ill. A. 453, 456.

95. White v. White, 16 N. J. L. 202, 31 AmD 232 (a devise of real property so as to bar the wife's right of dower should she neglect to decline the devise within six months after probate, as provided by the New Jersey statute). Election by widow see Wills [40 Cyc 1963].

96. Peo. v. Lupton, 52 Misc. 336, 103 NYS 172, 173 (construing a statute forbidding an open or unlocked door to the "room or rooms" where any liquors are sold or kept for sale during the hours when the sale of liquors is forbidden, the phrase refers to the room or rooms in which liquors are sold or kept for sale, and not to any adjoining room).

97. Crosby v. Montgomery, 108 Ala. 498, 18 S 723, 726 (construing an ordinance fixing water rates the phrase does not include any small apartments prepared and adapted for use as mere pantries, water-closets or bathrooms, but a kitchen would be included. "The use to which it [an apartment] may be applied, alone, will not determine its character. A room comfortable for sleeping purposes might be applied solely to use as a bathroom or pantry. Such use would not destroy its character as a room of the dwelling house, within the meaning of the ordinance. Nor is it any the less a room of the dwelling, if it is permitted to remain vacant and unused for any purpose"). Water-rents and charges see Waters [40 Cyc 796].

98. Crosby v. Montgomery, 108 Ala. 498, 503, 18 S 723 (includes those apartments which are adapted, with more or less convenience, to personal occupation).

99. Marquette Cement Min. Co. v. Oglesby Coal Co., 253 Fed. 107, 109 ("the room-and-pillar or pillar-and-stall system, by the advancing and not the retreating plan").

"Pillar-and-Stall System" 48 C. J. p 1181.

[a] In mining limestone cement, the system is described as one that consists in beginning at the mine opening, cutting tunnels or entries in the limestone ledge, and taking off rooms from them, leaving a limestone roof of varying thickness, theoretically sufficient to sustain the overburden when pillars of sufficient size are allowed to remain. Marquette Cement Min. Co. v. Oglesby Coal Co., 253 Fed. 107, 109.

Subjacent support see Mines and Minerals §§ 923–942.

1. Webster New Int. D. See also Lodger 38 C. J. p 136; Rooming House post.

[a] One renting and living in apartment, although in a hotel, is not a roomer, within the meaning of a statute providing that for the purpose of an innkeeper's lien, "hotel" shall include inn, rooming house, and eating house. Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 205 Iowa 736, 218 NW 510, 511, 56 ALR 1098.

"Guest" see Innkeepers § 9.

"Tenant" see Landlord and Tenant § 1 note 2 [a].

2. "Common Lodging House" 12 C. J. p 204.

"Lodging House" 38 C. J. p 137.

3. Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 205 Iowa 736, 218 NW 510, 512, 56 ALR 1098.

[a] New term "because the existence of such places is recent." Independence v. Richardson, 117 Kan. 656, 232 P 1044, 1046.

4. Independence v. Richardson, supra.

[a] Not public place "to which any well-behaved person of means can go and demand lodgings as a matter of right, as he can do at a hotel." Independence v. Richardson, 117 Kan. 656, 232 P 1044, 1046.

[b] Building operated for several purposes.—"The same building may undoubtedly be operated as an inn and rooming house, eating house, and apartment house as a single institution and under the same management." Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 205 Iowa 736, 218 NW 510, 511, 56 ALR 1098.

[c] "Apartment house" distinguished.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 205 Iowa 736, 218 NW 510, 512, 56 ALR 1098 ("a well understood difference recognized by the statutes"). "Apartment house" see Apartment 3 C. J. p 250.

[d] "Apartment" distinguished from room in rooming house.—There is a well understood difference, recognized by the statutes. "It is not ordinarily expected that housekeeping, light or heavy, or the preparation or enjoyment of meals, will take place . . . [in a rooming house], or that the room will be used to any considerable extent as a sitting room. An apartment . . . is usually looked upon as a home. It may consist of a single main room, but its own term implies that housekeeping, including necessary accumulation and preparation of food and cooking will be conducted there. It is frequently provided with separate or common laundry facilities and usually with separate accommodations for toilet and bathing. The room in a rooming house is usually in the immediate possession (when the occupant is not there), and dependent on the care of the proprietor. The apartment may be furnished with maid service, but it is understood to be in exclusive occupancy and use of the tenant as a sitting room and a home and for household purposes as well as for sleeping purposes." Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 205 Iowa 736, 218 NW 510, 512, 56 ALR 1098. See also infra this note [f]. "Apartment" 3 C. J. p 250.

[e] "Boarding house" distinguished.—"The only material difference between a boarding house and a rooming house is that a boarding house furnishes meals." Independence v. Richardson, 117 Kan. 656, 232 P 1044. "Boarding house" 8 C. J. p 1132.

[f] Keeping of rooming house and proprietor of apartment house distinguished.—Although technically distinguishing between them is "a dangerous, if not impossible, task," "generally speaking . . . the rooming house proprietor furnishes bedrooms or sleeping accommodations used principally as a place to rest, sleep, for toilet and dressing." Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 205 Iowa 736, 218 NW 510, 511, rooms as such are furnished.[5] By statute, the word may be included in "hotel."[6]

ROOSTER. In logging parlance, the connecting appliance between the tender of the engine and the first car of a logging train.[7]

ROOT.[8] Popularly, any subterranean part of a plant.[9]

Phrase: "From the grass roots down."[10]

Adjectively used, as in "root beer."[11]

ROOT BEER. A drink containing the extracted (not expressed) juices of various roots, as of dock, dandelion, sarsaparilla, and sassafras.[12]

ROPE.[13] A construction of wire or of twisted fibers, as of hemp, cotton, flax, or jute, so intertwined as to form a thick cord capable of sustaining a severe strain.[14]

Adjectively used as in "rope maker,"[15] and "rope making."[16]

ROSARY. An article used by Roman catholics in counting their prayers,[17] carried in a pocket when not so used, and never used for ornament,[18] composed of beads, a metal chain, and a cross, the beads fastened on the chain at regular intervals.[19] It is not complete without a cross.[20]

Phrase: "Rosaries, chaplets, and similar articles of religious devotion."[21]

ROSE. A well-known flavoring extract;[22] and in everyday speech, when used with food or other products, the word implies that such products are so flavored.[23]

ROSIN. The residuum left from the process of distilling turpentine.[24]

ROSS. As a noun, the rough exterior of bark.[25] As a verb, to divest of the ross.[26]

Rossed pulp wood. A kind of wood, chiefly poplar and spruce, used for making pulp in the manufacture of paper.[27]

ROSTER. A word used instead of "register,"[28] and comprehends a list of all military officers connected with a regiment, brigade or division, and is kept as are records of orders and official communications.[29]

ROT.[30]

ROTARY. Turning, as a wheel on its axis;[31] turning round and round, as a wheel on its axis.[32] There is nothing in the primary definition of the word

---

512, 56 ALR 1098. See also supra this note [d].

[5] Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., supra.

[6] See Code (1927) § 10348 [quot Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., supra (relating to innkeeper's lien)].

"Hotel" see Innkeepers § 1.

[7] Gauthier v. Wood, 49 Wash. 8, 94 P 654, 655.

[a] "Composed of a metal pipe about seven feet long and three inches in diameter, the ends of which had been plugged with an iron or steel eye, into which a bolt was dropped. A wooden beam was sometimes used in place of the pipe for the coupling." Gauthier v. Wood, 49 Wash. 8, 94 P 654, 655.

[8] "Pinkroot" 48 C. J. p 1204.

"Pinkroot" included see Marine Insurance § 390 text and note 2.

"Sarsaparilla" not included see Marine Insurance § 392 text and note 3.

[9] Webster New Int. D.

[10] Martin v. Eagle Dev. Co., 41 Or. 448, 456, 69 P 216.

[11] "Root beer" post.

[12] Monroe Cider Vinegar, etc., Co. v. Riordan, 280 Fed. 624, 627.

"Beer" 7 C. J. p 1024.

[13] See Appliance 4 C. J. p 1378 note 80.

[14] New Standard D. [quot Whitlock Cordage Co. v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. (U. S.) 656, 658].

[a] Commonly, rope consists of rope yarns twisted into three strands that in turn are twisted together. New Standard D. [quot Whitlock Cordage Co. v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. (U. S.) 656, 658].

[b] "Cord" distinguished.—Technically, the distinction between a cord and a rope, other than of wire, is made at one-inch circumference; in popular usage smaller sizes are often termed ropes. New Standard D. [quot Whitlock Cordage Co. v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. 656, 658]. "Cord" 13 C. J. p 1235 text and note 17.

[15] Wall v. Howard Ins. Co., 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 383, 387 (defined as "one who twists yarn into rope").

[16] Wall v. Howard Ins. Co., supra.

[a] "Hackling the hemp" distinguished.—Wall v. Howard Ins. Co., 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 383, 387.

[b] "Spinning the yard" distinguished.—Wall v. Howard Ins. Co., 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 383, 387.

[17] Benziger v. Robertson, 122 U. S. 211, 212, 7 SCt 1169, 30 L. ed. 1149.

[a] "The primary purpose of rosaries . . . is not to excite religious devotion by appeals to the memory. Rosaries . . . are used by Catholics . . . to keep count of the prayers which religious discipline and religious tracts require believers to repeat." U. S. v. Closson Co., 12 Cust. A. (U. S.) 470.

[b] "Cross" and "crucifix" compared and distinguished.—"The cross and crucifix inspire prayer and religious devotion, whereas rosaries . . . are designed to keep a record of prayers said. Crosses, crucifixes, rosaries . . . are all sacred articles in the sense that they are dedicated to a religious use, but the religious use of the one is not the religious use of the other, and they are therefore not similar articles." U. S. v. Closson Co., 12 Cust. A. (U. S.) 470.

[18] Benziger v. Robertson, 122 U. S. 211, 213, 7 SCt 1169, 30 L. ed. 1149. See Jones v. Hotel Latham Co., 62 Misc. 620, 115 NYS 1084, 1085 ("a rosary is an article of use and not worn for ornament").

[19] Benziger v. Robertson, 122 U. S. 211, 213, 7 SCt 1169, 30 L. ed. 1149.

"Beads" 7 C. J. p 1017.

"Chain" 11 C. J. p 225.

[20] Benziger v. Robertson, 122 U. S. 211, 213, 7 SCt 1169, 30 L. ed. 1149.

[21] U. S. v. Closson Co., 12 Cust. A. (U. S.) 470; Kennedy v. U. S., 12 Cust. A. (U. S.) 347 (Tariff Act of 1922).

[22] Clotworthy v. Schepp, 42 Fed. 62.

[23] Clotworthy v. Schepp, supra.

"Rose water" see Customs Duties § 30 note 50 [a].

[24] London Assur. Corp. v. Thompson, 170 N. Y. 94, 100, 62 NE 1066.

[a] Description.—It is poured into barrels while in a liquid or semiliquid state; when it cools it hardens like plaster of paris and will stand alone as if it were of solid stone, even if taken out of the barrels. London Assur. Corp. v. Thompson, 170 N. Y. 94, 100, 62 NE 1066.

[25] Webster New Int. D.

[26] Webster New Int. D. See U. S. v. Pierce County, 147 Fed. 199, 200, 77 CCA 425.

[27] U. S. v. Pierce County, supra (wood that has had its bark skin and rough places removed by hand shaving or by a rossing machine, the prime object of which was to cheapen transportation by reducing the bulk and weight of the wood).

Not "manufacture of wood" see Customs Duties § 33.

[28] "Register" 53 C. J. p 1067.

[29] Mathews v. Bowman, 25 Me. 157, 167.

[30] "Black Rot" 8 C. J. p 1115.

"Decay" 18 C. J. p 25.

"Rotten" post.

[31] Webster D. [quot Kip-Armstrong Co. v. King Philip Mills, 130 Fed. 28, 29].

[32] Century D. [quot Kip-Armstrong Co. v. King Philip Mills, supra].

to indicate that continuous rotation is necessarily involved.[33]

Rotary tubular steam boiler is a tubular boiler[34] with a cylindrical shell supported by trunnions to permit revolution.[35]

ROTTEN. Decayed;[36] also not firm or trusty; unsound; defective; etc.[37]

ROUGH. Characterized by violent or disorderly action;[38] rude;[39] also, careless;[40] crudely done;[41] hasty.[42]

Rough handling.[43] A term which as applied to a shipment of cattle has been held to mean such unreasonable and negligent handling of the cattle as was beyond the natural and usual way of handling such shipments.[44] Rough handling is not necessarily negligent handling,[45] but unnecessary rough handling of a train which causes injury to cattle in it is negligent handling.[46]

Rough leather.[47] Such leather as has been tanned and unhaired, and not given any further finishing treatment.[48]

Other phrases: "In the rough,"[49] "rough minutes,"[50] and "rough shadowing."[51]

ROUGHHEW. To form rudely;[52] to give the first form or shape to;[53] to hew coarsely, without smoothing;[54] to hew or shape roughly or irregularly;[55] to roughcast;[56] to shape approximately and rudely;[57] often used figuratively.[58]

ROUGHING. After the printing of a picture,[59] a separate process which gives to it somewhat the effect of an oil painting, increases its durability, and improves its appearance.[60]

ROUGHLY.[61] Rudely.[62]

ROULETTE.[63] A game played at a table divided into numbered and colored spaces, and having in the center a rotating disc on which a ball is rolled until it drops into one of the thirty-seven spaces, the player winning if he has staked his money on that space, or its color, or on a combination including it.[64]

ROUND. [§ 1] A. As Verb. To give curved form to;[65] to go about a corner or point;[66] to go around wholly or in part.[67]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective. Not angular.[68] The term has been held the equivalent of large, great, or considerable.[69]

Applied to raw logs, circular or cylindrical,[70] or inclining to a circle; that is, round to all ordinary intents and purposes.[71]

Round dance. Dancing performed in couples, usually by a male and a female, their arms clasped around or about the shoulders of each other and the couple thus together or synchronously moving over and around the dancing floor.[72]

Round lot, in a contract for the sale of grain, was construed as meaning a lot of five thousand bushels.[73]

Round sum, in an instruction as to damages, described a lump sum in contradistinction from one that is the result of calculation or exact computation.[74]

Round trip, with relation to a sea voyage, is a term said to mean a trip from the port of departure to the same port on return;[75] and with relation to transportation, the performance of services both ways over a route.[76]

---

[33] Kip-Armstrong Co. v. King Philip Mills, supra.

[34] "Boiler" 8 C. J. p 1138.

[35] Kip-Armstrong Co. v. King Philip Mills, 130 Fed. 28, 29.

[36] Steinmetz v. U. S. Ins. Co., 2 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 293, 296. See Decay 18 C. J. p 25 note 39 [a].

[37] Webster D. [quot Haworth v. Seevers Mfg. Co., 87 Iowa 765, 775, 51 NW 68, 62 NW 325].

"Defective" 18 C. J. p 459.

[38] Century D. [quot Shier v. American R. Express Co., 234 Mich. 505, 208 NW 746, 751].

[39] Webster New Int. D. [quot Berkowitz v. Farrell, 19 Ala. A. 196, 95 S 916].

"Rude" post.

[40] Century D. [quot Shier v. American R. Express Co., 234 Mich. 505, 208 NW 746, 751].

"Careless" 12 C. J. p 1291.

[41] Century D. [quot Shier v. American R. Express Co., 234 Mich. 505, 208 NW 746, 751].

[42] Century D. [quot Shier v. American R. Express Co., supra].

[43] "Handle" 29 C. J. p 211.

[44] Southern Kansas R. Co. v. Yarborough, 49 Tex. Civ. A. 407, 109 SW 390, 392.

[45] Davis v. Sullivan, (Tex. Civ. A.) 242 SW 764, 766.

[46] Davis v. Sullivan, supra. See also Shier v. American R. Express Co., 234 Mich. 505, 208 NW 746, 751.

[47] "Leather" 36 C. J. p 973.

[48] U. S. v. Robertson, 1 Cust. A. (U. S.) 379, 380.

[49] See In 31 C. J. p 368 text and note 79.

[50] State v. Scott, 35 Wyo. 108, 247 P 699, 705.

[51] See Detectives § 4.

[52] Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, 11 Cust. A. (U. S.) 457, 458].

[53] Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, supra].

[54] Century D.; Webster D. [both quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, supra].

[55] Standard D. [quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, supra].

[56] Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, supra].

[57] Webster D. [quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, supra].

[58] Standard D. [quot U. S. v. Rochester Last Works, supra].

[59] "Picture" 48 C. J. p 1179.

[60] Turner v. Osgood Art Colortype Co., 223 Ill. 629, 632, 79 NE 306.

[61] "Rough" ante.

[62] Century D. [quot Shier v. American R. Express Co., 234 Mich. 505, 208 NW 746, 751].

[63] As banking game see Gaming 27 C. J. p 970 note 30 [k].

[64] Century D. [quot Zaft v. Milton, 97 N. J. Eq. 576, 581, 126 A 29].

[65] Webster New Int. D. [quot Butterworth v. State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 232 NW 760, 762; Hoover v. Iowa State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 230 NW 561, 564].

[66] Webster New Int. D. [quot Butterworth v. State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 232 NW 760, 762; Hoover v. Iowa State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 230 NW 561, 564].

[67] Webster New Int. D. [quot Butterworth v. State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 232 NW 760, 762; Hoover v. Iowa State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 230 NW 561, 564].

[68] Webster New Int. D. [quot Butterworth v. State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 232 NW 760, 762; Hoover v. Iowa State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 230 NW 561, 564].

[69] Golden v. Clinton, 54 Mo. A. 100, 118.

"Considerable" 12 C. J. p 524.

"Great" 28 C. J. p 825.

"Large" 36 C. J. p 953.

[70] Bucki v. McKinnon, 37 Fla. 391, 395, 20 S 540.

[71] Bucki v. McKinnon, supra.

[72] Hardwick v. Fruitridge Bd. of School Trustees, 54 Cal. A. 696, 712, 205 P 49.

[73] Hammond v. Olmstead, 10 Fed. 223, 226.

[74] Times Pub. Co. v. Carlisle, 94 Fed. 762, 771, 36 CCA 475.

*By Wm. Howard Buchanan (Rotten—Ruunt Magna In Se inclusive).

Other phrases: "Rounding a corner,"[77] "round trip ticket,"[78] and "with the woodland adjoining to said plains, extending four English miles round the said plains."[79]

ROUNDHOUSE.[80]

ROUNDSMAN. A police officer who makes rounds of inspection.[81]

ROUND TRIP TICKET.[82]

ROUND-UP. In the custom of cattle men, a gathering together of the cattle every spring, at which the brands are examined, and the cattle of the several ranches and owners are separated or "cut out."[83]

ROUSTABOUT. A name by which negro deck hands on the steamers plying the Mississippi river and its tributaries are known;[84] a negro deck hand engaged on steamboats to do the work of loading, unloading, etc.[85]

ROUT.[86]

ROUTE.[87] A way used for going from one place to another,[88] in common acceptation excluding terminal points, and making it dependent on them.[89] The term implies passage to and from.[90] The word may be used in a different and more general sense than "highway,"[91] and is sometimes used to designate a course, a line of travel or transit.[92]

Route of travel.[93] The way[94] or road[95] traveled.[96]

Other phrases: "Local route,"[97] "most direct route of travel,"[98] "new route,"[99] "on the route lately surveyed,"[1] "the land route usually traveled,"[2] and "the route usually traveled;"[3] also "routes and bounds."[4]

ROYAL.[5] Of or pertaining to the crown or the king or sovereign.[6]

Royal fishery. A term applied at common law to the right of fishery, by virtue of the king's prerogative, in a royal or navigable river so far as the sea ebbed and flowed in it.[7]

Royal grants.[8] Conveyances of record, in England, which are of two kinds: First, letters patent; and second, letters close, or writs close.[9]

Royal river. A term used at common law to designate a navigable river so far as the sea ebbed and flowed.[10]

Royal titles. Titles of this description were designed to convey the fee simple to the grantee; they were usually made by the acting governor of the province in the name of the king.[11]

ROYALTY or ROYALTIES.[12] [§ 1] A. As Noun. In its primary and natural sense, merely the English translation or equivalent of "regalitates," "jura regalia," "jura regia."[13] Formerly the word referred to the prerogative of the king to take gold and silver discovered in land privately owned.[14]

In case of copyrights[15] and patents[16] the term is commonly used to designate the share of the proceeds of property paid to a person having some proprietary or creative interest therein by another who has obtained from the payee an absolute or qualified ownership of such property.[17] It has been defined as a tax or duty paid to the owner of a patent for the privilege of manufacturing or using the patented article;[18] rental;[19] something proportionate to the use of a patented device; in other words, a kind of excise;[20] specific sums paid annually, or at other stated periods, for the right to use a patented device, whether it is used much or little or not at all.[21] The word has been held an appropriate term as applied to improvements which are nonpatentable.[22]

---

[75] Pacific Mail SS. Co. v. U. S., 18 Ct. Cl. 30, 38.

[76] Century D. [quot Kelly v. New York City R. Co., 104 NYS 561, 565].

[77] Butterworth v. State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 232 NW 760, 762; Hoover v. Iowa State Highway Commn., (Iowa) 230 NW 561, 564.

[78] See Carriers § 1079 text and note 49; "Excursion Ticket" 23 C. J. p 276.

[79] Jackson v. Reeves, 3 Cai. (N. Y.) 293, 298.

[80] See Engine House or Roundhouse 20 C. J. p 1261.

[81] Webster New Int. D. See generally Municipal Corporations § 1315 et seq.

[82] See Round ante.

[83] Hebberd v. Southwestern Land, etc., Co., 55 N. J. Eq. 18, 27, 36 A 122.

Brands and marks generally see Animals §§ 85–124.

[84] Riley v. Allen, 23 Fed. 46, 47.

[85] U. S. v. Trice, 30 Fed. 490.

[86] See Riot § 2.

[87] Route:
Change of see Railroads §§ 153–155.
Designation of see Private Roads § 20.
Liability for loss or injury by deviation from see Carriers §§ 156–160; Shipping [36 Cyc 256].
On which mileage based see Sheriffs and Constables [35 Cyc 1594].
Selection of, for shipment see Sales [35 Cyc 196].
Post route see Post Office § 2.

[88] Fleming & T. Standard French D. [quot Atty.-Gen. v. West Wisconsin R. Co., 36 Wis. 466, 494].

[89] Atty.-Gen. v. West Wisconsin R. Co., supra.

[90] Atty.-Gen. v. West Wisconsin R. Co., supra.

"Passage" 47 C. J. p 1373.

[91] Louisiana Highway Commn. v. Cormier, 13 La. A. 459, 128 S 56, 61.

"Highway" see Highways § 1.

[92] Louisiana Highway Commn. v. Cormier, 13 La. A. 459, 128 S 56, 61.

"Course" 15 C. J. p 678.

[93] "Travel" [38 Cyc 948].

[94] "Way" [40 Cyc 846].

[95] "Road" see Highways § 1.

[96] Maynard v. Cedar County, 51 Iowa 430, 431, 1 NW 701, 702.

[97] See Local 38 C. J. p 130 text and note 83.

[98] See Most 42 C. J. p 455 text and note 31.

[99] See New 46 C. J. p 15 text and note 85.

[1] Wood v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 90 Mich. 334, 336, 51 NW 263.

[2] Greene v. McGhee, 37 Ala. 164, 165.

[3] Com. v. Heiges, 4 Pa. Dist. 184.

[4] Peo. v. Milton Highway Comrs., 37 N. Y. 360, 364.

"Bounds" 9 C. J. p 298.

[5] "Royal mine" see Mines and Minerals § 114.

"Royal prerogative" see Prerogative, 49 C. J. p 1332.

[6] Webster New Int. D.

[7] Arnold v. Mundy, 6 N. J. L. 1, 86, 10 AmD 356. See generally Fish § 21.

"Royal fish" see Fish 26 C. J. p 597 note 60 [c].

[8] "Grant" 28 C. J. p 818.

[9] Black L. D. [cit Stephen Comm.].

[10] Arnold v. Mundy, 6 N. J. L. 1, 86, 10 AmD 356. See generally Navigable Waters 45 C. J. p 398.

[11] Florida Town Impr. Co. v. Bigalsky, 44 Fla. 771, 781, 33 S 450.

[12] Royalty or royalties:
As incorporeal hereditament see Property 50 C. J. p 758 note 83 [b].
Right to by curtesy see Curtesy § 43.
Subject to creditors' bill see Creditors' Suits § 84.

[13] Atty.-Gen. v. Mercer, 8 App. Cas. 767, 778 [quot Rex v. Atty.-Gen., [1924] A. C. 213; Atty.-Gen. v. Rex, 63 Can. S. C. 622, 68 DomLR 106, 111, [1922] 3 WestWkly 269].

[14] State v. Armson, 166 Minn. 230, 207 NW 727, 731.

[15] See Copyright and Literary Property 13 C. J. p 1106 note 53 [b].

[16] See Patents §§ 447–467.

[17] Matter of Elsner, 210 App. Div. 575, 206 NYS 765, 768.

In oil and gas leases,[23] a share of the product or profit reserved by the owner for permitting another to use the property;[24] the amount reserved or the rental to be paid the original owner of the whole estate;[25] the compensation for the privilege or rights created by the lease;[26] the compensation provided for the privilege of drilling for oil and gas, and consists of a share in the oil and gas produced under existing leases;[27] the share of the product or profit paid to the owner of the property.[28] As applied to an existing lease, a share in the oil and gas produced, but the term does not include a perpetual interest in the oil and gas in the ground.[29]

Phrases: "Advanced royalty,"[30] "lands, mines, minerals, and royalties,"[31] "rentals and royalties,"[32] and "royalties on iron ore subsequently mined."[33]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, the term may be employed,[34] as in the phrases "royalty interest,"[35] and "royalty tax."[36]

R. R. A well-understood abbreviation of "railroad."[37]

RUBBER.[38] [§ 1] A. As Noun. Caoutchouc, or India rubber, especially in any of its commercial forms.[39]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, the term has been employed.[40]

Rubber bubbles. Small hollow tubes of licorice candy to which are attached small uninflated balloons (so-called) composed of rubber so flimsy as to be easily broken.[41]

Rubber hose. A tubing of indefinite length, open at both ends.[42]

Other phrases: "Rubber-like consistency,"[43] and "rubber thread."[44]

RUBBEROID. A trade name for an imitation of hard rubber;[45] a descriptive word meaning like rubber.[46]

RUBBISH. [§ 1] A. As Noun.[47] Anything worthless or valueless;[48] debris;[49] trash;[50] waste or rejected matter.[51]

Phrase: "Driftwood and rubbish."[52]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective the word may be employed.[53]

Rubbish hand. A general utility man.[54]

RUBBLE STONES. Rough, irregular stones, such as are found in quarries that furnish small and inferior stone only, or are the remains in ledges from which dimension or other large stones have been taken; and when used for constructing walls they are not dressed, hewn, or cut, and so lose none of their measurement in laying.[55]

---

18. Volk v. Volk Mfg. Co., 101 Conn. 594, 599, 126 A 847; Hubenthal v. Kennedy, 76 Iowa 707, 711, 39 NW 694.

19. Western Union Tel. Co. v. American Bell Tel. Co., 105 Fed. 685.

[a] "Bonus" compared.—Payne v. U. S., 50 App. (D. C.) 219, 269 Fed. 871, 873. "Bonus" 9 C. J. p 135.

[b] "Profit" synonymous.—See Profit or Profits 50 C. J. p 646 note 17 [p].

[c] "Rents and profits" synonymous.—Nisbet v. Dozier, 204 Ky. 204, 263 SW 736.

20. Western Union Tel. Co. v. American Bell Tel. Co., 125 Fed. 342, 348, 349, 60 CCA 220 [cit Bouvier L. D.].

21. Western Union Tel. Co. v. American Bell Tel. Co., supra.

22. Volk v. Volk Mfg. Co., 101 Conn. 594, 126 A 847, 849.

23. Royalty under:
Mining lease see Mines and Minerals §§ 632–650.
Oil, gas, and sale leases see Mines and Minerals §§ 728–736.

24. Webster D. [quot Indiana Natural Gas, etc., Co. v. Stewart, 45 Ind. A. 554, 90 NE 384, 385]; Volk v. Volk Mfg. Co., 101 Conn. 594, 601, 126 A 847; Hill v. Roberts, (Tex. Civ. A.) 284 SW 246, 249. And see Curlee v. Anderson, (Tex. Civ. A.) 235 SW 622, 624.

25. Wagner Supply Co. v. Bateman, (Tex.) 18 SW (2d) 1052, 1055.

"Rent" distinguished see Rent ante.

26. McIntire v. Bond, 227 Ky. 607, 13 SW (2d) 772, 773, 64 ALR 630.

27. Bellport v. Harrison, 123 Kan. 310, 255 P 52, 53.

28. Homestake Exploration Corp. v. Schoregge, 81 Mont. 604, 264 P 388, 392; Hinerman v. Baldwin, 67 Mont. 417, 215 P 1103, 1108.

29. Leydig v. Internal Revenue Comr., 43 F. (2d) 494, 496.

30. Kissick v. Bolton, 134 Iowa 650, 651, 112 NW 95.

31. Rex v. Atty.-Gen., [1924] A. C. 213; Atty.-Gen. v. Mercer, 8 App. Cas. 767, 778.

32. Western Union Tel. Co. v. American Bell Tel. Co., 105 Fed. 684, 685.

33. Basic Iron Ore Co. v. Dahlke, (N. J.) 152 A 73, 74.

34. See cases infra notes 35, 36.

35. Robinson v. Jones, 119 Kan. 609, 613, 240 P 957; Byrne v. Fulton Oil Co., 85 Mont. 329, 278 P 514, 517.

36. State v. Armson, (Minn.) 232 NW 35, 36.

37. West Chicago St. R. Co. v. Peo., 155 Ill. 299, 304, 40 NE 599.

38. Rubber plant or factory see Nuisances § 264.

39. Webster New Int. D.

40. See cases infra notes 41–44.

41. U. S. v. Andrews, 12 Cust. A. 258.

42. Dodge v. Porter, 98 Fed. 624, 627.

[a] "Pneumatic tire" distinguished.—Dodge v. Porter, 98 Fed. 624, 627.

43. Byerley v. Barber Asphalt Pav. Co., 230 Fed. 995, 999.

44. Haskell Golf Ball Co. v. Perfect Golf Ball Co., 143 Fed. 128, 130.

45. Standard Paint Co. v. Trinidad Asphalt Mfg. Co., 220 U. S. 446, 31 SCt 456, 457, 55 L. ed. 536.

46. Standard Paint Co. v. Trinidad Asphalt Mfg. Co., supra.

47. Duty of lessee to remove see Mines and Minerals 40 C. J. p 1019 text and note 17.

48. Webster D. [quot Gorman v. Cleveland, 26 Oh. A. 109, 113, 159 NE 136].

49. Webster D. [quot Gorman v. Cleveland, supra].

[a] Snow and leaves are included within the meaning of the term. Wehr v. Roland Park Co., 143 Md. 384, 122 A 363, 367.

"Debris" 17 C. J. p 1371.

50. Webster D. [quot Gorman v. Cleveland, 26 Oh. A. 109, 113, 159 NE 136].

51. Webster D. [quot Gorman v. Cleveland, supra].

[a] As used in Metropolitan Paving Act (57 Geo. III c 29 §§ 59, 60), entitling scavengers to dust, ashes, rubbish, etc., within certain districts, the term applies to such things as are in the contemplation of the owner rubbish, and which he desires to dispose of in that character. Filbey v. Combe, 2 M. & W. 677, 683, 150 Reprint 928.

52. Springfield v. North Fork Outlet Drain. Dist., 249 Ill. A. 133, 144.

53. See case infra note 54.

54. Fillipon v. Albion Vein Slate Co., 242 Fed. 258, 155 CCA 98.

55. Hawkins v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 181, 188.

RUBLE. A term given to the money of account in Russia.[56]

RUBRICS. In England the titles of acts were styled rubrics because written in red ink.[57]

RUDE.[58] Rough, insulting.[59]

Phrase: "Rude or indecent behavior."[60]

RUDELY.[61] In a rude manner, coarsely, uncivilly, violently.[62]

Phrase: "Rudely displaying a pistol."[63]

RUFFED GROUSE.[64]

RUFFIAN. As a noun, a boisterous, cruel, brutal fellow;[65] a desperate fellow ready for murderous or cruel deeds;[66] a cutthroat.[67]

As adjective, brutal, cruel, murderous, boisterous, violent, stormy.[68]

RUG. A coarse, nappy, woolen fabric, used for various purposes as: First, for cover of a bed;[69] second, for protecting the carpet before a fire;[70] and third, for protecting the legs against the cold in riding.[71]

Phrases: "Carpets and rugs,"[72] and "traveling rug."[73]

RUIN.[74]

RULE or RULES.[75]

[§ 1] As a Noun—1. In General. A term of wide and varied significance, depending upon the context,[76] described generally as a course[77] of practice uniformly followed,[78] or a uniform course of things.[79] By its very name a rule is supposed to be a means of guidance.[80] A rule must necessarily be of general application.[81] It is not unfrequent, to consider and speak of a regular course of practice under a rule, as itself forming a rule.[82]

[§ 2] 2. Regulation, Promulgation, or Command. The term may be employed appropriately to include commands, instructions and directions, and has been defined as[83] that which is prescribed or laid down as a guide to conduct;[84] that which is settled by authority or custom;[85] a by-law;[86] a minor law;[87] an

---

[a] Ranged rubble or broken ashlar are ordinarily a larger stone, which, when cut, trimmed, and laid, make a wall of coursed masonry as if constructed of squared stone of different sizes, somewhat like that produced by dimension stone; and in cutting they are reduced in size, and measure much less in the wall than when first quarried. Hawkins v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 181, 188.

"Dimension stone" distinguished see Dimension 18 C. J. p 1041 note 86 [a] (2).

"Footing stone" synonymous see Footing Stone 26 C. J. p 790 note 20 [a].

56. Pleasants v. Maryland Ins. Co., 8 Cranch (U. S.) 55, 58, 3 L. ed. 486.

"Money" 40 C. J. p 1489.

57. State v. Woolard, 119 N. C. 779, 780, 25 SE 719.

58. Touching in rude manner see Assault and Battery §§ 8, 193.

59. Webster D. [quot Holmes v. Carolina Cent. R. Co., 94 N. C. 318, 323].

"Insulting" see Insult 32 C. J. p 949.

"Rough" ante.

60. See Indecent 31 C. J. p 415 text and note 20.

61. See Rude ante.

62. State v. Lawrence, 19 Nebr. 307, 314, 27 NW 126.

[a] "Willfully" not synonymous.—Fuller v. State, 48 Tex. Cr. 300, 87 SW 832.

63. Gozy v. State, 34 Tex. Cr. 146, 29 SW 783.

64. See Grouse 28 C. J. p 880.

65. Taylor v. Hungerford, 205 Iowa 1146, 217 NW 83, 84.

66. Taylor v. Hungerford, supra.

67. Taylor v. Hungerford, supra.

68. Taylor v. Hungerford, supra.

"Boisterous" 8 C. J. p 1142.

"Cruel" 17 C. J. p 388.

69. Webster D. [quot Ingersoll v. Magone, 53 Fed. 1008, 1010, 4 CCA 150].

70. Webster D. [quot Ingersoll v. Magone, supra].

71. Webster D. [quot Ingersoll v. Magone, supra].

72. See Customs Duties 17 C. J. p 573 text and note 52.

73. See Customs Duties 17 C. J. p 573 note 52 [a] (3).

74. In mining lease see Mines and Minerals 40 C. J. p 1022 note 64 [b].

Of a building see Negligence 45 C. J. p 863 note 18 [b] (1).

75. Rule or rules:
Admiralty § 129 et seq.
Admitting to practice see Attorney and Client § 16 et seq.
Against perpetuities see Perpetuities §§ 2–8.
Carriers §§ 53, 1070–1077.
Civil service see Officers §§ 71–80.
Collision § 24 et seq.
Conflict of Laws § 2.
Corporations §§ 426–488.
Courts § 275 et seq.
Exchanges §§ 3–11.
Gas §§ 26–28.
Health §§ 31–36.
Innkeepers § 47.
Insurance § 70.
Judicial notice of see Evidence §§ 1897, 1898.
Land office see Public Lands §§ 460–463.
Master and Servant §§ 586–595, 745, 1133, 1203, 1261, 1346, 1431.
Mines and Minerals §§ 120, 121.
Municipal Corporations § 796 text and notes 66, 67, § 1280.
Of adjudication or decision see Arbitration and Award § 341 et seq; Courts § 297 et seq; Federal Courts §§ 163, 411.
Of evidence see Evidence § 4.
Railroads § 886 et seq.

Rule in nature of order:
Generally see Motions and Orders § 42 C. J. p 457.
To show cause see Motions and Orders § 69 et seq.

76. Los Angeles v. Gager, 10 Cal. A. 378, 380, 102 P 17 [quot Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. State, 73 Fla. 609, 74 S 595, 602].

77. "Course" 15 C. J. p 678.

78. State v. Field, 31 N. M. 120, 241 P 1027, 1043 [cit Cyc].

"Practice" 49 C. J. p 1311.

79. Webster D. [quot South Florida R. Co. v. Rhodes, 25 Fla. 40, 46, 5 S 633, 23 AmSR 506, 3 LRA 733]; Bates v. Nome, 1 Alaska 208, 216.

80. Salter v. Calgary, 9 Alta. L. 334, 336.

81. State Racing Commn. v. Latonia Agricultural Assoc., 136 Ky. 173, 187, 123 SW 681, 25 LRANS 905.

82. Talbot v. Seeman, 1 Cranch (U. S.) 1, 36, 2 L. ed. 15.

83. Finnegan v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 261 Mo. 481, 507, 169 SW 969.

"Command" 11 C. J. p 1237.

"Direction" 18 C. J. p 1044.

"Instruction" 32 C. J. p 944.

"Promulgation" 50 C. J. p 720.

84. Webster D. [quot South Florida R. Co. v. Rhodes, 25 Fla. 40, 46, 5 S 633, 23 AmSR 506, 3 LRA 733]; Bates v. Nome, 1 Alaska 208, 216.

85. Webster D. [quot South Florida R. Co. v. Rhodes, supra]; Bates v. Nome, supra.

[a] "A technical rule is one which is established by authority and precedent, which does not depend upon reasoning or argument, but is a fixed established rule to be acted upon and only discussed as regards its application—in truth is 'the law.'" Chesterfield, etc., Colliery Co. v. Hawkins, 3 H. & C. 677, 691, 159 Reprint 698.

[b] "The enforced subversion by a private body of a time-honored legal principle does not . . . fall within any definition of a 'rule.'" Rosensweig v. Whitney, 221 App. Div. 8, 222 NYS 87, 91.

[c] The mere raising of a fee or rental is not the making of a rule. George F. Heinrichs, Inc. v. New York, 121 Misc. 592, 201 NYS 377, 379.

"Authority" 6 C. J. p 864.

"Custom" see Customs and Usages § 1.

86. State v. Hoctor, 83 Nebr. 690, 693, 120 NW 199, 200.

"By-Law" 9 C. J. p 1112.

87. Webster D. [quot South Florida R. Co. v. Rhodes, 25 Fla. 40, 46, 5 S 633, 23 AmSR 506, 3 LRA 733]; order;[88] an ordinance;[89] a prescription;[90] a regulation.[91] Other terms have been compared and distinguished, such as "agreement,"[92] "caprice,"[93] "compact,"[94] "mere discretion,"[95] "ordinance,"[96] and "whim."[97]

Term may import partial restriction which does not wholly prohibit.[98]

Applied to conduct of employees,[99] the word may mean either the definite promulgation or command of the employer, or it may refer to the practice generally or universally pursued by the employees themselves.[1]

In parliamentary language,[2] devices in words and phrases for the control and direction of those who have something else given them to do;[3] the regulation adopted by a deliberative body for the conduct of its proceedings.[4]

[§ 3] 3. As a Typographic Element, a thin plate or strip of metal, of the same height as the type, used for printing lines as in a tabular work or between columns of the same page.[5]

[§ 4] 4. Phrases—a. Rule Absolute. That which commands the subject matter of the rule to be forthwith enforced.[6]

[§ 5] b. Rule of Construction or Interpretation.[7] A rule of construction is one which either governs the effect of an ascertained intention or points out what a court should do in the absence of express or implied intention;[8] also a regular course of decisions on the text of the law, constitutes a rule of construction, by which that text is to be applied to all similar cases.[9]

Subordinate rule of construction is a mere judicial exposition of the natural meaning of a certain form of expression.[10]

Rule of interpretation is one which governs the ascertainment of the meaning of the maker of a written document.[11]

[§ 6] c. Rule of Court.[12] A term said to mean uniformity, regulation in practice alike to all suitors, established and fixed, as much as a statute itself, and known to all litigants and attorneys;[13] also an order generally made by a court having competent jurisdiction;[14] an order made by a court between the parties to a cause before it, or touching the discharge of duty by those engaged in the conduct of its proceedings, either as permanent officers of the court or as serving therein in some temporary capacity;[15] the term may include commands to lower courts or court officials, to do ministerial acts.[16] As sometimes used the term has been held to be intended for the word "judgment."[17]

In the federal judicial code the term has reference to a standing rule having the force of law.[18]

[§ 7] d. Rules of Procedure.[19] Rules made by Bates v. Nome, 1 Alaska 208, 216.

[a] "Local laws" interchangeable.—Obelisk Waterproof Co. v. Cloher, 111 Misc. 1, 182 NYS 303, 307.

[b] "Laws" synonymous see Law 36 C. J. p 957 text and note 84 [b].

88. See Order 46 C. J. p 1131 text and note 2 [d], [e].

89. State v. Hoctor, 83 Nebr. 690, 693, 120 NW 199.

[a] Ordinance distinguished.—Armatage v. Fisher, 74 Hun 167, 172, 26 NYS 364, 367.

"Ordinance" see Municipal Corporations § 796.

90. Webster D. [quot South Florida R. Co. v. Rhodes, 25 Fla. 40, 46, 5 S 633, 23 AmSR 506, 3 LRA 733]; Bates v. Nome, 1 Alaska 208, 216.

91. Webster D. [quot South Florida R. Co. v. Rhodes, 25 Fla. 40, 46, 5 S 633, 23 AmSR 506, 3 LRA 733]; Bates v. Nome, 1 Alaska 208, 216; State v. Hoctor, 83 Nebr. 690, 693, 120 NW 199.

[a] Terms compared.—(1) "Regulation" and "rule" are words of a like import and import a partial restriction which does not wholly prohibit, and imply uniformity in operation, not discrimination. Belmar v. Prior, 81 N. J. L. 254, 79 A 1032, 1034. (2) "'Rules, regulations, and by-laws' . . . are words of no less import and are intended to carry with them the same obligation or duty as the word 'ordinance.'" Taylor v. Lambertville, 43 N. J. Eq. 107, 112, 10 A 809.

"Regulation" ante.

92. Merchants' Exch. v. Knott, 212 Mo. 616, 640, 111 SW 565, 571.

"Agreement" 2 C. J. p 979.

93. Merchants' Exch. v. Knott, 212 Mo. 616, 640, 111 SW 565, 571.

94. Merchants' Exch. v. Knott, supra.

"Compact" 12 C. J. p 217.

95. Merchants' Exch. v. Knott, 212 Mo. 616, 640, 111 SW 565, 571.

"Discretion" 18 C. J. p 1134.

96. See supra note 89 [a].

97. Merchants' Exch. v. Knott, 212 Mo. 616, 640, 111 SW 565, 671.

98. Belmar v. Prior, 81 N. J. L. 254, 258, 79 A 1032.

99. See Master and Servant §§ 586–595.

1. Schaufele v. Central of Georgia R. Co., 6 Ga. A. 660, 665, 65 SE 708.

2. See Parliamentary Law § 1 et seq.

3. Belmar v. Prior, 81 N. J. L. 254, 257, 79 A 1032; Taylor v. Lambertville, 43 N. J. Eq. 107, 112, 10 A 809. See Hunt v. Lambertville, 45 N. J. L. 279, 282.

4. Armatage v. Fisher, 74 Hun 167, 172, 26 NYS 364, 367.

5. Lanston Monotype Mach. Co. v. Pittsburgh Type Founders Co., 276 Fed. 921.

[a] "The pointwise dimension of a . . . rule . . . is its thickness, as to which uniformity and exactness is essential." Lanston Monotype Mach. Co. v. Pittsburgh Type Founders Co., 276 Fed. 921.

6. Black L. D.

[a] Rule absolute for new trial, in Pennsylvania practice, implies all that is meant by the words "judgment vacated, judgment set aside, and new trial granted." Evans v. Freeman, 140 Fed. 419, 423. See Fisher v. Hestonville, etc., Pass. R. Co., 185 Pa. 602, 605, 40 A 97. See also New Trial.

7. See also Construction 12 C. J. p 1297; Contracts § 481 et seq; Fidelity Insurance § 3; Fire Insurance § 69 et seq; Life Insurance §§ 87–91; Marine Insurance §§ 59, 60; Mortgages §§ 334–340; Municipal Corporations §§ 904–919; Mutual Benefit Insurance § 20 et seq.

8. Matter of Union Trust Co., 89 Misc. 69, 151 NYS 246, 249.

[a] "Rule of interpretation" distinguished.—Matter of Union Trust Co., 89 Misc. 69, 151 NYS 246, 249.

9. Talbot v. Seeman, 1 Cranch 1, 36, 2 L. ed. 15.

10. Dutton v. Pugh, 45 N. J. Eq. 426, 431, 18 A 207 [quot Post v. Herbert, 27 N. J. Eq. 540, 543].

11. Matter of Union Trust Co., 89 Misc. 69, 151 NYS 246, 250.

12. See generally Courts § 275 et seq.

13. Spangler v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 42 Fed. 305, 306; Bates v. Nome, 1 Alaska 208, 216; Wilson v. Big Joe Block Coal Co., 135 Iowa 531, 537, 113 NW 348.

14. Bouvier L. D. [quot Barney v. State, 49 Nebr. 515, 522, 68 NW 636].

15. Goodlett v. Charles, 48 S. C. L. 46, 49.

"Order" synonymous see Motions and Orders 42 C. J. p 465 text and note 13.

16. Carter v. Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., 124 Mo. A. 530, 538, 102 SW 6.

17. Jacobs v. Moffatt, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 395, 398.

18. Dills v. Champion Fiber Co., 175 N. C. 49, 94 SE 694, 695.

19. See also Courts § 275 et seq; Federal Courts §§ 108 et seq, 199, 336, 346, 387 et seq; Municipal Corporations §§ 770, 771; Parliamentary any legislative body, as to the mode and manner of conducting the business of the body.[20]

[§ 8] e. Rule of Property.[21] A settled legal principle governing the ownership and devolution of property;[22] the decisions of the highest court of a state when they relate to and settle some principle of local law directly applicable to title.[23] In the plural, those rules governing the descent, transfer, or sale of property, and the rules which affect the title and possession thereto.[24]

[§ 9] f. Other Phrases: "Rule in Shelley's Case,"[25] "rule nisi,"[26] "rule of credits,"[27] "rule of evidence,"[28] "rule of haste,"[29] "rule of presumption,"[30] "rule of stare decisis,"[31] "rule of taxation,"[32] "rule of the road,"[33] "rule or regulation,"[34] "rule to plead,"[35] "rule to show cause,"[36] and "the rule of the state court;"[37] also "laws, rules, and regulations now governing the" society,[38] "local laws or rules,"[39] "ordinances, rules, regulations and by-laws,"[40] "rules and regulations,"[41] "rules established as aforesaid,"[42] "rules of limitation,"[43] "rules of the Code of Civil Procedure."[44]

[§ 10] B. As an Adjective, the word may be employed.[45]

Rule day. In practice, the day on which a rule is returnable, or on which the act or duty enjoined by a rule is to be performed.[46]

RULE IN SHELLEY'S CASE.[47]

RULE NISI.[48]

RULE OF THE ROAD.[49]

RULE TO SHOW CAUSE.[50]

RULING.[51] A settlement or decision of a point of law arising from the trial of the case, without necessarily the force and solemnity of a judgment or order.[52]

In the plural, expositions of the law or the legal reasons upon which the courts rested their judgment on the questions presented or the issues joined.[53]

Law 46 C. J. p 1376; Pleading 49 C. J. p 1 et seq.

"Court procedure" 15 C. J. p 691.

"Practice" § 3.

"Procedure" 50 C. J. p 425.

[20] Heyker v. McLaughlin, 106 Ky. 509, 514, 50 SW 859, 51 SW 820, 20 KyL 1983 ("they are intended for the orderly and proper disposition of the matters before it"); Heiskell v. Baltimore, 65 Md. 125, 148, 4 A 116, 57 AmR 308.

[21] See Courts § 342; Federal Courts § 173.

[22] Yazoo, etc., R. Co. v. Adams, 81 Miss. 90, 115, 32 S 937; Brekke v. Crew, 43 S. D. 106, 178 NW 146, 154.

[23] Edwards v. Davenport, 20 Fed. 756, 763, 4 McCrary 34.

[24] Bucher v. Cheshire R. Co., 125 U. S. 555, 8 SCt 974, 978, 31 L. ed. 795; Kuhn v. Fairmont Coal Co., 152 Fed. 1013, 1015.

[25] See Deeds § 311; Trusts [39 Cyc 230]; Wills [40 Cyc 1605].

[26] See Motions and Orders § 69 text and note 58 [a]. See also Equity § 826; Mortgages §§ 1515, 1516, 1600; New Trial § 296.

[27] U. S. v. Byers, 127 Fed. 993, 995.

[28] See Evidence § 4.

[29] See Master and Servant § 793 text and note 23 [a].

[30] Wigmore Ev. [quot State v. Lane, 126 Minn. 78, 84, 147 NW 951, 52 LRANS 932 ("simply a rule changing the burden of proof, i. e., declaring that the main fact will be inferred or assumed from some other fact until evidence to the contrary is introduced")].

[31] See Courts § 304 et seq.

[32] State v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 128 Wis. 449, 108 NW 594, 623 ("the law of taxation"). See also Taxation [37 Cyc 672].

[33] Ærial Navigation § 11; Highways § 413; Motor Vehicles § 604.

[34] Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. State, 73 Fla. 609, 74 S 595, 601. See also Collision § 24 et seq.

[35] See Appeal and Error § 1721; Judgments § 373; Pleading § 239.

[36] See Motions and Orders § 69 et seq.

[37] Waverly Stone, etc., Co. v. Waterloo, 239 Fed. 561, 564.

[38] See Law 36 C. J. p 966 text and note 81.

[39] Obelisk Waterproof Co. v. Cloher, 111 Misc. 1, 182 NYS 303, 307.

[40] Taylor v. Lambertville, 43 N. J. Eq. 107, 111, 10 A 809; Hunt v. Lambertville, 45 N. J. L. 279, 282.

[41] Higbee v. Higbee, 4 Utah 19, 26, 5 P 693 ("in a legal sense mean laws").

[a] Includes rates and tariffs fixed by the board of railroad commissioners. Atlantic Log, etc., Co. v. Central of Georgia R. Co., (Ga.) 155 SE 525, 527.

[b] Applied to use of railroad property "rules and regulations" implies uniformity in operation, not discrimination for the pecuniary advantage of the promulgator. Indianapolis Union R. Co. v. Dohn, 153 Ind. 10, 12, 53 NE 937, 938, 74 AmSR 274, 45 LRA 427.

[c] Divorce is not a rule or regulation.—Higbee v. Higbee, 4 Utah 19, 27, 5 P 693.

[d] "Minute" of board of directors is not necessarily a rule or regulation. Belmar v. Prior, 81 N. J. L. 254, 258, 79 A 1032. "Minute" 40 C. J. p 1212.

[e] Used in a statute relating to licenses the phrase implies uniformity, publicity, and the establishment of standards by which applicants or licensees may know in advance upon what conditions the license may be granted, or will be withheld or revoked. State Racing Commn. v. Latonia Agricultural Assoc., 136 Ky. 173, 187, 123 SW 681, 25 LRANS 905.

[42] Peo. v. Prendergast, 148 App. Div. 129, 132, 122 NYS 115.

[43] Hopkins v. Lincoln Trust Co., 115 Misc. 257, 187 NYS 883, 886.

[44] Los Angeles v. Gager, 10 Cal. A. 378, 102 P 17, 18.

[45] See Cook v. Cook, 18 Fla. 634, 637.

[46] Black L. D.

[a] In Florida Cir. Ct. Rules, rule 13, providing that all declarations shall be filed on or before the rule day to which the process is made returnable, "rule day" means the return-day on which a defendant is required to appear by summons duly served and returned. Cook v. Cook, 18 Fla. 634, 637.

[47] See Deeds § 311; Trusts [39 Cyc 230]; Wills [40 Cyc 1602–1605].

[48] See Motions and Orders § 69 text and note 58 [a]. See also Equity § 826; Mortgages §§ 1515, 1516, 1600 note 9 [c]; New Trial § 296; Nisi 46 C. J. p 480.

Rule to show cause see Motions and Orders § 69.

[49] See Aerial Navigation § 11 et seq; Highways § 413 et seq; Motor Vehicles § 604.

[50] See Motions and Orders § 69 et seq.

[51] See also Appeal and Error §§ 792–799, 1651–1673; Courts § 323.

[52] Black L. D.; Century D. [both quot State v. O'Brien, 18 Mont. 1, 5, 43 P 1091, 44 P 399].

[a] Has been held to be applicable only to decisions upon questions of law and not to findings upon matters of fact. Paine v. Newton St. R. Co., 192 Mass. 90, 93, 77 NE 1026; Anderson v. O'Donnell, 29 S. C. 355, 365, 7 SE 523, 13 AmSR 728, 1 LRA 632.

[b] Refusal of a judge to do a ministerial act is not a "ruling" or "decision." Cruse v. McQueen, (Tex. Civ. A.) 25 SW 711, 712.

[c] Statement of a purpose to make a ruling in a certain way before the time for it comes is not a ruling. Small v. Saunders, 81 N. H. 520, 129 A 270.

[d] "Determination" distinguished.—Peo. v. Second Dist. Public Serv. Commn., 181 App. Div. 147, 168 NYS 59. "Determination" 18 C. J. p 983.

[53] Keller v. Summers, 262 Mo. 324, 330, 171 SW 336.

Phrases: "Ruling, decision, or finding upon an issue of fact or matter of law,"[54] and "ruling made during the course of the trial;"[55] also "rulings of any state board or commission,"[56] "rulings of the court,"[57] and "rulings of the court in the progress of the trial."[58]

RULING CASTE.[59]

RUM. [§ 1] A. As Noun.[60] A species of spirituous liquor;[61] in its ordinary sense, spirits;[62] specifically, spirit distilled from the juice of the sugarcane in any form, commonly from the refuse juice left from sugar making, but often from molasses, as especially in countries where the sugar cane is not produced.[63]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, as in "rum disease."[64]

RUMOR.[65] Common talk;[66] current story passing from one person to another without any known authority for the truth of it;[67] flying or popular report;[68] general public report of certain things, without any certainty as to their truth.[69]

Any rumor. Any current report and not the remarks of a single person.[70]

RUN.[71] To carry on;[72] to conduct,[73] control,[74] or manage;[75] to operate.[76] Also to move, go, pass, or proceed; to continue.[77]

In relation to fire, the term means to pass, spread, or communicate in ordinary modes.[78]

To run property may mean to remove it.[79]

Phrases: "Conduct and run,"[80] "may run,"[81] "run ahead of third class trains,"[82] "run into money,"[83] "run, maintain, and operate,"[84] "run out,"[85] "to run at large;"[86] and "run out a line;"[87] also "runs upon either side."[88]

RUNNER. As defined by ordinance one who solicited [solicits] patronage or custom for certain business enterprises (including hotels) on any railroad train or other place in the city.[89]

RUNNING.[90] Moving or advancing; continuing.[91]

Running connections.[92] A railroad term said to include only such arrangements as to the time of arrival and departure of trains, and as to stations, platforms, and other facilities, as will enable companies desiring to connect to do so without detriment or serious inconvenience.[93]

Running foot. In paving parlance, foot front of property.[94]

---

[54] Hebert v. Handy, 28 R. I. 317, 318, 67 A 325.

[55] Reade v. Halpin, 180 App. Div. 157, 167 NYS 624, 626.

[56] Paine v. Newton St. R. Co., 192 Mass. 90, 93, 77 NE 1026.

[a] "Rulings of any state department or commission."—Salem v. Eastern Massachusetts St. R. Co., 254 Mass. 42, 45, 149 NE 671.

[57] Gilmer v. Sidenstricker, 42 W. Va. 52, 53, 24 SE 566.

[58] Cooper v. Omohundro, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 65, 69, 22 L. ed. 47; Keeley v. Ophir Hill Cons. Min. Co., 169 Fed. 598, 600, 95 CCA 96.

[a] "Rulings of the court in the cause in the progress of the trial."—Key West v. Baer, 66 Fed. 440, 441; 13 CCA 572.

[59] See Caste 11 C. J. p 27 text and note 91 [a].

[60] Generally see Intoxicating Liquors 33 C. J. p 480.

"Bay Rum" 7 C. J. p 1014.

[61] Grant v. State, 73 Ala. 13, 14.

[62] Rex v. McKenzie, 58 N. S. 313, 45 CanCrCas 144.

[63] Century D.

[64] Streitwolf v. Streitwolf, (N. J. Ch.) 47 A 14, 18 ("that appetite for spirits which cannot be overcome except by actual restraint").

[65] Rumor:
Admissibility in evidence:
  Generally see Evidence § 172.
  In justification or mitigation of libel or slander see Libel and Slander §§ 503, 579.
As constructive notice see Notice § 39.
Defense of libel or slander see Libel and Slander § 196.
Disqualification of juror by opinions derived from see Juries §§ 374–376.
Duty of insured to communicate see Marine Insurance § 157.
Probative quality of see Evidence § 172.
Repetition of see Libel and Slander § 187 et seq.

[66] Smith v. Moore, 74 Vt. 81, 86, 52 A 320.

[67] Webster D. [quot State v. Culler, 82 Mo. 623, 627; State v. Vettere, 76 Mont. 574, 248 P 179, 183].

[a] "Hearsay" synonymous.—Gaffney v. Royal Neighbors of America, 31 Ida. 549, 174 P 1014, 1017; State v. Culler, 82 Mo. 623, 627; State v. Vettere, 76 Mont. 574, 248 P 179, 183. "Hearsay" see Evidence § 166; Hearsay 29 C. J. p 286.

[b] "Story" synonymous.—State v. Culler, 82 Mo. 623, 627; State v. Vettere, 77 Mont. 66, 248 P 179, 183.

[68] Webster D. [quot State v. Culler, 82 Mo. 623, 627; State v. Vettere, 77 Mont. 66, 248 P 179, 183]; Smith v. Moore, 74 Vt. 81, 86, 52 A 320.

"Report" synonymous see Report ante.

[69] Gaffney v. Royal Neighbors of America, 31 Ida. 549, 174 P 1014, 1017.

Newspaper report see Newspaper Report 46 C. J. p 16.

[70] Smith v. Moore, 74 Vt. 81, 86, 52 A 320.

[71] See also Running post.

[72] Webster New Int. D. [quot Peo. v. Bogess, 194 Cal. 212, 228 P 448, 455; State v. Kamuda, 98 Vt. 466, 129 A 306, 309].

"Carry on" see Carry 10 C. J. p 1240, 1241 text and notes 26–30.

[73] Webster New Int. D. [quot Peo. v. Bogess, 194 Cal. 212, 228 P 448, 455; State v. Kamuda, 98 Vt. 466, 129 A 306, 309].

"Conduct" 12 C. J. p 411.

[74] Diel v. Henry Zeltner Brewing Co., 30 App. Div. 291, 293, 51 NYS 930.

"Control" 13 C. J. p 837.

[75] Webster New Int. D. [quot Peo. v. Bogess, 194 Cal. 212, 228 P 448, 455; State v. Kamuda, 98 Vt. 466, 129 A 306, 309]; Diel v. Henry Zeltner Brewing Co., 30 App. Div. 291, 293, 51 NYS 930.

"Manage" 38 C. J. p 521.

[76] Diel v. Henry Zeltner Brewing Co., 30 App. Div. 291, 293, 51 NYS 930.

"Operate" 46 C. J. p 1110.

[77] Webster New Int. D.

[78] Ayer v. Starkey, 30 Conn. 304, 307.

"Communicate" 12 C. J. p 211.

"Pass" 47 C. J. p 1372.

[79] Williams v. State, 27 Tex. A. 258, 260, 11 SW 114 (running property out of state).

"Remove" ante.

[80] Highland Ave., etc., R. Co. v. Thornton, 105 Ala. 225, 228, 16 S 699. See also Conduct 12 C. J. p 412 text and note 70 [a] (3).

[81] Harris v. Macomb, 213 Ill. 47, 50, 72 NE 762, 763.

[82] Cogbill v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 152 Ala. 154, 158, 44 S 683.

[83] Perry v. Smith, 22 Vt. 301, 306.

[84] Turner v. State, 153 Ark. 40, 239 SW 373, 375.

[85] Hinsdale County v. Mineral County, 9 Colo. A. 368, 376, 48 P 675, 678.

[86] Gedge v. Lindsay, 7 Terr. L. 141, 143 (as applied to prairie fires).

[87] Mineral County v. Hinsdale County, 25 Colo. 95, 99, 53 P 383 (when used in connection with surveying, means that a person qualified to do such work shall go upon the ground, and with proper instruments, chainmen and necessary assistants, establish and mark a line upon the surface of the earth).

[88] Cornell v. Franklin County Comrs., 67 Oh. St. 335, 338, 65 NE 998.

[89] Engel v. Frank Parmalee Co., 169 Ill. A. 410.

[90] See also Run ante.

[91] Webster New Int. D.

[92] Furnishing facilities to connecting lines see Carriers § 938 et seq.

[93] Oregon Short Line, etc., R. Co. v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 51 Fed. 465, 476, 478 [aff 61 Fed. 158, 163, 9 CCA 409].

Running front foot.[95] As used in statute relating to assessments for improvements, the aggregate frontage on both sides of the street.[96]

Running head. The line at the top of the page, which contains the folio or number of the page with the title of the book.[97]

Running lease. A term applied to a lease allowing the tenant the use of all the land he could clear in his lifetime.[98]

Running light. An expression used with regard to a railroad engine when it is not drawing cars.[99]

Other phrases: "Prohibited from running at large,"[1] "running account,"[2] "running along . . . line,"[3] "running and operating a railroad,"[4] "running at large,"[5] "running board,"[6] "running condition,"[7] "running days,"[8] "running down,"[9] "running fall,"[10] "running . . . loose,"[11] "running of the cars,"[12] "running of the locomotive or cars, or other machinery,"[13] "running of the train,"[14] "running order,"[15] "running policy,"[16] "running properly,"[17] "running repairs,"[18] "running season,"[19] "running switch,"[20] "running the shore,"[21] "running up the creek;"[22] also "running with,"[23] "running with the land,"[24] "the right to running water,"[25] "while running,"[26] and "whilst running, conducting or managing any locomotive, car or train of cars."[27]

RUNNING ACCOUNT.[28]

RUNNING AT LARGE.[29]

RUNNING DAYS.[30]

RUNNING POLICY.[31]

RUNNING SWITCH.[32]

RUNNING WITH THE LAND.[33]

RUN-OUT. A term applied in molding[34] when the heated metal escapes through any imperfection in the mold.[35]

RUNWAY. The path or tracks over which anything runs; a passageway.[36]

RUPTURE.[37] [§ 1] A. As Noun. A breaking or bursting asunder;[38] the forcible tearing or breaking of a part.[39] As used in a boiler insurance policy, a tearing asunder of the boiler or any portion thereof.[40]

Hernia[41] may constitute a "rupture."[42]

---

[94] Barber Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Howcott, 109 La. 692, 33 S 734.

"Foot" see 26 C. J. p 790.

"Per foot" see Per 48 C. J. p 808 text and note 62.

[95] "Running foot" supra text and note 94.

[96] Klein v. Nugent Gravel Co., (Ind.) 66 NE 486, 489. See also Municipal Corporations § 3112.

Front-foot rule see Front-Foot Rule 27 C. J. p 911; Municipal Corporations § 3112.

[97] Century D. [quot Miller v. State, 81 Ark. 359, 362, 99 SW 533].

"Page" 46 C. J. p 1168.

[98] Cowan v. Hatcher, (Tenn. Ch. A.) 59 SW 689, 691.

Leases generally see Landlord and Tenant § 379 et seq.

[99] Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Nicholson, (Tex. Civ. A.) 57 SW 693, 694.

[1] See Prohibit 50 C. J. p 650 text and note 99.

[2] See Accounts and Accounting § 8.

[3] Ramsay v. Butler, 148 Md. 438, 129 A 650, 651.

[4] Neely v. Buchanan, (Tenn. Ch. A.) 54 SW 995, 997.

[5] See Animals §§ 610–612; Larceny § 17; Municipal Corporations §§ 334, 335; Railroads § 1460.

[6] Central of Georgia R. Co. v. Bell, 133 Ga. 92, 65 SE 155. See also Footboard 26 C. J. p 790.

[7] Lane v. McLay, 91 Conn. 185, 99 A 498, 499.

"Condition" 12 C. J. p 398.

[8] See Shipping [36 Cyc 366].

[9] See Marine Insurance § 276 (in policy).

[10] Mt. Carmel v. Guthridge, 52 Ill. A. 632, 635.

[11] Testerman v. Hines, 88 W. Va. 547, 107 SE 201. See also Running light supra text and note 99.

[12] Georgia R., etc., Co. v. Reeves, 123 Ga. 697, 705, 51 SE 610; Gulfport, etc., Tract. Co. v. Hicks, 116 Miss. 164, 76 S 873.

[13] Tampa Electric Co. v. Soule, 84 Fla. 557, 94 S 692, 697; McGrady v. Charlotte Harbor, etc., R. Co., 66 Fla. 486, 63 S 921, 922; Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. v. Bishop, 132 Ga. 71, 81, 63 SE 1103; Smith v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 5 Ga. A. 219, 221, 62 SE 1020.

[14] Southern Ry. Co. v. Holbrook, 124 Ga. 679, 681, 53 SE 203.

[15] Lane v. McLay, 91 Conn. 185, 99 A 498, 499; Rhodes v. Cox, 9 KyL 895.

[16] See Insurance § 179; Marine Insurance § 48.

[17] See Properly 50 C. J. p 724 text and note 98.

[18] St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. State, 86 Ark. 518, 520, 112 SW 150; Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sanford, etc., Co., 158 Md. 525, 149 A 275, 281.

[19] See Sales [35 Cyc 180 text and note 18].

[20] See Flying Switch 26 C. J. p 745.

[21] Whitmore v. Brown, 100 Me. 410, 61 A 985, 988.

[22] Webb v. Bedford, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 354, 357.

[23] Merchants' Underwriters v. Parkhurst-Davis Mercantile Co., 140 Ill. A. 504, 508. See also "Concurrent" 12 C. J. p 393 text and note 2.

[24] See Covenants §§ 53–90; Deeds §§ 386–388.

[25] See Water Right [40 Cyc 541 text and note 29a].

[26] See Marine Insurance 38 C. J. p 1035 text and note 93.

[27] Gray v. Wabash R. Co., 157 Mo. A. 92, 97, 137 SW 324; Peters v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 150 Mo. A. 721, 733, 131 SW 917; Pratt v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 139 Mo. A. 502, 507, 122 SW 1125.

[28] See Accounts and Accounting § 8.

[29] See Animals §§ 610–612. See also Larceny § 17; Municipal Corporations §§ 334, 335; Railroads § 1460.

[30] See Shipping [36 Cyc 366 text and note 13].

[31] See Insurance § 179 text and note 84 [a]; Marine Insurance § 48.

[32] See Flying Switch 26 C. J. p 745.

[33] Conditions see Deeds §§ 386–388.

Covenants §§ 53–90.

[34] "Mold" 40 C. J. p 1488.

[35] Kehoe v. Allen, 92 Mich. 464, 466, 52 NW 740, 31 AmSR 608.

[36] Century D.

Duty of master see Master and Servant §§ 476, 477, 728.

[37] Cross references:
Accident Insurance § 128.
Boiler Insurance 8 C. J. p 1140 text and note 7.
Damages § 420.
Workmen's Compensation Acts § 57 text and note 42.

[38] Cleveland Drop Forge Co. v. Travelers' Indemn. Co., 114 Oh. St. 549, 151 NE 671, 672.

[39] Dorland Med. D. [quot Webber v. Massachusetts Bonding, etc., Co., 81 Mont. 351, 357, 263 P 101].

[40] Louisville College of Dentistry v. Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection, etc., Co., 185 Ky. 778, 215 SW 941, 942.

[a] "Bursting" distinguished.—Funk & W. D. [quot Cleveland Drop Forge Co. v. Travelers' Indemn. Co., 114 Oh. St. 549, 151 NE 671, 672]. "Bursting" 9 C. J. p 1101.

"Explosion" distinguished see Explosion 25 C. J. p 68 [b].

[41] "Hernia" 29 C. J. p 349.

[42] Webber v. Massachusetts Bonding, etc., Co., 81 Mont. 351, 357, 263 P 101; Texas Indemn. Ins. Co. v. Holloway, (Tex. Civ. A.) 30 SW (2d) 921, 926; Southern Casualty Co. v. Fulkerson, (Tex. Civ. A.) 30 SW (2d) 911, 916.

[§ 2] B. As Verb. To break apart or separate the parts;[43] to open or part, as a steam boiler, without extreme violence.[44]

RURAL. Of or pertaining to the country, as distinguished from a city or town.[45]

Rural population. A phrase understood to signify a people scattered over the country and engaged in agricultural pursuits or some similar avocation requiring a considerable area of territory for its support.[46]

Rural real estate. That located in the country, in an agricultural district.[47]

Phrases: "Rural homestead,"[48] "rural letter carrier,"[49] "rural post road;"[50] and "rural [telephone] line."[51]

RURAL HOMESTEAD.[52]

RURAL LETTER CARRIER.[53]

RUSH. It has been said that the term undoubtedly requires something more than ordinary diligence.[54]

RUSH GAME or HORSE GAME.[55] The practice of the game is to find some one in advance, when the others form in a line, each one in the rear pushing the one in advance of him, and so on through the line until the one to be "rushed," who knows nothing of what is coming, is rushed upon by the one in his rear, and pushed or rushed.[56]

RUSK. As commonly understood, a light, sweetened bread, biscuit, or cake that has been crisped and browned in an oven.[57]

RUSSETTS. A term employed to designate an inferior quality of grape fruit.[58]

RUST. A term, although most commonly applied to the red or yellowish rust of iron, includes, as a part of its definition, the oxidation of any other metals, as well as iron.[59] As used in a bill of lading, includes not only rust occasioned by dampness of the atmosphere, but rust occasioned by water as well.[60]

RUSTIC. Unadorned, awkward, and pertaining to the country, rural.[61]

RUSTICUM FORUM. A phrase sometimes used in reference to proceedings of arbitrators.[62]

RUSTICUM JUS. In maritime law, the application of an equal division of damages.[63]

RUSTLER. A term used to designate a cattle thief.[64]

RUT. A synonym for furrow.[65]

RYE WHISKY.[66]

RUUNT MAGNA IN SE.[67]

S. An abbreviation for "section,"[68] "south,"[69] "statute,"[70] and various other words of which it is the initial.[71]

"S," long. Old fashioned form of the letter sometimes used to double the "s."[72]

SABBATH.[73]

SABBATH-BREAKING.[74]

SABOTAGE.[75]

SACCHARINE. An acid anhydrid;[76] anhydro-

---

[43] Dallas v. Moore, 32 Tex. Civ. A. 230, 237, 74 SW 95.

[44] Funk & W. D. [quot Cleveland Drop Forge Co. v. Travelers' Indemn. Co., 114 Oh. St. 549, 151 NE 671, 672].

[45] Webster New Int. D.

[46] State v. Eidson, 76 Tex. 302, 305, 13 SW 263, 7 LRA 733.

[a] "Town population" distinguished.—State v. Eidson, 76 Tex. 302, 305, 13 SW 263, 7 LRA 733.

[47] Stees v. Bergmeier, 91 Minn. 513, 516, 98 NW 648. See also Municipal Corporations § 3121.

[48] See Homesteads § 91.

[49] See Post Office § 73.

[50] Cunningham v. Potts, 9 F. (2d) 469, 471.

[51] See Telegraphs and Telephones.

[52] See Homesteads § 91.

[53] See Post Office § 73.

[54] Boston Lumber Co. v. Pendleton Bros., 102 Conn. 626, 632, 129 A 782.

"Ordinary diligence" see Ordinary 18 C. J. p 1040 text and notes 50–57.

[55] Assault and Battery § 8 note 50 [a] (7).

[56] Markley v. Whitman, 95 Mich. 236, 54 NW 763, 35 AmSR 558, 20 LRA 55.

[57] U. S. v. Hermanos, 9 Cust. A. 66, 67 [cit Standard D.].

[58] Abel v. Murphy, 43 Misc. 648, 649, 88 NYS 256.

"Grapefruit" 28 C. J. p 823.

[59] Wolff v. The Vaderland, 18 Fed. 733, 739.

[60] The J. L. Luckenbach, 209 Fed. 142, 143; Broderick, etc., Rope Co. v. Luckenbach SS. Co., 139 Wash. 444, 247 P 937, 938. See also Carriers § 577 note 10 [b]; Shipping [36 Cyc 288 text and note 92].

[61] Raley v. State, 47 Tex. Civ. A. 426, 105 SW 342, 344.

"Rural" ante.

[62] Dickinson v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 7 W. Va. 390, 429 [quot Underhill v. Van Cortlandt, 2 Johns. Ch. 339, 361]. See generally Arbitration and Award 5 C. J. p 1.

[63] The Victory, 68 Fed. 395, 400, 15 CCA 490. See also 3 Kent Comm. p 231 (where it is called "rusticum judicium").

[64] Galeppi v. Swanston, (Cal. A.) 290 P 116, 119. See also Animals § 249 et seq; Larceny § 17.

[65] Maxim Mfg. Co. v. Imperial Mach. Co., 286 Fed. 79, 83.

"Object" as including see Motor Vehicles § 363 text and notes 85, 87.

[66] See Pure 51 C. J. p 100 text and note 73. See also Intoxicating Liquors 33 C. J. p 480.

[67] A maxim meaning "Great interests are apt to clash." Morgan Leg. Max.

[68] Black L. D.

[69] Webster Unabr. D. [quot Sibley v. Smith, 2 Mich. 486, 503]; Bradley v. New York Cent. R. Co., 296 Ill. 383, 389, 129 NE 744. See Law v. Peo., 80 Ill. 268, 269; Etchison Ditching Assoc. v. Jarrell, 33 Ind. 131, 132.

[a] Abbreviation "plain and valid in law."—Sibley v. Smith, 2 Mich. 486, 503.

[b] Held sufficient in descriptions.—Law v. Peo., 80 Ill. 268, 269; Etchison Ditching Assoc. v. Jarrell, 33 Ind. 131, 132; Sibley v. Smith, 2 Mich. 486, 503.

[c] Supreme court "may take judicial notice of the fact that 'N' and 'S' when applied to directions are properly read north and south." Bradley v. New York Cent. R. Co., 296 Ill. 383, 389, 129 NE 744.

[70] Black L. D.

[71] Black L. D.

[72] Albright v. Lehigh Coal, etc., Co., 203 Pa. 65, 69, 52 A 33.

[a] In discussing old spelling of name.—"Generally his name is spelled by the officers as 'Moser,' occasionally as 'Mosser.' . . . His signature to the waiver is written with the old-fashioned long 's,' now sometimes used in English to double the 's,' but at the date of the writing it signified but one s, and therefore the name spelled by the defendant is 'Moser,' as it appears in all the other papers in the suit now to be found in the office." Albright v. Lehigh Coal, etc., Co., 203 Pa. 65, 69, 52 A 33.

[73] See Sunday [37 Cyc 539].

[74] See Sunday [37 Cyc 577 et seq].

[75] See Insurrection and Sedition §§ 12, 23.

[76] Lutz v. Magone, 153 U. S. 105, 108, 14 SCt 777, 38 L. ed. 651.

---

*By Carlos M. Sandoval (S. to Sale or Return inclusive).

ortho-sulphamin-benzoic acid;[77] a trade name for benzoic sulphinide.[78] It is derived from coal tar;[79] and is used in many ways as a sugar substitute.[80]

SACK. [§ 1] A. As Noun, the term has a variety of meanings.[81] In a general sense, a measure of quantity;[82] an encasement not usually of permanent value and ordinarily used for the convenient transportation of the contents;[83] a receptacle of some pliable material, as cloth, leather, or the like, for holding and carrying goods of any kind;[84] its most natural meaning being a receptacle for holding the more coarse and bulky articles.[85] In a special sense, a fund in hand to be used for purposes of corruption.[86]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective, the term may be employed.[87]

Sack raft. A raft described as being round, or nearly so, in shape, the outside or boom logs fastened together at their ends with chains or ropes in a loose manner, with considerable slack, and inclosed in these boom logs are loose logs, put in without regard to position or order, with no binders of any sort, so that when the towline is made fast, and the towboat begins to pull on it, the raft becomes more or less elongated, and takes somewhat the shape of a sack or bag.[88]

SACRAMENTA PAUPERUM SUNT SERVANDA.[89]

SACRAMENTA PUBERUM SUNT SERVANDA.[90]

SACRAMENTUM HABET IN SE TRES COMITES, VERITATEM, JUSTITIAM ET JUDICIUM; VERITAS HABENDA EST IN JURATO; JUSTITIA ET JUSTICIUM IN JUDICE.[91]

SACRAMENTUM SI FATUUM FUERIT, LICET FALSUM, TAMEN NON COMMITTIT PERJURIUM.[92]

SACRED. In its ordinary sense, set apart by solemn religious ceremony or to religious use.[93] As used in a state constitution, with reference to the right to trial by an impartial jury, the term means no more than the word "inviolate,"[94] found in the fundamental law of some of the states;[95] hence it only means that the right itself shall be free from destruction or material impairment.[96]

Sacred things. In the classification of the Spanish civil law, those established for the service of God, and, as the consequence of such establishment, the dominion of them was not in man and they could not be counted property.[97]

SACRIFICE. As known to the maritime law, a term which is used in the sense of giving up or suffering to be lost for the sake of something else, not in the sense of an immolation.[98]

SACRILEGII INSTAR EST RESCRIPTUM PRINCIPIS OBVIARE.[99]

SACRILEGIUS OMNIUM PRÆDONUM CUPIDITATEM ET SCELERA SUPERAT.[1]

SADDLERY. As commonly understood,[2] the term means all leather articles and fittings used about horse furniture or for the equipment of horses;[3] the articles usually offered for sale in a saddler's shop;[4] the materials for making saddles and harness;[5] saddles and whatever belongs to them collectively.[6] The term ought to be applied to the trappings of a well horse, a "going" horse, and not a sick one.[7]

---

[77] U. S. v. Lehn, 113 Fed. 1005.

[78] Lutz v. Magone, 153 U. S. 105, 108, 14 SCt 777, 38 L. ed. 651.

[79] Lutz v. Magone, 153 U. S. 105, 108, 14 SCt 777, 38 L. ed. 651 [aff 41 Fed. 128]; U. S. v. Lehn, 113 Fed. 1005.

[a] Distinguished from "dulcin," which is also derived from coal tar. U. S. v. Lehn, 113 Fed. 1005.

[80] Webster New Int. D.

[81] State v. Nunn, 122 Wash. 437, 438, 210 P 771.

[82] State v. Nunn, supra.

[a] "Five sacks of whiskey."—This phrase used in an information for possessing and carrying about with intent to sell "five sacks of whiskey" held not to render such information void, since the phrase was probably used in the sense of measure of quantity. State v. Nunn, 122 Wash. 437, 438, 210 P 771.

[83] U. S. v. Nicholls, 186 U. S. 298, 300, 22 SCt 918, 46 L. ed. 1173 (construing phrase "cartons, cases, crates, boxes, sacks and coverings of any kind").

[84] State v. Nunn, 122 Wash. 437, 438, 210 P 771.

[85] State v. Nunn, supra.

[86] Edwards v. San Jose Printing, etc., Soc., 99 Cal. 431, 436, 34 P 128, 37 AmSR 70 (where the term was so construed when used in a newspaper publication stating that a corporation would put a large sum of money into the fight to corrupt voters, and that a certain person would have charge of the "sack").

[87] See cases infra note 88.

[88] The Mary, 123 Fed. 609, 611. See The Athabasca, 45 Fed. 651, 653, 654. See also Logs and Logging § 116 et seq.

"Raft" 51 C. J. p 367.

[89] A maxim meaning "The oaths of the poor are to be kept." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Halkerstone Leg. Max.].

[90] A maxim meaning "The oaths of minors are to kept inviolate." Morgan Leg. Max: [cit Trayner Leg. Max.].

[91] A maxim meaning "An oath has in it three component parts, truth, justice, and judgment; truth in the party swearing; justice and judgment in the judge administering the oath." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 3 Inst. 160].

[92] A maxim meaning "A foolish oath, though false, makes not perjury." Bouvier L. D. [cit 2 Inst. 167].

[93] Webster New Int. D. See also Sacred things infra note 97.

[94] State v. Mercier, 98 Vt. 368, 370, 127 A 715 (Const. c 1 arts 10, 12). See Peo. v. Peete, 54 Cal. A. 333, 363, 202 P 51.

"Inviolate" 33 C. J. p 809.

[95] See constitutional provisions.

[96] State v. Mercier, 98 Vt. 368, 370, 127 A 715. See State v. De Lorenzo, 81 N. J. L. 613, 616, 79 A 839, AnnCas 1912D 329; Humphrey v. Eakeley, 72 N. J. L. 424, 426, 60 A 1097, 5 Ann Cas 929. See also Juries §§ 13–15, 22, 31, 94.

[a] It does not mean: (1) "That the mode of listing and selecting the jurors shall forever remain unchanged." State v. Mercier, 98 Vt. 368, 370, 127 A 715. (2) "That it shall be unalterable." Clayton v. Clark, 55 N. J. L. 539, 540, 26 A 795 [quot State v. De Lorenzo, 81 N. J. L. 613, 616, 79 A 839, AnnCas1912D 329; Humphrey v. Eakeley, 72 N. J. L. 424, 425, 60 A 1097, 5 AnnCas 929].

[97] Sullivan v. Richardson, 33 Fla. 1, 114, 14 S 692.

[98] The Roanoke, 46 Fed. 297, 298. See Heye v. North German Lloyd, 33 Fed. 60, 63; Shepherd v. Kottgen, 2 C. P. D. 585, 589, 590. See also Shipping [36 Cyc 373–390].

[99] A maxim meaning "It is like sacrilege to oppose the order of the ruler of one's country." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Tayler L. Gloss.].

[1] A maxim meaning "A sacrilegious person transcends the cupidity and wickedness of all other despoilers." Morgan Leg. Max. [cit Adams' Case, 4 Coke 104b, 106, 76 Reprint 1091].

[2] Wyman v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. 241, 243.

[3] Wyman v. U. S., supra [cit Century D.; New Standard D.].

[a] Not "limited to articles of leather, because it appears that there is a saddle cloth and I suppose the court may take judicial notice that the surcingle is made of canvas." Veil v. U. S., 113 Fed. 856.

[b] Tariff Act (1922) par 1436 imposes duty on "saddlery and parts thereof . . . that is to say all horse furniture and equipment and parts thereof other than harness and saddles," [these latter being covered elsewhere in the act]. Wyman v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. 241, 243.

For later cases, developments and changes in the law see Annotations, same title and section number.

SADISM.[8]

SÆPE CONSTITUTUM EST, RES INTER ALIOS JUDICATAS ALIIS NON PRÆJUDICARE.[9]

SÆPENUMERO UBI PROPRIETAS VERBORUM ATTENDITUR, SENSUS VERITATIS AMITTITUR.[10]

SÆPE VIATOREM NOVA, NON VETUS ORBITA FALLIT.[11]

SÆVITIA. A term of the civil law,[12] of the ecclesiastical courts of England,[13] and of English law,[14] corresponding to "cruel treatment,"[15] or "cruelty;"[16] and which may be defined to be personal violence actually inflicted or menaced, and affecting life or health.[17]

SAFE. [§ 1] A. As Adjective.[18] Free from danger of any kind;[19] frequently construed to mean "reasonably safe;"[20] secure;[21] so free from danger to life or health as the nature or place of employment reasonably permits;[22] sound.[23] The term has been defined in statutes[24] as meaning such freedom from danger to the life, health, safety,[25] or welfare[26] of employees[27] or frequenters,[28] as the nature of the employment,[29] place of employment,[30] or public

---

4. Webster New Int. D. [quot Wyman v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. 241, 243].

[a] Whips are not saddlery.—In construing tariff provisions, [Act July 24, 1897, par 208, 447] the court said: "There is, therefore, nothing to support the findings of the board that these whips are saddlery, except in so far as it is a matter of common knowledge that carriage whips are kept in saddler's shops." Davies v. U. S., 107 Fed. 266, 267.

5. Webster New Int. D. [quot Wyman v. U. S., 13 Cust. A. 241, 243].

6. Wyman v. U. S., supra [cit Century D.; New Standard D.].

7. Veil v. U. S., 113 Fed. 856.

[a] Held not to include woolen bands intended for use of veterinary surgeons, to be applied to lame legs. Veil v. U. S., 113 Fed. 856.

8. See Insane Persons § 128.

9. A maxim meaning "It has often been settled that matters adjudged between others ought not to prejudice those who were not parties." Black L. D. [cit Dig. 42, 1, 63].

10. A maxim meaning "Frequently where the propriety of words is attended to, the meaning of truth is lost." Bouvier L. D.

11. A maxim meaning "Often it is the new track, not the old one, which deceives the traveler." Peloubet Leg. Max. [cit 4 Inst. 34].

12. Hair v. Hair, 31 S. C. Eq. 163, 173 [quot Briggs v. Briggs, 24 S. C. 377, 380].

13. Beebe v. Beebe, 10 Iowa 133, 135.

14. Ring v. Ring, 118 Ga. 183, 184, 44 SE 861, 62 LRA 878.

15. Ring v. Ring, supra.

"Cruel treatment" as ground for divorce see Divorce §§ 80–107.

"Cruel treatment" 17 C. J. p 388.

16. Beebe v. Beebe, 10 Iowa 133, 135.

"Cruelty" 17 C. J. p 388.

17. Hair v. Hair, 31 S. C. Eq. 163, 173 [quot Briggs v. Briggs, 24 S. C. 377, 380].

[a] "To this may be added as constituting 'sævitia' of another kind: When the husband has not actually inflicted any bodily injury, yet practices such obscene and revolting indecencies in the family circle that a modest and pure-minded woman would find these grievances more intolerable to be borne than the most cruel afflictions upon her person." Briggs v. Briggs, 24 S. C. 377, 380.

18. See also Safely post; Safety post.

Iron safe clause see Fire Insurance § 320.

Safe place to work see Master and Servant § 441 et seq.

19. Webster D. [quot Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Brownlee, 14 Bush (Ky.) 590, 595]. See Martin v. Des Moines Edison Light Co., 131 Iowa 724, 731, 106 NW 359.

[a] "In common parlance, [safe place to work] does not mean a place so made or guarded as to exclude all possibility of danger." Martin v. Des Moines Edison Light Co., 131 Iowa 724, 731, 106 NW 359.

20. Waterbury v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 207 Ill. A. 375, 379; Lively v. American Zinc Co., 137 Tenn. 261, 273, 191 SW 975. See also Reasonably 52 C. J. p 1188 note 17.

[a] As used in reference to the duties of masters to servants, or railroads to passengers, the term does not have an absolute and unqualified meaning. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Barnett, 65 Ark. 255, 258, 45 SW 550.

[b] "Does not purport absolute safety, but only reasonable safety." Lively v. American Zinc Co., 137 Tenn. 261, 273, 191 SW 975.

[c] "The words 'safe' and 'care' and 'safe place' are frequently used interchangeably with 'reasonably safe' and 'reasonable care.' 'Safe' and 'unsafe' are words frequently used in comparison by courts in discussing the question of a reasonably safe place, and evidently without any intention of changing the well-established rule of reasonable care or a reasonably safe place." Gray v. Washington Water Power Co., 30 Wash. 665, 671, 71 P 206 [quot Lively v. American Zinc Co., 137 Tenn. 261, 274, 191 SW 975].

21. Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779.

[a] "Secure" synonymous.—Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779.

22. Dugenske v. Wyse, 194 Wis. 159, 215 NW 829, 830.

[a] Similar definition.—"As free from danger to the life, safety, and welfare of the employee as the nature of the employment would reasonably permit." Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373.

23. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., supra.

[a] "Sound" synonymous.—"By recognized lexicographers the word 'safe' is given the meaning of sound, and the word 'sound' the meaning of safe." Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 374.

"Sound" [36 Cyc 514].

24. See statutory provisions. See also Oh. Gen. Code § 871–13; Wis. St. (1929) § 101.01 subsec 11; Wis. St. (1911) § 2394–41 subd 11 (all defining "safe" and "safety" in same words).

25. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 170, 171, 141 NE 269; Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509; Olson v. Whitney Bros. Co., 160 Wis. 606, 610, 150 NW 959; Tallman v. Chippewa Sugar Co., 155 Wis. 36, 39, 143 NW 1054.

26. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 170, 171, 141 NE 269; Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509.

27. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 170, 171, 141 NE 269; Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509; Olson v. Whitney Bros. Co., 160 Wis. 606, 610, 150 NW 959; Tallman v. Chippewa Sugar Co., 155 Wis. 36, 39, 143 NW 1054.

28. Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 170, 171, 141 NE 269; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 258, 191 NW 509; Olson v. Whitney Bros. Co., 160 Wis. 606, 610, 150 NW 959; Tallman v. Chippewa Sugar Co., 155 Wis. 36, 39, 143 NW 1054.

29. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 170, 171, 141 NE 269; Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Olson v. Whitney Bros. Co., 160 Wis. 606, 610, 150 NW 959; Tallman v. Chippewa Sugar Co., 155 Wis. 36, 39, 143 NW 1054.

30. Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188.

building,[31] will reasonably permit.[32]

Safe deposit company.[33] A company which maintains vaults for the deposit and safekeeping of valuables in which compartments or boxes are rented to customers who have exclusive access thereto, subject to the oversight and under the rules and regulations of the company;[34] one whose purposes are to keep and maintain safe deposit vaults and safes and strong boxes for the safe-keeping of valuable articles and property of all kinds.[35]

Other phrases: "Safe and available,"[36] "safe and close custody,"[37] "safe and convenient,"[38] "safe and decent access,"[39] "safe and harmless,"[40] "safe and sufficient,"[41] "safe and suitable,"[42] "safe and suitable appliance,"[43] "safe and unobstructed exit,"[44] "safe and workmanlike manner,"[45] "safe berth,"[46] "safe custody,"[47] "safe depository,"[48] "safe distance,"[49] "safe employment,"[50] "safe-guards,"[51] "safe harbor,"[52] "safe highway,"[53] "safe-keeping,"[54] "safe limit,"[55] "safe limit of speed,"[56] "safe machinery,"[57] "safe means,"[58] "safe port,"[59] "safe rate of speed,"[60] "suitable and safe."[61]

[§ 2] B. As Noun. A place or structure for the storage of money, papers, or valuables, in safety from risk of theft or fire;[62] the actual receptacle in which valuables are placed to complete their safety.[63]

Other phrases: "Safe or vault,"[64] also "vault or safe."[65]

SAFE APPLIANCE.[66]

SAFE–CONDUCT.[67]

SAFE CRACKER. One who uses explosives in an attempt to break open a safe used for keeping valuables, with intent to commit a larceny;[68] but the term has a broader meaning than one who cracks or attempts to crack a safe by the use of an explosive and may cover persons who break or attempt to break into safes through other instrumentalities.[69]

---

[31] Holcomb v. Szymczyk, supra; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509.

[a] "'Safe' as applied to a public building is defined [in a statute], 'shall mean such freedom from danger to the life, health, safety or welfare of employees or frequenters, or the public, or tenants, or firemen, and such reasonable means of notification, egress and escape in case of fire, and such freedom from danger to adjacent buildings, or other property, as the nature of the employment, place of employment, or public building, will reasonably permit.'" Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188. See Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509 (partially quoting same statutory definition).

[b] A building is "safe," within meaning of the statute, which is composed of proper materials and is structurally safe, and statute does not apply to temporary conditions, having no relation to structure of building or materials of which composed. Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 104, 202 NW 188.

[32] Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 170, 171, 141 NE 269; Wenzel, etc., Constr. Co. v. Industrial Commn., (Wis.) 233 NW 777, 779; Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 258, 191 NW 509; Olson v. Whitney Bros. Co., 160 Wis. 606, 610, 150 NW 959; Tallman v. Chippewa Sugar Co., 155 Wis. 36, 39, 143 NW 1054.

[33] Safe deposit company:
In general see Warehousemen [40 Cyc 396].
Garnishment of property in custody of see Garnishment § 105.
Liability of bank for negligence in caring for special deposit see Banks and Banking §§ 331, 332.

[34] Bouvier L. D.

[35] See State v. Kelsey, 53 N. J. L. 590, 591, 22 A 342.

[36] Lively v. American Zinc Co., 137 Tenn. 261, 274, 191 SW 975.

[37] Steere v. Field, 22 F. Cas. No. 13,350, 2 Mason 486, 495.

[38] Morgan v. Lewiston, 91 Me. 566, 570, 40 A 545; Church v. Cherryfield, 33 Me. 460; McClosky v. Moies, 19 R. I. 297, 299, 33 A 225.

[39] Dunn v. Western Union Tel. Co., 2 Ga. A. 845, 59 SE 189, 191.

[40] Schneck v. Lewis, 121 Misc. 370, 201 NYS 282, 287.

[41] Lake Erie, etc., R. Co. v. McFall, 165 Ind. 574, 76 NE 400, 402.

[42] Wall v. Marshutz, 138 Cal. 522, 526, 71 P 692; Lively v. American Zinc Co., 137 Tenn. 261, 274, 191 SW 975.

[43] Davis v. Northwestern R. Co., 75 S. C. 303, 55 SE 526, 528. See also Master and Servant §§ 441–451.

[44] Hoffman v. Fraad, 130 Misc. 667, 224 NYS 694, 703.

[45] Consolidated Coal Co. v. Schaefer, 135 Ill. 210, 216, 25 NE 788.

[46] The Juniata, 124 Fed. 861, 863.

[47] Reg. v. Newman, 8 Q. B. D. 706, 710.

[a] Intrusting "for investment" distinguished from intrusting "for safe custody." Reg. v. Newman, 8 Q. B. D. 706, 710.

"Custody" 17 C. J. p 440.

[48] Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Brownlee, 14 Bush (Ky.) 590, 595.

[49] Wadsworth v. Marshall, 88 Me. 263, 271, 34 A 30, 32 LRA 588.

[50] Miller v. Paine Lumber Co. (Wis.) 230 NW 702, 703.

[a] "Broader in scope than a safe 'place of employment.'" Miller v. Paine Lumber Co., (Wis.) 230 NW 702, 703.

[51] Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373.

[52] The Donna Lane, 299 Fed. 977, 980.

[53] See Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Leachman, 161 Ind. 512, 518, 69 NE 253. See also Highways §§ 444–467.

[54] Wright v. Paine, 62 Ala. 340, 344, 34 AmR 24; In re Huston, 27 Ida. 231, 238, 147 P 1064. See also Depositories §§ 1–11.

[55] Horton v. New York Cent. R. Co., 205 App. Div. 763, 200 NYS 365, 366.

[56] Grimshaw v. Rutland R. Co., 205 App. Div. 155, 199 NYS 590, 592.

[57] Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Wells, 81 Tex. 685, 687, 17 SW 511; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Lyons, (Tex. Civ. A.) 34 SW 362, 364. See also Master and Servant § 441 et seq.

[58] Texas, etc., R. Co. v. Beezley, 46 Tex. Civ. A. 108, 101 SW 1051, 1052. See also Carriers § 1354.

"Means" 40 C. J. p 18.

[59] Atkins v. Fibre Disintegrating Co., 2 F. Cas. No. 601, 2 Ben. 381, 383; Palace Shipping Co., Ltd. v. Gans SS. Line, [1916] 1 K. B. 138, 141; Reynolds v. Tomlinson, [1896] 1 Q. B. 586, 589; Ogden v. Graham, 1 B. & S. 773, 780, 101 ECL 773, 121 Reprint 901; Hall Bros. SS. Co. v. Paul, Ltd., 30 T. L. R. 598, 599.

[a] Implies port must be both physically and politically safe. Palace Shipping Co., Ltd. v. Gans SS. Line, [1916] 1 K. B. 138, 141; Ogden v. Graham, 1 B. & S. 773, 780, 101 ECL 773, 121 Reprint 901 (port which, on account of political disturbance, vessel could not enter without risk of confiscation is not a safe port).

[60] Cleveland, etc., R. Co. v. Newell, 75 Ind. 542, 544.

[61] Kansas City Southern R. Co. v. Greer, 90 Ark. 531, 119 SW 1121, 1123.

[a] "Good" and "sufficient" held substantially the same as "suitable and safe" in an instruction. Kansas City Southern R. Co. v. Greer, 90 Ark. 531, 119 SW 1121, 1123.

[62] Century D.

[63] Columbia Casualty Co. v. L. W. Rogers Co., 157 Ga. 158, 160, 121 SE 224.

[64] Columbia Casualty Co. v. L. W. Rogers Co., supra.

[65] Smith v. Mine, etc., Supply Co., 32 Utah 21, 26, 32, 88 P 683.

Within meaning of ordinance regulating storage of explosives see Explosives § 6 note 46.

[66] See Master and Servant § 441 et seq.

[67] See War [40 Cyc 325]. See also Passport 47 C. J. p 1375.

[68] State v. O'Day, 74 S. C. 448, 450, 54 SE 607.

[a] Success not necessary.—"It is not essential to constitute a safe cracker that he shall be successful in his attempt to break open the safe." State v. O'Day, 74 S. C. 448, 450, 54 SE 607.

"Larceny" see Larceny §§ 1–3.

SAFE DEPOSIT COMPANY.[70]

SAFEGUARD.[71]

SAFELY.[72] In a safe manner.[73]

Phrases: "Safely anchored,"[74] "safely and securely,"[75] "safely arrived,"[76] "safely carried,"[77] "safely delivered,"[78] "safely in port,"[79] "safely keep,"[80] "safely moored,"[81] and "safely promise."[82]

SAFE PLACE TO WORK.[83]

SAFETY.[84] [§ 1] A. As Noun. Applied to funds, the term means their safekeeping and faithful and punctual accounting for them.[85] Applied to places of employment,[86] and public buildings,[87] it is not an absolute, fixed term, but a relative one;[88] and it has been defined in statutes[89] as meaning such freedom from danger to the life, health, safety or welfare of employees,[90] or frequenters,[91] or the public or tenants,[92] as the nature of the employment,[93] or the public building,[94] will reasonably permit.[95]

In safety. A phrase equivalent to "without injury."[96]

[§ 2] B. As Adjective. Dependable;[97] reliable;[98] security.[99]

Safety gates. Physical hindrances in the way of those seeking to cross railroad tracks.[1]

Safety ground wire. One making direct connection between the framework on which the motor sets and the ground, whereby any leakage of electricity from the motor or wires to the framework is carried into the ground, thus preventing shock to a person coming in contact with the machine.[2]

Other phrases: "Safety appliance,"[3] "safety devices,"[4] "safety first campaign,"[5] and "safety

---

69. State v. O'Day, 74 S. C. 448, 450, 54 SE 607.

70. See Safe ante § 1.

71. See Master and Servant §§ 523–529.

72. See also Safe ante; Safety post.

73. Century D.

74. The Thornley, 98 Fed. 735, 742, 39 CCA 248.

75. Jaminet v. American Storage, etc., Co., 109 Mo. A. 257, 268, 84 SW 128; Ross v. Hill, 2 C. B. 877, 890, 52 ECL 877, 135 Reprint 1190.

[a] In a declaration stating that defendant agreed to carry plaintiff and his baggage "safely and securely," the words meant "safely and securely, regard being had to the relative rights and duties of the parties;" the words importing only an undertaking to use due care. Ross v. Hill, 2 C. B. 877, 52 ECL 877, 135 Reprint 1190.

76. The Thornley, 98 Fed. 735, 742, 39 CCA 248.

77. Heitman v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 45 Mont. 406, 412, 123 P 401. See also Carriers § 79 et seq.

78. The Thornley, 98 Fed. 735, 742, 39 CCA 248.

[a] In construing salvage contract providing no payments for services were due unless the vessel was delivered safely in port, the court said: "'Safely delivered' meant delivered in a safe place, with no impending dangers. . . . 'Safely,' in such connection, does not mean that the ship is intact, without injury or damage resulting from her voyage." The Thornley, 98 Fed. 735, 742, 39 CCA 248.

79. The Thornley, supra.

80. Cormack v. Wolcott, 37 Kan. 391, 394, 15 P 245.

81. The Thornley, 98 Fed. 735, 742, 39 CCA 248.

82. Syracuse Knitting Co. v. Blanchard, 69 N. H. 447, 448, 43 A 637.

83. See Master and Servant § 441 et seq.

84. See also Safe ante; Safely ante.

85. State v. Louisiana Agriculture, etc., Bd., 122 La. 677, 680, 48 S 148.

86. Maryland Casualty Co. v. Thomas Furnace Co., 185 Wis. 98, 102, 201 NW 263; Kelly v. Kneeland-McLurg Lumber Co., 161 Wis. 158, 160, 152 NW 858; Sparrow v. Menasha Paper Co., 154 Wis. 459, 463, 143 NW 317. See also Master and Servant § 441 et seq.

87. Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509.

88. Olson v. Whitney Bros. Co., 160 Wis. 606, 612, 150 NW 959 [quot Maryland Casualty Co. v. Thomas Furnace Co., 185 Wis. 98, 103, 201 NW 263].

89. See statutory provisions. See also Oh. Gen. Code § 871—13; Wis. St. (1929) § 101.01 subsec 11; Wis. St. (1911) § 2394–41 subd 11 (all giving same definition for "safe" and "safety").

90. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 171, 141 NE 269; Maryland Casualty Co. v. Thomas Furnace Co., 185 Wis. 98, 102, 201 NW 263; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509. See Kelly v. Kneeland-McLurg Lumber Co., 161 Wis. 158, 160, 152 NW 858; Sparrow v. Menasha Paper Co., 154 Wis. 459, 463, 143 NW 317 (last two cases omitting "welfare" from quoted statutory definition).

91. Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 171, 141 NE 269; Maryland Casualty Co. v. Thomas Furnace Co., 185 Wis. 98, 102, 201 NW 263; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509; Sparrow v. Menasha Paper Co., 154 Wis. 459, 463, 143 NW 317.

92. Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509.

93. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 171, 141 NE 269; Maryland Casualty Co. v. Thomas Furnace Co., 185 Wis. 98, 102, 201 NW 263; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509; Sparrow v. Menasha Paper Co., 154 Wis. 459, 463, 143 NW 317; Kelly v. Kneeland-McLurg Lumber Co., 161 Wis. 158, 160, 152 NW 858.

94. Holcomb v. Szymczyk, 186 Wis. 99, 102, 202 NW 188; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509.

95. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373; Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Co. v. Fender, 108 Oh. St. 149, 171, 141 NE 269; Maryland Casualty Co. v. Thomas Furnace Co., 185 Wis. 98, 102, 201 NW 263; Gobar v. Val Blatz Brewing Co., 179 Wis. 256, 257, 191 NW 509, 510; Kelly v. Kneeland-McLurg Lumber Co., 161 Wis. 158, 160, 152 NW 858; Sparrow v. Menasha Paper Co., 154 Wis. 459, 463, 143 NW 317.

[a] "Absolute safety is unattainable, and employers are not insurers." Titus v. Bradford, etc., R. Co., 136 Pa. 618, 626, 20 A 517, 20 AmSR 944 [quot Lively v. American Zinc Co., 137 Tenn. 261, 274, 191 SW 975].

96. Missouri, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, 15 Tex. Civ. A. 428, 431, 39 SW 583.

[a] Used in instruction, "the language was not improper in a charge, and did not hold defendant to too great a responsibility, and was, in effect, the same as if it had used the words 'without injury.'" Missouri, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, 15 Tex. Civ. A. 428, 431, 39 SW 583.

97. Safety Storage Co. v. Lupenski, 100 N. J. Eq. 385, 386, 136 A 203.

98. Safety Storage Co. v. Lupenski, supra.

99. Safety Storage Co. v. Lupenski, supra.

[a] Used in name "Safety Storage Company," "safety" means no more than "reliable," "dependable," "security," or the like, and when used in community so as to become generally known by public, any interference or appropriation of dominant part of such name by competitor in manner deceiving public into believing that competitor is original user, to detriment of original user, has been held to be unfair business competition and should be restrained. Safety Storage Co. v. Lupenski, 100 N. J. Eq. 385, 386, 136 A 203.

1. West Jersey, etc., R. Co. v. Bridgeton, 64 N. J. L. 189, 190, 44 A 848. See also Railroads § 1042.

[a] "Warning signals" distinguished.—West Jersey, etc., R. Co. v. Bridgeton, 64 N. J. L. 189, 190, 44 A 848. See also Railroads §§ 1006–1017.

2. Lamberti v. Neal, 253 Mass. 99, 105, 148 NE 463.

3. See Appliance 4 C. J. p 1395 note 67.

"Appliance" 4 C. J. pp 1378–1398.

4. Kuhn v. Cincinnati Tract. Co., 109 Oh. St. 263, 142 NE 370, 373. See State v. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 98 Minn. 380, 108 NW 261, 266, 120 AmSR 581, 28 LRANS 298, 8 AnnCas 1047.

"Device" 18 C. J. p 1032.

5. Cluff v. Cameron, 22 OntWN 245, 246 [aff 23 OntWN 89].

island."[6]

SAGO FLOUR. A term which is said to indicate the first and only form in which the product of the sago palm is known in this country.[7]

SAID. In legal terminology,[8] above mentioned;[9] aforementioned;[10] aforesaid;[11] already spoken of;[12] before mentioned;[13] previously mentioned,[14] or named.[15] It is a relative word,[16] or a word of reference[17] to what has been already spoken of or specified;[18] and if there is a question as to which of the antecedent things or propositions specified is referred to, it is generally held to refer to the last of such antecedent propositions or things;[19] or to the next antecedent;[20] but such rule will not be strictly applied where it would result in destroying or materially altering the intention expressed in the whole context of the language under consideration;[21] and the word will be referred to the proper antecedent.[22]

Phrases: "Said acts and conduct,"[23] "said children,"[24] "said county,"[25] "said defendants,"[26] "said estate,"[27] "said lands,"[28] "said manufacturer,"[29] "said oil,"[30] "said property,"[31] "said railroad,"[32]

---

[6] Jeffares v. Wolfenden, 31 West LR 428. 429.

[7] Littlejohn v. U. S., 119 Fed. 483, 484.

[8] Murry v. State, 150 Ark. 461, 234 SW 485, 486.

[9] In re Phelan, 82 N. J. Eq. 316, 319, 87 A 625. See Greeley Nat. Bank v. Wolf, 4 F. (2d) 67, 69; Com. v. Schweiters, 122 Ky. 874, 880, 93 SW 592, 29 KyL 417.

[a] "When used in a document it refers to something that has been mentioned above in the document." Greeley Nat. Bank v. Wolf, 4 F. (2d) 67, 69; Com. v. Schweiters, 122 Ky. 874, 880, 93 SW 592, 29 KyL 417.

[10] Murry v. State, 150 Ark. 461, 234 SW 485, 486; International, etc., R. Co. v. Anderson County, 59 Tex. 654, 663.

[11] State v. Skeggs, 154 Ala. 249, 260, 46 S 268; Moore v. Texarkana Pav. Impr. Dist. No. 20, 122 Ark. 326, 183 SW 766, 769, AnnCas1917D 599 [quot Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715 (both quot Cyc)].

"Aforesaid" 2 C. J. p 393.

[12] Murry v. State, 150 Ark. 461, 234 SW 485, 486.

[13] Bouvier L. D. [quot Brown v. State, 28 Tex. A. 379, 380, 13 SW 150]; State v. Skeggs, 154 Ala. 249, 260, 46 S 268; Moore v. Texarkana Pav. Impr. Dist. No. 20, 122 Ark. 326, 183 SW 766, 769, AnnCas1917D 599 [quot Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715 (both quot Cyc)].

[a] "In contracts and pleadings it is usual and proper, when it is desired to speak of a person or thing before mentioned, to designate them by the term 'said' or 'aforesaid' or some similar term." Bouvier L. D. [quot Brown v. State, 28 Tex. A. 379, 380, 13 SW 150].

[14] Kephart v. Buddecke, 20 Colo. A. 546, 551, 80 P 501.

[15] Wheeler, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Filer, 52 N. J. Eq. 164, 168, 28 A 13, 14.

[16] Ward v. Torian, 216 Ala. 288, 289, 112 S 815; Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715; Ellis v. Horine, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 417, 418.

[17] State v. Skeggs, 154 Ala. 249, 260, 46 S 268, 272; Moore v. Texarkana Pav. Impr. Dist. No. 20, 122 Ark. 326, 183 SW 766, 769, AnnCas1917D 599 [quot Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715 (both quot Cyc)]; Hinrichsen v. Hinrichsen, 172 Ill. 462, 465, 50 NE 135; Temple v. State, 185 Ind. 139, 146, 113 NE 233; Antipoeda Baptist Church v. Mulford, 8 N. J. L. 182, 190. See Lammers v. Meyer, 59 Ill. 214, 217; Com. v. Schweiters, 122 Ky. 874, 880, 93 SW 592, 29 KyL 417.

[18] Moore v. Texarkana Pav. Impr. Dist. No. 20, 122 Ark. 326, 183 SW 766, 769, AnnCas1917D 599 [quot Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715 (both quot Cyc)]; Hinrichsen v. Hinrichsen, 172 Ill. 462, 465, 50 NE 135; Temple v. State, 185 Ind. 139, 146, 113 NE 233. See Com. v. Schweiters, 122 Ky. 874, 880, 93 SW 592, 29 KyL 417; Antipoeda Baptist Church v. Mulford, 8 N. J. L. 182, 190 (to an antecedent name).

[a] "Refers to something previously pointed out or designated." In re Daniels, 192 Iowa 326, 331, 184 NW 647. See Trunkey v. Van Sant, 176 N. Y. 535, 543, 68 NE 946; Moss v. State, 47 Tex. Cr. 459, 83 SW 829, 830, 11 AnnCas 710.

[19] Moore v. Texarkana Pav. Impr. Dist. No. 20, 122 Ark. 326, 183 SW 766, 769, AnnCas1917D 599 [quot Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715 (both quot Cyc)]; Hinrichsen v. Hinrichsen, 172 Ill. 462, 465, 50 NE 135; Curran v. Wells Bros. Co., 205 Ill. A. 307, 308; Temple v. State, 185 Ind. 139, 146, 113 NE 233. See Carver v. Carver, 97 Ind. 497, 503; Esdaile v. Maclean, 15 M. & W. 277, 283, 153 Reprint 854; In re McIntosh, (Man.) [1923] 2 WestWkly 605, 609.

[a] In construing will.—"The ordinary rule of construction to be placed upon the word 'said' in this case is that it refers to the persons last mentioned." In re McIntosh, (Man.) [1923] 2 WestWkly 605, 609.

[b] Rule adopted by statute.—"The words 'said' and 'such,' when used by way of reference to any person or thing, shall apply to the person or thing last mentioned. P. S., c. 2, s. 14." Piper v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 75 N. H. 435, 442, 75 A 1041.

[20] Le Flore v. Handlin, 153 Ark. 421, 240 SW 712, 715; Ellis v. Horine, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 417, 418. See Ward v. Torian, 216 Ala. 288, 289, 112 S 815 ("next appropriate antecedent"); Garrett v. South Penn. Oil Co., 66 W. Va. 587, 591, 66 SE 741 ("next preceding antecedent").

[a] "In strict grammatical propriety [the word] must be understood to relate to the next antecedent." Ellis v. Horine, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 417, 418. See Southern Mut. Ins. Co. v. Pike, 34 La. Ann. 825, 829.

[b] "Nothing to the contrary appearing, it ordinarily refers to its next appropriate antecedent, and not to one more remote." Ward v. Torian, 216 Ala. 288, 289, 112 S 815, 816.

[c] "Same" distinguished.—"The relative 'same' refers to the next antecedent, though the word 'said' does only when the plain meaning requires it." 2 Kent Comm. p 555 [quot Wilkinson v. State, 10 Ind. 372, 373; Brown v. State, 28 Tex. A. 379, 380, 13 SW 150].

[d] "Same" more explicit.—Brown v. State, 28 Tex. A. 379, 380, 13 SW 150.

[21] Curran v. Wells Bros. Co., 205 Ill. A. 307, 308. See Southern Mut. Ins. Co. v. Pike, 34 La. Ann. 825, 829.

[a] Reference determined by sense.—"The reference of the word 'said' is to be determined in any given case by the sense." 2 Kent Comm. p 555 [quot Brown v. State, 28 Tex. A. 379, 380, 13 SW 150]. See Wilkinson v. State, 10 Ind. 372, 373.

[b] "Even in an indictment [words of reference as 'there' and 'said'] will not be referred to the last antecedent, if the sense requires that they should be referred to some prior antecedent." 1 Chitty Pl. p 239 [quot Lammers v. Meyer, 59 Ill. 214, 217].

[22] Sloss-Sheffield Steel, etc., Co. v. Dunn, 9 Ala. A. 524, 63 S 812. See Lammers v. Meyer, 59 Ill. 214, 217.

[a] Proper and recognized construction is given to the word "said" immediately preceding "duties" in a complaint, by "referring the allegation to the only antecedent to which it may sensibly and correctly be referred." Sloss-Sheffield Steel, etc., Co. v. Dunn, 9 Ala. A. 524, 528, 63 S 812.

[23] Nelson v. Nelson, 18 Cal. A. 602, 605, 123 P 1099.

[a] "Comprehends the complete picture of plaintiff's dereliction that appears in the cross-complaint." Nelson v. Nelson, 18 Cal. A. 602, 605, 123 P 1099.

[24] In re De Rycke, 99 App. Div. 596, 597, 91 NYS 159, 161.

[25] Moss v. State, 47 Tex. Cr. 459, 83 SW 829, 830, 11 AnnCas 710.

[26] Wheeler, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Filer, 52 N. J. Eq. 164, 168, 28 A 13, 14.

[a] In a prayer for relief, the phrase refers to defendants previously named in the bill. Wheeler, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Filer, 52 N. J. Eq. 164, 168, 28 A 13.

[27] Hinrichsen v. Hinrichsen, 172 Ill. 462, 464, 50 NE 135.

[28] Bethany, etc., School Dist. No. 1 v. Bethany, etc., Joint Tp. Bds., 233 Mich. 327, 334, 207 NW 5.

[29] Robert Portner Brewing Co. v. Southern Express Co., 109 Va. 22, 25, 63 SE 6, 8.

[30] Garrett v. South Penn. Oil Co., 66 W. Va. 587, 591, 66 SE 741.

[31] Kline v. German Union F. Ins. Co., 147 App. Div. 790, 132 NYS 181, 184.

[32] International, etc., R. Co. v. Anderson County, 59 Tex. 654, 663.

"said road,"[33] "said sum,"[34] "said trustees,"[35] "said wall,"[36] and "said work."[37]

SAIL.[38] In marine insurance law,[39] the meaning of the term is well settled by judicial construction;[40] it is almost a technical word,[41] and means to begin a voyage;[42] to get under way in complete readiness for voyage, with the purpose of proceeding thereon without further delay;[43] to put to sea;[44] to start on the voyage.[45]

Phrases: "Sail her himself,"[46] "sail on or before a given day,"[47] "sail with convoy,"[48] and "sails . . . the vessel on shares,"[49] also "sailing vessel."[50]

SAILING.[51] That period of time when the vessel breaks ground, being at that time fully fit for sea, having the cargo on board which she intends to carry, with a competent crew, and having permission to leave by having the custom house clearances on board.[52]

SAILOR.[53]

SAISIE. In French law, a judicial seizure or sequestration of property, of which there are several varieties.[54]

Saisie-arrêt. An attachment of property in the possession of a third person.[55]

Saisie-exécution. A writ resembling that of fieri facias;[56] defined as that species of execution by which a creditor places under the hand of justice (custody of the law) his debtor's movable property liable to seizure, in order to have it sold, so that he may obtain payment of his debt out of the proceeds.[57]

Saisie-foraine. A species of foreign attachment;[58] that which a creditor, by the permission of the president of a tribunal of first instance or a juge de paix, may exercise, without preliminary process, upon the effects, found within the commune where he lives, belonging to his foreign debtor.[59]

Saisie-gagerie. A conservatory act of execution, by which the owner or principal lessor of a house or farm causes the furniture of the house or farm seized;[60] similar to the distress of the common law.[61]

Saisie-immobilière. The proceeding by which a creditor places under the hand of justice (custody of the law) the immovable property of his debtor, in order that the same may be sold, and that he may obtain payment of his debt out of the proceeds.[62]

SAKE. A Japanese beverage manufactured from rice by a peculiar process of fermentation,[63] some-

---

33. Byars v. Bennington, etc., R. Co., 99 App. Div. 34, 37, 90 NYS 736, 738.

34. Chadwick v. McClurg, (N. J. Ch.) 142 A 173, 175.

35. Trunkey v. Van Sant, 176 N. Y. 535, 543, 68 NE 946.

36. Palmer v. Evangelical Baptist Benev., etc., Soc., 166 Mass. 143, 144, 43 NE 1028.

37. Bone v. Hackett, 20 Ariz. 587, 185 P 131, 132.

[a] In statute governing county highway construction, the phrase has been held to refer to the whole program of construction. Bone v. Hackett, 20 Ariz. 587, 185 P 131, 132.

38. "Depart" distinguished see Depart 18 C. J. p 489 note 32 [a]. See also Maritime Law § 196.

39. See Marine Insurance §§ 94, 195.

40. Northland Nav. Co. v. American Merchant Mar. Ins. Co., 214 App. Div. 571, 212 NYS 541, 544.

41. Barker v. McAndrew, 18 C. B. N. S. 759, 774, 114 ECL 758, 773, 144 Reprint 643.

42. Black L. D.

43. Northland Nav. Co. v. American Merchant Mar. Ins. Co., 214 App. Div. 571, 212 NYS 541, 544. See Archibald McNeil, etc., Co. v. Western Maryland R. Co., 42 F. (2d) 669, 677; Sea Ins. Co. v. Blogg, [1898] 1 Q. B. 27, 31, 3 Com. Cas. 1 [aff [1898] 2 Q. B. 398, 401].

[a] "If a ship quits her moorings and removes, although only to a short distance, being perfectly ready to proceed upon her voyage, and is by some subsequent occurrence detained, that is nevertheless a sailing; but it is otherwise if at the time when she quits her moorings and hoists her sails, she is not in a condition for completing her sea voyage." Pittigrew v. Pringle, 3 B. & Ad. 514, 520, 23 ECL 229, 110 Reprint 186 [quot Northland Nav. Co. v. American Merchant Mar. Ins. Co., 214 App. Div. 571, 212 NYS 541, 544]. See Union Ins. Co. v. Tysen, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 118, 126; Graham v. Barras, 5 B. & Ad. 1011, 1020, 27 ECL 424, 110 Reprint 1065; Lang v. Anderdon, 3 B. & C. 495, 499, 10 ECL 228, 107 Reprint 817, 1 C. & P. 171, 12 ECL 108, 171 Reprint 1149. To same effect Sea Ins. Co. v. Blogg, [1898] 2 Q. B. 398, 401 [aff [1898] 1 Q. B. 27].

[b] "A vessel has sailed the moment she is unmoored and got under way, in complete preparation for the voyage, with the purpose of proceeding to sea, without further delay at the port of departure." 1 Phillips Ins. (5th ed.) § 772 [quot Sea Ins. Co. v. Blogg, [1898] 1 Q. B. 27, 31 [aff [1898] 2 Q. B. 398].

[c] "The rule is that a vessel 'sails' from the port when she has her cargo on board which she intends to carry, is in complete readiness for the voyage with stores and crew aboard." Archibald McNeil, etc., Co. v. Western Maryland R. Co., 42 F. (2d) 669, 677.

44. Black L. D.

45. Barker v. McAndrew, 18 C. B. N. S. 759, 774, 114 ECL 758, 773, 144 Reprint 643.

[a] A provision in a charter party requiring freight to be paid when a vessel has "sailed," means when the vessel has actually started upon its voyage, and not merely leaving the harbor to prepare for the voyage. Hudson v. Bilton, 6 E. & B. 565, 570, 86 ECL 565, 119 Reprint 975; Thompson v. Gillespy, 5 E. & B. 209, 226, 85 ECL 209, 119 Reprint 459.

46. Sheriffs v. Pugh, 22 Wis. 273, 278, 94 AmD 600.

[a] In an agreement for the charter of a vessel, that the captain was 'to sail her himself,' means not only that he was to command her but to employ the crew necessary for her navigation. Sheriffs v. Pugh, 22 Wis. 273, 278, 94 AmD 600.

47. Glaholm v. Hays, 2 M. & G. 257, 40 ECL 589, 133 Reprint 743. See also Marine Insurance § 195.

48. Simond v. Boydell, Dougl. 268, 271, 99 Reprint 175. See also Marine Insurance § 197.

49. Marshall v. Boardman, 89 Me. 87, 90, 35 A 1024, 56 AmSR 392.

50. Dallaire v. Quebec Salvage Co., 49 Que. Super. 501, 502.

[a] Not a sailing vessel.—One equipped with sails but moved from one place to another by a tug (tow) is not a sailing vessel. Dallaire v. Quebec Salvage Co., 49 Que. Super. 501, 502.

51. See also Sail ante.

52. Roelandts v. Harrison, 23 L. J. Exch. 169, 173 [quot Northland Nav. Co. v. American Merchant Mar. Ins. Co., 214 App. Div. 571, 212 NYS 541, 544].

53. Sailor:
In general see Seamen [35 Cyc 1176].
Domicile of see Domicile §§ 39, 40.
Pension of see Pensions 48 C. J. p 784.
Preference in appointment to office see Officers §§ 81–83.

54. Black L. D.

55. Black L. D. See also Garnishment 28 C. J. p 1.

56. "Fieri facias" 25 C. J. p 1121.

57. Black L. D. [cit Dalloz D.].

58. "Foreign attachment" see Foreign 26 C. J. p 888 text and notes 40–42.

59. Black L. D. [cit Dalloz D.].

60. Black L. D. [cit Dalloz D.].

61. "Distress" 18 C. J. p 1289.

62. Black L. D. [cit Dalloz D.]. See also Sequestration [35 Cyc 1388–1390].

63. Stratton v. Komada, 148 Fed. 125, 126; U. S. v. Nishimiya, 137 Fed. 396, 398, 69 CCA 588.

[a] Compared with wine.—It resembles still wines in the large percentage of alcohol, and it has many what similar to that employed in making beer.[64] It is amber colored, has a sweet taste, has no bead, and is always heated before being drunk.[65] The name is apparently arbitrary and not descriptive and conveys little or no intelligence to the mind.[66]

In old English law, a lord's right of amercing his tenants in his court;[67] acquittance of suit at county courts and hundred courts.[68]

SAL. A descriptive word,[69] whose dictionary definition is "salt,"[70] principally used in connection with scientific subjects, as chemistry.[71] It is the common prefix for names of various preparations, in which connection it is always understood to mean that some form of salt is a substantial element of the preparation.[72]

Sal ammoniac. The electrolyte commonly known by this name is a solution of chloride of ammonium.[73]

SALABLE. As applied to commercial transactions, means fit for sale in the usual course of trade at the usual selling prices;[74] free from any remarkable defects;[75] good and sufficient of its kind;[76] good lawful merchandise of suitable quality;[77] merchantable;[78] of ordinary,[79] marketable[80] quality;[81] at least of medium quality or good class.[82]

Salable value. Actual value;[83] cash value;[84] market value;[85] but not necessarily synonymous with "fair valuation."[86]

SALAD OIL.[87] Oil for salad;[88] as a notorious fact,[89] and prima facie,[90] olive oil.[91]

SALAMANDER. In furnace parlance,[92] a mixture of iron, graphite, silica, and other elements;[93] the unfused material which accumulates in the bottom of a furnace while it is in operation, and which must be removed periodically.[94]

SALARIED OFFICER.[95]

SALARY.[96] [§ 1] A. In General. A term said points of similarity to both wine and beer. U. S. v. Nishimiya, 137 Fed. 396, 398, 69 CCA 588.

---

[b] Contrasted with wine.—Stratton v. Komada, 148 Fed. 125, 126.

64. U. S. v. Nishimiya, 137 Fed. 396, 398, 69 CCA 588.

Compared with "beer" see Beer 7 C. J. p 1025 note 49 [g].

65. U. S. v. Nishimiya, 137 Fed. 396, 398, 69 CCA 588.

66. U. S. v. Nishimiya, supra.

67. Black L. D. [cit Kellw. p 145].

68. Black L. D. [cit Fleta book 1 c 47 § 7].

69. S. R. Feil Co. v. John E. Robbins Co., 220 Fed. 650, 651, 136 CCA 258.

70. S. R. Feil Co. v. John E. Robbins Co., supra.

71. S. R. Feil Co. v. John E. Robbins Co., supra.

72. S. R. Feil Co. v. John E. Robbins Co., supra.

73. In re Charles Town Light etc., Co., 183 Fed. 160, 165. See S. R. Feil Co. v. John E. Robbins Co., 220 Fed. 650, 651, 136 CCA 258.

74. Foote v. Wilson, 104 Kan. 191, 178 P 430, 431. See Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., 112 Me. 336, 92 A 180, 182.

[a] "Does not only mean that it may or should be sold in the market, but it also means . . . that it shall be of ordinary marketable quality, bringing the average price." Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., 112 Me. 336, 92 A 180, 181.

75. Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., supra.

76. Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., supra.

77. Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., supra.

78. Foote v. Wilson, 104 Kan. 191, 178 P 430, 431; Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., 112 Me. 336, 92 A 180, 182.

[a] Equivalent to merchantable.—Foote v. Wilson, 104 Kan. 191, 178 P 430, 431.

"Merchantable" 40 C. J. p 647.

79. Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., 112 Me. 336, 92 A 180, 182.

"Ordinary" 46 C. J. p 1132.

80. "Marketable" 38 C. J. p 1267.

81. Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., 112 Me. 336, 92 A 180, 182.

"Quality" 51 C. J. p 113.

82. Stevens Tank, etc., Co. v. Berlin Mills Co., 112 Me. 336, 92 A 180, 182.

83. Bouvier L. D. (sub verbo "value") [quot Wood v. Syracuse School Dist. No. 1, 108 Kan. 1, 4, 193 P 1049].

[a] "Actual value" equivalent.—Wood v. Syracuse School Dist. No. 1, 108 Kan. 1, 4, 193 P 1049; Jonas v. Noel, 98 Tenn. 440, 443, 39 SW 724, 39 LRA 862 [quot Hetland v. Bilstad, 140 Iowa 411, 118 NW 422, 423].

"Actual value" 1 C. J. p 1186 note 84.

84. Bouvier L. D. (sub verbo "value") [quot Wood v. Syracuse School Dist. No. 1, 108 Kan. 1, 4, 193 P 1049].

[a] " 'Salable value,' 'actual value' and 'cash value' all mean the same thing and are designed to effect the same purpose." Bouvier L. D. (sub verbo "value") [quot Wood v. Syracuse School Dist. No. 1, 108 Kan. 1, 4, 193 P 1049].

"Cash value" 11 C. J. p 25.

85. Jonas v. Noel, 98 Tenn. 440, 443, 39 SW 724, 39 LRA 862 [quot Hetland v. Bilstad, 140 Iowa 411, 118 NW 422, 423].

[a] "Market value" equivalent.—Jonas v. Noel, 98 Tenn. 440, 443, 39 SW 724, 39 LRA 862 [quot Hetland v. Bilstad, 140 Iowa 411, 118 NW 422, 423].

"Market value" 38 C. J. pp 1261–1266.

86. In re Crystal Ice, etc., Co., 283 Fed. 1007, 1009.

[a] Under Bankruptcy Act § 1 par 15 (11 USCA § 1), defining insolvency as the condition wherein "the aggregate of his property . . . shall not, at a fair valuation, be sufficient in amount to pay his debts," the fact that the "salable value" of a corporation's property is exceeded by its debts has been held not enough to bring it within the provision, for although its property be not presently salable for enough to pay its debts, its fair valuation may be more than enough. In re Crystal Ice, etc., Co., 283 Fed. 1007, 1009.

87. As subject of misbranding see Food § 11 text and note 43 [d].

88. Brina v. U. S., 179 Fed. 373, 105 CCA 558.

[a] "Olio per insalata."—Brina v. U. S., 179 Fed. 373, 105 CCA 558.

89. Brina v. U. S., 179 Fed. 373, 105 CCA 558.

[a] "That [olive oil] is what the world has been accustomed to regard as salad oil." Brina v. U. S., 179 Fed. 373, 374, 105 CCA 588.

90. Brina v. U. S., supra.

91. Brina v. U. S., supra [quot Century D.; Imperial D.; Stormont D.; Worcester D.].

92. Sloss-Sheffield Steel, etc., Co. v. Ralston, 177 Ala. 272, 58 S 260, 261.

93. Illinois Steel Co. v. Saylor, 129 Ill. A. 73, 76.

[a] How formed.—"During the operation of the blast furnace, the heavier portions of the iron, such as carbon, graphites, and silicates, collect in the bottom of the furnace, and by some chemical action the fire brick gradually disappear or fuse with the iron and become a very hard substance, called 'salamander.'" Illinois Steel Co. v. Saylor, 226 Ill. 283, 285, 80 NE 783.

[b] Better lining than fire brick.—"This salamander is considered a better lining than fire brick, because it can withstand a higher degree of heat." Illinois Steel Co. v. Saylor, 226 Ill. 283, 285, 80 NE 783.

"Fire brick" see Brick 9 C. J. p 416. See also Chamotte 11 C. J. p 228.

94. Sloss-Sheffield Steel, etc., Co. v. Ralston, 177 Ala. 272, 58 S 260, 261.

95. See Officers §§ 11, 243–251. See also Salary post.

96. Salary:
Assignment of future see Assignments § 42.
Conflicting claims against city for see Interpleader § 25 note 95 [a] (2).
Constitutionality of statutes regulating see Constitutional Law § 132.
Exemptions § 102 et seq.
Garnishment § 216 et seq.
Interest on see Interest § 70 note 99 [a] (2).

to be derived from "salarium," which is from the word "sal," salt, being an article in which the Roman soldiers were paid,[97] and which may be and has been variously applied and defined.[98] "Salary" has been defined as an agreed compensation for services, payable at regular intervals;[99] annual compensation for services rendered;[1] annual or periodical wages or pay;[2] compensation for services rendered[3] by one to another;[4] compensation paid for a particular service,[5] or stipulated to be paid for services;[6] fixed and periodical remuneration for services;[7] fixed,[8] annual, or periodical payment for services,[9] depending upon the time and not upon the amount of services rendered;[10] fixed regular wages, as by the year, quarter, or month;[11] fixed sum[12] paid to a person for his services, yearly, half-yearly, or quarterly;[13] hire;[14] payment or recompense for services;[15] periodical allowance made as compensation to a person for his official or professional services or for his regular work;[16] periodi-

---

Mandamus to compel officer to draw warrant for see Mandamus § 219 text and note 57, §§ 307–312, 345.
Sharing profits in addition to as constituting partnership see Partnership § 101.
Taxation of see Internal Revenue §§ 233, 239; Judges § 70 text and note 87.

Salary of:
Agent see Agency § 446.
Ambassadors and Consuls §§ 17–19.
Army or navy officer see Army and Navy §§ 74–107.
Attorney-General § 9.
Clerks of Courts §§ 46–49.
Coroners § 35 et seq.
Corporate officer see Corporations § 1906 et seq.
County board see Counties § 100.
County officer see Counties § 161 et seq.
Court attendant or assistant see Courts § 211.
Customs officer see Customs Duties § 83.
District and Prosecuting Attorneys § 48 et seq.
Fireman see Municipal Corporations § 1483 et seq.
Health officer see Health §§ 27, 28.
Inspection officer see Inspection § 10.
Insurance agent see Insurance § 155 et seq.
Judges § 64 et seq.
Justices of the Peace §§ 28–30.
Municipal agent or employee generally see Municipal Corporations § 1652 et seq.
Municipal officer see Municipal Corporations § 1138 et seq.
Policeman see Municipal Corporations § 1385 et seq.
Prison officer see Prisons §§ 22–26.
Public officer:
  In general see Officers § 233 et seq.
  Liability created by statute within meaning of limitation acts see Limitations of Actions § 124.
Railroad commissioner see Public Utilities § 77.
Sheriffs and Constables [35 Cyc 1547 et seq].
Teacher in general see Schools and School Districts [35 Cyc 1097 et seq].
Town officer see Towns [38 Cyc 625].
United States marshal see United States Marshals [39 Cyc 806 et seq].
Wife living apart from her husband see Husband and Wife § 36 note 38 [a].

97. Martin v. Santa Barbara County, 105 Cal. 208, 212, 38 P 687; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 141; Cowdin v. Huff, 10 Ind. 83, 85 [quot Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 456, 95 P 554].

[a] "Whether it be derived from 'salarium,' or more fancifully from 'sal,' the pay of the Roman soldier, it carries with it the fundamental idea of compensation for services rendered. Hopkins v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 485, 85 NYS 839.

98. Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 Utah 475, 487, 91 P 355 [quot Higgins v. Glenn, 65 Utah 406, 237 P 513, 515]. See cases infra this section.

99. San Juan County v. Oliver, 7 Colo. A. 515, 518, 44 P 362, 363 (where it was said that while this is the strict meaning of the term, a more liberal meaning is frequently given to the word).

[a] Similar definition.—"A compensation agreed upon between employer and employee for a fixed term of service for one year or some aliquot part thereof, as a half year or quarter year and for services that are not menial in their nature." State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 344.

1. Burrill L. D. [quot State v. Speed, 183 Mo. 186, 198, 81 SW 1260; People v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 218, 25 AbbNCas 368; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 341]. See In re Reber, 235 Pa. 622, 631, 84 A 587.

2. Webster D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142]; Rowland v. New York, 83 N. Y. 372, 375; Landis v. Lincoln County, 31 Or. 424, 427, 50 P 530 [quot Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 P 554].

[a] Similar definition.—"Annual or periodical recompense or pay." Webster D. [quot Cane v. New York, 34 NYS 675].

3. Chancellor's Case, 1 Bland (Md.) 595, 630; United Boxboard, etc., Co. v. McEwan Bros. Co., (N. J. Ch.) 76 A 550, 554; Hopkinson v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 485, 85 NYS 839.

[a] "Not extra compensation for extra and unusual services made after such services had been rendered." Atty.-Gen. v. Wilmington, 10 Del. Ch. 384, 390, 93 A 364.

4. United Boxboard, etc., Co. v. McEwan Bros. Co., (N. J. Ch.) 76 A 550, 554.

5. Cox v. Holmes, 14 Wash. 255, 256, 44 P 262 [quot State v. Maynard, 35 Wash. 168, 176, 76 P 937].

6. Rowland v. New York, 83 N. Y. 372, 375.

7. Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114.

8. Benedict v. U. S., 176 U. S. 357, 360, 20 SCt 458, 44 L. ed. 503 [quot Beach v. Kent, 142 Mich. 347, 356, 105 NW 867]; Brandon v. Askew, 172 Ala. 160, 167, 54 S 605; Blaine County v. Pyrah, 32 Ida. 111, 178 P 702, 703; Spalding v. Thornbury, 128 Ky. 533, 541, 108 SW 906; King v. Western Union Tel. Co., 84 S. C. 73, 80, 65 SE 944; State v. Grant, 12 Wyo. 1, 20, 73 P 470, 2 AnnCas 382.

9. Webster D. [quot Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114]; Worcester D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142; Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114]; Benedict v. U. S., 176 U. S. 357, 360, 20 SCt 458, 44 L. ed. 503 [quot Beach v. Kent, 142 Mich. 347, 356, 105 NW 867]; Spalding v. Thornbury, 128 Ky. 533, 541, 108 SW 906; Thompson v. Phillips, 12 Oh. St. 617, 618; King v. Western Union Tel. Co., 84 S. C. 73, 80, 65 SE 944; State v. Grant, 12 Wyo. 1, 20, 73 P 470, 2 AnnCas 382.

10. Benedict v. U. S., 176 U. S. 357, 360, 20 SCt 458, 44 L. ed. 503 [quot Beach v. Kent, 142 Mich. 347, 356, 105 NW 867]; Brandon v. Askew, 172 Ala. 160, 167, 54 S 605; Blaine County v. Pyrah, 32 Ida. 111, 178 P 702, 703; Spalding v. Thornbury, 128 Ky. 533, 541, 103 SW 291, 108 SW 906, 31 KyL 738; Thompson v. Phillips, 12 Oh. St. 617, 618 [quot Cox v. Holmes, 14 Wash. 255, 256, 44 P 262 (quot State v. Maynard, 35 Wash. 168, 176, 76 P 937)]; King v. Western Union Tel. Co., 84 S. C. 73, 80, 65 SE 944. See Tucker v. Shoemaker, 149 Ga. 250, 253, 99 SE 865; State v. Bland, 91 Kan. 160, 168, 136 P 947. But see State v. Grant, 12 Wyo. 1, 20, 73 P 470, 2 AnnCas 382 (amount not time).

[a] Similar definition.—"A periodical payment dependent upon time." State v. Bland, 91 Kan. 160, 168, 136 P 947.

[b] Earmark of salary.—"Compensation fixed by time . . . constitutes the earmark of salary." State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 33, 3 S 433; Tucker v. Shoemaker, 149 Ga. 250, 253, 99 SE 865.

11. Webster D. [quot Houser v. Orangeburg County, 59 S. C. 265, 266, 37 SE 831].

12. Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394.

13. Stormouth D. [quot Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114].

[a] Similar definition.—"A fixed sum to be paid by the year for services." Burrill L. D. [quot State v. Speed, 183 Mo. 186, 198, 81 SW 1260; Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 218, 25 AbbNCas 368; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 341].

14. Webster D.; Worcester D. [both quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142].

[a] "Hire" distinguished see infra § 3.

[b] "Hire" synonymous see infra § 4 note.

"Hire" 29 C. J. p 756.

15. State v. Billheimer, 178 Ind. 83, 92, 96 NE 801 [cit Cyc].

16. Standard D. [quot Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 454, 95 P 554; Springfield Coal Min. Co. v. Industrial Commn., 291 Ill. 408, 411, 126 NE 133, 22 ALR 859; Peo. v. Lay, 193 Mich. 476, 488, 160 NW 467; Henderson v. Koenig, 168 Mo. 356, 367, 68 SW 72, 57 LRA 659]. See Autauga Banking, etc., Co. v. Allen, 220 Ala. 478, 125 S 805, 806 [cit Cyc].

[a] Similar definition.—"A periodical allowance as compensation for official or professional services." Autauga Banking, etc., Co. v. Allen, 220 Ala. 478, 125 S 805, 806 [cit Cyc].

cal compensation due to men in official and other situations;[17] periodical payment made for regular employment;[18] periodical payment of a certain value, in money, for work and labor done;[19] recompense or consideration, made to a person for his pains and industry in another man's business,[20] or stipulated to be paid to a person[21] periodically[22] for services,[23] recompense,[24] reward,[25] or compensation[26] for services performed[27] or rendered;[28] remuneration for services rendered in the course of employment;[29] reward or recompense paid for personal services;[30] stipend;[31] stipulated periodical recompense;[32] sum of money periodically paid for services rendered;[33] wages.[34] Perhaps "salary" is more frequently applied to annual employment than to any other.[35]

In a more technical sense, the term may be employed as having reference to the compensation of officers;[36] and in this sense has been defined as meaning a certain annual stipend, payable to an officer for performing his whole duty;[37] compensation, fixed for official services to be rendered;[38] compensation for the personal discharge of official duty;[39] fixed compensation decreed by authority,[40] for regular work,[41] or made by law to be paid periodically for services, whether there be any services actually rendered or not,[42] or to be established by law,[43] and paid at stated times;[44] per annum compensation[45]

---

17. Martin v. Santa Barbara County, 105 Cal. 208, 212, 38 P 687.

18. Merriam v. U. S., 282 Fed. 851, 856.

19. Chancellor's Case, 1 Bland (Md.) 595, 630.

20. Abbott L. D. [quot Hopkins v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 485, 85 NYS 839]; Tomlinson L. D. [quot Buxton v. Rutherford County, 82 N. C. 91, 95].

21. Century D. [quot Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 339]; Webster D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142; Peo. v. Wemple, 52 Hun 414, 419, 5 NYS 495]; Hutchinson v. Gormley, 48 Pa. 270, 272.

22. Century D. [quot Retirement of State Employees, supra; State v. Duncan, supra].

23. Century D. [quot Retirement of State Employees, supra; State v. Duncan, supra]; Webster D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142; Peo. v. Wemple, 52 Hun 414, 419, 5 NYS 495]; Hutchinson v. Gormley, 48 Pa. 270, 272.

[a] Similar definition.—"The consideration paid or agreed to be paid to a person at regular, fixed periods, in consideration for his services." Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661.

24. Bouvier L. D. [quot Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Iron Co., 42 Fed. 372, 376; State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433; Peo. v. Adams, 65 Ill. A. 283, 286; Hartman v. Mitzel, 8 Pa. Super. 22, 24; Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., 86 Va. 1, 8, 9 SE 759, 19 AmSR 858]; McNulta v. Corn Belt Bank, 164 Ill. 427, 441, 45 NE 954, 56 AmSR 203; Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 Utah 475, 487, 91 P 355 [quot Higgins v. Glenn, 65 Utah 406, 237 P 513, 515].

25. Abbott L. D. [quot Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 218, 25 AbbNCas 368]; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 341]; Bouvier L. D. [quot Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Iron Co., supra; State v. Barnes, supra; Peo. v. Adams, supra; Hartman v. Mitzel, supra; Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., supra]; McNulta v. Corn Belt Bank, supra; Marioneaux v. Cutler, supra [quot Higgins v. Glenn, supra].

26. Abbott L. D. [quot Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 218, 25 AbbNCas 368; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 341]; Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 Utah 475, 487, 91 P 355 [quot Higgins v. Glenn, 65 Utah 406, 237 P 513, 515].

27. Abbott L. D. [quot Peo. v. Myers, supra; State v. Duncan, supra]; Bouvier L. D. [quot Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Iron Co., 42 Fed. 372, 376; State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433; Peo. v. Adams, 65 Ill. A. 283, 286; Hartman v. Mitzel, 8 Pa. Super. 22, 24; Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., 86 Va. 1, 8, 9 SE 759, 19 AmSR 858]; McNulta v. Corn Belt Bank, 164 Ill. 427, 441, 45 NE 954, 56 AmSR 203.

28. Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 Utah 475, 487, 91 P 355 [quot Higgins v. Glenn, 65 Utah 406, 237 P 513, 515].

29. Druce v. Railway Clearing House, 133 L. T. Rep. N. S. 514.

30. Windmiller v. Peo., 78 Ill. A. 273, 276.

31. Stormouth D. [quot Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114]; Worcester D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142]. See State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 339.

"Stipend" synonymous see infra § 2.

"Stipend" [36 Cyc 1278].

32. Worcester D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142; Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114 (substituting "stipulation" for "stipulated")].

33. Morse v. Robertson, 9 Hawaii 195, 197; Com. v. Butler, 99 Pa. 535, 542 [quot Koppen v. Union Iron, etc., Co., 181 Mo. A. 72, 80, 163 SW 560; Hopkins v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 485, 85 NYS 839]. See In re Shine, [1892] 1 Q. B. 522, 531.

[a] Similar definition.—"Salary is a stated sum for a stated period." Com. v. Greer, 9 Pa. Co. 444, 446.

34. Stormouth D. [quot Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114]; Worcester D. [quot Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142]; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 A 554.

"Wages" distinguished see infra § 3.

"Wages" synonymous see infra § 2 note.

35. Maynard v. Royal Worcester Corset Co., 200 Mass. 1, 4, 85 NE 877. See In re Reber, 235 Pa. 622, 631, 84 A 587.

[a] "Appropriately refers to annual compensation paid to the members of the board of viewers" [under terms of a statute]. In re Reber, 235 Pa. 622, 631, 84 A 587, 590.

36. See cases infra notes 37–53.

37. Fulgham v. Lightfoot, 1 Call (5 Va.) 250, 255.

38. Atty.-Gen. v. Wilmington, 10 Del. Ch. 384, 390, 93 A. 364.

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "A form of compensation prescribed for paying public officers and others for their services." State v. Imel, 242 Mo. 293, 303, 146 SW 783. (2) "Any compensation fixed for an officer." Thompson v. Phillips, 12 Oh. St. 617, 618 (where this is described as the general sense). (3) "The word 'salary' is understood to relate to compensation for official or other services." Walsh v. Bridgeport, 88 Conn. 528, 536, 91 A 969, AnnCas1917B 318.

39. Briscoe v. Clark County, 95 Ill. 309, 312 [quot McCoy v. Handlin, 35 S. D. 487, 522, 153 NW 361, LRA1915E 858, AnnCas1917A 1046].

[a] Similar definitions.—(1) "As applied to a public officer, it means the compensation paid him for his personal service in the discharge of the duties of his office." Windmiller v. Peo., 78 Ill. A. 273, 276. (2) "Compensation for personal services, and not the repayment of moneys expended in the discharge of the duties of an office." Sniffen v. New York, 6 N. Y. Super. 193, 196; Peay v. Nolan, 157 Tenn. 222, 7 SW (2d) 815, 817, 60 ALR 408. (3) "The compensation prescribed to be paid to a public officer for the personal discharge of the duty enjoined upon him by law." Houser v. Umatilla County, 30 Or. 486, 489, 49 P 867.

40. Brandon v. Askew, 172 Ala. 160, 167, 54 S 605; Dane v. Smith, 54 Ala. 47, 49 [quot State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433]; Blaine County v. Pyrah, 32 Ida. 111, 178 P 702, 703. See Houser v. Orangeburg County, 59 S. C. 265, 266, 37 SE 831 ("When this word is used in connection with a public officer, it must be taken to embrace the fixed regular wages . . . as established by public authority").

41. Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 238, 127 P 758.

42. Scharrenbroich v. Lewis, etc., County, 33 Mont. 250, 257, 83 P 482.

43. Dane v. Smith, 54 Ala. 47, 49 [quot State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433].

44. Dane v. Smith, supra [quot State v. Barnes, supra, and cit Blick v. Mercantile Trust, etc., Co., 113 Md. 487, 494, 77 A 844].

[a] "For permanence, [it] is paid at intervals." Brandon v. Askew, 172 Ala. 160, 167, 54 S 605; Blaine County v. Pyrah, 32 Ida. 111, 178 P 702, 703. See Dane v. Smith, 54 Ala. 47, 49 ("paid at stated times") [quot State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433].

45. Henderson v. Koenig, 168 Mo. 356, 367, 68 SW 72, 57 LRA 659; Montpelier v. Senter, 72 Vt. 112, 114, of men in official and in some other positions,[46] or situations,[47] or stations;[48] personal compensation provided to be paid to an officer for his own services;[49] or to be paid to a public officer for continuous, as contradistinguished from particular services,[50] usually a fixed sum to be paid by the year,[51] half-year or quarter;[52] stated compensation paid for the performance of official duties,[53] or the rendering of services of a particular kind;[54] to the reward paid to a public officer for the performance of his official duties.[55]

[§ 2] B. Equivalents and Synonyms. “Salary” may be employed as being synonymous with or equivalent to “allowance,”[56] “compensation,”[57] “earnings,”[58] “hire,”[59] “pay,”[60] “per diem,”[61] “stipend,”[62] and “wages.”[63]

[§ 3] C. Distinctions. “Salary” has been distinguished from “allowance,”[64] “bonus,”[65] “commission,”[66] “compensation,”[67] “damages,”[68] “divi-

---

47 A 392.

46. Anderson L. D. [quot State v. Speed, 183 Mo. 186, 198, 81 SW 1260].

47. Winfield L. D. [quot Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 219, 25 AbbNCas 368; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 341]; Seiler v. State, 160 Ind. 605, 619, 65 NE 922, 66 NE 946, 67 NE 448; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 141; Cowdin v. Huff, 10 Ind. 83, 85 [quot Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 P 554].

48. Blick v. Mercantile Trust, etc., Co., 113 Md. 487, 494, 77 A 844 [quot E. H. Koester Bakery v. Ihrie, 147 Md. 219, 224, 127 A 492].

49. Marion County v. Lear, 108 Ill. 343, 350, 351 [quot Peo. v. Adams, 65 Ill. A. 283, 286; Houser v. Umatilla County, 30 Or. 486, 489, 49 P 867]; State v. Dunbar, 53 Or. 45, 52, 98 P 878, 20 LRANS 1015.

[a] “Does not prevent an allowance for clerk hire.”—State v. Dunbar, 53 Or. 45, 52, 98 P 878, 20 LRANS 1015.

50. Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Landis v. Lincoln County, 31 Or. 424, 427, 50 P 530 [quot Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 P 554].

51. Century D. [quot Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 339]; Webster D. [quot Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 218, 25 AbbNCas 368]; Hutchinson v. Gormley, 48 Pa. 270, 272.

52. Century D. [quot Retirement of State Employees, supra; State v. Duncan, supra].

53. Millers’ Indemn. Underwriters v. Cook, (Tex. Civ. A.) 229 SW 598, 602.

54. Millers’ Indemn. Underwriters v. Cook, supra.

55. Abbott L. D. [quot Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 218, 25 AbbNCas 368; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 341]; Bouvier L. D. [quot Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Iron Co., 42 Fed. 372, 376; State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433; McNulta v. Corn Belt Bank, 164 Ill. 427, 441, 45 NE 954, 56 AmSR 203; Peo. v. Adams, 65 Ill. A. 283, 286; Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., 86 Va. 1, 8, 9 SE 759, 19 AmSR 858].

[a] “The salary of a public officer is a provision made by law for his maintenance and support, during his term, to the end that without anxiety concerning his means of subsistence he may be able to devote himself entirely to the duties of his office.” Ruperich v. Baehr, 142 Cal. 190, 194, 75 P 782 [quot Lewis v. Denver, 9 Colo. A. 328, 329, 48 P 317]. See also Officers § 233 et seq.

56. San Juan County v. Oliver, 7 Colo. A. 515, 518, 44 P 362, 363; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142.

“Allowance” 2 C. J. p 1157.

57. Martin v. Santa Barbara County, 105 Cal. 208, 212, 38 P 687; Kirkwood v. Soto, 87 Cal. 394, 396, 25 P 488; Atty.-Gen. v. Wilmington, 10 Del. Ch. 384, 390, 93 A 364; Crawford County v. Lindsay, 11 Ill. A. 261, 263; United Boxboard, etc., Co. v. McEwan Bros. Co., (N. J. Ch.) 76 A 550, 554; Peo. v. Lynch, 254 N. Y. 427, 431, 173 NE 571; Rowland v. New York, 83 N. Y. 372, 375; McCoy v. Handlin, 35 S. D. 487, 522, 153 NW 361, LRA1915E 858, AnnCas1917A 1046; Higgins v. Glenn, 65 Utah 406, 237 P 513, 515; Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 Utah 475, 91 P 355. See Briscoe v. Clark County, 95 Ill. 309, 312; Maynard v. Royal Worcester Corset Co., 200 Mass. 1, 4, 85 NE 877. See also Compensation 12 C. J. p 231 text and note 46.

[a] While the term in its original and strict sense signifies a fixed compensation it is frequently used as the equivalent of “compensation.” Martin v. Santa Barbara County, 105 Cal. 208, 212, 38 P 687.

“Compensation” distinguished see infra § 3.

58. West v. Jefferson Woolen Mills, 147 Tenn. 100, 115, 245 SW 542.

“Earnings” distinguished see infra § 3.

“Earnings” 19 C. J. p 853.

59. San Juan County v. Oliver, 7 Colo A. 515, 44 P 362, 363; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142.

60. San Juan County v. Oliver, supra; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, supra.

“Pay” 48 C. J. p 572.

61. Peay v. Nolan, 157 Tenn. 222, 7 SW (2d) 815, 817, 60 ALR 408.

62. San Juan County v. Oliver, 7 Colo. A. 515, 44 P 362, 363; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142.

63. Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 137 P 758; White v. Hayden, 126 Cal. 621, 627, 59 P 118; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 P 554; San Juan County v. Oliver, 7 Colo. A. 515, 44 P 362, 363; Walsh v. Bridgeport, 88 Conn. 528, 535, 91 A 969, AnnCas1917B 318; Indianapolis School Comrs. v. Wasson, 74 Ind. 133, 142; Morse v. Robertson, 9 Hawaii 195, 197; Morris v. Hosmer, 182 Iowa 883, 886, 166 NW 295; Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661; Koppen v. Union Iron, etc., Co., 181 Mo. A. 72, 80, 163 SW 560; Dayton v. Ewart, 28 Mont. 153, 156, 72 P 420, 98 AmSR 549; Hopkins v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 485, 85 NYS 839; Landis v. Lincoln County, 31 Or. 424, 427, 50 P 530; Com. v. Butler, 99 Pa. 535, 542; West v. Jefferson Woolen Mills, 147 Tenn. 100, 115, 245 SW 542.

[a] “According to the most approved lexicographers, the words ‘wages’ and ‘salary’ are synonymous.” Com. v. Butler, 99 Pa. 535, 542 [quot Koppen v. Union Iron, etc., Co., 181 Mo. A. 72, 80, 163 SW 560; Hopkins v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 85 NYS 839, 841].

[b] “According to some lexicographers the words ‘wages’ and ‘salary’ are synonymous.” Walsh v. Bridgeport, 88 Conn. 528, 535, 91 A 969, AnnCas1917B 318.

[c] “Lexicographers and some authorities class ‘salary’ and ‘wages’ as synonymous.” Landis v. Lincoln County, 31 Or. 424, 427, 50 P 530 [cit Ralapje & L. L. D.; Webster D.; and quot Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Teller County v Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 P 554].

[d] “Wages has a similar meaning.”—Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661.

[e] “ ‘Salary’ is the equivalent of ‘wages.’ ”—Morris v. Hosmer, 182 Iowa 883, 886, 166 NW 295.

“Wages” distinguished see infra § 3.

64. See Allowance 2 C. J. p 1157 note 45 [g].

65. McNulta v. Corn Belt Bank, 164 Ill. 427, 442, 45 NE 954, 56 AmSR 203.

[a] Additional sum voted by bank directors to be paid their president over and above his salary as consideration for accepting presidency and performing acts not embraced among his duties as president, held “bonus” and not “salary.” McNulta v. Corn Belt Bank, 164 Ill. 427, 442, 45 NE 954, 56 AmSR 203.

“Bonus” 9 C. J. p 135.

66. Osborn v. Henry, 200 Ala. 353, 355, 76 S 119; Castle v. Lawlor, 47 Conn. 340, 345; Greer v. Hunt County, (Tex. Commn. A.) 249 SW 831, 832. But see White v. Ballard County Bank, (Ky.) 117 SW 294, 296.

[a] “Salary” used as synonym of “commission” held not misleading in instruction in suit where issue was agency, it being immaterial whether agent’s compensation be termed “salary” or “commission.” White v. Ballard County Bank, (Ky.) 117 SW 294, 296.

[b] Where the compensation of an officer is a fixed sum for a definite period, and not a rate of commission, this makes it a salary. Castle v. Lawlor, 47 Conn. 340, 345.

“Commission” 12 C. J. p 143.

67. State v. Billheimer, 178 Ind. 83, 92, 96 NE 801. See Com. v. Butler, 99 Pa. 535, 542.

[a] “All salaries are compensations, but all compensations are not salaries.” State v. Billheimer, 178 Ind. 83, 92, 96 NE 801.

“Compensation” synonymous see supra § 2.

68. State v. Billheimer, 178 Ind. 83, 92, 96 NE 801.

“Damages” §§ 1–51.

dends,"[69] "drawing account,"[70] "earnings,"[71] "emoluments,"[72] "fees,"[73] "gain or profit,"[74] "hire,"[75] "percentages,"[76] "reimbursement,"[77] "repayment,"[78] and "wages."[79]

[§ 4] D. What Term Implies, Imports, or Includes. The term "salary" implies a contract of employment.[80] It imports a specific contract for a specific sum for a certain period of time;[81] and hence its use may import a factor of permanency,[82] or permanency of employment.[83] It is said to contain three elements, all required to round out and complete the thought, namely, the dignity in popular estimation of the duty involved, a fixed term, and compensation by contract.[84] Further, it is said to have four characteristics—first, that it is paid for services rendered; secondly, that it is paid under

---

69. Peo. v. Lynch, 254 N. Y. 427, 431, 173 NE 571.

"Dividend" 18 C. J. p 1406.

70. Hoeland v. Lange, 113 Misc. 469, 471, 184 NYS 885.

"Drawing account" 19 C. J. p 762.

71. Springfield Coal Min. Co. v. Industrial Commn., 291 Ill. 408, 412, 126 NE 133, 22 ALR 859. But see West v. Jefferson Woolen Mills, 147 Tenn. 100, 115, 245 SW 542, 546; El Paso Electric R. Co. v. Murphy, 49 Tex. Civ. A. 586, 590, 109 SW 489, 491 ("a salary is earnings").

"Earnings" interchangeable see supra § 2.

"Earnings" 19 C. J. p 853.

72. Scharrenbroich v. Lewis, etc., County, 33 Mont. 250, 257, 83 P 482; Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394.

[a] "'Emolument' is more comprehensive."—Scharrenbroich v. Lewis, etc., County, 33 Mont. 250, 257, 83 P 482.

"Emolument" see Officers § 259 note 59 [a].

73. Autauga Banking, etc., Co. v. Allen, 220 Ala. 478, 125 S 805, 806 [cit C. J.]; Osborn v. Henry, 200 Ala. 353, 355, 76 S 119; Dane v. Smith, 54 Ala. 47, 49; Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 238, 127 P 758; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 455, 95 P 554; State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433; Tucker v. Shoemaker, 149 Ga. 250, 253, 99 SE 865; Cowdin v. Huff, 10 Ind. 83, 85; State v. Bland, 91 Kan. 160, 168, 136 P 947; Com. v. Bailey, 3 KyL 110, 114; Lobrano v. Plaquemines Parish Police Jury, 150 La. 14, 20, 90 S 423, 425 [cit Cyc]; E. H. Koester Bakery v. Ihrie, 147 Md. 219, 224, 127 A 492; Blick v. Mercantile Trust, etc., Co., 113 Md. 487, 494, 77 A 844; Henderson v. Koenig, 168 Mo. 356, 367, 68 SW 72, 57 LRA 659; State v. Patterson, 152 Mo. A. 264, 269, 132 SW 1183; Landis v. Lincoln County, 31 Or. 424, 427, 50 P 530; Hutchinson v. Gormley, 48 Pa. 270, 272; In re Actuarial Fees, 32 Pa. Co. 225, 234; Com. v. Grier, 9 Pa. Co. 444, 447; Cox v. Holmes, 14 Wash. 255, 256. 44 P 262.

[a] Officer paid by fees is not the recipient of a salary. Henderson v. Koenig, 168 Mo. 356, 367, 68 SW 72, 57 LRA 659.

[b] "'Salary' and 'fees' are not directly germane to each other." Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 456, 95 P 554.

[c] "While the two terms may be more or less synonymous in many connections, they are not so as ordinarily used in connection with the compensation of an office." Lobrano v. Plaquemines Parish Police Jury, 150 La. 14, 20, 90 S 423 [cit Cyc].

"Fee" 25 C. J. p 1009.

74. Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661; Hoeland v. Lange, 113 Misc. 469, 471, 184 NYS 885.

[a] "Never applied in describing the gain, profit, or recompense which accrues to one who is conducting a business of his own." Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661.

[b] "'Profits' and 'salary' are quite different terms." Hoeland v. Lange, 113 Misc. 469, 471, 184 NYS 885.

75. State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 339.

[a] "Hire" and "salary."—Hire is "for the more menial, manual or mechanical form of work and commonly implies employment for short periods," while salary is "for the more mental forms, and implies greater permanence of employment and payment at longer intervals." State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 339.

76. Osborn v. Henry, 200 Ala. 353, 355, 76 S 119; Thompson v. Phillips, 12 Oh. St. 617, 618 (percentage).

[a] "Where the compensation . . . is to be ascertained by a percentage on the amount of money received and disbursed . . . it is not a salary." Thompson v. Phillips, 12 Oh. St. 617, 618.

77. State v. Billheimer, 178 Ind. 83, 92, 96 NE 801.

78. Sniffen v. New York, 6 N. Y. Super. 193, 196; Peay v. Nolan, 157 Tenn. 222, 7 SW (2d) 815, 817, 60 ALR 408.

79. Merriam v. U. S., 282 Fed. 851, 855; Wilkes-Barre First Nat. Bank v. Barnum, 160 Fed. 245, 247; Speilberger Bros. v. Brandes, 3 Ala. A. 590, 598, 58 S 75; Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758; Teller County v. Trowbridge, 42 Colo. 449, 456, 95 P 554; Walsh v. Bridgeport, 88 Conn. 528, 535, 91 A 969, AnnCas1917B 318; McLellan v. Young, 54 Ga. 399, 400, 21 AmR 276; Springfield Coal Min. Co. v. Industrial Commn., 291 Ill. 408, 411, 126 NE 133, 22 ALR 859; Massie v. Cessna, 239 Ill. 352, 359, 88 NE 152, 130 AmSR 234, 28 LRANS 1108; Cowdin v. Huff, 10 Ind. 83, 85; Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661; E. H. Koester Bakery v. Ihrie, 147 Md. 219, 224, 127 A 492; Blick v. Mercantile, Trust, etc., Co., 113 Md. 487, 494, 77 A 844; Koppen v. Union Iron, etc., Co., 181 Mo. A. 72, 80, 163 SW 560; Hopkinson v. Cromwell, 89 App. Div. 481, 485, 85 NYS 839; Meyers v. New York, 69 Hun 291, 295, 23 NYS 484; Cochran v. A. S. Baker Co., 30 Misc. 48, 50, 61 NYS 724; Peo. v. Brookfield, 13 Misc. 566, 34 NYS 674; Cane v. New York, 34 NYS 675; Peo. v. Myers, 11 NYS 217, 219, 25 AbbNCas 368; West v. Jefferson Woolen Mills, 147 Tenn. 100, 108, 245 SW 542; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 340, 344; Millers' Indemn. Underwriters v. Cook, (Tex. Civ. A.) 229 SW 598, 602; Bell v. Indian Live-Stock Co., (Tex.) 11 SW 344, 346, 3 LRA 642; Gordon v. Jennings, 9 Q. B. D. 45, 46. See Bigley v. Bellevue, 158 Pa. 495, 497, 28 A 23; Moriarty v. Regent's Garage, etc., Co., Ltd., [1921] 2 K. B. 766 (to distinguish between "salary" and "wages" described as impossible task). See also Master and Servant § 192 et seq.

[a] "Use and acceptation under certain circumstances may have given the word 'salary' a significance somewhat different from the word 'wages.'" Walsh v. Bridgeport, 88 Conn. 528, 535, 91 A 969, AnnCas1917B 318.

[b] Terms compared.—(1) "Salary" and "wages" in their legal application are "recognized as independent and distinct terms." Cane v. New York, 34 NYS 675. (2) "Wages," in its ordinary acceptation, has a less extensive meaning than "salary," and is usually restricted to sums paid as hire to those employed in various manual occupations. Massie v. Cessna, 239 Ill. 352, 359, 88 NE 152, 130 AmSR 234, 28 LRANS 1108. (3) "Wages" is used "for the more menial, manual or mechanical form of work" (State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 339) (4) and generally applies to manual labor (Merriam v. U. S., 282 Fed. 851, 855; Cane v. New York, supra). (5) "Wages" signifies compensation for mechanical or menial labor. Millers' Indemn. Underwriters v. Cook, (Tex. Civ. A.) 229 SW 598, 602. (6) "Salary" has reference to employment above the grade of such labor. Millers' Indemn. Underwriters v. Cook, supra. (7) "Salary" refers to "a superior grade of services and implies a position or office," and "is suggestive of something higher, larger, and more permanent." Wilkes-Barre First Nat. Bank v. Barnum, 160 Fed. 245, 247. (8) "Salary" is ordinarily used when speaking of employments of a more dignified character (Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661) (9) or for the more mental forms of work (State v. Duncan, supra). (10) "Salary" applies to those "holding official station" (Cane v. New York, supra) (11) and is said to indicate periodical payment for regular employment (Merriam v. U. S., supra).

80. Davis v. Fall River, 155 Mass. 96, 29 NE 202. See Railway Clearing House v. Druce, 42 T. L. R. 663, 664 ("connotes contractually secured payment").

81. Blick v. Mercantile Trust, etc., Co., 113 Md. 487, 494, 77 A 844 [quot E. H. Koester Bakery v. Ihrie, 147 Md. 219, 224, 127 A 492 (substituting "imparts" for "imports")].

82. Maynard v. Royal Worcester Corset Co., 200 Mass. 1, 4, 85 NE 877.

83. White v. Koehler, 70 N. J. L. 526, 527, 57 A 124. But see Palmer v. Marquette, etc., Rolling Mill Co., 32 Mich. 274, 276; Chestnut v. Kansas City, 171 Mo. A. 327, 330, 157 SW 656.

[a] The length of time of service cannot be implied by the use of the term in an offer of employment. Palmer v. Marquette, etc., Rolling Mill Co., 32 Mich. 274, 276.

[b] Merely provides rate of payment of compensation of employee and does not make for him a definite term. Chestnut v. Kansas City, 171 Mo. A. 327, 330, 157 SW 656.

84. State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 344.

some contract or appointment; thirdly, that it is computed by time; and fourthly, that it is payable at a fixed time.[85] Examples are given in the subjoined notes of what the term has been held to include[86] and not to include.[87]

[§ 5] E. Phrases. "Additional salary,"[88] "fixed salary,"[89] "salary, fees or compensation,"[90] "salary or compensation,"[91] "salary or income,"[92] "salary or standard rate of pay,"[93] "salary or wages,"[94] "salary or wages and emoluments,"[95] "salary paid to him,"[96] "salary per year,"[97] "salary, wages or income,"[98] and "stated salary;"[99] also "fixed salaries."[1]

SALE.[2]

SALE AND EXCHANGE. A term which, in reference to real estate, implies that the proceeds of the sale are to be vested in another estate of the same character, and to be settled to the same uses.[3]

SALE AND RETURN.[4]

SALE, BILL OF.[5]

SALE OR RETURN.[6]

---

85. In re Shine, [1892] 1 Q. B. 522, 531.

86. See cases infra this note.

[a] Additional compensation.—"The compensation . . . given to the judges of the superior courts for their services in holding the special courts, to be paid by the commissioners of the county in which the courts are held, is a part of their salary." Buxton v. Rutherford County Comrs., 82 N. C. 91, 95.

[b] Allowance for clerk hire.—Under some statutes the term has been held to include clerk hire. Beaumont v. Ramsey County, 32 Minn. 108, 111, 19 NW 727; Armstrong v. Ramsey County, 25 Minn. 344; Bruce v. Dodge County Comrs., 20 Minn. 388, 389.

[c] Fees.—(1) The term salary may mean an income arising from fees paid to an officer. Fulgham v. Lightfoot, 1 Call (5 Va.) 250, 255. (2) Fees and commissions may be included when "salary" is used in the sense of legal compensation for services. San Juan County v. Oliver, 7 Colo. A. 515, 518, 44 P 362.

[d] Mileage may be included.—"If the mileage allowance is limited to the amount actually expended in traveling, then it cannot, of course, add anything to the income of the recipient of the salary. But if the mileage is not so limited, as where a certain amount is allowed for each mile traveled, and this amount exceeds the actual mileage charged, then the balance above such charge becomes a part of the official income or compensation the same as though it were a part of the 'salary.'" Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 Utah 475, 487, 91 P 355 [quot Higgins v. Glenn, 65 Utah 406, 237 P 513, 515].

[e] "Per diem compensation" held salary.—State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433; Com. v. Butler, 99 Pa. 535, 542; State v. Duncan, 1 Tenn. Ch. A. 334, 344. But see Bigley v. Bellevue, 158 Pa. 495, 497, 28 A 23.

[f] Rarely held to include "recompense, reward or compensation" in addition to a fixed sum. Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394.

87. See cases infra this note.

[a] Bonus.—Railway Clearing House v. Druce, 42 T. L. R. 663, 664.

[b] Commissions of agent, broker or factor.—Hamberger v. Marcus, 157 Pa. 133, 139, 27 A 681, 37 AmSR 719.

[c] Daily compensation of constable for acting as borough lamp lighter and policeman. Bigley v. Bellevue, 158 Pa. 495, 497, 28 A 23.

[d] Emoluments.—Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394.

[e] Estimated amount of maintenance.—Retirement of State Employees, 28 Pa. Dist. 393, 394.

[f] Expenses.—(1) An allowance made by a court of probate for services of an auditor of the accounts of a succession held not salary. Vance v. Lafferanderie, 4 Rob. (La.) 340, 342. (2) For deputy hire. Crawford County v. Lindsay, 11 Ill. A. 261, 263. (3) "It does not include money necessarily paid to others as expenses in performing the duties of the office." Windmiller v. Peo., 78 Ill. A. 273, 276. See Marion County v. Lear, 108 Ill. 343, 350; Peo. v. Adams, 65 Ill. A. 283, 286; Sniffen v. New York, 6 N. Y. Super. 193, 196; Houser v. Umatilla County, 30 Or. 486, 489, 49 P 867. (4) Per diem expenses allowed a judge while absent from home holding a general or special term of court. Peo. v. Wemple, 52 Hun 414, 419, 5 NYS 495. See Gobrecht v. Cincinnati, 51 Oh. St. 68, 72, 36 NE 782, 23 LRA 609. (5) A sum out of which salesman's traveling expenses should be paid. Krey Packing Co. v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 189 Mo. A. 591, 600, 175 SW 322. (6) Travelling expenses of public officer. Houser v. Orangeburg County, 59 S. C. 265, 266, 37 SE 831.

[g] Extra compensation received by a district judge for holding court outside of his own district held no part of his official salary. Benedict v. U. S., 176 U. S. 357, 360, 20 SCt 458, 44 L. ed. 503.

[h] Fees.—Cochise County v. Wilcox, 14 Ariz. 234, 239, 127 P 758.

[i] Profits which a person contracted to receive for goods sold for another (Brierre v. His Creditors, 43 La. Ann. 423, 425, 9 S 640.

88. Beach v. Kent, 142 Mich. 347, 356, 105 NW 867.

89. Re Parkin El. Co., Ltd., 37 Ont. L. 277, 31 DomLR 123, 126, 10 OntWN 66.

90. Brandon v. Askew, 172 Ala. 160, 167, 54 S 605.

91. Peo. v. York, 29 Misc. 158, 159, 60 NYS 795.

[a] Held not synonymous with phrase "prospective scale of salaries" in the Greater New York Charter. Peo. v. York, 29 Misc. 158, 159, 60 NYS 795.

92. Hollinshead v. Hazleton, [1916] 1 A. C. 428, 449, 462; In re Shine, [1892] 1 Q. B. 522, 531; Ex p. Benwell, 14 Q. B. D. 301, 307; Ex p. Wicks, 17 Ch. D. 70, 73; Ex p. Brindle, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 498.

[a] Voluntary allowance held not to be "salary or income," within English bankruptcy act. Ex p. Wicks, 17 Ch. D. 70, 73.

93. Railway Clearing House v. Druce, 42 T. L. R. 663; Druce v. Railway Clearing House, 133 L. T. Rep. N. S. 514, 517.

94. Re Parkin El. Co., Ltd., 37 Ont. L. 277, 31 DomLR 123, 130, 10 OntWN 66.

95. Rex v. Lyon, 37 T. L. R. 26, 28.

96. Douglas v. Sacramento Pension Bd., 75 Cal. A. 335, 342, 242 P 756.

[a] Used in pension provision of Sacramento City Charter, §§ 167–169, 171, the words "mean what the compensation which has been provided for the position or office or employment, whose duties he is required to perform, would amount to, computed upon the same basis as is a fixed or determinate yearly salary, limited, however, to the number of working days in the year." Douglas v. Sacramento Pension Bd., 75 Cal. A. 335, 242 P 756, 758.

97. Chestnut v. Kansas City, 171 Mo. A. 327, 330, 157 SW 656.

98. Roberts v. Carrithers, 180 Ky. 315, 202 SW 659, 661.

99. State v. Barnes, 24 Fla. 29, 32, 3 S 433.

1. Com. v. Butler, 99 Pa. 535, 543.

2. Of personal property generally see Sales 55 C. J. p 1.

Of real property generally see Vendor and Purchaser [39 Cyc 1129].

3. Rail v. Dotson, 22 Miss. 176, 184. See also Powers § 65 et seq.

4. See Sales 55 C. J.

5. See Sales 55 C. J.

6. See Sales 55 C. J.